Texas Beauty Presents "Blue Bonnet Blue"

A new high note in fashion was struck last week when the Texas Centennial Celebrations presented beautiful "Blue Bonnet Blue" to the fashion world in a style show at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York City.

Scores of leading stylists, designers, and fashion editors applauded when lovely Janice Jarrett, San Antonio girl known to the nation as America's most photographed girl, appeared in this striking Blue Bonnet gown designed especially for the occasion by Vogue.

Decorating the luxurious lounge were 250 flowering Blue Bonnet plants gathered near San Antonio and Corpus Christi and air-expressed to New York.

Official adoption of "Blue Bonnet Blue" by fashion authorities has caused the lustrous State flower of Texas to be introduced into spring and summer fashions throughout the nation. Thus enthusiasm for the Texas Centennial Celebrations, already evident in many fields, motivates progress in the fashion world.

Hands Assume Sports Importance

New York City—Shortly after the California Athletic commission suspended Phil Brubaker for rubbing narcotics on his hands to deaden pain in a recent battle with King Levinsky, officials of the American league ruled that Ed Linke, Washington pitcher, must no longer warm up his numb fingers on a bag of chemicals in his hip pocket. To top this, Ford Frick, president of the National league, has issued warning that any shaking hands or fraternizing between rival players will draw a fine of $10. He thinks fans like to believe that ball-players hate their opponents, but when two players squared off in a real scrap, President Frick fined them both $25.

Mrs. Amy Gilliland, who has been in the home of her sister, Mrs. L. Rogers, Farnsworth, for the past three years, left Sunday for a visit with her daughter and other relatives in the East.

THROUGH year-in and year-out contact with hauling problems in all parts of the country International Harvester has gathered a fund of truck knowledge and experience. A complete line of trucks and a nation-wide network of truck service has been built on this practical foundation. In this line you will find the truck you need—½-ton to 10-ton—at a surprisingly low price. There is no reason, today, why any farmer who needs a truck should be satisfied with less than the lasting quality these International Trucks can give him. Come in and let us demonstrate one of these economical trucks to you. Try it out yourself.

Successful in Turn- Cultivated Land to Grass native pasture, or on adjacent land which was seeded to sweet clover in the spring of 1928, but which died out because of dry weather conditions in 1932. The grama grass, however, has begun to encroach on this area from the revegetated plot and is dotted with scattered bunches of blue grama grass, the line of demarcation between the seeded and the unseeded plot being very evident.

This method of retiring cultivated land to permanent pasture got the job done, even though it was somewhat crude and could not be depended upon except in years with extremely favorable moisture conditions.

A 100 acre field on this same farm was taken out of cultivation in 1911 after having been cultivated five years. The reason for taking this field out of cultivation was desertion of the farm by the owner. Succeeding owners did not cultivate the field again. No seeded was added except those which nature added from adjoining pastures. It does not have over one-fourth the sod that the reseeded plot referred to above has.

There are several years difference in the period of time of the two processes, namely: the revegetation of cultivated fields by mechanical means and simply the abandonment of a field hoping that nature would cause it to "hair over" with native pasture grasses. The revegetated plot proves conclusively that it pays to sow grass seed rather than depend upon nature to do the job.

The Soil Conservation Service of Region Six has 48,000 pounds of blue grama grass seed for seeding cultivated fields which are to go back to native grass.

Land on the Dalhart Project which is being seeded to grass was sown last spring to Sudan grass. The Sudan crop was left as a cover on the soil and grass seed was broadcasted in the past two months.

A memorandum to all its district engineers, specifying competitive bidding on all but the most extreme emergency jobs in the future.

At the same time, the commission announced contractors have agreed, in cases where funds are not immediately available for complete financing of certain road projects, to accept an "installment" payment method on such contracts, accepting the contract at once for the entire job, and completing it immediately.

This means that in a county where funds are available, for example, at the rate of $5000 a month, on a road job costing $100,000, that the work will be done within two or three months, and paid for over a period of 20 months, instead of dragging out the job and leaving the roads torn up for the entire 20-month period to the extreme inconvenience of the public or delaying start of the work until the entire necessary fund is accumulated.

Road Tax Policy
Of tremendous interest to communities in Texas that want more and better roads—which includes virtually every community in the state—was this clear declaration of highway tax policy voiced by Gov. Allred here in welcoming visiting members of the Oklahoma state highway commission, who came to Austin to observe methods of their Texas colleagues.

"The highway department of a state should be free of executive interference, and this administration has maintained a hands-off policy," said Gov. Allred. "The highway department should not be a political organization, and every person connected with it should be free to think, speak and vote as he pleases."

"When we get good highways into every rural section, then will be the time to talk about reduction or cessation of taxes for highway purposes. I was opposed to diverting highway revenues for purposes other than highway building two years ago, and I still stand on that statement. The use of gasoline taxes to retire bonds voted to pay for roads now in the state system has brought untold relief to taxpayers. I have no patience, however, with any scheme to divert any further funds for any purpose from the revenues."

Which One Is Really Dangerous?

The driver only has the privilege of using the streets and highways as long as he does so in a proper manner. Notwithstanding that this principle is generally recognized, it seems to be difficult for the streets and highways of the careless and reckless driver. It seems to be the impression, in theory as well as in practice, that a person should be permitted to drive as he pleases as long as he is able to pay for the injuries or the damages he causes. The fellow who, for example, thinks he's Napoleon—everyone knows the type—isn't allowed to run loose. Not at all. Even if such a person isn't put somewhere to be cured, he is not permitted to play around with potentially dangerous implements.

But how about the driver who now collected from motorists to pay for highways, nor with taking any random chances to substitute other forms of tax revenue for what we now have?

Allred's Answer
The governor's speech was interpreted by observers here as an answer, both to one candidate for governor who would summarily wreck the present well-tested method of financing road-building in Texas, and to certain wealthy bond brokers who bought up millions of county road bonds at depression prices, and now seek to have the state use its available road-building money to pay off these "dead horses," at an enormous profit to the holders of such bonds.

OXFORD WILTS ON CHAMPAGNE

Henley, England—After two successive defeats by Cambridge, the Oxford crew this year gave up their traditional beer, switched to a few sips of champagne and retired early in an effort to snatch victory in the historic Thames race. Cantabs continued their favored tippie at the training table and stayed up late downing beakers of English brew. Next morning Cambridge won the 4½-mile pull by five lengths, to the delight of the brewers.

FORD V-8 TRUCKS DO MORE WORK AT LESS COST...

because they have

RESERVE POWER AND EXTRA STRENGTH!

ON long or short hauls—up steep grades—through gravel or gumbo, Ford V-8 trucks have the reserve power to deliver their loads on schedule and no favors asked.

The mighty V-8 engine is conservatively rated by Ford at 80 horsepower—more than is needed for most work. And this is one of the main reasons for a Ford truck's economy. Because, with so much reserve power, the Ford V-8 does its work easier, with less effort. The engine operates efficiently and at low cost because it is usually below "peak." The whole truck, straight through to the rear axle, gives you longer life than would be possible with a relatively underpowered, over-worked unit.

And V-8 power is coupled with extra strength in the Ford truck... Frame, clutch, rear axle—in fact, the whole chassis, including springs, is ruggedly built to insure users the greatest possible freedom from servicing cost.

But the best way of all for you to learn for yourself exactly what a Ford V-8's reserve power and extra strength means, is to ask for a demonstration. Call your Ford Dealer today. Put it up to him to prove this great Ford truck's advantages to you.

