Public Hearing Set
On School Budget

Public hearing on the Colorado Independent School budget for the coming fiscal year will be held all day Wednesday in the offices of Superintendent Frank W. Wilson.

Total expenditures listed in the tentative budget hit the new high figure of $908,002. That figure includes $74,478 for "debt service," or retiring of school bonds.

Total estimate set aside for maintenance and operation of schools is $733,524. Of that amount the biggest share will go for "instructional services," a budget term for teachers' salaries which will cost the school district $518,664 during the 1963-64 fiscal year.

Administrative services figure is $36,785. Of that amount $27,885 will go for salaries of the system-wide administrative staff — school tax office personnel and the school superintendent. Contracted services will require another $3,500. Contracted services are, literally, Prichard-Abbott tax evaluation services employed by the school.

Ear-marked "delinquent taxes," under the general heading of Administrative Services is $1,200. That figure is an estimate to be paid on a present basis to the attorney who acts as collector for delinquent school taxes.

The classification listed as "Instruction," with the $518, 644 total of estimated expenditure, had sub-heads listing classroom teachers salaries at $490,622. Supervisor-counselor receives a salary of $7,200. Principals at senior and junior high schools total (together) $15,953.

Principals of other schools (elementary and secondary) receive additional pay for their administrative duties, along with their regular scaled teachers salaries.

Other categories which will be open for citizens' study on the open hearing school budget day, Wednesday, are listed as attendance service, $7,127 (salary for visiting teacher); health services (school nurse salary, $5,234; transportation/operation of 14 school buses) is estimated at $43,035; operation of school plants, $47,750.

Maintenance of school plants is set in the budget at $17,500 — for repair and upkeep on school buildings. Fixed charges — special security, insurance on properties etc., amounts to $24,300.

Listed at $5,674 is "community services," budget term for the LVN training school for nurses, sponsored jointly by the school and Root Memorial Hospital. All the LVN expenditure is refundable from Five raids netted the law teams five arrests and six charges of the sale of beer in a dry area.

Armed with search warrants sworn to by three Texas State Liquor Control officers from Big Spring, the raiding party included City Police force headed by Chief Leon Yeager, Sheriff Lewis Claxton and Deputies Bob McGuire and Roy Richards, Texas Highway Patrolmen Buddy Hertenberger and Don Roberts.

Arrests and complaints filed were the result of undercover work done by a Liquor Control officer from Big Spring, officers here said. Charged with the sale of beer at the VFW Club was G. H. Sargent, employed manager who pleaded not guilty in County Court late Friday afternoon. Judge Elmer Martin set Sargent's bond at $500.

"Some 40-odd cases of beer were confiscated on VFW premises," said County Attorney Frank Ginzle Saturday morning.

The local VFW organization was in trouble last year with the VFW district commander for certain operational procedures at the post hall and had its charter temporarily suspended.

In County Court Saturday morning Judge Martin heard July show no fatal accidents this year to date. One person died in a rural traffic accident in the month of July.

"I was glad when they said unto me, LET US GO INTO THE HOUSE OF THE LORD"

"... in thy presence is fulness of joy ..."

Open up your heart, sing praises joyfully unto the Lord. The feeling of being and sharing with others in worship is at its highest in the Lord's house. Hear a message from God's dedicated servant. Know the satisfaction of praying to the Lord with others. Attend church regularly and ... "Praise the Lord: for the Lord is good: sing praises unto His name; for it is pleasant."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

CONVERSATION CORNER

PREPOSITIONS, everybody knows, are little things which you do not end a sentence with.

Prepositions are also, all good journalists believe, little "help out" words headlines are not supposed to end in.

Prepositions are what language, written or spoken, uses to hang all kinds of meanings on.

Prepositions help listeners and readers to know where they are at.

THING about all little "help out" words—prepositions, adverbs and conjunctions—is their intriguing and funny little way of changing the meaning of.

Take the handy little word but. You can add but to the finest praise and switch sides, completely, if that is what you're striving for.

But is used to preface half the dirty digs in this world of woe—when it's tacked on after a compliment is over.

