Lubbock And South Plains Plan For Busy July Fourth

Celebrations In Several Cities Are Scheduled

No Formal Program Set For City But Various Events On Tap For Citizens

LUBBOCK and the South Plains Monday will observe the anniversary of the independence of the United States by closing shop and taking time off for celebrations of various kinds.

In Lubbock, the postoffice, federal, state and city offices and virtually all business houses will be closed. The same will be true of nearly all other towns in this section.

Regular Store Holiday

Fourth of July is a regular holiday for members of the Lubbock Retail Merchants association and its members will observe the day. Scheduled First Monday has been postponed until next week, when dollar day bargains will be held.

Exodus of vacationists and holiday seekers began Friday. By Saturday the trek to other climes for the week-end was well under way. Today will see the peak, with late comers leaving early Monday.

Visitors Arrive Here

Meantime former Lubbock residents and others with relatives here, began to arrive Saturday. More will come in today and still more, especially those with only one day to spend, will arrive Monday.

Lubbock civic organizations have not arranged for a special observance. Two special events are planned, however. Buffalo lakes, the only bathing beach on the South Plains, will be open all day, with a fireworks program at night. It is only nine miles southeast of the city. The city swimming pool at Mackenzie state park, east of town, will have a formal opening of the new bath house Sunday and Monday.

Have Special Pictures

Theatres today and Monday will have special holiday pictures. The usual crowds are expected.

Saturday night at the Auditorium on Texas avenue a dance was given. Starting at 12:01 Monday morning another will be held, with a third Monday night. Jimmy Claybrook and his negro orchestra from Piney Woods, Miss., will play Monday morning and Jack York, Lubbock orchestra leader and his group, Monday night.

Plains Counties To Get Road Projects

Roads in four South Plains counties will be affected when bids on proposed road and bridge construction estimated to cost $2,425,000 will be tabulated by the Texas Highway commission July 15, officials announced Saturday, according to the Associated Press.

By counties, the project included:

Lubbock — nine-tenths mile of flexible base and cut-back asphaltic concrete pavement and .3 mile reshaping base and cut-back asphaltic concrete pavement on 1.2 miles of state highway 24 and U. S. Highway 84 on the esplanades on College avenue in Lubbock and the cut-off through Texas Technological college campus.

Garza—reshaping base and double asphalt surface treatment on 7.8 miles of U. S. Highway 380 from 12.4 miles east of Post to the Kent county line.

Lynn — cut-back asphaltic concrete pavement on 15.7 miles of U. S. Highway 87 from the Dawson county line to Tahoka.

Dickens, Foard and Knox — 4.8 miles of seal coat and 18.2 miles of reshaping base and double asphalt surface treatment on 23.3 miles of highways 18 and 16 to loop into Spur and from four miles east of Spur to 2.4 miles north of the Kent county line.

Phares Gives His Reason For Dismissal From Department

AUSTIN, July 2. (AP)—L. G. Phares, 58, ousted chief of the state highway patrol, today attributed his dismissal to politics in the state police force and his refusal to accede to what he called numerous unworkable schemes.

In a long press statement, the organizer of the widely-renowned patrol insisted he had endeavored to cooperate with heads of the other units of the police organization and leveled charges at that organization.

National Banks In City Set Records

By J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

LUBBOCK'S national banks had, at the close of business the last day of June, the best financial statement ever made at the end of the first half of any year, showing substantial increases in loans, cash on hand, deposits and total resources over a year ago. The statements were made in anticipation of a bank call to be made by the comptroller of the currency, expected this week. June 30 being generally considered a regular date for such a call for condition of banks.

Credit conditions are seen to be much improved over a year ago. Farmers, after the beginning of the year, paid off their obligations to banks out of their cotton money. Most of them were able to finance a greater portion of their 1938 operations without loans than for several years.

Less Loans Reported

Likewise, government lending agencies report less loans to farmers this spring, especially agencies that attempt to make loans where banks are unable to take the risk. On the other hand, business loans are increased. Easier money is seen in the comparison showing $107,338.21 more loans than a year ago and $335,131.59 more than at the end of 1937.

Cash on hand this year is $1,304,420.37 above a year ago, but $1,713,666.67 less than Dec. 31. Cash on hand then was the largest in the history of Lubbock banks.

Deposits Are Shown

Deposits, while $1,489,611.68 less than last Dec. are $1,277,921.73 more than a year ago. Wheat harvest money had begun to come into local banks a year ago slightly earlier than this year. Some of the increase is due to new accounts from new commercial and industrial concerns located here and some to larger cash holdings of farmers and property owners, due to improved crop conditions of last fall.

Total resources show the banks have increased $1,398,269.30 over a year ago, but are $1,383,318.21 under the peak of last Dec. 31, when the total set an all-time record of $10,625,742.21.

Little Change Seen

There is but little change in the other items shown in the composite reports of the banks, such as value of banking houses, furniture and fixtures, federal reserve stock, other real estate and other assets.

Composite statements show the Public Debt Is At $285.70 On Each Citizen

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 2—The treasury reported today the public debt rose in the past year to an average of $285.70 for every man, woman and child in the nation.

This was $4.07 more than the amount owed per person a year ago.

Final Figures Shown

Final figures on the government's fiscal year, which ended Thursday night, showed the debt totaled $37,164,740,315.45. This was $740,126,583 more than the total a year ago. Interest payments on the obligation during the year required $926,280,713—nearly a seventh of all the government's expenses.

The treasury listed as the public debt only its own direct obligations. In addition, it said the government had contingent liabilities of $4,925,000,000 or $182,000,000 more than a year ago. These liabilities, officials explained, were in the form of guarantees as to principal and interest on the outstanding obligations of the Reconstruction corporation, the Home Owners' Loan corporation and other federal corporations.

Resulted From Borrowing

The increase in the public debt during the year resulted from government borrowing to meet a deficit—the eighth in a row, but the smallest since the depression began. In millions of dollars (000,000 omitted), here are the figures on the government's finances for the last two years and unofficial estimates for the year jus started:

Year Ending June 30	Receipts	Spending	Deficit	Debt
1937	5,294	8,105	2,811	34,425
1938	4,343	7,766	1,323	37,165
1939	5,500	8,500	3,000	39,000

Brother Of Lubbock Woman Is Taken By Death In Santone

Jack Dennis, 37, of Healdton, Okla., who died in a hospital at San Antonio at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, will be buried here at 10 o'clock Monday morning. He had been ill several weeks.

Funeral services will be conducted at Sanders Funeral chapel with Elder G. C. Brewer of the Broadway Church of Christ officiating. Burial will be in Memorial cemetery.

Dennis had visited in Lubbock several times at the home of a sister, Mrs. W. C. Wood of 2418 Twenty-second street.

Survivors, other than his sister here, include his father, D. L. Dennis, of Healdton; and three sisters, Mrs. Fred S. Gilley of Lawton, Okla., Mrs. Cecil Paxton of Post, and Miss La Verne Dennis of San Angelo.

Pallbearers will be S. L. Adams, Raleigh Martin, Ray Wood, A. L. Scoggin, W. L. Ferguson, J. C. Sanders, Claude Tatum, and Russell Newman.

Chamberlain Declares Britain Would Fight If She Had To

KETTERING, Eng., July 2. (AP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told 15,000 cheering fellow conservatives at a party rally here today "we would fight again" if there were no other way of preserving "our liberties."

He said first, however, it was his "prime duty to strain every nerve to avoid repetition of the great war in Europe," and he tempered his patriotic remarks about fighting again with a grim picture of the World war, which accompanied an explanation of his government's position on the question of repeated Spanish insurgent bombings of British merchant ships.

Famous Michigan Poet Dies Of Heart Attack Saturday

MUSKEGON, Mich., July 2. (AP)—Douglas Malloch, 61, whose poems had been carried in many newspapers, died here today following a heart attack.

Malloch, a native of Murkegon, published his first book of poetry, "Forest Land," in 1906. His widow and three children survive.

Slaton Farmer Near Death In Shooting

SLATON, July 2. (Special) — J. W. Phillips, about 58, farmer of northeast of Slaton, early tonight was found shot about 300 yards from his residence, according to Ragen Reed constable who assisted in the investigations.

Phillips was admitted to Mercy hospital here about 10 o'clock tonight and at 11:15 o'clock his condition was described by authorities as "extremely critical" and it was reported he might not live through the night.

Reed said the man had been shot through the head, the bullet apparently entering through the right eye and emerging near the top of his forehead nearly directly above the eye injured by the slug.

A .22 calibre rifle was found near the man. Reed said he was told Phillips' wife heard the shot and was the first to him. He was told Phillips had said he was going out to hunt rabbits and had taken the gun with him.

Assisting Reed in the investigations were R. L. Wicker, chief of police, and Loule Ayres, Santa Fe Railway officer. Late tonight no hearing had been conducted.

Phillips had lived in this area about eight years.

Man Prefers Death To Term In Prison; Is Found Shot

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 2. (AP) — Angus C. Littlejohn chose to die today rather than go to prison for using the mails to defraud.

A few minutes before he was supposed to surrender to the United States marshal, the 50-year-old former insurance executive was found fatally shot in the garden of his home.

Coroner W. W. Dragoo said Littlejohn had committed suicide and left a letter to his wife which read in part: "Goodbye. This is the best way out for everybody."

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Roberts of Shallowater route 1, on birth of a daughter weighing 8 pounds 13 ounces at 2:28 o'clock Saturday morning at West Texas hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wilson of Slaton on birth of a daughter weighing 8 pounds, at 4:20 o'clock Saturday morning in Plains hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Gilson who live in section house north of Lubbock on birth of a daughter weighing 8 pounds 12 ounces at 8 o'clock Saturday morning.

More Millions Ordered Into Public Hands

Additional Projects Receive Okay; Wheat And Flour Are Bought For Distribution

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 2. — Two government agencies — shock troops in the spending and lending attack on the depression—disclosed today they had ordered additional millions of dollars to the front line.

The Public Works administration approved 56 additional propects in 17 states. It agreed to grant $4,371,939 and lend $19,000 to finance them.

Products Are Purchased

At the same time the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation announced it had bought $8,000,000 worth of flour and wheat cereal products this week to be distributed free to families on relief.

The government thus swung further into its lending-spending program, which experts said would lift federal spending for relief and jobmaking to a monthly average of around $200,000,000 a month before the end of the summer.

Rate Runs High

Some of Uncle Sam's economists, scanning the spending outlook, said they expected the monthly rate of disbursements to reach about $300,000,000 by the end of the year. This rate, some said, probably would be maintained through the first half of next year. How soon this spending might jolt the nation's business and industrial machine definitely off dead-center, few were willing to predict.

There are prospects that relief and public works agencies, federal lending corporations and the army and navy will spend about $6,500,000,000 in the new fiscal year which began yesterday. Some of this money will be returnable to the treasury.

American Hot Dogs Are Served To Swedish Royalty Saturday

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 2. (AP)—Royalty ate American hot dogs with Mr. and Mrs Roosevelt today on rough picnic grounds high above the Hudson river.

Crown Princess Louise of Sweden was the guest of honor.

It was at the president's insistence that the open-air luncheon was served in a woodsy, wild spot near his new cottage site on Dutchess hill rather than at the more manicured picnic grounds at Val-Kill cottage nearby.

But it was Mrs. Roosevelt who demanded that the fare include honest-to-goodness hot dog such as any tourist might get at an American roadside stand, as well as a Swedish smorgasbord.

Pioneer Of Martin County Is Taken By Death Saturday

STANTON, July 2. (AP)—John Edmund Millhollon, 72, pioneer stockman and banker of Martin county, died at his home here today, following an illness of three weeks. He had suffered a stroke of paralysis.

Native of Denton county, Mr. Millhollon had resided in Stanton since 1900. He was engaged in ranching activities, and had been associated with the First National bank in Stanton since its organization in 1906. He became its president in 1931.

Medical Officer Is Amazed By No Deaths At Reunion

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 2. (AP)—Colonel Paul R. Hawley, army medical officer, said today he was "frankly amazed" that no death occurred among the 1800 northern and southern war veterans in reunion here.

"The only way to explain the record is that the veterans are a selected group of unusual hardihood," he said.

Large Field Of Candidates In Running For Soviet Post

WASHINGTON, July 2. (AP) — A large field of candidates is in the running for the ambassadorial post at Moscow left vacant by the transfer of Joseph E. Davies to Brussels.

President Roosevelt expects to discuss the appointment with state department officials Monday.

Ask Your Friend Why He Is All Pepped Up For Fourth

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Ask the first 100 Americans you meet today why the United States celebrates July 4 and about 90 of them will give the wrong answer.

Odds are, they'll reply:

That's wrong—by 29 days.

The declaration—say library of congress officials who ought to know because they've got the famous document—was passed by congress on July 4, 1776.

But—it was not until August 2 that the 56 signers put their names on it. Some of them were not even members of congress on the Fourth.

"They just let them sign it," explained an attache of the library's historical section, "to be courteous and not hurt anybody's feelings."

There's still a lot of historical confusion about the declaration, and the library doubts if it will ever get straightened out.

Evidence shows that on June 7, 1776, Richard Henry Lee laid

Where Shot And Shell Once Spread Death And Destruction At Gettysburg—

Gray And Blue Meet In Lasting Peace

Mercury Soars Up Near 100

Lubbock and the South Plains Saturday began a week-end observance of independence day with near 100-degree weather.

The maximum temperature Saturday, according to the main line station of the West Texas Gas company, was 99 degrees at 4 o'clock that afternoon. The maximum, as recorded at the Lubbock Municipal airport, was 93 degrees, a notch below the Friday maximum. Saturday was a degree warmer at the main line station.

The precipitation for the first six months of 1938, according to a summary of weather condition compiled by Don L. Jones of the state agricultural experiment substation, showed an increase of 2.19 inches above the normal precipitation. Total was 10.60 to compare with 8.41 normally.

Unusual Weather

"June was characterized by violent winds, hail, rain, and thunderstorms," Jones said. "Rainfall was the second highest in the history of the station for the month of June with moisture falling 16 of the 30 days."

The June total was 5.89 inches of moisture to compare with 2.55 normally. Maximum temperature was 99 degrees; minimum was 53. Other statistics showed a total wind run of 4,129 miles, a decrease from the normal wind run of 5,691 miles; total evaporation of 7.287; 13 clear days; 11 partly cloudy days; and six cloudy days.

"Miss Lubbock, Jr."

PATRICIA Lindsey, 7-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest L. Lindsey, 2429 Twentieth street, has been selected to represent Lubbock in a bathing beauty contest at Big Spring Monday afternoon. The contest is a feature of the Howard county capital's Independence Day celebration. The little Miss will compete against a field of entries from all parts of West Texas.

Six Persons Killed In Trolley Mishap

QUAKERTOWN, Pa., July 2. (AP) —Six persons—five members of one family—were killed today when their automobile was demolished by a high speed electric trolly near here.

John B. Johnson, about 47, of Freeland, Pa.

Mrs. Grace Johnson, his wife.

Miss Aileen Gallagher, 22, of Philadelphia.

Industrials Hit Highest Marks Since October

Turn In Economic Cycle Now Believed Reached; Usual Easiness Is Said Missing

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK, July 2.—Wall Street shattered tradition with a burst of pre-holiday buying today that sent stocks of industrial corporations to the highest levels since October.

All markets will be closed Monday, Independence day.

Uneasiness Is Absent

So strong was conviction that the spectacular advance of the past fortnight marked a turn in the economic cycle, that the usual tendency to be uneasy about holding stocks over an extended week-end was absent.

Leading industrial shares were bid up $1 to $4, lifting the average of 30 representative stocks $1.30 to $70.5, highest since October 30. Turnover of 1,472,420 shares was the highest for a Saturday since October 23.

That the record-breaking upswing of last week should carry on through a second week without serious interruption left the financial community surprised.

Values Climb High

Out of months of stagnation—with smallest trading in a couple of decades—came without warning a two-weeks' appreciation of some $10,000,000,000 in quoted stock and bond values.

One theory was that canny traders, looking for the bottom of the slump in July suddenly noted such measures of business activity as shipments of merchandise over the railroads and consumtion of electricity, had been creeping upward for weeks. Then they noted commodity prices rising. The government's new pump-priming was about to begin.

Becomes A Stampede

About the time they began to buy stocks, manufacturers decided it was not a bad time to buy raw materials. The movement quickly attracted attention of other potential buyers, and the movement became a stampede.

While manufacturing activity showed little change, the securities and raw materials markets exercised sentimental influence upon each other. With the laying in of raw materials, some manufacturers

Peace Eternal To Be Pledged

(By The Associated Press)

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 2.—An American symbol of "peace eternal" will be dedicated by President Roosevelt tomorrow on this field where the blood of a divided nation was spilled 75 years ago.

In the presence of 2,000 veterans of the blue and the gray, tenting together on the scene of the battle of Gettysburg, the chief executive will consecrate to a "united nation" a 40-foot shaft of Alabama limestone, topped by a light that will glow "forever."

Parade Is Reviewed

The aged heroes of the war between the states, for whose "last reunion" Sunday's spectacle is to provide the high point, reviewed a military parade today. Then many retired early, worn out.

Meantime, in a speech for a "veterans night" reunion, Daniel J. Doherty, national commander of the American Legion, said this battlefield "affords the world its greatest object lesson in peace" and men who fought there afforded America's doughboys an object lesson in courage.

No Other In History

"There is no other record in all history," he added, "where 75 years afterwards, the survivors of opposing armies met on the field of battle in friendship, affection and brotherly love."

Two of the aging men who fought here three quarters of a century ago, one in the blue of the North and the other in the gray of the

Mrs. Mary E. Begeman, Dumas, Claimed By Death In City

Mrs. Mary E. Begeman, 83, of Dumas, who has relatives here, died in a Lubbock hospital Saturday after having been ill about 10 days.

Her body was taken to Amarillo where funeral services will be conducted, it was reported by Rix Funeral home.

She is survived by a son, Roy Begeman of Dumas and a daughter, Mrs. Woodson Coffee, jr., of Silverton. Other survivors include two sisters living on the South Plains, Mrs. M. F. Grisham of Seagraves and Mrs. Cora Reichling of Slaton, and two nephews of Lubbock, Fred Higbee and George Reichling.

Three-Day Cowboy Reunion Is Opened At Big Spring

BIG SPRING, July 2. (AP) — Big Spring's annual three-day cowboy reunion and rodeo was off to an impressive start today, as thousands jammed the city for an inaugural parade and the first of a series of six arena shows.

More than 100 riders and scores of decorated cars and floats were in the mile-long parade that wound through the business district at noon. An estimated 3,000 persons were at the arena in the afternoon to witness calf roping, bronc riding, steer riding and bulldogging contests. There was another show tonight, and two performances will be presented daily on Sunday and Monday.

Fort Worth Youths To Ask Forgiveness

DALLAS, July 2. (AP)—Two Fort Worth choir boys tomorrow will rise before the congregation to confess a kidnaping and robbery and ask forgiveness.

So promised Homer S. Gentry, 18, and Charles S. Jennings, 19, upon their release by a Dallas county grand jury late yesterday.

Held under $10,000 bonds after they had kidnaped and robbed a taxi driver of $2.15 while admittedly under the influence of liquor, the youthful pair was "no-billed" by the grand jury after a group of Fort Worth citizens, headed by their minister, pleaded their cause. A member of the Fort Worth district attorney's office was in the group.

The minister, who told the investigating body the boys were regular members of his choir and attended church regularly, promised to see the boys would stay out of future trouble.

Army Flier Is Uninjured As His Plane Crashes On Field

MUSKOGEE, Okla., July 2. (AP) — Lt. Roland F. Fallows was uninjured today when the army pursuit plane he was piloting crashed on Hatbox field.

Fallows said the plane's brakes apparently locked as he was coming in for a landing.

Lt. R. L. Grove and Lt. B. H. Young, each piloting a similar plane, landed safely. The three officers were on a navigation flight from Barksdale field at Shreveport, La., to Mason City, Ia.

President Roosevelt's Trip To The Pacific Is To Be Man-Sized Campaign

Speaking Dates Are Arranged

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 2. (AP)—President Roosevelt's trip to the Pacific congealed today into a man-sized campaign and sightseeing tour.

Starting from Washington July 7, the president will speak from platforms, converse with people and look over the country all the way to San Diego.

To Take Cruise

At that California port, he will leave behind the activity of this year's congressional campaigns on July 16 for a two-weeks cruise of the Pacific and a trip through the Panama canal to a southeastern harbor.

The schedule was announced as the president spent his last day at home entertaining royalty. Crown Princess Louise of Sweden was his guest. For her, he arranged a picnic on the hill top site of his new summer home.

The president will leave tomorrow to deliver a ten-minute address on the Gettysburg, Pa., battlefield, then push on to Washington for four busy days before starting his tour.

Speeches Arranged

He has arranged speeches in Ohio, Kentucky, Oklahoma and Colorado.

The White House announcement made no mention of an address in California, but it seemed likely that he would speak there once, maybe twice. He will appear in public in San Francisco on July 14 and at Los Angeles and San Diego on July 16.

Mr. Roosevelt also will get off his train on July 11 for a tour of Amarillo, Tex., and possibly a speech.

Talk At Celebration

The major addresses will be at Marietta, Ohio's 15th anniversary celebration of the first settlement in northwest territory, on July 8; at the Latonia race track in Covington, Ky., later that same day; and at the Oklahoma City fairgrounds on July 9.

His Colorado speech will be at Pueblo, from the rear platform of his train, on July 12.

Kentucky received the lion's share of attention on the president's schedule. With a bitter fight on for the Democratic senatorial nomination there, he arranged rear platform appearances at Louisville and Bowling Green after his big speech at Covington.

On the vacation side of the trip, the president will visit his son, Elliott, and family at Fort Worth, Tex., from the night of July 9 to the morning of July 11. He will review the United States fleet at San Francisco on July 14 and motor through the Yosemite valley of California on July 15.

More Than 200 Cowboys Expected For Stamford Reunion

Thousands of visitors will be flocking to Stamford this week to see 200 or more actual cowhands compete in the rodeo at the Texas Cowboy Reunion, which opens Monday, July 4, to continue three days. The larger picture shows a small section of the grandstands as the crowd watches the battle between bronc and cowboy. In the small inset a calf-roper has thrown a perfect loop. The grand entry which preceeds each rodeo performance is shown in the larger inset.

Stamford Plans For Big Time

STAMFORD, July 2. (Special) — Visitors already are arriving in Stamford in advance of the opening Monday of the ninth annual Texas Cowboy Reunion, described as the biggest gathering of cowhands in America. Indications are that Sunday will find the town crowded and every facility of the community will be taxed to care for the crowds on the opening day. The celebration will continue through Wednesday.

However, preparations for entertaining the crowds which may exceed last year's attendance of 65,000 have been made on a larger scale than ever before. More than $13,000 has been spent for enlargements and improvements on the reunion grounds to care for increased attendance and to provide greater comfort for the visitors.

Celebrities To Attend

Definite announcement of four celebrities who will attend the celebration gladdened reunion officials on the eve of the opening. Governor James V. Allred, an annual visitor, definitely accepted an invitation from W. G. Swenson, president of the reunion, and will be here Monday and Tuesday, July 4 and 5. The governor will be met here by Gene Autry, cowboy movie actor from Hollywood. The invitation to Autry, native of Tioga, Texas, was tendered by Allred.

Senator Tom Connally has accepted an invitation extended to him by Walt Cousins, president of the Texas Cowboy Reunion association, and will be here on July 5. But from the greatest distance comes the Rt. Rev. Edward Rodhe, bishop of Lund, Sweden. Bishop Rodhe will be in Texas as the official representative of the Swedish government to the Texas Swedish centennial and is coming to Stamford as the guest of A. J. Swenson.

To Lead Parade

Allred, Connally and Autry are scheduled to lead the grand parade which will be held at 11 a. m. on July 5. All details of the reunion program have been completed. The Abilene high school Eagles band, which won state and regional championships last spring, has been contracted for to play for the rodeo performances.

A rodeo clown, Louis Blair of Mankins, has been signed for the arena shows. Another special act will be Larry Reasor of Gatesville with his trained horse, which is said to have some really new tricks. Highlight of the special attractions in the area however, will be the exhibition by the national champion sheep dog, Jean, presented by her owner, Luke J. Pasco of Chicago. Jean and a companion dog will appear at all afternoon and night performances.

Two Hundred Cowboys

Two hundred cowboys are expected to participate in the rodeo contests. Performances will be held daily at 8:30 a. m., 2 p. m. and 8 p. m., each program including calf-roping, bronc-riding, wild-cow-milking and steer-riding. The cutting horse contest, original with the cowboy reunion, will be held on the morning of July 5. The special calf-roping contest for men over 55 years of age will be held as usual. Rodeo judges this year are Frank Rhoades, Throckmorton; George Humphreys, Guthrie; W. B. Willingham, Rotan, and Bert Weir, Hobbs, New Mexico. R. M. Swenson is directing official for the rodeo and "Scandalous" John Selman, arena director.

An auction of registered Hereford bulls for the benefit of the oldtime cowboys bunkhouse fund will be held at the close of the rodeo performance on the afternoon of July 5. The bulls have been donated by ranchmen for the sale.

