Prices Climb In New York Stock Trading

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices climbed on the New York Stock Exchange today amid new indications the rate of inflation is easing. Trading was moderate.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which gained 8.50 points in the previous session, was ahead 4.78 to 750.16 shortly before noon. Advances outpaced declines, 742 to 454, among the 1,619 issues traded.

Volume came to roughly 10,800,000 shares, compared with 9,010,000 exchanged in the same span Thursday.

As the market opened, the Labor Department announced the Consumer Price Index edged up 0.6 per cent in January, the smallest monthly increase since April, 1974. News of the slowdown in inflation in the first month of the new year followed a revised Commerce Department report Thursday that the nation's fourth quarter inflation rate actually rose to an annual 14.4 per cent rate from the 13.7 per cent previously reported.

Fueling investor optimism, the Federal Reserve System late Thursday said the nation's money supply expanded $2.1 billion in the week ended Feb. 21 for the first time since mid-1974. An increase in the money supply, which brings downward pressure on interest rates, could help alleviate the recession, analysts said.

First National City Bank, the nation's second largest and a trendsetter on the interest rate front, lowered its prime lending rate for top business borrowers to 8 1/2 per cent from 8 3/4 per cent. The recent drop in the prime and other short-term interest rates has been a major market stimulant, drawing money into equities from money market instruments.

Most major stock groups advanced with the blue chips, and glamors paced the rally.

Pan American led the actives, up 1/4 to 4 1/4 on 304,700 shares, including a block of 238,600 shares at 4 1/4. The airline is negotiating with Iran for financial aid. American Telephone & Telegraph was second, up 1/4 to 50 1/4 on 155,300 shares. Zenith followed, ahead 1/4 to 132,900 shares.

Among the blue chips, Eastman Kodak climbed 2 1/4. The company reported higher fourth-quarter earnings than expected. International Paper picked up 1/4. Union Carbide 1/4, and U.S. Steel 1/4.

In the oil sector, Superior Oil surged 7 1/2. Phillips Petroleum 1, Schlumberger 1/4, and Exxon 1/4. Motors were slightly higher. General Motors rose 1/4. The nation's No. 1 automaker has announced plans to recall some of its workers from furloughs. Chrysler added 1/4.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were slightly higher in moderate trading. Research-Cottrell, the early volume leader, was ahead 1 1/4 to 10 1/4 on 56,300 shares, followed by Kaiser Industries, up 1/4 to 7 1/4 on 27,700 shares. New York Times "A" was third, off 1/4 to 9 1/4 on 27,600 shares.

At present, the target price for corn is $1.38 a bushel; for wheat, $2.05 a bushel; and for cotton, 38 cents a pound.

VERDUN ANNIVERSARY — Today marks the 57th anniversary of the Battle of Verdun one of the major battles and possibly the turning point of World War I. Rev. Ronald Harpster, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, owns a brass vase made for a shell casing picked up from the litter of the battle field by a young Illinois doughboy (inset). Paul Dunlop. The shell, made into a vase, was a gift to the late Mrs. Bessie May McCoy, mother of Rev. Harpster.

REPRESENTATIVE SAYS

Texas Needs Stricter Controls For Utilities

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Rep. Lyndon Olson, D-Waco, says it's time Texas began exercising stricter controls over utility companies, including regulating in-state long distance telephone rates.

"The present regulatory system—or lack of one—is no longer acceptable," Olson said. "Consumers and many state and local governmental officials alike have rightfully determined it is time for a thorough overhaul."

Olson introduced a bill Thursday providing for a state administrator of public utilities appointed by the governor to regulate the in-state long distance telephone rates and supervise utilities serving unincorporated areas of Texas.

The administrator and staff would be prohibited from engaging in business with the utilities they regulated. The utilities would be required to furnish complete operating statements to the administrator.

All utilities regulated by city councils would be required to file operating statements with the councils. The councils would also be permitted to hire experts to determine if proposed rate hikes were justified at the expense of the utility asking for the hike.

The House and Senate approved the pension benefit legislation Thursday and the bill now needs only Briscoe's signature to become law.

The legislature agreed to a conference committee report on the bill, which sponsors said needs to go into effect this week if the retired state workers are to get the benefit increases on their February paychecks.

The 12 per cent increase will remain in effect only until April 22 unless voters at that time approve a constitutional amendment authorizing larger state contributions to the teacher and state employee retirement funds.

Rep. Jim Nugent, D-Kerrville, said the state will spend about $80,000 a month to pay for the pension increases for February, March and April. If the proposed constitutional amendment passes, a lump sum state contribution of $21.8 million will be put into the fund to permanently finance the higher retirement benefits.

The legislature earlier this session passed a bill authorizing similar increases in retirement benefits for teachers.

Two bills, sponsored Thursday by Reps. Jim Nugent, D-Kerrville, Jon Newton, D-Berkeley, and Kay Bailey, R-Houston, provide the authority and funding for a state mass transit program.

The state Highway Department and Texas Mass Transportation Commission would be merged under one bill to form the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

"This change recognizes the reality of today's transportation picture: the dynamic urban growth of Texas has forced us to reevaluate the role of the automobile in the total transportation picture," Nugent said.

A public transportation fund would be created by taking one cent from the four-cent motor vehicle sales tax under the other bill.

"This proposal should yield approximately $40 to $50 million annually, which should enable Texas to at least get a head start on mass transit before urban expansion overtakes transportation planning," Nugent said.

The Senate defeated 21-6 Thursday a motion to require the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners to deposit all its earnings from licensing fees into the state treasury.

Sen. Mike McKinnon, D-Corpus Christi, who introduced the proposal to require all agencies to deposit their revenues in the treasury, led the fight against the chiropractic motion.

Sen. Bill Meier, D-Eules, who said he supports McKinnon's bill, sponsored the amendment to a bill tightening the requirements for a chiropractor's license.

McKinnon contended Meier's amendment would "water down my bill."

Sirica Sentences Trio To 8 Years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John N. Mitchell, H.R. Haldeman, and John Ehrlichman, Richard Nixon's most trusted aides, were sentenced today to up to eight years in prison for their part in covering up America's worst political scandal.

In writing perhaps the final major chapter of Watergate, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica also sentenced Robert C. Mardian to up to three years in prison.

All four were convicted New Year's day of conspiring to cover up the scandal. Mitchell had been Nixon's attorney general

Pastor Recalls Incidents For Verdun Battle

BY ALETHA DAVIS

Rev. Ronald Harpster, new pastor at Calvary Baptist Church, recalled World War I incidents as related by his mother today after learning Feb. 20 is the 57th anniversary date of the Battle of Verdun.

The battle, involving German Axis power and Allied Forces, resulted in thousands of dead and wounded soldiers on both sides of the trenches.

When the smoke cleared, doughboys walked the battlefields, collecting souvenirs one of which has been handed down to the Pampa pastor.

The item, a brass shell casing, is worked into the shape of a vase with "Verdun, 1918" in raised letters and numerals, marking the battle's anniversary.

Rev. Harpster said his mother died in 1962, but had received the gift from the returning veteran, "one of her beaux when she was a young girl," shortly after the war.

Rev. Harpster said he could not recall late stories concerning the veteran and did not know if he is still living.

"He must be from around Quincy, Illinois, because that's where my mother lived at the time," he recalled.

The shell casing is nearly 16 inches long and is three inches in diameter. It is distinctly marked as a fired shell. Makings on the casing, possibly and probably from a German gun, are clear. The pastor also has money and papers the veteran picked up from a German airplane crash in the area and later gave to Mrs. McCoy.

Rev. Harpster, his wife, Sylvia, and daughters, Melissa, 10, and Michelle, 7, reside at 932 Terry Rd.

