"Cyclone" Davis Dies Wednesday

(By The Associated Press)
KAUFMAN, Jan. 31—J. H. Cyclone Davis, 85, one-time Texas congressman-at-large and prohibition leader, died here today.

The bearded, widely-known politician lately had interested himself in old-age pensions questions.

The funeral probably will be held tomorrow.

Survivors include his widow and four sons, Arlon B. (Cyclone) Davis of Dallas, Valton Davis and Roy Davis of Sulphur Springs and Landon Davis of Hamlin; and a brother, Dr. Jeff Davis of Roby.

Both Sides Rest In Mail Fraud Case Against Dr. Fred Wyatt

DALLAS, Jan. 31. (AP)—Both sides rested today in the mail fraud trial of Dr. Fred Wyatt, Dallas physician accused of helping file fraudulent insurance claims for "planned accidents."

Dr. Wyatt was the only one of the seventeen indicted in the case to remain on a plea of not guilty.

The case of Mrs. Guy Arney, who also pleaded not guilty, was dismissed by government motion.

The others pleaded guilty, including George Lyles who was named as the ringleader.

Dr. Wyatt testified he had not intent to defraud anyone and that all his reports were made conscientiously.

Merciless Red Raids On Finns Are Reported

According To Communique From War Front, Russian Troops Leave Thousands Dead

By WADE WERNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

HELSINKI, Feb. 1. (Thursday)—A merciless raid by 27 soviet planes on the northwestern Finnish town of Rovaniemi left 15 dead and 60 wounded yesterday while couriers brought reports of complete encirclement of hungry soviet divisions in the bloody Lake Ladoga sector and the slaughter of half a battalion of 600 Siberian ski troops in the north.

Observers said the Finns had captured the strategic town of Pitkaranta northeast of Lake Ladoga and had thrown back red army attacks "everywhere" along the same front. On the basis of Finnish daily communiques the Russian dead on this front run into thousands.

Casualties Not Disclosed

The Finnish casualties have not been disclosed.

The killing of the 300 Russian ski-fighters, rushed as reinforcements from Siberia and the rout of an equal number was reported by Danish correspondents.

The precise locale of the battle was not made known. The defeated force, however, was identified as the third soviet Siberian ski battalion.

Three waves of soviet planes bombed Rovaneimi, an important railway junction. They dropped, in all, 150 bombs. The raid lasted two hours.

Seven children died, five of them in one building when a bomb hit a cellar door and tore out a wall. Two nurses and a woman who had just arrived to become a mother were killed when other bombs smashed a hospital.

The fighting on the Ladoga front went on fiercely today.

Only their numerically inferior forces are keping the Finns from polishing off the trapped Russians, said the account of the capture of Pitkarnta, which is about 20 miles from the Russian border and one of the soviet's early objectives in the war.

It Wasn't Goldilocks But Uncle Ed They Found In Their Bed

(By The Associated Press)
SIKESTON, Mo., Jan. 31.—Just like the three bears, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Feverstone came home to find a stranger in their bed, and it wasn't goldilocks.

"I'm your Uncle Ed," the visitor offered.

The Feverstones were skeptical. They have no Uncle Ed.

Ed Featherstone explained further. He came to town to visit his nephew. He inquired the way to the Fatherstone home and a helpful citizen misunderstood the name.

Two Sentenced In Swindling

(By The Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Jan. 31.—Two Southwest Texas ranchmen today drew fines of $10,000 and two-year penitentiary sentences each when they pleaded guilty in federal court on income tax charges which prosecutors said grew out of a $287,000 swindle of a West Texas ranch owner.

The men, James A. Akers of San Antonio and Poteet and his nephew, Henry Lee Forrest of Poteet, were charged with failure to pay taxes on income which U. S. District Attorney W. B. Smith alleged was obtained from Mrs. Dora Roberts, widowed owner of a 36-section Howard county ranch, between 1932 and 1936.

Fine, Term Suspended

Akers, 56, was fined $10,000 and sentenced to two years for failure to pay tax on net income of $18,135 for 1933. He also received a suspended fine of $5,000 and two-year sentence for failure to pay tax on income of $18,615.54 for 1936. The second fine and sentence was suspended on condition he not transfer any of his property and make a full disclosure of assets to the internal revenue department.

Forrest, 46, was assessed two years and $10,000 for failure to pay tax on income of $17,550 for 1933 and a $5,000 fine and three-year sentence, suspended, for failure to pay tax on $16,486.93 income for 1936. The suspension was conditioneed on paying the first fine in 10 days.

Began In 1929

Smith said the swindle began when Forrest in 1929 discussed oil leases with Mrs. Roberts who mentioned legends of buried gold on her big property.

The two men later represented they knew parties who had maps which would indicate where the gold was buried and induced her to advance $1,600 to buy the charts. Some bars resembling gold were later dug up and were left at the ranch with the understanding Mrs. Roberts and Akers would share equally in the proceeds. Similar occurreneces took place in later years until the woman

Britain Answers Challenges Of Adolf Hitler

Chamberlain Says U.S. Trade Will Prosper Once More When Time Comes To Turn From War

By EDWIN STOUT
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Neville Chamberlain told Americans tonight their war-withered trade with England will prosper if they wait until "the time comes to turn once more from war to peace" and give Adolf Hitler gibe for gible, defiance for defiance.

"We are prepared for air raids if they should come," was his answer to the man who last night jeered at "Old Man Chamberlain and his Bible" and threatened England and France with a taste of "the fight they asked for."

Results Reviewed

He reviewed the "prodigious results" of the British war effort — more than 1,250,000 men under arms, airplane construction stepped up to a point seven times greater than 1935-36, orders for supplies totaling nearly £200,000,000 ($808,000,000), doubled and in some cases quadrupled gun production and shell output more rapid than that of 1914.

Yet no neutral, he said, "feels itself threatened by this enormous accumulation of power."

At the same time the British prime minister, speaking at a luncheon at a London hotel, did his best to placate Europe's disturbed little neutrals, some of whom have expressed resentment at a broadcast suggestion by Winston Churchill that their only hope lies in "united action" with the Allies.

Distress Is Varied

To Japan, he voiced his "distress" that the oriental power should be angry over British war methods.

"We have in the past been the largest customeer of the United States for their agricultural produce," Chamberlain said. "As soon as the war began we were compelled to curtail our imports of things which were not essential to us that we may concentrate our dollar resources upon purchase from the United States of those enormous

GROCERIES, PLENTY OF THEM — There's no rationing of groceries in America and Professor and Mrs. Ezio Levi D'Ancona, recently arrived from Italy, enjoyed a visit to a Lubbock grocery store. Professor And Wife From Italy Enjoy Shopping In Lubbock With No Limits

By OPAL McMAHON
Avalanche Staff Writer

A SCHOLARLY little man and his wife visited a Lubbock grocery store and marveled at the stacks of groceries and the privilege of buying all the groceries they wished.

The man was Professor Ezio Levi D'Ancona, until lately of the University of Naples faculty, and his wife, two of Lubbock's newer residents.

In Italy rations were limited.

To Join Faculty

The impression of plentifulness is one of many gained by the couple since landing in New York recently.

Professor D'Ancona will join the Texas Technological college foreign languages faculty for the spring semester, serving in the absence of Miss Frances Whatley, associate professor of Spanish, who is ill.

A scholar of international reputation and a gifted linguist, Professor D'Ancona is impressed with Texas and said he believed Texas so situated that it is the logical center of the cultural civilization of the United States. "America's future lies in Texas," he said.

Texas At Crossroads

Texas is at the crossroads of the nation, the north, south, east and west meeting in this state. For that matter, Texas is geographically situated so that it well might serve as the meeting place of civilizations of North America, Central America and South America, he said.

"Spanish studies in Tech should be more than just the teaching of foreign civilization." They should serve as aid in fusing the intellectual and practical life of the American countries, he said.

At that point, Dr. C. B. Qualia, head professor of foreign languages, nodded in sympathy, the visiting professor's ideas coinciding with those expressed in this country in connection with the present plan to draw the Pan-American nations closer together.

Of the social life in Europe, Dr. D'Ancona will speak freely. Ask him questions concerning European political situations, however, and he will smile and courteously decline to answer.

Intends To Stay

"He has not been able to continue with his teaching at the University of Naples," said his friendly, blue-eyed wife. "He has come to America because he wanted to learn more about America, American people and American life." He expects to remain in this country permanently.

Of the war in Europe, the scholar said this much: "Italians are glad

Apr. 6—Flyweight ball and tennis at Texas Technological college.

Finals in athletic events (track and field) will be conducted March 22 in Lubbock and finals in literary events will be held here March 23.

The committee decided to use a 12-inch inseam ball for playground ball competition. Texas Interscholastic league rules will be observed.

Others Are Named

Miss Reva Newsome, director of one-act plays, was given authority to name dates for that event, to be conducted at Idalou Rural High school.

Other directors attending were: N. B. Wilkerson, debate; E. F. Dawkins, declamation; B. M. Keese, extemporaneous speech; B. T. Rucker, spelling; Mrs. Z. B. Lee, essay writing; Roy Boyd, athletics; Hale, rural school events; Mrs. Boyd Crooks, music memory; Mrs. Mildred McKelvey, picture memory; V. A. Cross, arithmetic; Miss Lyndelle White, choral singing; Miss Christine Ballentine, story telling.

Monahans Infant Rushed Here To Sanitarium By Airplane

Tiny Nelda Gean Snelson took her first airplane ride Wednesday night.

The 8-months-old daughter of Judge and Mrs. Fred Snelson of Monahans was brought to Lubbock in critical condition from pneumonia and an ear ailment.

A plane, piloted by Johnny Smith of Monahans, arrived at 7 o'clock at Municipal airport and a Rix ambulance transferred the infant to Lubbock sanitarium. Miss Lucille Mauldin, a graduate nurse, accompanied the patient and remained here.

Judge and Mrs. Snelson came here by automobile.

An attending physician said there was a possibility little Nelda Gean may develop meningitis. She has been ill about 10 days.

The father has been Ward county judge four terms. The Snelsons have two other children, a son and another daughter.

Five Slaton Youths Charged In Connection With Forgeries

Five Slaton youths were named Wednesday in charges in connection with an alleged mild wave of forgery, the name of one of the young men's father having been forged to false instruments.

Burton S. Burks, district attorney, said M. H. Simmons, Wayne Smith and R. L. Van Dyke were charged with passing forged instruments; Cline Cooper was charged with forgery; and Weldon Jones, with attempting to pass a forged instrument.

R. L. Wicker, Slaton police chief, signed complaints, filed in justice court of Horace Smith.

The name of C. M. Simmons was signed to the spurious checks, Burks said.

Solons To Meet Today To Map Their Plans

Warning To Farmers Sounded By Secretary Of Agriculture To Be On Guard During Year

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. — Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, leading a resounding chorus of protests against deep slashes in farm appropriations, today warned congressmen, and particularly members of the Democratic party, that farmers would hold them responsible in the 1940 elections.

An "interesting" policital issue will be raised, he said, unless Congress restores the $154,000,000 cut from the agriculture department appropriations bill by the House appropriations committee yesterday.

Put On Guard

"I want to put the farmer on guard," Wallace said at a press conference, "against attempts of some congressmen to scuttle the farm programs." Later he added:

"I would ask the farmers this question when they went to vote, 'which way are you most likely to be taken care of in 1941!'"

The House committee approved a $634,374,756 bill—20 per cent below President Roosevelt's estimates. In addition to urging restoration of this cut, Wallace said the farmers would need "parity" payments—for which Mr. Roosevelt's budget made no provision. Wallace again proposed his income certificate plan of processing taxes to finance such payments.

Appeal To City Solons

During debate in the House, members of the farm bloc appealed to congressmen from city districts to vote to restore the cuts. They said that some slashes made by the appropriations committee would effect persons on relief in urban centers. They pointed particularly to a $72,000,000 reduction in funds for the disposal of surplus commodities.

"I can not understand why anybody from the city would vote against that proposition so long as we have any relief or work relief bills, because the cities get about 75 per cent of the advantage," said Chairman Jones (D-Tex) of the agriculture committee.

New Poll Tax Record Is Set

Occasioned by a chance to cast ballots for an almost complete national, state and county ticket, approximately 9,000 persons had paid poll taxes and another 1,000 had obtained exemptions at midnight.

Those were estimates from H. B. Bryan, county tax assessor-collector, whose office had remained open until midnight to accommodate tardy taxpayers.

The figure this year undoubtedly passed the previous record of 8,842 poll tax receipts, issued in 1936.

To Be 12,000

Bryan estimated that voting strength of the county this year would be 12,000. Over-age voters living outside towns of less than 10,000 population are not required to obtain exemptions, he said.

