Burkburnett Star-News Awarded Certificate From Easter Seal Group

A certificate of appreciation has been awarded to the Burkburnett Star by the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of North Texas.

Signed by Tom E. Medders, president of the society, the certificate was presented in recognition of the newspaper's and in publicizing the 1967 Easter Seal appeal on behalf of the North Texas Rehabilitation Center in Wichita Falls.

The North Texas Society received state-wide recognition at the annual convention in Houston for its outstanding publicity. It received an award for the greatest amount of newspaper coverage in its population category, and it was noted, the society also had the most newspaper publicity of any of the societies in Texas.

In a letter accompanying the certificate, Medders wrote: "We want to share this award with you, because your newspaper helped make it possible."

He added that the society, which supports the rehabilitation center where children and adults from eight counties—including Wichita—receive therapy, also received recognition for outstanding fund raising, "a direct result of the newspaper publicity."

Medders wrote: "On behalf of the handicapped children and adults from throughout North Texas, the rehabilitation center's staff and the volunteers, please accept this citation as a token of sincere thanks and appreciation."

At the state convention, a special award was made to Medders for his many years of service to the handicapped.

Catholic Church Fall Festival Is Set For Saturday

Final plans have been completed for the annual Fall Festival sponsored by the Burkburnett Catholic Church which is to be held this Saturday night, Nov. 4th from 4:00 to 9:00 p.m. in the Burkburnett Town Hall. This fund raising affair is being sponsored to benefit the building fund for the proposed church and hall planned for the near future.

As with past festivals, the feature will be the famous turkey and dressing dinner served by the members of the parish. The door prize this year will be a ham from the Nemecek Brother's Country Store located in West, Texas.

The Country Store will have home baked pastry and bread plus canned items, aprons, and handiwork. So that the dinner guests won't be disappointed this year, hundreds of pounds of smoked Czech style sausage will be available to take home. Some are still talking about the sausage they bought last year! In anticipation of the crowd expected this year, you can contact the following for dinner tickets: Joe Janke, H. R. "Jingle" Hayes or E. J. Simons. It is hoped that many of the Burkburnett people will join the Burkburnett Parish on Saturday evening, Nov. 4th and enjoy the fall festival and the many activities offered.

BULLDOGS PLAY 'SPOILERS' AT GRAHAM HOMECOMING; DEFEAT STEERS BY 35-12

By DEE UNDERWOOD

A certain stainless steel razor blade has a lot in common with the Burkburnett Bulldogs, in that they are both known as the "Spoilers." That is exactly what the Bulldogs did Friday night at Graham, spoiled the Steers annual homecoming, 35-12, before an overflow crowd of some 5,000 highly partisan fans in GHS Stadium.

The early stages of the game did not start that way, though, as the Steers went into the lead in the first quarter, breaking up a tight defensive game.

With the ball on their own 40, Graham quarterback Morris De Long handed off to Ronnie Thetford, who surprised everyone, as he threw a long pass to Johnny Knox on the Bulldog 20. From that point, Knox outran the defensive secondary into the end zone for a touchdown. The extra point kick failed, making the score 6-0 with 2:03 left in the first stanza.

The Bulldogs came back after the kickoff, marching 68 yards. The second quarter was just getting underway when fullback Don scampers six yards for a touchdown. Lynn Attwood's kicking attempt failed and the score remained knotted at 6-6, with 10:44 to go. The Bulldogs got to moving again after the defense regained possession of the ball. With 4:23 before intermission, they broke the tie on a fine reception by end John Edwards. From the 44, Jeff Beaver tossed a strike which the lanky receiver took between two defenders on the 13, racing on into the end zone. Attwood's kick made it 13-6 for the visitors.

Just before halftime, the Bulldogs had moved the ball to the 18 yard line of the Steers. On fourth down, Beaver booted a field goal — on a drop kick! This system of goal kicking is seldom used in modern day football anymore, but anyway you look at it, but points are three points. The Bulldogs took a 16-6 lead to the dressing room with them at the half.