"We love this part of the country," stated the pastor, "but I still love to hear my Missouri and Illinois relatives recall stories... like this one about the Battle of Verdun."

Henry Planning Peace Search

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger apparently intends to continue his step-by-step approach to peace in the Middle East—at the expense of Russian diplomacy.

"The step-by-step approach," State Department spokesman Robert Anderson said Thursday, "is still what the secretary believes is the best way to arrive at an eventual settlement and not to try and go after an overall settlement at this stage, because the issues are too complicated and one should do it step by step. That's very definite."

The implication was Kissinger would still like to put off reconvening the Geneva peace conference. The Soviets have been pushing for the conference, which would give them a more active diplomatic role in achieving a solution to the Mideast conflict.

Anderson also said Kissinger's planned return to the area in March would not be the final step in getting the Egyptians and Israelis to come to terms.

"(The March trip) will very definitely be another interim step," he said. "I think the main point here is to concentrate on the next interim step in the hope that this will be successful, and then consider what steps should be taken after that."

and campaign manager; Haldeman and Ehrlichman his chief White House aides; and Mardian was Mitchell's chief deputy at Justice and in the re-election campaign.

Sirica sentenced Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman to a minimum of 2 1/2 years to a maximum of eight years on charges of obstruction of justice, conspiracy and lying. Mardian, convicted only of conspiracy, was given a 10-month to three year sentence.

All four have said they will appeal their convictions, and they were released without bond. They showed no visible emotion on sentencing.

Sirica made no direct comment about the Watergate case as he pronounced the stiff sentences so far in the scandal except for the original burglars.

He said he had given "careful and serious thought to what the proper sentence should be" and considered "the deterrent effect on others."

The three-month trial, at which Nixon's Watergate tapes were played and re-played, was notable for the absence of the former President. Nixon, named an indicted co-conspirator by the grand jury, had been pardoned shortly before the trial by President Ford for any crimes he may have committed during his administration.

The four defendants made no personal statements after the sentencing, but lawyers for Haldeman and Ehrlichman made determined pleas for their clients.

John J. Wilson said that Haldeman was "caught up in a political maelstrom that caught a lot of other good people."

"Whatever Bob Haldeman did, so did Richard Nixon," Wilson said. "But Nixon is free and Haldeman has faced the agony of a trial."

"Yours is not unlike the power of pardon," he said. "Bob Haldeman stands here facing the possibility of suffering far more than Richard Nixon will ever suffer."

Ehrlichman's new lawyer, Ira Lowe, said his client would waive his right to appeal if he were given a "alternative sentence" of doing legal research for a group of Pueblo Indians in New Mexico.

Lowe said that Ehrlichman had been in contact with a Pueblo chief who felt there was a critical need in the remote area of the Southwest for someone with a law background to research the 8,000-member tribe's land titles.

Lowe read to the court part of a statement by Ehrlichman which noted he had been earlier convicted of violating the civil rights of Dr. Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

"I'm convicted of violating an individual's civil rights," Ehrlichman said in the statement. "Their (the Indians') rights are in question every day."

"I truly would like to do that rehabilitation myself," Ehrlichman said. "If I do it myself I will be infinitely better for it."

Mardian's wife Dorothy and Haldeman's college-age daughter Jan were the only family members in the courtroom. Neither displayed any reaction to the sentencing.

Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman each were given concurrent 20-month to five year sentences for obstruction of justice and conspiracy. In addition, they were given consecutive sentences of 10 months to three years on charges of either lying to Watergate investigators, or perjury.

"It is the intention of the court that each shall serve from 30 months to eight years in prison," Sirica said.

The historic trial focused on the days following the break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate. Dean and other witnesses who already admitted their guilt told of lies, shredded documents, manipulation of the CIA and FBI, and the payment of hush money—all aimed at concealing White House involvement in the burglary.

But the most damaging evidence came from the Oval Office of the White House—38 tapes of meetings between Nixon and the defendants during the height of the cover-up. Those tapes helped drive Nixon from office after he lost a Supreme Court battle to keep them secret on the grounds of executive privilege.

The four had run Nixon's re-election campaign. Haldeman and Ehrlichman worked from the White House, supervising nearly every major campaign decision. Mitchell left the Justice Department to become campaign director and brought Mardian as his assistant.

Dean and Magruder, who admitted lying to the Watergate grand jury, decided to cooperate with authorities.

Price Connected To Dairy Funds

By RANDY FITZGERALD
Capitol Hill News Service
WASHINGTON — The nation's largest dairy cooperative, Associated Milk Producers of San Antonio, though shaken by scandal in the past few years, contributed at least $8,000 to candidates for public office in Texas last year.

By far the largest amount—$4,000—went to then-Rep. Bob Price, R-Pampa, who has handily defeated for reelection by Jack Hightower, D-Vernon.

Price received numerous other sums of dairy money in addition to the $4,000 campaign donation. On Aug. 12, AMPI gave Price $200 at a fundraiser; four months prior to that, it contributed $500 to a Price dinner featuring then-Vice President Gerald Ford.

The congressman also received a $300 honorarium during this period for an address he gave to a dairy convention.

AMPI officials have been convicted of making illegal contributions to the 1972 presidential campaigns of Richard Nixon, Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., and Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark.

Former Treasury Secretary and Texas Gov. John Connally goes on trial April 1 here on charges he accepted a $10,000 bribe from AMPI attorney Jake Jacobson of San Antonio in 1971.

This series of events has not only marred the image of AMPI, but has made much of its campaign money, a bonanza to many candidates in previous years, a sort of butonic plague in 1974. Far fewer candidates were willing to accept the money.

Latest campaign reports on file with the Clerk of the House reveal AMPI spent $374,576 last year on the candidates of their choice. But the group reported nearly $1.7 million of cash on hand after the election, some of it money returned by candidates who did not want their names identified with the group.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, D, received $2,000 in dairy money on Oct. 23, 1974, even though he faced only nominal Republican opposition.

During the period 1968 to 1974, White had taken in at least $8,500 in dairy money. Another $137,000 had been contributed to a host of Texas politicians, including Sens. Lloyd Bentsen, D, and John Tower, R.

Former Democratic Secretary of State Bob Bullock, who easily won election as State Comptroller in November, obtained $500 from AMPI last year.

Another $100 in dairy money went to a reception honoring Rep. Wright Patman, D-Texas, who was then engaged in a tough primary race with two opponents.

U.S. ATTORNEY CLAIMS

Legal Action's Possible For Damaging Wetlands

TYLER, Tex. (UPI) — Legal action is possible against persons responsible for damaging the wetlands in Jefferson County, an act that could result in the extinction of many commercial fish and shellfish and "destroy our ecological balance," according to a U.S. attorney.

Roby Hadden, assistant in charge of the Eastern District of Texas with headquarters in Tyler, said Thursday anything that disturbs the flow of water over the wetlands, such as roads, piers, bulkheads, dredging or filling without a permit from the Corps of Engineers, is in violation of the Rivers and Harbors Act and could be prosecuted either as a civil or criminal violation.

Under civil prosecution, he said, a person found guilty could be ordered to restore the area, and under criminal prosecution, the violator could face a year in jail and a fine of up to $2,500.

"I'm more interested in enlisting the support of the people concerning the problem than in prosecuting, but at the same time, I wouldn't hesitate in taking the matter into the courts," Hadden said.

Hadden said he, an assistant and representatives of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers toured the coastline by helicopter Wednesday as part of a strengthening of enforcement of the U.S. Rivers and Harbors Act.

"We did observe several possible unpermitted activities which are being investigated for possible legal action," Hadden said. "For the most part, the area was in pretty good shape, but we did see some areas that had been permanently scarred or destroyed."

