Coney Island Is Swept By Raging $2,500,000 Fire

Famed Playground Of Millions Saved From Destruction; Many Are Injured And In Hospitals

Hundreds Of Small Structures Along Atlantic Still Burn And Dense Smoke Hovers Over Beach; Four Blocks Of Internationally-Known Boardwalk Turned Into Ruin

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, July 13.—Coney Island, famed playground of millions, was saved from destruction tonight after fire had turned four blocks of its internationally-known boardwalk into ruins.

Hundreds of small structures along the Atlantic ocean still were burning, however, and a dense pall of smoke hung over the beach.

200 Are Injured

The number of injured was listed by Dr. Richard Greef, commissioner of hospitals, at about 200, 40 of whom were sent to hospitals. Forty-six firemen were treated for minor burns and smoke inhalation at one emergency hospital and 160 civilians were taken care of at two other stations. None of the injuries were expected to result in fatalities.

The damage to bath houses, apartment buildings, small concessions and dwellings was estimated by William C. Meinch, chairman of the Coney Island Chamber of Commerce, at $2,500,000, of which about $1,500,000 was covered by insurance.

Destruction Wide-Spread

At least five large bath houses—all of them expensively equipped—a six-story apartment house, five three-story apartment houses, and a dozen of cheaply-built stands were caught in the fire's stride. They burned rapidly and showered sparks over the resort.

Upwards of 750,000 merry makers, lured to the beach by a sultry afternoon, were interested spectators and interfered with police and firemen as they milled around. Scores of them had lost their belongings in the destruction of several groups of bath houses and added to the confusion as they fought to get into the burning lockers.

All Candidates For Governor Reach Stage Of Prediction In Campaign; Tom Hunter Is Equally Confident

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 13.—The campaign for the governorship of Texas today had reached the point of victory predictions.

Ex-Governor James E. Ferguson, conducting the campaign in behalf of his wife, Miriam A. Ferguson Texas' first woman governor, stated it was his "honest belief that my wife will win in the first primary."

Tom F. Hunter of Wichita Falls was quoted at Lubbock as saying he believed he would be in the run-off with Mrs. Ferguson and that he might lead the ticket in the first primary.

From the Dallas headquarters of Governor R. S. Sterling, seeking a second term, came the more modest word that the Sterling campaign was "proceeding nicely," and that the outlook for success was good.

Ferguson's predictions of victory were by far the strongest. He claimed the enemy was "on the run," and badly confused and expressed the opinion that "Nobody need be surprised if Mrs. Ferguson receives 500,000 votes. Ferguson, who was impeached and removed from the office of governor in 1917, and barred from holding state office, said the Ferguson vote in the election of two years ago still was intact.

In the second primary of 1930 Mrs. Ferguson received 384,402 votes being defeated by Sterling who polled 473,371 votes.

Another of Ferguson's predictions was that Sterling would not carry a county along the Red River border. He also forecast 850,000 votes would be cast in the first primary.

Great Seaway Will Be Built

St. Lawrence Project To Cost $800,000,000 Now Assured; Great Lakes Will Be Opened To Ocean Commerce

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Canada and the United States have finally reached an agreement to build the $800,000,000 St. Lawrence seaway which is to open every harbor on the Great Lakes to ocean commerce.

It was definitely established today that the agreement provides for construction of a 27-feet channel throughout the seaway and stipulates that there shall be two dams. The seaway stretch of the river has a total drop of 220 feet.

Great Britain And France In Candid Accord

Nations Will Attack Problems Which Have Kept Europe In Turmoil; United States Is Not Affected

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, July 13.—Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon surprised the house of commons by announcing today that Britain and France had signed a new accord under which they will "exchange views with complete candor" in attacking the problems that have kept Europe in turmoil.

The foreign minister emphasized that this agreement had no connection whatever with relations between France and the United States or Britain and the United States specifically in respect to the war debts owed to America.

Four General Heads

The pact contains four general heads:

(1) It provides for complete and candid consultation on problems "similar in origin to that now so happily settled at Lausanne, which may effect the European regime."

(2) It provides for cooperation to solve disarmament.

(3) It paves the way for cooperative preparation for the world economic conference.

(4) It binds the two nations not to discriminate against each other pending negotiations of a new commercial treaty.

Plan To Allow State Control Of Liquor Up

Senator Carter Glass Offers Constitutional Amendment To Outlaw Saloon But To Give Liquor To States

Relief Bill Voted

Final Congressional Action On Relief Proposal Assured Before Another Day; House Favor Is Given

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 13.—A resolution proposing a new constitutional amendment, repealing the 18th but outlawing the saloon, was introduced in the senate today by Senator Carter Glass of Virginia.

For years he has been one of the leading congressional supporters of prohibition.

Consideration Blocked

The former Democratic secretary of the treasury asked for immediate consideration of his resolution, but this was blocked by Senator Norris (R., Neb.) Glass then said he would call it up again.

The constitutional amendment proposed by the Virginian would allow states that want liquor to have it, but would keep the saloon unconstitutional. It also would prohibit transportation of liquor into states where it was forbidden.

The amendment would have to be ratified by state conventions within seven years or it would die.

Off the floor later, Glass said his amendment would permit the sale of liquor in hotels and restaurants unless state laws interfered. He said introduction of the resolution did not commit him to repeal and added: "I am merely submitting the question."

Hawks Record Still Stands

Amelia Earhart Sets A Record For Women But Fails To Go Frank Hawks One Better In Transcontinental Hop

(By The Associated Press)

NEWARK, N. J., July 13.—Amelia Earhart Putnam broke the women's transcontinental flight record by nearly ten hours today without even trying.

Although she failed by more than an hour to lower Frank Hawks' coast-to-coast time, partly because of a forced landing at Columbus, O., she said she might try to clip five hours from his time in a faster ship later.

The tall, slim aviatrix—first woman to make a solo flight across the Atlantic—landed here at noon, 19 hours, 14 minutes and 40 seconds after leaving Los Angeles.

Hawks' record which has stood five years, is 17 hours, 38 minutes, 59 seconds.

Northern Nebraska Writes Its Own Meal Ticket And There Is Cheer And Optimism Over Land

Everything From Melon Rinds To An Old Rooster Is Being Canned For Winter

(By The Associated Press)

O'NEILL, Neb., July 13. — Northern Nebraska this summer is writing its own meal ticket.

Half-starved last winter in a drouth-ridden land where livestock died by the hundreds, farmers and townsfolk have enough food in storage now to guard against another famine.

They've gone in for gardens. Bountiful rainfall has helped and the land which lay fallow one season is producing enormous crops. Dave Loy grubbed 42 potatoes from one hill.

Hundreds of farmers have federal seed loans and for them, planting a garden was a condition of the loan. But nearly everyone in town and country is tending a bigger garden than ever and tending it more faithfully. It's no longer a chore left to the women.

Mulberries, choke-berries, rhubarb, greens and old roosters are being canned for winter use. Corn, cucumbers, melon rind, grapes, plums and meat all will be stored away.

There's cheer and optimism in northern Nebraska. A farmer may be short on cash but he can trade his apples for a side of pork. There's less worry about cash crops and more thought of old fashioned living next to the soil.

High School Athlete Plunges From 26th Floor Of Building To Death; Body Is Identified

John R. Padgett, Houston, Is Victim; Mother Tells Story Of Financial Difficulties; Body Strikes Car

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, July 13. — John R. Padgett, 18 years old today and a student and football player at the John Regan senior high school, plunged to instant death from the 26th floor of the Neils-Esperson building today.

The boy's body crashed through the concrete slab room of the Esperson garage on the west side of the building and struck an automobile.

