Lubbock Golf Ace Enters Finals With West Texas Champ

Billy Holmes, Carnes Wilson In Feature Go

36-Hole Battle

Holmes Enters The Championship Round With A 3 And 2 Win Over Shirley Robbins Of Big Spring

(By The Associated Press)

BIG SPRING, May 26.—Carnes Wilson, the diminutive long-hitting Abilene sharpshooter, will defend his West Texas Golf association title tomorrow in a 36-hole battle with Billy Holmes, crack Lubbock par snubber.

Wilson, blasting sub-par golf in continuation of his fine shooting, showed Jimmy Phillips of Ranger, the way out of the tournament today with a decisive 5 and 4 victory.

Drops Three Holes

Holmes entered the championship round with a fine 3 and 2 win over Shirley Robbins of Big Spring. Robbins dropped the first three holes to Holmes and was never able to catch up.

Wilson recovered beautifully to smother Phillips. They halved the first two holes but Wilson grabbed the third. Phillips snared a birdie on the fourth to square the match and they halved the fifth. Phillips missed a short putt on the sixth and lose.

Hits Wild Streak

Phillips struck a wild streak to lose the next two holes and go three down at the turn. Wilson grabbed the tenth hole, the eleventh was halved and Wilsn advanced to five up by taking the twelfth. They halved the next two holes to end the match.

The cards:

Phillips out	435	444	464—38
Wilson out	434	643	344—35
Phillips in	545	33
Wilson in	444	33
Holmes out	424	544	254—34
Robbins out	535	443	355—37

Lola Lane Weds Movie Director

LAS VEGAS, Nevada, May 26.—In a surprise airplane elopement, Al Hall, Hollywood film director, and Lola Lane, actress and former wife of Lew Ayres, film player, were married here early today in the county courthouse by Judge Frank M. Ryan.

The couple flew here from California and shortly after the ceremony they boarded a chartered plane to return to Hollywood.

Smiling at his bride, Hall said he proposed at 7:45 o'clock last night in Hollywood. At 9:45 p. m., the couple were in the air on a charter-plane, arriving here at 11:55 p. m. Slightly more than an hour later they had awakened Judge Ryan, obtained a license and were mar-

Charred Body Of A Man Is Found On A Funeral Pyre

LOS ANGELES, May 26. (AP) — A man's body charred beyond recognition, was found atop a blazing funeral pyre behind a fringe of thick shrubbery near some railroad tracks here today. Police were attracted to the scene by the flames.

Whether the man was slain or was a transient who died and had been cremated in Macabre fashion by associates had not been determined.

Texas Republicans Enter Full Slate For Election

Dallas Banker Will Be The Candidate For Governor

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, May 26. — The Texas Republican executive committee today indorsed D. E. Waggoner, Dallas banker, as the party's candidate for governor and C. W. Anderson of San Antonio for United States senator after speakers had assailed the administration of President Roosevelt.

Waggoner and Anderson were placed at the head of a full slate of candidates for state offices prepared by the state committee. The committee's choices must be approved by the Republican voters in the July primary in order to become the party's standard bearers against the Democratic nominees in November.

Contest In Prospect

A contest for the gubernatorial nomination was in prospect since Doran John Haesley of Dallas previously had announced for the place. The Republicans were forced into a primary this year under a state law requiring a primary for any party whose gubernatorial candidate in the last preceding general election received more than 100,000 votes. Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls was given 317,807 votes in his unsuccessful race two years ago against Governor Miriam A. Ferguson.

"We can be utterly frank with one another," said R. B. Creager of Brownsville, national committeeman, in addressing the approximately 75 Republicans gathered for the meeting. "We don't expect to elect a state ticket in Texas this year. However, it would mean a great deal if we have a complete ticket in the field, if the names of the men on the ticket command the respect and confidence of the people and if we get a respectable vote."

