Local business picture blurred by Webb report

Emotions of local businessmen are mixed about whether there has been an immediate effect on business following the announcement that Webb Air Force Base is a candidate for closing.

Probably summing up the feelings of the average businessman the best is Adolph Swartz, long active in the business community here.

"We are all concerned and want to work as hard as possible to keep the base," Swartz said here this week. "However, our type of business is not immediately hurt. I was here before when we had a base closing and we're still here. We don't want it, but if it becomes necessary, we will overcome it."

Ron McNeil, manager of Montgomery Ward, said, "My business has actually been up this week 25 per cent. There is no immediate reaction. Customers are still buying clothes, appliances, automobile needs and many other items."

Don Newsom, who operates Newsom Grocery, said, "I have been pleasantly surprised. I think I braced myself for an immediate drop, but our business continues to be great."

However, Leo Gonzales at La Posada said, "My business has been a little down this week. I had planned another expansion and I can only wait now and see what develops."

A waitress at Coker's Restaurant said that the day the news broke, the restaurant was absolutely running over with business. And there was more noise than usual. I think everyone was nervous," she stated.

"I'd rather have them stay then leave and buy their goods," Danny Burden, manager of Fox's Pawn Shop, said.

"We do a lot of business with people out there," Burden said. "When the people start leaving, I'm sure we're going to start losing business like everybody else."

But to date, the announcement of possible closure of the base "hadn't affected us any. Not even a little bit," Burden said.

When Bill Bartlett, manager of Dunlap's department store, was questioned, he said business "has fallen off some."

While he did not believe the decrease was drastic, he said he hadn't "put a pencil to it."

"For a period of time, no doubt it's going to hurt us," Bartlett said. "But if Big Springers work together and bring in other employers, the city will prosper," he added.

"I don't think the town is going to dry up and blow away," Bartlett concluded.

"I'm sure there are some slow periods, because people are more cautious," Mrs. Maria Hoag, owner of Poncho's News Stand, said. She spoke of retail sales generally, not just news stand business.

Mrs. Hoag said it is too early to tell whether sales have dropped significantly. "Our business is different than most," the owner said. "Some days, newspapers sell well. Others, magazines do better."

Another group that may be affected immediately if Webb closes is the town's auto dealers. Jack Lewis, owner of Jack Lewis Buick and Cadillac, will keep a close watch on all developments.

"We sell six to seven per cent of our cars at Webb, and a closing would definitely hurt," said Lewis. "Most of our new car sales are outside of Big Spring, though, and if the base closes we will concentrate more on our out-of-town market."

Lewis explained that he was familiar with base closings in three other Texas towns. He feels that the effect on those towns was only temporary.

"We aren't just going to roll over and play dead. People will still be driving cars, and I'll work harder to be the one who sells cars to them," said Lewis.

Al Stephens, manager of Gibson's in Big Spring, has experienced no difference in sales.

"I am hoping that people will react normally. Of course it is going to hurt us, but I don't think you will ever catch Big Springers flat-footed," said Stephens.

Stephens feels that even if the base closes, Big Spring will get by.

"The base probably represents about 15 per cent of the town's total payroll. If we have a 15 per cent drop-off in sales, it won't kill us," he added.

Youth achievement nominations open

Nominations for seniors who will represent their schools in the Zale's-Herald Youth Achievement Dinner this year are now being accepted by the Herald.

Parents or teachers can nominate the youths for the Thursday, May 13, banquet, which will get under way at 7 p.m., at the Big Spring Country Club.

A member of the Dallas Cowboy football team will be the chief speaker at the annual event, possibly either running back Robert Newhouse or star receiver Drew Pearson.

Seniors from Big Spring High School, Forsan High, Coahoma High and Sands High are eligible for entry into the Youth Achievement contest.

John Criswell, associated with the WFAA-TV station and emcee of the AM Show, will be the emcee of the program again this year.

Entry blanks are being started in The Herald and should be turned in to The Herald no later than Saturday, April 13.

Finalists will be rewarded with gifts at the banquet. The winners will be determined by an impartial jury.

Jerry Thurman, local manager of Zale's, is the coordinator for the program.

Reagan supporters predict Webb AFB will remain open

Texas campaign supporters for Ronald Reagan predicted in Austin Wednesday that President Gerald Ford would announce sometime before the May 1 Republican primary that Webb AFB in Big Spring would be taken off the Department of Defense's list for possible closure.

Specifically, it was Harris County GOP Chairman Ray Barnhart who said that Ford would announce that Webb would remain open sometime between now and May 1.

ONE OF THREE

The Department of Defense had announced last week that the Big Spring facility was one of three air bases in the United States that would be eliminated in an economy move.

"I am personally disappointed that the President of the United States would use the taxpayer's dollar in such a blatant attempt to influence voters," Mayor Ernest Angelo of Midland said in Austin, and indicated that he, too, thought the announcement about Webb was politically motivitated.

However, it was Barnhart who levied most of the attack against Ford for appointing Republican Ann Armstrong to become Ambassador to England, for naming U.S. Rep. Bob Casey of Houston to a vacancy on the Federal Maritime Commission and for choosing State Rep. Kay Bailey of Houston to the Transportation Safety Board.

APPOINTMENTS HIKED

"Why, Texas has had more appointments in the last month than it's had in the last eight years," Barnhart said.

The Reagan supporters said Ford has made appointments and awarded governmental contracts in other states before primaries to influence voting.

Barnhart said he, too, favors keeping the base at Big Spring open, but opposes "the power of the presidency to buy votes."

Angelo announced at the news conference that a well-known Houston oil man, Michel T. Halbouty, had been named by the former California governor to become national chairman of "Oilmen for Reagan."

Asked to describe the nature of Reagan's position on energy matters, Angelo replied, "It generally suffices to say that he (Reagan) wants to get the government off the back of the oil and gas industry."

Angelo himself is a petroleum engineer and an independent oil producer.

Barnhart and Angelo were joined at the news conference by R. Miller Enicks of Austin, who is handling Reagan's campaign in the Central Texas area.

TURNING POINT

The three supporters said Reagan would be spending at least six days campaigning in Texas before the May 1 primary. Angelo said the campaign visits would concentrate on all parts of Texas, with time being spent in "every major area of the state."

Barnhart predicted that Texas would be the turning point in the Reagan campaign, believing the Republican challenger would do well in southern and western states.

He said the Florida primary of last week was not a typical southern primary.

"They've got all those retired Yankees," Barnhart said.

Reagan's national headquarters is predicting that the challenger will pick up 66 delegate votes from the Texas primary. Barnhart said 52 of the delegate votes were "secure," if the election were held today.

The Houston Republican said he expects Reagan to get more than 66 delegates in the Texas primary, but he refused to say how many would actually go in Reagan's favor.

NEW TRIAL FOR CARTER — The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, (left) president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and Rubin "Hurricane" Carter, leave Carter's cell area for a press conference Wednesday. The New Jersey Supreme Court overturned a 1967 triple murder conviction of Carter and John Artis, and ordered a new trial. Carter and Artis have spent nine years in New Jersey State Prison. Action/reaction: No funeral escort

Q. Monday, March 15, funeral services were held for Florence Rose at Nalley-Pickle Funeral home. I would like to thank the Big Spring Police Dept., for the escort they provided, which was none what-so-ever. From Gregg Street to Mount Olive Cemetery, the funeral procession didn't know whether to stop or go. The hearse had to stop at traffice lights at least three times. En route to the cemetery there were at least three patrol cars seen parked in alleyways and elsewhere waiting to catch traffic violators.

A.-R. D. Klahr, chief dispatcher for the BS Police Department, checked into the matter and responded thusly:

"Concerning the letter referring to the escort not given for the funeral procession last Monday, I will admit that this may be partially correct, as we did fail to give escort at that time.

"I would like to explain why this happened. At the time of the escort, all units available were tied up on calls, consisting of investigation of a burglary, a disturbance at a local bar and the burglary of a citizen's vehicle. The funeral home called for confirmation of the escort, and was advised of our heavy work load.

"They advised they had little trouble with traffic. They also advised they noticed no patrol units during the procession.

"Our Department has at various times, "STEP" (Special Traffic Enforcement Program) units working traffic at different locations. This may have been who was seen.

"In most cities, it is the policy of the Police Department not to make any escorts, or to charge for the escorts they do make. The policy of our Department is to make all escorts possible, free of charge, as a service to the people.

"I would like to also apologize to the Rose family for not having an officer available for their procession."

Offbeat: Wrecking crew at work

Police went to the scene and discovered that workers really were tearing a house down, but that nobody was angry.

Best bet on TV: O'Neill play

NBC's 8 p.m. offering of "The Candidate," starring Robert Redford as a Kennedy-esque contender for the Senate, gets a nod for timeliness. The best bet, however, is the PBS presentation of "A Moon For The Misbegotten," also at 8 p.m. This bittersweet love story by America's playwright, Eugene O'Neill, is one of the best items ever to hit the TV screen.

Airline owner Rosenbaum says:

Trans Regional must grow if it stays in Big Spring

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The owner of Trans Regional Airlines, Inc., of Big Spring, says the airline must expand its routes if it is to remain in Big Spring.

Trans Regional, which now runs two roundtrip commuter flights a day from Big Spring to Dallas, is competing against Chaparral Airlines, Inc., of Abilene for a permit to provide roundtrip commuter service from Abilene to Austin, Midland-Odessa, Houston and Lubbock.

Both airlines propose using twin-engine eight-passenger aircraft.

Hearing examiner John Soule of the Texas Aeronautics Commission said Wednesday he doubted that the commission could certify either airline to begin operations before June 1.

Trans Regional's owner, El Paso businessman Louis Rosenbaum, said, "We must either withdraw from Big Spring or stretch out."

Chaparral lawyer C.G. Whitten asked Rosenbaum under cross-examination if he planned to "integrate" the Big Spring-Dallas route with the Abilene flights, and Rosenbaum replied, "That's our 100 per cent purpose. That's why we're here."

"I could have pulled out of Big Spring six or nine months ago," Rosenbaum said later. "Big Spring can't afford an airline."

It was also disclosed that Trans Regional had received temporary authority to suspend flights from Big Spring to Midland-Odessa, a route granted in its original application.

Rosenbaum, said, however, by combining the Big Spring and Abilene operations he thought he could cut Big Spring's losses by 50 per cent. Trans Regional showed a $41,943 loss for the three months ending Dec. 31, according to testimony at the hearing.

"We can cut down on overhead—the nucleus is there," Rosenbaum said of the Big Spring operation.

Whitten testified Monday—the first day of the hearing—that Chaparral had approximately 100 shareholders who held $283,750 in stock, and he questioned Rosenbaum extensively on Trans Regional's financing.

Rosenbaum said he had deposited $40,000 in an El Paso bank to Trans Regional's account and would add $10,000 to that after he received 1,000 shares in Trans Regional stock. In addition, Rosenbaum verified that he had pledged in writing to advance Trans Regional at least $200,000, which would be partly used to make down payments on five more planes.

He said he would personally guarantee the notes on the planes, which would total an estimated $470,000.

Trans Regional would repay Rosenbaum at the rate of $7,500 a month—without interest.

"But what if something happened to you?" asked Whitten.

"I have a life insurance policy for half a million dollars," replied Rosenbaum.

Trans Regional is planning to maintain eight crews of captains and copilots for its new routes. Robert McClure, Trans Regional vice president, said. Crew members would be paid monthly salaries instead of the hourly wage proposed by Chaparral for its crews. Trans Regional captains would earn $700 per month and copilots would make $550 a month.

Under Whitten's questioning, McClure said TRA has had no problems finding prospective pilots and that the airline plans to employ at least three mechanics: a chief mechanic who would earn $2,300 a month and two other mechanics at $650 a month.

Trans Regional proposes to maintain its own staff at Houston's Hobby Airport to handle tickets, baggage and reservations but at other airports, it would use services provided by commercial airlines such as Texas International, Delta, Eastern and Ozark. McClure also said that Trans Regional may also eventually tie into another airline's computerized reservations system.

Under Nobles' cross-examination, McClure said that he intends for Trans Regional to continue to base its flights on instrument flight plans filed with the Federal Aviation Administration and that instrument filing will make TRA's proposed service safer and more punctual than a service that relies solely on visual flight plans.

Current Trans Regional service to Dallas is given priority over services that rely on visual flight plans, McClure said, and air traffic control radar would provide Trans Regional with accurate weather and air traffic information not available to planes that fly with only visual plans.

Panel wants military 'raise'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reversing a post-Vietnam war trend to cut weapons expenditures, the House Armed Services Committee wants Congress to approve nearly $700 million more for military hardware than President Ford requested.

Committee chairman Melvin Price, D-Ill., said he expects full House action in two weeks on the $33.4-billion authorization bill for weapons and equipment.

The measure, which was approved Wednesday by a 34-1 committee vote, includes an extra $1.1 billion for 20 new ships, rather than the 16 Ford requested. It also added $125 million for Navy A6E jet fighters.

Offsetting the boosts were committee cuts of $498 million for equipment research and $17 million for Navy missiles.

In all, Ford requested $698.6 million less than the committee proposed.

