Legal Authorities Speakers At LWV Convention, Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — A statewide convention of the League of Women Voters was held Tuesday night in Dallas. The convention was held at the Sheraton Hotel and was the largest ever held in Texas. The League of Women Voters is a national organization of women who are interested in public affairs and in the improvement of government.

The research program, backed by the Women Voters' League, was authorized by state lawmakers in 1957 and funds were approved for the project in 1959. Storey, former dean of the SMU law school, called for removal of "deadwood" as the initial step.

The Texas ship of state is still drifting a long way from the sea. Seaberry told the women voters to spend time on the highways and highways, telling people of plans for constitutional revision.

Gossett, former congressman and general counsel for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., said Texas lawyers agree something must be done to the cumbersome document but just what changes raise controversy.

"I feel this problem should be handled piecemeal instead of making drastic changes at once," he said. Gossett added that the governor should be given more power.

"In doing so, he could appoint chiefs of numerous agencies, make them responsible to him and reduce expenses and make our government more efficient," Gossett suggested.

MRS. H. M. HIGGINS

Snyderite Has Enjoyed Same Hobby For 45 Years

By KAYE POPE
Hobbies come and go for many people, but Mrs. H. M. Higgins, who lives at 1710 Twenty-eighth Street, we think, has set a record.

Born in Coalgate, Okla., on March 15, 1885, she moved to Texas in 1900, then from Fort. Worth to Scurry County in 1919 and has lived here ever since. She married Mr. Higgins Oct. 5, 1913, at Arton, in Dickens County. To this union were born six children, four of them are living. Mr. Higgins died last year.

We can remember our grandmother telling us years ago that "busy hands are happy hands" and Mrs. Higgins has certainly proven this true. A very pleasant person with her ever-ready smile and a knack of making a stranger feel completely at home in the first moments of visiting.

Her perfection in needlework, whether it be crocheting, knitting, embroidering or quilting is astounding. She is shown above quilting her 79th quilt in 17 months. The 78th one is in the background.

When asked what she does with all of them, she laughed and replied, "Oh, I give them away to my sisters, children, grandchildren and friends." She has a record of giving away 175 quilts in 45 years and 20 of them in the last year.

"I was not able to do much quilting for a time, my mother lived here in this little house and I took care of her, space would not allow the quilting frames, but mother (Mrs. Ora Page) passed away Oct. 23, 1958, so I took her little house as my quilting room. I put the first one in Nov. 4 and have had one in the frames ever since. If I finish one around noon anytime, I always have another in by evening. The one here, (in picture) is a flower-garden and has 1456 pieces in it. The one in the background is a string star."

She pieced many tops while tending her mother. Although there was a sewing machine in the room, all of her quilts are completely hand made, and each little point of each little block was in perfection.

She embroidered 40 pair of pillow cases in 1958, and of the 35 crocheted chair sets she has made, she has one set. When she told us that she also liked to knit, we supposed she meant sweaters and the like, but to our amazement she showed us it was lace and

Ike Looking For Different Kind Of Summit Conference

Editor's Note: At his news conference Wednesday, President Eisenhower expressed some ideas on how to accomplish things at a summit conference. John M. High, staff writer, reports on the conference and various other international conferences, discusses these ideas in the following interpretive article.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is looking forward to a different kind of summit conference at Paris next May. He wants some sessions to provide for strictly private conversations among himself, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain, French President Charles de Gaulle and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The President's interest in getting the Big Four to "explore each other's minds" emerged at his news conference Wednesday. His statements to reporters also developed another intriguing prospect for the future.

The Eisenhower administration seems destined to become increasingly in its closing months a kind of caretaker government. Eisenhower did not use any such term as that but in replying to a question about the possibility of a second summit conference late this year, he noted that more and more questions would arise about his ability to make commitments running beyond the end of his term next January.

At the same time, however, he left no doubt that if a crisis should arise he intends to take whatever measures are necessary to meet the situation.

Whether the President has already discussed with his aides or the Big Four his ideas about the nature of the talks to be held at Paris was not clear. But it seemed almost certain that this had been one of the many matters he discussed with Macmillan at Camp David early this week. Macmillan left Washington Wednesday night. During the summit conference at Paris and Eisenhower's subsequent visit to Moscow in June major attention especially abroad will still be focused on Eisenhower's views, as shown by his own sense of limitation in dealing with the future may be.

But Eisenhower's own concept probably means that at the Paris conference he will be looking for ways to solve only the more immediate East-West problems and in such a way that there would be little doubt of his successors' interest in carrying on.

Whether from a practical point of view there are such possibilities with respect to the long deadlocked issues of German reunification, the future of West Berlin and the major problems of disarmament, is a serious question which only the four men at the summit can answer.

