'DRYS' FEAR LIQUOR FLOOD

LARGEST CROPS IN HISTORY OF U. S. PREDICTED

Corn, Tobacco, Rice, Sweet Potatoe and Pear Crop Records Are Smashed.

Value of Crop this Year Will Not Equal Those of Last Year.

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—American farmers broke production records of five crops this year. Preliminary estimates, announced today by the department of agriculture, shows the corn, tobacco, rice, sweet potato and pear crops surpassed in size those of any previous year in the country's history.

In addition, very large crops were grown, in some instances closely approaching records of oats, barley, rye, potatoes and hay.

Final crop production figures will be announced next month. Corn, king of all crops, of which the United States grows more than 70 per cent of the world's output, reached the enormous total of 3,199,126,000 bushels. This is 75,000,000 bushels more than ever grown in any year. This is the third corn crop to exceed 3,000,000,000 bushels, the previous record having been made in 1912, while the crop of 1917 was the second largest.

In point of value this year's corn crop will not equal that of last year. Based on the December 1 price, which was $1.33 a bushel, it was worth $3,934,234,000. The crop of 1912 was valued at $1,520,454,000 on the December 1 price of 48.7 cents a bushel, and the 1917 crop at $3,920,228,000, with the December 1 price almost $1.20 a bushel.

The value of this year's crop, based on the November 1 farm price, which was 87.3 cents a bushel, is estimated at $2,792,837,000.

Iowa's corn crop is the largest of any state at 441,660,000 bushels. Illinois ranks second and Nebraska third.

The tobacco crop this year, placed at 1,476,444,000 pounds by the preliminary estimate, is 87,000,000 pounds more than grown last year, when all previous records were broken.

Production of rice this year exceeds by 12,000,000 bushels the previous largest crop in 1917. The output this year is placed at 52,208,000 bushels, almost half of which was grown in Louisiana.

The sweet potato harvest will show 105,676,000 bushels, which is 2,000,000 bushels more than grown last year, when the crop exceeded all previous years' production. Alabama's output is larger than any other state's. The crop of pears this year is placed at 15,558,000 bushels.

Two other men suspected of complicity in the murder are said to be under arrest on minor charges in Missouri towns.

Chester will be brought back to Kansas City, and the formal charge of murder lodged against him, officials said.

Howard Winter, who was the fiance of Miss Barton, and who was wounded at the time she was shot, identified a photograph of Chester, as one of the three men who attempted to hold up the pair at the time the shooting occurred.

Imprisoned Quarts Sees Freedom By New Court Order

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Decision of the supreme court that liquor lawfully acquired may be stored by a person for his own use in a place other than his home will mean that thousands of imprisoned quarts soon may be released in New York city alone, according to federal prohibition agents here.

Frank L. Boyd, federal prohibition enforcement chief, explained that every bottle seized in his district had been placed in bonded warehouses. There it stands, he said, ready to be returned to owners if the courts so order.

He said he had no figures at hand to show the exact amount of liquor held subject to judicial mandate.

NE WYORK, Nov. 8.—Louise G. Beavor Webb, heiress, sportswoman and society pet, established no precedent when she was married to Patrolman Thomas J. Leonard, the traffic policeman of New York. Guilia Morosini, the banker's daughter, figured in a similar romance a few years ago, when she was wed to Arthur M. Werner, a policeman. Her sister, Victoria, had eloped with a coachman.

Then there have been Julia Breitung, who eloped with Max Kleist, a gardener on her father's estate; Ethel Croker, who ran away with a stable groom and was wed; Helen Maloney, who figured in a runaway match with an obscure young Englishman; Edith Gould, whose secret marriage to Carroll Wainwright is still discussed; Alice Drexel, who eloped with Captain "Diamond Bill" Barrett and repented soon after the ceremony; Julia French, whose unconventional romance with Jack Geragbty stirred the whole country, and May Bedford, who wed a mechanic.

Mrs. Elsie French Vanderbilt, aunt of Julia French, and former wife of Alfred Vanderbilt, is the most noted of them. She wed Captain Fitzsimon, young enough to be her son, and actually her son's chum.

Attorney General Rules First Discoverer Gets Depletion.

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Staff Correspondent Recod Nws.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Acting Attorney General William L. Frierson, in an opinion rendered today at the request of Secretary of the Treasury ouston, settled two important points on the mooted question of allowance for depletion in case of discovery by the taxpayer subsequent to March 1, 1913, and on the apportionment between lessor and lessee.

On the first point Frierson held that the reduction in the case of mines and oil and gas wells as a result of discovery on or after March 1, 1913, is allowed only to the party or parties in possession at the time of the discovery and not to subsequent purchasers.

On the second point it was held that the value which may be set up in the case of the discovery of mines and oil and gas wells pursuant to the second provision of section 234 (A) (9) Revenut Act of 1918, to be depleted in accordance with such reasonable rules and regulations as the commissioner of internal revenue and the secretary of the treasury may prescribe according to the peculiar conditions in each case, as in the case of lease to be equally apportioned between the lessor and the lessee.

These two points have been extremely bothersome to Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana oil and gas men and several conferences have been held between delegations from these states and officials of the treasury department.

Frierson's opinion today dwelt at length on the law passed February 24, 1919, and interpreted the meaning of congress on the two. He said congress undoubtedly meant that depletion should be allowed only to the original discoverer and the lessor and not to a subsequent purchaser.

'THE CITY THAT FAITH BUILT'

PALMER ACTION AROUSES IRE OF FEDERAL JUDGE

Anderson Declares Palmer "Dangerously Near Contempt of Court.

Coal Cases Continued and Inquiry Into Palmer's Orders Begun.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 8.—Attorney General Palmer's orders limiting the government evidence to be used in the soft coal conspiracy cases against 126 operators and miners in Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and western Pennsylvania, were criticized by Federal Judge Anderson in the United States district court today as being "strangely close to the compounding of a felony," and also "dangerously near contempt of court."

Trial of the cases was scheduled to begin today, but government counsel said it was not ready to proceed. Before granting the continuance asked by the government counsel, Judge Anderson undertook an investigation of the attorney general's orders regarding the cases, ending with his criticism of Mr. Palmer's conduct.

The court set next January 10 for calling the trial again, announcing that, in the meantime, it "will give us time to get our bearings and at least find out whether we are to govern by law or by person." Once before the judge declared that Mr. Palmer's attitude in the case was that of "personal government, rather than by law."

The attorney general was not present at the meeting, but C. B. Ames, former assistant to Mr. Palmer, explained that Mr. Palmer's orders had been misunderstood by government counsel.

Judge Anderson's statement regarding Mr. Palmer's conduct came after hearing of the testimony, the court leading up to his assertion with a series of questions whether the attorney general had authority to agree not to use certain evidence.

Discusses Contempt.

Similarly the judge discussed the elements constituting contempt of court, his purpose being, he said, "to see how dangerously near this gentleman has got himself to a contempt of this court."

"The arm of this court is long," continued Judge Anderson in this connection, "and has been known to reach farther than Washington. I am not suggesting what may or may not be done. Mr. Palmer is the attorney general, and there is a certain amount of consideration I am bound to pay to his official position, if I do not pay it to him himself."

After making these remarks, Judge Anderson called on District Attorney Van Nuys to produce messages exchanged with the department of justice about reopening the conspiracy cases, with the view of reporting further grand jury indictments, increasing the list of defendants. One message, bearing the name of Assistant Attorney General Mitchell, said the "attorney general has instructed me to request that before seeking indictments you should consult with and lay the facts before this department." Interpreting this message, Judge Anderson said its effect was

SNOW CITED FOR TRIAL TUESDAY

Accused as Slayer of Caples and Toney In Kemp City Raid.

"Doc" Snow, alleged oil field gambler, will face trial Tuesday of next week, before Judge P. A. Martin in Seventy-Eighth district court, charged with murder over the killing of Marvin W. Caples, in a real estate dealer, in a raid on a Kemp City gambling house.

Two indictments, each charging murder, were returned against Snow by a special grand jury here in connection with the slaying of Caples and also William S. Toney, who were acting as special deputies in the raid.

After hearing the plea of not guilty which Snow entered when arraigned before Judge Martin Monday morning, the court ordered a special venire of 200 jurymen summoned for service at the trial.

While confined to the Fort Worth jail, where he was taken on reported threats of mob violence following his capture by Sheriff Bob McFall and deputies two nights after the slaying, Snow made statements to the effect that he would "make a home run" at his trial and promised "startling developments."

He was returned to the Wichita county jail about two weeks ago.

The case has created great interest as both men who were slain were well known here, and a large crowd is expected at the trial.

The case will be prosecuted for the state by District Attorney Fletcher S. Jones and County Attorney John Davenport. Snow will be represented by the law firm of Heyser, Hicks, and Wilson.

LIQUOR REMOVAL AUTHORIZED BY COURT DECISION

Immense Quantities of Liquor May Be Moved From Warehouses.

Officials Fear the Effect Decision May Have on Enforcement.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Storage of lawfully acquired liquors in commission warehouses and the transportation of such stocks to the home of the owners is not prohibited by the Volstead act, under a decision handed down today by the Supreme court.

In passing upon the appeal of William G. Street of New York, from decisions of lower courts, refusing to enjoin internal revenue officials from seizing liquors he had placed in a room rented from a safe deposit company, the Supreme court revised the lower court's decision and held the injunctions should be granted.

The effect of this ruling had not been fully apparised tonight by the internal revenue and prohibition enforcement officials. The belief was expressed, however, that the result might be the release of some ten million gallons of intoxicating beverages stored in warehouses since January 16, 1920.

Immense Stocks Stored

Records on file here show that in addition to immense quantities of liquors purchased and stored by individual consumers, there were in storage when the Volsted act became effective, large stocks held by holsteries as reserve. Whether these latter stocks come within today's ruling has not been determined. It was anticipated that test cases would be filed soon on this and similar questions arising from the undetermined scope of the new interpretation of the Volstead act.

Justice Clarke, who rendered the opinion today held that the transportation of liquor from warehouse storage to the owners home would be legal if the liquor had been lawfully acquired and for a lawful purpose. He said "that the act is understood by the officers charged with its execution as permitting such transportation is shown by the provision of the regulations of the bureau of internal revenue authorizing permits for the transportation of liquor from one permanent residence of an owner to another in the case of his removal, although no such transfer is in terms provided for by the act."

Officials Fear Result

The opinion pointed out, however, that internal revenue authorities undoubtedly had the administrative power to regulate the transfer of such liquors so as to prevent their use in violation of the law.

"An intention to confiscate private property" the opinion concluded, "even in intoxicating liquors, will not be raised by inference and construction from provisions of law which have ample field for their operation, effecting a purpose clearly indicated and declared."

Justice McReynolds, concurring in the judgment of the court, dissented as to the reasoning in which it was reached.