Last year the committee cut $3.7 billion from Ford's $35.7 billion request, and the full Congress eventually lowered the package to $30.9 billion. Both of last year's figures covered a 15-month period ending this Sept. 30 to allow the federal fiscal year to begin Oct. 1. The authorizations approved Wednesday are for the 12 months beginning this Oct. 1.

The committee also approved 34-1 Wednesday a $3.3 billion military construction authorization bill, including $437 million for a sophisticated wind tunnel complex in Tennessee.

The committee actually added $2.2 billion to Ford's $6.3 billion request for ship construction, but it deferred $1.1 billion in inflation and cost growth to future bills for a net increase of $1.1 billion.

The committee rejected several of the President's ship requests, then voted to spend the extra $1.1 billion on:

—$728.8 million to build two new long-range, missile-firing Trident submarines instead of one.

—$350 million for a new nuclear aircraft carrier that Ford wanted postponed until next year.

—$940 million for four additional Spruance-class DD 963 antisubmarine warfare destroyers.

—$357 million for four instead of three attack nuclear submarines.

By voice vote the committee rejected an effort to cut $1.5 billion in the bill for development of an advanced Air Force B1 bomber to replace the present B52s.

Accord reached to pool resources in Webb fight

The Legislative Action Committee of the Century Club met Wednesday to discuss the Webb AFB situation and recent developments in Washington, Austin and other areas of the state.

Mayor Wade Choate, chairman of the Legislative Action Committee, briefed the nine-member committee on the recent trip to Washington by a Big Spring delegation concerning the possible closure of Webb.

Committee members, who have been in daily contact with Congressional representatives since the announcement of the possible closing of Webb, felt the best results could be obtained if the various agencies in Big Spring pooled their resources instead of acting individually.

In order to pool the local support for keeping Webb open, the committee will be requesting support resolutions from the Howard County Commissioners Court, the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, the Big Spring Independent School District, Howard College, and the Big Spring City Council. The Legislative Action Committee also asked that citizens of Big Spring and surrounding areas contact the committee members by either calling them direct or writing to Post Office Box 455, Big Spring, 79720, to insure that their ideas and correspondence reach the proper people in Washington.

The need to combine support under one organization was made apparent this week when the committee members began gathering information from many of these agencies and found the combined facts presented a concise and convincing study on the economic impact closing of Webb AFB would have on Big Spring and Howard County.

The study also showed why the base should remain a viable military installation. A comparison of Webb to other Air Training Bases was also included in the brief summary, which will be distributed to Congressional leaders in Washington for their use in discussing the possible closing of Webb.

Mayor Choate, chairman of the committee, said "I have been very pleased with the response we have received from the citizens of Big Spring, Howard County, the Permian Basin and other areas of the state. The letter writing campaign was a success, and we have created pressure in many of the right places.

"However," the mayor continued, "we are not through yet. We need to insure — through letters and other communications — that our views on the possible closing of Webb stay in front of our Congressional delegation."

Choate also stated that there would be a fight to keep Webb open, but felt the chance could be enhanced if citizens of Big Spring and Howard County continued to keep up their letter writing efforts.

Citizens who have comments or input for the committee should send their letters to the address listed above, or call Choate, Jimmy Taylor, Ralph Brooks, Ben Bancroft, Winston Wrinkle, J. Tom Graham, R. H. Weaver, Ron McNeil or Jim Gray.

Ty Zant of Vealmoor shows champion steer

Ty Zant of the Vealmoor community in North Howard County showed the grand champion steer in the 1976 Southwest Junior Livestock Show in Lubbock Wednesday.

The grand champion, nicknamed Dillinger, brought $6,403.20 at the concluding sale of the prize-winning animals — the second highest price ever posted on a top-placing steer at the annual exposition, held at the Panhandle South Plains Fair Grounds in Lubbock.

A total of 173 animals went on the auction block and brought a gross of $64,924.61, including the premiums of $45,840. The sale easily topped the 1975 proceeds, when 197 animals were sold.

Ty is a member of the Borden County 4-H Club. The winning bid on Zant's steer was made by Mrs. Roy Furr of Lubbock. Mrs. Furr then donated the 1976 grand champion to the Lubbock Children's Home.

Ty is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Zant. He said he had about $1,500 invested in the animal. He added the premium money probably would go to help pay off a loan for his herd of 16 Hereford cows and seven Limousin heifers.

Ty, who is only a sophomore at Borden County High School in Gail, said he intends to breed, raise and sell show calves from his herd.

"When those get old, I'll buy some more," said Ty.

Cat bites airman; hunt waged

Airman 1st Class John Pryor was bitten by a black and white, four to six-month-old house cat Sunday, near Big Spring High School. Unable to find the cat, Pryor is now undergoing a series of 24 painful rabies shots.

The animal must be apprehended in order that Pryor may discontinue the shots. If the owner of the cat, or anyone in the vicinity of the high school knows the location of the animal, please contact the Big Spring Animal Shelter or the emergency room at Webb AFB.

If the cat is apprehended, shots will be stopped, and the cat will be put in quarantine for 10 days to determine if it has rabies.

The number of the Animal Shelter is 263-8311, ext. 67. To reach the Webb emergency room, call 267-2511, ext. 2238.

Public relations stressed

Mental abuse heaped on field appraisers

Field appraisers get to hear what taxpayers think of local, state and federal government, the senior tax appraiser told the appraisal board this morning.

"The man who goes out in the field gets a lot of physical abuse, excuse me, mental abuse," Carlton Harry said.

"Any complaint about any government up to the federal government, usually we end up answering," Harry said.

Residents want to know:

"Why can't we get garbage picked up?"

The appraiser refers the citizen to city hall.

"Why is it we've got such a high-priced coach?"

The appraiser suggests calling a school administration office.

"We are stressing public relations," Harry said.

Mike Bruner of Howard College noted, "I've heard some good comments on your work."

Don Crockett, who is the Big Spring public school representative and chairs the board, said he was "appreciative of the volume of work" the tax appraisal office must perform.

Next year, the task will not be so large, Crockett said.

After the meeting, Harry explained: "We're doing a year's worth of checking their work, as well as our own, in four months' time."

Harry said he started work in the then vacant tax appraisal office Jan. 5.

Countywide property tax appraisal work will be complete in time for board of equalization meetings, Harry assured the board of local government representatives.

"With overtime work, with our extra help, we will have it ready," Harry said.

The appraisal board today set salary rates for part-time and temporary employes.

Temporary office clerks will be paid $3 hourly. Field appraisers will get $3.25 hourly.

The temporary staff includes Forrest Harry, who at 18 years of age has five years of appraisal experience; Francis Boggus, a clerk with a college degree; and Beth Harry, a clerk with 13 years of tax experience.

Weldon Boggus is the permanent field appraiser, and Kathleen Eppley, the permanent secretary.

In other business, the board learned:

Insurance coverage, including workmen's compensation, could be handled through Howard County. But Zirah L. Bednar, county tax assessor-collector, said the county auditor was awaiting information on including the office in the county retirement program.

Field appraisal of mobile homes is being conducted in Sand Springs. The senior appraiser later noted plans to check mobile homes in the Tubb Addition. To date, 893 mobile homes have been checked for tax values, Harry reported.

And the office is obtaining tax renditions for all aircraft of which officials have knowledge.

Coordination of transient assistance services mulled

The Advisory Board of the Big Spring chapter of the Salvation Army met Wednesday to discuss the coordination of transient assistance services, according to chairman W. L. Wilson.

The board proposed that all transients in Big Spring be referred to the Salvation Army by local churches and civic organizations. In this way, transients may be assured of assistance, and duplication of services may be avoided.

During the month of February, Salvation Army transient assistance programs aided 316 men and nine women and children; provided lodgings for all of these; served 834 meals; and provided aid of other kinds to 15 transients.

Expenditures for the month came to $6,237.91, bringing the Army's balance to $8,266.23. Among other programs sponsored by the Army are Family Welfare Assistance, involving 16 cases locally, and a variety of religious and character building activities.

Venue change hearing slated

Judge Charles Sherrill of 112th District Court has on his own motion set a hearing for April 23 to hear a change of venue plea on the murder trial for Witmer Jean Ballard.

The hearing will be held April 23 in Fort Stockton. The case was originally tried in the 112th district in Alpine.

The case has been sent back for re-trial. Ballard is accused of murdering Steve Currie in Glasscock County in 1971.

Downtown Lions to nominate

Downtown Lions, who cut short their program Wednesday to observe sponsorship of the Blood Center day, will be nominating officers soon for the next year. Joe Horton, president, set the nominating committee meeting for 6 p.m. today at the Big Spring Country Club.

Nominations will be made next Wednesday, others received from the floor the following Wednesday, and then the week after that the election held so that a slate will be able to attend the District 2A-1 convention May 24 in Brownwood. Russell DeVore, deputy district governor and a candidate for the governorship, was a guest of the club Wednesday.

Carter's Furniture, finds no reluctance on the part of Big Springers to finance furniture since the announcement.

"So far that is no problem. As a matter of fact, sales are up," said Loudamy.

Realtor Bill Estes, who owns Reeder and Associates Agency with his wife, Lila, thinks the Webb announcement has given Big Springers a "psychological hang-up."

"People will be wary until a final decision is made one way or another. The immediate effect is negative but it will not be lasting," said Estes.

Estes and fellow Big Spring realtors will meet with legal representatives from Webb Friday to discuss the housing situation. At this time, according to Estes, owners of Webb housing are guaranteed by the government no less than 90 per cent of the properties' estimated value at the time of the Webb announcement. That housing, in turn, will be placed on the market at what the government deems "a reasonable market value."

"I have had assurances from engineers and HUD (Housing and Urban Development) officials that Webb housing will not be used to dilute the market," said Estes. "Very low prices for that housing could be detrimental to us. In the long run, though, it should loosen up the market and make things better for everybody. We will have to work harder."

Rick Plato, manager of Whites Stores Inc., said that White's business seemed to fall off after the announcement was made that Webb might close. He said, "Business dropped off 36 per cent last week and it looks like this week is going to follow the same pattern."

Plato stated that White's had a considerable amount of sales from base personnel, both on a cash basis and on accounts.

Clothing stores are sure to be affected if Webb is closed. But both Mrs. George Weeks of Gibbs-Weeks Men's Store and Mrs. Susan Lewis of Zack's agreed that the clothing stores may not be feeling the economic effects of the possible closing at this time.

Mrs. Lewis explained that March is a typical busy time of the year. "Kids are home from college on spring break and they are buying. People are buying their summer wardrobe now."

Mrs. Lewis said that Zack's had not experienced any noticeable difference in sales since the announcement was made that Webb was being considered for closing.

Mrs. Weeks reported that Gibbs-Weeks' business is up slightly over the same period last year. "But this doesn't necessarily have to do with the possible closing of Webb," she said.

"I can't say that the announcement helped to increase business. Many factors are involved," Mrs. Weeks said.

Mrs. Weeks and Mrs. Lewis agreed that every business will be hurt if Webb closes.

Mrs. Weeks still expressed hope that something can be done to keep Webb open.

MRS. W. A. HUNT

Mrs. W. A. Hunt

Mrs. W. A. (Pauline) Hunt, 64, wife of the former president of Howard College, died at 8:40 a.m. today at Baylor Hospital in Dallas.

Funeral services are pending at the Elliott-Hamil Funeral Home in Abilene.

Born Pauline Kendrick on Nov. 10, 1911, in Denton Valley in Callahan County, she was a resident of Big Spring for 19 years. Dr. Hunt retired in 1972, after which the couple moved to Abilene.

Hunt was responsible for much of the original expansion of the physical plant of the college.

Mrs. Hunt was fond of saying, "When we drove down to Big Spring the first time, we stopped at a filling station and asked the attendant where the college was. He said he didn't even know there was a college in Big Spring."

The college had been on its new 100-acre campus only four months and had only four buildings when the Hunts came to Big Spring.

McMurry College had been founded by his father, Dr. J. W. Hunt, a Methodist minister. They have both been active in the Methodist Church and she was a member of the St. Paul United Methodist Church in Abilene at the time of her death.

Known to her friends as Polly, whe was married in 1929 at her parents' home about 18 miles out of Abilene. Dr. J. W. Hunt performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Hunt was active in the 1905 Hyperion Club, the Faculty Ma'ams, and was superintendent of the Youth Division of the First United Methodist Church here. She was also active in the WSCS in the church and gave many book reviews and programs in the community.

Their only son, James Frank Hunt, is dean of the Technical Vocational Division of South Plains College in Levelland. He is married to the former Tommie Jo Williamson of Big Spring and they have three children.

Purchased pornography illegally

Boy, 14, used as undercover agent

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A 14-year-old boy with braces on his teeth bought piles of pornographic material at stores in Jacksonville. He did it with his parents' approval and the help of police.

It was all part of a raid.

As the result of the boy's undercover work Wednesday, 12 men were charged with possessing or distributing pornographic material.

"We found a concerned citizen who was willing to allow his son to be subjected to seeing such material," said Sgt. James Pfeiffer. He refused to identify the boy.

