President Backs Move To Speed Latin Alliance

By FRANK CORMIER

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Johnson endorsed today a proposal for him to meet with Latin-American chiefs of state to speed up the work of the Alliance for Progress.

Johnson gave a broad review of U.S. policy toward Latin America in a speech prepared for delivery at the unveiling of a statue of Abraham Lincoln in a park in Mexico City's Polanco residential section.

Referring to the summit meeting proposed by Argentine President Arturo Illia, he said:

"I will in the months ahead join with Latin-American leaders in exploring the proposal for a new meeting at the very highest level to examine our common problems and to give the Alliance for Progress increased momentum."

Although warning that "any such conference should be prepared with utmost care," Johnson added that "careful preparation need not be the enemy of imaginative action."

There has been speculation recently that the U.S. President may visit South America before the end of the summer, and a summit meeting could provide the occasion for his visit.

The unveiling of the $150,000 bronze statue, which the U.S. Congress authorized as a gift to the Mexican people, was a high point of the President's hastily arranged 24-hour visit to Mexico's capital. Today is the 101st anniversary of Lincoln's assassination.

The visit began with a thundering welcome Thursday night which left Johnson a bit weary but exhilarated. Today he mixed more public appearances and private talks with Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz at Los Pinos, the Mexican White House.

Johnson in his speech declared, "We are engaged in a vast social revolution touching the lives of millions of peoples on two continents.

"Like Lincoln's this is a test of whether freedom can work.

"It is a test of whether men in liberty can overcome the weight of the past and lift from their brothers the blight of hunger, the blindness of ignorance and the burden of disease. We are in the midst of that test."

Johnson said his administration "will not be deterred by those, whether in the United States or in Latin America, who tenaciously or selfishly cling to the stultifying privileges from the past. We will not be deterred by those who say that to risk change is to risk communism."

In other major points, Johnson said:

—The United States will continue to concentrate assistance mainly in economic and social fields "and to encourage our Latin-American neighbors, where possible, to limit their outlays for military purposes."

—The United States will continue to work to stabilize earnings of traditional Latin-American exports "while assisting efforts to expand those new exports on which Latin-American trade will increasingly depend."

—Latin-American economic integration is vital to hemispheric development.

—The United States is committed "to government by the consent of the governed — a consent to be granted in free and honest elections. It does not seek to impose on others any form of government. But let us stand determined on this principle: Despots are not welcome in this hemisphere."

Johnson said that one ambition of his presidency is to work with other hemispheric nations to close the several hundred miles of the Darien Road gap in Panama and Columbia.

Once this gap in the Pan-American Highway system is closed, the system will run some 14,000 miles from Fairbanks, Alaska, to the southern part of Chile and Argentina.

Johnson had warm praise for Mexico, saying its progress is witness that the goals of the Alliance for Progress are realistic and its methods valid. He said Mexico is a nation confident it can continually increase the economic well-being and social justice for its people, help less advanced neighbors, and "confident you can maintain in the modern world your own personality — loyal to your own traditions and aspirations."

Sec. McNamara Due Quiz On Readiness

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who has spent more than 80 hours before congressional committees this year, faces more congressional questioning about bomb shortage charges and his readiness policies.

Republican House Leader Gerald R. Ford said Thursday McNamara "will be asked many questions" after the House returns from its Easter recess.

Ford showed every sign of boring ahead with his charge that the Johnson administration is guilty of "shocking mismanagement" of the war effort.

He was unconvinced by McNamara's assertion that "there isn't any" shortage of bombs for the Viet Nam war and that there is no truth to the mismanagement allegation.

While Democrats, too, have challenged McNamara's readiness policies, the Republican House leader's volley had the sound of an official GOP position for the coming congressional election campaigns.

Ford kicked off the latest skirmish over readiness when he called a news conference, made his "shocking mismanagement" charge, and:

Spoke of reports that "we are running short of bombs despite all the billions we have voted for defense."

Declared "the backup of shipping in Saigon harbor is almost a national scandal."

The GOP leader said: "The evidence that is coming to light about things in the Pentagon that are not as they should be certainly raises questions as to whether we are prepared to do what our troops were ordered to do in Viet Nam."

Several hours later McNamara held a news conference of his own at the Pentagon.

He replied: "I don't think there is any basis whatever" for charges of mismanagement or bomb shortages. "It just isn't true," he said.

The United States has 331,000 tons of bombs in its stocks around the world with 102,000 tons of this in reserve supplies in this country.

Snyder FD Wins Honors At Session

The Snyder Fire Department went away with two first place honors and a third place finish following competition Thursday at the 55th semi-annual convention of the Mid-West Texas Firemens Association at Colorado City.

The Association also elected Leonard Keller of Snyder president, succeeding Charles Wood of Rotan. Other Snyder men elected to office were G. L. Autry, second vice president; and the Rev. Truman Bennett, chaplain.

John Grothe of Albany was chosen first vice president, and Tom Watson of Haskell was elected secretary-treasurer. Haskell was named as the site for the Fall meeting to be held Oct. 20, and the Spring convention will be held in Rotan April of 1967.

Snyder won the two-man hose race in 10.7 seconds. Members of the team were Floyd Allmand and Mickey Nunnley. The women captured first in their race with a time of 18.5 seconds. Team members were Jan (Speedy) Martin, Joy Early, Shirley McCright, Carolyn Greene, Loys Allmand, and Margaret Vaughn.

The six-man hose team finished third. It is comprised of John Greene, Leonard Keller, Floyd Allmand, Mickey Nunnley, Bill McCright and Wayne Jones.

Main speaker for the meeting was Austin McCloud, district judge from Colorado City. A dinner and dance concluded the activities.

Vaccine Seen As Radiation Shield

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Two Cornell University scientists, with obvious excitement, today reported a possible "major scientific breakthrough" towards protecting humans and animals against lethal doses of radiation such as might be released in nuclear warfare.

They reported they've developed a kind of vaccine — from a chemical derived from the Oriental, weedlike "jackbean" plant — and that it immunizes a large majority of mice against such doses, in much the same way a person is inoculated against an infectious disease.

