Anti-Castro Fliers Enter Secret Camp

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—More than 35 anti-Castro airplane pilots were reported headed for a secret training camp today to head a call by the Cuban Revolutionary Council for a "second war of liberation."

The pilots, including some formerly associated with Cuban dictator Fulgencio Batista, reportedly left Miami Sunday for a secret training camp, probably in Central America.

Family members and friends said the men were stripped of their clothing and identification, given uniforms and told to say their goodbyes before being spirited out of the United States.

Some of the pilots said they had waited for months to join the anti-Castro fight. They were rounded up shortly before midnight and taken to an embarkation depot, the Miami Herald said.

The ranks of exiled Cuban pilots have been swelled steadily by defecting employees of Cubana Airlines. Before the government-controlled line stopped serving Miami, pilots frequently would land and announce they did not intend to return. It was the first time so-called "Batistianos" were reported to have joined forces against Prime Minister Fidel Castro. Those with Batista ties previously had been excluded from major revolutionary organizations.

The call for a "second war of liberation" was sounded by Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, president of the anti-Castro Cuban Revolutionary Council in New York. He said his country is occupied by "a foreign army at the service of those who betrayed the revolution."

Miro Cardona refused to discuss any timetable for possible landings on Cuban soil or strength of the invasion forces. He said when these forces become active inside Cuba they will number six million, embracing "all of Cuba."

Reports from Havana said government-controlled radio stations and newspapers ignored Miro Cardona's call.

In a nationwide TV talk Sunday, Castro repeated earlier warnings that insurgent bands and expeditionary forces invading Cuba would be liquidated. He did not refer directly to the latest call to arms against his regime. Castro told Cubans that despite a U.S. economic blockade they would not lack the essentials of life. He said Cuba is the only nation in the Western Hemisphere that can guarantee food, clothing, medicine and education for all its people.

In Montreal, Canada, Dr. Oscar Abello, a legal adviser to the Castro government who was defying a breach of contract action involving ships bought while Batista was in power, said he has defected and plans to join anti-Castro forces.

Rolando Masferrer, one of the most notorious of Batista's former aides, was under guard in a Miami hospital. He claimed a heart condition. Masferrer was taken into custody Saturday. Officials awaited a report on his condition before deciding whether to keep him in custody or deport him.

He was arrested after the State Department said his presence was "prejudicial to the interest of the United States."

Report Russia May Have Put Man In Space

NEW YORK (AP)—Indications that the Soviet Union is about to launch a man into space, or have done so, were reported today by the Columbia Broadcasting System radio network.

A CBS spokesman said a live short-wave broadcast from the CBS correspondent in Moscow, Marvin Kalb, indicated that an announcement of the man-in-space launching was expected this morning, but apparently was held up.

The information was gleaned from Kalb's frequently interrupted report, carried on CBS radio's word news roundup. CBS said there seemed to have been "considerable cutting" in the transmission, either accidental or on purpose.

Parts of the broadcast, with the apparently deleted portions indicated by the word "blank" went like this:

"The announcement (blank). The announcement that the Russians would launch a man into space was supposed to come at exactly 3 p.m. Moscow time, a little over an hour ago."

"Shortly before the announcement was expected, the Central Telegraph where some foreign correspondents have to work (blank) even with this lifting of censorship (blank). Why? they were asked. One of them answered after some hesitation with a single gesture of his right finger. He pointed (blank) and said 'muchina,' meaning man. When he was asked (blank) clock the (blank) (blank) (blank) instead, Moscow radio went dead for a few moments."

"Then a short announcement that at 4 o'clock, Moscow time, or at 8 a.m. in New York, there would be (blank) an important news announcement."

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—The United States today informed an international space meeting of plans to land a television camera on the moon to send views back to earth.

MERCURY Richard Porter, U.S. delegate to an international space symposium here, also reported on American efforts to put a man into orbit under Project Mercury.

Before his report to the symposium, Porter said in an interview the lunar landing and a manned orbital flight might be attempted this year. But after the meeting he said this statement was incorrect. His report to the scientists gave no time table.

Porter is a member of the Space Science Board of the National Academy of Science in Washington. He outlined U.S. space plans at the opening session of the five-day symposium. His report covered work on Project Ranger, designed to land an instrument capsule on the moon.

The TV camera will send back a visual record of the descent, he said, and the capsule will be separated from the rocket after the television operation is completed and before the landing.

Porter said, will operate for one to three months and will send back measurements of seismic activity on the moon to help determine the origin of the moon and the nature of its structure.

Project Mercury is designed to put a manned satellite into orbit more than 100 miles above the earth. The satellite would circle the earth three times. Then the astronaut would try for a safe return to the earth.

State Sales Tax Bill Is Postponed

A. B. Cramer, state park superintendent, looks over the damage sustained by this car owned by Leonard Manes. The car, "battered" without permission by three youths, was wrecked early this morning when the young driver lost control of it on scenic Mountain. Officers are seeking the identity of the youths.

State highway patrol officers are looking for three boys for questioning regarding a car accident at 10 a.m. Monday.

The car, a 1959 Buick, was extensively damaged when it left the road on scenic Mountain and plowed down an embankment to crash into a pile of huge boulders. Highway patrol officers said the car is owned by Leonard R. Manes, 1201 Ridgeway. It had been driven by Manes' daughter, Sharon, 16, to school, where she had left it parked.

The next time the car was seen, it was on the scenic Mountain road and occupied by three boys. The car turned to miss the pickup driven by A. B. Cramer, park superintendent. After passing him, they lost control and the big car plunged off the road and down the mountain.

By the time Cramer could bring his pickup to a halt and start toward the wrecked car, the three boys had fled.

Highway patrol officers said that Mrs. Manes said she had removed the keys from the car but the officers said the switch was not disengaged completely. She had authorized no one to use the car. The officers are seeking the three boys.

There were scattered showers across central and southern sections of the state Sunday in the wake of the turbulence, but none measured more than one-half inch.

Weather Bureau observers predicted clear to partly cloudy skies in all parts of Texas through Tuesday. Except for scattered showers in Northwest and extreme Southwest Texas, they saw no prospect for rain.

New long range forecasts issued Monday called for temperatures the next five days averaging 6 to 10 degrees below normal in Northeast, North Central and Northwest Texas and 2 to 4 degrees below normal in South Texas. Cooler weather was expected again about mid-week.

Other tornadoes raking the Wichita Falls vicinity in Northwest Texas and a rural area of Polk County near Livingston in Southeast Texas injured four persons and caused widespread damage Saturday night.

One of the funnel clouds bounced over Wichita Falls without touching ground as winds up to 60 miles per hour buffeted the vicinity, and others hit around neighboring Archer City, Petrolia, Iowa Park and Kama.

Near Livingston, a twister unroofed the home of C. B. Bullock, smashed a neighbor's garage and snapped power lines.

Watch That Diet!

Carol Lynley believes that teen-agers should never diet without being under a doctor's care. She is soon to be seen in "The Last Sunset," released by Universal-International.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Experience Taught Danger Of Fad Diet

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Carol Lynley has worked professionally since she was a child. At 12 she was in demand as a model; in her early teens she appeared on television, and now at 19 she has established a career in motion pictures.

We were lunching at Universal-International before a showing of "The Last Sunset," the film she made last year with Rock Hudson and Kirk Douglas. After ordering broiled calf's liver, she explained, "I am still trying to get my health back. When I was modeling, the photographers made me want to reduce, and I developed very bad eating habits. Without consulting my parents, I went on fad diets. I used to carry hard-boiled eggs with me, and for weeks I lived on them and lettuce salad."

"Weren't you hungry?" I asked. "Yes," Carol admitted. "I love to eat, but I wanted a career, and not eating was a sacrifice I was willing to make."

"You have lots of will power," I remarked. "Yes," she said thoughtfully, "and sometimes it's not a good thing. A growing girl needs well-balanced meals to build her body. I was fortunate that I didn't ruin my health, although I almost did."

"I got so thin that I got frightened, and without consulting anyone, I began eating everything I had been denying myself. I craved ice cream and cake, nuts, candy and rich Italian food. I went from the extreme to the other. My face broke out from eating so many sweets, and so I went to a doctor."

"I had gained 30 pounds, but I was anemic. The doctor gave me a lecture. He made me realize what my bad eating habits were doing to my body. He explained that my metabolism was the type that would put on weight easily and that if I wanted to be healthy, I would have to think about nutrition."

"The doctor gave me injections," she went on, "and he put me on a 1200-calorie diet, telling me to make my own menus from fresh vegetables, salads, milk, butter, natural cheese, eggs, fish, liver, chicken and meat, but no deserts.

"My brother was underweight, and my mother would serve everything fattening for him. I asked to have my meals separately. Carol said, 'It is difficult to have things around that you like and can't eat. If I craved something so that it bothered me, I took one bite. Having the taste in my mouth satisfied me.'

"Although I followed the doctor's advice, my skin didn't clear up, so I went to a specialist. He discovered that I was allergic to the make-up I was wearing. He suggested X-ray treatments, but I had seen the scars from treatments such as these so I said no."

"We found another doctor, who said that X-ray was the worst thing I could do. He recommended sulphur soap and a sunlamp, and my skin soon cleared. They say you should seek professional help in all matters, but when you do, try to check their reputation before you put yourself in their hands."

"How did you become so mature?" I asked Carol. "I love to read," she confessed. "I almost ruined my eye reading so much. I think learning things is one of the greatest pleasures in my life. And the more I read, the more advanced reading I can do. I think some people make a big mistake when they allow a graduation exercise to end their education."

"Many people never know the joy of good books because their parents didn't introduce them to reading. I started reading as a small child, so it is habit with me now. Sometimes I don't have time to read as much as I used to, but that is to be expected since I'm married. But I try to find a part of every day to sit down and relax with a book, even if only to read a few paragraphs."

"Reading helps train your mind, and a trained mind is more capable of handling problems," Carol concluded. "When you are willing to take the responsibility for your own failures and mistakes, you are really mature."

SENSIBLE DIET
Because Shirley Jones, like Carol Lynley, almost ruined her health with extreme dieting, she hopes to prevent others from making the same mistakes she made. Leaflet M-61, "Shirley Jones' Easy-to-Follow Sensible Diet," has menus which will allow you to lose weight while still maintaining your strength and vitality. For your copy, send only 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, Big Spring Herald.

BE KIND TO YOUR CASHMERE FOR BEST SERVICE, LONG LIFE

Here are tips for prolonging the life of garments made from the luxury fiber, cashmere.

Wash most items instead of drycleaning because the laundering agitation renews the softness of the fiber and keeps it fluffy. However, check instructions written on the tag of the garment to be sure of what you should do.

To wash a sweater: Make a pattern tracing the shape on a piece of paper. Submerge in warm or cool water in which the soap has already been dissolved, and soak for about five minutes. Agitate slightly but avoid rubbing. Rinse without agitation at least twice in cool water. Roll in bath towels and spread on a dry towel. Dry away from the heat. Adjust the sweater to the size and shape of the paper cut-out.