One effect of the decision foreseen was the danger of increased opportunity for fraud among persons seeking means of violating the law. A decision had not been reached tonight as to whether the court's interpretation opens the way for unrestricted transportation in interstate commerce. In the particular case involved, it was pointed out, the owners legal residence and the place of storage were within the same state and in fact, in the same city.

Good Faith Argued.

The question presented, Mr. Clarke said, was simply "may a warehouse corporation lawfully permit to be stored in its warehouse, after the effective date of the Volstead act, liquors admitted to have been lawfully acquired before that date, and which are so stored, solely and in good faith, for the purpose of protecting them until they shall be consumed by the owner and his family or bona fide residents."

After answering the question in the affirmative, Justice Clarke declared the court could not bring itself to the conclusion that such retention of the liquor on the part of the storage company constituted "possession" within the meaning of the section under consideration, nor would the transportation of such stores to the legal residence of the owner from the warehouse constitute "transportation" under the act.

The opinion suggested that congress might have inadvertently omitted having declared such storage unlawful, but regarding it as more probable that the framers of the law had deliberately left this means of preserving lawful stores of liquor to those not possessing commodious dwellings.

"HARD BOILED" YEGG, 15, GIVES POLICE HARD FIGHT

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 8.—James Frazier is fifteen and, according to his own admission is "hard boiled." After their experience with him the police are not inclined to dispute his claim.

James, a husky youngster in knickerbockers, according to the police, played the leading role in an attempted hotel robbery in which revolvers had a prominent part. James was assisted, the authorities said, by his brother Elmer, 19.

Twenty-four hours in the police holdover had failed to shake James' outward mien and today he sat scowling at detectives who sought to question him and directing his brother "to keep his head closed and not be a piker."

James will be taken into juvenile court, officers said today.

According to the police, Elmer, accompanied by James, entered a hotel room where four men were sitting and ordered them "to put up their hands." Instead of complying the men rushed at him.

Elmer tossed his revolver to James, who emptied the contents of the weapon at the struggling men and then escaped through a rear doorway. Meantime, with Elmer safely captured, the men called the police. Several officers responded to the call.

It was as the party was leaving the room for police headquarters that James took the spot light. Dashing in, revolver in hand, he ordered that "all hands stand back." He snapped his revolver at one of the officers, three times, and started for the door with his brother.

Policemen Rush

By that time, the officers had recovered from their surprise and rushed at the boy, overpowering him and taking his revolver.

However, James apparently was not ready to cry quits. Enroute to headquarters in a police car, the lad leaned over one side and dropped a flashlight. As one of the police officers started to leave the car to recover it James jerked the officer's revolver from its holster. He was subdued and the weapon regained with difficult.

"Give me my gun and I'll fight it out with you fellows one at a time," was James' parting shot as he was locked up

ORDERS BLOCK PAVING RESET

City to Repair Part of Business Area Streets Before Next Spring.

Authorizing the city engineer to prepare specifications and draw up contracts for bids for 15 blocks of paving and to prepare contracts for the resetting of all wood block paving in the downtown district featured the regular council meeting Monday night.

The predicted repeal of the one-hour parking ordinance on Eighth street failed to materialize. It was discussed.

Acting on the recommendation of Street Commissioner Curlee, the council authorized the immediate paving of the 15 blocks to relieve the traffic on Tenth street. It was stated by Mr. Curlee that the 15 blocks probably would be the only paving that could be completed until spring, because of probable unfavorable weather. The paving will continue out Eighth street to Denver, cross on Denver to Ninth and continue out Ninth street to join with the paving that has been completed at the end of that street. Part of this route already has been paved.

In addition, the council authorized the paving of Grant street from Tenth to Avenue H to connect with the concrete road leading to the lake and the paving of Avenue A to connect Tenth and Eleventh streets.

The resetting of the wood blocks, composing 46,000 square yards in the downtown district, will commence at once, the improvement to cost around $25,000. The foundation will be repaired where necessary and new wooden blocks used where needed. When reset the blocks will be coated with tar and sand, making the surface waterproof, and doing away with the present trouble of bulging pavement in wet weather.

The one-hour parking ordinance on Eighth street, which has been in effect for several weeks, with strong objections by the merchants on that street, failed of repeal as an emergency measure, two members of the council refusing to vote for the repeal. The members objecting to the repeal hold that the ordinance should not be repealed until the council was ready to follow with a new traffic ordinance to supersede the one that has been in effect for several years.

A discussion of the provisions needed in a traffic ordinance brought out disagreement among the members of the council as to the rules that should be incorporated. City Attorney Mann was authorized to draw up a general traffic ordinance to be presented at the next meeting of the council.

Judge W. E. Fitzgerald, a property owner in the 2400 block of Ninth street, was present in behalf of other property owners in that block and of the 2300 block. They objected to the paying of the entire cost of the pavement that is now being laid in those two blocks. It was urged by Judge Fitzgerald that since the paving is being done after the city adopted the state paving law, the property owners should only be required to pay three-fourths of the cost.

Street Commissioner Curlee explained that the property owners now had a contract through petition with the paving contractor and that the council could take no action until this contract was broken. If it is broken, Mayor Cline said, the paving of those blocks could be taken up for consideration by the council in the usual manner.

Paving Bond Issue Used

It was pointed out that the plans for all paving authorized by the recent bond issue had been made and for this reason there would probbaly be considerable delay in making provision for the additional paving under the state paving law.

Property owners on Buchanan street between Avenue H and Avenue L presented a petition asking that water mains be extended to that section with better fire prevention. Property owners in that section, according to the petition, have little or no city water. The petitioners were told that no aid could be given until the eight inch water main from the plant to the Floral Heights addition was laid. Mayor Cline stated that this would be one of the first improvements carried out after the water works were actually taken over by the city.

Lawton Given $350 Monthly

The council voted to employ the services of F. N. Lawton, as general manager of the water works when the property was finally taken over by the city. The salary of the general manager was fixed at $350 per month.

The plans of a local architect for the fire station to be constructed on the corner of Buchanan and Avenue H were approved by the council. The building will cost about $22,000. The proposed annex to the city hall on Ninth street to house the water works and the city engineer's offices was dropped when it was estimated that the cost would be about $17,000. No funds are available for the construction of a building to cost that amount, it was said by Finance Commissioner Shepherd.

Many Rich Women Marry Poor Mates

to be on leave of absence.

Mrs. Leonard's father was an intimate of J. P. Morgan Sr., so close that the great financier left $250,000 in his will to the Webbs. The bride's mother was Alice May of Washington, and the family is related to the Oelrichs, Wrights and Jays.

Tom Leonard joined the police department 17 years ago, which makes him considerably the bride's senior.

The Leonards have taken a small apartment uptown in Manhattan.

Society was astonished in the summer of last year by the marriage of Alice Gordon Drexel, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Drexel, to Captain William Barrett of the army aviation corps. The ceremony was performed in New Rochelle. The birde's parents, on recovering from the shock, refused to comment on it. But the debonair captain gave out interviews asserting that everything was as lovely as a day in May and that Mr. and Mrs. Drexel had approved the union.

Soon after it came out that the bridegroom had been divorced in San Fraucisco, though he denied it. Then the young couple went abroad. A child was born to them. Soon after reports of an estrangement were heard, with accounts of wild escapades on the part of the bridegroom.

Another romance in which Barrett was interested was indicated recently when Mrs. John D. Spreckles Jr. sought to recover diamonds in Barrett's possession.

Edith Gould's Romance.

"Terribly in love" were Edith Gould, 18-year-old daughter of Mrs. George J. Gould, and Carroll Wainwright of Bank street, when they eloped with $10 by motor last May. They were refused a license in Philadelphia, and drove on to Maryland, where they found an obliging minister. They are still terribly in love, by all accounts, and the elder Goulds are quite reconciled to the romance. The bridegroom is 21. He was an art student, but is planning to take up commercial activity.

It is only a few months ago that a Newport court presented a decree of divorce to Julia Estelle French Geraghty, thereby ending the wild romance of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Tuck French and Jack Geraghty, the Newport chauffeur. This began in 1911, when they ran away to Connecticut and were married. He was demonstrating a new car when she met him, a high-powered, speedy roadster, but not half as speedy as the courtship that began with the demonstration.

It took a year for the parents to accept the bridegroom, but accept him they did, for the young couple returned to Newport and Jack set himself up in the automobile business. With the birth of a child they appeared to have found true happiness, but ultimately the husband began to talk of interference from his wife's relatives. Then they separated. Jack went to California and became interested in moving pictures.

The greatest mystery in which society is interested today is that of Mr. and Mrs. Jean H. St. Cyr, who were married secretly in 1915, two months after James Henry Smith, the bride's first husband, died, leaving her millions. Mrs. St. Cyr was originally Annie Armstrong of Baltimore. She married William Rhinelander Stewart in 1879 and was divorced from him in August, 1906. Just a month later, she became the wife of "Silent" Smith, the seventh wealthiest man in America at that time.

She and St. Cyr were married at the Scottish estate of Anthony J. Drexel, the bride's brother-in-law.

After society recovered somewhat from the startling announcement, inquiry was made into the bridegroom's antecedents—but the bride was not at all inquisitive on that score. Even when evidence was brought out to show that he was a Texas boy, masquerading under an aristocratic name, Mrs. St. Cyr showed no emotion save regret that there should be publicity. For he was young enough to be her son.

They fled to Philadelphia, Washington and San Francisco after the wedding, engaging a bodyguard to protect them from newspapermen. Reports of domestic difficulties were current, but nothing came out for publication, Mrs. St. Cyr's faith in her young husband apparently never wavered for a moment, but they have remained extremely inactive in metropolitan life since the wedding.

Ellis Indicted; Prosecutor Will Seek His Death

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 8.—Albert Ellis, 21 years old, late today was indicted on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the killing of Miss Edna Ellis, 18, his former sweetheart. Miss Ellis' body was found badly cut on a vacant lot near her home here late Friday.

An early trial and the death penalty will be demanded, Circuit Attorney Lawrence McDaniel announced.

The grand jury returned the indictment within thirty minutes after the case was presented to it and 34 hours after Ellis is said to have confessed his guilt to the police.

Ellis, according to the police, said he killed the girl because she rejected him as a suitor.

Ellis was an electrician. Miss Ellis was a typist.

These are great days for the thousands of boys and girls in the agricultural sections of the U. S. who joined clubs organized under government rules and entered stock and food raising competitions. The bureau of states relations, department of agriculture, which is promoting the clubs to help increase production, is now rewarding the various prize winners in each division in the various states.

Glenna McHenry, a member of the girls' club at Columbus, Ind., raised the prize Jersey herd in her state. Her prizes were exhibited at the state fair. Donald West of Dell Rapids, S. D., raised the prize boar in the hog-raising contest in his state. And maybe he isn't proud of the fact, as the picture indicates.