He would not disclose the location of the areas, but said they were scattered around the county and not all located in one spot.

"We had better begin to become concerned about our wetlands and the direction we are going, as the loss of the wetlands would destroy our ecological balance," he said.

He said biologists consider estuaries and coastal wetlands essential for the survival of perhaps three-fourths of the country's commercial fish and shellfish.

"The bulk of coastal game fish are dependent on these wetlands for both spawning and feeding grounds," he said. "The problem has not reached the serious stage in Texas yet, but I've been told the problem could be serious unless we take some action to preserve our wetlands."

Wetlands are any area covered by water at least part of the time, including areas along coastlines, bays, estuaries, rivers, creeks, lakes, marshes and swamps.

Jefferson County is the only area in the Houston District of Texas with wetlands, but Hadden said the county comprises a substantial portion of the wetlands along the Texas coast.

CHARGES ILLEGALITY

Sharp Files Suit On FDIC Action

HOUSTON (UPI) — Frank W. Sharp, the alleged mastermind behind the Texas stock fraud scandal that changed the face of Texas politics, has filed a $150 million lawsuit charging the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. illegally forced the closing of his Sharpstown State Bank.

Sharp's suit said the closing caused a run on the bank by its depositors and the result was the bank became insolvent.

The suit was filed Thursday on behalf of Sharp, two companies he controls and five other individual stockholders. It is believed to be the first time a complaint has been filed accusing the FDIC of illegally closing a bank.

The suit alleges the FDIC and regional director Quinton Thompson of Dallas said the run made Sharpstown insolvent but this is not true.

The suit claims on the day of the bank closing Thompson "illegally" demanded Sharpstown directors pass a resolution closing the bank on the grounds of insolvency.

Specifically, the suit claims Thompson promised the directors if they voted to close the bank the FDIC would sell the bank for "not less than $2 million in profit above the value of the bank stock."

The suit, however, points out the bank was never sold but put into receivership by state Banking Commissioner Robert E. Stewart who named the FDIC as the receiver.

Shortly after the bank closed, insured depositors were paid off by the FDIC, but no payments were made to stockholders.

The week before the bank closed on Jan. 25, 1971, the Securities and Exchange Commission filed suit against Sharp and 28 others charging they engaged in a stock fraud scheme.

There was a run on the deposits of Sharpstown and Dallas Bank and Trust and City Bank and Trust, both of Dallas.

Sharp received immunity from further prosecution for testifying about his part in an attempt to bribe state officials in return for the passage of favorable banking bills. A number of state officials were mentioned in 1972 in connection with the accompanying stock fraud scandal. Former House Speaker Gus Mutscher, a Fort Worth legislator and an aide were convicted of conspiracy to take bribes.

The stock fraud scandal also caused the defeat of two persons running in the 1972 Democratic gubernatorial primary — incumbent Preston Smith and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes.

Vermont became the nation's 14th state March 4, 1791.

Your Horoscope

By Jeanne Dixon

SATURDAY, FEB. 22

Your birthday today: Starts you on the road to a better way of life. Your first challenges are getting past an old limitation and overcoming inertia. Social movement is freer during the latter part of the year; relationships deepen and expand spontaneously. Today's natives are capable of setting special goals for themselves, usually pursue objectives that are not yet popular.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Negotiations proceed well on neutral grounds. Be wary of inviting strangers to share with you. Let it be your own project from the very beginning.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Repair or maintenance is in order. Attend to it before the problem gets out of hand and attracts attention. Discuss the circumstances later, if you must.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Be patient and keep your demands to a minimum as you manage alone today. Accept criticism as inevitable; consider the source when you reply.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Make do with what is on hand rather than trade on dubious prospects or hastily arranged credit. Hold a quiet discussion of long-range plans this evening.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Be sure what you do is constructive. Keep an eye on your possessions. Friends distract you with useless projects and unrealistic enthusiasm. Sentimental journeys lack fulfillment.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Check schedules and details of travel. Make sure all concerned are aware of what's happening. Have an alternative ready in social plans, but don't overdo it.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Be discreet or mind your own business while others learn from their own experience. If you can't be alone, choose lively people for company. Keep moving.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: If you are completely convinced you're right, go ahead and travel. Announce any decisions later; you may revise what you now think is final. The soft sell yields good results.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Take a holiday from your serious ventures. Seek cheerful companionship in open places and stay clear of shoptalk and gossip. Give thought to your health-care program.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Associates tend to let you down. You may have to carry more than your share of today's enterprises. Select leisure activities that fit the limitations of your group.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Secrets of yours and others become common knowledge. Matters are complicated by last-minute changes. Keep your own activity simple and direct.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Cheer up! You probably expected too much from this weekend. You can learn a great deal by watching the crowd and the way your loved ones conduct themselves today.

HUD Picks Dallas For Project Study

DALLAS (UPI) — Workers whose job it is to fill potholes in the city's roads may be helping other cities around the nation do a better job of street maintenance.

The city of Dallas could receive as much as $82,000 as part of special project that involves filling in the holes in city streets. It is all part of a demonstration of new techniques for improving the way municipal governments handle their own problems.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development announced Thursday Dallas and three other cities are taking part in the project.

Dallas along with Honolulu, Hartford, Conn., and Fort Wayne, Ind., were selected by HUD in national competition with a number of other cities, HUD said.

The four winners will launch demonstration projects next year to test the effectiveness of their individual proposals for increasing the efficiency of local government in maintaining parks and recreation facilities and streets and highways, two municipal service areas which local governments traditionally have had difficulty in providing.

Case studies will be prepared on the projects in all four winning cities, a HUD official said, and from them handbooks will be developed to guide local government officials in other communities in establishing their own productivity improvement program in these specific areas of municipal responsibility.

The Dallas project will involve a four-day seasonal work week for street pothole filling workers to increase crew efficiency. The new schedule will take advantage of increased daylight hours and overcome the inefficiency of "hot-patching" streets as a temporary measure due to climate and weather conditions.

Under the HUD contract held by Griffenhagen-Kroger of San Francisco, Dallas could receive as much as $72,000 in consultant services from GK to help carry out the local project, plus up to $20,000 in direct support to offset part of cost. The remaining cost of the project will be carried by the city itself.

Local officials will be spending extensive amounts of staff time in carrying out the project and will be able to draw upon GK technical resources while insuring the Dallas project relates directly to local priorities.

HUD Assistant Secretary Michael H. Moskow said state and local government expenditures across the country account for more than 13 percent of the Gross National Product.

"Even more significantly, in the period of 1967 to 1974, over three-quarters of the increase in the governmental sector of the GNP was at the state and local levels," he said. "Product improvement can help combat inflation in this sector by devising ways to provide more and better quality services without a commensurate rise in public expenditures."

The first play written in America, "Prince of Parthia," was completed in 1767 in Philadelphia.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe supports the resolution, and gave President Ford a similar message during a meeting with the chief executive in Houston.

Rep. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, said the resolution sent to members of the Texas congressional delegation is a waste of time.

"Let's quit playing Congress and quit sending resolutions up there, and if we want to communicate with them let's communicate individually," Parker said. "They're not going to pay any attention to it, we're wasting time."

In other legislative action Thursday, both houses agreed to a conference committee report on a bill giving retired state employees an immediate 12 percent increase in pension benefits. The bill needs only Briscoe's signature to become law and permit the state workers to get the higher benefits on their February paychecks.

The House also approved and sent to the governor a bill changing the state's observance of Veterans' Day from the fourth Monday in October back to the traditional Nov. 11 date.

Solons Voice Opposition To Fuel Rationing

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas legislators say they oppose any plan for federal gasoline rationing because it will strangle the state's rural economy and cause unwarranted traffic problems in urban areas.