They said it could open the way not only to protecting whole populations months in advance against the effects of radioactive fallout from exploding nuclear bombs in time of war, but also to:

— Inoculating atomic industry workers and the crews of nuclear submarines against possible lethal or injury effects of "nuclear runaways" or other radiation accidents.

— Allowing much larger doses of radiation to be used in treating cancers than are now employed because of fear of damaging normal tissue.

"The possibilities in both times of war and peace are tremendous," said Dr. Willard J. Visek, a member of the research team, in a report prepared for the 50th convention of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology. Coauthor of the report was Dr. Hung Chen Dang. They amplified on their technical report at a news conference.

Visek cautioned at the news conference that he and his colleague still could be proved wrong in the concept underlying their venture — and that the whole idea might fail to have practical application for man.

But he added that experiments extending over several years, involving more than 600 test animals — together with some clinical research in humans on a related concept, although not involving radiation protection — convinces him they're on the right track.

His Designs Easy To See Through!

PARIS (AP) — A Paris dress designer has come within a whisker of designing himself right out of a job; presenting a line of clear plastic dresses.

"It's a joke," laughs Daniel Hechter, the designer.

"It's a joke," said one of the models.

"Call it what you want," said a male spectator at Hechter's preview show Thursday night. "I think it's terrific."

Hechter, though he insists it's all a joke, plans to sell these dresses for $2 apiece and says he already has some takers.

He has made two concessions to modesty: two horizontal bands of darker colored clear plastic above and below the midriff.

Doctors, Technicians To See Unique X-Ray Machine

Doctors, technicians and nurses within a 125 mile radius of Snyder have been invited to Cogdell Memorial Hospital from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday to see an X-ray machine that is the only one of its type in the United States.

An open house for the general public is being planned for May 8.

The unique machine with all new equipment was built by the Siemens Company of West Germany—the world's largest producer of X-ray machines and equipment.

The machine at Cogdell Memorial Hospital is the latest one designed by the firm, and it has many new features which the older models do not have.

Technicians at the hospital are able to make better pictures and the patients receive less radiation with the new machine. Equipped with rectifiers rather than tubes, the machine is designed to operate on a "three-phase" line rather than a "two-phase" line as employed by the older models.

In layman's terms, this means the technician is able to get a brighter picture quicker. And the unit is equipped with an automatic density control device so that only the proper amount of X-ray beams are used in taking the picture.

"With Siemens' latest machine it is impossible to use too much or too little density," explained Betty Harman, a registered X-ray technician at the hospital. She said the machine automatically controls the density so that the patient receives only the proper amount of beam. It also can be operated manually.

The X-ray table and overhead tube and crane are operated by remote control. Simply by operating a set of levers, the technician or radiologist can move the table forward, backward, up, down or tilt it. Separated by glass an inch thick from the patient, the technician can either look at him directly or view him through a closed circuit TV attached to the control box. Voice communications between patient and operator are available through a two way radio.

A control panel at the side of the control levers tells the radiologist exactly what is taking place. He can put the machine on "two-phase" or "three-phase" by twisting dials on the control panel. Other dials are turned when different parts of the body are being X-rayed.

Also included among the machines and equipment in the "Siemens Room" at the hospital are a film processor, a fixed and portable view box, a spot film device, a chest board with an ionization chamber and connecting cables from the control panel to the overhead tube.

The processor is able to turn out dry film in eight minutes whereas the old process required 2½ hours.

An X-ray technician has to study a wide variety of subjects, such as physics, radiation therapy and mathematics. Betty became a registered technician about four months ago. Currently there are four student technicians at the hospital: Chuck Coats, Lavern Casey, Ann Robinson and Joyce Wellborn.

New Ambush Detector Gets Top Priority In Pentagon

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is giving top priority to secret research aimed at developing an ambush detector for U.S. troops in Viet Nam.

The detector would alert American GI's to Viet Cong soldiers hidden in brush along a road, for example, or nestled with sniper rifles in trees.

Just how the device would work is being threshed out at the Army's Limited War Laboratory at Aberdeen, Md., a unit set up in 1962 to provide specialized war gear on a quick reaction basis for areas such as Viet Nam.

Details are cloaked for security reasons but officials say researchers seeking to perfect the detection method have been testing insects that "smell out" humans, acoustical devices that reach out some distance to pick up sounds, radar that fixes onto weapons and chemicals that reveal the slightest changes in foliage brushed by humans.

Similar research is underway on how to tell the bad guys from the good — the Viet Cong from South Vietnamese.

"We go into a village and everybody's smiling," one official explained. "But from experience we know that some of those smiling faces are Viet Cong who will come gunning for us that night. How to put the finger on those few is what we're after."

Military scientists have considered the possibility of "marking" enemy soldiers with chemicals which could be traced, or by physical means such as tattoos — but this only takes care of the known enemy. It does not ferret out the unknown — the key to the problem.

Dumping colored materials on Viet Cong infested areas by plane likewise has been rejected as unfeasible.

Laboratory workers are experimenting with or developing answers to about 70 other war problems such as finding and tracing deep tunnels by air, and detecting small boats on rivers or against the coast from long range at night.

Jakartans Wreck Chinese Embassy

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — More than 2,000 Indonesian Chinese wrecked the ornate Communist Chinese Embassy in Jakarta today after a huge rally demanding that Indonesia break relations with Peking.

Indonesian troops made little effort to stop the mob as it crashed a truck through the 15-foot gate in front of the fortress-like embassy, then smashed into the building.

More than 60 armed Indonesian soldiers protected about 30 embassy staff members who threw stones, bottles and chairs at the attackers, most of them Indonesian Chinese students.

Two persons, believed to be students, were injured. They were carried on stretchers to army ambulances.

Embassy staff members took refuge in another building in the compound and screamed insults as the rampaging students shattered windows in the embassy and hurled chairs, paper and doors ripped from their hinges into a bonfire in the courtyard.