It seems likely that another effect of the terminal date of the President's powers may be to inhibit the administration from embarking on any bold new course or trying any fundamentally new initiative in negotiations with the Soviet Union.

The last summit conference was held at Geneva in 1955. At that time Eisenhower could see a long time ahead in which to carry out his plans and commitments. It was there that he proposed the open skies plan for mutual aerial inspection of the two great powers. Nothing came of it but if the Soviet Union had accepted the idea on the spot Eisenhower would have been able to set it into operation.

The meetings at Geneva were larger than those the President would like to see at least on some occasions at Paris.

While the leaders of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union met informally at Geneva and sometimes talked casually over a drink, their business discussions were all held in the presence of at least some of their advisers.

Eisenhower deplored this kind of arrangement Wednesday, saying that when the meetings are held in a room crowded with people the four leaders are "talking at everybody else instead of talking with them, they are talking to their own constituents, doing as good a propaganda job as they can."

What he prefers is "four men sitting around the table with their interpreters and, without anybody having any checks of any kind, (trying) to see if they can, by exploring each other's minds (find out) what do you really want to do? what could we do?"

One speculation is that this kind of a meeting will in fact be arranged by De Gaulle who is also understood to favor small private sessions of the Big Four. He may take Eisenhower, Macmillan and Khrushchev to his chateau at Rambouillet, many miles outside Paris, for a part of the meeting at the summit.

Whether in the end the four men will go without their foreign ministers is debatable, however. This kind of highly informal talk among individuals who are accustomed to having other people keep their records and record their conversations for them gives diplomats the jitters.

The situation could easily lead to misunderstandings later on and the probability is that on the part of the Western powers, at least, the advisers will urge their leaders to have their foreign ministers present.

Donna Duvrak, 14, is shown here with the .22 target pistol she used to shoot her friend, Bobby Whitford, at school.

ALICE, Tex. (AP)—Donna Duvrak slept restlessly. Finally she awoke at 2 a.m., tormented by fears for a friend's life. She slipped through her darkened home to where the family kept a .22 target pistol. She put it in her school bag.

On Wednesday she arose from her seat in the back of a classroom at Dubose Junior High and shot and killed Bobby Whitford, 15, sitting 25 feet away at the front of the class.

This was the story the petite, blonde 14-year-old told Deputy Sheriff Bob Miller and reporters.

Friends called the girl quiet when with people, but tomboyish. She is an expert with firearms.

Her lawyer, Homer Dean Jr., issued a statement that "in her 14-year-old mind" the girl thought she "did the right thing in protecting a friend."

Donna's story related that young

Whitford and Kate McCoy, 15, dated for a time. Then Kate broke off the romance. Whitford went to the McCoy home and declared, "If Kate won't go out with me, she won't go out with anyone."

Pulitzer Prize Winner To Speak At Press Assn. Meet

AMARILLO (AP) — Reiman (Pat) Morin, two-time Pulitzer Prize-winning special correspondent for the Associated Press, will address the Associated Press Assn. here April 9.

Morin's acceptance was announced today by S. B. Whittenburg, publisher of the Amarillo Globe-Times. The association's 51st annual convention will be held April 7-9 at the Herring Hotel.

An Associated Press staff member since 1934, Morin has headed the AP bureaus in Tokyo, Paris and Washington. He has traveled the world for the news service reporting events ranging from the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II to the Korean conflict.

He was among the first correspondents at the front in Korea, where his reporting earned him a 1951 Pulitzer Prize. His accounts of school integration troubles at Little Rock won him a second Pulitzer Prize in 1958.

Morin was on a roving assignment in the Far East when Japan attacked Pearl Harbor. He was interned in 1942. China and during his imprisonment by the Japanese was accused of espionage. He was held the charge would be dropped if he would make propaganda broadcasts for Japan. He refused, was imprisoned for months, and was emancipated and worn when released in 1942.

Morin has been a high-level executive for the Associated Press but prefers the calling of a reporter. To encourage more young people to take up reporting he has written a six-part series currently appearing in Editor & Publisher, newspaper trade magazine. The series describes some of his most exciting experiences.

As soon as Morin recovered from his imprisonment by the Japanese he volunteered for more foreign assignments and went to London, Africa, Italy, Paris, Korea and other trouble spots.

Major activities of the association's first convention day will include the president's annual address by Wayne Lanham of the Berger News Herald.

Speakers on April 8 will include Roy Appleton Jr., general manager of the Denton Record-Chronicle, W. E. Garets, head of the Texas Tech Department of Journalism, will moderate a panel on "We've Learned About Newspapering." Three Texas Tech journalism students will make up the panel.

Olin E. Hinkle, professor of journalism at the University of Texas, will speak April 9.