Others On Slate

Besides Waggoner and Anderson other candidates placed on the state committee's slate were: Irl F. Kennerly of Houston, justice of the supreme court; Lester Gunst of Corpus Christi, lieutenant governor; S. E. Fish of Amarillo, court of criminal appeals; A. W. Orr of Livingston, commissioner of agriculture; T. E. Ball and Dexter Scurlock, both of Tarrant county, attorney general; J. E. Jay, jr., of Wichita county, railroad commissioner; H. S. Frady

Silver Plans Being Hurried To Conclusion

Approval Of Measure Without Delay Is Expected After It Is Brought Up; No Opposition Is Shown

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 26. — The silver bill was hurried along today by a favorable report by the house ways and means committee after only two days of hearings.

Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.) said he expected to bring the measure up the house some time next week and that he looked for approval without delay.

No Opposition

Not an opposition witness testified before the house committee. Professor E. W. Kammerer of Princeton university, noted monetary authority, was expected to voice objections to the silver purchase program today but he failed to appear.

Instead, Representatives Dies (D-Tex.) and White (D-Idaho) urged passage.

Adopt Amendments

The committee adopted several amendments, already added to the senate bill, introduced by Senator Pittman (D-Nev).

The principal one would strengthen the declaration of policy under which the United States will purchase silver until the metal constitutes 25 per cent of the metalic monetary reserve.

The treasury's holding of approximately 690,000,000 ounces now constitutes twelve per cent of the metallic reserve and officials have estimated it would be necessary to buy an additional 1,314,000,000 to reach the 25 per cent ratio.

Take Domestic Stocks

The bill would permit the president to take over domestic stocks of silver at a price not to exceed 50 cents an ounce and if the continental supply is bought by the treasury the price is not to go beyond a half dollar an ounce.

To add the seserve, purchases of foreign silver will be necessary at the world market price.

The treasury is authorized to issue silver certificates in an amount equal to that paid for the metal and to that extent the measure is inflationary.

Wealthy Oil Operator Is Wed To "Miss West Texas"

MEXICO, D. F. May 26. (AP)—Luther C. Turman, wealthy oil operator formerly of Fort Worth, Texas, was married today to Miss Zellah Maeford, of Big Spring Tex., who was chosen Miss West Texas in a 1933 beauty contest.

Turman came to Mexico in 1931 with two sons he removed from the custody of his first wife.

Rains Blanket Lubbock Area

Lubbock Has .17 Of An Inch Saturday; Ralls Is Benefitted By A Heavy Fall On Saturday Afternoon

Local rains, ranging from light showers to 2 3-4 inches, fell in this area Saturday. Lubbock had .17 of an inch at the experiment substation east of town.

Rainfall in town was heavier, while in the west and southwest edges only a shower fell.

Ralls Drenched

Ralls had 2 3-4 inches of rain by measurement, and territory east and north of there was well watered. The area was in need of the rain. Water overran the new highway.

O'Donnell also had a heavy rain, with water going over the highway, the bus station reported. Rain fell only about 10 miles south of O'Donnell.

Reports Given

Western Union and the Santa Fe railway made the following reports:

Turkey, Plainview, and Happy, showers; Tulia, light rain; Slaton and Southland, good rains; Idalou and Crosbyton, light rain; Lamesa, Tahoka, and Big Spring, no rain.

Two Men Are Being Held In Jail For Slaying Of Woman

ROBBINSVILLE, N. C., May 26. (AP)—Sherman Johnson, middle-aged farmer, and Will Lane are in jail today on murder charges following the discovery of the dismembered body of the former's 35-year-old wife in a clump of wood near here.

The men were arrested yesterday. Identification of the woman's badly battered body was established by Mrs. Bertha Brown, daughter of the slain woman, who said she recognized the clothing found at the scene as her mother's.

Guns Bark As Troops Again Fight Rioters

New Moves For Peace Appear In Protracted Walkout Of Workers; Casualties Added To Growing List

Union Leaders Start Sudden Developments As They Draw Up Peace Plans; Withdrawal Of Troops Asked

(By The Associated Press)

TOLEDO, O., May 26. — Rifles barked again today on Toledo's strike-ridden front.

As new moves for peace appeared in the protracted automotive walkout, national guardsmen brought their firearms into play for the third consecutive day in the riot-scarred factory district.

Fire Volley In Air

A detachment of 15 riflemen fired a volley into the air when part of a growing throng of some 1,500 persons tried to prevent militiamen from taking a prisoner in the crowd.

