In Lebanon...

U.S. Wary Of Israeli Peace Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is reacting warily to Israeli proposals for the United States to join an international peacekeeping force in Lebanon to protect Israel from terrorist attacks.

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger also has voiced the administration's first specific criticism of Israel's June 6 invasion of Lebanon, saying it is a "resort to military force."

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin was expected to push the idea of U.S. participation in an international force in Lebanon in a meeting with President Reagan at the White House today.

"If the United States is willing to participate, we shall accept it willingly," Begin said in an appearance Sunday on the CBS "Face the Nation" program. Israel's defense minister, Ariel Sharon, has said Israel wants a major U.S. presence in the force.

But Begin said if Washington won't participate, the force could be made up of units from other nations. His wants it to patrol a 25-mile strip of land in southern Lebanon north of the Israeli border to bar terrorist attacks across the border.

In his meeting with Reagan, Begin is expected to provide a personal explanation for Israel's invasion into Lebanon. Reagan is expected to seek from Begin a timetable for an Israeli withdrawal from Lebanon.

Weinberger said Sunday that Reagan was reviewing U.S. Mideast policy, including possible participation in a peacekeeping force in Lebanon.

"But there will have to be a great many terms and conditions that have not yet been suggested before I think any of us would favor putting United States troops into this kind of situation," Weinberger said in an appearance on the ABC-TV program, "This Week with David Brinkley."

In criticizing Israel's invasion of Lebanon, Weinberger said, "There are thousands of people who have been killed and wounded now in Lebanon who had nothing whatever to do with any side of this conflict."

He said the invasion was "a resort to military force of a kind that we always have deplored," and said it has hurt U.S. interests in the Arab world.

"It is exactly the same thing we condemned in the Argentine," he said referring to Argentina's unsuccessful invasion of the Falkland Islands.

Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. and other administration officials had previously gone out of their way to avoid criticizing Israel, leading to widespread speculation that the administration tacitly approved of the invasion.

Organization in Lebanon. He said Lebanon was becoming "a Soviet base for the whole of the Middle East."

Begin also said Israel's troops might remain in Lebanon up to seven weeks or longer, depending on how long it takes to make sure "the scourge of terrorism" is stamped out.

Palestine Liberation Organization who, along with 5,000 armed PLO members, is surrounded by Israeli forces in West Beirut.

"We don't want to capture Mr. Arafat because we don't want to deal with him at all," Begin said. "I think it would be a trouble for us. Let him go wherever he wants to."

Begin said he did not favor a U.N. peacekeeping force because the existing one has been ineffective and permitted terrorists to penetrate its lines.

Administration officials are known to be divided on the wisdom of U.S. participation in an international force because it raises a potential of pitting U.S. troops against Arab forces in the defense of Israel.

Begin reiterated earlier assurances that Israeli troops don't plan on seizing Beirut, adding that the thousands of PLO members holed up there are a problem for Lebanon.

But he also made clear that Israeli forces aren't likely to lift their encirclement of Beirut until the problems are dealt with.

Asked about the duration of Israel's occupation of Lebanon, Begin said, "It may be two weeks. It may be seven weeks. We want to be there and we shall be there until security arrangements are made which will give us complete assurance that our men, women and children will not be killed or threatened by those PLO terrorists."

MORNING FIRE—The Anderson Davis Jr. residence at 1108 30th St. was engulfed in flames around 4 a.m. this morning. A local police officer spotted the blaze while on routine patrol of the area. Snyder firefighters worked more than two hours to extinguish the fire which involved virtually the entire house. According to Snyder Fire

Chief Alfred Kohl, the fire began in an equipment room near the center of the house and then spread rapidly through the attic. No one was home at the time of the fire and no injuries to either residents or firemen were reported. (SDN Staff Photo)

Israeli Ships & PLO Trade Fire In Beirut

By The Associated Press Israeli artillery and warships traded fire with beleaguered Palestinian guerrillas in Moslem west Beirut today, and Lebanon's state radio said shells slammed into residential neighborhoods causing heavy casualties.

Guerrillas fired guns in the air to cordon off large sections of the Lebanese capital's Corniche Mazraa Boulevard, where several buildings were reported hit. Fire engines and ambulances raced into stricken neighborhoods abutting the mid-city highway and clouds of thick smoke spread over the area.

It was not clear whether the latest blitz signaled an all-out assault on Palestine Liberation Organization bunkers in a 10-square-mile area of mostly Moslem west Beirut, all that remains under the guerrilla group's control since Israel's June 6 invasion.