Heads Rotarians

LAMESA, July 2.—S. L. Forrest, above, prominent lumberman, has been installed as president of the Lamesa Rotary club. V. Z. Rogers superintendent of schools was installed as vice-president. G. M. Rogers, principle of Lamesa Elementary school is Secretary of the club, having served in that capacity since its organization two years ago. S. L. Forrest is past president of the State Lumberman's association of Texas. W. D. Arnett is retiring president of the club.

Crops Improved Over Southwest

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, July 2.—The condition of growing crops in the major portion of the eleventh district, says the monthly business review of the Federal Reserve bank of Dallas, has shown improvement in recent weeks. Retail buying at department stores at principal cities was well sustained in May, and the value of construction contracts, while declining further from April to May, was about one-fifth larger than in the corresponding month of 1937.

In the first three weeks of May, the review says, frequent showers over much of Texas delayed seeding of summer crops and resulted in grassy fields in the principal farming areas. Weather conditions since have been more favorable and farmers generally have made excellent progress in cleaning fields and completing seeding

Moisture Deficiency Relieved

The moisture deficiency in the western half of the Texas Panhandle and in portions of West and South Texas has been partly relieved by recent rain and crops in most of these areas are making poor to only fair progress. Rain is needed for practically all crops in northern Louisiana.

The estimated production of wheat in Texas June 1, the review says, was 39,860,000 bushels, the same as a month earlier, but prospects within the state have changed somewhat. Although the crop has continued to deteriorate in the western half of the Panhandle as a result of inadequate moisture, conditions have improved considerably in the northeastern plains counties. The district's corn crop, although late in many areas, has made generally satisfactory progress, the review says.

Cotton Shows Progress

Regardless of commercial reports indicating that boll weevils, leaf worm and flea hoppers are damaging the crop to some extent in a large number of counties in the Gulf coast section, the Texas cotton crop has made generally good progress since the latter part of May, the review says. Although an unusual amount of replanting has been necessary, seeding operations are about completed except in portions of northwest Texas. Stands are reported fair to good.

Range conditions in most sections of Texas, the review says, are well above the average and prospects for summer pasturage continue favorable. However, there are some areas in Northwest, West and South Texas where lack of moisture has retarded growth of range vegetation.

Livestock Fattens Rapidly

Reflecting the abundant supply of range feed in most sections of Texas, the review says, livestock in the state has fattened rapidly and is in better than average conditions. Receipts of sheep at the Fort Worth market were in record volume in May, but total marketing, which include interstate shipments, were smaller than in May last year. Cash income from sale of principal farm products in the district the first quarter of 1938 was maintained at a level 11 per cent higher than in the corresponding period of 1937, the review says.

The review quoted Dun and Bradstreet, inc., that the number of commercial failures in the district declined from April to May, but liabilities of defaulting firms rose to the highest level since August, 1935. There were 21 insolvencies in the month with indebtedness of $437,000, compared with 13 failures in May last year owing $84,000.

Gambill Funeral Rites Are Read Here On Saturday

Last rites for Mrs. Vera M. Gambill, who died Thursday night at Odessa, were read at Sander Funeral chapel at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon by Rev. C. E. Hereford, pastor of the First Baptist church. Burial was in Lubbock cemetery with Sanders Funeral home in charge.

She was the daughter of L. D. Hart of Lubbock. She also is survived by her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hart of Floydada.

Other survivors include four sisters, Mrs. W. R. Simon of Floydada, Mrs. Clay Neill of Odessa, Mrs. Arlie Dean of Hereford, and Mrs. L. T. Fletcher of Amarillo; and two brothers, P. B. Hart of Midland and L. D. Hart, jr., of Longview.

Bits Of Gossip On The Ether . .

AIREVUE IS SCHEDULED

The second annual Borden's "Al-Revue" will have it's initial broadcast from the stage of the Palace Wednesday night, July 13 at 9 o'clock. Scheduled to be bigger and better than last year's "Radio School of the Air," the new "Al-Revue" promises movie and radio fans a large number of excellent stage broadcasts.

Ned Bradley and His Orchestra will form musical background for the speciality professional acts to be featured each week.

Fine stage and radio talent will be gathered from the entire Southwest for the Thursday night "Al-Revue" . . . The half-hour broadcast will be heard over KFYO every Thursday night about 9 o'clock. The time will be definitely set at a later date.

SPECIAL PROGRAM PLANNED

A daughter of American Revolutionary heroes and the son of an immigrant, will talk about America and American freedom in a special July Fourth program over KFYO tonight at 6:30 o'clock. On this program, George E. Sokolsky interviews Mrs. Amorette E. Fraser, who is one hundred and two years old, and is one of the oldest persons ever to come before a microphone.

Keen and alert even at her age, Mrs. Fraser has lived through the period which has seen our country develop to the greatest nation in the world. She brings to the KFYO audience a Fourth of July Week message which is particularly appropriate and inspiring.

PROFESSOR MAY RUN

Politics rears its ugly head this afternoon at 1:15 o'clock, when "Professor Twigleaf's School of the Drammer" again takes the air over KFYO.

During the past three years the good Professor has received four letters from listeners urging him to run for something. Since Twigleaf has spent most of his time running "from" something or somebody, the idea pleased him, and on this afternoon's show, he'll make a bid for the listeners votes and support.

W. J. Peel Dies At Idalou Son's Home

W. J. Peel, 83, died at 2:45 o'clock Saturday morning at the home of a son, J. M. Peel of Idalou, after several weeks illness.

Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon at Holley Springs and burial will be there, Sanders Funeral home of Lubbock announced. The body was sent Saturday night to Wills Point, near which Holley Springs is located.

Peel had lived in Idalou about one and one-half years and formerly had lived at Martins' Mills in Van Zandt county.

He is survived by 11 sons and daughters, J. M. and S. A. Peel of Idalou, Mrs. H. T. Bateman and Mrs. Lillie Selke of Lubbock, J. U. Peel and Mrs. H. H. Selke of Abernathy, Mrs. E. B. Allen of Hale Center, Mrs. W. S. Prestige of Fort Stockton, Mrs. C. S. Blair, O. O. Peel and R. G. Peel of Canton; and by 39 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Swanky Auxiliary Sailboat Is Captured By Coast Guard

GALVESTON, July 2. (AP) — The United States coast guard patrol boat Nike, in a radio message received by local coast guard authorities at 4:10 p. m. today reported capture of the $15,000 auxiliary sailboat Artemis, stolen from the Galveston Yacht club basin early Tuesday.

Coast guard officials here were awaiting further radio advices from the Nike. Details of the capture were not included in the message.

Discrimination Is Extended

ROME, July 2. (AP)—Book-sellers here said today fascist leaders had advised them orally to avoid displaying and pushing sales of books by Jewish authors.

Translations into Italian of books by foreign Jews, they said, also was being discouraged in line with a policy of restricting Jewish activities, without taking more direct measures.

Thousands Of Colonies Of Buzzing Bees For Texas

LOCKHART, July 2. (AP)—Texas, if you didn't know, has 234,000 buzzing colonies of bees.

This information was given to delegates who today closed the two-day session of the Texas Beekeepers association. They were warned to aid in inspection of colonies to keep them free of disease.

Ivan F. Aten of D'Hanis was elected president; Howard Weaver of Navasota, vice-president; H. B. Parks of San Antonio, secretary-treasurer.

Waxahachie was chosen for the 1939 meeting and all officers of the women's auxiliary were re-elected. They include Mrs. Alvin Clark of Bandera, president; Mrs. J. Claude Wilson, North Pleasanton, vice-president; Mrs. Ivan F. Aten of D'Hanis, secretary-treasurer.

Southwestern Banker Has Ashburn Article

The business forecaster "must keep his fingers constantly on the pulse of the economic and political life of the nation and on world affairs as well" to be accurate in these times of economic and political stress and uncertainty.

Thus Dr. Karl E. Ashburn, economics and business administration professor at Texas Technological college, wrote in an article, "Business Forecasting: A Problem in These Uncertain Times," appearing in the June issue of the magazine, Southwestern Banker.

Written before the new federal spending-lending program was adopted, the article pointed out that "Those who would predict business conditions in the United States in the next two years must answer such questions as these: 'To what extent will Roosevelt attempt to lend and spend his way out of the 1937 business recession?' 'Will the regulatory powers of the government over private business be increased or decreased if the business recession of 1937 runs into a depression?' 'Will the Republicans gain seats in the House and Senate in 1938?'"

The business forecaster performs a real function in economic life, but there is a crying need for more reliable forecasting based upon more scientific and adequate data, the article pointed out. "Perhaps there is a sufficient area in which knowledge and experience can serve as guides so that competent forecasting is better than pure chance. But it is an open question!", the article concluded.

Fresh Impetus To Chamberlain's Plans For European Peace Is Offered

Debt Settlement Will Be Help

LONDON, July 2. (AP)—Great Britain's debt settlement with Germany gave a fresh impetus today to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's plans for a general European appeasement.

Talk of possible early approach toward the broad political issues now keeping Europe in a state of fear followed yesterday's agreement on Anglo-German financial questions.

Other Factors Seen

Other factors also contributed to an improved feeling about the future, including cessation of Spanish insurgent attacks on Britain shipping.

Possible early operation of the British plan for withdrawal of foreign fighters in the Spanish war.

Settlement of Turkish-French differences over the Sanjak of Alexandretta.

The bitter commons-cabinet clash over the threatened use of the official secrets act to silence criticism of defense plans by members of parliament passed into the committee inquiry stage, thus taking the fire off Chamberlain temporarily.

Commission Sought

Chamberlain continued efforts to get a projected neutral bombing commission working to prevent possible Spanish government reprisals for insurgent attacks on civilian populations, which might bring new international complications.

In a note to the Spanish government today Britain said she still was pressing for formation of the commission to investigate air raids in Spain. The note was in response to a communication from Barcelona last week in which the Spanish government threatened to take reprisals for air attacks on its civilians in which Italy and Germany were involved.

Stock Market

the past few days have begun to talk of increasing their production schedules.

So analysts claim the indications are the turn is at hand. How far or how fast economic improvement will progress is another matter.

Explanations Offered

The Wall street gossip mill has been busy with different, or subsidiary explanations, such as:

1—The story — discredited in Washington—that a joint dollar and pound sterling devaluation was under consideration, together with a British war debt settlement, which might bring a big increase in British purchases here.

2—Theory that a more cooperative attitude between the New Deal and big business was in the making.

3—Belief in some quarters that friendlier relations were developing between capital and labor.

Washington authorities expect that with the stimulus of the government's spending program, business will be definitely on the upgrade by Labor day. Wall streeters are particularly hopeful for the immediate future for the consumers goods industries.

Trading in the stock exchange this week exceeded 12,000,000 shares, about 2,000,000 more than last week, and best for any week in a rising market in more than a year.

Closing prices, and the gains for the past fortnight, for a few representative issues follow: U. S. Steel, $60.87, up $18.87; Anaconda, $34.87, up $10.87; Chrysler, $66.62, up $25.50; New York Central, $17.50, up $6.75; Montgomery Ward, $44.62, up $12.62; U. S. Rubber $39.25, up $12.75; North American, $23, up $4.12.

The Postman Rang Twice

The postman stopped twice in one day at the modest home of Mrs. Sadie Leslie Monssen (above) in Brooklyn. First he left a letter which said the government will name a destroyer in honor of her late husband, Lieut. Monssen, who won the Congressional Medal of Honor in 1904 when he saved the battleship Missouri when fire bit toward her powder magazine. The postman called again that day and left another letter, which said the Home Owners Loan Corp., a government agency, will foreclose on her home. She is shown looking at a photograph of her late husband.

Travis Candidate For Superintendent Of Public Instruction Speaks In Lubbock

W. E. James, of Travis county, spoke on the court house lawn Saturday night in interest of his candidacy for state superintendent of public instruction, subject to action of democratic primaries.

He favored:

A revision of the public school laws to eliminate obsolete and conflicting statutes and to require the placing of all departments of education fees in the state treasury.

Reorganization Favored

A reorganization in the office of the state superintendent to provide greater administrative efficiency and economy.

A general advisory educational council to advise with the state superintendent in developing a greater public school system.

Equal educational opportunities made a reality for all children.

An enlarged program for vocational education and rehabilitation.

Adequate state per capita funds and an equalization appropriation to meet the needs of the schools.

Equal pay for equal qualifications for elementary and high school teachers without reducing.

Adequate State Support

Adequate state support for the teacher retirement system.

Practical instruction in good citizenship and safety in the public schools.

James was county superintendent of Williamson county, served eight years in the state department of education, four years as rural aid supervisor and four years as first assistant state superintendent, was a graduate of North Texas State Teachers college, Baylor university and the University of Texas, and taught in each of the institutions from which he was graduated.

Peace Eternal

South, will unveil the monument to "peace eternal."

Then, as a hood of bronze is lifted from the tip of the tower at twilight, an electrical device will turn on a three-foot gas flame to burn as a symbol of the friendship that succeeded the war between the states.

Visible 20 Miles

Shining from the top of Oak Ridge, second highest elevation on the rolling battlefield, the light will be visible for 20 miles.

The beacon was erected at a cost of $60,000 contributed by seven states—Pennsylvania, Virginia, New York, Tennessee, Wisconsin, Indiana, and Illinois.

On the sides of the monument are these inscriptions:

Young Woman Marries Man Who Has Been Her Hero

LOS ANGELES, July 2. (AP)—Mary Alice Shaw, 26, was married today to "my hero since I was a child," Gipsy Smith, 78, an evangelist of the old time religion on five continents.

The ceremony was performed in the Hollywoodland home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Allie G. Brady, a setting reminiscent of the Romany gypsy's boyhood days in rural England.

Tears glistened in the eyes of lithian haired Miss Shaw, a musician and theological student, as she said, "I do." She had met her bridegroom in England when she was 12.

"I look upon him as I would a god," she had said before the marriage.

Houston Again Leading State

(By The Associated Press)

Celebration Of Fourth Slated

between Lubbock Hubbers and Clovis will be played, this afternoon and Monday.

There will, of course, be the usual picnics at all city parks and at Mackenzie state park.

Postoffice Is Closed

All windows at the Lubbock postoffice will be closed all day Monday, Postmaster Amos Howard said. There will be four collections of mail down town, about 11 a.m. and 2:30, 6 and 8 p. m.

Only special delivery letters or parcels will be delivered Monday business, residential and rural carriers not working. Mail for lock boxes will be distributed, as usual.

The holiday, coming after a Sunday holiday, will work a slight hardship on clerks and carriers Tuesday morning, with extra heavy mail.

Big Program At Slaton

Slaton business leaders for weeks have been working on their celebration for Monday. They have arranged a varied program, with prizes for floats in the parade and for sports events. The day's program will start with a parade at 10 o'clock with basket dinner on city hall park; candidate speaking at 1:30 o'clock with a general sports program at 3:30 o'clock, and soft ball at 4:30.

The night program will include a pageant at the football stadium at 8:30 o'clock with King and Queen Cotton and the court ruling. Miss Elizabeth Stokes has been chosen queen and Misses Hope Hennington and Bettie Rue Stamford as attendants. A street dance is to start at 9 o'clock. R. L. Chappelle will judge agricultural events and two women will judge other entries.

Post will start it's celebration Sunday with a band concert in the high school at 3 o'clock followed by a baseball game between Ralls and Post negro team.

Street Parade Planned

Monday starting at 9:30 o'clock will be a street parade from the Santa Fe station to the courthouse and thence to Two-Draw lake where the day's program will be given. At 10:45 a home talent program will be given. Basket picnic is at noon.

Afternoon events include a bicycle derby at 2 o'clock, a saddle and shetland pony race, baseball game between Snyder and Post negro teams. Fireworks will be presented on the shores of the lake at 8:45 o'clock with a dance down town starting at 10.

Lamesa's program will consist of a candidate speaking on the courthouse lawn, starting at 10 o'clock. In the afternoon there will be aerial stunts and a bathing beauty contest at the city swimming pool. Many state and district candidates have advised the Lamesa chamber of commerce of their intentions to be represented.

Floydada Celebrates

Floydada is staging a Fourth of July for the first time in several years. Roaring Springs negro baseball players meet the Floydada negro team during the afternoon. Harley Sadler will open a two day stand. There will be an old fiddlers contest.

Sudan has arranged a two-day baseball battle, Sunday and Monday, between their team and the Amherst Reds. Sunday's contest will be at Amherst and Monday's at Sudan.

Seagraves has a 3-day rodeo program, sponsored by the American Legion post, with C. E. Gallaway and O. S. Reynolds of Crane in charge. Cowboys from a wide area are said to have entered the contests.

Annual Calvacade

Carlsbad has its annual Cavern City cavalcade over the week-end. Rodeo events and other special numbers have been arranged. A matched calf roping contest between Buster Lee of Hobbs and Joe Welch of Carlsbad is featured.

Big Spring expects 28,000 to attend its annual 3-day contest with rodeo performers from Oklahoma and New Mexico entered as well as from Texas. The affair opened Saturday. Monday afternoon a bathing beauty show is planned and Lubbock has an entry.

Stamford's annual cowboy reunion starts Monday and lasts three days. Texas cowboys have entered the lists and old-time cowboys are to be there for the occasion. The event has state-wide importance with followers of the rodeo.

Hurricanes, along the Florida coast, have placed the white heron on the border of extinction.

Mystery Death Thought Solved

NEW YORK, July 2. (AP)—The mysterious four-year-old slaying of William Snyder, a crime that developed into a political issue last fall, appeared today to have been solved by the pleas of guilty of Morris and William (Wolfie) Goldis, brothers.

Morris Goldis, a studious-looking man of 28, was said by the district attorney's office to have admitted before a grand jury last week that he was the "trigger man" in the killing.

Both Plead Guilty

Arraigned before Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora yesterday, the Goldis brothers were permitted tentatively to plead guilty to charges of first degree manslaughter.

They had been indicted, along with Max Silverman and Sam Schorr, alleged labor racketeers, on first degree murder charges.

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey made the case an issue in his political campaign last November.

He refused to comment on published reports that his office was inquiring into reports that a $25,000 "hush fund" had hampered previous efforts to prosecute the slayers.

Lured Into Restaurant

Snyder, president of local 138 of the teamsters union, was lured into a Manhattan restaurant in September, 1934, and shot in the back. Morris Goldis was arrested the next day but was released when witnesses who previously had identified him recanted.

Silverman and Schorr pleaded innocent yesterday. Justice Pecora withheld final acceptance of the guilty pleas of the Goldis brothers until Dewey had submitted more information. The case was adjourned to July 15.

Highway 84 between Taheka and Post, closed by the state highway department more than a week ago becsuse of heavy rains which sent lakes over the highway, has been opened, the division office said Saturday afternoon. Waters have gone down sufficiently to permit traffic to be routed over the highway.

L. B. Wright of 1502 Avenue N Saturday reported to police theft of a lawn mower. It had not been reported found that night.

A 21-year-old man was arrested here late Saturday by Jas. P. Posey, chief deputy sheriff, and Carl Francis of the police department on "pick-up" orders from W. E. Whittle, Fannin county deputy sheriff at Bonham. Whittle, in a letter to Sheriff Tom Abel, said the man was wanted on a felony warrant. Abel said the man and another suspect would be held here pending investigations into passage of forged instruments.

A Mexican, 21, Saturday entered a plea of guilty in corporation court of shoplifting at a downtown department store and was fined $15, according to information from police headquarters. He had been arrested by L. W. Bell, special officer.

Auditor Hears Politics Charge

BOSTON, July 2. (AP)—A court-appointed auditor today heard a charge that one of Boston's biggest banks switched the handling of an $800,000 policy from one insurance firm to another "because it wanted James Roosevelt to get the commission."

Climaxing the first phase of a legal battle, counsel for Arthur D. Cronin, an insurance broker who is seeking $31,750 plus interest in a civil suit against the National Shawmut bank, asserted the bank had withheld the lucrative policy from his client at the last minute in order to give it to an agency with which the eldest son of the president was associated.

Lost $31,750, Charge

After a counter-assertion by the bank's counsel that James Roosevelt was not "personally" concerned, and that there was no evidence of any "political gain" by the bank, the auditor retired to prepare his report. He was named by the Suffolk superior court to determine findings of fact in the case.

Cronin based his case on a contention that the bank had employed him to obtain the insurance, that he spent several months making arrangements for it with the American Fore group, an organization of insurance companies, and that, despite his work and arrangements, he had been "wrongfully deprived" of $31,750 in commissions.

Chief Pulled Fast One When Indians Held Beauty Revue In Illinois 81 Years Ago

CHICAGO, July 2. (AP) — Beauty contests were known in Illinois 81 years ago. The first one recorded was held near Ottawa on July 4, 1857.

Research writers on a WPA project have uncovered the story. They report the contest was for Indian maidens and squaws.

An old Indian chief was named judge. He deliberated long and gravely. Finally he stepped before a squaw that stood six feet in her moccasins and weighed 400 pounds, places his hand on her shoulder and proudly said, "Prettiest squaw." She was his wife.

ALARM IS EXPRESSED

BUENOS AIRES, July 2. (AP) — Meditators attempting to settle the long Chaco dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay expressed increasing alarm today over reports that the two nations were rearming.

Golfer To Wed Heiress

Golfer Horton Smith said he and Miss Barbara Louise Bourne, heiress to part of the Singer Sewing machine fortune, probably would wed in the fall. The two are shown in Springfield, Mo., at the home of Smith's parents.

Highway Bids To Be Opened

AUSTIN, July 2. (AP)—The state highway commission announced today it would open bids July 15 on proposed road construction in various counties estimated to cost $2,-425,000.

Among proposals, by counties, were:

Navarro—Grading, drainage structures and select material surface for 3.7 miles of feeder highway from near highway 22 to near highway 31 in Kerens.

McLennan—grading and drainage structures on 9.8 miles of feeder highway from McGregor to Moody.

Galveston — Hydraulic embankment and lengthening drainage structures on 1.4 miles of U. S. highway 75 from 4 miles east of the intersection of U. S. highway 75 and state highways 38 and 146 on Galveston island to the west city limits of Galveston.

Angelina—Grading and drainage structures on 7.5 miles of highway 103 from 8 miles west of Lufkin to a junction with U. S. highway 69, 8 miles west of Lufkin.

Franklin, Lamar and Hunt—Widening structures on 3 miles of U. S. highways 67 and 82 and state highway 24 between the Hopkins county line and Mount Vernon, Brookston and Paris, Hopkins county line and 8.7 miles west and between Greenville and Commerce.

Bill Terry Planks Down Money, But He Doesn't Get Home

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 2. (AP) — Clarence Saunders, the Memphis grocer, remained in possession of "Annswood," beautiful Park avenue estate, today, and announced he would continue to occupy it despite the fact that counsel for William (Bill) Terry, manager of the New York Giants, has notified him to vacate by July 5.

"I have no intention of vacating," said Saunders.

Terry, represented by W. Percy McDonald, attorney, bought in the estate at a foreclosure sale May 3 for $75,000. Terry previously had bought the mortgage from a Memphis bank.

No, No And No

Saunders contends he had an agreement with the former owner to buy the property and this agreement took priority over the foreclosure sale.

Attorney McDonald indicated he probably would seek a writ of forcible entry and detainer from a magistrate July 5, the usual procedure in attempting to force an occupant to vacate a home.

Seattle Man Is Being Held In The Slaying Of Wife

SEATTLE, July 2. (AP)—Charles F. Butte, 58-year-old financial adviser, was jailed today after police found his wife beaten to death in her bed at the hour the couple had planned to start "a second honeymoon."

Detective Chief Yoris said Butte was arrested when an autopsy indicated his wife was dead at 5 a. m., more than three hours before Butte said he left her apartment.

Butte said he went to her apartment again last evening when she failed to keep an appointment to go on a second honeymoon. He found her dead from three blows on the head.

Fight Against Grasshoppers Is Planned For Next Year

DALHART, July 2. (AP)— Farmers and ranchers of four Panhandle counties, where this season's siege of grasshoppers has been brought under control, are preparing against a potential infestation next year.

A. A. Miller, federal entomologist from Minneapolis, Minn., will remain to help farmers this summer and to make egg surveys this fall. If there are indications of infestation next year, the area will be marked for scouting to avoid delay in inaugurating control methods.

My Pet Headache

Highway Cop

(By Associated Press Feature Service)

Worrying is a whole-time job for California's Highway Patrolman James Brewer. But he has a pet peeve—drunken drivers.

"The drunken driver is the biggest worry to me and to my fellow officers because we all know he represents an accident going somewhere to happen," says Brewer.

"A drunken driving accident usually involves two factors. One usually is a minor driving complication that could have been overcome had the driver been mentally alert. The other is the driver's mental fog.

"All officers agree that the drunken driver never has control over a situation and wouldn't be able to drive an automobile properly even if he were in a hundred-acre field."

Safe And Sane 4th Sought In Texas

AUSTIN, July 2. (AP)—Mangled limbs, burned faces and hands and loss of life and property will result from a few hours of recklessness on the July 4 week end, Fire Insurance Commissioner Marvin Hall warned today.