Casualties were added to the growing list of those injured when the guardsmen made their foray into the massed hundreds in the street. As the crowd resisted the militiamen, reinforced momentarily for the effort, the strikers and their sympathizers were washed back with repeated blasts from gas projectile guns.

Man Wounded

One man was found a short time later with a serious gunshot wound near an artery in his thigh. He was identified as Owen Dougherty, 24, but how he got the wound remained undisclosed.

A newspaper photographer, David West, was slugged in the scuffle incident to the capture of a drunken man, and he lost his camera.

Clarence Hanson, 27, was struck and hurt by a flying brick.

Ralph Dickens, 27, was taken to a hospital with a bayonet gash in the back.

Two Are Jailed

Two other men, among five jailed on suspicion — Joseph Thorpe, 29, and William Radde, 39 — suffered slight bayonet wounds in the scuffling.

Poppy Sales Net $115 In Lubbock

Poppy sales netted $115 for relief and welfare programs of Veterans of Foreign Wars Saturday, Tom Carter, sales chairman, reported last night.

Poppies were sold by Okalona Camp Fire Girls, directed by Mrs. M. K. Foster. Charlene Danford led in total sales with $24. Betty Nash was second.

Other salesgirls included: Betty Jean Jones, Eunice Klett, Norma Price, Jewell Gregg, Jane Ann Floyd, Rachel Stewart, Elinor Stinson, Aileen Stubbs, Shirley Ann Parsons, and Helen Jarrott.

"Members of the post appreciate the assistance given them in the poppy sale both by the girls and by persons who purchased flowers," said Carter. "The money will be well spent."

Oil Production Control Bill Is Modified By Proponents

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP) — The administration's oil production control bill was modified tentatively today by a senate subcommitee in executive session, as proponents strove for speedy action on both sides of the capitol next week.

The scope of the revisions adopted by the sub-committee, still to be proposed to the whole committee for a vote not later than Tuesday, could not be learned. Senator Thomas (D-Utah), sub-committee chairman, said, however, he believed the bill now would be "much more acceptable" to all factions.

William Gibbs McAdoo Is To Fly To Home In California

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, who has had a long siege of illness at navy hospital, will celebrate his convalescence by flying to California.

"I'm up and about now," the senator said today. "It's just a question of regaining my strength."

"My daughter Ellen and I will take off for the west coast in my ship tomorrow morning," McAdoo told reporters.

Lubbock Area Growing In Importance As Southwest Cattle Feeding Center

Three Big Programs Are Under Way In Local Section

By J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

THREE of the largest cattle full-feeding programs in the Southwest are located within 50 miles of Lubbock and the animals fed in these projects represent over 40 per cent of the more than 50,000 head of cattle that will be fed during the current year which closes about August 31.

LEWIS

Between September 1, 1933 and August 31 1934, approximately 50,000 head of cattle and 120,000 head of sheep will have been fed, a survey of the 16 counties in this section shows. While this is not the largest number of cattle fed, it is by far the largest number of sheep.

Number Is Cut Down

Adverse conditions that have prevailed in the cattle industry during the past year, in all probability, reduced the number of animals that were put on feed. It is believed that the total would have exceeded the 60,000 head of 1932-33 had conditions been better.

Not included in the cattle feeding is the many hundreds of heads of animals fed in small numbers by farmers, mostly for beef uses at home or in less than carload lots and sold to local buyers or trucked to markets. No check has been possible of this work, but it is indicated by reports from county agents, bankers, feeders and farmers that many scores of farmers, especially in the larger counties, fed out animals. Had these been included, it is believed the number would have been increased 5,000 to 10,000 head more.

Lubbock Trails Tery

Lubbock county is trailing Terry this year, there being 11,000 head reported on feed in that county compared to 10,451 in Lubbock. Lamb county is third with, 7,805 and Hockley fourth with 5,120.

In sheep feeding Hale is first with 51,125 head and Lubbock second with 21,345. Hockley is third with

Boy's Jugular Vein Severed

Youth Living Near Spur Shot Accidentally By Playmate; Funeral Services Are Held Saturday Afternoon

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

SPUR, May 26.—Funeral for 7-year-old William Nutt, accidentally shot by an 11-year-old playmate about 5:30 p. m. Friday, was conducted at Red Mud community, 9 miles southwest of here this afternoon, Webber Williams Funeral home reported.