Complete returns will not be learned until late today or Friday. Work in the office Wednesday required time of all deputies and many polls were received in the mail.

A count was not made when the office closed early today.

Poll tax payments are expected to exceed last year's total by more than 1,000. Last year was an "off" election year with no outstanding issues to be decided.

Only few offices will not be filled this year, from president to constable. Claude L. Hale, county superintendent, is only county official whose term will not end next January. The county superintendent term is four years and is filled in 1942.

Mine Workers Laud Roosevelt

By E. E. EASTERLY
Associated Press Staff Writer

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 31 — The United Mine Workers convention shouted praise for President Roosevelt today but refused to endorse him for a third term.

Forty-seven resolutions urging a third-term endorsement were referred to the union's international executive board for "appropriate action" as "circumstances may warrant."

No Endorsement Made

The convention thus authorized President John L. Lewis and the board to select a presidential candidate—a "liberal" was specified—who they felt would best serve labor's interests.

The action, supporting Lewis' recommendation that the convention itself make no presidential endorsement came after 90 minutes of the loudest and most controversial debate so far in the session.

There were booming "yes" and "no" votes, but the UMW president announced the resolutions committee's recommendation was adopted by an "overwhelming" majority. He told newspaper men that not more than five per cent of the delegates voted "no."

Woman Injured In Automobile Accident Is "Resting Well"

Mrs. H. A. Harrison of 2107 Twenty-seventh street, who suffered a fractured pelvis in an automobile collision Wednesday morning, was resting well at midnight in Lubbock sanitarium, said an authority.

She also suffered head and chest bruises. She was riding in the car driven by her husband and which was in collision with another driven by V. C. King at Avenue S and Twenty-seventh street.

Francis King, 15, sister of V. C. King, was treated for face bruises.

FDR Asked To Help Business

(By The Associated Press)
MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 31—Declaring that lack of faith has stunted industrial expansion, the executive council of the American Federation of Labor today called upon President Roosevelt and Congress to "take whatever steps are necessary to restore business confidence."

The council urged that "all government actions that tend unnecessarily to discourage business expansion cease and that a positive effort be made to encourage greater industrial activity."

Expression of the council's views was contained in a statement released through President William Green who, at a subsequent press conference, declared that industry "wants to know what is the future policy of the government."

Wants To Know Rules

"It wants to know what are the rules of the game," he said. "In my opinion, a lack of rules of the game has created fear and misunderstandings."

Recommending that efforts to reduce unemployment be "integrated," the labor organization urged creation of a National Advisory Council on Unemployment, composed of representatives of government, business, labor, farmers and consumers.

Mrs. Yarbrough Dies Here At Residence Wednesday Night

Mrs. W. W. Yarbrough, 42, died at 7 o'clock Wednesday night at her 1001 Avenue B residence after an illness of several months.

Sanders Funeral home said funeral arrangements were pending arrival of relatives.

Surviving are the husband; two sons, Granville and Grady Lee; a daughter, Betty Gene; three brothers, Otis Cox of Kilgore, Hollis Cox of Groesbeck and William Cox of Shreveport, La.; and three sisters, Mrs. Cora Parker and Mrs. E. E. Tucker of Abilene and Mrs. Earl Wright of Groesbeck.

Yoakum County Land Will Be Offered For Oil Development

Approximately 337 acres of surveyed school land in Yoakum county will be offered for oil and gas development, according to an Associated Press report from Austin.

The board, composed of Land Commissioner Bascom Giles as chairman, Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel and Attorney General Gerald C. Mann, made the decision Wednesday. Land in seven other counties also will be offered for lease.

The 22 tracts will be awarded highest bidders to March 5. Yoakum county land includes:

Fraction of section 586, block D, Gibson, 105.1 acres; fraction of section 714, block D, certificate 544, Gibson, 129.3 acres.

CONDITION CRITICAL

Condition of B. O. McWhorter of 2314 Main street remained critical at midnight, authorities at Lubbock sanitarium said. McWhorter is suffering pneumonia.

Badgetts Are One Year Old Today; Colds Are Better

(By The Associated Press)
GALVESTON, Jan. 31. — Tomorrow is the first birthday anniversary of the Badgett girl quadruplets.

There will be none of the excitement which marked their entrance into the world a year ago. They are getting along nicely and each is developing her own traits of personality.

At birth their combined weight was a little under 16 pounds. They now are normal, healthy, lively babies.

Joan is the heaviest by six pounds. She weighs around 26 pounds and is the friendliest of the four to visitors who call at the Badgett home during special hours set aside in the afternoon. The other three weigh about 18 pounds each.

Jeraldine, Jeannette, and Joyce appear identical and only their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Ellis Badgett, their grandmother, Mrs. C. J. Harper of Corpus Christi, who has been staying with Mrs. Badgett here, and a few other relatives and friends can tell them apart.

All have light blue eyes and curly blonde hair. Joan has four teeth; the other three have six. Jeraldine can say "Bye-Bye" and "Mamma," and Joan has taken a few steps. Lately they have had colds, but they are recovering.

Miss Price And Mr. Simmons Are Complimented At Dinner Wednesda

The Woman's Angle
by Margaret Turner

FEBRUARY was handmade for the party-minded hostess. Is it romance she wants to dish up for her guests? There's St. Valentine, whose day just drips with hearts and flowers. Is it an historical hero she would honor? There are birthdays of our First Father and railsplitting Honest Abe. With a little effort and imagination, food, decorations and games can be dovetailed to fit any of these occasions.

It would be sweet, if someone is getting married to give a heart's shower on the 14th—tell the guests to bring whatever they think the about-to-be-bride's heart would desire for her sparkling new home.

We think it would be sport to run off, in your living room, the movies you took of the snow or of your Christmas vacation, give a Colonial costume party or sponsor a book review on Lincoln.

Here's February frolicking to all!

WRITES OF OKLAHOMA

MRS. Aletha Caldwell Conner, former Lubbock resident, has sent the desk a copy of her new book, "God Holds the Key," which we have not yet had opportunity to read but which we will and report on at the first opportunity.

This book is a novel which is said to treat of fiction, history and romance of Oklahoma and her people. The story begins when that state was still a territory and ends in the early nineteen-thirty's.

Mrs. Conner, who is a state officer in the Oklahoma State Federation of Women's clubs, is living in Monahans with her son, Louis and plans to move there from Oklahoma City since she likes West Texas.

THE CORNELL PLAY

APPROXIMATELY 100 Lubbock residents journeyed up to Amarillo Tuesday night to see that highly entertaining and amusing play, "No Time for Comedy," staged by beauteous Katharine Cornell and the Playwrights League. And while we talked to only about one-fourth of our townsmen during intermission, we found none who wasn't delighted with the play, the sets, the costumes. It was voted well worth the loss of sleep necessitated by the long ride home and the financial cost.

Between first and second acts a young woman sitting next to the writer, peering around at the Lubbockites sitting in every direction from us, asked in perplexity: "Why can't Lubbock sponsor things like this? Why do we have to come to Amarillo to see Miss Cornell?"

The woman is a comparative stranger to us and rather of a newcomer here so we'll repeat what we said to her. Lubbock doesn't sponsor road shows because there would be too many people in the place of the little man who wasn't there. Ask Prof. R. A. Mills, who as head of the Tech Artists committee has pleaded with town people, with tears in his voice, to purchase a season ticket to his attractions. Ask the people who are going to sponsor a membership drive in Civic Music Association within the next few weeks. Ask Fred Foley who attempted to bring "Golden Boy" here and who was having a difficult time selling tickets until unforeseen complications kept the play away from Lubbock.

Lubbock doesn't sponsor plays because as yet there are not enough people in Lubbock who are willing to pay the three dollars or five dollars apiece necessary to bring attractions here. We don't know why this is a fact, we only know that such is the case. And some people who would pay $3.30 for a seat in the Amarillo Paramount theater to see Katie Cornell wouldn't pay $2.50 for a similar play with Miss Cornell in Lubbock High school auditorium. And we can't explain that either.

SHE WAS SWELL

BACK to Miss Cornell's play. She truly was wonderful, charming her audience with a small cast headed by that handsome former Czecho-Slovakian Francis Lederer. Her beauty was still apparent when we joined a small group at the end of the play to pay a visit backstage and gaze in rapture at the first lady of the stage as she gave one of those "steamer landing" waves of the hands and to hear her say in her cultured, throaty voice, "It's good to be back in Amarillo, without the sandstorm." She could pass for a young thirty, although she will cross off her 42nd milestone this month according to confession in her memoirs, "I Wanted To Be An Actress."

One thing we noted in Miss Cornell's costumes and which is borne out in the shop windows in Lubbock, low-heeled shoes are to be among milady's "musts" this spring. And woe to the sister who has toddled so long on ladder heels she can't walk in the lower ones. Incidentally, Miss C. has a grace to her walk that we'd give our chances at ever owning a fur coat like hers to emulate.

A HAT AT LAST

ELIZABETH HAWES, famed American designer, made news the other day when she wore a hat of her own concoction after years of total abstinence from millinery of any description. Miss Hawes is the author of a brief, illuminating and engrossing book called "Fashion Is Spinach," which you may have read.

Her hat was described as a "brilliantly red affair, crushed over her brow, wide at the sides. And right down the center of the hat ran a narrow black band, ending in a Chinese queue like these pigtails worn by Chinese laundrymen in the movies—which dangled down the back of her neck and on to her shoulders.

And we wonder why Miss Hawes would wait this long to wear a hat and then wear one that sounds from the description like it resembled a bowl of spinach.

White Theme Used In Decorations

Miss Elizabeth Anne Price and Tom B. Simmons, jr., and members of their wedding party were honored Wednesday night when Mrs. Jack Henry entertained with a dinner at 7:30 o'clock in the Chimayo room of Hilton hotel. The group went to St. Elizabeth's Catholic church following the meal to rehearse for the wedding which is being held this morning.

Places for the guests were marked with tiny white cards tied with miniature crystal wedding bells embossed with flowers. Small bride and bridegroom marked the places set for Miss Price and Mr. Simmons.

Three bowls of white flowers were used. The center bowl was filled with Calla lilies and bowls of white stock and larkspur were placed on either side. White tapers in crystal holders lighted the scene. The mantel was decorated with evergreen and white tapers and on the piano was placed a bowl of white flowers, tapers and evergreen.

The honoree wore a gold chiffon dress with gold beaded jacket.

Those attending were Messrs. and Mesdames W. B. Price, parents of the bride-elect, Tom B. Simmons of Quanah, parents of the bridegroom-elect, George A. Simmons, George A. Simmons, jr., Paul Graham, Emory Hill, Early J. Peltier, Henry; Misses Price and Etolle McLeod; Messrs. Simmons and Ed Miller and Father Gabriel Diamante.

Want To Get Away From It All? Try The Shaw System

By SAM JACKSON
AP Feature Service Writer

FORT BRAGG, Calif., Jan. 31 — It has been more than a decade since the Rev. Henry Shaw became embittered by the way the world had treated him, turned his back on civilization, and became a hermit.

Today, comparing his situation with that of his fellow men, he says he has no regrets.

"I have little money, little expense and no worry whatever. I seldom think of the past and never of the future. I live for the day," he explains.

There is no fakery about "the hermit of Fort Bragg."

Alone With Five Cats

He lives in a shack of driftwood on a rocky, unfrequented stretch of coast some miles north of this little lumber town. His only companions are five cats.

He goes barefoot the year 'round. The soles of his feet are so calloused he compares them to horses' hoofs. Except on visits to town, he wears only a piece of gunnysack. Almost daily he takes a dip in the cold surf. His white hair falls to his shoulders, and an untrimmed beard completes this traditional figure of a recluse.

A graduate of Oxford university, England, Shaw early distinguished himself in investigating church irregularities in Wales.

"Some pretty high persons went to prison," he relates: "But the scandal made things unpleasant and I knew I'd better clear out. I went to Canada, didn't like the way things were run there, and came on to Fort Bragg."

He learned the undertaking business and for years operated a mortuary serving a huge area of this sparsely settled timber country.

Talks To The Hills

"When people began to die off like flies in tre influenza plague it was too much for me," he says. "I went all to pieces."

Six years in a mental hospital followed. The hermit says he was sane but was kept confined so his substantial savings could be alienated. He was penniless when released. It was then he became a hermit.

"I fix up a farmer's fences for the right to live here," he explains. "I get $14 a month relief money and get along just fine. The sea throws up plenty of wood and I don't wear any clothes. I eat good food and so do my cats. And the hungry wayfarer is welcome here."