"In years past," he said, "the toll in human lives and happiness has been high on July 4. Burned faces and hands, mangled limbs, the loss of life and property—that has been the price for a few hours of reckless pleasure with firecrackers and other common July 4 explosives.

"This year we can remove the names of Texas children from the list of casualties and save our homes and property from the scourage of accidental fires by observing common-sense safety and fire precautions. Texas has a splendid fire and life loss record for the first six months of 1938. A safe and sane Fourth of July will keep that record intact."

Sister Of Mexican Rebel Is Reported To Be Captured

MEXICO CITY, July 2. (AP) — Reports reached Mexico City today that rebel leader Saturnin Cedillo's sister, Elna, had been captured near Encantada, 60 miles southwest of Monterrey.

She was said to have been taken from a train bound for Laredo, Texas, and placed in custody of military authorities of San Luis Potosi state. An order for her release was expected.

Federal troops continued their hunt for Cedillo, whose followers started an unsuccessful revolt May 20.

NEW PRODUCE HOUSE

MORTON — Odell Smith has opened a cream buying station here. He also will handle produce.

Breweries in Venezuela are required by governmental decree to keep their production at 1000 quarts or more of beer daily, except in case of machinery breakdown, to insure against a shortage of beer in that country.

No Opposition Of FDR Seen

INDIANAPOLIS, July 2. (AP)—U. S. Senator Sherman Minton (D-Ind), a staunch supporter of the New Deal, said today neither President Roosevelt nor his chief political adviser, Postmaster-General James A. Farley, would attempt to block a rapidly spreading movement among Hoosier Democrats to renominate his senior colleague, Senator Frederick Van Nuys, at their state convention here July 12.

"So far as both President Roosevelt and Jim Farley are concerned," Minton said, "the Indiana Democrats are perfectly capable of making their own selection. They are not taking any interest in the Indiana situation."

Van Nuys Adamant

Van Nuys, who was rebuked publicly last August by Governor M. Clifford Townsend for his opposition to the president's court reorganization bill, has announced plans to seek re-election as an independent if denied the Democratic nomination. The strong statehouse organization has threatened to defeat him in the convention.

Asked whether he would support Van Nuys if the campaign to renominate him is successful, Minton replied:

"If the party wants Van Nuys, of course, I'll support him."

Big Bend Park Given Charter

AUSTIN, July 2. (AP)— Secretary of State Edward Clark today approved a charter of the Texas Big Bend Park association, which was organized a few weeks ago to raise funds by public subscription to purchase approximately 800,000 acres as Texas' part of an international park.

The association was incorporated for five years with no capital stock, but with an estimated $25,000 assets, by Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth publisher; H. W. Morelock of Alpine, president of Sul Ross State Teachers college; D. A. Bandeen of Abilene, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and Nathan Adams, Dallas banker.

Powers Are Given

Besides raising funds, the association was empowered to grow, sell and purchase seeds, plants and trees for agricultural, horticultural and ornamental purposes, to establish a principal office at Austin and to maintain a personnel and facilities to carry out the project.

With the acting governor of the state to be at all times honorary chairman, the charter, as filed by Rep. J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene provided the association was to be managed and directed by an executive committee of 29 members, as follows:

Amon G. Carter of oFrt Worth, James R. Record of Fort Worth, John W. Carpenter of Dallas, John King of Dallas, J. E. Josey of Houston, Jesse H. Jones of Houston, W. B. Tuttle of San Antonio, H. R. Smith of San Antonio, C. N. Bassett of El Paso, Wendell Mayes of Brownwood, Gus F. Taylor of Tyler, Lutcher Stark of Orange, Mrs. Richard Turrentine of Denton, Mrs. M. A. Taylor of Bonham, J. E. Casner of Alpine, H. W. Morelock of Alpine.

H. S. Hilburn of Plainview, Max Starke of Seguin, Paul T. Sanderson of Trinity, Charles F. Roeser of Fort Worth, Nathan Adams of Dallas, T. B. Ramey, Jr., of Tyler, Sidney Latham of Longview, J. K. Hughes of Mexia, Mark Fuchs of New Braunfels, Houston Harte of San Angelo, Gene Howe of Amarillo, W. C. Cameron of Waco and Harlan Pentress of Austin.

At an organization meeting late in May, Carter was elected chairman, Morelock vice-chairman, and Bandeen, secretary.

France Raps Japan In Commercial Ban

PARIS, July 2. (AP)—Growing coolness between France and Japan over the war in China has resulted in an abrupt French order suspending importation of Japanese merchandise on the quota list.

The drastic move, coupled with the relative small volume of foreign trade involved, caused observers to link the commercial break with diplomatic incidents growing out of he far eastern conflict.

Foreign traders said France never before had taken so severe a commercial action against any country.

Yet the quotas involved—about one-fourth of Japan's exports to France, make up only half of one per cent of total Japanese exports, and slightly less than that percentage of French imports. Imports of raw silk were not affected.

Financial Reverses Receive Blame In Man's Suicide

CORTLAND, N. Y., July 2. (AP)—Financial reverses were blamed today by a coroner for the suicide of Chesla Sherlock, 42, former editor of St. Nicholas and other nationally known magazines, who, the official said, shot himself at his farm home after killing his wife.

Coroner Claude E. Shapin gave a formal verdict of murder and suicide a short time after the bodies were found by a vegetable peddler. Chapin said Sherlock had told neighbors recently he had lost $20,-000 in an Iowa business venture several years ago.

The annual average gasoline tax bill for a family car is about $36; the average American taxicab has an annual gasoline tax bill of approximately $183.

'Be Careful' Is Warning Given Texans

Safe Driving Being Urged

AUSTIN, July 2. (AP)—The ghastly death toll of Fourth-of-July celebrations, with hazards heightened this year because of the double holiday, today prompted state police to devise these safety rules:

(1) Start motor trips early enough to maintain safe driving speed, avoid weariness by changing drivers—and don't drink anything with alcohol in it.

Give Proper Signals

(2) Stay off congested roads if possible, give proper signals at all times, be eternally vigilant and don't park on highways.

(3 Avoid night driving and the fatal "twilight hour" or, if you must, keep your tail and headlights and dimmers in excellent working order.

(4) Exert all possible caution in swimming and diving.

(5) Don't use fireworks.

The department of public safety has warned that, based on the law of averages, no less than 21 persons are sentenced to violent death on the week-end of Independence day celebrations—and among them might be members of your family or you!

While 21 will suffer death, nearly 50 will be painfully injured and some blinded or crippled in highway or fireworks accidents for life.

Firecrakers Banned

Police headquarters also pointed out there is a state law banning the use of cannon crackers more than two inches long and various statutes and ordinances barring firecracker explosions on streets or public thoroughfares.

To sum it up, they said, if you don't want to suffer the anguish of loss of one or more members of your family, or your own life; crippling them, blinding them or having the guilt of another person's death on your conscience, if you wish to avoid funeral, doctor or hospital expenses, or to pay automobile repair costs or damages in a suit—

Be careful, be careful, be careful!

Building Permit Total For City Given A Slow Start

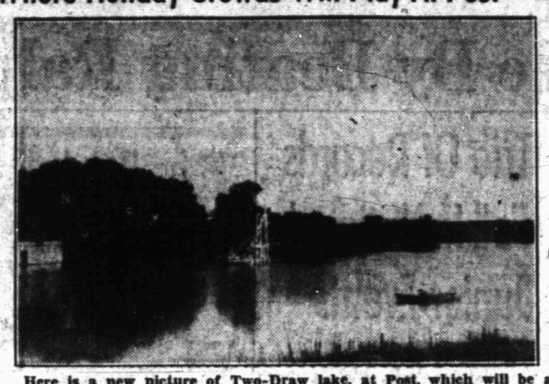

After a comparatively slow start, the building permit total for last week reached an above-the-average figure for recent weeks with an aggregate of $84,089.25, according to figures obtained from the office of the building inspector.

After issuance of nearly $50,000 worth of permits Friday, only two residence permits were issued Saturday.

Total for the year climbed to $1,297,675.83. The month's figure, made up of permits Friday and Saturday, rested at $49,832.00.

M. S. Gunn, as owner and contractor, obtained a permit for erection of a one-story frame and siding residence at 3110 Avenue J at a cost of $2,600.

Where Holiday Crowds Will Play At Post

Here is a new picture of Two-Draw lake, at Post, which will be a popular spot for July Fourth fun-makers. Citizens of Post have planned a big time for big crowds.

A feature of the July Fourth celebration at Post will be a spectacular downtown parade, starring S. S. Crofford and his team of Brahma steers, shown above. Crofford has been working with the team for several weeks, preparing for the gala event.

Cities And Other Public Bodies Urged To Make Their Applications For PWA Funds

FORT WORTH, July 2. (AP)—George M. Bull, regional director of the Public Works administration, said today cities and other public bodies which are slow in filing applications for allotments under the new billion dollar public works fund may find that available money has given out.

Preference is being given those projects which can get into the construction stage earliest, he said, in order to provide jobs and rush orders for materials. Long delays in filing applications means that much more delay in getting the project actually under way, Bull said.

No Part Set Aside

Bull explained no part of the new public works fund has been set aside specifically for the fifth region: Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, and Louisiana, and applicants from this region must take their chances for a part of the fund along with applicants from other sections. Whether the fifth region gets its proportionate share of the fund depends entirely on the quality of its projects and the speed with which they can be gotten started.

Contracts on approximately 300 projects in the fifth region on which first allotments were made are now in the hands of the applicants.

SNYDER LIONS ELECT

SNYDER — W. L. Wren was elected president of the Lions club for 1938-9, succeeding A. C. Pruitt. W. R. Bell was named first vice president, Willard Jones, second vice president; Herman Darby, secretary; G. B. Clark, jr., treasurer; King Sides, lion tamer and Willie Lee Hall, tail twister.

Postal Receipts Climb In June

June's net postal receipts were $2,235.19, or 16.53 per cent above those of June, 1937, Postmaster Amos Howard said in reporting receipts for the past month were $16,180.61. Comparative receipts for last year were $13,855.42.

Receipts averaged $735.48 for each day the office was open. For the previous year the daily average was $631.15, an increase of $104.33 per day.

Mid-Year Total Is Up

The current calendar year showed $98,546.46 receipts for the first six months, compared to $80,666.99 for the same period in 1937, a net increase of $17,879.47, or a fraction over 22 per cent. First quarter receipts were $50,387.30 and second $48,159.16, compared to $39,476.23 and $41,190.76 for 1937.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1938, receipts were $201,669.17; or the previous fiscal year, $164,838, a net increase of $40,833.17. This is a fraction under a 25 per cent gain for the fiscal year closed over the previous one.

The fiscal year ending June 30 a year ago, was $16,289.68 above the year ending June 30, 1936. Receipts that year were $148,546.32, or nearly 11 per cent below.

County 4-H Meats Team Announced

Personnel of the Lubbock county 4-H meats identification team that will compete this week in College Station at the annual short course, was announced Saturday by John W. Palmore, jr., assistant county agent. Douthitt Grinstead, Normal Smith and N. J. Luman are on the team.

They, with C. T. Potts and his son, James A. Potts, a gold star club boy, leave early Tuesday for College Station. Palmore is going with them. The boys will return later in the week. Palmore will remain for the short course. County Agent C. C. Jobson is not leaving until Thursday.

First Ballots For Absentee Voting Are To Be Mailed

First ballots will be mailed from the office of Ed D. Allen, county clerk, today for absentee voting, according to announcement Saturday.

The ballots must have been returned to the office by midnight July 19 if they are to be counted, it was explained.

Seventy-eight persons Saturday night had filed their names and addresses with the clerk so that ballots may be mailed to them at the earliest possible date.

Denny Shute Takes Mythical National Golf Title By Beating Ralph Guldahl

PGA Champ Is Triumphant In Match Play

(By The Associated Press)

HINGHAM, Mass., July 2—Denny Shute, two-time champion of the National P.G.A., today proved again he is peer of the nation's match players as he clinched a 2 and 1 victory over Ralph Guldahl, master of medal play, in a 36-hole challenge match for the unofficial championship of the United States.

Shute was two under par for the 35 holes, the first 18 of which left him 3 up starting the last round at the South Shore Country club today. Neither ever had seen the course here before today.

Guldahl was loath to accept the verdict as conclusive.

Another Match Set

"Although I putted poorly and have no alibi," he said, "I don't think 36 holes is a long enough test, and I don't think it was quite fair to play part of it on Shute's home course.

"I'd like to play him again in the fall over 72 holes and over a neutral course, preferably one tough and long. This course (South Shore) was too short for me."

Shute immediately accepted the challenge and the date and place will be decided later.

Though Guldahl's putter remained cold today, the National Open champion nevertheless was one under par for the 17 holes. He picked up only one hole on the P.G.A. king, with Denny holing anything within 10 feet of the cup.

Guldahl Makes Threat

Three down at the 27th, Guldahl threatened to make a tight race of it when he birdies the 28th to win that and then added the 30th as Shute failed to recover well from a trap.

This put Guldahl only one down with seven to play, but Denny rapped home a birdie four on the next, holing a 15-footer, and became 2 up again. Then they halved out the next five in par to end it.

DENNY SHUTE

Gus Johnson To Battle Pedigo

The doughty blacksmith from Alabam'—Pedigo by name—rises from the preliminary spot at the Auditorium Wednesday night to the headline attraction on the weekly wrestling program.

In the main event by reason of succession, Gus Johnson, the Minnesota Swede, will be the Pedigo opponent. Last week Johnson made things unhappy to Ace Abie Freeman in the top spot when the New York Hebrew returned here after an absence of several months.

Probably the most interesting match will be the semi-final. George Hartay will tangle with Dizzy Dilly Davis.

Davis Likes It Rough

Davis has turned in several good performances, but always uses rough tactics that keep the fans riled. He just can't wrestle the clean way. A loose finger is his meat. He'll twist it off. And he will jab the other guy illegally.

Matched well, the Hungarian likely will have none of the rough stuff rattle him. Hartay can care for himself and has a knack of caring for the opponent.

Medalist Buck Luce Paired With Hintz

LONGVIEW, Tex., July 2. (AP)—Arthur (Buck) Luce of Austin, who shot a 67, five-under-par, for medalist honors, teed off today against Harold Hintz as match play began in the Pine Crest country clubs sixth invitational golf tournament.

Luce was on top his game yesterday, while most of the other contestants had trouble getting around the tough course and posted above par 72.

Bill McMahon of Longview and Bill Clark of Gladewater shot even par. Hintz, Luce's opponent, shot an 80. Don Schumacher of Dallas, defending champion, qualified with a 75.

Bobby Kamrath Loses In Eastern Tourney

MONTCLAIR, N. J., July 2. (AP)—Gerard B. Podesta of Princeton reached the final round today of the Eastern Intercollegiate man's singles tennis championship.

Podesta scored his third consecutive upset by defeating Robert Peacock, University of California, 6-3, 2-6, 9-7, 7-5.

Joseph Fishback of St. Johns, Brooklyn, furnished another upset when he outplayed second seeded Robert Kamrath of the University of Texas, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

Joe Bihl Meets Saxon Judd In Vernon Tourney Feature

VERNON, July 2. (AP) — Match play opens tomorrow in the Hill Crest Country club tournament, with the headline contest between Saxon Judd of Vernon, medalist and favorite, and Joe Bihl, West Texas champion from Lubbock.

Many ranking performers, including Roy Farrell, Vernon, last year's Green Belt titlist; Weldon Counts and Alfred Holton, Lubbock, missed the championship flight.

Other first round pairings included:

Grover Austin, Pampa, vs. Jack Parr, Electra; Whitney Anderson, Quanah, vs. Frank Mitcham, jr., Shamrock, Green Belt champion; Lyle Holmes, Shamrock, vs. J. T. Nuckles, Wichita Falls.

Seagraves Needs Sunday Foe For Big Celebration

SEAGRAVES, July 1. — Got a baseball club capable of hot play on a warm day?

Seagraves will pitch a celebration over the weekend and wants a snappy club for opposition Sunday afternoon.

In addition, a game is wanted with a strong club later.

Telephone calls would be welcomed by D. C. Burns, whose telephone number is 9, or by Clyde Haynes, who may be called at his recreation club.

Inactivity Will Be Chief Foe Of Joe Louis

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, July 2.—Joe Louis probably reached his peak in knocking out Herr Max Schmayling.

And now not a few of the experts believe that only inactivity and lack of interest will dethrone the champion.

Certainly, there is no one in sight now capable of beating him with gloves on his hands.

Louis is still a young fellow, but he may slip fast.

He may not even know how much money he has salted away, but he has a good idea that he is financially independent. And that feeling has softened up a good many tileholders. It is one thing to enter the ring when bread and butter is at stake and another to develop a killer instinct after one already has tasted and is enjoying the luxury of easy living.

Louis is lazy by nature. He requires an incentive to train hard. He had that urge last trip because he wanted to redeem himself for his one knockout by Schmeling.

Needs Little Defense

But I doubt that he will ever have such an intense desire to be right physically again.

And it is doubtful that he ever again will climb through the ropes so keyed up mentally as he was the other night. There was genuine hatred in his soul when he came out of his corner. He probably will never harbor such a feeling for another opponent.

For 124 seconds Louis showed the crowd more than any heavyweight has shown in a quarter of a century. Jack Dempsey's first round attack against Jess Willard in Toledo was the only thing compared to it.

Louis was the fastest big man that I ever saw in the ring.

He also was the most ruthless, two-handed puncher.

It may true that he has little or no defense. But a 200-pound powerhouse who is as quick and as agile as he was during two minutes against Schmeling doesn't need much of a defense.

Changes Their Minds

Those who fancied Schmeling quickly had their minds changed.

They could see the cold glare in Louis' eyes when he started to pour his fists into the German's face. That look in his eyes was enough to convince them that the battle would be one-sided and wouldn't last long. If you ever saw murder in a man's face, you saw it when you looked at Smoky Joe the other night. I was glad that I was sitting in the first row and not standing in that ring.

The condition he was in, the way he fought and the enthusiasm and determination he showed made him one of the greatest fighters of all time.

But the odds are against Louis being in that physical condition and frame of mind again.

Texans Are Defeated In Net Tourney At Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 2. (AP)—Gunny Amonette of Berkeley, Calif., eliminated yesterday in the men's singles division of the Arkansas Valley tennis tournament, came back today to win the junior singles crown with a 6-3, 6-1 victory over Ed Hatsfeld, Austin.

Ross Miller, Ada, upset a favored Texan, Walter Driver of El Paso, to take the boys' singles title, 8-6, 6-3.

Championships in the men's singles and doubles will be decided Sunday.

Wichitan Wins First Heat In Snipe Championships

DALLAS, July 2. (AP)—Cleo Payne of Wichita Falls, with C. R. Lanphier as crew, won the first heat of the Southwestern Snipe championships here today.

The second heat will be sailed tomorrow, the final Monday.

The White Rock Sailing club (Dallas) won first place in the first heat of the snipe team race.

Class D Kid Looks Like Wrong-Arm Feller. And Cleveland Indians Own Him, Too!

By NEA Service

LOGAN, W. Va., July 2.—It may be that the Cleveland Indians have a left-handed Bob Feller in Vernon Kohler, 17-year-old youngster with the Logan Indians of the Class D Mountain State League. The major league club has a working agreement with Logan.

Kohler, a Cincinnatian standing 6 feet 3 inches and weighing 190 pounds, averaged 13 strikeouts a game for five games.

In a contest with Williamson, Kohler came to bat in the last of the ninth with the score 3-0 against Logan, and hit a homer with two on. The game continued for 18 innings, with Kohler going the route, only to be beaten by a home run, 4-3. He fanned 16 men in the first nine innings and 24 for the game.

U. S. DEFEATS ENGLAND

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, Eng., July 2. (AP)—The United States won the Thames challenge cup at the Royal Henley Regatta for the third straight year today when Kent school of Connecticut defeated the London rowing club in the finals.

MILLER WINS NET TITLE

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 2. (AP)—The boys' singles championship of the Arkansas Valley Tennis tournament was won today by Ross Miller, Ada, Okla., who defeated Walter Driver, El Paso, Tex., 8-6, 6-3, in the finals.

Cards Take Third In Row Saturday

By TOM MILLER
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

Lubbock pitching continued nil Saturday afternoon as the Hubbers dropped their third straight to Midland, 16 to 10. The series went to the Cardinals.

Costly fielding errors that characterized Friday's games were lacking yesterday, but nothing mental was in tune with a league-leading ball club. Outfielders were out of position as base-hits sailed over their heads and batters, several runs behind, were watching the good ones go by and swinging furiously at the bad ones.

Lefty Bardo Parks probably was the hero of the contest. He eased up on the first pitch to each batter, sent its squarely over the plate, then forced a popup. Hubbers flied out ten times in seven innings, only four times to the outfield.

That's not the Hubber style.

Trouble Starts Early

Frank Grabek ran into a peck of trouble early as the Redbirds swung from the ground. A run in each the second and third frames gave them a lead they held only until Johnny Taylor walked, Mal Stevens tripled, and Manager Hack Miller doubled in the fourth.

Then the Cards tucked their caps in the hip pockets and went to work in earnest. Grabek lasted until Midland batted around on a walk, a sacrifice, and seven hits, then was derricked in favor of Charlie Bryan. Bryan gave up a double and a pass before Barney Barnhill skimmed to Taylor, who converted it into a double play to Stevens to Mosel.

Hubbers Start Hitting

In all Midland counted eight times during the uprising. Bryan fared well from there until the eighth when two walks and Watty Watkins' error let one over and the ninth when a walk and four hits accounted for five runs.

Hubber power pronounced itself again in the same innings, but a five-run rally in the ninth fell far short. Joe Gedzius pounded his 18th home run during that spree.

Three double plays were completed by the Lubbock infield.

CLOVIS HERE FOR THREE

The Clovis Pioneers open a two-day stand against the Hubbers at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Parris field.

Likely pitching assignment for Lubbock will go to Ernest "Big Bill" Terry. A doubleheader will be played Monday.

The Pioneers, appearing here on their last trip as doormat of the league, have elevated their position to second place and will be fighting to cut the Hubber lead. New blood has been added to the club, resulting in a winning rather than losing team.

Clovis Hurler Poles Homer To Win Own Game In 9th

WINK, July 2. (Special)—Pitcher Christy of the Clovis Pioneers proved the hero of tonight's last game of the current series when he poled a home run in the ninth inning to give the Pioneers a 9 to 8 victory over Wink.

Just before Christy stepped into his four-bagger, Beals also had poked one over the wall in the same inning to tie the score. Wink went into the ninth with a one-run lead.

Watkins, starting pitcher for Clovis, held Wink to 2 hits until relieved in the fourth by Christy who held the host club to 1 hit while striking out 11 men. Wink came from behind a 5-run lead in the fourth inning to tie the score. Monte Ferguson, Wink hurler, struck out 8 men and walked 1, Red Roberts relieved him in the 9th. Rey of Wink and Ratliff of Clovis also got homers.

Defending Champ Is Beaten In New Mexico State Tilt

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., July 2. (AP)—Tony Gilbert, Albuquerque, staged an upset here today in the second round of the 24th annual New Mexico State golf tournament, when he won 2 and 1 over Edd Amonett, two-time champion from Roswell.

Chuck Harding, Albuquerque, who eliminated defending champion Carl Jones of Roswell in the first round, stayed in with a oneup win over Bob McDonald of Albuquerque.

Joe Cooper, Albuquerque, led Medalist Shorty Hornbuckle of Clovis 1 up at the turn but slumped on the way in to lose the match 1 up.

Red Keohane, Roswell, defeated T. C. Bird, Hobbs, 4 and 3.

Intercollegiate Golf Crown Is Won By Burke

(By The Associated Press)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 2. — Approaching and putting like a master, John Paul Burke, 21-year-old Georgetown university sophomore, today won the National Intercollegiate golf throne.

The red-head stylist from Newport, R. I. led almost from the start.

Another sophomore, Bert McDowell of Louisiana State university was the victim in the 36-hole championship finals, the last nine holes of which were interrupted by a terrific cloudburst.

Wins On 34th Green

Burke, a pre-law student at Georgetown U. who has qualified for the National Amateur thrice and won his state's amateur crown for three years and the open once, turned back the threat of McDowell on the 34th hole, 4 and 2.

It was the sensational chipping and putting of Burke, a steady, cool-headed palyer, that told the story. His game from the tee was nothing to elaborate on, but when it came to his short irons and a very accurate putting game, Burke had what it took.

Semi-Pros Meet Hamlin Twice

Lubbock's semi-pro representatives take to the road again today for an all-important game that has rushed blood to their eyes.

The Hamlin Oilers handed Hollis Payne's crew its only licking of the season on the Hamlin diamond a few weeks ago and now Lubbock will be out to avenge that defeat today and take the upper hand tomorrow on the Oiler field. Hamlin reputedly has one of the strongest semi-pro outfits in this section.

The Payne aggregation, the same that provided baseball almost in its entirety last year, has played only four games here, winning them all. They have licked the Amerada Oilers twice, the Sweetwater independents, and the colored Hubbers.

