AMON G. CARTER AND UNDERWOOD GET NEW TERMS

OTHER APPOINTMENTS OF NEW GOVERNOR ARE MADE PUBLIC

Col. Ernest O. Thompson, Amarillo hotel magnate, internationally famous world war hero and prominent in West Texas Chamber of Commerce circles, was today appointed as a regent of the Texas Technological college by Governor Dan Moody. In addition to the naming of Colonel Thompson to the board the incoming governor also reappointed Amos G. Carter, Fort Worth newspaper publisher, and present chairman of the board, and R. A. Underwood, Plainview banker, to the college's directorate.

While no mention is made of the specific place on the board of regents of the Tech college to be occupied by Colonel Thompson, it is presumed that Mr. Thompson will succeed Mrs. John A. The terms of Messrs. Carter and Underwood, and Mrs. Haley expired today, they having been named for two years, and with reappointment of Messrs. Carter and Underwood, it is presumed that Col. Colonel Thompson has long been interested in Texas Tech and at the convention laying ceremonies, held November 11, 1924, was one of the chief speakers. SMALLPOX WAR IS KEPT GOING

City health officers and school authorities today were picking up the scattered ends of a campaign ordered the latter part of last week by the school board, seeking to have vaccinated every student in the public schools of the city.

Moody Receives Office

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 18.—From the tired hands of a grandmother, Dan Moody, 33, son of a pioneer cattle driver, here Tuesday noon received Texas' highest office.

"Whatever disappointment I may have had is more than balanced by the realization that on the morrow I will be relieved from the burdens which have been grievous to bear," Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, Texas' first woman governor, told her supporters and the largest crowd ever to attend a Texas inauguration.

"Her Life Lengthened"

"While in my office has been shortened, my life has been lengthened," Moody, one-time electrician's helper in his home town of Taylor, 35 miles from here, declared he accepted with humility the responsibilities of his new office.

Governor Ferguson was dressed in a black satin gown, stylish of mode. Her hat was black, and carried a rhinestone ornament. On the fur collar of her coat was a small bouquet of orchids and lilies-of-the-valley.

Reverberation Heard

A reverberation of Moody's campaign charge of last summer that under Governor Ferguson Texas had an "irresponsible government" dominated by her husband, James E. Ferguson, impeached a governor in 1917 (for misuse of public funds, was noted in Moody's address.

"We are expected to keep our feet in the path of justice, redeem the right and by our course of official

PARIS, France, Jan. 18.—Dear Cousin: The Christmas rush leaves me a bit bewildered. Weeks of anticipation and excitement culminated in M. Perrone's very brilliant party on Christmas eve. As I told you, he said he had a surprise for me alone. Well, despite what I prophesied, it was something of a surprise when M. Perrone asked my father's permission to propose to me. But strangely enough, instead of making me very triumphant and happy, I felt very depressed and sad. Womenlike, I wept instead of rising gloriously to the occasion.

Quite frankly I told him I didn't really love him, and that I was only flattered by his attentions—and then I suddenly became homesick for Jacques and how I did wish it was he who cared for me. But Jacques is variable—and a little fickle. I fear at times he is devoted to me, then his devotion is quite apt to swing to someone else. Even married to him, I should not be sure of him—and yet he holds my affections in his hand.

Mr. Perrone took my fearful rejection with courtesy and tact, and begged for an extension of time in which to prove his love—which I granted. So he is not out of my life. At least he does not know he is out. To last evening's party I wore a new frock that was greatly admired, and I had it photographed for you, and will be glad to order you a duplicate for your trousseau if you desire.

Inadequate lighting is the cause of 18 per cent of all industrial accidents. And it is an impressive fact that by far the greatest number of accidents occur during the winter months when there is less daylight.

It has been definitely proven that good lighting pays for itself even if it is never used at night. Ask your insurance about lighting. And ask him how much good lighting has to do with "Experience Rate" reflected in premiums for compensation insurance.

Then ask our lighting engineers for advice pertaining to your particular kind and sizes of business or home, there is no reason why you should not get the proper use of light in your home or in your business, at the same or probably, less cost than that which you are now getting.

McGraw Bolsters Giants For 1927 Pennant Derby

GOTHAM LEADER ADDS TO ENTRY IN NEXT DRIVE

WHOLE STRING OF SWAPS AND NEW RECRUITS WILL HELP

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Reinforcement for every line of his defense and attack have been added to the National League pennant to New York in the 24th year of his reign as pilot of the Giants.

