Hospital approved for programs

By Ray Mayo
Editor

Root Memorial Hospital Administrator Ray Mason told Mitchell Hospital District Board of Directors during its regular meeting Tuesday night that the hospital has been licensed and certified for home health care and for swingbed.

Mason said that Medicare conducted a survey on the home health care program last Thursday and found no deficiencies.

Mason further explained that provider numbers have not been received for the two programs and that the hospital can't bill until the provider numbers are received which may take up to three months.

He said that the home health care has had four patients and there is a waiting list of four to five more. There have been three swingbed patients with the north wing of the hospital being utilized for swingbed patients.

"The home health care and swingbed programs are offering a service to the people of this county that was much needed," said Mason.

In other business, the board heard financial and statistical reports on the hospital and Root Valley Fair Lodge as presented by Richard Murphy, assistant hospital administrator.

Murphy noted that for September, the hospital had total net operating revenues of $149,753.10 and total operating expenses of $301,242.32 with a total net loss of $165,033.40.

Murphy noted that the fiscal year ended September 30 and operating revenues for the year were $832,835 below budget and $1,451,683 below last year. He said that admissions finished the year 789 below that projected and patient days were 4,498 below target. The hospital had an average of 12.7 patients per day.

Hospital operating expenses completed the year $185,481 below budget, said Murphy and $679,401 below last year. Labor was $120,400 under budget, supplies $129,610 under budget with other expenses $64,529 over budget.

Murphy said the average cost of a patient day was $642.03 which was $296.15 over budget and $198.52 over last year.

He said the hospital had an operating loss of $1,396,064 for the year.

In other business, the board: -approved the medical staff as required at the beginning of each fiscal year;

-approved the utilization review plan;

-approved the bylaws, rules and regulations of the medical staff and hospital district;

-approved Borden and Fisher counties for home health care service;

-agreed to renew the hospital's contract with Northwestern National Life for hospital health and life insurance;

-approved additional malpractice insurance for nuclear medicine department personnel;

-agreed to pay Texas Hospital Association $3,900 to conduct an operational analysis.

Auction adds $2,600 to pool, park fund

The Pool and Park Fund for Ruddleick Park was boosted by $2,600 Saturday, the proceeds from a benefit auction for the park sponsored by Homestate Savings.

The auction, conducted by Doyle Mitchell at the Auction Gallery, included items donated by local citizens and merchants.

"We really had a good crowd," commented Gay Houston, chairman of the finance committee of the Park Board. "We had everything in the world to sell from a camper shell to jewelry."

So far, $72,836 has been raised toward the $125,000 goal, said Mrs. Houston.

The Park Board is hoping to raise $125,000 to match a grant from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission with which to build a new swimming pool and make other improvements to Ruddleick Park. Donations to the Pool and Park Fund may be made at any financial institution in the county.

