Two Die; Five Hurt; 24 Cars Are Smashed

Bulldozer-Loaded Vehicle Caromes Into City Center

(By The United Press)

CHEROKEE, Ia., Dec. 23.—A giant truck ran wild down a steep hill and killed two persons, injured five, and smashed 24 automobiles as it whiplashed through seven blocks of the town's main business district.

The truck, its brakes useless and its transmission ripped out, scattered autos like tenpins as it plowed through the street crowded with Christmas shoppers yesterday.

It was "almost miraculous," Police Chief Art Locke said today, that the toll of dead and injured was not higher. He said property damage would total $10,000 or $15,000.

Truck Driver Unhurt

"I never saw anything like it," Locke said. "There were metal and auto parts strewn for a block and a half."

The truck driver, Bob Witte of Sac City, Ia., crawled out unhurt after his vehicle finally plowed to a halt atop the wreckage of the first car it struck in its wild rampage. It had shoved the wrecked car ahead of it for a block and a half, Locke said.

Dead in the wreckage of that car were Ray Hansen, 30, and Jeffrey Barry, 40, both of Cherokee. They apparently died instantly, police said, when the truck—loaded with a seven-ton dulldozer—struck their car as it approached an intersection.

Gears Stripped

Hansen's wife, Maxine, 30, was removed from the twisted heap of metal with serious injuries. She regained partial consciousness hours after the accident, but hospital attendants said her condition did not permit questioning.

An occupant of another car and three pedestrians were injured as the tractor-trailer crunched down the street, swinging from side to side against parked cars.

The truck driver said he was halfway down a hill north of Cherokee when the "hydraulic fluid in the brakes failed." He tried to shift into low, but stripped the gears.

"From there on," he said, "I didn't have any brakes or any other means of stopping the truck."

He lost control of the vehicle completely, he said, when his truck hit the car in which Barry and the Hansens were riding.

Four Killed In Train Mishap

PANA, Ill., Dec. 23 (AP) — Two youths and two teen-age girls were killed and a third girl was seriously injured last night in an automobile-freight train collision near here.

Coroner Earl J. Baker of Christian county said the 10-year-old car crashed into a New York Central freight train at a crossing about two miles west of this south-central Illinois community. The train, enroute from St. Louis to Indianapolis, was delayed three hours. Bodies of the victims were thrown several hundred feet along the railroad right-of-way.

Conditions Critical

Baker said the five young people were returning to Pana after driving a third boy to his farm home, about a mile from the accident scene. He said the condition of the injured girl, Phyllis Huffmaster, 16, is critical. She was removed to a Pana hospital.

The dead, all of Pana, were identified as Herman Becker, 20, driver of the car; John Hill, 17; Barbara Havrilka, 16, and Delores Potchkes, 16.

Seven-Year-Old Boy Assured Santa Claus Is Not Dead

Celebration Of Christmas Will Not Be Easy For People Whose "Loved Ones" Face Death

(By The United Press)

The joy and spirit of Christmas spread into every corner of the country today but there were some homes where the celebration would not be easy.

In Seattle, two-year-old Beam Ault played with a new cocker puppy while his parents bustled about in last minute holiday preparations. He did not know that his mother and father had gambled desperately by refusing to let doctors remove his remaining good eye to halt the spread of cancer.

"There's no assurance the operation would save him and if he's only to have a few years we'd rather he be able to see," Ault said. "After all, the doctors could be wrong."

In Philadelphia, Bobby Clark, 7, who saw one childish tragedy dissolved before his eyes, was the victim of a second, more serious one. The boy, asked in a department store what he would get for Christmas, answered, "nothing, mom says Santa Claus is dead."

His mother and others assured him he was mistaken and a letter signed by Santa himself sealed the matter. But yesterday he was struck down by a truck and hospital attendants said his condition was "only fair."

If five-year-old Connie Wood lives until Christmas she probably won't be able to tell it from any other day. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wood of Kokomo, Ind., stood a glittering tree in the corner of her room Thanksgiving and have given her a gift nearly every day since then. Doctors said that cancer would kill her any day.

In El Monte, Calif., a tree was decorated with especially

Late Spurt In Buying Noted In FRB Report

Dollar Intake At Many Stores Sets All-Time Record

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 — Christmas shopping showed signs today of taking a late spurt that might carry it to a close finish with last year's record winner.

It seemed to be in harmony with the optimism over the nation's business outlook which was expressed by President Truman at his news conference yesterday. Mr. Truman didn't elaborate.

The Federal Reserve Board reported that a surge of buying at the mid-December point shot department store sales ahead of the same part of boomtime 1948 for the first time in months.

Sales Show Hike

And 1949, striving at being the 12th consecutive year to hang up a new Christmas sales high, packed one big advantage: It has an extra shopping day over last year, since this Christmas falls on Sunday whereas it came on Saturday in 1948.

The reserve board, compiling reports from all over the country, announced department store sales last week forged one per cent ahead of the same week of 1948.

That was a sharp improvement over the department store record of a six per cent lag behind last year for the period from Jan. 1 to mid-December.

Government figures showed, too, that over-all retail sales have bettered the department store record throughout 1949, holding to within

President Leaves Washington For Christmas In Missouri

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 —President Truman took off in the rain today to fly back home to Missouri for the Christmas holidays.

His personal plane, the Independence, left the National airport at 7:37 a. m. CST for the three hours, 45 minutes flight to Kansas City, Kas. He will drive from there to the Truman home at Independence, Mo.

PLANE LANDS

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Dec. 23 (U.P.) — President Truman's plane landed at 11:41 a. m. CST at Fairfax airport here, completing his homeward journey for Christmas.

Despite the rain, the weather was warm and visibility was fair as the plane headed west. The route, however, takes the President over areas hit by snow and sleet.

Daughter With Him

With him was his daughter, Margaret. Mrs. Truman already is at their home in Independence.

Except for a short radio speech Saturday night extending Christmas greetings to the nation, and eating Christmas dinner at home, Mr. Truman plans to follow no fixed schedule while in Missouri. Customarily he spends most of his time visiting with kinfolk and old friends.

He is due back in Washington Dec. 28 to face the usual heavy work load incident to the opening of Congress.

Yesterday, Mr. Truman went over his State of the Union message and other business with his

Telephone Employes Ready For Walkout

DALLAS, Dec. 23. (AP)—Union telephone employes in Texas are ready for a threatened six-state strike.

R. W. Staley, Texas secretary of the CIO Communications workers said union employes of Southwestern Bell Telephone company were "awaiting the signal from the bargaining committee."

He indicated last night the strike would not be called tonight or tomorrow morning, pending a conference today between union leaders and Gov. Forrest Smith of Missouri.

The union wants a 15-cent hourly wage increase and an upward revision of job classifications in certain cities. The company says a change in the contract isn't justified.

Lorenzo Sounds A Note Of Prosperity

LORENZO, Dec. 23 (Special)—Prosperity and Christmas cheer note: Two Lorenzo organizations made plans to play Santa Claus to the poor of the town, but found no one needed assistance.

The Lorenzo Lions club and the Eastern Star made surveys this week and discovered that Santa Claus plans a visit to everybody in Lorenzo, so plans to help the needy were discontinued.

"This speaks good for Lorenzo." The Lorenzo Tribune comments: "However, there has been so much work here this fall there is no excuse for charity unless sickness has occurred in the family."

AMENDMENTS PENDING IN SENATE

Excise Tax Slash Showdown Looms

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 — A showdown on whether to cut excise taxes appears certain to come in the early days of the session of Congress which starts Jan. 3.

The test is shaping up in the Senate where the first scheduled order of business is action on a House-passed bill to repeal the federal taxes on oleomargarine.

Pending in the Senate is a series of amendments which would slash or repeal the excise levies collected on such items as telephone bills, transportation tickets, jewelry, furs and cosmetics.

Deficit Factor

At the start the amendments were being pushed mainly by some dairy state senators who are opposed to the oleomargarine repealer.

They figured that President Truman would veto any bill which provided for a sizeable reduction of excise taxes. And they felt quite positive about it after Mr. Truman said he knew of no way to wipe out the federal deficit without a tax increase.

But just last week the President said the treasury and the House ways and means committee were at work, with his blessing, trying to find out whether some excise levies could be trimmed without too big a strain on the federal purse.

Reduction In Prospect

Any administration decision to call for lower excises probably would be coupled with a request for off-setting higher taxes from other sources, including new ones.

At the last session, Democratic leaders in Congress were inclined to cold-shoulder proposals to trim excises. But support for the idea has been increasing and the prospects for a reduction now look fairly good.

Some senators who had been lukewarm about a cut say privately it would be difficult to vote against a reduction with congressional elections coming up next year.

The drive for some reduction now has the backing of influential Senator George (D-Ga), chairman of the Senate finance committee.

Polio Victims To Fly Home

GONZALES, Dec. 23. (U.P.)—More than one Santa Claus came to Gonzales' Warm Springs polio foundation today.

But the Saint Nicks who reported two days ahead of schedule were not portly gentlemen with white beards and prancing reindeer. Instead, they were lean youths in leather jackets who came in a squadron of airplanes.

They bussed into Gonzales on a mission of mercy which they christened "Operation Heart Throb." It was their job to fly 60 polio patients to their homes for Christmas.

The first plane in the fleet of nine DC-3's and Beechcrafts was scheduled to take off from San Marcos airfield at 10 a. m. Others followed at intervals.

Passengers in the wheelchair airlift ranged in age from four months to 28 years.

For Mrs. Ruth Ford of Carriso Springs, Tex., the oldest passenger at 28, Operation Heart Throb gave her a chance to enjoy her first Yuletide at home with her baby.

Officials at the polio institution said the airlift would involve planes valued at $2,500,000. It was estimated they would travel 4,000 miles before completing the operation, which includes returning the Dec. 27.

Pilots and ther crew members taking part in the Christmas flight volunteered to play Santa Claus without pay.

Ross Boothe, president of the foundation, said only 38 patients were able to spend Christmas at home last year.

"It is simply a wonderful thing," he said.

"It is splendid for the children and for their families, as well. And perhaps this latter factor is the most important. All of our patients will be returning home one day and this is the best possible method for building up family acceptance and co-operation."

Wichita Falls Boys, 5, Killed

WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 23. (AP)—Two tiny boys—both five—died late yesterday under dirt and debris apparently pushed over them by a bulldozer as they played in a shallow gully.

A forlorn dog, playmate of the boys, led to the discovery of Billy Rogers and Donnie Tolton and ended a search by hundreds along the banks of the Wichita river.

Sought Five Hours

The two little boys had been sought five hours.

The bulldozer was owned by Billy's father. It was being used in a leveling job being performed by his construction company.

Sheriff Hammet Vance said the boys were apparently covered by the bulldozer. They were believed to have been covered about 3:30 or 4 p. m.

Billy's body was found under a foot of dirt at 9:50 a. m.

At 10:10 p. m., Donnie was found under two feet of earth.

The bodies were found about 15 feet part, approximately a block and a half from Billy's home.

The boys had been playing with their dog along the river, near the Rogers Construction company.

Asked For Help

At 5 p. m. their parents began to worry and asked for help in finding them. Hundreds of volunteers, police, firemen and air force men from Sheppard field took part in the search.

It was H. W. Newman, a volunteer, who noticed the dog—hanging around a little gully just off the river.

Then bulldozer operator Leon Trice remembered that the boys had been playing nearby as he

Escaped Convict Is Caught By Sheriff

Meadow Flier Among Victims In Big Bomber

Rogers Hornsby, Jr., Also Killed In Fiery Plunge

(By The United Press)

Authorities examined the wreckage of four planes in widely scattered parts of the nation today for clues to why they crashed, carrying an estimated 16 persons to their deaths.

One of the planes was a B-50 air force bomber. The other craft were small private planes.

Crashed In Flames

Air force officers said a large plane which crashed in flames last night in swamplands near Savannah, Ga., with no known survivors, apparently was a four-engine bomb which took off five minutes earlier from Chatham air force base.

The bomber was carrying 11 men on a long-range practice flight to the El Paso, Tex., area.

Muck and mud, armpit deep, hampered searchers in their hunt for possible survivors. Air force personnel at the scene reported they could not find enough of the plane to identify the craft immediately.

Cause Is Unknown

Cause of the crash was not determined.

A search party set out from St. George, Utah, to recover the body of Dr. Franklin Y. Gates, a Las Vegas, Nev., physician. His small plane on a snow-covered hill 27 miles northwest of St. George.

Gates had been missing since last Friday on a flight from Las

Charges Filed After Shooting

Paul J. Deaton, 36, was free under $750 bond and Mrs. Belva A. Moss, 52, of 1712 Eighteenth, his mother-in-law, was in Lubbock Memorial hospital for treatment of a gunshot wound in the leg, as result of an altercation about 3:20 a. m. today at the woman's home.

A charge of assault with intent to murder was filed in the court of C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, against Deaton.

Mrs. Moss' condition was termed satisfactory.

Deaton and his wife, whose name also is Belva, had gone to Mrs. Moss' home, where they were living, just before the shooting. They had been to a dine and dance place, city detectives said.

Daughter Calls Police

City Detective Lee Rice, jr., said he was informed that Mrs. Deaton's mouth was bleeding and that Deaton and Mrs. Moss got into a quarrel over the incident and scuffled over a pistol that officials were told belongs to Mrs. Moss.

Miss Jane Moss, 18, another daughter of the injured woman, called police at 3:18 a. m., that a man there had a gun. She phoned back at 3:20 that her mother had been shot.

Another shot, detectives were informed, was discharged into the ceiling.

Deaton had a pistol in his hand when police arrived there and arrested him.

The case will be investigated by a Jan. 2 grand jury in the 99th district court.

Sub-Zero Weather Recorded In Dakotas And Minnesota

Cold Christmas Is In Prospect For Most Of Midwest; Snow Forecast For Part Of Nation

(By The Associated Press)

A cold—and probably white—Christmas appeared in prospect for most of the midwest.

The cold air which covered the central part of the country spread eastward today to the Appalachian mountains but the Atlantic coastal areas enjoyed spring-like temperatures.

It was sub-zero weather today for the Dakotas to northern Illinois. The mercury tumbled to 21 below at Pembina, N. D., and International Falls, Minn.

New York City's early morning reading was a mild 60. Yesterday the mercury hit 62.2, a record high for Dec. 22.

Light snow fell today in the Great Lakes region and the Ohio valley and also in the Dakotas and Montana. Fair weather, with subnormal temperatures, continued in the far Southwest and the Pacific coast.

WARMER WEATHER IS FORECAST FOR AREA

Lubbock shivered in subfreezing cold for the third straight morning today, but a bright sun was speeding up a rising trend which promises comfortable weather for a few days.

This morning's minimum of 20 degrees at 8:15 o'clock followed a maximum Thursday of 40 degrees. The maximum temperature this afternoon will be in the 50's, said Victor Halliburton, observer at the U. S. Weather bureau station at Municipal airport.

AID TO MEDICINE RECOGNIZED

Gates Of Sing Sing To Open For Man Once Facing Death

OSSINING, N. Y., Dec. 23. (AP)—The gates of Sing Sing prison swing outward today for a man who once was sentenced to death but lived to risk his life for a little girl doomed by leukemia.

Italian-born Louis Boy's dramatic vein-to-vein exchange of blood last summer did not save the child. But it helped gain freedom for the 50-year-old convicted murderer, after 18 years behind the walls.

In a traditional Christmas-time gesture, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey yesterday commuted Boy's life sentence to time already served.

Boy, former machinist in New York City, will be on parole for the rest of his life.

Aided Experiments

He was expected to go to his mother's home in New York City. His son and daughter, both in their early 20's, plan to visit him there. Their mother has remarried.

Boy was the first person who ever knowingly took into his veins the taint of leukemia, a cancerous blood disease.

The transfusion experiment to help the eight-year-old girl, whose name has not been disclosed, was not Boy's first participation in life-endangering medical tests at Sing Sing.

Boy was freed because of his "exceptional contributions" in several experiments, Dewey said. These included wartime experiments involving atabrine, used later by the armed forces in treatment of malaria, and influenza vaccine.

No Reward Promised

Boy volunteered as a human guinea pig "with knowledge of the dangers involved and with no promise of reward," the governor's statement in Albany said.

Referring to the leukemia experiment, Dewey said:

"Again he was aware of the danger that he might contract a fatal disease. Although the child's life was not saved by the experiment, Boy's service is considered an important contribution to the field of medicine."

Boy's prison conduct was exemplary, Dewey added.

Boy was convicted of first degree murder in Manhattan in 1931, for a robbery-slaying in which he did not participate directly. He was accused of furnishing the guns with which a taxi company night cashier, John T. Moore, was shot by stickup men.

Boy was sentenced on July 9, 1931, to die in the electric chair. His sentence was commuted to life imprisonment by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt. Boy had no previous police record.

He came to the United States in 1916 at the age of 16. He spent three years in Auburn prison and 15 at Sing Sing.

Boy was one of 10 convicts who volunteered for the leukemia experiment. He was chosen because his blood type was the same as the girl's.

Leukemia is an excess of white blood cells. The doctors hoped to kill the excess in the child's blood.

A total of 36 quarts of blood were traded between the child and the convict in four-hour sessions on each of four days. The girl died two weeks later.

Jap Business Controls Cut

TOKYO, Dec. 23 (AP) — Japanese business come Jan. 1 is going to get a new taste of freedom from the controls born of defeat and occupation.

General MacArthur's headquarters today announced that on that date 18 of 30 classes of industrial commodities will be freed wholly or in part from allocation controls.

For instance, industry will no longer have to get certificates when it needs raw wool, rubber, lumber, cement, semi-finished steel some chemicals and numerous other materials.

Other Controls Lifted

Other controls over business have lifted this year, said Deputy Chief Calvin Verity of MacArthur's economic and scientific section, adding:

"Japan is rapidly approaching the ideal of all democratic nations of a free enterprise competitive system with artificialities removed."

Domestic production or imports have increased to such an extent, he said, that allocation no longer is necessary.

Many people of the world find the eating of insects essential to surviving.

True Christmas Curse Isn't Poverty But Being Alone And Unloved, Writer States

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK.—Christmas is a swelling of the spirit, a thaw in the heart.

It is a warm time for most of us, but a hard time for many.

At dusk the other day I was walking with an old friend. Ahead of us strolled a rather shabbily dressed family of five. The mother trudged along carrying her youngest child. The father was having some trouble keeping the other two children in tow. They were brother and sister, and they kept running excitedly up to the store windows and trotting back to tell their dad what they had seen.

