Injunction Is Issued in Road Contest

A temporary injunction against Harry Nelson was signed at 10 p. m. yesterday by District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich, restraining him from interfering in any way with workmen on the Laketon-Miami Road.

The injunction came after law enforcement officers refused to accompany State Highway Department engineers without court papers showing they had a legal right to stop Nelson from any possible interference.

County Judge Bruce Parker and county officials at first argued there was no need for court orders for Texas Rangers or the Sheriff's Department to step into the picture. They contended that all of the rights-of-way easements had been obtained and none of the three condemnation suits along the road had been contested; that the State Highway Department had accepted them and declared the road open. But law officers wanted to be doubly sure. A petition seeking a temporary injunction against Nelson and any other property owner attempting to interfere was filed in 31st District Court late yesterday. At 10 p. m. Judge Goodrich signed the order directing the District Clerk's Office to issue the papers.

The final step in the paper work was completed late this morning and turned over to Chief Deputy Sheriff Rufe Jordan and Texas Ranger Kelly Rogers.

Highway Department engineers under Resident Engineer G. K. Reading were preparing to follow Jordan and Kelly to the Laketon Road site shortly before noon.

Their specific plans of operation were not revealed.

Yesterday Roberts County road crews came over into Gray County after finishing their end of the road to aid County Commissioner Joe Clarke's crew in clearing out right-of-way lands for the engineers.

Man Sought in Killing of Companion

AMARILLO — (AP) — Texas and New Mexico officers searched today for a man they believe lured a friend on a World Series trip and killed him, leaving the body alongside an Illinois road.

Alfred E. Clark, 23, of Boone City, Okla., was found dead yesterday beside a country road three and a half miles south of Jerseyville, Ill.

He had been shot through the head and robbed.

It was learned in Clayton, N.M., where Clark worked in a restaurant, that the suspect told him he had World Series tickets and would share them and pay the expenses, if Clark would drive his new car, Clark agreed, and they left Oct. 8.

Officers began looking for Clark last Saturday after a Dalhart, Texas, girl reported the suspect had kidnapped her and pistol-whipped and robbed her date.

The girl said papers in the car driven by the man identified it as Clark's.

The girl said she had known the suspect in Clayton and in Montana.

George French, a farmer, discovered Clark's body yesterday, nearly running into it with a

EDITOR — Gerhart H. Seger, former member of the German Reichstag and editor of the oldest anti-Nazi newspaper, the weekly Neue Volkszeitung, will speak on America's foreign policy before the Pampa chapter of the Knife and Fork Club at 7:30 p. m. today in the High School Cafeteria. Seger, who has been an American citizen since 1943, was called as a witness for the prosecution at the Nuremberg trials in 1945.

Man Charged With Lunacy At Houston

HOUSTON — (AP) — A former deputy sheriff accused of attempting to extort $50,000 from oilman Glenn McCarthy was charged with lunacy today.

Raymond Chambers, 43, until yesterday a janitor at McCarthy's swank Shamrock Hotel, was taken to the City-County Hospital Psychopathic Ward after the lunacy charge was filed with Justice of the Peace Tom Maes.

Chambers, who served four years as a Harris County deputy sheriff before becoming a Shamrock employee early this year, yesterday was released under $7500 bond after being charged with writing the extortion note to McCarthy.

An examining trial has been set for Wednesday.

The lunacy charge was filed by Tom Shelley of the Shamrock's Police Force.

County Judge Glenn Perry said See MAN, Page 3

Lipscomb Pioneer Dies

HIGGINS — (Special) — Mrs. Minnie Anderson McLure, 84, a pioneer resident of Lipscomb County, died at 8:30 a. m. today in a Higgins hospital.

She had been in ill health for the past eight years and had been a hospital patient for the past year.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow from the Lutheran Church in Lipscomb. Burial will be in the direction of the Mason Funeral home of Shattuck, Okla., in the Lipscomb Cemetery.

Mrs. McLure was born in Hamburg, Germany, and came to the United States when she was eight years old. Her family settled near Rockport, Mo., where she later married Gus Mehlop.

Shortly after their marriage, the young couple came West by train as far as Kiowa, Kans., a cross-country terminal. The next day, they trekked into Lipscomb County by covered wagon.

They settled on a ranch near Higgins. One child, a daughter, died in infancy, and their son, Henry, died several years ago.

After the death of Mr. Mehlop, she continued to operate the ranch until 1925, when she was married to Bert F. McLure. They have lived in and near Higgins since then.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by one brother, Fritz Anderson of Rockport, Mo.; by one step-son, John McLure of near Laverne, Okla.; and by a number of nieces and nephews.

Air Force to Be Heard by Probers

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee agreed today to hear the Air Force next week in reply to the Navy's bitter criticism of its B-36 bomber program. Secretary of Defense Johnson also will testify then.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) and Secretary Johnson held a long conference this morning. Afterwards, Vinson announced the schedule for the next phase of the committee's inquiry into military policy.

Vinson said that beginning next week the committee will hear Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Gen. Omar Bradley, Secretary of Air Symington and Air Force officers.

Then, he added, "Secretary Johnson will give the committee and the country his views on the armed services, is caught squarely in the cross-fire of the angry controversy over military policy."

He also has come in for harsh words from some Congress members because, by executive order, he has cut back appropriations that the lawmakers made for the Navy.

Vinson publicly accused Johnson yesterday of making "a grandstand play" by economizing on Navy funds. He said the committee "is to have a lot to say about this."

Rep. Bates (R-Mass), a committee member, expressed strong hope that the hearings into defense policy will cause the "junking" of Johnson's bitter disputed decision to halt construction on a Navy super-carrier.

As these storm warnings were raised on Capitol Hill, the Navy strayed the last of its top brass before the committee (9 a. m. CST) to wind up its case against what it terms an "unbalanced" See AIR FORCE, Page 3

Hilton Chain Buys Control Of Waldorf

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Hilton Hotel chain has acquired controlling interest in the company that runs the luxurious Waldorf-Astoria hotel for $3,000,000.

Conrad N. Hilton, of Los Angeles, president of the Hilton Hotels Corp., announced the transaction yesterday.

It involved, he said, purchase of 250,000 shares, or about 68 percent of the 366,000 outstanding common shares of the Waldorf-Astoria Corp., which operates the hotel.

Hilton said the purchasers got the right to keep the hotel's name, and would not change its "character and individuality."

The sale does not involve the Waldorf-Astoria building, which occupies a whole block on Park and Lexington Avenues between 48th and 50th street. The building, 47 stories high, has 2,200 rooms. It was opened in 1931, and cost about $4,000,000.

This property is owned by the New York State Realty and Trust Co., a subsidiary of the New York Central and the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroads, and is leased to the Waldorf-Astoria Corp.

Hilton said he and Henry Crown, chairman of the Board of Directors of Material Service Corp. of Chicago, acting as individuals, and the Hilton Chain had bought a majority of the corporation stock at $12 a share.

The stock had been selling for some time at $8, and recently went up to $11.

The Hilton Chain also controls the Plaza and Roosevelt Hotels here, the Mayflower in Washington, The Stevens Hotel and Palmer House in Chicago, the Dayton Biltmore in Dayton, Town House in Los Angeles, the Hilton Hotels in El Paso and Lubbock, Texas, and in Albuquerque, N. Mex., and others.

glass, causing a light to burn and bells to ring.

The telephone call was begun at a home in Austin. Brown showed Rotarians members the various stages the call went through on its way to Dallas, then New York and finally Boston. He began with the caller's private wire which carries but one call at a time. Then he showed a section of the larger wires leading to the telephone office which carry as many as 102 different calls.

From Austin to Dallas, one strand in the "K" cable carried 14 other voices with each voice wave vibrating two million times a second. The coaxial cable from Dallas to New York carried as many as 2,400 other voices.

After reaching New York, the sound waves were shortened by use of the "klystron" tube into microwaves. This is the tube which sets the waves vibrating

12 Airmen Die as U.S. Ship Carrying Live Bombs Crashes

ISI'CHAM, Eng. — (AP) — A U.S. Air Force B-50 bomber with a load of live bombs dived into a wheat field today and exploded with a roar heard 12 miles away. All 12 crew members were killed.

The plane, designed as the atom-bomb carrying version of the B-29, was on a 180-mile practice mission to the North Sea Island of Helgoland with twelve 500-pound bombs.

Villagers said the plane appeared to burst into flames just before it dropped through a light ground fog and struck the field.

The crash occurred at 9:25 a. m. local time (2:25 a. m. CST). Within two hours Royal Air Force rescue squadron had recovered all 12 bodies. Names of victims were withheld pending notification of kin.

The plane, one of the newest types in the U.S. Air Force, is designed to carry conventional bombs as well as the atom bombs. The RAF threw a guard around the wreckage to protect secret equipment.

Flaming high octane gasoline from the shattered plane set fire to big stacks of wheat straw in the field. The fire spread to adjoining farm buildings. Fire-fighting equipment from nearby towns fought the flames.

The B-50 belonged to the 43rd Bombardment Group which was based at Barksdale Air Force Base, La.

Fire Drills Are Held at Four Schools

Pampa elementary school children will be prepared if fire ever strikes the school buildings, Fire Chief Ernest Winborne said this morning.

Surprise fire drills have been staged at each elementary school. The fire chief went to Horace Mann and B. M. Baker Schools yesterday to time the kiddies when the fire alarm was given.

It took B. M. Baker students one and one-half minutes to completely clear the building, and it took Horace Mann children two minutes.

This morning the fire chief went to Woodrow Wilson and Sam Houston schools and supervised the drills. It took them one minute and one minute and 15 seconds, respectively, to evacuate the buildings.

"The children in all the schools must have received quite a bit of fire instruction," Winborne said. "There was nothing wrong with the drills at any of the schools and the speed with which they got out of the buildings was exceptional."

The drills were held in connection with the annual Fire Prevention Week, which is sponsored nationally by the Underwriters Association.

Services Held For W. T. Horner

Services were held at 2 p. m. today from the First Baptist Church for Skellytown for William Tom Horner, 89, who died Monday after an illness of several years.

Horner was born March 19, 1860, in Jefferson County, Kans. A retired rancher, he had lived at Skellytown the past 20 years.

In addition to his wife, May, he is survived by four sons, John and K. R. of Lamar, Ark. and Clyde and Forrest of Skellytown; by two daughters, Mrs. A. L. Johnson of Skellytown and Mrs. Clifford Cannon, Richmond, Calif.; by one sister, Mrs. Belle King of Valley Falls, Kans.; by two half-brothers, Wynn Hull of Valley Falls, and Al Hull of Dodge City, Kans.; and by nine grandchildren.

Services were conducted by the Rev. M. O. Evans, pastor of the church, and burial, under the direction of the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home, was in Fairview Cemetery, Pampa.

Thief Stuck With Unmatchable Loot

ONEONTA, N.Y. — (AP) — Shoe salesman M. L. Holt of Scotia wondered today what the thief who stole three cases of samples from his car would do with the loot.

It included 48 shoes, all for the right foot, and 40 worth of woolen socks, none of which matched.

'Steel Interests Delay Settlement'

By the Associated Press

John L. Lewis disclosed today that his contract demands on soft coal operators would cost 30 to 35 cents a ton more than now. He said the industry could absorb it out of profits.

Lewis, at a 75-minute news conference, went into an exhaustive outline of his theory that powerful financial and steel interests were determined to hold up a coal settlement until they "battled it out" in steel.

The UMW president said that if the government must intervene and take over the coal pits, it should order a "bonafide seizure" by running the mines for the benefit of the people instead of the mine owners.

The two strikes have made idle nearly 900,000 workers and continuation of the work stoppages threatens to idle additional thousands.

The biggest threat appears to be the fabricating steel industry, the plants that use steel for hundreds of articles. Some 500,000 USW workers are employed in the fabricating plants and Philip Murray wants free pensions and insurance for them as well as for the 45,000 men on strike.

Their contracts begin expiring Saturday. About a dozen firms, which employ a few thousand workers, have signed new contracts with the union, agreeing to pay the 10 cent hourly package recommended by the Presidential fact-finding board.

Murray, in a radio speech last night, urged the public to support the steel strike because "our cause is just and righteous." He said the steel workers "cannot and will not permit any wage cut, whether by the false principle of contributory pensions and insurance or otherwise."

The big steel companies have said they will pay toward a pension insurance program — but only if the workers also contribute.

Confuse was reported in the coal strike. At Harriman, Tenn., police Chief E. E. Patterson said a band of armed men shot down the tires of a coal-laden truck from a non-union mine near London, Ky., last night. The men forced the truckers to shovel out the load of coal, Patterson said.

Early Day Resident of Groom Dies

James P. Bohr, 80, an early resident of Groom, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Agnes Homer, in Groom at 2:30 p. m. yesterday. He had been ill three months.

Bohr was born in Bishborth, Germany, and came to the United States with his parents when he was 14 years old. They settled at Creston, Iowa, where he married the former Anna Frederick on May 5, 1886.

He lived at Groom from 1908 to 1919. Then he moved back to Creston and lived there until April, 1947.

In addition to his wife, Anna, he is survived by seven daughters, Mrs. Josephine Staley of Des Moines, Iowa, Mrs. Teresa Myers of Vancouver, Wash., Mrs. Geneva Britton of Amarillo, Mrs. Helen Hatt of Vancouver, and the Mesdames Rose Clark, Mary Dunn and Agnes Homer, all of Groom; by one son, Edward, of Omaha, Neb., by one brother, Michael Bohr of Haven, S. D., by one sister, Mrs. T. E. Britton of Groom; and by 22 grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren.

He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church of Groom.

Funeral services, to be conducted by the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home, are pending.

Election Call Turned Down

LONDON — (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee turned down today demands for a general parliamentary election, and decided that his Labor government would ride out Britain's economic crisis.

The announcement that there would be no early election was made in an official statement said, to quiet "disturbing effects on trade and industry" caused by widespread speculation of a vote this fall.

The Labor government's five-year term runs until next July. Under Britain's Constitutional system, the Prime Minister has authority to call an election at any time.

Ever since Britain devalued the pound from $4.03 to $2.80 on Sept. 4, there has been a rash of predictions that Attlee might seek an early vote of confidence from the people.

Leftwing Laborites had urged a vote soon on the ground that rising prices caused by devaluation might cut into the government's popularity within a few months.

Kelley Will Direct USO Funds Drive

Harry Kelley will lead Gray County's phase of the campaign needed to reactivate the United Service Organizations, Roy Bourland, chairman of District 4, said this morning.

The new USO program in the Pampa region was started Tuesday with a meeting of district chairmen.

The USO has been reactivated at the specific request of President Truman and the secretary of defense. The reason given for the move is that the U. S. now has the largest peacetime Army in its history. There are 1,600,000 men in the Armed Services, Texas has 98,000 men in the service, of which about 70 percent are under 21 years of age.

The USO will go directly to the See KELLEY, Page 3

Texas Legion Commander Expected at Convention

CANADIAN — (Special) — Joe Spurlock, commander of the American Legion's Department of Texas, is expected to head the delegation of visiting Legionnaires attending the annual 18th District convention of the Legion in Canadian Saturday and Sunday.