Ballin' New Man Of Hour In Brazil

By ROMAN JIMENEZ

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Ricardo Balbin, a colorful political veteran, is Argentina's new man of the hour and a likely presidential candidate again in 1964.

Balbin's People's Radical party soundly trounced President Arturo Frondizi's Intransigent Radicals in the midterm congressional elections Sunday.

Frondizi came out with a small majority in the House of Deputies, thanks to holdovers who were not up for re-election, but the government party's popular votes was swamped by vote for Balbin's forces and the blank ballots cast by adherents of the outlaw Peronist and Communist parties.

Balbin, eyes glittering behind rimless glasses, says he is not too happy about the victory—with more campaign funds and less government interference, his party could have done better.

Balbin, 55, is the father of three children, a longtime foe of ex-dictator Juan Peron and a former friend of Frondizi.

Balbin was the old Radical party's presidential candidate and Frondizi his running mate in 1951. Peron beat them soundly. Internal differences split the Radicals in 1954. There have been reports that the two factions might reunite, for Peronism remains a constant threat. More blank ballots were cast in the congressional elections than for either of the Radical groups.

Balbin in a post-election interview was silent on prospects for reunite.

He said the election results were a reaction against an "unpopular economic program," the belt-tightening austerity Frondizi launched in December 1958. Balbin said the program runs counter to what Frondizi and his party offered in the 1958 presidential race.

Both Frondizi and Economic Minister Alvaro Alsogaray have said the election results would not change the economic policy.

The economic program "has brought about a real burden for the people," Balbin declared, and should be changed to pacify the country.

Fines Are Assessed In County Court

Three persons charged with swindling were returned to Snyder for trial in county court this week. Members of the sheriff's department brought Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Moore from Newton and R. J. Pate from Wichita Falls to answer charges of swindling with worthless checks.

Moore was fined $100 and costs and charges against his wife were dismissed. B. J. Pate was fined $25 and costs.

Also fined in county court this week was Minnie Lee Johnson who was fined $100 and costs for transporting intoxicating beverages in a dry area.

Six Youths Will Join Navy Band

Selected for the honor are Philip Smartt, alto saxophone; Ray Lashaway, baritone saxophone; Bill Patterson, baritone horn; Charles Easterwood, snare drummer; Fred Reynolds, alto clarinet; and Glen Thompson, trombone.

The matinee performance is set for 3 p.m. Saturday in the high school auditorium. The U. S. Navy Band will appear again at 8 p.m. for the Scurry Concert Assn.

Tim Dennis, president of the association, reminded that Scurry Concert Assn. season tickets will not be honored at the matinee, since that is a special performance. However, only those who have concert association tickets will be admitted to the evening performance at 8 p.m.

Fired Monitor Of Union To Appeal

By JOE F. KANE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawrence T. Smith, fired after he refused to resign as a court-appointed Teamsters Union monitor, says he will appeal his ouster to the U. S. Court of Appeals.

Smith said he knew of "no conceivable reason" for his dismissal and added he could be removed only for cause. He has been voting against Monitor Chairman Martin F. O'Donoghue on methods for cleaning up the Teamsters Union headed by James R. Hoffa.

U. S. Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts Wednesday ordered Smith's immediate removal as a monitor. He gave no reason, but said he acted after Smith rejected the judge's request that he resign.

Smith, a New York attorney, has taken the position that the monitors were focusing almost all their attention on steps aimed at removing Hoffa from the union's presidency.

Smith contended that as a result the monitors have neglected other work—especially complaints from union members about the way their officials have conducted union affairs. He said O'Donoghue's methods "will let Hoffa and the worst hoodlums escape justice."

O'Donoghue, who declined comment on Smith's ouster, has maintained that the monitors can accomplish little until Hoffa is out of office.

Letts has set a civil trial for April 27 to determine whether Hoffa should be removed from office on the grounds he allegedly has "misused union funds. Smith joined O'Donoghue in bringing the charges but voted against O'Donoghue.

Snyder photographer, Chuck Wolfe, was informed this week that three of his natural color prints had been selected to be hung at the Southwest Photographers Association annual convention in Fort Worth.

One of the pictures, Ferris Wheel, has been pre-arranged for the national convention. The other two pictures are a formal portrait of Terri Alexander, seated at the piano in her home and a wedding scene dramatically done in silhouette.

Burn Victim Goes To Galveston Hospital

Burn victim, Vicente Becerra, was flown yesterday to the John Sealy Hospital in Galveston for treatment.

The 27 year old woman received third degree burns over a large portion of her body March 24 when accumulated butane gas exploded at the Becerra home on the Horace Eiland farm Northwest of Snyder. Also burned were her father, Leonard, and brother, Frank, who were released from Cogdell Memorial Hospital this week. A five year old sister escaped injury in the blast. Five other children were away at school.