Amherst comes here July 10 for a single game. The Reds boast a strong lineup, having beaten the Amarillo Oilers, 18 to 0. Hamlin will be here in a return game July 17.

Trio Of Records Fall In National Junior Events

(By The Associated Press)

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 2.—As a prelude to the season's climax track and field show, the National A.A.U. championships today provided three record-smashing performances.

The senior championships, with national crowns and a competitive campaign in Europe as objectives, will be run tomorrow.

The headline event for the seniors will bring together the country's crack milers, with Glenn Cunningham seeking his fourth straight championship against the challenge of his Kansas rival, Archie San Romani.

The junior half of the show—confined to athletes who have not previously won a National A.A.U., or major college title—furnished keen competition today. It ended in a team victory for the powerful New York Athletic club squad.

In the 10,000 meters run, both classes of distance runners competed.

New Title Is Set

The third place runner in the 10,000 meters, J. Errol Vaughn of the New York A. C., carried off the junior title and a new meet record along with it. His time of 32:37.3 for the distance of approximately six and one quarter miles, displaced the former junior mark of 33:08.4 set by Bill Feiler of Drake university last year.

George de George came from 25 yards back, in the closing stages of the 3,000 meters steeple chase to breast the tape inches in front of Forrest Efaw of Oklahoma A. & M., in the new record time of 9:40.5.

Wolcott Takes Rest

The third record went to the credit of a Los Angeles high school boy, Baylord Maynard, jr., who cleared 13 feet, 8 1-8 inches in the pole vault. This topped the former junior mark of 13 feet 7-3-8 inches, set by Bill Roy of Loyola university New Orleans in 1235.

Fred Wolcott, Rice institute, hurdling sensation and National Collegiate A. A. champion, withdrew from the junior 100 meter sprint because of a slight soreness in one leg. He had planned to use this competition as a warm-up but decided instead to confine his efforts to seeking national hurdles championships, over both high and low sticks tomorrow.

Pre-Eminent Captures Fleeting Handicap

NEW YORK, July 2. (AP)—Coming from last place with one of the gamest exhibitions of his long career, Hal Price Headley's Preeminent scored a spectacular victory in the $5,000 Fleetwing handicap at Empire City today.

Backers of the Headley veteran received 7 to 1 after he had run the short six furlongs in 1:09 2-5 under 123 pounds while the Kentucky sportsman pocketed $1,850.

Felix Spatola's Wise Prince took second place by three lengths. W. F. Morgan's The Fighter and L. E. Ogle's Clocks completed a sweep by the outsiders by finishing in a dead heat for third.

DAMARET, RANSOM WIN

CORPUS CHRISTI, July 2. (AP)—Jimmy Demaret of Houston teamed with Henry Ransom of Bryan to defeat Tony Butler of San Angelo and Sam Schneider of this city, one up, in an exhibition match here this afternoon that marked the opening of the Corpus Christi Golf and Country club's new 18-hole course.

Texas Shooters Sweep Matches

TULSA, Okla., July 2. (AP)— Texas gunners scored a sweep today in the first day's firing of the Southwest Skeet tourney with Kenneth C. Miller of Tyler winning two championships and Mrs. Roy Porter of Harlingen taking the only other title decided.

Miller, curly haired veteran, smashed 94 of 100 targets to capture the sub-small bore crown and then went on to break 98 of 100 for victory in the small bore class.

Modest Mrs. Porter, who had her first experience on a skeet course last March, provided the day's biggest surprise by scoring a 94 to edge out Miss Viola Siedhoff, Wichita, Kas., National champion, who finished with 93.

Breaks 95 For Second

Billy Clayton, the mite from Calvin, Okla., shot a 95 in the small bore for second position.

Jack Lindsey, Okmulgee, Okla., youth who was a 1934 all-America skeet team selection, finished with a 93 for second place in the sub-small bore. He is defending champion in the all-bore class.

Gene Lowe, Refugio, Texas, was the 1937 small bore titlist.

Coach Sees No Wrong In Baseball Club Sending Kids To College

By NEA Service

CHICAGO, July 2. — Wallie Roettger, University of Illinois baseball coach, can't see much difference between a major league club sending a promising youngster through college and an engineering firm doing the same thing.

Both are sincere about putting the young man on the payroll when he is graduated.

"There's a real problem in big league-college relations, thought," says Roettger, who formerly cavorted in National League outfields. "It's my opinion that it would be better for professional clubs to let college boys alone until they finish school.

"It's plenty discouraging for a college coach to have big leaguers come in and grab all the stars on his club."

Roettger probably has in mind the case of colorful Louis Boudreau, who played plenty of third base and basketball for the Illini and who is now playing the Three-Eye League.

Boudreau was declared ineligible at Illinois when it was found that his mother was accepting $100 monthly from the Cleveland club on the promise that the youngster would sign with the Indians upon graduation.

Roettger considers Boudreau the best big league infield prospect that he's run across.

"His fielding is nearly perfect," asserts the Illinois mentor. "He has a fast reflex action and covers a lot of territory. He hits all kinds of pitching. In college he looked best against the better pitchers."

Boudreau is going great with Decatur.

Roettger was a member of the original St. Louis Gas House Gang which copped the National League pennant in 1928 and dropped the Philadelphia Athletics for the world championship in 1931.

His biggest thrill was playing in the latter series and plunking out the first hit made.

Billy Bob Coffey Defeats Doherty In Abilene Tilt

ABILENE July 2. (AP)—Favorites recovered from wobbly starts in the second round of the Abilene Country club's invitation golf tournament this afternoon and without exception mowed down their opponents.

Most rapid comeback was that of Gordon Young, Dallas. Three down through five holes, Young won the next four, then shielded his narrow advantage to oust Budley Raines of Stamford, 1 up.

Square at the turn with Edgar Doherty of Lubbock, Billy Bob Coffey of Fort Worth, co-medalist, rattled off four birdies on the next seven holes and won 3 and 2. In a battle of man mountains, Frank Kimbrough, Hardin-Simmons football coach, downed Obie Bristow, Big Spring veteran, 4 and 2. Kimbrough's three-under-par play on the last seven holes accounted for the outcome.

Other scores of the round: J. T. Hammett, Abilene, defeated J. P. Bohannon, Abilene, 4 and 2; Russell Crownover, Stamford, defeated Gid Faircloth, Ranger, 2 and 1; Jack Johnson, Abilene, defeated Stayton Bonner, Wichita Falls, 4 and 3; Bud Wheeler, Seymour, defeated Dr. J. N. Arvin, Brownwood, 1 up; Doug Jones, Big Spring, defeated L. M. Montgomery, San Angelo, 4 and 3.

MacPhail Says Giants Erred In Buying Bob Seeds From Newark

BROOKLYN, July 2.—Larry MacPhail believes the New York Giants made a bad deal in giving the Newark Bears an estimated $35,000 for Outfielder Bob Seeds.

The general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers doesn't think much of other transactions engineered by Bill Terry.

"The Giants could have had Jimmy Gleeson instead of Seeds, and Gleeson in my opinion is a better player," says MacPhail.

"Seeds has been up three times. The Yankee organization was too glad to sell a player of his age at the fancy price.

"When Warren Giles was looking for a heavy-hitting outfielder a month or so ago, he could have purchased Seeds for $12,500. He didn't believe that Seeds would help Cincinnati.

He Likes McCormick

"Seeds is hot now, but maybe by next season he won't be worth so much.

"The Giants also made a poor deal in 1936 when they bought Johnny McCarthy from Newark for $42,500.

"I'd take McCormick any day."

Baker Funeral Services Are To Be Held In City Today

Last rites for Mrs. Trica Baker, 74, of 1709 Avenue D will be read at Rix Funeral chapel at 3 o'clock this afternoon by the pastor of the East Side Baptist church. Burial will be in a cemetery here with Rix Funeral home in charge.

Mrs. Baker died Friday afternoon at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Nellie Hawthorne, with whom she had lived five years. Mrs. Baker was stricken with paralysis Wednesday night when attending services at the East Side Baptist church.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Hawthone and Mrs. Naomi Lott of Halls, Tenn.; two sons, William Morris of Jackson, Tenn., and Henry Baker of New Mexico; and 13 grandchildren.

TEN CONTRACTS RECEIVED

NEW YORK, July 2. (AP)—The New York Football Giants already have ten of their 25 veteran players under contract, President John V. Mara announced today. Within the past few days signed contracts have been received from Will Wallis, former Texas Christian end, and Jim Poole, also an end, who is spending the summer as an outfielder in the Sally league.

Cabbies Find It Easy Pickings Beating Nags

By NEA Service

CHICAGO, July 2.—How to beat the races with one easy hunch:

Two Chicago cab drivers lost $15 at a bookie's. They dropped into a restaurant next door to restore their spirits with some food. While picking away at a salad one of them found a bug on the lettuce.

"This might be a hunch," he said excitedly. "Let's see if there are any 'bug' horses running today."

They found two named Miss Firefly and Brown Moth, scraped up 50 cents for a parlay, and were paid off $50 when both horses came home.

Yankees Win Eighth Straight; Giants Run String To Six

Four Home Runs Spell Loss For Solons, 12-2

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, July 2. — The Yankees fired four home runs and ten other assorted hits today to back up Monte Pearson's five hit pitching, wallop Washington's Senators 12 to 2 and climb within two games of the American league lead.

The victory was the seventh straight for murderers' row, which has found itself again. With the pace-setting Cleveland Indians idle, to win boosted the Yanks half-a-game nearer the top.

Wes Ferrell, who started for the Senators, had strictly nothing on his famous "nuthin' ball." before he retired at the end of five innings, he gave up seven runs, four of them on homers. Young Joe Krakauskas, who finished up, gave up the last five tallies, two of them on Joe DiMaggio's 11th homer of the year in the seventh inning.

Iowa Students Visit In City

Twenty-three students of the Iowa State College of Agricultural and Mechanical Arts at Ames, Ia., and two of the college's associate professors Saturday were taken on an educational tour of the City of Lubbock and this area.

Dr. A. W. Young, head professor of plant industry at Texas Technological college, and Ray C. Mowery, professor of animal husbandry, supervised the activities of the young men when here.

Arrive Friday Night

The party arrived Friday night and will leave this morning for Spur, one of the laps in its 4,500-mile agricultural tour. The students spent both nights on the college campus here, sleeping in tents. They carry their own camping and cooking equipment.

Several members of the Tech faculty and Lubbock business men assisted in entertaining the visitors. Professors from the Ames college, heading the group, were Dr. C. S. Dorchester, associate professor of agronomy, and Arthur L. Anderson, professor of animal husbandry.

Visit Trophy Room

The party first was taken through the trophy room of W. G. McMillan, city commissioner and Lubbock contractor. The first agricultural visit was to the P. G. Boyd farm on the Slaton highway. On returning to Lubbock, the students were shown through the Lubbock Compress company by Chas. Stillwell, superintendent.

K. N. Clapp, agent for Anderson, Clayton & Co., spoke to them. They also were taken through the state agricultural experiment sub-station east of Lubbock and the Earl Davis farm near Acuff before returning to Lubbock for lunch.

At a meeting at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in the college gymnasium, Dean A. H. Leidigh, of the agricultural department, spoke as did Dr. Young, Mowery, and W. L. Stangel, head professor of animal husbandry. They were extended a welcome by R. Dick Shinkle of the chamber of commerce.

The Old Order Changes

By Chas. A. Guy

THIS is the story they're telling around the major leagues. It has to do with applying the rules of golf to the rules of batting—something which most baseball managers care very little about.

According to the yarn, Walter Hagen, the great links star, was occupying a box at Navin field, Detroit, and paid particular attention to the stance and follow-through of Tiger First Baseman Hank Greenberg.

The big fellow was in the throes of a terrific batting slump and especially on the day when The Haig was in the stands he found the going double tough.

After the game, Hagen discussed the matter with Manager Mickey Cochrane.

"Tell Hank," said The Haig, "that he stands too straight. Tell him he's as stiff as a board. Tell him to bend over a little, and lean into the ball. He's dragging his bat through when he should be snapping it. He's lost his pivot and isn't breaking his wrists."

Cochrane passed the suggestions along to Greenberg who tried them out. The good, sound golf advice pulled Hank out of the slump and put him to whacking homers again.

• • •

If golf driving rules will help a baseball hitter, then a lot of the wise boys managing baseball clubs have been wrong for a good many years.

Most of them frown on golfing during the playing season and a number of clubs have rules preventing ball players from gallivanting around the links during the spring training season.

Many a reader will remember the hullaballoo raised a few years ago when the late Miller Huggins, Yankee manager, got all over Babe Ruth because the Big Bam wanted to mix golf with baseball.

Hug, one of the best managers of all time, insisted that the difference in the swings used in the two games was too great and that the golf swing would hurt Ruth's home run form.

Freddie Steele To Fight---For 30 Grand!

OF course, the heavyweights get most of the heavy sugar dished out via the prize ring, but once in awhile some of the smaller boys get pretty fair "cuts," too.

On July 26, Middleweight Champ Freddie Steele will risk his title in a 15-round go at Seattle and has been guaranteed $30,000 for the fight. He may make even more than that, because he has a choice between 30 grand or a percentage of the gate—the choice to be made after the fight.

Thirty thousand bucks is a lot of money for a couple of hours work and is the richest guarantee ever made middleweight.

• • •

Steele's opponent in Seattle will be George Hostak, a rough, tough Slav who has a whale of a right hand.

For several years Steele has been Hostak's idol and the latter has as much as possible copied the champ's style and profited by his experiences.

Seattle is a "natural" as scene for the battle. Hostak has been reared in Georgetown, a Seattle suburb, and Steel, is from nearby Tacoma. Further than that, Steele won his crown in a Seattle ring—and a bunch of the boys figure he'll lose it there, too.

Sled Allen Gave Bob Seeds His Start

BOB SEEDS, recently brought back to the big show by the New York Giants, owes much of his baseball success to Fletcher Manson Allen, sr., better known in these parts as "Sled."

Seeds played outfield for Sled when the Lubbock man managed the Amarillo team in the old Class A Western league back in 1928, going up to Kansas City that same season.

Seeds was an infielder when he reported to Allen, but after two days the Old Maestro shifted the kid to the outfield, where he has remained, with considerable success, ever since.

Had not Seeds landed under a manager who knew what time it was, he probably would have fizzled out altogether. As an infielder he was a fine washwoman.

The victory march of Donald Budge, the California netster, is heartwarming to sports followers who like their champions to be unassuming.

Without bluster, crowing or extravagant remarks, Budge goes on his way deprecating, rather than boasting of his successes.

While an occasional Dizzy Dean is interesting to behold, and adds a dash of pepper to any occasion, champions of the Budge stripe are more to be desired.

That's why everyone—regardless of his interest, or lack of it, in tennis—is always pulling for Donald Budge.

FROM BEHIND THE EIGHT-BALL: Remember back when Grady Higginbotham, Jo Dick Slaughter and E. T. Daniell were in a class by themselves as golfers here? . . . And even Spencer Wells was considered pretty good? . . . Kiki Cuyler has a new glove to use in cavorting about the Dodger outfield . . . There wouldn't be any news in that, except he bought the new one to take the place of another which he has worn through eight straight big league campaigns . . . Dick Chapman, No. 1 amateur golfer of New York, keeps a diary in which he notes every mistake he makes . . . We know some guys here who would have to have a whole library full of such diaries if they followed that plan! . . . J. Lee Greer, publisher of the Denison Herald, frowns on all sports and won't permit his sports editor to print anything save the most essential things . . . And J. Travelstead, of the Del Rio News, is even more opposed to sports news . . . Some years ago the high school coach there disagreed with the News' account of a football game and engaged the sports editor in a round of fisticuffs . . . Not since that good day has the News ever printed anything about high school football in the town Doc Brinkley made famous . . . Basketball is due to pick up at Leland Stanford . . . Everett S. Dean, formerly head cage coach at Indiana, has gone to the California school to serve in a similar capacity and it is well known to one and all that the Indiana basketball is about "tops" the nation over . . . Bob Weiland, Cardinal pitcher, has been added to Pepper Martin's Musical Mudcats as a jug player . . . He's mighty good on the tuba, but that instrument is too big to be carried while the Cards are on the road, which, incidentally, is when the Mudcats do most of their musical work . . . Harry Viner, now a top referee in Southwest conference grid circles, was quite a star player at Missouri . . . His specialty was the field goal and he was plenty hot at it, too!

Umpire Says Fifty-Five Per Cent Of Major League Pitchers Have An Illegal Delivery

NEW YORK, July 2.—Bill McGowan, topnotch American League umpire, says that 55 per cent of major league pitchers deliver the ball illegally one way or another.

Mechanical pitching faults are plentiful in the big show, and old and outlawed tricks are still in use.

Stressing the fact that he is not picking on Johnny Allen or the Cleveland club, as charged by the fiery right-hander, McGowan uses the two great mound stars of the Indians as examples.

Feller Jumps The Rubber

Allen spits in his glove and rubs the ball therein, and umpires and rival managers and players assert that there is too free use of resin in connection with his clothing.

Bob Feller . . . consciously or not . . . goes to his mouth, and jumps the rubber. The Iowa farm boy steps back with his left foot as he starts his windup.

"I told Feller in Cleveland the other afternoon that he must quit taking his fingers to his mouth for his own good," explains McGowan. "Jimmy Dykes and others have complained about it, and unless he breaks the habit, he'll shortly have 23 opposing players and a manager shouting at him every time he starts. That wouldn't figure to help his control, and control is all he needs."

Doctoring The Ball

Pitchers have cut the seam of the ball with sharp thumb nails and on belt buckles.

They have discolored the ball with mud, licorice, coffee, and whatnot.

Two swipes on his trouser leg, and Eddie Cicotte of unhappy Black Sox memory had one side of the sphere shined like a ballroom slipper.

Others went to more trouble. They shined one side of the ball and blackened the other, creating a dazzling black and white effect as the ball streaked to the plate.

Ehmke Used Chewing Gum

Howard Ehmke actually stuck chewing gum on the sphere in the first game of the 1929 world series.

Fellows with unusually strong grips have been able to loosen the cover . . . and thus toss a "punk" ball.

It was the famous fluttering cuff of Dazzy Vance that brought about the rule prohibiting pitchers from working with ragged or slit sleeves which have the effect of confusing the batter.

Joe Vance, who had a trial with the Yankees this spring, wore a shiny ring on his pitching hand while with the White Sox for a brief spell four or five years ago.

Mechanical Faults

Not having the back foot in contact with the rubber.

Job Too Big

Failure to first back off the rubber after coming to a stop in holding men on bases when not in the act of delivering the ball to the plate or throwing to bases.

McGowan and all other umpires will tell you that they'd spend half their time running to the box if they did so in response to every mechanical defect and infringement of the rules.

The umpires' job is, as McGowan explains it, to prevent hard-boiled and old offenders from getting away with anything, to school youngsters like Feller in pitching regulations, and in general to keep illegal pitching down to a minimum.

Plan Of Peace Being Drafted

PEIPING, July 2. (AP) — A plan for ending the Chinese-Japanese war by carving China into at least five autonomous units was being drafted today, it was reported, by Chinese members of the Peiping provisional government and their Japanese advisers.

It was admitted the plan had little chance of early acceptance by the Chinese government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, but it was believed to be an indication of the basis on which Japan would be glad to terminate the conflict, now only five days from its first anniversary.

Spheres Of Influence

Japanese sources indicated European powers would be offered spheres of influence as a bid for European acceptance of Japan's partial conquest of China, giving the whole scheme a general resemblance to the plans of imperialists of 40 years ago, when the break up of China appeared imminent.

The five autonomous states envisaged by the draft plans were said to be:

North China—Under the present Peiping provisional government.

Inner Mongolia—Under Teh Wang, Japan's Mongol friend who heads the present Mongolia federation with the capital at Kweihua, in Suiyuan province.

South China—Under a combination of Kwantung-Kwangsi provincial leaders.

Helen Jacobs, Pained By Throbbing Injury, Is Pathetic Figure As Old Rival Wins Wimbledon Crown Eighth Time, 6-4 And 5-0

BY SCOTTY RESTON
Associated Press Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 2. — Peerless Helen Wills Moody thrashed Helen Jacobs, her California rival of more than a decade, on Wimbledon's center court today in one of the most tragic personal battles in the history of the All-England tennis championships.

Foredoomed to a final stroke of misfortune after overcoming the handicap of a shoulder injury earlier in the tournament, Miss Jacobs pulled a tendon in an already injured right leg in the ninth game of the opening set, hobbled through the next seven pathetic games and was beaten, 6-4, 6-0.

Moody Sets Record

This victory lifted Mrs. Moody to her eighth title—a record in the history of this old historic club. It set the crown on one of the most notable comebacks in sporting history. It was a major link in an unprecedented all-American sweep on Wimbledon's five titles. And it rolled up an old and bitter controversy.

Before the second set started, it was clear that Miss Jacobs was hurt. She held up play momentarily to adjust the bandage on her ankle. When she started to play she was helpless.

She managed to win two points in the first game of the second set but she won only one more after that while Mrs. Moody, never hesitating, never once speaking to her, banged the ball from corner to corner.

Fans Question Sportsmanship

That whole final set had everybody in the stands buzzing about the weird spectacle.

Mrs. George W. Wightman of Boston, captain of the American Wightman Cup team, momentarily broke the tension by talking to Miss Jacobs when they changed courts but Helen motioned she would continue and the string of love games continued.

What everybody in the stands was asking and debating while the day's play was continued was:

"Should Mrs. Moody have offered to let Miss Jacobs rest?"

At least three people agreed on the answer — the two antagonists and Mrs. Wightman.

The Helens' Agree

"I was very sorry about Helen's ankle," said Mrs. Moody after the match, "but it couldn't be helped could it?

I thought there was nothing I could do but get it over as quickly as possible."

Miss Jacobs, white-faced and still in pain, agreed.

"I think Helen did the right thing," she said.

Mrs. Wightman, close friend of both girls, thought it was "a shame that everybody seems to be blaming Mrs. Moody for finishing Miss Jacobs off so quickly."

Different Story In 1933

Many in the crowd, however, recalled the now historic meeting between the two Helens in the 1933 American championships at Forest Hills. On that occasion, Miss Jacobs offered to stop play when Mrs Moody obviously was in distress. Mrs. Moody, suffering from a back injury, subsequently defaulted with the score 3-0 against her in the third set—the only time in 12 matches that Miss Jacobs ever beat her.

In view of the controversy that raged in the stands all day, all other developments during the final day were practically submerged despite the fact that America's stars set up a new Wimbledon record by winning all five championships—men's and women's singles, men's and women's doubles and mixed doubles.

Don Wins Two More

Just as he had a year ago, Don Budge figured in three of these Folowing his easy straight-set triumph over Bunny Austin for the men's singles crown yesterday, Don partnered Gene Mako of Los Angeles to a 6-4, 3-6, 8-6 victory over the German team of Henner Henkel and George von Metaxa. Then he and Miss Marble defeated Henkel and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Brookline, Mass., 6-1, 6-4, for the mixed doubles title.

Miss Marble and Mrs. Fabyan won the women's doubles, trouncing the defending champions, Mme. Rene Mathieu of France and Abeline (Billy) Yore of England, 6-2, 6-3.

ROOSEVELT VETOES BILL

HYDE PARK, July 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt, White House officials announced today, has vetoed a bill which would have permitted the coinage of 100,000 silver 50-cent pieces commemorating the 400th anniversary of the journey and explorations of Francisco Vesques de Coronado.

The president, in his veto memorandum, said the multiplicity of commemorative coins jeopardizes the integrity of United States coins and causes confusion.

Mr. Roosevelt said he had asked congress to pass legislation designed to terminate the practice of striking special coins.

Gigantic Jigsaw Puzzle Is Put Together By Experts

CAIRO, July 2. (AP) — A gigantic jigsaw puzzle of bits of stone has been put together by two French Egyptologists to recreate a 12th dynasty temple of Amon, relic of the art which flourished by the Nile 3,500 years ago.

Experts say it is the finest monument of ancient Egypt in existence.

Diggings in the dust at Karnak, 400 miles south of Cairo, the scientists found broken blocks and fragments—some no bigger than a man's hand—which they used to rebuild the ancient temple.

Bids On Federal Prison For Texas Are To Be Received

DALLAS, July 2. (AP)—Assistants of Congressman Hatton W. Sumners announced here today bids would be taken about July 15 for a $1,800,000 federal women's prison 2½ miles north of Seagoville, Dallas county.

Construction is to begin by October 1. Sumners advised his office here the project had been approved by James V. Bennet, director of the bureau of federal prisons, and Attorney General Homer Cummings.

A tract of 750 to 950 acres on the Kaufman road is under option for a site. The prison will have a capacity of 600 inmates and a staff of 150.

It is reported that worn or dirty spark plugs cause a waste of slightly more than one out of every 10 gallons of gasoline, according to a recent test.