In Tel Aviv, the military command reported Israeli gunners exchanged artillery fire with PLO guerrillas in Beirut's southern slums shortly after midnight, but gave no details. Israel radio reported guerrillas rocketed Israeli positions near Beirut airport, south of the Lebanese capital.

Earlier, Lebanese sources said Christian and PLO gunners appeared to be shelling each other without Israeli involvement along battle lines around southern Beirut's sprawling Burj el Barajneh refugee slums.

War correspondents said one shell exploded half a block from the Soviet Embassy, and another tore into an apartment building next to The Associated Press bureau and half a block from the international press center in west Beirut's Commodore Hotel. None of the more than 200 foreign journalists, photographers and television crews covering the Lebanese crisis was injured.

Lebanon's state and privately owned radio stations said the shell that exploded near the Commodore was one of several that hit buildings around the nerve center of the PLO. They said the blitz was one of the heaviest since invading Israeli forces and their Lebanese Christian allies laid siege to the PLO enclaves in the capital eight days ago.

In Washington, Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin was to meet today with President Reagan and was expected to ask for U.S. participation in an international peace-keeping force in Lebanon following an Israeli pullout. Washington has reacted warily to the idea.

PLO chief Yasser Arafat and his 6,000 guerrilla fighters trapped in the west Beirut enclaves have promised a bloody last stand if Israeli or Christian forces attack. Hundreds of panicky west Beirut residents have fled the area, seeking shelter in Christian east Beirut and Israeli-held southern Lebanon.

The Israelis have pledged to honor a cease-fire with the PLO unless directly fired upon. On Sunday, sporadic shelling criss-crossed Beirut's paralyzed airport at the southernmost edge of the PLO's remaining positions. But Israel said it was keeping the truce, although it reported four soldiers were wounded in a skirmish 13 miles east of Beirut.

Israel announced the cease-fire on Friday to allow U.S. special envoy Philip C. Habib and leaders of Lebanon's political factions to discuss how to restore central government authority in the war-shattered nation, dominated since the 1975-76 Moslem-Christian civil war by the PLO and Syrian forces.

Syria has 30,000 troops in Lebanon under an Arab League mandate to police the civil war armistice.

Israel has said it will not withdraw until a strong central government emerges, the PLO disarms, the Syrians leave and the Jewish state is assured that Lebanon will no longer serve as a base for Palestinian attacks on Israel.

In Damascus, Syrian government spokesman Ahmad Iskander said Sunday the Syrians would not leave Lebanon unless requested by the Arab League.

Monday update

Deliberations Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jurors in John W. Hinckley Jr.'s trial are returning for a fourth day of deliberations to the same wood-paneled courtroom where they heard weeks of conflicting testimony on the presidential assailant's sanity.

The jurors are meeting again today to discuss whether the 27-year-old defendant was insane when he shot President Reagan and three other men outside a Washington hotel on March 30, 1981.

Hinckley has acknowledged shooting the men, but has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

Last Island Retaken

By The Associated Press Britain says its troops retook the frigid South Sandwich Islands, snaring 11 Argentine soldiers and completing Britain's recapture of its Falkland Islands colony.

The weekend assault on the Falklands' dependency came as Argentina's generals haggled over who will be the next president following their country's defeat in the undeclared South Atlantic war.

A British Defense Ministry statement today said troops captured 10 Argentine naval personnel and one airman on remote Thule Island, 1,200 miles southeast of the Falklands, near Antarctica. It said there were no Argentine civilians on the island. Argentina had said earlier there were 10 unarmed scientists at an Argentine naval weather station on the island.

Junta Isolates POWs

PUERTO MADRYN, Argentina (AP) — Anxious to minimize the bitter spectacle of Argentine war prisoners returning from the Falklands on British ships, the military junta is keeping the men isolated behind a heavy security screen.

But the curtain of secrecy is distressing relatives, who have come here trying to learn the fate of their loved ones.

"I tried to take a woman from Santa Fe (in northern Argentina) to the docks, and then they wouldn't let her in. She doesn't know if her son is alive or dead. Now what kind of deal is that?" asked a cab driver, who took three journalists to a military checkpoint near the port area here.

Shuttle Experiment

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force won't have the only top-secret cargo on Sunday's fourth test mission of the space shuttle Columbia.

Johnson & Johnson, the makers of bandages and pharmaceuticals, is almost as tight-lipped as the Pentagon about the experiment it will send into orbit aboard the reusable spacecraft.