FREDDY FLIPPING

Tigers Lock Horns With Steers Here

Snyder's Tigers will be trying to corral the Big Spring Steers here this afternoon in Towle Park in a make-up contest which was previously "frozen out".

Game time for the non-district get-together is 4:15. Freddy Miller, Tiger right hander will be laying a perfect work load, record on the line in today's game, as he has been credited with a pair of wins, and has yet to be charged with a loss. In a previous game against the Steers, Miller held them in check while shutting them out on six hits, 5-0. His other victory came in relief, as the Tigers' downed Lubbock, Monterey, 10-0.

As a team, Snyder is 7-5-1 for the year, while Big Spring is 5-6. In the Steers' latest outing against Levelland they squeezed by the Lobos, 5-4, the win representing the second of the year for Big Spring over that nine. Those two defeats are the only ones suffered this season by the Levellanders.

The Tigers have thus far had Big Spring "eating out of their hands", as they have won out by impressive scores of 4-1, 8-0, and 9-0 in the three meetings of the two teams.

The Longhorn mound choice is not definitely known at present, but it is probable that Jay LeFevre will get the nod to take the hill.

Other Steer starters include Jimmy Roger, catcher; Donnie Everett first base; Coy Mitchell, second; Jimmy Kinman, shortstop; Jerry Dunlap, third; and Alf Cobb, Bob Andrews, and Jack Irons, outfielders.

Behind the plate for the Tigers will be Ronnie Wylie, with Bonnie Greenfield holding down the initial sack. Steve Free on second, Spencer Dyer at short, Bubba Fleming on third, Jerry Guthrie in left field, Mike Moffett, center, and Franklin Moore, right.

Today's game will mark the first of four in which the locals will participate in the next three days. They will be in Big Spring tomorrow for a return shot at the Steers, then host Midland Saturday in a double header.

Between You And Me

By Jerry Jackson

A dusty old Chinese proverb, duly translated from a hieroglyphic-spattered slab of fossiliferous limestone, reads something like this: "In national pastime, it is said that pitchers are not hitters and vice versa."

Well, you know how Chinese people talk... sort of backwards, forwards, and cross-grain. What the little guy was trying to say when he blipped out his Message to Humanity was that pitchers aren't supposed to be hitters.

The proverb has been proven time and again over the years. Pitchers just aren't EXPECTED to be able to hit in this day and age.

and very few are those who can even "hit their weight", much less lead in any slugging departments.

Tiger batting statistics show the exact opposite to be true. Through games to date, two of the three batting leaders are hurlers, with left-handed Ronnie Jones heading up the pack with a strapping .429 average. Spencer Dyer, a shortstop, is next in line with .341, while pitcher Norman Gladson represents a close third at .333.

It might be argued that such a phenomenon is coincidental, and be forevermore stashed in the "Just - One - Of - Those - Things" file. Not in the case at hand, though.

They're Aiming For The Fences

NEITHER JONES NOR GLADSON have had to rely on scratch singles or blooper hits in compiling their most respectable averages. Half of Jones' singles have been of the extra-base variety, as he has marked up two doubles and a triple. Gladson? Two of his seven safeties were for multiple bases, while he can boast of five RBI's to show for his efforts.

His one-for-seven won't lead the league, but that sole hit of his was a mighty one—a tremendous blast which cleared the Towle Park barrier and helped to boost the Tigers into a 7-7 tie with Odessa a couple of weeks ago.

Any ball hit over the Towle Park fence is a well-earned homer, as the distances in every direction from home plate rival those of practically any ball park in the nation with the possible exception of the New York Giants' one-time habitat, the Polo Grounds.

And Keep Them Hosses Outa Here!

FOR, as the name implies, the Polo Grounds were probably erected with polo in mind rather than baseball, as the boxy amphitheater gave a grotesque touch to the New York baseball scene, what with its far-reaching fences wandering in every direction—some as much as 500 feet from home plate. Once, back in '54, a Giant outfielder got lost hustling after a deep fly ball off the bat of Stan Musial. They never did find the guy.

Which is grossly irrelevant and almost gory. But, as brought out, Towle Park has yet to see a fluke homer. Gladson's included.

Black Hawks Trying To Avoid Shutout

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Black Hawks try to pick themselves off the floor tonight and avoid a complete shutout by the Montreal Canadiens in the Stanley Cup hockey semifinal playoffs.

Coach Dies At 42

AUSTIN (AP)—Eddie Collins, 42, head coach of Huston-Tillotson College here, died Tuesday night of a heart ailment.