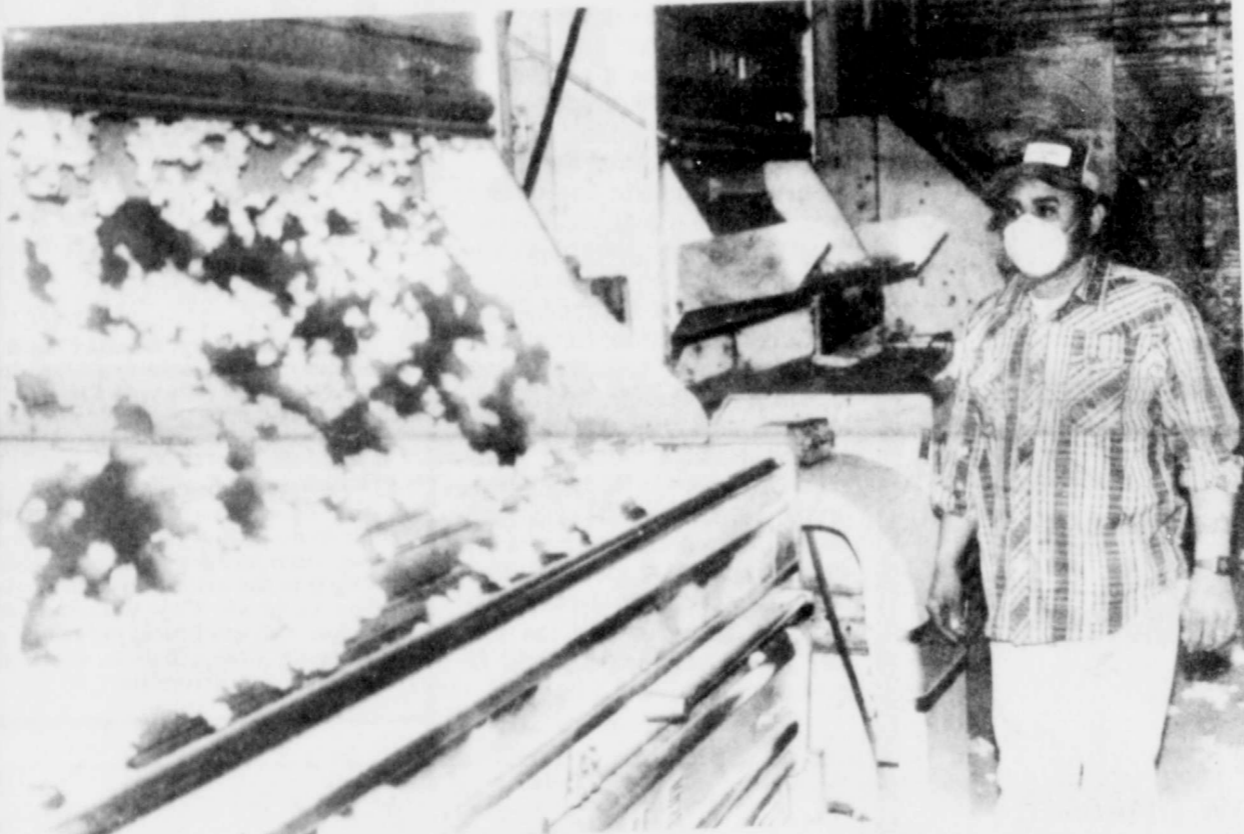

A dance to benefit the fund is scheduled on Friday, November 15 at the Civic Center from 8 p.m. until midnight.

Music for the dance will be provided by the Jody Nix Band.

Tickets are $10 each and may be purchased from any of the host couples—Tom and Kit Lovell; Carroll and Barbara Gray; Travis and Lucy Turner; A. W. and Gene Rowe; Susan and Woody Anderson; Max and Carolyn Shaw; Paul and Dortha Hunter; Robert and Anne Alford; Susan Scott and Charles McCarley; Sheila and Earl Plagents; Bill and Gloria Erwin; Cecil and Janice Oursbourn; Corky and Gay Houston; Roy and Joan Beach; Johnny and Pat Shackelford; and Oscar and Sara Ortiz.

Tickets will not be sold at the door, said Mrs. Beach.

The host couples will pay for all the expenses, with proceeds from the ticket sales going to the park fund.

By Ray Mayo

The Colorado City Council, during a special called meeting Tuesday afternoon, approved a master plan for Ruddleick Park to be presented to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission.

Woody Anderson, chairman of the Park Board, said the state approval is needed before any site work can begin at the park.

The city has received a $125,000 matching grant from the state with which to build a new swimming pool and to make other improvements to the park.

The Park Board approved the master plan during a meeting prior to the council meeting.

A two-year-old boy was injured Saturday when a car rolled over him while the youngster was playing in the parking lot of the Whiteway Motel, 741 East Second.

Colorado City Police Chief Bobby Sparks said that the child, James Scott Hitchcock, was playing behind a parked car at the motel and his three-year-old brother was playing inside the car.

"Apparently, the three year old was in the car and knocked it out of gear, causing it to roll over the two year old," said Sparks.

Study help to be focal in series

Parents helping their school children learn will be the subject of a series of articles starting in Sunday's RECORD and appearing weekly for the next 16 weeks.

Entitled "Helping Your Child," the series was provided by the Colorado Independent School District and contains material from the National Institute of Education and the American Association of School Administrators.

"We're interested in getting parents involved in helping their kids learn," said Dr. Walter Bingham, assistant superintendent. "This series of articles will give the parents some ways to help their children do that."

The series will be divided into five different areas with 23 parts and will run for 17 consecutive Sundays.