"All of the stores he tried had signs saying that no minor under 18 years of age is allowed to enter or purchase such material," the officer said.

"In one store he was asked how old he was and when he said he was 14, the salesman said, 'Well, I'm not supposed to do this ...' and then sold him the material."

Pfeiffer said an undercover agent — an adult — was in each store for the youth's visits and that one of the boy's parents was in the immediate area. The arrests were made immediately after the purchases.

It wasn't the first time police here have used teenagers to make such purchases, Pfeiffer said. He said teen-agers are used because it results in more serious charges against shop owners and operators.

"Many people feel there is nothing wrong with such material unless it gets into the hands of the kids," he said. "We know they're selling it to minors and this proves it."

Pfeiffer said when police choose a minor as an undercover agent they stay away from those who could pass for 18, the legal adult age in Florida.

No new arrests in drugs drive

The sheriff's office and police department today reported no new arrests in the roundup of accused drug "pushers" which began Tuesday afternoon.

District Attorney Robert H. (Bob) Moore III said this was the first major narcotic dragnet in Big Spring since November 1972.

Baseball meet called today

Representative heads of the various baseball leagues in the city have been invited to a meeting at City Hall at 5:30 p.m. today.

The group is to discuss plans for scheduling of city parks for the summer. There are many more players and leagues than there are fields, even with the new complex.

A plan for six games per day per field on six days a week may be the only solution and will be discussed. Jerry Foresyth, head of parks and recreation, has called the meeting.

RAPCON makes system work

Ever wonder how Webb Air Force Base can keep all those planes in the air from bumping into each other?

I had, and this week I was given the opportunity to see how it is done.

THIS TASK is performed by 30 persons working in a dimly lit room on the northwest corner of Webb AFB. They scan the radar screens inside the RAPCON (Radar Approach Control) building and control the air space around Big Spring.

The Webb RAPCON is among the most modern in the Air Force. Webb was the first in the Air Force to get a new piece of equipment known as the Airport Surface Radar 7 (ASR-7).

A dozen other Big Spring residents and I were taken on a tour of the radar building. First we were given a briefing by Lt. R.F. Brown, an air traffic control officer. Then we were taken into the radar area by Darrell Charest, FAA air traffic representative at Webb; Lt. Stephen Haskell, the incoming chief of air traffic control; and Capt. Robert Schornstheimer, the present chief who is leaving Webb in June.

The initial thing I learned was that this facility controls both civilian and military air space, even the approaches to Howard County airport.

It is first come, first serve, said Lt. Brown, with no preference given to military or civilian aircraft.

The air space controlled by the Webb unit stretches from Loraine to Stanton and up to 10,000 feet where Fort Worth air traffic controllers take over. Big Spring sits underneath a major commercial jet route from Dallas-Fort Worth to the West Coast, but these fly higher than 10,000 feet.

RAPCON — Looking over the Webb AFB Radar Approach Control (RAPCON) facility are Big Spring officials, Tom Ferguson, Jerry Foresyth, Harry Nagel and Paul Feazelle while TSgt. John Wack of the 2050th Communications Squadron operates the console.

Up to 30 persons work at one time in the air traffic control system. On weekends, this drops to a smaller crew.

EIGHT AIR traffic controllers, two supervisors and a chief are constantly scanning the eight radar scopes, bringing planes into Webb and Howard County, tracking them off and watching the training areas of the fighter jets, as well as controlling planes that may just be flying through the area.

Capt. Schornstheimer showed us the computer hook-up with Fort Worth for the receiving and filing of flight plans. It looks like one of those reservation gadgets at Holiday Inns, and, indeed, the captain said that pilots are literally making reservations for the highways of the air.

Being an air traffic controller is a tough job, as one of those touring, Jim Gregg, assistant city manager, had been a controller until the late 1950s when he decided to quit because of the pressure.

It takes from eight months to four years to become a controller, depending on the traffic area, and the pressure is such around the big airports that few last more than five or 10 years.

But the new radar equipment obviously helps a lot. Instead of only being able to squint at the blimps, the new radar will put a code number and an altitude with all planes on the screen. This is great assistance to the air traffic controller, Gregg said.

After the tour, I realized that next time I fly out of Howard County I will feel better about being in the air because I know that many skilled, watchful eyes are keeping up with me.

Round 'n round

Around the rim

Marj Carpenter

Round and round the mulberry bush, the monkey chased the weasel.

THAT SONG was going around in my mind Friday afternoon when one photographer and two reporters set forth in Danny Valdes' Volkswagon to hunt the Webb plane crash.

The first message we heard on the police radio sounded like Ricky Klahr's voice. He said, "Call Marj Carpenter and tell her there's been a plane crash." We waited a few moments. I finally couldn't stand the suspense and called in for information.

All they knew at that point was that a plane was down, possibly 29 miles west of town. We debated whether to head toward Stanton or wait. We decided to wait. Danny came up with the next information and it was that the Webb ambulance was headed toward Luther.

So away we went toward Luther. John Edwards was sitting with his knees under his chin in the back of the 'bug.' Says Danny, "Where's Luther?" He handed forth a Howard County map.

We started toward Luther. Then we decided to stop and phone back and see if we were headed in the right direction. We borrowed a telephone at a home just outside of town. Richard Townsends shared their telephone. A call in to the police department brought us the beautiful information that people were going out IS 20, N87, 350 and the Luther road, all hunting the plane.

WE CONTINUED our trek. We followed a fire truck. The driver stopped and asked us where we were going. We both went on down the road awhile and stopped to talk to Deputy M.L. Kirby. He said, "It's north of Luther, but there's a lot of area north of Luther."

He went one way. We went another. We stopped at a mobile home. One dog took a nip at me as I went to the door. But he missed. A very nice lady let me use the phone. She told me she had heard an unusual sound from a plane about an hour earlier.

I found out later that when a pilot ejects, it makes an explosive noise. Sgt. Mike Pearson on the police phone told me that the plane was between Vincent and Gail on that Farm to Market road.

We looked at the map. Our Howard County map dropped off the edge into Borden County so we decided it would be safest to retrack our steps and go across to Vincent and North. We passed the highway patrol going the other way, but decided that by the time we got turned around, we might lose them.

On we drove. We met a radio station employe coming back the other way. "Don't take the turn to Lake Thomas," he said. We had no intentions of turning in that direction. We were both nearly out of gas. We started toward Gail.

The radio man turned off and went back to town. We headed across the next hill and saw the smoke. From there on in, it was easy.

We found out later that a lot of people headed toward another puff of smoke. That smoke was a controlled fire on James Barr's land. There may have been some fire trucks and emergency vehicles arrive at that site.

Mrs. Claude Sorrels at the Lorin McDowell Borden County Ranch was most helpful. She had an exciting afternoon with a pilot and plane falling out of the sky on the ranch. But she still had time for West Texas hospitality.

AND, OH YES, the public information officer at Webb Air Force Base, said, "Please mention that you didn't have to climb through fences or hide the film."

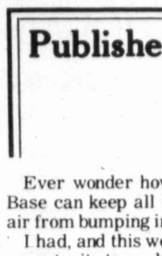

He was referring to the fatal plane crash in Borden County in November 1973 when the Borden County sheriff did not want these same two reporters to leave the scene with film prior to the arrival of Webb officials.

We were pushing a noon deadline that day and we left. The good sheriff radioed ahead and Webb Security officers and State Troopers circled us at the side of the road like we were, maybe, John Dillinger.

I believe that was Bill Priest's first day as a state trooper in Howard County. It wasn't a dull day, Bill.

As we got to the scene Friday, there were some new faces. The pilot was not the same. Most of the Webb officials were not the same.

But the reporters, the Borden County sheriff and State Trooper Bill Priest were all back. Round and round the mulberry bush . . . .

Solon rewarded

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — On Capitol Hill, some legislators seem to make it their business to see that the banks are not deprived. Those who go along with the banking lobby are often rewarded with campaign contributions.

Already the commercial bankers' political arm, which goes by the acronym BANKPAC, has quietly passed out donations to almost half of the members of the House Banking Committee.

THE CONTRIBUTIONS coincided with a lobbying drive by the commercial bankers against reforms, which would allow mutual savings banks and credit unions to expand their services. This would make them more competitive.

To prevent this, BANKPAC has handed out thousands of dollars in campaign contributions to key Senators and Congressmen. The recipients include at least 17 members of the House Banking Committee which is considering the banking reforms. Among them are:

Representatives Richard Kelly, R-Fla., $1,500; Albert John, R-Pa., $1,200; Jerry Patterson, D-Calif., $1,150; Les AuCoin, D-Ore., $1,000; Willis Gradison, D-Ohio, $1,000; William Moorhead, D-Pa., $600; Stephen Neal, D-N.C., $600; Carroll Hubbard, D-Ky., $500; Butler Derrick, D-S.C., $300.

Also John Conlan, R-Ariz., $300; Philip Hayes, D-Ind., $200; Gladys Spellman, D-Md., $150; David Evans, D-Ind., $100; Jim Blanchard, D-Mich., $100; John LaFalce, D-N.Y., $100 and Mark Hannaford, D-Calif., $200.

Another $100 was given to Rep. Harold Ford, D-Tenn., who just gave up his seat on the Banking Committee. Rep. Joseph Minish, D-N.J., has also been singled out for a donation, but the money hasn't yet been delivered.

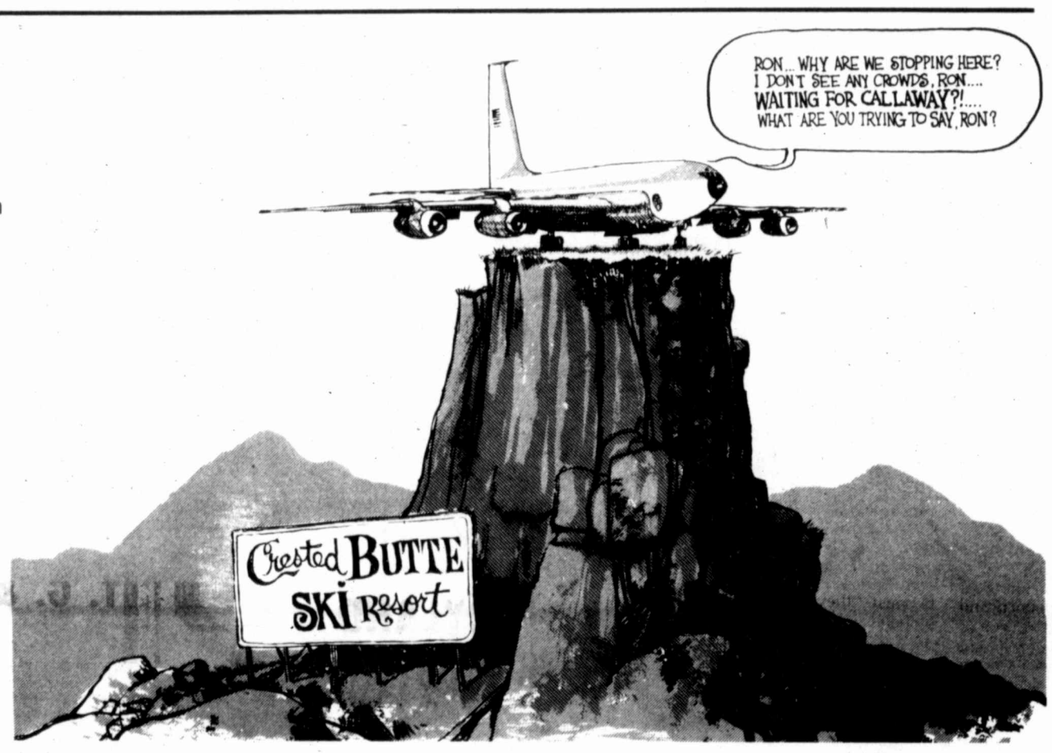

Apparently, the conflict didn't bother the committee members. BANKPAC chief William Glassford acknowledged to our associate Bob Owens: "I don't know anybody who has turned us down."

The House Banking Committee is supposed to protect the public, but many committee members seem to work for the bankers.

MISSING AMERICANS — At least nine American citizens are still missing in Cyprus. The State Department has admitted privately that they are probably casualties of the bloody 1974 Turkish invasion.

THERE IS SUSPICION that at least one 17-year-old American youth died in a Turkish prison after he was kidnapped from his home in Cyprus. The Turkish-Cypriot soldiers allegedly ignored the U.S. passports which the family produced.

"Our embassies in Ankara and Nicosia have given top priority to these remaining cases, but, unfortunately, we have not been successful in clarifying their status."

'Where can I invest retirement money?'

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — An inequity of the federal income tax system that denied many wage-earners a tax shelter for their retirement funds has been at least partially corrected, but many eligible workers have failed to respond to the change.

Beginning last year, wager earners not covered by a qualified private or government retirement plan — excluding Social Security and Railroad Retirement — became eligible to establish their own Individual Retirement Accounts.

Those who do so are allowed to deduct up to 15 per cent from their gross taxable income to a yearly maximum of $1,500. Taxes are deferred until retirement, when brackets are lower. Taxes are then applied only as the money is used.