FORD V-8 TRUCKS and Commercial Cars

the proof!

Benj. Cain of Cain's Truck Lines, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, says: "The first trip to Franklin, Pa., and return with a 12,000 lb. load of oil well drilling equipment more than substantiated your claims and now I am telling you the Ford truck is making me more money than I ever expected to make in the trucking business."

M. C. Rogers of Enid, Oklahoma, says: "The regular load on my Ford V-8 truck consists of a 2,500 gallon semi-trailer gasoline tank. Operating cost has been very low. Total expense for repairs at 40,000 miles was $15.60 and gasoline mileage an average of nine miles to the gallon."

O. E. Mullman of Mullman Bros., Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, says: "These are two of my five Ford delivery cars which I am at the present using. They are very economical as to gas and oil consumption and I might add that the last car traded in ran 62,000 miles with absolutely no repairs being made."

L. D. Shannon, owner of the Shannon Feed Co., Tulsa, Okla., says: "We operate seven Ford trucks and I want to say they are most satisfactory in every way. We previously operated heavier and more costly units but are planning to replace them as quickly as possible with Fords as they are doing the job better and more economically."

A. D. Stoddard, Chief Engineer of the Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Co., says: "For a number of years our company has been using Ford cars and pickups as standard equipment for employees engaged in the cementing of wells."

"We have found that the block exchange by the Ford Motor Company and also the purchase of replacement engines is an aid in giving the service we desire. We are able to replace motor, front and rear ends, and various parts with very little delay and feel that all of this has been a great aid."

Commercial Cars: $340 and up, F.O.B. Detroit, payments as low as $25 a month after down payment, U.C.C. ½ per cent a month finance terms. Trucks: $500 and up, F.O.B. Detroit, new U.C.C. ½ per cent a month plans for easy payments.

CONTOURING OF PASTURES PAYS

CLAYTON, NEW MEX., RANCHER OBTAINS EXCELLENT RESULTS FROM CONTOURED PASTURE

That it pays to contour furrow grama grass pasture was definitely and conclusively proven by Robert Webmeier of Clayton, New Mexico, who contoured a quarter section of land near Clapham, New Mexico, according to James C. Wayne of the Soil Conservation Service at Clayton.

Quoting Mr. Webmeier: "Why, that contour furrowing is the best thing I ever saw. I didn't have any idea that it would produce the results it did. All you have to do is to look at my contoured pasture, compare the grass growth on it to the adjoining pastures and you will see that it pays. I only put one 2-row lister furrow at every 2 foot vertical interval but the grass was so good near these furrows that, if I hadn't wanted to permit it to go to seed so the stand would improve, I could have mowed a lot of hay on this contoured pasture. On the adjoining pastures that were not contoured this could not be done. I am going to contour every foot of pasture land that I have and I am going to make my contour furrows close together. I believe that when I place my contour furrows at every foot vertical interval that as soon as the sod has returned to its original state I shall be able to mow hay every year. You don't have to take my word for this, you may go out and see it or talk to any of the neighbors."

The following is a quotation of remarks of E. L. Leighton, a large rancher and a neighbor of Mr. Webmeier. "I never saw such an improvement on a pasture. I didn't know that it could be done. I actually believe that pasture will carry twice as many cattle as the adjoining pastures that are not contoured. As soon as I can make the arrangements and get the job done, I want to contour all of my pasture land."

The principle involved, reports James C. Wayne, acting project manager of soil conservation service, Clayton, New Mexico, in increasing grass growth by contouring pasture land is simply that a large per cent of rainfall which falls on the pasture land is held by the contour furrow long enough to be absorbed by the soil thus increasing the amount of available soil moisture for plant growth. As the amount of available soil moisture is the determining factor in the growth of plants in the southwest it should be easy to see that by retaining such rainfall as is received on the ground for absorption and thus for plant use, said pastures will be rapidly improved. The soil conservation service of the wind eroded area is doing pasture contour furrowing in nine projects and in five CCC camps. The methods in use vary with the condition of the sod, slope and the kind of soil, rainfall and equipment available.

Use Newspaper Ads

Extensive Newspaper Advertising Campaign Now Under Way Using Newspapers Throughout Nation

Newspapers of the nation have been selected as the principal medium to carry an extensive Oldsmobile advertising campaign, now under way, it was announced today by V. C. Havens, Oldsmobile advertising manager.

"We are convinced that the message of Oldsmobile's high quality and outstanding value can best be told by the use of newspapers," said Mr. Havens. "Expanded production facilities in 1936 have made possible the manufacture of more Oldsmobiles this year than were ever before built in a twelve month period."

The lower prices of the 1936 Oldsmobile Six and Eight, together with the increasing of the cars, and the time are making in the hands point to the existence expanded market for Oldsmobile this year.

"So we have launched a paper campaign, not a large metropolitan daily, but in smaller dailies, to carry the story in the style, safety, comfort and performance to American newspaper readers."

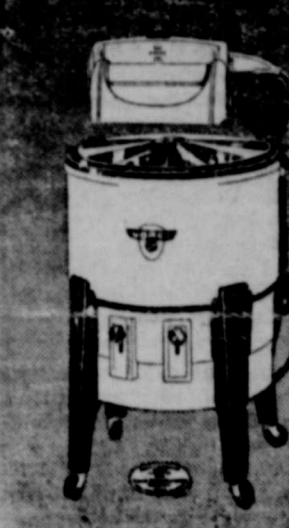

"More than 3300 being used, and the expense much larger sum than has been spent by Oldsmobile in any single year in newspaper advertising."

EPIDEMIC SWEEPS CITY

Milwaukee, Wis.—One out of every five persons in the city, a total of 120,000 sufferers, were suddenly seized with intestinal pains and diarrhea. Puzzled doctors, mystified at the cause, could only call it "intestinal influenza," vaguest of all diagnoses. Only two deaths were remotely charged to the epidemic, which petered out as unaccountably as it appeared.

TONNAGE IN PROSPECT

Shreveport, La.—Gertrude Karns, a carnival performer weighing 745 pounds, gave birth to a baby girl weighing 9 pounds, 10 ounces. The father weighs 305 pounds; an uncle 432 pounds. The mother weighed 18 pounds at birth. Doctors after an exhaustive study of obesity, estimate that the newborn has only 27 chances in 100 of being normally slender.

Fischer Spoke Saturday

District Supervisor Texas Old Age Assistance Commission at Meeting Saturday

A large and enthusiastic crowd greeted J. S. Fischer, here Saturday, to hear him discuss the law and requirements of the old age assistance act of our recent legislature. Mr. Fischer is supervisor of the 16th district, composed of 20 north Panhandle counties, with headquarters at Amarillo.

He has 10 investigators in the field, compiling data and verifying applicants' statements for the old age assistance. Mr. Fischer was very much pleased with the cordial reception accorded him while in Perryton. He, at all times during his remarks upheld the administration in its efforts and purposes, to render the necessary aid to those who are qualified to receive it, and to give them just what the law intends they should have.

Many questions were asked Mr. Fischer at the close of his remarks, and were answered with that sincere frankness that has characterized his administration of the office of supervisor. He has, at all times, been patient and obliging to the many who were forced, by circumstances, conditions and other disabilities, to ask assistance from the state and federal government.

He has helped them in various ways and has instructed his investigators to use the same methods when they come in contact with the many applicants throughout the district.

Mr. Fischer was accompanied by his wife on the trip. They left here for an appointment at Spearman before returning to Amarillo.

FORMER BEAVER COUNTY ATTORNEY DIES IN CALIF.