Shaw will be 60 in June. Except for an oversize waistline, he is in prime physical condition and as hard as nails. He still speaks with an Oxford accent.

Unmarried and "with no relatives I care to mention," the hermit of Fort Bragg can think of only one thing that might take him briefly back into normal life. He claims some years ago to have perfected a new embalming process, "simple, inexpensive, yet astonishing in its results."

He'd like to demonstrate the process but doesn't care much whether he gets paid for it or not.

Between 60 and 70 students will make the tour.

Writ Of Error Granted In Case Involving Oil Royalties

AUSTIN, Jan. 31 (U.P.)—The state supreme court by granting a writ of error today announced it will review a ruling of a civil appeals court that the posted price of $1 for oil must be used in computing the amount due to royalty holders when oil is produced from their land in excess of the amount permitted by the state railroad commission.

A jury had found the oil worth 50 cents and the court of civil appeals awarded Adolph A. Geyer and other Rusk county land owners payment based on posted prices.

A jungle-born tiger or lion, if caught young is easier to train than one bred in captivity.

Drive To Alter Oil Order Made

A plea that oil production allowables established in Texas for February be reconsidered was contained in telegrams sent Wednesday from the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce to the railroad commission.

More than 20 telegrams were dispatched.

The telegram from the chamber of commerce, which was typical of those from Lubbock and the entire area, advised the commission that the proration order had caused "consternation in the oil industry, among farmers and in business generally" of the North Permian basin.

The North Permian basin, it was explained, is the name generally applied to oil producing areas of the South Plains.

Proposes Sharp Cut

The new proration order, according to information received here, proposes a sharp cut in the production allowed in West Texas, including the North Permian basin, while allowing an increase for the state as a whole. Oil operators declared that the operating effect of the order would be to bring operations on the South Plains and in most of West Texas to a complete standstill.

The situation brought from Tom B. Duggan, jr., Lubbock attorney and vice president of the North Permian Basin Oil and Gas Development association, the statement that the situation is one of great concern to every person concerned with the prosperity of the South Plains. The effect of the order, he said, will be a complete stoppage of all the revenue which has been brought into the South Plains region by oil operations and development.

He suggested that telegrams, letters or postal cards from persons on the South Plains, and especially those who would be affected by curtailment of oil operations, to the Railroad commission might be effective in emphasizing to members of the commission the damage that the order will do.

Former Roommate And Law Partner Of Garner Dies

HOUSTON, Jan. 31. (U.P.)—William Walter Ward, 80, who studied law with John Nance Garner and became the first law partner of the vice president, died last night in a hospital.

Funeral services will be held today. Ward had no relatives and the services were arranged by Mrs. J. S. Woods whose father was his business associate.

Garner was clerking in his uncle's store at Detroit, Tex., when Ward arrived from Tennessee to teach school. The two young men became friends and decided to go to Clarksville to study law.

Hang Up Shingle

"We went over and got us a room at a boarding house and started reading law with Capt. M. L. Simms and his partner," Ward once said. "We passed our examinations a year later and hung up our shingle. It read 'Garner and Ward."

"John wanted his name to be first—we had a long discussion about that, but it didn't make much difference to me, so we had it that way on our stationery—Garner and Ward.

"I remember when old Judge McLennan was giving John his examination, he asked him: "Jack, if a man stole a horse, what would you do to get him to justice?'

"'I'd catch him first, judge," said John.

"Anyhow, we got by the examination and practiced together for about a year, just about getting by."

Garner was appointed to fill an unexpired term as Uvalde county judge and the partnership was dissolved. Ward went to the Panhandle. Later, the friendship was renewed when Ward edited a newspaper at Uvalde.

Garner was elected to Congress and their roads forked again. Ward was in the hotel business and tried rice farming. He had lived near Houston for 30 years, making his home at Pierce Junction at the time of his death.

Members To Aid In Finishing Baptist Church Building

A "payoff" was decreed for this morning by Rev. J. A. Gibson, pastor of the Sanders street and Avenue E Baptist church.

He said members had signified they would assist in completing the building.

The minister is ready for promises to be executed—today.

"We are now ready for shingling the roof and to put on the siding," he said. "Many persons said they would help us when we were ready. We will begin work this morning."

The church structure is 24x32 feet. It is located on three lots just east of Sanders school. The former location of the congregation was on Avenue D, but the congregation has not been holding regular sessions for some months.

Rev. Mr. Gibson said the congregation hoped to be able to meet in its new home the second Sunday in February.

Lazy Insides Answer All-Vegetable Call

You ought to know this easy way to get relief when you're lazy intestinally and it has you headachy, bilious, with sour stomach, no energy.

A spicy, aromatic, all-vegetable product taken by simple directions at bedtime, usually allows time for a good night's rest; acts gently, thoroughly next morning.

BLACK - DRAUGHT'S satisfying effectiveness is due to a splendid combination of vegetable ingredients, chief of them being at "intestinal tonic-laxative", which helps tone lazy bowel muscles.

Next time, try all-vegetable, time-tested BLACK - DRAUGHT. It's economical, too. 25 to 40 doses: 25c.

Employe Representation Vote Is Requested By Employer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31(U.P.)—The National Labor Relations board today for the first time ordered an employe representation election at the request of an employer. The board last fall adopted a rule permitting employers to petition for an election.

This first election will be held within 30 days among production and maintenance employes of the Iowa Poultry Producers Marketing association of Ottumwa, Iowa. The employes will choose between the Amalgamated Meat Cutters Union (AFL), the United Packinghouse Workers (CIO) or neither.

Benefit Balls Net $790.90

Net proceeds of $790.90 were deposited to the credit of the Lubbock County Crippled Children's council Wednesday as the result of the three benefit dances staged simultaneously Tuesday night, according to the report Wednesday afternoon by Robert Maxey, general chairman of arrangements.

In addition, he said, reports of some of the ticket sales committee members were still to be made, and should add "a few dollars" to the total already received.

Total expenses of the dances, he reported, were $229.10. The total amount realized from ticket sales was $1,020.

Work Extended

"These benefit balls for the crippled children of the South Plains by all means should be made an annual affair in Lubbock," Maxey declared. "Obviously, they have the support of the people of Lubbock."

Maxey was especially warm in his praise of the part in making a financial success of the dances played by the ticket sales committee headed by Jimmie Wilson.

It was the second successive year that the dances had been arranged, with the entire proceeds above necessary expenses going to the county crippled children's council.

The council is sponsored jointly by the service clubs in Lubbock and Slaton. However, work of the council extends to all sections of the South Plains in an endeavor to help provide treatment for needy crippled children.

Byrd's Ship Almost Trapped In Ice

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31(U.P.)—The navy reported today that Admiral Richard E. Byrd's supply ship, the Barkentine Bear, narrowly escaped being trapped in ice packs while returning to the Bay of Whales from an exploratory mission to the east.

Byrd, the Antarctic expedition leader, told of the incident in a radio message dated Jan. 29. He said that an airplane was used to spot openings in the ice for the small ship.

Byrd doubted that the Bear would have been able to escape without the help of the plane. He said the Barkentine, after clearing the ice pack, ran into another hazard known as "sea smoke" which is low-lying frost similar to fog. The Bear arrived safely at its Bay of Whales base yesterday.

Byrd described the Bear's escape as one of the narrowest in her long exploratory career. He said that he was so worried over the ship's predicament that he ordered no word of the situation radioed to the United States until the outcome was certain.

Emergency School Transfers Made

Because of unexpected crowded conditions in the two new elementary schools, George R. Bean and Roscoe Wilson, those pupils attending the new schools at present from grades one to six who live south of Twenty-eighth street between Avenue Q and College avenue may change back to Dupre school for the remainder of the year, Superintendent W. B. Irvin announced Wednesday.

The school zones will remain unchanged for the present, Dr. Irvin said, but the emergency transfers are necessary because of the larger number of children riding school buses attending the new schools than was anticipated.

Dr. Irvin expressed his appreciation and thanks to the people of the district 'for their splendid cooperation during the period of readjustment.'

The transfers are effective Thursday morning and students and parents were being notified Wednesday by school officials. As far as possible, pupils will be returned to the same rooms from which they transferred to the new schools.

January Sets New Record

An all-time record for January construction in Lubbock was set in the month ending Wednesday, according to records in the office of Jim Reid, city building inspector.

Spurred by a single permit for $400,000 the January total was $594,201, more than double the previous high mark of $261,728 of the same month in 1929. Residence construction lagged considerably behind that of a year ago.

Two permits for dwellings issued Wednesday sent the total to 44, to cost $143,364. Cost in January, 1939, was $198,320 for 71 residences. Those figures reveal a substantial gain in average cost for each unit of that type of construction.

Average cost for each residence authorized in January was approximately $3,258, compared with $2,800 for the corresponding month last year.

Permits this week have totaled $24,825.

Residence construction authorization Wednesday was obtained by C. L. Mitchell, owner, and J. Cooksey Morgan, contractor, 3311 Twenty-second street, and Mrs. J. E. Vickers, owner, and J. E. Walker, contractor, 211 East Avenue C, $1,000.

The $400,000 permit issued early in January was to Lubbock National company for construction of an eight-story office building in 900-block Main street.

Commissioner Won't Allow Tavern To Be Indoor Zoo For Bares

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 31 (U.P.)—The non-nudes rather than the nudes would cause trouble, D. Frederick Burnett, state alcoholic beverage commissioner, said today in turning down the request of a Union City tavern gymnasium to a nudist club.

The tavern keeper said the gymnasium had a separate entrance from the tavern and the doors connecting could be locked.

Burnett said the precautions were all right so far as the nudist club was concerned, but he asked:

"Have you thought of your non-nudist patrons? If each comes equipped with a brace and bit or a chisel and hammer, or even a jacknife, your doors and walls will soon look like a Swiss cheese. Crowds will mill to peek at the great undraped.

"I'm all aboard for healthy athletics, but really, a licensed tavern is no place for nudists. I don't proposed to permit any tavern to convert itself into an indoor zoo for bares."

Record Crowds Are Expected For Raider-Cowboy Classics

Series To Open Here Tomorrow

When the shrill blast of Official Jack Sisco's whistle echoes through Texas Tech's rambling gymnasium Friday night, opening the Red Raider-Hardin-Simmons classic, it will be the starting signal for one of the most discussed and widely publicized basketball games ever played here.

Seldom do cage contests in this area receive so much attention. Particularly, since there are no conference crowns or the like at stake.

Record Crowds Expected

It just so happens that more than a championship of some sort is in the offing.

A feud of many years standing—one of the few Texas Tech can boast of in so-called tradition and early history—is in the act of being resumed. And the spectators of both Lubbock and Abilene are expected to jam the cage arenas in both cities for the two-game affair.

Rivalry Does It

Abilene is the scene of the series finale Saturday night.

The series marks the first time since 1936 that athletic teams of Texas Tech and Hardin-Simmons have met on the field of battle, and the revival of relations between the two institutions has been greeted with applause by both fans and officials of the two colleges.

Any meeting of two athletic aggregations flying the colors of Texas Tech and H.-SU is a "natural," and packs 'em in regardless of the sport.

Teams Taper Off

So, for one of few times, when observers predict a "sellout" their word can be taken at its face value.

Meanwhile, while all the speculation fills the air, cagers of the two schools are putting the finishing touches to their plans of attack.

Coach Frank Kimbrough today will polish his Cowboys' offensive and defensive maneuvers before sending them to bed for a good rest and Friday morning's trek here.

Raiders Are Favored

Coach Berl Huffman, also bearing down in final practice sessions for the tussle, has pronounced his charges ready for the fray. The Raiders, winners in 13 of 18 starts, rank favorites over the Ranchers, who have copped but one of five games. Only triumph for the Cowboys was a 32 to 25 overtime event to even a series split with West Texas State Teachers, H-SU's last game incidentally.

Probable starters for Kimbrough's Ranchers are the Osborne brothers, from Tell, with 6-foot, 7-inch Grady at center, and Porter, a mid-year sophomore, at forward. A pair of grid ends, Bob Cowsar, Odessa forward, and Deward Marcum, Paducah guard, with Dudley Reed, veteran senior guard, complete the quintet.

Cowboys Are Tall

That squad will average 6-foot, 1-inch, easily holding a height advantage over the Crimsons.