While an estimated 30,000 Chinese milled around outside, the students pulled down the Red Chinese flag and hoisted Indonesia's red and white flag to half staff.

The attack on the embassy followed a rally attended by about 40,000 Indonesians of Chinese descent. The rally approved a petition demanding a break in relations with Peking. The petition also denounced Radio Peking, supported the ban on the Indonesian Communist party and declared support for national unity.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a compulsive letter-to-the-editor writer. Hector was an English major and was once the editor of his high school newspaper, so he knows something about writing. But he has been going at that typewriter something fierce lately. He has something to say on every subject currently in the news. If President Johnson wants to know what to do abut Viet Nam, the rising cost of living, taxes or unemployment, he should ask Hector. I realize that this is a good safety valve for Hector's steam, but every once in a while one of his letters gets published and he is the laughing stock of the community for months. His psychiatrist says it's good for him, but Abby, I have to live in this town, too. What do you think? Please print this because Hector reads your column and gets a big kick out of it, but he says you make up all the letters yourself.

HECTOR'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Tell Hector that I don't make up any letters. With people like him around, I don't have to. And to answer your question, I agree with the psychiatrist. Let Hector shoot his typewriter off.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Is there such a thing as being too polite? I know a man who is so polite he makes everyone nervous. He is the one who races on ahead to open doors. And he jumps like a jack-in-the-box whenever a woman (or even an older person) enters the room. He beats all the other men when it comes to helping ladies with their coats and pulling out chairs. I don't think this much courtesy is necessary. Should I be quiet? Or should I tell him he is over doing the perfect gentleman routine?

HIS FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Be quiet. I suspect your "too polite" friend is merely well-bred and is behaving accordingly. Courtesy cannot be overdone. And he who is made "nervous" by good manners probably needs to brush up on his own.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I have two very close friends who like me a lot, but they just hate each other. One will get very mad at me if I go with the other one. What should I do?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Drop both of them! Everyone has the right to choose his own friends. And so have you!

Trinity Plan Under Study

WSHINGTON (AP) — The Senate and Houston Appropriations sub-committees will hear backers of the Trinity River improvement program in Texas on May 3.

Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., announced Thursday that the House committee would consider the $911 million program with John Stemmons of Dallas and John Scott of Fort Worth among those to testify.

The Senate committee probably will take up the project May 4.

Congress authorized an appropriation of $83 million for the first year but President Johnson's budget contains only $200,000, which would be used by Army engineers for a restudy of the navigation features of the project.

Klan To Rally Near LBJ Ranch

BEAUMONT (AP)—The Ku Klux Klan plans a rally May 4 in a field 15 miles from President Johnson's LBJ Ranch, the grand dragon of the Texas Klan, Jack Cannon, said Thursday.

Cannon said klansmen from throughout the South are expected.

The main speaker will be the imperial wizard of the Klan, Robert Shelton, Tuscaloosa, Ala., Cannon said.

Former Resident Dies In Oklahoma

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Eva McCarty, former Snyder resident. Mrs. McCarty died Thursday at Cement, Okla.

Tax Answers

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

• • •

Q — My wife earned under $600 and is filing for a refund. When I file, can I claim her as an exemption?

A — If you file separate returns you cannot claim an exemption for your wife. Under Texas community property law each spouse is entitled to ½ the income for either spouse. This makes each spouse responsible for ½ the income on a separate return. If you file separate returns you must split the income and deductions, and each file on ½ the total income.

Q — Do I have to pay tax on dividends from my life insurance policy?

A — No, these dividends are a return of premiums and are not subject to income tax.

Q — I broke even on my withholding and don't have any more tax to pay. Do I still have to file a return?

A — Whether you owe any taxes is not the determining factor in dedciding if you have to file a return. If your income was $600 or more, or $1,200 if you are 65 or older, you must file. If you have self-employment income of $400 or more you must file a return and pay self-employment tax.

Q — How much can a couple deduct for child care expenses?

A — The deduction is allowed for what you actually spend, with a maximum limit of $900 for two or more dependent children under 13 or $600 for one child. Check the 1040 instruction book to see if you qualify for this deduction.

Q — How can you tell whether a person qualifies as a dependent?

A — There are five tests that have to be met before a dependent can be claimed. These are gross income, support, married dependents, citizenship, and relationship. Each of them are described in the 1040 instruction booklet.

Q — I got some stocks from my uncle's estate. Do I have to declare this for income tax purposes?

A — No, you don't. Inheritances are not taxable. Income, however, that results from an inheritance, such as dividends on your stock, is taxable.

Q — If I get somebody to prepare my tax return for me, isn't he responsible for its accuracy?

A — The taxpayer is legally responsible for the accuracy of the return not the person who may have prepared it. For this reason, make sure you get dependable tax help. Avoid anybody who offers to split the refund with you, who asks you to sign a return prepared in pencil, or who suggests that a refund be sent to his address. These may be the marks of the fly-by-night operator who should not be trusted with your return.

Q — Do you have to list all your dividends on the 1040A even those which are not taxed?

A — No. Just put down the total of your dividend income subject to tax.

Q — We bought a home last year. What are some of the home expenses we have that may be taken as a tax deduction?

A — The interest paid on your mortgage may be deducted along with the real estate taxes paid on the home. You may also deduct interest and sales tax in connection with the purchase of various items for the home. Local assessments that improve the value of your property — sidewalks and sewers for example — are not deductible. Water bills and other service charges are not deductible either.

Q — Is all the pay I received while I was sick taxable or just some of it?

A — It depends on what percentage of your regular pay you received while you were out and whether you were hospitalized or not.

The sick pay exclusion provision is explained in some detail on Page 7 of the 1040 instructions. Form 2440 should be filled out for all returns on which this exclusion is claimed.

Q — How do I figure the dividend credit?

A — The 2 per cent dividend credit is no longer in effect. The first $100 in dividends of qualifying corporations are not taxable. Under community property law in Texas, married couples may receive $200 in qualified dividends tax free. Dividends are considered community property and are income for both spouses. If they file separate returns each spouse would report ½ of the dividends received by both.