Keep sweaters flat in a drawer to retain their shapes. Hang suits, coats on heavy hangers. After each wearing, air and brush the garment before putting it away.

Folk Singing Fans, Police Mix It In Greenwich Village

NEW YORK (AP)—Folk-singing fans and police turned Greenwich Village's Washington Square into an eight-acre wrestling ring Sunday in a shoving, bruising battle over a ban on impromptu songfests.

The tenth defendant, Louis Pagliaro, remained in a cell on charges of felonious assault on a policeman and of interfering with an arrest. The demonstrators showed up at the park at 2 p.m. protesting a ruling by Parks Commissioner Newbold Morris against Sunday afternoon music there.

The get-togethers are a tradition that villagers have kept alive for almost two decades. But Morris says activities of the demonstrators make it impossible to turn the park into an attractive area.

Police met the demonstrators and suggested that they take their instruments to the amphitheater at East River Park. Morris previously had suggested that the singers apply for permits to use the amphitheater, which seats 2,000.

"Never," replied the demonstrators. They vaulted past the police, took up a position in the empty fountain in the center of the park and began singing "The Star-Spangled Banner" and other songs.

Police kept a respectful distance from the placard-carrying, chanting group until several began to strum the guitars, banjos and others they carried. Then the police moved in.

Soon a riot call went out and more cops arrived. More demonstrators also arrived, including a few who began throwing eggs.

When the paddy wagons arrived, police began loading them with principals in the demonstration. Humes, thrashing with his arms, was one of the first to go—shouting that he was "against any police suppression of the arts."

At the height of the battle, police estimated, several hundred persons were taking part with a thousand watching from the safe distance of the park's perimeter.

A break came when about 100 of the demonstrators hurried to the nearby Baptist-Congregational Judson Memorial Church and were granted sanctuary.

The pastor, the Rev. Howard R. Moody, said his sympathies were with the folk singers. He said at least 100 persons appeared at the church and signed complaints of alleged police brutality.

Pvt. Filiberto R. Hernandez, 22, son of Mrs. Catalina Hernandez, Laredo, has been assigned as a driver at Tripler Army Hospital in Honolulu. March 23, Hernandez entered the Army in June, 1960 and completed basic training at Fort Hood.

Perforations, between 1,684-1,700 feet, were acidized with 500 gallons. From an elevation of 2,210 feet the well bottomed at 1,735 feet and 4 1/2 inch casing was set at 1,735 feet. The completion is 345 feet from the north and west lines of section 23-30-36, H&TC survey, four miles south of Ira.

Smith survey, seven miles south of Ira.

Bob Dean Ltd. No. 3 Jackson pumped 36.70 barrels of 25.4 gravity oil with eight per cent water on initial potential in the Turner-Griffin (Clear Fork) field. The oiler bottomed at 2,502 feet and 4 1/2 inch casing was set at that depth. Pay was topped at 2,503 feet. Elevation is 2,186 feet. The well was fraced with 15,000 gallons. Location is C SE SE NW, section 20-28-vin, T&P survey, six miles northwest of Westbrook.

Nixon Wins Party Battle Over Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon apparently has won an intraparty battle involving a $100-a-plate dinner here June 1.

He tentatively is scheduled to introduce former President Dwight D. Eisenhower at the dinner, a leading Republican member of Congress.

GOP congressional leaders, well aware of the tug of war between Nixon, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York for party leadership previously had decided that Eisenhower would be the only speaker.

Nixon, Goldwater and Rockefeller were told they would be welcome as silent guests.

But the congressional contingent, some of which has been vocal in blaming Nixon personally for his loss of the presidential contest to John F. Kennedy, seemingly underestimated the former vice president's determination to assert his position as their head of the party.

Before leaving office, Eisenhower knighted Nixon as head of the party. Rockefeller wouldn't go along with that. Goldwater said that unless Nixon ran for governor of California—which Nixon said he would not do—he would not carry two much weight in the party.

Party insiders said a decision to let Nixon introduce Eisenhower briefly at the June 1 dinner was reached after the congressional leaders had rejected a proposal that Eisenhower speak in Washington and Nixon in Los Angeles at simultaneous dinners to be linked by telecast.

Nixon had been invited to be the principal speaker at a Los Angeles County fund-raising dinner first scheduled for May 25 and then changed to May 26 at his request. Later Nixon's aides notified the dinner committee his schedule was such that he would be available only on June 1.

Threatened with a rival dinner promoters of the Washington affair reportedly yielded a compromise.

U.N. Panel Okays S. Africa Censure

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The U.N. special political committee today approved by a slender margin an African resolution calling for a diplomatic and economic quarantine of South Africa because of its racial policies.

The proposal was doomed, however, because it failed to get the two-thirds majority required for final approval in the General Assembly.

The vote on the boycott demand was 47 in favor, 29 against and 18 abstaining.

It was the toughest of two proposals before the 99-nation committee. The other, simply urging "separate and collective action" against South Africa, was expected to be approved by an overwhelming margin. The second was sponsored by five Asian countries.

mise. The upshot was that they agreed tentatively that Nixon could introduce Eisenhower.

Told of reports that this decision had been reached, Goldwater said it remained his understanding that nobody but Eisenhower would address the contributors.

"If any such decision has been made, then I will insist that Gov. Rockefeller also be recognized," he said. Asked if he himself might ask for equal time, Goldwater replied he wasn't interested.

The Arizona senator heads the Republican Senatorial Campaign

Committee which expects to divide on a 40-40 basis with its companion House committee the net from about $600,000 expected to be raised by the dinner.

Former Postmaster General Arthur A. Summerfield, chairman of the dinner committee, said no final decisions had been made on the program, except that there wouldn't be a long series of speeches.

He said Nixon, Goldwater and Rockefeller all had been invited "and they all will be treated courteously."

State Moisture Conditions Good

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Excellent moisture conditions are found over most of the state. John Hutchinson, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reports.

Some areas report a surplus. Rain and snow delayed field work in the Panhandle, but wheat prospects look good in spite of heavy green bug infestations. Livestock are in excellent condition.

From Lubbock came reports of good prospects for a bumper crop of small grain on the South Plains. Onions and potatoes are being planted. Cattle winter in good condition and feeding is being stepped up.

Small grains in most Rolling Plains, Vernon, counties are looking or heading as greenbug damage decreases. Corn planting is almost complete. Grain sorghum planting is starting. Ranchmen are spraying for parasite control.

North Texas farming operations are back in full swing after a few days of sunshine. Corn planting is starting and farm conditions generally are excellent.

Heavy rains and damaging hail and tornadoes hit Northeast Texas. Grains and legumes made good growth, but fields are too wet to graze. Few tomatoes have been set in the fields. Pastures are above average and farmers have stopped feeding cattle heavy feedings of lucerne and alfalfa.

Farmers in crop areas of far West Texas were completing pre-plant irrigations. Fertilization and soil fumigation. Rangeland is dry on top and rain would be welcome. Ranchmen are busy marking lambs and shearing sheep. Feeding continues.

Winds and growing vegetation have depleted surface moisture in much of Central West Texas. Grains and grasses are making limited growth. Livestock generally are in good condition. Lambing, kidding, marking and calving continues.

Weekend rains in Central Texas were good for sprouting crops. Oats made good progress with some fields up to good stands. Cotton planting is starting. Fruit trees have set a good crop. Sheep and goat shearing is well along and livestock are thriving on steadily improving pastures.

Corn planting was resumed on uplands of deep East Texas, but

Commissioners Set Tax Hearings, Fix Salaries

Howard County Commissioners court announced Monday that June 12 will be set aside for equalization hearings on oil and gas properties in the county. The meeting is set for 9 a.m.

The hearing will be attended by representatives of Pritchard & Abbott, tax engineers employed by the county to assist in fixing tax valuations for oil and gas properties.

The commissioners canvassed the Sand Springs incorporation vote and reported the official totals were for incorporation, 59; against incorporation, 161.

In accordance with its schedule, the commissioners established the salary of Mrs. Zarah LeFevre, county tax assessor. The court approved a motion by Joe Hayden, and seconded by Rufus Stallings, setting the salary at $8,840 from the salary fund and $360 from the certificate of title fees. This would fix the salary at $9,200 total—the same as under the old order and the same as paid most other elective officials.

The vote was: Hayden, Stallings bottomlands are still wet. Most tomato plants have set in the fields. Pastures and livestock are in excellent condition. Sunny weather is the big need.

Surface moisture is badly needed in South Central Texas to permit planting. Chinch bugs are infesting corn and sorghum crops. The strawberry crop is looking good. Livestock are in good condition, but pastures need rain.

Early plowed fields of the upper Gulf Coast need rain. Some fields of corn and sorghum are up to good stands. Transplanting of tomatoes is almost completed. Pastures and livestock improved.

In far South Texas, winds depleted moisture. Crops and pastures need rain. Heavy use of irrigation water was reported in the Valley. The onion harvest was at a peak in the Valley and starting in the Winter Garden area.

The carrot harvest began an end. A lot of citrus still remains to be moved.

Rightist Leader Says His Group Not Secret Society

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The founder of the controversial John Birch Society says it isn't a secret society — and it has only two secrets.

"We don't tell how many members we have, and we'll not tell the names of our members," explained Robert Welch, of Belmont, Mass., when interviewed on a local television program Sunday night.

Welch appeared with Dr. James W. Fife Jr., minister of the First Congregational church of Los Angeles, on the latter's weekly program on a local TV channel.

The retired candy manufacturer arrived Saturday for Southern California speaking engagements. He will speak Tuesday night in 6,000-seat Shrine auditorium. All the seats are sold.

Welch, 61, said the John Birch Society, named for a missionary and Air Force intelligence officer who was killed by Chinese Communists, is "trying to prevent the breakdown of morality."

Legion Panel Neutral On Birch Society

AUSTIN (AP)—Members of the American Legion's state executive committee decided Sunday to take no stand on the controversial John Birch Society.

Instead the committee decided to forward all its information on the right wing society to the Legion's National Commission on Americanism.

The group reached this decision after the counter-subversive activities committee of the Texas department of the Legion reported the Birch Society was "an organization with a noble aim—fighting communism."

The counter-subversive committee said it was "not clear on some of the actions taken by the John Birch Society" and it asked permission to recess without action pending an April 18 meeting with Robert Welch in Houston. Welch is president of the society.

Bill Neel of Lubbock, chairman of the counter-subversive committee, said he was a member of the Birch Society.

Pete Turner, state commander of the Legion, said the work of the Birch Society "is effective and directed for the right purpose."