There will be a small army of recruits, many of them from the college ranks, when the Gotham contingent heads southward next month for spring training. But mid-winter trades of the veteran manager promise a continued McGraw policy of relying largely on seasoned campaigners—hold over stars and players obtained from Brooklyn, St. Louis and Philadelphia.

Has Hornsby Now
The major stroke in McGraw's reconstruction effort has been the sensational trade that brought Rogers Hornsby from the world's champion Cardinals in exchange for infielder Frank Frisch and pitcher Jimmy Rynn. McGraw believes he secured in the famous slugger a smart captain whose leadership on the field will ably second his own strategic bench direction.

With the freebase manager of the Cardinals perched on second base, McGraw also has indicated that Bill Tetter, young and hard hitting infielder who replaced George Kelly, veteran first baseman, Travis Jackson at shortstop and Freddy Lindstrom at third complete the present infield while among six other candidates will be Eddie Frawley, former Pennsylvania captain, and Andy Cohen.

Confronted by gaps in his outfield resulting from the release of Irish Muesel and Ross Young's illness, the club has obtained George Harper from the Phillies and "Doc" Lemon from the Braves. McGraw also has indicated that Bill Tetter, young and hard hitting infielder who replaced George Kelly, veteran first baseman, Travis Jackson at shortstop and Freddy Lindstrom at third complete the present infield while among six other candidates will be Eddie Frawley, former Pennsylvania captain, and Andy Cohen.

Devoornie is Back
Al Devoornie, acquisition from Louisville and former major leaguer, is an outstanding backup candidate.

Faul Florence, hold over from last year, and Sanford Hamby of Norfolk, catchers.

Indications are that McGraw will again attempt to steer his club away from the second division without a star southpaw. Frank Bentley, former first baseman with the Phillies will attempt the portside fling. McGraw had added Kenneth Grimms, right hander from the Robins, to the veterans Virgil Barnes, Fred Fitzsimmons, Kent Greenfield and Hugh McQuillan. Among the pitching recruits are Fay Thomas of New Haven, Ned Porter of the University of Florida, Howard Holland of the University of Virginia and several minor leaguers.

JACK LAPP, DEAD SEVEN YEARS, SUMMONED BY JUDGE LANDIS

By NEA Service
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 18.—When Judge Landis, commissioner of baseball, summoned Jack Lapp to appear before him in the present baseball scandal, he definitely qualified as a sport expert. He died at his home Feb. 20, 1920.

The error made by the eminent judge in summoning a man to appear before him who has been dead nearly seven years is in keeping with a mistake once made by the late Walter Camp in picking his all-America eleven.

Through some error in his gridiron data, Camp named a player who had been out of college for two years as an athlete worthy of honorable mention.

Wins Big Ten Football Championship, Then Quits Northwestern for Wisconsin

GLENN THISTLETHWAITE has been named football coach at University of Wisconsin. He will succeed George Little, who feels that his duties as director of athletics are arduous enough without the added responsibility of handling the gridiron activities.

For five years Thistlethwaite has been in charge of football at Northwestern University. Prior to that time his coaching activities had been confined to the preparatory school where, he had met with remarkable success.

When he came to Northwestern, football was at a decidedly low ebb at the Evanston institution. The Purple had been trailing in the Big Ten for so many years that anything Thistlethwaite might do would be regarded as a decided improvement.

Installing a new football system is a tedious task. It took the new coach two years to get his methods under way, then he began to get real action.

In 1925 Northwestern furnished the biggest surprise of the season by defeating the supposedly invincible Michigan eleven, 3-0. True, the game was played on a field ankle deep in mud, but both teams worked under the same handicap and Northwestern emerged the winner.

Look out for Wisconsin in 1927. It should have a football winner with so capable a coach as Glenn Thistlethwaite in charge.

Northwestern was ranked second to Michigan that year in the Big Ten rating. Last fall Thistlethwaite achieved the goal of his ambition, winning a Big Ten title. True, he was forced to share the honor with Michigan, but he had brought a championship to Northwestern.

Bringing a football team to a championship in five years is a remarkable achievement. Without a doubt it was for him his new position at Wisconsin, carrying with it a substantial increase in salary.