"Helping Your Child Do Better in School" will be divided in to four parts - paying attention, keeping interested, remembering and studying.

"Help Your Child Learn to Write Well" contains three parts "writing is..." "things to know" and "pointers for parents."

"Help Your Child Learn Math" contains six parts - "it comes naturally!", "essentials," "counting," "estimating and measuring," "correcting mistakes" and "do's and don'ts."

"Homework: Helping Students Achieve" will be presented in four parts - "why do schools assign homework?", "homework hints," "how to take notes" and "a word to parents."

"Help Your Child Improve in Test Taking" contains five parts "why test?," "ask the school," "avoid test anxiety," "do's and don'ts" and "after the test."

Anderson wins picking contest

Randy Anderson was the winner in the last week's Jackpot Football contest sponsored by the Colorado City RECORD and participating merchants.

Anderson, a repeat winner, earns $25 for his football picking ability after missing five of the 26 games.

Second place was a tie between Don Hardegree, Eldon Harris, Mickey Rundell and Paula Martin who each missed six games.

The entry blank for this week's contest can be found elsewhere in today's RECORD.

VICE squad needed

The Colorado Independent School District is again soliciting members for its VICE Squad, according to Dr. Walter Bingham, assistant superintendent.

VICE stands for Volunteers in Colorado Education and is designed to involve parents with the local educational program. "We would like for parents who are interested in the volunteer program to give us a call and sign up as teacher aides, clerical helpers or readers," said Bingham.

This is the second year for the program. There were 38 volunteers last year.

If interested in joining or for more information, contact Bingham at 728-3721 or program coordinator Brenda Kelley at 728-3580.

tural firm of Tittle, Luther and Loving of Abilene said the plan calls for the swimming pool to be basically in the same location as it is now. There will be a wading pool for toddlers. A new entrance will be constructed on the north side of the pool utilizing the existing bath house. The diving boards will be moved to the west side of the pool at the deepest end.

Seidel said a hike and bike trail and irrigation system are still being planned, but that the master plan needs to be submitted to the state now so work on the swimming pool can begin in order to be completed by next summer.

The motion to accept the master plan was made by Tom Lovell, seconded by Jesse Munoz. The vote was unanimous. Councilmen Robert Hoback, Tom Carlock and Don Webb were not present.

In other business, the council authorized Joe Smoot, a former engineer for the Texas Highway Department, to prepare a proposed contract for engineering work required for improvements to the municipal airport. The city has received a $75,000 grant from the state to seal coat and re-stripe the runway, but an engineering plan is required by the state. The city will pay $17,000 of the project with state providing $58,000.

ansferred to Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene. A Hendrick spokesman said Tuesday that the youngster was discharged from the hospital earlier Tuesday.

The youngster is the son of Jerry and Leta Hitchcock of Clyde who were staying at the motel when the mishap occurred, said Sparks.

In other police business, Sparks said that a shooting incident will be referred to a grand jury.

Ruby Jenkins, 45, of 116 South Austin, was shot twice, once in the hand and once in the upper right shoulder, during a domestic disturbance on October 18.

Sparks said four shots were fired during the disturbance and investigating officers Tim Atkins and Sgt. Pat Taylor recovered three pistols from the scene.

Windbreak trees to be sold

The Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District will be selling windbreak trees from now until February 15th according to Jimmy Harrison, chairman of the board of directors.

The types of trees the district will sell is the Mondell Pine, Native Plum (wild), Cottonwood (cottonless), Russian Olive, Green Ash, Hackberry, Black Walnut, Osage Orange (Bois-d'arc), Arizona Cypress, Australian Pine, Ponderosa Pine, Honey Locust, Bur Oak, Pecan and Eastern Red Cedar.

The Mondell pine originated in the regions of Southwest Asia. The Mondell pine will reach a height of about 18 feet in five years, and 40 feet in 15 years. This pine can be used for windbreaks as well as for landscaping. The Russian Olive is a fast growing shrub or small tree that is excellent for wildlife. It has a beautiful foliage. It also makes an excellent large hedge.

The native plum is excellent for wildlife and makes very good preserves and jelly.

