Ministers Take Steps To Speed Up Programs

Grand Inquest Of Munich Pact Is Expected In Great Britain; Daladier Acts

(By The Associated Press)

Britain and France made new efforts today to build up their armaments in the face of Europe's unsettled future.

British Prime Minister Chamberlain called a special cabinet meeting on the eve of a three-day parliament session that is expected to be a "grand inquest" into his Munich peace.

Seeks To Meet Demands

Reports gained that he was seeking to meet demands of some of his ministers for creation of a ministry of supplies with powers to enforce an armaments speed-up.

In France, Premier Edouard Daladier also summoned his cabinet for the first of a series of meetings to draft decree laws to rehabilitate French finances, the nation's most pressing security need.

Expires November 15

Daladier, given 40-day decree powers to effect necessary reforms, was expected to have his edicts ready for President Albert Lebrun's signature by the end of the week. His "blank check" expires Nov. 15.

Danger of conflict between Czechoslovakia and Hungary over their deadlocked territorial dispute apparently had passed. Both nations arranged to meet Wednesday in Vienna with representatives of Germany and Italy—agreed on by them as arbitrators—to settle Hungarian claims still in dispute.

Authority Is Expected

Hungary, to whom Czechoslovakia already has offered cession of predominantly Hungarian areas, expected the arbitrators' authority for military occupation of Slovak in Czechoslovakia within the week.

Demands for another territorial revision arose in Bulgaria which lost territory to Rumania, Yugoslavia and Greece after the World war. Premiers Milan Stoyadinovich

Farm Prices May Not Go Much Higher

Agricultural Economics Unit Sees Better Times Ahead; Ample Credit Available

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. — The bureau of agricultural economics predicted today that business would be better for farmers and industrialists next year, but it said farm prices may not rise much.

The bureau, in an annual report on demand and prices for agricultural products, asserted general economic conditions in the United States "are mostly favorable to recovery." Even so, it added, prospects for next year were not quite so good as in 1937.

Demand To Be Greater

The bureau forecast domestic demand for products of the farm probably would be greater and farmers would use a greater volume of short-term credit in 1939 than this year.

Cash farm income, the report added, should range next year between the $7,500,000,000 estimated for this year and the 1937 estimate of $8,600,000,000.

To Step Up Demand

The bureau said an expected increase in consumer income should step up the demand for farm produce and thus put more dollars into the farmers' pockets.

Ample credit will be available for farmers of good credit standing, the bureau said, noting that the farm credit administration has an increased appropriation from which to make loans to farmers who can not obtain from customary sources.

Dr. J. C. Hardy Dies Sunday

(By The Associated Press)

BELTON, Oct. 31 — Clerical, educational and lay leaders were here for final rites today for Dr. J. C. Hardy, president of Mary Hardin-Baylor college, who died yesterday.

The body lay in state this morning in the school's Alma Reeves chapel. Services, conducted by Dr. Hardy's home pastor, Dr. A. C. Miller, assisted by Dr. R. C. Campbell of Dallas, executive secretary of the Baptist General convention of Dallas, were set for 2 p. m.

Dr. Truett Pays Tribute

Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas, internationally known Baptist leader, yesterday paid tribute to Dr. Hardy as "One of the most wonderfully useful and greatly loved men in Texas in this generation."

Survivors include Mrs. Hardy, the former Miss Kate Whitefield, and four children, Mrs. D. R. Anderson of Macon, Ga., Mrs. Katherine H. Bell of Houston, J. C. Hardy, jr., of Olney, Ill., and Robert M. Hardy of Dallas.

Died After Lingering Illness

The 73-year-old educator, who relinquished the presidency of Mary Hardin-Baylor college July 1, 1937, died in the college hospital after a lingering illness.

During his 25-years tenure, seven major buildings were constructed on the campus, the curriculum broadened and the student body of

"O'Danielites" Designated As Honor Guests

AUSTIN, Oct. 31. (AP) — The 54,499 "original O'Danielites" are to be honor guests when W. Lee O'Daniel is inaugurated governor of Texas next January.

The local committee on the inauguration plans to send special invitations to the persons who, when O'Daniel asked over the radio what his listeners thought of his becoming a candidate, replied with a deluge of letters and cards urging him to make the race.

O'Daniel has promised to give the committee a list of his early supporters.

Area Ginnings Ahead Of '37

Gathering of the 1938 cotton crop for the South Plains is moving faster this year than last, up to this time, as the bureau of the census report as of Oct. 18 shows 145,475 bales ginned, compared with 128,369 for the corresponding date for the 1937 crop. Increase is 17,106 bales or 13.4 per cent.

Lynn county leads the territory this year, ginning 21,758 bales. Crosby is second with 21,732; Dawson, third with 17,920; Lubbock, fourth with 17,837 and Scurry fifth with 15,080.

A year ago the rankings were: Lynn, Dawson, Scurry, Crosby and Lubbock.

Nine Show Increases

Nine counties show more bales ginned this year than last; Briscoe, Castro, Crosby, Dickens, Floyd, Hale, Hockley, Lubbock and Motley.

In only one of these counties lying west of Lubbock, is there a gain over last year. Hockley shows 5,340 bales compared to 18,789 bales. Bailey, Cochran, Lamb and Terry are west of Lubbock and the crop in those counties is late and picking is just now starting.

Another census of the ginnings is to be taken this week. Good picking weather of the past two weeks is expected to show a substantial increase over the Oct. 18 report. However, the season will not approximate more than 40 to 45 per cent of last year; the latter figure may

Fiction Of Radio Program Becomes Too Realistic

Hysteria Prevails As Martians Stalk In 'Faked' Invasion

Probe Demanded After Listeners Are Terrified

BY CHARLES A. GRUMICH
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Thousands of terror-stricken radio listeners throughout the country fled from their homes last night when they tuned in on a series of synthetic news broadcasts which depicted the beginning of an interplanetary war.

The simulated news bulletins, which accompanied a CBS dramatization of H. G. Wells' fantasy, "The War of the Worlds," became so realistic that they sent a wave of mass hysteria across the continent. The broadcast was intended only as fiction.

Explanatory announcements during the program, between 8 and 9 p. m., were overlooked by thousands who were led to believe that a poison gas expedition had arrived from Mars and was spreading death and destruction over the New York metropolitan area.

Demands for an investigation multiplied in the wake of the broadcast.

Jacques Chambrun, literary representative for H. G. Wells, said the famous British author was "deeply concerned" that the radio dramatization of his book should have spread alarm in this country.

Chambrun said Wells cabled him from London this morning, declaring that "the Columbia Broadcasting system and Mr. Orson Welles have far overstepped their rights in the matter . . . and should make a full retraction."

He said Wells cabled that the radio dramatization was made "with a liberty that amounts to a complete rewriting" and made Wells' novel into "an entirely different story."

Chambrun said the author considered it a "totally unwarranted liberty."

Senator Clyde L. Herring (D-Ia) said he planned to introduce in congress a bill "Controlling just such abuses as was heard over the radio last night. . . . Radio has no more right to present programs like that than someone has in knocking on your door and screaming," he added.

City Manager Paul Morton of Trenton, N. J., near the locale of the fictional invasion, said he would demand an investigation by the Federal Communications commission "with the view of preventing recurrence of what happened."

Some apartment houses in New York were emptied hurriedly by frantic listeners to the program—and by second and third hand accounts that multiplied the impending peril.

A woman in Pittsburgh tried suicide, saying "I'd rather die this way than like that."

At a high point in the program the electric power failed at Concrete, Wash., a town of 1000, and the lights went out in most of the homes. Many thought the invasion had reached the West coast. Women fainted and men prepared to take their families to the mountains.

INVESTIGATION IS BEGUN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (AP) — The Federal communications commission began an investigation today of a dramatic radio broadcast which led some people to believe last night that men from Mars had attacked the United States.

Chairman Frank P. McNinch asked the Columbia Broadcasting system to furnish the commission with an electrical transcription of the broadcast, a dramatized version of H. G. Wells' imaginative story "War of The Worlds."

McNinch said:

"Any broadcast that creates such general panic and fear as this one is reported to have done is, to say the least, regrettable."

Some women listeners to the broadcast fainted. Others became hysterical. Thousands believed the drama to be authentic news reports.

McNinch told reporters that he had received many telephone calls last night about the broadcast, but that the commission had received only ten telegrams, all protesting it, this forenoon.

Rail And Labor Leaders Called Into Parley

Long-Range Program To Aid Carriers Is Planned; Will Seek To Avoid Strike

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. —President Roosevelt took personal charge today of efforts to effect a peaceful settlement of the critical railroad wage dispute.

The chief executive called representatives of rail management and labor to the White House to consider some long-range program to aid the carriers.

Of immediate importance, however, was the 15 per cent wage reduction ordered by the roads for Dec. 1 and the threat of almost 1,000,000 rail workers to strike if the cut is carried out.

The president's emergency railroad investigating board recommended Saturday that the railroads withdraw their notices of the reduction, which would clip $250,000,000 annually off their payrolls.

Before the White House conference there was no indication whether the roads would accept the recommendation. A committee of the carriers' executives was asked to meet during the day. Its chairman, H. A. Enochs, said the wage question probably would be turned back to the individual roads.

AID IS PROMISED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (AP) — John J. Pelley president of the Association of American Railroads, said today President Roosevelt had promised him he would do everything possible to get a constructive program for rehabilitation of the carriers enacted into law.

Mr. Roosevelt expressed the hope, Pelley said, that such a program would be drafted by the informal committee representing railroads and rail labor which the president named several months ago.

Pelley said the president had asked him to ascertain the attitude of the railroads toward the fact-finding board's report recommending cancellation of the proposed 15 per cent wage cut.

Pelley said he agreed to do so, adding his "best guess" was the managements would hold a meeting in Chicago next week to outline their stand on the report.

Test Is Made In Execution

(By The Associated Press)

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 31. — A firing squad executed John W. Deering at dawn today in state prison while an electro-cardiograph recorded probably for the first time the action of the human heart pierced by bullets.

Deering, who had sought in every way to speed his death and who participated willingly in the scientific experiment to determine how long his heart would beat after being struck, was calm to the end.

Dead 2 1-2 Minutes Later

The five man firing squad was given the order to fire at 7:46 a. m., c.s.t., and at 7:48 1-2 a. m. Deering was pronounced dead in expiation for the May 9 holdup murder of Oliver R. Meredith, Salt Lake City Businessman.

There were ominous clouds against the pale sky over the mountains as Deering was led quickly from his cell block and strapped in his chair against a prison wall.

Wires Attached To Wrists

Electric wires were attached to his wrists and carried to a delicate machine his last heart beats. Scientists began an immediate study of the record but said it would be a number of hours before they could announce any findings.

Utah is the only state in the union now using a firing squad. Convicted men are given the alternative of this or hanging. Only the five rifles used is loaded with a blank.

Dies Points To Cancellations

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Chairman Dies (D-Tex) of a house committee investigating un-American activities said today two public works projects in his district had been cancelled since the committee inquiry began.

He added, however, that he was not prepared to charge that the cancellations were due to the administration's disapproval of the methods of the committee.

Recently Criticized By FDR

President Roosevelt said recently the committee had permitted itself to be used for political purposes that were unfair and un-American. The committee also has been criticized by Secretary of Interior Ickes, the PWA administrator, and by Secretary of Labor Perkins.

Dies said one of the projects for a $12,000,000 dam at Rockland, Tex., was cancelled soon after the investigation began.

Negro Attacker Is Captured By Posse

CLARENDON, Oct. 31. (AP)—A 20-year-old negro, tracked down because of a distinctive shoe-marking, was captured today 12 hours after an attack on two white women.

Texas Rangers, highway patrolmen, a score of American Legionnaires and sheriff's men took the suspect from a negro shack and lodged him in an unidentified jail.

A signed statement was obtained from the negro admitted he accosted Mrs. T. Jones, 67-year-old widow, and her 46-year-old sister on a road last night and molested them.