His jugular vein severed by a bullet from a small caliber rifle, the child bled to death before he could be brought here. Had not the vein been severed, the wound probably would not have been serious.

Accidentally Shot

Inquest verdict was death from accidental gunshot. Harold McClain, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. McClain, 10 1-2 miles southwest of here, held the rifle. Nutt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ples Nutt, was in the McClain home when shot. Nutts and McClains are neighbors.

The child was survived by his parents and three brothers and sisters.

Escaped Arizona Convict Sentenced To A Life Term

LAWTON, Okla., May 26. (AP) — Melvin Gatlin, 23, escaped Arizona convict, was sentenced to life imprisonment today for the $1 armed robbery of Jess Forbes, Lawton gin operator, last October.

Formal sentence of life imprisonment also was passed upon Luther Gatlin, his brother, convicted in the same robbery. The penalty in the latter case was fixed by the jury but was left to District Judge E. L. Richardson in the former.

River Bottoms Are Searched For Constable After Slaying In Oklahoma 'Bad Blood' Feud

Fugitive's Friends Believe That He Will Surrender To Officers After Danger Of Violence Is Past

(By The Associated Press)

THACKERVILLE, Okla., May 26.—Constable John Smith, who is sought for the slaying of Sheriff Sam H. Randolph of Love county here late Friday after a "bad blood" quarrel was still at large late today as posses searched the river bottoms and guarded bridges.

Randolph was shot through the heart in a grocery store, allegedly after slapping the constable in the face when Smith made what was considered an insulting remark concerning the officer's work.

Witnesses Quoted

"Don't believe a word of it," witnesses quoted the constable as saying. They said the sheriff, who had driven down to Thackerville from Marietta, the county seat, with Undersheriff Lovell Green on a trip in the interest of his campaign for re-election, did not think Smith was serious at first, but when the constable repeated the remark, Randolph struck him in the face.

Green was outside the store tacking up a campaign card. He rushed in as Smith fired a bullet into the sheriff's chest. Green said the 60-year-old constable then threatened him as he grabbed the undersheriff's pistol and fled in an automobile.

Smith's friends expressed belief he would await an opportune mo-

Young Democrats Gather In City

Between 25 and 30 members of Young Democratic clubs in Lubbock and adjacent cities and counties met at banquet at Hotel Lubbock last night to honor two of their officials.

The latter were Thad Scott, of of Houston, National committeeman from Texas, and Raymond Buck, Ft. Worth, chairman of the State Executive committee. The men arrived in Lubbock yesterday afternoon to meet in caucus with South Plains leaders of their organization. Mr. Buck was accompanied by his wife.

Mel Janes, president of the Lubbock club, presided at the program which followed the banquet and preceded a Victory dance at Hotel Hilton. The official visitors were welcomed by Chas. A. Guy and they later spoke concerning the organization and its plans. Dr. W. A. Jackson, head of the department of government at Texas Tech, and Henry T. Kimbro, another guest, spoke briefly concerning the Young Democrat movement and its objectives.

World's Fair Is Opened As Bands Blare In Parade

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 26. — Blaring bands and marching troops swung down the avenue of flags in the gay and gala premiere of the 1934 world's fair.

Thousands lined the main artery of a Century of Progress exposition as the colorful procession proceeded to the Lagoon theater to hear addresses of welcome from city, state and fair officials.

Keehn Leads Parade

Major General R. D. Keehn, grand marshal of the parade, led the extensive parade down Michigan boulevard. The picturesque black horse troop, regiments of infantry, cavalry and artillery, and naval contingents tramped behind him as an escort to Governor Henry Horner of Illinois, Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, President Rufus Dawes of the fair and other dignitaries.

A benign sun shone upon the audience assembled in the crescent-shaped amphitheater when the speakers appeared on the stage of the Lagoon theater.

Another Epochal Event

"Chicago stands at the doorway of another epochal event in its civic history," Mayor Kelly told auditors who had registered from every state in the union. "This year's fair is repeated by request and is a still more gigantic spectacle than last year's exposition.