Beaver had attempted a drop kick field goal earlier, but it had been wide. On two different drives, Beaver had brought the crowd to its feet with some spectacular fourth down running. Once, with fourth and 12 Beaver dropped back to punt but finding the Steers breaking through on him, he tucked in the pigskin and set sail. Before he was caught, he garnered 26 yards and a first down. Later, the same thing happened to him again on fourth and 10. This time he picked up 20 yards and a first. Although evidently not planned, both plays helped to break down Graham resistance and figured heavily in the outcome of the second quarter.

The third quarter gave Graham a good look at Bulldog tailback Charles Hicks, as he scored not one, not two, but three six pointers.

Hicks first counter came on the eleventh play of a 19 yard drive. The hard charging 185 pounder, busted over from 12 yards out. Attwood's kick was wide, so with 4:14 to go in the period, the Bulldogs led 22-6.

Kenny Young intercepted a Steer aerial on the Graham 34 to set up another score. This time Hicks crossed the double stripe from 13 yards away. Attwood's boot hit the goal post and bounded off to the left. With 1:16 now remaining in the third, the score stood at 28-6.

Allen Willett got in on the interception act next, picking off a stray on the Steer's 40. From that point the Bulldogs marched to the 24, then sent Hicks slashing up the middle to paydirt. Attwood made the extra point good this time. With only 21 seconds before quarter change, the board read 35-6.

The Steers kept plugging away, and half way through the final period, Lady Luck smiled on them. The Bulldogs were jarred loose from the pigskin on their own 20 and an alert Steer pounced on it.

Wingback Sam Seaberry ached up Graham's final marker, plunging four yards into the end zone. The kicking attempt for the extra point went wide and the score remained

Lions Club Guest Speaker

Bill Carnes, Assessor, Explains Voter Registration Laws To Lions

Bill Carnes, county assessor-tax collector, was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Lions Club, Tuesday, October 24, at the Town Hall.

After an introduction by program chairman, Roy Magers, Carnes told about the operation of his office and explained the new amendments to the Texas Constitution to be voted on in the general election, November 11 of this year.

He then explained the new laws governing voter registration.

Some of the rules he mentioned were: all voters MUST register to vote in 1968; registration will be by application only; applications may be secured from the tax-assessor-collector's office or a regular sub-station; (In Burkburnett it may be received at the Chamber of Commerce Office); time of registration began October 2 and ends at midnight, January 31, 1968; it is free; all persons 21 or over, who have lived in Texas one year and Wichita County six months, must register; persons 60 and over residing in towns under 10,000 population or rural areas must register; and all military personnel may vote, but must qualify and register as any civilian voter.

The laws apply to anyone who wishes to vote in the general election or the presidential election, according to Carnes.

The club voted to sponsor two youths for the Youth Appreciation Banquet sponsored by the Optimist Club, to be held in November.

The meeting was adjourned and Carnes gave voter registration cards to all who requested them.

LET REASON PREVAIL

According to the news reports, the president of the AFL-CIO asks labor to seek nationalization of any business or industry whose workers are not permitted to strike because of the public interest involved. "No one should get a private profit out of the operation of a business that cannot be struck," he says. That is an appealing argument until one stops to analyze its implications.

If the railroad unions, for example, have the right to stop railroad service to win their demands, by the same token the railroad shareowners who finance the railroads and pay wages should have the right to stop operations to win rate or wage objectives. Go a step further and individuals could demand the same exemption from legal restraints to settle their disputes — then you have anarchy.

Nationalization of industry is just a softer sounding term for socialization of industry — namely government ownership of the means of production, land, etc. Communism in Russia, Cuba and China is the ultimate in such a process, with resulting loss of liberty and individual opportunity.

Just because a labor union or an industry cannot get everything it demands is no reason for denying the public legal protection from excesses for denying to a dispute that involves the public health, welfare and national security.

U. S. labor would be the greatest loser under nationalization (socialism) of the railroads or other industries. It would be turning the opportunity for free bargaining back to the days of the Dark Ages. Let us hope that law and order may still rule in the U. S.

A WISE OIL POLICY

In spite of the fact that the Middle East war crisis cut off the oil flow from that area to the United States, no one in the U. S. has gone without oil products. As the American Petroleum Institute points out, "The security of the United States depends heavily on this country's . . . ability to produce and transport, during emergencies, far more oil than is normally needed. Only a strong and healthy . . . producing industry can continue to provide this 'margin of safety' . . ."

