The Perryton Club, the Boy Scouts and the Chamber of Commerce are all up for a drive to encourage planting of more trees, both in the city and the rural sections of Ochiltree county. Five hundred trees have been purchased and will be disposed of at actual cost.

Mr. J. H. Master, president of the Perryton Club, while addressing the group on the Tuesday noonday luncheon, stressed the point that the trees had been purchased not only for the city but for the rural sections as well and expressed the hope that farmers in the Oklahoma territory adjoining Ochiltree county would also avail themselves of obtaining trees at cost. The trees were purchased at the Perryton experiment station and will be sold at cost plus the express charges which will make the trees cost less than they did last year.

Boy Scouts will have charge of the planting campaign and the trees will be distributed by County Agent R. Sheets upon arrival. The purchasers want the trees to be planted under the direction of Mr. J. H. Master.

The Perryton Hardware is planning a big day for Saturday, February 21, when Fairbanks Morse representatives will be at the store to conduct a demonstration of their products. Featured at the demonstration will be the Fairbanks Morse farm electric light plant which will be shown in operation. The new washing machines will also be demonstrated and shown in operation on this day.

THRUSH PLANE FALLS SUNDAY

NO SERIOUS INJURIES WHEN
PLANE FALLS NINE HUNDRED FEET; THREE PASSENGERS

Roy Thrush, pilot and Miss Billie Tipton and Ed Johns, passengers, were slightly injured late Sunday afternoon when Thrush's Standard-6 airplane went into a tail spin at nine hundred feet and crashed to the ground just south of town. Roy had just taken off from the field and climbed to nine hundred feet when he turned the plane. He states that he had made a perfect turn, but when he attempted to straighten out, he found that the controls were jammed. The ship went into a tail spin and made two complete spins, losing eight hundred feet. When in about a hundred feet of the ground, the pilot was able to straighten out with the use of the rudder only.

The plane nosed into the ground and then bounced across the highway after clipping off a telephone post. Roy thinks that the dual control in the front was jammed by the young lady passenger getting the high heel of her shoe caught in the dual control stick socket. The wrecked ship will be taken to the Swallow factory at Wichita and Mr. Thrush will either have it repaired or purchase a new ship.

The play is a farce comedy and the characters in the cast are particularly well chosen. Strenuous practice is being held during the next week and a perfected performance is expected.

4-H Club to Amarillo

Four Baby Bees Will Be Entered By Club Members in Amarillo Stock Show Next Week

Ochiltree County 4-H Club members will enter four baby bees in the 4-H Club show which will be held in Amarillo early in March, according to Guy R. Sheets, county agent. A number of other youngsters started feeding calves but did not get results that would justify them to enter the Amarillo show where competition is keen. Those who will enter calves in the show are: Calvert Norris, Almon Norris, Margaret Rogers and Ruth Rogers. Three of these calves were winners at the Ochiltree county 4-H Club show held here in December.

Physical Education Is Required In Texas Schools Effective September 1

All grade schools and high schools in the Perryton Independent School district and Ochiltree county must teach physical education according to a bill, H. B. No. 309, which was passed by the forty-first legislature and goes into effect as a law September 1, 1930, making physical education compulsory in all Texas schools. The bill reads as follows:

H. B. No. 309.
"AN ACT prescribing that physical education courses approved by the State Department of Education shall be taught in the public schools of Texas; and declaring an emergency."

"BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS: "Section 1. That instruction in physical education shall be established and made part of the course of instruction and training in the public elementary and secondary schools of the State by September first, nineteen hundred and thirty."

"Section 2. The State Superintendent of Public Instruction shall prepare courses of instruction for the purpose of carrying out this Act."

"Section 3. The importance of the provisions of this Act, and the necessity for its early enactment, and the crowded condition of the Legislative Calendar create an emergency and an imperative public necessity requiring the suspension of the Constitutional Rule requiring bills to be read on three several days in each House, and said Rule is hereby suspended, and it is so enacted."

The State Department of Education wishes to call this law to the attention of superintendents and school people generally to the end that preparations for meeting its requirements may be started at once by those schools not already providing instruction in physical education.

Thirty-five states have laws requiring the teaching of physical education in the public schools. In many of these laws the number of minutes per week and something of the nature of the work is specified. You will note, however, that the Texas law is very simple. The time allowance and the subject matter to be taught is left to the discretion of the State Department and to school superintendents.

What Is Physical Education?
Physical education is education. It is education both of the physical and through the physical. Physical education is a phase of education for which the following four aims have been proposed:

Aims of Physical Education
1. "The development of the organic systems of the individual through physical activities."

2. "The development of the neuromuscular system in general and particularly in relation to control over certain fundamental skills."

3. "The development of certain attitudes toward physical activity and particularly toward play."

4. "The development of standards of conduct."

(Principles of Physical Education, Dr. J. P. Williams.)

What Is Health Education?
Health education is not simply another term for physical education. Health education has three divisions, namely:

1. Health supervision, which is concerned with the healthfulness of the school environment and activities.

2. Health service, which is concerned with health examinations and protective measures against disease.

3. Health instruction which is concerned with organized teaching of health information, habits and attitudes. Obviously every teacher has an obligation to further health education wherever opportunities are presented.

Health and Physical Education.
It is recommended that schools use the title Health and Physical Education to describe this department or phase of the school program.

FARNSWORTH IS CHAMP CAGERS

GIRLS AND BOYS TEAMS ARE WINNERS OF COUNTY MEET HELD HERE SATURDAY

The Farnsworth basketball teams, both boys and girls, won the rural school championship Saturday, held on the Perryton court. A great deal of interest was shown and the games were hotly contested. The Farnsworth girls defeated the Waka girls in the final game, 22 to 12, while the Farnsworth boys won from Huntoon in the final game by a count of 22 to 8.

The summary of the games follows:
Boys Teams
Farnsworth 20—Lone Tree 6
Huntoon 18—Ochiltree 7
Farnsworth 37—Waka 3
Farnsworth 22—Huntoon 8
Girls Teams
Waka 21—Huntoon 7

MEETINGS AT BAPTIST CHURCH ALL NEXT WEEK

Rev. E. H. Crouch, a Baptist missionary who has spent the past seven years in Brazil, will speak at the Baptist church each evening next week, starting Monday night. The meetings will begin at 8:00 o'clock. Rev. Crouch will talk on Brazil, giving his experiences and other things of interest. He will also conduct the Sunday morning and evening services at the church.

START SERIES OF TALKS ON REVELATIONS SUNDAY

Rev. L. O. Byerly, pastor of the Christian church, announces that he will start a series of four sermons on Revelations next Sunday at the evening services. According to Rev. Byerly, there are eighteen prophetic books in the Bible and Revelations is the most interesting. The first sermon covers the first three chapters of the book.

Carter Pens at The Herald Office.

The activities of the school program in physical education may be grouped as follows:

1. Play including games, sports, and athletics

2. Dancing and dramatic activities including rhythmic play, folk, gymnastic and other forms of dancing, festivals, and pageants.

3. Individual and self testing activities including stunts, tumbling, combat, and self defense activities.

4. Fundamental skills such as running, throwing, jumping, climbing, hanging, leaping, kicking, striking, carrying, and special athletic skills.