Q — What is the advantage of the minimum standard deduction over the 10 percent standard deduction?

A — For some taxpayers, the minimum standard deduction will allow them a higher deduction than the 10 percent standard deduction.

The 10 percent standard deduction is 10 percent of adjusted gross income. The minimum standard deduction is $200 ($100 for married couples filing separately) plus $100 for each exemption. Neither standard deduction may exceed $1,000 ($500 for married persons filing separately).

With an income of $5,000 and a total of four exemptions, a married couple would be entitled to $600 as a deduction under the minimum standard compared to $500 under the 10 percent standard.

MISS WADE HONORED — Miss Sally Wade, bride-elect of Dalton Walton, was honored with a brunch and rice bag party Monday morning at Martha Ann Woman's Club. Mrs. Rupert Short was hostess for the occasion with 25 guests present. The honoree's chosen colors of pink and white were carried out in the decor. The tables were laid with white linen, with crystal and silver appointments. Rice bags for Miss Wade's wedding in June were made.

Teacher Appreciation Day At Central PTA

The Central Parents and Teachers Association held their regular meeting on Tuesday, April 12, in the school cafeteria.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. H. L. McCormack, who also read the minutes of the last meeting. The treasurer, Mrs. Rambin, gave her report and the program chairman, Mrs James Bellamy, gave a very appropriate reading concerning the parents appreciation of their childs' teacher.

Mrs. Bellamy presented service pins to the following teachers: Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Rambin, Miss Stuckey, Mrs. Burris, Mrs. Kelly, and Mr. Kennedy. The parents receiving pins were: Mrs. Thurman Higgins, Mrs. Wayne York, Mrs. Herbert Stout, and Mr. B. E. Griggs, the patrolman on duty morning and evening to keep the children safe.

Mrs. H. L. McCormack was presented with a Life Membership by Mrs. Wade Davis who also pinned an orchid corsage on the honoree.

Cakes with each teachers' name and a clever article attached were presented to each teacher, cafeteria workers, custodians, patrolman, principal, and all other personel connected with Central Elementary School. There was a total of 43 cakes this year due to the many wonderful teachers and helpers with head-start and the remedial reading classes.

Everyone was served old-fashioned pink lemonade and cookies, and the cafeteria was decorated with a real oil-burning lamp, reminicent of the days when teachers and their pupils would study by its flickering light.

The May meeting will be the delightful operetta "Rumpelstilskin", presented by Mrs. Patsy Elliott and a large number of her music department.

Some Outdoor Projects You Can Begin

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

At this time of year the average do-it-yourselfer has at least three incentives to get him in the mood to work. (1) He is anxious for a new season (2) the days are longer so that he can work chores at home after his daily job and (3) the ground is becoming workable.

The next step is an inventory of those tasks that must be done before you can sit back and enjoy the weather. And don't quiver at the length of your list. Divide it into (a) indoor work (b) outdoor work (c) building. Ground work is best done after a spring rain. Building is a weekend project so that you can stick with it. Small paint jobs—chairs, tables, benches and other outdoor objects should be painless tasks if begun early indoors.

Little basement jobs: Woven outdoor furniture can be lacquered, painted, varnished, waxed and is easily painted. Some people prefer the spray can, but it will cost a little more than other paint.

The paint should be dry before a second coat is sprayed on. Wood furniture should be patched up and rough areas sanded before painting. Metal needs priming and some metals need special primers. White is good on metal furniture as it is the best reflector of heat. Other pale shades, blue and lavender, have cooling effects. But dark colors that absorb heat are best used as trim. Allow enamel to flow on easily with long brush strokes, then use cross strokes to catch excess of paint.

Outside work: Preparation will make easier work that can't be done until warmer weather. Loosen up ground where you plan to plant trees or put up a fence or install gate posts. There is a lot that can be done in connection with this before actual planting and building begins. You can shape post ends, prepare posts for receiving rails with slot and groove and so on. You can cut and prepare frames for concrete forms to be used laying a terrace or walk. Paper plans may be made so that materials—brick or flagstone—may be ordered early. Much can be saved by making a layout on paper instead of guessing at quantity.

If outdoors work includes painting of the house it can be begun in a small way. You will not want to begin painting too early as even some warm days will end up with cold nights. The dew that is left on a new coat of paint at night can cause shriveling and dulling of the finish.

Prepare your house for a paint job by removing shutters on a good day (so that you can take your time scraping and painting them at your leisure. Sand rough spots around the house and caulk places that need it. New putty may be put in now.

A good time to decide whether you'd like your swimming pool heated is before you again put it into operation. There are many advantages to heating a swimming pool, particularly in areas where the season is short. Heated swimming pools are popular with older folk who do not want to plunge into cold water.

Concrete or cement surfaces that are to be walked on around swimming pools require special paints. These are rubber-based, alkyd-based or floor enamels of latex. The best bet is to discuss the problem with your paint dealer. New products are hitting the market so fast that one doesn't always know whether there is something better than he has used before.

A swimming pool dressing room can be an enjoyable project and it can be a surprise for the family. Three sides and a door of a small unit could be built in the workshop, painted and the whole thing fastened and put up someday when the family isn't around.

It's a good time too for building outdoor benches even if it is a simple idea such as a slab or slate over some cinderblocks Handsome benches can be made by combining wrought iron and wood seats.

Color Revolution

The rule of thumb that urges neutral colors for a room's large areas, such as walls and floors, is gradually going the way of all things. The trade association of the nation's ceramic tile manufacturers says that the United States, including domestic ceramic tile manufacturers, is in the midst of a decorating revolution that is seeing more color and design being used on large, flat expanses.

Stamps In The News

Dahomey is joining many countries of the world in honoring via stamps the late Dr. Albert Schweitzer. The stamp is 100 franc air mail and depicts a portrait of Dr. Schweitzer next to a symbolic scene showing him giving comfort and friendship to his African neighbors. Also seen on this stamp are clusters of a musician's G-key, the missionary's cross and writing tools. The colors are brown, blue and green. Dr. Schweitzer is buried in Gabon, West Africa.