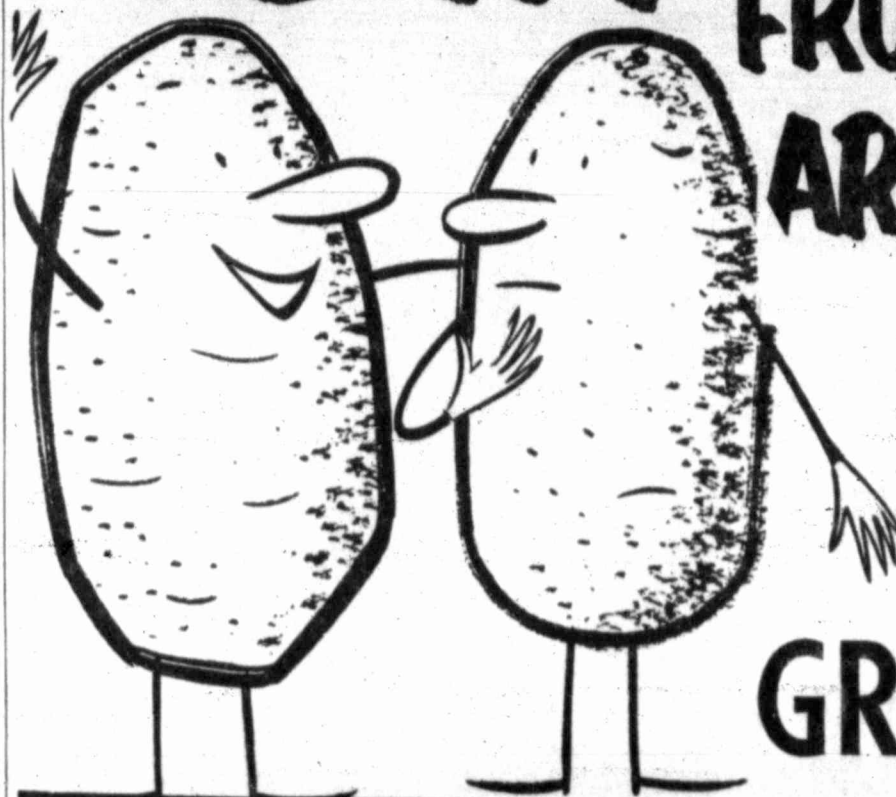

Turner said the only reason he is not a member is "I'm too busy with Legion affairs."

"I approve every stand the John Birch Society has taken for the purpose of fighting communism," A. Bladen of Houston said. "But under the national procedure of the American Legion, this organization has no right to either approve or disapprove of any other organization."

"The acceptance of any part of this report would constitute in essence, in one form or another, your position. When you go off and authorize this committee to go to Houston... it is another indication that could be interpreted as an absolute endorsement of the organization."

Neel said he did not feel membership in the Birch Society disqualified him as an objective member of the committee studying the society.

With Two More Clubs, Majors Ready To Go

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball's most revolutionary experiment of the century—a 10-team major league—was scheduled to get under way in the nation's capital today when the brand new Washington Senators inaugurate the American League season against the Chicago White Sox.

The American League, which beat the National to expansion by one year, has the field to itself today provided the weather cooperates. Everybody is ready, including President Kennedy, who is slated to throw out the first ball. Also anxious to get going are right-handers Early Wynn of the White Sox and Dick Donovan of the Senators, who will attempt to pitch the rest of the way.

A pouring rain drenched Griffith Stadium Sunday. Should the rain refuse to relent, or make the field unplayable, the game will be pushed back to Tuesday when the rest of the American League's 10-team setup begins the flag chase.

The National, with its customary eight teams, starts Tuesday. It's a 10-team expansion program—involving Houston and New York—will not go into effect until 1962.

Tuesday's opening pairings are as follows: In the American League, the old Washington team, now called the Minnesota Twins following its move to Minneapolis, St. Paul, will play the Yankees in New York; Cleveland will oppose the Tigers in Detroit; Kansas City is at Boston, and the new Los Angeles team will meet the Orioles in Baltimore. Washington and Chicago will rest after today's inaugural, unless rain forces a postponement.

The National opens Tuesday at Pittsburgh at San Francisco, Philadelphia at Los Angeles, Cincinnati at St. Louis at Milwaukee.

NEW MANAGERS
The season marks the debut of four new managers and a change of scenery for three others. Ralph Houk tries to fill Casey Stengel's shoes at New York. Al Dark tackles the job of restoring peace and serenity in San Francisco. Veda Himsi finds himself the current No. 1 man of a 9-man coaching staff at Chicago and Mickey Vernon takes over the reins of a hand-me-down outfit in Washington.

Billy Rigney, fired by the Giants last June, tries again with the Los Angeles Angels; Joe Gordon, who stepped down at Detroit, rejoins General Manager Frank Lane at Kansas City; and Bob Scheffing, who accomplished his feat of bringing the Cubs home in fifth place several years ago, succeeds Gordon in Detroit. The National League race promises to be the more grueling of the two. National League managers, sizing up the race, envision every club in the running, but Cincinnati, Chicago and Philadelphia. In the American, Baltimore, Chicago and Cleveland are rated a chance to dethrone the Yankees.

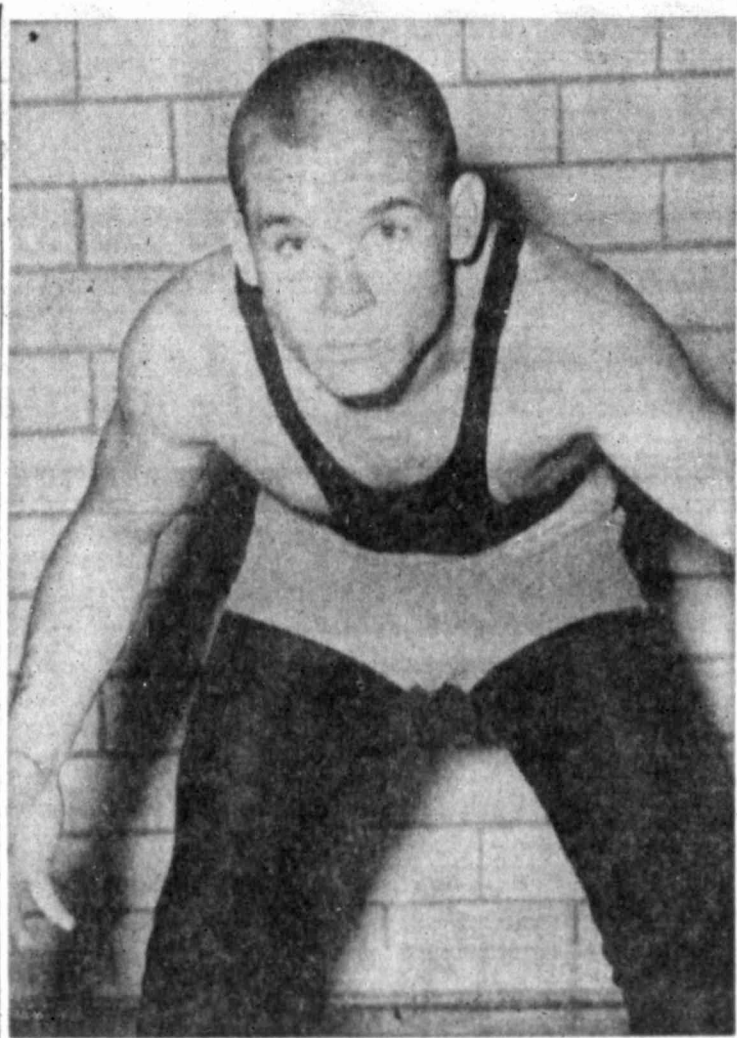

YANKS FAVORED
The Yankees are strong, fleet, sure-handed and replete with good hitters. They have good front-line pitching. Their weak spots are a thin bench and subpar second-line pitching. Also Houk, although he has shown himself to be a cool, calm and capable leader, must prove himself a replacement for Stengel.

Baltimore has young and fast developing staff with the strongest and deepest pitching staff in the league. The Orioles should be better because of last year's experience when they nearly beat the Yankees. Their biggest weakness is in the outfield where the punch is missing. Chicago led the league in hitting, fielding and stolen bases last year. Blame for their drop from first to third was laid on the pitchers who began to show signs of aging. The addition of Cal McVie and the improvement of Herb Score could lift the pitching but age is creeping up on such non-pitching front-liners as Minnie Minoso, Al Smith, Nellie Fox and Serm Lollar, too.

BUCS RATED BEST
In the National League, Pittsburgh is pretty much in the position as the Yankees in the American. The Pirates have good first-line pitching, defense and balanced hitting but, they lack second-line pitching and a strong bench. They also could use more power.

The Los Angeles Dodgers are rich in young talent, strong on the mound and plentiful on the bench. They have tremendous maneuverability. The main weakness is lack of power and a first rate catcher.

BEST IN FOUR-STATE COMPETITION
Wiley Woodard leads 130-pound class

Wiley Woodard Is Champ Grappler In Region Meet

Wiley Woodard, 17-year-old Junior at Big Spring High School, won the Four-State Wrestling championship in the 130-pound class at the YMCA Sports Festival held this weekend in Dallas.

In doing so, he beat five opponents, the last being the 1960 Oklahoma State Champion in that class. He was the only Texas boy to win in wrestling.

Wiley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Woodard, has wrestled only once before, in Midland, where he held his own against a 160-pounder when no one in his class was entered in the meet. He has been wrestling since September.

The victory qualifies Wiley for the National YMCA Sports Festival to be held some time in May at Schenectady, N.Y.

He beat his final opponent by a score of 7 to 4, considered an excellent point spread. Points are for escapes, take-downs, near falls, etc., and a victory by two points is usually considered very good.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Robert M. Burns advance man for the Indianapolis Clowns, a comic baseball team, has been seeking to book the touring troupe into Big Spring.

Burns, who winters in Florida, says the Clowns have an open date on a trip from Shreveport to El Paso and the club would be agreeable to playing here in mid-May.

Burns is quite a story himself. He used to hold a tub-busting job with the Ringling Brothers circus. He travels something like 24,000 miles a year booking games for the Negro team. The Indianapolis team probably never sees home.

It's on its 32nd annual tour of the nation now and probably couldn't find its way to the Indianapolis ball park.

Hank Aaron, currently a star outfielder for the Milwaukee Braves, got his start with the Clowns. Ed Hammon, who has appeared here and who dresses up in a genuine clown suit, travels with the Hoosiers. He's the fellow who does all those tricks with a baseball and bat.

Burns says the Clowns will work without a guarantee and will give the organization which sponsors them a liberal share of the gate. Sounds very fair. It's possible the Little Leagues will agree to sponsor their appearance locally.

signed by the National Football League with NBC-TV to televise the next two championship playoff games means that each game will constitute a record video payoff.

The Rose Bowl pact, which costs the same network $500,000, had held the record up to now.

The pro payoff game will, of course, be offered free to the public for the next two years. TelePrompTer, which features closed circuit television, had tried to purchase television rights to the NFL classics.