This rather depressed my friend.

Time Sharing

"It is awful to be poor at Christmas, and look into windows at things you can never have," he said.

"I didn't feel that way, and I don't believe the two children did. The true curse of Christmas isn't poverty. It is to be alone and feel unloved.

For above all Christmas is a time of sharing. Neither the giving nor the getting of presents is as significant as the realization people have at this season that they are important to each other.

That is the true meaning of Christmas. For the rest of the year we tend too much to act as if we were all busy little atoms bumping each other about irresponsibly in a search for a better orbit. "Who you shoving?" is our motto.

Heart No Hermit

But come December we suddenly realize how lost we all would be without each other, how dark the world would really be if the human race really lived by the rule of fang and claw instead of the helping hand. It comes to us, often with the force of a hammer blow, that after all we have nothing in this life but one another—and the hope of something better together after this life.

The heart, indeed, is no hermit. Like any other pump it has to pour out as much as it takes in—or the darn thing won't work at all.

you'll have two days to say
Merry Christmas by telephone

Even though there will be some delays this year in handling Christmas calls, you'll have two days when Christmas greetings will be appropriate – Monday as well as Sunday.

Holiday rates will be in effect all day Monday. Long distance traffic is sure to be lighter. If your Christmas call can be made then, it will go through faster.

TWO WAYS YOU CAN HELP

1. Please give the operator the out-of-town number you are calling, if you know it.

2. Please don't inquire about the progress of your call. It will be put through in turn and as promptly as possible. Calling back to ask about it may actually delay your call—as well as others that are waiting.

As Man's Friendship Thrives With Woman Co-Worker, Love For Wife Cools Off

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am 44; and my husband and I have had 17 years of happy married life, and he still whistles in the shower and sings around the house, but after all these years he has cooled towards me.

He has never been very communicative and now he seems even less inclined to discuss things with me. He still dutifully kisses me goodnight or goodbye, but in other ways he makes me feel I am not needed—which puts me in the position of making the overtures.

John's work brings him into association with many women of all ages and lately he has been thrown in the company of two ladies especially, and now he says that one of them is giving him cuff links for Christmas. Is this proper?

MODEL HUSBAND UNTIL RECENTLY

OF course he always exchanges Christmas gifts with his various department heads, and usually he receives ties, handkerchiefs, hose, etc., but isn't a gift of jewelry going a little too far? He says he has lots of friends and Miss B is a very good friend, he adds—strongly emphasizing the word "friend."

Everyone admires my husband and this has made me very proud. He is quite handsome, graying and dignified, so surely I must be imagining things, because I've never before had the least doubt about his fidelity, and I still haven't really. But the thing that baffles me is his coolness. Can it be that he has outgrown me in maturity, or just what is the trouble—and the solution? Thank you for any clarification you can offer.

(Signed) C. S.

WIFE'S RELUCTANT TO FACE HER FEARS

DEAR C. S.: I don't think you really need clarification here, but only encouragement to face up to a situation you fear and administer corrective treatment to it.

It seems to me you've caught the drift of John's behavior, also that you've identified the temptress—namely, the donor of the cuff links,—but that you are backing away from the worrisome thought of triangle by telling yourself that you are imagining things.

If you and John were sweethearts in marriage until recently, and if he seems happy enough in his home life still, except that he isn't your lover nowadays, and puts you off with a duty kiss instead of courting your affection,—and if in the midst of this elusive change he breaks the news that a very special lady friend is giving him jewelry for Christmas, well, my dear, you'd be a fool to think nothing of it.

In selecting for John's Christmas a set of cuff links, a very durable intimate type of gift, and in letting him know in advance that she would be figuratively "dog-tagging" him by this device, the Lady Pirate is making an unblushing play for him,—and no doubt part of her purpose in the opening rounds was to wangle an exchange gift of jewelry from him, as part of a campaign to forge a progressively significant bond between them.

BRING ALIVENESS TO THE SITUATION

I SUPPOSE John's candor about the cuff links is an attempt on his part to whitewash his acceptance of them, so that he may wear them openly without guilt feelings and without reproach from you (he hopes),—and his fence straddling in this respect suggest (1) that he's mildly smitten with the lady, but (2) definitely doesn't want to get himself in your bad graces due to her.

As I see the situation, you are confronted with a challenge to take constructive action to weigh the scales against her, by keeping John much more alive to your personality than to hers. And my advice is to start reacting vividly against the cuff links—by indicating frankly, with humor, wit and satire, that you dislike them and the nerve of the donor also.

For the rest, don't sag. Do all possible to invest your looks and personality with fresh interest for your husband. And instead of making wistful familiar overtures, treat him more as a fascinating stranger whom you'd like to know much better.—M. H.

Extension Of Price Support Program On Cottonseed Revealed

The government's price support program for cottonseed has been extended until Feb. 15, Cong. Geo. H. Mahon of the 19th Congressional district has been advised by the Production and Marketing Administration.

Previously the deadline for the program had been announced as Dec. 31.

Extension of the deadline by the PMA officials came after repeated requests by Cong. Mahon for extension of the closing of the program until March 1. The bumper cotton crop in this area and the failure of thousands of farmers to get their cotton ginned by the end of this year was given as one of the major reasons for asking for the extension.

The government's support price is $46.50 a ton and most of the cottonseed from this year's crop has been going into the loan.

To halt the loan program on Jan. 1 would have been doing a great injustice to a large number of farmers who were unable to get their cotton out in advance of the deadline, Mahon pointed out. He predicted a drop in the price of cottonseed if the loan program had been halted on Dec. 31.

"I am highly pleased with action of PMA officials in extending the deadline to Feb. 15," Cong. Mahon told the Evening Journal by long distance telephone this morning. "I believe that most of the cotton in this area will be ginned by that time."

Dinner Honor For Couple

Members of the wedding party and other friends were guests.

A blue linen cloth covered the dinner table which was centered with a silver bowl holding silver pine cones and blue balls.

Covers were laid for the honored couple, the hosts, and Messrs. and Mesdames T. P. Ward, W. S. Green, Bill Casey, Billy Harrison, Calvin Fortenberry, B. M. Brelsford. W. C. Rutledge, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Bickley, George LaRoe, and Misses Clydene and Voncellia Rutledge, Lavon Thompson, Linda Smith, and Mrs. R. V. Smith, and Mrs. S. W. Brunson.

Mesdames Brunson, Green, Smith and Brelsford assisted with hospitalities.

Five States Uphold Segregation Issues

AUSTIN, Dec. 23 (AP)—Texas will be supported by North Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia and Louisiana in its supreme court fight to maintain separate schools for negroes and whites, State Attorney General Price Daniel reported yesterday.

North Carolina Attorney General Harry McMullan notified him the four states would file supporting briefs when oral arguments are heard in the United States Supreme court Jan. 30.

In the suit before the Supreme court, Heman Marion Sweatt of Houston will ask that Texas' segregated system be declared discriminatory and unconstitutional.

Sweatt argued during the progress of his suit through the state courts that such segregation is unconstitutional even if the negro schools are equal to those for whites.

Gov. Shivers Leaves On Holiday Journey

AUSTIN, Dec. 23 (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers leaves today for Mission, where he will spend the Christmas holidays with his family. He will return to his desk Jan. 3.

Shivers said yesterday he would make a trip to Port Arthur, his legal residence, to pay his poll tax in January, to go to Waco for a junior chamber of commerce program Jan. 14, and to Fort Worth Jan. 27 for the Southwestern exposition and fat stock show.

FBI WORKING ON DETROIT CASE

Secrecy Clamped On Probing Of CIO Dynamite Bomb Blast

DETROIT, Dec. 23 (AP)—A secrecy lid was clamped today on the investigation of the dynamite bomb plot against the CIO's auto union.

Both the FBI and city police shielded their efforts to solve Tuesday night's mysterious plant of a powerful explosive at the international union's headquarters.

FBI agents, ordered into the case from Washington, proceeded without comment.

As a painstaking search for clues continued, police took further steps to protect unionists and to guard against any further attacks.

The nature of the precautions was undisclosed.

Truman Denounces Act

After the attempts on the lives of Walter and Victor Reuther, police guards were placed at the brothers' homes.

The CIO United Auto workers also bought an armored car for Walter Reuther, their president.

Walter was shot and seriously wounded in the spring of 1948. A year later Victor met a similar fate—again from a shotgun marksman in ambush.

At his press conference in Washington yesterday President Truman commented on the dynamite plot.

Mr. Truman denounced it as outrageous.

Harry T. O'Connor, the FBI's special agent in Detroit, conferred with Chief of Detectives Jack Harvill. Neither would discuss the conversation.

Nothing Hot Learned

However, Harvill said the inquiry so far had turned up "nothing hot."

At the same time Harvill said he was inclined to dismiss as the work of a "crackpot" a so-called bomb threat letter sent to an AFL union.

It was disclosed that such a note, postmarked Dec. 12, had been sent Walter Stanley, business agent for the AFL's street car and bus drivers union.

About that time the union was threatening to strike the municipal transportation system in a dispute over wage technicalities. Later the dispute was settled.

Reds Blame Others

The letter was unsigned and written in pencil. It contained a threat to blow up the AFL union's office. Police refused to disclose its exact contents.

"It looks like the work of a screwball," Harvill said.

He added, however, that it would be investigated.

The Detroit area's labor scene has been troubled for months by violence and threats of violence, including two unsolved bombings of AFL men's homes in neighboring Pontiac.

Michigan's Communist party took issue meanwhile with reiterated theories that Communists might be at the root of the UAW-CIO's trouble.

Reuther, an arch enemy of Communists, has said so and certain police, too.

The Communists' state committee said in a press release that the violence was "fascist-inspired gangster warfare" directed against the "labor movement and its leaders."

New Dog Gets Gifts Of Lost Family Pet

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23. (AP)—June and Virginia Graham, six and 12, were heartbroken.

Their dog, Skippy—just when they had finished stuffing his Christmas stocking with rubber bones, dumbbells and other dog delicacies.

Margaret West also was heartbroken.

She's leaving the city and wanted to find a good home for Smudge, the dog she adopted after finding the pooch wandering homeless in the rain.

The father of June and Virginia came into the Evening Bulletin office yesterday to tell Columnist Earl Selby about the stockings ready for the missing Skippy. Miss West telephoned her problem at the same time.

The result—Smudge now belongs to June and Virginia and the stockings will be his first present in his new home.

"Great Return To One True Church" Is Hope Of Pontiff

Pope Pius XII Pleads For Union Within Roman Catholic Church To Fight Atheism Advance

(By The Associated Press)

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 23—Pope Pius XII pleaded today for union within the Roman Catholic church of all Christians to oppose the advance of militant atheism.

The pope's address, his annual Christian message, was directed to the whole world.

He spoke on the eve of the 1950 holy year which he said "must be decisive, especially for the longed-for renewal of the modern world."

The pontiff expressed the hope this holy year would welcome also "the great return to the one true church, awaited over the centuries . . . with good reason."

He said "men are anxious about the effrontery with which the united front of militant atheism advances, and the old question is now voiced aloud: "Why are there still separations?"

The pope expressed a hope for unity within the church and said, "the holy door, our arms and our heart" will be opened for all.

The pope made a strong plea for social justice, asking both social systems of capitalism and Communism—though he did not mention them by name—to return to Christianity and legitimate liberties and rights. He criticized the negation of fundamental rights and the enslavement of men to totalitarian states.

The pope expressed the hope that the 1950 holy year will be a year of peace and not of war, a year of justice and not of national egoism. He encouraged workers to defend their "just aspirations" but said the possession of material wealth without faith in God is of little use.

The Christmas message, the eleventh the pope has given, was in reply to Christmas greetings from the college of cardinals. He spoke in Italian from the vatican's consistorial hall. The speech was rebroadcast around the world in 23 languages.

The pontiff declared the church had made advances in some parts of the world, particularly in Africa.

Bue he said Christmas cannot ignore the grave dangers which religion faces in some countries of Europe and prostrate China.

Tomorrow the pope will mount the steps of St. Peter's before an anticipated crowd of between 300,000 and 500,000 gathered to witness the opening of the 25th holy year in the church's 20 centuries of existence.

Before the holy year is ended more than 6,000,000 pilgrims are expected to visit Rome.

The pope's Christmas message today, devoted almost entirely to the holy year jubilee, voiced more hope than did his 1948 address when he said that "souls were oppressed by the nightmare of a new war.

"Tomorrow," he said "in opening the holy door, we shall be conscious of performing no more traditional act, but a symbolic rite of high import not only for Christians but for the whole human race."

The pope pleaded that the holy year—"this encounter of love"—might be one in which "men would pardon men."

"Let blame be destroyed," said the pope. "May joy smile again."

The Columbia River, forming the boundary between Washington and Oregon, is believed to carry more water than all other American Pacific Coast streams combined.

Wichita Falls, Austin Clash For State Class AA Crown

Undefeated Coyotes Favorites Despite Maroons' Weight Edge

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, Dec. 23.—Wichita Falls' mighty Coyotes and the Austin Maroons clashed today at Texas Christian university stadium for the state Class AA schoolboy football championship.

The Coyotes took the field for the 2 p. m. kickoff as slight favorites, although the game could go either way without surprise.

Coach Joe Golding of the Coyotes and Coach Johnny Kitchen of the capital city Maroons brought out teams rich with power and sparkling with speed.

Each team also had shown, during the regular season and in playoffs, a sound knowledge of blocking and tackling.

Holdy One Title

Neither Golding nor Kitchen had ever produced a state championship team thus additional personal prestige was attached to the game.

Wichita Falls has appeared in three previous championship team, thus additional personal prestige was attached to the game.

Wichita Falls has appeared in thr ee previous championship games whereas Austin had been to the post twice. Each went into today's clash with one title in their possession.

In 1941 Wichita Falls took home the crown with a 13-0 victory over Temple, and in 1942 Austin took the title by defeating Dallas Sunset, 20-7.

Wichita Falls' 1949 record was 10 straight games without a defeat or tie. The Coyotes won the District 2-AA flag, and subsequently beat Pampa, 20-12, El Paso Austin, 58-6, and Highland Park, 21-0, in playoff games.

Austin Lost One

Austin lost one game during the season, a 7-6 upset engineered by Fort Worth's Arlington Heights, but took the 14-AA title and then won playoff victories from Corsicana, 33-18; Alice, 28-6 and favored Port Arthur, 20-14.

Both elevens have concentrated on teamwork and neither boasted a "name" star.

However, Wichita Falls developed a trio of fine backs in Tommy Fields, Billy Bookout and Bill Waggoner. But Austin fashioned an equally impressive triumvirate —John Cavileer, John Salyer and Bobby Warren.

Austin enjoyed a weight advantage of 16 pounds per man in the line and 11 pounds per man in the backfield.

Whereas Austin relied on a two-platoon system, Golding's Coyotes won a reputation as an "iron man" team by producing seven men capable of playing an entire game without relief.

Change In TIL Rules Sought

AUSTIN, Dec. 23 (U.P.) — The athletic director of the Texas Interscholastic league's massive sports program has called for a drastic overhaul of the TIL's regulations governing assignment of high schools to various conferences and districts.

Dr. Rhea Williams, the director, expressed his displeasure with the current rules, cited examples of unwieldy situations and broached suggestions for a change in his column written for the TIL s newspaper, the Interscholastic leaguer.

The state executive committee presently assigns schools to one of five conferences, according to the league constitution, on the basis of the following enrollments:

Requirements Are Given

City Conference 500 and up; Conference AA, 500 and up; Conference A, 200 to 499; Conference B, 100 to 199, and six-man, up to 100.

"Up to this stage," Dr. Williams wrote, "The assignment procedure is specific and definite. But . . . (other sections of the constitution) . . . leave the gate wide open, and in (my) opinion, prevent this office from making assignments on a practical and educational basis.

"It is agreed by the state executive committee that three criteria should be used in assigning schools by districts: (1) High-school enrollment; (2) Geographical continuity, and (3) Orderly progression to state or regional championships."

The league athletic director pointed out that of the 86 schools in Class AA this school year, 31 did not have the required enrollment and had to be voted in. Of 227 schools in Class A, 39 per cent had to be voted in for the same reason, and 15 percent of the Class B schools were voted up from the six-man ranks.

Question Is Asked

Then, Dr. Williams, asks the quetion:

"Can you visualize trying to assign 227 schools to 32 districts in Conference A without knowledge whether 39 per cent of them are going to ask to be admitted to this conference or request to play in their proper classification, Conference B?"

His column pointed out the same condition exists in the other conferences as in Class A when the committee attempts to set up its temporary assignment has to be done, he said, in order to facilitate schedule making.

In Class AA, Williams said, the committee had to assume that the 31 schools voted in would ask to compete in that conference in 1950 just as they have been for the past 10 years.

Rule Is Needed

"We set up 16 districts, which is the number needed for an orderly state race," Williams said. "Just prior to the release of the 1950 tentative assignments, schools which have been applying for AA competition for years requested, and can demand, assignment to the conference where their enrollment qualifies them (conference A).

"This leaves several districts in AA competition with only three or four teams, and with this late notice the state office is unable to make changes to meet this situaton without upsetting the entire state organization in Conference AA.

"A mandatory assignment rule, or at least one giving only a small leeway in voting in schools into a higher classification, is urgently needed. Until these suggestions become a reality the state office will not be able to make conference assignments on a scientific and educational basis."

Bye, Donovan Named As North Captains

MIAMI, Dec. 23 (INS)—Minnesota Halfback Billy Bye and Boston college's hefty tackle, Art Donovan, were chosen co-captains today of the North team for the North-South all-star battle in Miami's Orange Bowl Monday night.

The two teams will begin tapering off in their workouts tomorrow under the tutelage of Miami Coach Andy Gustafson, who is handling the Southern squad and Yale Coach Herman Hickman, the Northern Mentor.

Gustafson named his starting backfield today as follows:

Adrian Burk of Baylor, at quarter; Forrest Griffith of Kansas, and Herb Rich of Vanderbilt, at half; and Whitey Campbell of Miami, at full.

After naming them, Gustafson remarked:

"We have a backfield that can do anything."

The South won the all-star contest last year but the North, with six Notre Dame men to bolster its ranks, is favored this time.

Coaches May Name Convention Site

FORT WORTH, Dec. 23 (AP) The Texas High School Coaches association today may pick a site for its 1950 convention.

Directors are to hear bids from Fort Worth, Austin, Dallas and San Antonio before making the selection.

Yesterday they voted to begin their five-day clinic on July 31, 1950. They also selected instructors for the all-star football and basketball squads, but withheld names pending acceptance of invitations.