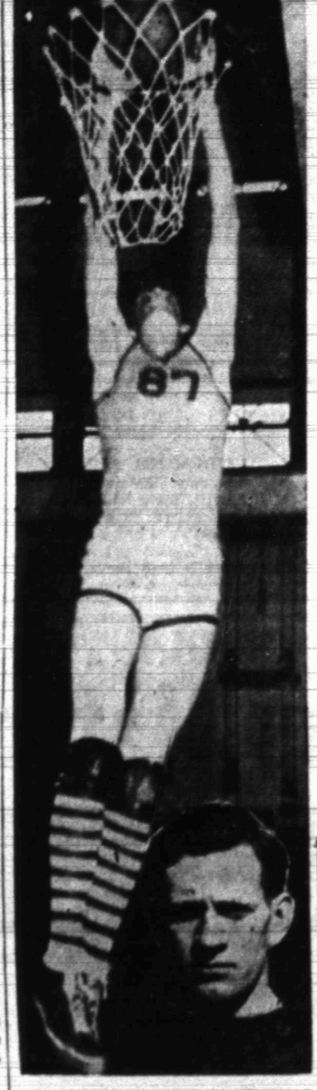

H. C. Burrus, Big Spring sophomore, and a third gridiron end, will alternate with Porter Osborne. Grady, the team's high scorer, has averaged 10.2 points per contest.

In 1936, when the Ranchers and Raiders met in their most recent hardwood games, the Cowboys won four.

Fans To Follow Teams

For Saturday night's game in Abilene, special between-halves entertainment by the H-SU Cowboy band and Cowgirls. Attendance is expected to pack the Cowboy Corral to capacity, with a goodly number of Lubbock enthusiasts in the crowd.

Reports from the home of the Cowboys indicate that several carloads of boosters from Abilene will follow the team here Friday night for the series opener.

SPOTLIGHT'S ON THEM—When Texas Tech's Red Raiders and the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys clash in their series opener at the Crimsons' gym Friday night, these two will figure prominently in the proceedings. Above is Jack Sisco, coach at N.T.S.T.C. at Denton, one of the Southwest's outstanding sports officials, who has been signed to work the series. In action at the left is Grady Osborne, 6-foot, 7-inch Teli, Texas, center. This elongated casaba artist is leading scorer of the Cowboys, having averaged 10.2 points per game to date. He is a two-letter senior, has a younger brother, Porter, a mere soph towering 6-foot, 3-inches, who begins varsity career against Tech Friday.

Haas Says Mack Too Optimistic

(By The Associated Press)

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 31.—Much as he'd like to see his former boss turn the trick next season, George "Mule" Haas, former member of the last championship team of the Philadelphia Athletics, thinks Connie Mack is a few years away from another pennant.

Haas, an outfielder with the championship Mack teams of the 1929-31 period, said he has great admiration for the venerable Philadelphia manager's psychology, particularly with young players, but he thinks the $200,000 worth of new talent acquired by the Athletics will be "too green to be a pennant winner very soon."

Yanks Still Barrier

"How is any new club going to stop the Yankees for the next few years?" he asked. "Boston might with a few new pitchers, but no new team can do it right away."

"Connie has a great way with youngsters, though," Haas said. "He really is the finest manager I have ever seen. He treats each player like a son, and respects each one the same way that he commands respect.

Haas, who broke into the majors in the National league with Pittsburgh in 1925, went to Atlanta in the Southern association in 1926 and 1927 and then went to the Athletics.

Has Offer From Chisox

He played in the World Series of 1929-30-31 with the Athletics, and the next year was sold to the Chicago White Sox. After five years in Chicago he returned to the A's in 1938 for his final year in the big-time.

He is here this winter as instructor at a baseball school, and has a tentative offer of a coaching position with the White Sox.

Duford Signs As Grid Mentor At St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 31. (U.P.)—Wilfred J. (Dukes) Buford, whose football teams at St. Ambrose college, Davenport, Iowa, have a nine-year record of 60 victories, seven ties and 10 defeats, today was appointed head football coach for St. Louis university.

Duford succeeds Cecil E. Mueller-leile, whose resignation was accepted Jan. 13. He will assume his new duties March 15 as will his assistants, Robert G. Klenck and Don W. Geyer.

Sweetwater Will Play Cowboys Here Today

Sweetwater's tough little junior cagers will furnish the city's cage entertainment and opposition this afternoon when they tangle with Coach Lovic Liston's Junior High Cowboys at the Junior High gym.

The game will get under way at 3:15 o'clock.

Postponed several days ago, a return game sending the undefeated local lads to Sweetwater will be played Feb. 9.

Probable starters for the Cowboys this afternoon will be selected from the following lineeup, Coach Liston said: Captain Joe L. Thompson and Primo McCurry, forwards; Hubert Bechtol or Hollis Walker, center; Ezell Wallace or Kemp Lanford and Robert Brewer, guards.

Southland Thumps Slaton, 21-8, In South Plains League Game

SLATON, Jan. 31 (Special) — Southland soundly thumped the Slaton High Tigers here last night in a South Plains league tussle, 21 to 8, with Johnson taking high scoring honors with 7 tallies for the night.

Martindale paced the local lads with three points.

Champs Selected At Littlefield

(Special To The Avalanche)

LITTLEFIELD, Jan. 31—Champions in all eight divisions were named in a big one-night fist fest at the Rio theater.

A good house cheered 10 bouts which led through the eliminations to the title tussles. Originally scheduled for two nights, the tourney was cut to one when the entry list dwindled below expectations.

Winners will be brought to Lubbock for the District Golden Gloves meet beginning next Monday night

McCarty Is Victorious

The eight champions and how they got that way include:

Billy Kirk of the Littlefield CCC decisioned McPrice of Amherst to take the flyweight crown.

W. D. McCarty of Littlefield outslugged Gene Moore of the Littlefield CCC to take the bantamweight honors.

Buford Bradshaw of Littlefield received the nod over Jack Blackburn of the local CCC for the featherweight title.

Cecil Halman of the Littlefield CCC in a welterweight title bout decisioned Paul Williams of Anton.

Woody Culpepper of the Littlefield CCC won over R. E. Rucker of Littlefield to take the middleweight championship.

Herman Dirickson of Littlefield, last year's District GG light heavy titlist, registered a technical kayo in the second over James Compton of the Littlefield CCC for similar honors tonight.

Wendall Rose of the Littlefield CCC, 200-pounder, won the heavyweight crown by default.

Preliminary action leading to the final bouts found:

Billy Kirk kayoing O. D. Keplinger in the initial round.

Herman Childress, welterweight of Anton, taking the decision over Harold Hanby of Sudan.

In an exhibition, Hanby lost on a technical kayo in the second to Rose. And in the final bout of the evening, Childress lost a decision to Halman in a welterweight in an exhibition.

Referee was O. J. "Bo" Sexton of Lubbock.

Who's Who Has Dykes Tops In Years Of Play

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The silver anniversary edition of Who's Who In Baseball, the social register of the major leagues, is off the press, its poignant story told not by the names and figures on its pages, but the names and figures omitted.

Approximately 35 new names are included, which means approximately that number was dropped. That means a turnover of 35 players, which, Editor Cliff Bloodgood says, is about the annual average. That doesn't mean the players who hop in and out of the majors, but players with more or less substantial records in the big show.

Old-Timer Omitted

For more than 20 years Bloodgood has been making the compilation of players' records practically a full-time job. By personal contact, by writing, and by devious methods he's made the book with its records of 240 players as nearly fool-proof as possible.

"The toughest job", he says, "is when the day comes that you have to leave out some old-timer who has grown into a part of the game. For instance, Tony Lazzeri is out this year, and Rip Collins, and Joe Stripp, and Ed Brandt, and Monte Stratton. Also Paul Dean and Wes Ferrell, although they should be in. I didn't know they'd be coming back.

Gehrig Still In

"I left in Lou Gehrig, of course, and also Pie Traynor, largely through sentiment. And I put Frankie Frisch back, although he's not an active player."

Bloodgood says he has little trouble getting information, but, particularly in cases where he gets it from the players, he has to double check. It seems the players have hot and cold running memories. They're like a kid who recalls the fun he had swiping the watermelons, but forgets the rock salt he was digging out of his hide for two weeks.

Bonura Touchy

"They might tell you they hit .375 for Whistlestop in 1932," he explains. "You check and find it true, but it was only for 10 games, and they hit .240 in 140 games for Atlantic Crossing the same year. It's a case of: 'Well, well, it completely slipped my mind.'"

Bloodgood doesn't have many complaints, although Zeke Bonura did write him an indignant letter when Cliff added a year to his age, as if they would affect Zeke's fielding.

"I had him born in 1908 instead of 1909," Bloodgood explains.

Veterans Included

The player in the 1940 edition with the most years of continuous service is Jimmy Dykes, White Sox Manager. The 43-year-old Jimmy started playing pro ball in 1917 and, although he has slowed down to a faint wheeze now, he nevertheless was in two games and batted once last year to maintain his record.

Next comes Ossie Bluege, Lefty Grove, Earl Whitehill and Fat Freddy Fitzsimmons, all of whom started their careers in 1920. Pressing them are Johnny Cooney, who is back with the Boston club he started with in 1921; Gabby Hartnett, who started out the same year with Worcester, and the next year went to the Cubs, where he's been ever since; Luke Sewell and Charley Root.

Gloves Deadline Is Today; List Climbs Near 100 Mark

Ninety-six ambitious young amateur boxers, representing 22 South Plains towns, were on the Lubbock District Golden Gloves tournament roll call this morning, having signified their intentions to compete in the biggest athletic show of the year Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday den Gloves show last night.

The list was expected to increase by eight or more following the finals of the Littlefield "preliminary" Golden Gloves show tonight.

Deadline for entries fall at midnight tonight. All boxers who plan to enter the District touranment, biggest in the entire state from the standpoint of entries, must mail or bring their entries before midnight. Cards or letters enclosing entries should be postmarked before the end of the day.

MEXICANS FIGHT TONIGHT

First official boxing blows of the year will be dealt tonight in a brief slugfest in the Community auditorium near the St. Joseph's Church.

Several young men of the Mexican community, it was learned, have been going great guns in boxing bouts, and some of them wish to compete in the District Golden Gloves tournament next week. Tonight they will get together with the gloves and eliminate themselves down to two or three fighters, who will try to qualify for the District meet. The fights start at 7:30 o'clock and the public is invited.

Yesterday's mail brought eleven new entries, including eight from Tahoka, scene of a recent "preliminary" tournament; two from Lubbock and one from Plainview.

Starts Monday Night

The fourth annual Avalanche-Journal Golden Gloves District tournament will get under way at 8 o'clock Monday night, February 5, at the Merchants Building on the Fair grounds. The big new building will have been transformed into an adequate arena, accommodating up to 650 ringside patrons and 660 bleacher or general admission customers.

The general admission box office, at the building, will be opened about 6:30 Monday evening, at which time the unsold ringside ducats also will be placed on sale. Between now and 6 o'clock Monday, the ringsides remain on sale at the Hilton Hotel lobby desk, Lubbock Hotel drugstore, A. & L. drugstore and Mark Halsey Drug No. 2.

Weigh In At 4 O'Clock

All boxers are to meet at the building at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon for official weighing in and physical examinations. It is essential that all entries be present at that time. Pairings for first round fights will be announced, and fighters will receive final instructions. No instructions will be given in the ring by Referee Bo Sexton.

The fight programs each night will be conducted so there will be no

Acceptances also have been received from Gene Venzke and Blaine Rideout of Denton, Tex.

SHIRLEY ANN JOHNSON
She's Surprise Of Tourney

Johnson Upsets Meet Favorites

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Jan. 31—Three of the nation's top-ranking women golfers and a comely outsider, Shirley Ann Johnson of Winnetka, Ill., survived two rounds of play today to reach the semi-finals of the annual Miami-Biltmore Women's championship.

Patty Berg of Minneapolis, seeking her fifth straight victory in the local classic; Betty Jameson of San Antonio, National champion, and Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., Curtis Cup star and former Southern champion, joined the blonde Illinois miss in the round of four.

Tomorrow's 18-hole matches will pit Berg against Miley and Jameson against Johnson, with the odds favoring a final between Jameson and Berg.

Shirley Ann supplied the surprise of the tournament with successive victories over Neoma Cupie of Toledo, 4 and 2, and Grace Amory of Palm Beach, the tournament medalist, 2 and 1.

Red haired Patty, playing in competition for the first time since recovering from an appendicitis operation, beat little Louise Suggs of Atlanta, 4 and 3, with a magnificent burst in the morning round. Then she recovered from a shaky start in the afternoon to eliminate Clara Callender of Long Beach, Calif., 2 and 1.

Miss Miley beat Jane Cothran of Greenville, S. C., 2 and 1, and Mrs. William Hockenjos of Lake Hopatcong, 3 and 2, to gain her place in the semi-finals.