For tax purposes, IRAs thus offer wage-earners who are not enrolled in a group plan some of the same tax benefits as those who are. Only a small percentage, however, have taken advantage of IRAs, perhaps because of a lack of understanding.

Here are some commonly asked questions at seminars conducted by the American Bankers Association. Answers were provided mainly by Earl E. McGuire, Jr., vice president of the Bank of Asheville, N.C., and chairman of the ABA's IRA Workshop Committee.

—For IRA purposes, what is considered income?

Income for this purpose includes salaries, wages, fees and tips. It excludes interest, rentals, royalties and alimony. Generalizing it is money currently earned with the sweat of one's brow.

—Where can I invest retirement money?

In any or all of the following: savings plans in banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions; in trust accounts invested in stocks and bonds; annuities and endowment insurance policies; mutual funds U.S. Retirement Bonds.

An individual may have more than one IRA account, but the total invested cannot exceed $1,500 in one year, or 10 per cent of income, whichever is less.

—Are there restrictions on use of the funds?

Stiff ones. You cannot withdraw money before age 59½ without a tax penalty and distribution must begin by age 70½.

A difficult disease

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been told by my urologist that I have interstitial cystitis. I go into the hospital about every eight months for a cystoscopy and stretching of the bladder.

I am told there is no cure for this condition. I have to get up many times during the night and I have pain with this. I am 56 years old, and wonder how much worse it can get. I haven't been able to find any information on this type of bladder disease, and I would appreciate whatever you can give me. — Mrs. M.D.

This is an inflammation of the urinary bladder in which the entire thickness of the bladder wall is affected. The lesion associated with the problem is called Hunner's ulcer after the American surgeon, Guy Leroy Hunner, who described it. The pain you experience is a symptom of the ulceration.

The cause of chronic interstitial cystitis is unclear, and it is a most difficult condition to identify. The main problem, besides the pain and the frequency of urination, is eventual diminished bladder volume caused by a shrinkage in the bladder wall.

The periodic distention is an attempt to increase the volume, and this is about the only known therapy. The ulcer tends to heal only superficially and often becomes a chronic condition. Middle-aged women are most prone to develop this troublesome disorder.

It is difficult to say how much worse it will become. That it was identified and therapy was begun are factors on your side, however, You will have to continue your distention sessions and be careful to report other symptoms (such as bleeding) to your urologist.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have arthritis in my knees. It is very painful and hard for me to get around. My doctor asked me to think about knee replacement. I am 75, but in good health otherwise. How successful is this surgery? — Mrs. W.L.L.

Arthroplasty (reconstructive surgery to repair damaged arthritis joints) is a relative newcomer on the surgical scene. Hip joint replacement is quite successful. My surgical reference indicates that knee replacement is a newer procedure with great promise.

The post-operative period of inactivity, required in most procedures of this type, is quite important to the degree of success. This is why elderly patients make better candidates than younger ones. Briefly, in such surgery, artificial components of the damaged joint are attached to the bone with a special substance (acrylic cement).

The whole field of arthroplasty is expanding and offering new hope for severely crippled arthritics in selected cases. I recently met one patient who had finger joint replacement. She was knitting.

Your orthopedic surgeon would be able to advise you further as to the degree of success to be expected in your individual case. My booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis," is a helpful guide in further understanding other aspects of this problem. If you would like a copy, send 35 cents to me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for return mail.

Making deadlock

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Gov. Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown of California may soon end months of calculated suspense by deciding to enter the state's Democratic presidential primary — responding to appeals from his liberal supporters. Liberals, passionately against Sen. Henry M. Jackson, are not the only Californians anxious for Brown to enter the June 8 primary. Backers of Sen. Hubert Humphrey, whose chances entirely depend on a convention deadlock, are pushing Brown to prevent California's huge delegation from helping put any frontrunner over the top.

THANKS TO HIS immense popularity, Brown might well win 170 out of California's 280 delegates despite the new proportional representation rules that ended the state's old winner-take-all system. That many delegates not only would throw down the frontrunners but give Brown unique bargaining power at Madison Square Garden next summer. Filing deadline for a Brown-led delegation is March 26.

Actually, Brown's left-wing backers — not diminished in their loyalty by the governor's fiscal conservatism — were initially urging him to run in order to block Gov. George Wallace in California long before they perceived a threat from Jackson. Jackson's victory in Massachusetts March 2, however, intensified their urgency. Stanley Sheinbaum, a rich intellectual active in Southern California left-wing politics, has been particularly active in privately pressing Brown.

Pressure from the Humphreyites is more public. The call for Brown to run which came from state AFL-CIO secretary-treasurer John Henning is universally recognized as a Humphrey move. So is last week's statement by campaign consultant Joe Cerrell, manager of Humphrey's 1972 primary campaign in California, that Brown should run to stop Wallace.

BUT BROWN has also received similar advice from close associates whose principal interest is neither anti-Jackson nor pro-Humphrey. He has long been urged to run by former Democratic national committeeman Stephen Reinhardt who believes a California primary win would enhance Brown's prospects for a place on the 1976 national ticket.

CUBANS BEDDING DOWN

Intelligence reports that Cuban wives are now joining their army husbands in far-off Angola, at first treated with skepticism here, are now being taken deadly seriously for the first time — an ominous indication of Fidel Castro's long-term intentions for his Cuban Africa corps.

Although exactly how many is not known, families of Cuban "advisers" to the new pro-Soviet government of Angola have been flying to southern Africa in large enough numbers to make secrecy impossible.

Indeed, information available in the Ford administration does not rule out the possibility that the women may not be limited to wives of Cuban "advisers" — the earliest batch of Castro's men who went to Angola. They were followed later by front-line units of his regular army. Thus, the wives may also include wives of the army regulars.

THIS NEW development reinforces a growing conviction at high levels here that Prime Minister Castro is no longer fearful about political or military repercussions from his dangerous African game, which now may be shifting to Rhodesia. With wives moving in, Castro obviously plans, to keep at least some Cuban military men in Africa for a long time.

A footnote: Castro stripped his military leadership of some of its highest officials for duty in Angola with his 12,000 to 14,000 Cuban troops, including the chief of staff of the armed forces ministry and the vice minister of the interior.

DOBRYNIN'S FLU

Although the prospect for a new strategic arms limitation agreement (SALT II) has been less than even for the last two months, the severe illness of Soviet Ambassador Anatoliy F. Dobrynin is delaying even further another negotiating trip to Moscow by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. Odds on such a Kissinger trip this spring are now well under 50-50.

DOBRYNIN RETURNED to Moscow for last month's Communist party congress, with every intention of coming back to Washington immediately after the congress ended. It was assumed here that he would bring the Soviet response to the latest American SALT plan, to be followed by a probable Kissinger trip to Moscow.

Posed for women, not men

Fireman sues for nude photos

MIAMI (AP) — Bill Cashman, a fireman, says he didn't mind posing nude for a centerfold in a magazine for women who like men. But he's got a $2-million objection to use of the picture by a magazine for men who like men.

Cashman, 26, said Wednesday he decided to pose nude for Playgirl magazine "as a grin. I figured, what the hell, if they wanted to use me, I'd do it."

But he said when one of the pictures showed up in a promotional brochure for Blueboy, the fun began to wear off.

"The whole thing has gotten out of hand," said Cashman. "I thought I'd get a lot of laughs out of it (Playgirl). I figured I could meet a few stray chicks through it."

Then one of the shots — from Blueboy — was tacked to the firehouse wall and labeled "Station Two pinup of the month."

"Right away people think I'm gay," Cashman said.

It was about then Cashman went into circuit court against photographer David Vance and Blueboy, a Miami-based magazine.

Cashman said in the lawsuit that he has been "embarrassed, ridiculed, held up to public scorn and shame and suffered a loss of income and a loss of earning capacity" because of the Blueboy brochures.

He said readers of Blueboy and the brochures "would naturally associate" him with people of "aberrant sexual behavior."

Cashman said that when Vance took the pictures in 1973, the agreement was to use the poses-in-the-buff only in Playgirl and in a photographer's book of nudes Vance was compiling.

He said Playgirl editors contacted him after getting Vance's photos and "wanted to use me as a centerfold model, but they wanted to shoot their own pictures." He said he earned $700 from Playgirl and appeared under the assumed name of Bill Douglas.

But he said photos in the other publications have caused problems — like the modeling assignment for a National Dairy Association commercial that fell through because "they needed a red-blooded, all-American type guy."

An attorney for Blueboy said Cashman's suit is "wholly without merit" and would be challenged. Vance would only say that Cashman can "allege whatever he wants."

"I wish the whole thing never happened," said Cashman.

Energy for agriculture theme of SPD meeting

LUBBOCK — Energy for agriculture will be the theme of the annual meeting of the South Plains Development Program set for Tuesday, Mar. 30, at South Park Inn in Lubbock.

Discussions will center around current problems, trends and future outlook associated with the supply and demand for energy in agriculture.

Heading the lineup of speakers will be representatives of Southwestern Public Service Company, Lighthouse Electric Cooperative, Pioneer Natural Gas Company and Exxon Oil Company, plus the associate director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The South Plains Development Program (SPD), is a volunteer organization composed of members of county program building committee members and resource persons from throughout the South Plains.

The one-day meeting will include a morning session beginning at 10 a.m. in which task forces for cotton, feed grains, swine and family living will convene, and an afternoon session getting underway at 1:15 which includes a special panel on energy.

According to Billy C. Gunter, district agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the annual meeting brings together agriculture leaders to review progress of South Plains agriculture and how current problems and needs should be met.

Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, associate director for the Extension Service at College Station, will provide the opening address entitled "Texas Agriculture — A Proud Achievement." Marvin Sartin, area Extension economist in farm management, Lubbock, will discuss the role of pump efficiency in reducing irrigation costs. He will be followed by the four-member panel on "Energy for Agriculture — Current Problems and Future Outlook" Moderating the panel will be Lee Roy Colgan, Dawson County Extension agent.

Panel members will include Bill Helton, manager of industrial development, Southwestern Public Service Company, Amarillo; Alton Higginbotham, manager of Lighthouse Electric Cooperative, Floydada; Harry Walden, vice president of Pioneer Natural Gas Company, Amarillo; and Charles Wyatt, distributor relations coordinator of Exxon Oil Company, Dallas.

The gathering of agricultural industry officials, businessmen and guests will hear a presentation of food prices by Dr. William J. Vastine, Extension Service economist from College Station.

The afternoon portion of the event will be chaired by S. M. True of Plainview, chairman of the SPD program.

The feed grain task force is a newly formed entity of SPD, reflecting the increasing importance of corn and sorghum in the South Plains area.

BBB, phone company announce ad program

A program designed to maintain the Yellow Pages as an accurate and reliable shopping guide for consumers has been jointly developed by the Permian Basin Better Business Bureau and Southwestern Bell.

The program consists of a variety of ways to maintain Yellow Pages' advertising and listings as factual, complete and dependable, according to Allen L. Beatty, President of the BBB.

"We have worked with the phone company to develop a system for those consumers who have a complaint about one of the firms advertising in the Yellow Pages," Beatty said. "If a consumer calls the Better Business Bureau, a complaint form is sent to him, to be filled out and returned to the local bureau for handling. Or consumers can call the telephone company directly."

Beatty said that Southwestern Bell is also making available to civic groups a public talk and film, which outlines Yellow Pages' advertising policies and steps being taken by the Telephone Company to guard the public against fraudulent or misleading ads and listings in the Directory.

Ken R. Jacob, division directory sales manager for Southwestern Bell, said that the company has reviewed Yellow Pages advertising for many years.

"And we'll continue to make sure listings and advertising claims are as honest and accurate as possible," he explained.

"However, with the help of the Better Business Bureau, more attention can be given to each customer's complaint about questionable advertising claims," Jacob said.

"We want the public to use the Yellow Pages as a shopping guide they can rely on and have complete confidence in," Jacob said.

Loraine farmer sues herbicide company

LORAINE — Royce Mahon, a Loraine farmer, has filed suit for more than $12,000, claiming his crop failure was caused by use of an herbicide.

Defendant in the suit is the Indiana-based Elanco Treflan Co., a weed-control chemical.

The suit was originally filed in 32nd District Court in Colorado City but was transferred to Federal District Court in Abilene.

In the suit, Mahon is claiming that he put Treflan on 50 acres of his land in March, 1974, then planted cotton in May. Then, a year later, he claimed he planted a hybrid sorghum seed crop, noting the herbicide directions which said that no sorghum or oats should be sown until 12 months after the Treflan was applied.

Mahon said that some of his crops died and growth of the remaining plants was retarded, although the sorghum was planted 14 months after the Treflan was applied. The suit said he contacted an Elanco representative who told him to replant the crop.

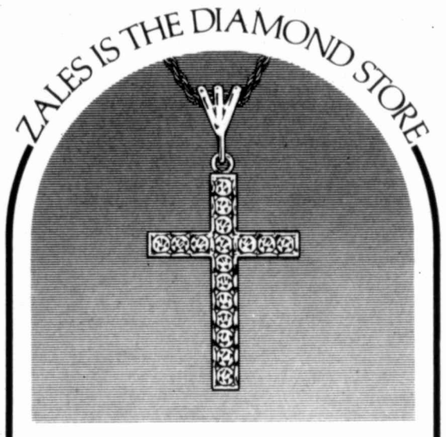

Mahon stated he did this, but alleged the crop failed again. He estimated his loss at $12, 878.