MOST women adore the little word but. It's a very useful word to use to disguise their animosity under.

"I like Mrs. Next Door Neighbor," they'll say, "but—" and all that really counts is what follows after. What comes after the but is the true opinion you can bet your life upon.

MEN usually prefer to live by the little word if. One man, a Mr. Kipling, even wrote a whole poem kids used to recite, and called it "If."

Men like to protect themselves and be prepared for whatever comes up.

"We'll go to the mountains this summer if—" they'll say, and then will come all the possibilities they can think of. They'll tack on weather, finances, how tired they might get between now and then. It's a kind of cover up.

ALL in all dreamers, either sex and any age—like best of all the little word when.

You can dream your way to some very lovely states when you put the accent on when.

You can dream your way to some very lovely states when you put the accent on when.

"WHEN" in the course of human events... it becomes necessary to save the human heart with dreams, most of those dreams begin with when.

When can prop the door to a whole new world open. When you get rich... when you fall in love... when your dream boat comes home... when you finally get to take that sentimental journey... when vacation comes around... when you work your way out of debt... when you retire... when you get what you're hoping for.

No matter how frustratin' a day has been A dreamer can mend it with thinking on when.

WHEN the postman came one day this week he brought a letter from our Mary Broadbuss of Berkeley, California. Found it so extra special thought we'd share excerpts with you:

"Beauteous Katherine Slagel Shelton of Livermore, Calif., has been my overnight guest a couple of times, recently," Mary writes, "while her husband (nuclear physicist, I think) was in Oakland Kaiser Hospital for surgery."

"BESIDES being a champion homemaker—with a charming house and two handsome, well-mannered sons to prove it—Katherine has been carrying a full load of civic responsibility," Mary's letter goes on to say, "and has even taken herself a part time glamor job for pay!"

"Early this week she was serving birthday cake, made by Emily Bary's recipe, in her husband's hospital room. Her husband was beaming satisfaction and rewarding her with good reports from his doctors."

""SAW Susan Rhode," the letter continues. "She was peering into a record shop window as I whisked down Telegraph Ave., the other day... Susan looked lovely and summer school at Cal is no picnic!"

"Speaking of picnics, the Bill Wallaces and I will climb Mt. Diablo, Sunday, Barring rain, of course. Bill is son of Anna Bird Harness Wallace (namesake of aunts Mrs. Anna Simon and Mrs. Royal Smith) and dates ancestry in C-City to early, early pioneer days."

"His wife Tommy Kaye is a living doll and they are here for a full year with Bill's Navy assignment."

""CHRISTMAS is circled in red and glitter on my calendar," Mary's missive ends.

"I intend to vacation in Colorado City, visit nineteen hours a day, play bridge 'til midnight every night and read all the neighbors who-dun-its. Sounds wonderful doesn't it?"

It does. It really does. And in case you don't know it, Christmas is just about 18 weeks away.

LOCAL SCENE lately included Alice Berman, wife of His Honor the Mayor Hy Berman. She was saying that her nephew Harry Kaplan from New York City was here visiting three days. He also spent some time as guest of his cousin Harold Berman in Big D.

Had the fun of seeing Mrs. Sam Geisenberger (nee Louise Wuljen) and of meeting her tall, dark and handsome son Bunny, too. They were here from Natchez, Miss. for a week's stay with her papa Bert Wuljen.

BRIEF encounters brought little conversations with Eva Merritt (Mrs. D. M. Jake) getting ready to entertain both the Merritt-daughters... Mrs. A. C. Benson, mother of TESCO's new manager Don.

In for an office visit was a longtime favorite friend Dr. Ivan Barber Jr. of Hitchcock where he is partner in a medical clinic. Ivan and his cousin Creighton White, attorney who lives now in Odessa, were two of the tribe of jitter-buggers who used to cut dashing figures at certain home dances for high school youngsters here.

COMPANY from Baytown up at the home of Rochelle and Arnel B. Smith, recently, were her sister Mrs. Gerald Hays, husband Gerald, and children Shelley, Susan and Gerry.