House members voted 83-35 Thursday to send a message to Congress asking for rejection of any energy proposals providing for gasoline rationing or for cutting the oil depletion allowance.

The proposal, due Senate consideration Monday, also asks the federal government to withhold fuel allocations from states which refuse to permit offshore oil exploration or refinery construction for energy production.

"What we are trying to do is encourage some of our northeastern states to see if there isn't something more they can do to get their own energy," said Rep. Bill Coody, D-Weatherford.

Rep. Jon Newton, D-Beeville, one of the resolution's sponsors, said northeastern states are now consuming energy produced in Texas, but are not producing any energy resources on their own.

"We're using up our resources and in 10 or 15 years they (northeastern states) are going to have to start drilling and we're going to be buying energy back from them at about five times the rate they're giving us now," Newton said.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe supports the resolution, and gave President Ford a similar message during a meeting with the chief executive in Houston.

Rep. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, said the resolution sent to members of the Texas congressional delegation is a waste of time.

"Let's quit playing Congress and quit sending resolutions up there, and if we want to communicate with them let's communicate individually," Parker said. "They're not going to pay any attention to it, we're wasting time."

Annual Area I Meeting Slated By FHA Members

Representatives from 195 local chapters of Future Homemakers of America and Home Economics Related occupations will convene in Lubbock Feb. 28 and March 1 on the Texas Tech University campus for their annual meeting according to Mrs. Ima Dee Halle, Area Advisor from the Texas Education Agency.

A delegation of approximately 40 Pampa High School and 30 Pampa Junior High students will depart from PHS at 1 p.m. Friday to attend the annual two-day event.

Sponsors attending will be Nita Williams, Frances Nooncaster, Kim Lester, Esther Colville, Earletha Alexander, Gay Lee Skaggs, and Don Nelson, vocational supervisor.

Local candidates participating in the FHA Area I Choir are Renel Tigrett, Stacy Boddy, Dottie Johnston, Frances Hair, and Lesa Terry. Dottie Johnston will also audition for the state choir.

Randy Cain, of Pampa, National DECA President, will speak on "The Consequences of Involvement" at the Saturday breakfast for area officers, outgoing and incoming, at the University Center of Texas Tech. Friday, Evening, Feb. 28.

A banquet, reception, election of new officers at the Texas Tech University Center, and a talent show in the Lubbock Auditorium will highlight the Friday evening activities. The convention has as its theme, "Involvement Begins With Me." A reception will be held at 6:30 p.m. to honor members that have earned any level of Encounter growth for individual accomplishment.

Council Slates Monday Meeting

The Gray County Home Demonstration Council will meet Monday, Feb. 24 at 9:30 in the Courthouse Annex Meeting room for the regular business meeting.

Business will include final plans for working at the stock show concession stand, guidelines for the 4-H scholarship to be given and the Heart Seminar, Feb. 25 in the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame room.

All members are urged to be present.

during the year. Approximately 1,000 are expected. Ann Moore, Hale Center, Area Second Vice President, and Terrie Walker, Area First Vice President, Tascosa High School in Amarillo, will reside, assisted by students from Coronado High School and O. L. Staton Junior High School, Lubbock.

The HERO banquet, for members from gainful employment programs, will be emceed by Cindy Harvey, Muleshoe, Third Vice President and assisting will be Jini La Roe, Happy, State Historian. The entertainment will be provided by the Spirit of America Singers from Wayland College, Plainview, under the direction of Dr. O.J. Bryson. Harvey Bass, Chairman of the HERO advisory Board, Muleshoe, will speak on "The Pros of Being a HERO."

Dani Reinstein, Area I President from Coronado High School, Lubbock, will preside at the meeting of the delegates. Sheila Hill, Area I Parliamentarian, Amarillo High School, will direct the interviews of the officer candidates and the balloting by local chapter delegates.

Margala Lamb, Area Fourth Vice President, Vega, will be costumed as Lucy while she emcees the hour and half talent show at the Lubbock Auditorium following the theme "Happiness Is." The Spirit of America Singers from Wayland College will kick off the program to be followed by talent entries from fifteen different FHA chapters across Area I.

Area I is composed of all schools from 38 counties of the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas. It boasts 195 chapters and 7,000 members. Members are in two categories - those from regular vocational homemaking programs and those form the cooperative part time and pre-employment laboratory courses.

Saturday, March 1. A breakfast for area officers, outgoing and incoming, at the University Center of Texas Tech, will kick off the final day's activities. The Lubbock Auditorium will be the site for the two general sessions. The Sharon Songers and the Guys, a choir composed of juniors and seniors from local chapters will perform preceding the morning session. The choir will be directed by Wayne Miller, Plainview High School Choir Director.

Dani Reinstein, Area President from Coronado High School, Lubbock, will preside during the morning. Special greetings will be given by Ed Irons, Superintendent of Schools, Lubbock; James H. Whiteside, State Board Member, Lubbock; Mrs. Hoyt Wright, Area I Young Home Maker President, Lubbock; Walt Oliver, Information Director for Plains cooperative Oil Mills, Lubbock and Tam Terry, Area I FFA President, White Deer. Response to these will be made by Terrie Walker, First Vice President, Tascosa High School, Amarillo.

The area officers will host a luncheon in the University Center at noon for their school administrators and advisors in recognition of their contributions to the FHA organization.

Terrie Walker will preside during the second general session. Another Area I FHA choir, the Ima Dee Singers, composed of freshmen and sophomores will sing two numbers preceding the afternoon program. Miller will again be directing.

Special program items of the afternoon will be the president's address, a report by area officers of "Search" - the special involvement workshops with local chapters, special musical

The meeting will conclude following the installation of new officers by Jini La Roe, State Historian from Happy High School.

Sculptures And Paintings In Gallery Art Exhibit

An exhibition of paintings and sculpture by Michael McCullough will be on display Monday, Feb. 24 through Friday, Feb. 28 in the Pampa Fine Arts Gallery, 512 W. Kingsmill. Gallery hours will be from 2 to 5 p.m.

Michael McCullough has been a resident of the Texas

Panhandle since 1966. He currently lives in Amarillo with his wife, Carla, and devotes full time to painting and bronze sculpture. While acquiring his Masters of Arts degree, Michael taught painting and Lettering Design for two years as a graduate assistant in the Art Department at West Texas State University.

He had held watercolor workshops throughout the Panhandle, as well as several one-man shows in watercolor and bronze.

McCullough finds watercolor to be his favorite media because it is the most difficult to master. He is interested in painting the land and sculpting the people as well, and sees his work as belonging to no particular era, but as depicting the general nostalgia of history.

American Bible Society Updates Language Count

NEW YORK — Books of the Bible have been published in 1,549 languages, according to the American Bible Society's annual updating of its official Scripture language count.

The new figure represents as of the end of 1974 the total number of languages and dialects in which at least one book of the Bible has been published since the invention of printing. Twenty-three new languages were added in 1974.

The Bible Society's publication of a complete New Testament in Yawpe brings that South Pacific language to the list for the first time. The other 22 new entries represent publication of individual Biblical books in languages ranging from Aka, spoken in Nigeria, to the Tsamkwe dialect of the Ixu (Kung) language of South-West Africa. (The "—" represents a click.)

The total of 1,549 languages includes the publication of the complete Bible in 257 languages, the New Testament in 368, and one or more individual books in an additional 924. The report also lists many new publications in languages previously counted.

"Today's" versions in several languages — Danish, Bengali, Hindi, and three Philippine languages, Cebuano, Ilokano, and Tagalog — indicate widespread interest in updated translations. "Good News for Modern Man," the American Bible Society's New Testament in Today's English Version, has now reached a circulation of 47,000,000, the Bible Society reports.