It was reported that Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson was one of the two grid coaches selected.

The directors voted to poll the membership on three issues: The 19-year-old rule, the 10-semester rule and reclassification of schools within the Texas Interscholastic league.

Tigers Shade SMU, 62 To 61

(By The United Press)

Southern Methodist and Missouri, who put on a stirring double overtime battle last night, wind up the Southwest conference's pre-Christmas schedule tonight with a second battle in Dallas.

It will be the only game on tap.

Missouri managed to eke out a 62-61 verdict in last night's encounter as conference teams dropped all three intersectional tilts in a continuation of their miserable showing against outside foes.

Rice Is Beaten

In addition to SMU's setback, Colorado made it two in a row over Rice with a 64-51 decision at Boulder and Oklahoma A&M came from behind to trip Arkansas 44-36, at Little Rock.

Missouri led SMU throughout the first half and had a 28-26 halftime edge, but Center Paul Mitchell—the night's high scorer with 21 points—led a last half SMU scoring binge that brought a 53-53 tie at the end of the regulation playing time. It was tied again at 59-59 at the end of the first overtime period and only George Heineman's free throw in the final minute gave the Tigers the second overtime period edge.

Aggies Notch Win

Joe McDermott tried to keep Rice in the game against the unbeaten Colorado five, but the outcome was seldom in doubt despite the fact the Buffs led only 28-25 at halftime. McDermott racked up 22 points, but Colorado's 20 conversions out of 26 tries from the free throw line proved too big a margin.

Arkansas stole the Aggies thunder in the first half, piling up an early 13-4 lead and holding a 22-18 margin at halftime, but Hank Iba's Cowboys found the range in the last half—especially at the free throw marker with 12 points picked up there in the last 20 minutes —to win going away. Jack Hess led the Porker scorers with 10 points.

Arkansas End Coach Is Hired By UCLA

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23. (U.P.)—Arkansas End Coach and scout William F. Barnes, 32, will replace Mike Balitsaris as end coach at UCLA effective Dec. 31.

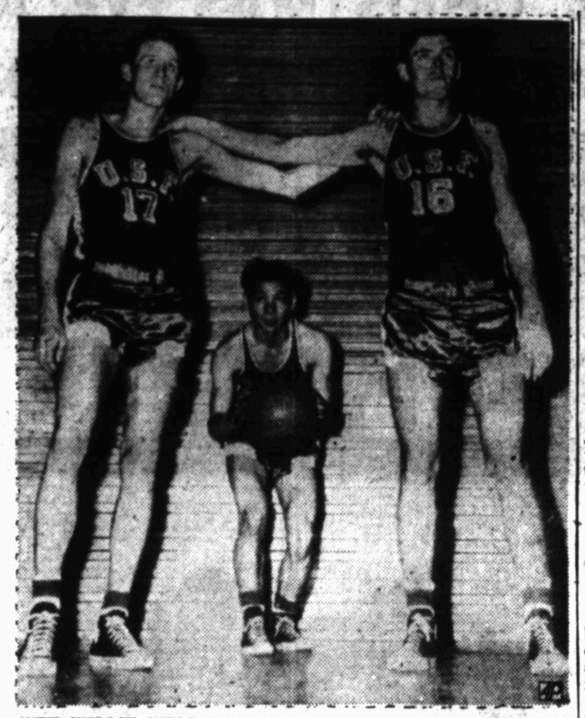

Balitsaris, who will take a job in the south, handed in his resignation yesterday, and Director of Athletics Wilbur Johns announced that Barnes was hired. Both end coaches were teammates on the 1938 Tennessee Rose Bowl squad.

UCLA Coach Henry (Red) Sanders said he previously tried to get Barnes as an assistant at Vanderbilt. When Sanders left the southern school for UCLA he brought his entire coaching staff with him.

DRILLS ARE SLATED

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 23. (AP)—Rival squads for the 12th annual Blue-Gray football game began checking into town today. First workouts for both North and South players are on tap tomorrow morning.

Certain types of television interference which make themselves known visually are called "snow" because they look just like that on the screen.

WEE WILLIE WELL PROTECTED — There are 18 feet, four inches of basketball players in this group, but Wee Willie Wong, University of San Francisco basketball performer, makes up only a small part of that altitude total. The five-foot, four-inch sharpshooter is dwarfed by teammates Don Lofgran, (left), and Joe McNamee, both six-feet, six inches tall. (AP Wirephoto.)

"Retired" Champion Says Yes And No!

Plans For Louis' Comeback Clouded By New Statements

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23. (AP)—Is he is or is he ain't? Will Joe Louis hit the comeback trail—if he isn't really on it already?

Well, yes, the "retired" champion indicated in one interview yesterday. Then just a few hours later, on arrival here, he gave a flat "no" to the same question.

"I feel good. I'm punching good, but I've got to be sure," Louis Louis was quoted by Tony Cordaro, Des Moines Tribune sports writer, in a telephone interview. He said it will take about three mbre months to reach a definite decision.

Statements Are Revised

Whom would he fight?

"If I fight, it will be Ezzard Charles, of course. He's the best heavyweight around and the match will draw the most money."

So ran the story from Des Moines.

But there must have been something in the air between Salt Lake City, where Louis had toyed with two exhibition foes, and Los Angeles, where reporters were waiting to greet him. Joe came down a changed man.

Asked if he's coming back, Joe gave out with a loud, lone "no."

Said his manager, Marshall Miles, "a question like that brings an answer that can be easily misunderstood."

And press agent Fred Sommers chimed in with:

"You know Joe. He's always ready to oblige. He'll try to answer any question but that doesn't indicate he means to come back."

Plans January Bout

Many Seamon, Joe's trainer, didn't say much. Cordaro had quoted him earlier: "The champion still can punch but he's not sure of his legs."

Louis now plans to stay in Los Angeles for a month or so. Whenever he's here, he's generally out on some golf course. Which never hurt anyone's legs.

In the meanwhile, Miles said, plans are going ahead for Joe's swing around the exhibition circuit. A charity bout with Turkey Thompson is in the making for Jan. 17, and an offer from the Cow Palace in San Francisco for Feb. 22 is under consideration.

Then in March, Louis probably will repeat his popular tour through South America.

Kentucky Scrimmage Said Disappointing

COCOA, Fla., Dec. 23. (AP)—Coach Paul Bryant today called Kentucky's first full-scale scrimmage since the season's end "very disappointing." He promised more hard work for the wildcats' before their date with Santa Clara in Miami's Orange Bowl.

The team scrimmaged for 50 minutes on a slippery field yesterday before Bryant called off heavy contact work.

Hundreds of acres of good land on the Kerry coast are being destroyed and the livelihood of families endangered by coast erosion caused by sea embankments breaking. Dublin reports, and the Eire Government is being urged to act quickly.

South Americans make "mate" a tea-like drink out of the leaves of one species of holly.

Negro Arrested In Bogus Ticket Case

DALLAS, Dec. 23. (AP)—Dallas police think Jan. 2 they'll find a case of too many people for two few seats.

They arrested a 23-year-old negro yesterday for trying to sell counterfeit tickets to the Rice-North Carolina Cotton Bowl game.

The tickets were narrower than the authentic ducats and had no sectional diagram on the back.

Detective E. R. Gaddy said the negro was booked at the city jail for swindling. "And we'll probably have to put a lot of people in jail for fighting when they find out other people have tickets to their seats," said Gaddy.

Tech Gridders Given Holiday

A three-day Christmas vacation began at noon today for members of the Texas Tech football squad, and the team will not report back for practice until Monday.

Offensive and defensive drills were on the morning's schedule, and punting and punt return drills were held.

Thursday a long offensive drill was held, with play practices designed particularly for the San Jose State Spartans when the two teams meet in the Raisin Bowl on Dec. 31. Passing, which figures to be the key to Texas Tech success against the Spartans, is being remodeled and should produce good results.

Attack Is Polished

Blocking and tackling have received very little extra polishing as the bowl game nears, with Coach Dell Morgan prefering to spend the time polishing the passing and running attack.

Defense against possible San Jose plays is being run daily, and this part of the game will be stressed more in practice next week.

Heavy scrimmaging is not and will not be on the agenda at any time during the remaining drills, the coaching staff not wanting to take a chance on an injury.

What scrimmaging there is has been of the dummy variety, with touching of the ball carrier rather than tackling. Object of the workouts is to give the linemen and backfield practice in timing as plays are run from scrimmage.

Next week the Techsans will have workouts Monday and Tuesday at Jones stadium, board the train Wednesday for Fresno, and practice Thursday and Friday there.

PASSING IS STRESSED

SANTA CLARA, Calif., Dec. 23. (AP)—Passing dominated the Santa Clara Broncos drill yesterday for their Jan. 2 Orange Bowl football engagement with Kentucky in Miami.

Cotton Bowl Teams Scheduled To Receive At Least $126,000

DALLAS, Dec. 23 (AP) — Rice and North Carolina each will receive at least $126,000 for playing in the Cotton Bowl game Jan. 2, Dan Rogers, chairman of the board, said today, wondering if any other bowl game could match that figure.

Rogers said the increased amount (it paid $108,000 last January) resulted from an enlarged bowl and the fact that there would be fewer student tickets than before. Rice has a comparatively small student body; the distance from Chapel Hill, N. C., to Dallas will hold down the North Carolina student attendance. Student tickets are one-half price. All other tickets are $4.80.

Rogers said he figured the Cotton Bowl would have $300,000 net receipts (after federal tax) and that only rental on the stadium, $45,000, would be taken out.

Speaks At Dinner

The Cotton Bowl, Director-General James H. Stewart explained, does not take expenses from gate receipts, all of which go to the competing teams after rental, but depends upon radio rights, concessions and programs. Not only do these meet expenses but a fund of about $60,000 has been built up which eventually will go to the Southwest conference, which sponsors the Cotton Bowl.

Rogers, speaking last night at the annual dinner for committee chairmen, bowl officials and the press, predicted the Cotton Bowl would have no further trouble getting top teams — declaring that, in fact the teams would seek the Cotton Bowl.

He pointed to the elaborate program of entertainment for Cotton Bowl week inaugurated this year. There will be basketball tournaments, ice hockey, skeet shoots, theater and musical entertainment; banquets, dinners and luncheons a dime a dozen, and entertainment for the football players in which theaters, night clubs and transportation facilities will be turned over to them.

Trials Are Recounted

Rogers recounted the trials of the Cotton Bowl this year in landing the visiting team, declaring that he tried every way to get Oklahoma which he said was "wanted by popular demand," that he had talked to Oklahoma as many as 100 times and that he thought it would have come here but for wives of married players on the team. He said he thought Oklahoma actually could have been obtained after Tulane lost to Louisiana State and the latter got into the Sugar Bowl, but it was too late then. North Carolina, which Rogers said snubbed the Cotton Bowl last year, was enthusiastic at the start this time about coming here.

He revealed that Virginia never accepted an invitation to play in the bowl despite reports that the winner of the Virginia-North Carolina game had been offered the bid. In fact, he added, had Virginia won the game the Cotton Bowl would have been in a predicament.

Rogers said 10,000 tickets had gone to North Carolina for the game and none had been returned. The North Carolina squad will arrive by plane Dec. 28 and Rice will come here by train Jan. 1.

Kell Certified As Loop Batting Champ

CHICAGO, Dec. 23. (AP)—George Kell of Detroit was certified today as the first third baseman ever to win the American league batting crown—with the closest finish on record.

The 17-pound Tiger, collecting two hits on the final day of the 1949 season, shaded Boston's Ted Williams, who was held hitless in his last game, .3429 to .3427. Williams thus missed becoming a five-time winner by two ten-thousands of a point.

The 27-year-old Kell gathered 179 base hits last season in 522 times at bat in 134 games.

Williams appeared in 155 games, had 194 hits in 566 trips.

Williams topped the circuit in home runs with 43; runs scored, 150; total bases, 368, and in two base hits, 39—one more double than Kell. This sweep helped give Williams "player of the year" honors.

MANGRUM TO PLAY

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 23. (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum, out of golf competition since September when he suffered a badly injured shoulder in an automobile accident, will play in the Tucson Open here Feb. 2.

The Russian one of Austria has admitted no American visitors for six months.

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

One of the greatest developers of young athletes in Lubbock is Boys club, located at 2323 Avenue K, which starts youngsters off on the right foot in sports.

Each year several hundred boys receive training and experience at the club in team and individual sports under the supervision of trained men in this field—John Wilson and Vernon Jackson.

Whether it be baseball, basketball, boxing, volleyball, or other games, every boy is given a chance to improve his natural talent in competition with others his own age.

The youngest age group at the club is the Pee Wees, youngsters 10-11 years of age, and from that age the classification progresses through high school age, the oldest group being Seniors, ages 16-17. In between are the Midgets, 12-13, and Juniors, 14-15.

In addition to sports the club has its own library and a woodworking shop where the boys gifted with ability in making wooden objects have an opportunity to do just that.

Perhaps to an outsider the thought of kids 10 years old playing team baseball or basketball would appear humorous, and lots of humorous experiences do happen in the games. But the boys take the games seriously and go all out to win, developing sportsmanship and team play along with ability in the sport of their choice.

This year in basketball there were 24 teams in the leagues, and more than 200 boys played on one of the teams during the league basketball season.

And to prove the point that the kids do have ability, take a look at their scoring. In the Pee Wee league (age 10-11) Paul Sikes scored 84 points in nine games, better than nine per game. Leading the Midget loop was Dale Ball with 125 points, average 14 per game. Bobby Tollison led the Juniors with 120 points, 17 per game. And the Senior leader was Davis Hopper with a seven point average.

In years to come the young Boys club products will be valuable players on teams in the Lubbock school system, where many have already shown the results of their early training. The Westerners of tomorrow are the Boys clubbers of today!

To members of the Boys club and their directors this writer would like to give his congratulations on a fine job, done in a fine way.

The bowl bound Red Raiders take off for Christmas holidays this afternoon after a morning workout, to be gone until Monday afternoon.

Their opponents, San Jose State, have the jump on Texas Tech as far as practices are concerned, being able to go through an entire week of drills next week, while the Raiders will lose nearly two full days in making the trip by train.

The Raisin Bowl battle at this stage promises to be a lulu, with a wide-open attack expected from each of the participating schools. Tech will be stressing passing, and if the aerials are clicking San Jose had better watch out.

McMurry, preparing for the Oleander Bowl in Galveston on Jan. 2 against Missouri Valley's Vikings, is already looking forward to next year. Of the team that plays in the bowl game, there will be 21 returning lettermen for next year's squad, including Brad Rowland, a Little All-America selection this season. . .

Harvy (Pug) Gabrel of Texas Western, which meets Georgetown in the Sun Bowl in El Paso, is on his honeymoon and will not be back at practice until next Tuesday. Pug was one of the outstanding backs in the Border conference this season, gaining 881 yards in 145 carries.

Rice Unbeaten In Bowl Tilts

HOUSTON, Dec. 23. (U.P.)—The opportunistic Owls of Rice Institute, self-styled "team with a personality," will be aiming to extend the Southwest conference's impressive post-season record in the Cotton Bowl game against North Carolina on Jan. 2.

The Owls themselves never have lost a bowl game. They beat Colorado, led by All-America Whizzer White, in the 1937 Cotton Bowl, 28 to 14, and trimmed Tennessee in the 1947 Orange Bowl, 8 to 0.

In 11 Cotton Bowl classics, the Southwest conference representative has come out on top in six games and tied three. And in 24 post-season clashes since the conference's first bowl venture in 1936, Southwest teams have won 14 games and tied four.

Owls Are Favored

Coach Jess Neely's once-beaten team ruled a seven-point favorite to improve on that record against the Tarheels and their triple-threat halfback, Charlie (Choo-Choo) Justice, at Dallas, come New Year's.

The "team-with-a-personality" tag was pinned on the 1949 Owls by James (Froggie) Williams, the team's irrepressible end.

"This is the best gang that ever played on the same football field," says Williams, named on the United Press all-America second team. "We won this year because we fought uphill as a single man. Why, this team is loaded with personality."

But teammates are quick to assure that Froggie's football talents played an even more important role in the Owls' victorious season than their intangible charm.

Kicked Field Goal

Williams' field goal in the last 10 seconds of play gave Rice a 17 to 15 victory over Texas; against Arkansas, Williams scored all of the Owls' points in a 14 to 0 victory; and in Rice's 41 to 27 triumph over Southern Methodist, Froggie kicked five out of six extra points. All this in addition to his remarkable pass-catching feats game after game.

The key backfield man in Neely's T-formation attack is Tobin Rote, lanky six-foot, three-inch quarterback whose height gives him an added advantage in spotting receivers, particularly Willms.

Supporting Rote is what Neely calls a "backfield of Stars." Sonny Wyatt, who skirts the ends and slashes off-tackle; Bobby Lantrip, who bulldozes his way through the middle, and Billy Burkhalter, a dangerous break-away runner, carried the brunt of the Rice offensive this season. Vernon Glass spelled Rote at quarterback and John Riley, Harold Kelley, George Glausner and Harmon Carswell backed up Rice's heavy-duty first-string ball-carriers.

Bosox Selected As Favorites In Loop

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 — The month mathematicians are preparing today to rub out 1949 and as far as the sports world is concerned they might as well start in on 1951 cuz Fearless Fraley, the swami of the Canarsie swamps, has all the muscle miracles figured out for 1950.

Fakir Fraley (and spell that fakir with an "I", please) has got the whole scoop on what the hit and run kids are going to do in the nex tyear. It took a lot of doing because you need the right atmosphere. A hotel bath towel served as a turban and an upended fish bowl, complete with disgruntled goldfish, acted as a stand-in for a crystal ball.

Red Sox Picked

Then all you have to do is go into a trance, ridiculously easy in this instance, and the future opens like a landlady's heart after the rent is paid. In that manner, old occult Oscar was able to obtain the advance inside on what will happen to our athletic hams and heroes in the 12 months ahead.

The first picture showed assorted characters with pieces of polished lumber on their shoulders. The size was too large for toothpicks, so they must have denoted bats, meaning baseball. The figures wore red stockings, meaning the Cincinnati Reds or the Boston Red Sox. It couldn't be the Reds. So you knew you were in the American league.

Well, from that you figure the Boston Red Sox to win the American league pennant. Following in a corny kaleidoscope were a Tiger and an Elephant, meaning that Detroit would be second and the Athletics third.

That gives you an idea how this swami racket works. So from here on I'll just give you the conclusions.