"There is no question but conditions are better from an economic viewpoint. We should praise God that we have a leader of such worth at the head of our government, President Roosevelt, through his

Two Men Seek To Land Plane In California After A Non-Stop Jaunt; Mother Fails To Stop Venture

(By The Associated Press)

LEBOURGET, France, May 27. (Sunday) — Heading westward for California on a 6,100-mile non-stop flight, the veteran French fliers Paul Codos and Maurice Rossi soared into a dawn-streaked sky today in the plane which holds the present world record.

They took off at 4:10 a. m. (11:10 p. m., eastern standard time) laden with more than 2,000 gallons of fuel and rose slowly and steadily after bumping dangerously over 5,000 feet of runway.

Time Is Ripe

Suddenly deciding Saturday, after weeks of quiet preparation, that the time was ripe, the two fliers who flew 5,635 miles in 1933 from New York to Syria, set out on the most ambitious non-stop westward flight ever undertaken.

Weather reports favored them in their dangerous westward Atlantic journey. Last reports, shortly before 10 o'clock Saturday night, said the weather was good over the Atlantic, with tail winds.

Coste On Hand

The fliers took off within 10 minutes of the time they had announced. Their wives and Rossi's weeping mother were not at the field, but they were waved on their way by Dieudonne Coste, who made the westward crossing of the Atlantic with Maurice Bellonte, and by Madame Louis Bleriot, wife of the builder of the plane they flew.

"We are going just as far as we can," said Rossi, as he climbed into the ship's cabin before the take-off and seated himself at the controls. "We don't know just where we will land, but we hope it will be somewhere on the Pacific coast between San Francisco and San Diego."

No Time For Dinner

Both aviators remained at Rossi's home all during the evening, so busy

Navy Grooms Battle Craft To Stage Sea Power Spectacle For President

Massive Warships in Column Formation

BY ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP) When President Roosevelt reviews the fleet at New York on May 31, the demonstration of the nation's "first line of defense" is expected to be one of the most spectacular since President Theodore Roosevelt sent 16 battleships around the world 27 years ago.

Coming from war games in the Caribbean, the long column of 90 ships will steam in from the Atlantic past Ambrose lightship into New York harbor with guns roaring the presidential salute, battle flags flying at the mastheads and crews in full dress manning the rails.

America's floating fortresses loom on the horizon. This photograph, taken from the aircraft carrier Saratoga, shows the navy's battleships as they will p'ough single file through Atlantic waters to pass in review before President Roosevelt on May 31. Navy planes, shown here on their mobile landing fields, will roar into the sky to demonstrate maneuvers over New York's skyline.

Navy officials report that the 26,000 men of the fleet, "every man jack of them," are on their toes to make a good showing when they pass in review and salute the commander-in-chief. Naval planes in snappy formation will soar far above New York's skyscrapers, dip down and law smoke screens, like billowy balls of cotton, about the gray warships.

President's Hawaiian Cruise

Added interest is attached to this mustering of the sea power because of the government's recent moves to bring the navy up to London treaty strength and because of the president's forthcoming cruise to Hawaii, crossroads of a Pacific ruffled by developments in the orient.

Residents of the eastern and gulf seaboards and visitors to those coasts will have an unusual opportunity this summer to see the United States fleet engaged in maneuvers and at anchorage in ports from Maine to Texas.

After the review on May 31 the fleet, with the exception of the aircraft carriers Saratoga and Lexington, will remain in New York harbor until June 18. The carriers will proceed to Hampton Roads, Va. On June 18 the scouting force will go to the base at Hampton Roads, making visits to ports south of New York and as far as St. Augustine, Fla.

Tactical Exercises

The battle force will go to Newport, R. I., and visit ports north of New York over July 4. From July 9 to 11, there will be general tactical exercises of the fleet. From July 12 to August 12 the scouting force will base at Provincetown, Mass., making visits to ports north of Cape Cod and engaging in gunnery exercises.

During the same month, the battle force will base at Newport certain units visiting ports south of Cape Cod, including New York. From August 13 to September 16 the scouting force will base at Newport, visiting ports north of New York. The battle force, less the destroyers, will base at Hampton Roads and make visits to ports between that place and New York.