5. Individual gymnastics including calisthenics, corrective exercise, and individual natural activities.

6. Out door and related activities such as hiking, camping, scouting, Athletics and Physical Education

Athletics is a part of physical education. It, by no means, constitutes a complete program of physical education. The purpose of the physical education law is not to increase inter-school athletics, but to provide a balanced program of instruction for all students. The benefits of properly directed athletic activities should be enjoyed by all normal students rather than by only a few stars.

Instruction in Physical Education
The physical education period should be regarded as an instructional period. It is a teaching period. Incidentally the activities of this period should provide recreation, relaxation, and health benefits. Instruction should follow a carefully prepared course of study in which specific objectives progressively arranged for each grade are set up and achievement of them by pupils measured and graded. Grades should be given in physical education as in other subjects. These grades should be based upon the achievement of pupils. The spirit of play should, however, permeate all of the activities. These activities, of course, are to be arranged in accordance with the characteristics of pupils in the different grades.

Health and Physical Education.
It is recommended that schools use the title Health and Physical Education to describe this department or phase of the school program.

A STATEMENT TO OCHILTREE COUNTY TAXPAYERS ON THE CONDITION OF THE TAX ROLLS

Seeing a statement of tax collections from some other counties in the state has caused me to publish the tax roll records of Ochiltree county for I am sure that I can safely say that there is not a county in the state that can make the showing, especially in the matter of delinquent tax records, that we have made in the past few years. At the present time there are only nine tracts of land and fourteen town lots that carry delinquent taxes due prior to 1929. I am willing to put this record against the state. I feel that this wonderful condition is due to the prosperous condition of this country and to the efforts of my office to keep the rolls cleared of old delinquent taxes. I ask you to examine the following figures very closely.

State tax	$36,958.87	$35,046.87	$1912.00
State poll	1,837.50	1,660.50	177.00
County tax	48,915.99	46,419.35	2,496.64
County poll	306.55	276.75	29.80
County school	14,561.16	13,950.77	610.39
Total	$102,579.77	$97,356.24	$5,223.53

Delinquent prior to 1929, on 9 tracts of land and 14 town lots.

State tax $307.68
County 292.44
School tax 107.10
Grand total of all taxes delinquent in Ochiltree county prior to and including 1929 $607.22

We would like to see a record like this in any other county in Texas or any other state.

"Rio Rita" At Ellis

Florenz Ziegfeld's Great Musical Spectacle Here For Only Two Days

The greatest musical spectacle ever filmed is to be seen at the Ellis Theatre on Friday and Saturday of this week when "Rio Rita", Bebe Daniels first starring singing and talking vehicle, produced by Radio Pictures under the supervision of Florenz Ziegfeld who produced the original stage show, comes to Perryton.

The management of the Ellis Theatre urges patrons to attend early Friday evening and as many as possible to see it at the Saturday afternoon matinee in order to avoid the crowds Saturday night. Because of the greatness of the picture, an effort was made to obtain it for three days instead of two but they were unable to do it.

TAXPAYMENTS SET NEW MARK

TAX COLLECTORS REPORT A MARKED DECREASE IN DELINQUENTS OVER PREVIOUS YEARS

Tax collections in Perryton, the school district, and Ochiltree county set a new high record of money collected with fewer delinquents than ever before. Collections came in with a rush during the last few days of the tax paying period which closed on January 31.

City Clerk Beaver reports that his office collected a total of $26,310.39 in city taxes, with only $2,453.07 going on the delinquent rolls. Mr. Beaver states that practically the entire delinquent list was on vacant town lots, many of which were owned by non-residents. Eighty-seven items were unpaid on the city rolls.

In the Perryton Independent School District, $70,924.61 was collected by Mrs. Luther Wade, out of a total tax roll of $74,771.38. Mrs. Wade states that this is much better than any previous year.

Sheriff Talley is very justly elated over the collections in his office of state and county taxes. With a total of $102,623.76 on the rolls $97,376.35 was collected leaving only slightly over $5,000.00 to go delinquent. This is a remarkable record in all departments and well reflects the prosperity of the county. Sheriff Talley's books also show that only seven pieces of country property and fourteen town lots are on the delinquent tax rolls prior to 1930.

HENS PAY ON HUNTOON FARM

C. S. NOWLIN OF HUNTOON COMMUNITY FINDS HENS PROFITABLE FARM SIDE LINE

C. S. Nowlin, of the Huntoon community finds that keeping White Leghorns as a side line along with wheat farming is a profitable and successful enterprise. Last March he purchased 1,000 baby chicks from M. Johnson at Bowie, Texas and established a record by raising 930 of them. After selling off the cockerels and culling his flock, he now has 367 pullets.

These birds are averaging 225 eggs daily right now, but the production was heavier during November and December. The cold weather of January cut the production down some. He is feeding commercial laying mash, with home grown grains as scratch and plenty of milk. The baby chicks were purchased March 7 and were laying at five months of age; another remarkable record. Nowlin farms about 400 acres of wheat and uses his chickens purely as a side line, but finds that it pays dividends.

Register 1398 Cars

Big Increase Over Registration at This Time Last Year; One-fourth More

Approximately twenty-five per cent more automobiles and commercial cars have been registered in Ochiltree county to date as were registered in 1929 at this time. According to the records in the car license department of Sheriff Talley's office, 1127 passenger cars tags have been issued to date this year. Tags for 271 commercial cars and trucks have been sold.

COURT IS IN SESSION NOW

GRAND JURY IN SESSION TWO DAYS; RETURN TWENTY FIVE FELONY INDICTMENT BILLS

District court opened Monday morning with the following officers presiding: Judge, E. J. Pickens; District Attorney, Clem Calhoun; County Attorney, J. M. Bull; Sheriff, J. S. Talley; Clerk, Dave Shanks.

The following grand jurors were charged by the judge: G. I. Horne, foreman; R. J. Barlow, J. W. Daniels, T. C. Lott, Audie Conley, C. E. McGarragh, E. A. Greever, D. K. Baumann, Calvin Flowers, Ollie Morris, J. W. Bennett and J. W. Jantz. Bailiffs for the grand jury were: B. L. Holland, A. C. Littleton and J. Henry Cross. The grand jury was in session two days, being discharged Tuesday afternoon after returning twenty-five felony indictments. A finance committee consisting of J. P. Klapp, Chas. W. Callaway and C. B. Rogers was appointed by the jury to make an audit of the books of the various offices of the county.

This week in court is being given over entirely to civil cases. Up to Thursday morning the following cases had been disposed of: Balderston Grain Co. vs. W. E. Thornton et al, verdict for defendants; C. E. Jackson et al vs. C. C. Freeman et al, dismissed, all costs to be paid by plaintiffs; White House Lumber Co. vs. Charles Denny Jr. et al, verdict for plaintiff; in the above case Judge Pickens was disqualified so Judge J. W. Payne of this place was elected by the attorneys present to act as special trial judge; a divorce was granted to Fairy Thomas Ritch from Jerry Ritch, with maiden name restored to plaintiff; a divorce was also granted to J. T. Glasgow in his suit against Emma Glasgow. It is expected that the remainder of the week will be given over to the trial of civil cases.