Woodruff Faces Test Saturday

By BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 31—There is a strong hope in this corner that John Woodruff will be lucky enough to draw the pole position for the half-mile run in the Millrose Games at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

Unquestionably the New York U. graduate student, with his nine-foot stride, is the country's—and possibly the world's—greatest half-miler, outdoors. But on boards the Olympic 800-meter champion runs like a bewildered novice, chiefly because he can't shorten that stride enough to cope with the sharp turns.

American Legion Hall Is Site Of Institute Today

A "one-day university" on organizing, financing, directing coaching athletics will be athletic training institute is conducted at the American Legion today in three special sessions, of which gets under way at 10 this morning.

TILTS DOWNWARD

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—Scattered selling in aviation, motor and metal shares tipped the stock market scales slightly to the downside today.

A few shares broke away from the main trend with minor gains, but traders generally seemed reluctant to take positions until the business and war outlooks clarify.

One of the quietest months on the stock exchange in many years ended with little change in the character of the dealings. Several large transactions in low-priced issues contributed to lift the day's turnover to 610,010 shares compared with 547,960 yesterday, but the market remained in the rut it has occupied the last two weeks.

The Associated Press composite price of 60 stocks at the finish was down .2 of a point at 49.4.

Loft ended ⅛ point at 24¾—a 1939-40 high—Studebaker, after setting a similar record, closed unchanged.

Other outstanding performers included Seaboard Air Line, and United Corp., which lost an eighth at 2⅛.

Bigelow-Sanford ended up ⅛.

Other gainers were Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck, each of which reported its greatest sales year in history, Allied Chemical, U. S. Gypsum, Canada Dry, Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit and Westinghouse.

Ending slightly lower were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Kennecott, American Smelting, Chrysler, General Motors, Douglas, Martin, Eastman Air Lines, and General Electric.

Bond trends were inconclusive.

Commodities slipped toward the end of the day.

Foreign security markets lagged.

Nehi Corp. ran up 2⅛ in the curb and fractional gains were posted for American Cyanamid "B" and Niagara Hudson Power. Small losers included Electric Bond and Share and McWilliams Dredging. Turnover of 125,000 shares compared with 119,600 Tuesday.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—The cotton futures market took a fling at a higher price range today, didn't like it and settled back with net losses of 1 to 6 points.

Improved foreign markets piped a seductive tune at the start. Prices were lifted as much as 50 cents a bale at Liverpool, Wall Street and New Orleans interests studied the higher cables.

Later news from Bombay and Liverpool wasn't so cheerful. Reactions abroad discouraged local support. Selling increased, Bombay liquidating orders hit the ring and prices sagged.

Late in the day new liquidation was encouraged by shaky securities quotations and closing prices were near the bottom for the session.

Textile buyers remained indifferent in the face of a few secondhand offerings at slight concessions. Gray goods purchases were confined mostly to fill-in needs.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 31 (AP)—The average price of middling 15-16ths-inch cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 4 points lower at 10.44 cents a pound; average for the past thirty market days was 10.84; middling 7/8ths-inch average 10.36 cents a pound.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 31 (AP) — Wheat prices fluctuated uncertainly today and after gaining ⅝ cent dropped to as much as ⅞ cent under previous closing levels.

Early firmness due to moderate buying, some of which was credited to mills, lifted May contracts to 97⅝ and July to 94⅝, both up ⅝ cent. Lack of follow through buying and failure of Winnipeg to hold early gains, however, dropped prices, May falling to 96⅝ and July to 93⅝. There was little news to influence the market in either direction and trade was light during most of the session.

Wheat closed ⅜ to ¾ lower, May 96⅝@96⅝, July 93⅞@93⅞; corn ½ to ⅝ down, May 55⅞@55⅝, July 55⅞; oats ⅛ to ¼ higher; rye ⅛ to 1⅜ lower; soy beans 2⅛ lower; lard unchanged to 5 cents a hundredweight lower.

Wheat at Kansas City finished ⅜ to ⅝ down, at Minneapolis ¼ to ⅝ lower and at Winnipeg ⅛ to ¼ down.

Resumption of export business in United States wheat under the subsidy program recently reinstated on the Pacific Coast attracted attention. Sales of about 300,000 bushels to the Orient were reported made at a subsidy of about 30 cents a bushel.

The government's weekly crop summary said the condition of winter wheat had changed little, but that good snow coverage still protected much of the principal producing areas. Some southwest portions of the belt, previously covered, however, were said to have become bare. Actual benefit of snowfall in the Southwest to winter wheat, it added, still was a question.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Jan. 31 (AP) — Demand continued slow for grain here Wednesday.

Wheat—No. 1 soft red winter 1.06½-1.07½; No. 1 hard 1.03½-1.05½.

masses of munitions and equipment which it is necessary for us to have in order to carry on the struggle.

"But let nobody suppose that we want to use the measures that we have taken for any purpose other than prosecution of the war, nor that we are indifferent to losses which neutrals may thereby sustain."

To Restore Trade

Then, praising the British-American trade agreement of more than a year ago and its "most-favored-nation" principle, he went on:

"One of our foremost aims in the future will be the restoration of international trade, which seems to us to present the best opportunities for restoring in turn the standard of living and consuming power of nations. That is the policy we have in mind when the time comes to turn once more from war to peace."

Fight For Funds

tions committeeman, said that with farm prices considerably higher than last year, increased farm funds could not be justified.

Rep. Jones, answering members who contended yesterday that the farm problem had not been solved in spite of the expenditure of millions of dollars and adoption of various programs, asked his colleagues to recall "when we had ten-cent corn, 20-cent wheat and five-cent cotton."

Asking restoration of $25,000,000 cut from farm tenant loans, he said this type of farm aid had not more than started and that it should be given a fair chance to prove its worth.

Wallace, during his press conference, expressed the belief that the farm bill reductions were based upon "a misunderstanding" and that they, together with parity payments or their equivalent, would be voted if, toward the end of the present session of Congress, it appeared that the war was not helping farm prices and incomes.

House members from farm states will meet in the office of Chairman Jones tomorrow to discuss methods of fighting reductions in agriculture appropriations.

Rep. Ferguson (D-Okla.) called the meeting.

"Efforts will be made to line up the farm bloc solidly behind a move to restore at least part of the cuts for soil conservation and dry land experiment stations.

had advanced $254,500. Akers ostensibly was robbed of the bars while transporting them. He and Forrest then induced Mrs. Roberts to advance an additional $32,500 for more maps.

Banker Tipped Them

Smith told the court the men had ordered brass bricks and buried them about the ranch after burning them to give them an aged appearance. They always were dug in the presence of Mrs. Roberts.

The attorney said a relative of Forrest's advised Mrs. Roberts of the swindle and that the same person, learning of some silver bars buried on the Roberts ranch dug them up and attempted to sell some of them last August to an Oklahoma banker. The banker notified secret service agents who began an investigation which led to filing of income tax charges.

Allies Ready To Meet Offensive

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Cable Editor

The word from Paris that the Allied high command expects and is ready to meet a smashing German offensive in the spring.

Many military observers in France, however, insist that Hitler cannot undertake an offensive in which the whole German army would become involved, without assuring himself of ample oil and other supplies.

Meeting Watched

For that reason, the three-day meeting of the foreign ministers of Rumania, Jugoslavia, Greece and Turkey, which starts in Belgrade on Friday, is being watched intently in the Allied capitals.

The ministers, undoubtedly, will report on increased German pressure to get the lion's share of Balkan production of oil, copper, bauxite, chromium and wheat, to the detriment of the Allies.

Germany was pleased by Rumania's creation of a national oil office, believing it will gradually lead to German dominance over the supply.

Cut Off Deliveries

The French believe that the present German economic strategy consists of attempting to obtain formation of similar national offices for control of wheat in Hungary and Rumania and of copper in Jugoslavia, through which Germany, by direct approach to the governments concerned, could cut off deliveries to the Allies in favor of concentrated shipments to the Reich.

Balkan sources, however, say that the Belgrade meeting will be devoted to keeping war out of the Balkans and to establishing Balkan economic neutrality.

To Discuss Methods

The conference will discuss methods of balancing exports of vital raw materials between Germany and the Allies, and allocating such exports so as to minimize pressure on Balkan governments by the opposing great powers.

Turkey, which is a partner of the Allies, is reported to be urging reinforcement of the existing Balkan entente by obtaining Bulgarian and Hungarian support to a plan under which the six Balkan states would agree automatically to aid any of their number who is the victim of unprovoked aggression.

Number Will Grow

The chances of a spread of the war to the Balkans are considered by the Allies to be chiefly that Hitler, if he cannot get his needed supplies by pressure or negotiation, may in desperation march in. The Allies are bound to go to Rumania's aid if she is invaded.

If that happens Hitler would be fighting on two fronts and could be strongly attacked, the Allies believe, from the rear, where he has no Siegfried line. He would face the formidable French-British near eastern army, Turkey, Rumania and perhaps others.

King Carol, who has sworn to fight if attacked, has made every preparation to do so. Bucharest reports more than 1,500,000 men now under arms, with the prospect that by the end of March the number will be 2,000,000.

to have kept out—and hope they may stay out."

Four of their five children have remained in Naples with Signora D'Ancona's father. They hope their children may join them later in America.

Campuses Are Small

Italian universities have small campuses and the professor was impressed with the size of Texas Tech's campus. He said he considered the Spanish architecture of Tech's buildings in harmony with the landscape.

What has impressed him most in this country? That was hard to answer, but the enormity particularly has impressed him, as well as the freedom in travel. "You may travel thousands of miles, with no one to ask for passports and no differences in languages."

During much of the interview, Mrs. D'Ancona repeated statements of her husband, who frequently spoke in Italian. The professor speaks Spanish, Italian, French, Rumanian, Portuguese, English and other languages but has not had as much experience in speaking English as his wife, who has associated with numerous Americans living or visiting in Naples.

Taught Many Places

Dr. D'Ancona has taught at the university in Florence, at the naval academy at Leghorn, Italy's Annapolis, at the university in Sycily, University of Madrid three years, and the International Summer school in Spain, besides at Naples.

He is author of several books, including "Poetical History of the Prince Don Carlos, son of Philip 2nd," "Lope de Vega and Italy," "Romantic Lives," "Life of the Duque de Rivas," "Spanish Motifs," "Castles in Spain" and numerous articles.

He visited at Johns Hopkins university, Tulane university, Princeton and other institutions before coming to Lubbock. He was recommended to Tech officials by Prof. H. Carrington Lancaster of Johns Hopkins university.

Plumber Shoots Himself With Blowtorch, But Not Seriously

EMPORIA, Kas., Jan. 31. (AP) — Plumber Frank Kruger shot himself with a blow torch.

He was thawing a frozen water pipe in a basement. Someone had left a rifle shell on top of the wall near the pipe. The heat exploded the cartridge and the lead grazed Krueger's cheek.

Two Burglaries Investigated

Police Wednesday were investigating two burglaries and various thefts.

A lock was knocked off a door of a building at the rear of 1911 Tenth street and 310 pounds of meat, valued at $38, was taken. The building belongs to Arnold Chauncey.

Cigarets, cigars, gum and a radio, totaling nearly $20 in value, were taken by intruders who entered the cafe of M. W. Overfelt at 1309 Avenue C. A screen had been removed from a window and "the place was all torn up," the official report said.

Clothing valued at $83 was stolen from an automobile, Mrs. Bruce Collier of 2117 Twenty-ninth street reported. She listed a $60 overcoat, a hat that cost $18.50 and a $5 hat and a pair of gloves.

M. B. Tudor of Slaton said a $5 man's hat and a purse containing $4 was taken from his automobile parked in 900-block.

Charles A. Ross reported a hydraulic jack, valued at $25, stolen from Ross Lumber company at 1419 Nineteenth street.

Russo-Finnish

ister Dr. Harri Holma warned that the Finnish army "is condemned to death" unless it receives sufficient help quickly.)

The nightly Finnish communique said that red army attacks northeast of Lake Ladoga had been thrown back with the loss of nine tanks.

Observers, expanding this official bulletin, said the Finns were waiting for the trapped Russians to run out of ammunition before trying to administer a coup de grace. The soviet soldiers were reportid to have been without food for more than a week.

Raids Staged

New Russian attacks on the Karelian isthmus were repulsed, the Finnish high command said, with a loss of "about 50 killed." The attacks were concentrated at taipale.

Other sectors were quiet.

The Finns reported a slackening in Russian air attacks.

Finnish anti-aircraft and fighting planes shot down five enemy planes, the high command declared, and carried "out several reconnaissance and bombing raids."

tem, made improper advances to them.

Dr. Johnson generally and specifically has denied the charges and has sought to show that a conspiracy, based on political motives, was formed to oust him.