The Canadiens, striving for an unprecedented fifth straight cup title, have taken the first three games and can sew up the best-of-seven series with a sweep by winning at the Chicago Stadium tonight.

Collins, a member of the coaching staff for 12 years, had been head coach in all sports since 1952.

That would pit them against the winner of the Toronto-Detroit series, which now is locked 2-2 and resumes Saturday on the Maple Leafs' home ice.

The Baltimore Colts of the National Football League intercepted 40 passes during the 1959 season, nearly twice as many as the runner-up Pittsburgh Steelers and New York Giants.

Gil Hodges of the Los Angeles Dodgers has hit 20 or more home runs for the past 11 seasons.

BOWLING SCORES

In recent Couples League bowling play, Rainbow Market continued to ride high in the standings, as it retained its six-point advantage over second place Holt Music Co.

As a team, Tenpens slipped by Rainbow for high series laurels, rolling 1866 to their 1835, with Stewart's Service being third high with 1790.

Rainbow copped high honors, however, that team's 666 edging out Tenpens' 663 and Stewart's 620.

Pete Howard (Tenpens) turned in the high individual series of 370 followed by Jim Tatum of Rainbow, who had 354, and Fuman Gumpf (Okies), who rolled 344.

Hotter than a pistol, Howard rolled the two top lines of the evening, his 220 and 205 being topers. Gumpf and Gene Green (Okies) deadlocked for the third slot with 203 each.

Johnnie Tipping of Eastman Oil had the high women's series of 454, followed by Nancy Harrison (Holt), who garnered a 433, and Betty Tatum (Rainbow), who turned in a 426.

Betty Tatum's 188 was good for the women's high line, while pressing her in that department were Johnnie Tipping (162) and Nancy Harrison (156).

In the splits picked up category, Bert Howard of Tenpens clipped off the 2-7, and Rainbow's Joyce Green laid low the 3-10.

Current standings read as follows:

	Won	Lost
Rainbow Market	39	21
Holt Music Co.	33	27
Tenpens	30	30
Eastman Oil	29	31
Okies	25	35
Stewart's Service	23	37

Wynn Sidelined By Attack Of Gout

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—An attack of the gout probably will keep pitcher Early Wynn off the Chicago White Sox traveling squad leaving here today for San Juan.

The Sox joined Philadelphia for the trip to San Juan for a three-game weekend series opening Friday night.

Wynn reported the chronic ailment has settled in his left hip and thigh. He was treated by a physician Wednesday.

Army Coach Plans To Stress Running

By HUGH FULLERTON JR., Associated Press Sports Writer WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—Army's football coaches hope to expand and exploit their lonely and offense next fall to a greater extent than ever before, even though they won't have the stars who made it work for the past two years.

The simplest way to put it is that we're going back to a running attack more than we have in the past two years.

"We have some new ideas we are going to try—to take advantage of the running situations the formation offers."

Hall wasn't just being modest when he used the pronoun "we." Ever since his predecessor, Earl Blak, convinced his staff of the feasibility of this radical move of setting an end far apart from the rest of the team and not even bringing him into the huddle, the entire Army staff has been contributing fresh ideas on how to make the most of the formation.

Hall still looks unbelieving when he talks about last season, his first as head coach. Bob Anderson, a great running back, hurt a knee in the second game and never fully recovered. Steve Waldrop was injured in the third game. The first three fullbacks all went out. Hall counted 28 major injuries—and he doesn't call them "major" unless the player misses two games.

"In a way it was a blessing because it forced us to play a lot of fresh young kids. They got some experience they wouldn't have had if the others weren't injured," Hall said.

Those are the ones Hall is counting on this year to replace such stars as Anderson, quarterback Joe Caldwell, Bill Carpenter, the lonely end, and Don Ury, his sociable counterpart. Nine places on the first two teams must be filled.

JIMMY MARONEY
Eyes Amarillo Relays

It's "back on the warpath" for the Snyder High track team of Coach Jim Stehley this evening as they pull up stakes and head for the wheat country. Destination is Amarillo, with the Amarillo Relays the ripe plum waiting to be picked. The Bengal boys will depart Snyder at 8 this evening spending the night and Friday night in the Panhandle city, the relays action taking place Friday and Saturday.

The Tigers will be prepping for the District 3-AAA meet which will be held here the weekend following (April 9), and will be at full strength with the exception of dash man John Weaver. Weaver will not make the Amarillo trip due a leg injury, but it is thought he will be ready to go at a full clip in the district meet. He is one of the top Black and Golders in the 440 and mile relays and the 220 dash.

In a Tuesday practice triangular meet at Big Spring against Big Spring High and Howard County Junior College, Snyder's Percy Woolever, breezed to first place finishes in both the high and low hurdle events, his low time being 19.5 and his high finish reading 14.9. He is an ever-present threat in those events, and should pick up several points at Amarillo as a result of his running of same.