The surprising feature to no is that Northwestern permitted Thistlethwaite to get away, provided nothing other than finances entered into the transaction. With a new stadium on its hands, Northwestern needs a winner at the present time. Thistlethwaite had turned out a championship team and seemed in a good position to repeat.

Regardless of whom succeeds Thistlethwaite, even though he is a coach with a national reputation, he may find it a difficult matter to turn out a winner in his first year, despite the fact that the material at hand appears to be far above the average.

Delaney and Maloney To Meet First As Part Of Rickard's Championship Plans For Leadership Of Fisticana

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. (AP)—The Rickard chess negotiations between Jack Delaney and Jim Maloney, the most important yet arranged in the promoter's heavyweight elimination tournament. It is slated for the night of February 18 at Madison Square Garden. Delaney is cast definitely for a leading role in Rickard's tournament to pick an opponent for Gene Tunney. Jack Dempsey now is the only outstanding contender not definitely signed.

Paul Berlenbach and Paulino Uzcudun, the others in Rickard's tournament list, are slated to meet in another important test if they survive matches and Paulino boxes Knute Amnen, February 7, at the garden.

Officers Testify
The two are charged by officers to have driven up to the scene of the concealed beverage, where they started holding it into a car. Testimony to this effect was given by Vernice Ford and J. C. Roberts, deputy sheriffs, the only witnesses used by the state.

The state rested its case about 10:30 Tuesday morning, when a short recess was declared by the court for the defense to confer on its testimony. The hearing was resumed shortly after 11 o'clock with introduction of defense testimony.

The case, which was called Monday afternoon, was delayed some by failure to select a jury from the regular venire summoned for the week, and it was necessary to summon more than 30 additional veniremen before the jury could be completed.

Joe Herzet is Called
Defense testimony opened just a few minutes after 11 o'clock, with Joe Herzet, farmer, as the first witness. Mr. Herzet testified that he was at the site of the concealed beverage when officers first found it, and that he was prohibited from removing it. He said he did not own the liquor.

Defendant On Stand
Mr. Melton, the defendant, took the stand a few minutes before lunch time, detailed the incidents leading up to the time he, with C. C. Reed, was arrested. He said that after supper on March 2, 1925, the date of the state's allegations, he was called from the sidewalk in front of the Busy Bee cafe by Clarence Reed, but that he did not know at the time any thing about Reed's intentions, and did not know these until they had driven for some time.

The witness created considerable laughter when he recounted his hunt for the cache and of his race when a gun in the hands of an officer, as previously brought out by the state, exploded. He said that Deputy Vernice Ford loaded one keg of the beverage into Reed's car, and that another keg was loaded into the car with assistance. He said he did not own the liquor, nor the kegs and bottles containing it, and that he did not want the liquor to sell.

He testified that his wife at the time was ill in bed, and that doctors had prescribed whiskey for her. At this point, recess for lunch was called by Judge Clark M. Sullivan.

Bradley Examines Him

Under a grueling cross-examination at the afternoon session, conducted by Dyerwood H. Bradley, district attorney, Mr. Melton admitted that he went to the place of the concealed whiskey (or what he understood was whiskey) for the purpose of stealing a part of it for family use, but admitted also that he did not take a container of any nature with him. Under a heavy barrage of questions, he said he would have loaded the whiskey into the car, but denied vehemently that he did put any of the kegs into the car.

The witness finished his testimony

NOTICE

I desire to announce to the public that Dr. Jackson of San Antonio is now associated with me in the practice of Dentistry. Dr. Jackson comes to Lubbock with the very best of references, and I am sure that from his past experience he is capable of performing successfully the various operations a dentist is called upon to do.

Before announcing this association I have personally watched Dr. Jackson operate and I can say that he is a very careful painstaking operator. So if you have a dental worry come in and have a talk with us and we will be pleased to discuss the diseases of the mouth with you, and will advise you regarding your own particular worry.

WESTERNERS TO PLAY THE HOST FOR SOUTHLAND

LUBBOCK FIVE CLASHES TONIGHT WITH FAST INVADING CREW

Tonight at the high school gymnasium the Lubbock high school and Southland high school quintets will meet. The game has been arranged for a practice game and will not in any way effect the standing of either club in the district running. The game will be called promptly at 8 o'clock.