The statement said the negro, identified as Morris Norman, knocked down the elderly woman and then dragged her sister into brush bordering the road. He attempted to assault her, the statement said, but failed.

Sheriff Guy Pierce led the posse. He said shoe tracks, by shoes, issued by the CCC, led the officers to the suspect.

Mrs. Jones and her sister live alone on a vegetable-plant farm. After the attack, they walked to the home of neighbor and reported to officers.

ELGIN SECRETARY DIES

ELGIN, Oct. 31. (AP)—D. G. Flenniken, 66, secretary of the chamber of commerce here four years, died yesterday.

Third Of Candidates Supporting Pensions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (AP)—One out of every three candidates running for seats in congress is counted by pension advocates as pledged to support some brand of bigger and better pensions for the old folks.

The proposals cover a wide range. Some want to lower from 65 to 60 the age limit at which pensions would be paid. Some propose bigger pensions, going all the way from the $30-a-month upper limit of the present Social Security act to the $30-every-Thursday of California's "Ham-and-Eggers."

Strong undercurrents lie beneath the campaigning. They have survived six or eight years of name-calling among different pension organizations. Many housands of members have paid out several millions of dollars in the hope that their dreams would come true.

Organizers and campaigners have had a fertile field. The nation has 11,715,000 persons over 60. And most of the high powered pension advocates preface their promises to pay with "after 60." The social security law sets 65 as the age at which payment starts.

Reduction of the age limit from 65 to 60 broadens the politician's appeal by 4,117,000 persons who are between those ages, all of whom are eligible to vote and many of whom have relatives who can vote, too.

Public Hearings To Be Held On New Act

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—The wage-hour administration is going to hold public hearings soon to determine regulations for learners in apparel industries engaged in interstate commerce.

Deputy Administrator Paul Sifton, responding to an inquiry from Governor White of Mississippi, said today the rules could not be issued until hearings take place.

The administration made public this and other replies to a number of questions regarding the new wage-hour law.

Calvert Magruder, general counsel, told the institute of cooking and heating appliance manufacturers that drivers of trucks owned by manufacturers are subject to the wage provisions of the law if the goods carried in the trucks "ultimately leave the state of manufacture."

Magruder said he understood the Interstate Commerce commission had not yet determined what employes are subject to the hours and qualifications provisions of the motor carrier act.

Deprived Of "Tomahawk" And Colonial Tepee

Mrs. Barnett Still Defiant

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31. — Disarmed of her "tomahawk," and evicted from her colonial tepee, Anna Laura Barnett still shouted defiance from her jail cell today.

But the bars seemed to offer cold proof that the woman who had twice wed the late Jackson Barnett, reputed world's wealthiest Indian, had made her last stand against federal officials in her fight to hold a share of his oil fortune.

Marshal Bob Clark and a dozen deputies, two of them women, met her hatchet threats with a tear gas attack yesterday and led Mrs. Barnett and her daughter, Maxine Sturges, from the Wilshire boulevard home. Blinded by the gas, her throw of the hatchet was wild, but Marshal Clark took it as evidence.

"I'll come back to my house and take possession of it again the minute you turn me loose," Mrs. Barnett cried.

FRENCH GENERAL DIES

LYON, France, Oct. 31 (AP) — General Joseph Degoutte, former commander of the Allied armies in the Rhineland, died today at the age of 72.

Breckenridge Man Crushed To Death

ABILENE, Oct. 31. (AP)—Floyd G. Williams of Breckenridge was crushed to death early today when his automobile overturned after it barely sideswiped a parked automobile six miles south of here on highway 83.

Williams' body was crushed between the automobile motor and several hundred pounds of tools he was hauling in a rear compartment. He was transportation superintendent for the Sinclair-Prairie Oil company.

H. A. Jamar of Coleman was asleep in his automobile. It was parked just off the paving, said highway patrolmen. It was moved only about one foot when the Williams' car barely sideswiped a rear hub cap. Williams' machine overturned after skidding about 100 feet.

Robert E. L. Saner, Only Texan To Head U. S. Bar, Dies Today

DALLAS, Oct. 31. (AP) — Robert E. L. Saner, 67, former president of the American Bar association (1923-24), die dtoday, ending a distinguished career in which he achieved international notice.

He was the only Texas attorney ever elected head of the nation's bar. He was formerly president of the Texas Bar association also.

Death came after a long illness.

Employes Of Seattle Firm Are Willed Company By Late Owner

SEATTLE, Oct. 31 (AP) — Forty employes of the Belknap Glass company found themselves owners of the firm today.

Sen. Caraway Suggests Solons Obtain Views Of 'Dirt Farmers'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (AP) — Senator Caraway (D-Ark) suggested today that congress obtain the views of "dirt farmers" on the present crop control law before any revisions are made.

She termed "humane" the proposal of Secretary Wallace to sell surplus foodstuffs at "bargain" prices to low income families, but expressed doubt the scheme would work.

Lubbock Authorities Not To Be Tolerant Of Vandalism In Hallowe'en Doings Tonight

Lubbock authorities will not be tolerant tonight of vandalism by those who celebrate Hallowe'en.

Innocent fun will be all right; but "fun" as viewed by police will end where there is even the possibility that pranks may result in injury to persons or damage to property.

This was the warning transmitted to members of his department this morning by Police Chief Don Reeder after conferences with other city officials who were aroused because of at least one act of pre-Hallowe'en destruction Saturday night.

Curb Deliberately Smashed

That act, as reported by J. C. (Billy) Clark, street superintendent, was the deliberate smashing of portions of newly laid concrete curb and gutter on Avenue N between Sixteenth and Seventeenth street.

Police have been instructed to seek and arrest the perpetrators of that bit of destructiveness, and to prosecute them under proper charges.

Arrests Are Authorized

They also have been directed to arrest any others who may go too far in their celebration of Hallowe'en tonight. Going "too far," the chief explained, will mean any acts which may endanger persons or property. Neither will an excess of rowdyism be tolerated, the chief warned.

The damage to the Avenue N concrete work, as reported by Clark, was a most flagrant instance of vandalism. The laying of curbs and gutters, it was explained, necessitates the leaving of spaces—known as expansion joints—at regular intervals. This is a precaution against breakage resulting from sudden changes in temperature.

Used Pry Bar Or Club

Joints are about a half inch in width. Saturday night, using some sort of pry bar and apparently a heavy club, the pranksters gouged out large chunks of concrete at the joints. A wholly satisfactory repair job is impossible, Clark said. The patched places will forever be a weak spot in the curb and the fact that they are patchwork always will be evident. But the damage will be repaired as well as possible because replacement would cost several hundred dollars.

Maximum penalty in the event of a successful prosecution of those responsible for the damage would mean a term in the state training school for a juvenile or a fine of $100 for an adult.

Special watchmen will guard city construction projects tonight, city officials announced.

This Is Hallowe'en

(Bet You Don't Know Why)

Everybody knows what happens on Hallowe'en.

The youngsters know they can dress up in their false-faces and have an uproarious time trying to fool neighbors; and grown-ups know they must be tolerant when their windows are soft soaped.

But WHY is Hallowe'en?

Early Christians set aside dates when every martyr for Christ was venerated. There were soon so many martyrs that they decided to lump them all together for one big festivity—Hallowmas or All Saints' Day.

During the Eighth Century Gregory III set the date at Nov. 1. Through the centuries, celebrants thought it advisable to keep vigil on the night before.

Quite independently, the Irish Druids got the idea that Saman, lord of death, ordered wicked souls to come forth on the night of Oct. 31.

Christians keeping vigil gradually accepted this idea that witches and ghosts were quite apt to be at large then and began lighting fires and making frightful masks to scare them away.

That, folks, seems to be the origin of our 1938, streamlined Hallowe'en.

Verdict Of Suicide Returned In Death Of San Angelo Physician

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 31. (AP)—Justice of the Peace Hugh Jackson entered a verdict of suicide here in the death yesterday of Dr. Thomas Lester Waggoner, 34, district 6 director of the state health department.

His mother, Mrs. Beatrice Waggoner, discovered the body on the bedroom floor. A shotgun was nearby.

A graduate of Baylor University college, Waggoner had been instrumental in the formation of several health organizations in this area.

Formal Initiation Is Conducted By Beta Sigma Phi Sorority Sunday Night

Nine Received Into Chapter

In a formal initiation conducted by candlelight, Sunday afternoon in the Hilton Aztec room, nine young women were received into the Alpha Delta chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority and later were honored at a dinner party in the Chimayo room. Initiates were Mesdames Theresa White, Ed Hambright and Dayle Vannoy, Misses Lottie Croslin, Bertha Singley, Zelma Ferguson, Katherine Malone, Katherine Smith and Edith Plunk.

Mrs. S. E. Cone, chapter president, presided for the service and was toastmistress at the dinner. Others assisting in the initiation were Mrs. William Dingus, sponsor; Mrs. Arch King, vice-president, Miss Mary Meador, director, Miss Josephine Powell, social chairman, and Miss Gladys Cox, pianist.

Decorations in the Chimayo room were three large black cats placed at intervals along a yellow streamer of paper extending down the center of the table. Cat, owl and pumpkin paper hats were favors and place cards were small owls, pumpkins and cat figures. Cat-lamps hung on either side of the fireplace and on the mantle sat an old witch riding a broom.

Miss Mary Margaret Carter proposed a toast to new members and Miss Malone gave a toast to old members. Mrs. White received an award for making the highest membership test grade and Mrs. King read a poem, "My Pledge," written by Mrs. Hambright. Mrs. Dingus and Miss Meador spoke and various members told ghost stories by candle light and shadows thrown by the weird decorations.

Other members present were Misses Adelia Anderson and Tarsey Singley.

Farewell Courtesy Held Honoring Mrs. Houk

Mesdames J. H. Bennett and E. E. Rogers entertained recently in the home of the latter at 1621 Seventeenth street in honor of Mrs. R. F. Houk who is moving to Arkansas. She received a handkerchief shower.

During the afternoon Ludonna Berry played violin selections.

Attending were Mesdames C. C. Beene, N. H. Lassiter, A. Wellenman, G. B. McKinley, Lloyd Bentley, Haskell Thompson, J. W. Harrison, Troy F. Rodgers, J. M. Pipkin, Lewis Tatum, D. C. Pollard, J. L. Murfee, Willie Houk, W. C. Johnson and Miss Pauline Holden.

Gifts were sent by Mesdames H. E. Anderson, W. C. Edwards, Charles Davis, M. A. Sanders, George Berry, Ethridge Rogers, Grace Ingram, J. A. Peel and N. M. Gosdin.

The judge declined to hear her explanation.

His explanation: Two dollars.

Only Men Of Good Character Are Wanted In Army, Officer Says

Only men of good character are wanted by the U. S. Army as recruits, Sgt. Neal F. Marshall, local recruiting officer, explained yesterday.

"Even a day in jail is sufficient to keep a man out of the army," he said. Recently, he recalled, a boy who wanted to enlist, was found to have spent a part of a day in the city jail, on a minor charge. The officer discussed the case with the city manager and arranged to have the matter cleared up so the youth could enlist without a jail sentence on his record.

"Army regulations say a man must be of good moral character," the sergeant added. "The army is not a dumping ground for criminals. Once in a while a judge will remit a sentence provided a man will enlist in the army. These men do not get in. The Army does not take men of that kind."

May 7, 8, 9, Selected As Dates For Big Spring Rotary Session

May 7, 8 and 9, 1939, have been selected as dates for the 127th district of Rotary International district convention, at Big Spring, Linton H. Estes, district governor, announced. The Big Spring club was awarded the 1939 conference at the last meeting, in Childress.

Estes has asked each club president in the district to name an "On to Big Spring" committee.

Big Spring is working on its program, committees are at work on plans for the gathering, and plans are under way to make the gathering one of the best in West Texas. Hotel accommodations, Estes said, are of the best, with plenty of hotel rooms available only a short walk from the municipal auditorium.