Maroney clips off 9.9.

Also, the Tigers' Jimmy Maroney was a third place finisher in the 100-yard dash at the practice session, as he was clocked out at 9.9. He fell victim to a pair of speed merchants, however, in the forms of the Steers' R. L. Lasater and Howard County's Jim Bob Thomas, both of whom stepped off a wicked 9.5. In two runnings of the 440-yard relay, the Tigers came in second behind Big Spring on both occasions, with Howard County running third.

Woolever, who runs a leg of the 440 and high jumps in addition to his hurdling feats, is expected to be the man who should garner the bulk of the Snyder points at Amarillo, while dangerous Maroney posed a threat in a variety of events including the 440 relay, the 100 and 220 yard dashes, and the broad jump.

The local 440 relay team should place high, with Woolever, Maroney, Jess Crawford, and Mike Morris carrying the baton. Morris will be substiting for the injured Weaver in that event.

Minton in Weights

In the field events, Tommy Minton looks like the most likely prospect to pick up points, as he heaves the shot and throws the discus. In addition, Perry Culwell could cop the pole vault events, having come close on several occasions in previous meets.

Other boys making the trip, along with their specialties, include: Mike Bailey—440 dash, mile relay; Wayne Berry—High hurdles, mile relay; Bobby Brown—Pole vault; Crawford—440 relay, 100 yard dash, low hurdles; Alex Cross—440 dash, mile relay; Billy Harless—220 dash, mile relay; Billy Tarter—Mile run; Bill Weaver—Shot put, discus; Bobby Wilson—Mile run; Morris—440 relay, broad jump. Also making the trip is Billy Andrews, the team manager.

Oriole Farmhand Pounding Apple

By JIM KENSIL

At age 18, Dave Nicholson pocketed $102,000 and the keys to a new car. Then he left his St. Louis home to play baseball for the Baltimore Orioles, he hoped.

That was in 1938, and the husky bonus outfielder still hasn't won a job with anyone.

First it was Knoxville, then down to Class A Wilkes, N.C. and finally to Dublin, Va. of the Class D Georgia State League in 1938. He started 1939 at Double A Amarillo, but after 13 games he was hitting only .222 and it was on to Aberdeen of the Northern League where he finished out the season with a .288 average, 35 home runs and 114 runs batted in.

Now the 20-year-old right-handed power hitter is at Miami in training with the Orioles, and he seems to be closer than ever to Baltimore.

In an exhibition game against the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday, Nicholson homered, singled and had three runs batted in, although the Orioles lost 12-9.

Pitcher Don Newcomb batted 305 in 61 games for the Cincinnati Reds in 1939.

STILL RULER OF THE ROOST

Entry Suggested In Contest To Select Silliest U. S. Law

By INEZ ROBB

If a qualified jury were asked to choose the silliest law in the whole, jerry-built Federal tax structure, it would be hard put to select the really ultimate lulu. However, I have a nomination; the majestic statute that now forbids anyone, between the ages of 65 and 72 and receiving Social Security, to earn in excess of $1,200 annually. Any senior citizen with the give-up-and-go to earn in excess of $1,200 is penalized by cuts in or loss of his Social Security benefits. Now Senator Clinton P. Anderson (D., N.M.), former Secretary of Agriculture, has introduced a bill that would permit willing and able elders to earn $2,000 annually before the penalties set in. Well, I respect the Senator for trying to up the ante, but I wish he had tried for a goal instead of a place kick. It is not only silly but cruel and unfair to restrict the earning power of any free American citizen who is willing to roll up his sleeves and pitch-in. It is a crazy infringement on the guaranteed liberties of the citizen to tell him what he can or can't earn, or how much he can't work. Or to restrict him to a bare livelihood on the subsistence level that Social Security provides. Social Security is not a gift or a free will offering of the Federal government. Those who receive Social Security have, by law, contributed regularly to the fund, as have their employers. It represents part of the savings of the worker against old age and should be free of strings. It is not only asinine but a waste of the nation's skilled and experienced manpower to insist that the worker at age 65, who accepts Social Security, must for the next seven years twiddle his thumbs. The government graciously allows the older, after he reaches 72, to garner all the money he is capable of earning.