"that this court cannot proceed unless the attorney general sees fit to advise."

"I am going to have it done," the judge added, his remark apparently meaning that the grand jury, soon to convene, will reopen investigation of the conspiracy cases.

Simms Testifies.

In opening the investigation, Dan W. Simms of Lafayette, Ind., said he resigned as special prosecutor in the cases because, he said, the attorney general's order would prevent use of evidence that was the basis of the government's injunction case last year against the coal strike, and the later contempt proceedings for alleged violation of the court's order directing cancellation of the strike order. Similar testimony was given by L. Ert Slack, another special prosecutor, and by District Attorney Van Nuys.

Mr. Ames, however, said Mr. Palmer interpreted his orders to mean only the elimination of evidence that was the basis of the contempt proceedings, and pointed out these proceedings were begun at a date later than that covered by the alleged conspiracy. Mr. Ames also said that the attorney general has the right to elect whether the government would prosecute its cases as civil or criminal matters, and that, having chosen a civil course in the strike, Mr. Ames did not believe it fair to proceed with criminal action in this case. He also said that Mr. Palmer "had not interfered in any way with the action of the government's special counsel in the present conspiracy cases."

Testimony also was given during the hearing that no agreement to limit the government's evidence had been made in Judge Anderson's presence. In this connection the judge presented statements attributed to Mr. Palmer, saying such understanding had been made last December.

PALMER SILENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Attorney General Palmer declined tonight declined to comment on statements of Federal Judge Anderson at Indianapolis today with respect to the court's inquiry into the attorney general's connection with the soft coal conspiracy cases. Department of justice officials said, however, it had been expected that C. B. Ames, who went to Indianapolis as the department's representative, would "read into the court record all of the instructions in question."

The statement was reiterated by the attorney general's office that the only instructions sent by Mr. Palmer were those contained in a letter to Dan W. Simms and which he handed in his resignation. This letter has since been made public.

WICHITAN HELD IN FORT WORTH; ANOTHER IS CUT

Special to The Record News.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 8.—Charges of assault to murder were filed Monday before Emmett Moore, justice of the peace, against Rex Roard and H. D. Young in connection with the wounds received Sunday night by Hunter Russell, who was found at Third and Jones streets with cuts in his left arm and right lung.

According to officials, the trouble was over Beard's wife. All three are from Wichita Falls and came to Fort Worth Sunday. Young is said to be a relative of Beard. Hunter is at St. Joseph's infirmary, and according to attending physicians, his condition has improved.

Bond in the case of Beard was fixed at $5,000 and for Young, $1,500, which was furnished.

According to information from county authorities Monday, Beard who lives at 804 Fourth street discovered Russell and his wife in conversation Sunday night and an argument ensued which ended in a duel with knives between the two men. Russell was worsted, it was said, and sustained severe injuries.

It was learned that Beard's wife recently filed suit for divorce in district court here. Officials are under the impression that Russell and Mrs. Beard went to Fort Worth Sunday, both thinking that Beard had gone to Mexico after learning of the divorce proceedings, and they were found there by Beard.

After receiving information from Fort Worth that her son was in a critical condition, Mrs. Charles H. Russell, of 1207 Bluff street, left early Sunday morning for his bedside. Miss Lyma Russell, sister of the wounded man and a stenographer for the Welfare Council, accompanied her mother.

Russell is under indictments here charging theft of over $50 and robbery with firearms. Young, who is reported as being a relative of Beard, was said by authorities to live at 310 Scott street.

SLAT-WING IS NEWEST TYPE OF AIRPLANE

(By International News Service.)

LONDON.—Greater loads and higer speeds than are now attained are claimed as the special features of the new aeroplane wing introduced by the Handley Page Company.

A demonstration of the new wing was recently given at the works of the areoplane manufactory. The new wing was fitted to a De Haviland machine, and it certainly indicated what it could do in rapid climbing and in slow landings.

The wing is composed of a number of slats overlapping each other, giving it much the appearance of a Venetian blind. The wing is thus converted into what might be designated as a number of wings.

In order that the speed of the machine, when in full flight, shall not be affected, it is possible by means of an attached contrivance to close the slats and thus make them into one solid plane. The company's explanation of the new wing is as follows:

Much Greater Lift

"The special feature of the new wing is that it has a very much greater lift for every square foot of its surface compared with an ordinary wing. The construction consists in having slots right through the plane connecting the lower and upper surfaces, and to the uninitiated it would appear that these slots, allowing the air to escape from the under to the upper surface of the wing, took all the lift.

"Strange as it may seem," the reverse is exactly the case. The slots in the wing virtually convert the single wing into a number of wings and increase the lifting power of the wing two or three times as much as in the wing of ordinary construction.

"Supposing, for instance, that a machine today lifts a total weight of a ton and a half and has a wing area of 400 square feet. With this new wing it will be possible to lift the same weight with a wing area of only 200 to 300 square feet. Therefore, wings can be built more stoutly without increasing weight, and so the all-metal wing becomes much more possible commercially."

Peace Army Will Have 337,221 Men Under Baker Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The new tactical peace time organization of the regular army, based on the army reorganization bill passed at the last session of congress, was announced today by Secretary Baker. It provided for one skeleton army in time of peace with a paper strength of 337,221 men.

An army corps under the new organization will consist of 79,966 men, an infantry division of 19,385 men, a cavalry division of 6,417 men, an artillery brigade of 3,414 men, and an infantry brigade of 6,153 men.

The act provides for the new organization divided the country into nine corps and in time of war or general mobilization this division would result in three armies, each of the tactical strength and organization announced today. Although peace time strength of the regular army is only 280,000 men, Mr. Baker explained that the national guard and organized reserve would fill the gap.

MIKADO, LIGHT OPERA OF OLD DAYS, PLEASES

By MABEL CARTER.

Age aparently has nothing to do with really good music sung by good voices. The distinction of this rare combination in these dizzy days of syncopated divorce made Ralph Dunbar's de luxe revival of "The Mikado," at the Wichita theater Tuesday night stand out with all the freshness and brilliance of a new style entertainment.

Dunbar's Mikado has followed close upon the heels of Robin Hood and, judging by the two productions, he has brought to us in Ralph Dunbar, one of the most reliable producers in America today.

In keeping with the standard which the public has been led to expect of him, Mr. Dunbar has given this favorite of all comic operas a production that preserves the best traditions of the Gilbert and Sullivan school.

The excellence of his ensemble might well serve as a striking object lesson to the producers of the more modern compositions.

The result is a delightful performance by singers and actors thoroughlyk appreciative of the verve and joyousness of the lyric and music of this popular classic.

The sprightly comedy of the veteran, Ed Andrews, makes it difficult to believe that the part of Ko-ko, the lord executioner, was not especially written for him.

Karl Stall, Cincinnati baritone, was splendid in both the title roll of the "Mikado" and Pish-Tush." His full voice and clear enunciation was especially gratifying.

The Pooh-Bah of Duane Nelson was another piece of artistic work, the Lord High executioner and everything else attained full value in his hands.

Ralph was a pleasing and delightful Nanki-Poo, being vocally adequate for the roll.

Miss Patricia Brainerd was unusually pleasing in the dainty roll of Yum-Yum and lent a charming voice and winsome personality to the role. While Ann McCashin and Mary Lambert were captivating in the two other little maids from school.

Miss Aroline Andrews in the ungrateful roil of "Katisha" revealed a gorgeous contralto voice and acting ability of high order.

The splendid singing quality of the chorus gave the audience an intimation of the original organization.

The scenic settings by Urban and the costumes are elaborate and beautiful. And the augumented orchestra under the capable management of Charles Berton was no small contribution to the performance.

After 25 Years, Finds Freedom Like New Birth

(By International News Service.)

BOSTON.—Suppose you had been locked up behind the gray, grim walls of state prison for 25 years, how would the world look to you when you entered it again? What would make the greatest impression on you?

Patrick (Corky) Hanley, known as "Silent" Hanley because he has not talked for ten years, has completed a quarter of a century at Charlestown prison and answers these questions via a pencil and pad.

The first thing that impressed him was (so, not automobiles and moving pictures) women's dresses. The second was the general refinement of the people, and the third the intelligence of the young generation.

After "Corky" had written, "1—women's dresses," he stood up and pulled the left leg of his blue serge trousers nearly up to his knee. Then he put both legs together signifying that women's skirts are tight. Next he placed both hands on his hips. Raising his eyes as if the sights of Boston and New York had shocked him, he wrote:

"What became of the bustle?"

Next "Corky" wrote, "When I went away there were so such short dresses, except (on) girls of 10. And the thin silk stockings you all wear. Bare!"

Then there was more pantomime to describe high heels and Hanley wrote four words more:

"As if on stilts."

But "Corky" isn't a knocker. He has been just as much impressed by the rising generation. He wrote:

"Young people today appear much more intelligent than the young folks of 25 years ago. Their manners are good. They look clean. They've got a go-ahead look that only one in a hundred used to have. This is a great country."

Other things impressed him, both in New York and Boston. He wrote:

"The Bowery is not what it used to be.

"So many Jews everywhere—even in Lynn.

"So many Italians.

"Boston's North end is gone. Back in 1880 Fleet street was all Irish. There isn't any South end, either. But everything appears to be better."

Hanley characterized as "paper talk" the report that he has been on a "silence strike" for ten years. He said that while walking in the prison yard during a storm a brick from a chimney was blown down on his head, and that he suffered concussion, which left him speechless.

"Well," Hanley was asked fidally, "how does it feel to be out again and free?" Corky wrote:

"Just like being born again."

TEXANS JOIN IN SOUTHERN FIRM TO SHIP COTTON

Local bankers received information Monday that the committee of financiers representing Texas banking concerns had decided to abandon for the present their plan of forming the projected export finance corporation within the state and to join with the all-southern movement for a $12,000,000 concern to finance export cotton. The all-southern project was fostered at a recent meeting of the American bankers convention, which was attended by C. W. Snider, W. M. Priddy and other local bank directors.

Information from T. J. Caldwell, vice-president of the Fort Worth National bank and one of the committee of Texas bankers which decided to abandon the state scheme, had it that he hoped for Texas or for Texas and Oklahoma to be able to control the all-southern concern.

One director will be alloted on the board to each state for every $500,000 of capital stock subscribed within the state. Texas has more directors than any other state except Louisiana. Louisiana will have the same number because of the agreement of New Orleans bankers to take a minimum of one million dollars of stock.

On the provisional board of directors are three Texans, T. J. Caldwell of Fort Worth, J. A. Pondrent of Houston, Nathan Adams of Dallas.

Louis J. Wortham of Fort Worth will direct the publicity in Texas' stock selling campaign in the export corporation project.