A few years ago, when Pepper Martin of the St. Louis Cardinals was in his baseball prime, he was playing for a manager, Ray Blades, who insisted on two work-out days in spring training.

A short distance away, down in St. Petersburg, Fla., the New York Yankees were taking it easy in a one-day workout.

Blades kept harping on the fact that, if the Red Birds were to become as good as the Yankees, the work must be doubled.

Martin protested. He said he owned a decked back home that worked from sunup to sunset, yet had never won the Kentucky Derby.

More Records Fall In Bowling Tourney

EL PASO (AP)—Two more records toppled as the Texas State Bowling Association tournament finished its next to last week-end Sunday night.

Jimmy Brooks of Houston eclipsed state marks as he claimed the lead in Class A singles and all-events. His 764 in singles bettered the 740 rolled only the night before by Lou Veil of San Antonio, who broke a year-old record of 735 held by Charles Farmer of Fort Worth.

In all-events, Brooks hung up a 2,149, sixth highest for a nine-game string in U.S. bowling history. This bettered the record of 2,027 posted by Barry Risinger of Houston in 1959.

Pressure On Player As Rain Delays Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Chesty challenger Gary Player and crusty defending champion Arnold Palmer face a delayed final go for the Masters golf title today after a rainstorm drowned Sunday's scheduled last round. The entire 41-player field must start over again but based on Sunday's canceled activity, Player's four-stroke lead may fold under Palmer pressure.

First players teed off Monday at 10:30 a.m. (EST). Gary Player was to tee off at 12:01 p.m. and Arnold Palmer at 1:29 p.m.

When the lightning-etched, bloated skies spilled a waterfall on Augusta National course, Player held only a two-stroke lead over Palmer at 65 and 63 holes respectively.

At that point no other contender had a chance for the estimated $20,000 top prize, although 10 players already had completed 72 holes, led by Mike Souchak and Dick Mayer with 29½.

The forecast envisioned partly-fine, windy weather with temperatures reaching the high 60s. The par 36-36-72, 6,900-yard course drains well, so Player and Palmer, whose birdie-birdie finish carved his second Masters' triumph last year, could wind up in a tight finish.

PALMER HOT
Player, who starts 30 minutes ahead of Palmer, could find himself in the same sad situation as Ken Venturi last year. Venturi finished with an apparent title-clinching 293. One stroke down with two holes to go, Palmer bagged birdies on the 17th and 18th and won with 282.

Between South Africa's Player, seeking to become the first foreign player to win the Masters, and Palmer, the most champion over the cancellation came from Palmer. "I was getting the breaks and on the move," he said.

Palmer had wrapped up a 2-under-par 34 on the first nine, while Player—turning the first nine in 35—had floundered to a bogey on the flooded 11th green when play was called.

Palmer conceded there was no other choice than to cancel the round with the 10th, 11th, 15th and 16th greens under water.

MAY HELP PLAYER
"They were running out of time and nothing else could be done," said Palmer. "But that front nine 34 I had looked very good. I knew Player bogied No. 11 and I felt I had some sort of a chance I'd rather be two strokes behind with nine to play than four with 18."

Player estimated the cancellation was worth one-half stroke to him, although maybe it was "so-so whether it helped or hurt my chances."

Chief Target Of ACC Relay Team To Beat Own Record

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Abilene Christian has reached a somewhat enviable position in track—it has only to worry about breaking its own records.

The Wildcats set a national collegiate record of 3:08.9 in the mile relay April 1. A week later—in the Texas Relays here last weekend—they did it in 3:07.9. While they were at it they tied their world record for the 800-yard relay set in 1958 with 1:22.6.

The latter actually was better than the world record of 1958, set around three turns. The one last week was around four turns. There is no distinction in the record books but it was a measure of satisfaction because it got the University of Texas off their backs—Texas had done 1:22.7 around four turns.

The mile relay time got rid of another Texas contention. Texas had a record of 3:06.7 around seven turns pending. So ACC, in taking eight-tenths second off even that while running around eight turns, dissolved the controversy without question.

QUESTION RAISED

There is one fly in the ointment—some questions have been raised over the 800-yard record. ACC's Bud Clanton got out of the seventh lane and into the eighth by mistake after passing the baton and New Mexico University's Adolph Plummer had to break stride and go outside the track to avoid a collision. New Mexico finished third in the relay behind Baylor.

Referee Ralph Higgins, coach of Oklahoma State, ruled that the eighth lane was too narrow. He said the incident did not affect the outcome of the race, so he submitted the record for recognition.

PENN NEXT CHANCE
Clanton told inspector Bob Umstadtd that he didn't think the eighth lane was another lane because it was so narrow. He thought he was stepping off the track, Clanton said.

Abilene Christian won't have another chance at the 800 until April 28-29 at the Penn Relays. The Wildcats will be in a triangular meet at Abilene with Kansas and Baylor Saturday, and then rest until the Penn Relays. There will be no 800-yard relay in the triangular meet but there will be a mile relay.

ACC was the star of the Texas Relays show, winning four relays and setting records in three. Thirteen records were set in the two-day meet. The best outside Abilene Christian's great relay marks was a pole vault of 15 feet 1 inch by George Davies of Oklahoma State. It was the first time for 15 to be exceeded in the 34-year-old meet.

Game Cancelled, Acuna Is Booked

The baseball opener with Fort Worth here Sunday was cancelled—and for a very good reason. Fort Worth didn't show.

Robert Dutcher, manager of the Tigers, said that the Villa Acuna, Mexico, team would come here next Sunday for a doubleheader at Silver park. The first game is scheduled at 1 p.m. Either Bobby Suggs or Chubby Moser will be the starting pitcher.

Legion Team Sets Golf Match Pace

The American Legion team of C. Roscoe Cone and Foy Dunlap took championship honors in the 8-Ball matches between the Legion and Knights of Pythias Lodge Sunday. Lodge players Dwain Leonard and Jeff Collier were runners-up.

Weekend play in the six team matches began March 26, with four of the Pythian teams winning in the first round. Under rules of play though each organization advanced three teams. Cone and Dunlap were the losing team.

In consolation play Legionnaires C. L. Foster and C. Vasquez won their first round of play and advanced to the finals via a bye. Here they were winners over V. E. Jones and David Hopper.

Championship Form

Tim Throckmorton of Midland shows good hurdling form in going over one of the barriers in the above picture, taken during the District 2-AAAA meet held here Saturday. Throckmorton went on to win the event in 15.3 seconds. Mike Lové, Permian, was second.

Celtics One Game From Pro Title

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The Boston Celtics, just one game from another pro basketball crown, have their "best team—ever" and one reason is the club's only rookie, Tom (Satch) Sanders.

Bob Cousy, 1 Celtics great backliner in his 11th season, put it this way: "This is the best basketball team ever assembled. We didn't have Sanders and (Jungle Jim) Loscutoff in the playoffs last year. The Jones boys (Sam and and that makes this our best club."

Boston is on the verge of its fourth National Basketball Association title in five years.

Sanders hit 10 of 14 shots and scored 22 points—the same number as Cousy—as the Celtics beat St. Louis 119-104 Sunday on the Hawks home court. Bob Pettit had 40 points for St. Louis, but little help.

ON THE LANES

By Harold J.

One of the fundamental rules of good bowling is to keep a consistent approach. The approach means the distance between the starting point and the foul line. This will vary with different bowlers, because some like the front dots, some like the back dots, others focus on different things.

It doesn't matter which method you use . . . as long as you do the same thing each time. Start at the same spot . . . not only the same distance back from the foul line, but also the same position in relation to width of lanes.

Walking in a straight line is also an important part of the approach. Don't drift! Drifting means walking to the left or right from the starting point . . . and it will throw off an otherwise good approach.

You'll like our "approach" to family fun when you get the bowling habit. Make it a date to come in often.

Liner Sinks, 212 May Have Died

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP)—The burned-out and deserted wreck of the British liner Dara sank today as salvage ships were trying to beach her. The owners issued a new casualty toll raising the number that may have been lost in the Persian Gulf disaster to 212. Two were Americans.

The figures were issued here by Gray Mackenzie, agents for the line. The company's breakdown: 580 passengers, 132 crew, estimated 60 visitors, total 772. Survivors 566. Missing 212. An official of Gray Mackenzie said the number of visitors was approximate because they did not have to register when they came aboard at the Arabian port of Dibal, 300 miles east of this oil port.

Most of the missing were Asians, but an American employee of the Caltex Oil Co., L. V. Dorisch of Brooklyn, N. Y., and his wife, Vala, were aboard. They were reported on their way to California to retire after 35 years with Caltex.

The 5,300-ton Dara was en route from Basra to Bombay early Saturday when she collided with another ship in a storm. The Dara headed for open water to avoid being blown ashore in heavy winds, but at 4:43 a.m. an explosion in the engine room rocked the liner and fire broke out. The flames spread rapidly, and passengers and crew abandoned ship.

Braving explosions, firefighting parties from the British and U.S. navies boarded the blazing liner and reported they had the fire under control. The ship's owners, the British India Steamship Co., said the British Navy had planned to start towing her to the Persian Gulf island of Bahrain today "but a deterioration in the condition of the Dara overnight" caused the decision to try to beach her. She sank about 15 miles off the Oman coast of the Arabian Peninsula.

One American survivor, Mrs. H. G. Lykerk, wife of a missionary from Holland, Mich., said "the gangways and corridors were filled with people rushing about in a frenzy shouting 'fire, fire' when the order was given to abandon ship. Many had only their night clothes on."

Longhouse Meet Set By Y Guides
A monthly Indian Guide Longhouse meeting has been set for 8 p.m. Tuesday at the YMCA, according to Joe Leach, acting general secretary. The Spring Camp-out will be the main topic of discussion as final preparation will be made for the event to be held April 29. Buddy Redden, Longhouse chief, will be in charge. Another meeting announced for noon Tuesday is the monthly physical education meeting called by C. L. Cook.

Minor Accidents On Police List
Two minor accidents were investigated by police Sunday. One involved a hit-and-run motorist. R. L. Jackson, 906 NW 2nd, told police that a car had hit his automobile during the night. The hit-and-run car was located nearby and was a car reported as stolen at 3 a.m. Sunday. The car was owned by Camilo T. Ramirez, 908 W. 3rd, who reported it stolen. A collision occurred in the 300 block of North Lancaster. Drivers were Steve Gonzales, Luther, and Porfirio Saldivar, 612 NE 9th.

Bell Earnings Are Reported
NEW YORK (AP)—The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. reported today record Bell System earnings for the three months ended Feb. 28. The utility cleared $313,299,000 compared with $292,223,000 in the year earlier period. In the previous quarter net income amounted to $321,841,000. Usually the first fiscal quarter is the low point of the year in earnings and the fourth is the high point. President Frederick Kappel said "The Bell system kept growing during the first three months of 1961 despite the generally lower level of business activity compared with a year ago."