Mother Identifies Body

Identification was established by the boy's mother, Mrs. T. H. Padgett. She looked at the mangled form of her son lying at the funeral home and examined the clothing.

"That's him—I can't understand it," the mother cried.

Mrs. Padgett later made a statement to a member of the police homicide squad in which she said she told the son at breakfast she "didn't see how we could manage him to go to college unless he could work his way through."

Talked Of Finances

"We had a brief discussion of family finances. I told him last week we had to pay some insurance. He asked:

"You don't have any insurance on me, do you?'

"I answered I did not think we did except for some Post Dispatch insurance. Then he left and went to school."

Stabbing Victim Tells Story Of Affair; Younger Man Faces Charge Of Aggravated Assault

Millard Graves, 31, Suffers Stab Wounds; Leo Lynch, 17, Pleads Guilty At Hearing; Prisoner Carries Picture Of Fiancee To Prison Cell; Judgment In Case Deferred

AFFECTIONS of a 13-year-old girl figured in a fight which sent 31-year-old Millard Graves to Lubbock sanitarium with two stab wounds and Leo Lynch, 17, to the county jail facing a charge of aggravated assault early Wednesday afternoon.

The younger man apparently was the victor for the girl's hand. The young lovers kissed timidly in the courthouse lobby as Lynch left the building with Deputy Sheriff Ed Sanders for county jail. He had a picture of her with him in jail.

Tells Of Engagement

Lynch and the girl were engaged to be married "Saturday week," the latter told County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson. The wounded man, whose right lung was punctured by a knife blade, told The Morning Avalanche that he, too, had asked the young woman to marry him and that for about a month they were planning to marry.

Lynch, who told officers he was under a five-year suspended sentence for burglary in Hill county, was arrested at about 2:20 o'clock by Policeman George Eubank at Avenue C and Ninth street. The youth, arraigned before County Judge E. L. Pitts, pleaded guilty. The judge heard testimony of the girl and deferred judgment until condition of Graves was determined.

Story Is Revealed

Graves last night said the girl had broken off their engagement.

"Did you think a lot of her?" he was asked.

"I thought too damn' much of her," he replied.

"Was the disturbance over her?"

"Oh, yeah," he replied with resignation.

Asked if the girl was engaged to Lynch, the wounded mechanic replied:

"I don't think so."

"She told the county attorney they were engaged."

"Well, they might have been," the injured man conceded.

Girl Testifies

Graves denied "I done a thing to him (Lynch)," and said he "thought too much of the girl to strike her."

The girl testified yesterday afternoon that the older man struck her once in the face and hit Lynch first.

The affray took place in the home of the girl's mother, two doors removed from the address given by Graves in the 1900-block of Avenue L. Both Lynch and the girl testified they were alone in a room in the residence, that her mother was asleep in an adjoining room, and that the young woman's former sweetheart came into the house. They charged him with provoking the disturbance. Graves denied it.

Nervous On Stand

The black-eyed girl, who appeared to be at least 16 or 17, was very nervous while she was on the witness stand. She said she would be 14 in August. With considerable hesitation she told Judge Pitts of the affair. She was wearing a dark, sleeveless dress which exposed dark-

Clothing And Food Are Needed By Many In Lubbock; Demand For Aid Grows As Donations Are Received

While additional help is needed among the unemployed of Lubbock, jobs and supplies are being secured through unemployment headquarters at 708 Thirteenth street.

Eighty-seven men were put to work through this agency Wednesday and 36 more men were at the headquarters building ready to take any jobs.

Families Are Aided

Mesdames J. P. Beesinger and Mae Parker continued to make calls at homes where people are reported in need. They said that clothing and food are needed in many places, while supplies were being distributed to as many as possible. One destitute family was given help Wednesday and other families were given some aid, they reported.

Donations up to Wednesday included 750 poupds of flour by the Santa Fe, five sacks of green beans, vegetables from produce houses, donations from grocery stores, shoes and clothing from the Popular Price store, some personal donations of clothing. Milk, ice and other supplies were being sent in.

Since those who are in charge of the unemployment headquarters are people who have been without work for some time, no one has a car and a machine is needed in the distribution of supplies, Mrs. Parker announced. So far, all trips have been made on foot.

Libby Holman Seeks Seclusion In Old Home Town After Shock And Strain Which Followed Death Of Young Heir

(By The Associated Press)

CINCINNATI, July 13.—Libby Holman came back today to the home town she left six years ago to become a Broadway idol.

She had been expected to go to the modest apartment of her parents but instead she sought the greater seclusion of the suburban home of her sister, Mrs. Myron Kahn. There she planned to rest, endeavoring to recover from the shock and strain that followed the death of her husband, Smith Reynolds, heir to tobacco millions, from a bullet wound a week ago.

Secrecy cloaked her movements and not a word concerning her or her husband's death was given out.

Libby shrank from the curious eyes that watched as she boarded the train in north Carolina. It was to shield her that an unscheduled stop was made at Clare, 12 miles from the city, today. Few noticed, as the "Torch Singer" in black and white costume, with a fur drawn high around her face, was almost carried from the train and bustled to a waiting automobile by her father, Alfred Holman, Cincinnati lawyer. Her mother and her sister followed. Awaiting them was her brother, Alfred jr., 21, all seeking to keep her from the public eye.

When the train reached Cincinnati only a book—a novel based on neurotic psychology—remained in the drawing room she and her sister had occupied.

Younger Set Is Entertained At Affairs; Visitors Are Given Courtesies

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

HERE is another way you can get rich, just in case money means anything in your life. You can create a new flower because the owner of a new variety can virtually name his own price for several seasons. And then, unless you are greedy, you can retire on the profits and live happily ever after.

Two suggestions are made in a current scientific monthly for those who want to get rich in this way. A red gardenia or a blue rose might bring a fortune to one. However, it can be done with petunias, daises or almost anything else. Well, wish you luck. It sounds easy.

ONE WAY TO HELP

ASSISTANCE continues to come to those people who have created an unemployment council in Lubbock. However, at the same or a greater rate, the need grows.

Women who have been trudging through a July sun going from one end of Lubbock to another in visiting needy people can use a car and driver if someone in the city wants to help this cause. Before help can be given to people who say they need assistance, a visit must be made to their homes. In taking supplies, another visit is occasioned. Some times these calls come from places a considerable distance from the unemployment headquarters down on Thirteenth street. A car would be a great help.

There are a number of youngsters—and older people, too—who spend a part of every day simply riding around. Daytime and evening there are certain cars that can be seen driving down Broadway and up Main or making the round of paved streets.

Someone who does this driving every day might be useful at the same time by hauling some of these unemployed workers around over the town.

The unemployed council was organized and is being run by unemployed people. Their purpose is to help their neighbors and friends who are in need. During the last few months they have watched the need for food and for work grow. If they had cars these have long since been sold or propped up on bricks to save gasoline. Since there are no paid workers, a car is not among the equipment.

If you have one that is being used for nothing more than idle driving, send it down occasionally for the council to use. You can send your schoolboy girl or boy down to do the driving—he is doing it anyway—and thus keep him employed for a part of the day. This can be a matter of "killing two birds with one stone."

A BUTTER OUNCE

ONE tablespoon of butter, well rounded, makes an ounce.

HERE and there! One writer in a magazine advertises ways to "make exciting meals from left-overs." Of course, she may be able to accomplish it but I have yet to see an "exciting" dish composed of left-over food. . . . The vigor with which the sports editor swats flies . . . That old song, "There Are No Flies On Me," can't very well be suggested as his theme song. . . . A suggestion to advertisers. Tell the public about those large covered garbage cans to be used in alleys. A few more might help in this proposed war on flies . . . And, am I wrong, isn't there a city ordinance about covered cans? . . . That siesta suggestion for office workers didn't gain much momentum. However, it could be used by about nine-tenths of 'em. Might not use up any more time. Just watch the yawns soon after dinner. . . . This may be a time of depression but the wedding business still goes on. This paper and others over the section have not been lacking in nuptial news since early in May . . . Weddings may not be as big as they have been during more prosperous years, but they happen just the same . . .