Co-operation of laymen will be sought by the new body.

BOLSHEVIKS IN STRONG EFFORT TO EMBROIL U. S.

ROTTERDAM, Nov. 8.—Determined efforts are being made by agents of the Russian bolshevik government to send "missionaries" and agitators to the United States, according to evidence collected by American diplomatic officials in Europe. The spy and courier system of the Moscow government is said to surpass in efficiency and extent that of the German general staff before the outbreak of the great war, and on the lists of soviet secret agents are said to be the names of many men who before 1914 acted as spies for the central powers or Russia.

Against this campaign the United States has arrayed its agents and officials at foreign ports. Associated with them in Holland are the Dutch police, who have in their possession documents showing that Lenine, the soviet leader, looks to Rotterdam as a "world clearing house" for soviet finance and propaganda. Huge index files have been filled with the names and records of upwards of 25,000 bolshevik "missionaries" and these files have been placed in virtually every American embassy, legation and consulate in Europe. New passport regulations have been adopted and difficulties await the bolshevik agitator who attempts to secure a vise from an American representative.

Despite these regulations and the constant vigilance of American officials, it is believed some bolshevik agents have in the recent past succeeded in finding means to cross the ocean. Scores are thought to have shipped as seamean on board trans-Atlantic liners. American certificates have been obtained by various means, and it is said a brisk trade is carried on in stolen or counterfeit certificates and passports.

An attache of an American consulate recently was offered the equivalent of $250 a day if he would assist in getting through to the United States six soviet agitators daily. Stewards of liners are declared to have some times yielded to alluring offers for hiding bolshevik agents on their vessels.

Failing to get passage to port in the United States, the bolsheviki try to reach Canada, whence they can easily get across the border.

Men of virtually every nationality and of every profession are engaged in the work of spreading bolshevik propaganda, it is asserted. There are also many women enlisted in the cause.

PANTHERS WILL PAY $1200 TO LEAGUE FUNDS

Nearly $1,200 will be paid into the coffers of the Texas League baseball association by Fort Worth in settlement of the disputed account of the league's share of the post-seceon series with Little Rock club according to an announcement by the auditing committee after approving the books of retiring President Morris at the closing meeting of the Texas League Sunday at Fort Worth.

The principal action taken by magnates of the league Sunday was the casting of a unanimous vote to carry the fight for "A" classification to the National association meeting Tuesday at Kansas City. More than a year ago the association voted the higher rating for the Texas league but the action was nullified on grounds of insufficient population by Secretary John A. Farrell.

The Texas League as a whole will take up the battle for its rights, basing its contention on superior numerical population to the Western league, rated as Class "A" and unwillingness to submit to the draft at the hands of what is regarded as a slower circuit.

The circuit will be represented at Kansas City by Doak Roberts, newly elected president, retiring President Walter Morris, and owners and managers of every club in the league.

As a closing issue, the Texas league adopted a constitutional amendment, putting the official scores under the president's control.

Cover the top with the crumbs anu nuts mixed, and bake for thirty minutes in a hot oven, 375 degrees F. Let stand a few moments, then unmold and serve with a nut sauce.

6,000 INCOMES HERE ARE ABOVE U. S. EXEMPTION

At least 6,000 residents of Wichita Falls went over the limits of tax-empted income in 1919, according to lists compiled by internal revenue officials and placed in the hands of Postmaster Ed Howard Monday. Income tax reports were filed for 1919 by 6,000 persons, and each report means an income of more than $1,000 for a single man and $2,000 for a married man.

Determination of just how many more than 6,000 citizens passed these limits is the occupation of three special revenue agents, working in co-operation with the local officials, here this week. F. E. Buckingham and R. R. Millsap are here from Amarillo and R. F. Stringfellow from Quanah. The deputies are checking information in the hands of the office against income tax reports and against the inference carried in failure to make reports.

Why hens go on a strike!

The feed elements that make whites of eggs are entirely different from those that make yolks. When hens aren't fed both the white and yolk making elements, they can't lay.

Missouri Experiment Station tests prove that 100 lbs. of wheat, corn, oats, barley and kaffir corn make (above bodily maintenance) an average of 224 yolks to 154 whites. Based on data from the same experiments, Purina formulas produce, (above bodily maintenance), as follows:—

Purina Scratch Feed	247.49 yolks	142.11 whites
Purina Chicken Chowder	182.05	282.65
Combined Ration	429.54 yolks	424.66 whites

These Purina feeds not only make a practically equal number of whites and yolks but more of both than ordinary feeds.

Note that Purina Chicken Chowder contains the necessary white-forming elements to balance up the yolk-making grain ration. That's why it makes hens lay so heavily. Instead of the yolks being absorbed by the hen's system, Purina Chicken Chowder makes the whites to complete the eggs and they are laid. Thus we can absolutely guarantee

FAR-FETCHED INDEED!

Under the entirely justified heading, "Far-Fetched Objections," The Quanah Tribune-Chief publishes the following:

"A bunch of Vernon business men advertise that they are going before the water commission in Austin next week to fight the building of the Big Wichita lake southeast of their town. They claim that such lake will prevent the building of a railroad from their town to Seymour.

"As the country such a railroad would traverse was once considered too rough for even a wagon road, this fear of obstructing a railroad that somebody may possibly build some time in the dim future seems rather ludicrous and hardly weighty enough to stop the wheels of progress.

"Anyhow a big lake there would be worth a great deal more to the country at large than a railroad."

The Tribune-Chief very broadly intimates that the reason given for the opposition from Vernon is mere camouflage. Certainly it appears that the railroad interference argument is just a "point" evolved by an active mind already prejudiced against the irrigation project and seeking material with which to fight it.

But the irrigation project means too much, not only to this city but to the smaller places, the entire countryside, for any but honestly based opposition to have weight. The forces favoring the plan are too mighty, the cause is one too just and too inspiring to permit of defeat save for the best of reasons. And if anyone has real objections which are greater than the project he has failed to state them, and the most careful of minds has not discovered them.

The irrigation project will go through, and a blossoming, productive vista will yet give those merchants of Vernon and all others against the plan reason to regret that their sole part in the accomplishment was negative.

RUSSIA'S DEBT

The negotiations for the resumption of trade with Russia are held up until the British government receives a satisfactory reply from Moscow as to the preliminary conditions which hve not yet been fulfilled, says the London Daily Chronicle. These conditions refer to the repatriation of prisoners and the cessation of hostilities and propaganda directed against our interests.

"But apart from this consideration there seems to have been misunderstanding in some quarters as to what the trade agreement sets out to be. It is not a formal recognition of the Soviet government, a measure which, when it is taken, should, if possible, be taken in concert with our allies, and in any case would involve a formal treaty setting forth all the relations and settling all the disputes between this country and Russia. This is a measure which is not immediately contemplated. The proposed trade agreement does not profess to be anything more than a "preliminary agreement," leaving such important outstanding questions as that of the full recognition of the Russian debt untouched, and certainly unprejudiced. According to the text of the draft agreement which has been made public, it is distinctly stated that 'the detailed mode of discharging this liability (to pay compensation), together with all other questions with regard to the liability of each of the parties towards the other party of its nationals, shall be regulated by the treaty'—which has not yet been made.

"In view of this clear reservation, it is absurd to suggest that the Soviet government is enabled by this argument to repudiate the Russian public debt, either in part or in whole—that question is postponed until the Soviet government is formally recognized as a government, with rights as well as powers to act. The negotiations aim only at providing the conditions necessary for the carrying on of trade.

UNCLE SAM TO BLAME?

It is a curious fact that no matter what may be done by individuals and charitable organizations to promote Americanization among our aliens, there is always disposition among certain groups to blame all the ills of the immigrants who come among us of their own free will to better their condition on what is vaguely called the neglects of Uncle Sam. In other words, Uncle Sam is made the scapegoat for conditions that are forced on him against his will and despite the efforts of congress to protect the country from the anticipated complications of indiscriminate entry of aliens of all degrees of social and industrial capacity or incapacity. At the present moment the eyes of the country are being centered on Ellis Island, where a sudden glut of arrivals has found the staff too few to handle and the buildings too small to house properly those who want to get a foothold in the New World. Aside from the fact that there is this inconventent crush, one might deduce from the kind of recreational entertainments that are prepared for the immigrants, including concerts by Schumann-Heink, that the immigration commissioner and his associates were by no means unkindly disposed toward the new arrivals.

If there be a defect in the laws that govern their admission, congress should remedy the situation when it meets. In the meantime, it would seem to be the part of wisdom to put some check at the source on the coming of diseased and the indigent immigrants, who seem to be figuring all too largely in the present congested problems at Ellis Island. Since this seems to be difficult to accomplish, despite the supposed stiff ruling as to passports, the immigration bureau is too evidently being forced to make up for the lack of law and the defect in administrative methods on the other side of the ocean. As it is, the bureau, through its announced establishment of a director of immigration distribution, is meeting recent criticism, much of it of a hypocritical character, in a very practical way, since it will endeavor to do for the immigrant that which he himself and his friends and his co-nationalists over here have done very blunderingly in the past. In assuming this new function it must be apparent the government is really doing more for the immigrant than it does for its own native-born citizens. The American people have always viewed with suspicion those who believe "the country owes them a living." And yet through the officials of the immigration bureau we are now really leaning backward in an endeavor to locate the new immigrant properly and to assure the uninvited newcomer of a living.

In view of this, it is about time that the radical criticism of the government, as if it took a heartless and indifferent attitude toward the immigrant, should stop.—Philadelphia Public Ledger (Ind.)

KERENSKY'S ONE HOPE FOR RUSSIA.

In the remarkable interview with Blasco Ibanez, the Spanish novelist, printed in The World Today, Alexander Kerensky pins his hope for Russia upon the restoration of "the democratic republic voted by the constituent assembly in 1917." His sole condition for the fruition of that hope is that reactionary attempts to conquer Lenine's "Red Paradise" shall cease.

As The World has insisted, Russia "will take bolshevism or anything else sooner than the restoration of a czar," which she fears as much from Wrangel as she did from Kolchak and Denikine. "No general will ever put an end to bolshevism." The blockade has been "a stupidity from the start." "When Russians don't have to resist a Polish invasion or a 'White raid in the interest of reaction, they will cease rallying to the Moscow government, which, taken at its worst, is still the representative of Russian independence and the defender of Russian territory," says Kerensky.

POLITICAL UPHEAVAL IN GREECE

The monkey whose bite resulted in the death of the King of Greece has caused a political upheaval in the little kingdom. The American press reviews the complications arising from Alexander's death, and expresses entire confidence in the ability of Premier Venizelos to meet the issue successfully. Many writers regret, however, that the succession of Alexander's younger brother, Paul, closes the road to the immediate establishment of a republic.