Southland has played several games with the Slaton Tigers, the club that defeated the Westerners last weekend, and according to Coach L. J. Von Tungen the visitors have an edge over the Millermen in victories. The Southland five has had several games more experience than the local quintet which will no doubt be very advantageous in this evening's battle. Since the middle of last fall the Southland club has been working out and is now in its prime of playing; with the long period of previous workouts compared with the recent week of the local club will give the visitors somewhat of a handicap.

Coach Von Tungen stated to the Journal that he was not positive as to whom would start this evening; but it is generally thought that the lineup for the Westerners will be: Beakley and Addison, forwards; H. A. Castleberry, center; Reynolds and Hardberger, guards.

At 2:15, after nearly two hours of questioning, the case is expected to reach the jury late today, and an early verdict is anticipated.

Dallas Ice Stars Defeat San Antonio

DALLAS, Jan. 18. (AP)—The San Antonio All-Stars were buried beneath an avalanche of goals by the Dallas Ice Kings 15 to 0 on the rink here Monday night. Playing without the services of Jim Riley, who left Monday morning to join the Chicago Black Hawks of the American Group of the international hockey league, the Ice Kings skated rings around the San Antonio men.

PRIEST LEADING REVOLT IS SAID

Mexican Government Reports That Archbishop Orders Rebel Factions

By Associated Press
MEXICO CITY, Jan. 18.—Insisting that the uprisings in Mexico are part of a "Catholic rebellion," the war department says it has been informed that Francisco Orozco y Jimenez, Catholic archbishop of Guadalajara, under the emblem "Long Live Christ The King," is personally leading a revolutionary army in the state of Jalisco.

Headquarters of the Catholic church in Mexico City, which has repeatedly denied that the church is instigating uprisings, has no confirmation of the report that the archbishop is leading rebellious forces.

Situation Appears Serious
The situation in Jalisco appears to be serious, for the war department has ordered federal reinforcements to proceed to that state. At last accounts the federal forces had killed more than 10 rebels in the vicinity of Tepic, after a similar engagement in which the authorities announced the rebels had suffered one hundred casualties.

While Jalisco and Durango seem to be the two states where the revolt is most widespread, other sections, like Puebla and Tlaxcala are witnessing combat between revolutionists and government forces.

Official circles, however, are optimistic over the final outcome of the rebellion. This feeling is increased by the latest victories of the federalists in the states of Jalisco and Durango and the fact that for several days one or two rebel leaders have daily been reported killed while others unconditionally surrendered.

Two Leaders Slain
Yesterday, Felipe Mendez and Jose Jesus Martinez, insurgent chieftains in the states of Guanajuato and Michoacan respectively, fell while fighting the federalists.

Five rebels were killed by federalists under General Espinosa Corodova at San Antonio, in the state of Queretaro.

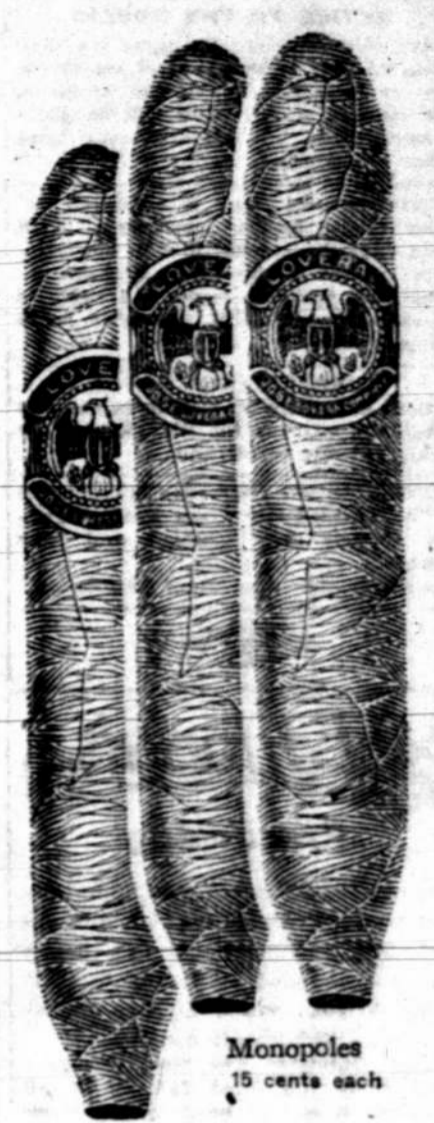

The war department also announced that 4 rebels were killed, in addition to the rebel Chief Juan Demas Barrera, in the battle at San Bartolo, Durango, on Sunday.