Cooperation between Bible

Societies, churches, and various Christian organizations concerned with Bible translation is evident in the list of new publications. Teams of experts in linguistics and Bible translation specialists are supported by the United Bible Societies, a worldwide fellowship of 57 national Bible Societies. These consultants travel widely, meeting with local translation committees usually consisting of native speakers of the language.

The American Bible Society, founded in 1816, is a non-profit, non-denominational organization whose only purpose is the translation, publication and distribution of the Holy Scriptures, without doctrinal note or comment. The Society is supported through contributions from churches and individuals. Through the United Bible Societies it supplies Scriptures to more than 150 countries and territories.

Lutherans To Observe Prayer Day

Zion Lutheran Church will join congregations throughout the Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod on Feb. 23, in celebrating Lutheran Hour Sunday as a day of special prayers for the world-wide Gospel radio ministry, the Rev. Timothy Koenig, pastor, said. Now in its 42nd season of broadcasting, The Lutheran Hour is the world's largest non-governmental radio operation with offices here and in 17 countries around the world. For the past 20 years Dr. Oswald Hoffmann has served as speaker on the worldwide and domestic English language programs.

"The theme for the 1975 observance is 'Discover God's Word,'" Gus Meide, president of the International Lutheran Laymen's League, sponsor of the program, said. "This is designed to remind Christians of the wonders of God's creation and to remind them of their duty as Christians to spread the story of God's love for His creation to all men." Meide, of Dallas, said the Lutheran Hour is broadcast by nearly 1,000 radio stations around the world; is carried in 45 languages and has a listening audience numbering in the millions in 125 lands. "To bear witness to Jesus Christ, offering the world the life and salvation which God gives to all who believe in Jesus Christ is the mission of The Lutheran Hour," Dr. Hoffmann said. And since it's first broadcast in 1930, with Dr. Walter A. Maier as speaker, the aim and content of the program has remained unchanged.

About 1,100 stations in the United States and Canada carry Dr. Hoffmann's English language message each week, and an additional 50 domestic programs are broadcast in French, Spanish, Finnish, Slovak, Chinese and Japanese. Locally the Lutheran Hour is heard over Station KPND at 8:35 p.m. Sundays.

Besides The Lutheran Hour, the International Lutheran Laymen's League, an auxiliary organization of The Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod, sponsors Preaching Through the Press, a print evangelism program. It is also co-sponsor with the LCMS of "This Is The Life," an Emmy-winning television ministry.

SA Plans Special Film

The film entitled "The Final Hour" will be shown Sunday evening Feb. 23. Screening will be during the service at The Salvation Army, 701 S. Cuyler.

The film says "The human race is on a collision course with its day of reckoning." The Bible, science and the news media all agree — there is not much time left. It's all leading to Earth's Final Hour as foretold.

This film will introduce a study on the book of "The Revelation" to be presented by Capt. Bart Deggs on Tuesday evenings at 7. The public is invited.

Baptists Go Over $2 Million Mark

DALLAS — For the first time in history, Texas Baptists recorded a $2-million giving month during January.

In the first month of 1975, churches and missions affiliated with the Baptist General Convention of Texas gave $2,187,593 through the Cooperative Program to state, national and world-wide causes. The Cooperative Program is the way Southern Baptist Convention-affiliated churches support a variety of activities ranging from seminaries to foreign missionaries.

The January total is $530,928 above the budget. It compares with $1,994,221 during January a year ago.

In noting the achievement, Dr. James H. Landes, executive secretary of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, said:

"Since we have achieved the first $2-million month in our history, I feel this provides the impetus for reaching our goal of $20,606,000 for God's work during 1975.

"It is a thrilling thing to see the churches of Texas catch the vision of what Texas Baptists together can do."

The $20,606,000 goal for 1975 commemorates the 50th anniversary of the Cooperative Program.

January also was designated 100 per cent month, and all churches were asked to contribute.

According to Cecil Ray, director of the Texas Baptist stewardship division, 3,333 of the 3,854 churches gave during January, amounting to 86.45 per cent.

"This is the best we have ever done," Raysaid.

Assembly Of God Slates Conference

According to an announcement by the pastor, R.L. Courtney, the First Assembly of God Church will be the setting for a "Conference on the Holy Spirit" continuing throughout next week.

This series of presentations will emphasize the Scriptural teachings on the Holy Spirit showing what the Bible reveals on the subject.

The featured speaker for this "Conference" will be William E. Kirschke of Arlington Texas. Kirschke is an international recognized Sunday School leader, Convention, and Camp Meeting Speaker. His more recent responsibilities involved the administration and program of more than 9,000 Sunday Schools throughout the United States.

He has been recognized as an efficient and successful leader in the work and ministry of the church having been commissioned to promote Evangelism and Sunday School work in Australia. During the year he spent in Australia he also ministered in Indonesia, Singapore, and in the Philippine Islands.

Kirschke has conducted workshops for Pastors, Sunday Schools Superintendents, and Teachers throughout the world. He is the author of a book, "The 20th Century Challenge to the Church in Building", which has been used in several countries as a challenge to Church leaders as to what can be accomplished today.

The appearance of this outstanding Christian leader will provide an opportunity for people of all churches to share in teaching and valuable instructions in areas pertaining to the Spirit Filled Life.

The meetings will begin with Kirschke filling the pulpit on Sunday morning at Calvary Assembly of God Church during the eleven o'clock worship hour. At 6:30 Sunday evening Kirschke will minister at The First Assembly of God Church.

The activities will continue nightly at 7:30 in the facilities of First Assembly located at the corner at South Cuyler at Brown Street.

If more information is desired regarding this function you may call the Church Office at 665-5941 or 665-6594.

Interim Pastor To Leave City

Dr. Bobby L. Stalcup, Stated Supply of the First Presbyterian Church, 525 N. Gray, will be in the Pulpit this Sunday at the 10:45 a.m. Worship Service. He has chosen for his Sermon Title, "Viewpoint of a Pilgrim." Scripture readings will be from Isaiah and Hebrews. Dr. Stalcup has been serving the Pampa Church as Interim Pastor since June 1, 1974. His services will terminate March 1 when a permanent Pastor will arrive in Pampa.

Assisting the Pastor in the Pulpit this Sunday will be Darrel Cory. Special music will be provided by Soloist Darrel Cory who will sing "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Doris Good, Church Organist.

Sunday evening, 6:30 p.m. there will be a Covered-dish Supper in Fellowship Hall to honor the Stalcup Family.

Church School begins at 9:30 a.m. for all ages and Worship Service begins at 10:45 a.m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

The Salvation Army

A Chinese Christian once prayed: "Lord, revive Thy Church, beginning with me." May we ask God to show us His will in our lives even if it means a change. What is His will for your life?

Jesus says, "If your hand causes you to stumble, cut it off. If your eye causes you to sin tear it out." Simply Jesus is saying: It's worth any sacrifice to do God's will, to give up your desires, plans, aims and ambitions.

You remember the story He tells of the man in search of pearls. He says the man finally found a pearl of great worth, sold everything he had to buy it. Is God's will worth everything to us?

Let's put it this way — to do God's will must be put before everything else in your life. Now don't get the idea that if we do God's will, that there will be no more trouble, no bother, no unpopularity, no difficulty, no obstacles, that you will have all the money and happiness that you would want. But do know that if you do the right thing, even if it costs something, you will have a deep abiding satisfaction. And that if you fail to do the right thing then there is a growing dissatisfaction of guilt in your heart. So doing the will of God will give satisfaction and peace.

But how can you know the will of God? We can't just reach upon the shelf and secure God's will. God has already given guidance for doing His will, in the person of His Son Jesus.