Such restrictions on an American's right to earn not only plays ducks-and-drakes with his freedom, but there is a vicious inequity in the law. The government is only interested in the earned income of elders between 65 and 72. The penalty is all on earned income; there is none on unearned income. Thus, the retired citizen who has been able to save a fair share of his earned income during his working life and has an income no matter what the amount, in addition to Social Security is not touched by these penalties. As a result, the retired worker with an income of $8,000 a year, in addition to Social Security benefits, suffers no penalties. Nor do I think he should, perish for that. He would be dastardly to penalize such a citizen. But I am convinced it is even more dastardly to penalize the less fortunate man, whose earning power may never have been great at any time, by forbidding him to supplement his meager Social Security payments with as much as he is capable and willing to earn. The idea that the time would ever come in this nation when a citizen would be penalized for his willingness to work is enough to make the Founding Fathers whirl. Such a penalty might make sense during a catastrophic economic depression with resultant widespread unemployment, such as gave birth to Social Security in the first place. But it makes no sense in times of surpassing prosperity, such as these we live in. The nation cannot afford itself no less than its elders, with their reservoir of skills and talents, when it transgresses on the liberty of citizen by proscribing at any period in their lives the hours they may work and the sums they may earn. The basic law of our land provides for a redress of civilian grievances. This imbecile penalty on grit and gumption bedded in the Social Security laws screams for redress. (Copyright, 1960, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Nixon's New Look Still A Bit Hazy

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—At least a couple of things seemed settled—but not quite—in this otherwise rather quiet political week. On Monday Vice President Richard M. Nixon told a Nebraska audience he would not run for the presidency on the record of the Eisenhower administration alone but would have an expanded program of his own. And Wednesday President Eisenhower told a news conference Nixon would be "absolutely stupid" to try to run on his administration's record alone. But what remains unsettled is this: 1. Just how far can Nixon depart from Eisenhower's view of things—since too much difference might look like criticism—and still expect vigorous support from the President in the campaign? 2. Just what kind of program of his own is Nixon going to think up? He is trying to get a farm program different from the administration's, or so it seems. And he has listed some points he says will be issues in the campaign. But there is still a haze—although it's too early to expect him to get specific yet, with the campaign still months away—over how he is going to make his thinking look new or different from Eisenhower's. Nixon himself said last January, at a Chicago dinner that, "great as are our domestic problems," national security and foreign policy transcend them all. Then he proceeded to defend the Eisenhower performance in both fields. Since the Democrats have been continually critical of Eisenhower's vision in national defense, Nixon should be in a bit of dilemma saying much that is different from the President in this field. He can't join the Democrats in their criticism and he can't very well propose what the Democrats suggest without appearing to agree with them. He outlined to the dinner five areas of the administration's record which probably will play a major role in his campaign although exactly what his position on each will be is something he has to figure out: 1. Education. The American system is the best in the world, he said, "but inadequate classrooms, underpaid teachers and flabby standards are weaknesses we must constantly strive to eliminate."

Candidates For Hero Of Era Listed

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Every era produces its own heroes, those sons of time and destiny who stand out from the crowd. In our caveman past, the man of the hour was the guy who could hit a saber-toothed tiger in the nose with a club and make it purr like a kitten. Then days of old when editors were bold, it was the fellow on horseback who could stick his iron lance into a charging dragon and convert him into a chunk of smoking ash-kabab. During World War II it was the GI Joe who could serve four years in the Army—and never to latrine duty. But who are the shining heroes of our civilization today? Here are a few unconventional nominees: Any man who can catch a common head cold and keep it a secret. Anyone with the courage to defy the mob by saying, "No, I don't hate cocktail parties I like them." The wife who can zip up and unzip her dress without crying for male help. The fat man bold enough to eat a nut-topped fudge sundae without whining. "My psychiatrist says I need sweets to bolster my sense of security." Another brave enough to spank a naughty child in public. Any father sensible enough to back such a mother up. Any fellow smart enough to figure a way to beat the races, considerate enough to let the rest of us in on his system. The first taxpayer who finds an honest way to cheat the government. The first politician who announces, "What this country needs is a good five-cent hot dog" and produces it. One wife—one single, solitary wife—who would break out with hives if she even started to use the phrase, "I told you so."

Fresh Vegetables In Good Supply

By The Associated Press
Spring weather has put more fresh vegetables on Texas dinner tables.
Especially noticeable, the Agricultural Marketing Service reported Thursday, are greater abundance of greens, cabbage, sweet corn, iceberg lettuce and new-crop onions.
A weekly review by the agency gave these other highlights:

Pair Weds In County Jail

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The bride, like most, was nervous as she twisted a glove in her hand. The groom was a bit pale but was calm and smiling. They seemed oblivious to their surroundings in the vestibule of the Montgomery County jail.
The groom was Earl Hensley, 29, sentenced to Ohio Penitentiary for 120 years for the fatal Christmas Day, 1959, shooting of a man in the apartment of Miss Orpha Lou Combs, 23, the bride.
The groom also faces the remainder of a 10-25-year sentence for armed robbery in 1952. He was on parole at the time of the shooting.
The couple obtained a court order for permission to marry and a municipal judge performed the ceremony.
As jailers led Hensley back to his cell he looked at his bride and said simply: "I'll see ya." The bride plans to live with his parents.