"This industry is competitive," Johnson & Johnson spokesman Jim Merry said in an interview published today by the Cocoa TODAY newspaper.

Bids Due On Coliseum Floor

Scurry County Commissioners this morning took the first step toward replacing the basketball floor at the Scurry County Coliseum.

Phil Ragland, coliseum manager, was instructed to prepare specifications for seeking bids to be opened July 12.

The county has sold the original basketball floor to Western Texas College.

The portable floor purchased some 15 years ago had been the subject of some complaints the past year or two by coaches and players who said it had developed some "dead spots." Representatives of manufacturers advised that the floor surface was in excellent condition and that if it should be put down as a permanent installation, the dead spots could be eliminated.

WTC plans to have the wood floor permanently installed in its health and physical education facilities over a deteriorating synthetic floor.

The county hopes to have a new portable floor

Ask Us

Q. What kind of construction work is going on at the Scurry County Courthouse?

A.—It is a continuation of a project begun several months ago to provide more storage space between the old and new exterior walls. This space was not used when the building was remodeled 12 years ago, but is needed now by various offices.

Rains Add Water To Lake Thomas

Lake J. B. Thomas picked up 10,500 acre feet of water over the weekend, officials of the Colorado River Municipal Water District reported this morning.

The water came from heavy rains that fell on the lake's watershed during heavy thunderstorms Friday night and Saturday morning.

The flow from the latest rains had virtually ended this morning, as most of the streams had slowed to a trickle. However, the catch was one of the best in some time.

Lake Thomas now has 59,000 acre feet of water impounded, or about 29 percent of its capacity.

The vertical rise over the weekend was 3.3 feet, about what had been expected from the rains which fell during thunderstorms in Borden County. The elevation was 2231.31 feet. Spillway level is 2258 feet.

For British Throne...

Baby Will Be Second In Line

LONDON (AP) — Whatever the sex, the baby of Prince Charles and Princess Diana will be second in line to the British throne, pushing a score of royals in the line of succession down one notch.

But things could change if Charles and Diana have other children.

If their first is a boy, he goes behind Charles in the line to the throne. If it's a girl, she will succeed to the throne only if the couple has no boy.

The girl will be pushed down the line as soon as she gets a brother.

The old rule of primogeniture still applies in the British monarchy: males of the same parentage take precedence.

This has already happened among Queen Elizabeth II's own children. Charles, her first child born in 1948, became heir-apparent when his mother succeeded to the throne in 1952.

His sister Anne followed him in 1950 and was second in the line of succession. The princess dropped to third in 1960, and then to fourth when Edward came along in 1964.

The queen herself was never heir apparent, but heir-presumptive.

As the eldest of the two daughters of King George VI, Elizabeth could have been ousted from her place in the line of succession if her parents had had a son.

The rules of descent date from the English Act of Settlement of 1701, passed by Parliament when King William III reigned alone and childless after the death of his wife, Mary, with whom he had shared the throne.

Next in line to William was his sister-in-law, who became Queen Anne when William died in 1702.

Anne had 17 children by her husband, Prince George of Denmark, and all except one died in infancy.

The single survivor, Prince William, Duke of Gloucester, died at age 11.

Parliament acted to prevent the accession of any Roman Catholic children of William's predecessor, James II, whose autocratic rule and pro-Catholic policies in a country that had been anti-Catholic for 150 years, upset the nation and forced him to flee to France.

The legislators awarded the throne to Princess Sophia — a granddaughter of King James I who had married into the Hanoverian monarchy — and the "heirs of her body," stipulating that no Catholic could ever come to the throne.

Sophia never became queen but the act involving her echoed around England only four years ago.

Historic Scurry County, Inc. will sponsor three fund raising projects in conjunction with this year's traditional July 4th celebration at Towle Park.

Highlighting the activities will be a barbecue slated for July 4th at the pavillion. Tickets are priced at $5 for adults and $3 for children 12 and under.

Other activities include a membership drive, selling animal shaped pillows and in exchange for a donation of $1 or more persons may sign a special signature quilt. Mrs. C. E. (Frances) Daniel has donated the pillows and the quilt.

All proceeds go toward the restoration of the Dodson House.

But now our energy thirst has moderated, alternative supplies are on line, OPEC nations are not mandating further price increases — but gasoline prices are increasing.

Someone is not playing fair!

Our nation is now importing only half the oil imported in 1978, yet we have more than enough.