If you want to know God's will, look to Jesus. Some people do the will of God now and then as they feel like it, but in Jesus, God's will is done. When we see Jesus we see what? Someone who fed the hungry, healed the sick, comforted the sad, who was the friend of outcasts and sinners. We Christians should be like this.

You might think that Christianity is in going to church twice on Sunday, paying your tithes, etc. That's not Christianity. Christianity is loving God and loving man. You cannot do one without the other. The only way you can prove your love to God is to love your fellowman. This is God's will.

But so many do not love their fellowman. Oh, they never get drunk; they never swear, they don't commit adultery, they pay their debts, but don't love their fellowman either.

So pray with me: Lord revive Thy Church beginning with me."

Panhandle Facilities In Center Of Controversy

By PAUL SIMS

The Dome at Borger has lately been the subject of much controversy.

It appears just about every organization in Borger wants the Dome, the large structure located next to Bulldog Stadium. According to the groups who after the Dome, it isn't often used and it's a shame such a fine structure has been "put to bed."

The annual Borger fish fry, local stock show and Borger Boat and Ski Club's annual festivities are about the extent of the Dome's use. It was originally built for the Oil Exposition, which has since been done away with.

The county has several options with what it can do with the Dome:

1. Sell it to the school district, which would turn the facility into an athletic area.
2. Trade it to the school district for the Old Coronado Elementary School.
3. Trade the dome for Coronado Elementary School and ask the school district for a smaller amount of money.
4. Give it to the Hutchinson County Historical Survey Committee, which wants the Dome to house a new museum.

5. Turn it into a juvenile detention center.

6. Keep it.

The school district and historical committee seem to be the forerunners in who, if anybody, is going to get the Dome.

At a special meeting Tuesday, the Borger School Board said it is willing to trade the county any vacant school facility for the aluminum Dome. The structure would then house one or two basketball courts, two volleyball courts, two double tennis courts, and three badminton courts.

Since Borger, like Pampa, is considering girls' basketball as an addition to the high school athletic program, the gyms at the Dome would provide a place to practice. Or the girls could practice at Borger High School, while the volleyball team moves into the Dome.

The Dome wouldn't change things on the boys' end, since the Bulldog basketball team practices in the Sam Houston Fieldhouse, site of all Borger home games.

John White, chairman of the historical committee, has angered some of those in favor of turning the facility into an athletic area. White was quoted in Wednesday's Borger News-Herald as saying, "It would be a terrible waste to use that kind of facility for a gym."

The Dome isn't the only question causing facility in the area. Amarillo's Civic Center has been into the spotlight as the most "unused facility in the Panhandle."

Tom Gilly, Amarillo Palo Duro basketball coach, publicly criticized Amarillo De Walker and the school district, which only allows Amarillo teams to play each other in the Civic Center. Gilly is miffed at the fact Pampa and Borger fans are often turned away because they arrived at one of the Amarillo gyms too late.

Gilly is also peeved that the Amarillo schools, unlike Pampa and Borger, don't have a full-time basketball assistant, and also that there are no recreation programs which would allow athletes, basketball players in particular, to work out during non-school months.

Amarillo High basketball coach Gary Abercrombie, in his first year in this district after coaching at Liberal Kan., would also like to see the all district games involving the Amarillo teams played in the Civic Center. Abercrombie would also like to have a full-time assistant, and would especially like a city-wide summer recreation program.

But wanting something doesn't really make Abercrombie upset when he doesn't get it. "I've been to the administration and asked that changes be made to help our program in the area of a basketball assistant. We have to use a football man. And in the area of a summer program, I've gone and asked for some help."

"They really haven't had time to react. Until they have time, I don't feel like criticizing. I'll give them time. They told me they're working on it and I'm going to take their word for it."

Abercrombie adds, "I'm willing to play all our district games in the Civic Center if it will help basketball in Amarillo. I think it would but I'm not avid either way."

At Liberal, Abercrombie worked with an extensive summer recreation program, similar to the ones at Pampa and Borger. "There's no doubt. Our summer programs are lagging behind the rest of the state and we need to do something. But I really haven't been here long enough to say what."

Pampa, 'Dogs In Key Games

When two teams are battling for a playoff berth and both are undefeated, neither can afford to lose, particularly when those two teams will play in the final game of the regular season.

Pampa and Borger are in that position today. The Harvesters visit Amarillo High in what is likely to be a dogfight, while Borger's Bulldogs host tough Tascosa today.

Both Pampa and Borger are 3-0 in the second half of district play. Should both win tonight, the winner of Tuesday's Pampa-Borger game, set for Harvesters Fieldhouse, will take on first-half winner Tascosa for the district championship.

The only other district game today is meaningless as far as a title goes, as Caprock (1-2) and Palo Duro (0-3) play in the Amarillo Civic Center.

Although Amarillo High is 0-3 this half and only 3-7 overall, Pampa cannot afford to take the Sandies lightly. Amarillo has only been "blown out of the gym" once, as Pampa won, 70-46, in the first half.

"We've been pretty close to everybody," said AHS coach Gary Abercrombie. "I guess the most we got beat is by you guys up there. I hope we play better this time. I don't know why we didn't play up there; we just had one of those games."

Abercrombie says to beat Pampa you need a strong bench.

That's one reason senior guards Scott Esler and Skip Howard will not be starting tonight. Howard scored 15 points against Pampa when the teams last met and is averaging 10.6 points this season.

In place of those two will be 6-2 sophomore Mike Smith and 6-1 junior Terry McKee. Other starters will be 6-5 junior post Larry Lamb, 6-4 junior forward Gary Holcomb and 6-1 senior Perry Hughes.

"We've been using eight kids. We're starting our younger kids now — this late in the year it doesn't really matter. If we win, it would give us a lot of momentum going into next year. We're basically now playing for pride."

Amarillo High nearly upset Tascosa in a 69-63 loss Tuesday. "I think we played pretty well at times," said Abercrombie. "We lost Holcomb (sprained ankle) early in the third quarter and that hurt us quite a bit."

The Sandie coach added, "We feel that we're going to be much stronger next year. We're tickled to death that we're going to be a contender. Our young kids are playing well."

Pampa starters tonight will be 6-6 senior Howie Lewis, 6-1 senior Nick Slaymaker, 6-1 junior Richard Lane, 6-2 senior Billy Wilbon and 6-0 senior Robert Young. That lineup has been the one of the most balanced at Pampa in years and has won six games in a row and 11 of their last 13.

Likely to see a great deal of action tonight are sophomores Donnie Hughes and Brian Bailey.

Tipoff time is set for 7:30 p.m. The junior varsities will tangle at 6 p.m.

Caprock Bounces Volleyers

AMARILLO — Pampa opened district volleyball play unsuccesssfully, failing to surprise Caprock, 15-11, 15-7, Thursday in the Langhorn gym. In the B-team match, Pampa won, 12-15, 16-14, 15-3.

"Those schools (in Amarillo) are good over there. We have looked better," said Pampa coach Lynn Wolfe.

"They're just so fast, a real defensive team. They were all over the floor all the time."

Gwen Steeler, playing in place of injured Wanda Jernigan, who has a pulled leg muscle, served well, according to Mrs. Wolfe.

Caprock, Amarillo city champion this year, did not hit a bad serve all evening.

The Harvesters next play Palo Duro Monday in Harvester Fieldhouse.

Pastorini glanced at former Oilers coach Sid Gillman and let fly.

"Sid's a little Neanderthal. He's the only coach who makes bed check with a torch light," Pastorini said. "And if you don't think that scares the hell out of our black players, you're crazy."