Familiar faces, here and there, belonged to nice young Austin McCloud, Fred Marberry, Eddie Braswell, Buddy Logsdon, Pretty Laureen Moser and her pretty mama Mrs. Virgil Moser... Jack Cox... Henry Lewis... and Midge Crabtree (Mrs. Woodie.)

TUESDAY EVENING

B&PW Hears School History Told By Mrs. Witt Hines

History of Mitchell County Education was the program topic given by Mrs. Witt Hines at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Hostesses for the meeting in Civic House were Miss Nelda Garrett, Mrs. Margaret Oyster and Mrs. Thelma Tidwell.

Invocation was given by Miss Garrett, President Mrs. Chester Hart presided.

Mrs. Hines began her discussion by telling of the days of Indian raids in Mitchell County, when bands of Comanche, Kiowa, Lipah and Apache Indians attacked the settlements of buffalo hunters.

"In 1877 the first cow camp was at China Grove and R. S. McClintock built the first frontier store of willow poles covered with buffalo hides with the hair to the outside.

"In anticipation of the railroad coming more cattlemen moved in and merchants and traders began to open for business in 'dog-out'. By April of 1881 there was a tent city of two or three hundred inhabitants and a weekly newspaper and the settlement was moved to Colorado City," Mrs. Hines told club members.

Mrs. Hines told how Mitchell County came into being on January 10, 1881. An election was held by special permission of the legislature, choosing the tent town of Colorado as county seat. Other election results named former Texas Ranger R. C. (Dick) Ware, first sheriff, and A. M. Dunn, the county's first treasurer.

Severe droughts of several years standing brought financial ruin to the cattle business before 1900, when the farmers came to Mitchell County.

"In the early 1920's oil was discovered; thus followed production, the Col-Tex Refinery and many petroleum products.

"Parallel with the building of homes and business comes the organization, establishment and building of schools," Mrs. Hines said.

She told of the opening of the first school in September 1881 in a "dog-out". The first teacher was Rev. O. Rogers, Presbyterian minister, who arrived with his family from Mississippi by covered wagon. He had 12 to 15 students in his school.

"In 1884 a new 4 room brick building was erected on the corner of East Fifth St. with three teachers employed. From this school the late Mrs. Robert Terrell graduated in 1886 as the only member in her class," Mrs. Hines reported.

She discussed the expansion of the school system with the addition of the Southside School in 1882, where seven grades were taught. The school building was used by churches of different denominations as a meeting place. Each church took its turn meeting in rotation, until church buildings were constructed.

Telling of the first step toward county-wide education, Mrs. Hines said that in August, 1884, Commissioner's Court ordered division of the county into two districts. Number One District was comprised of Mitchell County East of the Colorado River. Number Two took in all Western Mitchell County from the river

She told of the subdivision of these districts until in August 1923 there were twenty-four common school districts in the county.

Transfer of these 24 districts into three independent districts was begun in 1935 and completed in 1949. Today there are four high schools in the county, Lorraine Westbrook, Wallace and Colorado City High.

Members present for the meeting and program were: Mrs. Arnel Smith, Annie Dixon, Roxie Witten, P. G.

Farmer Donates Melons to Hospital

Mitchell County farmer Dave Womack recently donated a load of watermelons to the Big Spring State Hospital as refreshments for patients at a watermelon party, a letter from the hospital revealed this week.

An invitation to the party was also included as part of the letter from Preston Harrison, Superintendent.

state funds, and does not therefore, cost the local school system anything in the final analysis.

Student body activities which covers all extra-curricular activities - are included in the school budget at a $20,250 estimate. Capital outlay (permanent additions to school property) totals $7,000.

School taxes here, collected from the entire Colorado Independent District, are estimated as "local revenue" and set at a total of $370,785. That figure was based upon the probable collection of 96.5 percent of school taxes due.

School tax rates here are $1.30 per $100 evaluation. Of each $1.50 collected, $1.19 goes for operation of Colorado Independent Schools. 31 cents goes for the bonded indebtedness.

Revenue expected from state funds - based, always on daily attendance - is estimated in the new budget at $412,023. Revenue from the Silver Peak Peak District (for transferred high school pupils) is $5,118. County revenue amounts to $435.