Louis Comeback Seen

Ralph Kiner and Ted Williams again will be the home run champions of their respective leagues, a fairly safe forecast, at that.

In boxing, old man Joe of the Louis clan will make a comeback. Undeterred by the spare tire worn fashionably around the waist in the tiring thirties, the broad Bomber will knock out Ezzard Charles to regain the heavyweight championship and then retire—again. From the looks of the current heavyweight crop, they will make this an annual event until 1988.

Oil Capitol, a gray colt from the one-horse stable of Tulsa Tom Gray, will canter home in the Kentucky Derby. He even looks good this far ahead, having four legs.

The Poughkeepsie regatta will be held again—unfortunately. It may, however, be known as the Poughkeepsie-at-Marietta rowing race, much like the Empire-at-Jamaica horse racing card.

In golf, Samuel Jackson Snead and Dr. Cary Middlecoff again will be the driver and brassie guys. Snead is favored because it is reliably reported that he is growing a new crop of skull alfalfa and if he ever gets over the hirsute hurdle of embarrassment he'll be sheer murder with the mallets.

Kramer Tops Pros

Ohio State and Illinois will battle it out for mythical national football honors. Notre Dame probably will lose a game, or maybe in 1951, '52, '53 or '54.

Ted Schroeder and Louise Brough will win the national amateur tennis championships and Jack Kramer will play left-handed trying to keep some pro opposition going.

The Detroit Red Wings will go on to win the national hockey league race and the Stanley cup, although it seems like much ado about nothing.

And, sensationally exclusive, every state in the union will have its own universally recognized world champion of rassling!

Redmen Upset 'Frisco Five

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP) — St. Johns university of Brooklyn is back on the beam in college basketball.

The Redmen demonstrated last night they once again are a power, beating San Francisco, last year's National Invitation tourney winner, 60-44, at Madison Square Garden.

Dayton's winning streak was snapped by Chicago Loyola, 69-46.

Colorado made it seven straight by dumping Rice, 64-51. Wichita won its sixth by whipping Creighton, 70-53, and the Dukes chalked up No. 4 by tripping Fordham, 73-61.

The Oklahoma Aggies, Kansas State, Illinois, Georgia Tech, and Missouri, were victorious in other major intersectional games.

The Aggies rallied to trip Arkansas, 44-36. Kansas State bowled over Washington State, 6-39, and Illinois knocked St. Louis out of the unbeaten ranks, 59-47.

Georgia Tech beat Michigan State, 68-60. Missouri nipped Southern Methodist, 62-61.

While a disabled ex-serviceman who stole a 10-cent tip from a cafe table at Chatham, England, was being sentenced to a month's imprisonment, the magistrate learned that man made a habit of not paying his bills, and gave him another two months for incurring a debt of 70 cents.

Sponsors Of Nation's Major Bowl Games Facing Problems On Tickets, Programs

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (U.P.)—You think all you need is a stadium to stage a bowl game? You're wrong. You also need a lavish dose of insanity to get involved with the darn things.

Take a look at some of the problems the bowl people have run into just during the past 24 hours:

For years the folks around Pasadena, Calif., have let up screeching protests every December because they couldn't get any Rose Bowl tickets. The coveted pasteboards were spread around to the competing teams, the bowl sponsors and varied other VIP's, leaving John Q. Public in the cold.

The Rose Bowl folks finally opened up their hearts. So yesterday they put 6,000 tickets on sale for the man on the street. Newspapers shouted about the great crowds which would gobble up this hospitality. Thirty policemen were assigned to marshal the mob.

So what happens? The tickts go on sale and the man in the street stayed in the street—away from the box office.

At 9:45 a. m., when the windows opened, 2,000 fans bought up 4,000 tickets. The other 2,000 tickets went begging—until the word finally got around, and the stragglers roamed in at their leisure to buy the left-overs.

At least they were real tickets. Police in Dallas, Tex., arrested a 23-year-old negro and found in his pocket two tickets to the Cotton Bowl—two counterfeit tickets.

That has the Cotton Bowl people in a quandry. They're not worried about those two phonies they know about. They're worrying about how many other bogus ducats might be floating through Texas.

TURKEY MAGIC

NEW YORK, (AP)—Turkey raisers report that an average turkey will eat 84 pounds of feed from time of hatching until it gains a weight of 20 pounds. This will cover a period of 28 weeks approximately.

The wood of the persimmon tree —related to ebon— is sometimes exceedingly valuable.

Near McKinney, Tex., the bodies of three Tulsa men were found in the smashed debris of a plane in which they were flying to Dallas. They had been missing since Monday night, when weather in the area was foggy and drizzly.

Victims In Tragedy

The victims were H. J. Happel, president of an engineering firm; C. W. Healey, an engineer employed by Happel; and W. J. Crawley, pilot of the rented Cessna 170.

Another Tulsa-Dallas flight ended in tragedy yesterday. A Dallas man, Robert Jesse Frick, 38, was killed and Robert Brown Kenty, 41, also of Dallas, was critically injured when their light plane cracked up while trying for emergency landing at Atoka, Okla. Frick was with Air Associates, Inc., sales department at Dallas. Kenty is Air Associates Dallas manager.

Daily MARKETS

Stock Market

MARKET STEADY

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP) — The stock market held to a fairly steady course today in the absence of any real buying or selling incentives.

Trading was moderately active at the rate of around 1,400,000 shares for the entire day as compared with 1,630,000 shares yesterday.

Gains and losses were fairly well distributed throughout the list with the plus signs a little thicker. Most of the changes were fractional with the outside range around a point either way.

The market started out with a burst of activity that dwindled down to a moderately fast pace. But trading slowed down markedly as the day progressed until it had a quiet air in the final phases.

Stocks moving higher included U. S. Gypsum, Pan American Airways, Gulf Oil, Barnsdall Oil, Western Union, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, Homestake Mining, Dow Chemical, American Can, American Woolen, Goodyear, and Philco Radio.

Lower were Santa Fe, Standard Oil (NJ), Allied Chemical, American Smelting, Consolidated Natural Gas, Bethlehem Steel, Douglas Aircraft and Lockheed.

Bidault Threatens Election In France

PARIS, Dec. 23. (AP)—French Premier Georges Bidault today held the threat of new national elections over the heads of rebellious deputies who are balking at new taxes he proposes.

The leader of the coalition government last night asked for a formal vote of confidence. This was considered a bold step since all of the nation's previous postwar premiers have resigned before such a vote was asked.

If Bidault loses in the vote, expected late tonight, his cabinet will have to resign. But if his successor is also beaten, the constitution provides for the calling of a new election without a special vote by parliament.

Gladewater Property Owners Voting Bonds

GLADEWATER, Dec. 23 (U.P.)—Property owners went to the polls today to vote on a proposed $650,000 bond issue.

If the issue is authorized, $500,000 will be used for constructing a hospital. The remainder will be offered as a purchase price for the privately-owned Gladewater baseball park.

Transit Strike Is Denounced

CLEVELAND, Dec. 23 (AP)—AFL leaders here denounced strikers against the Cleveland transit system yesterday and pleaded with AFL President William Green to help get them back on the job.

In an almost unprecedented move, the Cleveland Federation of Labor (AFL) disowned a strike by one of its affiliates, local 268 of the AFL transit union. The local has 4,900 members.

For the second day, the walkout forced about a half million bus and streetcar riders in the nation's sixth city to hitch hike or ride cabs to stores or work.

Officers Accused

A telegram to Green, without naming names, accused officers of local 268 of "failing to keep their word" in pre-strike negotiations. It said they had promised to notify Mayor Thomas A. Burke before calling the strike and had failed to get CFL approval.

Then the dispatch urged Green to ask the union's international president, Abe Spraddling of Detroit, to order the men back to work—or send a representative to handle it.

"The union," it said, "is violating rules of its agreement with the transit board here in Cleveland, and is violating the rules and regulations of the constitution and by ws of the C. F. of L. by going on strike.

"They have failed to live up to the arbitration clause they have in their agreement, and they have failed to take their dispute before the C. F. of L. to which they are affiliated to get a strike sanction."

The telegram was signed by CFL President John F. Burns and CFL Secretary William Finegan.

prepared in the building at 1313 Avenue H.

Drivers should turn into Avenue H south of that point about 6 a. m. The line of cars probably will be long. So it will be advisable to enter Avenue H probably at Seventeenth street, turn north and join the procession.

The line will move swiftly. As cars pass the front of the building at 1313, Boy Scouts will load addressed packages into them. The drivers then will deliver them as addressed.

The number of packages allotted to each car will depend on the number of cars. Usually the turnout is so large that no driver is asked to deliver more than four. The average is about two packages. Last year, the late-arriving drivers received none at all.

Each package will contain gifts for an entire family of children. Each child will receive at least one nice new toy, especially selected, and generous quantities of fruits, nuts and candies.

In most cases, the Goodfellows who make the deliveries will find children eagerly awaiting their arrival. For most of them, the gifts from the Goodfellows will be all the children will receive as Christmas presents.

Not Necessary To Call

The Chief Goodfellow emphasized that it isn't necessary to call anyone to arrange to help in the distribution. If you can help, just be there. Your reward will be the joy you will deliver to children who have no Santa Claus except the Goodfellows.

Police Chief Lewis Kittrell announced that police will be on duty as usual to direct the movement of traffic.

As the 15th annual campaign drew to a close, the Chief Goodfellow expressed special appreciation to members of the local DeMolay chapter. They prepared and addressed the more than 4,000 packages which will be delivered Sunday morning. The DeMolay boys have worked past midnight several nights to finish this job.

Although the financial drive ended Thursday, several contributions increased the total of 1949 donations to $3,897.02 —more than $800 more than the Goodfellows asked.

If any other contributions are received, they will be reported. And the Chief Goodfellow reiterated his assurance that the money given to the Goodfellows never will be used for any purpose except to provide Christmas packages for the city's needy children.

Tito Gets U. S. Moral Support

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP) — From President Truman to Marshal Tito, a major target of Soviet threats: The United States is opposed to aggression against any nation.

This is the word Mr. Truman has instructed George V. Allen, his new ambassador to Yugoslavia, to pass on to the Tito government. Allen is due to leave for Belgrade Dec. 28.

Tito has been under heavy pressure from the Russians since his break with Moscow more than a year ago. There has been speculation that sometime the Russians might try to break his power by means of guerrilla warfare.

Policy Stated

The United States and other western nations have given Tito economic and political assistance since he stormed out of the Soviet camp. But there never has been any official statement of what this country's policy would be in the event of a Soviet-Communist attack on Yugoslavia.

Mr. Truman had a talk with Allen, before his weekly news conference yesterday. He told Allen, he said, to state this government's policy to the Tito government. Then the President added that the United States is opposed to aggression against any country no matter where it is situated.

Doesn't Mean Change

This, Mr. Truman said, doesn't mean any change in American policy which has been against aggression for a long time.

A reporter then asked whether the anti-aggression policy would apply to the island of Formosa, where Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek recently set up the government of Nationalist China.

The President said he could not answer that question. Formosa is not a free country, he declared, but is a part of Nationalist China and the United States still recognizes Nationalist China.

one and one-half per cent of 1948's record for the period up to December.

Money in circulation jumped $132,000,000 in the seven-day period ended Wednesday as consumers, gearing up for the final splurge, drew cash from their bank accounts.

Merchants were going harder after business, as advertisements blossoming in newspapers made clear. Some stores, in Washington and elsewhere, said their dollar intake already has set a new record.

Officials credited the 1949 buying wave chiefly to high level consumer income, which was right up to 1948 at a total approaching $212,000 000,000

Credit Is Liberal

Another factor, they noted, was liberal credit, bolstered now by anticipation of a $2,800,000,000 shower of government insurance refunds to veterans scheduled to begin next month.

Consumer credit in general and installment-plan credit stood at history-making highs of well over $17,000,000,000 and $10,000,000,000, respectively.

Trade reports pictured shoppers as concentrating on household goods and appliances, especially television sets, and going lightest on things they deemed luxuries. Inexpensive items were reported getting strong attention in the gift line.

Ten-year-old Betty Lou Marbury was far from her home in Brownsville, Tenn., as Christmas drew near. The little girl who asked the nation to pray that her right hand will not have to be removed to prevent the spread of a bone disease was in Boston being examined by a board of specialists.

The doctors are expected to tell her whether or not her prayers have been answered.

Alice Benson, 7, of Big Rapids, Mich., joined in the prayers for Betty Lou, never knowing that she was a cancer victim herself and not expected to survive the holidays by many weeks. Alice will leave the hospital over Christmas and a collection made certain she would get the "nice dolly" she asked.

The sheriff's department had received information that a negro, George Thomas, had been stabbed and take nto a hospital here for treatment. The names of two suspects were given to officials by Deputy Sheriff Strickland of Abernathy, officials said.

A raid by sheriff's deputies three miles east of Lubbock along an extension of Nineteenth street produced approximately 20 cases of whisky this morning. It was in a small house.

Ownership of the whisky had not been established. Deputies who made the raid were Frank Mitchell, Raymond Land and Gene Lewis.

An investigation was underway.

TRUMAN BACKING BRANNAN PLAN

Farm Legislation Is Major Issue Facing 1950 Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. (AP)—A roaring-ear-splitting argument about farm legislation appeared certain today at the next session of Congress.

Congress comes back Jan. 3 and farm-minded lawmakers already have started the verbal sharpshooting. At stake are votes of farmers and consumers in the 1950 elections.

The main prize is political control of Congress with all 435 House and 36 of the 96 Senate seats at stake.

Both Republicans and Democrats expect President Truman, who often has called himself a Missouri farm boy, to increase the agricultural discussion next month in his State of the Union message to Congress.

He is expected once more to urge Congress to pass the controversial farm subsidy plan proposed by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan.

Rejected Plan Before

This same Congress, under Democratic control, flatly rejected the Brannan plan earlier this year. Instead it ground out a complicated farm price-support program intended to continue through the vital 1950 election year the relatively high-level wartime price props.

But all congressmen remember the bitter and successful 1948 campaign in the farm belt staged by candidate Truman and Secretary Brannan against the farm act of the 80th Republican-controlled Congress.

Mr. Truman charged that the Republicans "have already stuck a pitchfork in the farmers' back and are now ready to let the bottom drop out of farm prices."

Since then the President has signed the compromise farm support plan that emerged from the Democratic 81st Congress and termed it an improvement over the 1948 GOP program.

But actions of both the White House and Secretary Brannan point to an effort to sell the Brannan plan to farmers, consumers and other voters during the coming year.

Political Appeal Noted

Even its sharpest critics admit the Brannan proposals have political appeal. Instead of taking major food products that are perishable off the market with government funds in order to keep prices up, Brannan suggested consumers benefit from lower prices for milk, meats and similar farm products.

If this should reduce farm incomes below pre-determined "fair" levels, Brannan said farmers should get cash subsidies called "production payments."

Two key Republican senators, Taft of Ohio and Wherry of Nebraska, already are guessing that the Brannan plan will be a major issue next session and are sniping at it in almost every speech.

Taft, running full speed for reelection in Ohio next year, has termed the Brannan plan "obviously fraudulent."

Wherry, in a round of speeches that may indicate presidential ambitions, has called it "a swindle" and a "monstrous political scheme" to bait the "votes of consumers, whose grocery purchases would be subsidized with money extracted from the taxpayers."

Taft said it is "obviously fallacious to pay the farmer the price he would like to receive, then turn around and sell to the consumer at the price he would like to pay, and charge the difference to the taxpayer. The farmer and consumer are the taxpayer."

New Act Supported

Two of President Truman's party aides in the Senate, Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois and Anderson of New Mexico, were the main sponsors of the long range price support law just enacted.

Lucas, also busy with a reelection campaign, has refrained from blasting the Brannan plan. But he calls the new price prop act a "vast improvement upon our past farm legislation."

He said it protects both farmers and consumers and will be a "firm foundation for our permanent farm policy."

Anderson, former Truman secretary of agriculture, promises that the new act will attain a "balanced abundance" with relatively small costs to the taxpayers.

Most major farm organizations also are fighting the Brannan proposals.

The national grange at its convention last month called the Brannan plan "an internal cancer that would ultimately destroy our free enterprise system."

The American Farm Bureau federation, largest of the farm organizations, has been equally critical.

Canny Scot Saving Cash On Yule Card

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Dec. 23. (AP) James MacLaren and A. J. Cave never have trouble deciding what Christmas card to send to each other—they've been sending the same one back and forth for 17 years.

This year it's MacLaren's turn. A native of Scotland now living in nearby Warren township, MacLaren bought the card for 15 cents back in 1932. Cave lives in Red Bank, N. J.

The card has a little window in it, and each year the sender changes the cheery message in the window.

The canny Scotsman several years ago thought of a way to save the cost of a stamp every other year.

The two men work near each other in New York City. Now the sender of the cash each year walks to the other's office and delivers it in person.

Policeman, Woman Hurt In Traffic Accidents In City

A young woman was hurt in one traffic mishap and a Lubbock policeman suffered minor injuries in another one here Thursday.

Miss Doris Henderson, 21, of 1504 Ave. E, was admitted to a hospital after she was struck by a car at Ave. H and Fifteenth at 4:05 p. m. Lewis was taken to West Texas hospital for treatment of mild shock after his car overturned in a spectacular three-vehicle collision at Sevent and Ave. L about 2:30 p. m.

Car Flips Over

Police said Lewis' car was struck on the right rear side at the intersection by a truck driven by Travis C. Bowers, 38, of 304 Yale The car spun slightly, flipped over on its top and came to rest on the front of a panel truck driven by Gilbert E. McClellin, 46, of 609 Ave. L. McClellin's truck had stopped without entering the intersection. Lewis and Bowers estimated the speed of their vehicles at about 20 miles per hour just prior to the collision.

Patrolman N. H. Lassiter, who investigated the accident, said Lewis was apparently driving west on Seventh, Bowers, south on Ave. L. McClellin's truck was headed east on Seventh.

Lewis was taken to the hospital by Sanders ambulance.

Young Woman Hurt

Miss Henderson was injured as she crossed Ave. H at its intersection with Fifteenth at 4:05 p. m.

Police said the woman had stepped from the curb crossing the street to the west when she was knocked to the street by a car driven by Alva Newell Burk, 24-year-old Tech student of 1913 East Fifth.

She was taken by Rix ambulance to Lubbock Memorial hospital where she was treated for bruises of the knees and head.

Movie Stars Relate Christmas Experiences They Recall Best

(By The Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 23. (AP) — What Christmas do you remember most?