General Francisco Manzo, military commandant for Sonora, reports that the Yaqui Indians suffered "an unprecedented defeat" at Huastaciquili. He says the Indians lost their best warriors, but does not mention the extent of the casualties to either side.

R. E. OVERSTREET, STATE Director of the Farm Bureau association, is in Dallas on business for that organization.

Practicality

Congressman Theodore Elijah Burton, who just passed his 75th birthday and who, reviewing his life, opines that bachelorhood aided him to scale those heights which he has scaled, once led a filibuster in congress.
This filibuster has gone down in history as the most famous of all talk-fests ever witnessed within those sacred walls.
For nearly 24 consecutive hours Burton talked against a river and harbors appropriation bill then pending.
Congress was about to adjourn and Burton had only to talk long enough to prevent the bill from coming to a vote.
He talked and talked and talked some more. A page brought him some soft-boiled eggs. Burton ate them daintily still talking, while congressional wags yelled, "don't egg him on!"
Burton is proud of the fact that this was no Mother Goose or Holy Writ or Shakespearean filibuster, but that he was so well informed on his subject that he could have talked on it alone 48 hours, if necessary.
Perhaps Burton, who says that the price of fame is bachelorhood, knows whereof he speaks.
Who but a bachelor could have had any opportunity to get in trim for such a vocal marathon?

Make Youth Listen!

Righty Wile of New York was only
14. But Righty was convinced that life was a delusion and a snare, and that there was no beauty anywhere, so he ended this life not worth the living with a rifle shot.

Joseph Moore, 21, a sophomore in the University of Illinois, went out the same day, in the same way, and for about the same reason. He had experienced everything life had to offer, he said. So he would try death.
There is nothing sensational new in these two tales of youthful suicide.
Day after day our papers relate similar incidents.
We cannot dismiss them as mere acts of insanity. It is up to the elders to show youth that life is worth living!

With all our bow-towing to the power and beauty of youth, age, if merely for the fact that it has experienced more, can point the way—it does possess knowledge that can help youth. And if it works hard enough, age can make youth listen.

Hunger, The Enemy

A hungry deer, member of an animal species which ordinarily is the most timid of all creatures, chased a car loaded with hay and apples for a stretch of five miles in the woods of New York the other day.
The driver finally threw out to the desperate animal a handful of hay and some apples and lost the deer as it stopped to eat.
Day after day our papers are filled with tales of hungry and unemployed men breaking in windows and doors of factories as they clamor for work.
Winter outbreaks of crime are traced to unemployment.
Hunger that makes timid animals brave, and turns "respectable citizenry" into crooks.
Perhaps when science invents the stomachless man and animal, things will go more smoothly!

His Testimony

The "ship doctor" of the Majestic has just completed 360th Atlantic crossing. He has served more than 30 years on the ocean highway, and has completed a log of more than three million miles.
He has watched over more than 14,000,000 people, conscious that his medical skill was all they had, with hundreds of miles of water behind and hundreds more ahead.
"I know people," says Dr. J. C. H.
Beaumont, this chief surgeon of the White Star fleet.
"People are however so easily known, so transparent, so all that they are, as on the high seas, away from all the ties of land."
The doctor knows how people face danger. That is an unflinching guide to character.
You can't string 'em along if you're all wrapped up in yourself.

Old Masters

A child's a plaything for an hour;
Its pretty tricks we try
For that or for a longer space—
Then tire and lay it by.
But I knew one that to itself
All seasons could control;
That would have mocked the sense of pain
Out of a grieved soul.
Thou straggler into loving arms,
Young climber up of knees,
When I forget thy thousand ways
Then life and all shall cease!
—Mary Lamb: In Memoriam.

IN NEW YORK
SEE-SAWING
and
DOWN
BROADWAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—There is number of famous "stage families" wherein those who made fame and fortune rear children to tradition of the theater.
Thus Eddie Foy and his youngsters, the famous Cohans, Fred Stone and his daughter, and many others.
On the other hand there are scores who make every effort to protect their offspring from footlights.