Protection from rodents and wind should be planned for the trees. This can be done by using cans, containers, shingles, hail-screens, old tires, etc. Water is essential. A minimum of five to eight gallons per tree each week will be needed the first growing season and about ten gallons the second growing season. An inexpensive "drip" irrigation system is recommended. This can be made by using plastic pipe and emitter tubes. This drip system is also available through the Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District.

Payment is due upon placement of the order. Refunds will be made if delivery is not completed. Due to variables in weather conditions and care required by planter, no guarantee of liveability is made.

Due to shortages of some of the trees, orders should be placed as soon as possible.

Forms for ordering trees can be picked up at the District Office in the G-Kell building or call 728-3473 or write to Mitchell SWCD, P.O. Box 910, Colorado City, Texas 79512 and an order blank will be mailed to you.

Competitive bidding needed

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Congressman Charles Stenholm has introduced legislation which would lead to competitive bidding for government contract projects and result in considerable savings for the federal budget.

The Contract Savings Act, H.R. 3357, was recently introduced by Congressman Stenholm and Congressman Bob Smith (R-Oregon). The bill would subject the performance of many non-national security activities—currently handled in-house by the federal government—to competitive bidding between government agencies and the private sector.

Under the act, the Office of Federal Procurement Policy would be required to use "fair and equal" cost comparisons between the government's performance of commercial activities and the private sector's cost for doing the same work. Contracts for such activities as construction projects and food services would be awarded to the lowest bidder. Congressional Budget Office estimates show that if the legislation were adopted, the government could save up to $1.1 billion a year.

"Competitive bidding is one of the basic ideals of American free enterprise," said Congressman Stenholm. "Free and open competition improves the products and services while keeping costs down. The pressure of a competitive market also gives vitality to those who can make a better product, or can cut costs of that product, and weed out those who cannot."

"This needed legislation would benefit the taxpayer, the small business sector and the government," the Stamford farmer-lawmaker said. "This is a concept that the federal government should have been using long ago."

Congressman Stenholm said this is the kind of legislation America will need in efforts to cut the national debt and trade deficit. He noted his bill would lead to substantial savings without cutting government services or quality.

Wolves still optimistic about 1985 season

By Tony Franco
Sports Editor

It's probably not fair to compare this year's Colorado City football team to last year's squad that was within smelling distance of a state title—especially considering the horde of talent that left upon graduation last spring.

Fair or not, this year's 1985 Pack finds the '84 shoes they hope to fill staring directly at them in this eighth week of Wolves football.

At this time a year ago, the Wolves had just fallen to Ballinger 28-6 for only their first loss after seven victories. The '84 Pack rebounded—like true champions—to beat Sonora in a fight for the remaining playoff spot and followed with a win against Crane to earn their playoff trek.

Last Friday night's 39-7 loss to the same Ballinger Bearcats has set the stage for a possible repeat.

"We definitely know what we have to do," said Colorado High School head coach Tom Ramsey. "We're trying to put last week's game behind us. Whether we want to or not we have to be able to get after Sonora."

"We're fortunate to still be in it. We still control our own destiny. It's the same shape we were in last year. It's winding down. A lot of people are just playing to play."

Littlefield, which put Colorado City out of the playoffs in last year's regional battle, (remember that one?), is already out of the playoff picture after having been ranked in the top ten earlier in the year.

There were a few bright spots in the loss to Ballinger that gave the Wolves a 4-4 record and a 2-1 district mark.

"We had some people play well," said Ramsey. "Danny Salazar (defensive lineman) and Stu Howell (cornerback) played as well as they ever have. A few offensive linemen had a good game. Sam Rivera rushed for a career high and went over 1,000 yards for the season, but we didn't totally put it together. You just put it out of your minds."

"We were in it. Their depth might have taken its toll. It could've been closer than it was."

What is on Ramsey's mind is Sonora, 5-3 on the year and 1-2 in district following last week's 34-0 spanking of Coahoma.

The Broncos, like the Wolves, have consistently avoided the district cellar, but haven't reached the playoffs since joining the district in 1982.

"They could still get it" said Ramsey. "It's still a four team race." Crane and Ballinger knock heads in the other big district game and go into their contest with 3-0 records.

"If Sonora quits making mistakes they could play good football. They've been turning the ball over deep in their own field."