19—Livestock For Sale

Lubbock Auction And Commission Co.
AUCTION SALE EVERY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY
LUBBOCK AUCTION AND COMMISSION COMPANY is the logical place to sell your livestock for it is a conceded fact that this is the greatest livestock market in West Texas.
Ample pen room, feeding and weighing facilities provide a service which enables sellers to find a DEPENDABLE auction market every Tuesday and Friday.
Active demand for all classes of cattle this week forced the market to remain fully steady to 25c higher. Large and small packers have created a demand for beef and butcher cattle. Order buyers insure a steady outlet for stocker and feeder cattle.
During the hot summer months, our Tuesday sale will begin promptly at 12:00 o'clock, rather than 10:00 a. m., but Friday's sale will continue to start as usual.
Phone or wire us for trucks if you have no way to get your cattle in for the sale. We are bonded for your protection!

Snyder Livestock Market
Of Lubbock, Texas

Since the recent general rain there is a broad demand for stocker cattle and the market for butcher cattle continues good. We had about 500 cattle in our sale Thursday of this week which sold on an active market at good prices. In addition to cattle going through the sales ring we sent out 250 head of stocker cattle on order to Illinois and Indiana. We feel safe in telling you to bring your cattle to this market and they will sell as high or higher than on any other market. We will have cattle to sell at private sale every day in the week. We are well equipped to take care of your cattle and have competent yard men and salesmen. For best results consign your cattle to —

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS,
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lubbock County, Greeting:
You are hereby commanded to summon J. Edward Lee, by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the 99th District Court of Lubbock county, to be holden in the Court House thereof, in Lubbock, Texas, on the first Monday in September, A. D., 1938, the same being the 5th day of September, A. D., 1938, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 14th day of June, A. D., 1938, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 7778, wherein Myrtle Lee is Plaintiff, and J. Edward Lee is Defendant, and said petition alleging that this is a suit for divorce on the ground of cruel treatment; that plaintiff represents to the court that on January 11, 1934, plaintiff was lawfully married to defendant, and continued to live together as husband and wife until about March 31, 1936, when plaintiff and defendant separated, and defendant abandoned plaintiff, since which time they have not lived together as husband and wife; that plaintiff and defendant have no community property, nor children; wherefore, plaintiff prays for judgment dissolving said marriage relation, and for costs of suit, and for such other relief as she may be justly entitled to.
Herein fail not, and have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.
Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Lubbock, Texas, this the 15th day of June, A. D., 1938.
U. BROWN, Clerk,
99th District Court, Lubbock County.
(Seal)
By STELLA ROBBINS, Deputy.

Bloody Battle Being Staged

SHANGHAI, July 2. (AP)—The Japanese land and naval onslaught up the Yangtze river toward the Chinese provision capital of Hankow spurted into sudden bloody action today about which the invaders pinned an ominous veil of secrecy.

The Chinese admitted the Japanese steamed a small transport in high water over the sunken boom at Matowchen, after many days' pounding at this defense, and landed several hundred Japanese shock troops at a village four miles upstream.

This was done by running a gauntlet of steady Chinese machine-gun fire from the banks and as soon as the invaders landed they attacked Chinese positions in sanguinary fighting which continued hours later.

Japanese military authorities were silent on this advance, a fact which led foreign observers to believe the Japanese were about to announce their forces already had reached Hukow, their next immediate objective and key to a wide area to the south and west of their present positions.

Meanwhile Chinese airmen continued daily bombing of Japanese naval units in the Yangtze and they kept a strong land force moving to prevent a possible Japanese land push south of the river and west of Lake Poyang toward Nanchang, which is the Kiangsi capital.

Sacred Harp Singers Open Convention At Brownfield

State convention of Sacred Harp singers opened Saturday at Brownfield in the Methodist church and closing sessions will be there today. Election of officers will be in the afternoon, said A. Judd, Lubbock president.

Three hundred attended the afternoon session. Supper was served as well as lunch. The meeting was in the Venetian auditorium.

This morning at 9 o'clock the program opens in the auditorium. Basket dinner will be served at noon, with the afternoon program in the Methodist church.

BROAD UPSWING CONTINUES

NEW YORK, July 2 (AP)—The stock market today finished the week on one of the broadest upswings in the past several years.

Heavy buying in industrial leaders lifted numerous issues 1 to more than 4 points and the Associated Press average of 60 stocks shot through this year's high to post a net gain of .8 of a point at 48.4. It attained the best level since Nov. 13, last. On the week this composite was up 2.9 points.

With the ticker tape late in the opening drive, when blocks of 1,000 to 5,000 shares changed hands, and again 3 minutes in arrears at the close, transfers for the brief session totaled 1,472,420 shares, the largest aggregate for any Saturday since Oct. 23. The week's turnover of more than 12,132,000 shares was the best since October.

Buying order from all parts of the country and abroad swept into brokerage offices at the start.

The place slowed after the initial whirl and considerable profit selling in view of Monday's holiday chipped down top quotations. Offerings were taken in stride, however, and this soon attracted fresh support for virtually all groups.

Prominent in the 2-hour sprint were Anaconda at 34⅞, Kennecott 41½, Chrysler 66⅝, General Motors 39, U. S. Steel 60⅞, Bethlehem 62⅛, Douglas Aircraft 50¼, Boeing 27¾, U. S. Rubber 39¼, Goodyear 24¼, Sears Roebuck 68¾, Montgomery Ward 44⅝, J. I. Case 98¾, Westinghouse 100⅞, Johns-Manville 95¼, American Telephone 143½, Western Union 31⅞ and Santa Fe 36⅝.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, July 2. (AP) — Cotton prices made new highs for the present upward movement in today's session on Moderate trade and speculative buying and covering by shorts. The close was steady 6 to 11 points net higher.

Continued improvement in securities, activity in dry goods and strong foreign markets were the principal factors behind the investment demand. Considerable week-end profit-taking and pre-holiday liquidation entered the market in the second hour but the demand proved sufficient to absorb the offerings at minor setbacks.

The close was at or near the best with July contracts at 9.06-08, Oct. at 9.10, Dec. at 9.18, Jan. at 9.20, March at 9.25 and May at 9.28.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, July 2. (AP)—Cotton advanced above 9 cents today to further new high ground on active general buying. October sold up from 8.95@9.02 and closed at 9.01, with final prices 11 to 13 points net higher.

The market opened 5 to 8 points higher in response to higher foreign markets and on trade and commission house buying, strength of the stock market and complaints of increased weevil infestation in South and Central Texas attracted outside buying.

Although considerable profit-taking developed, offerings were absorbed on slight partial reactions and the market developed increased firmness toward the close.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, July 2. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at 10 southern spot markets was 9.08 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 8.44 cents a pound.

Farmers Who Have Lost Cotton By Hail, Flood, Not Penalized

Farmers who have lost their cotton crop through hail or flood may plant grain sorghums on the acreage and will not be penalized for over-planting of that crop, County Agent C. C. Jobson said yesterday.

"Several farmers the past week have asked me about planting sorghums in place of hailed out cotton," he said. "New ruling from the state AAA office permits this practice."

Jobson said he believed the average farmer in the county would have slightly under his allocated cotton acreage this year.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, July 2. (AP) — While no quotable advances were put into effect in the slaughter cattle prices at Fort Worth during the week, there was a firm undertone to the market and where there was any slowness in the trading during the week, it was generally due to salesman trying for higher prices. Slaughter calves and stocker supplies made a gain for 25 cents.

Steady prices were paid for hogs today, the top to small killers remaining at 8.90, and 8.80 to packers.

Lubbock . .

The prices are furnished by the following Lubbock firms: Poultry—Lubbock Poultry and Egg company, delivered Lubbock. Grain—S. E. Cone Grain and Seed company. Following prices being bid by Lubbock grain dealers. Cotton—Blocker Cotton company. All prices subject to change during day.

United Civil War Vets Are Good For Numerous Stories

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 2. (AP)—Major General Henry Gibbons, U. S. quartermaster general, said a Gettysburg housewife offered a drink of milk to a lanky Confederate veteran who ambled onto her porch.

"I don't drink milk, ma'am," the Southerner replied. He suggested a "toddy."

"What's a toddy?" the woman asked.

CONCERNING TALKING

Charles S. Riggin, 95, a Confederate veteran from Vaughan, N. C., says the man who talks most about a battle "was a long ways back." Said he:

"A man right in the fighting doesn't have time to look here and there. He only loads and shoots."

SECTIONS SWITCHED

The veterans didn't know it—but a Southerner is in charge of policing the G.A.R. encampment and a Northerner sees that everything goes right among the UCV tents.

They are Lieutenants Jules Carville of Louisiana and Lieutenant Gerald I. Zimmerman of Pennsylvana, both instructors at Valley Forge Military academy.

HE'S PROUD KINSMAN

George M. D. Garner, an attendant for one of the Confederates from Snyder, Texas, says he's a second cousin of Vice President Garner.

BUT THEY'RE CAREFUL

Passes are required to enter both encampments. Even a veteran, decked out in his uniform of Blue or Gray, and wearing a reunion medal, must get one to enter the camp of his erstwhile enemy.

UNUSUAL STORY "BREAKS"

O. Richard Gillette, a veteran of the Gray, said a Union veteran walked up to him and thanked him for "saving his life" at Antietam.

The Northern's gesture was in appreciation of a drink of water Gillette gave him after he had been wounded.

Harley Sadler Players To Be Seen Over Plains Territory

Harley Sadler's stock company, which closed a week's run in Lubbock last night, will stay for more than a week in this immediate territory, the veteran showman has announced.

Tomorrow and Tuesday the Sadler company will play in Floydada; Wednesday and Thursday at Ralls; Friday and Saturday at Crosbyton.

On July 11 the show will play Lockney, moving to Plainview for a three-day run on July 12, 13 and 14. On the 15th and 16th, the company will play in Tulia in connection with the Swisher county capital's annual homecoming celebration and birthday party.

Grains . .

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, July 2 (AP)—Wheat fell about a cent a bushel here today after a brief flurry had carried the market fractionally higher.

Hedging and scattered selling influenced by an increasing movement of grain from parts of the southwest winter wheat area and lack of export business depressed prices as much as 1⅛ cents from early highs. Traders generally anticipated an accumulation of new wheat over the week-end holiday.

Also acting as bearish factors were reports of weather favorable for growth and harvest of North American wheat crops and weakness at Liverpool.

Wheat closed ⅝ to 1 cent below yesterday's finish, July 73, September 74¼@74½, December 76¼@76⅜; corn ¼ to ⅜ up, July 57⅜@57½, September 58¾@58⅞, December 58; oats ⅛ down to ⅜ up, July 27⅝; rye ⅜ to ½ down, July 53; lard unchanged to 5 points up.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, July 2. (AP)—Demand for wheat continued good to the week-end. Other grains were slow. Estimated receipts were: wheat 192 cars; corn 5; oats 4.

Americans To Be Protected

HONGKONG, July 2. (AP)—The United States destroyer Edsall and the gunboat Tulsa were reported pushing to Swatow today to join the gunboat Asheville and protect American lives and property in the event the Japanese continue large-scale attacks.

Chinese reported 400 civilians, including 200 school children, were killed or wounded in yesterday's Japanese raid on the south China port.

Ready To Evacuate

American residents of Swatow, most of whom live on a small island opposite the Chinese area, were said to be ready for immediate evacuation if necessary.

Reports, not officially confirmed, said some Americans already were finding temporary refuge aboard the gunboat Asheville pending developments, since the island, which is not a foreign concession, was well within range of the bombs.

American consular authorities here were awaiting confirmation of Chinese reports that American property was damaged in yesterday's raids. Six American-owned silk factories were reported damaged.

The British gunboat Dainty was standing by at Swatow to protect British nationals.

Three Charges Of Violation Of Liquor Laws On File

Three charges of liquor law violation Saturday were filed in county court, naming two defendants.

L. T. Chambless, 33, was charged after a raid by officers in the 1200-block Avenue G, said Chas. C. Cox of the Texas Liquor Control board. The other defendant was E. L. Shelley, 37, Slaton negro.

Both were expected to post bond. Complaints were sworn to by John T. Willis of the liquor control board before Hugh Anderson, assistant county attorney.

Alliances Are To Be Sought

WASHINGTON, July 2. (AP)—Republican fishing in troubled Democratic waters in the south is aimed toward capitalizing in 1940 rather than in this year's elections on the liberal-conservative rift among the Democrats.

The appeal made recently in Alabama by John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee, for alliances with "Jeffersonian Democrats" in the south, will be repeated on the Fourth of July in Virginia, hotbed of southern party opposition to many Roosevelt policies.

Step Is Invited

The consistent anti-New Deal attitude of both Virginia's Democratic senators, Glass and Byrd, invited this step. Their stand paved the way for Hamilton's most dramatized invasion of the solid south.

The Republican pilgrimage which Hamilton will lead to the grave of Thomas Jefferson may appear to have been conceived merely as an off-set to what President Roosevelt may say tomorrow at Gettysburg of the liberalism of Abraham Lincoln. That either Hamilton or any other Republican leader of natonal prominece actually hopes to pick up many seante or house seats for the party in the south this year is open to question. It cannot be doubted, however, that they foresee a Democratic party break by 1940, which may make the electoral vote of the south an uncertain factor in a presidential contest for the only time since the war between the states, excepting the Hoover-Smith campaign in 1928.

To Seek Control

What dims any prospects of significant Republican victories in the south this year, as students of politics view the situation, is the obvious fact that southern Democratic opponents of the president are staking everything on reclaiming control of the party's national machinery in 1940, with the aid of conservative Democrats in the north and west.

The president's definition of liberalism and conservatism in his recent fireside chat gave terrific impetus to the trend toward a 1940 political realignment. It virtually read out of the New Deal-dominated Democratic party southern or other conservatives opposing Roosevelt policies openly or otherwise.

Groundwork for a complete party purge of conservative oppositionists was laid definitely in the 1936 Democratic convention at Philadelphia. That convention, under Roosevelt pressure, did away with the rule requiring a two-thirds majority to nominate the party's presidential candidate. This rule for years had given the solid south at least a veto power in the party's national ticket making.

Be Serious Blow

No convention can bind its successor. The 1940 Democratic party meeting to write a platform and select candidates could revive the two-thirds rule if New Deal opponents could then muster the bare majority vote necessary to do it. Such a revival would be a serious blow to New Deal hopes of pressing the campaign to weed conservative oppositionists of any type out of the party and make it definitely the liberal party of the nation.

In order to resist the effort to remake the party, anti-New Deal Democrats must stay in it this year. State primary laws in many southern states have a punitive provision for use against party bolters. Southern Democratic leaders who bolted the Smith-for-president ticket in 1928 paid that penalty in some instances. They disappeared from party councils, state and national.

Determination Redoubled

President Roosevelt's outright declaration of war against New Deal Democratic foes has redoubled determination of party foes in the south to fight it out in the 1940 convention, to which this year's primaries are the stepping stones.

Most political students believe that not until the end of that knock-down-and drag-out fight for domination of Democratic party machinery will much real opportunity exist for Republican proselyting in the south. If Roosevelt forces are again triumphant in that convention, a more bitter decision confronts Democratic conservatives of the south than they faced in 1928.

Their choice could split the solid south permanently, and throw the electoral vote of most of its states on the election auction block.

Central Illinois Is Struck By Cloudburst

CHICAGO, July 2. (AP)—A cloudburst drenched central Illinois today while farmers of northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin estimated crop losses at millions as a result of yesterday's rain and floods.

In Fulton county, damage estimated at $100,000 was caused by heavy rain accompanied by high wind. The storm struck a wide area near Canton and flattened nearly ripened wheat crops and many fields of corn.

For 11 years he has been associated with Frank Day.

Monopoly Investigation Plan Studied

Subcommittees Are Appointed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 2. — The monopoly investigating committee, divided into six subgroups to hasten action, began preliminary study today of what to include in its general inquiry into concentrations of economic power.

Each subcommittee—composed of one member of congress and one representative of an executive agency—gathered information from government departments on one or more of such subjects as taxes, profits, patents, prices, production, distribution, consumption and unemployment.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), elected chairman at yesterday's organization meeting, said the recommendations of the subcommittees would be discussed at a meeting of the full committee next Thursday and an attempt made to settle on a general course of action.

The committee also may decide then, he said, whether to hold hearings immediately or to assemble and correlate first all information on monopoly available from the departments. Some committee members said it might take at least a month to get such data together.

Opinion Is Divergent

There was a division of opinion in the committee as to whether additional information on monopolistic practices should be sought.

Senator Borah (R-Idaho) was said to have expressed the view that enough facts on which to base remedial legislation already had been gathered by the departments, and the committee needed only to study them.

On the other hand, Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general in charge of the anti-trust division, was represented as contending there should be public hearings at which business men and others could testify.

Much of the detailed work of assembling the information furnished by the departments will be turned over to Leon Henderson, WPA economist who has been one of the White House advisers on business and relief matters. Henderson was selected to be committee secretary at the suggestion of Rep. Sumners (D-Tex.), himself elected vice chairman of the committee.

Mexican Strike Threatens To Tie Up Shipping Activities

Police Seeking Slaying Clues

HOLLYWOOD, July 2. (AP)—Police detectives questioned persons listed in a little black address book today, hoping to find a definite clue in the mystery slaying of King D. Gray, 52, one-time leading film cameraman.

The officers abandoned a possible theory of suicide, since there were no powder burns on Gray's clothing and no pistol was found in his automobile when his body was discovered slumped over the steering wheel in front of the postoffice here last Thursday.

Motives Considered

Two motives for the killing were considered, jealously and attempted robbery. A salary check and $63 in cash were found in Gray's pockets, but police suggested the cameraman might have resisted and the robber was frightened away after firing the fatal shot.

Mrs. Myrtle Gray, widow of the cameraman, was quoted by Capt. J. J. Jones as saying she recently found a letter from a woman in her husband's pocket and they had quarreled over it.

Gray assured her, however, she said, that the woman had gone east and there was nothing for her to worry about. Mrs. Gray declared she was unaware her husband of 25 years had a secret postoffice box.

Clasped in Gray's hands was a letter from Newcastle, Pa., addressing him as "Dear Daddy," calling him "Sweetheart", and closing "with love always, Babe."

Frances Bleakley, 29, formerly employed in the art department of a store here, was questioned by Newcastle police as the writer of the letter. She said Gray had been a friend of the family and she could suggest no motive for the slaying.

Dr. S. N. Bleakley, a dentist here, told police his sister and Gray were friends but there was no romance.

Oklahoma Band Director To Be Added To Texas Tech Faculty

The band school faculty at Texas Technological college will be joined this week by Milburn E. Carey, director of the Phillips University band at Enid, Okla.

Carey will teach oboe during the remainder of the school, which will end July 16, said D. O. Wiley, general director. He is a former winner of a national oboe solo contest. He was the principal oboe player in the University of Illinois concert band several years.

Monday will be a holiday in the school and Carey will join the staff Tuesday.

Miss Betty Jane Cross, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D. D. Cross of 2318 Eighteenth street, after she had visited in Fort Worth, Galveston, Houston, and San Antonio.

Dr. Otis Taylor, Jr. Joins Clinic's Staff

Announcement was made Saturday that Dr. Otis Taylor, jr., has come here from St. Louis to become associated in the Clark-Key clinic and will specialize in internal medicine and will do general practice.

Dr. Taylor is a graduate of Texas Technological college. He was graduated from the University of Texas school of medicine at Galveston. He served his interneship in St. Louis and has been associated with Dr. August A. Werner, noted specialist in endocrinology, in St. Louis City hospital and St. Louis City sanitarium.

Here he is taking up practice in internal medicine along the same lines that Dr. V. V. Clark has followed the last five years.

The clinic observed its third anniversary July 1. During the three years of operation, much modern equipment has been added.

Dr. Olen Key will continue as a specialist in gynecology, obstetrics and surgery, and Dr. Clark, in diagnosis and internal medicine.

Security Taxes Warning Made

DALLAS, July 2. (AP) — Political candidates must pay social security taxes for all their campaign workers, internal Revenue Collector W. A. Thomas emphasized here today.

Failure to pay these taxes makes the offender liable to heavy fine and possible imprisonment, Thomas said.

"We have a complete list of every candidate in Texas and we will make a careful check of each one of them to see that he pays these taxes," said Thomas.

They Must Pay

Candidates must pay only one per cent if employing only one worker and must deduct one per cent of the worker's pay. Eight or more employes hired for as many as 20 separate weeks in the year will cost the candidate an additional three per cent social security tax. And just one working day in each of the weeks is all that is needed, Thomas said.

Candidates who employed workers during the first three months of the year are now delinquent, Thomas said. None have paid the taxes, due in April. Taxes again will be due July 31 for the second three months and in October for the third three months.

Thomas emphasized that social security returns are filed under oath and falsification would carry a heavy penalty.

H. T. Kimbro Will Not Be Able To Attend Tribute Paid Today To His Grandparents

H. T. Kimbro, Lubbock real estate man, Saturday said he had been advised by medical authorities not to attend the tribute to be paid today to his grandparents, Willis Avery and his wife, Elizabeth Weeks Avery.

Bodies of the Averies were exhumed from a cemetery on Brush Creek in Williamson county and will be buried in the State cemetery at Austin today under direction of the William B. Travis chapter of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas.

Participant In Battle

Avery was a participant in the battle of San Jacinto. He was born in North Carolina, Oct. 15, 1809. Although statements have been made he came to Texas in 1832. Kimbro said he was of the opinion his grandfather settled near Bastrop in 1828, coming here with Stephen F. Austin.

"I remember my grandfather well," Kimbro said, "and I remember attending his funeral services. My grandmother died before I was born.

"I regret very much not to be able to attend the services, because I know there will be hundreds of relatives of the family there, many of whom I have not seen in 30 years."

Kimbro said if there were persons in Lubbock county or this immediate area who had relatives who fought in the Battle of San Jacinto, he would like to become acquainted with them. He has been a Lubbock resident 30 years.

Enrolling Of Additional Men In CCC Is To Begin On Wednesday

Enrolling of additional men in the five camps of the Lubbock sub-district of the CCC is expected to begin Wednesday. Ten men will be added here that day, said Lieut. John C. Roberts, commander of the Lubbock company.

About the same time, each of the camps, otherwise located at Littlefield, Lamesa, Memphis and Perryton, are expected to double enrollment strength. Each has approximately 100 men, Lubbock listing 98.

The Woman's Angle

by Margaret Turner

AGE is the fire extinguisher that never fails to put out flaming youth.

• • •

Some women who look like prosperity have husbands who look like depression.

A SUDDEN drive has been launched to make America cap conscious and the chapeau that fits the head like a pancake will once more become a crown of dignity. . . Random thought: Wouldn't it be nice if along with preparing for World's fairs in New York and San Francisco that we could prepare for a Fair World?. . . . Included amidst the list of notables invited to attend the Roosevelt-Clark wedding was the proprietor of a New York night club who became acquainted with young Roosevelt, a frequent patron. A democratic clan—the First Family of the land. . . . One never forgets the sight of watching the millions crowd past you into subways going home from work as you stand at some strategic spot in New York such as on Herald Square.

• • •

There are no more beautiful trees in Lubbock than in the backyard of the B. E. Needles residence, 1811 Eighth street. . . . Talk-a-likes: Dr. O. W. English and Sam Lightfoot; Collier Parris and his brother, Porter; Mrs. Ewell L. Hunt and her sister, Miss Dorothy Sharpless. . . . Personal nomination for the best looking informal garden in Lubbock: Mrs. W. L. Baugh's.

• • •

SLIM skirts, bloused bodices and simple sleeves are fall fashion whispers. So far there has been little talk of a change in skirt lengths. Costume jewelry is still "ace high" in chic. . . It's rumored that Barbara Hutton would like to regain her American citizenship. . . Most pitiful news picture of the week: Scene of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms keeping a vigil at the foot of the New Mexico mountain in the vain hope that her son would be carried down alive. . . . Most unlikely story of the week: That Dorothy Lamour meant it when she told Houston reporters she had rather barnstorm with her husband Herbie Kay's orchestra at fifty dollars a week than live in Hollywood and make a fortune in the movie capital.

• • •

DID you hear of the editor who said the stuff handed in by his reporters was so bad it had to be rewritten before it could be thrown in the wastebasket?

DANCE DIDOES

THERE are dancers and then there are dancers and Kay Kayser, the bandsman who observes all types, catalogues the most violent cases:

The girl who doesn't shag, but will stand practically still while her partner does.

The middle-aged duo, fooling itself into acting young and giving a perfect impression of two pairs of left feet looking for their mates.

The exhibitionists, madly displaying new steps that will be as passe as the polka, next month.

The romantic twosome, more in love than in tempo.

JULY STANDS FOR

BATTLE of San Juan hill, Cuba, 1898. Good time to start knitting a fall dress. Amelia Earhart reported lost at sea on her world flight, July 3, 1937. Independence Day. Old fashioned potato salad still favorite for picnics. Sunburns respond to good creams. Warning to all: diet frugally. Follow city health officials rules for hot weather activity—rest, eat lightly, drink plenty of water but little iced beverages—stay out of the sun. Eat few sweets and pastries. Don't worry!