A year ago gasoline prices began coming down. From $1.35 a gallon prices retreated to an average of $1.18 1/2 in April.

But now, for no logical reason, prices have advanced again, to an average of $1.22 and rising.

And jet fuel prices — after their big runup — never did moderate. Jet fuel prices helped drive Braniff into bankruptcy!

Commercial truckers are similarly squeezed by higher diesel fuel prices.

Where the cost of other things has doubled over the past ten years, the cost of driving a car has increased 158 percent and the cost of driving a truck has increased 198 percent.

And most of that increase is fuel! Diesel fuel is 6.4 cents a gallon more expensive than regular gasoline.

Petroleum industry watchdog Dan Lundberg predicts that at-the-pump prices will continue inching upward through this summer.

He says gasoline is plentiful, distribution is stable, but prices will go up anyway. And he believes prices would increase even more except that "refiners don't want to alarm price-sensitive consumers."

Well, they are alarming us!

In recent months American workers have demonstrated a selfless willingness to work for less than their union contracts call for — in order to help beleaguered industries survive this recession.

Even auto workers have been talked into working for less to hold down the prices of American-made cars, thus to compete with imports.

But if the oil companies rudely refuse to pare their profits during this pinch, they are arming their legislative enemies and alienating their few friends.

Convict Father Visits His Son

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The hospital reunion of a critically ill boy and his father, released from prison for the occasion, had a "positive" effect on the patient, says his doctor.

But surgery might still be necessary for 15-year-old Richard Denton, to remove his bleeding intestinal ulcers caused by his severe bout with Rocky Mountain spotted fever, said Dr. John W. Greene.

Greene, chief of adolescent care at Vanderbilt Children's Hospital, said Sunday that Richard's fever has subsided but the boy was suffering from internal bleeding and kidney failure.

"We may have to operate again," Greene said.

Richard had been in and out of a coma since arriving at Vanderbilt on May 31 after contracting the fever, apparently from a tick bite, his doctors said.

But he woke up last week and asked to see his father, Charles Denton, 39, who is serving a 15-year term at Lake Butler Medical and Reception Center in north Florida, officials said.

Family members said the boy, who had not seen his father in 1 1/2 years, did not know Denton was behind bars for drug trafficking and firearms convictions.

"He knew his father well and obviously responded to his presence," Greene said. "I don't know how it will affect his health, but it was a positive experience."

After the 30-minute visit Sunday with his son behind a drawn curtain in the tensive care unit, Denton said the boy was unable to talk, but communicated "through hand motions and with his eyes."

"He agreed to try and get stronger in mind and body to get through the operation..." Denton said.

"He shares my belief he can overcome it."

The doctor said he had no plans to ask law enforcement agents to allow the father to stay nearby.

Bill Tomlinson, night supervisor at the Metro Workhouse, said the father was scheduled to return to Florida today.

Rocky Mountain spotted fever, an acute and infectious disease, is usually transmitted by tick bites and characterized by fever, muscular pains and skin eruptions.

Greene said the teenager is on dialysis, a machine that purifies the blood when the kidneys fail, and may lose sight in his right eye.

The father was escorted to the Nashville hospital by two Davidson County sheriff's deputies who volunteered to make the trip to and from Florida. Officials in Florida and Tennessee agreed to allow Denton to make the trip, but would not finance it.

Davidson County Sheriff Fate Thomas, who dispatched the volunteers, said donations have been pouring in to offset the expenses.

Recreation Program Is Called Off

The summer recreation program for children sponsored by Green Hill Baptist Church will not be held this Tuesday because of the church's mission trip to Mexico. The program will resume next Tuesday.

HEALTH

Plagued by brown spots

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am very much interested in finding help for brown spots, so-called age spots. I am 60 years old, in excellent health and can do eight hours of household chores and attend to a large garden daily.

I had a hysterectomy 12 years ago because of a tumor of the uterus. Could this surgery cause an increase in brown spots? DEAR READER — Skin color, whether it is all over or just in spots, is determined by melanin pigment. This brownish to black pigment is formed by special cells called melanocytes. When these cells produce an excess amount of pigment the skin darkens.

A freckle is simply a spot on the skin where there is an excess deposit of melanin pigment. Those brown spots you are concerned about are also spots of excess pigment but they are larger than freckles. Sometimes they may be raised a little because the cells over the spot are thickened. Some people call these liver spots.

If you happen to injure the skin or develop a small hemorrhage in the skin, that may contribute to developing them.