Ballinger drove all of 80 yards following several Bronco turnovers for a 21-0 lead. Sonora lines up offensively in a Wing T and in a 5-2 defensively.

"They moved the ball against Ballinger and Crane. They got behind early in those ball games and never could overcome. When you're a Wing T is a disadvantage because you don't have many receivers going out.

What they do best is eat the clock. It's going to be a battle of the trenches."

"They try to run over you and do use the tight end some. They've got big people up front, but the backs aren't that large."

Returning for the Broncos are fullback John David Martinez, top lineman Jim Cooper and wingback Esau Ramirez, a three year starter and the district's leading receiver last year. Also around will be tightend Mike Fullen, quarterbacks Mike McBride and Mickey Sharp and running back Steve Love.

Workouts have been "good" said Ramsey. Kickoff at Wolf Stadium is at 8 p.m.

Bulldogs face Garden City

By Tony Franco
Sports Editor

On one of the walls in the Loraine Bulldogs dressing room hangs a sign that says, "Those who stay will be champions."

The LHS football team is sticking to that philosophy.

Last Friday morning, Bulldogs coach Sandy McSpadden counted 18 players heading into a game against co-7A favorite Forsan.

Before the game, which the Bulldogs lost 41-0, McSpadden learned he'd have to go with only 13 players because five members of the squad had quit.

The remaining "champions" elected to play the game, which gave them a 2-6 season record and a 1-2 district standing.

"They're determined to finish the season and not let each other down," said McSpadden.

McSpadden said the Bulldogs put on a "tremendous display of team effort."

Forsan had scored over 60 points in three prior victories yet led the Bulldogs by only an 11-0 count at halftime.

"That tells a lot about the game," said McSpadden.

"I was proud of the way the fans and the student body expressed themselves to the players for the battle they put up. It was a community tribute. We (coaching staff) sure appreciate it."

90th birthday celebration honors Buck

Earl Buck was recently honored with a 90th birthday party in the home of Margaret and Billy Roach in Snyder on October 23.

Those attending the party were Earl and Sue Buck of Colorado City; Johnny and Blanche Buck of El Paso; Edward and Winnie Roach of Colorado City; Mut and Wanda Gunells of Midland and Pat, Sharon, Ryan and Ruse Hanford of Lamesa.

Also, Gregory, Deanna and Amanda Buck of San Diego, California; Larry and Sawanna Strain of Lubbock; Kelley Roach of Lubbock and Ty Roach, also of Lubbock.

Loraine is actually now down to 12 players because lineman Charles "Nick" McPeters is out with a deep thigh bruise. "The doctor decided he just couldn't go anymore."

Against Forsan, some players played positions they never had played before.

McSpadden, despite having to become a master juggler in addition to coach-of-the-year, still has the Bulldogs exactly where they were at this time last year except for a loss to Snyder's JV.

"There's no doubt that's our biggest concern. It's even tough to practice correctly. If there's any way we can finish the season we will."

Next on Loraine's schedule is Garden City, which defeated Sands 28-7 last week for a 2-1 district record and a 4-4 season mark.

"Garden City is back and healthy," said McSpadden. "It will be a good ballgame. We'll try to win. We certainly have the opportunity. Anytime you step out on the field you have a chance.

Loraine's team and their positions include: freshman John Paul Pantoja (noseguard and center); sophomore Roger Henderson (end); Phillip Sanders and Armando Castro (tackles); Freddie Lopez (linebacker and guard); David "Apple" Sanchez (linebacker and guard); Ector Castro (end); Ricky Bailey (fullback and linebacker); Joe Vasquez (quarterback); Eddie Benitez (secondary); Freddie Benitez (tailback and secondary); Quentin Merket (secondary).

In addition to losing McPeters to injury, the Bulldogs will use injured players Bailey (fractured wrists) and e. Benitez (fractured finger).

"There has been no talk of forfeit," said McSpadden. "We've got to take it one quarter at a time."

Kickoff at Bulldog Stadium is at 7:30 p.m.

Letters to the Editor

To the editor:

After having reared three daughters in the Colorado Public School system, all three honors students, I feel compelled to answer Mrs. Arthur's letter regarding the no-pass no-play rule.