Wilma Stokes, Grovesville Tells Of Improving Her Bedroom

Wilma Stokes, New Deal Girls' 4-H club member who was judged first place winner in a recent Lubbock county 4-H clothing contest, has described the methods by which she won the honor of having the most outstanding demonstration of garments and storage space for clothing represented in the contest:

"I am 13 years old and this is my third year in 4-H club work. As wardrobe demonstrator for my club, in the Grovesville community, the first thing I did was to take invoice of my clothing, list the articles and state the condition of each.

"Next I repaired all garments that needed it. The work included lengthening of two dresses, putting new sleeves in a dress; mending torn places in two dresses and torn places in two slips, cleaning and pressing twin sweaters and cleaning and pressing a skirt and blouse.

"I then listed clothes, accessories and cosmetics which I needed and, throughout my demonstration, as they were supplied I checked them off the list.

Kept Close Record

"In my clothing record book I kept account of all clothing purchased, the brands of the clothing, cost, date purchased and date discarded. In that manner I was able to remember reliable brands and the items that gave the best service for money spent.

"My next problem was concerning storage space. My closet was very small and it was impossible for me to enlarge it. I discovered, however, that by changing the position of the clothes rod from crosswise to lengthwise, I would have room to add shelves for folded articles.

"My shoe rack was sitting on the floor, so I nailed it to the wall just above the baseboard, in order to leave room for conven-

Families Take To Open Road In Observing Glorious Fourth

THE vacation season skyrocketed to its peak this week-end and numerous Lubbock residents are taking advantage of an unusually long week-end. Ruidoso, N. M., seems to be the most popular playing ground, although rodeos, cowboy reunions and other Fourth of July celebrations in various parts of the country are attracting many persons.

Extended vacations to the mountains, to California, east Texas or the Atlantic coast were begun this week-end by hosts of Lubbock folk. Those staying at home are entertaining vacationers from other climes.

Leave Friday

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. D. McKinnon, 808 Avenue R, the past week were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Tolson of Los Angeles and Mr. Tolson's mother, Mrs. H. W. Tolson of Mexia. The senior Mrs. Tolson, a sister of Mr. McKinnon, and Adele Bergholm, granddaughter of the McKinnons, left Friday morning with the Lester Tolsons for a month's visit in California.

Mrs. G. P. Cunningham, Jim Pat Cunningham and Martha Jean Porter of Bloomington, Ill., who is spending the summer here, have gone to El Paso to spend the Fourth with Mr. Cunningham and other relatives. Martha Jean's father, Dr. Garland Porter, was graduated last month from Kirksville, Mo., Medical college and is practicing medicine in Lubbock this summer. His wife and younger daughter, Suzanne, who are now in Bloomington probably will join him here next month.

Wrights To New York

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Wright, 2627 Twenty-first street, will leave today for Galveston from which city they will sail to New York. In New York City they will visit with Mr. Wright's sister, Mrs. J. M. Young. They plan to be gone a month.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Harbison, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Crites and Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill Boyd, all of Lubbock, left Saturday afternoon for a two-day vacation in Ruidoso.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. McGehee and daughter, Dixie Carol, and Mr. and Mrs. Scott Ballard left Friday afternoon on a ten-day outing in northeastern New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Firman Williamson, 1911 Avenue W, have gone to Big Spring for the week-end.

To Go To Caverns

Mr. and Mrs. Murray W. Boyd and children, Ardath and Billy, 2308 Twentieth street, and Mrs. John D. Smith, 2310 Fifteenth street, left Saturday morning on a trip to Carlsbad Caverns. They probably will return Sunday.

An annual Fourth of July house party which eight or ten couples from Lubbock and Post usually attend at Sweetwater lake has been called off because of illnesses of the hosts Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Southworth who, with their son, Denny, were seriously injured in an automobile mishap near Cisco last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arch L. King, 1911 Avenue R, are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Pearson, former Lubbock residents, in Plainview this week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Pirtle, and family, 2124 Twenty-sixth street, left Saturday for a vacation at Lake City, Colo.

Kuykendalls On Trip

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Kuykendall and family, 2201 Sixteenth street, and their house guests Mrs. W. M. Abernathy of Orlando, Fla., and H. E. Rogers and his twin sons, Jim and Tom Rogers, are leaving today for Carlsbad, N. M. They plan to go through Carlsbad caverns Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Rodgers and their granddaughters Betty Loys and Bobby Ann Tubbs, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Tubbs of Jefferson, are going to Hot Springs, N. M., Monday. This is the third summer the young girls have spent in Lubbock.

Mrs. Jim Floyd and her house guest, Frances Edwards of Dallas, are to spend the Fourth near Kerrville visiting Mrs. Floyd's daughter, Jane Ann, who will be at Camp Mystic until August 14. They will return to Lubbock the middle of the week and the Dallas visitor will remain here for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Gore left Saturday for Hot Springs, Ark., and other southern cities to spend their vacation.

Visit On Ranch

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Sutherland, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Slaton, Mr. and Mrs. Olen Stewart left Friday for a ranch near Roswell, N. M. They were to be joined Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. J. Ray Dickey and Mr. and Mrs. D. Jarrett.

Miss Lorene Childers, secretary to the dean of men at Texas Technological college, is to return the latter part of this week after a week's vacation in New Mexico and Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Jenkins of 1916 Sixteenth street and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Jenkins of Lubbock hotel are spending the week-end visiting in Dallas. Harmon Jenkins has recovered from a throat infection.

Returns To Waco

Mrs. H. E. Clewell has returned to Waco after a visit with a daughter, Miss Evelyn Clewell, assistant registrar at Texas Technological college. Miss Clewell and Miss Leonore K. Alway, summer instructor in physical education for women at the college, are spending the week-end in New Mexico mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Bayless and son, Billy, 918 Avenue K, have gone to Yellowstone and Glacier National parks on a three weeks' vacation.

MRS. KENNETH D. LEFTWICH

• • •

Miss Catherine Jameson Is Bride Of Mr. Leftwich Friday In Vows Read At Home Of Her Parents

THE marriage of Miss Catherine Jameson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Jameson, 2625 Nineteenth street, to Kenneth D. Leftwich, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Leftwich, sr., 1625 Broadway, took place Friday night at the home of the bride's parents with Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, reading the ceremony. The room was lighted by the soft glow of white tapers which burned in candelabra.

A mound of white peonies adorned the mantle before which the vows were exchanged. Gladioli and palms were other floral decorations.

Bride Wears White

The bride descended the stairs with her father who gave her in marriage. She wore a handsome model of white chantilly lace and her fingertip veil was adjusted to the head with lilies of the valley. The wedding bouquet was of orchids and lilies of the valley.

George Zarafonetis served as best man.

Mrs. Mamie I. Neal, pianist, played "I Love You Truly" before the ceremony began and accompanied Jerome Harkey who sang "Because." She played the traditional marches.

Bouquet Is Thrown

Following the ceremony the couple turned to receive congratulations from their families and then proceeded to the dining room where a reception was held. The bride threw her bouquet from the stairway after they had been served. The table was laid with a madeira cloth and centered with a crystal bowl of white gladioli and shasta daisies. Mrs. George Walton presided at the punch bowl. Small individual white cakes embossed with medallions were served by Mesdames Robert Crawford, Kirk Dean, Misses Coleta Baker and Fay Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Leftwich have gone to the northwestern states for their wedding trip. The bride is wearing for travel a navy crepe ensemble with fitted jacket and white embroidered blouse, navy toque and cashmere blue accessories.

Upon the return they will be at home at 1643-A Thirteenth street.

Was Tech Beauty

The bride was graduated from Austin High school and spent her freshman year at Ward Belmont college in Nashville, Tenn., where she was a member of Penta Tau sorority. She was graduated from Texas Technological college where she was a member of Sans Souci club and voted a campus beauty.

Mr. Leftwich also is a former student at Tech college where he was a member of the Centaur club. He is a former student at the University of Arkansas. Since withdrawing from college Mr. Leftwich has been associated with his father in the finance business.

Auxiliary To Spanish Wars Veterans To Meet Today

Secret Wedding Is Announced

The marriage of Miss Mary Katherine Neal of Rankin and J. B. Ratliff, jr., of Garden City, both of whom are former students of Texas Technological college and plan to return to Lubbock next fall, has been announced by Mrs. Ratliff's parents Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Neal, prominent ranchers of Glasscock and Upton counties.

The couple was married in Amarillo Nov. 20, 1937. Lynn Hargraves of Lubbock accompanied the couple to Amarillo.

Mrs. Ratliff was a member of Las Vivarachas social club and was active in the Book Reviewers club. She was graduated from Tech June 6. In the fall of 1936, she was elected as one of 16 candidates for beauty honors.

Mr. Ratliff was elected last spring to serve next college year as president of the Tech chapter of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, national fraternity for geology students, and as president of Los Camaradas social club. His parents live in Garden City.

Mr. Ratliff will continue studies in Tech next year.

Miss Elizabeth Brooks Is To Study At A. & M. College

Miss Elizabeth Brooks, assistant Lubbock county home demonstration agent, left Saturday for Gainesville where she will meet her parents and accompany them to Corpus Christi. While her parents are visiting there she will attend three short courses at Texas A. and M. college at College Station.

The first short course will be for 4-H club girls next week. Within 17 days she also will attend a home demonstration agents' course and a course for home demonstration club women. Between courses Miss Brooks plans to visit in San Antonio and other places.

CHURCH GROUP MEETS

The Martha society of the Shallowater Baptist church met Friday afternoon in the home of Ida Caston for business. Nine members, including two new members, were present.

Members will meet in regular session at 3 p. m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Hub Brock.

Mrs. Edith Hammer of Waterloo, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Buckman of Minneapolis, Minn., are leaving today for a trip to Mexico City after visiting here as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hurmence, 3021 Twentieth street. Mr. and Mrs. Truman Green and daughter, Sheila, of Spur are spending the week-end holiday in the home of Mrs. Green's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hurmence.

The name "bacterium," meaning staff, or stick, was given to this class of organisms when only the rod-shaped type was known. The three classifications are known as: Bacilli, or rod-shaped; Spirilli, or spiral-shaped; and Micrococci, the spherical, or near-spherical forms.

The earth rotates on its axis in the same direction that it travels around the sun. This motion, as seen from a point above the North Pole, would be counter-clockwise. If either of these motions were reversed, the sun would reach the zenith in less time, and we would get two extra days in a year.

Follow These Tips In Making Jelly

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff

One of the fundamental rules in jelly-making technique is "reduce cooking time to the minimum."

Cooking fruit overlong reduces the jellying power of the pectin, destroys fine fruit flavor and often spoils the color. For this reason, use a minimum of water. Excess water will have to be cooked off and that will unnecessarily lengthen cooking time.

In order to extract pectin, boil fruits until they are soft. Naturally, the more firm the fruit, the more water will be needed, and the longer will be the time of cooking.

Quinces, a very firm fruit, take about 2 cups of water to a pound of fruit. And it takes from 20 to 25 minutes to boil them soft. Red raspberries, on the other hand, need only to be crushed with no water added. And they take only from 5 to 10 minutes to cook to the right stage for extracting the juice.

Stirring Prevents Scorching

Another way to cut down cooking time — besides using the minimum amount of water—is to use a large, flat-bottomed pan that permits rapid evaporation. Remember, of course, to count cooking time only after the fruit comes to a boil. Stir fruit constantly to prevent scorching.

After fruit has been boiled until it is soft, pour it at once into a jelly bag. Let the juice drip, and press the bag to get every bit of the juice. Clarify the juice by straining it again through a fresh jelly bag that has been wrung from hot water.

Next, comes the secon period of cooking for the fruit, although now it's in the form of juice.

And here it is that modern jelly making differs radically from the old. Formerly it was the practice to cook the juice first, until it had become fairly concentrated, then to add the sugar.

Combine Sugar and Juice

Today, jelly experts advise combining the sugar with the juice before heating. This cuts down the cooking time. And sugar tends to prevent destruction of the pectin.

Here again, it's a good plan to use a large, flat-bottomed pan for cooking. Stir the sugar and juice until the sugar is dissolved. Then iently sweeping the floor.

"With scrap lumber I had made two new shelves which were painted with paint we had on hand. I added two hat racks made of baking powder cans and covered with light print material. My father made a door for my closet out of scrap lumber, to replace a curtain and keep dust away. The bottom drawer of my dresser did not have a bottom in it, so I made one out of sides of an apple box.

Made Own Clothes

"I have learned to sew during the past year's club work, and have made the following articles in the order listed: Cup towel, apron, three pairs window curtains, sun coat and hat (from feed sacks), suspender skirt (from feed sacks), culotte dress and visor, bonnet and three cotton dresses (one out of mother's old one).

"Total cost of my demonstration was $8.41. I paid for all the things I bought with money from my poultry which I raised in 4-H club work."

Miss Stokes and Tommy Jo Day, Becton club girl who was judged best club news reporter among the 4-H girls of the county are being sent to the summer short course at College Station by the Lubbock County Home Demonstration council. Accompanied by Flofine Robinson and Odie Faye Pace, delegates respectively from the County Line and Roosevelt clubs, Misses Stokes and Day will leave by bus at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning, returning the following Sunday.

from Lou to Louella...

DEAR Louella: Mrs. Bob Burns of Dallas who, with her husband, is here visiting her various sisters doesn't think it funny for people to pretend to confuse her husband's name with that of the man from Van Buren.

Not long ago a woman, obviously inebriated, telephoned in the wee hours of the morning. Mrs. Burns had an ordeal convincing the strange inquirer that her husband doesn't play the bazooka.

Mrs. Burns is a good sport and she manages to smile when every person she meets says something about her name. She hardly knew how to explain this most recent inquiry however.

A deep, colored voice on the other end of the line asked: "Is this Miz Bob Burns?" "Well, is you the colored Miz Burns or is you the white Miz Burns?"

Incidentally, Mrs. Burns has been honored at breakfasts, luncheons and almost every other kind of party during the several days she has visited here.

The address I wanted last week was called in by Mrs. Ray Allen. I wrote it on the letter that had been returned, and in a couple of days the letter came back with my new stamp canceled and the note not to use that envelope again. As soon as I can find another stamp and envelope I shall try again.

• • •

HERE'S the latest from Lulu with my own comments in parentheses:

"Butch, you forgot to call Louella 'Dear' last week. Tsh! (One gets called lots of things in my business, and maybe Butch isn't so bad at that. I butcher the news, I guess.)

"Sorry to have let you down last week, but I'm not sure to what wedding you refer. (It was all my mistake. I thought Catherine Jamieson and Kenneth Leftwich were getting off last week-end, and I thought that if they were that surely Lulu would have known the details).

We've Been Mislead

"I seem to have mislead you a bit. Mary Florence Carter is not going to be with K. the Fourth. She and Winifred Hay left the 28th for a two weeks' trip to California by car with K.'s sister.

"Mrs. Bob Pressley of McAlester, Okla., the former Sue Hambright, has been in town about two weeks, visiting her parents and sister, Mrs. Harold Humphries; and, as if it were possible, she is prettier than ever. (Bob came several days ago and will be here several weeks; and Mrs. Pressley's sister, Mrs. W. C. Hicks, and children, Jo Betsy and Gloria Jane, of Wichita Falls have been here about three weeks. Mr. Hicks came Friday and the family plans to leave today.)

"Harold Humphries, I think, is going to enter his speed boat in the races at Sweetwater the Fourth. (I have just talked with Janet (Mrs. H.) and she said she thought she and Harold and the Pressleys would spend Sunday and Monday at Sweetwater lake but she didn't mention the races.)

"It surely must be love that is restraining lovely Billie Bloom from accepting that job in California. (Remember, Lulu said this, not me.)

Working In Wichita

"Billy Whitesides, recently graduated mechanical engineering student from Tech, recently acquired a job in Wichita Falls. Incidentally, it was he who said of Lorene Fryar Calhoun 'she is truly the prettiest bride I have ever seen', after having attended the wedding of best friend, 'Flip' and Lorene, June 18.

"I haven't seen her, but several people have said that Pat and Paul Morris' baby girl is a beautiful child. (I've heard that, too, and I've heard a lot of compliments on Pauline and Aubrey Edwards' baby who was born, as predicted by Hop, on Hop Halsey's birthday.)

"Was that you I saw wearing braided hair the other evening? Think I'll call you Gretchen instead of Lou" (I'm afraid it was, and if times get worse and more people start gunning for me I'm likely to change my name to Gretchen or something.)

Lulu noted that I would be celebrating July 4 (only she thought it was the fifth) and wished me well. It looks like I'll be taking all of Lubbock with me when I go to Ruidoso. I'll be telling you whom all I saw over there.

Burgess Dixon, last year's editor of the Tech newspaper who is sleeping and fishing at Greenwood, Miss., wrote me a card the other day. I told his girl friend that I'd give her his address if she wanted it.

Yours, Lou.

Annual Cotton Classing School Will Open At Texas Tech Tuesday Morning

Attendance Of 100 Expected

An annual two week's cotton classing school will open Tuesday morning in the textile engineering building at Texas Technological college and is expected to attract an attendance of approximately 100 West Texas cotton men.

M. E. Heard, head professor of textile engineering, is general director of the school, which will be the first of three regional cotton classing courses, he will supervise. The second is to be conducted in Abilene, July 18-30, and the third in Quanah, Aug. 1-13.

Others Will Assist

Lewis Myers, supervisor of cotton classification for the department of agriculture, with headquarters in Abilene, will assist in conducting the school. Bob Stevenson, Frank Bass and W. M. Ryan, Lubbock cotton men, will serve as instructors.

The Texas Cotton association, Texas Cotton Ginners association, and state-wide cotton committee will cooperate with the textile department in offering the three cotton classing schools. Other organizations aiding are the West Texas Cotton Growers association, division of cotton marketing in the bureau of plant industry in the department of agriculture, and the Texas Cotton Growers association.

Heard said that cotton ginners, farmers, cotton buyers, and any others interested in cotton classing are invited to attend the school. Enrollment fee will be $10.

FIELD MAN AT WORK

SNYDER—J. W. Doak, chief field assistant of the AAA for 39 West Texas counties was here on a visit to county agents. He was former assistant county agent of Tom Green county at San Angelo.

REMODEL GIN

SEAGRAVES—The Farmers Cooperative gin here is being remodeled in anticipation of a good season. New machinery will be installed.

CROP REPLANTED

FARM HOUSE WRECKED

NEW STORE AT POST

CAFE REOPENED

MORTON—M. M. Scott has reopened his cafe after it was closed for two weeks. He has operated a cafe here for several years.

To Represent Shallowater At Stamford

Mrs. W. F. Sauls, shown above on her own mount, will represent Shallowater at the Stamford Cowboy reunion July 4. Her husband will be her escort. He is one of West Texas' well-known bronc-riders. Old "Pig", the horse, has turned many a cow on the South Plains range.

Flea Hopper Has Appeared Here

Cotton flea hoppers have made an emergence at the Lubbock experiment sub-station, as well as at Spur sub-station and other points and by the time cotton squares are formed, the infestation is expected to be heavy this year.

W. S. McGregor, entomologist of the experiment service and W. C. Griffith have been assigned to study the hoppers at Spur and Lubbock. They were here Friday and after inspecting cages at the station, reported a heavy emergence. They are working with C. E. Fisher of Spur.

Infestation In Two Ways

"Flea hopper infestation comes in two ways: 1. from eggs laid on weeds by adults in the fall of the year and hatched the next spring. 2. by migration of adult flea hoppers from some other region," says a report issued by McGregor.

In 500 sweeps taken between Spur and Lubbock, at random, on June 14, a total of 38 flea hoppers was found; in sweeps taken at the same places a week later, 96 hoppers were found.

Hatch In Weeds

Last fall 100 plants of Solanum elaegnifolium, commonly known as the "white weed," the "ground cherry" or "clinch weed," selected at random in Dickens, Jones, Scurry and Taylor counties were placed in incubator cages at the Spur station. Up to June 25, seventy-seven flea hoppers had hatched from the weeds collected in Dickens county, 133 from Scurry county weeds, 141 from Jones county weeds and 50 from Taylor county weeds.

Two hundred rubber balloons were released at Jayton, Roby and Spur, June 22-23 to secure information on air currents in connection with flea hopper migration. Persons finding these balloons are asked to mail them attached franked tag at once.

Best indication of the presence of the flea hopper on cotton is the absence of little square at the time when square should appear. Close examination of the buds and leaves will be necessary to find them. It is a small pea green insect about the size of a flea, and stings and kills the square when it is not as large as a match head.

Post Principal Is Elected To Superintendency At Graham

POST, July 2 — O. G. Lewis, for the past 7 years principal of the Post High school, has been elected superintendent of the Graham school and has resigned his local work. Lewis succeeds J. R. Cox who resigned to accept a place at Ponder as superintendent.

Lewis was recently elected for his eighth term. He has been active in civic affairs. He has been a leader in scout work here, handling the cub scouts.

CADET IN MANEUVERS

LITTLEFIELD, July 2 — Tilden Wright, cadet in the United States military academy at West Point, in a letter to his mother Mrs. Vernie Wright, said he was to attend field artillery maneuvers at Tobyhanna, Pa., for 10 days and then go on a 10-day hike. The party will then go to Fort Benning, Ga., for a four-week stay.

Hollywood On The Loose..

Here Is More Gossip From Never-Never Land; Inside Dope From West Coast

BY PAUL HARRISON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, July 2.—Short takes: Quite a number of persuasive gents-about-town make five-figure incomes by arranging star endorsements and other kinds of commercial exploitation. One of them recently sold what sounded like a swell idea—decks of Hollywood playing cards with decorative, identical backs, but with the picture of a different movie star on the face of each card. However, the scheme flopped. No star would allow him to use his or her picture except on aces, kings or queens.

Gregson Bautzer, agent, likes brunets. Bentley Ryan, his partner, prefers blonds. Both like Lana Turner. So Miss Turner wears her natural hair when she goes out with Bautzer, and a blond wig when she tours the night spots with Ryan. Says she's saving a red wig for a date with both of them.

Max On The Wagon

A NATIONAL magazine has a couple of investigators in town gathering the lowdown on Communists working in pictures. . . . Movie mag representatives are pink-faced as their publications hit the stands with gush yarns about the "ideal" marriage of Luise Rainer and Clifford Odets. . . . Dorothy Parker hasn't penned any poetry lately. Asked why, she said, "Because I have learned that rhyme doesn't pay." . . . Marjorie Weaver tells friends that she really didn't marry Ensign Kenneth George Schacht. They took out a license, though. And she's now wearing a new wrist watch bearing his initials.

. . . Max Baer is serious about his training, at least to the extent of guzzling only soft drinks in the late spots. But late. . . . When Mae West goes to her bank she sits outside in her car, and is joined there by a bank official. If any fans happen to spot her, the chauffeur drives them around and around the block while they transact their business.

Censorship: The script of "The Sisters" calls for a scene with Henry Travers and Beulah Bondi, husband and wife, in bed. Only way the situation could be handled to the satisfaction of the Hays Office, though, was to put them in twin beds. So twin beds it is, although the time of the story is 1904, when that kind of furniture hadn't been invented.

* * *

The local Hays Office was in quite a dither on the day a big Los Angeles theater announced it would show "The Birth of a Baby." Finally somebody telephoned the Parent-Teachers' Association to see if that organization had any suggestions about what to do.

"I think what we'll do," said the lady on the other end of the wire, "is endorse it."

Italy Flashes Garbo Smile

ITALY is offering Greta Garbo a cool quarter of a million dollars for a single picture there, and will try to get Italian-born Frank Capra to direct it, if she consents. Metro expects her back here, though, and has bought still another story as a possible comedy vehicle. . . . Lionel Stander, who uses the incognito of "Mordecai Cohen," was telling Robert Taylor how to avoid recognition on his trip to New York: Get off the train at the next to the last stop, take a taxi into town, find a small hotel without a lobby, register under an assumed name, and stick pretty close to his room.

Taylor said that might work all right, but he couldn't have much fun. "No," said Stander, with prophetic gloom, "but however you do it, you'll never have any more fun."

Palace Offers Ginger And Doug In "Having Wonderful Time" Today

'Yank At Oxford' Is At Broadway

PALACE theater today is offering Lubbock theater-goers a certain winner in "Having Wonderful Time."

The cast is flawless, with Ginger Rogers, whose delineation gives further evidence that this versatile young lady can account for herself in any type of role, and Douglas Fairbanks, jr., comprising a duo which will no doubt meet the approval of critics. Lucille Ball is tops in support and take another step toward stardom.

Adapted From Stage Success

The story, adapted from the New York stage success of the same name, deals in the romances and rigmaroles of a summer vacation camp for those of limited bankrolls.

Robert Taylor puts in his appearance on a local screen again today at the Broadway in "A Yank At Oxford," a picture which has been frequently called this star's best to date. With him in the leading roles is Maureen O'Sullivan.

"Dead End" Boys Are Back

The boys who made such a hit in "Dead End" come back in their second picture to win even greater laurels. They are teamed with Humphrey Bogart, who was with them in the first, in "Crime School," current attraction at the Lindsey.

Bogart's role is changed and he appears as a settlement worker who succeeds in reforming the boys who have run afoul of the law again. Practically all of the action occurs in a reform school that has been mal-administered.

The cast is fine, offering plenty of opportunity for comedy with Leo Carrillo, Ann Dvorak and Phil Regan.