Building Permits In September Slightly Below August Total

AUSTIN, Oct. 31 (AP)—Texas building permits during September were slightly below August but sharply above September last year, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported today.

Bureau reports from 38 representative cities showed total value of permits was $6,145,000 during September, 2.7 per cent below the preceding month but 41 per cent above the same month last year.

The bureau reported increased activity in Texas building and construction in July, August and September resulted in the establishment of a particularly large number of firms manufacturing lumber, mill work, roofing, brick and other building materials.

Firms producing oil field tools and machinery constituted the next largest group of new manufacturing industries, Mrs. Clara H. Lewis, editorial assistant of the bureau, said.

Initiation Is Held Sunday

After a formal initiation service at 7 o'clock Sunday morning, members of the Omega chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron attended a breakfast at Hotel Lubbock.

The initiation service was conducted in the home economics building at Texas Technological college. Phi Upsilon Omicron is a national honorary home economics fraternity.

Initiated were Elizabeth Elliott, student from Anton; Lois Wren, Littlefield; Helenoire Reynolds, Lubbock; Alice Rorex, Panhandle; and Jennie Faye Felton, Big Spring.

Program At Breakfast

Maretta Holloway, president of the chapter, presided at the breakfast. Short speeches were given by Thelma Fisher, Christine Fincher, Miss Felton, and Miss Margaret W. Weeks, dean of home economics at the college, Miss Mabel D. Erwin, head professor of clothing and textiles, and Miss Jonnie McCreary, head professor of foods and nutrition. The program ended with singing of the fraternity hymn.

Others attending were Misses Oleta Claiborn, Beryl Duff, Delilah Manire, Olga Ann Elliott, Charlotte Ballow, Frances Cleveland, Floy Glenn, Pauline Edgett and Verna Crump, chapter members, and Miss Geraldine Clewell, instructor in home economics education.

Fifty-One Are At Luncheon

Fifty members of the Pan Hellenic society and a guest, Miss Mary Etta Vernon, Texas Technological college student from Roscoe, attended a luncheon Saturday afternoon in the women's dormitory lounge at Tech college. Miss Vernon was winner of the Pan Hellenic scholarship last spring.

The luncheon was served buffet style from a long table covered with white organdy and set with two large bouquets of pink and white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Robert W. Wright, president, and Mrs. Bradford Knapp presided at the table.

The meeting, a quarterly social, opened the 1938-39 season for the society. Alumnae of Zeta Tau Alpha, Pi Beta Phi and Alpha Gamma Delta were hostesses. The next meeting will be in December.

Plans for a homecoming entertainment to be attended by alumnae of Las Vivarachas club, women's social organization at Texas Technological college, were discussed Sunday afternoon at a meeting at the home of Miss Marian Hurmence of 3021 Twentieth street, president of the club's alumnae organization.

A luncheon will be conducted at 1 o'clock Armistice day at the home of Mrs. F. R. Friend, 2005 Broadway.

The group also discussed plans for attending a coffee to be conducted after the Tech-Gonzaga university game that afternoon, for alumnae of all women's social clubs.

Present at the meeting were Misses Lalla D'Spain, Hurmence, Lola Mae Grundy, Rosemary Duff, and Opal McMahon and Mesdames O. B. Haught, Ray Johnson, Truman Green or Spur, and Graham Holmes.

Accordion Band To Play On Federated Program

Representatives from the Glide-Well Accordion band, which is associated with the Texas Federation of Music clubs, will play during a fine arts program in Amarillo Thursday night that features a session of the seventh district federation convention.

Their offering will be a four-part arrangement of Barcarolle, "Tales from Hoffman" by Offenbach.

Mrs. Leonard Cole will direct the group which will include Mesdames H. W. Wylie, M. T. Daniel, Jewel Nisbett, Misses Mary Nell Holt, Carmen Dobkins and Ruth Janelle Spikes.

Weather Sets One Record In October; 100 Degrees On Oct. 1 Shattered All Marks

By C. A. PRICE
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, Oct. 31. (AP)—This year of grace, 1938, is 80 per cent history, but records at the Dallas weather bureau — representative of a very large area of North, East and Central Texas—show it was neither abnormally hot nor dry, but did break one record.

Dr. Joseph L. Cline, forecaster, said the 100 degrees temperature Oct. 1 not only was the maximum for the 10 months, but also broke all known records for this section. His records show a maximum of 97 in 1917, was the next highest for October.

The drouth in 1928 is known at the weather bureau as the most severe and longest dry period in the growing season in some parts of the best agricultural portions of Texas. That dry spell began after a record rainfall of 10.38 inches in May and continued through June, July and August, with .33, .53 and .04 inches precipitation, respectively. The blighting effect of the 1928 dry period was because it was widespread and came in the crop maturing months.

For comparison it is necessary to take this year's record of rainfall back to '29 because it crowds that year's performance closely, although the precipitation was more evenly distributed. May had 1.09 inches, June 1.65, July .97, August .26 and September .50, but between Oct. 8 and 17, clouds became more productive and moistened the area the equivalent of 4.08 inches. The deficiency of normal through October is 4.75 inches.

Rains In West Texas

The low moisture level in North, East and Central Texas was offset, Dr. Cline said, by substantial rains in West Texas due to a cool mass over the Rocky mountains moving against a mass of warm air at the east. Other parts of the state did not benefit because meteorological conditions over the United States were such that little movement across the continent occurred, and when the potential rain-making mass did move, physical conditions were "not such as to produce rain."

Dr. Cline said long study had taught that conditions in this or past years were not extraordinary.

Texas Climate Is Noted

"The Texas climate is noted for hot and cold, and dry and wet weather prevailing at some period in different parts of the state," he said. "A marked characteristic is that dry periods of more or less intensity occur in some portions nearly every year. There appears never to have been a year in Texas when crops in some part of the state were not affected in the growing season by drouth periods. There are drouth periods in almost all agricultural sections of the world when rain would improve yield of growing crops, but not always with the same regularity as Texas summer drouths."

The Dallas forecaster does not hold with amateur prophets that the "weather is changing."

Conditions Are Changed

"Conditions somewhat similar to the fat and lean years in ancient Egypt frequently occur in localities in this age," he said, "but with improved farming implements, intensive cultivation and conservation of subsoil moisture better crops can be produced by less moisture. Hence, cycles, or long periods of dry weather, are not so noticeable or so disastrous. This is why some writers erroneously claim the climate is changing.

"When records covering long periods of time are studied we find that climate is neither stable nor becoming progressively drier, wetter, hotter or colder. Therefore, it appears that weather changes in historic times have been over-generalized."

Geese flying south, twinges of rheumatism, or aching corns or Yankee bullets as weather prognosticators have Dr. Cline's respect but not his assurance of their reliability.

"However," he remarked, "I recall as a boy in Tennessee when I walked through the sage fields in the fall and found jackrabbit nests made with the heads to the south, cold weather followed in a few days or sometimes the same night. But no one can forecast heat, cold or rain merely with a 'weather eye.'"

Carter To Amarillo—K. Carter, jr., has gone to Amarillo to join Lloyd Snyder's orchestra, which plays at the Nat six nights weekly.

'Piccolo Pete' In His Prime Couldn't Top Tech Musician

What "Piccolo Pete" reputedly could do an octave higher than his flutist brethren is by way of being matched by "Oboe Lee," they say around Texas Technological college.

Hang Lee Hackler on the end of a hautboy and you get more than the pastoral effects the old instrument has come to represent. The sophomore with a major in public school music does not limit his musical attention to the oboe, however. As student, director and instructor, he plays clarinet, bassoon, saxophone, violin and piano — none of them indifferently.

You saw him twirling a fire-lighted baton the other night between halves of a grid game. He and D. O. Wiley, Tech band director, get their heads together to arrange those marches and drills at such programs, Hackler executing plans worked out by the director.

Hackler was drum major of the University of Kansas at one time and directed his own swing band. He was assistant editor of his high school annual and was drum major, as well as assistant director of the band and orchestra.

After he had won an oboe playing contest he was offered the post of assistant director of the 100-piece symphony orchestra at the University of Kansas. His brother is assistant director of the band there. His mother is a musician.

And, to his advantage as a drum major, he's 6 feet 2 1-2 inches tall.

Surprise Party Is Held Honoring Miss George

Miss Bonnie Ruth George was honored with a surprise party given Sunday afternoon at the Tip Top cafe. Coffee and cake were served at 4 o'clock. A pink and green motif was used in decorations.

Attending were Misses Howard Mae Grayson, Doris Towns, Marjorie Chenoweth, Elsie Shore, Ruth Apperson, Ruth Ward, Alice Everage, Messrs, Spencer Beaver, Francis Harris, Bill Hatcher, Floyd Stowers, Charles Watkins, Sonnie Burks and Virgil Taylor.

Atmosphere Of Witchery Is Rampant At Parties Here

Hallowe'en with its ancient atmosphere of witchery and its modern tradition of merry-making is giving oldsters and youngsters an opportunity to don scarey costumes and enjoy novel frolics. The occasions will reach their zenith tonight although the orange and black motif has prevailed for the last week at club and private parties.

The woman's auxiliary to the carpenters' local will entertain for their husbands and other crafts of union labor at 8 o'clock tonight at the carpenters hall. This will be a pie supper.

The Blue Bonnet Needle club is to attend a Hallowe'en party at 8 o'clock tonight in the home of Mrs. H. L. Stovall, 1912 Eighth street.

In Ellison Home

Miss Roberta Ellison, 2207 Twenty-third street, entertained Saturday night with an attractive "spook" party, assisted by her mother, Mrs. R. L. Ellison. Guests entered the home by means of a ladder and on coming downstairs were greeted at the living room door by Cecil R. Matthews. Corn stalks, jack-o-lanterns, skeletons, autumn leaves and chrysanthemums were decorations.

A witch told fortunes, games were played and noise makers were in evidence.

Refreshments of sandwiches, pumpkin pie, salted peanuts and hot chocolate were served to Mavis Pendley, Louise Sullivan, Betty Nash, Marion Turner, Kathleen Self, Joyce Wheelock, Zoe White, Helen Richie, Dorothy Day, Olive Huff, Laverne Hulen, Louise Reid, Leroy Eager, Oscar Sherrill, Weldon McCollum, Glenn Terrell, Jimmy Day, Lindsey Telford, Ralph Havis, J. W. Gamble, Barney Welch, Taylor Pendley, S. S. Forrest, Richard Mobley and Duncan Ellison.

Children Are Honored

Honoring their children, Jean Kathryn Kuykendall and Harold Dean Stephens, Mesdames Lovell L. Kuykendall and Don Stephens entertained with a Hallowe'en party Friday afternoon in the home of the former.

The chosen theme was reflected in decorations and refreshments. Several games were played. Serpentine and horns were favors.

For Pythian Sisters

There was a masked costume party given for the Pythian Sister Temple and guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Davies, 1923 Main street, Friday night. Miss Josephine Davies and Miss Kathleen Woody assisted in entertaining.

Guests were greeted at the porch by Mr. Davies, who was dressed as a ghost and were directed to the living room by Mrs. Vada Kinard, who wore a witch costume. Pumpkins, jack-o-lanterns, ghosts and shocks were placed about the rooms. Refreshments were served from a lace covered table centered with a bowl of chrysanthemums.

Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Fry entertained at their home at 2015 Broadway Friday night for Dr. Fry's Bible students at Texas Technological college. Approximately 30 attended. The Hallowe'en motif was featured. Games were played.

Bill Nation entertained with a Hallowe'en party at the Hollywood Ideal dance studio Saturday night. A scavenger hunt was staged and dancing and games were enjoyed. Featuring the decorations was a jack-o-lantern in a well.

Sixty pupils and guests were present.

Chaperones were Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Jones, Misses Delia Wilkinson and Bernice Coates.

At Country Club

Las Cresas club entertained with a costume dance at the Lubbock Country club Saturday night. Pledges decorated the rooms with pumpkins and wheat shocks.