Congress, years ago, was smart enough to provide tax incentive laws to encourage exploration for oil and gas resources by U.S. companies within our own boundaries. Unfortunately, the importance of this constructive legislation is not understood by many persons who think it a special favor to the oil industry. Actually, it is a favor to the users of oil products, who as a result of such legislation don't know what an oil famine is. Probably not one out of a thousand of the critics of "percentage depletion" (the oil incentive measure) would put a dime into a company drilling for oil in areas where oil had never been found before. Such drilling by oil companies is the only way to replenish our petroleum reserves. And that is why you have oil when and where you want it.

Conservation policies and advanced recovery techniques developed by the oil industry in cooperation with state regulatory agencies also play a key role in maintaining the position of the U. S. as the world's leading oil producing country.

The largest timbers believed to have been manufactured in the United States have been produced in Portland, Oregon. Each beam weighs 35,000 pounds and contains more than enough lumber for two large houses and required some 500 pounds of glue for laminating. The beams were shipped to Hampton, Virginia, where they will be used to support the roof of the new physical education building of Hampton Institute. The building is 125 by 168 feet without any interior posts or other supports. Five flat cars were required to ship the seven beams.

Mr. Donald C. Cook, president of the American Electric Power System, was quoted as saying: " . . . I believe that long-term economic activity at a high rate can be sustained and extended. The past few years have demonstrated that the proper fiscal and monetary actions, including tax reductions and tax credits, can be most effective in eliminating or minimizing the possibility of future recessions."

The National Association of Manufacturers says that, "If Social Security taxes continue to rise, there inevitably will be a slowdown in the expansion of both private pension funds and individual savings — essential elements in financing basic economic growth."

Babson's Point of View On:
COMMUNIST DUPLICITY

Babson Park, Mass., October 26. A disturbing development in the Vietnam situation has been the disclosure that Russia has pledged more economic and military aid to Ho Chi Minh. Before that decision was announced, it had been widely believed that — behind the scenes — the Kremlin was seeking an end to the Viet conflict.

Emphasis on Materialism

Despite the ideological differences between Red China and Russia, international Communism — as practiced in the Kremlin and in Peiping — constitutes military, economic, and political danger to the United States and to all the other nations of the Free World. Indisputably, modern Communism preaches that man is a material machine.

This idea that man is nothing more nor less than matter in motion is used with great success to advance the basic Communist policy of world conquest. To be sure, Chairman Kossygin and Chairman Mao are separately pursuing long-range programs which — if they succeed — would probably culminate in world peace. The joker is that the peace they want could come only after their defeat of the west and establishment of a world Communist dictatorship.

Victims of Paranoia

In the view of the dedicated Communist, whatever helps him advance toward this conquest is peaceful, good, and true. It is hard for us to understand what makes the Communist mind tick. To our way of thinking, Communists must be the victims of a type of paranoia, so different from ours in their concept of low, philosophy and economy. We are appalled to discover that these concepts appear to be far more convincing to them than the evidence of the facts.

This element of self-deception is at the very core of Communism. If the leaders in Moscow and in Peiping were merely hypocrites, we could understand — and counteract — their tactics. But we are confused and often tricked by the Reds because they are so adroit at combining the techniques of hypocrisy with the virtues of sincerity.

Denial of Human Dignity

The rise of Communism has led to the murder of individuals and of nations, as the dignity of man has been trampled underfoot. The tragedy is that in the eyes of the Communists such murders are moral and righteous. Hence the great evil of Communism rests in its basic concepts, which entail total rejection of the Supreme Being and the materialization and bestialization of man. Communism denies the inherent value and the uniqueness of human personality. It seeks to build an be even more foolhardy for us to underestimate our own ability to destroy our American way of life through indifference, incompetence, and/or greed.

Our Trend Toward Socialism

During this 20th century, the general tendency of the United States (as in many another country in the world) has been to limit the area within which a man can do what he will and to expand the area in which the state acts on behalf of its citizens. In the minds of many people, this is a good thing. Others are equally sure it is a trend in the wrong direction. At any rate, at one time or another many of the principles of the socialistic or paternalistic state have been endorsed by a majority of the American people.