Then there was this line. "No matter what anyone says about Sid Gillman, he will always be known by one word to me, and that is 'coach,' and for everybody who has ever traveled on an airplane, you realize coach is what you get stuck with when you can't travel first class," Pastorini said.

Gillman didn't retaliate because as the rooster at a fund raising dinner he was obliged Thursday night to take the verbal abuse from not only Pastorini but also from his former players, fellow coaches and friends.

The comical affair, though, had a sad farewell atmosphere because Gillman last week resigned as Oilers general manager in a dispute with owner K.S. "Bud" Adams.

Gillman coached the Oilers to a respectable 7-7 season in 1974, but stepped down to general manager to ease his troubles with Adams.

UCLA moved a step closer to its ninth straight conference title by outscoring Washington State, 8-2, in the final five minutes to win. Dave Meyers scored 19 points as UCLA took an 11-point half-time lead.

AT LOCH NESS

If Not A Monster, Then What Is It?

LONDON (UPI) — The ancient chronicles say that when St. Columba visited King Brude of the Northern Picts in 700 A.D. he came across the funeral of a man who had been savaged by a water beast out of Loch Ness.

And ever since that day, one might say, eager observers have scanned Britain's largest, deepest and most mysterious freshwater lake for a sight of the aquatilis bestia that intrigued St. Columba 1200 years ago.

Today, as every day, tourists and others go about their business with an eye on the waters in the hope the inspiration for the durable legend of a monster in the loch will finally surface long enough to be clearly photographed and described.

The Loch Ness Phenomena Investigation Bureau says there have been more than 4000 claimed sightings of horned sea serpents and all the other grotesques the mind of man can imagine. Of these some 200 are worth thinking about.

Well, say 201, for in August, 1960, together with half a dozen others I saw something swimming strongly in the lake, kicking up a wake like a small outboard boat. It was three-quarters of a mile (1200 m) from where we stood at Foyers and none of us could see it distinctly. It is interesting that our theories ranged from seals to otters to a school of salmon. No one mentioned the word "monster" as it disappeared into the shadows across the one-and-one-half-mile-wide lake.

But it could have been — and that's the sort of thing that keeps the story alive.

This has been a thin season for sighting the Loch Ness Monster, who only got his name some 40 years ago. The local correspondent of the Inverness Courier reported in the issue of May 2, 1933, on the experience of Mr. and Mrs. John Mackay, who claimed they saw "an enormous animal rolling and plunging until it disappeared with a great surge of water" beneath the loch.

When the editor read this report he said: "Well, if it's as big as he says it is, we just can't call it a creature. It must be a real monster."

The Mackays, it should be noted, happened to own a hotel on the loch and whatever else the monster was it was also a fillip to the tourist industry.

None of the recent sightings (mostly indistinct, bulky objects partly rising from the water) added any credibility to the legend. But neither did they discourage those who believe.

Six swimmers who competed in a race in the loch late last summer took the precaution of insuring themselves against attack by the monster — the first time, their coach said, anyone had ever taken out antimonster insurance. None of the swimmers was willing to rely on the sign of the cross with which St. Columba sent the beast scurrying to its watery lair.

Loch Ness is 24 miles (38 km) long and 975 feet (297 m) deep, opaque only a few feet below the surface and with currents that do not yield up the dead who drown in the chilly waters.

Nicholas Witchell, author of the most recent book on the monster (The Loch Ness Story), is most impressed by an incident in 1972 when the sonar of the Loch Ness Investigation Bureau boat showed a huge black shape and fish began leaping from the water in their apparent anxiety to be elsewhere.

There have been photographs alleging to be the monster — one of the most famous shows a long neck like a dinosaur's out of the water. There is also some film of an object moving through water but neither has convinced the skeptics.

The Loch Ness Monster has been sought by all manner of means — miniature submarines and frogmen, helicopter and electronic devices. Benito Mussolini's newspaper claimed an Italian bomber pilot killed it. Nazi Germany's Josef Goebbels denounced it as a tourist agency invention.

A man who wanted to swim the loch last year had harpoon gunners as bodyguards. A scotch whisky firm offered one million pounds ($2.4 million) for its capture. Scottish members of parliament tried to get it protected by law. A year ago a Japanese expedition spent several hundred thousand dollars vainly looking for it although the three submarines they brought with them were of no practical use in the dark waters.

"There is no real foundation for the monster story," says William McKay, former Provost of Inverness.

Quite so. But what was that swimming before my eyes on a clear summer evening in August, 1960?

BATTERED CHILDREN

True Horror Stories Are On The Increase

Editor's Note: This is the second of three articles on child abuse.

By TRUDY MORRISON
Copley News Service

Two badly burned children are taken to the hospital.

The parents say the children had accidentally fallen into a tub of hot water. But the burns were only from the waist down on both children, indicating they had been dipped in the water. The little boy was in the hospital for several months. The little girl died.

A 6-week-old baby is taken to the hospital with a broken leg.

When he is 3 months old, he returns to the hospital with a fractured skull, bruises and human bite marks all over his body. He is near death.

A 3-year-old is repeatedly left in the care of a 7-year-old. The child needs medication because he is subject to seizures. After a day without medicine, he has a seizure. He lived only because the 7-year-old went for a neighbor who took him to the hospital.

A child is taken to the hospital by his mother after she picked him up at a baby sitter. There are welts on his buttocks and the back of his legs where the sitter had beaten him.

A mother takes her little girl to the hospital with burns in numerous places all over her body. The mother's boyfriend has burned her with a cigarette lighter.

A 3-month-old baby is dead when she is taken to the hospital. Her 16-year-old mother says she fell out of a swing. These cases are all real.

They are not isolated cases. Parents Anonymous, an organization for abusive parents, says some 685 cases of child abuse were reported nationally each day in 1973. The year's total figure was 250,000.

In San Francisco, 125 cases of child abuse were reported in 1973, but the head of the San Francisco Child Abuse Council said the number accounts for perhaps only 10 per cent of the actual cases.

Oregon residents reported 350 cases of child abuse in 1973, while Mississippians reported 91 cases, compared with 52 the year before.

Birmingham, Ala., had 144 cases reported for the first nine months of 1974. Atlanta bears of 48 child abuse cases each month.

"The problem is big," says G. Lewis Penner, executive director of the Juvenile Protective Society in Chicago.

"There are no good statistics, but a conservative estimate would be that there are about 50,000 severely abused or neglected children in the Chicago area."

"There is a New York City study completed in 1973. It confirmed 3,000 cases of incest there every year for three straight years."

It has been the experience of Sue Landrum, a staff member at the Aurora office of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, that it is boys, 2 years old or younger, who are most often the victims of abuse.

An emergency room nurse set the age at 6.

"I have rarely seen a case over 6 years old," the nurse said. "Children over 6 are smart enough to go to someone else."

Landrum also has found the abused child is often different in some way. He may be handicapped or aggressive or remind the parent of another disliked relative.

In a family of several children, it is not uncommon that only one child is abused while his brothers and sisters are not.

Frequently the parent will describe the abused child as bad or stupid. Many of these parents will say openly that they hate their children.

The child who is abused, as opposed to neglected, is denied a child's normal activities.

"Parents who abuse their children," says Leontine Young in her book, "Wednesday's Children," "tend to be possessive of them."

"Children are consistently denied normal activities, prohibited the usual recreational and educational opportunities open to other children in the community at their economic level."

"In effect, the children are withdrawn from the contacts and experiences which might teach them that not all families are like their own."

"Withdrawn behavior in children is more frequently observed than aggressive action."

"It is not behavior that makes trouble for the parents or for the community. It is the behavior of hopelessness, despair and defeat."

"These youngsters do not risk overtures that can bring rebuff or initiatives that might end in defeat."