The criminal docket will come up next week. District Clerk Shanks states that there is a heavy docket and that the greater part of the week will be used to dispose of all cases.

The petit jurors for the second week have been summoned for service on Monday, February 24. They are as follows: Geo. Seitz, J. B. Willey, R. H. McClung, Arthur Slavin, R. D. Thompson, J. E. Yaden, V. C. Carter, Noah Fletcher, S. D. Key, P. L. Garrett, W. P. Bailey, Ewing Williams, E. L. George, Waldo Tarbox, Virby Conley, Jake Schwab, J. R. Thomas, A. K. Wilson, W. P. Reynolds, Ralph Wilkinson, L. T. Parnell, J. H. Lovett, A. L. Swink, G. C. VanArsdale, H. T. Glasgow, V. E. Steed, E. L. Lawson, C. E. Isley, Willis Hardy, H. B. Lawrence, L. L. Lance, M. R. Stowe, T. J. O'Dell, F. L. Dodson, M. M. Cudd, J. N. Pauls, M. R. Todd, W. B. McLarty, Miles Pearson and Jarvis Kershaw.

County court was scheduled to open last Monday, but on account of conflicting with district court, Judge J. M. Grigsby, adjourned until the next regular term. There are a number of probate cases which will be heard before the next regular term. The Judge appointed the following as a jury commission to make up the panel for the jury for the next term of county court: C. W. Callaway, B. B. Kent, and J. H. Norwood.

Mrs. J. E. Osterbuh and little son, Jean, left last Thursday for Franklin, Nebraska, where they will make an extended visit in the home of Mr. Osterbuh's parents.

PERRYTON FIRE LOSS IN 1929 IS ONLY $1700.00

Perryton has just mailed in its fire record for 1929 to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. Fire Wreck Contest, and a pretty fair record is revealed in this report. This city had only two fires in 1929 with a total damage of $1700, and the damage from fires for the period 1924 to 1928 averaged only $315 per year. With the low damage in 1929 and with city tax valuations at more than two million dollars, the record is remarkable. In 1928 this city won second place in the U. S. Chamber of Commerce contest for cities under 20,000. Perryton now enjoys the maximum credit on fire insurance with 15% off on all policies written here.

COMMUNISTS

A group of Communists agitators tried to hold a public meeting on the steps of New York's City Hall the other day. They had neglected to obtain a permit for a public meeting and the police dispersed them. They fought the police and some of them got broken heads. Many half-baked thinkers see in that episode an example of tyranny.

It was rather an example of the communists' lofty disregard for all the laws of civilized nations. Their record in Russia proves that their whole scheme of government is more tyrannical than the worst of the Czars. Every American citizen has the right to agitate for a change in the laws or the Constitution itself. There is no place in America for those who teach disobedience to law.

OVERPRODUCTION

The best short phrase descriptive of farming conditions was coined by the Secretary of the Agriculture in a radio talk the other day. "Blind production for an unknown demand," were Mr. Hyde's words. Every farmer has experienced the evils of overproduction. The pedulum swings too far each way. One year a short crop brings high prices; the next year every farmer produces more of what commodity and the markets are glutted at low prices. For the first time in history, intelligent steps are being taken by our Government to keep farmers from competing with each other and to compel them to work together to control production and so make farming a profitable business for all engaged in it.

Mr. Hyde is right in saying that the farmers of America face in the coming years as stern a test as ever faced our forefathers.

CIVILIZATION

Human progress consists in the multiplication of human wants and of the means to supply the new needs. The man who wants nothing we call a savage. He is at liberty to live in the wilds and enjoy life in his own way. The process which we call civilization consists in tempting the savage with commodities which appeal to him so that he will exchange his labor for them.

The next step is to teach him to want things so badly that he is will-

WHAT DR. CALDWELL
LEARNED IN 47
YEARS PRACTICE

A physician watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the system and is not habit forming. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for anybody's system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to the nearest drugstore and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, or write Dr. J. C. Caldwell, 1111 North Main Street, St. Louis, Mo. for more facts.

ing to live under the rules of the community where they are to be had.

The trouble with many folks in America today is that they want things without being willing to pay the price, either in labor or in obedience to the community law. The old law of the Pilgrim Fathers, "He who does not work shall not eat" is not sufficiently enforced. Too many parents are letting their boys and girls "have a good time" instead of going to work when they have finished school. It is from this irresponsible leisure class that most of the criminals develop, according to the Police Commissioner of New York.

NOBILITY
In 1913, when the unrest in the United States was already threatening Central Europe with vague mutterings of the Great War which began the next year, Frederic C. Penfield, American Ambassador to Austria-Hungary, attended a tea-party in Buda-Pest, given by the Archduchess Maria Theresa and attended by many of the highest of the Hungarian nobility.

"If you were all to be deprived of your titles, estates and fortunes, what would you do?" Mr. Penfield asked.

There was silence for a minute or two. Then the archduchess answered.

"I do not know what we would do, but I can tell you one thing we would not do," she replied. "We would not complain."

The man who told me of the incident was one of the noblemen who was at that party. He has a good job in New York and only a few intimate friends know that he had a high title and a great estate in his native Hungary. Like the rest, he lost all, but he does not complain. The Archduchess was right. They are taking their medicine and smiling at the dose. That is true nobility.

Hill Managers Hold Annual Convention

Managers of twenty L. T. Hill Company stores were in attendance at the company's convention during the week of January 27 at the general office at Oklahoma City. A feature of the meeting was a three-day school of instruction in store management and other phases of the business. Virgil Castle, manager of the Perryton, was one of the delegates attending the convention.

again. They were considerably depleted for a while, money being withdrawn for stock speculation. Life insurance investments are steadily climbing.

Henry Ford was right when he said that most men should not deprive themselves under forty in order to save. The old idea that thrift means living a stunted life in youth in order to eke out narrow and bare existence in old age has gone the way of the twelve-hour day and the ox-team. Every worker today has a surplus above normal living costs out of which a small percentage of savings will insure comfort in later years. In the meantime Americans are fortunate in being able to enjoy a wide range of luxuries while still laying something by.

PISH AN OYSTERS
Pie made with fish and oysters is nourishing and satisfying. To make it, take the bones from boiled fresh cod and pull it to pieces. To each cup of fish add six oysters and half a cup of soup stock of any kind. Season with salt and pepper and bake in a buttered baking dish, covered with a thick layer of mashed potatoes.

For curried oysters, drain and wash twenty-five oysters. Make on an ordinary pancake griddle.

FERGUSON OUT FOR GOVERNOR

JIM FERGUSON GETS IN THE GOVERNOR RACE; MAKES STATEMENT OF PLATFORM AND POLICY

Jim Ferguson, former governor of Texas and husband of Ex-Governor "Ma" Ferguson, has tossed his hat in the ring as candidate for governor again. Following is his announcement to the people of Texas.

"Responding to the petition and suggestion of a very large number of Texas voters I hereby announce for governor.

"When Abraham Lincoln was elected president the second time, he said that he did not regard the election as an honor so much as he regarded it as the belief of the people that he could best serve the people in a position for which he had been severely trained.