The story concerns a loan shark who forecloses on a record producing company and high pressures talent into signing contracts. A young tenor and stenographer supply the heart interest.

Irene Dunne In Comedy

Irene Dunne, who unceremoniously cut loose from a career of stately roles to indulge in wild comedy, again is seen in such a picture, "The Awful Truth," now showing at the Tech.

Miss Dunne is seen as the prim, staid wife of Cary Grant, a bounder of sorts who simply can't get used to marriage ties. He takes an innocent vacation in the guise of a business trip and returns to find his wife has been out all night with a vocal teacher. Accusations fill the air until Mr. and Mrs. decide to separate but their dog proves the big source of contention. Affairs take a merry course until Mr. decides to marry a pretty young thing. Irene then puts some wild ideas into practice and tries to impress upon Park avenue that Cary is not the type to be marrying into their circle.

There's more music and romance for those who desire it in "Pennies From Heaven," starring Bing Crosby and Madge Evans at the Cactus.

Here's a story concerning a vagabond troubadour who falls in with a little girl and her improvident grandfather and proceeds to take them under his somewhat patched up wing. The child is about to be sent to an orphanage and the elderly man to an old people's home.

Just The Type For Love

The welfare worker who is responsible for the child, happens to be just the type that the troubadour could love, and he finds himself doing it thoroughly. However, they are on opposite sides of the fence, hence complications.

Reuniting four who contributed so largely to the success of "Topper" a few months ago, "Merrily We Live" opens today at the Texan. It has Constance Bennett as one of its stars and Billie Burke and Alan Mowbray heading the supporting cast. Sharing stellar honors with Miss Bennett is Brian Aherne.

In the guise of a tramp who is in reality a novelist, Aherne is admitted to a rich mansion and given the job as chauffeur. He stays on to gain material for a novel and because he has fallen in love with the daughter, Miss Bennett.

James Stewart and Margaret Sullavan have the leading roles in "Shopworn Angel" which comes to the Palace Friday.

Leo Carrillo, Tamara Geva, Ann Dvorak and Phil Regan head the cast of "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round," current attraction at the Lyric.

Museum At Tech Gets Collection

A collection including relics from several countries has been loaned to the West Texas museum on Texas Technological college campus by R. L. Gordon of Brownfield.

The display includes drawn linen from Bordeaux, France, more than 100 years old; a native costume from Tehauntepec; Mexican and Haitian money; a vaquero suit hand made by Mexicans; a 44-40 action Colt pistol with 16 notches, used by Perico Navareti, major in the revolution of the armies of Adolphe de la Huerta and Obregon in 1923; a rawhide riata from Yucatan; a bamboo musical instrument from Santa Domingo; and a sandstone image from the San Juan ruin, Vera Cruz.

An old model cap and ball pistol loaned by A. E. Butterfield, missionary who recently visited here, is being exhibited. The hammer is on the right side rather than the center top.

Morning visiting hours in the museum during the summer have been changed to 10 to 12 o'clock, instead of the former 8 to 10 o'clock. Afternoon visiting hours are 3 to 6 o'clock. On Sundays the museum is open from 2 to 5:45 o'clock in the afternoon.

Two Rallies Scheduled During Week By Candidates In County

Candidates, about ready to head down the home stretch, face only two rallies this week — one Monday afternoon at Slaton and one Wednesday night at Posey.

Interest in campaigns remained apathetic, from general observation. Rainfall, which has reduced attendance at rallies in several instances this year, chased an early audience at Twenty-Seventh street park Thursday night and cut down number of those who hopefully waited to a mere handful of persons other than candidates and their families or other relatives.

Extension Of Duggan Pool In Cochran And Denver Pool In Yoakum Highlight Oil News

By JOHN B. BREWER
Special Oil Writer

Extending of the Duggan pool in southeastern Cochran county two miles south by Devonian No. 1-C-8 Duggan, moving of the Denver pool in southwestern Yoakum county a short distance south by Shell No. 2 C. A. Dowden and improvement of the showing by Ray Rhodes and others' No. 1 E. W. Cowden, one-mile northeast outpost to the one-well Emma Cowden pool in southern Andrews county, were highlights of West Texas oil developments this week.

Locations were staked for 34 tests in nine counties, 11 less than the number in 14 counties the week before but bringing the total for the first 26 weeks in 1938 to 1,065, an average of 41 weekly.

Flows 107 Barrels

Devonian No. 1-C-8 Duggan, extensioner in Cochran county, flowed 107 barrels of oil in 20 hours, cutting four per cent basic sediment and water, and was to retreat with 4,000 gallons of acid, bottomed at 5,051 feet in lime. At 5,036 feet the well was acidized with 1,000 gallons and swabbed two barrels of oil hourly. It is in the northeast corner of labor 8, league 54, Oldham county school land.

Shell No. 2 C. A. Dowden, marking a quarter mile south extension to the Denver field in Yoakum county, flowed 198 barrels of oil in 24 hours after treatment with 5,000 gallons of acid in two stages and prepared to deepen from 5,040 feet. It is in the northwest quarter of section 894-D-John H. Gibson. One of three locations staked by the Texas Co. was for No. 1 Annie Miller 660 feet out of the southeast corner of section 861. It is a north offset to Helmerich & Payne and Continental No. 1 Ohio-Dowell, which made a natural flow of 135 barrels daily to extend production 1 1-2 miles southwest.

Yoakum Test Abandoned

Magnolia No. 1 Webb, wildcat two miles southwest of Plains, was abandoned at 5,380 feet after unsuccessful acidizing following plugging back from 5,639 feet. It was in the northeast quarter of section 267, four miles north of Bond & Bohago No. 1 M. M. West, a discovery well eight miles north of the Denver pool opener. No. 1 West last week was given a new daily potential of 216 barrels after shooting with 520 quarts, with the total depth 5,255, a gain of 166 barrels.

Eastland No. 1 P. C. Dunbar, southwestern Gaines county wildcat, pumped into the pits an estimated 40 barrels of fluid, 80 per cent oil and 20 per cent water and basic sediment, in five hours. The oil then dwindled to a small amount with three barrels of sulphur water hourly. Bottomed at 4,640 feet, the test had been treated with 9,000 gallons of acid in three stages. It is in the southwest quarter of section 24-A12-psl.

Tops Solid Lime

J. T. Perryman No. 1 Doak, northeastern Gaines wildcat west of Cedar Lake, in section 43-H-D&W, topped the solid lime at 4,580 feet, 1,415 feet below sea level, and had passed 4,725 in lime. Riddle & Warr No. 1 Brown, wildcat seven miles farther northwest in section 26-G-C&MRR, had reached 4,280 in anhydrite. Top of the Yates sand was reported 3,360 feet, 77 feet below sea level.

Ray Rhodes and others' No. 1 Cowden in southern Andrews county after being shut in 15 hours at 4,220 feet swabbed and flowed 62 barrels of oil in 10 hours. It was to be retreated with 5,000 gallons of acid. Location is in the northwest quarter of section 1-42-2n-T&P, seven miles south of the Fuhrman pool in Andrews and five miles northwest of the North Cowden field in Ector county.

Preparing To Plug

Frank S. Perkins and others' No. 1 E. W. Cowden, in the extreme southwest corner of Andrews county, deepest test yet drilled in the north part of the West Texas Permian Basin, prepared to plug after showing 2,000 feet of sulphur water in 24 hours. It failed to reach the Ordovician in drilling to 8,012 feet, cemented 5-inch flush joint pipe eight feet off bottom and perforated it between 7,660 and 7,714 feet opposite sections indicated by a Schlumberger survey to be porous and oil saturated. Location was in the northwest quarter of section 14-A55-psl.

Casteel and others' (formerly L. D. Stogner's) No. 1 T. G. Hendrick, Ector county wildcat four miles southeast of the Harper pool and in the northwest quarter of section 4-43-2s-T&P, bailed 15 gallons of oil in 12 hours from upper shows in drilling to 4,193 feet in lime.

Extension Is Marked

Humble No. 46 J. S. Means marked a half mile east extension to the Means field in north central Andrews county by flowing 120 barrels of oil hourly through a 2½-inch outlet on casing after treating with 4,000 gallons of acid in two stages at 4,535 feet. It is in the northeast quarter of section 10-35-psl.

Gulf No. 8 Waddell, indicated small producer a quarter mile north of Gulf No. 4 Waddell, first major well from the Ellenberger, lower Ordovician, in the Sand Hills district in western Crane county, headed while swabbing after treating with 1,000 gallons of acid, bottomed at 8,083 feet in lime.

Strikes Sulphur Water

Magnolia and Tex-Mex No. 1-A McKee, northern Pecos county wildcat, which struck sulphur water in the Ellenberger at 6,230-35 feet, plugged back farther to 6,180 and was standing.

Homer Price and others' No. 1 J. C. Beddo, promising the first production from the Palo Pinto in Runnels county, recemented 6 5-8 inch casing above an oil bearing section from 3,498 to 3,515 feet preparatory to re-acidizing. Failure of cement to hold spoiled the first acidizing attempt.

Plateau Oil Co. No. 1 Anderson, Kimble county wildcat seven miles northwest of Junction, was credited with pumping 30 barrels of oil and an equal amount of water daily, bottomed at 1,869 feet, 59 feet in the Ellenberger lime. Plateau was drilling water well for No. 1 E. E. Bold, 660 feet south and 2,640 feet east of No. 1 Anderson, and, it was reported, soon would start a test farther south on the Rowe land. Phillips Petroleum Co. was preparing to core test on the A. L. Mudge place.

Federal Income Is Over-Spent

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 2. — The government over-spent its income by $1,459,000,000 in the fiscal year which ended Thursday night.

The deficit was the smallest of eight consecutive shortages, but the new year will bring a deficit of approximately $3,000,000,000 because of the new spending program.

Figures Made Public

The treasury made public today final figures on operations for the fiscal year. They showed the treasury income was $6,241,661,226.09 and its expenditures $7,766,374,277.27.

The expenditures total included $65,464,950 for debt retirement, making the gross deficit $1,524,713,050, compared with $2,811,318,313 in the previous year.

Due to the use of desterilized gold, the year's increase in the public debt was held to $740,126,583, bringing the direct obligations of the treasury to $37,164,740,315.45. This was an average of $285.70 per person. When the public debt was at its post-war low of $15,719,283,767, on December 31, 1930, the per capita share was $129.66.

Deficit Reduced Last Year

Receipts were $948,000,000 higher, and reached the highest total in more than 15 years. Income taxes, amounting to $2,634,618,138 were $478,000,000, higher, and excise taxes totaling $2,279,453,099 were $97,000,000 larger. The only major tax classification to decline was customs duties, which fell $127,000,000 to $359,187,249 due to sharp decrease in American purchases of food and merchandise abroad.

The Library of Congress was completed in 1897 at a cost of $5,000,000.

Mechanical Improvements Push Air-Conditioning To Fore, Survey Reveals

Cooling Plants Gain Steadily In Popularity Over Nation

Improvements in mechanical methods have pushed air conditioning into the front as one of the nation's most rapidly growing industries, a survey of air conditioning and cooling equipment establishments discloses.

Dozens of improvements in the use of refrigerants—and even in the construction of water evaporation systems—came almost simultaneously, to skyrocket to prominence the air-conditioning idea.

The use of temperature control is not new, and air cooling has been used in large scale plants for some time, but for many years was regarded as impractical for small installations.

Today, the phrases "air-conditioned" or "air-cooled" used in advertising denote the newness of the industry.

Mark Of Acceptance

"It is at once a mark of public acceptance of air cooling and a badge of the newness of air conditioning" one dealer pointed out. "The movies were the same way a few years ago with sound pictures. Today, they don't advertise sound pictures, because nobody expects to see any other kind."

"A restaurant installed air conditioning, and a 20 per cent increase in business resulted. Other industries have found the same thing. The public definitely has accepted the fact that it can be comfortable at home, at the office, at stores, and everywhere."

The restaurant owner disclosed that appetites were improved on installation of the air cooling unit, as gauged by the size of the meal checks, which swelled perceptibly.

The new style air cooling units frequently are not easily identified. They may be a suspended box, when floor space is valuable, or an inconspicuous rectangular unit mounted on one side of the walls or shelves of the room, matching the general color scheme.

May Be Hidden

The refrigeration plant may be entirely out of sight, particularly if the building has been planned for constant year-round temperature control. In no case, if properly planned and installed, will the unit be obtrusive, engineers assert.

"The particular type of unit needed may depend upon a large number of factors," it was pointed out. "The general plan of the building must be taken into consideration, space available, the degree of cooling necessary, and others. Often it is possible to combine features of several systems, using a dehumidifier in conjunction with water evaporation, and a refrigerant.

"Merchants in general aim at the comfort of the customers.

"The public is not particularly interested in just how the result is achieved—but it does demand comfort, and too large a percentage of moisture in the air sometimes may cause complaints."

When Swim Suit Is Sold With Guarantee That Wearer Won't Drown—That's Insurance

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 2 (AP)—When a swimming suit is sold carrying a $1,000 guarantee that the wearer won't drown—that's insurance.

So ruled Attorney General Jack Holt. The opinion was requested by Insurance Commissioner M. J. Harrison, who reported a manufacturer was offering such a suit backed by an agreement with Lloyds of London to make a $1,000 payment if a person drowns. Harrison said Lloyds was not licensed to operate in Arkansas.

Plans For Fair Made By Board

Members of the board of directors for the Panhandle-South Plains Fair association, in a meeting Friday morning went to the fairgrounds in East Lubbock and assisted in making plans for the fair this fall.

Expenditures estimated at $25,000 will be devoted to erection of a new brick merchants' building and other alterations and improvements.

To Increase Fence

A high fence will be placed around the grounds to increase parking space and admittance charges will be collected as the cars enter according to plans.

A long straight walk, running east and west, will be built immediately south of the buildings which will be arranged, to face another curved walk, ends of which will be connected with the straight walk. Numerous other walks will be constructed connecting buildings.

To Move Buildings

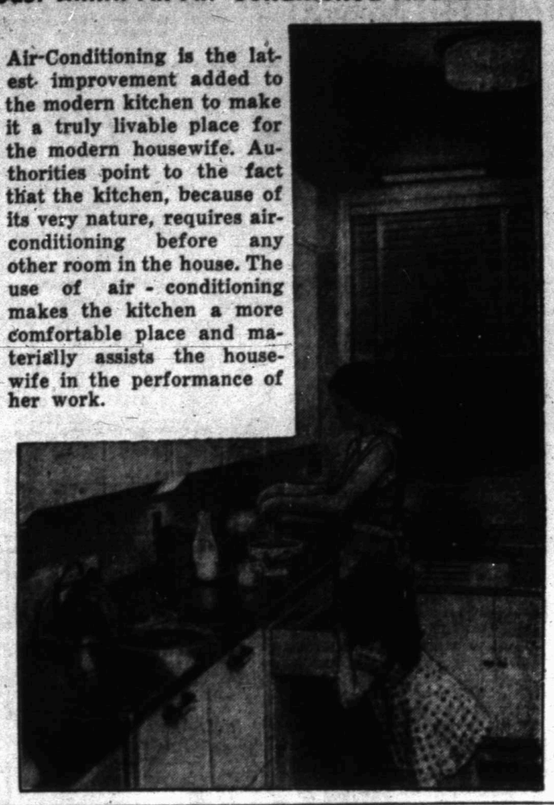

Facing generally south, the buildings will be arranged from west to east as follows: the Boy Scout building, the woman's building, the merchant's building in the center, the implement exhibits and the agricultural buildings. The band stand, situated where the merchants' building will be erected, will be moved early this week to the center of the space to be inclosed in the straight and curved walks. Other buildings will be moved.

Grounds near the walks will be landscaped and grass planted.

The merchants' building, to be 160x72 feet, will contain booths for firms for display and advertising purposes. Only "three or four" booths Saturday had not been sold, according to fair officials.

Businesses wanting space in the building were warned to communicate with fair officials at offices of the chamber of commerce in the city hall immediately if they expected to obtain reservations.

Just Think! An Air-Conditioned Kitchen!

Air-Conditioning is the latest improvement added to the modern kitchen to make it a truly livable place for the modern housewife. Authorities point to the fact that the kitchen, because of its very nature, requires air-conditioning before any other room in the house. The use of air-conditioning makes the kitchen a more comfortable place and materially assists the housewife in the performance of her work.

Republican National Chairman Hamilton Is To Lay Wreath On Thos. Jefferson's Grave

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 2—The Republican national committee has announced that its chairman, John Hamilton, would lay a wreath on the grave of Thomas Jefferson at Monticello, Va., the afternoon of July 4.

Jefferson, the third president, is regarded by Democrats as the founder of their party.

In a statement announcing Hamilton's intention to honor the Southern statesman, the Republican committee recalled that he told the Alabama Republican convention recently:

"There is today no insurmountable barrier between the real Democrats of the South and the Republican party."

Two Lectures At Tech This Week

Motion pictures, lectures, and a dance are included in the summer recreational program at Texas Technological college this week.

The week's program will be opened with presentation of motion pictures taken in the Yaqui Indian country in Mexico and a lecture at 8 o'clock Tuesday night. The pictures will be shown by Dr. J. C. Anderson and explanations will be made by Dr. C. J. Wagner, both members of last spring's expedition into the Yaqui territory.

Setons Here Wednesday

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Thompson Seton, authors and authorities on Indian lore, of Santa Fe, N. M., will tell stories of Indian and wild animal life of the Southwest and the Canadian Northwest at 8 o'clock Wednesday night.

On Thursday night, the first of several films ordered by the college will be screened at 8 o'clock. Showing of the pictures was made possible through purchase of a new projector by the college. It was not known Saturday which picture of several ordered for showing this summer would be sent here for the first presentation.

The third of a series of informal dances will be conducted from 8:30 until 11 o'clock Friday night in the women's residence hall.

The Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday night entertainments will be presented on the lawn south of the administration building.

Maximum Loan Of 75 Per Cent Of 1938 Crop Parity Price Asked By Texans

Letters Sent To FDR, Wallace

(By The Associated Press)

TEMPLE, July 2.—Letters from heads of three Texas agricultural groups declaring the cotton farmer faced a situation "more acute than in 1937" and urging emergency action on a maximum loan of 75 per cent of parity on the 1938 cotton crop went forward to President Roosevelt and Secretary Wallace today.

The letters were signed by V. C. Marshall of Heidenheimer, president of the Texas Soil and Water Conservation association; Cliff Day of Plainview, head of the Texas Agricultural association, and Ralph Moore of Granger, master of the Texas Grange.

Has Restricted Acreage

At present the cotton farmer, the letters read in part, "has restricted acreage, a continued low price, and the promise of no more than a 52 per cent loan."

"The farmer is willing to go through with the necessary red tape and delay in planning his farming operations toward adjusted production if he is assured that, in the end, he will get all that his AAA program offers him in improving his income," it read.

If the farm act was designed to help the southern farmer, the letter declared, "now is the time, when he needs most the 75 per cent loan on his cotton. The 52 per cent loan would not relieve the farmer and his depressed condition."

COTTON AT MEADOW

MEADOW—Eighty per cent of the cotton land has been planted. Farmers estimate the crop is 40 per cent up to a good stand. Thirty per cent or more of the feed crop is planted.

Air-Conditioning Brings Summer Ease

The old saying that "a man's home is his castle" has been changed to indicate the inclusion of air-conditioning as a requirement of the modern home. The picture of ease and contentment shown in the above depicts the comfort made possible by modern air-conditioning. As a result of the use of air-conditioning the man-of-the-house may return from the day's toil with definite assurance that his air-conditioned home will offer him relief from the heat and the pleasure offered in true comfort

"Package Air-Conditioning Units" Are Now Available To Smaller Homes Of Nation

Installation of air-cooling for the home of "the man on the street" as well as for the 10-story office building, is the most notable 1938 development in the field of manufactured weather, air-conditioning engineers said today.

The same principles used for the theater or large business concern have been put to work to supply summer comfort and health even to the family of modest means, they said.

One of the most significant factors with regard to air conditioning is that today, after years of research, manufacturers, inventors and engineers have brought the science to a point where equipment is available for every conceivable need, officials of a local air-conditioning bureau said.

Package Purchase

Manufacturers, engineers, and equipment dealers early saw the necessity of developing apparatus which could be purchased and installed as easily as an electric iron or electric toaster. It should be available at a cost as low as that of a portable typewriter for one class of customer, as low as a used car to another class—and so on, dependent on the need and the customers' circumstances, they said.

A study of the West Texas field by an air-conditioning bureau resulted in the following announcement:

"West Texans have available today air-conditioning systems suited to every need. The entire area is due for the greatest progress in air-conditioning installations, particularly in the case of residence installations, that West Texas ever has seen."

The estimated weight of the earth is six sextillion tons.

WHEAT STILL MOVES

SPUR—More than 135 cars of wheat have moved from Spur over the Stamford and Northwestern, it was announced. Rains slowed down the harvesting over the county. At least 150 cars are expected to be shipped this season.

Warm Debate On Per Capita Seen

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 2—Warm debate on procedure in setting the state per capita aid apportionment for the next school year may break out at a meeting of the state board of education here next Wednesday.

Many persons believed the allotment would continue at $22 per capita. Even though anticipated revenues should be insufficient to assure school aid of $22 per scholastic the board might set it at that, and any shortage could be made up in the succeeding school year.

R. S. Bowers of Caldwell, chairman of the board, predicted a harmonious meeting and voiced the opinion setting of the per capita would be postponed until after the automatic tax board determines the ad valorem tax rate for school purposes. Ghent Sanderford, Austin board member who favors retention of the $22, said however, he believed the amount should be fixed next Wednesday.

Texas-New Mexico Utilities Company

The CCC And Firearms; Jones Applies "Human Test" To RFC Borrowers

Let Boys Learn To Use Them

Pacifists Overlook Facts In The Case

A proposal gaining adherents in the East and worthy of serious consideration is that instructions in the handling of fire-arms be made available for the young men enrolled in the Civilian Conservation corps.

The movement seems to have gained sufficient momentum that pacifist organizations of various kinds have begun to oppose it vigorously. They contend that if our young men don't know how to use guns, there is less probability they will use them. That, without argument, is true. And, without argument, it speaks of a condition which would be perfectly dandy for the other side should this fair land of ours be invaded.

Advocacy of fire-arms instruction in the CCC does not mean that one would wish that the Civilian Conservation corps should become militaristic in purpose. On the contrary, the overwhelming mass of the citizenship would oppose any such thing as that. The CCC is intended as an agency to help young men without money and without jobs through the most crucial period of their lives. That should continue its purpose and, on that basis, there probably always will be a need for it or an organization of its kind.

For that reason, if fire-arms instructions should be given, it should be on a voluntary basis strictly. The enrollees should be told, in effect: "Here it is; come and get it if you want it." No discrimination of any nature should be tolerated against those who do not accept the invitation. But it is a good guess that those young men would jump at the chance. They, like other American boys, like the feel of a gun.

And what could the result be except of benefit to them? If war should come, the enrollees are, taken as a whole, of the age and the physique which would draw them into service early. The fact they may be or may have been in the CCC would have nothing to do with it; nor should it have any bearing in determining who shall or shall not be called into service in time of national peril.

Suppose they should be called into the armed service. Would not their knowledge of fire-arms put them in an advantageous position for advancement? Both they and the nation would be better off. Then, if the fates should lead them to the firing line, their knowledge might mean the difference between life and death.

The determining factor, however, should be the boys themselves. If most of them should oppose fire-arms instruction, certainly it should not be forced upon them. But if they should look with favor upon the idea, then nothing but benefit to enrollee and nation can result.

It's A Fifty-Fifty Gamble!

SOMETIMES a man chooses a career, but much more frequently the career chooses the man. And the chances are that the latter procedure produces no more square-peg-round-hole combinations than the former.

A story comes of a man who spent his youth training for the legal profession. He made a success of the practice of law, and kept on being a success for 35 years. He then lost every penny he had in speculation. He walked into a moving picture casting director's office one day and was mistaken for another man of the same name who was already in the business.

That was the beginning of a movie career, at the age of 57. He is now having the time of his life as an actor, makes money at it, and recalls his years at the bar with acute distaste.

Another story concerns a 19-year-old girl named Rose Chickiris. There's not a great deal to say about Rose except that she sells coal, makes a good living at it, knows all about coal, and is on her way to establishing her own coal company. It seems she just happened to get a job in a coal office one day.

It makes you suspect that most people probably have a lot more careers in them than they could discover in a lifetime, and your chances of being picked by the right career are at least as good as the chances of doing the right picking yourself.

The One-Minute Sermon

Because to every purpose there is time and judgment, therefore the misery of man is great upon him.

For he knoweth not that which shall be: for who can tell him when it shall be?

There is no man that hath power over the spirit to retain the spirit; neither hath he power in the day of death: and there is no discharge in that war: neither shall wickedness deliver those that are given to it.—Ecclesiastes 8; 6 through 9.

How Are You Coming Along With Your Work These Days?