Japan has issued a new 10 yen stamp commemorating the 75th anniversary of telephone service in that country. It was inaugurated Dec. 16, 1890, between Tokyo and Yokahama. The design features an 1890 switchboard and the dial of a current phone.

Mexico has issued a new 20 centavos stamp honoring Jose Maria Morelos y Pavon, national hero in the 1810 revolution against Spain. In 1815 he was captured, tortured and shot to death. The state of Morelos and the city of Cuautla Morelos are named after him. The design depicts a portrait of Morelos by Diego Rivera on a blue background.

Gambia has issued a set of 13 definitive stamps featuring local birds, reports the Crown Agents in Washington. Depicted are: cordon bleu, whistling teal, red-throated bee eater, pied kingfisher, napolean bishop, river eagle, yellow-bellied fruit pigeon, blue-bellied roller, pygmy kingfisher, spurwing goose, little woodpecker, violet plantain eater, pintailed whydah.

Indonesia has announced the issuance of four stamps honoring two of its large hotels. The Sumudra Beach Hotel is featured on the lower two values while the Ambarrukmo Hotel is on the two higher values. All the stamps bear a portrait of President Sukarno with the hotels in the background.

How much can rare stamp bring on the open market? Well, a man from Highland Park, Ill., recently purchased a 2 cent stamp for more than $17,000! The stamp is the 2 cent Pan American of 1910, center inverted, carmine red. It is one of the rarest of 20th Century abnormal stamps.

ELECTION DAY 1936

Its not hard to remember the day we voted 30 years ago when my father was running for commissioner prec. 2. July 25th, 1936, I was 21 years old on that day and got a free vote. My father was 51 years old June 19, 1936, I will be 51 years old July 25, 1966. As we approached the store where we voted that year there were several horses tied on the west side, I knew one horse the man rode nearly five miles to vote for my father. Many model T's, perhaps a wagon or so, since there were many wagons being used at that time. The farmers brought their cream and eggs to town. Small crowds were gathered here and there with happy faces of excitement.

My father was a Mason, Commissioner prec. 2, president of School Board around 20 years, Supt. of Methodist Sunday School about 20 years. He deeply loved the Church of Christ people, the Baptist and everyone everywhere. He helped every one he could. That man raised me, may his light forever burn.

Lets us once again re-live that scene. Before he passed away his words were something like this, " Son I am a tired old man, you take my gold watch to remind you to bring my message to the people."

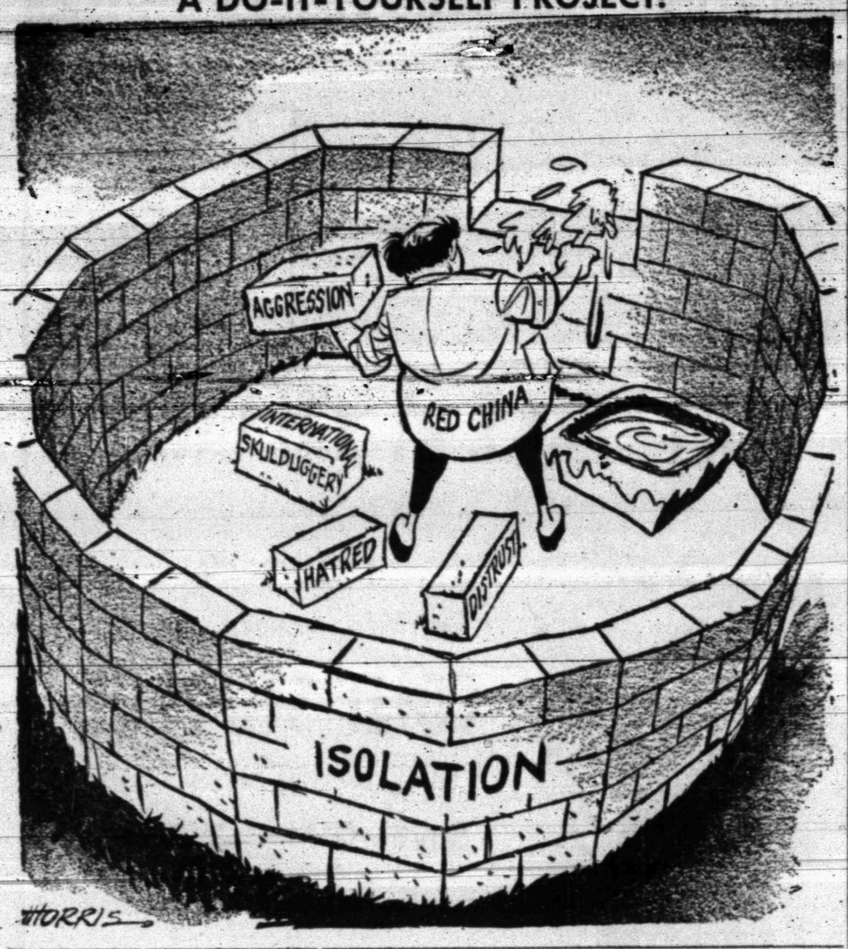
A DO-IT-YOURSELF PROJECT!



Johnson Is Criticized For His Policy Of 'News-Ooze'

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is a restless man, bent on doing things his way, even though he gets criticized. He's been criticized for not holding more news conferences. He's held fewer, not more.

President John F. Kennedy liked to read a book at night. Johnson takes a bundle of government papers up to his bedroom with him. And, as if that were not enough, telephones people till midnight.

Kennedy had a mixed life, government and social. Johnson's whole life is government and always has been, with some interruptions for the necessary social occasions.

Kennedy might stride along the sands at Cape Cod or relax on a yacht. Johnson's idea of relaxing is to march around the White House lawn, drive his own car around his ranch or get a massage every night before bedtime.

And sometimes, in sheer frustration it seems, he gets away from the center of something that plagues him but that can't be solved right away.