Friends of Edwin S. Gardner were sorry to hear of his being seriously ill in the Wadsworth hospital in Los Angeles, California. His boyhood was spent in the Duck Pond community, and in the early 1920's he was the county attorney of Beaver county, later moving to New Mexico.

Although unable to carry on a correspondence himself, he would appreciate hearing from his Beaver county friends, and may be reached by sending mail to Ward 28 there in the hospital.—Beaver Herald-Democrat.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Beck and Fae Marie visited Monday night with Mrs. Beck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Pyle, Balke, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. John Black went to Mineral Wells Thursday, returning Friday with her mother, Mrs. J. C. Beyer, who spent six weeks taking treatments there.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Sodowsky and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Neufeld were Sunday guests in the Clifford Beck home.

FORMER OCHILTREE BUSINESS MAN DIES IN CALIF.

A letter from Otto W. Hutchinson, Long Beach, California, brings the information that his father, a former business man of Old Ochiltree, had been dead for several months. The elder Mr. Hutchinson passed away just two weeks before his 80th birthday. He lived at Shattuck, Oklahoma, at one time and built the first elevator to be constructed in Ochiltree county. This elevator was erected at Old Ochiltree when the building of the E. O. & W. railway from Enid through Ochiltree to Dalhart looked like a certainty. It was moved to Perryton when the town started but has since been dismantled.

Mrs. C. Walker, Dumas, Texas, is making her home with Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Rogers, Parnsworth.

THAYLIA PEARSON

Shower Bride-to-Be

Tuesday afternoon the members of the Lucky Eleven club were the gracious hostesses for a miscellaneous shower, honoring one of their members, Miss Annie Bruce Henderson, who is to be wed in June.

The guests arrived at 4:30 o'clock and were in the midst of their first round of bridge, when a loud knock at the door and a call for "Miss Henderson" brought the games to a close as everyone stood attention while the honoree opened her array of lovely gifts.

A color note of pink and orchid was attractively carried out. Fragrant sweet peas in the same shades were used for table centerpiece. Tasty refreshments were served to twenty-five guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Clark, living near Perryton. MANY ATP. T. A. DISTRICT MEET

MRS. LAMASTER PRESIDES AT THURSDAY SESSION; LOCAL MEMBERS ON PROGRAM AND COMMITTEES

Mrs. W. B. LaMaster, vice president of the 8th district, Parent-Teacher Association, headed the delegation from Ochiltree county that attended the three day district convention held at Pampa, Texas, last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Mrs. J. E. Griggs of Amarillo, district president, was in charge of the conference. Perryton, Farnsworth, and Waka, the active county associations, were well represented at this meeting. Many local people had important parts on the program and served on major committees.

At the Centennial banquet, Wednesday evening, Supt. W. B. Irvin gave the response to greetings.

On Thursday morning, Mrs. W. B. Irvin participated in the Public Welfare conference, which was in the form of a grand jury investigation of the Public Welfare Department. The charge was Conspiracy to Help Make the Community. Mrs. Irvin was witness for the defense on "Recreation." On Thursday afternoon, Mrs. LaMaster reported on the endowment fund. She is district chairman of this activity.

Thursday evening at 8 o'clock the general session was called to order by Mrs. LaMaster, who presided during the entire session. The Perryton high school band under the direction of W. I. Byron gave a thirty minute concert on this program. Supt. Irvin, district chairman on Physical Education, spoke on this activity.

The outstanding social event of the conference was the tea on Thursday afternoon. The Dutch theme was carried out in decorations, costumes and refreshments. Tulips were used in abundance and the hostesses and entertainers were dressed in Dutch costumes, with wooden shoes.

Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, Pampa, was elected new president of the district, to serve for the next two years.

Mrs. Sid Clark, Spearman, is one of the new vice presidents.

At the closing session, Miss Katherine Shearer, president of the Ochiltree County Council, extended an invitation to the convention to select Perryton for the 1937 meeting. At a board meeting of the new officers, Perryton was tentatively chosen as the next conference city.

Mrs. Oscar Moorehead, Farnsworth, served during the conference as one of the timekeepers, and Mrs. Jim Dodson was a member of the yearbook committee.

In addition to those mentioned above, others attending the conference from Ochiltree county were Mrs. W. C. Herndon, Mrs. O. C. Adams and Mrs. Mountcastle of Huntoon.

Mr. and Mrs. George Clennan left for Wichita, Kans., to be gone all this week. They will visit in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bender, and while there Mr. Clennan will have his tonsils taken out.

CEMETERY ASSOCIATION BUILDS ENTRANCE GATE

Through a typographical error, the article regarding the improvements at the Ochiltree cemetery in last week's issue of the Herald, stated that the native stone entrance gateway was being constructed by the Soil Conservation engineers and CCC enrollees. Such is not the case. The funds for same are provided by the Ochiltree Cemetery Association and the work is being done under contract by E. F. Minter, Booker, Mr. Minter is an experienced stone mason and when completed the entrance will add much to the beauty of the cemetery. The dam and tree planting is being done by the CCC forces. It is estimated that over 3,000 trees will be planted along the terrace that have been constructed in the cemetery. A new drive is being constructed by county highway forces. This drive is laid out on the contour so that trees bordering it will have the benefit of all the moisture that falls.

Consistent use of Herald Want Ads will bring fine results.

TEXAS MARCHES ON

A New Day -- A New Year -- A New Century
A NEW TEXAS

1936—Texas Centennial Year—has arrived with over six millions of patriotic Texans standing on the brink of a new day, a new year, a new century and a new Texas.

Looking down on the great Empire State we have before us definite evidence of the progress and development made during the past one hundred years backed by as brave a lot of heroic men and women as ever trod the earth with a forward vision that brought it all about.

We see the fruits of their labor of the past in full bloom which inspires the present generation to carry on for the future.

Every Texan is rejoicing that Centennial Year is here, the most important event in Texas history—an event that we can all enjoy and participate in regardless of blood, creed, religion or politics.

The Texas Centennial belongs to every Texan, and every Texan should make their celebrations all that one could expect. For a hundred years this generation and those that went before have been building the intense civilization that now is the Lone Star State. Given a land surpassing fair the pioneer fathers of Texas, men eager for the romantic endeavor of living, came here and staked the boundaries of an empire of vision. With their blood they traced on the glorious canopy of the new republic the pattern of a great empire that has been perfected by the patriotic impulses and tireless work of their descendants. When Sam Houston led his courageous army of pioneers across trackless wilderness and onto the plains of San Jacinto, he had dreams of an empire. He heard the tramping feet of the multitudes who were to follow. He envisioned the transformation of a frontier into a commonwealth of happy, prosperous millions. On the wings of a Century Texas has flown even beyond the high mark set by the pioneer. The few thousands of inhabitants have grown to six millions. Trading posts have become centers of commerce. Virgin prairies and fields of matchless productivity. It is proper and fitting that all Texas should join in the celebration of the State's triumphs.

The year 1936 can be as great in the destiny of Texas as was the year 1836. Texans today have the same courage, vision and singleness of purpose that characterized those non hearted first settlers. The eyes of the world were on Texas in 1836. The eyes of the world are very distinctly on Texas in 1936. Texas challenges world attention with its colossal plans for 1936 and will present a challenge worthy of a century of epic deeds. Texas will meet the occasion in a way as big as its geographical boundaries and stage an all State celebration which will go down in history as the greatest event of its kind in a long line of successful American events.

Yes—the long looked for—planned for—Centennial year is here which will be the beginning of a new program for Texas.