"In this campaign I will be seeking an office which I have already had. I will not be seeking an honor, for me and my family have had that too. I will not be seeking vindication because that has been given me. When I am elected, as I am sure I will be, I will feel that the people have called me to render a public service which they have not received for the past three and one-half years, and for which my experience with state affairs has especially qualified me to perform. Every informed person knows that the next governor should be selected on the sole ground of qualification, he who can best serve the state will be the controlling question in the mind of the voter. At this perilous time this is as it should be. I would not have my friends feel that I am taxing their patience in again asking their support. If they feel that some other candidate can perform the duties of the office better than I, then I think it is their duty to vote for that candidate. If on the other hand, they think that I will make a better governor than any of the other candidates then it is their duty to the state and not to me to vote for me. I want to emphasize, that whether anybody, friend or foe, votes for me or not it will cause no hard feelings on my part and our present cordial relations, I hope will be continued.

"I shall not enter into a frantic mental or physical struggle for election, and I shall conserve my strength for the performance of the duties of the office to which I will be called.

"If there be those who may find satisfaction in personal abuse and vicious criticism of me or my record let them be at once advised that they will have the field all to themselves without murmur or protest from me. I have long since made my peace with God and I shall not now permit the heat of politics to engulf me in personal hatred.

"My platform has been heretofore announced and the public is more or less familiar with it. Shortly stated this platform calls, "(1) For a business administration and the veto of any liquor legislation by pro or anti—something to eat and something to wear without a row over something to drink." "(2) The reduction of public offices notably the combination of the office of the assessor and collector and the limitation of fees to $6000.00 a year." "(3) Preventing any bank from loaning over 10 per cent of its capital and deposits outside of Texas." "(4) The right of the borrower to redeem any home or other real estate within two years after foreclosure." "(5) The abolishment of the landlords lien, so that a tenant may mortgage his crop to his merchant for yearly supplies." "(6) For an elective highway commission of five, one at large and one from north, south, east and west Texas." "(7) Opposition to the issue of any state road bonds, and for a three cent gasoline tax, and the building and grading of less expensive roads which will give more roads to the farm and the mill." "(8) Against the road 'hog' and the banishment of the present bus and truck vehicles who use the public highways for profit to the exclusion of the traveling public." "(9) A luxury tax on factory made cigars and cigarettes." "(10) For putting the state convict farms in the hands of farmers and liberal assurance of pardons to meritorious prisoners.

What this Doctor did for Humanity

As a young man the late Dr. R. V. Pierce, practiced medicine in Pennsylvania and was known far and near for his great success in alleviating disease. Finally he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and put up in ready-to-use form his GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY, the well-known tonic for the blood. This strength builder is made from a formula which Dr. Pierce found most effective when in private practice. It aids digestion, acts as a tonic and enriches the blood—clears away pimples and annoying eruptions and tends to keep the complexion fresh and clear. All druggists. Tablets or liquid.

BLIND PRODUCTION

Production of farm crops without regard to the demand therefor was the bane of agriculture, recently declared Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, who warned that governmental farm relief measures will be useless "unless each individual farmer intelligently plans his production." Secretary Hyde said he wanted to emphasize that in order to obtain a higher level of prices than prevails now it appeared necessary to reduce rather than to increase 1930 production and that the problem must be met on the farm.

"Agriculture's leadership has formulated and secured the enactment of the agricultural marketing act which established the federal farm board backed by half a billion dollars of public money and clothed with far-reaching powers in applying collective thinking to that great problem of the new decade—the problem of modern co-operative merchandising of crops and livestock.

"But all this will break down unless each farmer intelligently plans his production," the secretary continued. "The individual farmer owes a duty to himself to make his efforts profitable and a duty to his fellow farmer to help make agriculture profitable. We cannot do this if farmers work against each other. We can do it if we work with each other."

OUTLOOK SHOWS NEED FOR FURTHER AGRICULTURAL ADJUSTMENTS

Farmers must plan their production this year particularly in view of the outlook for prices of each product during the next marketing season and adjust expenditures carefully to maintain farm incomes, according to the annual outlook for 1930 prepared by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with representatives of the agricultural colleges and extension services of forty-five States, and the Federal Farm Board.

"The domestic market may improve later in the year, but it is unlikely that the demand for farm products in the summer and fall of 1930 will be as good as during last summer and fall," according to the report. "The demand for some farm products already has been affected by the decline in industrial activity since last June. Butter, cotton and wool have been noticeably affected, and apples, potatoes, and grains have fallen thus far to make the usual seasonal price advances.

"The outlook for farm mortgage financing and for marketing credit is more favorable than a year ago. On the other hand the outlook for production credit appears less satisfactory in most of the South. A somewhat larger supply of labor for farm work will be available probably at slightly lower wages during the first half of the year. The general price level for farm machinery is expected to remain about the same as during the last four years, while there is no evidence of an immediate change in prices for fertilizers.

"There is little in the wheat situation in the United States and other countries at present to indicate that price for 1930 crop of the United States will be much different from those prevailing for the 1929 crop, unless fall-sown wheat suffers severe winter damage or the spring wheat acreage is reduced. World stocks will be somewhat lower on July 1, 1930, from a year earlier, but the world acreage will probably not be materially changed and yields per acre are not likely to be so low as in 1929, when they were below average.

"Hog prices in 1930 are expected to average at least as high as in 1929, and possibly higher. A reduction in slaughter supplies is indicated, but this probably will be partially offset by a decrease in foreign and domestic demand for hog products.

"Beef cattle raisers who contemplate expanding production are faced with a general tendency to increase the number of cattle and with a downward trend in price over the next decade.

"The underlying dairy situation is not as bad as would appear from present butter prices, but unless dairy herds are closely culled and more heifers sent to slaughter there will be a further increase in the size of dairy herds in 1931 and 1932.

"The high point in the expansion of the sheep industry has been reached and it is unlikely that prices for sheep and lambs can be maintained at the high levels of the last three or four years. Some reduction in world wool production is expected by 1931, and it is likely that demand will have improved by that time. Domestic consumption of mohair is expected to increase but not enough to support prices at high levels. Domestic production of mohair is now about equal to domestic consumption.

"The decline in numbers of horses and mules will continue at about the same rate as in recent years. "The present outlook for poultry and eggs does not justify any increase in production of chickens over 1929, either for eggs or meat, unless producers are willing to face the prospects of reductions in price levels.

"There is no material improvement in either domestic or export demand for oats in prospect, whereas more active competition from larger supplies of other feedgrains is probable. Feedstuff prices are expected to continue lower than a year ago during the next three or four months. A further increase in the acreage of legume hays and decrease in acreage of timothy, alfalfa and other grass hays are expected this year. Repetition of the large production of red clover and alfalfa clover seed is not expected. Maintenance of acreage of alfalfa for seed, but curtailment of sweet clover for seed is suggested.

MOTOR MISHAPS IN U. S. IN 1929 SHOW NO LET-UP

By E. E. Duffy

Thirty thousand automobile accidents fatalities in 1929 indicated that a great deal yet remains to be done in highway safety work.