Total expected revenue figure is $788,361. Two bank balances on hand, however, are added in the budget to the "Grand Total Receipts" to bring total receipts to $878,469. Cash on hand in the bond account for 1961-62 amounts to $35,108. Balance still in the operational account is $35,000.

Bond account, with the $25,108 balance plus expected revenue from district school taxes should be $110,996, the budget estimates.

The 1963-64 budget tops last year's school budget by about $30,000. Budget for the fiscal year which ends Aug. 31 was $777,872 for the 1962-63 fiscal year.

Approximately $17,000 of the increase will go into teachers' salaries for increments - more pay for more experience and higher salary for higher education.

All Texas teachers are paid minimum and maximum salaries based upon the two factors - experience and educational training.

county committee are the farmers' local contact for business connected with participation in the various farm-action programs.

These county committees report to a State committee composed of from 3 to 5 farmers members appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture to see that the various programs are administered properly and effectively within the area.

Through the years, the duties of the farmer-committees have been many and varied. In wartime, the committees headed up the local production goals program, appointed and worked with farm machinery training committees, and secured supplies and equipment. It was necessary to have rationing boards, recommended on-farm construction involving the use of critical materials, appointed farm trade association committees which help farmers obtain transportation facilities, and performed many other important tasks.

In peacetime they have administered the Agricultural Conservation Program, and farmers who are participating in the election.

The ASC community, nominated for Mitchell County will be elected by ballots to be mailed August 30. Ballots must be returned in person to the ASCS office by 5:00 p. m. September 12, or post marked not later than that date. All farmers who are participating in the election.

AT VALLEY FAIR LODGE

Sunshine Specialists Cheer Senior Citizens

BY DORIS ANN ALLEN
Record Staff Writer

Specialists in sunshine this summer at Root Valley Fair Lodge came in the persons of two groups of young girls.

Candy Strippers and Blue Birds brought many sunbeams into the lives of the senior citizens living at the lodge. The girls of the Candy Strippers are Homemaking students at Colorado High School and Junior High School. Blue Birds are members of the American Junior Red Cross and students at D. W. Wallace School.

Uniforms worn by Candy Strippers are crisp pinpoints of red and white stripes with white mousies. Blue Birds are attired in blue and white striped pinpoints, white mousies and jaunty striped caps, as mused like a nurse, with the emblem of the American Jr. Red Cross in the center. With their distinctive uniforms, both groups were daily pushing wheel chairs, arranging flowers, writing letters and just talking. Residents were entertained by the reading of many a book during the summer. Games of dominoes and checkers were played by the hours. Women guests were assisted by the young helpers to comb and brush their hair.

The lodge's senior citizens were happy to have some of the younger generation around, it was reported by Mrs. Hardee, morning supervisor at Root Valley Fair.

The nurses at the lodge also benefitted from the girls' help. Errands were taken care of by the Candy Strippers and Blue Birds to allow the nurses more time for their regular duties.

Participating in the program from Colorado High School's Homemaking Department, under the supervision of Mrs. Jay Craddock, teacher, were: Leeann Moore, Mary Ann Lipps, Brenda Phillips, Danna Hammans, Cathy Hill, Pamela Pratt, Judy Wood, Judy Carter, Lynn Gray, Desie Lynch.

Pam Roberts from the local high school did her work in the Cogdell Memorial Hospital, Snyder, while living with her grandparents this summer.

Mrs. Dorothy Morrison's Junior High girls who assisted at the lodge were: Gloria Merket, Dana Derogibus, Dolores Holman, Ellen Loftis, Ann Palmer and Sandra Sweatt.

Blue Birds, sponsored by Mrs. Bonnie Burt of the American Red Cross and Mrs. W. D. Harris, homemaking teacher at Wallace School were: Doris Bender, Cheryl Harris, Billie J. Bender, Sandra Bracy, Joyce Lewey and Evelyn Biggers.

Two Junior High girls who worked as Candy Strippers at Root Valley Fair Lodge this summer spread a bed with clean linen. Shown slipping a pillow into a fresh case is Gloria Merket.