New trial upcoming

Carter wants out now

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Former middleweight boxing contender Rubin "Hurricane" Carter says nine years in prison is enough and he should be released immediately — now that the New Jersey Supreme Court has overturned his triple murder conviction.

"If I am bitter, then I have a right to be bitter," Carter declared at a news conference Wednesday at the Clinton State Prison. He had just learned of the high court's order granting Carter and codefendant John Artis a new trial.

In a unanimous 7 to 0 ruling, the court said Carter, 38, and Artis, 30, were denied a fair trial because the prosecution did not reveal promises of leniency it gave to two key witnesses whose testimony placed the defendants at the murder scene.

Immediately after the court announced its decision, Burrell Ives Humphreys, the Passaic County prosecutor, said Carter and Artis would be retried for the fatal shooting of three persons in a Paterson, N.J., tavern June 17, 1966.

Myron Beldock, Carter's attorney, said a bail hearing has been scheduled next Wednesday in Paterson. With the court's ruling, Beldock said Carter and Artis should be presumed innocent and released, Carter from Clinton and Artis from Leesburg State Prison.

"Regardless of the opinion of the state's highest court, I am in prison illegally," Carter told reporters. "What you are seeing is a person who has been raped for 9½ years for crimes I did not, would not and could not commit."

If he is retried, Carter said, he would be found innocent.

Wednesday's ruling was the second in the Carter-Artis case. The court had upheld the convictions in 1969.

In reversing its position, the court said prosecution promises to the two witnesses, Arthur D. Bradley and Alfred Bello, made at the time Carter and Artis were arrested but not revealed until 1974, should have been disclosed at the May 1967 trial.

The panel said, "The withholding of material evidence favorable to a defendant is a denial of due process," adding that when the credibility of a prosecution witness may help determine guilt or innocence "the jury is entitled to know."

The ruling focused on evidence that showed Bello and Bradley, facing criminal charges themselves in 1967, had been promised protection against possible retaliation for testifying against Carter and Artis. Bello was also promised that the prosecution would not act against him in two potential criminal cases.

Carter called on Gov. Brendan T. Byrne to release him immediately by executive order. An aide to Byrne said the governor considered the bail question and Carter's possible release from jail "clearly within the province of the courts." The governor is a former judge.

Social Security schedule

A schedule of visits by a representative of the Big Spring Social Security Office has been set up for area cities for the months of April, May and June.

The representative can be consulted from 10 a.m. through 12 noon and from 1 p.m. until 2 p.m. each Tuesday on the third floor of the courthouse in Snyder during that period.

The agent will visit the Chamber of Commerce office in Colorado City from 10 a.m. until 12 noon each Wednesday. The schedule calls for stops in the Senior Citizens Center in Lamesa from 10 a.m., until 12 noon and again from 1 p.m., until 2 p.m., each Thursday during the 90-day period.

In addition, the Social Security representative will be at the county courthouse in Stanton Monday, April 26, Monday, May 24, and Monday, June 28, from 2 to 3 p.m.

Hearst trial ends

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst's final gesture of defiance, two days after her capture, was the last evidence her jury heard as testimony in her eight-week-old bank robbery trial came to a dramatic end. "Gentlemen, the evidence is closed," U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter said Wednesday after the government played for the jury a profanity-tinted jailhouse recording between Miss Hearst and a childhood friend.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Forty-one persons were reported killed and 37 wounded in fighting during the night between Moslem and Christian private armies as Lebanon's feuding politicians reported they had reached tentative agreement on another Syrian peace plan. Mortar and rocket explosions kept much of Beirut's population awake throughout the night as leftist Moslem and right-wing Christian militiamen dueled in the city's devastated hotel district.

Reagan shaken by defeat

Church joins Democratic race

By The Associated Press

Ronald Reagan, his challenge to President Ford shaken by a fifth straight setback, was in North Carolina today to prepare for the next of the primary elections, while Democrats — also gearing up for North Carolina — prepare for a new contender.

Sen. Frank Church summoned backers to the mountain mining town of Idaho City today to enter the run for the Democratic nomination. Church, noting his late start, compared his campaign to the race of the tortoise against the hare.

"Like I'm doing, he started slowly but came on strong to win," the Idaho senator declared.

Church joins seven major contenders for the Democratic nomination, including California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr., who got into the race last week.

Alabama Gov. George Wallace, whose campaign for the Democratic nomination — like Reagan's on the Republican side — has been staggered by early primary losses, was on the stump in North Carolina Wednesday, ahead of the others.

Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter was due in the state today. He has defeated Wallace in primaries in Florida and, on Tuesday, in Illinois. However, he trailed Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona and Wallace in Massachusetts.

The two Southerners are on the Democratic ballot in North Carolina along with Jackson, Udall, former Oklahoma Sen. Fred Harris and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas. Bentsen dropped out of the presidential race several weeks ago.

For Jackson and Udall, however, April 6 primaries in New York and Wisconsin are getting the emphasis.

New finance law allows fake presidential campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new campaign financing law is making it possible for advocates of a cause to spread their message with federal money under the guise of a presidential campaign.

One person expected to take advantage of the law is Reed G. Larson, executive vice president of the National Right to Work Committee, who says he is planning to enter the race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Larson would be following the same strategy as Ellen McCormack, a Long Island housewife who is campaigning in the Democratic primaries with federal matching funds to promote efforts to end legal abortion.

"We've been thinking about it ever since she qualified for the funds," Larson said Wednesday. "If she can take advantage of the law and use it to focus attention on a specific issue, why can't we?"

The right-to-work committee, a conservative lobbying group with headquarters in nearby Fairfax, Va., has been a strong opponent of organized labor principally in the fight against the union shop, in which workers are required to join a union.

To finance its operations, the committee raises millions of dollars through computerized appeals to its growing list of donors.

With this experience, Larson and his associates apparently would have little difficulty raising the money needed to qualify for federal matching funds from the Federal Election Commission.

Larson acknowledges that while he is unlikely to "get very many votes in any primary," a presidential campaign "will give us a platform to articulate our opposition to compulsory unionism."

He said all of the Democratic candidates support the union shop and are using federal funds to spread their views. "So maybe it's time somebody spoke out in favor of the right to work," said the 53-year-old Larson.

Oil imports exceed U.S. production

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States last week imported more oil than it produced for the first time in history even though Americans are demanding less oil now than they did before the Arab oil embargo.

The figures, released Wednesday by the American Petroleum Institute and confirmed by the Federal Energy Administration, show domestic production continuing a six-year decline and U.S. imports rising to record levels to meet demands that nevertheless are two million barrels per day below their peak level before the 1973 embargo.

Imports have been rising since the end of the embargo in early 1974 and crept above the 8-million-barrels-a-day level last week for the first time ever. Domestic production has been declining steadily from its peak of over 9 million barrels a day, recorded in 1970.

The result is that although conservation efforts, recession and mild winter weather since 1973 have lessened the amount of oil Americans use, the United States is more dependent on foreign oil sources than it was when the embargo was imposed.

The industry institute said total imports last week rose to 8,196,000 barrels a day. Domestic production, meanwhile, came to 8,013,500 last week, the API said.

Imports now comprise 45 per cent of the oil used in the United States. Last year, they accounted for 30 per cent, the API said.

Americans may be free and equal but
COTTONSEED IS NOT.

There is nothing free about cotton seed. Even ordinary cotton planting seed costs money. Good seed costs a little more.

And all cottonseed isn't equal. There are two varieties of cotton planting seed that stand out from the crowd. They are the product of years of research by two of the most respected firms in Southwest cotton. The seed for each variety is produced under the most exacting quality control. Depending on your land, one of them is a superior variety for your particular farm. They are:

LANKART® BRAND LX 571

It is an excellent, storm-proof, stripper variety capable of high yields of long, strong fiber with good micronaire ratings. It has good seedling vigor and matures somewhat earlier than the famous Lankart Selection 57. It is highly recommended for the dryland areas of Texas and Oklahoma.

LOCKETT® BRAND BXL

Lockett BXL has excellent resistance to nematodes and fusarium wilt. It has high yield potential of quality fiber on all types of soils either dry or irrigated. It has staple length in the 1" and longer range with storm-proof type bolls. It is an excellent stripper variety well-adapted to this area and is especially recommended for the light soils where fusarium wilt-nematode complex causes heavy losses.

"CERTIFIED" SEED WORTH THE MONEY

The only way you can be sure you're planting the variety you select is to buy certified seed in the Lankart or Lockett trademarked bag. You can get them from your ginner.

ABWA chapter marks 16th anniversary

The Cactus chapter of the American Business Women's Association celebrated its 16th anniversary Monday evening with a dinner meeting at the Western Sizzler Steakhouse.

Invocation and Pledge of Allegiance were given by Mrs. Wanda Petty.

Col. Ralph Brooks, manager of Blum's Jewelry, was the guest speaker. Col. Brooks commented on the pending closure of Webb Air Force Base. A question and answer period followed.

Col. Brooks' topic for the program was "Know Your Jewelry." He remarked that gold, silver and platinum were the most common metals used to mount gems. He said that 14 carat gold is the most commonly used metal because of its wearing qualities.

He said that most metals used are mixtures of alloys for durability.

Col. Brooks also explained the qualities of diamonds.

Ms. Lee Hans was featured as vocational speaker. She has had 15 years experience in real estate and is presently employed by Home Realty Co.

Ms. Delois Thomas was appointed chairman for the annual membership tea slated March 28. The tea will be held in the First Federal Community Room. Members discussed plans for the tea. Ms. Thomas stated that invitations will be mailed.

Charter members honored during the anniversary celebration included Ms. Sibyl Horne, Ms. Charlotte Tippy, Ms. Eunice Hickson, Ms. Lee Hans and Ms. Esther Trantham.

Roundup royalty pageant set

Miss Diamondback will preside at all the Roundup activities and during the evening entertainment planned by the Jaycees and Jaycee-Ettes.

The girls will compete in a poise and personality contest.

Women explain proper use of maps

Mrs. Paul Shedy and Mrs. Leon Kinney gave an informative program on travel and the proper way to use a road map during the Monday evening meeting of the Desk and Derrick Club.

Mrs. Kinney hosted the meeting in her home with Mrs. Alma Gollnick as cohostess.

A covered dish supper preceded the meeting. Mrs. Leslie Green played pre-dinner music.

Mrs. W. E. Barnett, vice president, presided at the business meeting. Miss Kay McDaniel was elected delegate and Miss Ollene McShan alternate to the regional seminar to be held in Abilene on April 23-25. Other members were encouraged to attend.

Mrs. Shedy and Mrs. Kinney gave the program "Listen America, you have a beautiful country to see!" Mrs. Kinney read a brief explanation for the recent drop in gasoline prices, stating that refineries had to make more heating oil for the winter, thus pumping out gasoline as a by-product into a stockpile that already was bulging. They suggested seeing America, and particularly the beautiful state of Texas, as a good way to reduce the surplus.

Mrs. Shedy stated, "Oil companies (Gulf started it all) are leaders in providing some $35 million worth of maps annually to promote tourism by helping motorists get from one place to another with a minimum of trouble. The maps are a gold-mine of information; nevertheless, drivers get lost, and on dark rainy nights a map can seem a blueprint of confusion."

She offered suggestions for getting the maximum benefit from the road map. The first suggestion was to become familiar with the Interstate Highway numbering system, remembering that Interstate Highway numbers increase west to east and south to north. On highways with one and two digits the even numbers are for east-west routes; odd numbers are for north-south routes. On the 3-digit highway routes around or through cities, the first digit is even, as in Highway 696. If it is a spur into the city, the first digit is odd as in 535. She gave tips for reading the map, suggested buying a compass, and told of some games the whole family can play with the map while traveling.

She pointed out that with costs spiraling, some oil industry officials are wondering privately if they can afford to continue to supply maps free; so for now we should take only the maps we need, but make good use of them.

As an added incentive to the week-end vacationer in Texas, Mrs. Shedy presented a slide series of "Wild Flowers of Texas" prepared by the visual aids section in the Department of Agricultural Communications at Texas A&M University. They also distributed literature supplied by the Texas Highway Department.

The next meeting will be held on April 19.

Woman honored at baby shower

Mrs. Gary Bradbury attended a baby shower Tuesday evening in her honor. Mrs. T. H. McCann hosted the shower in her home.

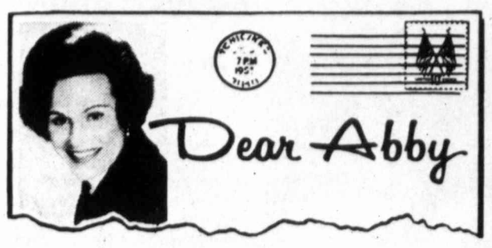

Other hostesses were Mrs. Bob Dean, Mrs. Skipper Driver, Mrs. Eddie Eastman, Mrs. Jerry Phillips, Mrs. Charles Sweeney and Mrs. Larry Willard.