Guests included 15 members of the Sub-Deb club and their escorts, several young men and the patronesses.

Many of the guests attended a movie prevue after the dance.

The young people's class of the Broadview Sunday school was entertained with a Hallowe'en masquerade at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Simkins Friday night. A witch stirred a brew from which fortunes were drawn. Refreshments were served to Euba Cooper, Geraldine Hines, Ruby Wardlow, Marjorie Wardlow, Camilla Booker, LaNell Stacy, Florine Simkins, Elma Simkins, Alfred Wardlow, John Booker, M. C. McGee, Leonard Simkins, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Williams and children and Mrs. Pascal Smart.

Record 'Off-Year' Vote Seen As General Election Enters Stretch

Last Appeals To Be Made

(By The Associated Press)

Thousands of candidates for congressional and state offices close out their final week of campaigning today amid indications of a record "off-year" vote in the Nov. 8 election.

Politicians agreed the ballots would total far more than the 33,000,000 cast in the 1934 congressional election, even though they were not expected to reach the 45,000,000 mark set in the Roosevelt-Landon presidential contest two years ago.

Call On National Leaders

For the last appeals to this vast array of voters, both Democratic and Republican parties called on their national leaders. The "reserve forces" include President Roosevelt, half of his cabinet, former President Hoover, and Alfred M. Landon, 1936 Republican presidential candidate.

Landon was booked for an address today at Bartlesville, Okla., before returning to help the Republican ticket in his home state of Kansas.

Mr. Roosevelt will speak Friday night to a radio audience in support of the New York Democratic candidates. It is generally believed however, that he also will mention national issues.

In a letter made public yesterday the president said he had not been asking voters to vote for Democrats "as opposed to Republicans or members of any other party."

"Nevertheless," he added, "I have the right to speak out in those instances where there has been a clear or deliberate misuse of my own name. That has happened in Pennsylvania."

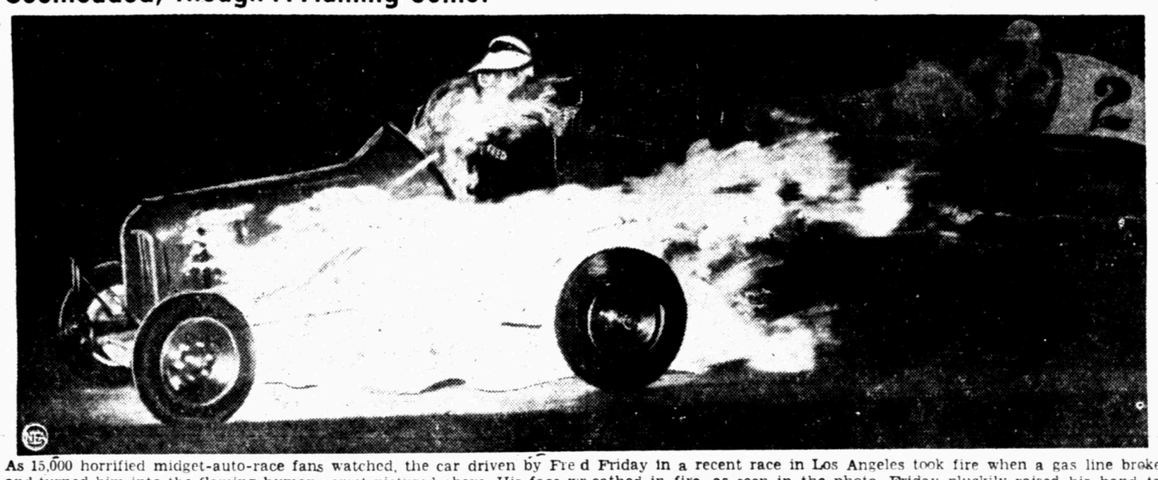

He declared he objected to Judge Arthur H. James, Republican candidate for governor, "saying in his speeches that I have deliberately refrained from meddling in local issues in Pennsylvania because I am unwilling 'to put my hands in that muddy water'."

The last reference was to charges of vote coercion against Gov. George H. Earle and 13 other Democrats which a special legislative committee is investigating.

The president said that in his relations with the Earle administration, "I can truthfully say that I have found it at all times willing and eager to help in carrying into effect a liberal program for social and economic justice." Earle is Democratic candidate for senator.

Twenty-four hours after Mr. Roosevelt's radio speech, former President Hoover and Chairman John Hamilton will close the Republicans' campaign. Mr. Hoover will speak Saturday at Spokane, Wash., and Hamilton will make a final radio appeal.

Coolheaded, Though A Flaming Comet

As 15,000 horrified midget-auto-race fans watched, the car driven by Fred Friday in a recent race in Los Angeles took fire when a gas line broke and turned him into the flaming human comet pictured above. His face wreathed in fire, as seen in the photo, Friday pluckily raised his hand to warn off the other drivers, then steered into the infield, came to a stop, unfastened his safety belt and leaped out—his clothes ablaze. He was taken to a hospital, suffering from severe burns. At right, another car is seen swerving to avoid Friday's machine.

Bridge Classes Are Launched This Afternoon At Legion Hall

Benefits from the American Legion-Avalanche-Journal bridge school to be conducted here this week by W. F. (Rufus) Steele, internationally famous bridge authority, are too numerous for brief description, Steele believes.

Apart from personal satisfaction in playing of the game correctly and the mental discipline occasioned by the game is a benefit which may be enjoyed by the bridge-playing element fo the entire city. The 25 or 30 bridge clubs in Lubbock should be united, the bridge expert believes, through a uniform system so that there will be no argument when members of different clubs find themselves playing at the same table at a private party. A purpose of the school is to unite the various clubs and have everyone playing the same system that is popular all over the world.

Cites Two Ideas

Steele, in discussing the school which is to be conducted at 2 and 8 p. m. daily today through Friday at the American Legion hall, said he would like to leave two ideas especially with prospective students: That it doesn't matter whether or not the student knows anything about bridge and that the classes will begin promptly at the designated hours. The evening class will be a repetition of the afternoon class and students, enrolling at $2 each for the entire course, may attend one or both classes every day.

Concerning bridge as a mental discipline, Steele quotes from Link's notable book, "The Return to Religion":

Is Fruitful Discipline

"People have said to me 'No, I don't play bridge. I consider it a waste of time.' Others have said 'yes, I play bridge, but I hate to play with people who take it seriously.' Yet, I have recommended to hundreds of clients that they learn to play bridge or that they take it more seriously on the ground that bridge is one of the most fruitful disciplines in acquiring unselfish habits and desirable personality traits.

"The person who does not like to play bridge is one who doesn't like to be reproved if he ignores his partner's discard, fails to return his partner's lead or forgets what is trump. In short, such a person is thoroughly selfish in his disregard for the pleasure of other people. He insults them by saying 'Your concentration and pleasure in this game is silly. Why don't you take it lightly as I do?' A person who lacks the sensitive habits of tact or considerateness in bridge probably lacks them in other social activities."

It has been Steele's experience in the many schools he has conducted in the United States that a large percentage of his men students are physicians or men of science whose profession requires habits of deep concentration.

Proceeds from the school will go to local charity. Reservations are made only at the door, policy of the school being "first come first served." Students will be admitted as long as there is seating capacity.

Big Job Nears Its Conclusion

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The biggest job of political police work ever attempted by congress approached its conclusion today with members of the senate campaign investigating committee promising to ack this week on complaints from eight states.

The committee has ordered final reports from its investigators in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, New Jersey, North Dakota, Tennessee, Kentucky, and Georgia at its meetings Wednesday and Thursday.

Action on these reports will virtually clear the committee's docket, which lists 183 cases involving more than 300 separate charges of political abuse.

That will end the police work, except for such complaints as may be filed as an aftermath of the Nov. 8 general election.

When the senate set up the special committee by a resolution adopted last June 16, it gave it wide powers to look into "everything of public interest" bearing on the election of United States senators.

Reduction Of 21 Per Cent Is Noted In Traffic Fatalities

CHICAGO, Oct. 31 (AP)—The man on the street and the man behind the wheel have joined efforts to make 1938 the "most encouraging traffic safety year in the nation's history."

The National Safety council so reported today in complimenting pedestrian and driver alike for caution that made September the ninth consecutive month this year to show a substantial reduction in motor vehicle fatalities.

The death total for the first nine months of 1938 was 22,130, a reduction of 5,820 or 21 per cent from the total of 27,950 for the same 1937 period.

Pitt Remains Unquestioned As Leader

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Football enters the critical November phase of a brilliant season with a dozen teams still eligible for the national championship sweepstakes.

Rank them as you choose at this point but the undefeated and untied list of major outfits includes Pitt, Dartmouth and Georgetown in the East; Tennessee and Duke in the South; California and Santa Clara in the Far West; Texas Christian and Texas Tech in the Southwest; Notre Dame, Iowa State and Oklahoma in the Mid-West.

Western Reserve, high-powered scoring array from Cleveland, likewise boasts a perfect record along with others in the so-called smaller college class but lack of a representative schedule operates against them.

Must Include Wildcats

National championship speculation also must include Northwestern's Wildcats, conquerors of Minnesota but held to a scoreless draw by Ohio State. Boston college, Villanova and Utah likewise have escaped defeat but have been tied.

After last Saturday's extraordinary list of gridiron "naturals," never hitherto equalled in October, there is a noticeable falling off in the class of this week's program. High spots of the slate include:

Pitt, the unquestioned leader after its 21-point fourth period rally that trounced Fordham, 24-13, will need to fight off a natural letdown in its annual clash with tough Carnegie Tech.

Notre Dame Meets Navy

Topping the intersectional list, is Notre Dame's meeting with Navy at Baltimore.

Northwestern's stunning 6-3 upset of Minnesota left the Wildcats tied for the Big Ten lead with Ohio State whose Buckeyes leisurely mopped up New York university, 32-0. Northwestern plays Wisconsin next while Ohio State takes on Purdue, held to an amazing scoreless tie by Iowa's Hawkeyes.

In the Big Six, Oklahoma, easy 28-6 victor over Tulsa, plays Kansas State and will have a chance to tie Iowa State for the lead.

In the Southwest three conference games are on the slate but Texas Christian, the leader, does not figure in any of them. The Horned Frogs, possibly the greatest team in the sector and a strong contender for national honors, meets Tulsa. Southern Methodist and Rice, unbeaten within the conference, will aim at their second successive conference victories against Texas A. and M. and Arkansas, respectively. Texas and Baylor complete the conference program.

Teh Plays Loyola

Texas Tech, unbeaten independent, plays Loyola of New Orleans.

In the South while Tennessee takes it comparatively easy against Chattanooga, a heavy conference schedule sends Louisiana State against Mississippi State; Tulane against Alabama, 26-6 conqueror of Kentucky; Vanderbilt, against Sewanee, Georgia Tech against Kentucky, and Georgia against Florida.

The Southern conference crown virtually was clinched by Duke when the Blue Devils, one of the country's mightiest defensive machines, topped North Carolina, 14-0. Duke enjoys an open date before tackling Syracuse, North Carolina State and Pitt.

Duke's Blue Devils Only Unscored On Team In U. S.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP) — The Blue Devils of Duke university, with their 14-0 victory over North Carolina, emerged from the sultry weather of October's last Saturday the only unscored upon, undefeated and untied football team of the country.

Thirty teams with unblemished records are on this week's Associated Press compilation, but of the 30 only Duke has not had its goal line crossed. The Blue Devils, leaders of the Southern conference, have gone to the wars six times and piled up 79 points.

Sprinkled in the list of the select 30 are several "John Smiths" but also included are the nationally known Pittsburgh, California, Dartmouth, Texas Christian, Tennessee, Duke, Notre Dame, Oklahoma, Georgetown and Santa Clara. Texas Tech, idle for the week, also was on the list.

Leroy Fry Is Leading Scorer On Nation's Grid This Week

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP)—Leroy Fry of Texas College of Arts and Industries, a big-shot from the "small college" ranks, took over the national football scoring leadership during the past week while Everett Elkins, former leader from Marshall college of West Virginia, dropped to third place among the pace setters.