Deaths in 1929 were about seven per cent greater than in the previous year, a condition attributed to increased motor travel. Noteworthy progress is being made in the adoption of uniform traffic rules. In the neighborhood of 25 states have adopted uniform vehicle code provisions.

The human factor, however, still persists as the leading cause of mishaps. Railroad grade crossings and busy street and rural highway intersections continue to take startling tolls, as do narrow streets and roads. Accident records reveal that laws cannot instill caution and courtesy into a vast portion of the motoring family, and from this it may be deduced that accidents can best be reduced by the provision of highway facilities that are different to misuse.

Skidding on slick pavements accounts for countless mishaps and this skidding is something that is not always the driver's fault. One province in Germany has indicated a solution for skidding by its refusal to permit the construction of pavements that become slick in wet weather.

Wide pavements also cut down the accident likelihood by a remarkable margin. The automobile driver may be likened to an engineer—and some of these engineers need at least a ten-foot lane. In fact, ten-foot lanes are now considered the ideal width, for with automobiles speeding along at fifty or more with ease, as is permitted by the modern vehicle, the margin of safety must be greater than for vehicles driving at thirty.

Relief from congestion and accident possibilities is given in full measure by grade separations, wherein one highway is elevated or depressed over or under another highway or a railroad. The "cloverleaf" design used in New Jersey and the "pretzel" plan used in Cook county, Illinois, and Wayne county, Michigan, have been so positively successful that there is little excuse for other communities not adopting this form of safety work.

At first glance it might seem that the cost of such structures would be prohibitive, but in reckoning the time saved and the accidents eliminated, the actual cost dwindles.

The accident and death problem is serious, and it is going to require a lot of serious thinking on the part of officials and citizens to bring about a reduction.

What Will you do

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria. At five million homes are never without it. If there are children in the family, there's almost daily use of its comfort. And any night you're very thankful there's a little house. Just a few drops, and colic or constipation is relieved, diarrhea checked. A vegetable diet; a baby remedy meant for folks. Castoria is about the thing you have ever heard of, advise giving to infants. Its medicines are dangerous to a baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria. Remember the name, and run to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is a ready, always safe to use; it's gentle, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night, baby becomes fretful, or Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. A druggist has it.

McCONNELL FOR DIST. ATTORNEY

COUNTY ATTORNEY
NOUNCES FOR PLACE
Held by CALHOUN
OF BORGER

McConnell, attorney of Panhandle, Texas, has announced his candidacy for the office of district attorney of the eighth district, which district is composed of the counties of Hutchinson, Garfield, Hansford, Ochiltree, and Haskell. Mr. McConnell, in announcing his candidacy for this office, issued to the press the following statement:

W. L. McCONNELL

"The early part of my life was lived at San Saba, Texas, where I was born and reared and where I acquired my preparatory education. After leaving my home town of San Saba, I entered the University of Texas pursuing the study of law until our government entered the World War, at which time I left the University and enlisted in the United States Army, where I remained until after the signing of the armistice, when I was honorably discharged as Lieutenant in the Field Artillery. I then re-entered the law department of the University of Texas, graduating therefrom in June 1921 after having been previously admitted to the bar of the State of Texas in 1920.

"Upon leaving the University of Texas, I first became associated with one of the largest law firms in central Texas, located in Waco, where I remained until I was appointed assistant city attorney of the city of Waco. In the month of May, 1927, I moved to the town of Panhandle, Texas in Carson County, where I have been engaged in the general practice of law since that part of the time which I served as county attorney of this county, this position being proffered me first by appointment and later at the polls by the vote of the people.

"The office of district attorney of the eighth district is a position requiring one experienced and competent in the administration and enforcement of the penal laws of this state. The public is well advised and apprised of the many unprecedented and unusual conditions which have prevailed in the past year. To properly administer the office of district attorney of this district, one should bear in mind that the paramount duty to be performed is that of enforcing the laws of our state fairly and impartially. But it should be borne in mind that in carrying out this program of enforcement, the district attorney should above all things, mete out justice not only to the masses but to the classes as well. A district attorney, in performing the duties incumbent upon him, should assume an unbiased, unprejudiced, and fair view of all matters confronting him. In no event should he, through lack of diligence, permit the offender to escape the penalty of the law nor should he in an over-zealous and prejudiced manner work a hardship upon his constituency. The unsettled condition which has recently existed in certain portions of the district necessitates, on the part of the incumbent of this office, the qualifications of being seasoned, experienced, and well balanced in the knowledge of the criminal laws of this state. From this angle, I submit to the people of this district my candidacy. I feel that the training and experience gained in the private practice, together with my service as a public official, both county and city, coupled with my knowledge of conditions and affairs in this district qualify me for the post to which I aspire.

If elected to this office, I promise that I will serve to the utmost of my ability with fairness to all and impartiality to none."

Respectfully submitted,
W. L. McConnell

"C-G" Proves It's Merits Again!

Oil-Drained Car Is Drive 10 Miles Over Streets of Perryton at Speed of From 30 to 55 Miles Per Hour As Was Witnessed By Large Crowd, Thursday, February 13!

Why Drive Was Made!

This demonstration was made to prove the merits of Colloidal Graphite Oil which is being introduced into Perryton trade territory. It also proved that when an automobile is driven at a high rate of speed and the oil film breaks, there is still protection against burning out bearings, scoring pistons and cylinder walls when Colloidal Graphite is used.

Colloidal which means liquid, not powder or flake, is known to every good chemist. This liquid graphite is blended with the highest quality lubricating oil and is sold under the trade name "C-G" which penetrates the pores of metal and forms a graphoid surface on every moving part in the motor, making the surface as smooth as glass.

When using plain oil, the metal surfaces have the appearance of a file which breaks the oil films and causes the part to wear more rapidly. Colloidal Graphite will stand 12 times more heat than will ordinary oil.

It is our desire to keep up with all great achievements in lubrication and we sincerely believe the people of this community will buy the highest type of lubrication known to science if given an opportunity.

And too, "C-G" Colloidal Graphite Oil can be bought in nearly every community. You will find an independent dealer ready to tell you about this new high speed oil.

THE TWELVE SENT FORTH
Matthew 9:35-10:8, 10:40-42
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Jesus was never a pious recluse. Some think of Him as effeminate. Steady. He was always a man's man, rugged physically, energetic at all times and always alert to observe the needs of those about Him. The population of Palestine was much greater in those days. Josephus was a careful writer and he declared that there were 204 populous villages and cities in Galilee. We are now in the middle of the public ministry and about one year and eight months have elapsed. Meanwhile this Master Teacher had visited "all the cities and villages." Through the meetings in the synagogues He came into intimate acquaintance with the Jewish leaders and as He went from place to place learned the needs and heart hunger of the masses. The people literally flocked to Him. This was not altogether unselfish, for they were healed of "all manner of disease and all manner of sickness."

All these opportunities of observation revealed the need of a friendly leadership. The idea of helpfulness had not developed even as we find it to-day, and there is still much to learn in Christian benevolence. The parable in which the good and the bad seed were sown, indicating the general attitude of that time, Jesus resorted to the familiar, rather than the commonplace, when He likened the situation to sheep without a shepherd. The unprotected sheep soon become a prey of any roving thief. The solution was promulgated in the Golden Text: "The harvest indeed is plentiful, but the laborers are few. Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he send forth laborers into his harvest." The major question, when it comes to helping others, is still that of an adequate leadership.