Paul's succession, the Utica Press (Ind.) points out, will not be unconditional. "He will have to recognize the legality of the deposition of his father and the prohibition debarring the former crown prince from the throne." The deposed Kink, Constantine, on the other hand, "clings to old notions that technicalities of succession to kingly power still obtain."

However, a number of papers point out that Venizelos will be able to bring Constantine to terms, as the Detroit News (Ind.) expresses it, with the argument "No abdication, no pension." Constantine, "now an exile in Switzerland," says the Birmingham Age-Herald (Dem.), "shares in the poverty that afflicts many other members of European royalty. For all his pretensions and kinship with the Hohenzollerns, he is in need of money and will probably be compelled to yield." If Constantine is thus "definitely consigned to oblivion," the Detroit Free Press (Ind.) feels that "the tragedy" will prove "the means for strengthening the tranquility of Greece."

"Fortunately for Greece," the Columbia (S. C.) State (Dem.) declares "she has in Venizelos the most accomplished, adroit and powerful statesman in the world today;" and the Cincinnati Enquirer (Dem.) adds that "the world believes him fitted to the great task" which he must see through—"the hope of Greece and of civilization is in Venizelos." Stability and "a balanced, political administration" in Greece are highly necessary, in the opinion of the Baltimore American (Rep.) because of her "important role with regard to peace and order in the Balkans;" and the New York World (Dem.) calls attention to the fact that within ten years she "has passed from a third-rate to a second-rate European power," a swife growth which she "clearly owes * * * to Venizelos, a commanding figure of his time."

The Christian Science Monitor (Boston, Ind.) reviews the career of the Premier and shows that while "the crown of Greece is a negligible quantity so far as the destinies of the country are concerned," he has consistently "labored to serve and safeguard the throne" because of his avowed belief "that at the present stage of her development a limited monarchy, rather than a republic, is the better form of government for Greece."

In this attitude toward the establishment of a republic the New York Herald (Ind.) regards Venizelos as "no doubt sincere. He would accept the solution only when all efforts at the perpetuation of a constitutional monarchy had failed." As the Chicago Post (Ind.) analyses his position he "apparently looks upon the throne as a steadying influence, a concession to certain trouble-making elements, which leaves him free for the real tasks of government."

Present conditions "make inadvisable an attempt to establish a republic," in the opinion of the New Haven Register (Ind.) because of "recent accession of large territories with mixed populations, many of whose interests are at variance with the interests of the original kingdom." Despite "the popularity of the republican idea" the Manchester (N. H.) Union (Ind. Rep.) asserts that "Greece is not at all likely to become a republic at present," because—

"Immense territories have been incorporated into the new, or restored, Hellas. Their populations are to be absorbed, assimilated, educated or reeducated as Greek. There is a general feeling, even among the most liberal minded Greeks, that the time has not yet come for so radical a change as that from a monarchy to a republic."

ARMOUR PACKERIES IN CANADA CLOSED

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Armour & Co. announced today that it had closed out its business in Canada, including a packing plant at Hamilton, Ontario, and selling agencies at St. Johns, Sidney, Hamilton, Montreal and Toronto.

The supply of hogs in Canada is insufficient to keep the packing plant running, it was explained, and the tariff on importation of dressed meats makes shipments to the selling agencies from Chicago prohibitive.

HARDING PARTY REACHES COAST VACATION BEGIN

POINT ISABEL, Tex., Nov. 8.—In this little Gulf coast fishing town which nestles in the southernmost tip of continental United States, President-elect Harding went into seclusion today for an interim of rest and recreation before he begins preparation of the policies of his administration.

Politics and international problems, and all the big and little questions involved in the making of the new governmental regime at Washington, are to be shut out of his consideration while golf and fishing are to take first place in his attentions and ambitions. He puts fishing first of all and his fondest desire for the time being is to hook one of the big tarpon that are found off Point Isabel.

The president-elect and Mrs. Harding arrived here late in the afternoon and took up their residence in a small frame cottage overlooking a bay where a fleet of fishing boats lay at anchor.

Mexicans Welcome Party

The town-folk, largely Mexican fishermen, gave them a warm welcome, pouring out of their little box-like houses and crying out their greetings in mixed English and Spanish dialect. A score of pupils in the Point Isabel school lined the entrance to the village and showered oleanders and other semi-tropical flowers on the members of the party as they passed.

Several guests accompanying the president-elect, including his pre-convention manager and close adviser, Harry M. Daugherty, were housed in a small winter resort near by. The party of 32, including newspaper men and secret service men, overcrowded the hostelry and the town's one restaurant was overtaxed by the visitors when the time came for the evening meal. From Brownsville twenty miles away, the party made the trip by motor.

Their special train reached Brownsville shortly after noon and they spent several hours resting at the Brownsville Country club before proceeding to their destination.

Brownsville threw its doors open to the visitors, a large crowd meeting the train and commanding a speech from the president-elect. He resonded briefly from the rear platform of his private car, expressing his pleasure at the reception accorded him in his trip through Texas. Earlier in the day he had spoken in a similar vein at San Benito and several other cities along the railroad. Mr. Harding is the guest here of F. E. Scobey and R. E. Creager, prominent Texas republicans. The cottage he and Mrs. Harding occupy is Mr. Creager's winter home. The length of the stay here has not been announced definitely, but it is known that sometime within the next two weeks the president-elect will sail from New Orleans for a voyage to Panama.

HARDING TO SAIL ON PARISMINA, NOVEMBER 8

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—President-elect Harding will sail from New Orleans, November 18, for the Canal zone on board a United Fruit company steamer, it was learned here today.

Returning, he will be landed at Norfolk December 4. Arrangements have been made whereby the ship he is to take from New Orleans will remain over one day from her scheduled date to accomodate Senator Harding and his party, now placed at 35 persons.

The stop at Norfolk also will be by special arrangement.

The steamer selected by Senator Harding for the voyage from New Orleans to Christobal is the Parismina, a vessel of 4937 gross tons, built in 1908 and having passenger accommodations particularly adapted to travel in the tropical zones.

The Parismina, leaving New Orleans November 18, will arrive November 23 at Christobal, where the president-elect and his party will land for an inspection tour.

For the return voyage accomodations have been reserved on the liner Pastores, which will sail from Christobal on November 28 on her regular voyage to New York. The stop at Norfolk has been arranged in order to permit Mr. Harding to go by the shortest route to Bedford, Va., where he is to deliver an address before a meeting of the Elks lodge.

ACCUSE MAN OF ASSAULT; GIRL TO BE WITNESS

A complaint charging statutory criminal assault has been filed against J. Shelton, alias Claude Smith, who is confined to the county jail, and a 14-year-old girl is being held in the juvenile jail as a witness following their arrest by city detectives late Sunday night together in the house of the girl's parents.

Information in regard to the case was not forthcoming from the office of the assistant county attorney, although reports from the police are to the effect that the complaint was filed immediately after Shelton was transferred to the county jail Monday from the city jail.

Arrested at Home.

According to city authorities, the young girl and Shelton were placed under arrest at a late hour Sunday night on the strength of circumstances surrounding their presence together in the girl's home in East Wichita Falls, just beyond the old oil mill.

Upon questioning the mother of the girl, a Mrs. Johnson, it was found that while between the age of 12 and 13 years the girl had married a soldier, but had been deserted about a week after the ceremony was performed. This was substantiated when the records of the county clerk were consulted.

Girl at Home.

Since that time, the mother was reported to have said, the girl has been staying at home and receiving the attentions of Shelton.

According to the mother's statements, the girl's father left home several months ago and when last heard of was living at Fort Worth. Their only means of support now is the money obtained from taking in washing. Another daughter, 23 years of age, aids in their support.

TREAT SULPHIDE ORES WITH NEW PROCESS

(By International News Service.)

LEADVILLE, Col.—Experiments are under way here to determine the value of a new secret process for the treatment of lowgrade sulphide ores.

E. A. Montgomery, formerly of Los Angeles, for 30 years a mining engineer in the west, who has recently been engaged in the Sinalos, Mexico, fields, arrived here, with several associates for the purpose of experimenting on Colorado sulphur ore. The successful application of the new process, it was claimed, would result in greatly enhanced wealth to sulphide ore districts because of the potential possibilities it offers for the utilization of much low-grade ore that is now "scrapped" as worthless.

Montgomery declares that the process has been successful in the treatment of the low-grade ores in the Sinaloa district.

MANY WILL NEED RELIEF THIS WINTER

(By International News Service.)

WEBSTER, Mass.—"Old Man Stork" has been visiting this town so frequently the last few months that he has caused the overseers of the poor considerable worry as to how many of his little passengers are going to be fed the coming winter.

Last year the overseers welcomed the old man every time he called, but that was in prosperous times—everybody was getting a big salary and everybody had a good job. This year it is different—few of the residents are earning big salaries and many are out of work.

With these conditions in view the overseers have requested the select men to add $6,000 on the annual appropriation for needy families. At least forty families are at present under the care of the overseers.

LASKER PLAN IS ACCEPTED; NEW LEAGUE IS BORN

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The major baseball leagues today were broken up and a new 12-club league, composed of the eight National league clubs and the three from the American league which have sided with them in the plans for reorganization of the game was organized. A twelfth member will be chosen later, it was announced.

Organization of the new league came after the five American league clubs had refused to reply to an ultimatum issued by the other eleven clubs giving them an hour and a half to join in the reorganization.

After organizing the new league the baseball magnates proceeded with the Lasker plan for civilian control of professional baseball and appointed Judge Kenesaw M. Landis of Chicago chairman of the tribunal which will govern the game.

To Be Supreme.

Judge Landis, if he accepts the position, will be the supreme dictator of all leagues joining the plan and will receive a salary of $50,000 a year.

Second and third members of the tribunal will be appointed later and one of them will be chosen by the minor leagues. Representatives of the new league left tonight for Kansas City, where the National Association in Minor Leagues meets tomorrow(to present the proposition to them.

The minor league members would serve for six years, while Judge Landis would be given a contract for seven years, according to a statement made after the meeting by the club owners.

Judge Landis was notified of his appointment by a committee of five members, and told them he would take the matter under advisement, announcing his decision within a few days.

To Protect Minors.

The plans for the new league and a new controlling body contain frequent reference to the minor leagues, which are given assurances that they will not be overlooked in the administration of the game and that their territory will not be invaded in selecting the twelfth member of the new league.

The action came after an all-day session of both factions in the reorganization plans, with neither side yielding to the other.

Emissaries from the Johnson camp conferred with the club owners at the joint session of eight National and three American league clubs, but without result. At 2:30 p. m., the joint session issued an ultimatum to the chief Johnson clubs telling them they could either come over and take part in the meeting, which would governed by a majority vote, or a new league would be formed.