A story from Georgia states that bountiful crops or feed for livestock, coupled with low prices for farm products, are bringing the old-fashioned horse and buggy back on roads to supplant the flivver. Perhaps that reaction is being felt out here, also. On a ride down through Terry and Gaines counties the other day we passed dozens of wagons filled with families enroute to Seagraves and Seminole yet there were few cars on the roads.

Once in awhile we hear an exemplification of some of those tales we read in hero magazines and in children's books. There was the teacher from Fort Worth who had a group of girls at an encampment down in Southwest Texas during the recent floods. She got her flock out safely and the girls told how. When a panic threatened, the teacher told stories to keep her girls calm until help arrived.

This Man Had Faith; Lost 24 Lbs.

"Last November I weighed 192 lbs. Today (February 5th, 1932) I am down to 168 lbs. and full of pep all day long—since using Kruschen I have not had to use the laxative that was customary."—Theo. A. C. LaFleur, Providence, R. I.

What do you think of this—you men who doubt—you stay fat—because you want to think that nature made you that way.

You're all wrong—most fat men were made fat because of their ability to handle a knife and fork in a business like manner.

Be frank with yourself. Are you too timid to take a safe, harmless conditioner that not only takes off surplus fat but is so helpful that it makes you feel years younger?

To reduce safely take one-half teasponful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—cut down on fatty meats, potatoes and sweets. Kruschen is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Store, City Drug Store and druggists the world over. A jar that costs but a trifle will last four weeks—but be sure you get Kruschen — your health comes first.—Adv.

Details Of "Warner System" Given At Coaching School

Ed Hambright Named Manager Of Lubbock Hubbers

Littlefield In Third Lecture On Field Work

University Of Texas Stars In Demonstrations Of Shot And High Jump; Warner Points Out System Advantages

Clyde Littlefield, one of the accepted track and field authorities of the country, brought some of his University of Texas stars into play yesterday while he pointed out the fundamentals of the high jump and shot put before the total enrollment of the Tech coaching school. It was Littlefield's third lecture on track. Last night he took the floor to describe his five-man line system used in connection with his particular style of football.

Joe Holmes, Bull Elkins, Fowler, Perkins and Westerfeldt of the Texas track team assisted Littlefield in his work.

Glenn S. "Pop" Warner of Stanford and his line coach, Claude Thornhill, addressed the body of 400 visiting coaches and athletes yesterday morning and again in the afternoon, pointing out advantages of the "Warner" or "wing-back" offensive formations.

Registration Increases

Nearly a dozen late arrivals registered yesterday, swelling the total enrollment of visiting coaches to the 335 mark, fourteen more than were present last year. The enrollment is due to take another upward trend next Monday when Hunk Anderson and Marchy Schwartz of Notre Dame take charge of football and when Phog Allen of Kansas starts his basketball and treatment of injuries lectures and demonstrations.

The entire body of coaches and athletes, together with wives of about sixty visiting coaches, assembled in the grandstand at Matador Field and pictures were taken of the group yesterday. Coach Warner cut his afternoon lecture short and dismissed the body at 5:30 o'clock.

Gives "Warner" Plays

Getting deeper into the subject of football, Warner and Thornhill yesterday outlined the duty of each man making up the lineup, Warner detailing duties of backfield men while Thornhill described individual duties of linemen. The afternoon class, which was confined to lectures and blackboard illustrations, was held at the gymnasium. No field work was held yesterday.

Coach Warner introduced several offensive plays at the afternoon session, detailing those most commonly used and offering suggestions as to the improvement of their use. Field work today will be devoted to actual demonstrations of his points, with coaches and athletes in uniform going through the plays in dummy scrimmage.

To Show Picture

As an added attraction on today's program, Coach Warner will present moving pictures of various plays in his system. The picture will be shown in the main auditorium of the engineering building. A special projection machine provided by Dr. O. W. English of Lubbock will be used for the screen play.

Harley Boss, Chattanooga first baseman, was the first Southern association player to pass the 100 mark for base hits this season.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

9 to 11—Football, Warner, Thornhill and Winterburn.

2 to 3—Four-reel moving picture show, demonstrating Warner system, at main auditorium, Engineering Building.

3 to 4—Track, Clyde Littlefield.

4 to 6—Football, lectures and demonstrations, Warner, et al.

8:30—Watermelon feast and fun session at Matador Field.

Horseback riding for ladies at 7 a. m. and men's golf tourney starts Thursday. Dance at Hotel Lubbock at 10 p. m.

Students enrolled in the Tech coaching school who go in for golf as a sideline are invited to take part in the coaches' tournament which begins with an 18-hole qualifying round at the Meadowbrook club today. The course is open at 6 o'clock this morning. Medal play will constitute the tournament. Valuable prizes offered by sporting goods houses represented at the coaching school will be awarded winners and runners up in three flights. Qualifying may be done any time today.

Coast Grid Fans Seek Bargains

"Clipper" Smith Of Santa Clara University Takes Time Out From Notre Dame Huddle To Talk About Football, Sun Tan

By COLLIER PARRIS

Depression or no depression, the fans must have their football, "but they go shopping for it in California," we are told by Maurice J. "Clipper" Smith, head coach at Santa Clara University, Santa Clara, California.

"Because there are so many schools and colleges in that particular section, all fairly close together, there is naturally a tendency to shop for the best—and at the lowest prices. For that reason there is an added competition between the schools, all bargaining for fans. We're going to cut our admission price this fall, like so many other schools and conferences, but we're not looking down our noses. There are enough patrons to go around and there's little cause for worry."

Except when he's asked to talk about himself, Clipper Smith is hard to stop once he gets started, and he talks of stock markets, banquets and pink teas with as much ease as about football. A favorite at the Tech coaching school because of his winning personality, his humorous outlook and his chuckle-provoking wit, Smith is here for the second time. He was here last year with the distinction of being the most distantly removed of the coaches attending the Wade-Phelan school, "and I was treated so swell and liked it so much I couldn't keep from returning."

Played With Gipp

A man of stocky but otherwise almost perfect build, whipped and tanned by West Coast sea breezes and sunshine to the extreme, Smith extolls the wonders of the Rockne system as one rich in the memory of Notre Dame days under the late "football wizard" and with the unforgetful George Gipp as a team mate. Clipper was graduated from Notre Dame in 1920, after playing four years of college football with Rockne's early teams.

From Notre Dame Smith went to Oregon and played four years of amateur football, then became coach of an Oregon college. Three years ago he took over the coaching reins at Santa Clara, and immediately the little Jesuit school, only one in the state of California, became popular for its spirited, fighting football teams. It is not however, a member of any conference.

Santa Clara's big game is with the University of California at Berkeley. Last year the game drew upwards of 60,000 fans.

Only five hudred students, all boys, are enrolled at Santa Clara. Coach Smith's football squad at the beginning of the season averages around fifty or sixty prospects. The squad is cut to about forty later on. The students live together, in the same large hall, and school spirit is exceptionally high.

"No, we have little trouble getting good athletes at Santa Barbara," Smith said. "Being a Jesuit school, it is of little interest to athletes of other denominations and we have little or no reason to recruit and proselyte athletes. For that reason, I know nor care little about that end of the game, which seems to be an important end if you care to read the newspapers or listen to talk."

Talking further about "peddling the games to the fans" in California, Smith pointed out that the number of schools packed so closely together even within a fifty-mile radius, made it necessary to fight for recognition. Games are played so often, even several days during the week and on Sunday, that it would appear the fans would soon get enough.