Seventy-five Years Ago Our Nation's Fate Was Decided On The Battlefield

Recalling July 4, '63, At Gettysburg

By NEA Service.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 2—Seventy-five years ago this July 4 the Blue and the Gray had fought a battle in a pasture south of Gettysburg that decided the fate of a nation. As General Lee's forces dragged wearily along in defeat back toward Virginia, both the North and the South knew that the United States was to remain one great union.

The Union forces had barely managed to repulse the southerners, but the victory was theirs. The cost had been high. Blood stained the pasture. Thousands upon thousands of young men lay dead. But the Union was to live.

For three days they had been locked in battle. On July 1 Lee's army of 70,000 men had driven Gen. George Gordon Meade's 82,000 foot and horse southward out of Gettysburg and as far as Cemetery Ridge and Culp's hill. It was a major Confederate victory and the following day the southerners won more ground and consolidated their gains to set the stage for the final push that they hoped would win the war.

• • •

Then Came The Battle

THE Confederates were in three corps. General Longstreet's force, farthest in advance on the west flank, had spent itself; so Lee ordered General Johnson on the east flank to open the attack.

Johnson led his men down the gorge of Rocky Creek and met heavy losses as Union batteries from above them poured down a relentless fire. He was beaten, forced to retire.

With Johnson defeated, Lee had only one chance. Pickett and his 15,000 veteran Virginians were in position on the west flank of the Union line and impatient for action. After a losing artillery duel Lee ordered Pickett to advance.

Almost a mile of open field lay ahead of the southerners before they could reach the Union lines. And on they came . . . most of the way . . . and not a single shot was fired.

• • •

Mowed Down In Windrows

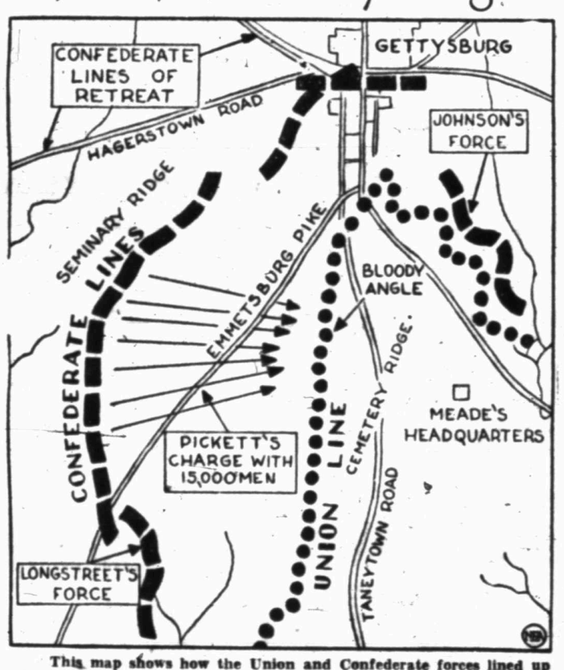

THEN it happened—the Union guns concentrated on the crest of Cemetery Hill, roared and roared again. Then came musket fire, and by the time Pickett's men reached the first line their fallen comrades virtually carpeted the field. The fighting southerners broke that first line and seemed about to win when the tide of battle turned and they were repulsed.

When the Confederate retreat was ended, 10,000 members of that crack force lay dead on Gettysburg battlefield. The spirit of the Confederates had been broken. And it was the beginning of the end for Genmembering another Independence eral Lee's valiant army.

• • •

AND now, some 2000 Civil War veterans—both the Blue and the Gray—are holding a last reunion here at Gettysburg. They are re-Day many years ago, when blood ran in the pasture south of Gettysburg and a nation was born anew.

Independence Day holds real memories and a real meaning for those aging men.

This map shows how the Union and Confederate forces lined up for the Battle of Gettysburg, turning point in the Civil war. After Generals Longstreet and Johnson had been repulsed, General Lee ordered the famous Pickett's Charge, which resulted in one of the bloodiest engagements of the entire conflict.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

R. F. C.-er Jesse Jones applies an extremely human and homely test in passing upon loan applications in the current recovery drive. To borrow money from Uncle Sam's billionaire banker, you've got to have cash and common sense.

Mr. Jones's examiners make the usual credit investigations with respect to all comers, but it's the boss with the gray gimlet eyes who finally passes on all difficult questions. Then he tosses the credit ratings out the window. In his opinion, if a prospective borrower is willing and courageous enough to sink his own funds in an enterprise, it means that he has probably investigated the social and economic need for the new product. And if a man has the mazuma, it's prima facie evidence with the R.F.C.-er that he knows what he is doing and talking about.

When it is suggested that lots of men have money but no sense, Mr. Jones permits himself what passes for a twinkle. "Yes," he agrees, "that's true if he inherited it. But if he were the playboy kind, he wouldn't want to put himself or his money to work. I'm talking about men who have 'made' their money, and want to make some more. You can bank on them." He does.

• • •

SUCCESSORS: Former Editor Lowell Mellett has Hollywooded himself into the White House scenario quietly but forcefully. The special services he performs for the President underscore reports that his N. E. C. directorship was only a way station on the road to higher things—and duties.

With the irrepressible and ubiquitous Tommie Corcoran, Mr. Mellett has become F. D. R.'s chief reliance in writing messages and speeches. They make a swell team, with Tommie providing the "copper-head" stuff and Lowell balancing that thrust with conciliatory remarks. The young lawyer is keen and caustic, whereas the ex-newspaperman is kindly and charitable. The blend of their styles accounts for the mixture of ease and evangelism in Mr. Roosevelt's recent utterances.

The Corcoran-Mellett combination has virtually shoved aside earlier publicists. White House Secretary Marvin McIntyre still meets all trains, while Steve Early meets the newspaperman at 10:30 or thereabouts every morning. And handy man Charley Michelson devotes himself exclusively to old-fashioned rather than Roosevelitian politics. He's closer to Mr. Farley than he is to the President.

• • •

VOTES: John Nance Garner is generally listed as a social and economic conservative. His opposition to several key Rooseveltian policies has won him a reputation as a recalcitrant Old Dealer—and he is probably so labeled by numerous administration men.

But such a liberal as William Edgar Borah recently shocked several colleagues by expressing deep admiration for the Vice-President's stand on many major issues. In the Idahoan's opinion, Mr. Garner is sound, and not reactionary, on such questions as taxes, private utilities, labor-and-management relations, public finances. What particularly attracts the veteran irreconcilable is the No. 2 man's rabidly American attitude on foreign affairs. It's by that test that Mr. Borah judges most men in public life.

"Yes," added Mr. Borah when the boys had told off the V. P.'s virtues and vices, "and Jack has a bushel of hard common sense. I wouldn't be surprised if he got a lot of Republican votes in the event of his nomination.

• • •

SYMPATHY: Although he was once Franklin D. Roosevelt's insurance boss, Senator George Radcliffe of Maryland makes no apologies for managing the campaign of Senator Millard E. Tydings—an anti-New Dealer for whom the White House has been sharpening special knives.

"I'm still for the President," explains Mr. Radcliffe, "but I think we ought to be broad-minded in these party contests. Moreover, it's up to the people of Maryland to settle this by themselves—without outside interference."

The President's anti-Tydings campaign, incidentally, is one purge with which National Chairman Farley sympathizes heartily—almost the only one. Their feud dates from before-Chicago days, when Mr. Tydings struggled valiantly for the late Albert C. Ritchie and violently against Franklin D. Roosevelt.

THRIFT: Summer housecleaning on Capitol Hill always discloses the identity of Congressmen who are trials to their wives—and of those who hang up their hats and wipe their feet outside the door like good, well-behaved boys.

As soon as House and Senate adjourns, the painters, decorators, scrubwomen and furniture repair men swarm through both chambers, private offices and committee rooms. The offices of the more important committees, which are in constant use, must be redecorated annually. But the extent of the refurnishing varies with the membership. Some groups manage to keep the furniture and rugs and equipment in good order, while others manhandle it. Moribund committees like that for the Disposition of Useless Documents make few demands on the overhaulers.

Even Calvin Coolidge would admire the thriftiness of Capitol Hill managers. When the rug in a major committee room—Ways and Means, for instance—shows signs of wear, it is transferred to the headquarters of some less illustrious group. Then it may be cut up to fit a Congressman's office, next a secretary's and after that an attache's. It finally winds up as so many doormats for the 531 honorable gentlemen.

NEW YORK
By Alan Barth

PRACTICAL politicians in New York admit that religion will be the dominant factor in the coming primaries. They're not pleased about it. The subject is as full of high explosives as a submarine torpedo. But with New York City's tremendous Catholic and Jewish vote, it just can't be avoided. When politicos talk confidentially; the subject invariably crops up.

On this account insiders now quote Judge William Bleakley an odds-on favorite for one of the Republican senatorial nominations. As a Catholic, it is calculated he will offset the Jewish vote for Lehman, who is in bad with the Catholics, anyhow, because he voted the McNaboe bill excluding Communists from office. Bleakley was runner-up to Lehman in the last gubernatorial race. But leading Republicans feel that he—and the party—have now got their second wind.

Democrats also feel obliged to offset Lehman by naming a Catholic for the governorship. The sentiment strengthens John J. Bennett, jr.'s, chances. It's part of the motivation behind the desire to run James A. Farley, who may take the gubernatorial nomination away from Bennett. Protestants are expected to get their representation through choice of Dewey for governor by the Republicans and Wagner for the Senate by the Democrats. Church and state may be separated in New York—but they're not entirely divorced.

YANKEE: The dark horse most prominently mentioned for the other Republican senatorial nomination in inner circles—where mention really counts—is Benjamin Feinberg of Plattsburg. He would balance Bleakley from the theological point of view.

Feinberg has other assets, too. He used to be prosecutor of Clinton County and has served that extremely Yankee district in the State Senate for a number of years. All through the upper part of the state he's greatly liked. He was elected to the State Constitutional convention as a delegate-at-large—and ran ahead of all his fellow-Republicans, including such men as George Fearon and Judge Frederick Crane. He's chairman of the convention's influential Committee on Government and State Offices. On all important party conclaves he's called in.

Feinberg is a robust, genial, yet canny fellow, himself as thoroughly Yankee as anything in New England. He has no American Labor party endorsement—which in up-state Republican circles can be set down on the credit side of the ledger.

Our Curious World --- By William Ferguson

It is a common belief that many animals have phosphorescent eyes that glow in total darkness. Such is not the case, however, and science now knows that light can only be reflected by the eyes of certain animals, and this is due to a lustrous layer of the retina.

Burman Takes You Aboard Shanty-Boat Again

'Blow For A Landing' Tells Of 'Home-Sweet-Home' Afloat

"BLOW FOR A LANDING," by Ben Lucien Burman; (Houghton-Mifflin, New York).

BEN LUCIEN BURMAN seems to have carved out the lower Mississippi valley as his literary fief. He has had some distinguished predecessors there, but still the territory seems to be in pretty good hands.

Burman's most recent novel is "Blow for a Landing" an ingratiating story that seems destined for sure popularity.

It has to do with the shanty-boat people of the river; the poor whites who occupy floating homes on the water, eke out a living by strange and impromptu expedients, exist under conditions of the most abysmal ignorance and complete poverty—and seem, somebody, to have a fairly good time out of life.

The family that Burman chiefly concerns himself with does not, to be sure, get any too much happiness. It is a family which wants to get away from the river and settle down to a stable existence on a farm; and every spring it makes a brave but hopeless gesture in that direction. It gets a little plot of ground, builds a cabin, makes blissful plans—and then sees everything washed away by a flood.

In the end, a good Samaritan does provide a farm; a substantial one, safe above the flood line. The family moves in . . . only to find, after a few months, that it can't be happy away from the river. In the end it is back in the shantyboat again, shiftless, improvident, and happy.

Probably it is quite true that Burman idealizes and romanticizes these quaint and picturesque people. Even the bad luck that keeps hitting them is softened. But while the realists may condemn him, he does write a heartwarming and touching story.

ONE of the nicest novels the month has produced is by Gerald Warner Brace, whose "The Islands" led some wise men to predict a "future" for its author. The new book is a simple (at least on the surface) story of a young university instructor who went to Vermont on a fellowship to study the dialect, and found a girl who was the perfect foil for a groping "personality." Their wanderings and their talk and the Vermont scene make the novel. Its title is "The Wayward Pilgrims." (Putnam.)

'Improved' Conditions Are Reported For Crops Of South Plains Territory

Cotton Presents Question Mark

By J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Marked change for the better in South Plains crops has come during the past week, with a general cessation of rains and sand storms, except for occasional showers, and considerable hot weather to bring out cotton. Local men who have been out over the territory the past few days are unanimous in reporting "improved" conditions.

Cotton is coming up to a good stand over the greater part of the territory. Early planted cotton that escaped rain, hail and sand, is in good shape.

Corn Is Knee High

Feed likewise is good. Some corn, in Lynn and Dawson counties, planted early is now knee high. Grain sorghums and sudan are beginning to get knee high in places.

Lubbock cotton men have started to think in terms of a possible crop for the South Plains. Finest guesses, based on conditions the past week, have varied from 300,000 to 350,000 bales for the territory. Several representatives have forwarded to their main offices estimates around these figures.

Conditions, they admit, will vary one way or another as the season progresses. With a good underground season, they point out, it is possible to have a larger crop than that, even though the acreage has probably been reduced 500,000 to 600,000 acres.

Weeds Difficulty Now

Chief difficulty at this time for farmers is fighting weeds. While many fields are clean, the rains of early June were so heavy in scattered sections that weeds got a good start and it has been a problem to kill them off. The past week has seen many long hours of hard work in killing weeds and the end is in sight for most farmers.

There has been some replanting of cotton. Most of the sorghums are planted, but there is still some of this crop to be sown.

Replanting has been heavier this year than last, according to numerour farmers. Rains were later this year than last and the late rains washed dirt over seed so much that replanting was necessary. Cases are reported of third and fourth plantings of crops.

Good Seed Is Used

Seed dealers state the farmers this year have not had to use as much gin-run seed as usual. There was a larger available supply of good grade seed as well as pedigreed seed for replanting, seed men explain. Farmers also seemed to have more money available for the purchase of replanting seed and they continued their buying of the better grade. Less gin-run seed was sold this year than for many years.

Most farmers are within their allocation of cotton acres for their farms. Measuring is expected to start in Lubbock county about July 15. Committeemen are soon to receive instructions. Generally it is believed they will find on most farms a few acres under the allocation acreage.

Heavier Acreages Seen

Heavier sudan and grain sorghum acreages is seen. There will be a large crop of sorghums for harvesting this fall. County agents and bankers are reported considering prospects for a large calf purchasing campaign on the part of farmers with feed crops.

Wheat harvesting in the South Plains territory is almost over, except in the northern part. Peak was reached in several counties the past week. Prices have held up well, considering market conditions.

Generally speaking, railroads of this section expect to handle 55 to 65 per cent of last year's car movement of wheat. Some station agents have reduced their peak estimates of loadings, but at that the total is expected to be well above 50 per cent.

Holding of wheat by farmers fell off during the past 10 days as the price showed a slight advance. Possibly one-third of the crop, to nearly 40 per cent, will be held for later sale. First indications were that at least half of the crop would be held.

Damascus is believed to be the oldest city in the world still inhabited.

Now Even The Horses Have Private Bridge

A PRIVATE BRIDGE FOR PRIZE HORSES crosses New Jersey state highway No. 35. It was built by the state highway department to provide a right-of-way between adjoining pasturages. Speeding motorists created the problem. Walter Martin, horse breeder, solved it by an appeal to the highway department.

First Chapter Of Two-Part Article By Late Tech President In Current Farm Magazine; Dangers Of Restriction Of Cotton Cited

The late Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college, was author of a two-part article, the first chapter of which is in the current Progressive Farmer, "A Threat to the South's Economic Life."

Dealing with danger of restricting cotton growers to one-crop system, Dr. Knapp's article caused Eugene Butler, one of the publication's editors, to write:

". . . When Northern people come South to live, in the course of years they become more Southern in their sympathies than the native Southerner himself. Dr. Bradford Knapp, son of an illustrious agricultural leader. . . . has inherited his father's great love of the South and abiding sympathy with its problems. . . he is well fitted to express the Southerner's resentment of the concerted attempt now on foot to bind the South to the miseries of a one-crop system. . . ."

Struck At Objective

Dr. Knapp struck at "the objective of Northern dairymen to mold the South in its present unbalanced cropping system, to force us to continue a system of farming that has been responsible for the desecration of our soil and the poverty of our people."

He saw evils of Northern proposals "so disastrous, so devastating in its consequences . . . as to amount to a second war on Southern farms, an economic invasion. . . ."

Dr. Knapp wrote that there should be common attempt to "bring farmers of the South some of the protection which industry enjoys, to conserve soil fertility and to restore to agriculture a parity . . . of its share of the nation's income. . . ." He said the South "never can prosper unless the average farm income can be increased, not only from the sale of cotton but from other products."

Cited Two Considerations

"Two considerations" he cites are: "No system of farming in any section of the United States has come into existence in a few years." And, "where men have been free to make their choice without economic or artificial pressure, the result generally has been a well-balanced agriculture characterized by preservation and building up of soil fertility, production of food for the people or a substantial living on the farm, and production of a number of products to be marketed for cash suited to the soil, climate and accessibility of the market, so as to maintain for the farmer a rather continuous, consistent, economic income.

"Unbalanced agriculture" has resulted from economic pressure of "an artificial character," he pointed out. He cited the time when New York, Vermont and Pennsylvania were leading dairy states and the western states were largely grain- or cattle-producing belts. What if someone had proposed prohibiting the dairy industry in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa? he asked.

Developed Sectional "Weaknesses"

He developed sectional "weaknesses" of the South before and after the war and showed figures Virginia, Kentucky, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Arkansas "show by the 1935 census a smaller number of swine than by the census of 1860, and yet the human population of those states has increased more than 250 per cent.

"In 1860," he said, "37 per cent of the cattle on farms and ranches in the cotton states and now these states have only 23 per cent of the total."

The writer took the stand throughout his article the South should hold out for utilization of land taken out of cotton production for production of feed for dairy cattle, for beef cattle or for any other product grown in competition with Northern farmers.

O'Donnell Farmers Paid $5,000 Each Month By Produce Buyers

O'DONNELL, July 2.—An average of more than $5,000 each month is paid to farmers of this territory by cream buyers and poultrymen of O'Donnell, Red Dunn, manager of Lubbock Poultry & Egg Co., station here, estimates. Dunn says he believes the figures are conservative.

WOOL IS SHIPPED

ABERNATHY — Approximately 200,000 pounds of wool was shipped this week to Walker Bros., of Boston. Price ranged from 11 to 13 1-2 cents a pound, N. C. Hix, banker, and one of the owners of the warehouse, said. The wool was pooled by many farmers. Producers were said to have received over $23,000 for the wool.

More Loans For Area Likelihood

AMARILLO, July 2.—With congress having appropriated $25,000,000 to make tenant purchase loans for the second year's operation of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant act, the two advisory committees serving Region XII of the Farm Security administration are planning to meet early this month and make recommendations to Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace of a few additional counties in which the program should be administered during the next fiscal year.

This announcement was made this week by L. H. Hauter, regional director of the Farm Security administration, serving New Mexico, West Texas, the Oklahoma Panhandle, western Kansas and southeastern Colorado.

Twenty-three former tenant families in the above areas have become home owners since the program was inaugurated last year. This number is expected to be increased two and a half times as a result of increased funds.

Counties in Region XII where farm tenant purchase loans were made the first year are Bent in Colorado; Wallace in Kansas; Roosevelt in New Mexico; Floyd, Randall and Wheeler in Texas.

Congress has recognized the rapidly growing menace of tenancy in the United States, and a condition where more than one-third of all tenants move on to a new farm every year. They have little incentive to keep up fences, repair houses, plan soil-building crops, or check erosion. They have every reason to mine the soil for all they can get out of it, without thought of the future; they know some other tenant will have the farm next year.

The advisory committee in charge of recommending additional counties for next year's program in the four-state area is composed of the following: John E. Hill, Amarillo, chairman; Ed C. Morrison, Goodwell, Okla.; John Hiatt, Meade, Kansas; George Drum, Sharon Springs, Kansas; Marshall Dean, Las Animas, Colo.; Adolph Hansen, Granada, Colo.; A. B. Crump, Wheeler, Texas; C. H. Day, Plainview, Texas; and C. L. Thomas, Pampa.

He's Fit To Kill

In new Chicago you can see creatures like this. But don't get scared. The warlike getup is a type of armor a packing company uses to save its workers from the hazards of their jobs. This one is wearing everything that the new-day meat packer could wear on the job. The helmet is of laminated bakelite to protect his head if anything falls from the meat trolleys; the safety glass goggles and the mask are for repair men exposed to flying particles of dust, metal or stone; the leather apron and cuff on the left arm protect him from slips of the knife; the metal mesh glove on the left hand wards off knife slashes, and the tips of his boots are steel reinforced to keep his toes from being crushed by falling objects.

SCATTER POISON

SPUR—The state highway department has been scattering poisoned grain along the right-of-way to kill grasshoppers. The 'hoppers destroyed trees it was said. Farmers have been warned to keep livestock off the right-of-way.

Rules For WTCC Contest Posted

Farmers and farmer committees of Lubbock county interested in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce soil and water utilization contest will have an opportunity to make known their desires for entering the county in the contest, according to Lubbock chamber of commerce officials.

Copy of the regulations has been received by the civic group. The copy is on file at the office in the city hall for inspection by any group interested.

Will Aid In Competition

"We will be glad to help in setting up the necessary machinery to enter the county in the contest," said a spokesman. "We feel that if the farmers of the county want to compete, that we will render such assistance as we can."

First ranking county is to receive $500; second $300 and third, $200. The money will be used in a county junior club program.

"The only prerequisite for enrollment is the organization of a county soil and water utilization committee to carry on such activities as are deemed advisable in the light of local conditions," said the announcement. "There are no strict rules for setting up this committee, however, in the rules and regulations governing the contest there is suggested a simple procedure. The first act this county soil and water committee performs is to execute the certificate of entrance and forward it to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Abilene. There is absolutely no entrance fee, and your only cost is effort."

LOANS ARE ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON, July 2. (AP)—The Commodity Credit corporation reported today 45,330,030 net grease pounds of wool had been appraised through June 25 for loans aggregating $8,046,760. Of this, loans of $1,081,136 had been completed on 6,021,425 pounds.

The corporation also announced that through June 30 it had loaned $237,807,711 on 5,444,163 bales of cotton, including, by states, New Mexico, 49,024; Texas, 1,641,501.

Average Of 155.59 Bushel Oats Yield New Mexico Record

CARLSBAD, N. M., July 2.—What is believed to be the most abundant oat crop in New Mexico is reported here by Fred Nymeyer, of Loving, who claims to have produced 903 bushels of oats on 5.8 acres of land. It is an average of 155.59 bushels per acre.

Nymeyer, who specializes in small grains and alfalfas, says he averaged 130 bushels one year and 150 another. He fertilizes with refuse from his feed pens and phosphates.

Fred Barham, county agent, said he had never heard of a large a yield before. "The figures are exact," he added. "The land was measured by the government and there is no mistake."

TARZAN UNDER FIRE No. 49 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Poor Yvonne was horrified. Often she had heard the sun-worshipers discuss in gruesome detail what they would do when they reached a suitable site for their temple. They would build an altar and offer up a human sacrifice to their bloodthirsty Flaming God.

The victim was to be any stranger they might capture. And now they had a captive who would serve their purpose—Dick. As if in confirmation of her thoughts, the men broke into a savage chant, weird and terrible, and cast fierce, fanatic glances at the boy.

Gulm, the high priest, unsheathed the sacrificial knife. He held it aloft for the lesser priests to see, then pronounced solemnly: "When the holy blade tastes blood; when the stones of our new altar are crimsoned; then shall we know the favor of our god."

Yvonne leaned close to her companion. "Dick, Dick!" she pleaded; "you must try to escape; you might be successful. If you are not, it can be no worse than staying. Go, Dick! Leave me here. You must; you must!" Dick shook his head. "I will not leave you!"

Successor To Alves Sought By Church

Successor to Rev. J. Hodge Alves, rector of St. Paul's-on-the-Plains Episcopal church in Lubbock, will be determined by Bishop E. Cecil Seaman and a Lubbock advisory committee.

Mr. Alves will be transferred to the rectorship of St. James' parish, at Alexandria, La., a practically new church and one larger than the Lubbock congregation.

Bishop Seaman, a house guest of Dr. and Mrs. Montell E. Ogdon of 2414 Ninth street, will conduct services at the Episcopal church of Lubbock this morning.

A large number of applications has been made for appointment, said the bishop.

The church hopes to make "an announcement within a few weeks," he said.

Meanwhile, according to the discipline of the Episcopal church, work here will revert to direct care of the bishop, who through organization of Lubbock men, women and young people will carry on as in the case of previous intermissions.

Bishop Seaman lives in Amarillo.

Annual Council Meeting Will Begin At Littlefield Today

LITTLEFIELD, July 2.—Twenty-five to 30 young people of the Northwest Texas Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church are expected here Sunday and Monday for an annual council meeting. It is to be held in the First Methodist church here.