Fry, tied with Elkins at 66 points last week, scored eight points Saturday to bring his total to 74. Gayle Smith of Southwestern (Memphis), pace-setter among the Southern "minor" teams' stars, picked up 12 points to gain second place with 68 while Elkins was held scoreless for the second straight week. Smith has made 12 touchdowns in six games, leading the sectional leaders in that department. Fry and Elkins have 11 each.

Connie Sparks ousted his Texas Christian teammate, Davey O'Brien, from the top of the Southwest conference list. In six games Sparks has scored 36 points, a touchdown-a-game.

Two members of the Temple football squad are foreign born. Mike Lubac comes from Czechoslovakia and John Stylanics was born in Greece.

Out Of The Tank And Into The Saddle

They're in the movies now, are Marion, mounted, and Virginia Hopkins, pretty twin sisters who are two of Uncle Sam's best bets in the 1940 Olympic swimming events. Instead of taking swimming parts, however, they will be cast as cowgirls to protect their amateur standing. They are shown getting a little technique in horsemanship at Arrowhead Springs, Calif., before starting on their first western. Virginia has broken the world's 50 and 100-meter free-style marks, and Marion has bettered the world mark in the 50-yard backstroke.

Schoolboy Race In November Stretch

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Staff Writer

Important games in five districts will further trim the list of title contenders this week as the Texas schoolboy gridiron race moves into the November stretch.

Masonic home, undefeated in conference play in the Fort Worth district, meets Paschal. Paschal and Fort Worth Poly are undefeated but each has a tie. Poly plays North Side, one-game loser, in a tilt that will remove at least one threat to the Masons' title hopes.

Sweetwater Plays Angelo

Sweetwater, Abilene and San Angelo, staging a free-for-all for the pennant in the western division of the Oil Belt, will find one of their number practically eliminated from the race. Sweetwater plays San Angelo in a game that will break a three-way tie.

Jacksonville and Livingston, two of the three teams undefeated in conference competition in district 10, tangle this week to determine the title contender against Lufkin.

Galveston, unbeaten along with Port Arthur in district 14, plays Goose Creek, which has only a tie to mar its record.

Brownsville Meets McAllen

The Rio Grande valley's upper bracket has two undefeated teams—Brownsville and McAllen. They clash this week.

There are but 44 games on the schedule, 35 of them of conference import. Many of the teams are idle this week, getting up steam for traditional Armistice day clashes when favorites really begin to take form.

Only Livingston, of the state's five undefeated, untied teams, appears to be in any great danger this week. Lufkin plays Mexia, Gainesville meets Paris and Waco engages Cleburne while Tyler is idle.

The six teams without defeat but with ties are almost as well off. Wichita Falls plays Graham, Corpus Christi takes on Corsicana, Donna engages Mission, Brownsville tackles McAllen and Sunset (Dallas) plays Adamson (Dallas), while Cisco does not have a game scheduled. There's a chance for several upsets in that list but the probability is not strong.

Horned Frogs Haven't Much Trouble Ahead

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Overloaded with believers, Texas Christian's gaudy band wagon rolled on today towards an undefeated season, with not a reasonable derailment in sight.

Four more games are on the schedule—Tulsa, Texas, Rice and Southern Methodist—but those who have seen the versatile Horned Frogs powerhouse to six straight triumps and still believe they can't win them all, could be comfortably housed in a telephone booth.

Two Regulars Ailing

There's many a slip twixt the kickoff and the showers, but only injuries could slow down the Christians—and it would take wholesale distribution at that, for reserves are what TCU owns by the peck. Two of the regular backfielders are ailing now. Johnny Hall with a chipped ankle bone and Connie Sparks with a knocked down shoulder, but you could never have guessed it the way the Christians actually embarrassed Baylor, 39-7, on Saturday last.

Hall may miss the Tulsa game: Sparks will be available. To take Hall's place, should it be necessary, will be Logan Ware, an unheralded lad who stabbed Baylor's line with two off-tackle jabs.

Clark Performs Well

No greater Southwest team ever messed up an enemy goal line than the Christian team that riddled Baylor for 526 yards on ground and in the air. If it wasn't Davey O'Brien and his passing, which netted three touchdowns and 236 yards, it was the dancing feet of Sparks, Earl Clark and Ware. For a day, at least, Clark performed as well as any back in the land, in the opinion of Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyer. He ran like a rabbit, blocked magnificently and bagged most of the Baylor runners who sifted through his line.

The giant, 199-pound average team that has travelled nearly 2,000 yards in six games, scored 156 points to the enemy's 33 and scored 39 points on a Baylor team that had allowed but 18 in five previous games, meets Tulsa's Golden Hurricane next Saturday at Tulsa, a team they have whipped four straight years with much less ammunition than the present arsenal holds.

Trumpets Blare At Houston

Down Houston way the trumpets, in cold storage the past month, are beginning to blare again for Rice after its 13-0 triumph over Auburn with Ernie Lain on the sidelines. E. Y. Steakley, a track star and erstwhile end, and Speedy Moore, a soph they've been holding back, went to town—but they'll have to go again next Saturday at Fayetteville against Arkansas.

The Porkers barely dropped one, 13-7, to a powerful Texas Aggie team that brings its newly discovered fullbacking terror, John Kimbrough into Dallas Saturday for a romp with Southern Methodist. Kimbrough and Dick Todd provided the Aggies with a last-minute victory over Arkansas.

Should Be Good Game

The Methodists won their first conference start over Texas, 7-6, on Ray Mallouf's passes. The Dallas game should be one of the better ones of the week-end.

The hunch is that Texas will soon win itself a ball game, and maybe Baylor at Austin is the spot next Saturday. Last year the Texans moved into Waco and snapped Baylor's great winning splurge. Its hard to believe D. X. Bible will not win a game—and Baylor should be tired after the Christian steamrolling.

Sports Roundup

BY SID FEDER
(Pinch-Hitting for Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK, Oct. 31 (AP) — If those Pitt piledrivers aren't the top set of footballers around — then you name one . . . And here and there, the boys are saying Biggie Goldberg can't miss All-America again. . . . Another guy getting the "all" call is Ki Aldrich, Texas Christian's center . . . Incidentally, George Neill, from Fort Worth, tips one and all not to be surprised if Pitt and the Horned Frogs tangle in the Cotton Bowl New Year's day . . . Neill has the football bug so bad he spends his vacations traveling to different sections to take in all the big games . . . Nice work if you can get it . . . by the way, why not a round-robin with Pitt, Dartmouth, Tennessee, Duke (Durham fans please copy), Northwestern, Texas Christian, California and Southern Cal getting together . . . (is that asking too much? . . .

Unsung hero dept.: Hal Method, who plays a lot of right guard, recovered the Minnesota fumble on the Gopher 20 that set up Northwestern's upset touchdown . . . And Abe Shires, Tennessee tackle, did the same against L. S. U. on the Tiger 15 for the winning tally. . . .

National league's most valuable player comes out tonight — and will you be surprised! . . . Southwest scouts report that Texas Christian is the greatest grid outfit that section ever saw . . . Anyway, the guy who kept the Frog statistics against Baylor needed an adding machine — what with 524 yards gained rushing and passing . . . Good tip for next week might be St. Mary's over Fordham . . . No team is ever the same after once getting kicked around by Goldberg and his gallopers. . . .

VARSITY SHOW: Football Is Big Business . . .

BACKSTAGE:

By The AP Feature Service

IT TAKES you two hours to see a football game. It takes a university a year to prepare for that game. Football is a very big business. Football pays the mortgage on the stadium — and even on the rest of the college, too. That is why it is so important—and why preparations are so extensive. These photographs, made at Northwestern, show the preliminaries most universities go through every year.

Equipment must be issued. Northwestern's bill for uniforms last year: $1,243. . .

THE SHOW:

Defeats Spoil Season For Veteran Football Coaches

By Associated Press Feature Writer

The football fates have frowned on many of the foremost gridiron coaches this season. No one has run into more trouble than the veteran Dana X. Bible of the University of Texas.

Lured from Nebraska by a long-term, high-salaried contract, Bible has had few opportunities to smile during the two years he has been in the Southwest. He was accustomed to great successes with the Cornhuskers, yet Bible's 1938 Texas club lost its first six games.

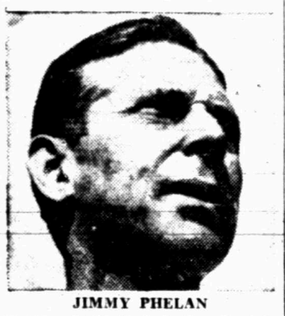

Major Lawrence (Biff) Jones, who followed Bible at Nebraska, has had about as much difficulty. He lost four of his first five 1938 games—one by a single point—and played a scoreless tie with Indiana in his other engagement.

BO McMILLIN

Pre-season gossip pointed to a strong team at Indiana, where Alvin (Bo) McMillan has a long-term contract, but the Hoosiers dropped four games and tied Nebraska.

Late last season it seemed that Dick Harlow finally had Harvard on the road back to prominence in eastern football, but the Cantabs lost four successive starts.

JIMMY PHELAN

Another strong pre-season favorite was the University of Washington, but Jimmy Phelan's Huskies could do no better than gain a tie with Idaho in five starts.

Wily Bob Zuppke was supposed to have another fine team at Illinois but the Illini got bumped by little Ohio university in their first engagment and then lost three of their next five.

Sixty-eight-year-old Pop Warner of Temple, in his 44th year of coaching, dropped two and tied one of his first five games.

Frank Dobson of Maryland suffered the worst defeat in his 30-odd years of coaching when Syracuse whipped his Terrapins 53-0. Maryland lost five of its opening six games.

POP WARNER

O. E. Hollingbery of Washington State ranks right up with Dana Bible in the front weeping row. His team also lost its first five games. Tiny Thornhill's Stanford club lost three of its first five starts. Gus Dorais of Detroit suffered three setbacks in five contests. Clark Shaughnessy at Chicago got a scoreless tie with Bradley but lost three other duels.

DANA X. BIBLE

But there has been little crying from some of the other veteran mentors—such as Jock Sutherland at Pittsburgh, Elmer Layden at Notre Dame, Bob Neyland at Tennessee, Bernie Bierman at Minnesota, and Stub Allison at California.

BIFF JONES

Buenos Aires, Argentina, will extend its subway to cover about 30 miles.

Weatherman Is Fair-Haired Boy As Race Of Mighty Approaches

BALTIMORE, Oct. 31. (AP) — The weatherman was the fair-haired boy today as the match race of the mighty, the showdown tomorrow between Seabiscuit and War Admiral, neared the zero hour of starting time on Pimlico's manicured mile and three-sixteenths of cushioned turf.

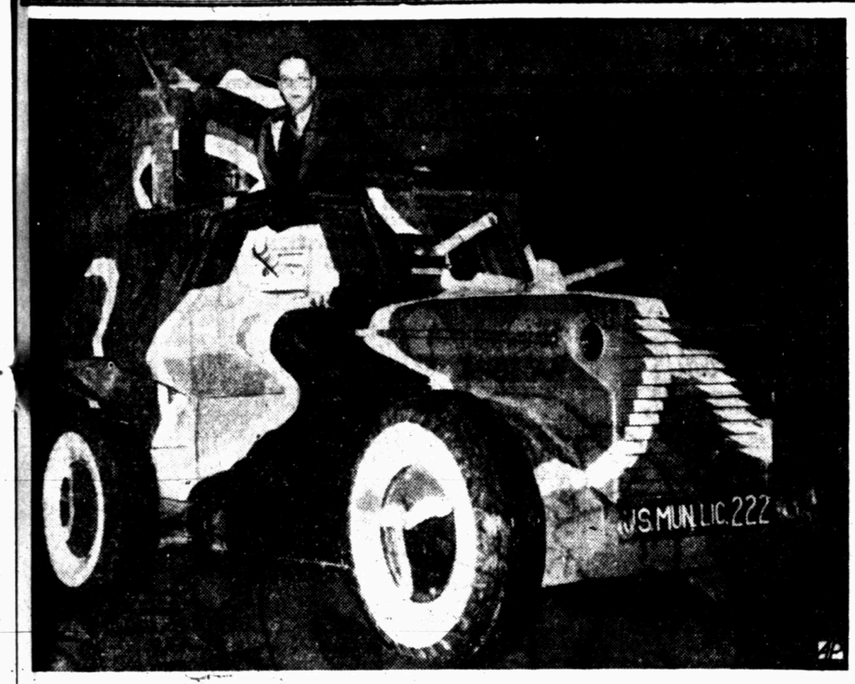

Barring a forfeiture, only one thing can postpone this oft-scheduled but never run race and that is rain between now and 8:30 tomorrow morning, when one Jervis Spencer, jr., Maryland's racing commission chairman, walks on the track for a final look-see and a momentous decision.