"In the face of all that," Smith said, "we came out ahead financially last year and and expect to do it again this year. We are not curtailing our athletic program one bit; we're playing the full schedule of football and are going forward with the same publicity campaign in connection with other sports."

About that time in the interview, Smith turned toward a group of mentors fifty yards away and called "Coach." Jack Meagher or Rice and Rip Miller of Navy were the first to turn around and look toward the caller. "There's egoism for you—also optimism; you holler 'coach' and those two birds inevitably turn around."

New Boss Will Take Reins Of Locals Sunday

Plans Under Way To Strengthen Club With New Players And Old Heads; Veteran Fielder Takes First Manager Job

Some home town boys go to the city to make good and others go to the city and come home to make good.

Edgar E. Hambright, veteran Lubbock baseball player who signed a contract with the Akron club of the Central League and remained with the club until it disbanded recently, returned home recently and yesterday was named manager of the Lubbock Hubbers.

The star outfielder and general handy man for the Hubbers last year, who has had professional experience in the Texas, Southern and Central league, accepted the nomination and will make his official debut as skipper of the local nine next Sunday afternoon.

Although he has been associated with amateur, semi-pro and professional clubs for the last half dozen years, Hambright has never had full control as manager of a team. Last year he assumed the managership of the Avalanche-Journal team of the City League and piloted it to a first half championship and had the club well on its way to a season title when the league dissolved.

Clarence Fox, who holds the Hubber franchise this season and who has the lease on Merrill Park, will remain with the club as business manager and second baseman. It was at his request that Hambright became manager.

Raymond (Evo) Marshall, another local veteran who has been with Hambright in professional experiences for the past two seasons, will take his regular place in the Hubber outfield. A slugger and a fast fielder, Marshall's presence is a definite threat to opposing teams.

Dirty Waller To Play

Mickey Ratliff, one of the Littlefield Ratliffs, probably will join the club as short stop in one of the steps Hambright plans to take toward strengthening the club. Raymond Waller, outfielder, catcher and pitcher with the Hubbers last year, and Harold Crites, Tech athlete, outfielder and third baseman, probably will join the club. All three are distance hitters and capable fielders.

Dirty Waller, manager of the Hubbers last year when the team experienced its most successful season in several years, will be regular third baseman for the rest of the season. Waller was at Amarillo during the early part of the season as manager of the Amarillo White Sox until the team disbanded recently. It is rumored that Hershel Galey, big catcher for the Hubbers last season and one of the best in this part of the state, will join the Hubbers.

With Hambright, Marshall, Ray Waller, Dirty Waller, Crites, and Galey back in the lineup, and with Lefty Bettes, first baseman, and Clarence Fox, second baseman, already on the team, the Hubber club will resemble the 1931 machine in personel and ability.

First motion of the backswing should be made with the legs or the hips. In other words, the weight should be shifted first, followed by the turn of the hips. If one starts the hands first, the club is lifted upright.

That the arms start before any wrist action takes place is clearly shown in slow motion pictures of the stars. Nearly all experts let the clubhead lag behind the arm motion during the first few inches of the backswing.

Ledbetter was shot near the heart by James Broadley, cashier, who released himself from the bank vault where he had been confined with William Martin, assistant cashier, and William Weir, a customer.

He shot the robber as the two men who entered the bank were dashing through the door to their waiting automobile, after having taken an undetermined amount of cash.

The wounded youth was taken to a Pittsburg hospital where physicians said he would recover.

Bound In Liberty

TODAY is Bastille day, natal day of French independence. One hundred and forty-three years ago an angry mob, incensed by persecutions and oppressions, inspired with age-old love of freedom and the zeal of revolutionaries, stormed the ancient walls of the fortress prison and razed it to the ground. No vestige of it remains but on its site stands a lofty column of bronze, topped by a guilded figure of the spirit of liberty. All Paris today gathers about it to celebrate the heritage wrested by their forefathers on this spot; all France unfurls the tri-color to the breeze with thought of the significance of this day in the great upheaval that changed the course of western Europe.

In many parts of the United States tribute will be paid to the French republic, even as a few days ago the people of France exulted with us in celebration of liberty's birth. It is indeed fitting that these two great free peoples should unite in exultation, for their historic achievements have been long intertwined. Without French aid the American republic might never have been realized. French ships, French money, French men came to our assistance at a time of direct need. Only a few years were to elapse before these same volunteers, who with Lafayette sustained our cause, were to take notable part in winning freedom for their own people. In these later days, when the two peoples have stood shoulder to shoulder against the assault of resurgent autocracy, realization has come to each of their historic comity as pioneers for the rights of men.

One hundred and sixty years ago there was not a free government of freemen anywhere on the face of the earth. Today there is not a continent where there is not a government of the people, by the people, and for the people. The United States of America, a revolt against the German king of Britain, first hurled defiance into the face of autocrats. The American people proved that across the seas could be established a nation in which men should rule themselves and in which the only divine right should be the divine right of men to live their lives in peace and happiness. Quickly thereafter the people of France inspired by this example, proved that a free people can live at the very gates of tyranny.

Independence day and Bastille day might well be observed by the free peoples of all lands as the symbols of their liberation.

NATION WANTS A CHANGE

So sure are the Democrats of victory next November they are not even claiming victory, taking it for granted that nobody will argue the matter. And so sure of defeat are the Republicans they are already conceding the election of Roosevelt and Garner. The men who nominated Hoover to save their jobs until next March are already looking for jobs they can jump into after March.

This is a Democratic year by virtue of Republican failure and Democratic achievement. Twelve years of maladministration and extravagance have proved that the Democratic party can run the nation's business more efficiently in time of war than can the G. O. P. in peace time. If the American people have any regrets, it is that they did not leave well enough alone after the war.

Four years ago Mr. Hoover and his publicity managers promised prosperity and plenty, for all and sundry. Instead all and sundry found misery and anxiety. The Miracle Man turned out to be a Medicine Man.

The Democratic party is making no rash promises for the next four years. It makes no pretenses, promises nothing it cannot produce. Its pledge to the people is simply that it will do for them everything the Hoover administration could have done but didn't and will undo the harm wrought by four years of mismanagement.

Republican voters next November will help send to the white house a Democrat because the last Republican they sent there failed them. If they expected of him more than was humanly possible, it was only because he had boasted that performing miracles was child's play for him. It would have been a good trick if he could have done it. The only magic the Democratic party and its ticket promise is that which may be worked by diligent efforts to govern the country well and economically.

The man who tells his wife everything, if he exists, may be trying to tempt her to exchange confidences.

Hunt the bright side. If you had a few more friends maybe they would borrow your money.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

Every man is brutish in his knowledge: every founder is confounded by the graven image: for his molten image is falsehood, and there is no breath in them.—Jeremiah, x, 14.

Our National Campaigns

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of a series of articles written expressly for The Morning Avalanche by Dr. W. A. Jackson, head of the department of government at Texas Technological college.)

The method of electing Presidents in the United States has a direct bearing upon the campaign. The electors are elected at large, consequently a given party wins all of the electoral votes of the state or loses all. This, of course, is determined by the popular majority in each state. It is quite evident therefore that if the Republican Party feels it has a safe majority in a given state no active campaign will be waged.

The same is true of the Democratic party. For this reason campaigns are not taken seriously in the Southern States; they are almost invariably regarded as safe Democratic states. It is easy, however, to make a mistake; hence, a close check-up is required of each campaign committee. These committees get busy in the doubtful states. It sometimes happens that the change of a few popular votes in one of these will change the entire electoral result. This is especially true in a state like New York which carries a heavy electoral vote.