But in an America which is yet reasonably free, we can still criticize the laws which have so greatly enlarged the powers of the State. Such criticism is surely warranted as the field of private decision is being steadily narrowed. Unfortunately, however, expanding government has caught the imagination of our people, blurring their sense of initiative and self-reliance as well as their fear of the cost and weight of administrative machinery. Maybe that is why we are such easy prey to Communist blandishments.

Fire Safety In The Home

Fire is still a major cause of death and injury in the home, in addition to destroying millions of dollars of property each year.

A majority of fires in the home can be prevented, according to Sentry Insurance. Here are several tips to protect your family and your property:

- Heating equipment, including furnace, chimney and flues, should be cleaned and overhauled by professional yearly. Portable heaters should be maintained and placed away from combustible materials when in use.
- Electrical appliances and wiring must be kept in top condition. Never run extension cords under rugs or across nails. Use fuses of approved, adequate rating.
- Matches and flammable liquids must be stored out of the reach of children. Never use these liquids for cleaning clothes, and be sure they are in marked containers.
- Rubbish should not be allowed to accumulate—spontaneous combustion or accidental ignition can result.
- Your fireplace should be completely "out" before you retire for the night. Empty ash trays in a separate metal container, not in trash cans.
- Place fire extinguishers in key areas in the home—one in the kitchen, one in the garage, and one upstairs.

You and every member of your family should be thoroughly familiar with escape routes—two from each room—which can be followed in the dark. Call fire department before attempting to put out the fire yourself.

TEXAS
ELECTRIC SERVICE COMPANY

These future auto mechanics from BHS are very proud of the F-100 Ford V-8 one-half ton pickup chassis donated by Ford Motor Company and Wolfe Ford Company, Wednesday, October 25, to aid them in their education in this field.

Surrounding the front end of the new Ford V-8 pickup chassis which was presented by Wolfe Ford Company and the Ford Motor Company, this class of high school auto mechanics seems to be saying, "This is ours."

A happy group of high school boys, studying auto mechanics, admire the shiny new engine of the Ford V-8 chassis presented to the school, by Ford Motor Company and Wolfe Ford Company. Standing in front are the men who presented the chassis and the men who accepted it. From the left, they are: Mr. Leon Pace, Auto Mechanics teacher; Mr. James Pearson, principal of the High School; Mr. Joe Wilson, Service Instructor Representative for Ford Motor Company, Dallas; and Mr. J. Harold Wolfe, of Wolfe Ford Company, Burkburnett.

High School! Auto Mechanics Class Receives Pickup Chassis

A half-ton Ford V-8 pickup chassis was given to the auto-mechanics class of BHS, Wednesday, October 25, by Wolfe Ford Co., and Ford Motor Company.

Mr. Joe Wilson, Service Instructor Representative of sales in this district, from Dallas, accompanied Mr. J. Harold Wolfe as he presented the chassis to the class.

Mr. James Pearson, principal and Mr. Leon Pace, auto-mechanics teacher, accepted the gift, as one of the classes watched.

The boys, who are all either juniors or seniors or the age of 16, soon crowded about the new piece of equipment.

The course is a two year course which prepares them to serve as apprentices upon graduation.

The new chassis presented by the Wolfe Ford Company, will greatly aid them in their learning, as have the two other such donations made by Wolfe Ford Company in recent years.

IN A HURRY!

It's Sunday! An exciting day! I've planned so many interesting ways to present God's love to the wee small people I'm teaching. How they love God and His church! They are always there early. Must hurry! My young ones want to be there early too. How pleased our Father in Heaven must be to see so many preparing excitedly and happily to have a worship experience with Him. See you there in a very little while! Psalm 26:8 "Lord, I have loved the habitation of thy house, and the place where thine honor dwelleth."

FIRST AID CLASS

Policeman Louis Johnson, left, watches as Melvin Moss, Assistant Fire Marshal of Wichita Falls, demonstrates how to open Resusci-Anne's mouth prior to giving mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, during a First Aid Course held at the Community Service Center. Dr. Harriet Bates, a pediatrician from Wichita Falls Health Unit looks on.

Mrs. Marguerite Husted plays the part of an injured victim as Mrs. Muriel Forester applies an arm sling as part of a First Aid Course held at the Community Service Center. The women are very interested in the course as they are the two ladies who guide school children across the intersection by the Sheppard Road underpass. The First Aid Course is sponsored by the Community Service Center and the Police Department.