This is a sentimental question. Being sentimentalists, movie stars were quick to respond to it. Here are their answers to the AP Hollywood forum question of the day:

Glenn Ford— "It was in 1938, and I had just opened and closed on Broadway in a flop called 'Soliloquy.' I was broke, but too proud to write home for money. I walked down Fifth avenue on Christmas eve, listened to the chimes and looked at the windows. I walked into an automat and treated myself to coffee and pie a la mode with the last 15 cents to my name. That was my Christmas feast."

Broderick Crawford— "I'll never forget Christmas in Germany in 1944. We had nothing but K rations to eat and no Christmas cards to cheer us up. Fortunately, we found three quarts of brandy, so we got happy before we started crying."

Ginger Rogers— "I was six years old. My grandmother tagged me and put me on the train for New York where I spent my first Christmas with my mother in several years. I remember I got a tea set and made everybody have tea with me."

Montgomery Clift—"I remember the year the tree burned down. My mother wanted white candles on the tree and my father wanted electric lights. Mother cited an instance when a tree had burned because of a short circuit, so she won out. The tree burned down, and all our presents with it."

Jack Carson—"I was eight years old and wanted an electric train. Four days before Christmas, I found it. So on Christmas day I gave perhaps the greatest performance of my career—trying to act surprised."

Janet Leigh—"The first Christmas I saw snow was in 1945. My parents invited me up to a winter lodge. I had my picture taken there, and Norma Shearer saw it and sent it to Hollywood. That was the start of my career."

Fire Damages Garage Apartment Furniture

Furniture in a garage apartment at 2624 Twenty-fourth was badly damaged by fire which followed a gas explosion there about 10:35 p. m. Thursday. Occupant of the apartment, Margaret Davenport, had left the dwelling only a few minutes before the blast, firemen said.

The blaze, caused by gas escaping from an unlighted heater, was quickly extinguished on arrival of firefighting equipment which was delayed because of an incorrect address telephoned to the central fire station on the first alarm.

GOP CHANCES TO WIN DISCOUNTED

Truman's Popularity At All Time High, Senator Claims

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP) — President Truman's statement that he doesn't expect General Dwight D. Eisenhower to run for president brought this reaction today from Senator Humphrey (D-Minn):

Mr. Truman could win another presidential election right now — whoever his Republican opponent might be.

Humphrey voiced his views to reporters after Mr. Truman told a news conference yesterday that he and Eisenhower are friends and are going to remain friends, even if the general runs for president.

Mr. Truman said he doesn't think the wartime allied commander in Europe is seeking a presidential nomination, adding that he is taking Eisenhower at his word. The general's word has always been good, the President observed.

Eisenhower, who heads Columbia university, said recently that he has no political angle and he is not going to let talk by others make him a presidential candidate. Some Republicans have been discussing him as a possible 1952 nominee.

Mr. Truman confirmed Eisenhower's statement that the President believed the general when the latter said in 1948 that he wasn't a candidate. At that time, certain Democrats made lusty efforts to get the general in the race for their party's nomination.

HST's Popularity High

The President left open the question of whether he will be available for the Democratic nomination again in 1950. Humphrey said he can't guess whether the President will run again.

A reporter asked the senator if he would like to have Mr. Truman for a candidate in 1952.

"If he wills it," Humphrey replied. "He is doing a good job, but it's a tough one. It probably will depend upon his health."

Humphrey said a recent tour of the Pacific coast and a visit to Minnesota convinced him that the President is more popular and in a stronger political position than he ever has been before.

"Everywhere I went I found more support for his program than there was a year ago," Humphrey said. "As of now, he could win again easily. The Republicans are split among themseves, have no program and have no leadership. They are pitifully demoralized."

Actress Selene Walters' Attempt To Get Custody Of Daughter Is Halted By Fight

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 23. (INS)—Fists turned back Actress Selene Walters today when she tried to gain custody of her 15-month-old daughter, Scarlett, in defiance of a court order.

Her manager, Charles Hyman, was beaten while trying to help her.

The incident took place at a nursing home where the child is being kept pending a custody hearing next Thursday.

The baby's father, Dr. Alfred G. Huenergardt, is seeking sole custody on the ground that the actress is an unfit mother. He and Miss Walters were divorced before the baby was born.

The actress, just back from a lengthy tour abroad, went to the nursing home today. Se related:

"A woman ran out and threw a legal paper at me. It said I couldn't take my own baby. But Scarlett is mine. I tried to take her anyway.

"Grabbed By Neck"

"A big bruiser of a private detective grabbed me by the neck. Mr. Hyman tried to help me and they had a terrible fight."

Police arrived and sent the actress and her manager on their way. Hyman had a black eye and a bloody face. The actress wailed:

'And to think this was to have been the happiest Christmas of my life."

$23,000 In Overpaid Rent Can Be Claimed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. (AP)—The government has $544.50 for William Wallace Braw, but it can't find him.

It also has about $23,000 belonging to 514 other persons across the country who, at one time or another, paid too much rent. It can't find them, either.

The office of the housing expediter reported sadly today that it has been unable to return the cash to the people who own it because they moved away without leaving a proper address.

The agency said Braw was one of about a dozen tenants who moved out of 130 West 47th st., New York City, after being overcharged for rent—and then couldn't be located for repayment. Braw was high man on the agency's list.

Low man was Clifton Penrod, late of 1022 South Third St., Louisville, Ky. He has 44 cents coming to him. If he wants to collect it, he, like the other 514, can do so by getting in touch with the nearest area rent office.

Plywood is made of several thin layers of wood glued together so that the grain of one piece is at right angles to another, greatly increasing the strength in proportion to thickness.

AEC Security Check Slated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP) — The Atomic Energy commission has named a former FBI official to look into its security division, wihch guards the nation's atomic secrets.

AEC General Manager Carroll Wilson said an advisory panel selected for the two-month job will be headed by John S. Bugas of Detroit. Bugas, vice president in charge of the Ford Motor company's industrial relations, formerly headed the FBI's Detroit office.

With him will serve Dr. John Tate, chairman of the physics department of the University of Minnesota and former president of the American Physical society, and J. Arthur Mullen, president of Glenvale products, Detroit.

Advice To Be Sought

Tate served on the national defense research committee in the last war, while Mullen—a former Export-Import bank and State department official — was with Army intelligence.

Wilson said in an announcement yesterday that one or two more persons may be named to the panel, adding that the group also will be asked for advice on a successor to Adm. John Gingrich, who quit as atomic security director seven months ago.

The AEC official gave no reason for the survey of the security division. The division is responsible for protecting atomic installations, granting personnel security clearances, and guarding secret materials and information.

NO SYMPTOMS OF BOOM OR BUST

1950 Texas Business Outlook Good, Research Data Reveals

By MAC ROY RASOR
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Dec. 23.—Your dollar may go a little further in Texas next year—but just a little.

Texas business is turning into the second half of the 20th century in good health. There are few if any symptoms of immediate boom or bust.

That is the way things look to Dr. John R. Stockton, acting director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Why? Three reasons, he says.

1. Texas—and the nation—has proved present economic stability by passing three danger points of possible collapse with little difficulty. Business dipped late in '46, early in '47 and again early in '49, bouncing back quickly each time.

Backlog of Demand

2. There is still a backlog of demand for capital goods—buildings, machinery, equipment and the like—despite high prices.

3. Inventories are in good shape. Merchants are keeping full stocks, replacing them as quickly as they sell—or more quickly.

Dr. Stockton's signposts show Texas consumer prices lagging behind national wholesale price drops for the entire year. Consumer prices may fall into line soon—but it would be a matter of pennies on the dollar—nothing big, he said. Farm income in Texas for the first 10 months of the year was down 2.3 per cent—mainly due to declining farm prices. That drop, too, might eventually show up in prices to consumers.

Good Business Year

This year on the whole, bureau records show, was a good business year—not quite as good as the all-time boom business year of 1948—but still nearly twice as good overall as the 1935-39 average. Bank debits were 4.5 times better. Retail sales were over three times as high. Industrial electric power consumption (key to manufacturing activity) was tripled. Construction's near-billion dollar year was 5.5 times better. Farm income was almost quadrupled.

During 1949 all those categories dropped minutely from 1948 except industrial power consumption which rose slightly. They can be expected to follow about the same pattern in 1950, Dr. Stockton thinks.

In the not-quite-so-high category were miscellaneous freight car loadings, about 30 per cent higher than in '35-'39, and also down about 25 per cent from last year.

Employment Good

Business failures were steady, with 178 recorded for the year's first 10 months, exactly the same as in the comparable period a year ago.

One of this year's biggest drops came in petroleum production which dropped from last year's average of about twice the 1935-39 average to 1.5 times the average at year's end. Another cut was already ordered for January.

The year's employment picture was good. Texas Employment commission figures showed the state's non-agricultural labor force on jobs numbering 2,335,300 near the end of the year, which was just 2,700 less than last December's all-time peak. Unemployment near the end of this year was carried at 66,710, which was 4,640 higher than at the same time a year ago. Much of the unemployment, however, TEC said, is a matter of short-time job adjustments — workers leaving one job for another and marked up as unemployed during the interim.

Clark Gables Board Liner For Honolulu Trip After Wedding

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23. (AP)—Looking fresh and fit and flashing his famous broad grin, Clark Gable and his bride sailed aboard the S. S. Lurline early today for a Honolulu honeymoon.

The new Mrs. Gable, slim, blonde and young looking, is the former Sylvia Hawkes Ashley Fairbanks Stanley.

A large crowd thronged the Lurline decks before it sailed and hundreds more jammed the dock.

The Gables had to squeeze their way through packed passageways to reach their cabin.

Women squealed and shouted "There he goes. Oh, I saw him."

Posed For Pictures

The Hollywood movie star was dressed in a grey plaid suit, his bride in a grey crepe dress under a three-quarter mink coat.

"How did all this come about" a reporter asked.

"She decided it," Gable laughed. "I asked her and fortunately she said 'yes.'"

Mrs. Gable said the couple would spend about two weeks in Hawaii.

They had motored here yesterday in a chauffeured car from Gable's Encino ranch near Hollywood. They got off a half hour late, taking the time to pose for pictures in the actor's orange grove.

The Gables were married on a ranch near Santa Barbara Tuesday in a surprise ceremony. Gable gave his age as 48, his bride as 39. It was the fourth marriage for each.

Woman Doctor Cites Need For Psychiatry

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Dec. 23 (AP)—Dr. Josie Rogers, a practicing physician for 42 years and probably the first woman mayor in the country, says "we would have been a better race if we had had more psychiatry 40 years ago.

"There ought to be more practiced now," she says.

Tall, quiet, straight as an arrow and with her white hair worn in a shingle bob, Dr. Rogers still practices by appointment although her niece, Dr. Ruth Rogers, has taken over most of her active practice. She was mayor of Daytona in the early 1930s.

Denver Couple Keeps Plenty Of Bird Pets

DENVER, Dec. 23 (AP) — "You can't have too many birds," says Emil Pubols. He and his wife share their bungalow on Elm street with 19 feathered friends, representing the lovebird, canary, cockateel, conour, parrot and linnet families.

One of the lovebirds has just finished growing a new crop of feathers. Coming in for a landing on the breakfast table, he overshot and crashed in a cup of hot coffee.

CHICAGO, Dec. 23 (AP)—A robber strode into a grocery and demanded all the cash in the place. The owner Mike Kollak, reached for a pistol and fired two shots. The holdup man fled. Kollak, chased him. A block away the fugitive headed for his get-away automobile.

"Stop!" shouted Kollak. "If you get in that car, I'll shoot."

The robber laughed and drove away. In the excitement Kollak had left his gun in his store.

Flying Spiders Stir California Interest

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 23 (AP)—Remember the flying saucers? Well now it's flying webs.

Residents of suburban Los Altos reported recently that the sky was laced with silvery strands which seemed to disappear as they neared earth.

A housewife came up with the probable answer—spider webs. The webs, she said, were spun by tiny spiders which floated with them on the wind like balloonists. And they didn't disappear near the ground. They merely became harder to see.

Child, Facing Loss Of Hand, Visiting Home For Christmas

BOSTON, Dec. 23 (AP)—Plucky Betty Lou Marbury will be home for Christmas.

But the winsome 10-year-old Brownsville, Tenn., girl won't know for some time whether her infected right hand will have to be amputated. The child, whose appeal for prayers for her recovery moved the nation, was examined yesterday by tumor experts at the Boston Children's hospital.

They said it would take some time to decide whether southern doctors were right in their belief that the hand will have to be amputated.

They agreed, however, that it would be perfectly all right for her to go home for the holidays. She will leave today accompanied by her father, Clay Marbury, a carpenter-farmer.

Betty's trip to the famed hospital was financed by a wealthy New Yorker who heard of a letter she wrote to a Memphis newspaper asking the public to pray for her.

The letter related that her doctor feared her hand would have to be amputated.

"I want those who read this letter, if it is published, to pray that I may completely recover," she said. "I believe the Lord will answer their prayers."

The girl, who captured the hearts of the experts who examined her yesterday by her sunny disposition and magnificent courage, rested comfortably during the night.

The hospital said the child was showing the same "unaffected composure" she has displayed since she was stricken with the malady. Her temperature is satisfactory and she has been eating well.

The PLAINSMAN

WAY back in 1897, three months before Christmas that year, an 8-year old girl named Virginia O'Hanlon was told by schoolmates in New York City that "there isn't any Santa Claus."

Childlike, Virginia was puzzled and took the story home with her. There she unfolded it to her father.

Mr. O'Hanlon was up a stump when it came to an answer. Then he was struck by the germ of an idea

"Write a letter," he said, "to the editor of the New York Sun. Ask him if there's a Santa Claus, and whatever he says will be true."

'DEAR VIRGINIA' . . .
Dr. Laura V. Douglas

Virginia followed her Dad's advice—and there was born the basis for the most frequently reprinted editorial in the history of American journalism

Virginia's letter didn't get to the editor of the Sun — the great Charles A. Dana. But it did get to one of Mr. Dana's assistants, a young fellow named Francis Pharcellus Church, up to that time just one of the thousands of unknown, unsung newspapermen in the land.

Mr. Church pondered the letter; saw it's possibilities—and, although he didn't know it at the time, it was his springboard to fame. His answer to Virginia O'Hanlon made him known throughout the balance of his life; until this good day, and probably for as long as this nation celebrates Christmas.

ON September 21, 1897, Virginia's letter and Mr Church's answer appeared in the Sun. As has been The Plainsman's custom for more than two decades and in keeping with the desires of many South Plains readers who annually request it— we reproduce the famous article just as it originally appeared in New York and as it has been reprinted upon thousands of occasions since in American newspapers, large and small, from border to border and coast to coast.

Mr. Church writing:

"We take pleasure in answering at once, and thus prominently, the communication below, expressing at the same time our great gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of The Sun.

" 'Dear Editor:

" 'I am 8 years old.

" 'Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus.

" 'Papa says 'if you see it in The Sun, it's so.

" 'Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?

" 'Virginia O'Hanlon,

" '115 W. 95th St.'

"Virginia, (wrote Church) your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except they see They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no child-like faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

"NOT believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

"You tear apart a baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding

"No Santa Claus! Thank God he lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

A great piece of writing that. And a great thought, too—not only for Christmas time, but for every day in the year.

And what has happened to Virginia O'Hanlon all these years while her childish letter has been marching down the corridors of time?

Well, Virginia, is still around; still in New York and a very lovely lady, too.

THE Virginia O'Hanlon of 1897 is now Dr. Laura V. Douglas, whose picture you see at the top of this item. Now 60 and three times a grandmother, Doctor Douglas looks just like you'd expect a grown-up Virginia to look; a fairy godmother type with soft white hair, laughing crinkles around her blue eyes and a generous, soft smile. She is assistant principal of a New York school.

When she was a little girl, Dr. Douglas recalls, 8-year-olds were much younger than they are now

"My daughter started worrying about Santa when she was 7," she says, "and wanted to know why Santa had to use reindeer when an automobile or airplane would get him around much faster."

Virginia remembers now that the whole affair of the letter put her in line for quite a lot of teasing. Of course, whenever the question about Santa came up, she could always point to Francis P. Church's editorial and prove there was a Santa But her friends twitted her about it, and for quite a while, 8-year-old Virginia didn't appreciate what it said.

Santa "exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist. . . Thank God, he lives. and lives forever."

Now, many years later, the grown up Virginia understands.

So there, once more, is a fitting climax to another Christmas season. And as he has done upon each of more than a score of Yuletides in Lubbock—for the twenty-sixth time, to be exact — The Plainsman closes with a sincere expression of peace on earth, goodwill to all men, on these Plains of ours and everywhere.

In the never-to-be-forgotten words of Tiny Tim, we mean it when we say: "God bless you, every one!"

BY DREW PEARSON: OSCAR CHAPMAN LEARNS HOW TO STAY DRY IN WET WASHINGTON

Exile Who Sent Uranium To Reds May Be Deported

WASHINGTON — Colorado is a dry state, at least atmospherically speaking, but not half so dry as its own son, Oscar Chapman, the new secretary of interior.

Washington, on the other hand, is wet. From the 12 - noon martini to the 12 - o'clock nightcap, there is a constant round of wetness: 'The ambassador of Argentina requests the pleasure of your company . . ." . . . "The American Aeronautical association invites you to be present . . ." . . . "The seecretary of the treasury and Mrs. Snyder etc. . . ." So it goes.

PEARSON

The white-engraved cards come in the mail and by hand, to the office and to the home, and no man in public life can "regret" them all.

A hostess covets a cabinet member as a bobby-soxer covets a crooner's autograph. If he accepted half the bids, he could reduce himself to a happy state of alcoholic incompetence in a fortnight.

But Oscar Chapman, by secret methods of his own, has discovered how to be dry, yet sociable. In short, he has lived through 16 years of Washington wining and dining without taking a drink.

Or rather, he takes a drink every time, but never drinks it. That's his secret.

Caught red-handed in his deception, Chapman confessed: "Well, I do it this way. At a cocktail party, for instance, I never refuse a drink. I take the glass and just hold it in my hand. Then, when the waiter comes around with more, I pretend I've just had a refill.

'If it's a state dinner, with toasts for the guest of honor, I put the glass to my lips like everyone else, but the champagne stays in the glass.

Then with a sad shake of his head, the secretary of the interior laments: "I hate to think of all the liquor that has been poured out uselessly for me!"

Czarist Uranium King

One by-product of the congressional investigation of alleged secrets sent to Russia in 1943-44 is a demand for the deportation of one of the leading uranium magnates of the world, who was given permission to ship uranium to Russia in May, 1943.