Characteristically they develop on the backs of the hands and face. Technically they are called lentigines and because they do occur more often in older people they are sometimes called "senile lentigines." As doctors who see these lesions get older themselves they are more apt to just call them lentigines or brown spots.

As far as the brown spots you now have are concerned, I prefer that they be seen by a doctor. What you think is a simple brown spot may be something different, such as actinic (solar) keratosis. Some of these can progress to skin cancer. Ordinary brown spots do not.

In any case a dermatologist can usually help with both. Even brown spots may be removed with chemicals or liquid nitrogen. Meanwhile, I am sending you The Health Letter number 7-10, Your Skin: Sun, Aging, Spots and Cancer. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Incidentally, your hysterectomy is unrelated to your brown spots. Men also have brown spots.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like to know if having sex often is damaging to the health. If so in what way? I will be married next month and my husband-to-be likes sex every day. Will it cause me to have cancer? I'm worried to death. By the way, I have had a hysterectomy and I can't have any more kids. I'm 30 years old.

DEAR READER — Even if there is any relationship between sex and cancer you have no worries. It would be related to the cervix of your uterus and you don't have one. There are studies that suggest that women who have sex early in life with multiple partners are more likely to develop cervical cancer. Of course women who have had little or no sex can also get cancer of the cervix.

Urinary tract infections do occur more often in some women because of sex. That is why some women develop "honeymoon cystitis," a problem with bladder infections. It is not a venereal disease, either.

Otherwise sex usually produces relaxation and helps to build closeness. You might say it is a good tranquilizer.

Hendrick Home For Children Seeking To Expand Facility

LUEDELS, Texas (AP) — When Thomas Hendrick began amassing thousands of acres of rugged mesquite brush country in eastern Shackelford County in 1932, he couldn't have known that the spread one day become a prime source of life and enjoyment for a dozen or so youths.

Today, some 50 years ago, a small portion of the Hendrick River Ranch is the rural home for 12 youths. Under the supervision of Butch and Judy Patterson, the youths engage in various work-related and recreational activities, preparing themselves for their lives ahead.

Hendrick purchased a sprawling 42,000 acres and in the summer of 1932, he and his wife, Ida, moved into a spacious native stone home barely 100 yards from the banks of the Clear Fork of the Brazos River.

Flood waters, a fear for the safety of his wife and failing eyesight prompted Hendrick's decision to move back to Abilene. But he never lost interest in his ranch or his purpose.

He asked long-time friend Roll Dublin to leave Odessa and become foreman on the ranch. Together, they would start one of the finest Hereford cattle herds in the area.

The Hendrick Home for Children was established in 1939, and the scenic ranch became a source of recreation for the children of the Abilene-based home.

Today, 35 years after Hendrick's death, the Home uses little more than 15,000 acres of the sprawling spread. And while the ranch has a rich history, the real story is the children who live and work there.

Up until 12 years ago, the scenic establishment on the banks of Clear Fork was used exclusively for recreational purposes by children from the Home in Abilene.

But administrators realized a need for the establishment of living facilities on the ranch — for children who desired and might function better in a rural environment. It all began with three children in 1970, and has since increased to 12.

Hendrick Home officials now plan to build another facility, which will house 12 children.

Patterson said the children come from different backgrounds, but seem to get along. After a day of classwork in the Lueders-Avoca school system, the youths head back to the ranch. But their day isn't over until the chores are done.

"They do all the work around here," Patterson said of the youths, both boys and girls. "I help them and supervise them in what needs to be taken care of, but I don't do it for them."

The chores closely follow the patterns of most everyday routines in rural atmospheres — repairing broken waterlines, raking leaves, mowing grass, building or repairing fences, taking care of livestock, cooking and sewing.

"They're not boys' chores or girls' chores," Patterson pointed out. "They're people chores, and all kids get a chance to do just about everything."

They show livestock, fish and hunt — and enjoy the sense of freedom in the wide open spaces.

Royal Couple Await Birth

LONDON (AP) — With Prince Charles at her side, Princess Diana entered London's St. Mary's Hospital today "in the early stages of labor," Buckingham Palace announced.

A brief announcement said the pregnant princess was admitted to the hospital between 5 a.m. and 6 a.m. — midnight and 1 a.m. EDT.

A palace spokesman later said it could be "many hours" before there was further news of her progress in labor but he said there was no cause for concern, adding: "The Princess of Wales is in the best of health."

It was not known whether Prince Charles would be in the delivery room, but the 33-year-old heir to the British throne was said to have wanted to attend the birth.