Resusci-Anne Demonstrates At First Aid Class Held In Center Recently

The final class Monday, October 23, of the 12 hour First Aid Course at the Community Service Center was a very exciting one. Resusci-Anne was there to aid in learning resuscitation via the mouth-to-mouth method.

Resusci-Anne is a life-like plastic dummy which reacts the same as a victim of a near drowning when administered resuscitation. When breath is blown into her lungs, her chest rises, and when the air is expelled, the chest deflates.

Her head bends back to the proper position for receiving life-restoring air, and her mouth may be opened just as a real persons may. She feels very like a human.

Giving instructions in the method of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation were: Louis Johnson, of the Burkburnett Police Department; Melvin Moss, Assistant Fire Marshal of Wichita Falls, assisted by Dr. Harriet Bates, a Pediatrician, working with the Health Unit out of Wichita Falls.

Each member of the class had to learn the proper procedure for this type of life-saving before taking the final examination which, once passed, will make them card carrying First Aid members. The course, which will begin again soon, is co-sponsored by the Community Service Center and the Burkburnett Police Department.

Koller Promoted To Cadet Major

Cadet John O. Koller was recently promoted to the grade of Cadet Major in the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps at the University of Oklahoma. Cadet Koller will serve as the Squadron Commander of the fall semester. Upon completion of his senior year in AFROTC and graduation from the university, Cadet Koller will be commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the United States Air Force. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Koller, 709 Meadow Drive, Burkburnett.

In 1966 the value of Texas crude oil, natural gas and gas liquids was $4.6 billion; crude oil value $3.2 billion.

EAGLES' HALFBACK

Curtis Moore of Burkburnett has been the starting halfback for the North Texas Eagles. A shoulder injury in the third game against New Mexico State has caused him to miss recent action. In three games Moore carried 41 times for 124 yards and a 3.0 average. NT now has a 3-0-1 record.

HOMEcoming THEME FEATURES MODERN STUDY CLUB MEETING

In keeping with the Homecoming theme that is prevalent in Burkburnett, the Modern Study Club invited all ex-members to return for an evening of fun and fellowship.

Guests were also invited to come, so old and new friends blended together pleasantly. "New friends are silver, old friends are gold." Our silver friends were: Peggy Cozby, Dot Mize, Lois Crane, Fernie Elwoodworth, Venita Eastman, Patty McCullough, and Ruby Gresham. Gold friends included: Joy Hagstrom, Helen Reasner, Beverly Green, Elaine Hubbard and Edyth Key. A long, newsy letter from Judy Pemberton brought us up-to-date on her many activities. Carol Gilbow also sent a note.

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, October 23, at the Reddy Room. President Jean Dolan presided. Roll call was answered with "A Two-Line Rhyme That's All Mine."

Our plans and duties for the Federation Banquet were discussed.

We decided to sponsor David Clement for the Optimist Youth Appreciation Award.

Christmas Bazaar items were displayed and it looks like our customers are in for a real treat. The gifts and decorations may soon be seen in Bennie's Dress Shop window at 312 East Third Street. Special orders will be taken until the last of November, so be sure to go by and see our wares. Since all proceeds will be donated to the Boomtown Oil Park, this will be a fine opportunity to help your town and also obtain some beautiful Christmas decorations and gifts.

Original poems by Evelyn Nichols, Carolyn Gray, Barbara Bean, Dorothy Harris, Billie Gorham and Pat McClure were judged by our special guest, Mrs. Clark Gresham. It seems that we have great potential, but we are rough around the edges as far as poetry goes. Mrs. Gresham read some of her fine verses and showed us how to improve our lines. First, second and third prize poems were written by Billie Gorham, "My Prince"; Dorothy Harris, "Not a Poet"; and Barbara Bean, "Granny A-Go-Go".

Martha Griffith and Barbara Bean presented a skit in which they portrayed Marthella Parsons and Barbie Bopper, two rival gossip columnists. No club member was spared from their sharp tongues; but all was in fun and we enjoyed this type of gossip tremendously.

Carol Gray led the club's

White Elephant Sale. Her witty remarks and auctioneering certainly added to the fun of the evening.