Each Party Well Organized

Each party is completely organized for the purpose of carrying on the campaign. The actual campaign is carried on under the direction of the National Committee which is composed of one man and one woman from each state. The selections for this committee are ratified by the national convention at its close. In each case the chairman is selected by the party's nominee. The whole committee selects a secretary, a treasurer, and otherwise perfects the organization for carrying on the work of the campaign.

One of the most essential organs of the organization is a speakers' bureau. It is a difficult task to select an army of speakers and place each one where he will do the most good or the least harm. Constant check-ups are made upon the results obtained after each speech is made.

Newspapers Are Watched

A clipping bureau is established which keeps up with all newspaper comment. Another part of the organization attempts to answer all letters and inquiries. The number of special committees charged with special work is determined by the National Committee or by the committee on strategy in charge of the campaign.

Tons of literature are sent out from each national headquarters and from the various branch headquarters that are established throughout the entire country.

Although a majority of the party workers are not paid for their services there is much expense connected with a campaign. The treasurer is charged with raising huge sums of money. Public opinion requires that accurate records be kept of all contributions of any considerable size and that accurate records be kept of all expenditures. These records are made public.

Actual Amounts Vary

The actual amounts spent vary from one-half million to five million dollars. In this connection it is interesting to note that only one time since the Civil War period has the party that spent the greater sum in a campaign failed to win the Presidential election. This does not indicate that elections are bought but it does indicate that to carry on an affective campaign requires funds.

Campaigns are said to be of two kinds, Hoopla and Gumshoe. Party leaders prefer the Hoopla campaign as this enables them to get a more accurate check-up on public attitudes.

Each of the major parties establishes headquarters as close to the other as it conveniently can. Presumably this is done in order that each may watch the other and notify the public of any irregularities which may be condemned by public opinion. It may be for the further purpose of checking up on the strategy of an opponent.

Campaigns have been condemned as being expensive, unnecessary, and as being of little benefit in educating the public or changing the results of an election. There is little justification for this condemnation. However, the period of the campaign is much longer that it should be. A short vigorous campaign stressing the issues and outlining the party policies for the purpose of meeting these issues and pointing out the qualifications of the party nominees would perhaps be just as effective and less expensive than the present long drawn out party campaigns lasting from July to November.

(THE END)

HEAT

By far the best way to deal with excessively hot weather is to snub it. Be contemptuous and superior. Pretend that you aren't aware of its presence. A considerable reserve of philosophy and common sense is necessary to this way of escape from the extreme discomforts of summer in this climate. But the fact remains that agitation and feverish attention to leaping thermometers has the effect of making heat seem hotter than it really is.

If you cannot snub the weather, if you are one of those who have indignant convictions about it, do the next best thing. Keep on the shady sides of streets. Eat lightly. Wear the lightest and loosest garments you have. Avoid stress and hurry. Then the doctors will be less likely to get you.

I think we all feel a measure of disappointment that great results have not been attained, but I want the country to know that the president has not only had full opportunity to make definite suggestions for further reductions in federal expenditures but that he has been invited to do so by the United States Senate in a resolution unanimously adopted.—Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader in the Senate.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE SKYSCRAPERS OF THE DESERT:

Hadramout, a valley about 300 miles long running parallel to the south coast of Arabia, has a very ancient history and is identical with the Hasrmayth (Yard of Death) of the Bible. Shibam, the chief town, is believed to be the native city of Queen Balkhis who, under the name of the Queen of Sheba, visited King Solomon in 950 B. C.

The district is extremely isolated due to the impassability of the desert of Rub al Khali. As one approaches Shibam one is struck by the curious appearance of the city's skyline, suggesting that of an American metropolis. Tall houses, very high and narrow, and built out of mud brick, dot the landscape. Some of these houses were built twenty centuries before New York was ever heard of. It was the need for protection that made the ancient Sabeahs construct houses 10 stories high.

The feat of designing mud brick structures to withstand the weight of 10 stories is a detail as amazing as it is inexplicable.

TOMORROW: "THE UPSIDE DOWN HOUSE."

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

By Emma Lou Brookman

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CHERRY DIXON, pretty 19-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, falls in love with DAN PHILLIPS, newspaper reporter. She quarrels with her father about Dan, leaves home and,taking advantage of Leap Year, asks Dan to marry her.

They are married and for the first time Cherry finds out what it means to lack money. Her struggles with housework are discouraging. DIXIE SHANNON, movie critic of the News, is friendly with Cherry. She meets handsome MAX PEARSON, who also works on the News.

One morning several weeks after her marriage Cherry receives a letter in the morning mail.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXII

Cherry did not need to look at the signature of the letter. She had recognized her mother's handwriting.

Something slipped from her fingers and dropped to the floor as she opened the envelope. A narrow folded strip of pale blue paper. Cherry picked it up, unfolded it. She read: "Pay to the order of Cash —$500."

A check from the First National Bank for $500! Oh, what would Dan say? Five hundred dollars would pay all their bills and leave a balance with which to start a savings account. It would buy the new suit Dan really needed. Five hundred dollars—why it was a fortune!

Cherry turned to the letter.

"My dear Cherry," her mother had written. "It has been a long time since I've heard from you and I have been so worried. Sarah is badly crippled with neuritis and unable to leave the house. I have no means of reaching you except to send this note because of promises I made your father. He is bitter—refuses to have your name mentioned—and the situation is very hard.

"I can not endure the thought that you may be in want, perhaps actually suffering. The enclosed check is to buy anything at all that you may need. Consider it a wedding present if you wish—although I certainly never thought my daughter would be married without either of her parents present and by a justice of the peace! Cherry, darling, the last month has been a terrific strain on me. I can only wait and pray that some time this terrible trouble may be lifted. If only I could know you are well and not in need. Day and night I think about you. May God keep you! —Your Loving Mother."

Thoughtfully Cherry studied the check. Five hundred dollars seemed a lot of money now. Two months before it would have been only the price of a few dresses. How had her mother managed to send such a sum? Cherry knew her father scrutinized household accounts, paid all the bills. It must have required scheming and Mrs. Dixon was not the sort to scheme.

"Poor Mother!" Cherry said to herself. "I'll write her and send the letter to Sarah. I don't want her thinking Dan and I are poverty-stricken, going around in rags—"

All at once the figures on the check starred back at her accusingly.

Five hundred dollars — FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS!

"You can't take it!" a small voice in the back of her brain was insisting. "You aren't starving or cold or helpless and you can't admit to your mother or anyone else that Dan doesn't make enough to take care of you. You can't accept this money and admit your marriage isn't a success!"

Cherry sank to the davenport. There were all the things which that money could do for her and Dan. It could hardly have come at a more opportune time — the rent to be paid, Dan's new suit, the money he had borrowed.

"Take it!" a second voice, equally far away, seemed to argue. "Accept it as a wedding present. You wouldn't even have to tell Dan—!"

Ah! There it was! She had known all along what was holding her back from accepting the money. She had known Dan would never agree to take money from her parents. Dan was proud and bitter still over things her father had said on the only occasion when the two had met. This $500 was really her father's money though it was her mother who sent it.

"You can't do it," the first voice argued. "It's your loyalty to Dan that's at stake. You can't do the one thing you know he wouldn't want you to."

Well, there was no use sitting there staring at the check. The breakfast dishes were to be washed and the laundry sent. Cherry had a full day's work ahead. She got to her feet, folded the check and slipped it back into the envelope. Then she placed it in the top drawer of the big chest. She would decide what to do later.

The dishes were waiting, stacked

Side Glances — By George Clark

"How's the emergency case in 408?"

"Much better, except he's rather upset that his accident didn't get a bigger notice in the papers."