Early in His ministry the Master discerned that comparatively few of the people would attach themselves to Him. Another method must be worked out and the "WIN ONE" campaign was inaugurated, which is the one method of aggressive campaign in building up the Kingdom of God on earth that Jesus presented. There were many who could be classed as disciples, meaning learners. At one time there is record of as many as seventy being sent forth on this "WIN ONE" enterprise. Some plan of organization that was both constructive and permanent must be found. Therefore from among the many disciples TWELVE were chosen to be apostles, and the meaning of that word is "sent forth." These men were selected after a night given over to prayer, as was frequently the custom of their Leader. Commemorate the names to memory. Peter always heads the list and Judas, the betrayer, concludes it.

Having been called, these men were charged with a definite service in Kingdom-building. They were to be both evangelists and teachers, as well as constant teachers. These three divisions still hold in any missionary enterprise to-day—soul winning, schooling and medical missions. Practically all of the benevolent institutions throughout the world are the result of following the principles taught by Jesus Christ and His followers.

Jesus made it very clear that the work would be hard and that His ambassadors would suffer many rebuffs, but nothing was to stop them in seeking to win individuals to a personal belief in Him as their Saviour. There would be rewards in this life and still greater returns in the Kingdom above. The commission has not been modified. Today there are at least 400,000,000 children and youth in the world who are without any form of religious instruction.

PRICE-TAG BUYING IS BIG FEEDING HANDICAP

Some folks are afraid of a new idea. If you are such a person, this is not for you to read. You had best as well skip this article—either that or get rid of your fear.

The idea is, dairymen have got to stop using the price tag as a measure of value in feeds. The initial cost gives no more idea of what a feed is actually worth, either home-mixed or commercial, than does the color of a cow's hair indicate her performance at the pail. The question should not be "How much does it cost?" but "What will it do?"

What really counts in measuring the value of feed is the feed cost per 100 pounds of milk or per pound of butterfat. This is the correct way to determine which feed gives greatest returns for money spent. Using this measuring stick will in a great many cases show the low-initial-cost rations to be less economical than the high-initial-cost rations. And the same goes for feeding other livestock—sheep, swine and beef cattle.

Nor can the figures in feeding standards be regarded as the last word. Take hog millet—the figures show it contains less fat and carbohydrates than corn, and more fibre. Yet in Colorado feeding tests, pigs fed on hog millet made profit over feed of $8.26 per head, while pigs fed corn made $3.49 profit. So, when you come right down to it, the only dependable test is that of results.

The feeder seeing a lower cost of production should not aim at a lower feed cost so much as at a ration which will increase production. When that is secured, there will be time to go back to the price tag and use initial cost figures in the calculation of feed cost.

Remember, the first consideration should be better feeding, to get maximum production. Chances are, a feed which will enable the cow to do her best will be the cheapest you can afford to feed her. Certainly any ration that keeps her from doing her best at the pail needs improvement.—The Farm Journal.

HAVE YOU SEEN A MIRACLE?

Here is an important distinction that many people overlook. God made the world; but He does not make your world. He provides the raw materials, and out of them every man selects what he wants and builds an individual world for himself.

The fool looks over wealth of material provided, and selects a few plates of ham and eggs, a few pairs of trousers, a few dollar bills—and is satisfied.

The wise man builds his world out of wonderful sunsets, and thrilling experiences, and the song of the stars, and romances and miracles.

Nothing wonderful ever happens in the life of the fool.

An electric light is simply an electric light; a telephone is only a telephone—nothing unusual at all.

But the wise man never ceases to wonder how a tiny speck of seed, apparently dead and buried, can produce a beautiful yellow flower. He never lifts a telephone receiver or switches on an electric light without a certain feeling of awe.

And think what a miracle it is, this harnessing of electricity to the service of man!

Who, unless his sense of awe had grown blunt through constant familiarity, would believe it?

The sun, the center of our universe, goes down behind the western horizon. I touch a button, and presto! I have called it back—the room is flooded anew with light.

The thunder that men once called the voice of God rolls out its mighty waves of sound, and the sound carried only a few score miles.

But I—puny speck upon the face of the earth—I lift a little instrument; and, behold, my whisper is heard a thousand miles away.

Do we want heat? We press a button; and lo, heat, invisible, silent, all-pervasive, flows into our homes over a copper wire.

Do we need power? We have but to press another switch, and giants come to us over the same slender roadway. Clothed in invisible garments, they cleanse our homes, wash our clothes, crank our automobiles—do everything that once taxed the strength of men and hurried women into unlovely old age.

Don't let your life become a prosaic affair; don't let familiarity with the marvels about you breed thoughtlessness and contempt.

If you had stood with Moses on the shore of the Red Sea, and had seen it divided to let the Children of Israel pass over, you would have had no difficulty in recognizing that as a miracle.

But every night when the sun goes down, a man stands in a power-house in your city and throws a switch, and instantly the city and the country for miles around are flooded with sunshine.

And you say to yourself casually: "Oh, I see the lights are on."

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

By John Joseph Gaines, M. D.
PEPTIC ULCER

If you suspect that you may have ulcer of the stomach or its immediate vicinity, there are certain usual symptoms which may confirm or dismiss your conclusion, according to whether they are present or absent.

If your distress, whatever it is, comes on at least two hours after taking food—even later is the rule—this points to ulcer. Some are nauseated, some actual pain, some become distressed by gas. The point is, the distress comes on when the stomach is empty, or nearly so; and the reason for this is the excess of acid in the stomach reaches the surface of the ulcer, and sets up anything from gastric spasm to boring, burning pain, nausea, sour stomach, as well as many minor symptoms—always with an empty stomach, long after taking food.

This furnishes material for the second diagnostic point is this: Eating something gives temporary relief in almost every case of peptic ulcer.

When a patient comes to me with such evidence, I am led to suspect ulceration. The food relieves by absorbing the excess acid which causes the pain—takes it up much as the blotter takes up ink on paper. And a hyperacid condition is present in simple ulcer of the stomach. Taking "soda" relieves so many acid conditions that it is of lesser value in pointing to ulcer. Capable X-ray, of course, clarifies the situation.

My first requirement in ulcer is SOFT diet—and my reason is plain: If you had ulcer of the palm of the hand, you wouldn't rub it with half-masticated radish, celery, fried meat or potato—and expect it to ever heal. No raw fruits, or acid fruits, except possibly juice of sweet orange, sparingly. Soft food always. No overloading.

Never make a business of washing out the stomach, once ulcer is accurately diagnosed, "prodding."

ANNOUNCING

Our Dealership for the Minneapolis--Moline Power Implement Line In Perryton!

We wish to announce to the public in general and especially to the farmers of this community that we have taken the agency for the complete Minneapolis-Moline Power Implement Company line of farming implements and machinery which includes the Twin City tractor, the Minneapolis Combines and the Moline line of plows, drills, harrows and tillage tools.