Charles C. Gibson of Amarillo, 18th District commander, and Mrs. H. E. Campfield of Canyon, president of the 18th District Auxiliary, will be in charge of the meetings of their organizations.

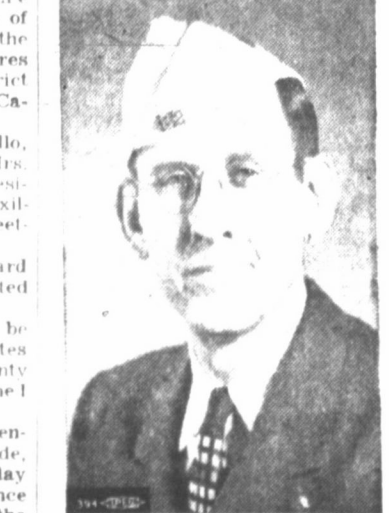

The state adjutant, G. Ward Moody of Austin, is also expected to be here for the convention.

No business sessions will be held Saturday, when delegates will begin registration; but plenty of entertainment is being planned for the visitors on that day.

Main features of the day's entertainment will be a parade, two radio performances Saturday afternoon and night, and a dance at the Legion Hall following the Saturday night rodeo.

A tea will be held at the Legion Hall Saturday at 5:30 p. m. for 18th District Auxiliary members and guests, and a special program is planned under the direction of Mrs. Ethel Poindester, president of the local auxiliary.

The 18th District includes all posts in the 18th Congressional District of Texas.

JOE SPURLOCK

Business sessions are slated for Sunday afternoon.

The Zybach-Owens Post was a host to the 18th District convention last in 1934.

It was one of the first Legion posts organized in Texas following World War I, and it observed its 30th anniversary last month.

'Bobbies' Prefer Retaining Hanging as Murder Penalty

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

London's policemen (better known as "bobbies") who ordinarily are named except for truncheons, have told a royal commission that the hanging penalty for murder should be retained. They feel that this is their best protection from desperate criminals.

The commission is studying the question of whether the laws on capital punishment should be changed, and of course the bobbies' viewpoint is understandable. The only time they carry firearms is on the rare occasions when they are confronted with a desperate situation, and then guns are served out to them, to be returned to headquarters as soon as the emergency is over.

The English laws about the use of firearms are pretty fierce. For example, if you as a householder catch a burglar in your home, you may not shoot him unless you believe he is about to do you or a member of your family bodily injury. The mere fact that the thief may be climbing out the window with the family silver doesn't give you the right to shoot. If you do use a gun under those circumstances and kill somebody, it is murder.

The bobby is a cool, steady and methodical individual who inspires respect. I encountered a typical example of how they work one day at the big Victoria railway station. Two men were having a furious word-battle, interspersed with fist blows. A bobby was standing beside them — listening to the argument — while a crowd of several hundred surrounded them. The policeman never spoke but every time one of the bobbies aimed a fist at the other, the cop coolly blocked the blow and then listened some more. Finally, having got the gist of the debate, the bobby raised a hand and said, partly to the fighters and partly to the big crowd: "That's all! on your way!"

Bobbies handle all situations with that same studied calm, which more often than not is mixed with a sense of humor which bridges many rough places and engenders respect. They are hand-picked — men of sound judgment and understanding. They are the law.

Postscript: Among those who expressed approval of capital punishment by hanging were British prison wardens, who said it was humane, and three clergymen who had seen hangings. The ministers said in their report that "society may act on behalf of God."

Citrus Crops Said Less Than Normal

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Agriculture Department predicted that Texas orange and grapefruit crops will be less than normal. For the nation, the USDA forecast that early and mid-season oranges would total 50.6 million boxes, seven percent above last season. Grapefruit production, exclusive of the California summer crop, was estimated at 32.2 million boxes, 27 percent less than the last season.

The Florida crop of early and mid-season oranges is indicated at a record 33 million boxes, the report said, but Texas and California have short crops.

Military Pay Bill Signed

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman's signature on a $300,000,000-a-year military pay bill assured the nation's top brass today of their first general pay increase since 1908.

Mr. Truman signed the bill into law late yesterday. Effective Oct. 1, it provides salary raises for just about every member of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Coast Guard and other uniformed services.

Pay for the very lowest ranks, which has risen since 1939 from $21 a month to $75, remains unchanged, but such privates with five months' service get a $5 raise.

The generals and admirals fare best under the new scales, with raises running as high as $300 a month for top officers with 30 years' service.

Nationalists Flee

CANTON, China — (AP) — The main body of the Canton Nationalist garrison fled westward tonight down the main highway.

Nationalist resistance to the Communists in the entire Canton region had collapsed.

A few Nationalist soldiers were still seen on the streets about 9 p.m., but they were hurrying to join units that already had left the city. No defense preparations were evident.

Police were still on duty. No large-scale looting was reported, most of the population remaining indoors. Gunfire was heard near North Station, three miles north of the city, but its cause was not known.

Farm Plan Argued

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senate approval of a flexible system for supporting farm prices ended one long argument today but started another — on whether the House will go along.

After weeks of debate, a coalition of Senate Democrats and Republicans yesterday pushed through on a voice vote the farm support bill sponsored by Senator Anderson (D-NM), former secretary of agriculture.

They substituted it for the one-year continuance of wartime-level price supports voted by the House in mid-July. Leaders of the coalition said they are confident the House will accept the Senate version eventually.

Olds Turned Down

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A smarting $3 to 15 defeat of the reappointment of Federal Reserve Commissioner Leland Olds today handed President Truman his third — and sharpest — Senate rebuff this year on an important nomination.

Despite the pressure of party discipline which Mr. Truman marshaled behind the nominee, the Senate refused overwhelmingly to return Olds to the commission for a third term.

The vote came shortly after midnight. It followed weeks of debate which steadily mounted in heat and bitterness.

Charges Are Filed

AMARILLO — (AP) — Armed robbery charges were filed late yesterday against 25-year-old California twins.

Edwin Lee and Leo Earl Rader are accused of robbing two Amarillo supermarkets last summer. They are wanted in California for questioning in market robberies at San Diego, National City and Bellflower, their hometowns. They were arrested Monday at Lubbock.

American people for help in raising the necessary funds to carry out the program. Governor Allan Shivers, who is general chairman, has asked assistance in the organizing from all Texas counties.

District 4, led by Bourland, comprises Carson, Wheeler, Armstrong, Donley, Collingsworth and Gray Counties. The quota for the district is $4,614.80, of which Gray County has been asked to contribute $2,047.

Kelley said Gray County's fund drive will be handled through the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and civic clubs.

"The money received for the national USO fund will be used to provide the same USO facilities for the 288 Gray County men in the Armed Services as was used during the war," Kelley said.

Today the total number of USO operations is 168 — clubs, lounges and travelers' aid units. Twenty-five of these are overseas. Veterans' hospitals in USO camp shows serve 120 Army, Navy and Veterans' hospitals.

defense policy too heavily weighted in favor of strategic bombing and the B-36.

Topping the Navy witness list were Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, war-time Pacific commander in chief; Adm. R. A. Spruance, Pacific Task Force commander; Adm. Louis E. Denfeld, chief of naval operations; and Adm. Louis de Florez, top Navy researcher.

First, however, Vinson ordered Vice Adm. Robert B. Carney to tell the committee who signed the Pentagon order that directed an $800,000,000 slash in defense appropriations for the fiscal year ending next June 30 — before Congress had even approved them.

Carney is a deputy chief of naval operations, and also chairman of the joint chiefs of staff Budget Advisory Committee.

The appropriation in which the cuts were made is still awaiting a House-Senate decision over the size of the Air Force.

Apparently, Vinson declared, Johnson decided, "without any notice to the committee," that the armed services needed less than they said they needed.

Vinson has promised Johnson, as well as members of the joint chiefs of staff, a hearing before the committee. Most committee members expect it to be a warm session.

But it may be a week or so before Johnson gets his say. The committee hoped to conclude the naval phase of its defense study today. Thereafter it will take a short recess before hearing from officials of the Defense Department and the other services.

the renewed negotiations between coal operators and United Mine Workers representatives. However, Cyrus S. Ching, U. S. conciliator, said that unless there is something accomplished within a limited time, the government would go into action, presumably invoking the emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act. That would call for a fact-finding board and lead to an 80-day injunction against a strike.

Juanita Groves, 19, of Dalhart reported Saturday that she was with Otis Benson about two miles west of Dumas, Friday night when the suspect drove alongside her car and fired into it. She told Sheriff J. A. McMurry of Dumas the man ordered them out, beat Benson with his pistol and took his billfold. Then, the girl said, the suspect forced her into the car with him.

She said he drove to Vega, about 5 miles west of Amarillo. There, the girl said, she knocked out the suspect with a fire extinguisher after they stopped at a tourist court.

She went to Vega officers, who accompanied her to the court. As they arrived, the suspect drove away, heading west. The officers did not pursue.

The girl said they told her that if she wanted to charge him with kidnapping, her whole would have to go back to Dumas.

She arrived back in Dumas about 6 a.m. Saturday and made her report to Sheriff McMurry.

No charges against the man had been filed last night. Statewide pickup orders were broadcast in Texas and in New Mexico.

'Partnership' in Field of Atomic Energy Considered

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Undersecretary of State Webb said the United States, Britain and Canada are considering a "partnership" in the atomic energy field.

He told a new conference that "good progress" in exploring this possibility was made in the recent American-British-Canadian talks on atomic matters. These discussions were adjourned last weekend.

Man Gets Two Years For Shooting Ex-Wife

DALLAS — (AP) — Albert Andrew Mathews, 43, drew a two-year county jail sentence yesterday for shooting his ex-wife through the legs.

A district court jury found he was guilty of aggravated assault but not assault to murder, as the state had charged.

The shooting occurred Aug. 12, 1948. Mathews' 13-year-old daughter and his former wife testified she came to their home after calling and threatening to kill Mrs. Mathews.

This shows how tolerant folks can be. Doc showed his respect for

Suit Says Oilman Free With Fists

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Glenn McCarthy, wealthy Houston oilman, is accused of beating and kicking a sports promoter who alleges he was hired — and then fired — to promote a charity football game.

Larry Rummans of Los Angeles filed suit Monday, asking $210,000 in damages from McCarthy.

Rummans' suit alleges that McCarthy hired him to promote a game in Houston Dec. 17 between the champion of the All America Football Conference and an all-star team. He was promised, the suit read, $10,000 plus a share of the gate.

The promoter added that he was summoned to Houston, told "we don't need you anymore." Then when he protested, the suit continued, McCarthy "jumped on a desk, kicked him in the chest and chin and hit him with his fist while two bodyguards held him. Rummans said he was held captive two days in McCarthy's Shamrock Hotel in Houston.

James Clark, McCarthy's public relations man, said in Houston McCarthy at no time hired Rummans nor had any dealing with him about the charity game.

McCarthy's associates said the letter threatened death or injury to the oilman or a member of his family if he didn't deliver the money as directed. It was to be placed in a culvert at a Houston intersection.

After thinking it over, McCarthy decided to ignore an FBI request and answer with a return note, his friends said.

He wrote a note saying it would be impossible for him to raise the money in small bills on such short notice. He asked the letter writer to contact him again.

Then, arming himself with a pistol, McCarthy drove to the intersection.

Curious residents of the section crowded around his Cadillac when he stopped. McCarthy told them he had engine trouble. While they looked under the hood, he tossed the note into the culvert.

FBI agents kept a constant watch over the culvert, but no one ever picked up the note.

Dr. C. A. Dwyer, physician for Harris County, had asked that a temporary physician be appointed to make the examination. Dwyer also is director of the Shamrock's Health Clinic.

Dwyer said the lunacy charge was filed with his approval but that he did not want to make the examination "for obvious reasons."

Last night friends of McCarthy told how the oilman took a gun and tried to contact the writer of the extortion note.

Electric Light 70 Years of Age

Friday week, Oct. 21, will mark the 70th anniversary of Edison's invention of the incandescent lamp — the discovery which made possible the creation of the electric industry. What Edison did on that day 70 years ago with the principle of electric current has in some way touched, in one way or another, the life of almost everyone.

The story of that industry is a testimonial to the spirit, the courage, and the will to achieve of free men working under a free system of enterprise in a free nation.

When the lamp was first shown, the vast majority of people regarded it as an amusing novelty and little more. Most doubted if it would ever lead to anything important. Few were willing to put up money to get the thing going.

On this 70th anniversary, by contrast, we find ourselves in the electric age. The power industry is engaged in a multi-billion dollar expansion program which is the largest in its history. Practically every American home has electric lights, radios, refrigerators, and a long list of other items which are operated by the invisible "juice" that comes out of a wall plug. Soon almost all American farms will either be using central station power, or will have it available. And in industry, dependable power service is as vital as in the blood stream to a living being.

Our leadership in electrification is unquestioned. American power production in the year which ended this September was more than the entire world production in 1929. We generate five times as much electricity as the next ranking nation, Russia.

Free enterprise did all this — not government, not dictators. It gives us the finest electric service on earth for about a third as much as we spend for tobacco. The record speaks for itself — and it is just beginning.

I see where scientists have dug out a great lost city deep in the Amazon jungle. Well, if you ask me, I don't think it was lost at all — it was hiding. The way things are today, if I were a city, I'd keep out of sight, too, until this atomic-bomb thing blows over.

Los Angeles, I think, has the makings of a perfect lost city. And I wonder what the people of the future will think when they dig old Los Angeles out from under layers of concrete, asphalt, smog, and old radio scripts. They're certainly going to be confused by the ruins of ancient drive-ins, kiddie-v-shaped swimming pools, derby-shaped restaurants and hunch television stations where human sacrifices of actors were made daily. They may even find a few actors in a state of perfect preservation. As a matter of fact, we have a few of those around today and they're still making a nice living.

Just one personal request, dear excavators. If you should dig us up, say, 10,000 years from today, I'd appreciate it if you said it was only 9,000. You know how sensitive we ladies are about our ages.

It was not unusual for a person to drink 40 to 50 cups of tea daily during the 17th Century.

Washington.....by Doug Larsen

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

Congress has received several reports this summer on the effectiveness and size of the Communist propaganda effort in France and how it is sabotaging American aid efforts there.

It poses the problem of whether to make American propaganda efforts in France as rough and tumble and expensive as those of the Communies, or whether to continue the present dignified and expensively honest efforts to sell the French on the virtues of democracy.

There are many specific examples of just how the French have operated. When a minor dispute between the U. S. and England over aluminum purchases with ECA funds developed, the Communist propagandists put out the following line:

"Behold capitalism and capitalism! Behold the titans of industry with no honor, ethics, or honesty, even when one (America) is allegedly bailing out another in order to preserve the solidarity of international capitalism. Even these ruthless, instinctively competitive capitalists try to cheat each other. No, my friends, only the Communist faith is there to bring brotherhood, true selflessness, true identity of interests between countries."