He is Boris Pregel, a czarist Russian who has lived in exile in France and the United States for the past 32 years. As a result of recent publicity, the immigration bureau of the Justice department has been considering a clamor that Pregel be deported.

However, close examination of the facts on file at the Justice department would indicate that Pregel may be a victim of public hysteria and also, perhaps, of competition from American commercial forces.

The uranium shipment which he sent to Russia, according to the testimony of Lieut. Gen. Leslie Groves, had the official O. K. of the Manhattan project. The license number was 1643180, given by the U. S. government to Chematar, 40 Exchange Place, New York City, the official purchasing agent of the Soviet government, for 500 pounds of black uranium oxide and 500 pounds of uranium nitrate.

The fact that a czarist Russian was at that time the only private individual able to sell uranium is in itself an interesting story.

Pregel, whose wife was from a wealthy Russian family, fled from Moscow in 1917, just ahead of the Bolshevik purge. Living in France, he invested money in the Belgian uranium trust and was one of the first experts to predict that unlocking the secret of the atom would not only decide the outcome of the war, but the future control of the world.

In an interview with the Miami News, Jan. 12, 1941, Pregel made exactly this prediction.

LONG BEFORE the war, Pregel a multimillionaire, had become the sole sales agent of the Belgian uranium trust, and came to this country permanently in 1940 after the Nazis overran France. He then organized the Canadian Radium and Uranium corporation and acquired an interest in the Fort Hope uranium mines in Canada. Late in 1941, he became the sole sales agent for Canadium uranium and when the United States first began to experiment with the idea of splitting the atom, it was Pregel who delivered the first shipment of uranium to Columbia university —five tons—on June 7, 1941, even before Pearl Harbor.

Pregel got in wrong with the British because he opposed shipments of uranium to England, and Winston Churchill at one time was on the warpath against him. More recently he has been in competition with the Vanadium corporation in Colorado and New Mexico. He now has his own Caribou mine in Colorado where he produces pitchblende and uranium. American interests have been trying to block him.

Pregel is a member of the French Legion of Honor and is one of only three Americans to receive an honorary membership in the French Doctors of Engineers, the other two being Dwight Eisenhower and Herbert Hoover.

The Justice department's deportation maneuver is based upon the contention that Pregel's passport was not in order when he arrived here as a refugee from France in 1940.

When an automobile is repossessed, the owner usually receives his walking papers.

Stars In The East--Eclipse

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

"WE have discovered," writes a teen-ager's mother, "that our daughter and the crowd she goes with are drinking at high school dances.

"I don't mean they are drinking 'at the dance,' but they go out in their cars at intermission for a drink or go somewhere for a drink after the dance. Her father and I don't know to handle the problem."

MILLETT

Just get in there and handle it. Too many parents today are afraid of their teen-agers.

Why don't you invite the parents of the other boys and girls in your daughter's crowd over for a joint discussion of the problem? If you can get together and agree on what to do, you can put a stop to the drinking.

After all, you parents foot the bills for those parties. You buy the dance dresses for the girls, give the boys money for the date, and let the kids use the family car.

PUT YOUR FOOT DOWN

YOU certainly possess enough power to put your foot down on the drinking.

If you fail in your attempt to get co-operation from the other parents, then put your own foot down.

Make it quite plain to your daughter that if she takes a drink at the next dance there'll be no more dates for a certain period of time, even if it means she has to miss an important party.

Parents have plenty of power over their teen-age children if they aren't afraid to use it.

But all too often they are afraid to antagonize their children, or to make their children "different" from others in the group.

Such timidity on the parents' part gives the tenn-agers enough rope to get into all sorts of trouble.

So long as their children are under their roofs parents owe it to them to see that they maintain the standards the parents hold are right and proper.

But they can't do it if they're undecided and downright afraid of their kids.

By the time of his death, Mr. Woolworth had parlayed that modest start into a fortune of twenty-seven million dollars.

Lancasters' second boast is that the first ice-cream soda was a local product—the invention of an ingenious confectioner named Royer People from all over the state began dropping in to Mr. Royer's shop on King Street to sample his new concoction—and soon the ice cream soda was the favorite soft drink of the whole United States.

War Vets' Sabotage Slashes Tourist Industry In Hawaii

HONOLULU, Dec. 23 — The old prop rainbow they have especially for tourists is still there and the trees on Diamond Head give the headland a slightly unshaven look. Otherwise, Oahu bears small resemblance to the pineapple purgatory that was so sincerely hated by the hundreds of thousands of men who overran Hawaii in wartime.

RUARK

The twisted barbed wire is gone from Waikiki now, and a great many of the Coney Island-ish cheapjohn shops have disappeared from Kalakaua avenue. The Royal Hawaiian hotel —the old pink palace—which once was the castle of submarine crews back from patrol, is a site for civilians again. It has had its face lifted to remove the ravages wrought by thousands of ebullient military men on leave, and is again a symbol of lush island living.

Hawaii is only just recovering from the inroads of Harry Bridges' lengthy longshoremen strike which came close to ruining the economy of the island. The tie-up of trade bit so deeply into the life of the people that an egg is a rarity on a place like Molokai. There are no eggs because there are no hens, and there are no hens because the hens had to be killed.

The hens had to be killed because there was no feed for them. There was no feed because the strike prevented its shipment.

Gaiety Is Returning

But the gaiety of the islands which we sensed but never tasted during the fouled-up conditions of wartime overcrowding is returning and the tempo of living is slowing slightly to its old easy pace. This lovely land never was truly keyed to the speedup of modern American commerce and never really enjoyed the fabulous prosperity that came to its merchants as a result of war. It left too little time for singing and the hula.

Hawaii's tourist industry, its third largest source of income, has suffered some since the war because of a solid sabotage on the mainland by the hundreds of thousands of men who put in time here and hated it. They have spread the word that Hawaii and Oahu in particular was a rock full of frustration. As it returns to normalcy it is probably as good now as it was bad then.

I RECALL the island of Oahu as a horrible place to be curfew-ridden, blackout-shrouded and seething with resentful citizens and equally resentful soldiers. These last were too far from home to be happy and too far from the fighting fronts to find satisfaction in a war.

Transportation was unendurable and telephonic communication between the military reservations and the city were so fouled that merely calling Honolulu from Makalapa at Pearl Harbor was a full afternoon's work.

This was a spit-and-polish town oemanding creased khakis and neckties, but sending clothes to a laundry was a bigger gamble than a crap game. Sometimes clothes came back from the washeries but they were seldom yours. It became a sort of game to supplement your gear with articles filched from your neighbor.

Tourist Trade Hurt

Thousands of men looked sullenly at the lush scenery —the bichloride blue of the bay, the dramatic mountains, the constant raibows — and were moved to thoughts of romance that never materialized. There were girls on the island, true, but they always seemed to belong to some colonel with a jeep and a blackout pass. There were apartments to be had, but somebody else always had them. It was a party town but you couldn't buy a bottle of booze.

That is the memory the men took back and it has hurt Hawaii's post-war tourist trade. It is still going to take some doing to convince the potential customers for the beach at Waikiki that the paradise of the Pacific, once lost, now has been at least partially regained.

NEW CROPS FOR OUR PLAINS

News items like one from Seminole the other day should be of great interest to South Plainsmen at this time. It reported that Gaines county farmers are harvesting a bumper crop of peanuts from about 3,000 acres this year.

Most farmers of the area must find some other crop next year for a large portion of their land planted in cotton this year. Long-range thinking also must consider our section's approximately 4,000,000 virgin acres still in native grasses which eventually will be cultivated.

Naturally, all the land can't be put in peanuts. But the bumper Gaines county peanut crop offers further proof—if any is needed—that a great many things can be grown bountifully in this region.

It even is possible, if not probable, that some might be more profitable than cotton. Certainly, every new crop adapted to this region reduces the dangers which are unavoidable when too many eggs are entrusted to too few farm baskets.

Blanco Canyon Survey Is Set

Water Study To Be Staged

A preliminary survey of water storage possibilities in Blanco canyon near Crosbyton was approved at an abbreviated semi-monthly meeting of the city commission Thursday afternoon.

The commission also discussed several matters pertaining to traffic, including steps to complete and expand the city highway dispersal system, and ordered new uniforms for members of the police department at a total cost of $4,539.50.

The initial investigations in Blanco canyon will be made by A. J. Gates, an engineer of long experience in the city engineering department. City manager Steve Matthews estimated the cost will not exceed $1,500 to $2,000.

Information Sought

Members of the commission were of the opinion that the inquiry should produce enough information to tell whether further planning for the development of the canyon as a source of water supply or as a recreational lake will be justified.

Mayor W. H. Rodgers was the most vigorous champion of the project. He was positive in his opinion that enough water flows down the canyon, which is one of the headwaters of the Brazos river, to fill a lake if a dam should be built at any of several available sites.

He declared that, if the city is unwilling to proceed with the development, he has been aproached by persons—whom he would not identify—who have declared they are willing to build a dam with private capital, selling such of the impounded water to Lubbock as the city might desire. The remainder would be sold to farmers for irrigation.

Would Ask Water Rights

However, the mayor said, these persons would require the water rights the city of Lubbock obtained to the canyon from the state board of water engineers at Mayor Rodger's insistence more than a year ago. The cost of securing the rights amounted to about $250, for which the city would be reimbursed if they should be surrendered, Mayor Rodgers said.

The mayor was vigorously of the opinion that a dam at any of several narrow points in the canyon would create a lake several square miles in area and containing enough water to represent a substantial reserve supply for this city.

Other members of the commission were unanimous in their expressions of interest in the project. They agreed unanimously that if a lake can be created at a reasonable expense, they favor it.

But they frankly were skeptical of whether enough water flows

THE QUESTION

THE ANSWERS

L. A. HARPER, 3415 Twenty-eighth, draftsman for Lane Wells Co.: "Since I just graduated a few years ago, I'd say that they are doing that. I think that all of the teachers are more or less trying to teach us there is no difference between people's race or religion."

H. J. WHITMAN, 2100 Thirty-eighth, radio activity operator: "I think that public schools have been a big help in teaching racial and religious tolerance. They are teaching the children up there that all people are created equal regardless of race or color."

G. E. COFFEY, 1406 Ave. R, contractor: "They should be if they're not. I think that they should have classes which teach the children that all people are the same regardless of race or color."

ILLNESS IS FATAL

MENLO PARK, Calif., Dec. 23 (AP)—An extended illness yesterday took the life of Mrs. Myrtis Heppe, wife of Ralph H. Heppe, business editor of the Associated Press in San Francisco.

The Heppes' had lived here since 1947. They moved here from San Mateo, where they lived 18 years.

T. E. ESTES, 3305 Thirtieth, Fritos salesman: "To some extent, I surely do. I don't think that some of the books the children get to read on the subject is fit to read, but I do think that they should be taught not to have racial or religious prejudices."

I. B. ESSARY, Quanah, cook at Webb's Cafe: "Yes, and no. I don't think that children should be taught by mixing different races in school; I think that there should be separate schools for the negroes and whites. As far as religion goes though, I think that they are all pretty much the same."

R. L. WOOLSEY, Pagosa Springs, Colorado, carpenter: "I don't think that public schools are doing one thing to help break down racial and religious prejudices. In fact, I think that they are building up prejudices by teaching children the differences between different races and religions."

REDS IMPRESS MAILMAN

HAMBURG (AP) — Local papers report that Eastern German mailmen have received a certain "quota" of Communist papers to distribute every day. Eastern Germans apparently do not like the Communist propaganda and circulation is falling. Letter carriers who fail to distribute enough papers are charged with "sabotage."

Tired Feeling Major Illness

CHICAGO, Dec. 23 (AP) — That "tired feeling" is a major American affliction.

Dr. Dwight L. Wilbur of Stanford university put it this way today:

A tired feeling or nervousness are the most common symptoms of emotional or neurotic disturbances. And from one third to two thirds of all patients seen by doctors suffer from such disturbances.

The tired feeling falls under such medical names as chronic nervous exhaustion, psychoneurosis, benign nervousness, functional disorder, anxiety state, neurasthenia or constitutional inadequacy.

Usual Causes Listed

The usual causes of emotional or neurotic disturbances, Dr. Wilbur said, are emotional problems, life situations, overwork with inadequate rest and relaxation and inadequate recovery emotionally from an infection. He added in an article in the Journal of the American Medical association:

"Acute fatigue or nervousness can be induced in any normal person by lack of sleep and sufficient threat to security; recovery generally is rapid with sleep or removal of the threat. When these symptoms are chronic the period of recovery will be longer even after the cause is removed.

Understanding Needed

"Improving or relieving the patient's symptoms is an individual problem in each case. It cannot be accomplished until the patient understands the nature of his symptoms and accepts it reasonably well.

"If the cause of the symptoms is merely the stress of anxiety over a nonexistent organic disease or overwork, relief usually can be obtained rapidly by simple reassurance or by adequate rest or a vacation.

"If, however, the distress is from a more complicated and less easily solved external cause, or if it deeply involves one of the major emotions, more detailed treatment and psychotherapy will be necessary."

When engineers first began to talk about television they described it as "visible telephony."

FREEDOM THEIR CHRISTMAS PRESENT—Mrs. Elicia M. A. Kramek holds her jail-born baby daughter Joeena, five months, as she greets her husband Joseph after the 25-year-old mother was freed from the Women's Reformatory in Framingham, Mass. In Worcester, Mass., court another woman confessed to having passed the worthless checks for which Mrs. Kramek had served nine months of an indefinite sentence. The mother had cared for her baby at the reformatory. (AP Wirephoto).

Highway Patrol Will Keep Busy

Christmas Travel Rush Gets Started; Safety Being Urged

The Christmas travel rush goes into high gear today, with the Texas Highway patrol calling for extreme caution to insure the safe arrival and return of holiday travelers.

A sharp increase in automobile traffic is expected today, and railway, bus and plane accommodations will be crowded to overflowing.

The annual exodus began Wednesday when Texas Tech and all but one Lubbock city school closed for the Yuletide. Carroll Thompson Junior High school dismissed Thursday.

Transportation facilities were taxed with thousands of travelers on Thursday, but an even greater number of passengers are expected today by plane and railway officials.

The last contingent of Tech students are expected to make their way homeward today. Adding to this, many family groups will leave to spend the holidays with friends or families.

Highway patrolmen, in an effort to check the South Plains traffic death toll which already stands at 104 for the year, will work almost continuously today through Monday.

Already working 12 to 14 hour shifts, the patrolmen's hours will be lengthened in an effort to cope with the flood of traffic. All 26 patrolmen in the South Plains district will be on duty through the holiday weekend.

Heaviest activity on the Lubbock transportation front Thursday was at the Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma bus line, and late last night the press continued. Bus company officials said the rush which began Wednesday will continue through today.

Several additional buses were put into operation Thursday to accommodate the thousands of persons jamming into the Lubbock station.

Santa Fe railway officials said two extra coaches were added to the east-bound California-Houston train Thursday night. They said passenger travel began to increase on Monday.

Air Travel Also Heavy

Heaviest traffic seemed to be to the south and east. This trend was reported on all types of transportation. Pioneer Air Lines reported that all flights today to the

Tough Decisions Facing U. S. On Recognizing Chinese Reds

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP) — Diplomacy may sound high-toned and nice but it's a tough, rough-and-tumble, cold blooded business.

And you'll get a chance to see how coldblooded in the next few months when the arguments get stronger about the question:

Should the United States recognize the new Communist government in China?

The U. S. is now withholding recognition. In the end it may give it, but probably not for months, and probably not before many others have done so.

Just Facing Reality

The Communists have all but kicked the Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-Shek off the continent of Asia.

The Nationalists still cling to the claim that they're the real government although now they're holed up in the island of Formosa, off the China coast.

Recognition of a new government simply means acknowledgment that it's the government in control, capable of doing business.

When one government is overthrown and a new one takes its place, Secretary of State Acheson has said, recognizing it is really only recognition of a reality, of a set of facts. It doesn't necessarily mean approval of the new government.

Keep U. S. Informed

This country doesn't approve the suppression of civil liberties in the countries behind the Iron Curtain in Western Europe, for instance, but we recognize their governments have official representatives there. But what American interests do they protect by being there?

Mostly, they're helpful in keeping the U. S. informed on what's going on. They can send out full, uncensored reports since diplomatic mail can leave unopened. It's just about as cold as that. But Acheson laid down three conditions under which this country will recognize another government.

1. Does it control the country? There's no doubt the Iron Curtain countries control their territory. But there may be some question as to whether the new Communist government in China has such control.

People's Support Needed

2. Do the people of the country support the new government? This is a nice question but—. The U. S. can hardly apply this rule to the Iron Curtain countries which it has recognized because there, the U. S. has protested, the Communists got control by rigged elections or other unfair means.

3. Does the new government intend to live up to the international agreements or commitments—such as trade treaties or membership in the United Nations—made by the overthrown government?

In the case of the Iron Curtain countries, under rule No. 3: Most of them were on the enemy's side, or in enemy hands, through the years of World War II, so the promises of the old governments have little meaning.

What Recognition Means

Maybe what follows will give an idea of what recognition of the Chinese communists might mean: right now it seems they're lined up with the Russians. The time may come when they're fed up on Russian dictation and want to break away, as Marshal Tito did in Yugoslavia. Yet they might hesitate to do so, unless they could get assurance of help from us.

If we had an ambassador there, such a deal might be arranged, since it would be to the interest of the U. S. to split the Chinese and Russians.

In any consideration of recognition about the Chinese Communists, the main point—although it may be buried under high-sounding words—will always be: What benefit do we get?

RESIGNS AT MISSION

MISSION, Dec. 23 (AP)—Jack P. Humphries has resigned as city manager to take a similar post at San Benito, beginning Jan. 10.

At holiday times turkey may mean a big meal, but in radio slang it's a program that has been a complete failure.

Slaton Pastor Believes Decoration Of Church Creates Atmosphere For Worship

SLATON, Dec. 23 — Elaborate decorations in a church help to bring the meaning of Christmas to more persons, in the belief of Rev. P. J. Burns, pastor of the First Christian church in Slaton, who for approximately 14 years has spent many hours of thought and work preparing for decorations at Christmas.

The minister believes in advertising—creating of atmosphere for worship — for churches. "The church has something that we feel people ought to know more about," he said. "Advertising is here. Advertising is profitable," he said.

Distinction Is Made

He made a careful distinction between advertising in the sense of creating atmosphere for worship and "publicity" seeking. A "shindig" in the basement, he said, might attract interest but would not create the atmosphere for worship.