Failing to hear rom the five American league clubs, the other 11 clubs went ahead with their announced plans.

The five clubs which stood by Johnson in the fight are Washington, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Detroit and St. Louis. Tonight they mantained that the new league would have no effect on them.

American to Continue.

"We are the majority of the American league, and consequently are the American league," Clarke Griffith of the Washington club said. "The American league will operate this year with or without the Chicago, New York and Boston clubs."

The new league will give New York, Chicago and Boston two clubs in the same league. Brooklyn also is included, giving Greater New York three representatives. The other members are Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, St. Louis (National), Philadelphia (National), and the twelfth member yet to be chosen.

Previous to today's action members of Johnson's "solid five" had declared that the three American league clubs would not be able to take their players into the new league, maintaining the players on a club belonged to the league under contracts previously made. This factor, they said, would give the five remaining American league clubs additional strength and enable them to proceed with organization of a new American league. Individual club owners said they would "fight to the last court" before allowing any players to be taken over by the new league.

FROM THE JUDGES' STAND

Assorting the News From the Sport Realm

The Big Ten conference, the athletic body of the big western colleges, is a happy family again. Faculty representatives who draw up the eligibility rules met recently and straightened out the mess regarding S. A. T. football in 1918, when army football superceded intercollegiate athletics.

The motion made last June was upheld, throwing out the 1918 season, making all men who played that fall eligible for three full years of varsity football. The vote was 5 to 3, Minneapolis and Ohio State not being represented.

The decision will allow Reber, Chicago center; Captain Goetz, Michigan tackle; Block, Iowa tackle, and several others, to compete this year.

Only one athlete was ruled out. Moffat Elton, Chicago halfback, would be eligible under the interpretation passed, but the star Maroon athlete was barred on another charge.

Elton should have graduated last June. He was a member of the University of Chicago baseball team, which went to Japan, and it was the intention of the Chicago faculty that all members of the nine should return to summer school to make up work lost during the spring absence. Elton failed to return, and in so doing violated the rule that an athlete shall not prolong his normal scholastic routine to compete in varsity sports.

Of twenty-five amendments to the constitution of the Amateur Athletic Union to be proposed at the annual meeting of the legislative committee of that body at New Orleans, November 14-16, the most important, or one entitling athletes of the army and navy to become members of the A. A. U. on their own certification they are amateurs, without any fee. Passage of this amendment would preclude further misunderstanding about the status of athletes from West Point and Annapolis at athletic meets.

This action also would perpetuate the decision made before the Olypic games by the A. A. U. permitting army and navy entrants to compete in Belgium without registration with a recognized athletic body.

Immodest bathing suits, the California style of jumping and harness for shot putters, will be precluded by some of the proposed amendments.

A benefit game will be played for George Brown, one time right fielder of the Giants, by the Bronx Giants and an all star team at Brox Field on the afternoon of election day. Brown, who is married and has two children, is suffering with tuberculosis and he and his family are practically destitute. The Paulist Fathers who became interested in his case, have found a home for him and his family in Catskill, but money is needed to defray his living expenses. It is to raise this money, or part of it, that the benefit game will be played. George Washigton Grant, owner of the Braves, learned of Brown's plight recently and said he would take the matter up with President John A. Heydler of the National League with a view to having the club owners in both league subscribe to a fund for the player. Brown was a member of the New York team which won the championship of the world in 1905. He was a splendid fielder, a sharp hitter and very fast on his feet and in his day was one of the most popular players in the league.

Australia may select a site at Kooyong, in Victoria, as a permanent location for Davis cup tennis matches to be played.

Minar Moguls Say Lasker Plan Will Meet Opposition

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 8.—Defeat for the Lasker plan of baseball reorganization in the minor leagues seemed probable tonight as the presidents and club owners of the minor leagues of the nation gathered here for their convention which opens tomorrow. Claiming that the proposed plan, adopted in Chicago today provides for government without representation, the advance guard of minor league officials arrived here said they would oppose every move of the major leagues to present the plan for adoption tomorrow.

The stand was taken that the minor leagues are capable of governing themselves and they would continue to direct the affairs of their own organization.

David L. Fultz, president of the International league characterized the action of the major leagues in Chicago today as "childish."

A. R. Tearney, of Chicago, president of the Western and Three I leagues, and an aggressive leader in minor league affairs, definitely committed himself as opposed to the Laskar plan. He declared that the minors are not suitably represented.

HUNGER STRIKERS IN 90TH DAY OF FAST

DUBLIN, Nov. 8.—So far as the authorities here know, the nine hunger strikers in Cork jail, who today began their 90th day of fasting, are taking no food, according to the chairman of the prison board. The chairman said today suitable food constantly was being offered the men.

The prisoners recently were visited by Father Fielding of Chicago. According to the Dublin newspaper Father Fielding reported them as being determined and resigned to their fate. Eight of the nine men are said to have relatives in Chicago.

FAMOUS TENNIS STARS TO PLAY FOR DAVIS CUP

(By International News Service.)

VANCOUVER, B. C.—The American Davis Cup team left here today aboard the steamer Niagara for Auckland, New Zealand, where it will compete against the Australian defenders of the famous tennis trophy in an attempt to bring the cup back to America.

William T. Tilden, 2d., of Philadelphia; Watson M. Washburn, of New York; William M. Johnston, of San Francisco and Samuel Hardy, also of San Francisco, make up the American team. The first three named will do practically all of the playing in the Davis Cup matches, but Hardy will play if it becomes necessary. The matches for the Davis Cup will be played in December.

Dates proposed by the Australasian Lawn Tennis Association and approved by the United States Lawn Tennis Association for a tour of Australia by the Americans following the Davis Cup matches—a tour similar to the one made by the Australians in America in 1919—are as follows:

January 13, 14, 15, at Melbourne, against ustralia or Victoria. January 20, 21, 22 at Adelaide, against South Australia, January 27, 28, 29, at Swdney, against Australia.

Interest in the coming matches at Auckland, for which the Americans will have some three weeks' time to practice, is evidenced by the fact that stands to accommodate 7,000 persons are being erected.

The route for the team's return has not been determined, although it is expected that they will be back in the United States some time next March. Invitations have been received for them to play in Shanghai and Singapore, and they may possibly make the homeward journey by way of some of the Oriental ports instead of returning direct from Australia.

NEGRO RIOTERS GET ANOTHER HEARING

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. Nov. 8.—The cases of six negroes sentenced to death in connection with the race riots at Elaine, Arkansas, today were submitted to the state supreme court for the second time. When submitted the first time they were remanded for re-trial because of an error in the verdict. A second verdict of guilty was returned by the lower courts and the case again appealed. The six negroes involved, and six others whose cases have been finally decided now are held in death cells at the penitentiary.

FANS PLEASED BY PLANS FOR BOXING REVIVAL

Fight fans in this section have greeted with acclaim the announcement that exhibitions of the "manly art" are to be resumed here. The The resumption will take place formally this Thursday uight, Armistice Day, at the site of the defunct Camel Wood building, and will be ushered in Athletic Club in the old Brook and under the supervision of promoter Jack Barnes, late of New Orleans.

Jack has arranged to have it a regular "ex-service" affair to go with the day. The main go will bring together two old enemies in the persons of Danny (Red) Sheehan of Kansas City and Billy Kleck of Fort Worth. The boys are lightweights and both of them were champions of their division in that class.

Danny, or Red, was the titleholder of the 35th Division while Billy held the crown in the 76th Division and both boxers come here with a string of knockouts behind them that seems to bear out Barnes' assertion that they pack a good kick and know how to use it.

The old "grouch story" is being circulated and will undoubtedly add interest to the occasion. It is reported from pretty reliable authority that the men in question have had several run-ins on the street and—well every little bit helps.

Barnes has promised a whirlwind card which includes two fast prelims and one of the old fashioned "battle royals" with five "smokes," which event never did fail to furnish action and plenty of it. Further details of the card are forthcoming.

LOVERA
The Very Mild Havana Cigar

Howdy from New Orleans, Pete! Shorty gets an earfull!

Say, old clock, you've got the time—maybe you'd like to hear this one! As we were rolling into New Orleans yesterday one of the men in the club car was recounting his cigarette experiences; how he finally pulled a trick on his luck and got set right!

"Well—I've had my cigarette lesson," continued the traveller. "I went up and down the line on cigarettes until I got hold of Camels and got deep into their quality and mildness and delightful flavor! There never was a blend such as Camels combination of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos! I'll say it—Camels taught me what a cigarette should be and they'll teach any man who smokes!"

Thinks I to myself—"Sic 'em, judge, every word you spill is a sentence!"

Now, Pete, that's the kind of Camel thanks-giving stuff you get north, east, south, west and through the middle! That's all as true as that little sheep will wag their tails!

I did some tall thinking as I browsed through the quaint old French quarter this evening—how universal the appeal of Camel cigarettes really is! Figure the travelling I've done and the people I've met—each city different from the other—AND Camels have been the ONE cigarette to be found everywhere—and the cigarette most smoked at each point! Pete, old backstop, it's wonderful the way folks are sliding home to Camels!

Dallas, Texas, for me!

Yours Shorty.

SAYS DIAMONDS WILL REMAIN AT PRESENT PRICES

International News Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO.—No reduction in the price of diamonds is in prospect. This is the official word cabled to this country by L. Breitmeyer, head of the London Diamond Syndicate. Mr. Breitmeyer said the diamond syndicate's policy has always been to maintain prices, and it has no intention of departing from its rule.

The London Diamond Syndicate is the selling end of the De Beers Consolidated Mines, Ltd., which controls practically all the mines of South Africa, the source of 98 per cent of the world's diamonds. Mr. Breitmeyer's announcement dissipates the idea that diamonds will be cheaper during the Christmas holiday trade.

While the London Diamond Syndicate deals only in rough diamonds, it is a monopoly that determines the prices of cut and polished gems in the markets of the world. There is no appeal from its decision. Dealers must buy at its prices or go without diamonds. It has steadily advanced the price of diamonds since 1896. If business depression or money scarcity reduces the demand for the gems the syndicate, instead of readjusting the prices, curtails the output of the mines. Diamond dealers say its attitude at present is sound because of an increased cost in mining and a decreased output at the mines. Several of the most famous South African mines are believed to be approaching exhaustion.

"Though diamonds cost three times more than before the war," said a Chicago jeweler, "they are, if anything, less probitable to jewelers than in the antebellum period. The domination of American markets by the London Syndicate precluded any possibility of profiteering on the part of the jewelry trade. Jewelers must sell at an exteremely narrow margin of profit to do any business. High cost of materials and workmanship is holding up the price of all kinds of jewelry. There seems at present little prospect of reductions in any line."

Pretty Teacher Defeated Whole Town In Fight

(By International News Service.)