The day after the French government announced a proposal to approve the tax program, the press said:

"The Marshall Plan Gauleiters yesterday cracked the whip and a government quisling went

Fair Enough - Pegler

WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK. Alger Hiss has asked that his second trial on the federal indictment charging perjury be held in Vermont because he professes to believe that he could not get a fair trial in New York. This is tantamount to an attempt to pick a judge who would not be alert to the menace of communism because there is only one federal judge in that district and he is a new appointee. Hiss thus would seem to be seeking not an impartial but a partial court while professing his motion to be a victim of prejudice in New York.

In his first trial, last summer, the jury disagreed and there was commotion concerning the judicial conduct of Judge Samuel H. Kaufman, who was flatly accused of partiality toward Hiss. The charges against the judge were made in Congress under minority but they merely repeated observations that were commonly heard in and around the courtroom during the trial. They impugned the judge's conduct and thus his honor but, unfortunately for the judge himself, as well as for the honor of the court, there seems to be no tribunal with authority to vindicate or condemn his except he himself.

Hiss's motion for the transfer to Vermont contains an analysis of certain newspaper coverage of the trial and concurrent editorial comment by columnists, including Pegler is said to have made derogatory comments about Judge Felix Frankfurter, Judge Kaufman and the honor of federal courts in general. This is true and nobody regrets more than I do the justification for these comments.

This was my first attendance at any trial of a case in which there had been an extraordinary interest. There had been about eight previous trials in federal and state courts of criminals whom I had denounced or helped to denounce. I kept absent from all of them with fastidious regard for propriety and to give no excuse for a claim by the defense that my presence had been prejudicial. In no case did I publish a single word of new fact or comment during trial. I did not believe such publication should affect the judgment of jurors because I know it could not affect mine in similar conditions. But courts admonish jurors not to read about the cases before them and, realizing that jurors are about like the rest of us, I figured they might just happen to see my piece while scanning the paper with a roving eye.

I departed from my custom in the Hiss case only after Eleanor Roosevelt, a personal and political friend of Alger Hiss and of Judge Kaufman, had the audacity to publish in her column a suggestion that Hiss be acquitted. In none of my subsequent discussion did I go so far as to suggest that he should be convicted. Moreover, knowing neither Hiss nor Whittaker Chambers, the principal prosecuting witness, nor having any complicity with Chambers in any matter, I cannot be accused of serving a self-interest in anything I wrote. I wrote according to the traditions of editorial journalism, whereas the Roosevelt woman was pleading for her political and ideological accomplice and personal friend.

Day by day, she wrote, "as the defense attorney in the perjury trial of Alger Hiss brings out facts about Whittaker Chambers as a witness, one cannot help being mystified as to why the gentleman should be believed at all. He has now admitted that he is perjured himself before the grand jury and before the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Also he seems to have no hesitancy about telling unfavorable facts about his private life which make him seem less and less valuable as a witness. One gets the feeling that Mr. Chambers is on trial and not Mr. Hiss."

Possibly she did get that feeling, but I got a feeling that she and her late husband and Frankfurter were on trial with Hiss. She was his friend and advocate and would be guilty of culpable carelessness, to say the best of it, if he were found guilty. And, although the legal charge was perjury, not treachery against the United States in favor of an unfriendly foreign power, Soviet Russia, that graver charge lay just back of the perjury indictment. Her late husband took Alger Hiss to Yalta as his adviser and it was there that Roosevelt gave Russia custody of the Balkans, Poland, the Baltic and Eastern Germany, gave Russia victory in Manchuria and China and gave Russia the whip hand over Western civilization. And, although Hiss, before the Committee on Un-American Activities had squirmed and begged the congressmen not to make him answer the question, he finally had to admit that Frankfurter had brought him to Washington and put him into the government in the first place.

The association goes even further. Dean Acheson, now the secretary of state, was Hiss's associate in the State Department, was his counsel and Hiss was Frankfurter's mouthpiece before the Judiciary Committee of the Senate when he was up for confirmation for the Supreme Court. In short, Hiss had been a very important, highly privileged member of the Roosevelt administration and now the widow was trying to catch the eye of the jury with her judgment that the witness against him was unworthy of belief on oath. The only conclusion possible was that the jury should acquit Hiss and thus vindicate all the rest of them.

Finally, she promptly endorsed in print the attempt to transfer the case to Vermont.

"It seems to be a very wise and sensible move," says she. From her standpoint it would seem so.

Vic came home to his father's farm in the Mojave Desert, in 1931. His father was broke. So was Vic. He decided they should grow turkeys and managed to get four hens and a "toon."

Meantime, he took a job driving a bread truck in Los Angeles, 80 miles away. He was pretty lucky. He only had to work 15 hours a day on the bread route. On Saturdays he drove the 80 miles to the small ranch and helped his mother with the turkeys and got them lined up for the next week.

The first year they raised 50 turkeys. In 1932 they raised 100. In 1933 they raised 150 and Vic figured he could afford to quit the bread route. He and his young wife moved into a shack on the ranch. He sold enough turkeys to get by and buy feed for the balance of the flock. By 1935 he had 2500 turkeys and in 1939 more than 15,000.

WE'RE RIDING FOR A FALL

By THURMAN SENSING
Director of Research
Southern States Industrial Council,
Nashville, Tennessee

Back in the Middle Ages... well-known scientists of the day... what they called "the stone." The Philosopher's Stone — a method of changing base metals into precious metals — and they actually believed it could be done. This was simply an expression of the effort at the time of that age-old notion to get "something for nothing" to get rich without working.

Later on, in the early days of our own country, that great philosopher, Benjamin Franklin, said, "If you know how to spend less than you get, you have the philosopher's stone." Franklin was simply saying in other words that there is no such thing as "something for nothing"; he was saying that the first principle of a sound economy is living within one's income.

This principle has a very timely application to the present situation in the world, particularly right here in the United States of America. There is no excuse for any nation to live beyond its income in time of peace; any nation that does so is riding for a fall. If the expenditures represented by the budget are worth while, they are worth supporting by taxation. Or, to put it another way, if the expenditures represented by the budget cannot be supported by taxation, they are not worth while.

Living beyond its income has brought the nation of Great Britain to its present predicament. Great Britain has not only been living beyond its income; it has been living beyond its means. The billions of dollars poured into its coffers by the United States. So now Great Britain robs her people of part of their wealth and lowers their standard of living by devaluing the pound.

What the people of the United States should realize is that they are headed in the same direction. It all goes back to the time of the nation's founding when the government at the time went off the gold standard in 1934. From that day on, the people lost control of their money, and since then the money supply has been multiplied to suit the convenience of the Government.

Under our present system of deficit financing, deliberately entered upon by our Government at the beginning of the current fiscal year, we are simply living beyond our means. We are spending more than we receive. Considering the enormity of our national debt, which is already forty percent greater than the total assessed value of all the taxable property in the nation, this can only result in one eventual — the devaluation of our dollar. Already operating with an unstable dollar, it will then be even more unstable, and the end result will be repudiation of the national debt and the bankruptcy of the nation.

The recent devaluation of the pound by Great Britain is not a cure for her illness. It is simply another opiate to go along with the four billion dollar loan we made them in 1946 and the Marshall Aid extending since then. It will only serve as a "shot in the arm" — probably lasting long enough for the Labour Government to win the next election — and then Great Britain will be in worse shape than she is now. For by doing so, her own finances will be in such condition that there will be a great clamor for raising the price of gold and the current trading advantage enjoyed by the devaluing country over the United States will disappear.

Benjamin Franklin was right — the first step to prosperity is to "spend less than you get." This applies to nations as well as individuals. Increased prosperity thereafter depends upon greater production and more efficient production. It depends upon operating with a sound currency. It depends upon adoption of a system of planning for debt retirement. These rules being observed, prosperity is assured; these rules not being observed, bankruptcy is inevitable.

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Although the agreement for American rearming of Latin-American nations was signed several years ago in the famous continental defense pact, not a single rifle or bullet has been forwarded to the nations below the Rio Grande, where Nazi agents and colonels flourished before 1939 until they were driven out or underground by diplomatic, political and economic pressure from Washington.

In fact, the pledge to build up armies, navies and air fleets for use in a possible World War III has been here in the United States very time when the U. S. is spending billions for that purpose in Europe. But the fact is that second-thought study of the pact — convinces both Washington and South American statesmen that the rearmament compact was a major mistake.

It is probable that military assistance on a large scale would constitute a threat to peace in the western hemisphere, and precipitate wars and revolutions even more serious than those Caribbean outbreaks which new dictator President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson and National Defense Secretary Johnson.

REASONS — The various powers originally included in the rearmament program, especially the A-B-C countries—Argentina, Brazil and Chile—are at such sword-points in a race for Latin-American supremacy that it would be difficult to allocate arms among them without creating hard feelings all around.

No matter how an administration at Washington tried to show impartiality, it would be damned if it gave one nation a few more rounds of ammunition than another.

The Latin-American politicians, although they would like to strengthen their respective military, naval and aviation establishments, cannot agree among themselves. In off-the-record talks with our diplomats, they note rather plaintively that any man who became generalissimo of a Latin-American nation would have to be a head of an effective air force, would become a potential president almost automatically. Therefore, they dare not accept such explosive gifts.

There are other reasons for not strengthening the military of Latin America. There are not enough trained technicians for maintaining or repairing new-style weapons, and replacement demands on us would become onerous. Moreover, the Latin resent American training, techniques and leadership.

NEED — Failure to implement the earlier agreement, however, does not mean that our military men are not making preparations to keep South America in a fairly strong defensive state. But it is going to cost a lot of money in the next few years.

In view of Russia's expected progress in making atomic bombs, the major and immediate need is a new sea-level canal across the Isthmus of Panama, probably in Nicaragua.

The present waterway, which enabled our warships to slip from the Atlantic to the Pacific, or vice versa, as circumstances dictated, is too vulnerable to ordinary or atomic bombing. Indeed, our 45,000-ton aircraft carriers cannot negotiate it now.

BASES — Secretary Acheson has a large d d initiated conversations looking toward building of a few naval and air bases on both coasts, which would be manned with a skeleton force, but capable of expansion in the event of danger.

These could be built and occupied unobtrusively enough, it is believed, so that they would not wound Latin sensitivity or arouse prejudice against the "Yanquis."

Another requirement is an effective intelligence staff to be attached to our embassies and legations abroad as we had during World War II. Although details cannot be published for security reasons, the number of our diplomatic, military, commercial and agricultural attaches at South American capitals has been increased far beyond ordinary needs in recent months.

Autumn Leaves

By GORDON MARTIN

It's unfortunate that autumn leaves have got to flutter down, for they offer quite a problem and they cause a man to frown. He should rake 'em up and haul 'em off his cluttered, brown lawn, but a man who yields a rake could use some luck besides his brawn. For of all the futile projects that the mind of man conceives, there is nothing quite so futile as a fellow raking leaves.

First the guy selects a corner where the going's not so tough, and he takes up quite a pile of leaves along with other stuff. But his leaves are scattered broadside by a sudden gust of wind, and the thought of wasted effort leaves the worker quite chagrined. And the leaves keep right on falling while his aching back he strains, but at last his job is finished and he's got a million pains.

Then he goes to get some boxes so's to cart the leaves away, and returns to learn the kids have found a nifty place to play. For they've flattened out his leafy mound and thrown the leaves about, and he knows for sure that leaves are things that he could do without. Then he vows he'll fret no more when leaves descend from tree-tops tall, for he'll throw away his rake and let 'em lay right where they fall.

The Doctor Says

By Edwin P. Jordan, MD

Written for NEA

When cancer is found early enough the chances for cure are good. For this reason it is extremely important that every one should know what symptoms should send them to the doctor for tests to decide whether early cancer is present or not.

There is more cancer in the gastrointestinal tract (stomach and intestines) than in any other one system of the body. Therefore, any loss of weight which cannot be explained by dieting or other obvious cause is suspicious. Bleeding from the intestines or the presence of any mass, tumor, or swelling inside the abdominal cavity are causes for investigation. Difficulty in swallowing or unexplained loss of appetite should result in a prompt visit to the physician.

The next most common locations for cancer are in the breasts and in the uterus or womb. Any lump in the breast is reason for examination. Any change in the nature of the bleeding from the womb or any discharge also require investigation.

FOUND IN OTHER PLACES — Cancerous growth can develop in other places, such as the lungs, bladder or kidney, or the mouth. Sores in the mouth, on the tongue or on the skin which do not heal quickly may be cancerous. Lumps appearing anywhere on the body should always be suspected. Unexplained bleeding from any of the openings of the body is always cause for immediate examination.

Some people are abnormally afraid of cancer and go from doctor to doctor thinking that they have the disease but are not being told the truth. This condition is called cancerophobia. The suffering which such people undergo is great, and their distress is great. In order to keep their minds as free from fear as possible they need to be reassured every so often that they do not have cancer.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked question in his column. "So do you."

Oil News

November Allowables Hiked; Sweet Crude Output Increased

HOUSTON — (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission yesterday boosted November's crude oil production allowables by 137,000 barrels daily.

November allowables were placed at 2,258,175 barrels daily, compared to 2,121,175 last Saturday.

The increase involves one additional producing day for all Texas fields, giving all areas a 20-day producing schedule except the vast East Texas field which will operate on 19.

Members of the commission estimated under production in November at 5 percent or approximately 114,308 barrels daily. Production from new wells was anticipated at 17,000 barrels daily.

These estimates would give the state an anticipated actual November daily production of 2,188,867 barrels.

Ernest O. Thompson, senior member of the commission, in explaining the November order, said:

"Winter is coming on with anticipated increase in refinery operations. We feel we ought to be on the ample side of production rather than short."

The order was issued shortly after a statewide hearing during which several purchasers asked that sweet crude oil production be increased and that sour crude output remain the same as October.

The selective buying requests are in direct conflict with the adopted policy of the commission to make increases or decreases in the state's allowables on an across-the-board basis.

Two purchasers told the commission they will be forced to turn to foreign oil if more sweet crude does not become available.

They were V. A. Smith, vice president of Petrol Refining Co., and E. R. Turner, representing Pan-American Production Co.

Smith said Petrol has needed more domestic sweet crude since 1947 but has turned to foreign oil because it is cheaper.

Turner asked the commission to add four producing days in November to each of the 41 sweet crude fields in which Pan-American purchases.

John Caffrey, Beaumont, Sun Oil Co., also asked two additional producing days for sweet crude fields.

Herman Pressler, Humble Oil & Refining Co., called for one added day to all fields except West Texas where sour crude production is heaviest.

Raymond Myers, Magnolia Petroleum Co., joined in Pressler's recommendation.

Mason Nixon, Southern Minerals Corp., Corpus Christi, said customers are turning to Louisiana and Venezuela because of shortages of Texas sweet crude.

He asked 20 producing days in November.

"If there is no market for sour crude," he said, "you can carry the across-the-board policy too far by inviting imports."

Two witnesses recommended increases in the East Texas sweet oil areas. They were Hiram Brown, Talco Pipeline Co., who asked 20 producing days, and H. P. Nichols, Tyler, executive vice president of the Texas Oil Association. Nichols recommended a 19-day schedule for the big East Texas field.