If he rules "it's fast," the Biscuit and the Admiral will go postward about 2:50 p. m. (C. S. T.), even though it should rain proverbial cats and dogs after the official ruling. That's in the agreement. If he rules it isn't fast, the race will be postponed until Thursday and a lot of people, about 50,000 of them, will be temporarily disappointed.

EVERY once-in-awhile readers of this column will run across a verse, or perhaps just a jingle, credited to The Plainsman's old friend Nat Campbell, who does considerable poetizing and philosophizing for the El Paso Times.

Bard Campbell, who is a retired Kansas newspaper editor now whiling away the time in the border city, writes unusually human stuff and The Plainsman, who follows him in The Times, is one of his biggest fans.

Delighted therefore were we when Saturday's mail brought a note from Nat in which was enclosed a special Hallowe'en poem. This being Hallowe'en, it ought to bring back many happy memories to oldsters—just as it did to The Plainsman. It's entitled "Old Time Hallowe'en."

* * *

Th' boys uv to-day have lot's o' fun
(That is frum what-I've seen)
But I doubt if they have th' fun we did
On th' old time Hallow-een.

We didn't have no fancy togs
Them days, as I recall;
We wa'nt dressed up, we jest went out
To have some fun—that's all.

If they wa'nt a mean dog on th' place,
Er nothin' else to hinder,
We'd allus start th' evenin' by
Tick-tackin' someone's winder.

Then we'd look fer wagons and
Fer buggies all around;
An' of course we'd take th' wheels off
Whenever one wuz found.

Speakin' uv buggy and wagon wheels,
(This wuz a funny stunt)
We'd change th' front wheels to th' back
And th' back ones to the front.

We'd tear th' old board sidewalk up
Wherever it wuz loose;
But if we saw th' marshall come
We'd all run like th' deuce.

We'd take th' undertaker's sign
(This wuz our fav'rite prank)
And never fail to hang it on
Th' front door uv th' bank.

We'd jerk th' wooden indian loose-
A-watchin' for th' cop-
And put th' old boy right in front
Uv th' millinery shop.

We'd go to th' old professor's house
'Round nine o'clock er more,
And throw a lotta shelled corn
Against his parlor door.

I remember once when we went up
And gave his door a knock,
He came out in his stockin' feet
And chased us fer a block.

And then there wuz th' little house,
You'd see all over town,
That on th' follerin' mornin' would
Be allus upside down.

We never thought uv gettin' drunk,
Like many do to-day;
Got home no later'n ten o'clock,
But had fun anyway.

BACK in the South Plains area for the time being, Harley Sadler, the world's No. 1 tent show impressario and one of West Texas leading citizens, dropped in the other day with a true story.

The yarn has to do with that almost legendary character, Mark Corbin, Artesia, N. M., hardware merchant and pioneer citizen and like all stories regarding Corbin deals with the latter's pungent and native wit. A typical Westerner, Corbin is very much on the Will Rogers style and has a habit of making dry observations which literally panic those who happen to be listening.

Harley's story about Corbin has to do with a ladies' night program staged a few years ago by the Artesia Rotary club.

Instead of offering a program studded with music and light entertainment, the Rotarian in charge dished up a very serious address. This address was given by a new and overly educated school teacher and all through his lengthy and sonorous talk the good citizens of Artesia twisted in their chairs, looked at their watches and, in general, were bored stiff.

After the affair was over and Corbin was making his way downtown, another member of the club [illegible] along beside him.

"How'd you like the meeting, Mark?" he asked.

"Well, I'll tell you," Corbin replied. "The more I see of our high-educated people the more I think we ought to treat 'em like we do the American flag."

"How's that?" asked the astonished friend.

"I think," Corbin explained, "that we ought to take 'em in after sundown!"

Harley, whose show is playing tonight and tomorrow night in Tahoka; Wednesday and Thursday nights in O'Donnell, and Friday and Saturday nights in Lamesa this week, has a large repertoire of stories dealing with Mark Corbin.

He says if the right kind of writer would go out to Artesia and spend a little time with the pioneer hardware man, he'd get enough material for a whale of a good book.

THE Plainsman went out to the Lubbock-Plainview football game the other night and was very much interested in watching the hard-fought but clean contest between the teams.

But he was even more interested in watching the young people who filled that portion of the west stands just behind him. Talk about "accent on youth" — it was there!

* * *

It has been a long time since the writer has gone to a high school football game and been seated near the rooting section.

But the other night he was almost in the "big middle" of the high school kids and he spent nearly half the game time looking up at the youngsters, rather than watching what was going on on the playing field.

* * *

YOU don't have to watch the players when you attend a high school football game.

You can get the whole picture of what's going on on the field by watching the changing expressions on the faces of the boys and girls. During the game the feelings of each tensely interested onlooker run the gamut of emotions and each pictures by facial and other expressions his joy, his gloom, his anticipation, or his disappointment.

* * *

As The Plainsman studied the youngsters and watched the cheer leaders he saw himself as he was 20 years or so ago and it occurred to him that it's too bad we can't always keep the enthusiasm of youth.

But time has a way of dulling our spirits and our appreciation of things and the older we grow the less enthusiastic we become.

Even the Tech kids — at the most only a few years older than those in the high school group —fail to throw themselves with the same abandon into the college games.

Time has begun to work on them even at their relatively tender age.

* * *

WE never know until experience and Old Pop Time start knocking at our door just what youth means to us and how, in that 'teen age period, we're eating our angel food cake — rather than our white bread!

Never after youth are we ever quite able to completely abandon ourselves to any one thing — to forget all else — to lay aside the cares and responsibilities which come with the years.

The Plainsman glories with the kids in being able to do it yet sighs over the fact that few, if any of them, realize that their capture of enthusiasm is, at best, only fleeting.

THE STORY SO FAR: Judith Goodloe, of an old Maryland family, marries self-made Reuben Oliver for his money—only to discover he is bankrupt. Twins are born. Then Reuben gets work in a lumber camp managed by Gary Brent—the man Judith loves. Judith's tent is not ready when she arrives, and Gary provides her with a cabin. When Reuben discovers this, the lid blows off. Trying to live by Judith's codes has weakened Reuben. Now he will make his own laws. Hating Gary bitterly, Reuben insists on renting the cabin from him.

Chapter 34

A Wholly Puzzling Stranger

Judith made no move to take the key to the cabin. Reuben said: "If I offended you last night, Judith, I'm sorry."

If he offended her—if—She said in grand imitation of Gran: "We were both tired."

And so as easily as that they put their quarrel behind them or rather they buried it between them in a shallow grave. Neither expected it to stay buried.

"I'll strap the bags," Reuben told her. "You put the children in the car. Easier to get breakfast at the new place."

"What about these new cots?"

"Whoever takes over the plot will probably be glad to get them." A few dollars more or less didn't matter now. He entered the tent to find his son busily trying to devour a piece of rope while his daughter did her utmost to swallow an aluminum frying pan.

He tossed his slobbering offspring as high as the tent's roof permitted. He found something very soul warming in their moist, sticky kisses and little gurgles of delight.

"Is Gary lending us the cabin?" Reuben's wife asked tactlessly.

He hated her all over again. "Do you think I'd accept such a loan?"

"But it's not for rent."

He scowled: "I'm paying $50 a month for it."

A wall of ice reared itself between them.

"Can you afford it?"

"I can't."

She knew by all the rules of the game she should say: "Then we'll stay here." But she didn't say it. She couldn't. The memory of the big inviting room, the easy chairs, fierplace, white bath was too alluring. Whatever courage she once had was lost somewhere between a freezing winter and a burning summer in Fordney's Gulch. Righteousness was lost too—the conviction that come what might, one's just debts must be paid—Cissy would have to wait. Judith longed for luxury now above all else.

"When winter comes we'll economize," she promised herself. "Go back to Casper street."

Puppet In Authority

But she knew she would never go back to Casper street. That part of her life was definitely behind her—

Alf was already in possession of the cabin when they arrived. Cereal and coffee were in the making. A great bunch of bluebells—Paradise flowers to Judith—were in the yellow bowl on the living room table. Judith had come home!

Reuben on the other hand had come to a sort of mild inferno. He resented the grinning black boy's presence. Was Brent in his high-handed way, still bent on showing Judith just what poor stick he, Reuben was, or heaping coals of fire?

Reuben wanted none of either. There never could be anything of friendship—of tolerance even, between him and Gary. They had not a thought or reaction in common. There was Judith between them too and, on Reuben's part, a very vital spark of jealousy, which had smoked sullenly since the day he asked Judith to marry him. No, there could be no friendship now or ever, and when work threw them together—?

Unerringly Reuben knew that even the semblance of peace would vanish then. He was an expert forester—Gary a puppet in authority. Reuben knew that Gary was unfit for his job. Gary knew that Reuben knew it, but he also knew that necessity had its iron heel on Reuben's neck—

With a frown Reuben dismissed all thought of Gary. Time enough to meet the trouble when he had to. There was no doubt in his mind that he would have to.

Before he went back to the woods on Monday, Reuben had found and hired a Chinese boy. Alf, grinning and garrulous, stepped out and Lu Wing, sloe-eyed and silent, stepped in.

"Now," Reuben thought grimly, "I've mortgaged myself for every dollar I make but maybe it's worth it." But he knew it wasn't worth it. Knew he was still moving with the landslide. Where?

He would not think where he would eventually crash. Time enough for that, too.

New Respect

Judith's delight in her new home would once have been heart-warming to the man who loved her despite himself. Now he watched her remotely impersonal as one watches a moving picture critical of its flaws and high spots though affected by neither.

The change in him conveyed itself to Judith. She had felt it since the moment he handed her the cabin's key. His lips had apologized then for the quarrel of the night before but the old humility that had been his since the day he had moved her from the Waldorf to a cheaper hotel was missing. The doglike, unspoken plea for her belief and patience was missing too.

Something had gone from Reuben—mysteriously gone forever. But something new had come to take its place. Judith sensed it without being able to define it. She had no way of knowing that out of the dark confusion of the night, a clarifying light had burst upon her husband, diping the blur from his vision. Giving him an almost uncanny insight into affairs as they were. Giving him back a belief in his own sense of values unclouded by the ethics of his wife.

Curiously Judith watched him as one watches a suspicious, wholly puzzling stranger and though she did not know it there was a new respect in her glance. Iron was visible in Reuben's face now—Iron and what else?

Though she searched Judith couldn't find the answer. He went back to his work and Gary came to take her riding and almost immediately Reuben receded from her thoughts until he was only a shadow in the background of her life. Joyously she reached out for each new day. Just to feel a good horse between her knees. To hear the music of clattering hoofs, the rush of early morning air in her face—to meet Gary's twinkling blue eyes—

"This is the life, Judy!"

"Old days come again, Gary."

"Old days," he echoed and knew he lied. These were not the old days of light banter and meaningless little caresses. These were new days of inarticulate tenderness. Veiled glances. Long silences too magically sweet to be broken.

Strange! In the old days Judith had ached to hear words. Hated the waiting. Now she fended to keep words from being uttered. Loved the waiting.