What he suggests would bring more persons into the church than now are going, he believes. He said he was referring to the universal church and not to competitive advertising among denominations.

Those who walked into the First Christian church Sunday night, when the lights were turned on Christmas decorations, filled every available seat and others stood because they were unable to find seats. They since have told others. The church is kept warm, with lights on, until about 9 o'clock each night so visitors may go in. A picture 25 by 7 feet at the front of the auditorium shows Bethlehem, with the wise men and the shepherds looking over the city. A bright star is over the city. Above that picture are numerous stars on a three-foot high strip of crepe paper. Other pictures extend the scene across the wall.

Lights Turned On Scene

Colored lights are turned on the scene at night. Angels which the pastor sawed from wood and stars also decorate the church.

Outside is a manger scene, upon which lights are turned at night, and above it, lights flash to form "Peace on Earth, Good Will To Men."

The congregation Sunday night saw enactment of "The Gift Magnificent" Dorothy Lehman Sumerau).

A young man in tattered clothing came into the church, sat down and witnessed enactment of the Christmas story. At the close, children of the church took gifts to the manger. The young man, playing a part in the service of someone with no money, no job, nothing to give except himself, went to the altar to give himself in service.

Cast Is Named

Those taking part were the pastor, director and reader; choir director, Mrs. James Masterson; accompanist, Joyce Ellen Burns; choir members, Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Davis, who had the parts of Joseph and Mary; Sally Sue Buchanan, angel; Norman Newton, young man who watched the service and went to the altar at its close; shepherds, Carl Lewis, jr., Jerry Lovelady and Alton Kenney; wise men, George Gabel, Timmy Bourn and James Blair; and gift bearers, children of the church.

Committees for arrangements were: Characters and costumes, Mrs. Patsy Davis, Mrs. Earl Reasoner and Mrs. Jack Smith; choir, Mrs. Carl Lewis and Mrs. O. D. Kenney; platform for manger scene, R. H. Davis, Tommie Davis and James Blair; in charge of children's participation, Mrs. George Gabel; and setting, the pastor.

Others Take Part

The choir was composed of more persons from other denominations than fro mthe host church. Most of the First Christian church members have seen the decorations and those visiting the church since have been from other churches for the most part.

The leading purpose of the decorations is to get people into the spirit of giving, he said. The Sunday night service was a white gift service for the Juliette Fowler orphans' home in Dallas.

"I'm afraid we have the thing wrong today," the pastor said Thursday. "We're out getting. I believe the church has a problem to teach people to give to other people.

"When we give to each other that makes life happier. That is the true way of Christianity—that of living for each other."

Rev. and Mrs. Burns have moved to Slaton since last Christmas, but in previous years have arranged decorations in other churches. They also arrange special Easter decorations, which were set up last Easter in the Slaton First Christian church.

Hoyt Meadows of Slaton sketched the figures for the manger scene and Mrs. J. A. Smith painted them. The pastor sawed them.

The pictures for the front of the church were obtained from a publishing house.

Most of the labor in sawing and mounting the decorations was done by the pastor.

CLIFFORD'S SUCCESSOR CHOSEN

Charles Murphy Will Become Truman's Special Assistant

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. (AP)—Fifteen years ago a young North Carolina law graduate came to Washington hunting a job.

He got one at $2,100 a year which led to an assignment to help a senator from Missouri.

And on Feb. 1 he will become the $20,000 special counsel to that man, now the president of the United States.

Yesterday President Truman announced—to Charles S. Murphy and newsmen—that Murphy would succeed Clark Clifford, who is resigning to enter the practice of law.

After the news conference Murphy related to newsmen that his first federal job was as a laborer at $1,500 a year in the Wilmington, N. C., post office in 1928.

Attended Duke

Later he worked in Durham as a postoffice clerk. In Durham he attended Duke university and the Duke law school. He got his law degree in 1934.

"I came right out of Duke to Washington," Murphy related. "I got a job in the Senate legislative counsel's office."

Murphy drew the assignment. After that Mr. Truman, who liked Murphy's ways, called on him for a lot of other work.

It was Murphy who drew up the Senate resolution which resulted in the creation of the Truman war investigating committee.

The work of that group spotlighted Mr. Truman and gave him the prominence which is credited with later putting him on the national Democratic ticket.

Murphy, who stands five feet 11 inches and weighs 185 pounds, grew up in the little town of Wallace, N. C., where he was born Aug. 20, 1909.

He says he never was active in Democratic party work in his state. When he was attending Duke university he was working at night to pay his way.

His mother, Mrs. William Faison Murphy, still lives in Wallace. A brother, Dr. G. W. Murphy of Asheville, N. C., is president of the North Carolina Medical society. Another brother, R. B. Murphy, who is a farmer near Durham, is "president of a Fox Hunters club," as the appointee puts it.

Mrs. Murphy is the former Kate Graham of Durham. There are three children, Courtney, 16, Westbrook 9, and Elizabeth, one year old.

Murphy is a reticent man. He has sandy hair, which is beginning to thin, and wears glasses. He says he has no hobbies.

"I don't do anything much but work," he commented.

Three years ago next month Mr. Truman appointed him one of his administrative assistants at the White House. The job then paid $10,000. More recently the pay was raised to $15,000.

During Mr. Truman's vigorous 1948 campaign, Murphy played a major role in gathering material and preparing speeches. He worked closely with Clifford in this work, riding the campaign train in the late stages of the fight.

Easy Credit Buying Forecast For 1950

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP) — Easier installment credit terms are likely next year, the Federal Reserve board said today. It also forecast there'll be more money in circulation than in 1949.

On the matter of installment credit, the board noted that since government controls were ended last June 30 the time payment terms already have been eased considerably, particularly for new automobiles and household appliances.

Even before Congress allowed the federal controls to lapse the board itself had taken steps to loosen the wartime credit curbs. As a result, it said in its monthly bulletin, sales of cars and home appliances were kept at high levels this year.

The "tendency seems to be toward progressively easier terms for all borrowers," it said.

The board's report did not indicate in what ways it expects the credit terms to be relaxed further, but this might be accomplished by cutting down the amount of down payments which now are about one third of the sale price.

It said the nation's money supply is expected to expand in 1950 after contracting for three straight years. One large factor, it said, will be the $2,800,000,000 GI insurance dividend which the government will start paying next month.

Phone Company Error A Pain In The Ear

Doctor Holds On To Sanity Through Santa Claus Ordeal

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)—Dr. Herman B. Zurrow thought he was going nuts when little voices started coming over his office telephone. They kept asking for Santa Claus.

"It began six weeks ago," said the 58th Street physician, still a little shaken today.

"We began getting two or three calls a day, and childish voices would ask for Santa. We thought it was a gag—at first."

Checkup Made

But it was no gag when the calls zoomed up to 400 a day.

"Little voices at all hours of the day and night," said Dr. Zurrow, his voice hoarse at the memory. "I thought we'd go crazy."

But a checkup convinced the doctor his sanity wasn't tottering.

Last year a toy shop hired a Santa Claus to talk to kids. They put in a special phone for him and the number was Murray Hill 8-2551.

This year the shop dropped the idea. So the telephone company assigned Murray Hill 8-2551 to Dr. Zurrow.

Then the phone company forgot all about it. Not so the kids.

Letter Gets Results

They knew where Santa was last year. With childish faith, they assumed he'd still be doing business at the same old stand.

Said Dr. Zurrow:

It got results.

Now when you dial Murray Hill 8-2551, an operator asks who you want. If it's Dr. Zurrow, she gives you his new number.

"Sor-ry, Santa Claus' number has been disconnected."

Lubbock Firm Gives Bonus To Employes

Christmas bonuses totaling more than $22,000 have been given 446 employes of White's Auto stores, according to an announcement by W. Erle White, president of the organization.

The bonuses were awarded as a tangible expression of appreciation held by the company for the faithful services of its employes, White said.

The 446 employes represent families totaling more than 1,700 individuals. All department heads were awarded the equivalent of two weeks' salary, while all other employes, who have been with the company for six months or longer, were given the equivalent of one week's salary.

Employes associated with the White organization for less than six months also participated in the distribution, receiving $15 each.

White's Auto stores instituted the Christmas bonus plan at the outset of the company in 1930.

MANY MORE LIVES PROLONGED

What Science Has Done For Christmas Is A Long Story

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. — We switched on the lights of the 40-foot Christmas tree.

My GI friend, who had done most of the work, mopped his face: "Whew! Whatta job. But that tree'll make a thousand kids happy."

"Scientifically correct," I said.

He whirled and spat—"scientific! Nuts! What has science done for Christmas? Science makes A-bombs. Science can't even explain Santa Claus. Just cold, correct stuff."

"Wait, Joe," I said, "while I tell you what science does for Christmas."

Thousands of grandpas and grandmas who are going to see Christmas trees this year wouldn't even be here except for science.

Pains Relieved

They are going to know they can look forward to another Christmas, instead of being sure they would not live another year. It's only a few years ago that these grandparents would have known that one in ten persons of their age was certain to die of pneumonia in January and February. Penicillin changed that.

Grandpa and Grandma, who suffer most of the agonies of arthritis, won't hurt so much this Christmas. They still can't get the new 1949 hormones that miraculously stop pain, but they can look forward to relief—and for the first time.

There are 60,000 American babies who will see Christmas this year who never would have lived long enough to see Santa a few years ago. This year's death rate among the newborn dropped to a new low, and that is part of the saving. The others were cured of infant diseases.

Thousands of mothers who will hold up 1949 babies to see Santa wouldn't have done it in 1948. They would have died in childbirth. Mother deaths in childbirth dropped to a new low in the United States this year. Its about one-quarter better than last year.

Atomic Energy Used

This year's American death rate dropped two per cent under last year. That is grandpa, grandma, the kids and toughies like you, Joe. It is a great host.

Science did this. Medical science was one reason. Others were better food, more of it due to scientific farming, and the rapid transportation that gets the food to the people who need it.

Why, Joe, back in the good old nineties, an orange was something that a lot of kids saw only once a year—as a present on a tree.

"But," said Joe, "what's the use of saving all these people when science is telling us how to kill more than it can save?"

That's where you are wrong, Joe. Take the hateful a-bomb. The energy that makes it was used this year for thousands of experiments in agriculture, to produce better and more food, with less labor. And for tens of thousands of other good works.

Science is making new synthetic Christmas trees this year, more beautiful than anything in the past 2,000 years. They are fireproof. They are plastic mixtures that imitate the finest pine needles, and they come in silvery finishes that reflect all the colors. They cost $1,000, but they have a place in hotel lobbies and churches.

Whiskers Fireproof

This new sort of decoration, in Rockfeller center, caused one of this year's worst traffic jams on a Sunday when autos from three states drove into New York City to see it. Snythetic snowflakes, each as big as a dinner plate, whirl like pinwheels and form a vista half a block long, at the far end of which you see the great, silvery Rockefeller center Christmas tree. This tree is real, but wearing a new coat.

Dads who play Santa can have fireproof whiskers.

Science this Christmas has produced the first boom sales of home television sets. The demand outran the supply.

"I know, I know," Joe interrupted. "The list of things science has given to Christmas is almost endless. But they are all material things, and none spiritual. Science has made so many material advances that society has lost spiritual and moral values."

Sure, Joe. But that's not permanent. Remember back in the dark ages when it was iniquitous to believe the earth revolved around the sun. It was feared the Creator who made the Earth might be belittled by saying Earth was not the center of the entire universe.

But science proved Earth is not the center. In so doing science revealed a universe so vast and beautiful, and a creation so marvelous, that the faith of true believers was strengthened.

Christmas Service For Children Set

An annual children's Christmas service will be conducted for the Sunday school of Redeemer Ev. Lutheran church at Twenty-second and Ave. W at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the church, said Rev. Karl W. Keller, pastor.

Theme of the service will be "The Joys of Christmas." All departments of the Sunday school, the Walter league, a young people's organization of the church, and the choir will participate.

After the processional, "Come Hither, Ye Children," the first portion of the service will follow the regular vesper order of service. The children's portion proper will follow the pastor's address and will be divided into seven sections. Each section will be introduced by a verse of an ancient carol describing one of the joys of Christmas, sung by the choir and the Walter League members. Then, by means of recitations taken largely from the Christmas story in the scriptures, the children will unfold the meaning of Christmas.

Offering at the service will be designated for two orphanages maintained by the Lutheran church in New Orleans, La., and Winfield, Kans. The service will close with distribution of gifts to the Sunday school children and treats for all children present.

The public is invited to attend, said the pastor.

Other holiday services planned by Redeemer Lutheran church include a festival service Christmas Day, a New Year's Eve vespes service at 8 p.m. Dec. 31 and a New Year's Day service with celebration of Holy Communion.

A new wiggling plastic worm has been devised for fishermen who hate to dig for bait.

Toys For European Children Are Asked

Allen Bros. post of the American Legion is participating in the Tide of Toys to collect toys for children of Europe, post officials said Thursday.

Persons may leave toys at the Legion hall any time through Monday to be sent to European countries, where they will be distributed by CARE.

Either new toys or old toys no longer needed after children received new ones for Christmas may be sent, it was stated.

Wayne Groce, commander of Allen Bros. post, said the chief purpose of the Tide of Toys is "to let children of Europe, the generation of the future, know that they have real American friends."

Distribution will be made in Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, Holland, Norway, Germany, Austria, Greece Czechoslovakia and Finland and perhaps in Poland and Yugoslavia.

George N. Craig, national commander of the Legion, said recently that "for years, the playgrounds of Europe's children have been bomb pits; their toys, the grisly trophies of war."

TWO MEN KILLED

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP)—Two railroad men were killed last night in a train wreck that blocked rail service to Long Island for hours and stranded commuters in massed thousands at Pennsylvania station. Six trainmen were injured.

Lubbock Citizens Aid Parents Of Two Children Lost In Fire

A grieved mother who lost two children in a North Lubbock residential fire Tuesday broke into tears Thursday night and her husband stammered for words of thanks as Lubbock residents presented them with more than $200 to help them find a place to live and care for their two remaining children.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Carmen could hardly express their appreciation for the donation because their throats, already swolen from grief over their lost children, seemed to choke. All they could do was cry.

Rites Are Held

Their 16-month-old daughter, Jennifer DeLois, and 4-months-old son, William jr., were buried Wednesday after a kerosene stove explosion had caused their death less than a week before Christmas day. A third child, Dwight Owen, 3, suffered burns on the shoulder and arm, while a fourth, Edith Lucille, was not at home at the time of the blast.

The man rose unsteadily Thursday night in the home of a friend as J. T. Martin, who collected $206 for the couple, and two companions, entered to hand him the money.

"Thank you. Thank you very much," was all he could say as his wife made no attempt to conceal her sobbing.

On the single bed in the small two-room house, Dwight Owen, his arm still bandaged, slept peacefully. The youthful host stood in the dark of the other room, tears in his eyes.

There were six people living in the small two-room house. There was one bed and two or three straight-backed chairs. Where they all slept during the sub-freezing weather last night probably they only know. There was barely enough room to throw down a pallet.

From the outside, the small house looked hardly large enough to hold two people. Scattered around it were other houses, many of them, just like the one in which a friend had been kind enough to share what was his with a neighbor who had no place to stay.

The Thursday donation raised to nearly $300 the amount which has been given the bereaved family since the fire destroyed their home and cost them their two children Tuesday. Groceries valued at $25 and several cash donations totaling $64.35 were presented them Wednesday by J. W. Mount, operator of Mount's garage.

Will Accept Other Aid

Martin said Thursday night he will accept any other donations on behalf of the family and will deliver gifts to them. He may be reached at the Pepsi-Cola bottling company here. His phone is 4952.

The kerosene stove exploded about 11 a.m. Tuesday, almost completely demolishing the one-room Carmen residence about a mile north of the Avenue H underpass. Jennifer DeLois was burned beyond recognition and died almost immediately, while William, jr., died three and a half hours later in West Texas hospital.

Martin, the man collecting donations for the family, was driving near the scene at the time and stopped to give aid. He spent Thursday in an effort to get money for the remaining members of the family.

The Carmens themselves had few plans for the future—except to be thankful for the neighbors who give them lodging and food and to hope for another one-room home in which to spend Christmas.

Bar Urges Holiday Spirit On Patrons

OAKLYN, N. J., Dec. 23. (AP)—A bar in Oaklyn today displayed this sign:

"This taproom will be closed at 9 p. m. Christmas eve—go home and give your children a break."

Dallas Man Killed In Crash Of Plane

CANEY, Okla., Dec. 23 (AP) — Robert Jesse Frick, 38, of Dallas, Tex., was killed and a companion critically injured in a light plane crash near here yesterday.

The injured man, Robert Kenty, 41, also of Dallas, was taken to an Atoka hospital.

Attendants said he suffered head and internal injuries and multiple fractures.

Trooper Floyd Brown said the plane was skimming tree-tops apparently having engine trouble. A wing clipped a tree, he said, and the plane nosed into the bank of Caney creek.

Officers said papers in the plane indicated the two men were on their way to Dallas from a business trip to Tulsa in a plane owned by Air Associates of Dallas.

Presenting Each Week News About Live, Progressive Firms and Individuals of Lubbock

OWNER SEES NEW GROWTH

Higgins Mill And Cabinet Shop Aids In Expansion Of Lubbock

"Lubbock has just started to grow," says W. D. Higgins, owner of Higgins Mill and Cabinet Shop at 2726 Texas avenue, and his firm is playing a part in that growth.

Higgins, with 25 years in the building business, has been in Lubbock since 1945, building up a strong reputation for mill work, windows, sashes, doors and cabinets.

Along with the expansion of Lubbock, Higgins sees a general development toward increased prosperity on the South Plains, and his firm plans to have a good share of the mill work in new construction in the area.

Here are a few of the projects in Lubbock in which all mill work is by Higgins Mill and Cabinet Shop: East Broadway school, Chris Harwell school, the Krueger clinic and the Calvary Baptist church.

A few of the area projects include the Andrews hospital, one of the largest county hospitals in the area, the Olton Methodist church and the Kress Baptist church.

But the Higgins Mill and Cabinet shop doesn't just handle big jobs.

"We do any kind of mill work for anybody — individual doors, windows and moulded trim," Higgins points out. "Much of our work is for residences, and it doesn't have to be a large work order before we will take it."

Windows and sashes made by the Higgins Mill and Cabinet Shop, through high quality materials and skilled workmanship, have made their own reputation in Lubbock and the area.

"Our work has to be good," Higgins says, "because it isn't the part of the building that gets covered up. We select well-seasoned woods to prevent warping, and use the better grades."