The 20-year-old princess, expecting the couple's first baby, was admitted to the same hospital in London's Paddington district, where Princess Anne, her sister-in-law, had her two children.

Press reports had said Diana wanted to have her baby in a hospital while Queen Elizabeth II had preferred Buckingham Palace for the birth. All three of the queen's children were born at the palace.

The princess, whose marriage to Charles in St. Paul's Cathedral, July 29, 1981, was watched by millions on worldwide television, had remained in the public eye up to last week.

The royal couple is paying the equivalent of $220 a day for the 12-foot by 12-foot private room in the five-story hospital.

House Panel Views Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House panel is getting down to work on legislation viewed by the Pentagon as highly important for upgrading vital electronic links to America's strategic nuclear forces.

The provisions, part of a wide-ranging telecommunications bill, are intended to prevent deregulation and see that the swift growth of competing commercial networks doesn't erode the reliability of military communications.

The House Energy and Commerce Committee is slated to resume work Tuesday on the bill restructuring the nation's telephone industry.

Oswald: "Column hands are almost always game or slam contracts. There are two reasons for this. The first is that part scores are apt to be uninteresting. The second is that the play is apt to be too complicated for the space available."

Alan: "Here is a prosaic one no-trump contract that would be reached at every table in any normal duplicate game. South has a standard one no-trump and no other player has any reason to do anything except pass."

Oswald: "It also should be an easy hand to play. Declarer is looking at six quick tricks and can get his seventh from either spades or hearts. That is, if he can induce an opponent to lead the suit for him."

Alan: "There is a fairly straightforward way to achieve this result. South should win the first diamond, run off all four clubs, cash the second top diamond and lead his six spot. As long as diamonds break 4-3, the defense can cash a second diamond, but must then lead hearts or spades."

Oswald: "If diamonds break 5-2, South will be set, but in that case he would have had no play for his contract."

HOME MORTGAGE LANGUAGE - When buying or selling a home, keep in mind the importance of understanding the new "alphabet-soup" mortgages available, says a housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Among new mortgage plans are the adjustable rate mortgage (ARM) or adjustable mortgage loan (AML), graduated payment mortgage (GPM), roll-over mortgage (ROM), and renegotiable rate mortgage (RRM). Home buyers should "shop around" for a mortgage that best fits their financial situation.

Dear Abby

Life Rich in Experience Still Pays Great Interest

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1982 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I've been reading your column ever since you wrote your first line in 1956. It's given me a good cross section of what's going on in the world.

I got a kick out of those two old roosters, ages 77 and 96, both crowing about their capabilities. Well, Abby, I hate to brag, but I've got them both beat.

I became a Christian at age 12 — that was 89 years ago. Yes, Abby, I'm 101 years old and I'm typing this myself. I started teaching school at 17, and I taught for 19 years. During World War I, I was an agriculture agent. I even published a small country newspaper for a while. In 1920 I entered the Methodist ministry. It became my life's work. After organizing four churches I retired at 72.

Having nothing to do, I cultivated a large garden, but that didn't keep me busy enough, so I bought the necessary equipment and set up a woodwork shop. So far I've made 14 grandfather clocks, 56 cradles, 247 lamps, and so many tables and cabinets I've lost count.

That's not all. I have several ladyfriends scattered all over town, and I still take them out to dinner — one at a time! I've got only 99 years to go before reaching 200, and the way I feel now, I'm going to make it!

If there are any old roosters out there who can out-crow me, send them to Tennessee and I'll take them to dinner.
HENRY C. COLEMAN, CHATTANOOGA, TENN.

DEAR HENRY: Wonderful! And if they bring their mothers, the dinner's on me!

DEAR ABBY: I was one of those unlucky air-traffic control men who lost their jobs, so after being unable to find work in Los Angeles, I finally landed a job in San Jose. Obviously I'm able to get home only on weekends and holidays, so I rented a small apartment in San Jose.

I've been on this job for 10 months, and while it's far from what I want to do, it's better than nothing. (I'm still trying to get work in L.A.)

My accountant told me I could deduct my travel and living expenses away from home, which helped to make my life bearable because this job is only temporary.

Yesterday a co-worker told me that if the IRS audits me, I'm in trouble because if a person stays in a job for over six months it's considered a permanent job — not temporary. What does your accountant say?

SWEATING IT OUT IN SAN JOSE

DEAR SWEATING: My accountant says a job is considered "temporary" under one year, so you're safe for another two months.