Physicians Testify

Among the witnesses testifying in behalf of the superintendent were many prominent physicians of San Antonio, present and former employes of the hospital, a state senator and two state representatives.

In addition to the direct character and other testimony, that of several of the complaining women was attacked.

A former agent of the department of justice testified that, when six years ago he had exhaustively investigated the mysterious death of a man at the hospital, he talked to all employes of the institution and not one complaint against the superintendent's conduct had been heard.

Face Appears

There was virtually no cross examination of the witnesses by Claude Williams, assistant secretary of state, who is assisting the board of control in the hearing.

Meanwhile, in San Antonio police guarded the home of Mrs. Anna Hewitt, apartment house owner who had testified in Dr. Johnson's defense regarding the chastity of a woman witness who had complained against him.

Mrs. Hewitt told police an unidentified man had telephoned her that she had gotten herself "in serious trouble," and that last night a man's face had appeared at a window.

Importance Of The Census

FEDERAL census officials here say that enumerators working in various portions of the South Plains report they encounter occasional difficulties as they proceed with the taking of the national business census.

The most frequent problem, according to the reports, is the business man called upon to supply figures relative to his business. The suspicion is expressed that, in some instances, the figures supplied in such matters as business volume are not as large as accuracy would require.

Since most of us are apt to be consulted by census takers one or more times during 1940, perhaps a few reminders on the subject might be appropriate at this time.

The census taker does not adopt a belligerent attitude. He is trying to get along. If he isn't courteous and cooperative, then he is likely to be out of a job before very long.

However, he is not a key-hole peeper attempting to pry into something that is none of his business. He is an agent of the government, assigned under the law to certain governmental duties. He has certain questions to ask in connection with his job. Uncle Sam does not merely expect and request answers to those questions. He requires those answers—and that they be correct. The penalty for refusal to answer, or for wrong answers, could be most severe.

The business man is protected in the disclosure of facts which might be important personal secrets by the assurance that the census officials are under oaths not to disclose anything they learn. The penalties for the violation of that oath is more certain and more severe than those provided for those who give incorrect information.

However, if there was assurance that there never would be any penalty for wrong answers, it still would be desirable that accurate information be supplied concerning business volume. It is particularly important to such areas as Lubbock and the South Plains that such information be complete because this is a section where development has been rapid and where development may be expected to continue. It is to our advantage to make available to the world just how much business we have done on the South Plains the past year, and just how much it has increased over five or 10 years ago.

Likewise it is important that we be shown on the census roll with full credit for the business done. The information obtained from that source often is the factor which determines the national assistance local retail firms receive. It often is the factor which is used in deciding the location of distributing houses, factories, transportation systems and the like. In the case of Lubbock, for example, total business volume, and increase, as shown by the federal census might become a factor in obtaining the airline connection the city has sought through so many years.

Cooperation with the census enumerator isn't going to hurt anyone except the person who refuses to cooperate. And by supplying all the answers just as they should be answered, we may be taking advantage of an opportunity to advance the interests of ourselves and our area.

Whistling In The Dark

ADOLF HITLER'S speech the other day can be likened aptly to the discordant whistling of a boy passing a graveyard on a dead run.

It was the seventh anniversary of his having become chancellor of Germany. Since he had observed various other anniversaries by making speeches, he could not depart from custom on this occasion without possibility of comment among his own people. It was significant, however, that in contrast with previous occasions, virtually no advance notice was given of his intent to orate.

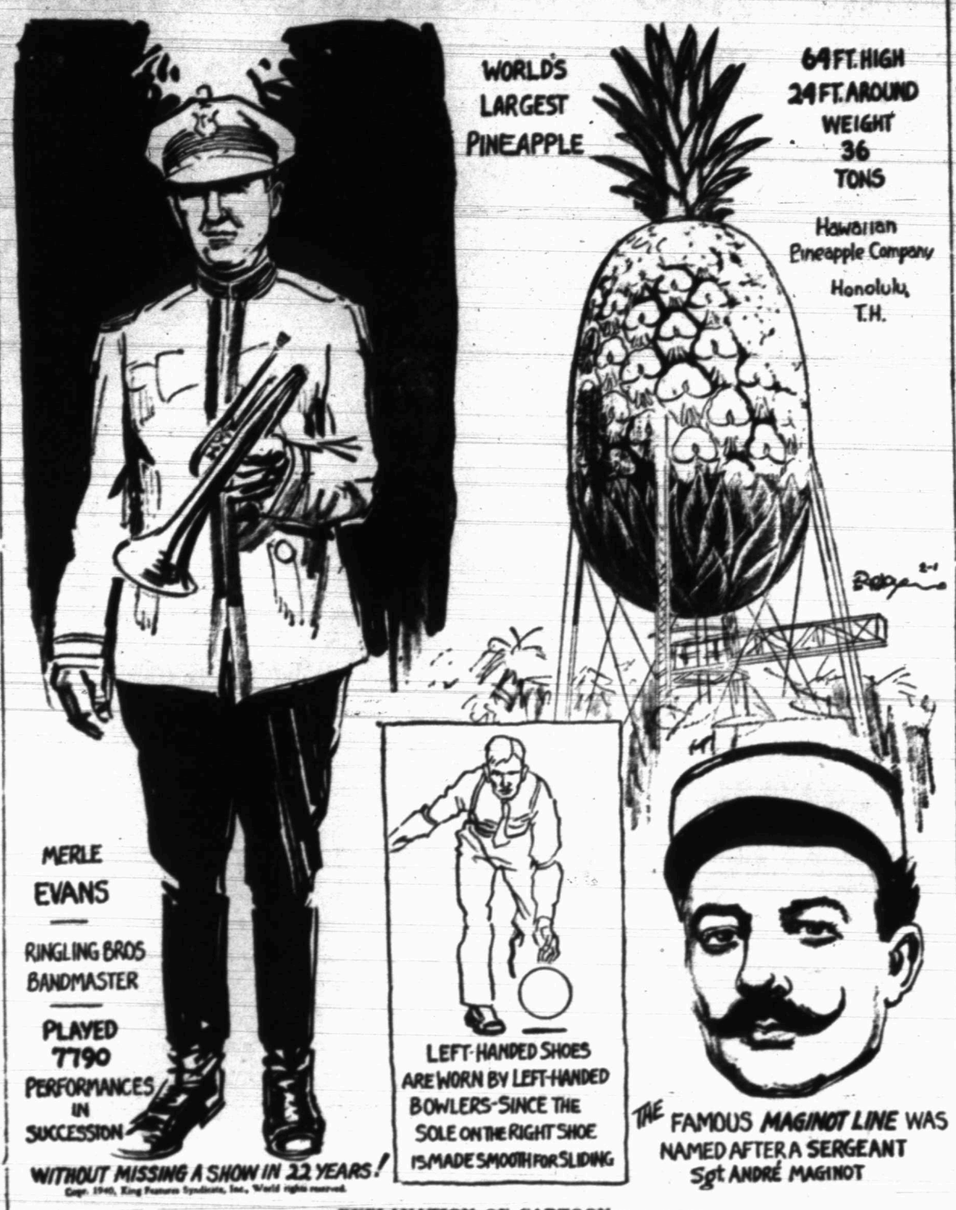

Maybe he didn't want the world to listen this time because of the fallacies he stated, one among them being the claim that the alliance with Italy remains firm. The evidence is too strong that Italy may be on the other side before the war is over for even Hitler to expect that any such claim might be swallowed.

The One-Minute Sermon

Is not the Lord your God with you? and hath he not given the inhabitants of the land into mine hand; and the land is subdued before the Lord, and before his people.

Now set your heart and your soul to seek the Lord your God; arise therefore, and build ye the sanctuary of the Lord God, to bring the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and the holy vessels of God, into the house that is to built to the name of the Lord.—I. Chronicles 22; 18 and 19.

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

THE MAGINOT LINE

Sergeant Andre Maginot (1877-1932), after whom the line was named, enlisted in the French army as a simple private and rose to the rank of sergeant, with which he was honorably discharged from the army as a "mutile de guerre". Although he was only a sergeant, he became "chief of all the armies of France" when he was appointed minister of war (1922-1931). It was during that time that the famous French fortifications were built.

YESTERDAY: Tommy and Bat clash again when Tommy accompanies Marie home. Marie tries to argue her father out of his belligerent mood, with small success. Her mother wants Marie to have a chance for happiness—like Lynda Martin. A policeman arrives to see Bat.

CHAPTER III

The telephone rang in Lynda Martin's library.

"Dorrit," she called, flinging down the morning paper, society side up, "will you answer that?"

It was noon. Lynda, not dressed for the day, had on a frothy pink chiffon negligee. Rose-tinted toenails showed provocatively through the gilt lacing of pink satin mules. She yawned.

"Are you at home, Ma'am?" An English maid looked out from the bedroom.

"That depends on who it is."

Dorrit picked up the receiver. "Miss Martin's apartment. Might h'I ask the name? Mr. Daniel Donovan!"

Lynda nodded.

"Yes, sir. H'if you'll be so good as to wait, h'I'll call her."

She detached a removable telephone from the far end of the room and plugged it in at the baseboard nearest Lynda's chair.

"Hello, Dan." Lynda's voice was eager. "I hoped you'd call. Varnet's making me the most wonderful dress for the party. Want a preview? Meet you at the Colony for lunch? I'd love to, then we can go to Varnet's afterwards."

She hung up the receiver and raced toward her bedroom, calling Dorrit as she went.

The bedroom, like the library, was a fitting frame for her fragile beauty. Her father had handed the 17-year-old girl a blank check when he bought the tripiex apartment on 5th Avenue and said, "Go ahead, baby, decorating is a woman's job."

Lynda had immediately turned the 30 rooms over to Delavigne, New York's most fashionable decorator. Newspapers put the cost of old man Martin's home at $2,000,000. Actually it set him back $1,500,000. Lynda's private apartment was a copy of Marie Antoinette's chambers at Versailles. The graceful decorations with their poetic touches of pink and blue, enhanced her golden loveliness, but they could not change the petulant lines of her pretty mouth, for Lynda was a spoiled child.

Mrs. Martin died when she was six. Her training had been left in the hands of fashionable private school head mistresses and governesses. It was James Martin's theory that money would solve all problems. Everytime his daughter failed her studies, he put here in a more expensive school. She left the last one just after her 16th birthday.

Once out of school her father regarded her education completed. Indulgent but abstracted, he gave her an unlimited bank account and let her go her own way.

Just now, life revolved for her around Dan Donovan, the best catch, as far as money and looks went, in New York's younger crowd. He also had brains, but no one, not even himself, had discovered that yet. His trouble, like Lynda's, was too much money.

On the other hand, money had given him certain advantages, four years at Harvard, English clothes, graceful manners, and friends with expensive tastes. His father, Mike Donovan, liked to boast about these things. He liked to say that he was self-made, but he'd started his boy out with the best foot first.

"With your money and my brains and the training he's acquiring now, there's no telling where our boy will go," Dan's mother was constantly telling Mike.

Donovan, ignoring the initial dig, would reply, "You're right, Katie, there's no tellin' where he's goin' unless he settles down. Why, at his age I—"

That's as far as he got. Mrs. Donovan would either walk out or interrupt, but neither side ever gave in.

Today Dan's parents, could they have seen him, would have seethed with conflicting emotions. Mrs. Donovan would have been proud of Dan's acquaintances. Mr. Donovan would have sputtered because Dan was not downtown at Donovan & Company.

"Look around you," Dan could hear his father say. "Do you see a real man among these wasters, except perhaps yourself, and only because you're my son."

Dan glanced in the mirror opposite his chair and wondered if he looked like a waster. Try as he would, he could never brush his red hair so it would stay flat. For another thing, his face was too freckled. He didn't have the sort of complexion that tanned smoothly. A week-end on his father's houseboat, off South Carolina, hadn't helped. Besides, there was a carelessness in his demeanor, a gaiety about nothing in particular in his green eyes which none of these birds around him had.

His self-analysis was interrupted by Mrs. William Martin, Lynda's aunt.

Mrs. Martin was a woman of authoritative presence. She carried her weight gallantly and she had a nose like a parrot's beak. Whatever her clothes, they always suggested armor. Today the resemblance was more pronounced. Her gray dress and coat had bits of steel trimming.

She tapped Dan on the arm. "My dear boy. I hear Lynda's bringing you to my little party Saturday. I'm so happy."

Her manner was arch. It implied more than her words.

Mrs. Donovan, had she been present, would have beamed. Mrs. Martin had a definite place in society. If anything, it had been better before she married James Martin's brother, Will. But it might have been worse, her friends said, for Will did have money and he never forced himself on anyone.