H. P. McDermott, Fort Worth, Sinclair-Prairie Oil Co., thought the East Texas field should be placed on the same production schedule as the remainder of the state.

Louisiana Oil Activity Hits High for Year

BATON ROUGE, La. — (AP) — Louisiana oil activity reached its high for the year during September, Commissioner of Conservation S. L. Digby reported this week.

He said new highs were set during the month in drilling permits issued, well completions and dry holes.

Digby said his department has issued 275 drilling permits during September, including 25 for exploratory wells. The month's figure brought the total for the year to 1904, of which 229 were for wildcat operations.

During September, the commissioner reported, there were 274 wells completed, of which 171 were oil wells, 51 were gas or gas condensate producers and 52 were dry or non-producers. The total for the year to date is 1648 completions, of which 1032 were oil, 267 gas and 349 non-productive.

Stanolind Makes Eight Transfers

FORT WORTH, Texas — A number of transfers involving supervisory personnel at Stanolind Oil and Gas Co. plants has been announced by John R. Evans, manager of Stanolind's North Texas-New Mexico division.

Harold S. Jones, who was superintendent of the South Jennings recycling plant near Jennings, Louisiana, will assume the duties of plant superintendent at the Slaughter gasoline plant, Sundown, Texas. Jack E. Fulgham, who has been plant engineer at Slaughter, will advance to plant foreman there. Kenneth L. Redman, formerly a mechanical engineer at the South Jennings plant, is also being transferred to Slaughter where he will be plant engineer.

In another move, Glenn A. Ayling, plant foreman at the Slaughter gasoline plant, goes to Levelland, Texas, to become plant foreman at the gasoline plant, which is now under construction there. R. N. Hall, who was process engineer in the Tulsa general office, will be plant engineer at Levelland. Norris H. Trostel is also going to Levelland where he will be operating engineer. He was formerly a mechanical engineer at the Luby gasoline plant near Bishop, Texas.

The South Fullerton gasoline plant near Andrews, Texas, also is receiving two new engineers: Lloyd E. Childers, formerly operating engineer at the Stano gasoline plant, Ulysses, Kansas, and Arthur H. Denny, previously a member of the manufacturing department, Tulsa general office. Childers will become operating engineer at South Fullerton, and Denny will take over the duties of plant engineer.

Born in Saratoga Springs, N. Y. in 1885, Burt was graduated from the high school at Bennington, Vt. in 1904. Receiving his B. S. Degree with a major in biology from Colgate University in 1908, he took a master's degree from the University of Chicago in 1929.

In 1929-30 he was employed as a geologist by the Mississippi Geological Survey, and in the summers of 1929-30 he worked with the Vermont State Geological Survey. From 1930-31 he was an associate professor at Mississippi A&M College. He began teaching at Texas A&M College in September, 1931. He was promoted to professor in 1937 and was acting head of his department from 1943-47.

Burt had a book, "Soil Mineralogy," printed in 1927 by the Nostrand Co., Inc. He is the author of numerous articles and papers on the field of geology.

He is honorary life fellow in the Texas Academy of Science and

Hunziger Moved, Promoted by Texaco

A. A. Hunziger has been transferred from Fort Worth to Houston and promoted to assistant to the division manager of the Geophysical Division, Producing Department, The Texas Company. It was announced by E. R. Filley, general manager, Producing Department.

Mr. Hunziger, who is a native of Lake Mills, Wis., was graduated from the University of Wisconsin with the B.A. and M.A. degrees in geology. During summer vacations in 1927-29 he worked for the Wisconsin Geological Survey at Madison.

A member of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, Geological Society of America, and Houston Geological Society, Burt had been employed part-time since 1947 at his own request.

TIPRO Directors Meet in Abilene

AUSTIN — Abilene has been chosen the site of the first mid-year Directors Meeting of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association. The date set is November 1.

General chairman is French M. Robertson, vice president from Abilene. Almost two-hundred directors are expected to be present for the one-day meeting. The morning business period will be devoted to reports on Association activities with particular emphasis on efforts to restrict excessive petroleum imports. Following the luncheon, the afternoon business session will consist largely of an open forum.

Prominent guest speakers will be heard at both the luncheon and dinner.

Sherman Field Faces Reduction

AUSTIN — (AP) — The Railroad Commission has set public hearing for Dec. 6 for operators in the Sherman field, Grayson County, to show cause why the field's efficient rate of production should not be reduced.

The commission proposes that top allowable of 170 barrels per well per day be reduced to 38 barrels per day.

Hippopotamus means river horse.

Henry Ford II Well Makes 150 Barrels

SNYDER, Texas — (AP) — A well partly owned by Henry Ford II paid off this week.

The well, No. 2 C. W. Addison in the Sharon Ridge Canyon pool, topped the pay zone at 4,870 feet, the operators reported.

On a drillstem test, gas showed to the surface in five minutes and oil in 15 minutes. The well flowed into pits at an estimated rate of 150 barrels of high-gravity pipeline oil hourly.

The well is about 18 miles southwest of Snyder in Section 122, Block 25, H&TC Survey. Elevation is 2,300 feet.

Thomas W. Dowell, Ford and others own the well.

Schools Use New Approach To Homesickness Problem

FIRST LETTER HOME is tackled by Columbia Freshman Mario Muchnik, whose yearning for home covers a lot more mileage than that of most new students. Muchnik comes from Buenos Aires.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — On countless American campuses this fall, where brand-new Freshmen are trying to adjust themselves to college life, there's a universal malady. It's homesickness. Freshman nostalgia is no joke to college authorities. The problem is greatest among students who never have been away from home before — and among boys from farms and villages confronting for the first time with life in a big city college.

For the Freshman, the shock is probably toughest when West meets East — when a boy from Kansas or California runs up against what Assistant Dean Donald E. Miller calls "the cold, impersonal approach of the East."

Miller has been working on the homesickness problem as part of his duties on the staff of Columbia University's School of Engineering. Like many other colleges, Columbia attacks the malady before it becomes serious through a seven-man team of counselors who take over the freshmen the minute they put their bags down on the campus. In colleges with such a program, there is little time for a new student to yearn for home. Without it, says Edward J. Malloy, Jr., who directs the service at Columbia, countless Freshmen would be "lost boys."

Counselors, all young men who may be either graduate students or staff members, are selected for their ability to organize social life for the neophytes. They live in the dormitories, and in the course of the first few weeks make it their business to know every Freshman student in their province.

Homesickness is often the result of not being able to make friends easily, the counselors discovered.

"It's the boy who has to walk alone, behind the crowd, that we worry about," Counselor George Thompson explains, "and we make special efforts to see that he meets and makes friends with others. Sometimes we introduce students from the same city or state, and sometimes we try to bring together fellows who plan to enter the same general field of study."

"Abhor that which is evil."

Survey for Colleges Said Needed

AUSTIN — (AP) — Declining enrollment and prospective cuts in state funds indicate the need for a thorough study of Texas' higher educational system, President T. S. Painter of the University of Texas said.

The study, Dr. Painter said, should be aimed at avoiding "undesirable and uneconomic duplication of facilities." His remarks were made in his annual address to the university faculty.

He described the changing pattern of enrollment at the university as significant. In prewar years and as late as 1945 about 62 percent of the students were Freshmen and Sophomores, 38 percent Juniors, Seniors and graduate students.

The percentages are almost reversed today with 37 percent Juniors, Seniors and graduate students. He said a continuation of this trend is indicated.

He said junior colleges are largely responsible for the shift. A study of higher education similar to the Gilmer-Aikin survey of public schools was suggested in the Legislature this year, but the idea was killed.

Private Papers Of Financier Go to Library

FORT WORTH — (AP) — The private papers of Abner Taylor, Chicago financier, contractor and promoter who built the Texas State Capitol at Austin, have been purchased and given to the Fort Worth Public Library by friends of the library.

The papers are a rare collection of unpublished letters and documents on the Capitol Syndicate, which built the Capitol in exchange for 3,000,000 acres of Panhandle land. The land became the famed XIT Ranch. The Capitol Syndicate was formed by Taylor, Amos C. Babcock, John B. and Charles B. Farwell.

The collection contains the personal scrapbook of Taylor's wife, Clara, a daughter of Abner Taylor. Newspaper clippings on her publicity as a Washington hostess and her secret marriage to Taylor are included.

Ruling Passed On Hail Damage

AUSTIN — (AP) — The Insurance Commission has no authority to make mandatory the $100 deductible clause in windstorm and hail policies, Judge Jack Roberts ruled in 128th District Court.

The ruling — which will be appealed — had the immediate effect of invalidating an Insurance Commission ruling that no insurance company can issue a policy covering the first $100 in damage resulting from windstorm or hail. If you have a hail and wind damage policy on your house now, you can recover only on damage that exceeds $100. If you repair damage under $100, you pay for it yourself.

This practice was attacked by Jesse D. Carter of Austin through his attorneys, Herman Jones and Charles Herring. They claimed the Insurance Commission order was invalid under existing statutes, and Judge Roberts upheld this contention Tuesday.

The commission's position was that throwing out the $100 deductible clause would make insurance rates so high the average person could not afford them.

Egypt, Arabia, and India are in the same latitude as Florida.

This Century Of Common Woman, Too

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — This has been called the century of the common man.

It could be termed with more truth the century of the common woman, except that you'd better be smiling with all 32 teeth, partner, when you say that. For no lady, no matter how shrilly she presses her campaign for equal rights, wants that word common applied to her sex — and to her that seems only like commonsense.

Perhaps we could better call this "the century of the Miss and the Mrs. instead of the Mr."

The latest victory of the powder-puff battalions is the decision of the Harvard Law School to admit women to its classes. For 132 years only men boned up on Blackstone in this sanctuary by the Charles. It's breaching now by female bluestockings comes as a surprise to many oldtimers.

"Aren't there already enough women laying down the law to men?" they cry.

The truth is the average man today is just a dazed victim of the feminine equal rights campaign. He is living in a shake-down period in a new war between the sexes. For many women scream for more rights with one breath, and clamor for their ancient privileges with the next. They insist they no longer have to ride a horse or a barstool side-saddle, but they eye-dagger a forgetful male in an elevator because he won't drop his packages and take off his hat in their honor. In the seasons they call for the television program they want, but it's the gent with them who picks up the tab when the Martins are all in.

Of course, they all aren't like this. Some girls still only want to boss in the house. Others just demand an equal chance at the office. But many, many modern females play both ends against the middle. They want to act like men and be treated like women.

Naturally, the ordinary man thinks this is a little unfair of the fairer sex. He'd like either to deal with a lady as a lady, or have the present code of ethics and etiquette modified to allow him to belt a presumptuous female with a baseball bat if she gets out of line. Right now he's confused. Should he take off his hat before or after hitting her?

Women say this is still a man's world. But where?

"The only man's world left is in homes with two bathrooms," said a cynic, "and even then the man finds his world is hung with lady laundry."

Texas Democrats Plan Fund Raising Dinner

NEW YORK — (AP) — Texas Democrats already have made reservations for a $100-a-plate dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Dec. 2 to raise $250,000 for the party.

Speakers for the dinner are Vice President Alben W. Barkley and Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn.

Spectator Loses Purse at Rodeo

HUNTSVILLE — (AP) — A spectator at Sunday's Prison Rodeo performance lost her purse containing $150 but had it back Monday.

It was found by a convict and turned over to the prison authorities.

Prison General Manager O. B. Ellis identified the inmate as Willie Claud Long, serving a two-year sentence for forgery from Dallas County.

He said that the woman who lost the purse asked that her name not be released.

English Audiences 'Out of This World'

NEW YORK — (AP) — Jane Russell, wearing a tight brown wool sweater, flew in from Britain Monday and was greeted by wolf whistles from Idlewild Airport personnel.

The screen star, who has just completed a London singing engagement, said she found English audiences "out of this world."

TRUMAN TO SPEAK

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman will speak at the laying of the cornerstone of the new United Nations Building in New York Oct. 24, the White House announced.

Class Listens To Series for School Credit

DENTON — (AP) — How'd you like to be in a college class that listens to the World Series and gets credit for doing it?

The World Series was a regular clinic for one group of students at North Texas State College.

They clustered around a radio with pencil and score cards in hand, noting every hit, strike and error.

They made up a class in sports writing and it was their first assignment from instructor Burnie Kee. Kee, a former Denton Record-Chronicle, Dallas Times Herald and Beaumont Enterprise sports writer, now is a sports writer for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

A former student of North Texas State, Kee is one of five newsmen — teachers instructing in the college Journalism Department.

'PEACE OF MIND'

MOLINE, Ill. — (AP) — Jimmy Carl Jones, 30, seized by police on charges of burglarizing churches, offered this explanation: "They were the only places where I could find peace of mind."

Forecasts

By Pitts Smith

Army is back doing business at the same old stand after an absence of two years. Their smashing victory over Michigan stamps them as the team to beat. We can't say as much for our predictions. The little fellows ganged us again. Maybe we'll have to leave 'em alone. The record now stands 161 winners, 40 losers and 7 ties for an average of 80%.

TOP GAMES: CALIFORNIA taking Southern Cal. in a scorcher, STANFORD over Washington and those amazing UCLA Bruins racking up No. 5 over Santa Clara... SMU in a garrison finish with Rice, NORTH CAROLINA over Wake Forest and VANDERBILT maintaining the pace over Florida... BROWN grabbing a toughie from Princeton, CORNELL over Yale and MISSISSIPPI nipping hot and cold Boston College... TULANE snapping Notre Dame's winning streak, NAVY over Wisconsin and OHIO STATE slowing down fast moving Minnesota.

WEEKLY ROUNDUP: GEORGE SAUER'S Navy Tars establishing a beach-head in the East... BOB WOODRUFF'S Baylor Bears may be the team to beat in the Southwest... GAYNELL TINSLEY and his capable assistants doing a jam-up job at LSU... ANDY GUSTAFSON putting an "eye" in Miami's Hurricane... JIM TATUM'S Maryland Terps hoisting storm signals... RED BLAIR'S Army Kaydets pulling the upset to end 'em all.

Firm Gets Trophy for 1948 Safety

The J. D. Wright & Son Trucking Co. has received the Safety Trophy from the Texas Employers' Insurance Association, Amarillo. The presentation was made for conducting trucking operations during 1948 without any lost-time accidents. The year's work, it was announced, represented 28,480 man-hours.

The award was presented by Henry S. Wilson, manager of the Amarillo office of the association; and was accepted here by J. D. Wright, Sr., partner in the company. Wilson told The News that only 26 out of 7,000 companies carried in the state by the agency received the award for accident prevention.

Wright said "the purpose of the award is to give a pat on the back to the employee and management on their fine accomplishment in accident prevention."

Wright said the feat was attributed to careful maintenance of equipment, selection of employees, and "excellent cooperation by employees in carrying out company safety practices."