It was herself she feared now, not Gary.

Tomorrow: Cissy comes to visit.

PLENTY OF COTTON STORAGE SPACE

A significant statement of more than passing interest to all cotton producers of this area, is the statement that there is now available on the South Plains enough platform space for a normal cotton crop to be stored here.

Compress platforms at eight places over the territory can accommodate about 150,000 bales. Last year about 60 warehouses were built that had a capacity of that many more bales, while this year there have been projected or built over 50 more warehouses to accommodate at least 125,000 more bales.

For several years prior to last year, the normal crop of cotton in 18 counties on top of the caprock ranged between 300,000 and 400,000 bales. There were two years, 1935 and 1936, when the average was about 500,000 bales.

Storage of cotton under the government loan program is an accepted part of a program for some years to come. Farmers with cotton in the loan feel better if they know their cotton is fairly close at hand, where they can see it when they may desire to. Not that they will but that they may, if they desire, is the idea.

Construction of these warehouses has meant money spent for materials, labor, work for more men, income for owners of properties and likewise more taxes for cities, towns, school districts, counties and the state.

All in all, they represent a prize possession.

Demos And GOP's Turn Into Home Stretch With Important Governorships At Stake On Nov. 8

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—Governorships are the most important jobs at stake in the 1938 elections.

Governors control state political machines. A state machine normally is the most powerful single factor in an election. Presidential candidates will depend on state machines in 1940. Republicans have only seven governors out of 48 and hope to repair this serious weakness somewhat on November 8, especially in big eastern states which have large electoral voting strength.

Dutcher

Unable to capture either house of Congress at this time and long bereft of federal patronage in all states, the G. O. P. hopes to annex large gobs of state patronage to nourish the party. Such victories also would replenish the party's small supply of presidential timber.

If District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey defeated Gov. Herbert H. Lehman in New York, Republican hopes would soar and Democrats would be in a panic. Politicians generally would concede the G. O. P. a large chance to carry the state for President. In past years it has been held almost impossible for a presidential candidate to carry the country without carrying New York. Dewey would become a major presidential possibility.

* * *

G. O. P. Bets On Dewey

REPUBLICANS think they have a chance to elect Dewey. They think they have a chance, ranging from fair to excellent, to elect governors in the big industrial states of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Massachusetts. They have hopes in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, Oregon, Connecticut, Colorado, New Mexico, Idaho, Nebraska, Nevada and Wyoming. On the other hand, Democrats hope to annex the two most import Republican-governed states, California and Maryland.

Lehman, who has criticized Dewey's willingness to quit his prosecutor's job so soon, runs on his record. He appeals to many conservatives because his liberalism falls short of the New Deal's. Following Mayor LaGuardia's refusal to support him if he failed to endorse the Roosevelt administration, Lehman has indicated more friendship for Roosevelt aims. In a close race LaGuardia, supporting or refusing to support Lehman, may be key man. Strong efforts have been made to eliminate a previous Catholic resentment against Lehman. The governor has support of the American Labor party, the A. F. of L., strong local and federal machines and the New Deal. Consequently, his defeat would be a startling upset.

Close In Pennsylvania

PENNSYLVVANIA had almost been given up by Democrats at one point because of corruption charges against Governor George Earle's administration and a bitter split between the state machine on one hand and Senator Joe Guffey and John L. Lewis on the other. Recent reports indicate a nip-and-tuck struggle in which the Democratic nominee, Charles A. Jones, may outdistance Earle, running for senator, and beat Judge Arthur H. James, Republican candidate for governor.

James attacks the New Deal incidentally, but centers fire on to "clean up Harrisburg." Desertion of the Democratic ticket by Bob Vann, powerful leader, may give him vital help. The judge campaigns with four singers dressed as miners and refuses to quit his $18,000 seat on the bench. Democrats make hay with charges that James fronts for corporate interests and reactionary old-liners, pointing to Joseph S. Pew, oil magnate; Ernest T. Weir, steel magnate; Joseph S. Grundy, manufacturer and tariff lobbyist, and Moses Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher, as the G. O. P. state bosses. They also depend on labor, WPA voters, 50,000 state and federal jobholders, Jim Farley and Roosevelt popularity to offset reaction against Earle and his antics. There's a 1936 Roosevelt plurality 650,000 votes to overturn.

In Ohio, "mother of Presidents" and traditionally pivotal state, Republicans are confident of electing John W. Bricker over Democratic National Committeeman Charles Sawyer to succeed Governor Martin Davey, scandals of whose administration are a Democratic handicap. Bricker, young and aggressive, attacks Sawyer for "Communistic alliances" because he is backed by C. I. O. Sawyer, Cincinnati corporation lawyer and big business man, is a poor campaigner and strikes few sparks. To beat Davey by only 30,000 in the primary and Davey's machine is said to be knifing him.

The picturesque Curley was beaten by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge in the 1936 Roosevelt landslide. He has much labor and WPA support.

Republican Gov. Harry W. Nice seeks re-election in Maryland, but may be beaten by Attorney General Herbert R. O'Conor on purely state issues.

Rhode Island's Democratic Gov. Robert E. Quinn is confident of defeating William H. Vanderbilt, scion of a wealthy family, but campaigning has been apathetic since the hurricane, and Republicans may beat him with a big campaign fund.

CATTLE SALE EVERY WEDNESDAY!
PARDON US FOR LOOKING PLEASED—AND THANKS
Many dealers who have been making the sales all over the country tell us that we had the hottest horse and mule sale here Thursday that they had seen anywhere this season. We know that we owe the rapid increase in our business not only to the increasingly large number of buyers who are coming here every week but even more to you boys who are bringing us such a large volume of stock. And we thank you!
Our Wednesday cattle sale is growing mighty fast, too! Bring us your cattle this week! We'll have buyers for every kind at absolutely peak prices!
We will have about 40 mixed breed stocker cows and fifty fat calves among our cattle Wednesday.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 31 (AP) — Cotton futures opened 2 points net lower to 1 higher here today on hedging and liquidation which was partly offset by buying orders accumulated over the weekend.

December contracts at 8.66, Jan. at 8.55-B, March at 8.54, May at 8.35, July at 8.20, Oct. at 7.94, and Dec. new at 7.95-Bid.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 31 (AP)—Cotton futures opened 1 higher to 1 lower with disappointing Liverpool cables offset by trade and foreign buying.

Open Dec. 8.55, Jan. 8.46, March 8.43, May 8.24, July 8.11, Oct. 7.81.

The trade continued to absorb December liquidation while foreign buying in distant months encountered moderate hedge selling. Prices eased a few points following the opening under local selling and liquidation.

March reacted from 8.43 to 8.41, leasing quotations net unchanged to 3 points lower shortly after the first half hour.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO Oct. 31 (AP) — Awaiting uncertain weather developments in domestic drouth districts as well as November unofficial domestic crop estimates, the Chicago wheat market averaged a little lower today.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were unchanged to ¼ cent down compared with Saturday's finish, Dec. 64¾, May 66⅝-¾, corn ⅛ off to ¼ up, Dec. 45¼-45, May 48⅜, and oats ⅛-½ advanced.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 31 (AP) — Early heavy selling of rails quickly dried up in today's stock market and, with selected industrials developing quiet strength, closing prices were no worse than moderately irregular.

Business news, on the whole, was again the stimulating influence and Wall Street, after its first flush of disappointment over the wage decree, began to think in terms of government-labor cooperation to put some of the shaky railroads on their feet.

The proceedings were rather slow the greater part of the time with transfers of about 1,100,000 shares around the smallest since Oct. 4.

Markets At A Glance:

NEW YORK
STOCKS — Irregular; rails ease as industrials rise.
BONDS — Uneven; carrier loans decline.
CURB — Narrow; some utilities retreat.
FOREIGN EXCHANGE — Lower; sterling leads decline.
COTTON — Mixed; foreign demand, local selling.
SUGAR — Quiet; trade support.
COFFEE—Steady; European buying.
CHICAGO:
WHEAT — Easy; possible moisture relief.
CORN — Steady; export buying indicated.
CATTLE — Steady to 25 lower.
HOGS — Steady to 15 lower.

Deering's Execution

executioners were recruited by Sheriff S. Grant Young of Salt Lake county, their names kept a secret. They were taken to the prison in a closed car, given rifles and assigned positions behind a curtain. As soon as they fired, they left as unobtrusively as they had come.

Deering's final words as he was seated blindfolded in his chair facing his executioners less than 30 feet away were:

Thanks The Warden

"I want to thank the warden for being so damn good to me. I appreciate it. Goodbye and good luck to all of you."

Then the guards and ministers stepped back, there was an unseen signal and the five rifles cracked almost as one.

Deering was a puzzle to his guards and others who talked to him because of his steady determination to die; his utter lack of fear at his coming execution.

Demanded His Execution

Convinced there was no place in society for him after half his life time had been spent in prison, Deering demanded that the state take his life. He had served prison terms for arson at San Quentin and for burglary at Folsom, both in California.

Then he sought to make restitution by giving his body to the University of Utah. He willed his eyes to the state that any blind person might obtain the corneas for transplanting to restore sight. No one has asked for them.

Deering was captured in Detroit Aug. 1 following an intensive search throughout the West and Midwest. A gun he pawned for "three bucks" at Reno, Nev. brought about his identification and ultimate capture.

Pennsylvania Slayer Dies In Electric Chair Today

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Oct. 31 (AP) — With a prayer on his lips, Antonio Peronace, 36-year-old coal miner, paid with his life in the electric chair at Rockview penitentiary early today in expiation for the "wedding gift" slayings of his wife and father-in-law.

He was sentenced May 12, 1937 for killings his bride of six months, Mary, and her father, Vito Mariello, of Kulpmont, Pa. The execution had been postponed seven times.

Former Mississippi A. & M. Prexy

Dr. Hardy's career, after graduation from Mississippi college, began with the principalship of the Carrollton Male academy. He served as principal of the Jackson, Miss., high school, then city superintendent of schools for nine years, then president of Mississippi A. & M. college for 13 years, followed by his removal to Belton.

Under his administration, the farm informational service at Mississippi A. & M. had been developed into an agency similar to organized extension work of today.

He had been identified with several organizations. He was president of the Mississippi State Teachers association for one year; a member of the state capitol commission which supervised erection of a $5,000,000 capitol, and a member of the Southern Educational association and the American Forestry association.

His church activities included three years as president of the Baptist General convention of Texas.

Demand Probe Of Program

offices and police stations everywhere were swamped with calls from terrified people, many of them weeping.

Some reported they could smell the gas and see the flames started by the attackers.

People gathered in groups to pray for salvation.

All over the Metropolitan area, panicky persons jumped into their automobiles and headed for the open spaces to escape the hypothetical bombing of New York.

Church services here and elsewhere were broken up by intruders who screamed the world was coming to an end.

"Is it true? Were 40 killed in New Jersey? Or 7,000 in New York? Are men from Mars attacking New York with deadly other-worldly weapons and gas? Was the world coming to an end?"

There wasn't a Martian in sight and the hysteria subsided almost as quickly as it started. But listeners viewed the broadcast with mixed feelings, principally that they had been untowardly frightened and duped.

The broadcast was an adaptation of H. G. Wells' imaginative "War of The Worlds," further dramatized and enacted by Orsol Welles, the 23-year-old Broadway theatrical prodigy. Welles Americanized the locale and situations.

Four times during the program, CBS pointed out, the announcer stressed that the story was nothing but fiction.

This comforting reiteration either escaped many of those who tuned in for the full program or was lost entirely to part-time listeners or late tuners-in, for it failed to prevent a hysteria unknown to the United States since the World war.

Many of those who were blissfully listening to Charlie McCarthy's foolishness on the NBC network doubtless were caught up in the furor of neighbors dashing out of their homes, some with personal belongings, and heading for havens against invasion from an unknown foe armed with strange death-dealing implements from another and presumably hostile planet.