Texas and the Nation faces a changing world that holds in reserve many thrills and surprises.

With all of these changes in evidence everywhere we still have our own personalities, ideals and patriotic love and admiration for our community and state that no one can take from us—a rich heritage every Texan is proud to claim.

Centennial year is the time we should all fully demonstrate our patriotism, a time when we should forget everything of a selfish nature and bring forth all of the good that is in us, a time to bring to the surface if you please our better self, our good blood and breeding, and our love and interest in our community and State. It's the time above all times when we should crowd the frowns from our faces with a happy and cheerful smile.

Now is the time for Texas to demonstrate its real greatness for tomorrow will be too late.

We must get ready now to meet and greet with a glad and hospitable handshake all visitors that come to see us during Centennial year.

We should also put on the same front with our home folks and neighbors for it will be a great stimulating tonic for a more friendly feeling toward one another, and a better understanding, regardless of little differences if there are any.

We should make Centennial year "a year of truce" among ourselves, during which time we can all work together for a common cause. We can take advantage of the occasion to forgive and forget any petty feeling towards our neighbor and enjoy with them the celebration of a great birthday party in which every Texan is included. In doing this the Centennial spirit will bring us all on a common ground for the same goal, and will put us all in the same frame of mind to co-operate for the happiest and most important event in our lives. Much of the success of our Centennial celebrations will depend upon our own interest in the great project, and the unselfish co-operation we will render in whatever way we can to make the event the great success that it deserves. It is history making and the forward program of development for Texas there are many outstanding patriots and institutions that have assisted liberally, unselfishly and patriotically in planning and bringing into realization the Texas Centennial celebration programs. All of these deserve congratulations. Included in this list of patriotic and interested Texans that are outstanding in work, planning and planning for the Centennial activities are the members of the Texas Press, and advertising organizations.

These forward looking Texans are the ones that dreamed dreams, created ideals and brought them into life, and crystallized sentiment throughout the state and nation for both moral and financial backing to make the event a big success.

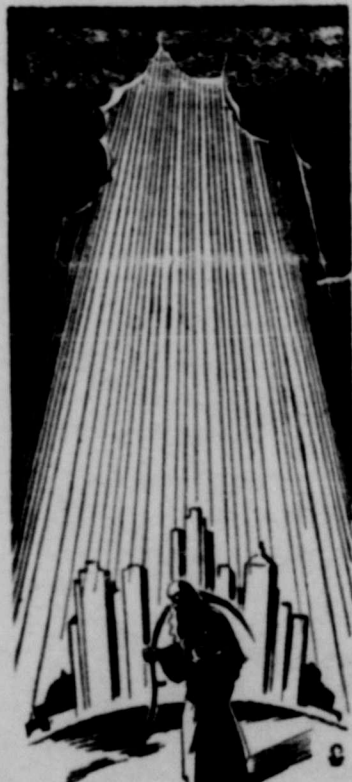

In such an important project they gave free play to their patriotic love for Texas' heroic past and demonstrated their confidence in the glories that are to be.

The Texas Press is primarily responsible for bringing to fruition this great event after years of arduous endeavor and sacrifice, and is well pleased with the important part played in moulding public sentiment that made it all possible.

It was the Texas Press boys that polished the great mirror that will reflect to ourselves and our visitors the wonders of Texas of today and its economic possibilities of the future.

Now, that the Centennial celebrations are well on their way to success

A New Period Dawns

the Texas Press is looking and planning ahead to carry on the good work for Texas after the Centennial year passes into history.

After 1936 a new era for Texas will have dawned and it will be the new Texas that we must all be concerned with.

With the same determination that brought about the creation of the Centennial program the Texas Press intends to continue to play a most important part in the development of Texas for the years to come.

When the curtain goes down on the Centennial celebrations at the end of the year we cannot afford to call a halt, nor let grass grow under our feet, but must be inspired to carry on where the Centennial program left off. The wonderful momentum brought about by the Centennial and the great amount of constructive publicity given our state throughout the nation must be capitalized on in all lines of endeavor. The eyes of the nation and world will be attracted to Texas, and our future growth will depend greatly upon our qualifications as good salesmen who successfully close the deal after an intensive advertising and publicity campaign covering the merits and quality of the product.

After the Centennial is over we must all become better salesmen for Texas, with no selfish objectives other than to make our contribution for a bigger and better state in which to live and let live, and enjoy.

Plans for the "New Texas" program of advancement are now being worked out by the Texas Press which will be ready for announcement at the annual meeting of the Texas Press Association that meets in Tyler in June.

In the absence of a state agency to carry on such work for Texas the Texas Press hopes to fill this great need until such a time arrives when there will be organized a strong state body, properly financed and managed, that will look after and work for the future welfare of the state as a whole.

Included in the plans for the New Texas will be for the Texas Press to sponsor the securing and compilation of historical data of the state during the new century, as well as to encourage the publishing of a new and revised history of Texas to replace those now obsolete and have not been brought up to date.

It goes without saying that the great interest Texas has taken in its Centennial celebrations has brought about many new things in the state's history that heretofore were unheard of, and not included in the present Texas histories. All of these new facts should be included in the new history of Texas, including the current history covering the Centennial and its many forms of celebrations.

As time passes, history is made, and the future the Texas Press will assume the important work of collecting and compiling historical facts as they occur in the future, which will be collected through members of the Press throughout the state and preserved for safe keeping in the "New History Chest" of the "New Texas".

Each member of the press will be a historian of his or her respective section and will play an important part in gathering historical facts of their section, or other sections for such matter as time goes by, such facts to be sent to the "Texas Press Historical Chest" which will be under the protection each year of the President of the Texas Press Association, and to be handed down from year to year as the administration changes.

Such a treasure of historical facts will be the property of the Texas Press and at intervals a digest of facts accumulated will be put in attractive readable form for the benefit of the present and coming generations, and to be added to the new and revised history of the state.

Full details of this work will also be announced at the convention at Tyler in June.

It is up to the present generation to start the "New Texas" off in a big way, for we are responsible for history making and development just like the heroes of the past one hundred years who blazed the trail of the Texas of today that we are all now enjoying. We should start now for a New History and a New Program, for the "New Texas" for the new generation.

With the trials, deprivations and losses of the depression behind us, and the glories and economic advantages of the Texas Centennial and changed conditions, backed by an inspired patriotic citizenship, Texas faces the best and brightest future of all time. Texas marches on.

School Punishment Upheld

Highland Falls, N. Y.—Irritated at the disobedience of 11-year-old Frances Sanders, her school teacher, Mrs. Carrie M. Hyde, cracked her sharply over the knuckles with a ruler. The girl's parents protested before 600 villagers, succeeding in having the teacher suspended. On review by Dr. Frank P. Graves, New York state commissioner of education, it was held that "as a matter of law, the teacher has the same power to punish a pupil as the parent." Mrs. Hyde goes back to her Fort Montgomery public school; Miss Sanders is studying with the Franciscan sisters at a local parochial school.

Fly Leaves Its Mark

Sacramento, California—For a week, local relief officials sweated over their books. Every test they tried showed accounts out of balance by 6 cents. Finally a gimlet-eyed bookkeeper found the answer: a fly had lost a leg at the top of a figure "1," transforming the digit into a "7."

Bankers in Dilemma

New York City—Lehman brothers, Wall street bankers, faced a quandary in their recent offering of an industrial stock, which, so they informed dealers, they intended to "support" in the market at the opening price of $47.25. But market manipulation or control of stock prices is illegal under the securities exchange act of 1934. Appealed to in the matter, Judge John J. Burns, SEC's general counsel, said no rule had yet been laid down defining legal and illegal support of shares; that bankers could go ahead with their support so long as the investing public were kept informed of their transactions.