Hostesses for the meeting were Barbara Myers, Jo Ann Thomas and Pat McClure. Also attending were: Barbara Reed, Jenna Griffith, Barbara Bean, Evelyn Nichols, Pat Mitchell, Mitzi Kohutek, Dixie Dillard, Bernadine Hayes, Jean Dolan, Dorothy Harris, Shirley Eastman, Barbara Hamilton, Billie Gorham, Carolyn Gray and Martha Griffith.

Door prizes were won by Venita Eastman, Elaine Hubbard and Mitzi Kohutek.

OIL PATCH DRAWING

The men heading the Boomtown Oil Patch project have received an architectural drawing of how the site may look when completed. It is now on display in the First National Bank. From the left: James Frye, president of the Chamber of Commerce; H. R. (Jingle) Hayes, chairman of the Boomtown Oil Patch Committee; Ping Lundberg, a member of that committee; and W. T. (Dub) Zimmerman, chairman of the Chamber Tourism Committee. (See drawing below.)

Mrs. Jane McKinley, creator of this drawing of Boomtown Oil Patch, as it may one day appear, is an employee of Lloyd Rigby, Director of Parks and Recreation, Wichita Falls. Rigby donated the drawing to Burkburnett at no charge.

Oil Patch Architectural Drawing Displayed In First National Bank

An architectural drawing depicting how the completed Boomtown Oil Patch may look, was made by Mrs. Jane McKinley of the offices of Lloyd Rigby, Director of Parks and Recreation, Wichita Falls, and donated to Burkburnett. The proposed plan is now on display in the lobby of the First National Bank.

Rigby met with the Chamber Tourism Committee, recently, and imparted much of his knowledge about organizing and constructing such attractions as the progressing Oil Patch.

"His enthusiasm for this Burkburnett project is greatly appreciated by all concerned and we feel he is a true good neighbor," said James Frye, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Clubs and other interested citizens, including teenage groups, have readily given of their time and energy to help erect and paint fence, and devise ways and means to raise money for the important project, which will benefit the entire town.

If the completed tourist attraction becomes a reality, as it is planned in the drawing, it will consist of a short street with a general store, a hotel, a blacksmith shop, a bank and a combined confectionery store and dentist's office. Some of the above will be false facades only, while others will be reconstructed so as to appear authentic.

Proposed is a shelter for oil machinery and other gear used to produce early oil wells, which will be located to the left as you enter the gateway to the Oil Patch. At the right, will be a bandstand among the many trees it is hoped will be planted.

Authentic equipment from the early boomtown days, donated by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bohner, will be refurbished and placed in strategic places about the Patch. Pieces such as tanks, pumps, and derricks, to attract tourists, will help to tell the boom-days story.

A play area is suggested, consisting of small replicas of oil producing equipment.

Heading the vast project are James Frye, president of the Chamber of Commerce; W. T. Zimmerman, chairman of the Tourism Committee; H. R. Hayes, chairman of the Boomtown Oil Patch Committee; and Ping Lundberg, a member of that committee.

It is hoped the tourist attraction will be completed by the 1968 tourist season.

Thus Burkburnett is taking another giant step forward on the road to growth and progress.

BULLDOGS—

35-12. The Bulldog defense braced against another Graham drive late in the game, and the visitors had chalked up their fifth season win against two losses. Their conference record now stands at 2-2.

Hicks was the leading ground gainer of the night, getting 101 yards in 20 carries. Beaver picked up 51 yards in 10 carries and completed 9 of 15 passes for 133 yards.

Defensively, Steve Cozby, John Edwards, Bob Larson, and Lanny Walker led in keeping pressure on the Steer ground game. The pass defense was terrific, picking off five Graham aerials. Kenny Young intercepted two, with Allen Willett, John Robinson, and Lanny Walker each picking off one.

Offensive line play by Drake Andrades, Larson, Bill Zimmerman, Walker, and Rudy Robinson paced the way for the offense. Butch Wood, left guard, did a top job in the first half, but sat out the final half with a knee injury.

Fullbacks Don Brown and Lynn Attwood, along with wingback Allen Willett, added to the ground game.

Friday night, the Bulldogs are at home against the defending 4-AAA champion Vernon Lions. Their title defense has been a bit less than impressive as they have one win against six losses.

"Cobra Flight" Flares Checked