Operating revenue for the latest period rose to $2,028,852,000 from $1,908,089,000 a year earlier. Operating expenses were up to $1,223,638,000 from $1,153,067,000. During the quarter the average number of shares outstanding was 223,602,000 compared with 244,723,000. For the 12-month period ended Feb. 28 the system earned $1,255,021,000, compared with $1,164,012,000.

Sidewinder In Action

These U.S. Navy photos show a Sidewinder air-to-air guided missile in action. A similar missile was fired accidentally from an F-100 Air National Guard fighter over western New Mexico, into a B-32 bomber. The bomber crashed into a mountainous area. The Sidewinder is shown at top under the wing of the carrying plane, in flight and exploding near its test target.

Little California Town Suffers Its Worst Quake

HOLLISTER, Calif. (AP)—This little county seat town 90 miles south of San Francisco was still picking up today after the heaviest earthquake in its history. "I've lived in Hollister all my life," said San Benito County Coroner Eugene Patterson, 57, "and this was the worst quake I've seen."

In addition to extensive but relatively minor damage, Hollister had to contend Sunday with thousands of curious motorists who poured into this community of 6,071 people which frequently gets shaken up by tremors along the San Andreas fault beneath it.

Two rumbling shocks struck shortly before midnight Saturday night and were felt over a 6,000 square mile area from San Rafael, 15 miles north of San Francisco, to Paso Robles, 250 miles south. Only in Hollister was there much damage. The University of California seismograph at Berkeley recorded two shocks, one at 11:23 p.m., and another 2 1/2 minutes later. They broke water mains in San Francisco, shook sleepers awake in San Jose and Santa Cruz, but in Hollister they broke nearly every plate glass window on Main Street.

No injuries were reported. Damage was estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars, mostly in broken glass and in merchandise which flowed out of broken jam, syrup and liquor bottles. With several large cracks, the three-story San Benito County court house, built in 1887, has been abandoned until an engineer checks it. Two old hotels and the two-story Elks Building are heavily cracked. Many old buildings shed bricks. Nearly all lost windows.

The Bank of America found its pillars loosened and its safe sunk several inches into the floor. Bank officials say they have no idea how to get it open. At nearby Cienega, several casks in a winery were sprung and red wine flowed down to the highway. A flower shop owner said he was knee deep in strewn flowers, broken vases and figurines.

By The Associated Press
More wet weather damped broad areas of the nation today after a weekend of heavy rain, snow and tornado winds in many sections.

It was cold in the central plains, northwest Montana, the western part of the Great Lakes region and northern New England. Live-stock warnings continued in effect for Wyoming east of the Continental Divide, with sharp drops in temperatures reported.

In Washington, D.C., scene of the opening game of the 1961 American League baseball season, rain was expected to end, with clearing skies and strong winds and temperatures around 50 degrees.

The rain-snow belt extended from the Rockies into the Great Lakes region, southward through the Ohio and Tennessee valleys and eastward into the Atlantic Coast states. Thunderstorms continued in the eastern Carolinas and southern Florida in the wake of heavy rains and tornado winds in some Southern areas Sunday.

Petty Thefts Get Police Attention

A new outbreak of petty thefts were investigated over the weekend by city police. Ten hub caps were missed, a tire and wheel stolen, a 22 rifle, a transistor radio, and a clock were reported missing.

Billy Wilkerson, 702 E. 16th, said someone had taken two hub caps from his car. Shasta Ford Sales reported four hub caps taken from a car on its lot, and Jimmy Bailey, 2110 Main, said four hub caps were taken from his car while it was parked on the Rita lot.

Western Auto Store told police that a transistor radio had been taken from the store, and that about a week before, an alarm clock was missed. Donald Rinks, 600 Aylford, reported the theft of a 22 caliber semi-automatic rifle from his car. He gave the name of a man whom he said was the only other person who knew the rifle was in the car. He said there was another rifle and other items in the car but nothing else was missing.

Lost Boy And Dog

One-year-old James Alfred Hooks and a new pal, a flop-eared basket hound, shared a common problem that required the help of Dallas police. Both were lost. It didn't take police long to find where the toddler belonged. The hound, who police thought belonged to the youngster, was also lost and had tagged along to the police station with the child. The unnamed dog is staying with the Hooks family until the owner can be found.

WORDS TO LIVE BY

BE SAFE!

By T. H. Tarkenton, preacher, Church of Christ, West Highway 26, P.O. Box 1282.

You may wonder if it is not a good thing for you to join a certain church, even though you cannot read about this church in the Bible, and even though it was started by some man instead of the Lord. But on the other hand, surely you have learned enough about the Scriptures to know it is safe and right to be just a Christian, a member of the church to which the Lord adds those who are being saved (Acts 2:38).

You cannot go wrong by giving all your devotion and labors to the simple church of Christ. If the judgment should reveal it is all right to be in a man-made church, you will have lost nothing by remaining in the Lord's church.

On the other hand, if the judgment reveals that God is displeased with human organizations, you will have gained everything by being loyal to the divine church. You have everything to lose, and nothing to lose, by being just a Christian—a member of the church which belongs to Christ.

HCJC Fares Well In Speech Tourney

Howard County Junior College took fourth place out of a field of 13 participating institutions in the weekend state junior college speech tournament.

The event was held on the HCJC campus.

First place in the general sweepstakes ratings was taken by Victoria Junior College; second by Navarro of Corsicana; and third by Temple.

Local winners included Roy Cebik, third in men's oratory; Adaleen Soles, third in women's monologue; Jerry Hutchens, second in men's dramatic monologue; Kay Watson, third in extemporaneous speaking; and Mary Helen Yater, second in poetry reading.

In the preliminaries, Miss Yater rated first over nine other contestants, but drew a different panel of judges in the finals.

Among separate events, Victoria took first in poetry reading; Del Mar of Corpus Christi in extemporaneous speaking; Navarro in duo-drama; Wharton in men's dramatic monologue; Victoria in women's dramatic monologue; Victoria in men's oratory; Laredo in women's oratory; Temple in men's radio speech; and Victoria in women's radio speech.

Earlier, Amarillo had won first in men's debate, with Del Mar second; and Odessa first in women's debate, with Lubbock Christian second.

Judges included professors and graduate students of Abilene Christian College, HCJC faculty members, and local attorneys.

More than 150 people attended the tournament, including students, sponsors and judges.

Fred Short, HCJC speech and drama department head, called the tournament "very successful," adding that he is "proud to have been able to bring an event of this stature to the HCJC campus."

Short also is president of the Texas Junior College Speech Association, which sponsored the tournament.

Next year's contest will be held in Temple.

It took them slightly less than two days to cover the 235 miles from Houston to Kingsville in South Texas. They handed their four-wheeler bed over to Alpha Tau Omega fraternity brothers here.

A&I students propose to shove it on to Pan American College at Edinburg, Tex., or possibly to Monterrey, Mexico.

Other collegians started the journey before Easter from Baylor University in Waco. They went as far as Austin, and University of Texas students relayed the bed to Houston. Fraternity spokesmen say the eventual goal is Mexico City.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mortimer M. Caplin, commissioner of internal revenue, says the government gave Sgt. Alvin York "no special advantage" in setting his tax bill at $25,000.

York, 73, broke and in ill health had been in income tax difficulty for several years because of income he received from a book and a motion picture based on his life and war exploits. The government finally agreed to settle the bill for $25,000 and the money was raised in a nationwide campaign.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mortimer M. Caplin, commissioner of internal revenue, says the government gave Sgt. Alvin York "no special advantage" in setting his tax bill at $25,000.

Atmosphere Of Calm In Israel Today

JERUSALEM (AP)—The astonishing thing about Jerusalem in these last hours before the start of Adolf Eichmann's trial is the atmosphere of utter calm.

But underneath, in the hearts of thousands of Israelis, the currents of feeling run deep and strong. The testimony about to be heard—the grim story of Eichmann's alleged persecution of the Jews—cannot help but revive tragic memories for many.

Yet, on the eve of a great and historic trial, there are no signs of excitement and few evidences of emotion.

No real crowds gather around the Beit Ha'am (Community Center) which has been converted into a huge courtroom. A handful of strollers and groups of teenagers pause to look at the guards and watch the equipment being installed in the building.

They stare up at the fourth floor where, presumably, Eichmann waits in a cell with barred windows. His actual whereabouts in the building are known only to the authorities.

Young girls giggle when the soldiers order them to keep moving.

What appeared to be an excited crowd suddenly clustered outside the high wire fence at one corner of the Community Center Sunday. A radio correspondent had gone out with a portable recorder to obtain man-on-the-street reactions to the trial. He found slim pickings.

The young people who made up the majority of the group were simply curious. Some pressed close to listen. Some merely laughed. There was no emphatic reaction. Nobody seemed eager to talk.

In the restaurants and hotel lobbies, you often hear the name "Eichmann" in a conversation.

Eichmann has been in custody in Israel for almost a year. He has been the subject of an immense amount of discussion. This may explain in part the absence of outward displays of feeling now.

Violent Deaths

By The Associated Press
Texas counted 25 violent deaths during the week-end, including 20 in traffic.

Pilot Of F-100

Lt. James W. Van Scoyoc was the pilot of the New Mexico Air National Guard F-100 which accidentally fired a Sidewinder missile which brought down a B-57 bomber over New Mexico.

West Germans Have Mixed Feelings Toward Mass Murder Trial Of Eichmann

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germans today looked with mixed feelings toward Israel and the trial of Nazi SS leader Adolf Eichmann—feelings of fear, guilt, remorse and also indifference.

The Bonn government is worried that the trial will arouse the world anew against Germany.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer himself has appealed for understanding and forgiveness.

There is fear that Eichmann may implicate persons active today in the West German government.

"I hope we cleaned out all the bad ones," said one high official.

"It would be horrible if he implicated someone in the government today."

The man in the street generally expresses guilt and remorse but there have been some who told this reporter: "We are not going to learn anything we didn't know 16 years ago."

Crosby Lad Is Back With Wife

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Phillip Crosby, one of crooner Bing's twin sons, and his ex-showgirl wife, Sandra Drummond, are back together.

Mrs. Crosby said they agreed after a family dinner at Bing's house Friday night to call off their separation.

The couple, married in Las Vegas Sept. 25, 1958, split last month and she filed for separate maintenance, charging cruelty. She said she is dropping the action. They are parents of two children.

Beneficiary

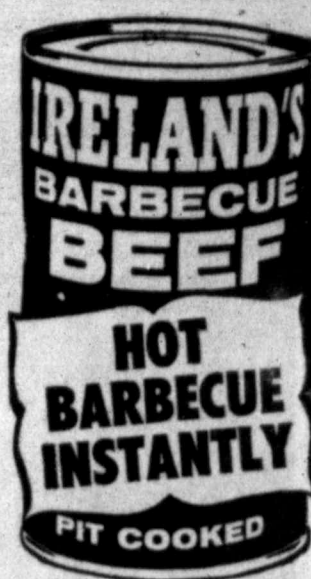

Mrs. Jack L. (Sharon) Jones of Abilene is the beneficiary of a Community Theater performance in Abilene. She has been unconscious since being injured in an auto crash Dec. 19, 1960. She is expecting a child in July.