Earlier this year, when his Viet Nam policy was being heavily criticized in the Senate but he had no intention of changing it, he abruptly flew to Honolulu for a conference with South Viet Nam's Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

Ky's enemies later accused him of being a lackey for running off to Hawaii to meet Johnson.

And now when the Buddhists were in the midst of trying to topple Ky's military government, and the American government seemed in a box about doing anything to stop it, Johnson flew off to his Texas ranch.

Then, after a few days there, he made a 24-hour trip to Mexico, although all this seemed like a good time for him to stay close to the White House since so much was at stake for the United States in Viet Nam.

He could give a simple answer to this, of course. He was in just as close contact with the State Department and Pentagon on his ranch as he would have been at the White House. Possibly.

Nevertheless, while some of his actions — like the sudden trip to Honolulu — have been criticized as impulsive, his critics would have more difficulty putting the impulsive brand on his decisions, like ordering the bombing of North Viet Nam resumed after a long pause while peace efforts were made.

But one of the most stinging criticisms of this failure to have more formal news conferences came recently from the Christian Science Monitor's Washington correspondent, Richard L. Strout, who writes with the vitality and joy of 22.

Strout, one of the most delightful writers writing out of the capital, pointed out that, while Kennedy held news conferences about once every two weeks, Johnson has had only one formal conference this year.

Instead of facing 300 or so reporters loaded with all kinds of questions, Johnson prefers sudden sessions with the small group of newsmen who cover him regularly, at the White House or individual newsmen permitted to talk with him privately.

Strout takes a dim view of this presidential method of giving the public news.

He said: "Where a modern president foregoes the regular press conference — and I acknowledge it has many faults and is time — consuming and even irksome — you are apt to get a substitute: Government by leak, information by seepage, news-ooze."

Who Can Help The Suburbanite?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) —One of the unsolved problems of the "Great Society" is what to do about suburbanites.

At present they don't quite fit into either the government's antipoverty or foreign aid programs, but certainly something needs to be done to help them.

Life is getting too tough for them out there on the farthest rim of civilization.

They fled to the suburbs originally to escape the poisoned air and crowded clutter of the cities. They thought they would find health of body and peace of mind away from the human herd.

But it hasn't worked out that way. Show me a suburbanite and I'll show you an ambulant neurosis, a man overwhelmed by an environment beyond his ability to cope with.

Let us consider Ronald Halfacre, a typical suburbanite. He is a horizontal yo-yo who rides a train five mornings a week to his job in the city, and rides home five evenings a week to a mortgage-covered cottage in the suburbs that looks like it had been cut out of cardboard by a child with a rusty pair of scissors.

Ronald is 35 and looks 50. His thinning hair is whitening fast, his eyes are feverish, his face twitches, and he smokes four packs of cigarettes a day.

What has made Ronald old before his time are those long weekends in the suburbs. They are simply more than human flesh can bear.

A suburban weekend is an adventure in frenzy, a mixture between a Roman orgy and a basic training course with the U.S. Marines. If you have the idea that suburbanites spend their weekends listening to the birds, forget it. All they hear is the bats in their belfry.

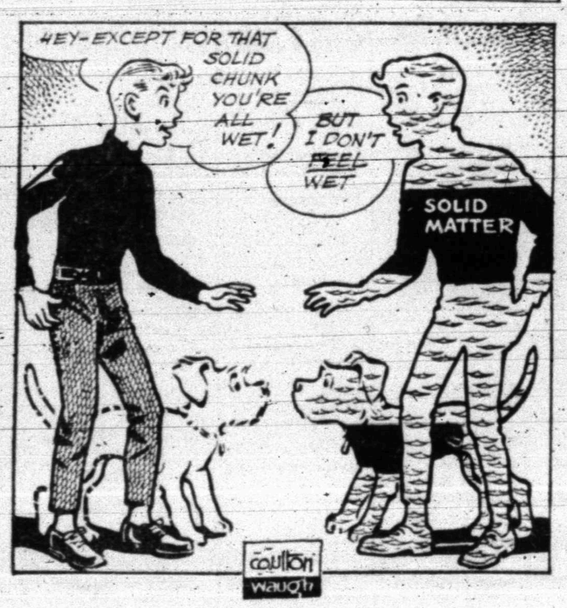
Ronald never stops going from the time he steps off his train Friday night until his weary wife shovels his limp frame aboard the 8:12 express Monday morning.

What does he do? Ronald parties until nearly dawn, then gets up and paints and scrapes walls and plants beans and fights crab grass and asphyxiates himself burning hot dogs in a backyard pit and parties some more and stays up until dawn again and drives the kids to the beach and parties at the Country Club and parties at the neighbors; paints the crab grass and fights the walls, and parties some more, and yackety-yackety-yaks, and before he knows it, Monday dawn is shining and he is lying there in bed sweating and silently screaming.

Multiply his problem 30 million times and you can see why this is a problem that requires government action. Only the government is big enough to deal with it. But unless it does something, American suburbanites probably will go the way of the dodo and the dinosaur.

Ronald's worst fear is that his office may go on a four-day work week. That means he'd have to face a three-day weekend in the suburbs, and he knows that would be the death of him.

A Junior Editors Quiz About WATER



QUESTION: How much water is in our bodies?

• • •

ANSWER: Our artist has used a fanciful way of illustrating the remarkable fact that our bodies have more water in them than anything else. Jim, at left, has found out that in reality his body is composed of about 70% water. The figure to right is his idea of what he would be like if all the non-water parts were concentrated in one place so he could compare them with the amount of water in his body. Actually, of course, the solid matter is not concentrated in one black area but is widely distributed, making strong bones, skin, tissue and a great many other structures which hold our bodies together and allow them to operate. Why is so much water needed? The body is composed of minute cells inside of which is the mysterious living substance called protoplasm. Water makes up a large part of this. Scientists say this is necessary for the intricate chemical processes which are always taking place in our bodies. Water distributes food and takes away waste. It acts as a carrier for the many dissolved substances which must be continually moved in and out of the many organs and cells.

FOR YOU TO DO: The picture shows that dogs need water too. Be sure you provide enough to keep your pets healthy and happy.