Darrouzett

DARROUZETT—(Special)—Ed Kosche, who was injured in Darrouzett's second annual rodeo Saturday, was released from the Sanford Hospital in Perryton Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Boyer left Wednesday for Oklahoma City where they will visit his stepson, Leonard Smith, and family, and where Mrs. Boyer will receive medical treatment.

The revival meeting at the Methodist Church is expected to close with the Sunday evening service. The Rev. Clarence Stephens of Texoma, Okla., is holding services twice daily.

Several Darrouzett citizens left early Wednesday for a deer hunt in Colorado. They were: Ray Altmeier, Alfred Fausset, Basil Duke, Rodney Wheatley, E. B. Burton, and Russell Gilger. They expect to be away a week or 10 days.

50 Masons Have Banquet Here

Feast of Tabernacle was held in the Banquet Room of the Pampa Masonic Temple on Kingsmill Tuesday night. There were 50 Scottish Rite Masons present for the dinner, it was announced. The invocation was given by W. W. Simmons, and the welcome address was by C. P. Buckler. During the dinner, music was furnished by Miss Helen Kay Wilson.

Fred Galle, K.C.C.H., Amarillo, was main speaker. Toasts were given by E. E. Shelhamer, John Pitts, and Galle.

Hialeah race track's clubhouse drive is lined with 24 of the tallest matched royal palm trees which could be found in the Everglades.

Sea Lion of California Sets Record

DOVER, Eng. — (P) — Pierre Clifton, a California sea lion with a sense of humor, has shown the human race that it still has a lot to learn about swimming.

In the most casual sort of way Pierre swam the English Channel Sunday in just over five hours. That is approximately half the best time ever set by a human.

Pierre — spurred on by snacks of herring — made his bid for fame and radio, television and movie contracts on just about the worst possible day for a channel swim. The crossing was so rough that half the 20 news correspondents and photographers who went along in two motorboats became very seasick.

The correspondents themselves established some sort of record for stunts of this sort. Many of them made the crossing without any pants. Because the surf was so heavy they had taken off their trousers and waded out to the boats. They water splashed into the boats and made the garments too wet to wear.

Pierre's swim was part of a stunt for "truth or consequences," a radio program familiar to listeners in the United States. Burt Kennedy, who missed a question in a quiz, was required to assist in managing the venture.

Kennedy, a free lance writer, returned to Hollywood Monday by plane. The radio program will reward him with a dollar for every minute Pierre clipped from the channel record. This will come to about $380.

Sally Can't Have Show Profits Yet

DALLAS — (P) — Sally Rand can wave her fans and people can see the show.

But Miss Rand and her contracting agent can't spend any of the money they're taking in at the State Fair. Not yet.

District Judge Dallas Blankenship ordered Miss Rand and Marsh Brydon, president of the Independent Midways Association, to appear in court at 9:30 a. m. Friday.

Then they must explain why they are not splitting profits from Miss Rand's girl show with Bert Peck and James W. Hess.

In a suit filed Tuesday, Peck and Hess claim they contracted last July with Brydon to furnish all the materials and girls for all girl shows at the State Fair. Profits were to be split 50-50, they claim.

But Brydon later breached the contract and made a contract with Miss Rand for the show, under terms unknown to them, Peck and Hess charge.

BARBERS RAISE PRICE

Vaughan Is Snipper of Red Tape

WASHINGTON — (P) — Take it from Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan: He's a snipper of government "red tape" with disdain for those who call him unethical.

"I'm considered in many circles to be very unethical," President Truman's Army aide confided to a friendly audience, "and I'm sure I will continue to be."

"There are only two people I have to please — Mr. Truman and Mrs. Vaughan. As long as I please them, I am satisfied."

"I've made various suggestions as to what other people can do. You can interpolate your own interpretation of that."

The occasion was a $2-a-plate party given in Vaughan's honor by members of various veterans organizations. They gathered to show appreciation for the various chores Vaughan has handled as President Truman's coordinator of veterans affairs.

It was a far cry from the Senate committee hearings at which investigators, on the hunt for "influence peddling" in Washington, inquired into some of Vaughan's activities.

Band Collectors Smoke Little

PHILADELPHIA — (P) — There was a noticeable lack of smoke at the annual convention of the International Cigar Band Society, President Grover Greasby, of Waukesha, Wis., explained that about 80 percent of the Society's members don't smoke.

President Greasby, a middle-aged mechanic, and his wife brought along what they called their master collection, dating back to 1900. The collection includes eight complete sets bearing the likeness of U. S. presidents. Mrs. Greasby also has a complete set of German rulers, from 1714 to the late Kaiser; a set of 80 flags of the world, and a set of 50 state shields. Another set displayed by Greasby was imprinted with the faces of playing cards. There was enough variety for one complete deck.

Greasby said members get their hands by swapping or writing direct to manufacturers. Some buy cigars and give them away after removing the bands.

DESERET MORMON WORD

Interviewer Needs Car

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — (P) — It pays to have your car along when interviewing Gertrude Lawrence. Also a mind for last names of famous people.

When I arrived at her hotel bungalow (rate: about $50 a day), she declared she had to dash to the beauty salon. Since she had no wheels, I volunteered my jalopy, and we drove out Sunset Blvd., chatting all the while. She sprinkled her comments with first names, which I mentally identified as best I could.

The stage star is doing her first picture here, "The Glass Menagerie," and I asked why she had never succumbed to Hollywood before.

"Why, I've always been too busy. I've either been in a play or preparing for one. This picture happened to hit me when I had no plans."

Will she do some more pictures now?

"Yes, I think it would be a good idea. I'm getting a little tired of creating a stage role and then having some film star out here saying, 'that would be a nice little thing for me.'"

"Look what has happened: Joan (Crawford) did 'Susan and God,' Norma (Shearer) did 'We Were Dancing,' Claudette (Colbert) did 'Skyline' and Ginger (Rogers) did 'Lady in the Park.'"

"I think it would be a good thing for stage people to do films. And it could work in reverse, too. The public would like to see movie stars in the flesh doing plays."

Federal Aid May Solve Water Needs

ABILENE — (P) — Governor Allan Shivers said federal help may be the best present answer to West Texas water problems.

The Governor, whose attorney general recently criticized West Texans for inviting the Interior Department to give it a hand, told Abilene Reporter News staff member Kathryn Duff:

"The people are going to have services from their government. If they can't get them from their local government they'll go to the state. If they can't get them there they will go to the federal government."

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has drawn fire from some who fear federal encroachment by the Bureau of Reclamation.

Attorney General Price Daniel criticized the West Texas Chamber of Commerce action recently on the grounds that federal intervention would take over responsibilities which he said belonged to the state.

The Governor expressed no fears of encroachment if the projects are self liquidating. He pointed to the Canadian projects on the North Plains as a good solution.

Gov. Shivers said, "We must work out a definite program for surface water as well as underground water. We will have just a shig a legislative battle over new water laws as there was over oil conservation."

"Texas is big enough and strong enough to supply these services," the Governor added.

The Governor spoke Monday night at Snyder at a barbeque for 4,000 newcomers to Scurry County.

cent for her "Menagerie" role?

"I'm going to have a coach for it, you know — the same woman who taught Vivien (Leigh) hers for 'Gone With the Wind.' But the accent won't be too pronounced. The story takes place in St. Louis, so that doesn't call for 'you-all' or 'cain't.'"

Committees in Scout Council Are Appointed

The Annual Meeting Committee and Nominating Committee of the Adobe Walls Area Council have been appointed; Paul Beisenherz, executive, said today.

Huslyn Laycock will head the Annual Meeting Committee. The meeting will be held during the first part of December. Committeemen are Hugh Burdette, Pampa; Walter LaMaster, Perrytown; Lewis Fischer, Hooker, Okla.; the Rev. Warren W. Fry, Clarendon.

Elbert K. Fretwell, chief Scout of the Boy Scouts of America, was the principal speaker at last year's annual meeting. This year's speaker has not yet been named.

C. L. Mathewson, Guymon, was named to lead the Nominating Committee. Serving under him are W. B. Weathered, Pampa; Sandy K. Parsons, Jr., Wellington; William E. McClellan, Spearman; Carl Fisher, Phillips.

Mrs. Burl Hopper is the latest den mother appointed. She will work with Pack 4 Cub Scouts of the First Christian Church.

Meanwhile, four new troops recently have been organized in the Adobe Walls Area Council, Beisenherz continued.

Troop 79 has been organized at Miami. Sponsored by the Baptist, Methodist and Christian Church.

Realism: Boys Now Can Have Black-Eyed Dolls

SHINER—The new realism in toys now brings forth dolls for boys. Black eyes are optional, depending on the buyer's mood for mayhem.

By JACK HARR

CHICAGO — (NEA) — Michelle Ricks, three, was somewhat surprised when she saw the boy-dolls dressed in boxing trunks and gym shoes.

But the buyers at the Merchandise Mart, where Michelle was getting a sneak preview of what's likely to be under the Christmas tree this year, weren't surprised at all.

There is a certain time, it seems, when boys like dolls. Not ones like a new model with nylon hair that can be set in different hairdos, which fascinated Michelle. But masculine dolls.

That is what inspired the boxing doll, one of the thousands of new items which turned the Mart into a vast toyland for buyers. Along with trunks and gym shoes, the doll has big, detachable boxing gloves and will retail for $5.95. Black eyes are optional, and are produced with paint, not by socking the doll in the face.

As orders pile up, some wholesalers are predicting the greatest year ever in the toy business. "Things are almost too good," groans Herbert Sherman, manufacturer of toy racers and airplanes. "Right now my factory is 175,000 orders behind, and we'll have to go some to make that up before Christmas buying starts."

Prices will be comparable with last year and the merchandise will be of superior quality, wholesalers claim. An expected increase in business makes it possible, they say. The kiddie population this year is at an all time high.

The most widespread trend this year is a Western motif in toys, stimulated by the popularity of such characters as Hopalong Cassidy, Roy Rogers, and Gene Autry. About 40 percent of boys' clothes will have a cowboy touch.

The realistic trend is as strong as ever. To supplement the doll that actually wets, a manufacturer is marketing a plastic "step-on" can where the little mother can dispose of the wet diapers. It will cost $1.95.

Another realistic toy is a frankfurter wagon just like the one the kids see at the beach. It comes complete with everything but an edible hot dog.

Top in realism, as always, are the electric trains. This year they range from a basic set that costs $15.95 to a startling electronic railroad that markets for $199.50.

A new accessory is a cattle car which unloads seven cows on a platform and returns to the same spot to pick them up. This interesting but pointless operation will cost father $14.95.

Snyder Says U. S. Due for Prosperity

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — When the present strike situation is over the United States is in for the greatest period of prosperity it has ever known, Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder declared.

The secretary said that when the official figures are released in a few weeks they will reveal that the national income of the past month was the highest on record.

Railroaders May Seek Pension Hike

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Possible expansion of the federal government's social security system may mean new agitation by approximately 1,800,000 railroad workers to boost their old age pension, too.

The railroaders have had a more liberal — though costlier — program since Aug. 29, 1937, when Congress enacted a special Railroad Retirement Act. They have been talking lately about bettering it.

The demand is not immediate, however, like the jousting of Philip Murray, John L. Lewis, and Walter Reuther for new or bigger pensions from the steel, coal and auto industries.

The House, by a vote of 333-14, decided last week to bring another 11 million workers under the federal system and to hike the payments for an elderly couple from around $85 to $126 a month. All benefits would be upped 70 to 90 percent, according to House estimates. The Senate is expected to act on the measure after next January.

Under the railroad act, the worker who has earned $300 a month for 30 years can retire at age 65 with $144 a month. That's tops for a single person. If he is married and has dependents, the amount would be even greater. The old age pensions from the railroad fund actually are averaging about $84 a month.

This compares with approximately $26 a month on the average for those retiring under the federal system. (The proposed new act would increase the average to about $45.)

There are many reasons for the wide difference between the federal and the railroad benefits. Principally, it is because the railroad system blanketed in all the prior service of employees before Aug. 29, 1937. Without contributing any money toward those extra benefits, the railroader gets credit for the years he spent in the service of any rail carrier before that date.

The federal system, which now covers about 35 million employees outside the railroads and other excluded occupations, began with the Social Security Act of Aug. 14, 1935. Old age pension credit began January, 1936.

Just as the benefits are higher, the payroll tax is higher on the railroads. Instead of the one percent payroll tax paid by workers and employers to the federal old age insurance system, the railroad worker pays six percent of the first $300 a month of his salary or wage. The railroad employers pay an equal amount.

Funds Sought For Water Study

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman has asked Congress for $500,000 to study means of utilizing salt water for irrigation and municipal purposes.

The request was made in a letter accompanying a Budget Bureau report. The President said the money would be used by the Interior Department in cooperation with other federal agencies, private firms and universities.

He said the lack of water in the West emphasized the importance of initiating such a program designed to find a practicable way of making salt water fresh.

'Disappointed' Girl May Be the Wrecker

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Vandals wrecked the quarters of Delta Zeta Sorority at George Washington University over the weekend. One report said it could have been the work of a "disappointed" girl.

The annual rushing season is underway. A davenport and six leather-covered chairs were slashed, a rug and other furnishings burned by acid, mirrors were scratched, trophies battered or broken, and purple paint poured on woodwork and furniture.

HURRY KNOWS BEST — (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. John Berridge, both 83, observed their 74th wedding anniversary today. Mrs. Berridge gave newsmen this recipe for long marriage: "Always believe your husband knows best about everything."

THE STORY: Tod Duncan married Jenny after he was hit by the car. Jenny's inquisitive family and financial difficulties contrive to keep them unhappy. Jenny becomes the mother of twin boys, Dale and Phil. Tod was away the night the twins arrived, but an old friend Rick Morris appeared at their trailer home in time to get Jenny to a hospital. After Tod's graduation the husband and wife problems arise. Rick invites the Duncan family to his home in Centerville for a couple of weeks while Tod seeks a new home and a new job. Later Tod calls Jenny: "Rick's in love with you, isn't he?"

For one minute the whole trailer camp doesn't know about Rick and you!"

He turned and went out of the trailer, slamming the screen behind him. He could see Ruth Hansen staring out of her trailer window.

Sickening shame washed through him. News of their quarrel, what he had said, and what Jenny had said, would be repeated through the camp. Jenny was right about it being a horrible place to live.

His anger was gone when he got back to the trailer. He and Jenny, both ashamed by now, made it up with kisses.

Ruth Hansen kept the twins while Jenny went to the graduation ceremony a week later. Tod looking down at her sitting in the second row was struck by the pasty whiteness of Jenny's skin and the dark circles under her eyes. Remorse washed through him. Now that he was through school he'd find a good job and settle down and be like other husbands. He must try harder to make her happy, because she was still in love with him.

He had invited Ma to the graduation ceremony, too, but she hadn't come. She had never seen the twins either. Her dislike of Jenny was as intense as ever. Now that Harriet was living a life of her own and Joe was gone, Ma stayed in two dismal rooms the third story up on the south side not far from Madison Avenue. She had always kept herself neat, her gray hair curled, her clothes clean. But now she had let herself go. Her hair was screwed into an untidy knot and short wisps hung straight around her face. She went around the apartment in a faded dingy wrapper and run-over shoes. And she wasn't always harranguing him the way she used to. She'd sit for 15 minutes at a time, half listening to him talk and not saying a word unless he asked her a direct question. It seemed unnatural that she didn't even want to see her grandchildren.