SOUTH ELIOT, Me. — Miss Blanche Gray, a pretty, 20-year-old teacher in district No. 7, brought a bitter school feud of long standing to a head by threatening parents of her pupils with arrest unless they stopped annoying her.

Miss Gray was backed up by Superintendent McCue, who served notice that parents who visited the school property to browbeat the pretty school mistress would be taken into custody as trespassers.

The teacher says some of the children under her care are intellectually backward and still refuse to study.

The drastic threats followed stormy visits of the parents to the schoolhouse to protest Miss Gray's way of teaching.

She hit upon the scheme of making the children learn their lessons every day, even if she had to keep them until nearly dark to make them do it.

Farmers who rely upon their sons to help them after school hours instantly dropped their hoes to take up the cudgels.

Visits of parents having failed to move the determined little school mistress, a campaign to drive her out of the village began, according to school authorities.

TEXAS CROPS THIS YEAR BEST KNOWN

By BASOM N. TIMMONS
Staff Correspondent Record News.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Texas this year harvested 113.5 per cent general crop the department of agriculture announced tonight. As a whole, growing conditions in Texas were never so good as in 1920, the report said. In only five states, New York, Oklahoma, Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas, were growing conditions better. Oklahoma led all states with a 139.6 per cent crop. Corn production in Texas amounted to 172,250,000 bushels, 30,000,000 less than last year. The Texas corn yield this year however, was 25 bushels to the acre, against a 10-year average of 19 bushels to the acre. Wheat, cotton, oats, potatoes, onions, hay, rice, kafir, beans and peanuts were other Texas crops to show a good yield.

No Mercy Given Irish Offenders Records Reveal

(By International News Service.)

LONDON.—Judging by the sentences which are being awarded by the military courts to members of the Irish republican army, no mercy is to be shown to those who join the organization and against whom the military or police obtain evidence.

Of the 43 members of the I. R. A. who were arrested on September 19 while drilling in a field near Dublin, every man was given nine months' imprisonment with hard labor, with the exception of one member, who was acquitted.

Later the court remitted the hard labor in five instances, medical testimony having been given that they were unable to stand it, but the balance of the men will have to serve out their sentences.

At the same time the military court convicted a man of being in possession of ten rounds of ammunition. He got a sentence of a year with hard labor, and another culprit, who was found to have possession of a bomb, got 18 months' imprisonment with hard labor.

MONTE CARLO SEEN AT THE EMPRESS

They gamble with hearts as well as gold at Monte Carlo.

The famous devil's playground, however, deals benignantly with Dorothy Dalton in her latest picture from the Paramount studios, "A Romantic Adventuress," showing at the Empress theater. Altogether, it is the brightest, most entertaining screen play Miss Dalton has offered us in many moons. Unlike her recent vehicle, it doesn't tax her emotional talents, but rather harks back to the pretty star's earlier mood—that of "Extravagance" and "Flare-up Sal." Monte Carlo vies with gay New Orleans, a college town and Broadway's white lights in providing the setting.

The story, adapted from Charles Belmont Davis' novel, "A Winter City Favorite," unfolds the romance of a dancing girl whose beauty and grace are exploited by a wayward mother in the money markets of New York. When the dancer has achieved fame on Broadway, she is taken to Europe to marry a title, but Mr. Right steps in and true love scores one more victory. The gentleman in the case is Charles Meredith, a handsome, stalwart enough young man for any maiden. Harley Knoles directed the picture.

DAILY FINANCIAL, OIL AND MARKET NEWS

GRAIN COTTON

COTTON DROPS BUT REACTS; CLOSE IS FIRM

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 8.—Lower prices in the early trading in cotton today were followed by a strong reaction which carried the market to net advances with a good undertone still prevailing on the close.

The early selling was mainly due to the large ginning returns than expected from the census bureau, which counted the output to the figures of November at 7,700,352 bales, indicating ginning for this last period of 1,750,000 bales. On this showing and the weakness of foreign exchange the market fell to levels 23 to 47 points under the final prices of Saturday. Shorts commenced to realize profits and a good demand for long accounts was felt, the latter being stimulated to a considerable extent by the large export movement which, for the day, amounted to 52,226 bale against 21,807 this date last year.

NEW YORK RALLIES

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A further decline in the cotton market during today's early trading attracted profit taking by recent sellers and was followed by sharp rallies with the general list closing steady net 10 points lower to 30 points higher, near months being relatively firm.

The market was weak and unsettled during the early trading.

There was some southern selling at the start but later offerings from that source were decidedly smaller.

Port receipts today 3,851. United States port stocks 1,169,230. Exports today 52,226 making 1,208,445 so far this season.

BONDED GRAIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The visible supply of American and bonded grain shows the following changes:

Corn decreased 234,000 bushels.
Oats decreased 795,000 bushels.
Rye increased 1,176,000 bushels.
Barley decreased 189,000 bushels.

MORE THAN MILLION BALES.

GALVESTON, Nov. 8.—Cotton receipts at Galveston passed the million-bale mark for the 1920-21 season when today's receipts brought the total to 1,004,267 bales arriving at the port since August 1, last. Last season the million-bale mark in cotton receipts was not reached until December 9. Exports of cotton since August 1 totaled 779,770 bales.

RAW SUGAR UNSETTLED

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Raw sugar was unsettled today and the demand was light with buyers inclined to hold off. Prices were unchanged at 6½c for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 7.51 for centrifugal.

Refined was quiet with the demand limited to nearby requirements only. Prices were unchanged at 10¼ to 11c for fine granulated.

The more liberal offerings in the spot market led to scattered selling in sugar futures by trade interests and commission houses and prices at one time showed declines of 35 to 40 points. Near the close there was a partial rally on covering.

NOTICE

Rotary Men

About 7500 acres in Coke county on good structure, located by Hugh Tucker and two other good geologists. Can furnish good geological reports.

We have a good strong derrick, a heavy Rotary machine; everything in first class condition. Hole down between 1700 and 1800 feet and some casing. Will give one-half interest in all acreage and well, also if we get a well give one-half interest in Rotary machine, and will give $2,000 or $3,000 in cash to any one who will go 3,500 feet or until oil or gas is found in paying quantities.

This is a real oil man's proposition and if interested will have to act tickly.

LOCAL OIL MEN ARE HONORED BY WESTERN ASSN.

J. C. Jenson, president of the Sunshine State Oil and Refining Company and W. B. Hamilton, president of the Texhoma Oil and Refining Company, of this city, were elected directors of the Western Refiners Association at a meeting held Friday and Saturday in Oklahoma City. The consolidation of the Texas Refiners Association with the Western Refiners Association was completed at the meeting.

Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Jenson were elected directors of the Western Association following the consolidation. Two other members of the Texas organization, Julius Germany of the Panhandle Refining Company and Elliot Jones of the Elliot Jones Company of San Antonio, were also elected directors. Mr. Germany was made vice-president of the consolidated organization.

The Western Refiners Association is now the only organization of the refining industry in the Midcontinent field. The association with the consolidation represents approximately one hundred refining companies thirty-five of which were former members of the Texas organization.

Committees were appointed at the meeting to investigate and make recommendations as to more equitable freight rates in the section covered by the association. Following the report of the committees the recommendations will be brought to the attention of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

THINK GERMANY WILL SOON HAVE TRADE BALANCE

(By International News Service.)

WASHINGTON.—Germany's exports will pass imports during the present year, if the record made by that country in May, as just announced by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, continues throughout the year.

The bureau, in explaining the large increase in Germany's imports and exports during the first five months in this year, as compared with the same months last year, explains that the value of the mark has depreciated in that time. The exports, however, increased from 251,000,000 marks in May, 1919, to 6,647,000,000 in May, 1920.

Last year's figures, made public by the German government and received here indirectly by the department of commerce, show that Germany imported goods valued at 32,376,000,000 marks last year, against exports of 10,157,000,000 marks.

During the first five months of this year goods valued at 28,480,000 were imported, against exports of 23,688,000 marks. In May, however, the exports were 6,647,000,000 marks, against imports of 5,537,000,000. The continuation of this record for the remainder of the year would wipe out the balance in favor of imports of the first three months. April was the first month since the war that Germany exported more than was imported. In that month the exports were 5,344,000,000, against imports of 4,768,000,000 marks.

Communication between the trade sources in the United States and Germany has not been fully revived, and late figures as to financial records are not available at the department of commerce.

NO RECKLESS FLYING OVER FOOTBALL FIELD

BOSTON.—John H. Cole, Commissioner of Public Works, sent out a letter to every aviator in the state warning them against reckless flying over football fields, or other outdoor places, where there are large crowds of people. He has received information that exhibition flights are to be held at football games.

The warning is sent out, says Mr. Cole, in order to prevent the occurrence of accidents such as those reported from other sections of the country. Under the law the department has the right to revoke the operating license of any aviator who disregards regulations.

SHARP DECLINE TAKES PLACE IN WHEAT MARKET

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Wheat suffered big breaks in price today simultaneously with acute depression of foreign exchange and with liberal receipts at Kansas City and Omaha. The market closed unsettled, 4 3-4 to 6 cents net lower with December 1.84½ and March 1.82 and 1.82 1-4. Corn finished 1-8 to 5-8 cents higher and oats unchanged to 2 1-4 cents up. In provisions the outcome varied from the same at Saturday's finish to 20 cents lower.

Besides the liberal arrivals at Kansas City and Omaha, messages from the southwest told of heavy notices of consignment from the country and it was contended that the farmers strike had been broken.

Corn and oats developed firmness owing to scantiness of arrivals of corn and to evening up for the government report. The government figures on corn, however, proved bearish.

HEAVY SELLING BRINGS BREAK IN STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The stock market was the center of another drastic selling movement today, every branch of the list yielding to the increasing weight of liquidation at extreme recessions of 2 to 7 points.

There were occasional halts and feeble rallies but these were succeeded by fresh offerings in which new low levels were registered. The tone of the market at the close was weak.

Among the stocks that suffered greatest impairment were those comprising the shippings, steels, equipments, oils and motor groups but even the gilt edge railway issues did not escape the general reversal.

Call loans rose to ten percent after opening at 9 per cent.

The break in foreign exchange carried sterling down to within 15c of its minimum quotation in this market, while French, Italian, Dutch, Spanish and Scandinavian rates were the lowest levels ever reached here.

Liberty bonds and Victory notes moderately and the bond market as a whole was affected by the weakness of stocks, rails, industrials and internationals closing at variable reactions.

Total sales, par value, $13,450,000.

SPYING IS DANGEROUS FOR GERMAN SUBJECTS

BERLIN.—Although allied officers may go where they please in Germany and in a high-handed way demand information in furtherance of the fulfillment of the Versailles treaty, it's a thankless and dangerous undertaking for German citizens to engage in the spy business for the entente.