Chiefs, 'Cats Could End Tiger Track Reign

Lake View and Littlefield could make things tough for the Snyder Tigers at Sweetwater Saturday at the annual District 3-AAA track Meet.

In Rocky Woods, The Chiefs have perhaps the outstanding individual in the state. He could give Lake View first place ribbons in both hurdles and the 100 yard dash. Littlefield also has an outstanding individual in Larry Schovajsa. He has one of the best times across the state in the 440 yard dash, and he runs legs on both relays teams. Littlefield will be a threat to win both of the relays.

Other schools in the District Meet are Sweetwater, Lamesa, Brownfield and Levelland, and they, too, have some fine athletes. Sterling Cox of Brownfield may prove to be too fast for Wood in the hurdles. Chris Boyd of Lamesa may win the century, and Whitsett of Levelland or Henderson of Littlefield could take the 220.

Perhaps the most exciting race will be in the hurdles where Woods and Cox face stiff competition from Snyder's Steve McMahan and Leon Riggins. Littlefield's Grissom and Lamesa's Rodney Felts and Chris Boyd also have the potential to go away with the blue ribbon.

District observers feel that only about four records will be broken Saturday, including one that has been on the books longer than any other. That would be Jim Windham's 54-5 in the shot put in 1957. Jerry Simons of Snyder has thrown the shot further than that in practice, and only last week he hit beyond 53 feet to take 3rd at Andrews.

Henderson or Whitsett could erase Schovajsa's 22.6 for a 220 on the curve, which was set last year. Larry isn't competing in this event Saturday. Stanley Woolever's 19.2 standard in the 180 low hurdles, set in 1960, and Bud Morgan's 14.6 in the 120 high hurdles, set in 1958, also could fall by the wayside.

Woods also is a threat to crack his own standard of 6-4 set last season in the high jump. Snyder boys hold nine of the 17 records.

Staub Blast Smashes LA

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rusty Staub, enigmatic to some people, is too painfully transparent to Ron Perranoski and the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Staub, who celebrated his 22nd birthday two weeks ago, has two hits in his fourth season in the majors, and both have had the same effect. They've beaten the Dodgers.

The Houston right fielder smashed a two-run homer against Perranoski Thursday night, climaxing a three-run, eighth-inning rally that carried the Astros past the Dodgers 4-2. His run-scoring single off Perranoski in the ninth inning the night before gave Houston a 7-6 victory.

From the time he was a 19-year-old rookie through the present, Staub has been considered a mystery by many people. They have found it difficult to understand some of his actions.

There was, for example, the night in St. Louis last August when he started home from second on a single. He raced to third and started toward home but suddenly pulled up and trotted the rest of the way to the plate where he was an easy out.

Staub simply walked to the dugout, went right past a seething Manager Luman Harris and sat down. He didn't say a word, seeing no reason to explain why he walked into the tag.

As it turned out, though, he had a good reason. In rounding third, the youngster reinjured a thigh muscle.

"I knew if I stopped at third and didn't try to score, Luman would think I couldn't run and I'd be out of the line-up," Staub explained. "So as I rounded third I felt the muscle go, and I just pulled up.

"I knew if I tried to keep running, I'd hurt it bad and might be out the rest of the season. I was already around third, I didn't know where the ball was or whether they were even trying to make a play on me, and so the only thing I saw to do was just ease on toward the plate."

In the only other National League games, Philadelphia edged St. Louis 5-4 and Chicago whipped San Francisco 9-4.

In the American League, Detroit swept New York 3-2 and 5-2, Minnesota downed Kansas City 4-2 and California nipped Chicago 2-1.

Rich Allen's three-run homer capped a four-run first inning that powered Philadelphia past St. Louis. The Phillies scored what proved to be the winning run in the third when Johnny Callison singled, moved around to third on an infield out and a wild pitch and raced across as Bill White grounded out.

Ralston, Top Foe Collide

HOUSTON (AP)—The rain-delayed quarter finals of the River Oaks Tennis Tournament were scheduled today, with the top match pitting first seeded Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and Australia's Marty Mulligan.

In other matches it was second seeded Tony Roche of Australia vs. Ingo Buding of Germany, third seeded John Newcombe of Australia vs. Boro Jovanovic of Yugoslavia, and Nicola Pilic of Yugoslavia vs. Roger Taylor of England.

Thunderstorms dumped more than five inches of rain on some Houston areas and washed out the start of quarterfinal play Thursday.

Pilic defeated Alan Fox of Los Angeles, 6-0, 9-7, 6-2, Thursday in a match that was delayed Wednesday by darkness after each player had won a set.

Pilic lost his racket in the second game but still returned the ball. The racket slipped from his hands during the follow-through on his serve.

Dobbs Loyal To Miners

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Bobby Dobbs had been given command of the 1954 Army football team for one game by head coach Earl (Red) Blaik who was ill.

The Army tore through the Penn Quakers that fall for a 35-0 victory handing Dobbs a 1-0 record at Army. Since that game 12 years ago he has always dreamed of being West Point's head coach.

Dobbs announced Thursday at a press conference he would remain as Texas Western football coach after refusing the position that he had dreamed so much of having.

"It was tough to tell them I wasn't coming," said Dobbs. "I have had aspirations for the head coach at Army for many years.

"I had a sense of loyalty to my players here and couldn't leave them," he said. "My sense of loyalty to Texas Western and the players had a bearing on the decision."

The 43-year-old Dobbs played football under Blaik in 1943-45 and had been sounded out as a replacement for Paul Dietzel, who switched last week to take the South Carolina head football coaching position.

Unknowns Out Front

Associated Press Sports Writer

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Each year the Professional Golfers' Association of America distributes to newsmen a tournament player catalogue.

In its more than 300 pages are biographies of the regular tournament players and their records.

It takes two pages to detail accomplishments of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer and a full page for other top players.

But to find the listings for Tom Weiskopf and Gary Bauer, coleaders, and Jay Dolan, No. 3 man, going into today's second round of the $20,000 Azalea Open Tournament, you have to turn to the "thumbnail sketches" section at the end of the book.