On September 17 the entire fleet will proceed to the Caribbean, holding tactical exercises en route. Between September 24 and November 1 the fleet will base in the Guantanamo area, visiting Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico ports.

Slight Decline For Death Rate Seen Last Year

WASHINGTON, May 26.—(AP) — America's death rate fell slightly in 1933, judging from figures just released by the Public Health service, but heart disease, circulatory disease and cancer continued to take an increasing toll.

Human endurance and medical skill showed a higher percentage of victories than in 1932 over some other important causes of death, however, including pneumonia, apoplexy, nervous diseases, tuberculosis, influenza, diphtheria, typhoid fever and deaths in childbirths.

Cross-Section Of Country

The Public Health service report covers 23 states and the District of Columbia, all that gather complete statistics such as are needed for compiling the figures, but is believed to give a roughly accurate cross-section of conditions throughout the country. Nearly 80 million persons, about two-thirds of the population of the nation, live in the territory covered.

The death rate, from all causes, was 10.6 per 1,000 population in 1933, as compared to 10.9 in 1932 and 11.0 in 1931. Three depression years did not serve to send it upward.

Chart Of Toll

The toll taken by several leading causes of death, per 100,000 population, in 1933 as compared with the two previous years was:

Cause of Death	1933	1932	1931
Diseases of circulation	257.3	254.9	246.9
Diseases of heart	225.3	221.4	212.9
Cancer, all forms	105.8	103.8	100.5
Diseases of nervous system	102.9	105.4	106.1
Diseases of respiratory system	91.8	90.8	95.5
Cerebral hemorrhage and apoplexy	80.2	81.9	80.6
Nephritis (kidney ills)	79.0	81.2	80.7
Pneumonia	70.3	78.4	83.1
Diseases of digestive system	68.0	68.5	74.1

Both children and mothers now have a slightly better chance of survival at the time of birth than in 1931, the figures show. Total infant mortality was 56 per 1,000 live births as against 60 in 1931, although there was no decrease from 1932. Deaths of mothers in childbirth, however, have dropped steadily, being 6.1 per 1,000 live births in 1931, 5.9 in 1932 and 5.6 in 1933.

Diphtheria Down

Diphtheria, once one of the heaviest scourges of children, took fewer lives than whooping cough in 1933. Deaths from measles and lethargic encephalitis increased slightly, and infantile paralysis deaths remained the same as in 1932, although the figure, 0.7 per 100,000, was a large drop from 1931, when the rate was 2.0 per 100,000.

Almost all the leading causes of death took a smaller toll in 1933 than 1932 except cancer, heart and circulatory diseases, including hardening of the arteries, blocking of arteries and veins by clots, high blood pressure and inflammation of blood vessels.

The tuberculosis death rate dropped as follows: 1931, 64.8 per 100,000; 1932, 60.4; 1933, 56.4. Diabetes showed a very slight drop in 1933 compared with 1932.

Following is the territory included in the Public Health service figures: Alabama, California, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota Montana, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin.

Lewis Funeral Services Are Conducted Here On Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. H. C. Lewis, 22, of Ropesville, who died early Saturday in a sanitarium here, were conducted at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Asbury Methodist Episcopal church. Burial, directed by Sanders Funeral home, was in Lubbock cemetery.

Mrs. Lewis' death was attributed to a blood-stream infection following child-birth. The widower and a 12-day-old daughter survived.

Levelland Masons To Hold Barbecue

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

LEVELLAND, May 25.—Levelland Masons will stage their annual barbecue on the court house square here Monday night, officers of the lodge announced.

Masons from neighboring lodges, including Brownfield, Littlefield, Tahoka, Lubbock, Lamesa, O'Donnell, Seagraves, Seminole, Slaton and other towns, are expected. Members of the families are invited, as well as the men.

Several well known Masonic leaders from this section have been invited to speak. Local speakers also are on the program.

Last year the lodge held its first barbecue. So successful was the affair that the lodge decided to repeat it this year. The lodge is furnishing the meat for the occasion and local members are being asked to bring pies, cakes, etc.