Lamar Students Win Debate

DALLAS (AP)—Sue Hill and Robert King of Lamar State College won the Texas Intercollegiate Television Debate Tournament by defeating David Thomas and David Deaton of Hardin-Simmons Sunday.

Miss Hill is from Sinton and her partner is from Orange. Thomas is from Valley Mills and Deaton from Abilene.

The Hill-King combination argued before tournament judges that further development of nuclear weapons should not be prohibited by international agreement.

Sooner Firm Is Opening Odessa Unit

The latest oil-field supply corporation to enter the rapidly-growing Permian Basin oil area is Sooner Pipe & Supply corporation with general offices in Tulsa, according to an official announcement made Monday by Henry Zarrow, Tulsa, corporation president.

Zarrow announced official opening of a modern and complete oil-field supply store in Odessa at 1601 East Second Street (Highway 80 East). This store has 5,000 square feet of floor space and is arranged for modern oil-field servicing requirements, he said.

Store personnel in charge of the new Odessa branch include Bill Brown, store manager, Virgil Lemmon, field representative, and Bob Gibb, Zarrow said.

The new Odessa store brings to nine the number of supply stores being operated by Sooner Pipe & Supply Corporation. Other stores are located in Texas at Perryton and Borger; at Kingfisher, Sand Springs, Cherokee and Pawhuska, Okla.; in Morgan City, La.; and at Hays, Kan.

Zarrow also announced the opening of Permian Basin Empire district sales office at 500 Gulf Building in Midland under the supervision of L. O. Weaver, sales representative. A native of Midland, Weaver is well-known in oil industry circles throughout the Permian Basin.

The new Midland sales office brings to seven the number of district offices operated by the corporation. Other district sales offices are situated at Houston, Texas; at Oklahoma City, Okla.; Wichita and Great Bend, Kan.; Denver, Colo., and Lafayette, La.

'Rainbo Bread' New Name For Colorful Product

There's a new name for Fresh bread, and from now on you'll see it in a colorful wrapper on your grocer's shelves as "Rainbo Bread."

Mark W. Anderson, president of the Rainbo Baking Co. of Lubbock (formerly Fresh Bread Co.) announced today that the 16-year-old firm is changing its name and the name of its products.

In adopting the name "Rainbo" and the new Rainbo recipe, the former Fresh bread now joins the Campbell Taggart Associated Bakeries, Inc., of Dallas. Rainbo bread has a coast-to-coast reputation for excellence and quality. It meets the standards set out by the American Institute of Baking, and is produced from one of the Southwest's most modern plants.

Anderson emphasized that the new Rainbo recipe "produces a richer loaf of bread—softer, with longer-lasting freshness."

The changeover and the new product were announced at a meeting of all sales people in Lubbock Sunday. There is an extensive promotion campaign in the making, and the new Rainbo products are available in food stores beginning today.

The baking company started operation in 1945, with 19 employees and eight vehicles. Today there are 105 employees and a fleet of 50 trucks. The plant is equipped with modern machinery, and guarantees uniform baked goods. Distribution is over a wide section of West Texas.

Praise For Roach Killer

Almost every day the makers of Johnston's No-Roach receive unsolicited letters of praise from pleased housewives all over the country. Here is a typical letter:

Dear Sirs:
I want to send you a work of praise... and of thanks... for such a wonderfully effective product as your Johnston's No-Roach. I had tried every product I could find and yet the roaches seemed to just live and breed on.

Then the clerk in my favorite store recommended liquid, brush-on No-Roach.
I bought a bottle and applied it with a brush in just a few minutes. The next morning... the most amazing thing! There was not a roach anywhere! I said to my husband just a couple of nights ago, "This doesn't look like our house! No bugs when you turn the lights on!"

Thanks again for inventing No-Roach. It worked a miracle when I'd given up all hope of ever getting rid of roaches!

A Devotional For Today

Ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me. (Acts 1:8.)

PRAYER: O Lord, Thou who art this day calling us to be Thy witnesses, we are grateful for Thy confidence in us. Strengthen us that we may be ready to give an answer to every man who asks us a reason of the hope that is in us, and not be ashamed to give testimony for Thee. In Thy name. Amen.

Tremendously Significant Development

The announcement by W. R. Grace & Company that it will construct a new ammonia plant here is both timely and welcome.

Any city would be delighted to add such a facility to its industrial family, and certainly the impact of an investment of several million dollars will produce a beneficial effect. An undertaking of this size means that a substantial working force will be required to produce and handle the product, adding another healthy payroll to our community.

In addition to what it will mean economically, we welcome the facility because it brings us in closer contact with W. R. Grace & Company, which now owns about 33 per cent of the Cosden stock. In effect it answers a question that has haunted some about Grace's plans toward Cosden and Big Spring. Grace not only has encouraged Cosden's progressive administration, but now is putting a substantial amount of capital on the line alongside the Cosden plant.

Announcement of this project comes right at a time when Big Spring appears poised to press forward into an era of great activity and expansion. The Grace facility, adding as it does to the growing petrochemical complex, is tremendously significant for the future of Big Spring and West Texas.

One Way To Establish Intent

Republicans, appearing before a solidly Democratic House committee, appealed last week for what they called non-partisan Texas election law changes.

Some of the proposed changes had to do with statutes for poll watchers which they said could help prevent election irregularities and fraud.

These merit some attention, but the more urgent remedies seem to be in the area of removing ambiguities of the law regulating ballot marking and in the interpretation of the regulations. One election judge may interpret a ballot one way, another may see it entirely differently.

One of the bills proposed would eliminate the provision disqualifying a ballot where two or more names for the same office remain unscratched on a ballot. Perhaps a better approach to this would be to require that voters put a check or an "x" beside the name of the person for whom they wish to vote. Thus, one mark clearly establishes intent, whereas other courses leave intent open to interpretation.

Texans have too long insisted on wanting to scratch something or someone, and this has been reflected in a negative approach to our candidates and issues. Were it economically feasible to have voting machines, a lot of this would be solved, but this is a long, long time off for the bulk of Texas counties.

JFK's Inexperience In Diplomacy

WASHINGTON—It is opportune to put into perspective President Kennedy's venture into personal diplomacy. His talks in Washington with Prime Minister Macmillan and Chancellor Adenauer and the later visit which Mr. Kennedy plans to make for conferences with President de Gaulle in Paris are the direct result of the American presidential election—a change in personnel here and maybe in international policy.

MR. MACMILLAN is an old hand—an experienced diplomat—and Mr. de Gaulle and Mr. Adenauer have a long-time background in international controversies. The big question is how these experienced diplomats will bargain and trade in the next few months with the relatively inexperienced President of the United States.

For Mr. Kennedy has let it be known that he himself is going to handle negotiations on the big problems. He has some able advisers who have been in government for some time, but not one has the intimate knowledge of the American government's long and at times difficult negotiations with our allies that President Eisenhower and the members of the National Security Council obtained in the last eight years.

DIPLOMACY IS, of course, often a matter of trades and reciprocal concessions. The British, for instance, know that the Red China problem is acutely controversial in the United States. It isn't in Britain, and the Macmillan government can take any position it pleases on that question, advancing or retreating, but the United States cannot. So the British diplomats will argue for something they are anxious to get from America and trade it off for a willingness to let the Red China problem ride for a while.

WHAT DO the British really want? What do the French want? What do the Germans want? Obviously, they want issues settled in a way that will benefit them on the economic side. The key to many a problem confronting the conservative government in Britain is increased export trade for British companies. In making a settlement in Southeast Asia, benefits to British trade and maintaining friendly relations with Red China—so as to preserve territorial possession of Hong Kong for Britain—are both more important than they appear to be on the surface. Participation in programs of financial aid to underdeveloped countries on a co-operative basis are looked upon in Europe as a desirable policy if they tend to increase the sale of European goods.

INDEED, a close look at the diplomacy of our European allies today brings out the materialistic rather than the idealistic motivation. Thus, British spokesmen are ready to forget the 157,000 casualties suffered by the American people in the Korean war and are prepared to brush aside the ideals proclaimed by the United Nations when, by formal resolution, it pronounced Red China an "aggressor." To ignore the past is what is called "practical" and "realistic" policy. It goes along with the viewpoints expressed by some so-called "liberals" in the United States, who say that Red China must be recognized as a "fact." But so is the aggression by Red China in Korea a "fact," and so is the tyranny imposed today by the Communists on the Chinese people. Is America's anti-colonial zeal to be confined to Portuguese Angola and the Congo?

THE REAL CONCERN here is whether President Kennedy will succumb to these new doctrines called "liberal," or whether he will stand up for American idealism when he is confronted by European statesmen. He is inexperienced in the wiles of diplomacy, though, being something of a politician himself, he may not be as naive as the Europeans think he is.

The sad truth is that Mr. Kennedy has to go to school to get at the background of what has happened in the last eight years. He has to learn by actual contact with the European diplomats just what kind of game they play. All the briefings he receives by the few men in the administration who have had some diplomatic experience in behalf of the United States in governmental posts from time to time will not give him a knowledge of the nuances of the many delicate problems he faces in these "summit" conferences. He would have been better advised to avoid the spectacular meetings at the top for a while and to have communicated through ambassadors for several months until he acquired an intimate background.

BUT THE PRESSURE for top-level meetings is hard to resist. Undoubtedly Mr. Kennedy will draw big crowds in Paris and perhaps even bigger ones in England if he goes there. Maybe he will meet with Nikita Khrushchev later on, too. All this furnishes headlines, but it doesn't accomplish what "classical diplomacy," as it has been called, can achieve. For in the intimate give-and-take at the ambassadorial level there can be some blunt speaking, and a spade can be called a spade.

IT'S UNFORTUNATE the United States had to have an election at this particular time in the midst of the "cold war." But, since a change of government was voted, it's regrettable that the top staff of American officials who helped to develop policies for eight years, and who knew intimately from almost daily conversations with foreign officials the background of international affairs, are not in some way utilized in an advisory capacity to help the people of the United States isn't supposed to be any party politics.

This Is Where Our Money Goes

NEW YORK (AP)—The battle to get you to save a dollar is growing about as keen as the drive to get you to spend it. And more and more you have the choice of taking your dollar to the savings institution of your choice or letting your boss do it for you.

The latter is supposed to be the painless way of getting a bond or an insurance policy—as painless, that is, as paying your income tax or providing a pension.

Uncle Sam urges you to save with him — by buying savings bonds and holding on to them—and has sweetened the return to tempt you. You can buy the bonds at a bank or through payroll deductions. At the same time Uncle Sam is making a bit more money available for consumer spending to nudge the economy out of stagnation and back to growth. Save or spend, either way you're a hero to some official.