He wished Ma could at least have come to the graduation. If it hadn't been for her, in spite of the football scholarship those first three years, he wouldn't have gotten to go to college. The way she'd skimped and saved to send him money when he was in the State University! She'd done without things herself and robbed Harriet and Joe to send him those checks. And when the fraternity had a week-end party for their mothers one year he'd been ashamed to ask Ma to come.

Rick's mother came around after the graduation ceremony to second Rick's invitation to Centerville. She was a small woman, smart looking with an upswipe of hair, silver grey and expensively attractive clothes.

THEY all rode down to Centerville in Rick's car later that day, loaded down with all the incredible paraphernalia needed for two babies—bottles, diapers, suitcases of clothes, bassinets and the folding carriage.

The Morris home was a beautiful old remodeled colonial house that had been in Rick's family for two generations. Across the way, what had once been Morris' home-stand across was now a public park. They had a picnic supper there that evening. Mame, the Morris housekeeper, looked after the twins. It was delightful for Jenny.

The two weeks at Centerville passed in no time. Mame and Mrs. Morris had practically taken over care of the twins, so that Jenny could go swimming with Rick and Tod and even dancing one evening. Jenny dreaded to go back to the trailer camp. And when Rick's mother found out that that was what they intended to do she wouldn't listen to it.

"You'll be better off in our little guest cottage!" she cried. "It's just two rooms, but we can fix it up, and you can live in it until Tod finds an apartment or house in Capitol City."

Jenny accepted with happiness only partially dimmed when Tod acted sullen about it.

Polio Drops, but Total Over 1948

AUSTIN — (AP) — Polio showed a drop in Texas last week, but the year's total is still far ahead of previous records.

The State Health Department reported the total for last week was 82, the lowest of any week since May 21 when there were 42 cases.

Week before last, there were 67 new cases.

For the year, the total is now 2,010 compared with 1,521 cases during the same period last year.

Two counties which had not reported any polio were included last week: Hansford with three and Maverick with one.

'Pennies for Art' Discussed at Meeting of Civic Culture Club

Mrs. Emmett Osborne was hostess at a meeting of the Civic Culture Club Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. F. W. Shewell. "Pennies for Art" was the topic of discussion.

After the meeting had been called to order with the reading of the collect, Mrs. John Brandon presided at a business session, with roll call answered by "Aid to the Handicapped." At the business meeting, Mrs. H. H. Stull, who has been an inactive member, was voted into the club as an active member.

The study topic was in keeping with the club's theme of the year, "Unity Through Art." Mrs. D. W. Coffman was in charge of the program, and explained the idea back of "Pennies for Art."

The move started in 1917, she said, and by 1947 there were 44 states participating. She continued that the movement is national in scope, but local in concept. Each federated club member contributes one cent a year to be used for the purchase of work by the state's own artists. This work is then put on exhibition.

At the conclusion of the meeting, refreshments were served.

Members present were Mrs. Brandon, Mrs. Coffman, Mrs. Stull, Mrs. Shotwell, Mrs. L. E. Cool, Mrs. Emmett Gee, Mrs. A. D. Hills, Mrs. Osborne, Mrs. Lloyd Rinehart, Mrs. E. A. Shackleton, Mrs. E. C. Thompson, Mrs. J. B. Townsend, Mrs. Katie Vincent, Mrs. H. W. Waters and Mrs. H. R. Van Sickle.

Mary Ann Mack Honored on Fourth Birthday

Mrs. R. A. Mack, 1116 South Barnes, gave a party Monday afternoon in honor of her daughter, Mary Ann, on her fourth birthday.

Pictures were taken of the children and a white birthday cake, decorated with pink roses and four pink candles, was served with ice cream, after the guests sang "Happy Birthday."

Guests were Jenny, Katie and Mary Ledrick, Carol Ann Enloe, Jenny Ann Goff, Regina Thompson, Jack and Jill Zuerker and Jimmie Kay Mack. Mothers present were Mrs. H. L. Ledrick, Mrs. Morris Enloe, Mrs. Jim Goff, Mrs. Erwin Thompson and Mrs. John Zuerker.

Mrs. McLeod Hostess To Euzelian Class

Mrs. Wilford McLeod was hostess to the Euzelian Class of the First Baptist Church at a business meeting and election of officers Tuesday afternoon.

New officers are Mrs. C. S. Alexander, president; Mrs. D. R. Morris, membership; Mrs. W. B. Franklin and Mrs. Lester McKenzie, social vice chairmen; Mrs. T. S. Nichols, class ministries; Mrs. Charles Spence, stewardship; Mrs. T. H. Lockhart and Mrs. T. W. Stinson, secretaries.

Group captains are Mrs. W. B. Barton, Mrs. Lee Newson, Mrs. Rex Reneau and Mrs. C. R. Spence. Mrs. Homer Scherer is the teacher.

A luncheon was planned for Tuesday, Oct. 18, in the home of Mrs. W. B. Franklin, 915 Fisher.

Inn in Florida, where she met Fred, and shortly afterwards they were married.

Kaplan is an attorney in New York and is perhaps one of the most colorful bridge players in the country. His control at the bridge table does not always make the greatest number of friends for him; nevertheless you can always expect a lot of action when you kibitz Kaplan.

Recently he was playing in a bridge game and his wife was one of his kibitzers. Today's hand was the last one of the session. After winning the opening lead of the deuce of spades with the king, Kaplan thought for some time. What play would you make at this point? Kaplan's play was the queen of clubs. One of the best players in the country, sitting West, did not cover with the king. Now there was no way to prevent him from making his contract.

Kaplan has been teaching his wife how to play bridge and when this hand was over he turned to her and said, "Darling, if you always make three no trump on a hand like this, you will never have to make eyes at me to have me love you."

Ceremony Marks Tin Production

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Assistant Secretary of Defense Paul H. Griffith will fly to Texas this weekend to participate in ceremonies marking the production of the 250,000th ton of tin in the United States.

The occasion will take place Monday at the Texas City plant of the Tin Processing Corporation.

Rep. Thompson (D-Texas) announced Griffith's plans. He said Griffith is going to Texas City also for an American Legion district convention there Sunday.

A past national commander of the Legion, Griffith also plans to visit Galveston.

Twelve Texans Are Named Missionaries

RICHMOND, Va. — (AP) — The Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention approved the appointment of 12 Texans as missionaries overseas.

They included: The Rev. Stanley Procter Howard, Jr., and Patsy Ruth McGee Howard of Waco, Texas, for Japan.

The Rev. Herman Sandford and Juanita Daddman Sandford of Plainview, Texas, and Wichita, Kansas, for Nigeria, West Africa.

Harvesters Battle Lubbock Tomorrow Night

Guerillas Play Price College Saturday Night

The Pampa Harvesters had another day of light work yesterday as they prepared for the weekend engagement with the Lubbock Westerners at Lubbock Friday night. The game will begin at 8 o'clock.

The list of injuries, on the club, most of them minor, is the main reason for the brief workouts that the Green and Gold have been put through a couple of days this week. Coach Tom Tippy, fearful of further aggravation of these numerous injuries has decided that the safest thing to do is to cut the drills short with no hard scrimmage sessions whatsoever.

Tuesday afternoon was spent in working against Westerner plays and Wednesday was devoted to running through a few special plays that will be worked against the Lubbock team Friday night. A search was again renewed for a punter to replace the injured Jimmy Parker. Latest candidate to try to fill the injured end's shoes is quarterback Carroll Smith.

The Westerners have promised not to let up in their attack on the Harvesters Friday night. Memories of the past couple of years, especially last season's thrilling 26-19 encounter, are all too fresh in the minds of the Lubbock team. This season they will be out for revenge.

Leading that parade will be quarterback and all-star Bobby Brown. Brown is the main cog that makes the Hub City T formation click. He is a terrific ball player; with a wonderful passing arm. It may be that passing attack to which the Harvesters have been susceptible all season, that will cause the Westerners to have a most potent running attack, featuring three exceptionally fast runners, Charley Williams, Malcolm Young and Wayne Stroud. Last weekend was the first time Pampa defense was bothered by speed, though they had run into it several times earlier. But they were unable to cope with the mighty running attack of the Westerners. Whether they can stop this duo of the Westerners remains to be seen.

The Lubbock line will average approximately 185 pounds from end to end, while the backfield will be a bit less, probably around 160. This will be one of the heaviest, fastest and most experienced eleven that the Pampans have met this season. It will also be the stiffest game so far for the Lubbock team, so a good game is in prospect.

Saturday night the Pampa "B" team, the Guerillas, will journey to Amarillo to play the Price College "A" team. The Guerillas are as yet undefeated in three games to date, and this promises to be their toughest game of the season. The game in Amarillo will begin at 8 o'clock and is slated to be played on Butler Field, though knowing Amarillo, it may well be shifted to any other place that they can find to play it on.

Olmo a Hero in Native Puerto Rico

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Brooklyn outfielder Louis Rodriguez Olmo came home today to a hero's welcome.

He is the first Puerto Rican to play in a World Series baseball game.

San Juan government officials, who avidly followed the fortunes of "Dem Bums," proclaimed him an "honor citizen."

Waivers on Heath

BOSTON (AP)—Waivers, for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release, have been asked by the Boston Braves for Jeff Heath, veteran, hard hitting outfielder.

SPORTS

Lefors-Shamrock Battle Is Class A Feature of Week

LEFORS (Special)—The Lefors Pirates will tackle the rough Shamrock Irishmen Friday night at Lefors in the second conference battle for the two clubs. The Irishmen lost to Memphis last weekend, their third defeat of the season. The Pirates meanwhile were defeating Dumas for their fourth straight win. In their victory skin is a 35-0 trouncing of the powerful Memphis club, once rated the strongest Class A team in the area.

Leading the parade for the Pirates will be two terrific backs, Joel Combs and Friday Todd. Combs has accounted for 64 of the Bucs' points this season in three games in which he has played. Aiding these two touch-down twins in the Pirate backfield will be Ray Dickerson and James McIntire. They have been the bruisers that pave the way for the Bucs.

Defensively the standouts for the Lefors team have been big Don Stokes, Ike Doom, Gordon Rutledge and Duane Hankins. They will have the main task of stopping the powerful running Oliver McElmore and the tricky Roger Skaggs who will be aided by Don Lea and Gilbert Strubling in the Shamrock backfield. Defensively for the Irish it will be Dan Glover, strong left end, that will give the Pirates a lot of trouble.

Lefors has rapidly taken over the top spot in the Class A ratings in the state and, barring injuries, should be a dead cinch to take district.

Game-time tomorrow night in Lefors will be 8 o'clock. So, Pampa fans who will be unable to follow the Harvesters, can get a look at a terrific ball club by going to Lefors.

Bad Weekend Due City Conference

(By The Associated Press)—The City Conference appears in for a further decrease this week in its battle with Class AA in Texas Schoolboy football.

To date the City Conference teams have been able to win only 22 games while losing 40 and tying two with Class AA.

Six inter-conference games are scheduled this weekend.

Tonight Sunset of Dallas entertains Weatherford. Tomorrow night Woodrow Wilson of Dallas is host to Orange, Grand Prairie and Crozier Tech of Dallas. Amarillo is to play at Dallas, Highland Park to North Dallas and Baytown to Austin (Houston).

Not a single City Conference team unless it is Sunset is given much chance of winning. This means Orange, Grand Prairie, Amarillo, Highland Park and Baytown are the favorites.

In other headline games of the state, undefeated, untied, unscathed on Galveston entertains Austin and Henderson, which also is unbeaten and untied, goes to Longview.

Galveston is the underdog against Austin and Henderson appears in for plenty of trouble with Longview in District 9 conference game.

Eleven of the 20 City Conference and Class AA districts have conference games in the schedule of an even 50 titles over the state.

The most consecutive losses suffered by the SMU Mustangs was eleven during the 1915 and 1916 seasons, the first two years SMU had an intercollegiate team. The highest score ever made by an SMU football team was 70 against Daniel Baker in 1920.

Rice Reveals Old Strategy

(By The Associated Press)—Coach Jess Neely of Rice says he has disclosed his plans for beating Southern Methodist. Don't get your ear cocked for secrets, though.

The Neely strategy is the same tried by many another coach during the Mustangs' long winning spell—score fast and often.

Texas and Texas A&M dolefully reported some injuries. Baylor, Arkansas and Texas Christian wound up their heavy work for the week in good shape.

Neely, holding the final tough scrimmage for Rice, said he has just about decided to use Tobin Rote, his No. 1 quarterback, quite a bit on defense. If so, Vernon Glass, Rote's understudy, would see more offensive action than usual.

Although Bell had the Mustangs concentrating on offense, he put Doak Walker, Kyle Rote, and Bill Sullivan to work on their punting and place-kicking. SMU has a margin of an extra point, usually kicked by Walker.

Texas Coach Blair Cherry said fullback Ray Bormann has been troubled by a knee he hurt in the Orange Bowl last year.

If none of Arkansas' Razorbacks get banged up the rest of the week, they'll be in their best shape of the season Saturday. Capt. Alvin Duke, who has been used only on defense because of a hurt ankle, ran yesterday at offensive right half for the first time this season. The rest of the Hogs were ready.

Texas A&M's Mickey Spencer, starting left tackle, is a doubtful starter for Saturday's tiff with TCU. He bruised a leg Tuesday, and it kept him sidelined yesterday.

Of TCU's Frogs, only linebacker Orin Browning will miss action. He suffered a broken cheekbone in the Arkansas game Oct. 1.

Charles Defends Title Tomorrow

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—How cocky can you get?

Erzard Charles defends his NBA heavyweight boxing championship against Pat Valentino, the San Francisco Samson, here tomorrow night. But his manager's eyes are set on more distant green (backfields).

Virtually ignoring Valentino—the Latin with the long long looks—Jake Mintz talked today of a title defense for Charles before year-end. And he didn't mean the 15-rounder which may pack 20,000 fans into San Francisco's Cow Palace.

Sure, Ez is a 15 favorite. The odds even might lengthen a bit before the Cincinnati Negro climbs into the ring at 10 p. m. tomorrow (12 midnight CST).

Mintz said he has no specific challenger in mind. He seemed to consider the Valentino fight already won.

Mintz may be cold to Valentino's chances, but San Francisco area fans are steaming up. Several fight followers who originally looked on the scrap as a glorified exhibition now are saying Pat really has some chance.

Three night games are listed for Syracuse's football team this fall. They are home games with Boston University, Lafayette and Temple.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Clarence Runge of New Haven, Conn., a football fan from away back, weighs in with a protest against the two-plateau system on these grounds. "A football player on the defensive plateau has no opportunity whatsoever of advancing the ball unless he is clever and quick enough to get hold of a fumbled ball or an intercepted pass. . . Then on the very next play the guy who is interested in being on the aggressive side is removed so the offensive plateau can continue. . . Runge wants to go back to the system whereby a man removed from a game could not re-enter during the same period. . . That, he says, would develop all-around players."