Mrs. Bradbury was presented with a corsage of baby booties. Gifts were placed in a yellow bassinet as guests registered in the baby book.

The hostesses gave Mrs. Bradbury the baby book and a diaper bag.

The refreshment table was laid with a yellow cloth. The table arrangement was a golden cherub supporting a crystal compote filled with yellow spring blossoms centered by a yellow candle.

Mrs. Ron Plumlee of Midland was a special guest.

Readers suggest ways to address mixed company

DEAR READERS: Well, here we go again! A secretary requested a practical salutation for business letters to offices in which both men and women work. Obviously, the traditional "Dear Sirs" and "Gentlemen" are now out of date.

Some readers have submitted the following suggestions.

DEAR ABBY: How about "Greetings!" I borrowed that idea from Uncle Sam who used it extensively to draft men during World War II.

J.L. IN OAKLAND, CALIF.

DEAR J.L.: Sorry, the "Greetings" salutation would never catch on. We'd have "old soldiers" fainting all over the place.

DEAR ABBY: The Romans knew what they were doing. They never would have risked insulting the powerful women behind the successful men by excluding them, so they used the salutation, "Lectori Salutem," which means "Hail to the reader!"

CORRY H.

DEAR CORRY: Hail no! Most Americans have enough trouble with English!

DEAR ABBY: During a meeting I brought up the question about salutations that was raised in your column, and a lawyer sitting next to me came up with the ideal solution. Why not "Gentleperson"?

I like the idea and plan to start using it immediately.

CLERGYMAN: INDIANA, PA.

DEAR ABBY: What's the matter with a straightforward, friendly "Howdy"?

FORT WORTH

DEAR FORT: Not worth much—outside of Texas.

DEAR ABBY: Re your column concerning salutation to groups: In the business and management seminars given by the University of California at Berkeley, we are suggesting that this problem be handled by omitting both salutation and the closing ("Sincerely," etc.), ending the letter as I have done below.

SUCCESSFUL DAY — Mrs. Walter Wheat, president of the West Texas Republican Women is shown with Mrs. Lamar Green, Mrs. Harold Bull and Mrs. Floyd Mays at the successful fund raising event held this week at the KC Steak House. CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS
Brought to you by Ted Hatfield

SPRING CLEANING and refurbishing is an old tradition around this time of year . . . when the house gets a new coat of paint where it's needed, draperies and furniture cleaned or recovered where that's feasible . . . and the old carpet gets some thoughtful attention.

One of the wisest small expenses is a regular annual cleaning for your good carpets, either professionally or, if you want to do it yourself for savings, with rented shampoo equipment.

Stains and soil not only dim the luster of your carpet and spoil its appearance, they are also an enemy of wear. Ground in dirt especially has an abrasive action, attacking the fibers and the backing.

Most homeowners are amazed to see what a startling difference in their faded carpet a really good cleaning makes. Today's fine carpets are made to keep their color clarity and brilliance and to clean easily. So vacuum often, spot clean as needed, and be sure to make them look and feel like new with a thorough cleaning annually.

And if your spring-time sparking up means it's time for a new carpet, be sure to come in and see our great new Spring selection in all the newest colors, patterns and textures . . . at prices to please your budget.

4-H Food Show proves good cooks come in all ages

Good cooks come in many shapes, sizes and ages. Eight girls proved to judges that they were exceptional cooks during the Howard County 4-H Food Show held Saturday at the Dora Roberts Fair Barn.

A total of 20 4-H members entered the competition in either the junior or senior division. They entered foods in one of four categories: main dish, side dish, breads and desserts or snacks and beverages.

Ms. Elinor Harvey and Ms. Janis Choate, county extension agents from Gaines and Mitchell counties respectively, judged the dishes on taste, appearance, food quality and the manner in which they were served. The judges also reviewed the contestants' knowledge of nutrition.

The eight winners will compete in a district food show March 27 in Monahans.

Kathy Harrell of the Just For Fun 4-H Club was the senior division alternate.

Alternates in the junior division were Carmen Holman, Robin Ethridge and Brandy Bayes.

Others representing their clubs were Louis Shive, Shellie Paterson, Stacy Swann, Kristi Franklin, Billy Wegner, Tanya Hollis, Dwain Fox and Dawn Underwood.

Donna James must be a bread expert. She has won the breads division for five years. Her recipe for Pioneer Oatmeal Bread won in this year's senior breads and desserts division.

Donna currently belongs to the Coahoma 4-H Club. She has been a 4-H member for eight years.

PIONEER OATMEAL BREAD
By Donna James

- 5 to 5½ c. unsifted flour
- 1½ tsps. salt
- 1 package yeast
- 1-1-3rd c. water
- ¼ c. milk
- ¼ c. molasses
- ¼ c. (¼ stick) margarine
- 1 egg (at room temperature)
- 1 c. steel cut or old fashioned oatmeal

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1 cup flour, salt and undissolved yeast.

Combine water, milk, molasses and margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are very warm (120-130 degrees). Margarine does not need to melt. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add egg, oatmeal and ½ cup flour. Beat at high speed two minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough flour to make a stiff dough.

Turn out into lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down. Proceed according to directions below for desired shape.

Round loaves: Divide dough in half. Shape each half into a smooth round ball. Place on a greased baking sheet. Flatten slightly. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake at 400 degrees 25 to 30 minutes, or until done. Remove from baking sheet and place on wire rack.

Rolls: Divide dough in half; divide each half into 12 equal pieces. Form each piece into a pencil-shaped 9-inch rope. Hold one end of dough firmly and wind dough loosely around; tuck end underneath. Place on a greased baking sheet. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake at 375 about 15 minutes or until done. Remove from baking sheet and cool on wire racks.

Amount: Makes 2 round loaves or 2-8½x2½ inch loaves or 24 rolls.

DENVER, Colo. — Pro rodeo cowboys enjoyed a good week, hitting three major rodeos across the country with combined prize money of more than $122,000. Twenty-eight contestants won more than $1,000 apiece.

The three Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association contests included the Phoenix, Ariz., Jaycees rodeo, the San Angelo, Tex., Stock Show rodeo, and the Southeastern Livestock Exposition rodeo in Montgomery, Ala. Phoenix and San Angelo rodeos wound up Sunday; Montgomery ended Saturday.

Biggest single winner was Barry Burk, the seven-time runnerup for the world championship in calf roping. Burk, of Duncan, Okla., won first in the calf roping average at Phoenix, and also placed at San Angelo for $2,609.

Other Phoenix winners included Roy Carter of Crockett, Tex., first in bull riding for $2,169; Paul Hughes of Olney Springs, Colo., $2,364 in steer wrestling; and Scotty Platts of Lyman, Wyo., $1,717 in bareback riding. Monty Henson, 1975 saddle bronc champ from Mesquite, Tex., split top money in this event with John Forbes of Kaycee, Wyo. Each won $1,538.

All around and team roping champ Leo Camarillo, and his cousin, Reg Camarillo, both of Oakdale, Calif., won first in team roping for $1,609 each. Six-time all around champ Larry Mahan of Dallas, Tex., was slightly injured when he hung up to a bull at the rodeo.

New $2 bills will feature portrait of Thomas Jefferson

When the Federal Reserve System issues a new $2 note April 13, a legacy from the birth of this nation will come alive again.

The two-dollar denomination has a rich tradition in American history, dating from 1776, when the Continental Congress issued two-dollar "bills of credit for the defense of America."

The two-dollar denomination was designated an official part of the nation's currency by an act of Congress during the Civil War. Since that time, it has appeared as U.S. notes, silver certificates, Treasury notes, national bank currencies and Federal Reserve notes. Portraits on the bills have featured, among others, George Washington and Alexander Hamilton.

The new $2 bills, series 1976 Federal Reserve notes, feature a portrait of Thomas Jefferson on the face plate. The issue on April 13 commemorates his birthday.

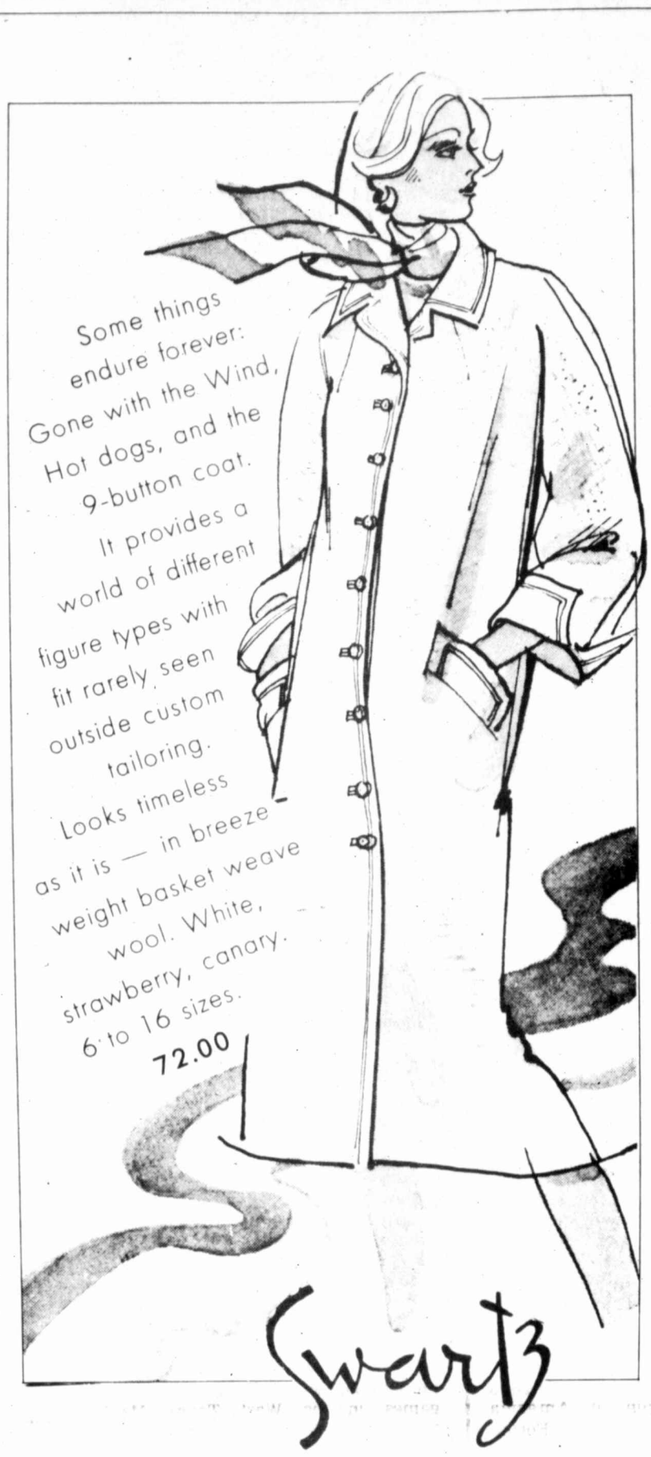

The reverse plate ties in with the Bicentennial, presenting a vignette of John Trumbull's famous post-Revolutionary War painting, "The Signing of the Declaration of Independence."

Two-dollar bills were last printed in 1965 and were discontinued in 1966. The new series, however, is seen as a permanent addition to currency in circulation.

SPRING IS HERE — For the baseball fans, the opening of spring training heralds spring. Here is the Philadelphia Phillies Jim Kent, traded from the Chicago White Sox, throwing as the camp opened today with 32 players.

All's right with the world

Baseball camps open

NEW YORK (AP) — Play ball!

That familiar cry of spring was finally sounded by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn Wednesday night and seconded by players union boss Marvin Miller, and if today's official start of spring training is some 2½ weeks late, the scheduled April 8 opening of the regular season seems assured.

From Florida to California, the 24 major league teams prepared to go to work in earnest today with only three weeks to prepare for the start of the game which seems in danger of being replaced as the so-called national pastime by court battles and labor disputes.

Thanks to Kuhn's dramatic decree ordering the owners to open the training camps "without further delay," baseball today comes out of the smoky, rhetoric-filled labor-management meeting rooms and into the sunlight where it belongs.

Most teams were expected to begin serious workouts today and at least one club official said the short-circuited exhibition season could get under way as soon as Sunday.

"I think this is a constructive step," Miller said when he returned to his New York home from Tampa, Fla., late Wednesday night and was informed of Kuhn's order.

Asked if this meant the season would open as scheduled April 8 with Houston at Cincinnati in the National League and New York at Milwaukee in the American, Miller replied:

"I think so. There's been no threat of a strike by the players. The whole thing has been an owners' lockout."

Kuhn's action came several hours after the executive board of the Major League Baseball Players Association, meeting in Tampa, again urged the opening of the camps and the resumption of the stalemated contract negotiations with the owners.

At the same time, the executive board declined to either accept or reject the owners' "best and final" contract offer of Monday.

"While nobody is more disappointed than I that we do not have solid progress to a final agreement, the fans are the most important people around and their interests now become paramount," Kuhn said. "Opening the camps and starting the season on time is what they want."