Forgive me if I do not begin this letter with the usual salutation because after agonizing over salutations and complimentary closings, I came to a decision: I no longer use either.

I do not address persons I do not know as "Dear" anybody, since they are not "dear" to me. And I do not sign myself as being "Truly" theirs, which I certainly am not. I head this letter, state my business, say thank you if it's appropriate, and sign my name.

So far I don't think I have ruined anyone's day by being strictly businesslike. Thanks for listening.
CLARICE K. IN AURORA, ILL.

DEAR CLARICE: You didn't ruin my day. Au contraire, you made it. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: I want to commend you on your forthright stand against nudity. If the good Lord had intended for us to go around naked, he would have created us that way.
S.B., MOUNTAIN VIEW, CALIF.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. Write to Abby, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Diet facts & fallacies

These nutritional tips brought to you by DIET CENTER

Summer brings a rush of outdoor activities. Our hectic lifestyles seem to get even busier. Unfortunately, the first thing to suffer is usually our diets. Nutritious, well-balanced meals fall victim to fast-food restaurants, TV dinners and high-calorie snacking.

A little planning and preparation can eliminate this problem. Diet Center suggests the following hints for quick, yet healthful meals. Create a menu plan for the entire week, including a good variety of all types of foods. Prepare foods ahead of time whenever possible, like hard-boiled eggs or steamed chicken breasts. Make a big salad with a wide selection of vegetables. Keep plenty of fresh fruits (not candy!) available for a quick pick-me-up.

Concentrate on foods high in fiber and low in refined sugars, such as whole-grain crackers, fresh vegetables and fruits, and low-calorie, high-protein fish and poultry. These foods will provide you with the most "staying power" and prevent in-between-meal munchies. For other helpful hints on food planning and preparation, contact your local Diet Center Counselor.

Western Texas Places 2nd Among Nation's Top Teams

Zant, Appleton Claim National Individual Honors

JAMES ZANT national calf roping champ

BOZEMAN, Mont. -- Western Texas College rode to its highest finish ever in the National Finals Rodeo here Saturday, totalling 564 points to place second in the nation.

The Westerners were led in point production by James Zant, who became Western Texas' fourth national champion, and by Dave Appleton, who placed sixth.

The trip to the national finals was Western's second under third-year coach Bob Doty, whose team placed 11th last year. It was the school's third competition here as a team. In 1973 Coach Van Rigby guided the squad to a fifth place finish.

Sul Ross State University, led by Lambert brothers Cody and Chuck, ran away with the team championship. SRSU came up with 942 total points. Hartnell College was third with 555, followed by Southeastern Oklahoma State with 540.

Zant won the average in calf roping here by a scant one-tenth of a second, edging Larry Branco of Mercedes 32.9 to 33.0. The Western Texas cowboy, who led going into Saturday's short-go, roped his calf in 13.4 seconds. It left him fifth in the finals, but more importantly kept him in the lead for the average title.

His overall performance gave him the points he needed to become Western's fourth national champion as he won the national calf roping title with 782 points. He had been six points behind leader Cliff Goodrich of Tennessee heading into Saturday's round, but Goodrich, who finished second in the nation, had a no-time in the finals.

Western's first champion was two-time winner John Gass, who took saddle bronc crowns in 1973 and 1974. Rick Bradley won the steer wrestling title in 1976 and Jo Ann Whitehead won the barrel racing championship in 1977.

Teammate Appleton also copped individual honors by scoring 72 in the final go-round of the bareback riding. The score was the highest in the event for the rodeo. The strong showing enabled Appleton to place third in the average with 197 points - just eight behind winner Thomas Hickey of Eastfield.

Appleton also brought home national honors, placing sixth in the national standings of the bareback competition.

Larry Williams, who earned points for Western in the bullriding by reaching the finals, was less fortunate in the short-go and was bucked off.

Several other Westerners competed here but did not make the finals. Troy Reynolds had a 12.6 in calf roping and a 9.0 in steer wrestling in the first go-round but drew no-time in the second go-round. Todd Whatley came up with a no-time in the first-round of the calf roping and a 13.0 in the second go. He and Russ Smith had a no-time in the team roping.

James Garlick competed in the bareback, bullriding and team roping. He rode one head in each riding event but was bucked off in his other attempts and had a no-time in the team roping.

Appleton also competed in the saddle bronc and Zant in the steer wrestling. Each had one no-time out of the two long-gos, which kept them out of the finals.