Fords Pioneer North China Camel Trail

SIR ERIC TEICHMAN, veteran British diplomat, (at left above) is making highway history as well as realizing a long-cherished ambition in traveling by motor car the century old camel trail from Kweilui, Suifu, near Peiping, across the great Gobi desert, to Kashgar, Sinkiang, China. Sir Eric is shown just before the start of the long trek. (At right.) One of the two Ford V-8 trucks of the motorized caravan on the route where automobiles are seldom seen which Sir Eric traversed by camel on his outward journey 30 years ago.

The Tri-State's spring meeting will be held at the remodeled plant on May 8 through the 16th, Sunday excepted.

NEWS TO SENIORS

Flash! Flash! The Senior class has decided to wake up and have a meeting after being dormant for months. Never in the history of PHS has a senior class come to light as this one. Now the biggest job is to keep it awake and to keep it a wide-awake class. Well, so much for that.

Seniors, the school term is drawing to a close and a school gift that all classes leave behind in their memory has not been considered this year. There have been rumors going around to the effect that foundations for the junior high would balance up the seniority. Well, think about it and be ready to give the verdict when the time comes. We are going to have a party but who knows when.

From all standpoints, crime is a greater enemy to this country than war. The world war cost $1,000,000 an hour, but the crime bill is now $2,000,000 an hour.

Repeat Junior Play

"Crazy Mix-Up" Junior Class to be repeated on Tuesday, May 5

Only Junior play, "Crazy Mix-Up," will be staged for the benefit of those who were unable to attend on its first appearance. There were many things that went on at that time, and we think it was hard for one to follow all of these things at the time. So this is giving you a second chance to see the comical play you ever saw or ever heard of. Those who attended it said it was one of the very greatest plays by the Junior class in the history of the school.

Hampton announced in ten-minute chapel last Tuesday that it will be given on May 5. That is, it will be given on May 5, that is, it will be given on May 5, that is, it will be given on May 5.

MEET THE SENIORS

ELLIS KELLEY was born in Higgins, Texas, October 8, 1918. Ellis attended Higgins up to 1939 and then transferred to Perryton, where he has since. He went to school in Higgins for four years and has gone to Perryton to school for seven years. Red and white are his best colors. He indicates by his actions that football and swimming are his favorite sports. Ice cream, soda and punch are his most favorite foods and his favorite drinks are soda and malts. Reading is his pastime. His pet hobby is "mix." Music is his best subject in school and his favorite song is "The World is Waiting for the Sonny." "Sonny" is his nickname. He is five feet and nine inches tall and weighs one hundred and thirty pounds. His hair and eyes are brown. He plays the saxophone and the band.

ALAN STEWART was born in Thorp Spring on February 10, 1918. He lived there for four years then moved to Glenrio, New Mexico. He lived there for five years then moved to Perryton in 1934. He started to school in New Mexico and went there for four years. Ever since that time he has been at Perryton schools. Alan's favorite colors are absent. Swimming is his favorite sport.

Three Days in Michigan

Hundred and Three Dallas Salesmen Are Guests of Chevrolet Motor Company
The hundred and three retail salesmen from Chevrolet's Dallas district, all members of the 100-car salesmen's honor organization, spent three days last week in Michigan as guests of the Chevrolet Motor Company, and inspected the research, engineering and manufacturing facilities behind the product they sell.

The Texans arrived at Milford, Mich., Wednesday afternoon, via special train, and were taken to the general Motors proving ground in Warren. After several hours' inspection of the proving ground facilities, which few of them had seen, they boarded a special train for Flint, dinner being served en route. Thursday was devoted to a trip through the motor and assembly plants at Flint, after which a special train brought them to Detroit for a banquet at the Book-Cadillac hotel. Felix Doran, Jr., assistant general sales manager, congratulated the visitors on their contribution to the new all-time records Chevrolet has set this year.

FIRST REHEARSAL TEXAS PAGEANT WEDNESDAY

The first rehearsal of the whole cast of the Texas Pageant to be given in May was held Wednesday afternoon. Every division and organization in the Perryton schools is to have a part in this program. We need six to eight more horses and a chuck wagon for two scenes of the pageant. If you have horses or wagons that you will lend out for that occasion, please notify Miss Beasley, Miss Stump or Mr. Park.

BOXING AND WRESTLING

Harold Moore and Don Yates put on the gloves today in good spirits. Although Don is a smaller boy he made a good match for Harold. One outsider was here today and it seems that he has had a bout with Reese Nowlin for some time. The outsider is an old member of our club, Ray Phelps. The boys are both plenty good and the bout turned out to be good. They got pretty rough in the second round.

Gene Tucker and Ben Crum exhibited a comical bout. Each person has his own way of boxing. Gene has a rather comical way of boxing to the view of the spectators but to the view of his opponents Gene's way isn't so comical. I would hate to get in the way of one of those fights.

Dean Rogers and Ferd Koehn put on the gloves today and they rather mixed it up. Kenneth Balzer and James Riley are both matched quite equally, and they both suffered the consequences of each other today. Ted Slavin and William Stark put on a show each Friday and they exhibited a good one today. "Wild" W. H. Barker tried his skill against William Stollings. This was an exciting bout.

6-1 NEWS

These who made 100 in spelling last week were Charles Patton, Robert Howard Holt and Dorothy Woods.

Joe LaMaster and Willis Lilly went camping over the week-end. We are getting ready for exhibit in our room.

Robert Howard Holt went to Amarillo over the week-end.

BIG BAG BLOWS UP

Warsaw, Poland—Emulating visitors at night clubs who "touch off" toy balloons, a peasant brought gloom to Polish aeronautics when side of the "Warsaw," a giant his lighted cigarette brushed the stratospheric bag on exhibition, for the first time. A huge "puff" was the end of the "Warsaw."

HOP, SKIP AND JUMP

Berlin, Wis.—A freakish bolt of lightning struck Ben Dittman's barn, flashed along a water trough, and killed every other cow in the barn, 11 out of 22.

CHAPEL

The orchestra, directed by Mr. Park, played "You Are My Lucky Star," as the entire school marched into the auditorium for their usual chapel program. At the absence of Mr. Irvin, Mr. Bush took charge of the service. Dr. Dana, the evangelist who is now holding a revival at the local Baptist church, gave a short devotional talk.

The program was in charge of Mr. Burk and his department. The first entertainment was a group of stunts by Muri Borton, B. A. Johnson, Glenn McWilliams, Dickie Littleton, Earl Manning and Lynn Burleson. The second number was a vocal solo by Virginia Hogland, accompanied by Virginia Correll. She sang "Goody-Goody" and "Wa-Hoo." The next number was a French harp and guitar duet by Junior Bright and Ernest Ferguson. They played "Nobody's Darling" and "Under the Double Eagle." The last number was a boxing match by Dickie Littleton, Muri Mortin, Wayne Simmons and Glenn McWilliams. The program was very different, and was enjoyed by everyone.

FINAL RESULTS IN SPELLING ARE ANNOUNCED

We have just had our final contests in spelling in the Perryton schools. There were four contestants in the sixth and seventh grade finals, scoring as follows: Hazel Cook, 100; Ona Grace Frances, 100; Betty Jean Coleman, 99; Dorothy Woods, 94.