Just whup the Bruins at Pauley Pavilion, that's all

By The Associated Press

The Texas Tech-Missouri game will be televised locally on channel four KWAB, which is channel nine or 13 on Big Spring Cable. Game time is 6:00 CST.

Giving anything away to the UCLA Bruins can be costly. Giving them the homecourt advantage can be fatal.

The perennial NCAA basketball champions appear on the threshhold of another West Regional title this year, given the odds of a relatively weak field and the surroundings of cozy Pauley Pavilion in Los Angeles.

The fifth-ranked Bruins, who won 98 straight games at Pauley before a loss to Oregon late this season, are heavily favored against Pepperdine tonight in one of two West semifinal games. Nevada-Las Vegas takes on Arizona in the other.

"I'm happy to be home," said UCLA Coach Gene Bartow, whose Bruins took the Pacific-8 Conference title and won their way into the regional semis with an opening-round victory over San Diego State last Saturday.

The Bruins, perhaps not as strong as in previous seasons when they won 10 national championships in 12 years, will have an easier time getting out of the West than other teams in the far-flung NCAA playoffs.

The most powerful of the fields will be in the Mideast Regionals at Baton Rouge, La., where Indiana plays Alabama and Marquette faces Western Michigan. All four teams are ranked in the nation's Top Ten — No. 1 Indiana, No. 2 Marquette, No. 6 Alabama and No. 10 Western Michigan.

In the East, undefeated Rutgers, 29-0, seems to be the class of the field. The fourth-ranked Scarlet Knights play Connecticut and DePaul meets VMI at Greensboro, N.C. Rutgers, incidentally, can have the best single-season record in NCAA history by winning the national championship. If the surprising team from New Brunswick N.J., goes all the way, the Scarlet Knights will wind up with a 33-0 record, or one game better than North Carolina's national champions of 1957.

In the Midwest Regionals at Louisville, Ky., it's Notre Dame against Michigan and Missouri vs. Texas Tech.

An intriguing battle shapes up between two of the nation's best centers — Kent Benson of Indiana and Leon Douglas of Alabama. Both teams have speed and rebounding — so it will be power against power.

Marquette's edition this year is one of Al McGuire's best ever — a zone-breaking squad that shoots well from the outside, rebounds with authority and runs at breakneck speed. The Warriors are solid favorites over Western Michigan, a club that won the Mid-American Conference outright for the first time in more than two decades.

Notre Dame, ranked seventh in the nation, rates as a slim favorite in the Midwest. The Irish, led by Adrian Dantley, got into the regional semifinals by edging Cincinnati on a lastsecond basket after the Bearcats, who had all but won the game, made their costliest turnover of the season.

Midland bowler has 1907

GRAIND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP) — Tom Menge, who has not made a cent in seven previous tournaments, took the third-round lead Wednesday in the $100,000 Bowling Proprietors Association of America (BPAA) Open at Forum Bowl.

In only his second year on the Professional Bowlers Association (PBA) tour, the Cleveland pro brought his 24-game total pinfall to 5209, a 217 average.

That placed him 11 pins ahead of defending champion Steve Neff of Sarasota, Fla. Behind Neff's 5198 came Dennis Lane, Kingsport, Tenn., 5151; Bob McGegor, Dallas, Tex., 5146, and Frank Huspen, River Grove, Ill., 5144.

In eight-place, 83 pins behind Neff starting the final round before the cut, Menge came through with 180-222-216-244-203-213-210-245 for a 1733 while Neff totalled 1639 in the final block to make up the difference.

But the biggest move of the day was made by John Denton, Midland, Tex. He fired the tourney's high block, a 1907, which included a four-game set of 257-256-268-257, to leap from 141st to a tie with John Wilcox, Montoursville, Pa., for 16th at 5051.

The Invaders and Cabot win opening night games

The Midland Invaders and Cabot Corporation won the opening round games in the West Texas Men's Basketball Tournament Wednesday night being held for contributions to the March of Dimes at the Howard College gym.

Mitchell pumped through 26 points to lead the Midland Invaders past Webb Federal Credit Union 65-59 in the opening game last night. Burton and Johnson also cracked double figures with 14 and 13 respectively.

Webb had a balanced attack with its top four scorers within four points of each other. Marshall was high with 15, Stripling had 14, Ridiger 12 and Wilson 11.

John Thomas Smith, on term break from North Texas State, was high man for the first night's proceedings with 30 points as he led Cabot Corporation over Berkley Homes 89-73. Edwards had 12 and Brown and Harris each had 10.

Ted Smith led the losers with 25 points. Pullman and Schuelke followed with 16 and 13.

Tommy Walker and Louie Smith co-tournament directors have everything running smoothly. They reported Willie Williams, on break from Austin College, will play for State National tonight.

NCS coach wants no part of the Wizards of Charlotte

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the solid gold shows in New York these days is "The Wiz," a modern version of that old movie classic, "The Wizard of Oz."

The story involves a girl who is swept away in a root-lifting Kansas twister and finds herself in an odd, picturesque land chasing a rainbow and finding a magical wizard who makes her dreams come true.

If there's anything symbolic attached to it, the North Carolina-Charlotte basketball team went to see it Wednesday night. The 49ers are chasing rainbows, too — in the National Invitation Tournament title.

"This has been a dream come true for me," said Lee Rose, whose 49ers meet North Carolina State tonight in an NIT semifinal game. "I'm so shook up I can't eat."

After Providence and Kentucky play the opener of the semifinal doubleheader at Madison Square Garden, the Carolina neighbors will have their Civil War.

"It's really nothing personal, but I'd rather play anyone else in the world than North Carolina-Charlotte right now," said North Carolina State Coach Norm Sloan. "There's no way we can match their emotion. It isn't enough that UNC-Charlotte is a great team, that they're trying to make a name for themselves and that they want revenge from a loss to us earlier in the season. Now, their coach's wife wants the NIT championship for an anniversary present."

Sloan's remark, delivered deadpan at a press conference Wednesday, was in reference to a remark made kiddingly by Rose. The 49ers' coach joked that he had to win, "or my marriage would be dissolved. She wants the NIT for our anniversary present."

NFLPA pres. met owners to dissolve impasse

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Dick Anderson, president of the National Football League Players Association, met with the club owners today in a renewed effort to reach contractual agreement.

Anderson, defensive back for the Miami Dolphins, asked to make the appearance before the annual meeting of the NFL to discuss issues. Owners and players have not had a master contract for two years as disagreements continue over several issues.

In the impasse, the owners have ceased contributing to the players' pension fund and action has centered in the courts where players have achieved verdicts against the so-called Rozelle compensation rule.

Under its terms, a team which loses a player who plays out the option year of his contract and signs with another team is granted compensation from the signing club.

The rule is named for NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who awards the compensation. Players have argued they should be free to make individual deals when they play out their options.

During the coming season, referees throughout the league will be equipped with radio microphones for explaining their calls to fans in the stadium.

Use of the radio communication was done on an experimental basis at some games late in the 1975 series.

The owners on Wednesday voted three changes in the playing rules.

The official coin toss will be held three minutes before kickoff with the referee and team captains present. The toss will be live on the referee's microphone so fans will hear the dialogue from midfield.

In another move designed to aid the fans, the NFL will have time clocks in each end zone to show the 30 seconds in which an offensive team must get a play under way.

The clocks, four feet high and six feet wide with three foot numbers, will be the official timing device for the offensive team getting the ball in play.

The Aggies split a doubleheader with Illinois Wednesday at the Alamo City tournament, taking the first game 2-0 behind a four-hitter by Mark Thurmond but dropping th nightcap 7-1.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Central Michigan lost its first baseball game in Texas Wednesday, dropping a 6-4 decision to Texas Christian in the second game of a doubleheader after taking the opener game 8-2.

TCU is now 9-14 for the year. Central Michigan is 5-1.

Midland opens camp, ducat sales at peak

SCOTTSDALE — The Midland Cubs, under the direction of new manager Denny Sommers, began workouts in Scottsdale on March 16. The Cubs will play a 21-game spring training schedule beginning on March 23.

Among those under contract are Dan Corder, Dave Geisel, Steve Hamrick, Bill Huisman, Jose Ortiz, Mike Umfleet and Aaron Randall. Released along with Al Montreuil was Mike Weiss. Weiss was 3-7 last year and carried a 4.87 earned run average.

1975 saw the Midland Cubs win the Texas League Championship, creating a great deal of interest and enthusiasm for the professional baseball.

BECAUSE OF THAT interest, season ticket sales have reached an all-time high in Midland. At this writing the Cubs have sold over 630 season box seats, far surpassing any previous year. In the first four years here, the Cubs management (Bobby Adams, John Cox, Mike Patrick, Bill Johnson and Stoney Feeney) sold 577 (1972), 579 (1973), 584 (1974), and 567 (1975).

"I am really, really excited about the prospects for 1976," said Cubs GM Bill Rigney. "I set a goal of 600 season tickets when I took this job in January, anticipating an increase due to last year's championship. Now, I believe 700 is within reach. The business community and baseball fans are due a lot of credit. This is fantastic."

The Cubs will open defense of their Texas League Championship on April 14, in San Antonio. The first home game will be Tuesday, April 20, against Amarillo.

THE TEXAS LEAGUE lineup this year includes: West — Amarillo, El Paso, Midland and San Antonio; East — Arkansas, Jackson, Lafayette and Shreveport.

There are several new managers this year including Bob Miller (Amarillo), Bobby Knoop (El Paso), Marty Martinez (San Antonio), Jack Drol (Arkansas), John Van Ornum (Lafayette), and John Lipon (Shreveport). Johnny Antonelli returns to manage Jackson.

New league in Tex.-La.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Minor league baseball will return to Louisiana and Texas this spring with the formation of the Gulf States League.

The president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, Robert Bragan, said Wednesday that minor league teams will be formed in New Orleans and Baton Rouge, La., and Kilgore, Corpus Christi, Harlingen and Victoria, Tex.

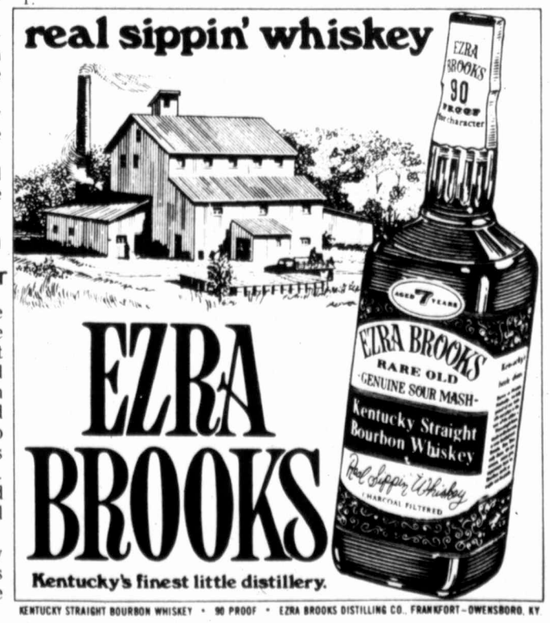

"We're going to stir up a lot of interest in baseball," Bragan told reporters.

The teams, each consisting of 17 major league castoff players, will play a 90-game regular season schedule beginning June 1.

"I think the least of the problems of this league will be finding the talent," said Howard Green of Fort Worth, Tex., president of the Gulf States League.

"In fact, I think this league will be an outstanding success," he added. "And if it is, there will be other leagues formed around the country."

Bragan said the league has sufficient financial backing, but declined to be more specific about the source of its funding.

Drug education course planned

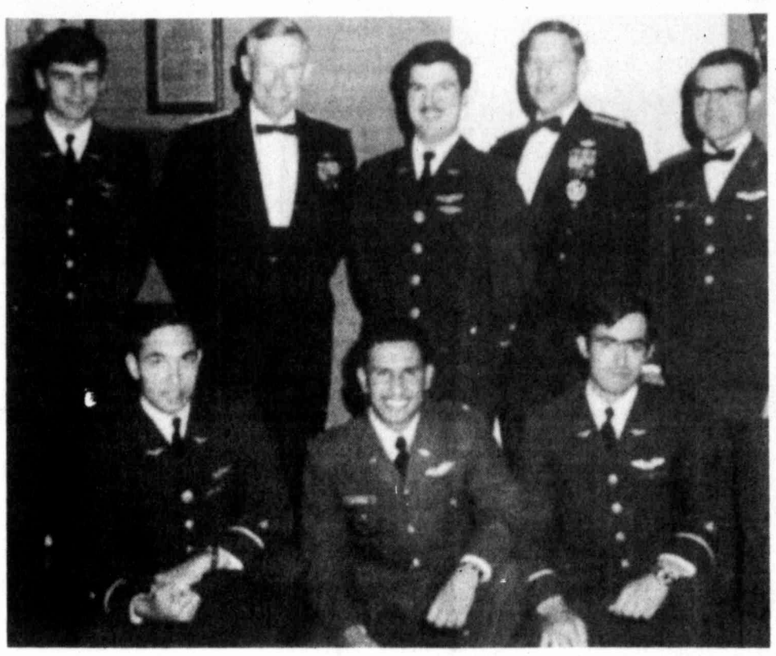

The Texas Education Agency will conduct a series of four training sessions this spring and summer in order to improve the academic approach to drug education and other key programs in public schools across the state.