One of Broadway's most amusing tales concerns a celebrated "coon shouter," whose acquaintance with hard boiled and sentimental balladry has more than mere national recognition.

She is one of the old-fashioned show women, and has been in every angle of the "racket" from vaudeville to night club proprietress.
She was exceedingly eager that her son turn his mind to things other than the theater. She sent him away
to school and was careful that he get hold of none of her popular songs
when he was home. As though her songs and reputation would fail to penetrate the walls of the school!

The years went on and the lad grew up and it seemed that she had achieved her wish.
Last summer she went to Europe.
While she was away the son came home from school, sat himself down at the family piano, ran through a few of her numbers and, in idle moments, created a couple of his own.

When she returned she found him a fat salaried hit at one of the leading night clubs.
She was exceedingly glad that her son had turned his mind to things other than the theater. She sent him away
to school and was careful that he get
hold of none of her popular songs
when he was home. As though her
songs and reputation would fail to
penetrate the walls of the school!

There is any number of instances of success achieved by the offspring of stage notables.

One of Henry Miller's sons already figures as a producer of real promise.
William A. Brady, Jr. will put on at least three or four plays this season and is just getting his stride.

Lew Fields, veteran comedian, has a little boy, Herbie, who has written the books for two or three outstanding musical hits.

The little Foy's do everything from vaudeville sketches to movies and the daughters of Channing Pollock, playwright, are popular and charming actresses. Otis Skinner's daughter, Cornellia, has been variously a playwright and actress. GLEBERT SWAN.

WASHINGTON LETTER

THE DAVIS-COOLIDGE SCANDAL
FULMER HAS THE NERVE

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—A scandal has been brewing in the War Department.
Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis has laid himself open to suspicion and he has only himself to blame for being so naive about it. Wait till the Senate hears about this!

The secretary was entrusted with an important mission to the army's commander-in-chief, President Coolidge.
A nursery in Missouri sent him a large box of hand-painted Missouri apples. Not for himself, mind you, but for delivery to the president. It was one of the late Christmas gifts to arrive at the White House.

The box reached Mr. Coolidge all right, but—and this is the question a senatorial investigating committee may have to decide—were its contents intact?

Ever since, Secretary Davis has been telling his subordinates what mighty fine apples they raise in his home state of Missouri, with special reference to that box which he had in his care.

And those same subordinates are whispering among themselves. They declare more or less openly that Davis couldn't know as much about those particular apples by merely gazing on the exterior of the package. And rumor, which has caused great damage to reputations around here in its time, implies that the Missouri cabinet member converted and ate not only one, but perhaps two or three.

His defense probably will be that he was testing them to guard against possible poisons,
like the servant of an oriental potentate.

Congressman Gilbert N. Haugen at Iowa would have given up a huge privilege of publicity if at the last minute he had not decided again to team up with Senator McNary in their famous farm relief legislative duel.

The famous McNary-Haugen bill was for a time just the McNary bill when Senator McNary of Oregon modified and reintroduced his measure and it appeared that Haugen might let someone else carry the load—and reap the honors—in the House.

If Haugen had not been so hot to bat again his name in the public eye, he would have been that of just another congressman.

To realize the fame attaching to the author of a successful and widely discussed law, consider the Volstead Act, which made a Minnesota representative world-famous for a long time.

Some day Congress is likely to pass the McNary-Haugen Act, which will revolutionize farming like the Volstead Act revolutionized drinking.

On behalf of the southern cotton farmers and agriculture in general, Congressman Hampton P. Fulmer of South Carolina leaped into the breach when it appeared Haugen wasn't going to do his stuff.

His bill was somewhat different, but sufficiently similar to be temporarily hailed as likely to become the Mc-Nary-Fulmer bill.
Fulmer is a cotton raiser—a merchant, a banker and a farmer in fact.
As president of the Farmers' Warehouse Co. and the Farmers' National Bank of Norway, S. C., he is in a position to store and finance his own crops, but he realizes that the wolf is chasing many of his agricultural brethren around their farm houses every day.

PLENTY OF PUBLICITY

About half of the fifty-odd newspaper correspondents for whom reservations have been made at the Norris trial at Austin, are representatives of out-of-state newspapers. The proceedings of the court will be voluminously reported by these writers, whose dispatches will be in addition to those furnished by the press associations.
Texas will get a vast amount of publicity, remarks the Denton Record-Chronicle, which adds that "editors in the north and east usually find most interesting about Texas that news which is not the most creditable to conditions in the state."