"Yes, I'm meeting Lynda here for lunch," answered Dan, a bit self-consciously.

Mrs. Martin nodded, pride in her bright black eyes, and moved on at a gesture from the headwaiter.

"Oh. Dan," Lynda's soft, childish voice sounded in his ear. "I am so sorry, but you know what the telephone is, or don't you. I simply couldn't get away sooner."

Dan squeezed her arm and guided her into lunch. "Never mind. You're here now."

At half-past three, Varnet himself was bowing the pair to the main salon.

Lynda settled back in her chair and puffed on the cigaret Dan had lighted for her. "Varnet, I thought Mr. Donovan might get a kick out of seeing your place. He tells me he's never been here before."

Dan dropped his coat and hat on a nearby settee. "I'm not entirely without experience," he laughed, glancing toward the models. "I have been backstage at a couple of plays."

He drew his chair up beside Lynda. "We're ready. Where's the show?"

Varnet clapped his hands. The customers on the opposite side of the room to whom the models were showing the collection had gone. For the moment, no sales-woman was in sight.

At the sound of Varnet's signal, the enormous white velvet curtain at the far end of the room parted and Marie La Porte stepped slowly forward. She was wearing the gown Lynda had chosen. Her young body moved with passionate grace beneath sleek, shining black folds.

Lynda gave Dan a bird-like glance, her face paling. "I wanted to try it on myself, Varnet," she said sharply. "The girl isn't exactly the type."

Marie paused, "perhaps Miss Martin would like to put on the gown now," she suggested to Varnet. Entirely self-possessed, she had not looked at Dan once, except for the first casual glance when she entered the room, and yet she was acutely aware of his eyes.

Dan leaned forward. "Don't change it. I have a good idea of the dress."

That night when Marie left work, Dan was waiting for her.

Dies Investigation Of Dorothy Thompson Asked By Veterans

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 31. (AP) — Local veterans of foreign wars officials announced today they would seek state-wide support for a Dies committee investigation of Dorothy Thompson, columnist and lecturer, charging she was "trying to involve this country in war."

Miss Thompson, in private life the wife of Novelist Sinclair Lewis, spoke here last night on "what kind of peace." Veterans were in the audience.

Post Commander Joseph Mitchko said Miss Thompson was biased, complained she condemned Germany "but failed to criticize England," and added, "all we can say is if the people who attended believed her then we are headed for war."

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

POLITICIANS who knew the real story of the Roosevelt-McNutt relationship are beginning to wonder how long the handsome Hoosierite can stand up under the savage punches thrown at him from all official angles. They are asking, in short, when he will resign as Social Security administrator.

FDR's handling of the bill reimbursing Ohio for withheld Social Security payments would have been a knockout blow to an ordinary man. McNutt, without consulting the White House, sent word to Capitol Hill that the Social Security administration favored the legislation. Besides aiding in its passage, this action set the stage for whatever political embarrassment the President may suffer as a result of his veto. Then Paul argued eloquently for Presidential approval. "The old people of Ohio," he said, "should not be penalized for the actions of one man (ex-Gov. Martin Davey)."

Few days later Social Security Director Arthur Altmeyer, whom Mr. McNutt would like to fire, said to Mr. Roosevelt: "I don't know how you feel about this bill, but I want to correct the impression that our administration favors it. And if you plan to veto it, perhaps I can help you." The President threw back his head and laughed: "Arthur, this is one time you can help me—and help a lot. You are going to write the veto and make it strong!" Then the disapproving message was delivered to Congress without any notice from the White House to the Social Security boss!

JUDGMENT: The administration hatchet men's hacking at Candidate McNutt represents the high in [illegible]n policies. He was warned when he accepted his present post that he was placing his handsome political head in an angry lion's mouth, but he scoffed at such suggestions. He insisted he had an agreement with FDR under which he could openly seek the Presidential nomination.

His friends now realize that he made himself peculiarly vulnerable by entering the Roosevelt family. Had he remained a political free lancer, the people would have dismissed the thrusts at him—federal income tax agents' investigation of his henchmen's returns, Harold Ickes' numerous barbs, FDR's assertion that he had not given him the "green light"—as the natural retaliation of Rooseveltian soreheads. Mr. McNutt might have assumed the pose of a wounded martyr and won sympathy. But this deliberate and persistent disparagement of him by fellow-officials—by members of the same family—demonstrates that he is distinctly out of favor, politically, with the President.

Exile in the Phillipines—the McNuttites now realize—would not have been half so damaging to his political fortunes as his present internment. Paul is a resourceful individual and an attractive personality, but it is Washington's judgement that he is washed up for 1940 at least.

MORE: For the second consecutive time Congress will probably disregard the Constitutional mandate requiring reapportionment of its 435 districts every 10 years. The reasons for this repeated defiance—the first happened after the 1920 census—are personal, selfish and political.

The 1929 reapportionment law was designed to make redistricting automatic. But for technical difficulties arising from passage of the Norris "lame duck" amendment, new legislation has become necessary to permit reapportionment after the counting of noses to begin in April. The Senate passed the new bill last year, but it has been killed, at least temporarily, in the House Census committee. It has been tabled by the votes of several men from states which would enjoy an enlarged membership under any rearrangement of the system of representation. The committee is still engaged in a bitter backstage row.

The redistricting, however, would obviously alter Congressional areas now seemingly sure of returning majorities for sitting members. It might transfer a solid Republican section from one district to another, thereby imperiling the GOP incumbent, or it might shove a Democratic member's faithful supporters beyond his reach. Therefore the boys are taking no chances. Incidentally, population trends indicate that reapportionment would mean additional seats for Mass., N.Y., N.J., Pa., Mo., Va., N.C., Fla., Ky., Tenn., Okla., Ala., Ark., Tex. and Cal.

AMICABLE: President Roosevelt has intimated in private conversations that he may stage a sensational third term surprise when he thinks the time is opportune. Circumstances—political, economic, international—will influence his final decision, perhaps prevent him from executing the plan he hints at, but he is giving it serious consideration.

It would amount to an unofficial convention of all the serious candidates for the Democratic nomination at the White House. Mr. Roosevelt, it is understood, will call in the crowd—New Dealers and Old Dealers—and first announce that he does not intend to run or accept renomination. Then he would impress upon them his desire for a Democratic triumph next fall, and the need for maintenance of party harmony. He would name or play no favorite—though he has 'em—and urge that they conduct their various campaigns with a minimum of personal or political conflict.

FDR's already announced perference for uninstructed delegations to the convention ties in with this scheme. Under this arrangement the race would start in a front room in the White House and wind up in a back room at the convention, with the candidates and their managers picking a nominee in an atmosphere of amicability. And FDR would, in advance of retirement, assume the cherished role of elder statesman.

NEW YORK

GALLING to all loyal Canadians is the fact that the Union of South Africa has not furnished a shining example of empire loyalty. Capetown's milk-and-water enthusiasm is being exploited by the minority of Canadians who feel the same way. Permanent problem of the Ottawa government is to whip up loyalty sentiment at the same time that South Africa shows strong sentiment toward dropping out of the Empire's war. Ex-Premier Hertzog, for 15 years the head of the South African Parliament was whipped on his proposal to keep out of the war by the small margin of 14 votes in an assembly counting 146. Anti-war Hertzog is riding herd on pro-war Premier Smuts. Chances are that only a violent turnover can ever put the Hertzog government back in. But to the extent that such a large minority in South Africa keeps ringing the secessionist bell, the Canadian authorities will lose sleep over their own minority.

Military students who have long debated how the British empire system can survive another war will watch the Canadian election for the first practical answer.

SUBTLE: To far-sighted foreign experts the developments in Canada in the next 60 days will be as interesting if not as important as anything that may occur on the European fronts. An election has been ordered by the Mackenzie King government for the purpose of silencing the blasts of maladministration by the Hepburn Ontario group. Basically two factions are arguing as to who best can run the Canadian war. But the argument will also provide a soap box for a third group in Quebec which has remained unconvinced from the first that Canada should be at war at all.

A censorship problem has developed on whose smooth handling depend many items of Anglo-Canadian solidity. Every campaign speech must be submitted to government censorship in advance. The government in power is in the position of passing on the charges of the group that wants to take its place. By existing laws it has the right and the duty to muzzle any statement that can be prejudicial to the conduct of the war—anything that may cause disaffection among the armed forces or those of the Empire—any statement that can give comfort to the enemy. Within this series of wartime "don'ts" the Hepburn opposition must conduct the campaign intended to rout Premier King's group out of power.

Here And There In Texas

TEXAS TODAY
By C. A. PRICE
Associated Press Staff Writer

JIMMY Haynes, 35, of Gainesville appears to have both a serious and a frivolous personality. By day he manufactures the palatable variants possible to ice cream, but at evening lies on the floor of his living room twirling and tumbling a small barrel with his toes.

In most other towns people might talk, but Gainesville has a considerable group of citizens who conduct the city's mercantile and money marts, drive trucks and run trains, deliver telegrams and treat the sick, cook for the family and educate children as normal vocations, but after the day's work emulate variations of Haynes' odd pastime.

He's Circus Performer

Next April he will appear in public where his foot-juggling barrel act will be something new in the program of the only show of its kind in the world—Gainsville Community circus.

Gainsville gave the world bring-'em-back-alive Frank Buck and Charles Paddock, the "earth's fastest human," by accident of birth, but the amateur circus is the fruit of perseverance. Ten years ago the Gainsville Little Theater group found the competition of talking pictures too stiff and turned its budding tespians into another channel of entertainment. The group put on a burlesque circus with 150 performers and from this the community circus was born.

First At Fairgrounds

The first performance was given in an exhibition hall on the Cook county fair grounds. The tight rope walker used a piece of steel cable stretched on a pair of sawbucks, boys impersonated girls on the aerial ladders because no member of the other sex dared attempt the role of aerialists, and a community band endeavored to play the double-quick tempo of circus music.

Today the group performs beneath a big top containing 2,000 square feet of space with three rings and a hippodrome track, together with several tent dressing rooms, trained horses and other auxilaries paid for out of the profits of past performances.

MOST unusual, however, is the performing personnel. 1 day, per word	4c
2 days, per word	6c
3 days, per word	8c
4 days, per word	10c
7 days, per word	12c

These rates for consecutive insertion only. All out-of-town ads received by mail must be cash with order. No exception "NO REFUND" on ad stopped after it has appeared in paper.

PHONE 13, 14, 15 OR 16

Our experienced ad taker will receive your ad and help you to word it then our collector will call the following day.

THESE ACCOUNTS ARE "ACCOMMODATION ACCOUNTS" FOR OUR PATRONS AND FOR ONE DAY ONLY.

No advertisements accepted on an "until forbid" order. A specified number of insertions must be given.

We reserve the right to place an advertisement under the proper classification and reject unclean or objectionable copy.

Obituaries and cards of thanks at regular classified advertising rates.

The publishers are not responsible for copy omissions, typographical errors or any unintentional error that may occur further than to correct it next issue after it is brought to their attention. All advertising orders are accepted on this basis only.

The Avalanche-Journal can not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of a classified ad. Advertisers should check their ads on first day of publication and immediately notify the Classified Department if any mistakes occur.

Classified Advertising accepted until 6:00 p. m. on week days and Saturdays.

For classified display advertising information—

PHONE 13, 14, 15 OR 16

TO DISCONTINUE AN AD

Notice to Discontinue an Ad must be given after 8 a. m. and before 6 p. m. to some member of the Classified Advertisement Department. We cannot be responsible for notice given before or after these hours, and to members of some other department.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

The Avalanche-Journal is a member of the Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers, which includes leading Newspapers throughout the country and has as its aim the elimination of fraudulent and misleading Classified Advertising.

SEED RYDER — Holiday In Advance — By Fred Harman

Mrs. Borah Is Left $207,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (U.P.)—For many years Mrs. William E. Borah maintained a joint checking account and a safety deposit box in a Washington bank with her husband, the late senator from Idaho.

She had a key to the lock box, but never went near it. When the senator died earlier this month Mrs. Borah was not certain whether she could even afford the immediate costs of the funeral trip to Idaho. She did not expect to be able to continue living in their seven room apartment, their only big luxury. Then in arranging her affairs, Mrs. Borah sent a secretary to the bank to check the contents of the deposit box.

Surprise To Her

The box, it was learned today contained $207,000 in $1,000 bills and government bonds.

"It was just as much a surprise to me as anyone else," Mrs. Borah said. "I have always believed that the senator would leave me provided for after his death and I knew that he had policies in three companies. But we never talked much about his finances. I never believed that he would pass away before I did, as his people were all long-lived."