The scores for the fourth and fifth grade contestants were: Ruth Neufeld, 99; Jane Rogers, 99; and Carolyn Conley, 97.

FORGIVENESS, HUMANITY AND GRATITUDE
 Luke 17:1-19

The events of this particular period of our Lord's ministry are recorded by Luke alone. He omits the raising of Lazarus which probably occurred about this time. Our present lesson concludes the work and messages in Ephraim where Jesus had gone following the feast of dedication.

I. The Peril of Offenses

It is a fearful thing to be a stumbling block for innocent feet. Better it is that a great stone were fastened to the neck of the offender, and he were thrown into the sea. Yet thousands think they are entitled to live their own lives regardless of how such lives may affect the community. Sins do not stop with the person who commits them. They touch, taint and influence others. Like deadly germs in a public well, the foul deeds of sin become a menace to society.

II. Wrong, Confession and Forgiveness

Much of the evil in the world concerns man's conduct to man. We often wrong our God by wronging one another. But what did Jesus teach regarding offenses. He instructed that the offended party rebuke his brother, and if the brother repented, he should be forgiven. It is useless to claim to be a Christian, and at the same time refuse to forgive a brother who confesses his sin. He who can't forgive will not be forgiven of God.

III. Faith and Mountain Moving

Jesus told his disciples they could remove mountains if they had faith as a grain of mustard seed. When men today admit they can't do some great thing because they "haven't the faith," it looks like pretty small confidence in God. In fact, it is nothing short of sheer infidelity. The real reason why miracles cannot be performed today is because "that which is perfect" (Jas. 1:25) has come and that which was in part was "done away," according to the plain teaching of the gospel (1 Cor. 14:8-13).

IV. Duty and Service

Life is more than a duty. It is a privilege. We are not repaying God for being good to us. We can never do that. After we have done all we can do, how much less will we have accomplished for our Lord than he has for us. But we should be happy that he has, in loving kindness and which we may obey, and the law of mercy given us terms of pardon which we may obey, and the law of Christian living that we may follow, and in the end he will see fit to receive us to himself. We must never do anything merely from the standpoint of duty alone. Unless we put our whole souls in the performance it will not please Jehovah.

V. Nine Men Who Neglected to Thank Jesus

Ten lepers were cleansed by the Lord, as they were going to show themselves to the priest. One of them, a Samaritan, seeing that he was cleansed, returned and glorified God for his great deliverance. What a lesson. How many allow the favors conferred upon them to go unrequited. A thankful heart and life are well pleasing in the sight of God. But ingratitude is a curse to any man.

Predict Good Spring Sales

Head of Pontiac Motor Company
 Thinks First Six Months of Year
 Will Exceed That of 1935

Relaxing in his light, airy office following a hectic morning recently that had involved conferences, a long procession of callers and a score or more of telephone interruptions, H. J. Klingler, president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Co., took time to review briefly the events of the last year which have included the first fall auto shows and ventured the prediction that the motor car business will be unusually good this spring and summer with the first six months running from 10 to 20 per cent ahead of the same period last year.

After having operated on a three and four day a week production schedule during the prolonged period of extreme weather in the greater part of the country in January and February, Pontiac plants again began the middle of March running two shifts of men a day, five days a week. April 1 production was stepped up to a still higher rate with extra hours per day added to these shifts.

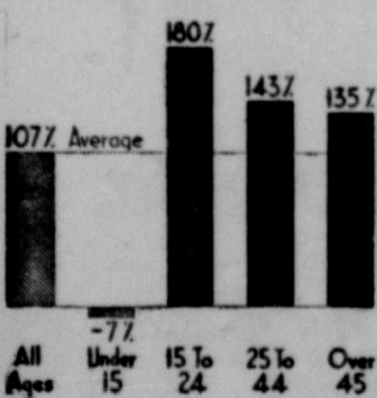

In answer to a question of where the principal gains can be expected this year over last, Klingler said he believed that great population centers north of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi rivers would yield the greatest gains, although he pointed out that Pontiac during the last year made its greatest gains proportionately on the Pacific Coast.

The Most Dangerous Age

(Percentage Change in Death Rates 1927-34)

Many ask the question, "which is the most dangerous age in driving an automobile?" The chart above gives the answer. It shows that between 1927 and 1934 inclusive the rate of death from automobile accidents in the United States increased 107 per cent. Grouping all the ages under 15 shows that the rate of death has decreased 7 per cent. If the ages are grouped, however, by each five years, the data developed by the Travelers Insurance Company disclose that the only reduction has been in the group of five to nine, where the rate of death has decreased 26 per cent. Hats should be off to this group and to the police and teachers for the savings in life.

The really serious fact that this chart brings out is the very great percentage increase in the death rate in the group between 15 and 24 years of age. A part of this age corresponds to the high school group, such a bad record gives emphasis to the question whether high schools everywhere shouldn't be providing instruction in the safe use of the automobile.

NEW TEXAS ALMANAC

The book of 100,000 facts—the 1936 edition of the Texas Almanac—is just off the press. It is the largest volume in the history of this publication—a total of 512 pages, on better grade of paper and more profusely illustrated. The 1936 book, although designated as the "Centennial Edition" and compiled in tribute to the grand celebration in Texas this year, misses only twenty-one years of reaching its own centennial year, having first been issued in 1857 by the Galveston News, the parent organization of the Dallas News, its present publishers.

While much new material of historical nature is included in the new issue, none of the chapters that has made the Texas Almanac the standard reference book of Texas in the past has been omitted. The names of several thousand individuals appear in its pages.

Features of the current issue include an extensive description of the Texas Centennial, including celebrations at Dallas and other points in the state, an outline of the history of Texas from its beginnings to the present, an illustrated chapter on the wild flowers of Texas, lists of the different kinds of trees and wild animals found in Texas, extensive lists of historic old towns and origins of names of Texas towns, a text of the state constitution with all its amendments and brief account of submission of all adopted amendments since adoption of the constitution, and the new farm census figures of 1935. There is much of interest for the coming political campaign, including the current poll tax payments by counties. All figures on state, county and city bonded debt are brought up to date. There are several chapters devoted to points of interest for the Centennial tourist in Texas, and a new map made in four colors especially for this edition of the Texas Almanac, entitled "Texas for Tourists," is folded between the leaves of each volume.

There are more than 100,000 facts about the history, natural resources, crops, livestock, industries, commerce, transportation, finance, government, politics, educational system, cultural institutions and other phases of Texas economic, political and social development.

The Texas Almanac, always in demand by business and professional men and women and students in the Lone Star state, will be more in demand this year than ever before. Texas history is more glamorous and richly appealing on the State's 100th birthday. Thousands of out-of-state visitors and newcomers will find this birthday edition particularly acceptable. No individual or organization is so thoroughly equipped to present in book form a compendium of Texas data. Facts and figures come from all parts of the state to find, in well edited form, their niche in this widely demanded handbook on Texas—its past, present and future.

And another question: Why did the first man who used the word 'spelling' spell it with a 'g' rather than a 'k'?

New York City—No stranger to America, having worked for Henry Ford in Detroit, Prince Louis Ferdinand, grandson of the former German emperor, is here for a visit. Of his grandfather, the prince remarked, "He is still a sawing wood and reading a lot of papers from all over the world. He told me to behave myself in America."

While the automobile manufacturers strive to produce cars that will go faster and faster the death toll from automobile accidents mounts higher and higher in direct ratio to the increase in speed.

The Ten Commandments likely is not altogether suit you. But if you were put in charge of fixing them over, what would you do first? Repeat some of them or enact some new ones?