Delays are often a headache to builders, and Higgins Mill and Cabinet Shop strives to turn out all work as quickly as possible, maintaining their high standards of craftsmanship at the same time.

Most window and door orders can be met in less than a week—and the time usually runs nearer to three days unless the order is too large. Many jobs can be turned out the same day the order is placed.

The shop has a large volume of business on doors, handling more doors than many lumber yards. In addition to doors which are sold through the company, the shop also takes orders for custom-built doors.

Higgins, with his long experience in the building trade, knows blueprints and construction, having served as superintendent for many construction projects at Wichita Falls, Pecos and Odessa, to mention only a few. He made his home in Wichita Falls for 20 years.

By experience, he is equipped to share in this development by providing dependable mill and cabinet work for building interiors. His employes, and machinery in his shop, also are equipped to turn out work quickly and properly.

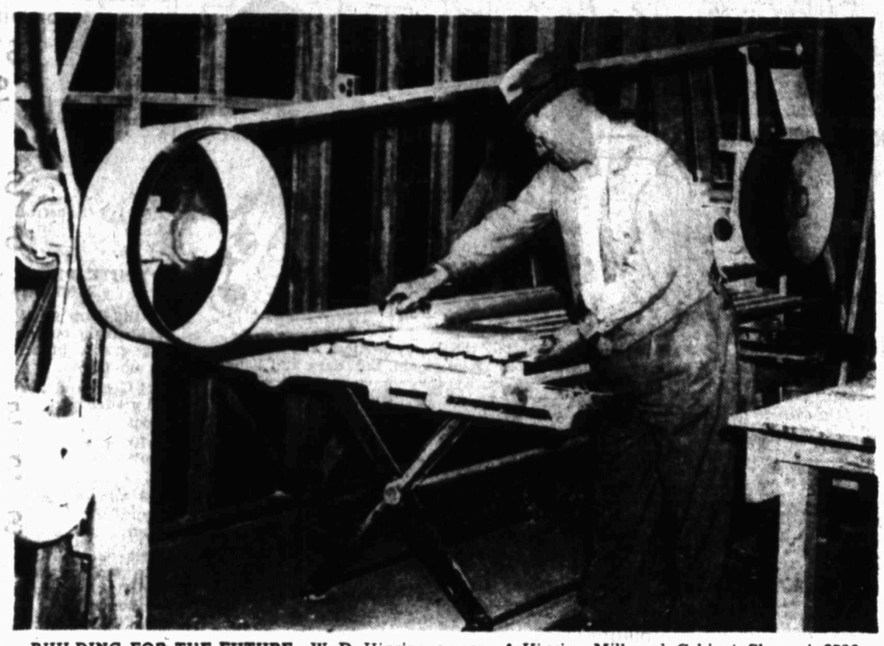

At the present, the shop keeps eight workers busy, including Higgins.

For estimates on jobs, stop by the Higgins Mill and Cabinet Shop at 2726 Texas avenue, or dial 4059. Get your estimates from a man qualified by experience in the building trade to hold down costs and still maintain high standards.

BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE—W. D. Higgins, owner of Higgins Mill and Cabinet Shop at 2726 Texas avenue, demonstrates a power-driven belt sander, one of the many pieces of specialized machinery in the shop. His firm, with a firmly established reputation for dependable work, is doing its part in the building of the South Plains. Higgins will give estimates without charge, and is qualified by experience to keep costs low and quality high.

Tennessee Milk Has Offer On Toy Trains

In addition to freshness and nourishment, Tennessee Milk has an added attraction for the kiddies.

By sending six tabs from Tennessee milk cartons and $1 to the Dallas headquarters of the company, the youngsters can have a top milk train that would sell from $3.98 to $4.98 if purchased.

While the tabs have to be mailed to Dallas, the tabs can be secured from Tennessee milk cartons right here in Lubbock.

The local distribution plant of Tennessee Milk company is located on the Idalou highway at Fourth street, and the phone number is 2-3311.

Two retail delivery trucks serve homes in Lubbock, while grocery stores selling Tennessee milk are in Lubbock, New Deal, Abernathy, Levelland, Sundown, Wolfforth, Ropesville, Brownfield, O'Donnell and Tahoka.

The toy trains, which the youngsters assemble themselves, are sturdy and substantial. Empty milk cartons are inserted in the cars of the train to give added strength.

To get the train, send six tabs from Tennessee milk cartons and $1 to the Tennessee Milk company, 319 Crowdus street, Dallas, Tex.

It's an easy way to get a worthwhile toy for the children that will give many hours of pleasure—and high quality of Tennessee milk will give needed nourishment for the energy-burning youngsters.

Jap Emperor Refuses Cash For His Poetry

TOKYO, Dec. 23. (AP)—Emperor Hirohito still is tossing off poems, but he won't take money for them.

Recently he sent seven poems to Kaizo, a popular magazine. It was the first time in history an emperor did anything like that.

Kaizo's editors were overwhelmed. They offered the emperor 10,000 yen (about $30) for his contributions.

The emperor's household officials said "no." They'd take five copies of the magazine instead. The emperor would distribute them to members of his family.

The editors say such talent should not go unrewarded. They are thinking of sending the emperor 10,000-yen worth of fruit.

City To Survey Blanco Canyon Possibilities As Water Source

down the canyon to fill a lake, if a dam should be built. Sharing in this skepticism were Commissioners W. B. Price, E. K. Hufstedler, John Spikes and Clarence Whiteside.

Supporting their doubts have been the unfavorable reports of all qualified engineers who have investigated the possibility of storing water in sufficient quantities to be of value in the canyon.

Among those who have reported unfavorably have been engineers of the U. S. reclamation service, the state board of water engineers and a good many private experts.

Members of the commission acknowledged, however, that Mayor Rodgers was right, and the experts were wrong, when he built the damb for Buffalo lakes southeast of the city about 12 years ago. Expert advice was that the lakes never would fill if the dams were built; and, if they did fill, the bottoms were so porous that they would not hold water.

Lakes Were Filled

The dams were built, the lakes were filled and Mayor Rodgers estimates that the surplus overflow down stream has averaged several million gallons a day—ranging up, during floods, to 30,000,000 gallons per minute.

The consensus of the commission was, in approving the preliminary Blanco investigation, that the investment of $2,000 or less is justified by the possibility that it might prove the practicability of a lake which would be worth unestimated millions of dollars to the South Plains.

"Such a lake would be worth any cost within reason as a recreational asset if the city never used a gallon of the water," Commissioner Price commented.

Considerations of traffic matters were varied.

To Offer Bonds

The most important action was the announcement that city bonds approved at the election Dec. 6 will be offered for sale at the regular meeting Feb. 9. These include $550,000 for expansion of the sewage disposal plant and $525,000 to buy rights of way to complete the highway dispersal system.

Bids for the contract to enlarge the disposal plant are to be opened Jan. 26

Hope Dampened

However, discussions of prospects with S. C. McCarty, Lubbock division engineer of the state highway department, dampened hopes that the dispersal system can be completed as soon as members of the commission hoped.

On the other hand, the conversations brightened hopes that a most important addition to the dispersal system might be made. This is the proposed construction of a four-lane highway following the Santa Fe tracks which cut diagonally across the Texas Technological college campus from College avenue and Fourth street southwestward to the point where the Brownfield highway branches from the Levelland highway—which is a prolongation of Nineteenth street.

This would mean new paving of considerable cost, the widening of North College avenue and possible help in the construction of storm sewers and other drainage, which would protect Northwest Lubbock from the frequently recurrent floods there.

No figures were mentioned as to what the cost of such an improvement might be. Experts said privately that it might run well over $1,000,000, at little or no cost to the city and, at the same time, provide arteries which would help the Lubbock traffic problem.

To Continue Discussion

Members of the commission agreed to go into further detail with members of the state highway commission concerning this possibility at the "earliest possible moment."

As of the present, McCarty said, the highway commission has allotted $466,000 for the extension of Nineteenth street eastward from Texas avenue to the point where East Broadway curves toward Idalou. The commission is prepared to proceed with this work, he said, as soon as the city and county supply rights of way for the 64-foot four-lane thoroughfare.

Not Encouraged

He sees no encouraging prospect, McCarty said, that additional appropriations for dispersal system construction in Lubbock can be obtained until after July 1, 1951, which is the date when federal and state appropriations are expected to become available for highway work for the succeeding two years. Plans then must be prepared on the basis of expectations of about $500,000 in appropriations from state and federal sources, with no more in prospect until July 1, 1953. The state and federal highway building programs, he explained, are prepared two years in advance.

The estimated cost of the dispersal system improvements for which city bonds were voted to buy rights of way totals $1,611,000. Included are about 10 miles of 64-foot paving and four railroad underpasses.

If appropriations cannot be secured at a rate of more than $500,000 every two years, the system cannot be completed until 1954 or 1955. This does not consider the cost of the proposed highway across the Tech campus.

Members of the city commission were hopeful that the state highway commission will be cooperative in stepping up the completion of the entire program, including the Tech campus diagonal and North College avenue.

Also pertaining to traffic was a petition from parents of children in George M. Hunt school that a traffic officer be assigned to Nineteenth street and Avenue M during the hours when large numbers of pupils are en route to and from school. Mrs. Eugene Knox, president of the school's Parent-Teacher association, and Mrs. J. D. Parks, chairman of the safety committee, presented the request. The commission took it under advisement.

Protest Not Made

A committee which had been expected to appear to protest against the new type of traffic light installed recently at Nineteenth street and Avenue Q failed to appear. A petition of protest was presented, arguing that the light was diverting much traffic from the thoroughfare.

The city manager said that, by actual count, 26,596 vehicles passed the intersection between 7:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday —about 40 cars per minute. The commission took no action on the protest.

They and the manager made clear, however, that the four "arrow" traffic lights placed recently at four intersections are still "on trial." They are at Broadway and Q, Broadway and College, and College and Nineteenth as well as Nineteenth and Q.

"We'll watch them for awhile and if they aren't satisfactory, we'll take them out," the mayor remarked. Members of the commission concurred.

Zone Change Passed

The commission passed on first reading an ordinance changing Thirty-fourth street between avenue X and Adams from a residence to a retail business zone. The commission also asked the city zoning commission to study the desirability of amending the present retail zoning ordinance so as to permit the construction of buildings entirely back to alley lines.

At present, structures in such zones cannot be built closer than 15 feet to the alley.

The commission also asked the city parks board to prepare plans and proceed with the development of a park in Northwest Lubbock. The city owns the site, which now is planted in cotton. A petition requested the development of the park for that area.

Uniforms Ordered

New police uniforms were ordered from Fechheimer Brothers company, of Cincinnati, as follows: 140 pairs of pants at $17.90 each, $2,506; 140 shirts at $12.90 each, $1,806; and 70 caps at $3.25 each, $227.70. A slightly lower total bid was submitted by J. C. Penney company. The Fechheimer products were ordered on the recommendation of members of the police department.

The commission re-affirmed its award of a bid to Levine's to supply police with 70 leather jackets at $23.50 each.

Other purchases by the commission were: carload of wire for the electric department from Westinghouse Electric co., $8,821; panel truck for the health department, from Kuykendall Chevrolet co., $1,635; two sedans for the health department, from Kuykendall, $1,566 each; and a service truck for the electric department from Dickinson Motor co., Dodge dealer, for $780.

Mother And Baby Freed From Jail After Citizens Protest

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23 (AP)—Seven-month-old Robert Gilyard and his mother are back home today after spending 24 hours in a jail cell hurriedly equipped with crib and three cornered pants—diapers, that is.

It all began last Wednesday when Judge G. G. Parry sentenced Mrs. Lillian Gilyard, 38-year-old mother of nine, to four months in county jail for illegally accepting relief checks totalling $587.70.

The state charged she had earned that amount working as a domestic and waitress while receiving $3,000 in relief payments over a 2½ year period. The law requires that any money earned must be deducted from relief benefits.

Infant Goes To Jail

Mrs. Gilyard appeared before the 75-year-old jurist carrying Robert wrapped in a pink blanket. After sentence had been pronounced, some one asked "what about the baby?"

Judge Parry, reminded of a state law which prohibits separating a mother and nursing child, ordered the infant sent to jail, too.

Jail officials rushed about to find a crib and diapers.

When the story was published in newspapers, hundreds of persons telephoned city hall to protest Judge Parry's action.

A group of civic and business leaders raised the $587.70 and Judge Parry agreed to reconsider the sentence.

In a 10-minute courtroom session yesterday, the jurist freed Mrs Gilyard but warned her she would be sentenced to two years in jail if ever arrested on similar charges.

It was quite a day for Judge Parry.

He ordered a Philadelphia Inquirer photographer arrested for taking his picture. The photographer, Joseph J. Conley, was freed 15 minutes later. The picture was published.

Judge Parry threatened to impose a four-month prison sentence on another photographer if he tried to photograph Mrs. Gilyard and her child. The picture was taken, regardless.

$92,000 TV UNIT

NEW YORK (AP)—A bus-type van used in television to make a remote mobile station costs about $92,000. The unit contains electronic equipment necessary for outside telecasts such as sports and other events. It operates on a frequency different from the main station, to which it sends its signals for broadcast relay. As a rule one of the cameras is mounted on the roof of the van. Others can be taken to nearby points, being connected to the van by long cables.

British Judges Said Deprived Of Power

LONDON, Dec. 23 (AP)—A high court justice says British judges have been deprived of the power to fix final sentence in many murder cases.

"In almost every case of a murder which is not premeditated the home secretary grants a reprieve," Sir Alfred Denning, a lord justice of appeal, told a commission.

"The sentence of death pronounced by the court is a useless anachronism. The function of the judge to assess the sentence in public is being exercised by some unknown person in private—by the home secretary or his advisers."

Sir Alfred said the reason is that courts and doctors apply different rules in determining whether a killer is sane.

Added Life Given To Symphonic "Battle"

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 23 (AP) — The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra recently was rehearsing a part of Prokofieff's "Alexander Nevsky Cantata" that portrayed a battle scene. Conductor Vladimir Golschmann, never a man to permit a listless performance, rapped with the baton and said:

"Gentlemen, I assume you know you're fighting a battle. And I guess you know you're losing it."

Holiday Travel

Railway agents reported a "heavy increase" over last year's travel rush, while bus line ticket agents said traffic was "just normal" for the Christmas season.

A sharp decline is expected Saturday by the commercial transportation agencies, but highway traffic is expected to continue heavy throughout the weekend.

Homeward bound Tech students were credited with swelling the parade of traffic on Wednesday and Thursday, but most transportation workers pointed out that personnel from Reese Air Force base added to the congestion.

PAPIER-MACHE RATTLER

CHICAGO (AP)—A report of a rattlesnake coiled and poised under a desk brought two cops to the West Englewood Auto Repair Shop. While the cops drew their revolvers, a poke with a broom sent the serpent skidding out to the middle of the floor. The rattler seemed bored. It was made of papier-mache.

Residents Of New York Facing Shortage Of Water Until 1956

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)—New York may be an intermittently dry city for a long, long time.

Expectations are that it will take about seven months to get relief for the present water crisis.

And after that, prospects are for several thirsty years ahead.

These conclusions were voiced yesterday after an emergency water conference of city and state officials.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said state experts are convinced the metropolis is due for recurring water shortages between now and the mid-1950's, unless drastic action is taken.

"I see no reason for optimism," he said.

Dewey announced that city and state authorities had agreed to cooperate in pushing as swiftly as possible a project for tapping the Hudson river for 100,000,000 gallons daily.

But this will probably take seven months, he said, and it will provide no solution for threats of future water shortages.

"The present water situation," he said, "is more in the nature of a permanent condition which requires radical action."

Increasing population, heavier water usage and weather factors have combined to make the city's reservoir system inadequate. Normally, the city uses about 1,200,000,000 gallons daily, but the figure has dropped below this since the conservation drive began.

Dewey, who has been critical of the city's handling of the problem, said it is possible that 300,000,000 gallons, instead of 100,000,000, could be pumped from the Hudson.

Recurring Shortages Seen

But he added that to do this would take at least a year of construction work. Furthermore, he said, city engineers "hold divided opinions" on such a plan.

Under existing circumstances, Dewey said, it is likely that shortages will occur next year and perhaps to bring water from the Delaware river.

The project, now under construction, is expected to provide the city with some 100,000,000 gallons daily by 1952. The amount will go up to about 440,000,000 when the project is finished about four years later, he said.

Chicago "Santa Claus" Helps Girl In Alabama Blind School

TALLADEGA, Ala., Dec. 23 (AP)—The Christmas story of an almost blind Mobile, Ala., girl and her Chicago Santa Claus from "the bend of the river" was told today.

Bernadine Pressley, 18-year-old student at the Alabama school for the deaf and blind here, can now see the bright world of Christmas for the first time in her life

Her good fortune began several weeks ago, when Dr. John E. Bryan, school president, received a letter from Chicago written on ordinary ruled tablet paper. The writer asked if there was anything he could do to help the school.

He cautioned Dr. Bryan never to disclose his name and said: "I am to be known only as the man from the bend of the river."

Sent $50 Check

Dr. Bryan replied, "There's an 18-year-old girl here who may be able to see if she has special glasses." The man sent a check for $50 and Bernadine got her special glasses.

"When I was a boy I lived in the bend of the Alabama river where I could watch the boats go by," the man wrote. He said he had gone north and had become successful.

"Now I want to do something for those in need down in Alabama," he added.

Other letters were exchanged between Dr. Bryan and the anonymous giver. Soon there came 100 shares in the Edison company, worth more than $2,000, to become the property of the school. In his last letter, "the man from the bend of the river" wished everyone a merry Christmas.

Polio Claims Victim At Plainview Center

PLAINVIEW(Dec. (U.P.) — Mrs. Buck Ewing of Hale Center lost her long fight Thursday against polio.

The former Kathleen Ferguson, 21, had been in an iron lung for many months. Physicians believed a blood clot was a contributing factor in her death.

She was a patient who never complained, said attendants at the polio center here. In her home town of Hale Center, all community activities were cancelled Thursday afternoon in remembrances of her.

Lake Dallas Scanned For Hunters' Bodies

DENTON, Dec. 23. (AP) — The waters of Lake Dallas were searched again today for the bodies of two duck hunters.

The men were dumped into the water yesterday after high winds overturned their boat. A third man, Ralph J. Brothers, was found cold, wet and exhausted in a duck blind.

The missing men were identified by Brothers as Monroe Crusendorf and Bob Elkser. The three men were mechanics for Braniff Airways in Dallas.

Edinburgh, Scotland, has a population of 500,000.