Cooperation Of Residents Sought By Health Officers To Eliminate Flies

Cooperation by residents of the city in the keeping clean of the alley in the rear of the house, garbage covered and fly-breeding places clean, is sought by Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer and members of the department of health.

"People are not taking proper care of their garbage in the alleys," Dr. Rollo said in an interview.

"Flies breed in garbage and in weeds. If these things are clean flies will not breed there.

"Cow lots should be cleaned up now and kept clean.

"The city is not prepared to haul wet garbage and slop. People should not pour wet slop in their garbage cans. We haul off the dry refuse and dispose of it. Dish water should be poured down the sewers. All wet garbage should be drained and dried before being placed in the alleys.

"All garbage should be sacked or securely wrapped, so as to keep flies away. If the people will cooperate we can make Lubbock a fly free town."

The city is going to cut weeds on vacant lots, starting next week.

An additional wagon is now in use in handling garbage.

A word of caution has been issued to restaurant and cafe owners about seeing that the lid on the garbage can is kept tight. The same rule applies to home owners.

D. F. Eaton, county agent, said the sources for fly breeding had been multiplied this summer, due to wet weather and more places for breeding. "Open toilets, cow lots pig pens and things of that kind are regular breeding places for flies," he said. "Trash piles should be covered and toilets, cow lots, pig pens and chicken yards cleaned and kept clean."

A standard fly killer is a mixture of formaldehyde and milk, mixed at the ratio of one ounce or two teaspoons of the poison to a pint, or 16 ounces of milk. Bread if placed in the mixture affords a place where flies may light and feed.

Care should be taken to keep children and animals away from the mixture.

46, substituted it for the measure put through by the senate yesterday, and dispatched it to conference. For a time it appeared agreement on the few differences between the two might be obtained tonight, but long senate delay in appointing its representatives put off the conference until tomorrow.

Adjournment Near

House leaders still spoke hopefully of adjournment tomorrow night, but from the senate indications were for completion of the seven month long session Friday or Saturday.

The new measure increases the Reconstruction Finance corporation's capital limit to $3,800,000,000 of which $300,000,000 is to be loaned to states for relief of destitution. It provides a $322,000,000 public works employment program, to be put under way only when the secretary of the treasury certifies federal funds are sufficient for the expenditure.

Oriental Craft Shown By Three

BROWNSVILLE, July 13. (AP)—Chinese desirous of obtaining free transportation back to their homeland from northern Mexico, where things have not been going so good for them lately, have devised a scheme which is a true test of oriental craft.

Faced with hard times and no passage money, three of them boldly waded the Rio Grande and submitted to arrest by immigration authorities as illegal alien entries to the United States.

When their cases came up in federal court they were ordered deported to China—just as they had anticipated. But first they must serve six-month jail sentences.

Cotton Price Of Cotton Rallies Sharply — Livestock Better Cattle Grades Steady — Grain Grain Values Receive Lift

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 13. (AP) — Although cotton opened rather sluggish today trading became more active later as prices advanced briskly, closing at net gains of 21 to 25 points.

Active months made new highs for the day near the end, October advancing to 8.85 and December to 8.98 up 24 to 27 points from the lows of the morning. The close was at the top, October showing a net gain for the day of 23 points and December a net gain of 21 points.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 7 to 8 penny points up.

Port receipts 1,338, for week 14,443, for season 9,650,809, last season 7,580,617. Exports 7,256, for week 44,290, for season 6,357,586, last season 6,662,710. Port stocks 2,944,186, last year 2,872,802. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 56,605, last year 30,249. Port port at southern markets 2,645, last year 4,886.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 13. (AP) — Cotton rallied sharply today after a slight early decline. The advance reflected trade buying and covering which found offerings comparatively light after the reaction of about 60 points from the high prices of last week. October contracts rose to 8.80 and closed at the best, with the general market closing very steady at net advances of 20 to 23 points.

Failure of the weather news to bring in more selling and the better tone of the stock market contributed to the advance which carried July up to 5.74 and December to 6.04. Closing quotations were the best of the day on most positions.

Liverpool cables reported hedging and liquidation on the favorable weather in that market. Exports today 7,256 making 6,357,587 so far this season. U. S. port stocks 2,923,568.

Slayer Of Sudan Farmer Is Being Sought By Officers

SUDAN, July 13. (Special) — A prowler who Monday night shot and fatally wounded A. E. Russ, 60-year-old farmer living near here, is being sought by Sheriff Bob Crim and other Lamb county officers. The assailant has not been identified.

Mr. Russ, who died Tuesday afternoon in a hotel here after being brought to Sudan for treatment did not have a single enemy as far as Mrs. Russ knew, she said. Her husband, it was generally believed, had always a large sum of money in the house with him. The widow said she heard a noise at the back door of their farm home and called her husband. When Russ reached the door the prowler fired at him and fled, Mrs. Russ said.

Hunter Gives Prediciton As To Run-Off Election

A run-off gubernatorial ticket of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson and Tom F. Hunter of Wichita Falls was pictured here Wednesday by the latter, who spoke in Lubbock Tuesday night.

"I believe I am running neck and neck now with the Fergusons," Hunter declared. "It is my estimate that 750,000 votes will be cast. Of these I expect to get about 300,000, and I expect the Fergusons to receive a similar amount. I believe the other 150,000 will be divided among Governor Sterling and the other candidates, with Sterling receiving between 90,000 and 100,000 votes."

Well-Sustained Recovery Is Staged By Securities; Turnover Is Larger

BY JOHN L. CORLEY

NEW YORK, July 13. (AP) — Security markets breezed through a well-sustained recovery today, getting helpful cooperation from a number of commodities.

For stocks, it was the best rally in about a month and also the most active session in the same period. Net gains of 2 to 3 points were generously distributed over a list which had been wandering in a narrow range while stubbornly refusing to break through average low of early June. For domestic bonds the improvement was modest, utility and rail issues joining another rise by U. S. treasuries. Wheat made moderate gains, sugar firmed again, cotton closed $1 to $1.15 a bale higher and cattle crowded hogs from leadership in the livestock market.

The supposition that the technical position of shares had been strengthened since July 1 was borne out by the rather spirited advances in a few recently weak stocks, notably utilities.

Transactions amounted to 977,180 shares, the largest turnover since June 15.

and the homes of permanent residents were endangered. Thirty thousand people live in Coney Island the year around and augmented by about 130,000 resorters in the summertime.

Bath houses, small inns, hot dog stands and dozens of entertainment concessions went up in smoke as the blaze gained headway. Several automobiles in the burning area caught fire and exploded. The storeroom of a shooting gallery blew up and sent bullets whistling over the heads of the spectators. Most of the structures were hastily built with wooden frames and tar-paper roofs, and were easy prey for the fire.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 13. (AP) — Torrid heat reported in sections of United States spring crop territory, and drought in parts of South Dakota stations, did much to lift grain values today.

Anxiety developed as to likelihood that extreme high temperatures would reduce both the yield and the quality of spring wheat, with some authorities asserting that the crop condition has reached its acme and that any change hereafter must be for the worse. Another stimulus was speculative buying of corn which gave a sudden hoist to that cereal.

Wheat closed unsettled 1-4 to 3-4 above yesterday's finish, corn 1 to 1 1-2 up, oats 1-2 to 3-4 advanced, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to 10 cents gain.

ly tanned arms. She was not wearing hose.

In city jail yesterday afternoon, Lynch frequently glanced at a picture of the girl. A part of the picture had been torn or cut away. Lynch said that a boy originally had been in the scene.

"Yes, I intended to marry her, but I don't reckon I can down at Uncle Bud's," he explained. The reference to "Uncle Bud" was to Bud Russell, state penitentiary agent officers who heard the conversation, presumed.