These are basically the young and hungry players, the members of the "dawn patrol" that starts early and seldom gets the headlines, or semiretired veterans who rearely play tournament golf any more.

But Thursday was their day. Weiskopf shot the course in 34-34-68, then waited four hours to see Bauer come along with a 32-32-68 to tie him.

They split $1,000 which is offered by sponsors for the best daily score. In addition, $500 will go to the 36 and 54-hole leaders. The tournament carries a guaranted purse of $20,000, with prospects of a boost to near $30,000 by payoff time after 72 holes Sunday.

Back of Dolan's 34-35-69 were eight 70 shooters, including Jerry Barber, a three-time winner here. Dick Hart, last year's champ, Australian Kel Nagle, amateur Bill Harvey of Greensboro, N.C., and South African Cobie Legrange were others at

Texas League Begins Campaign

By The Associated Press

The Texas League opens the season in three states tonight.

Austin will be at Little Rock, Ark.

El Paso will be at Albuquerque, N.M.

Amarillo will be at Dallas-Fort Worth for the Texas opener.

A crowd of better than 10,000 is expected at Arlington when Amarillo's Sonics clash with the Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs. This should insure the opening day attendance award for Dallas-Fort Worth.

Little Rock and Albuquerque look for crowds of about 4,000.

Dallas-Fort Worth, which led all minor leagues last year with 329,000 for the season, is expecting another 300,000-plus, provided its team is as good as the 1965 outfit that tied Tulsa for the Eastern Division title but lost in the one-game playoff.

Albuquerque, the Western Division champion, beat Tulsa three games to one in the playoffs.

But there will be no divisions this year—the clubs will play in one group. Even the type playoff is yet to be determined.

President Hugh Finnerty said he would let the fans decide this point.

The clubs change stands Sunday for the second round of openers with Albuquerque at El Paso and Dallas-Fort Worth at Amarillo in day-time games and Little Rock at Austin in a night tilt.

The league will play a 140-game schedule, with the all-star game at Arlington July 7 when the Texas League stars meet the Houston Astros.

Finnerty is predicting a season attendance of 750,000, which would be more than 100,000 down from 1965 when 860,000 turned out.

Little Rock is replacing Tulsa, which was the reason for a smaller figure being forecast. Tulsa drew 215,000 last year while Little Rock isn't expected to attract more than 125,000.

All the clubs have major league hook-ups. Albuquerque is affiliated with the Los Angeles Dodgers, Amarillo with Houston, Austin with Atlanta, Dallas-Fort Worth with the Chicago Cubs, El Paso with the California Angels and Little Rock with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Panels Busy On Road Safety Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Senate committees hope to have highway safety legislation ready for Senate action early next month.

They are the Public Works and the Commerce committees that are handling separate parts of President Johnson's highway safety programs.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., acting chairman of the Public Works Committee, indicated he expects the legislation to go beyond the President's recommendations—both in authority for setting auto safety standards and in federal grants for state highway safety measures.

The administration program would authorize federal expenditures of about $700 million over the next six years in an effort to reduce highway accidents that take about 50,000 lives a year.

This includes $420 million to aid states in establishing uniform highway safety prrograms approved by the secretary of commerce and $160 million for expanded research and development related to all aspects of highway safety.

Randolph, whose committee concluded hearings Thursday on this part of the administration's legislation, termed these proposed expenditures "grossly inadequate."

The Commerce Committee completed hearings last week on another part of the legislation that would authorize the secretary of commerce to establish minimum safe performance standards for motor vehicles.

Randolph, after conferring with Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., Commerce Committee chairman, said both groups expect to act by the end of this month or early in May.

The Big B Ranch of Belle Glade, Fla., paid that amount and also bought the second top selling bull for $8,200.

King Ranch sold 25 bulls for $111,550.

Winthrop Rockefeller of Winrock Farm, Morrelton, Ark., paid the third highest price—$8,000.

In the quarter-horse sale, B.F. Phillips Jr. of Dallas paid $5,700 for a bay stallion and Bruce Donaldson of Unionville, Pa., bought the top-selling mare for $3,600.

Twenty-four one-year-old quarter horses sold for 48,700.

Ten fillies brought $21,100 and 14 colts $27,600.

The Rockefeller farm paid top prirce for the heifer in the 15th annual heifer sale in which county 4H and FFA youths received a total of $8,880 for 11 animals.

Fidel Cuts Estimate Of Sugar Harvest

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has officially cut his estimate of this year's sugar crop to 5 million tons, 1½-million less than he had hoped.

He said in a broadcast monitored in Miami Thursday night that the crop was hurt by a drought he described as the worst in decades.

Castro predicted a 1967 crop of 7 million tons and a 1970 crop of 10 million.

Exile economists have been saying that this year's sugar production, Cuba's main cash crop, could not run over 5 million tons.

STRICTLY 'NEW-HAT' EVERY DAY!

There's nothing brighter, fresher, newsier and more welcome than your daily paper. It keeps you current on world affairs, stimulates your mind, tickles your sense of humor, puts facts at your fingertips.

It's short-lived — but it grows old gracefully. Today's paper won't be dead tomorrow or even the day after that. So much that's in it is timeless as well as timely. Things like expert financial and medical advice, recipes, do-it-yourself hints, special features and stories, pictures — these are just a few of the ageless extras your daily paper gives you.

In this era of mass communications, your newspaper stands out as a tangible document. It's yours to read, put down, pick up and read again, clip and save.

...the Book of Faith, something to hold to when you realize you cannot make it alone. Grateful women and men have called it a "rock in a weary land, a light in the dark," a refuge in time of storm." God called it His word. It contains the prologue to the true meaning of Valley Forge, the duties and obligations of every American citizen, Counsel and advice to the wise and the foolish. If we cling to the Bible, God will hold us when we ourselves are no longer able to hold the Book. Then take this Book of Faith in both your hands and discover a solution to every problem you have. I offer you the Book and the God your fathers trusted. They were not ashamed nor were they forsaken.