Next: Abuse at all levels of society.

The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Friday, Feb. 21, the 52nd day of 1975 with 313 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Mercury and Mars.

The evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Venus.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Pisces.

American educator Alice Freeman Palmer was born Feb. 21, 1855.

On this day in history:

In 1878, the New Haven, Conn., Telephone Co., published the first directory of its kind. It contained the names of 50 subscribers.

In 1885, the Washington Monument was dedicated, 37 years after the start of construction.

In 1965, Black Muslim leader "Malcolm X" was fatally shot at a rally in New York City.

In 1971, 60 persons were killed as tornadoes swept Mississippi and Alabama.

A thought for the day: American politician Wendell Willkie said, "Our sovereignty is not something to be hoarded but something to be used."

TOURISM INCREASES

CAIRO (UPI) — The number of tourists to Egypt reached 700,000 last year, an increase of 33 per cent over the year before, according to Cairo newspaper.

Quoting Tourism Minister Ibrahim Naguib, the newspaper said the 1975 figure is expected to reach one million. He said plans are underway to increase hotel capacity by 7,000 beds in 1975-76, and to 10,000 beds in 1976-77 "to face the increasing flow of tourists into Egypt."

Naguib said last year's visitors — mostly from other Arab countries — spent $187.5 million.

SCOUTS' DAISY
NEW YORK (UPI) — The Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. are out with a new magazine. It is called Daisy. It's for the youngest members, Brownies and Juniors, six to 11.

It reports on what little girls are doing in scout troops across the nation. It also does a bit of crusading. To wit: Penny Power features original posters by girls urging people to stop hoarding pennies.

NEW TOUR
MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet tourist officials said the American company Eastern Odyssey tours will offer a new tour to Scandinavia and the Soviet Union in its 1976 program.

'WITH VERVE'

Scat Man Plays A Garbage Collector

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Scat Man Crothers, a career musician, plays a garbage man in the "Chico and The Man" television series with the same verve with which he has played the drums for a half century.

Scat Man is black. His own sense of worth and personal dignity are transferred to the character of Louis in the NBC-TV series, making his role acceptable to other blacks and endearing him to everyone else.

At age 64 Scat Man is slender, energetic and delighted to find himself working in a weekly series, staying at home after endless years on the road playing one-night stands and gigs in faraway places.

Scat Man and his wife, Helen Mae, have been married 38 years. They have a daughter, Donna, 25, who lives at home with them. But home is in the process of being drastically changed.

The Crothers have lived in the same house near the University of Southern California since moving west 23 years ago. Now they are moving to the San Fernando Valley because their old neighborhood is deteriorating.

POWER SHARING
BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Argentina and Chile will be able to share electrical energy from the proposed Carrenleufu River hydroelectric project, the state Water and Power Enterprise announced.

The project envisions a hydroelectric plant on the river, which runs through rugged Andean mountains in the Patagonia region of southern Argentina, near the Chilean border.

The new house has four bedrooms, a swimming pool and a spacious yard.

"It's in a white neighborhood," Scat Man said, "but so was our other house when we first moved in. We don't have any racial problems."

"I went through all of that a long time ago. I'm not militant about anything. Never have been. There's no malice in my heart for anyone."

Scat Man is proud of his heritage. He teases Helen Mae about her cooking — which was all Hungarian when they were married. Now she has become a proficient soul food artist. Whenever Scat Man asks she whumps up collard greens, black-eyed peas, ribs and hot corn bread.

Scat Man has only one hangup. As he says, "I won't eat anything that flies," which rules out chicken and turkey.

He is home for dinner almost every night but eats his breakfast and lunch at the studio at 10 o'clock in the morning except on Tuesdays when the show is taped. He is usually home by 6 p.m. The new house is only 10 minutes from NBC compared with the half-hour drive from his former home.

His hours are luxurious compared to his old nightclub days. Scat Man reports to the studio at 10 o'clock in the morning except on Tuesdays when the show is taped. He is usually home by 6 p.m. The new house is only 10 minutes from NBC compared with the half-hour drive from his former home.

The trunk of Scat Man's 1967 Cadillac always contains his golf clubs and guitar. He says he is prepared to work or to play.

On Saturdays and Sundays he is off with two or three pals to play golf on public or private courses, again encountering no racial problems. He loves golf and boasts a 14 handicap.

Among his treasures is a huge record collection, including some 78-speed relics which go back to the 1940s and a collector's item of his big hit, "Dead Man's Blues."

Scat Man likes nothing better than to tune the stereo to some of the old tunes and relax with a cold drink and his two poodles, Chico and Jacques. The family's pet cat died not long ago at age 23.

When Helen and Scat Man entertain they generally have 10 or 12 friends in for dinner. Nothing formal, but a lot of conversation and good food. At least once a week the family has dinner at a restaurant.

Because he is attached to the old days Scat Man insisted that most of the furniture they've lived with over the years be installed in the new house, along with recent acquisitions.

One of the bedrooms in the new house will be converted into a den-music room where Scat Man can set up his drums, strum the guitar, and display the mementoes of a lifetime of show business. He has pictures, playbills, sheet music and other odds and ends he has collected from all over the country.

Scat Man is a sartorial delight. He enjoys buying good clothes and his closets bulge with suits, sports jackets and trousers and shoes — all expensive and elegantly tailored.

The only thing missing right now in his life is work as a professional musician. But Scat Man hopes to change all that when "Chico and The Man" goes on hiatus this year.

"I plan to get a few dates with some of the other guys and get back to music," he concludes. "When you've lived with music as long as I have, you're never really happy when you aren't involved with it."

VA Provides Tips On Income Taxes

Here are tips from the Veterans Administration on federal income taxes for veterans filing returns.

In general, Texas VA officials noted, veterans benefits are exempt from federal income tax, and need not be reported as income.

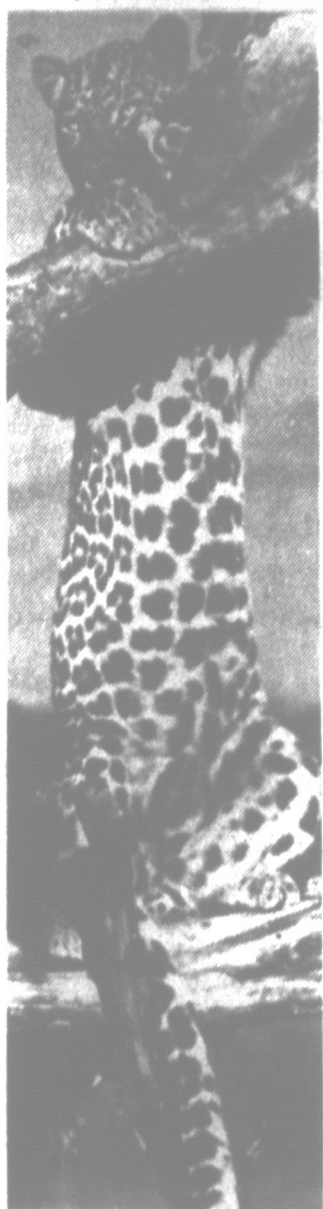

This income tax exemption applies to dividends and proceeds from government life insurance policies, but federal estate tax does apply to insurance proceeds.

Also, interest earned on government life insurance dividends left on deposit or credit with VA is considered income and must be reported on federal income tax returns, it was explained.

Among major tax exempt veterans benefits are compensation, pension, GI Bill and other educational assistance, including subsistence payments to vocational rehabilitation trainees.

Also exempt are grants to service disabled veterans eligible for specially adapted homes and cars, and clothing allowances for veterans whose prosthetic devices tend to wear out or tear their clothing, VA officials advised.