"Tell her to come down here," he pleaded.

Asked For Trinkets

The girl told officers she had gone with Graves until about a month ago, and that when he came to her home yesterday afternoon he asked for some trinkets he had given her. She declared the older man said something about a light or water bill.

Graves, last night, said the young woman's mother, whose husband he said was in East Texas, had been using water from the Graves residence and had been ironing there. He said kerosene lamps were used in the girl's home.

A Sanders ambulance carried Graves to Lubbock sanitarium at about 1:30 o'clock.

It's the Cigarette that's Milder and Tastes Better!

That's why more and more Smokers are changing to Chesterfield every day

WHEN you are smoking a lot of cigarettes every day, you naturally want a mild cigarette, and smokers try Chesterfields and find out that they are milder and taste better.

Then smokers tell other smokers—"one smoker telling another"—that they find that although they smoke a great many Chesterfields during the day, they never tire of them; and that they have found out that Chesterfield is a milder cigarette, that it is a cigarette that tastes better, that it is a cigarette with a most pleasing aroma.

Some time ago, in a Chesterfield advertisement, there was a statement, "A $90,000,000 Reason," and this means that the larger part of $90,000,000 is invested in the right kind of ripe, mild Domestic and Turkish tobaccos to make sure that Chesterfields are milder and taste better.

May we ask you to try them?

Mark Twain Was Wrong!

When he said that people seemed to talk a lot about the weather but didn't do anything about it. Our friends are storing "their" wheat. Bad weather has destroyed considerable wheat and has made the prospects for reaping a nice profit much brighter.

On all wheat shipped to us for storage, we furnish you with protein analysis and government grades on every car—you get back same grade and protein. We want your storage business and we want an opportunity to trade with you when ready to sell your grain. Get our new scale of discounts and storage charges.

Wheat Movement Over Area Slow

Wheat movement is slow and not more than 20 or possibly 25 per cent of the crop being harvested has been moved, in the opinion of E. C. Kuykendall, Plainview, general agent of the Fort Worth and Denver for this area.

"Farmers are holding from 40 to 50 per cent of the crop in the Denver's territory, I believe," he added. "The balance is either being harvested or is in the country elevators.

"It looks to me like harvesting will last for several weeks. We have not had to add any extra crews on the Denver lines on the Plains and if the crop is sold along we probably will not have to add any more crews."

Farmers have been busy for the past ten days in hoeing cotton and in weeding out their fields. Prior to that time extended rains had prevented farmers from working the fields and also had started unprecedented growth of weeds. There has been a big change in the appearance of the fields in ten days, Mr. Kuykendall added.

Mr. Kuykendall reported an improvement in general conditions. There is more activity on farms and also in the towns than there has been for several weeks.

TO AID CALHOUN

DALLAS, July 13. (AP) — Former Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller will speak over the state in behalf of the candidacy of Clem Calhoun for attorney general, it was announced at Calhoun headquarters here today. Miller's itinerary was being arranged.

Francis Comes To Lubbock To Take Place Of Boeckman

The Rev. Fr. Gabriel Francis, S. A., for 17 years a teacher and minister in Garrison, N. Y., will conduct his first masses at St. Joseph's Catholic church here Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Francis succeeds the Rev Fr. Gregory A. Boeckman, who has been here three years, and who has been transferred to the Olfen church in Runnels county, the largest church in the diocese presided over by the Rt. Rev. R. A. Gerken, Bishop.

Father Francis, engaged in missionary work in Hereford, Vega and Bovina the past year, had been a director of St. John's school in Garrison ten years. Father Boeckman goes Friday to Olfen, where several months ago he was located temporarily. Since he came here Father Boeckman has had 175 baptisms, 21 converts, 78 weddings, and 65 funerals. Mexican and American communicants now number about 1,200.

FAVORS REDUCTION

CANYON, July 13. (AP)—Reduction in governmental expenses is favored by Oscar Holcombe of Houston candidate for congressman-at-large, place No. 2. He said today if he were elected to congress he would exert his influence toward government economy, with the view of lightening taxes.

Deputy Sheriff Is Slain And Another Wounded Critically In Attempted Arrest; Killer Is Being Hunted

MEANS, Ky., July 13. (AP) — A deputy sheriff was slain, another was wounded critically and a constable was less seriously wounded near here today when they sought to arrest Bill Waters, 35, on murder warrant.

The officers, Deputy Sheriffs Marion Stapleton and Stanley Helton of Menifee county and Constable Roy Williams, went to the home of Charlie Neal, 55, to serve the warrant on Waters. Waters known throughout this section as "Bad Bill," was alleged to have fatally shot Neal last Monday and buried him on the Neal farm.

As the officers apprpached, Waters opened fire with a shotgun. Stapleton was killed instantly and Helton and Williams were wounded.

Waters fled into the mountains and a posse was formed to pursue him.

Mayfield Backing Senator Parrish

Earle B. Mayfield, former U. S. Senator from Texas, who is now practicing law at his old home in Tyler, has announced his support of the candidacy for Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock in the race for the nomination for place 1 in the congressman-at-large contest.

In a letter to Tom Garrard, campaign manager for the Lubbock man, Senator Mayfield declared that in his opinion Mr. Parrish would "poll a large vote in East Texas."

At the same time Senator Parrish Wednesday began his drive for votes in central East Texas with a campaign speech at Canton Wednesday night. The rest of the week he will speak in South and East Texas.

Senator Parrish plans to return to Lubbock by Friday, July 22, for the closing campaign of candidates in the county.

M. S. Hudson Is Principal Speaker For Farm Session

M. S. Hudson, Hale Center farmer and active for years in farm bureau federation work, will be the principal speaker Friday night at the Lubbock county federation's meeting at Acuff, H. L. Gantz announced last night.

Mr. Hudson is a director of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association. He is well known over this section of the state.

"Cooperative Marketing of Cotton," is the announced subject. Mr Hudson takes the place of C. A Barron, Lamesa, former vice-president of the T. C. C. A., who was unable to attend.

Lubbock is expected to send a large number of people, Mr. Gantz said.

More than 2,700 carloads of livestock feed and approximately 175 carloads of seed grain were shipped to 17 Montana counties where 1931 crops were short.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

on the shelf that served as a kitchen table. Cherry drew a pan of steaming, sudsy water and began to ply the dish mop.

After the dishes were washed and put away she began energetically to clean the living room. She worked as though getting that room clean were the one important thing in the world. It wasn't of course. No matter how hard Cherry worked it was the check of which she was thinking. Those two persistent voices, the one arguing that she should keep it, the other that she should send it back, continued their dual.

She finished with the living room. She collected the laundry and put it out for the driver. Just before 1 o'clock when she was about to sit down to a frugal lunch Cherry went to the chest and got out her mother's letter.

She took paper and pen and ink and sat down at the table. Five minutes later she folded the check inside the note she had written and sealed them both in an envelope. She addressed it to Mrs. Sarah O'Fallon and finished it with a stamp.

"There!" the girl sighed aloud. "It's settled!"

She was so eager to have the whole thing off her mind that, without waiting to eat, she slipped on her hat and coat and walked to the corner post box.

Another week and it would be June. The sky was deep sapphire today, the clouds like down. Sunshine shimmered back from window panes and the white pavement. Cherry walked slowly, enjoying the fresh air.

She had dropped the letter into the box and started back up the street when a noisy police ambulance passed. A minute later Cherry caught her breath. The ambulance had halted in front of her home!

The girl walked faster. The ambulance was backed to the door now. Two men entered the house and a woman came out the door.

Cherry began to run. "What is it?" she asked the man in the driver's seat. "What's happened?"

"Don't know, ma'am. Emergency call."