Welles, who startled the theater last season by portraying a caesar in modern dress with fascist leanings, was overcome by the unbelievable reaction to his presentation of the Wells thriller-turned-horrifier.

In a statement expressing "deep regret" over apprehension the broadcast caused among radio listeners, Welles said:

"Far from expecting the radio audience to take the program as fact rather than a fictional presentation, we feared that the classic H. G. Wells story, which has served as inspiration for so many moving pictures, radio serials and even comic strips, might appear too old-fashioned for modern consumption.

"We can only suppose that the special nature of radio, which is often heard in fragments, or in parts disconnected from the whole, has led to this misunderstanding," the actor-dramatist added.

His success as a terrifier was assured by last nights performance which started off with the brief preface about its being fiction. The mercury theater of the air program started out in routine fashion with announcements and a few bars of music.

Suddenly—"We interrupt our program of dance music to bring you a special bulletin. . . . Twenty minutes before eight, Professor Farrell of the Mt. Jenning observatory, Chicago, Illinois, reports several explosions of the incandescent gas occurring at regular intervals on the planet Mars."

This was the buildup for a dramatization that eventually had the Martians landing in meteor cars with the shock of an earthquake in the vicinity of Grovers Mills (fictitious locale), New Jersey . . a 30-second pause for studio music . . . Then the octopus-like Martians using the dread "heat-ray" and then, by telephone from the scene, the report of 40 persons dead there. . . . The Martians eventually succumbed to germs that we worldings are immune to.

The four cautionary announcements that it was fiction were lost and forgotten in the realism of the portrayal, in its faithful similarity of the style of the "newscasters," and in the realistic manner of breaking into regular programs with broadcasts of hot news.

Columbia declared afterward it had no intention of misleading listeners "and when it became evident that part of the audience had been disturbed by the performance, five announcements were made over the network later in the evening to reassure those listeners."

Dies' Statement

Arthur, Tex., that a grant for a Port Arthur causeway had been recommended for recision. Dies said the grant was for $335,000.

McWhorter is chairman of the Port Arthur commission.

Dies said he was prepared to establish by testimony under oath, if necessary, that the administration had used pressure to obtain time for Paul Y. Anderson, newspaper correspondent, to answer a radio address tonight in which Dies said he would discuss lack of administration cooperation with the committee.

White House Intervenes

He said that first the White House, through the office of Stephen Early, presidential secretary, had intervened and then Charles Michelson, publicity director for the Democratic national committee, and Robert Berger of the National Emergency council.

He added that the manager of the local station from which the addresses will be sent on a national hook-up had been asked to say that the station invited Anderson to speak.

Unless Michelson and Berger deny or confirm their part in arranging Anderson's speech, Dies asserted, witnesses will be brought before the house committee to establish the part they played in the arrangements.

L. W. Kemp Of Harris County Is Appointed To State Commission

AUSTIN, Oct. 31 (AP) — Governor James V. Allred has announced the appointment of L. W. Kemp of Harris county as a member of the library and historical commission of Texas for a term of six years.

The governor said Kemp, who succeeds George E. Shelley of Austin on the commission, served on the historical board several years ago and has played an important part in preserving and bringing before the public authentic facts of Texas history.

Less Than Half Million Votes Indicated In General Election

AUSTIN, Oct. 31 (AP) — Extremely slow absentee voting throughout the state indicates less than a half million Texans will cast ballots in the general election eight days hence.

Although voting of those who won't be at home on election day had been in progress for ten days, no county had received more than a handful of votes. Absentee balloting will continue through this week.

New Records Made In Junk Car Derby

Three old records went into the discard at the "hell's half-acre" automobile track yesterday as the Southwestern championship series for junk car drivers got under way.

Dave Childers, one of the most daring drivers ever to put a tire on the track, came through for first place, and Brown of Amherst followed Houston across the final tape for third place.

Brown's car caught fire 10 laps before the finish, but he stayed mounted and the blazing automobile finished third.

The lap record of 40¼ seconds was brought down to 36¾ seconds, and a new 10 lap record was established.

Third new record established Sunday was attendance, largest crowd of all time coming out to see the start of the championship series. Promoter Dick Tate estimated a crowd of nearly 2,500 persons.

Tate said that the championship junk car driver of Oklahoma had wired he was unable to be here yesterday, but that he would compete next Sunday. Drivers from Wichita Falls and Big Spring also have entered their cars for the second in the series.

Crosbyton Youth Is Charged In Rape Of Young Texas Tech Co-Ed

Twenty-year-old James Ellison of Crosbyton Sunday afternoon posted $1,500 bail after being bound over to await grand jury action on a charge of having raped a young Texas Technological college coed.

Th 19-year-old girl said the youth picked her up on Eighteenth street and, under pretense of planning to take her to her boarding place on Tenth street, drove her to a spot near Parris baseball field.

The girl's parents live in a nearby South Plains city.

The charge was filed in the court of S. E. McMillan, justice of peace, and Ellison's arrest was at Crosbyton by Grady Harrist, Lubbock deputy sheriff, and Don Reeder, chief of police.

PIONEER PHYSICIAN DIES

SHERMAN, Oct. 31. (AP)—Funeral services were planned here today for Dr. Otto Carl Ahlers, 66, practicing physician for 40 years, who died Saturday. He had served on the city council, the city planning commission and the city zoning board.

Wells Says It Was "Implicit" In Agreement About Broadcasts

LONDON, Oct. 31 (AP)—H. G. Wells, whose "War of The Worlds" furnished the basis of the broadcast which spread alarm in the United States last night, said today that it was "implicit" in the agreement for selling the radio rights that any broadcast would clearly "be fiction and not news."

The novelist added that he gave no permission whatever for alterations which might lead to the belief that the broadcast material was real news.

Calls Made At San Antonio But No Hysteria Reported

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 31. (AP)—The dramatization of H. G. Wells' "War of the Worlds" brought between 400 and 500 telephone calls to the radio broadcasting station which handled the program locally, it was announced this morning. Hysteria, which was reported to have gripped eastern listeners, largely was lacking here, it was reported.

Judge Drops ... To Plead For Son

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 31. (AP)—Stern-faced Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer dropped his judicial robes today to plead for leniency and a parole for his errant son, Phil, serving 25 years for slaying his socialite chum, John Gorrell, at Tulsa four years ago.

With all the earnestness of a defendant who might appear before him, Judge Kennamer told the state's unofficial pardon and parole board Mrs. Kennamer was stricken with a serious illness and needed her son's companionship.

"On the advice of physicians," said Judge Kennamer as he sat with folded hands before the board, "I planned to take her to Arizona.

"But she doesn't want to go at all as long as Phil is in prison. I'm just asking any immediate relief the board can give me so the boy can go with her."

As this dramatic aftermath of the sensational Kennamer case was being enacted, young Kennamer himself remained in McAlester penitentiary at his clerk's desk in the warden's office.

On hand to protest clemency was Dr. John Gorrell, sr., Tulsa dentist, father of the youth who was shot to death in a street in an exclusive Tulsa residential district Thanksgiving night of 1934.

Rice Institute Grid Star Is In Critical Condition In Hospital

HOUSTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—Dr. Hugh Welch, Rice institute team physician, today revealed that Jack (Red) Vestal, star blocking back of the Institute football team, was critically ill in a hospital.

Vestal, a junior, whose home is in Sherman, Texas, went to the hospital last week in a critical condition, Dr. Welch said. The football player was injured in scrimmage before Rice's first game of the season and the doctor said X-rays showed he had a broken vertebrae in his back but the injury might have been an old one.

Vestal removed himself from the Rice-Oklahoma game because he felt weak from the injury, Dr. Welch said.

Pumpkin Planner Profits From 'Moulded Pumpkins'

By NEA Service

MADISON, O., Oct. 31.—There are some mighty queer looking pumpkins growing in the backyard of John Czeszcziczki, nurseryman and landscape gardener.

But they're pumpkins calculated to bring joy to the hearts of youngsters as Hallowe'en, with its pranks and parties, approaches.

Each year, for four years, this northeastern Ohio town has looked forward eagerly about this time to the latest Czeszcziczki "molded pumpkin" creations—pumpkins with features of notables in public life, of death's heads, of just ordinary people—all designed to give the traditional Hallowe'en Jack O'Lantern a new lift.

Catch 'em while they're young is the basic rule in growing "planned pumpkins" says Mr. Czeszcziczki. An aluminum, two-part mask of whatever facial form desired is placed over the unsuspecting and helpless pumpkin at an early age. In about three weeks the two halves are removed and there looking up at you is your closest friend or favorite movie actress, a la pumpkin. Imagine Garbo in pumpkin pie, or Gable lighted up with a candle.

It's a very successful business, too. Pumpkin Planner Czeszcziczki sells his special pumpkins at good prices, has achieved something approaching national fame.

N. B.—Mr. Czeszcziczki calls himself Mr. "CZ," for obvious reasons.

Nurseryman Czeszcziczki casts pumpkins in the classic mold as well as the grotesque. This handsome fellow sits atop just a plain old pumpkin—but a 50-pound prize winner at three farm fairs.

"Alas, poor Yorick," might be appropriate lines for this scene, where Mr. Czeszcziczki holds a death's head pumpkin. Lower, two views of the skull mask. Left, a front exterior, and right, an interior.

Machines Not To Be Used

(By The Associated Press)

Probability that Texas governmental units involved will use paper ballots instead of automatic machines in November's general election was seen today as counties which own machines checked up on the ruling of the sixth court of civil appeals at Texarkana.

In answer to an appeal from Gladewater, Gregg county, the court last week decided that use of machines which failed to number ballots as they were cast was unconstitutional.

To headline reaction from the court's decision, Dallas county commissioners' court announced that the county's $180,000 worth of machines would be kept in storage and that bids would be received for 115,000 paper ballots.

Gregg county's Democratic executive committee recommended unanimously to commissioners' court that paper ballots be used; but County Judge Perry R. Meredith, defeated in the first primary for reelection, announced that no meeting of commissioners to consider the party recommendation has been scheduled.

Attorneys at Austin said that the "safest" thing for counties to do in view of the Texarkana decision is to use paper ballots.

A comparatively new Texas law attempted to give counties the right to install voting machines. Dallas and Gregg counties are among the pioneers in the movement.

The state supreme court is expected eventually to pass on the question of whether the machines are legal.

Brownwood Game Warden Comes To Defense Of Roadrunner; Ticks Found In Stomach

AUSTIN, Oct. 31 (AP)—To the defense of the maligned roadrunner, also known as chaparral cock, came Game Warden O. F. Etheredge of Brownwood today.

Of crimes attributed to the fleet-footed bird which is famed as a deadly adversary of the rattlesnake, not the least is that it destroys quail nests, eating both the eggs and young.

But Warden Etheredge reported the roadrunner is beneficial as well as harmful.

He analyzed the stomach contents of one bird and found, among other things, 250 ticks.

He Couldn't Answer This One So He Gave Patrolman Ticket

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 31. (AP)—Traffic Patrolman G. H. Volkert was giving a ticket to a motorist for driving with a burned out headlight when Traffic Patrolman Harry K. Poolei drove by in a police car without a headlight.

"How come you tag me and no him?" the motorist asked.

Volkert went after the police car—gave the patrolman a tag.

Beware The Cough

From a common cold

That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your common cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you may get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements found in many cough remedies, such as Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, and fluid extract of Licorice Root, but it also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect, and most important of all, Beechwood Creosote nicely blended with all of these so that it will reach the source of the trouble from the inside.

Thousands of people, who really know their drugs, use Creomulsion in their own families, realizing that this excellent preparation aids nature to soothe the inflamed mucous membranes, to heal the irritated tissues, and to loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion "tops" for coughs because in it you get a good dose of Creosote emulsified so that it is palatable, and may be taken frequently by both adults and children with remarkable results.

Creomulsion is generally found satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritation, especially those stubborn ones due to common colds that hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Don't worry through another sleepless night—use Creomulsion. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained.

Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product, and the relief you want. (Adv.)