One of the courses is being held at the Regional Education Center at Terminal with the first portion of the session already held. Another is set for April 8-9 to add to the training.

Taking the course from Big Spring High School are Miss Sue Willbanks and Mrs. Nancy Fulgham; from Runnels Junior High, Mrs. Opal Tanner; from Goliad Junior High, Mrs. Cathy Allred; elementary, Mrs. Thelma Carlile, Moss; Mrs. Loyce Phillips, Kentwood and Mrs. Helen Gladden, elementary curriculum director.

They in turn will bring the information to the entire faculty at teacher in-service days in Austin.

The course centers around crime prevention and drug education. These two subjects along with career education are required to be included in the regular curriculum of public schools.

Russian wheat crop faces failure

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are increasing indications that winter weather has damaged much of the Soviet Union's winter grain crop and that Russian farmers will be forced to replant large areas this spring, according to the Agriculture Department.

The development is leading U.S. officials to say there may be higher-than-normal Soviet grain buying abroad, possibly in the United States. That would be good news for grain growers and the agriculture industry at large. Whether it translated into high American consumer prices would depend on the U.S. grain harvest this year.

The Agriculture Department has been saying for some time that the Soviet winter wheat crop got off to a poor start last fall as a result of drought. Thus, when winter cold forced plants into dormancy they were not adequately developed to survive.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Bell said last week that the Soviet winter wheat crop was in poor shape. Winter wheat accounts for about 40 per cent of total production, with the remainder coming from crops planted in the spring, he said.

Bell added that without a normal winter wheat crop "the chances of above-normal imports into the Soviet Union are higher than they would be under normal conditions."

Even with evidence that there has been a deterioration of Soviet winter grain prospects, officials caution that it is still too early to make predictions on what the total 1976 Russian harvest may be.

Schools hit 6,273 mark

The local school enrollment dropped 15 students this week to a total of 6,273. This type of drop is experienced each year in the spring months.

The loss included four less at high school, five less at Goliad Junior High and two less at Runnels Junior High.

There was a total loss in elementary schools of six including two each in Kentwood and Washington, with one less in Marcy, Moss and Airport. There was a gain of one at Boydstun. There was also a gain of two in the Big Spring State Hospital classes.

Try to stop bombings

British post cops in subways

LONDON (AP) — The government put police officers on all London subway trains and commuter trains coming into the British capital today in an attempt to scare off bombers from the Irish Republican Army.

The police guard was ordered after bombs exploded aboard two subway trains Monday and Tuesday and a third one was found before it went off.

"Our chances of grabbing a bomber red-handed are slim, we know," a detective said. "The operation will probably drive the terrorists away. But it will at least prevent casualties for the time being and boost public morale a bit."

Car dealers pool their ad dollars

DALLAS (AP) — On the Dallas North Tollway, a single billboard advertises Oldsmobiles, Chevrolets, Fords, Lincolns and Mercurys.

In Dallas nighttime television commercials, prospective car buyers are told of the same five makes, sold by four different dealers, to be found at Auto Crossroads.

Auto Crossroads, the name given to the intersection of two main Dallas streets where the four dealerships are located, may represent the beginning of an advertising trend in an industry known for its hard-hitting single dealer advertising.

"What the joint advertising does is allow me to spent 25-cent dollars for much of my advertising," said Bob Eagle, owner of Eagle Lincoln Mercury.

"Before we started this idea, I was paying $500 a month for a billboard on the tollway for just my cars," Eagle said. "Now I am paying only one-fourth that amount and getting better results."

Roy Eddins, president of Friendly Chevrolet Co., said the joint advertising venture was conceived about a year ago in response to a concern by the then three area dealers to a loss of traffic in their business area.

Cotton suit clarification

Attorneys for farmers who are suing over worthless checks issued for cotton Wednesday said two compress firms are accused of no fault.

West Texas Industries Inc., Big Spring, and Rolling Plains Cooperative Compress, Sweetwater, were sued, because they have possession of the cotton, the lawyers explained.

The attorneys for the plaintiffs hope temporarily to prevent the compresses from releasing the cotton to parties with "warehouse receipts."

'Every sweet hath its sour'

'Telephone has liberated, ensnared us'

OMAR BURLESON, M.C.
17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D. C. — A hundred years ago this month — March, 1876 — it was known that Alexander Graham Bell had invented the telephone. It was at that time he was granted a patent for this curious instrument which has had an effect on the lives and dispositions of untold millions.

An old doggerel of several years ago went like this, "Misery, misery, mumble, moan — someone invented the telephone." Our gratitude goes to Mr. Bell for the convenience and, at times, inconvenience of this great development in communication.

The telephone has both liberated and ensnared us, given us wings to our wildest wishes and shackled us in our own bad habits.

Of course, the same might be said of many other inventions and developments in comparatively recent years — the automobile, radio, television and even the hairdryer. The telephone, however, possesses a difference in degree from these other marvels — it can be more demanding and intrusive but, again, our gratitude to Mr. Bell.

"Every sweet hath is sour," wrote Mr. Emerson. The problem it seems is that the sweet séems to diminish at times when the telephone rings at 2:00 in the morning and a voice on the other end says it is the wrong number. Sometimes, it's one of those inebriated voices and you have not the faintest idea to whom it belongs. Then again, there is the call you are anxiously waiting — like the news of a loved one who has had an accident or who is sick, and on answering, someone asks if you want to subscribe to some sort of a publication.

But, then, harkening to the words of Mr. Emerson, we must think of the loneliness the telephone has relieved, the personal misadventures which have given comfort and even the lives it has saved.

The invention of the telephone clearly has served us well in our daily lives, even if at times it provides annoyance. Like the many, many technological advances made over the years, we would not even try to get along without a phone. So we might as well accept the sour and the sweet and leave this communicative device and would be provided to turn it off. Otherwise there would be a rush to comb hair or maybe the lady to touch up the lip-stick before saying hello.

Mr. Bell would, of course, not recognize the advances made in his 1876 invention. Neither could he, at that time have envisioned the tremendous growth of the company bearing his name. He could hardly have imagined the attempts made to break up that company and other "big businesses" by the Federal Government simply because they are too big. He might however, have understood the need for anti-trust and antimonopoly provisions now in our laws.

One final note is a question: Why would you suppose that Alexander Graham Bell felt that the proper salutation in answering his instrument was, "Hoy, Hoy"?

Judge Tune hears 44 guilty pleas

County Judge Bill Tune heard 44 guilty pleas, dismissed 62 cases and returned one to lower court during February.

But the number of pending criminal cases still grew from 497 Feb. 1 to 531 Feb. 29.

County Attorney W. H. (Bill) Eyssen Jr. filed 115 new cases and saw 20 appealed from lower courts. In addition, 6 criminal cases were transferred from district court to county court.

No jury trials were held during the month.

Judge Tune disposed of 2 civil suits. Attorneys filed 10 new suits. At month's end, 203 suits remained on the docket.

Added to the probate docket were 15 new cases.

Canyon gas production extended in Conger Field

Canyon gas production was extended ½ mile north and east in the Conger Field of Sterling County. This comes about with dual completion of W.C. Blanks, Midland, No. 1-20 R.T. Foster, producer in the WAM, South (Fusselman) oil pool.

Calculated, absolute open flow was 1,200,000 cubic feet of gas per day. Gas-distillate ratio measured 8,889-1. Gravity of the liquid is 54.7 degrees.

Production was through perforations at 6,995 to 7,198 feet, after acidizing with 3,500 gallons. Fracturing was with 70,000 gallons and 70,000 pounds.

Wellsite is 990 feet from south and west lines of 20-13-SPRR, six miles southwest of Sterling City.

United Energy Corp. of San Angelo has taken over the former Clifton Thomas No. 1, Mrs. Olive Price, and completed the well as a second current well and location south extension to the Hurlbut (130) Field.

The daily potential was for six barrels of 19 gravity oil and 38 barrels of water, producing from open hole at 120-130 feet.

Location is 467 feet from southwest and 1,074 feet from east lines of J. Babcock Survey 26, one location south of the recent re-opener of the field.

H.L. Brown Jr., Midland, No. 2-358 Miller, six miles southwest of Fluvanna, recovered 2,900 feet of gas, 360 feet of gassy, slightly oil-cut drilling mud on a drill-stem test, probably in the Strawn. The well is a location north offset to the No. 1-368 Miller, opener and lone producer in the Lucy, Northeast (Strawn) field.

Tool was open two hours on the test taken at 7,685-725 feet. Recovery from the sample chamber was 350 cubic centimeters of oil, 400 cubic centimeters of water and 1,350 cubic centimeters of gas-cut mud. Flowing pressure was 133-160 pounds; 30-minute initial shut-in pressure was 3,242 pounds; and three-hour final shut-in pressure, 3,269 pounds.

Drilling continued below 7,744 feet on an 8,300 foot contract.

Earlier is recovered gas, oil-cut mud and salt water on a test at 5,635-675 feet and drilling mud on a test at 6,090-132 feet.

The discovery was finaled Jan. 24 for 123 barrels of 42.6 gravity oil through a 16-64-inch choke and perforations at 7,790-798 feet.

John H. Hill, Austin, No. 1 Burchell, ½ mile north and the same distance east extension to the Martin County portion of the Sulphur Draw (Dean) field, 12 miles north of Lenorah, was finaled for a daily pumping potential of 60 barrels of 36.2 gravity oil, plus 12 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 667-1.

Production was through perforations at 8,802-9,132 feet, which had been acidized with 2,750 gallons and fractured with 129,000 gallons and 145,000 pounds of sand.

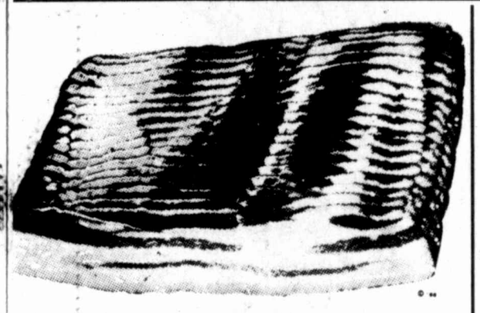

Location is 1,650 feet from the north and 990 feet from the west lines of 82-B-Bauer & Cockrell.

Adobe Oil Co. recompleted as a Spraberry producer in the Spraberry Trend Area its No. 1-A Mims. It is an opener and lone producer in the Spraberry (lower Wolfcamp) field four miles northwest of Stanton. It will pump 89 barrels of 40 gravity oil, plus 12 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 667-1.

Production was through perforations at 7,880-8,756 feet. It had been acidized with 4,000 gallons and fractured with 80,000 gallons and 240,000 pounds of sand. Plugged back depth is 8,890 feet.

Originally drilled to 10,420 feet and plugged back to 10,208 feet, it was finaled April 4, 1975. It brought in 186 barrels of 48.7 gravity oil, no water, with gas-oil ratio of 1,919-1, through a 16.64 choke and perforations at 10,054-056 feet.

Location is 1,320 feet from the north and east lines of 44-36-1N-T&P.

Water, sewer, garbage rates soar

LAMESA — City Councilmen here have boosted water, sewer and garbage collection rates effective April 1.

Rates for water increased 10 cents per thousand gallons while sewer fees went up 50 cents a month. Garbage collection charges were hiked 50 cents a month for both businesses and residences.

The council also approved a $1,654,454 budget for the upcoming year, nearly $150,000 less than last year's $1,803,654.

In other action councilmen awarded an $88,000 contract to Southwest Tank and Tower Co. of Tatum, N.M., for cleaning and painting the city water storage tanks.

Elwood Hamilton was appointed to the Board of City Development for a term concluding in December, 1977. Hamilton will fill a vacancy created when Neal Echols resigned last month.

Joe Coffey, S. L. Stephens, Jake Lippard and Jack Hines were reassigned to the City Zoning Board. The council decided to seek a replacement on the board for J. D. Dyer, who asked not to be reappointed.

The council also allocated $1,498 for helmets, coats and boots for the fire department.

Solar institute task force formed

HOUSTON (AP) — A task force to seek selection of the Houston area as the site of a solar energy research center has been formed by five universities in the state.

The universities include the University of Houston, Rice University, Texas A&M University, the University of Texas and Texas Tech University.

Dr. Alvin F. Hildebrandt, director of the University of Houston solar energy laboratory and director of the task force, is preparing the Houston proposal.

The Energy Research and Development Administration announced this week it will accept proposals for the first stage of the institute until July 15.

Groups in El Paso and San Antonio also are seeking the National Solar Energy Research Institute in their areas.

Current plans call for start of the first stage of the solar institute by next Jan. 1. The first stage would involve a professional staff of between 49 and 76 persons and a first year budget of $4 to $6 million.

Hildebrandt said the budget could be $50 million a year once the center is well established and the institute eventually could involve as many as 1,500 professional jobs.

He said the group has not settled on a Houston area site but federal guidelines require the site to be within one hour drife of a major airport.

He said the site will have to have 300 acres, 100 for facilities and 200 for solar experiments.