A group of youngsters, attracted by the noise of the ambulance, formed an inquisitive semi-circle on the sidewalk. Cherry rushed up the steps. The woman by the door was another tenant whom she had seen but never before spoken to.

"What's happened?" the girl asked.

"It's Miss Jamieson," the other told her. "She has that little room on the top floor. Took some kind of poison.'

"Oh, how horrible!"

"It'll be a mercy if she doesn't live," Cherry's informant continued somberly. "She's been out of work. Hasn't paid her rent for three weeks. That's why the jainitor happened to go upstairs and knock at her door. Believe me, I know what it's like to be out of work with no friends."

The door opened and the two women stepped aside. Two men bearing a stretcher came out. There was a figure on the stretcher, entirely covered except for the pale face with its frame of dark hair. The eyes were closed but the face was contorted as though from pain.

Instinctively Cherry drew back. The crowd of watchers on the sidewalk had increased. Cherry wanted to tell them to go away. That poor girl—surely in her suffering she was entitled to privacy! They were taking her to a hospital to try to save her life. Would she live? If the doctors succeeded would she be grateful to them?

"It's — so terrible," Cherry said brokenly. "Let's go inside."

The other woman followed her. Mr. Bergman, the janitor, stood in the entrance hall. "Well, it's too bad," he said. "It's a bad thing to have happen in an apartment. I hope they won't get a lot of rumors started—"

"Do they think she'll get well?" Cherry asked.

Mr. Bergman inclined his head skeptically. "Who knows?' She ain't been eating much for a long time I guess. The doctor said she had a chance. That's all. She hasn't looked so well for a couple months.

"Hasn't she any friends? Isn't there anyone at all to help her?"

The janitor shook his head. "Not since she's been here," he said. "I've never seen her with anyone. The note she left said there wasn't anyone to notify.'

"But it doesn't seem right—!" Cherry began.

The other woman put a hand on the girl's arm. "They'll do everything that can be done for her at the hospital," she said. "It's charity cases like this one and rich folks that get the best care. They'll save her if there's any way to do it."

They were right of course. There was nothing for Cherry to do but go upstairs to her own apartment. Lunch was waiting there but she knew she could not eat.

"This is where you live, isn't it?' the other woman said when they had reached the second floor landing. "You'd better lie down for a while. Look sort of worn out. Would you like me to bring you a cup of tea?"

Cherry thanked her but refused. The woman said she was Mrs. Moreau and lived on the third floor. Cherry promised to come up to see her some afternoon.

The apartment had never seemed such a refuge. Cherry entered, closing the door behind her. The familiar room with its bright colors and comfortable furnishings had never looked so attractive. Oh, why had she and Dan considered themselves poor! They were young. They had health. They had each other.

Throughout the afternoon Cherry was unable to rid herself of the memory of Miss Jamieson's white face. At 4 o'clock she went down stairs to ask the janitor's wife if there had been any report from the hospital.

"If she lives through the night," Mrs. Bergman told her, "they say she'll get well. That poor girl! Yes, it's too bad—too bad—!"

There was nothing to be gained for Miss Jamieson or anyone else by standing there and discussing what had happened, Cherry went back to the second floor.

Dinner was ready, waiting to be put on the table when Dan arrived at 6 o'clock. Cherry heard him whistling in the hall and ran to open the door.

"Hello, darling—' she began, but the words died on her lips.

Dan Phillips entered, his face alight with excitement. "Hello, Cherry. Wait till you see what I've got for you!" he exclaimed.

Every Boy Is Sportsman At N.M.M.I.

Capt. R. R. Brown, Cadet Coach, Tells Of Wonderful Work Being Done At Roswell Under Strict Military Orders

BY BOB McCALL
Of The Avalanche Staff

EVERY boy in New Mexico Military institute at Roswell participates in some sport.

That is the first thing Capt. R. R. Brown, director of athletics at the institute, says when he is asked about the school's athletic and recreational program. A coach at the institute 16 years of the last 22, Brown, who was a widely heralded back on Dartmouth elevens at the turn of the century, is attending the second annual Texas Technological college coaching school here.

Is Junior College

There are about 500 boys, ranging from about 14 to 21 years old at the institute, which is operated by the United States government which supplies horses, sends half a dozen army officers there, and contributes to operations. The institute offers a complete high school course and two years of college work.

Some of the boys are from New York and other far-away states. Texas, New Mexico, and California have the largest representations. Some of the younger boys do seem somewhat homesick and ill at ease on first arriving at the institute, Captain Brown conceded, but once they have entered into games and drills with others of the same age, a spirit of mutual interests develops with surprising speed.

Has Junior Teams

In addition to its varsity teams, the institute has junior teams for boys less than 16 years old and high school teams. The juniors play small high schools, the high schoolers meet the stronger public school clubs, and the varsity attacks junior colleges, senior colleges, and universities.

An extensive intra-mural program is customary at the institute, and individual as well as team sports are encouraged. There are cups for champion intra-mural teams and gold medals for individual title winners. Boxing is a part of required class work.

Sports Are Varied

Other individual sports taught include wrestling, swimming and diving, tennis, golf, and riding. The institute has a polo team, which last year played about 16 games against formidable teams on the Pacific coast, losing only two contests, which Stanford won by a point each. Will Rogers, press-stage-screen comedian and a polo enthusiast, financed the institute team's trip.

New Mexico Military institute abandoned varsity baseball after other schools in this section did, but still has intra-mural warfare on the diamond.

Has Enviable Record

Captain Brown, who played fullback and halfback at Dartmouth and received honorable mention as a halfback by Walter Camp, who picked only one all-American team, also has coached at Virginia Polytechnic institute at Blacksburg where he began his coaching career in 1902; at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Washington and Lee university at Lexington, Va., Tulane university at New Orleans, and New Mexico A. and M. college at State College. He has been at Roswell since 1910, excepting four years at State College. Captain Brown coached all sports at the four southern schools, except at North Carolina, where he taught football.

Several members of his teams at Washington and Lee, which under his leadership for the first time vanquished a traditional rival, the University of Virginia, on the gridiron were former New Mexico Military institute cadets. Captain Brown came to Roswell, liked the southwest, and stayed.

Others Aid In Work

The coaching staff at the institute is supplemented by other officers who aid in supervision of group athletics. The staff is:

Captain Brown, who coaches football and track; Captain. L. T. Godfrey, Louisiana State university basketball coach and assistant football coach; Lieut. E. A. Keys, 8th cavalry, United States army, polo coach; Maj. H. P. Saunders, University of Chicago, swimming; Capt. C. M. Woodbury, Virginia Military Institute, boxing and wrestling. All except Lieutenant Colonel Keys are reserve officers.

The institute and Texas Technological college teams will match boxing, wrestling, and swimming teams both at Roswell and here in the 1932-33 season, Captain Brown said. Tech college won boxing and the cadets wrestling matches last season at Roswell.

Air Of Hospitality

"I'm anxious to keep up the relationship with this school," Captain Brown said of the college here.

Of the coaching school, he said:

"I've gone to a dozen different coaching schools, I guess, and men like Warner and Anderson would draw, but there's an air of hospitality here; it doesn't seem commercialized."

Captain Brown became acquainted with "Pop" Warner, Stanford coach and a headliner at the school here, on a trip to Europe with the late Knute Rockne to attend the 1928 Olympic games. Praising Rockne's knowledge of football and human nature, the captain said:

"Rockne was as interesting off the field as he was on."

Modesty Noticeable

In addition to receiving all-American mention as a back at Dartmouth, which he doesn't mention unless asked, Captain Brown also was on the baseball squad at Hanover, N. M. He didn't letter there, but later played in the outfield for professional clubs in the Virginia-North Carolina and Blue Ridge leagues.