The "bobbed-haired bandit" at Euda, Texas, achieved front page space on most of the papers of the country.
Mr. Hansell, of Farswell, Texas, who is accused of having killed nine members of his family, also helped to get Texas date lines into the metropolitan dailies. This, in addition to political events of the past year or two, have kept the name of Texas conspicuously before the nation.

A committee has been formed to raise a large fund to advertise Texas in the magazines. Judging from the publicity our state is getting—and of course disregarding the point of the kind of publicity—it looks like a waste of money.—Wichita Falls Times.

TIME TO START

It is about time to begin the annual discussion of the very important matter of the correct date for the appearance of the ground hog. We have always expected the porcine weather prophet to emerge on the second day of February, but Ellis Hensley says that over in Arkansas where he was raised the ground hog did not come forth until the fourteenth.—Gainesville Register.

Ducks carry oil in a little pocket to tell his southern Democratic colleagues that when they insisted on reducing the tariff as the first farm relief step they were getting like plow-men insisting on fighting a few windmills before hitching up their horses for the tarrows.

Everybody else knew that they were not going to put over a tariff cut on the Republican majority, he said, and it was a matter of surprise that the southern Democratic senators and representatives didn't know it themselves.

Whether Fulmer's words did any good or not, the fact remains that water always runs down hill, that the sun shines by day and the moon by night and that the Republicans have a firm grip on the House.

Unless they are willing to risk making the presidency a family affair, the Democratic leaders should weigh carefully Senator Caraway's suggestion of Senator Thomas F. Bayard of Delaware as their 1928 nominee. Thomas E. is the sixth Bayard from Delaware to sit in the Senate. His father, grandfather, great-grandfather and great-great-grandfather preceded him—and a great uncle.

This new presidential "possibility" is 53 years old. His family is of the Delaware aristocracy and his profession is law. Once he was assistant corporation counsel of New York City.
For ten years he served as chairman of Delaware's Democratic state committee and for two or three years Winnington's city solicitor.

He is wet, but believes in law enforcement and thus might be able to make an acceptable straddle.
He married into the Dupont family. One of the most prominent of the innumerable Delaware Duponts, of course, is the other senator from Delaware.

Thus far, Caraway's other suggestion—Senator Jim Reed of Missouri—is receiving more consideration than Senator Bayard.

J. W. Alger, Who Took Post
Of B. K. Garrett, Highly Experienced

J. W. Alger, Lubbock county's new resident engineer with the State Highway department, who Monday took over his duties here, has had seventeen years experience in the engineering profession, the last five of which have been spent in highway work in Texas.

Mr. Alger came here from Dickens county, where he has been located for the past three years as engineer in charge of the hard surface program that a short time ago was finished.
Dickens was the first county on the Plains to vote bonds for highway improvement, setting a precedent to which practically all Plains counties now aspire.

Was in Sutton County
Mr. Alger has been in highway work in Texas since 1922, having been located in Sutton county before going to Dickens. He has been engaged in engineering practice since 1919, spending the most of the time in Texas with the government engaged on irrigation and railroad projects, topographical surveys, and rivers and harbors work.

He is an associate member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, was educated for the profession at Norwich University in Vermont. He was in the engineering corps of the United States army for two years during the World War, one year of which was spent in France. He was attached to the 90th Division and held a Captain's commission.

Mr. Alger, in taking over the engineering department of this county, is assuming a real task, due to the giant program now under way, although plans and specifications on the grade and drainage structures of the various projects has been completed under B. K. Garrett, retiring engineer.

CONGRESS DEBATES ON FOREIGN RELATIONS

President Coolidge Again Outlines His Mexican Platform While Texan Raps Government's Nicaraguan Stand

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—While senate and house were renewing debate today on the Mexican-Nicaraguan imbroglio the White House took occasion to again outline the attitude of the administration toward Mexico's new land regulations.

It was explained that President Coolidge regards the controversy between the United States and Mexico over oil and land laws as boiled down to the single question:

"Shall the property of American citizens in Mexico be confiscated, or taken without being paid for?"