INCOMPLETE PASS

Cadet-Midshipman Paul Olasky of Kings Point, the Navy's policy dept., both claim it is true. During the year at sea required of the Merchant Marine, Olasky carried a football on his journeys and at each port he hired someone to be the receiver while he practiced passing. In France it was a Marseille dock wallper; in England, a former soccer player. . . In India, not one of the dock workers would accept his money. . . Paul finally sought out the boss stevedore and asked how come. . . "Sorry, young fellow," replied the Indian, "but all my men are Moslems and therefore forbidden to touch pigskin."

Hunters Head After Pheasants

Many local hunters are leaving today and tomorrow for the pheasant hunting season in South Dakota. A goodly number of Pampans and Gray County hunters annually make this trek in search of good eating and hunting pleasure.

Most of the Pampa hunters head for Warner, South Dakota, right in the heart of the pheasant country. Others may be located at Huron and Mitchell.

The season opens Saturday at noon.

Football Tickets Available Here

A number of both adult and students tickets for the Lubbock-Pampa football game at Lubbock Friday night are available here, it was announced today.

They are on sale at the School Business Office, City Hall. Hours are from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. The tickets will be available with Friday noon.

Yankees Refuse to Stand Pat on Club

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees, announcing they won't "stand pat" on their present world championship team for 1950, bought two of the brightest stars in the Pacific Coast League today.

Manager Casey Stengel announced the purchase of Jackie Jensen, outfielder who is a former California football star, and Alfred (Billy) Martin, an infielder. They were bought from the Oakland club, which Stengel managed last year.

No price was divulged, but it's rumored the Yankees shelled out in the neighborhood of $100,000 and five players for the two athletes, who were widely sought after by major league clubs.

"You never sit tight," Casey told newsmen in the Yankees' final news conference of the season yesterday. "You can't afford to stand pat in this league. We're going to try to strengthen our pitching staff, although it looked pretty good in the last week. Sure, we could use a couple of pitchers."

"I'd like to improve my outfield a little, too. We're willing to listen to anybody who has something reasonable to offer."

Jensen, 22, is the former football star at the University of California.

"My scouts tell me that Jensen is the greatest outfield prospect in the minor leagues," said Casey. "He is fast, has tremendous power, and owns the strongest arm in baseball since Bob Meusel."

In 125 games with the Oaks, Jensen batted .261 this season. Included in his 122 hits were 21 doubles, seven triples and nine home runs. He drove in 78 runs.

Jensen is engaged to wed Zoe Ann Olsen, national diving champion.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hesse—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: What was the score of the SMU-Rice game last season?

TOMORROW NIGHT THE HARVESTERS will be in Lubbock to meet the potent Westerners, and to probably get their lumps for the second weekend in a row. Most fans are of the opinion that the Hub City eleven can trim the Harvesters as badly as they might want to. But our personal opinion is that a fighting team like the Green and Gold won't permit any team, no matter how strong, to trample them helplessly.

The Westerners already have racked up four easy victories. They trampled Childress in the opener, 47-0; came back to rout Fort Worth's North Side, 38-0; let Plainview score while beating them 42-6 and then romped over Vernon last week by a score of 21-0. The best game played against the Westerners was by North Side, who held them scoreless the first period and were only trailing by 19 points at half-time. Childress was down 20 points after the second period, Plainview by 22 and Vernon by 35.

Despite the fact that the Westerners are supposed to have about the best Schooboy passer in the state they haven't had to resort to the aerial attack to any great degree. The little use that was made of Bobby Brown's arm was probably to see if the plays would work, not so much for scoring purposes.

The Westerners rolled up 410 yards on the ground against a net of 7 for Childress. They did not attempt a single pass. Against North Side they ran for 277 yards to 48 for the City Conference club. Here they attempted 16 passes, completing 8 for a net gain of 102 yards. They held Plainview to 30 yards on the ground while they were rushing for 246 and passing successfully 9 times for 100 more. Vernon was held to 78 yards on the ground and the Lubbockmen ground out 213 and passed for 130 more.

To show their penetrating powers they have only been forced to punt eight times in the four games, and the first team played less than one period of each tilt. One department that they have been losers in this year is penalties. The Westerners have been set down for penalties 33 times in the four games for a total yardage of 290.

The Hubs pass defense has been pretty good, allowing a third of the attempts to be completed, though intercepting only three. Many of the Lubbock touchdowns have come on long runs, with 80, 85, and 72 yard jaunts being the longest.

Leading this Westerner speed show have been Wayne Stroud, 160-pound left halfback and Charlie Williams, 155-pound right halfback. Filling out the remainder of the Westerner starting backfield is, in addition to the capable Bobby Brown, fullback Malcolm Young, 170 pounds.

The Westerner's forward wall is going to be heavy, the heaviest met this season by the Pampans. The ends will be Garnett Reeves, 175 and B. Wright, 175. The tackles are J. Brock, 210, and D. Ross, a fullback moved to the line, weighing 185. Guards will be F. Gray, 180 and Modral, 235, the only man on the team who wasn't on the club last season that is in the regular starting lineup. The center spot belongs to D. Wenke, 175 pounds.

For the all-important extra points, in some games anyway, they have a reliable toe of Pressley, who has converted 12 of his last 12 attempts.

But, despite all of these terrifying figures, don't sell the Harvesters short. The Westerners haven't come up against a good aggressive team as yet. Pampa will be the best test confronted by the Hub City team, and it could well be a stumbling block. They met Vernon after their spirit was crushed by the 8-7 defeat handed them by the Harvesters. Even Phillips could trim Childress, so they aren't any double-A power. North Side is just another City Conference team, and Plainview has been the doormat for seasons on end. It is a certainty that a Harvesters victory would be a definite upset, but not an impossible one. The Westerners have plenty of self-confidence almost to the point of over-confidence. They are going to be thinking about upsets that Pampa has sprung on them before and could be overcautious. A couple of points in the Pampa defense that let the Wichita Falls speed run over them has been corrected and could help to bottle up the blazing speed in the Lubbock backfield. It stands to be a good contest, no matter how you look at it.

ANSWER: SMU defeated Rice last season by a score of 33-7.

JUST A BABY . . . ELEPHANT

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Green Bay Packers, always partial to gentles of tremendous proportions, have the biggest player in professional football when Howard Scallia reports for practice. Scallia, a recruit tackle from Compton, Calif., Junior College, stands six feet six and one-half inches, weighs 285 pounds.

And there is a report that he is still growing. He's only 21.

Minnesota 20, Ohio State 14—The Buckeyes have to speed to skirt Minnesota's great line and the passing to go over it. . . If they can harmonize this attack it may be a toss up. . .

"Two days previous against the Reds I came in to get the final out. I fanned the batter and the Pirates called me into the office and gave me a bonus check for $20,000. They were very fair to me but the team lacked hustle. . . Very few hitters pull on me and often I'd try to get a player to move over on certain hitters. Many times I couldn't get the fielder to move."

Kilgore Rangers Top SWJC Statistics

(By The Associated Press)
Kilgore's Rangers top the Southwestern Junior College conference football campaign in total offense with 1,458 yards, the statistical bureau of the conference announced today.

San Angelo's Rams are second with 1,011 yards and Tyler is third with 1,391.

Kilgore leads in rushing with 1,351 yards with Lamar (Beaumont) second with 1,097 and San Angelo third with 935.

Tyler tops in passing with 487 yards, San Angelo is second with 466 and Arlington State is third with 370.

In individual departments, Warren Ramsey of Kilgore is the leading ball-carrier with 493 yards on 75 runs. Jim McNeil of Lamar is second with 422 on 62 carries and Ken Bahnsen of Tyler is third with 327 yards on 32 runs.

Dan Page of Tyler sets the pace in passing, completing 24 out of 46 for 507 yards. Richard Harvey of San Angelo is second with 18 completions for 403 yards and Billy Burklow of Arlington State is third with 17 for 237.

In punting Rad Mitchell of Tarleton State is tops with an average of 37.6 yards on 20 kicks. Billy Porter of Tyler is second with 35.0 on 18 and Burklow is third with 29.3 on 17 boots.

Charles McGinty of Tyler leads in pass-receiving, taking 11 for 246 yards. Earl Britte of San Angelo is second with three for 144 and Bob Nichols of Paris is third with six for 83.

These figures are for four games in all instances.

Frogs Out to Snap Lose Jinx

PORT WORTH — (Special) — Seven hundred and twenty-eight days, just three days shy of a full two years — that is a long time!

And the TCU Horned Frogs will be remembering that it has been just that long since they won a home football game when they play host to the Texas A&M Aggies on Saturday afternoon at TCU Stadium here. It was against the Aggies, on Oct. 18, 1947, that the Frogs won their last home game.

Since that time, TCU has dropped five games and tied two in Fort Worth, losing all four home games last fall and having to come from behind to tie Oklahoma A&M in this fall's home opener.

On the basis of the respective records thus far this fall, the Frogs have every right to hope that the Aggies will once again provide the fodder for serving up a victory feast to the home folks. TCU comes into the game with two victories, one tie and one defeat to its credit while Texas A&M has only one victory against three defeats. That is a .625 average against one of .250 in favor of the Frogs.

LSU End Ineligible

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The ineligible jinx has hit Louisiana State. Ace end Ray Bullock was ruled out yesterday on the grounds that he already has played his four years of varsity ball.

"Nepotism" means favoritism to relatives.

Arkansas Ace Is Elusive

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — (AP) — University of Arkansas' sports publicity men are having trouble singling out a football player or two to boom for all-Southwest conference and All-America consideration.

Perhaps one Razorback will stand out above all others after the playing season, but right now too many of them are rated evenly.

Leon (Muscles) Campbell, a fullback who has been a starter for three campaigns and may be better than ever in the T formation, might be the man.

Or, it could be Guard Theon Roberts. This rugged Texarkana boy, a tough cookie in 1946-47, wouldn't have been a member of this year's Arkansas club had not an injury sidelined him last year and prolonged his eligibility. If his early showing is any indication the layoff didn't hurt him a bit.

Billy Hix, one of the South's finest defensive ends in 1948, is looking better on offense and might attain stardom.

One of the two tackles, Senior John Lunney or Sophomore Fred Williams, may overshadow the others.

Then there's Ray Parks, the El Dorado ball-carrying star who did more than was expected of him as a sophomore last fall.

Ross Pritchard, the team's best pass receiver for three years and a good punt returner, is a strong candidate. He's swift and shifty and the T formation will give him a better chance to gain ground rushing than he had from his wingback position in the single wingback formation.

Girls Cage League in For Biggest Season

GATESVILLE — (AP) — The High School Girls Basketball League of Texas is due to have 500 teams this year — the largest in the history of the organization. L. C. McKamie, state director, said today that between 200 and 300 teams already had registered and that he expected almost as many more by Nov. 1, the deadline for receiving entries.

The state tournament will not be held at Hillsboro this year for the first time, McKamie said. Hillsboro had planned to build a large sports arena so it might continue to host the tournament but the plans did not materialize. McKamie said the league hoped to have its own building in the next year or so.

"Where the state tournament will be held this year is a question at this time," McKamie said. "Several towns have invited us."

When pitchers Al Brazle of the Cards and Herman Wehmeier of the Reds met recently both were after their sixth successive pitching victory. Brazle blanked the Reds, 8-0, on six singles.

Leonard, Rockne Man, Gave Villanova Push Up Ladder

By LAWRENCE ROBINSON
NEA Special Correspondent
VILLANOVA, Pa. — (NEA) — Villanova's rise to contendership for Eastern honors, rated ahead of Cornell and a close second to Army in the Lambert Trophy ranking, is the 1949 football success story.

The surprising Wildcats journeyed to College Station to beat Texas A. and M., upset Penn State in the Nittany Lions' air, whipped out to Detroit to swamp Detroit U. They were considered a cinch in their first home start against Saint Mary's.

Jim Leonard, who took over the reins last spring, seems to have worked miracles.

Leonard was a virtually unknown in major college ranks, although he is a product of Notre Dame, and coached the Pittsburgh Steelers for two seasons before the late Dr. Jock Sutherland was hired.

When Villanova engaged him to succeed Jordan Oliver, Leonard was completely out of football and growing asparagus and sweet potatoes on a farm below Camden, N. J., at Mullica Mills.

The story is that Leonard was hired by Villanova from among 57 applicants because the other 56 wrote in. Leonard appeared in person. He is an impressive fellow, standing six-foot-one, weighing 230 pounds, with a calm, quiet air of confidence.

Leonard once played at St. Joseph's Prep in Philly, traveling 30 miles every day from Pedricktown, N. J. His coach there was Ank Scanlon, whom he later assisted at Holy Cross after a three-year term as head coach at St. Francis, Loretto, Pa.

His service with the Steelers (then combined with the Eagles) followed that.

At Notre Dame he played two years at fullback and one year at guard, one of three who have done that for the Irish. Leonard played one year under Knute Rockne, three years under Hunk Anderson at South Bend. Following his graduation in 1933, he played four years at fullback for Bert Bell on the Eagles, and called signals.

Leonard uses the orthodox T, as promulgated by George Halas with the Bears, but once in a while shifts into a winged T, and sometimes the split T, spacing his ends wide. His variations are for specific purposes — the split T to get added power in deep enemy territory, the winged T with set flanker to lure the defense into declaring itself.

Leonard found himself gifted with 19 lettermen, good material and some likely sophomores. He had a lot of morale-building to do, as well as teaching the players his type of T blocks.

His best man, Leonard says, is—Ralph Pasquariello, 230-pound smashing fullback. Ralph has speed, hits a line with the same abandon as Bronco Nagurski.

Villanova has a fine veteran quarterback in Steve Romanik, a big fellow who passes superbly, plus a whipfast junior wingback named John Geppi.

The line is not over-large, with four 185-pounders. It is big in one spot, though, where 260-pound John Sandusky operates at left tackle. John doesn't look footballish, with a big rubber tire around his waist.

But he has amazing speed and agility for a fellow who looks overweight, one of those football rarities like Fats Henry or, more recently, Vern Miller at Harvard.

Max Bishop, U. S. Naval Academy baseball coach since 1938, played in three World Series — 1929, '30 and '31 — with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Wheeler Meets Groom Tomorrow

WHEELER — (Special) — The Wheeler Mustangs will journey to Groom Friday night to test the Tigers in a conference game. The Mustangs and Tigers have both won one game and lost two in conference play but Groom has a slight average over the Mustangs in the scoring list.

J. T. Johnson, a fleet footed back who has been out the last two weeks, will see action Friday night. Wheeler has suffered several injuries this season with Doyle Waets (right guard) last week receiving a cracked hip. He will be laid up for sometime. There are other boys also that have had minor injuries but are back in the lineup.