Sul Ross' Cody Lambert won the all-around title with 381 points. Chuck Lambert was runner-up with 270.

Southeastern Oklahoma, led by all-around champion Sandra Pike, won the women's team title. New Mexico Junior College was second.

17th hole at Pebble Beach.

An impossible shot.

"For you," observed Tom Watson, "impossible."

For him, the United States Open golf championship.

Faced with that situation, a sensible player would think par.

Watson thought birdie. "My caddie, Bruce Edwards, said 'You can get it close,'" recalled Watson. "I said, 'I'm going to make it.'"

And when Watson coolly canned that impossible chip shot, it earned him the Open crown, beating Jack Nicklaus in a brilliant duel that had all the elements of high drama.

That birdie and another that followed on the final hole gave Watson 70 for the day and 282 for the tournament, two strokes better than Nicklaus, who was gunning for an unprecedented fifth Open crown.

It climaxed an 18-hole showdown between two of the game's finest players, that seemed to ebb and flow from hole to hole.

The day started with Watson sharing the three-round lead with Bill Rogers at 212, four strokes under par and three ahead of Nicklaus. Ten other players were bunched at par or better but this quickly became a two-man tournament, Nicklaus vs. Watson, separated by a couple of holes on the course and never more than a couple of strokes on the scoreboard.

Rogers, Watson's playing partner, could not believe what he had seen.

"Talk about being in absolute shock," said Rogers, shaking his head. "He could not have sat out there with 100 balls in his hand and pitched them to the hole and been better." "Try about 1,000," said Nicklaus.

Watson, ready for any challenge, said, "Let's go out and do it. I might make a little more money."

For now, the $60,000 first prize for the Open championship will have to do. Nicklaus, bidding for his 20th major championship, took $34,506 for second place while Rogers, Dan Pohl and Bobby Clampett finished third, four strokes behind, and earned $14,967 apiece.

The money seemed secondary for both Nicklaus and Watson.

Struggling Twins Top Likewise Rangers, 4-1

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - After Minnesota defeated the Texas Rangers, Twins Manager Billy Gardner was able to tell his son that somebody here can play baseball.

Gardner received a Father's Day card from his son Billy back in Massachusetts that said, "Hang in there, Slick" and also included a Casey Stengel quote, "Can anybody here play baseball?"

Sunday, the young Twins proved they can play by beating Texas 4-1.

"I thought the card was cute and the kids got me a win on Father's Day" said the elder Gardner, whose team has the worst record in the major leagues. "These are a bunch of kids, but I wouldn't want to feed them all."

Gardner was treated Sunday to a two-run homer by Dave Engel, a solo shot by Gary Ward and an RBI single by Bobby Mitchell.

The biggest treat, however, may have been the pitching of Brad Havens and Ron Davis. Havens, 3-5, pitched seven innings, including five innings of no-hit ball. Davis finished up for his fourth save and struck out the side in the ninth.

Thon Hitting Pushes Astros Over Padres

HOUSTON (AP) - The first several innings didn't look like much of a birthday party, but when the Houston Astros' game with the San Diego Padres Sunday was over, it was evident that Dickie Thon had a good time.

Thon had a hand in five of Houston's runs in a strange 8-4 Astros victory.

The 24-year-old shortstop scored two of the Astros first five runs and knocked in another with a sacrifice fly and then capped the evening with a double and a two-run triple.

Until Thon's late-hour fireworks, the game's most notable fact was that seven of the first nine runs were not knocked in by base hits. The Astros scored three runs on sacrifice flies and two more on ground outs in the first seven innings to account for their first five runs.

The two teams thus traded the lead until Terry Puhl's sacrifice fly in the seventh put Houston up 5-4.

Houston scored two runs in the first off losing pitcher Juan Eichelberger, 5-8, on ground ball RBIs by Ray Knight and Jose Cruz, and Thon's sacrifice fly in the second inning made it 3-0.

A triple by Garry

Templeton, a double by Sixto Lezcano, Kurt Bevacqua's run-scoring single and a Frank LaCorte balk enabled the Padres to tie the score in the fourth 3-3.

The Astros went ahead with an unearned run in the fifth knocked in by Knight's sacrifice fly, but San Diego countered in the sixth with a run scored on George Cappuzzello's wild pitch.

After Puhl's sacrifice fly put Houston ahead to stay, Denny Walling's RBI single and Thon's three-bagger gave Houston three more insurance runs.

The pitching victory went to Mike LaCoss, 2-1, the fourth Astros pitcher.