My girls are productive, successful, intelligent adults and I must give CUSD credit for this. They received an excellent educational background from you. For this I am very thankful. I applaud you and I appreciate you. But keep the values. Teach responsibility, even if it means spanking the kid to keep him from playing in the street. Remember it is for his own good. If he cannot pass as a student, how will he produce as an adult? And if he can produce as an adult, nothing you do to prevent his participating in extra-curricular activities will daunt him. You cannot take success from him, but you can teach him to succeed.

courthouse, and seen the posters and essays displayed this past Saturday. We have some very creative and talented youngsters, and should be very proud of them. All the entries were winners, and the judges had a very hard time choosing the best ones. I'd like to thank the judges, who took the time necessary for such a task. They were Kay Gregory, Fannie Faye Feaster, Tom Kelly, Christine Hall and Ray Mayo.

We rear our children to live in the big wide world. We teach them to be productive people, working well with others, accepting responsibility and all the other habits the elementary teacher graded "s" and "u" in years past. Then the child learns to play sports and all past values are gone with the wind. Now the important thing is to catch a football, twirl a flag, run a mile. Is it kind to let them think that the boss will overlook a failure to stock the shelves or even worse to disconnect the power before a fellow worker touches an energized circuit? In life the no-pass no-play penalty is more than six weeks. It can be forever.

Coleen Palmer

Special recognition also must go to some women who put a lot of time and effort into this contest: Earline Sellier, Betsy Aycock, Brenda Johnson and Cheryl Hoyle.

To the editor:

My congratulations go to the young people in Mitchell County who participated in the MADD poster-essay contest. I wish everyone could have come by the

Thank you all for making Mitchell County's first MADD poster-essay contest a success. We will let you know how our entrants to the national contest do in November.

Maxine Burson
 Mitchell Co. MADD

As my girls progressed through the Colorado School years, we observed and were involved in many iniquities in the system. Although the no-pass no-play rule did not exist, we know of situations that swung cheerleader results because of teacher evaluations; we saw athletes benched because of their choosing to attend a choir or different athletic function; we saw two students denied a regional UIL literary victory and a chance to compete at state because the principal (now long gone) traded their eligibility to another school for an ineligible football player; we saw a top athlete, class leader and student blackballed from the honor society because he chose not to run track. We saw all this and we cannot be upset because now we see a student denied the privilege to represent his school because he refused to spend about seven hours a week outside school preparing his studies so that he might pass a course.

Let us look at the long haul, teachers. We have a good school

Elderly are often victims of fraud

By Jim Mattox
Attorney General

Elderly people are often the victims of consumer fraud. Sometimes the fraud is perpetrated by persons pretending to be officials of some sort, such as police officers or bank examiners. In the case of "bank examiner frauds," the victim receives a phone call from someone who says he is investigating a possibly dishonest teller at the victim's bank.

The caller convinces the victim that he or she should go to the bank and withdraw a large amount of money from the allegedly dishonest teller. After the victim has withdrawn the money, he or she may be asked to read off the serial numbers on the bills to the phony bank examiner. Then the con man, posing as the examiner or as a police officer, will arrive and ask for the victim's cash. The con man says the money is needed as evidence against the teller.

Once the victim has given his or her money to the "officer" or the "bank examiner," the money is gone forever in most cases. The people who commit these crimes stay in an area for only a short time and then move on.

If you receive a call from anyone claiming to be a bank examiner, ask for the name of the state or federal agency employing the person. In Texas, bank examiners work for the State Banking Department. Federal bank examiners are employed by three different agencies. However, bank examiners do not investigate the type of employee theft suggested by those engaged in the type of fraud described above. That is left to the FBI. The FBI conducts its own investigations, without the help of citizen depositors. So the chances of receiving a call from a real bank examiner are extremely slim.

If you get a call from someone you suspect is involved in this kind of fraud, ask for his phone number. Then call your local police or district attorney's office to see if they are interested in pursuing the subject.

If you need more help or information on this or other consumer problems, contact your nearest Attorney General Consumer Protection Office (in Austin, Dallas, El Paso, Houston, Lubbock, McAllen and San Antonio). The Attorney General's Office is the people's law firm. We're here to help you.