TEXAS IS LARGE

Texans, celebrating 100 years independence this year with Centennial, may boast that Lone Star state comprises one-twelfth of the area of the United States. Texas is larger than Russia is the only European country with an area larger than Texas.

HIGH SPEED TIRE for 1936

RACING drivers will not take chances on any tire except a Firestone Gum-Dipped Tire in the grueling Indianapolis 500-Mile Race, where its greater blowout protection has been repeatedly demonstrated.

Ab Jenkins, the famous driver, used Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires on his 3000-mile run over the Salt Beds of Utah, which he covered in 23½ hours—a record of 127 miles per hour. He has driven more than a million miles on Firestone Tires, in every state in the union, on all kinds of roads, in all kinds of traffic, without tire failure or accident of any kind. What a tribute to safe, dependable, economical tire equipment.

When you drive at today's higher speeds, your life and the lives of others are largely dependent upon the degree of safety built into the tires of your car. Take no chances—equip your car with new Firestone High Speed Tires today and be sure of the safest driving equipment money can buy.

The body of the New Firestone High Speed Tire is made from selected long-staple cotton dipped in liquid rubber, absorbing eight pounds of rubber in every hundred pounds of cotton. This patented Gum-Dipping process insulates every fiber in every cotton cord, preventing internal friction which creates the heat so destructive to tire life, and giving to the tire added strength.

This heavy, broad, traction and non-skid tread is held to the cord body of the tire with Two Extra Layers of Gum-Dipped Cords, a patented construction, making the cord body and tread an inseparable unit.

A leading university in 2350 tire tests has found that the new scientifically designed Firestone High Speed tread stops a car up to 25% quicker. Its super-traction and non-skid efficiency have also been proved in the famous Pike's Peak Race where for eight consecutive years it has been used on the winning cars.

Ford Builds at Texas Centennial

The huge Ford Motor Company building at the Texas Centennial Exposition, Dallas, is now in progress, and is expected to be completed within three weeks and the entire building and exhibits will be ready for the Exposition opening June 6.

The structure, which will have a complete air cooling and humidifying system, will house exhibits showing manufacturing and testing processes used by the Ford Motor Company in its Rouge plant at Dearborn, Mich. A huge outdoor court will be attractively landscaped and will contain comfortable chairs and benches where visitors may relax in the shade under colorful umbrellas. On one side of the Ford Building will be nine reconstructed historic roads, trails and highways to be known as the "Roads of the Southwest," over which visitors will be transported in a fleet of Ford V-8 cars.

To the Ochiltree County Herald:

The Ochiltree County Herald of April 23 edition states that the Ochiltree county farmers favor contour methods of soil tillage. This, I am sorry to say, is an error.

As chairman of the resolution committee appointed by the Ochiltree County Agricultural Association to draw up a set of resolutions, which we felt might be beneficial toward preventing wind erosion, I will say we have been agreed with by several, criticized by most, and condemned by a few. And I am taking this means of expressing our views on the resolutions which were rejected and which may be found elsewhere in this issue.

In regard to the resolution concerning the licensing of farmers: that was just a brain storm. We did not expect it to pass but it would not be a bad idea. Here is the way it would work: every man farming would receive a license to farm, then if he permitted his farm to blow and refused to do anything about it and even refused to give his neighbors permission to work it, and he was the only man in that neighborhood who permitted his land to blow, then, and then only, would he have his license taken away from him. We have had cases of the above type this year who have allowed their farm to become a public nuisance.

The resolution in regard to contour farming is the most important and at the same time the resolution that received the bull-headed and unjustifiable condemnation. Common sense is all any one needs to know that a lister furrow on a level line will hold the water where it falls and therefore result in deeper moisture penetration than a lister furrow running up and down the hill. This up and down the hill farming leads the water off, as quickly as possible, into some lake or stream and not into the sub-soil where it belongs, thus insuring a good cover crop of green wheat during the dust storm period of each spring. Some years we don't have enough rainfall to do any good with any method of farming but if we farm up the hill this year and down the hill next year, we are not doing what we can and should do to save what little rain we do have. The wheat land, in my immediate neighborhood, which has blown to the hard ground this year, can be traced directly to the failure of the man on the land to contour list his farm last summer.

The impression I got from the meeting of 300 farmers at the Court House last Wednesday, April 22, was that the majority were in favor of doing nothing toward changing their methods of farming to help combat these dust storms. I am in favor of changing our methods of farming when we can easily see what our old methods of farming, up and down the hill, have got us into. Of course, I know our forefathers farmed up and down the hill but that doesn't make it infallible.

It is any one's right and privilege to disagree with me but it is not right to condemn me for my belief because I also have a right to my own opinion. I am not running for office, therefore, I do not have to say nice things and to those who have condemned me for my opinion, I will say that any one not willing to enter into a discussion of this subject of contour farming with an open mind but prejudiced against any other method of farming, except those employed by our forefathers, are deliberately trying to ruin our country. If the glove fits wear it.

Depopulating the Roads of Pests

Most drivers have had the feeling that they would like to run the careless driver right off the road, including the road hogs, the weaver, the snatcher of seconds at red lights, the speed demon, the driver who never signals—and also the horn blower.

Many a time a driver has been heard to say, "I wish I had a 10-ton truck to chase the pests off the road." But there is a better way to get rid of the pests. And that is to have a sufficient force of police on the main roads. A policeman patrolling the road can make almost a goody-goody out of the most dangerous driver.

Until people grow up in their use of motor vehicles, it seems to be necessary to provide many with watchmen. Here's something funny about the "pests you'd like to swat." There are so many of them, at various times, that if all were driven from the highway, there would be practically no one left. Who are the pests of the road, anyway?

Lower Railroad Rates

Washington, D. C.—Unless relieved by injunction proceedings, Eastern railroads will on June 2nd, be obliged to adopt the new Interstate Commerce Commission's rates of 2 cents a mile in coaches, 3 cents in Pullmans. The present base is 3.6 cents per mile plus a Pullman surcharge. All eastern roads protest against lower rates except the Baltimore & Ohio and the Norfolk & Western. Urging the ICC to enforce its rule, the National Association of Railroad and Utilities commissioners declare, "The public will take advantage of lower rates, and a great increase of passenger traffic will result."

Consistent use of Herald Want Ads will bring fine results.

Divines Fight Speeding

New York City—Parishioners of the Rev. Dr. Frederick S. Fleming, rector of Trinity parish, received copies of an anonymous "Motorists' Prayer" in which drivers plead: "Grant me a steady hand and watchful eye, that no man shall be hurt when I pass by." Out in Evanston, Ill., the Rt. Rev. Dr. George Craig Stewart, Episcopal bishop of Chicago, offered the local safety council "A Driver's Decalogue," in council "A Driver's Decalogue," in which the speeder is warned: "Thou shalt not take the laws of the state in vain, for the cop and judge will not hold him guiltless that taketh the laws in vain."

GEORGE BRENT WANTS ROOM TO "SIT DOWN"

George Brent who has the role of a playwright and ardent lover in the First National picture, "Snowed Under," to show at the Ellis theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, May 5-6, recently purchased a thirteen acre tract of land at Palm Springs because he wanted plenty of room to "sit down."

"Sitting down," in aviation parlance, means landing a plane, and Brent is one of the best known aviation pilots in the Hollywood film colony.