Woman On Trial Today

BAY MINETTE, Ala. (AP)—Mrs. Charles H. Heyl was on trial today in the fatal shooting of her husband, an insurance executive.
The 42-year-old former professional dancer was indicted on a second-degree murder charge after Heyl was killed the night of March 13 at their home on Mobile Bay.
Heyl, 58, died of a 32-caliber bullet wound in the chest. His wife told officers the shot was fired accidentally when she handed the weapon to him during an argument. She said she thought it was unloaded.
Heyl was president of Loyal American Life Insurance Co. of Mobile.

Jewelry Collection Going On Auction

By FRANCIS STILEY
NEW YORK (AP)—It was quite a sight for an old country boy—one million dollars worth of jewels right in front of me.
There must have been a million carats, all told, and every one sparkling and flashing kind of like a sky full of fireworks on the Fourth of July.
A lot of oldtime fairytale didn't have even that many diamonds, pearls, rubies, emeralds, sapphires and what not. And yet you would put the whole million's worth in an Oklahoma cowgirl's hat and still have lots of room left over. Probably only a Texan could afford to try, however.

Theft Upsets 'The Body'

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Actress Marie 'The Body' McDonald did not show up for her two scheduled performances at a night club Wednesday night after she reported the theft of $28,500 worth of fur coats.
A report that she had received a threatening phone call was under investigation by detectives, but an official of the American Guild of Variety Artists said she denied receiving such a call.
"She told me that she was very, very upset about the theft of the furs and that she had a case of laryngitis," said Nat Nazario, a local representative of the guild. She said she was all shook up and wanted to get a good night's sleep.

Wisconsin Race Not Regarded As Crucial

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt doesn't think winning the Wisconsin presidential primary next week will assure the Democratic nomination for either Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) or Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.).
"I shouldn't think it would be considered decisive," she told newsmen Wednesday night.
She said Adlai Stevenson and possibly Rep. Chester Bowles (D-Conn.) are the only men who could break a deadlock at the Democratic National Convention. She said although Stevenson says he isn't a candidate for the nomination, "he might have to take it."

Doolittle Urges Diversified Defense

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Retired Air Force Gen. James H. Doolittle says the United States must not ignore other fields of warfare while developing space weapons.
"It is a distinct possibility that Russia is hoping we will devote our full military attention to space," he told an audience at UCLA Wednesday night.
Doolittle, who led the first air raid on Tokyo in 1942, said part of the Soviet Union's willingness to abandon nuclear weapons is explained "by her development and possession of chemical and biological weapons of a highly lethal and selective nature."

Guidebooks Mailed For Study Of Aging

AUSTIN (AP)—The Governor's Committee for the White House Committee on Aging has mailed guidebooks and questionnaires to county groups for use in studying problems of the aged.
Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro, chairman of the committee, said Wednesday more than 100 county chairmen have been named to direct local studies.

A lot of people around the world who want to—and can—buy such things will get their chance at an auction starting at the Parke-Bernet Galleries next Wednesday.
Beginning today the general public can drop in to take a look. Next Monday, dealers and experts get their chance.
Anyone can go in and actually take any piece into his hands for a close look. The Parke-Bernet people are trusting souls. Standing by, though, will be a number of special guards who aren't.
The collection is from the estate of Mrs. William B. Timken, widow of the cofounder of the Timken Roller Bearing Co., who died last October. Under her will, proceeds from the auction will go to six charitable and service agencies.
Parke-Bernet says it is the most valuable collection from the standpoint of the number of pieces and their individual quality, ever to be sold at one time in this country. There are 158 items.

More than 1,000 persons, many from abroad, are expected to jam the auction room.
I don't reckon I'll be among them. Still too much an old country boy, I guess.

Spectacular Fire Sweeps Building

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Firemen rescued 11 persons and 35 others fled to the street Wednesday night when a spectacular four-alarm fire swept through a large building embracing two small hotels and a furniture store.
Fire Chief James J. Sweeney estimated damage at $150,000. The fire apparently started in the basement of the Coast Furniture Co.

Scientist Says End Of Wars In Sight

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—A Nobel Prize winner says the end of world wars is in sight for the first time in history.

Dr. Linus Pauling said the sheer atomic frightfulness of wars is pressuring the United States, the Soviet Union and Great Britain toward workable bans against nuclear weapons.

The California biochemist told a University of Kansas City audience Wednesday "It is now just plain common sense, as well as good moral policy, for all nations to give up wars."