The probable starters for Wheeler are:

Joe Mitchell, LE; R. Crossland, LT; C. R. Baily, LG; G. Hibbits, C; G. Gains, RG; B. Crossland, RT; E. Hubbard, RE; D. Pendleton, QB; M. Pettit, LH; M. May, RH; G. Parks, FB.

White Deer Bucks to Meet Claude Friday

WHITE DEER — (Special) — The White Deer Bucks, leading District 1-B grid team, will take on the underrated Claude Mustangs at Bucks' Field, Friday night, at 8 o'clock in the Bucks' fourth conference battle.

The Bucks started off their victorious march by slaughtering the Stinnett Rattlers, 68-0; they then proceeded to trample the Wheeler eleven, 40-0. Last week they journeyed to Vega to down the highly rated Longhorns, 33-12.

The Mustangs, on the other hand, fall to have as impressive a record as their opponents. They started off their conference games by losing to the Wheeler squad, 20-12. Last week they again came out second when they bowed to the Canadian Wildcats, 13-0.

The Bucks will be in about as good mental and physical shape as can be expected after a very rough game. They have again lost the services of Wendell Jordan, ground-gaining fullback, who was seriously burned just before the grid season opened and was unable to play in the first two games last Friday night. Jordan is located two vertebrae in his neck and will not be suited out for about two weeks, according to Coach George Watson.

The probable starting lineup will be, for White Deer: Scott and Inel at ends; Smith and Ellis at tackles; Thornburg and Stan at guards; Ingram at center; the backfield will be Harvey, Huasey, Talley and Noble.

The Claude starting team expected to be Bagwell and L. at ends; Blackney and Maple at tackles; Hood and Lambert guards; Hundley the center; Thompson, Hathorn, Welch and Tutherford in the backfield.

STILLWATER — John Voigt, Oklahoma A & M track star who looked promising at halfback last year but was knocked out by an early knee injury, is taking another fling with the gridiron this autumn. The speedy Ball more pentathlon ace and 440 m. looks promising.

Lawmaking Fumble Must Stay on Books

AUSTIN — (P) — A lawmaking fumble by the 51st Legislature must stand on the books, the attorney general ruled.

He said that House Bill 370, giving the Board of Congrol authority to name superintendents of the state schools for the deaf and blind, takes precedence over House Bill 1, transferring management of these and other institutions from the Board of Control to the newly created State Hospitals and Special Schools Board.

House Bill 370 was passed after House Bill 1, said the opinion by Thomas E. Taulbee. HB 370 is specific and clear, and must prevail "as the last expression of legislative will."

Stage Star Lives Part For Picture

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — (P) — My first meeting with Stage Star Marlon Brando was not impressive. He was lying in a veterans' hospital ward, sound asleep.

He awoke and said groggily, "I'll brush my teeth and get some coffee." He crawled out of bed and lowered himself by his arms into a wheelchair.

The 25-year-old sensation of "A Streetcar Named Desire" is living with paraplegics (men with the lower part of their bodies paralyzed) at Birmingham Hospital. He is preparing to portray a wounded veteran in a film called "The Men."

"You can't understand what it's like to be a paraplegic unless you have lived as one," said the actor as he was wheeled into the hospital refreshment room for coffee.

"For instance, if you or I drop a pack of cigarettes, it's a simple matter to pick them up. It isn't to a paraplegic."

Nabbing Brando for the film was a catch for Producer Stanley Kramer. Movie offers by the dozen have been dangled before the young actor ever since Broadway critics first caught "Streetcar" and lauded his work.

"The film offers I get are from major studios," explained Omaha-born Brando. "I would never sign with one of them. They dress you up in a tuxedo and tell you to go to this party and do that."

"I would end up like — (he named a veteran character actor) waiting by the phone until the studio calls up and says I get a part playing a cannibal in a Johnny Weissmuller picture."

"That's not for me; I value my independence too much."

He signed for "The Men" because he was impressed with Kramer's two hits, "Champion" and "Home of the Brave." But he thinks little of the general run of Hollywood product.

Brando is husky, with a sharp face that becomes good-looking as you watch him. He could probably become a movie star if he wanted to. But he appears to be unwilling to be tied down to the bother that film fame brings.

After two years in "Streetcar"

(too long," says he), he burned around France until his money ran out. "It was a lot of fun until the last, when I was so broke," he remarked.

"I keep thinking I see elephants!"

Gleaming and glittering with gold and wondrous surprises for young and old, the Great Rogers Bros. Three Ring Circus will exhibit clean and wholesome entertainment in the platform upon which these famous brothers stand. Indeed they have set a pace to be found with no other circus in America.

A great Five-Continent Menagerie; speed tournaments, and hippodrome contents; and a children's trained animal circus are among the great features this season.

More than 1,000 men, women, elephants, camels, yaks and other beasts of the forest, and jungle will be seen in the gloriously entralling and stupendous spectacle opening the big show.

Rogers Bros. Circus, the world's newest big show and the world's finest circus is one of the amazing and spectacular circuses of modern times. With a promise of everything new—new tents, new seats, and everything as epic and span as a freshly minted coin, the big show is looked to with longing by the children and grown-ups.

The eventful day that delights, entertains, and instructs, refreshes and relieves from the tedium of toil.

Th one best holiday down with the Great Rogers Bros. Circus day. One of the pleasing features of the Rogers Bros. Three-Ring Circus is the giant double five continent menagerie.

From the forest and jungle and desert fastness will be seen specimens of wild animals to thrill and amaze. A giant "Gnu" or horned horse, newly imported from Northern Asia will be on exhibition. Lions, tigers, bears, camels, dromedaries and scores of monkeys will be seen.

One of the youngest and smallest elephants in captivity will be on display. The little elephant, called Nemo, was imported directly to the United States from Siam early in January. Three years of age and standing a few feet in height, the little elephant creates interest for the children.

Doors to the menagerie of the Rogers Bros. Circus will open at 1 & 7 P.M.

The performances will begin at 2 & 8 P.M.

GET READY

HOLD YOUR HORSE!

The circus is coming. Not one of your ordinary circuses but the gigantic three ring affair bearing the magic gonfalon of Rogers Bros. will exhibit. 150 Circus artists will be seen in this, the world's newest big show. More than 200 animals will be on display in the giant double menagerie. Champion acrobats, aerialists, equilibrists, and a congress of clowns will be seen. Musicians along will dispense circus day melodies.

Safe Habits Can Prevent Liquid Fires

Flammable liquids are a fire hazard in every home in which they are stored, safety officials report. When such liquids are misused and improperly stored, their chances of causing a destructive home fire are increased a thousand-fold, it is pointed out.

Most common among the care-less uses of flammable liquids, such as benzene and naphtha, is their use for home dry cleaning. Having low ignition points, these fluids may be ignited by any spark within a radius of 200 feet from where they are being used.

Carbon tetrachloride and fire-proof commercial cleansers are the only liquids recommended for home use. A common, and safe, practice is to use them for spot removal and to send clothes needing thorough cleanings to dry cleaning establishments.

Another dangerous use of flammable liquids is for starting fires in furnaces and stoves. They ignite so rapidly that their flames often leap out and catch the hair or clothing of persons foolish enough to misuse them in this way.

To reduce the menace of flammable liquids, safety officials recommend keeping several galvanized steel pails filled with sand near all areas in which flammable liquids are stored. These sturdy pails are rust-resistant, so they may be kept outside without damage. Sand suffocates a liquid fire; water only spreads it.

Housing Projects Upset Living Pattern

NEW YORK — (AP) — Within a few years it is expected that one out of every 25 residents of New York City will be living in a housing project.

The new apartment projects, besides changing the face of Manhattan by removing many of the old tenements, also is upsetting an old pattern whereby neighborhoods were dominated by people of similar national backgrounds.

Lens Artist
Pics Man at Height of Life

NEW YORK — (AP) — Winston Churchill once grumbled to Yousuf Karsh, "you can even make a roaring lion stand still to be photographed."

It was a reluctant tribute to a sensitive young Armenian who has become one of the greatest lens artists of our time. He has made everybody from Joan Crawford to Pope Pius "look at the birds."

And after 15 years of stalking celebrities with his camera, Karsh has a matchless gallery of portraits.

But it has taken considerable doing to get them, for famous people often are more difficult to photograph than babies.

Churchill was a case in point. Karsh ambushed him in Ottawa in the House of Commons just after Winston had made a stirring wartime address. Still flushed from his speech, the premier didn't want his picture taken. Reluctantly he paused before the camera and lit a long cigar.

When Karsh held out an ash-tray, Churchill only clamped his jaw more firmly on his stogie. Karsh impulsively reached out, murmured "forgive me, '84," and plucked the cigar from the lips of the astounded statesman. Then he stepped back and clicked his camera on Churchill — a growling lion at bay.

The result was an unforgettable portrait. It caught the spirit of the besieged Britain in one indomitable face.

Karsh doesn't try to catch his subjects in odd poses. "Why should I pick on a man when his fork's in his mouth?" he said.

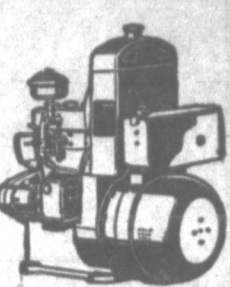

"When I make a picture, I try to make it an embodiment of the man at the height of his life. I try to bring out the humanity in him, the judicious blending of the good and bad. And I'm not so interested in whether people like their pictures as in whether people who know them do."

Karsh says the most interesting man he ever photographed was Bernard Shaw. Shaw began his interview by remarking: "What are you — Armenian?" That's good. I have many good Armenian friends. But you know, of course, the only way to keep Armenians healthy and strong is to exterminate them once in a while."

It's Not What It Seems To Be!

Dear Customer:

You might get more than one statement for electric service this month from the Southwestern Public Service Company, but they are not trying to make you pay twice for the same period of service. The company is introducing a new post card type statement this month, and at the same time changing the meter reading and billing dates for this area.

In the past, everyone has received their statement on the same date. This system has proved impractical with the rapid growth of this area, and under the new system, the territory served by the local office has been divided into districts, each with a separate billing and due date. With the change some customers will be billed for two periods during this month, but the bills will not be duplicates.

After the changeover has been made this month, billing will return to the normal practice of one statement each month. The new system is designed to provide more convenience for customers, because having the due dates for the various districts spread throughout the month will insure quicker service when you call at the local office to make payment.

Customers who do not clearly understand the new billing policy are invited to visit the local office of the Southwestern Public Service Company if they desire a full explanation.

Yours very truly,

Reddy Kilowatt

Shut-in Boys in Reno Have Their Own Boy Scout Troop

GOOD SCOUT: Bedridden George Houx of Reno, Nev., who lost his right arm in an accident, belongs to Scout Tribe 110, exclusively for shut-ins. Regular Scout Don Pettyerow is about to give George a lesson in left-handed writing. Cards on the wall were sent by well-wishers.

RENO, Nev. — (NEA) — Paralyzed and crippled boys can now share with healthy youngsters the excitement of being Boy Scouts.

Scout Tribe 110, of Reno, the only unit of its kind in the world, is made up entirely of boys who can't take part in normal activities. It's a troop for shut-ins.

Boys like George Houx, who lost his right arm in an accident, and the Forbush twins, Ronald and Donald, who have had rheumatic fever, are typical members. George is being taught to write with his left hand, and the twins are learning handicrafts they can follow without exertion. All activities of the unit are checked with individual family doctors for approval.

Men and women counselors have been trained by the area council and visit each of the boys once a week.

Normal scouting rules have been modified so that members can obtain regular awards. After a monthly court of honor, a counselor visits each boy who has earned an award and presents it to him in his home or hospital room.

Special permission from Scout headquarters had to be obtained for the unit. Its charter permits boys who recover and go on to normal scouting to retain their awards.

Like the other Scouts, they make radio sets, model airplanes, scrap books, and stamp collections. And they learn such scouting stand-bys as tying knots and the Morse code.

Presbyterians Plan to Buy Camp

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — Clergy and lay leaders of the Presbyterian Synod of Texas have launched a drive for $750,000 to complete the purchase and improvement of a ranch for summer camps.

The ranch is located at Hunt, Texas, a summer resort community 25 miles north of Kerrville.

A drive to complete purchase of the property from the estate of the late Dan Moran has been started.

The synod approved purchase of the ranch last year at $500,000 and a $75,000 down payment was made.

Nehru's Visit Has Lasting Importance

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

A dozen years from now we are likely to be reminding ourselves that the arrival Tuesday of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru on his first trip to this country was a far-reaching event.

The Prime Minister of India is one of the outstanding leaders of our time. As head of this great new nation, with its population of more than 300 million, Nehru already is demonstrating a leadership which is making itself felt throughout Asia. His influence on world unity will be vast.

Therefore Nehru's visit to Washington, where he was entertained by the President, becomes a matter of moment. For upon the impressions which this brilliant and highly sensitive guest forms may well depend future relations between the United States and an India which is going to play a dominant part in the development of the Orient.

Nehru, who will be 60 on the 14th of next month, not only was born into a family of great wealth but he is a Kashmiri Brahmin — the highest aristocracy of all India. He was educated in England.

At the outset he showed little interest in the independence movement, but he soon joined and thereafter devoted his whole life to the ideal. He became one of the most devoted disciples of Mohandas K. Gandhi and followed the saintly little Mahatma faithfully in the drive for Indian independence until the latter's assassination on Jan. 30, 1948.

The disciple, like the master, became a plague to the British and he was several times in prison serving all told some 13 years. Like Gandhi, Nehru toured the highways and byways of India to preach independence to the people until he became an object of hero worship among the masses.

So it was natural that Gandhi should have designated Nehru as his "political heir" and that the disciple should become the first Prime Minister of the Dominion of India when Britain granted independence.

Nehru is an internationalist and a Socialist and is a bitter opponent of dictatorship. He is, however, what might be described as a middle-of-the-road Socialist. He believes in what he calls a "mixed economy" in which the state assumes management of key industries but still allows plenty of chance for private enterprise to operate.

Suspenders Given As Slimming Aid

DENVER — (AP) — Want to reduce your waistline without dieting, folks?

Wear suspenders, says an expert attending the American Dietetic Association. The slim, trim advisor who doesn't want to be named said the secret is this:

Believing men unconsciously expand their stomachs to keep their trousers from slipping.

He said 26 pot bellied men switched to braces and reduced their waistlines an average of one and five-eighths inches.

Delicate Question Is Before Court

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — The court is asked to decide a delicate question of whether love-making or merely bundling is involved in the divorce suit of Fireman Frederick Naranjo, 34, against his wife, Terry, 24.

Naranjo testified that he found his wife and his "best friend" and fellow fireman, Paul Fox, 30, in bed naked. There were blankets between them, however. The judge called for more testimony.

Lost 56 Pounds

Here is what Mrs. L. J. Bryant, P. O. Box 66, Whitewright, Texas, wrote us: "I want to tell you what Barcinate has done for me. I weighed 268 pounds when I started taking it. I now weigh 212. I have taken my dress size down from size 50 to 44 and never felt better in my life and everybody tells me how much nicer I look than I did. I am still taking Barcinate as I want to get my weight down to 160 or 150 pounds."