There persists among many people the idea that if a news story does not get on the front page that the editor or somebody in the newspaper office has a grudge against the person who turned in the news or about whom it is written. This is an entirely mistaken idea. The printer's makeup the paper (that is, place the type in the pages). The only rubber articles around a newspaper are the necks of the reporters and editors. Type doesn't squeeze or stretch, so an item must be used where it fits into a page. In exceptional cases, where all conditions warrant, a news item is marked, "Must, Page One," and then it goes on the front page, regardless of the trouble involved. If an article is interesting, it is read wherever it is—Albert H. Law in Dalhart Texan.

The area for the 1936 Louisiana rice crop has been set at 415,669 acres.

GERMINATE BLUE GRAMA GRASS SEED ON PLAINS

A composite sample of blue grama grass seed was taken by the Soil Conservation Service from seed which was harvested last fall near Romero, Texas. By germination test and counts, the following facts were obtained.

Upon counting several thousand florets or kash, it was found that 38.4 per cent of the florets contained caryopses or kernels. This may be considered a high per cent. It was also learned that 1000 florets weighed 7 grains, which is a million florets per pound, and with these figures it was found that one pound of blue grama grass seed contained 384,167 caryopses or kernels. Therefore, in planting three pounds of seed per acre, there could be expected 27 kernels per square foot if perfectly distributed.

A germination test was made of the above mentioned seed in sandy loam soil under ideal conditions, and ninety-six per cent of the kernels germinated. Therefore by planting three pounds of blue grama grass seed under absolutely ideal conditions and perfect distribution, it might be possible to obtain twenty-six seedlings per square foot. These results are only indicative, because they have been carried on from only one year's seed supply and from one locality.

Lean Rations for Hapsburgs
Vienna, Austria—Exiled in Belgium, Archduke Otto still awaits a call to resume the ancient Hapsburg Austrian throne. Returning from a visit to the royal exiles, Major Josef Thirouschek, before a meeting of local Royalists, spluttered: "I learned that meat is rarely seen on the royal table. I noticed a 2-inch hole in the shoe of an archduchess." Before the World War the Hapsburgs had $5,000,000 a year pocket money; Otto's estimated income now is $50,000.

"Mr. Dooley" Dies
New York City—Pinley Peter Dunne, beloved philosopher of an earlier generation and creator of "Mr. Dooley," died at the age of 68. During the Spanish-American war, his quaint Irish character became nationally known for his political witticisms.

The "Bike" Is Back
New York City—The bicycle of the gay 90's is steadily staging a comeback. More than a million "bikes" were sold in 1935; last year the output reached 642,000, highest in fifteen years. So popular is the sport that the New Haven railroad last Sunday ran a special "Cyclers' Train" into New England for 200 enthusiasts, who piled out in Connecticut, pedaled over auto-free sequestered woodland roads for seven hours, returned to town by rail. Chicago has 40 miles of cycle paths and a program for spending $2,000,000 to provide more.

Aliens on Way Out
Washington, D. C.—The senate has passed and sent to the president for approval the Dickstein bill, providing for the deportation of aliens proved to have married American citizens for the sole purpose of gaining admission into this country.

Spring Plunge Suggested
Greensboro, Ga.—Defeated for corner of Greene county, A. S. ("Jack") Moore inserted this note in the local paper: "I want to thank the intelligent and upright 96 voters who cast their ballots for me. The 2321 who cast their ballots against me can go jump in the lake."

Movies Have Birthday
New York City—Just 40 years ago in a local music hall Thomas A. Edison publicly projected the first flickery shadows on a screen through his Vitaseope. Twelve short subjects included the busy canals of Venice and Kaiser Wilhelm reviewing his troops. One reviewer wrote: "Wave after wave broke, just like the real thing. Some of the people in the front rows seemed afraid they were going to get wet, and looked around to see where they could run to." Since then, 200,000,000 annual admissions represent a movie box-office income of a billion dollars a year.

Another Bishop Opens Saloon
Denver, Colo.—Thirty years ago, the Rt. Rev. Henry Codman Potter, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of New York, opened a model saloon with religious ceremonies, holding that the saloon was a "poor man's club." Bishop Frank Rice, founder of the Methodist Church, Inc., to the consternation of the regular Methodist Episcopal church, has gone far beyond Bishop Potter's experiment. In the Windsor hotel, where his congregation meets, he dedicated "The Bar," named after the late U. S.

Senator Horace A. W. Tabor. In a room decorated with Biblical and patriotic scenes, ordained ministers of the Methodist Church, Inc., stand back of a 14-foot bar, dispense free beer to worshippers.

Prophecies Fulfilled
Washington, D. C.—Seven years ago Mayor Miguel Mariano Gomez of Havana, Cuba, visited Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt at Albany, N. Y. "You ought to be something more than the governor of a state," he said in admiration of Mr. Roosevelt's personality. Politely, the latter thought Cuba must have a bigger job for the mayor of its capital city. The two compared notes during the week at the White House. Havana's ex-mayor had become president-elect of Cuba; his ex-governor host was mounting ammunition for his second race for the presidency.

Women Pick Best Programs
New York City—After feeding broadcasting bigwigs on fried chicken, the Women's National Radio committee told the radio folks how their programs rated with the organization. Jessica Dragonette's concert won the light music award; Rudy Vallee stood first in non-musical popularity; the American town meeting of the air was adjudged best educational program, and "Wilderness Road" the best juvenile feature. No program of serious music was found worthy of distinction.

Jersey Unemployed Mobilize
Trenton, N. J.—For six days a constantly growing group of unemployed men and women and their families have been conducting a mock assembly in the state house, during a recess of the legislature. Sprawling on floors and desks they have made themselves at home, as a protest against the failure of the lawmakers to pass relief appropriations before adjournment. By the time the assembly reconvenes this week it is feared that 5,000 unemployed will converge on the capitol.

Great Battle Looms
Rome, Italy—Dispatches from Ethiopia indicate that the greatest battle of the African war is about to be fought at Sasa Baneh, where an Ethiopian force under the former Turkish general Wehib Pasha is making a determined stand against invading Italians under General Rodolfo Graziani. In pushing their invasion to within 125 miles of Addis Ababa, Haile Selassie's capital, the Italians have admitted heavy losses.

(Continued from first page) six weeks to two months out of each year and sitting on their "rear" the remainder of the time.

We hear every day, tirades against the "town farmer" and we have given voice to our own thoughts along this matter, but we want to say right here that a lot of our actual farmers conduct their own business right along the same lines as the town farmer.

Check up on the many farmers in this area who have contoured their lands or are planning to do so just as soon as they are able, and you will find in most cases, intelligent, hard working, industrious men, who make a full time, twelve months a year job of conducting their business of farming. There are plenty of farmers of this type in Ochiltree and adjoining counties and most of them can show a cash revenue of some kind from their farming activities every month in the year.

MISS SLAUGHTER IN PIANO RECITAL AT UNIVERSITY

Miss Jeanette Slaughter and two other classmates, freshmen in Oklahoma Baptist university at Shawnee, were presented in a piano recital on last Friday evening.

The following paragraph was taken from the report of the recital given by the Shawnee paper: "Miss Slaughter played a program of five numbers, 'Ich Liebe Dich,' Greig; 'Petite Bolero,' Ravina; 'Drifting,' Friml; 'Dedication,' Schumann, and 'Kammennoi-Ostrow,' Rubenstein. A variety of touch, speed, and brilliancy was noticeable in her interpretations. Her playing of 'Dedication,' one of Schumann's love songs, was worthy of comment because of its smoothness of legato, and good left hand technique. The pianist's tone in 'Kammennoi-Ostrow' was firm, and she shaded well in the song-like passage which introduces the melody."