PRIVATE SHEPHERDS for your savings vie with each other to get you to darken their particular door or save through payroll plans. Various institutions entice new customers with premiums, such as household articles.

Commercial and mutual savings banks have raised the interest they pay on deposits, in many cases as high as various laws will allow.

Savings and loan associations have raised interest rates—especially in growing West Coast communities where demand for loans is pressing. They advertise their higher yields in East Coast papers where rates are lower.

OF LATE, Washington has urged a stop to the hiking of interest on savings so that the associations can lower mortgage charges as a spur to more home building.

Credit unions have been growing steadily—and meeting competition from in-plant savings and lending plans of banks.

Mutual funds and insurance companies have been singing the praises of their own form of investing your savings as preferable to the others.

Just now the insurance companies are boasting of big gains in the payroll deduction way of taking out insurance. Individuals but life insurance through their office or plant.

IN 1949, SUCH salary savings came to $300 million. In 1959 more than $1.5 billion was put on the books this way. The Institute of Life Insurance estimates that in 1960 the sum topped $2 billion, with more than 30,000 companies providing such service — 6,000 of them for the first time last year.

A pioneer in the field, Equitable Life Assurance Society, says in 1960 its sales of salary savings insurance on 21,900 policies topped $125 million, up five fold in 10 years. Equitable's pioneer plan was for employees of the New York Telephone Company in the mid-1920s.

Increasingly active in the field are such companies as New York Life, John Hancock, Penn Mutual, Metropolitan, Teachers' Pension Fund, Aetna, Connecticut General, Prudential and Shenandoah. In all, 116 companies include such plans in their portfolios.

Greatest Giveaway Program

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The world's greatest giveaway program springs from the American heart. Our people last year gave $8 billion to philanthropic and charitable causes—$44 for each man, woman and child in the country.

That feminine touch: A Swedish experiment found that when dairy barns were placed in charge of a woman superintendent who petted the cows and gave them kindly, individual treatment, the cows responded by increasing their output up to 40 per cent.

One idea can make you wealthy. The man who invented roller skates made a million dollars. So did the fellow who first thought of putting a crinkle in the ordinary hairpin.

Life in the old days: In Paris 200 years ago baths were sold door-to-door. You contracted a licensed water seller and he brought both the tub and the hot water to your home for the big occasion.

What's in a name? Picaadilly, London's most famed street, got its name from "pica-dill," a ruffled collar worn by English dandies who thronged the area in the 17th century.

Our quotable notables: "From middle age on everything of interest is either illegal, immoral or fattening."—Alexander Woolcott. "Odd legislation: During the 1918 flu epidemic, Chicago made it illegal to sneeze in public without using a handkerchief."

The more some people earn the less they have. In the last 10 years the average American's income rose 50 per cent, but the number of personal bankruptcies leaped 300 per cent, reaching a record of 114,166 last year.

The short and long of it: The smallest paratrooper in Uncle Sam's Army is Pfc. Tully F. Strong, who stands an inch under five feet. The U.S. Military Academy at West Point, perhaps in an attempt to improve its basketball prospects, has raised the maximum permissible height of a cadet from 6 feet 5 inches to 7 feet.

Advice worth remembering: Before criticizing anyone else's faults, always first count up to ten—or your own.

Here's good news for Fido. A pill has been developed (an oral insecticide) which it is hoped will make dogs relatively immune from attacks by fleas, ticks and lice.

Wisecrack of the week: Singer Jeannie Thomas tells of the movie star who applied for a passport and, when asked if she was married, replied, "From time to time."

Nature notes: A deer can sprint at a speed of 40 miles an hour. The silk in a spider's web is so stout that a rope of it an inch thick could hold a weight of 74 tons.

Personal ad in a Florida paper: "Bachelor with 40 acres of excellent land would like to make acquaintance of lady with tractor. Matrimony in mind. Please send picture of tractor."

Signs of the times: In a reducing salon: "Stop, look — and lessen!"

It was E. W. Howe who observed: "What people say behind your back is your standing in the community in which you live."

Four-Year-Olds Can Be Finicky Eaters

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My four-year-old son comes to the table saying he is starving. After one or two bites he slows down."

"He wants to live on liquids alone, and we have cut them down to 18 ounces of milk, and yet he still refuses food. (He also gets cookies and snacks.)"

"His plate is never overloaded, meals are at the same time every day, and he is never rushed. It's the same at breakfast and lunch. Do you have any suggestions?"

—MRS. D.

Age four is apt to be a time when youngsters, just beginning to exert a bit of independence, have notions of their own about eating.

I'd eliminate cookies and snacks between meals. Continue to serve his regular meals—without comment.

When he's hungry enough, he'll eat!

After all, adults have variations in appetite. For one reason or another we sometimes say, "I'm just not hungry," or "I'm too tired to eat," or "we're intent on something or other that so engrosses us that we're 'too excited to eat.'"

Four-year-olds, it seems, sometimes have still other unwholesome "reasons" of their own. I do not know a better way to cope with this than to cut off between-meal snacks and let the urgency of a child's appetite take charge when it is ready.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My problem concerns psychological constipation. My son is five and for years has been constipated. The strange part is that when he visits his grandmother he has no trouble. He goes willingly to the bathroom whereas here at home I have to make him go, and when he does, elimination is so small I have to give him a laxative once a week."

"I've tried praising him when he goes, and tried ignoring the problem but it stays the same. 'Could you give me some idea how to deal with it?'—J. F."

Since he has no trouble at grandma's, obviously this isn't the result of a physical defect.

You might quietly determine whether he eats differently at grandma's. Perhaps he gets more bulk—more fruit and vegetables which, in turn, are not as completely absorbed, thus leaving more to be eliminated.

Is he tense or upset at home, and relaxed when visiting grandma? Is he getting regular, balanced meals?

Still another thought that proves to be the answer far oftener than parents suspect: The normal cycle of elimination can vary quite widely from one individual to another. Contrary to popular belief, it is for a great many people totally unnecessary for the bowels to move every day. For some, once every two or three days can be perfectly adequate and healthful.

If such people resort to laxatives, the result may be that there will not be enough bulk accumulated for a normal movement until several days later.

I should at least give an extensive trial, a few weeks or so, without use of laxatives, and see whether the boy may not then settle on a schedule that suits his particular physiology.

Meantime I think I'd ignore the issue completely concerning praise or solicitous concern.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I'm 62 and my breasts are enlarging. I did wear a 38-B. Now I wear a 40-D. I'm 5 feet 5½. Is there something I can take to decrease them? Please—let me know what to do."—B. V.

Well, for a quick, snappy guess, I'd say maybe the best thing you can do is add one more fact: How much do you weigh? Then maybe I could just reply, "Go on a diet."

NOTE TO MRS. F. M. AND SOME OTHERS: There is no way to remove a cataract without an operation. But at least be thankful that cataract operations are so successful.

Around The Rim

Roaches Will Always Be With Us

If cockroaches could communicate with humans, they could put anyone in the shade when it comes to talking about their ancestors.

This remarkable little fellow has probably changed much less than any other living thing in the last million years. And, judging from the way roaches are inclined to take over once they do move into a place, I—for one—wish they would and could reminisce more and forage less.

THE COCKROACH existed when dinosaurs roamed the earth and he will probably be here long after man has vanished. He survives and flourishes, even though man has constantly waged war against him and such creatures as birds, frogs, hedgehogs and wasps find him to be a very delectable dish.

The cockroach adapts himself to almost any way of life because he's not fussy about his diet. He'll eat anything—from paint to moldering waste paper to shoe polish. He'll partake of aspirin, but not for headaches, for he is spared such ailments. He goes for toothpaste, but not for the same reason a human does.

THE LITTLE INSECT likes beer, bread and potatoes but is careful not to gorge himself on any one thing. He has many enemies and he has to stay in good athletic trim to avoid them. If he's in top shape he can cover up to 50 yards in 60 seconds' time.

His speed, combined with his suspicious nature and his caution, no doubt, keep him alive. He's so wary he prefers to prowl at night.

IF HE EVER HAD a weakness for gaudy dress, he discarded that a long time ago. His sober brown coat enables him to blend with the background, which helps him remain alive.

His dress, combined with remarkable eyesight and an ability to seek out and squeeze through the smallest holes and crevasses, are insurance for a long life.

ONE THING HIS COAT doesn't do is protect him against severe weather. If he's caught out in the open in weather 20 degrees and below, he can't live. For that reason he likes to stay in houses, old barns—anywhere the weather can't give him a bad time.

The housewife looks upon the cockroach as a dirty creature but the little insect would probably take issue with her, if he could. Like a cat, he spends long hours cleaning his feelers and his legs with his mouth.

HE PROBABLY HOLDS mankind in low regard, if for no other reason than the fact that humans find it next to impossible to become socially adjusted to each other. The cockroaches avoid quarrels within their own ranks and never resort to war.

You can decimate his numbers and make him feel unwelcome but he won't take a hint. Long ago, he made plans to outlive us all and, no doubt, looks upon a human antagonist as a very temporary nuisance.

The Divisive Tactics Of McCarthyism

If there is one threat that the United States cannot tolerate or endure at this critical juncture in its history, it is the divisive tactics of a self-anointed group of egomaniacs who cry "Unclean!" and hint treason on the part of any citizen who dares to think differently from this self-nominated elite.

THIS NATION is in a time of troubles so grave that it cannot afford the folly or the schism inherent in the revival of McCarthyism raised to the nth degree. The Communist threat to this country has never been more grave or more determined. But the overwhelming threat to our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor is not and never has been within this nation.

That steady, relentless threat to this nation and its citizens is from without and has been since the growth of Communist power assumed world-wide proportions. With Communist pressure growing and probing every minute, with that pressure leapfrogging the Atlantic to land only 90 miles off the American mainland, this nation cannot afford to permit the divisive tactics of the extreme right any more than it can submit to divisive tactics of the extreme left.

IF THERE IS one time in its history when the nation must stand united in all its strength it is now. We waged World War II to lick a group of "supermen" and the idea that such an elite could exist. Surely, we are not now about to engage in the folly of allowing a group of self-appointed supermen, whether they be listed in the John Birch Society or the White Citizens Councils, to accuse as Communists and Communist tools all who disagree with them and their aims by jot or tittle.

AS A NATION, we are just now recovering from the terrible, divisive tactics of McCarthyism. If the American public and the American Congress allow its revival in an even more brutal and arrogant form than the only sound conclusion is that our country's boast of literacy is a fake and the national I. Q. is nonexistent.

It is unthinkable that the United States has so little regard for the rule of law that it is willing to abrogate its duty to fair subversion, from right, left, front or center, to private groups. I believe the Justice Department, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Congress and its committees are still amply capable of doing their duty in this field.