BRENDA MARBRY of Southwestern Bell Telephone shows off 1986 Sesquicentennial calendars to Burl Blackman (center) and Bill McConnell of the 610 Historical Foundation. Proceeds from sales of the calendars, produced by Southwestern Bell, go to the Texas Independence Express, an antique touring train which will visit some 300 Texas communities next year. The vintage Texas & Pacific 610 steam engine in the background is being restored for the rail journey in celebration of the state's 150th birthday.

Calendar helps fund Texas Sesquicentennial

Southwestern Bell Telephone has developed a Sesquicentennial calendar to help Texans celebrate its 150th birthday.

The company is selling 1986 calendars which feature sketches of historic Texas landmarks and some of the state's most notable sites. The detailed drawings were done by Texas artist Norman Baxter, who for years illustrated many of Southwestern Bell's Yellow Pages directory covers.

All proceeds from the calendar sales will benefit the Texas Independence Express, an antique touring train which will be a major activity during the state's Sesquicentennial year.

"As a company that traces its roots back 110 years in Texas, we wanted to help pay tribute to our state, its rich legacy and its people," said Jim West, Community Relations Manager.

The year-long celebration of the state's Sesquicentennial will give all Texans an opportunity to learn more about our history and allow us to showcase our state for the millions of visitors who are planning to join us for the birthday observance.

The calendars are available in desk and wall formats. Each drawing is accompanied by a caption describing past and present-day history of Texas.

The desk calendar features 51 Baxter drawings which represent more than three decades of the Houston artist's work. Included are such landmarks as the State Capitol, the Alamo and the San Jacinto Monument. The desk version sells for $9.95, plus $1.45 for postage and handling.

The wall calendar includes 12 Baxter drawings. Price is $4.95, plus $1 for postage and handling.

"The calendars also contain a detailed schedule of special Sesquicentennial events planned for next year," West said. "This special feature makes the calendar ideal for keeping a personal diary of Texas' 150th birthday year."

Customers can purchase a calendar by sending a check or money order—no cash, please—to: Texas 150, P.O. Box 1333, Houston, Texas, 77001. MasterCard and VISA are also accepted. Customers are asked not to include calendar orders with their phone bill payments.

Funds raised by calendar sales will be used by the Texas Independence Express organization to complete restoration of the antique engine and rail cars and to help pay for operating costs in 1986.

Plans are for the train to stop at or pass through nearly 300 cities and communities in Texas on its historic 5,000-mile journey beginning next February. The travelling historical exhibit will be open for public tours, special civic events and official ceremonies throughout the state.

Tranquilizers

Tranquilizers are medications designed to relieve anxiety and nervousness. A physician knows of many potent medications that can be prescribed for "nerves" or simple tension. Medications, however, are usually only a temporary measure in the treatment of nervous disorders. Professional counseling often is more therapeutic than taking medicine. No over-the-counter drugs are marketed as tranquilizers and over-the-counter sleep aids should not be used as tranquilizers. One must visit a physician to obtain a prescription for a tranquilizer. The physician can also provide for or arrange professional counseling for problems that are the cause of anxiety or tension. There is no long-term shortcut to peace of mind.

EDDIE'S of Colorado City takes great pride in our complete selection of over-the-counter remedies for skin and other conditions. We are truly "The Drug Store with a Difference" as many of your friends and neighbors have already discovered. TEXAS GARDENER TIPS

Plant Columbines In Fall For Springtime Color

Not many plants thrive during Texas winters, and even fewer do well in the shade during a Texas winter. The columbine, a fall-planted native annual, is an exception. It will survive and grow during the winter in most of the state and produce beautiful blooms in early spring.

Many types of columbines are native to Texas but, unfortunately, are relatively uncommon in Texas gardens. The three most common species are A. Canadensis, A. Chrysantha and A. Longissima, but many other varieties also do well here. Most are located in Central or West Texas, along shaded creeks, but they are adapted to protected sites in most of the state.

Many people start their own transplants from seeds in midsummer, but transplants can be obtained for September and October plantings from some mail-order nurseries.

Even though columbines aren't long-lived perennials and most varieties die out after the first year's bloom, some natives may persist for several years and even re-seed prolifically. If you think of columbines as fall-planted annuals, though, you'll be less likely to suffer the agony of horticultural defeat.