We are glad to announce to our farmer friends that we have secured the agency for this line of implements and machinery—one of the oldest and best on the market. Our service and department will be complete in every detail.

SERVICE!

In the implement business, we emphasize service equally with sales. It has always been our belief that a sale does not complete the transaction between us and the buyer, but establishes a new obligation on us to see that the tractor, combine or plow gives him service. We are as much interested in your economical operation of it as you are. This is only good business on our part. If our machinery line gives service, sales will take care of themselves. We wish all users of Minneapolis-Moline Power Machinery to know what they are entitled to in this respect, so that they may fully avail themselves of this service.

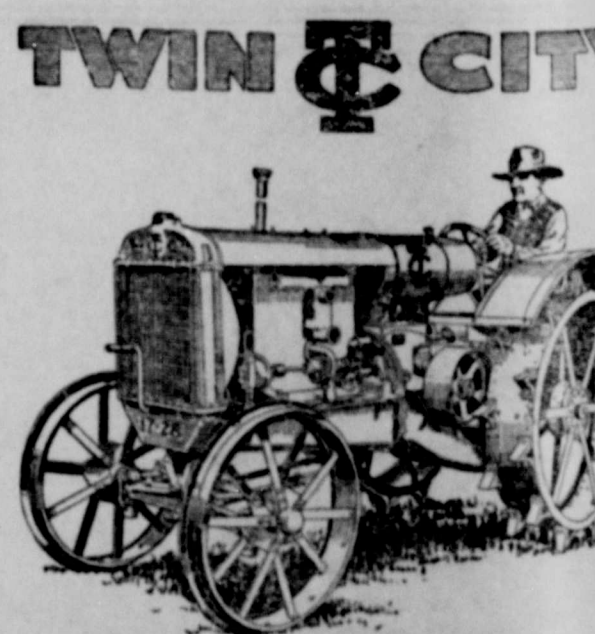

The Minneapolis Combine

Farmers quickly recognize in Minneapolis Combines those qualities indispensable for efficient threshing, saving and cleaning grain. They are the result of careful engineering, exhaustive field tests in the United States and Canada and forty-four years experience designing and manufacturing threshing machinery. Their excellent work in hundreds of fields where grain was considered unfit for combines, has given them the reputation for mastering tough jobs. You are invited to investigate the construction and performance of Minneapolis Combines and note particularly their superiority.

Moline Plows

Moline and LaCrosse Tractor Plows and tillage tools are by actual test lighter in draft than other tractor plows. Not only does this lighter draft effect a saving in tractor fuel, but many times this difference in draft means the difference between an overloaded tractor, and a tractor which is performing its work easily. Whatever you need in the plow or implement line, we have it.

With a Twin City Tractor on your farm this season you can cut your production costs and increase your yield and profits. We sell the Twin City in preference to others because we know it gives the most value for the money. Stop in and find out how reasonably you can have a Twin City Tractor on your farm this season. Make in three sizes, 17-28, 21-32, and 27-44.

Super-Convenience—or Bottom Price?

It's just a question whether you want merely mechanical excellence at a very low price, as is offered in the superior low priced single-tub

DEXTER Speedex

Or whether you are willing to pay a few dollars more for thoroughness plus super-convenience, as is offered in the Dexter Fastwin.

Phone for demonstration of the Dexter Fastwin, and if you aren't satisfied that it is worth the little extra price, you can have instead exactly the same machine in the single-tub unit—Dexter Speedex—at a very low price.

COUNTY AGENT SHEETS URGES REGULATION OF DAIRY PRODUCTS

Partners of Ochiltree County must win a race with time if they hope to receive an income from dairying in 1930 that compares with the figures of previous years, County Agent Guy R. Sheets pointed out this week.

The great danger of the present surplus of dairy products, he said, lies in its continuance. If it lasts until May, the beginning of the flush period of production, the price the farmer will receive for his dairy products during the most productive period of the year, will be far below what it was in 1929.

While this surplus will be dangerous unless removed, it can be very easily and successfully relieved, "the County Agent believes." All food authorities agree that we are not eating as much of dairy products as we should in the interest of our health. If some of our farmers are not eating butter now, they should begin at once in the interest of health and stabilized industry. Nothing takes the place of butter on bread or in cooking.

It would be unwise for a farmer to sell his entire herd of cows that he has spent time and money to build up, but he should cull out his low producing cows, raise as much feed as possible for the better part of the cows that remained in the herd, and then perhaps he could make some profit even at the prevailing low price of dairy products.

Cull these herds and sell the inferior cows, keeping only the better ones for future herd.

Set up a better system on these farms by getting more pasture and hay crops raised, and such grains that will produce in that particular locality.

Get some production on these herds in order to determine whether or not the cows are being kept at a profit or at a loss.

Always bear in mind that the table is the best possible market for as large a part of their dairy products as the farmer and his family can consume. Too, the more dairy products that are consumed on the farm table, the less will be the surplus on the market to hold the average price-level low.

The above outlined program, will greatly aid in stabilizing the dairy industry at this period of depression, with its 50,000,000 pounds of surplus butter in storage.

Seldon Caradine has accepted a position with the Perryton Drug Co.

wives, possibly; young men going back to sweethearts who loved them; girls who had faith in some men or other and were ready to make every sacrifice for them. To Luke Maddison every car that drew away was laden with happy people, their day's work ended, the recreations and pleasures of the night before them.

Old men, young men; girls looking trim and smart; young men smoking big pipes, with a newspaper under their arms; bespectacled students—their hypnotized him, these great, blazing tramcars.

He was standing with his back to the parapet, his elbows resting on the stone.

"Are you waiting for anybody?" The voice had authority, though it was quite kind. He looked up to meet the suspicious scrutiny of a City policeman. The City police do not like to see men lingering indecisively, one hand on the parapet, the swirling black river below—especially a white-faced man, with a tense and an almost horrified stare.

"N-no," stammered Luke, "I'm—just watching."

The policeman was looking at him curiously, as though he was trying to remember his face.

"I've seen you before somewhere, haven't I?"

"I dare say," said Luke, and turned away abruptly.

He followed the homeward-wending crowd across Blackfriars Bridge. It was dark and cold, and he struggled into the overcoat which he had been carrying on his arm. He remembered somewhere a little coffee-house, redolent of burning lard.

At eleven o'clock it began to rain, a fine drizzle that very soon soaked through the light coat. He was walking aimlessly along York Road in the direction of Westminster. A man ahead of him was walking more slowly, a slouching man with his hands in his pockets and his coat collar turned up. Luke was wearing rubbersoled shoes, and came up to the walker before he was aware of his presence. He saw the night wanderer lurch sideways with a snarl, stoop forward as though he were going to run, and then something in Luke's face or appearance checked his flight.

"Hullo!" he said huskily. "Thought you was a busy."

Luke recognized him.

"You're Lewing aren't you?"

The man peered into his face.

"Blimey, if it ain't Mr. What's-your-name?—Maddison! What you doing down here? You should have come to see me down Tooley Street; this ain't my pitch."

Twice he looked back furtively over his shoulder.

"You thought I was a detective?"

The thin lip of the man twisted in his pockets.

"Here, what's the idea, Joe?" Lewing's voice was a whine. "His gentleman is taking me around—"

The leader of the four laughed harshly.