Borah usually was regarded in Washington as a "poor" man, whose income was limited to his salary as senator, $7,500 a year up to 1929; $10,000 after that. He lived modestly, entertained only close friends in the apartment for which he paid $175 a month in rent.

Willed To Her

However, when Borah came to the U. S. Senate 33 years ago he was a mederately wealthy man, judged by 1907 standards. When he was defeated for the Senate in 1902 he was making $30,000 a year as a lawyer, according to reliable information. These sources said that Borah had a personal fortune of $100,000 when he came to Washington.

After he became senator, Borah refrained from accepting any legal business, although attractive, legitimate offers were made to him. He did invest rather heavily in life insurance policies, it was said, and cashed them upon their maturity.

The safety deposit box contained the fruit of these savings and investments, with a simply worded will bequeathing the entire fortune to Mrs. Borah.

Prison Terms Are Assessed

Guilty pleas brought formal sentencing of three persons, two of them negroes Wednesday, by Judge E. L. Pitts in 99th district court.

Major Hill, 28, negro, was given 25 years in each of three cases charging burglary, to be served concurrently, and 15 years on a charge of assault to murder. The latter sentence also will be concurrent with the others.

He had gone to the penitentiary previously, getting two years for burglary in Dickens county.

He snapped a pistol at A. A. Montebarro when surprised in burglary of Montebarro's residence, but the pistol did not explode the cartridge.

Johnson Sentenced

L. K. Johnson, 20-year-old negro, was given 20 years for assault to murder and 10 years each in two burglary charges, all to run concurrently. He wounded Charles Prickett, Lubbock youth, when surprised burglarizing Prickett's apartment.

Clyde Harrington, 32, was given 10 years in the penitentiary for burglary of Weiss Motor company. Previously he served a sentence from Dallas county for robbery. He was on parole from that conviction when he entered the motor company.

Jury Panel Discharged

Judge Pitts discharged his jury panel until 9 o'clock Saturday morning, when James Lee and H. C. Chambers, negroes charged with burglary, will appear for trial.

Other criminal cases will be called up the week of March 11, three cases having been specifically set. At that time, should a grand jury to report Feb. 26 have voted additional bills of indictment, such cases also will be called, said Burton S. Burks, district attorney.

Victor H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney, represented the state.

LIFE TERM

BELTON, Jan. 31. (AP) — Eugene Padgett, 26-year-old convict, was given a 99-year sentence in Bell county district court today for the killing near Little river eight years ago of Will Sanderford, filling station operator. Padgett is now serving a sentence of six years for robbery.

CIO Ku Klux To Eliminate Reds

By MITCHELL CURTIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 31—The Ku Klux Klan, says its imperial wizard, James A. Colescott, is organizing its C. I. O. members to "oust communists from control."

"We have been working quietly for some time now against the communist elements in the CIO," he said in an interview today.

"Already we have gained control of some local unions and succeeded in electing Americans to office.

"Understand, we are not soliciting klan members from the ranks of the union. A canvass showed that we have a large representation."

Works For Legislation

Colescott, touring the country to confer with klan leaders, asserted the klan was working for legislation to deport all unnaturalized aliens and to provide that "those who continue to preach revolution shall be put in concentration camps.

"Direct action is not necessary now, but if it comes to a point where the communists start a revolution, I have no scruples against leading the klan out with clubs to drive them out."

Colescott said the klan had "furnished much information" to the Dies congressional committee investigating un-American activities.

The revived klan "does not intend to take matters into its own hands. We get our information and then turn it to proper authorities."

Elks Club Funds Are Distributed

Four organizations benefitted Wednesday in a division of $1,417 left in Lubbock Elks club treasury when the club was disbanded in 1928.

Nine former members in a meeting in Hilton hotel voted shares of the money to Milam Opportunity home, Lubbock County Crippled Children's council, Downtown Boys club and Church Women's federation for girl's club work.

Milam home and the crippled children's council each was given $508.50, with the remaining $400 divided equally between the other two groups, said Alex McDonald, life member of the Elks club. W. B. Powell was first exalted ruler of the club, founded in 1914. W. D. Benson, another life member, was unable to attend the meeting because of illness.

Those attending were Neil H. Wright, John Denman, Ernest Carr, Buster Fluke, O. L. Peterman, Ed D. Allen, Charles L. Adams, McDonald and Powell.

Bodies Of Two Who Crashed Through Ice Are Recovered

McALESTER, Okla., Jan. 31. (AP)—The bodies of Nathan Allen, 42-year-old farmer, and his son, Allen 16, were taken today from ice-covered Longtown creek, where the two had gone fishing yesterday.

Search started when Mrs. Allen reported the two failed to return home.

They said father and son apparently walked upon a thin layer of ice and were plunged into an eight-foot pool.

The Allens had five other children.

Admiralty To Be Responsible For All British Shipbuilding

LONDON, Jan. 31. (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain announced in the House of Commons today that the admiralty will become responsible for shipbuilding and repairs effective tomorrow.

In announcing an arrangement similar to the one adopted in the later stages of the World War, Chamberlain said Sir James Lithgow would be controller of Merchant shipbuilding and Sir Amos Ayres director of merchant shipping.

Congestion At School Relieved

An arrangement which will relieve crowded conditions in Senior High school and which will enable students to work part-time was announced to the school's faculty Wednesday morning by R. W. Matthews, principal.

Schedule Announced

Under the schedule, one group of students will be in school from 8 a. m. until 1 p. m.; another group will be in classes from noon until 5 p. m.; while the third and largest group will follow the present plan of reporting at 9 a. m. and leaving school at 3 p. m., with one hour's recess for lunch.

Bus schedules will continue as at present, having been designed for the convenience of the 9 a. m.-3 p. m. group in Senior High and all other city schools.

The new schedule, it was emphasized, will be applied only to students of Senior High school.

The arrangement, as explained by Matthews, will enable numerous students, particularly in junior and senior classes, to work part-time either in the forenoon or the afternoon.

The principal instructed that guidance groups teachers begin at once consultations with students and parents who may prefer to take advantage of either the early or the late group of classes.

Matthews related that the present high school building was designed to accommodate a maximum of 1,250 pupils. The present enrollment was reported as 1,384 and he added that additions from Junior High school and other sources next September indicate that the total will not be less than 1,500, and probably will be considerably more.

Company Purchases Planes For Kansas City-New Orleans Route

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. (U.P.) — Vernon Darrell, vice-president in charge of operations of Mid-Continent airlines, told a Civil Aeronautics authority examiner today that the company has already purchased two Lockheed Electra planes in contemplation of inaugurating service between Kansas City, Mo., and New Orleans.

Two other companies — Kansas City Southern airlines and Braniff airways—are also applying for permission to fly between the two cities.

Darrell described the operations technique of Mid-Continent, and explained the system of rotation of planes which will be used if the Mid-Continent application is granted.

DEDICATION SET—WACO, Jan. 31.—Baylor university ex-students will pay tributes tomorrow to President Pat M. Neff (inset, left) and the late Cullen F. Thomas as they dedicated $250,000 Pat Neff hall and the $15,000 carillon donated by Mr. Thomas for the hall's majestic 150-foot tower. This night photograph was made at initiation of the carillon Dec. 21. The occasion is the 95th birthday of the oldest institution of higher learning in Texas, which Neff has made into the largest church school in the world. Dr. George W. Truett, past president of the Baptist World alliance, a Baylor alumnus and trustee, will bring the dedicatory address for the building. Dr. Thomas H. Cheavens of Dallas will speak on "We Examine the Record," and Dr. T. D. Brooks of Texas A. and M. College will discuss "An Alumnus View of Alma Mater." The Thomas carillon will be presented to the university by Dr. John O. Beaty, professor at Southern Methodist university and close friend of the late donor. It will be accepted by President Neff. G. H. Penland, Dallas attorney and president of the Baylor ex-students association, will preside, and Dr. L. R. Scarborough, president of the Southern Baptist convention, will offer the invocation. After-dinner speakers at an ex-students luncheon will be Leon Jaworski, Houston attorney, as toastmaster; Herbert M. Harrison, general manager of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce; George Pendleton Selvidge, Ardmore, Okla., banker and only living classmate of President Neff at Baylor in 1894; Dr. F. B. Thorn, pastor of the Second Baptist church of Houston; Dr. Thomas H. Taylor, president of Howard Payne college at Brownwood; State Senator Morris Roberts, Petus, and W. W. Naman and Miss Billie Murray, Waco attorneys.

Bean Talks At Rotary Meet

Cooperation of Lubbock business men with the federal census program now under way in this district, was sought yesterday by Supervisor Robert H. Bean in a talk before the Rotary luncheon in the Lubbock hotel in which he gave details of the several types of fact surveys.

Members of the program committee, with Harold H. Griffith, chairman, sat at the head table and were introduced by the chairman. President C. J. Wagner reported on the club assembly last Friday and said International President Walter Head would be in Lubbock Feb. 25. The local club will celebrate Rotary's 35th birthday anniversary the week of Feb. 18-24 and that week's luncheon has a goal of 100 per cent attendance.

Malone Introduces Him

Dr. F. B. Malone, chairman of the day, introduced the speaker. W. W. Rix is the new attendance committee chairman.

"This census business is a great deal broader in scope than I had thought," the speaker said in explaining aims of the survey. The first census was made in 1790, when George Washington was president and the 17 U. S. marshals were instructed to take it. They appointed 650 persons to take the census.

Six lines of business, etc., are included in the survey this year, Bean said. The federal government seeks figures and facts on population, manufacturing, agriculture, mines and quarries, retail business and housing. The country is divided in 560 districts.

Forms Distributed

Now under way is the census of manufacturing, mines and quarries and retail business. Work is to be completed by March 15. In the 13 counties comprising the north half of the 19th Texas congressional district, there are four office workers and 10 enumerators. Population, housing and agricultural figures will be sought in the program beginning April 1.

"These facts will be of great value to cities and towns and to business men generally," Bean said. "Each question asked has a very definite purpose. Facts obtained will be confidential; they will not be available for the F.B.I. or the income tax bureau."

Bean brought several copies of forms used by enumerators and had them distributed during the meeting for inspection.

Registration Statement Filed By Skelly Oil Company

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (U.P.)—The Skelly Oil company today filed with the Securities and Exchange commission a registration statement covering an offering of $10,000,000 in ten-year 3 per cent debentures, which are to be underwritten by a group headed by Eastman, Dillon and company.

Net proceeds of the sale, plus an additional $6,000,000 to be obtained through bank loans and other treasury funds, will be applied to the redemption of $9,000,000 in 4 per cent debentures due January 1, 1951 and $6,300,000 in $100 par value 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock.

Artificial Insemination Is Suggested By Germany

BERLIN, Jan. 31. (AP)—Artificial insemination to insure sons for the fatherland is urged on childless couples by the Schwarze Korps, official weekly publication of Heinrich Himmler's black-uniformed Schutzstaffel, the elite guard of nazidom.

"In cases where incurable inability to beget progeny on the part of the husband has as a counterpart the perfect health of the wife," the publication said, "the possibility of artificial fructification may offer a saving way out to prevent divorce.

"The problem, then, is that of finding a helper toward procreation —somebody who must be of high caliber as regards both health and character and who will place his hereditary substance at disposal.

Brothers Suggested

"Artificial transplantation will be done by a physician."

The weekly suggests that brothers of important husbands be chosen for the purpose, where possible.

It also urges doctors to do "valuable pioneer work" in exhorting couples to adopt the suggested method.

Himmler, last Dec. 23, informed SS men that he would appoint "special sponsors for all children of good blood born in or out of wedlock whose fathers fall in the war," and declared:

"The ancient saying that only he can die peacefully who has sons and children must be translated into fact during this war by the SS."

Texas Rancher And Pioneer Get Publicity For Plains Country

M. S. Doss, Gaines county rancher of Seminole, and J. J. Lane, Roswell, N. M., a West Texas pioneer and well known all over this section, are in Florida on a vacation and they received publicity on a recent trip to Fort Pierce, Fla. Doss a retired Seminole business man and Mrs. Doss is with him on the trip. They are visiting in Miami.

In Sunday's Miami News was the following article about the two men:

"Fort Pierce, Jan. 27—Favorably impressed with the Fort Pierce area's possibilities as a cattle country were J. J. Lane of Roswell, N. M., and M. S. Doss of Seminole, Texas, old time cattlemen of the Southwest country, upon an inspection visit here.

"They were guests of Circuit Judge Alto Adams, who has extensive cattle interests.

"The visitors were particularly impressed with the favorable climate and natural range conditions, the abundance of drinking water and the policy of local cattlemen to build up their stock."