The Munich police have arrested three young mechanics ranging be-

One of the defendants declared at the preliminary hearing that he had been informed that for information of the type he was peddling the allied missions had been known to pay as much as 500,000 marks, and he didn't know why he shouldn't also receive some of the easy money.

IMPERIAL DIET OF JAPAN TO TOUR AMERICAN CITIES

TOKIO, Japan, Nov. 8.—Tours of the chief American cities by members of the imperial diet of Japan and the municipal assembly of Tokio seem probable at the present time. The proposition has been discussed by the members of the diet for some time and if the trip is made it will be during the spring months of 1921. The diet members plan to take their wives on the trip. Mr. Terada, chief secretary of the diet, said regarding the trip: "The question of a trip to America had been discussed before the congressional party came to Tokio. But the scarcity of steamer accommodations blocked the plan, as we could not commander a troopship, like the Americans did.

The Tokio city assembly is reported to be planning a trip and if they decide to go they can make their own appropriations for the expenses. Numerous members of the controlling political party are said to be in favor of the plan.

John Burke at his desk.

John Burke, treasurer of the United States, is one of the most advertised men in the country. Look on a dollar bill—if you have one left—and you'll see his name. His signature is on every piece of paper money issued by the U. S. As a result of this he is swamped with letters from persons who have lost their "rolls" asking advise as to how to recover them. One man, who had read the per capita wealth of the country, wrote to Burke asking for his share.

AIR OFFICER STARTS ON 2,230 MILE TRIP

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 8.—Major H. C. Pratt, air service officer of the eighth corps with headquarters here, departed from Kelly Field this morning on a 2,230 mile trip by airplane which will carry him to all of the border patrol stations in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona. He hopes to complete the inspection in ten days. An attempt will be made to make a non-stop flight from El Paso to San Antonio on the return trip.

Dickman, commander of the eighth corps, headquarters here, while passing through San Antonio today enroute to the Mexican capital. SHEEP CENSUS SHOWS INCREASE IN CANADA

International News Staff Correspondent.

CALGARY, Alta.—Sheep in Canada today number 266,447 more than in 1871. This startling small increase in almost half a century reflects the crisis through which the sheep industry passed twenty-five years ago when the bottom dropped out of the wool market. It also shows the industry has recovered from the blow and is assuming its old importance.

There were 3,155,509 sheep in Canada in 1871. When the great slump in wool occured many great Western range herds were sold off. In 1911 only 2,160,000 sheep were left in Canada. Today there are 3,421,958, according to the last sheep census of the government. Their estimated value is $50,402,000.

The sheep industry in the United States suffered even more. The sheep population of the United States, according to government estimates, has fallen off 4,000,000 in the last decade. Proportionate decreases have taken place in Australia, Argentina and British South Africa. Millions of sheep were slaughtered in Europe during the war.

MEXICANS SEEK TO PROTECT THEIR TRADE

MEXICO CITY.—Discussing Mexico's effort to build up trade with Cuba, the Bulletin Financiero y Minero asserts that American merchants have been playing the trick of buying Mexican goods and selling them in Cuba as American goods. The Bulletin says:

"Our dealers should negotiate directly with the dealers in Cuba, thus making certain that our products are sold under the Mexican trade marks, for it is well known that many American merchants buy our goods and, after exporting them to the United States, re-export them as American goods to Cuba and many other Latin-American countries.

COTTON PICKER FACTORY SEEN AS LIKELY HERE

Organization of local business men for the promotion of the sale of the Johnson cotton picking machine may result from the visit of B. Frank Johnson to Temple to inspect the machine demonstrated there, and the hearty recommendation which he will make to the interests for whom he made the trip, it became known Monday.

E. S. Goodner, members of the E. S. Goodner Wholesale Grocery company and other local business men are awaiting Mr. Johnson's report before taking definite steps for organization. J. A. Kemp has indicated his interest and promised his support to a promotion organization "if the machine can do what is claimed for it."

"It is undoubtedly a wonderful machine," was Mr. Johnson's expression. The machine is the invention of B. Johnson, a resident of Temple for many years, who has spent nine years' work on its perfection.

Its equipment includes 112 tiny needles, operating so as not to disturb the vertical position of the stalk. It is said to remove between 95 and 98 per cent of the cotton.

"REDEMPTION PRICE" APPEARING AT GEM

Cleo Madison, who plays Anne Steele, the English wife of the Hindu rajah in "The Price of Redemption," the new Metro picture starring Bert Lytell, which will be seen today at the Gem theater, wears a genuine Rajput costume, presented to her by the Princess Padmini, daughter of the reigning chief of Salumbra, Rajputana, India.

The costume or sari is a long scarf of pale blue Indian muslin with applied flower designs in gold leaf, that wraps around the body of the wearer. The corners of the scarf, decorated with the mangoe pattern, which is the distinctive symbol worn by ladies of the Indian royalty, is done in gold on a background of crimson satin.

With the sari Miss Madison wears a jeweled headdress copied from an ivory miniature of the one worn by the Lady of the Taj, in memory of whom her emperor erected the magnificent Taj Mahal in India. She also wears pearl necklaces, sapphire and diamond pendant, earrings and ankle bracelets, copied from original portraits taken in India by Dr. H. R. M. Maddock, the company technician.

Bert Lytell is the star of "The Price of Redemption," scenarized by June Mathis from I. A. R. Wylie's "The Temple of Dawn," and directed by Dallis M. Fitzgerald. The production was protographed by Sol Polito.

ANITA STEWART NOW PLAYING AT OLYMPIC

"Harriet and the Piper" Anita Stewart's latest First National picture, now playing at the Olympic theater, is from Kathleen Norris' story of the same name. The story, which has a Greenwich Village setting, ran serially in the Pictorial Review, and has since been published in book form. Supporting Miss Stewart is an all-star cast, including Ward Crane, Charles Richman, Irving Cummings, Byron Munson, Myrtle Stedman, Margaret Landis, Barbara La Marr Deeley and Loloya O'Connor. Bertram Bracken directed the production.

Those who have already seen "Harriet and the Piper," both at the coast and in New York, are unanimous in declaring it the best film vehicle in which Miss Stewart has yet appeared, not excepting "In Old Kentucky," which was one of the most successful of last season's productions.

BIG MEXICAN RANCH WILL BE COLONIZED

International News Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES.—With plans for what is said to be the largest development, subdivision and colonization project on record, engineers from Los Angeles are on their way to Chihuahau City for the preliminary work of rehabilitating the 3,000,000-acre estate of General Luis Terrazas, aged Mexican warrior, who has been a refugee in Los Angeles for the past six years.

The work, which has been turned over to a local concern, calls for an accurate survey of the entire estate. The engineers will make a careful study of the land for surface and underground water, timber resources, oil and minerals. The land eventually will be thrown open to the public for colonization.

It is claimed that previous to the reigns of terror Mexico has undergone in the last ten years the number of cattle on the estate numbers 400,000, with about 200,000 horses and mules and 75,000 sheep. Most of these have been stolen by the various bands of bandits that raided the ranches in that section.

COMPENSATION BILL ADOPTED BY MEXICO

MEXICO CITY.—A bill providing prompt compensation in cases of accident or death in industrial plants and other places where labor is employed has been sent to the Mexican Congress by President Adolfo de la Huerta.

The bill calls for the payment of 6,000 pesos ($3,000) to every workman who is completely disabled by accident while at work. If the workman is killed 6,000 pesos are to be paid to his dependents.

Workmen who are injured but not completely disabled are to receive compensation according to the nature of their injuries.

Compensation is to be paid by employers.

Harold Lloyd rarely fails to get his daily laugh from the sayings of Kid Blue, the big colored heavyweight who works as extra around the Rolin Film company studio in Los Angeles. The Kid was "panning" his landlord recently. It appears that the bungalow rented by the hard-working "actor" was not built for wet weather. The first rain of the season rolled against the roof and then kept right on rolling through the frail shingles. The landlord came in answer to a hurry-up call and in trying to smooth the situation over assured Mistah Blue that he would soon put in a bath for him.

"You'll put in a bawth?" sputtered the Kid as he viewed the drenched surroundings. "What Ah wants is a new roof—or a cahload of towels."

Wine, Women and Scrap Result in Wrecked Saloon

International News Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO.—Sentiment in a saloon has its drawbacks, two of which are bartenders and patrol wagons.

Miss Jessie Gordon and Miss Eva B. Brown, aged twenty-three and twenty-one, and John J. Davis, of Kansas City, Missouri, are the principals of a case in point. They recently opeped with Lieutenants Lukes and Garrick a discussion of just how close ardent love may resemble a fight.

"He tried to make love to us," declared one of the young ladies, after their arrest by Policemen Hayes and Anderson in a downtown buffet.

"They were fighting," declared the bartender who was on duty at the time. It was a three-cornered mill, and it looked like they would wreck the place."

Miss Gordon said that she and Miss Brown had been automobiling with Davis and three other men who left them earlier in the evening. They were drinking in a booth at the time Davis is said to have made amorous advances. The girls resented, with accompanying damage to glassware about the buffet.

PARIS OFFERS PRIZE FOR EVERY RAT TAIL

International News Staff Correspondent.

PARIS.—In inaugurating its campaign against rats the city of Paris offered a prize of 25 centimes for every rat tail. For several days Clement Guestres held the rat-killing championship and earned 50 to 55 francs daily. Then some one took a sharp look at the strings of "rat tails" Guestres brought in each night. They were found to be only strips of old leather, cleverly twisted. Guestres is under arrest for defrauding the city.

"RANGER" WILL BE READY THURSDAY

The initial edition of the "Ranger" for the present school year will be ready for distribution Thursday, according to announcement from the publication's headquarters at the High school Monday.

The November edition will embody several new departments, added to the "Ranger's" features since last year. Some 500 names among the High school and Junior High school students are on its subscription list.

A certain pastor makes it a point to welcome any strangers cordially, and one evening after the completion of the service he hurried down the aisle to station himself at the door.

A Swedish girl was one of the strangers in the congregation. She is employed as a domestic in one of the fashionable homes, and the minister, noting that she was a stranger, stretched out his hand. He welcomed her to the church and expressed the hope that she would be a regular attendant. Finally he said that if she would be at home some evening during the week he would call.

"T'ank you," she murmured bashfully, "but ay have a fella."

HON. FREDERICK D. GARDNER,

Governor of the State of Missouri, Says:

"Thrift and saving are the handmaids of individual progress and prosperity. The confidence of men is a greater asset than fortune. The young man with habits of thrift and prudent economy has inspired confidence and laid the foundation for credit in the busines world, which is essential to success.

"The prosperity of the nation is but the collective thrift of its citizens. Thrift and economy are alike enjoined for personal and patriotic reasons."

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspironal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications

Every Druggist in U. S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle o f Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't b e bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is relieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.—(Adv.)