IT IS NOT beyond the realm of possibility that the John Birch Society, crying for the blood of Chief Justice Earl Warren, will also soon be demanding the head of J. Edgar Hoover. It seems doubtful if Hoover endeared himself to the Birch-rodgers when he recently stated in the April law enforcement bulletin, his displeasure with "vigilante action" by citizens opposed to communism.

The chief of the FBI pointed out that only the Communists themselves stand to gain from any division created in certain people across the country who engage in reckless charges against one another.

THEN HOOVER added a powerful warning when the nation must stand united in all its strength it is now. We waged World War II to lick a group of "supermen" and the idea that such an elite could exist. Surely, we are not now about to engage in the folly of allowing a group of self-appointed supermen, whether they be listed in the John Birch Society or the White Citizens Councils, to accuse as Communists and Communist tools all who disagree with them and their aims by jot or tittle.

Such is my faith in Hoover that I believe, in a crisis, the head of the FBI could jail, within six hours, every important Communist in the country. That is work for experts, not for rock-heads who believe that other men who are not as they are: ipso facto, Judases reincarnate.

Three Serious Legislative Mistakes

WASHINGTON—Three pieces of pro-East legislation, none of them good, will stand as the pillars of wisdom by the 87th Congress.

Depressed Areas. This bill succeeded not on its merits, but on its propensities of log rolling—or, more exactly, pork barrel rolling.

YOU CAN HARDLY read the Senate and House debates without detecting a distrust for the principles involved. Here is a plan to perpetuate unsuccess. A section of the bill reads, "No such assistance... unless... not otherwise available from private lenders or other Federal agencies on reasonable terms." It means that unsound, unpromising businesses get Federal support. Since they are unsound, they will never pay off, and chronic depression is replaced with chronic dole. As Congressman Alger of Dallas put it in debate: "Only poor risks need apply!"

THIS IS SUCH a reversal of American philosophy and common sense that you wonder how the bill got a majority vote in both houses of Congress. Well, the Republican conservatives opposed it and, with Democratic Southern Conservatives, might have carried the day. But into the bill had been packed the odor of country rural depressed areas, mainly in the South. At one point there was a notion to remove this provision, but the rebel yell became rebel weepings—and pitiful to hear.

Sikes of Florida: "We want to be certain that (money) will reach the small rural areas... tell us definitely, so that we may know exactly what this bill will do for the rural areas."

COOLEY OF N. C.: "Can we be unmindful... that hundreds of thousands, even millions, have been driven off the land?... there is at least some hope for those who have faithfully tilled our soil... etc., etc."

You can't call it very inspired statesmanship when Senators and Congressmen decide on a bill after asking "What's in it for my State and District?" But several measures at this session have already turned upon that question.

LESS LAND—MORE LAND: One of the first legislative victories of the Kennedy Administration was the Feed Grains bill—which paid farmers for not planting corn, wheat, oats, barley and rye. But a few days later there came a bill for irrigation in the Southwestern States of New Mexico and California to increase the acreage of arable land.

On the face of it, there is something foolish about retiring crop land in Western and Northern States while bringing new crop land into production elsewhere. A case can be made, I know, for land improvement everywhere. Indeed, land retirement in some states and land watering in other states may come to the same thing—a sound program of conservation.

BUT UNHAPPILY there is no such master plan for conservation. I doubt if Agriculture Secretary Freeman, who supervised the Feed Grains bill, was even cued in on the irrigation bill which falls under the authority of Interior Secretary Udall. It is more doubtful still that the entire staff of the Congress was aware that we are retiring crop land with one hand and creating additional crop land with the other. It looks like a matter of every lawmaker for his own area. The mistakes we make by this sort of provincialism, we pay for by increased centralism.

Dependent (On the Federal Government) Children: Until the New Frontier, "dependent" children in the legislative sense meant those who had been orphaned, deserted or otherwise deprived of parents. The concept of parental and family responsibility remained. But last month a bill (H. R. 4984) to rephrase the Social Security Act "to include needy children of unemployed parents on the same basis as Federal grants are now available to needy children who have been deprived of parental support by the death, absence or incapacity of a parent."

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE! The needy orphan becomes a ward of the state (under federal aid), and this is common charity. But when the child of living parents, even though unemployed, is paid money by the state, his loyalties shift. The state becomes an agent in the alienation of parental responsibility and authority. We begin a new generation of Americans who are wards of the government—a condition which we deplored when it appeared in Nazi Germany and is rumored to be so in Soviet Russia.

Nothing here says that Congress, under the Kennedy leadership, is everything wrong from January, April, 1961. But the lawmakers did these things wrong that's for sure.

Burr Would Leave World A Better Place

By ROB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"With all that is going on today, with all the opportunities that are available, a person should be pretty darned sure that when he kicks off he leaves this world a better place—or at least not a worse one."

Short of psychoanalysis, this is perhaps the best explanation of the phenomenon of Raymond Burr. It comes from Burr himself, a man whose almost punishing capacity for work has stirred the admiration and puzzlement of his fellow actors.

Ask any of them who is the hardest-working actor in Hollywood and the reply will be: Raymond Burr. He is considered an acting machine—though his work is by no means mechanical.

IN HOSPITAL

Sometimes the machine breaks down. Burr was hospitalized more than once during the first two years of his "Perry Mason" TV series. He was back in the hospital recently for two sieges totaling 18 days.

"When my strength gets down, I am susceptible to ailments," he said. "This time I got a virus that I couldn't shake off. It got into the muscle of my back and chest and I had to go into the hospital. I was in traction much of the time."

But he bounced back and is once again laboring as Mason. He talked about his rigorous routine over a weight-watching lunch of consomme and hamburger steak; he said it was the first lunch interview he had been able to arrange in four years. Such is his schedule.

Did he know what he was getting into when he signed on as Perry?

LOT OF DIALOGUE

"I thought I did," he said. "I had had offers for several series. I took Mason because I thought it would be done with quality. I was right about that. But I didn't realize that other hour shows had two or more leading characters to carry the load; 'Mason' couldn't. And I didn't realize I would not only have an immense amount of dialogue to learn, but it would be much questioning with no continuing train of thought—the most difficult dialogue to learn."

"On each hour show, Bill Talman has as much dialogue as the star of an average feature movie. I have four times the dialogue Bill has."

How does he learn and deliver all this wordage, plus the changes that sometimes come hourly? By doing little else. He has a lovely home beside the breakers north of Malibu, but he sees it only on weekends. During the week he lives at General Service Studios, where the series is filmed.

Burr finishes the season in June, takes a breather and then plunges into his fifth year in the courtroom.

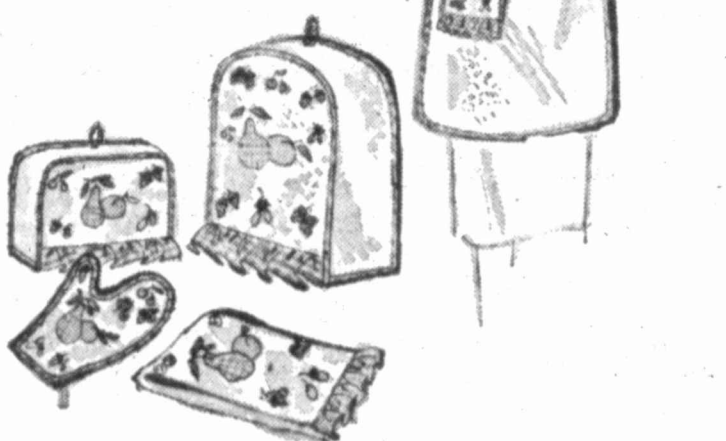

Thefts Are Up

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Police investigated 4,619 car theft cases in Norway last year, an increase of 48 per cent over 1959.

DEAR ABBY

This Lady Is Over-Extended

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about a very generous person who knocks herself out helping others, but doesn't keep her own house clean? Her husband works out of town and she has three children. She will leave her own children alone to stay with other children if their mother is ill. She works for church suppers, P-TA rummage sales and is always selling tickets for good causes. She will run errands or even do the laundry for her neighbors—but her own house is a mess.

She cooked an elaborate holiday dinner for a motherless family in her block and later we learned her own children ate tuna sandwiches. How do you set a big-hearted person like that straight without hurting her feelings?

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: You can't "set her straight"—but you can try to understand her. I don't mean to discredit your "big-hearted" friend, but her kind of "generosity" is misguided. She "knocks herself out" for friends and neighbors because she may thrive on the applause, thanks and reputation for helping others. If her own family does without, it doesn't bother her. A truly "generous" person gives her best to her family first, and if there is any time and energy to spare—she she extends it to others.

DEAR ABBY: Exactly what is a flit? "TOUGH": A flit is someone who advertises something she has no intention of delivering.

DEAR ABBY: When I was 19 I married a man who was 27, and we were so much in love we never thought we would have any problems. We have been married two years, and I am miserable.

He is a professional man, and I never got past the ninth grade. He is always correcting my English and has even suggested I go back to school and graduate. Abby, I feel that he thinks I am not good enough for him. If he loved me as I was, why is he ashamed of me now? What should I do?

MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: Get in touch with your Public Education System and resume your schooling where you quit. It can be done by mail, or in evening classes, with other adults. Your husband loves you, or he wouldn't encourage you to graduate. There is no

Whose Buffalo? Just Ask Him

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Police in southern Formosa have an effective way of investigating buffalo rustling. They ask the buffalo.

A farmer near Pingtung accused a neighbor of stealing his water buffalo, but the buffalo refused to follow the commands of the accuser. Set free, the beast promptly walked to the house of the accused farmer and started munching hay.

Tokyo Grows

TOKYO (AL)—The world's most populous city continues to grow. The Tokyo metropolitan government's statistics bureau reports the city had 9,757,224 inhabitants on March 1.

Farewell Note

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—President Kennedy has sent a farewell message to retiring Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab expressing "the gratitude of all free men for your service to the principles of Western democracy." Raab retires next week after eight years in office.

shame in not knowing—only in refusing to learn.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SALLY: A young lady should not accept gifts of intimate apparel from a young man. And the article you mention is intimate.

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3865, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Thinking Men?

ROME (AP)—The filter cigarette is putting one of Italy's marginal industries out of business. Pickings are getting slim for the stooped little men with spike-tipped canes who pick up butts from the streets. They used to be able to gather tobacco and sell it to the state cigarette monopoly. But now, sneered one butt-picker, "filters—there's no tobacco there."

Red Promoted

BERLIN (AP)—Arthur Pieck, son of the late president of East Germany, has been promoted to a deputy minister's post in the Communist regime, a private intelligence agency reported Saturday. Information Bureau West said Pieck, 62, now heads the Civil Aviation Department in the Transport Ministry. His father, Wilhelm, died last September.

Tie That Binds

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Young people, with their urge to band together and conform, like rock 'n' roll music because it gives them "something in common to cling to," says the Rev. C. L. Bass, a Baptist composer and minister. "I think church music could become the common band that binds young people together as much as rock 'n' roll. The main reason it hasn't is a shortage of enthusiastic choir directors."