Columbines grow to a height of about 1 foot and should be spaced in beds about 9 to 12 inches apart. The A. Canadensis variety, commonly called wild or red columbine, likes acid or limy soils and must have good drainage. Those of you who have clay soils should work sand and organic matter into the soil before planting. This plant will die back when the first frost hits but will start putting on new leaves almost immediately.

Other types of columbines, such as the longspur or McKana varieties, are not as winter hardy but grow naturally in rocky areas near running water.

For a list of companies that stock columbines, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to: Columbines, Box 9005, Waco, TX 76710.

Fact sheets available

A set of fact sheets about rangeland management in the Southwest is now available from the USDA Soil Conservation Service.

Kevin Wright, district conservationist for SCS at Colorado City, said the fact sheets are designed to help livestock producers figure out how to reverse the general decline in rangeland productivity that has occurred this century to the western states.

One leaflet, "How Plants Grow," describe how plants manufacture food in their leaves using solar energy to produce most of the food and fiber in the world today. It cautions that excessive leaf removal through overgrazing reduces production and weakens root systems.

"Proper Grazing Use" outlines some principles livestock producers can use to determine if range plans are being damaged by excessive grazing pressure.

The "Prescribed Burning" fact sheet summarizes how producers are using burns in some parts of the Southwest to suppress undesirable plants to improve rangeland.

"Planning Grazing Systems" outlines several kinds of grazing techniques that can greatly improve rangeland at little expense.

Other fact sheets cover such subjects as plant succession, rangeland inventories, livestock distribution, brush management, wildlife on rangeland, erosion control, and the water cycle.

The Soil Conservation Service, assisting local conservation district, can help livestock producers plan rangeland improvement practices. Single copies of the fact sheets are available from the SCS office at Colorado City.

Terrorism poses threat

By Lloyd Bentsen
United States Senator

International terrorism poses a serious and increasing threat to the safety of Americans, abroad more than at home up to now.

More than 40 percent of the world's terrorist incidents are directed at Americans and their property overseas or at U.S. government facilities in other countries.

We are fortunate that terrorists' activities in this country have not risen correspondingly. In fact, the number of such incidents in the United States has decreased in recent years.

But we cannot assume this trend will continue since the number of incidents prevented by the Federal Bureau of Investigation has increased significantly.

This is hardly the time to relax and let down our guard.

Take, for example, the case against 11 members of a neo-Nazi group called "The Order" charged with 67 crimes aimed at overthrowing the U.S. government and establishing a white supremacist society.

Also, it has only been weeks since the FBI arrested 13 members of the Puerto Rican terrorist group "Los Macheteros," which had claimed responsibility for an attack on a U.S. Navy bus in Puerto Rico that killed two sailors. They were arrested for a $7 million armored car robbery.

Their presence here is disturbing, as are reports that agents of the Ayatollah Khomeini are in hiding here ready to wreak havoc on orders from Iran, and that pro-Qaddafi Libyans are plotting to assassinate dissidents in the United States.

We should take seriously the threat all this represents—and we should not ignore the warning brought back by Reverend Ben Weir, the Presbyterian minister held captive 16 months in Lebanon by Moslem extremists, that more kidnappings and executions of Americans are threatened worldwide.

Nor should we forget the terrorist bomb that exploded in the U.S. Capitol not so long ago, striking at the very heart of our government. The concrete flower pots, garbage trucks, x-ray machines and metal detectors visitors now see in Washington, D.C., are hardly there for decoration.

Our first line of defense against terrorism within our own borders is the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and it has been doing a good job.

But as the threat of domestic terrorism increases, so must our efforts to stop it. Unfortunately, the FBI's budget for counter-terrorism has not even kept up with inflation. The FBI's request for more funds for fiscal year 1985 was rejected, and the 1986 budget was frozen at the 1985 level. The Senate has just approved my proposal to add $20 million to the FBI's budget for counter-terrorism, beginning this month. The money will allow the FBI to hire another 200 agents and support personnel specializing in counter-terrorism and hostage rescue, expand existing anti-terrorism task forces and start new task forces. It will also provide a secure teleconferencing system, automobiles, equipment, training and weapons for counter-terrorism operations.

This critically needed funding is a reasonable and wise investment to help protect the citizens of this country against the growing danger of terrorism within our own borders.