Mr. Coolidge feels that every step taken by his direction in regard to the new Mexican laws has been taken with that in mind, and for the purpose of preventing confiscation.

Monroe Doctrine Up Again
So far as Nicaragua is concerned the president feels that the Monroe doctrine has a specific place in connection with the administration's policy.

In view of the fact that other powers do not send forces into Central or South American countries to protect their own nationals and their interests, it is their custom to notify the United States when they regard their nationals in jeopardy in order that the Washington government may first determine, in the light of the Monroe doctrine, what action it cares to take.

In the case of Nicaragua, two European countries informed the Washington government of fears entertained for their nationals in Nicaragua, and the president took the view that this aspect of the question could not be disregarded.

Peace Is Urged
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. (AP)—A concerted move toward arbitration of the oil dispute with Mexico was made today in the senate.

A resolution favoring such an adjustment was introduced by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic floor leader, who said it had the backing of Chairman Booth of the foreign relations committee and Senator Swann of Virginia, the committee's ranking Democrat.

The resolution was submitted after the Mexican-Nicaraguan imbroglio had been debated in both senate and house, and after the white house had restated the president's attitude toward both Mexico and Nicaragua.

Urges Impartiality
Expressly reaffirming the duty of the United States to extend the lines of neutrality of its relations in foreign countries, the Robinson resolution said it is a "sound policy" to arbitrate international differences before "an impartial tribunal empowered to apply the principles of international law."

"The resolution designed to be helpful," Senator Robinson declared, by expressing the opinion and advice of the senate, which it is believed will also indicate with some reliability the state of public sentiment concerning the policies to which the resolution relates."

Connally Makes Speech
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. (AP)—A demand that American foreign policy be "demonstrated" was made in the house today by Representative Connally, Democrat of Texas, in a critical analysis of recent events concerning Mexico and Nicaragua.

"Mahogany concessions in Nicaragua and oil wells in Mexico are not worth the lives of American soldiers nor the loss of American influence abroad," he said.

"The time is here when the people of the United States must come to grips with the world powers who seek to use the instrumentalities of government for their own profit."

Asks Coolidge to Act
Recalling the revolutions of the senate and inquiry, Connally called upon the president to "use the great powers of your office to prevent greed and money from using the powers of that government in its foreign relations to bring upon us the odium of the rest of the world and the hatred of those nations with which we deal."

He declared it significant that the Nicaraguan situation reached a crisis just as the oil dispute with Mexico became critical. Defending the Mexican oil laws, he said they did not discrimi-

Dr. C. J. Crow Dies At Bradley Home

He is the father of Mr. Hal Bradley of this city and has been a resident of Lubbock for only a few months, moving here last August. Dr. Crow is survived by his wife, Mrs. C. J. Tacna-Arica Plans Are Talked Again WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. (AP)—President Coolidge expects Secretary Kellogg to continue his efforts for a solution for the Tacna-Arica problem, by use of his good offices between Chile and Peru, unless study of the new Peruvian note reveals that every hope of success has been exhausted. There are 26,000 families in Italy with more than 10 children.

HORN EXPECTS AUSTIN DELAY

Appropriations Not To Come Up Before May, He Tells B. C. D. Officials

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the Tech college, was the principal speaker at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the directors of the Board of City Development Tuesday, and told of the possibilities of appropriations for the college for the next biennium.

Dr. Horn expressed the view that after visiting in Austin for several days recently, where he talked with many of the state's prominent citizens, that the matter of appropriations for state-owned educational institutions will be postponed by the regular session of the legislature, now in session, and will be left for disposition at a special session that is considered likely will follow thirty days after adjournment of the present session.

This is the opinion of Dr. Horn, would delay appropriations until May. The statement was made as a frank opinion of the educator after he spent several days with legislators, who seem generally to favor the special

The board also voted to turn over to the chamber of commerce the matter of collecting delinquent payments of Lubbock citizens on their pledges for the Denver railroad. This organization will mail out letters in the next few days to those delinquent in their payments, urging payment, so that final financial matters may be finished up, and the right-of-way through the county be completed.

The matter of the designation of highway No. 53 east from Lubbock was mentioned, but no action was taken, and the organization reiterated its former stand on the matter.

Manager A. E. Davis was instructed to send letters of thanks on behalf of the organization to all who assisted in securing the federal building for this city, announcements of which were made yesterday.