"You've got to have a busy with you have you?" he said with an oath. "You ain't satisfied with nosing on us Connors, but you got to carry Scotland Yard strapped under your arm. That's yours, Lewing!"

To Luke it only seemed that the man had edged a little closer to Lewing as he spoke. Lewing coughed and fell groggily against Luke. "Get the busy," said a snarling voice.

Luke swung back but not quit in time. He saw the glitter of steel and felt as though a hot iron had been drawn across his breast; and then a curious weakness came on him, and he leaned back against the wall and gradually slipped into a sitting position. His last conscious impression was the clattering feet of running men; four dark shapes vanished into a greater darkness, and he was left alone, with something that sprawled across the pavement, staring with unseeing eyes at the flickering light of the street lamps.

It was the thirteenth day after the disappearance of Luke Maddison, and a day of fate for his wife, since it put a period to the long and agonizing hours of doubt and uncertainty, of self-reproach that at times approached self-loathing. Twice she had been on the point of acquainting the police and twice had Danty stopped her.

It was a time of worry for Danty also, but from quite another cause.

What had puzzled, and to some degree comforted her, was the fact that Mr. Stiles, the manager of Maddison's Bank, had shown no particular anxiety. She guessed, or knew that Luke had told him of her act, for when she had offered her check it had been almost pre-emptorily refused. What she did not realize was that in the days before she became a factor in Luke Maddison's life, and largely determined his actions, Luke was in the habit of disappearing into the blue. Invariably it was from Spain that Stiles had received a postcard notifying him of the imminent return of his employer. The country had a fascination for Luke Madison. He spoke the language like a native. He was one of the few Englishmen who understood and enjoyed the punctilio of bull fighting, and he loved nothing better than to retire to some lodging in Cordoba or Ronda and, making that his headquarters, rove the countryside for weeks on end.

Stiles was uneasy, but he had that hope left, that in this great crisis of his affairs Luke Maddison had gone back to the scenes of his happy holidays.

Margaret opened a drawer of her desk, took out a folded sheet of paper and handed it to Morell. It was a telegram addressed to Margaret Maddison:

You can hardly expect me to come back to you. In a few months I will furnish you with sufficient evidence to enable you to secure a divorce. I am not entirely without money, therefore I am not entirely without pleasant consolations. It was signed "Luke," and had been handed in at Paris at eight-thirty that morning.

"That's that," she said. Her tone was light, but there was an agitation in her heart which she had not imagined possible.

Consolations! And this was Luke Maddison, the realist—a vulgar philanderer, who had fled to—consolations!

"I'm rather surprised that you got this," said Danton gravely. "I shouldn't have thought he would have troubled to wire."

A few days later, on the center page of the Post-Herald Margaret saw the photograph of a haggard and unshaven man. It had evidently been taken in a hospital bed. His eyes were closed; the photograph just showed the edge of the sheet a few inches under his chin.

"Do You Know This Man?" demanded the headline.

She glanced at the letter-press, and saw that it had reference to a murder that had been committed in South London, and that he whose picture was shown had been present and had only escaped death by the narrowest of margins. Not even his dearest friend would have recognized Luke Maddison, for the photograph had not been taken until the eleventh day of his detention in hospital, and it had been taken in a very poor light.

They put Luke Madison in a private ward, and one morning they left a little temperature chart with him in his view, and he saw that his name was Smith.

"How long have I been Smith?" His voice was extraordinarily strong, remembering that only a few days before he had not been able to speak above a whisper.

The good-natured nurse grinned cheerfully.

"If we don't know people's names we call them Smith—preferably Bill," she said. "But you're going to be good, aren't you, and tell us yours?"

He shook his head.

"No, I don't think so. Smith is a very good name, borne by some very nice people. If my name had been Smith I might have been a better man," he added whimsically.

Since they had moved him into the private ward the burly-looking policeman who had loomed out of his dreams, and seemed part of them, had been taken away. That day they thought he was dying a

Eggs for 4-H Members

Free Setting of Eggs to Club Members Who Will Hatch Them as Club Project

The North Plains Poultry Association, will offer 25 White Wyandotte eggs from the fine flock of E. W. Rogers, to any 4-H Club member of Ochiltree county who will set the eggs or have them hatched at any hatchery and raise the chicks under the supervision of the county agent as a club project. This offer is being made to lend impetus to the poultry industry and the eggs are being given by E. W. Rogers, president of the association. Any Club member taking advantage of this must plan to show the chickens at the North Plains Poultry Show next December. Other members of the association who have exceptionally good flocks of other breeds will probably make a similar offer to Club members.

RANGERETTES TAKE 2 GAMES

WIN FROM SHATTUCK AND SPEARMAN BY BIG MARGINS DURING THE PAST WEEK

The Perryton girls took the best and fastest game of the season from Shattuck by a score of 35 to 29 last Friday evening. The game was fast from start to finish. Fans claim it was the best girls game ever played on the local court. Court Marshall says it was the best and fastest girls game he had ever seen.

Mildred Todd played a wonderful game at guard, but was carried from the game with a sprained ankle. Nora Eads went in the game with the score tied and with Itasca Massey's great guarding, only one free goal was allowed after the substitution.

Pauline Bryan was again high scorer with 21 points. She couldn't miss her long shots. The entire team was working with clock-like precision.

The Spearman game was a very one sided affair, the Rangerettes winning by an easy count of 46 to 15. Captain Brannin was high scorer with 24 points. The centers, Julia Belle Perry and Iona Packard, played a great game, keeping the ball to the forwards. The guards were able to get the rebound and did not let Spearman make but 15 points. The Rangerettes go to Spearman next Tuesday for a return game.

C. R. Burrow, Canyon, manager of the Burrow Lumber companies, was looking after business in Perryton several days this week. While here he visited in the Fred Battle home.

HOW TO OIL HARNESS

If you fill a tub half full of water then pour in just about enough oil to cover your harness, you can dip your harness in the water, and as it comes out it will gather just enough oil to make it soft and pliable. Of course the harness should first be scraped free of all grease or dirt clots.

And now that spasm is over we'll give you some more useful slogans:

"Keep That School-girl Complexion!"

Gem Razors

"The Paper is Part of the Picture!"

Douglas Shoes

"The Flavor Lasts!"

Squibb's Tasteless Castor Oil.

Because the growth a colt makes during its first year largely determines the size and endurance of the full-grown animal, and because it costs much less to put 10 pounds of weight on a colt that it does on a full grown horse, it pays to feed your colts well.

As you know, there is a lot of talk about Farmall tractors. The time is here when every farmer should have a 15-30 McCormick-Deering tractor to do the heavy work and a Farmall for row crops. And don't forget the slogan, if it's not a McCormick-Deering it's not a Farmall.

Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Brickley of Gray, Okla., have just purchased a beautiful three piece living room suite of us.

Spaghetti should not be too long. About ten inches O. K.

Joy stays with us as long as we bid him welcome and just fiddler for another dance.

We just can't keep still in our tractors. We are just loading a car of Farmall 15-30 tractors.

Come in and see the many improvements they have made our tractors in the past year.

So long, see you next week.