Former Van Zandt Residents To Hold Gathering In City

Former Van Zandt county residents now living on the South Plains are expected here today for an all-day picnic, singing and get-together at Shannon park, east of the city on Broadway.

The program includes a sing-song starting at 10 o'clock, with preaching at 11 o'clock by Rev. W. B. Wages, of Lubbock, a former Van Zandt county minister. At noon there will be a basket picnic.

In the afternoon there will be a continuation of the sing-song, followed by short talks by former residents. It is also planned to form an organization to continue the social events annually. H. M. McEachern, Woodrow school principal, is acting chairman of the program committee.

Death Claims Labor Leader

William Bauchop Wilson, Who Was First Labor Secretary, Dies At Age Of 72 Aboard Train Headed For Capital

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—William Bauchop Wilson, the nation's first secretary of labor, is dead at the age of 72.

Ill for many months, but nevertheless carrying on his duties as an arbiter in the Illinois mine fields, Wilson died last night aboard a train on his way from Miami, Florida, to Washington. The body was taken from the train at Savanah, Ga., his daughter was with him at the end.

Served Under Wilson

A member of congress for six years, Wilson left the house in 1913 to serve in President Wilson's cabinet. He was made chief of the then newly created department of labor.

During the war years and until 1921 he served on the council of national defense. Throughout the same period he was a member of the federal board for vocational education, and served as chairman from 1920 to 1921.

Wilson was born in Blantyre, Scotland, April 2, 1862. Coming to America at the age of eight years, he mixed a common school education with work in the mines. Later he received honorary degrees from both Maryland Agricultural college and Ursinus college.

Interested in mining and the problems of miners throughout his career, Wilson was a member of the committee that created the United Mine Workers of America. Later he helped revise and codify the bituminous mining laws for Pennylvania.

His home was at Blossburg, Pennsylvania.

Electrical Code Meeting Set Here

As all firms engaged in electrical construction will be affected, attendance of their representatives in 19 Texas and 10 New Mexico counties at a district code compliance meeting here Monday is anticipated.

Frank White, local electrical contractor, has announced that presence of all contractors, whether or not individually invited, is desired. George E. Broome, district chairman, of Amarillo has called the meeting, which will begin at 2 p. m. and will be at Lubbock hotel.

Arrangements for full enforcement of the code in this division will be made, it was announced. R. L. Fletcher of Lubbock is assistant chairman of the division compliance board.

Greenland has only two newspapers; these are circulated at government expense as necessary to keep the people informed.

A Gift To The President

Sidney Fox And Her Husband Decide To Try It Over Again

HOLLYWOOD, May 26. (AP)—After several separations, reconciliations and finally a divorce, Sidney Fox, film actress, and Charles Beahan, screen writer, have decided to reunite.

The couple announced today they would take steps to have a divorce decree granted to Miss Fox last April 19 set aside. The reconciliation came about shortly after Beahan's return from a business trip to New York.

"Yes," Beahan said, "we intended to start out anew with faith things will work out satisfactorily for us and I hope this will be the last time we will find it necessary to discuss our domestic life. Our attorneys will be instructed to set aside the divorce at once."

Married in December, 1932, they separated last January. Eighteen days later they made up. Another separation followed. Then came a divorce suit in February. A week later the complaint was withdrawn. Last March the second divorce action was begun, ending in the interlocutory decree.

Annual Reunion Of Floyd County Pioneers Is To Be Staged On Monday

Day's Program Is Announced

Several Hundred Persons Are Expected To Attend Affair; Old Settlers Of County Are To Make Addresses

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

FLOYDADA, May 26.—Annual reunion of Floyd county pioneers who came to this section of the South Plains will be held here Monday, May 28, to observe the 44th anniversary of the organization of the county. Residents of the county for 25 years or more are eligible to membership in the organization.

George L. Fawver, president and Tom W. Dean, secretary, announced everything was ready. The program will be held on the city hall lawn, instead of the courthouse as in previous years.

Many Are Expected

Between 300 and 500 residents and former residents are expected to attend. Besides these, there will be several hundred of their families present for the occasion.

Starting with registration at 10 a. m., followed by a singing program at 10:30, Mrs. Sarah K. Duncan and her twin brother, J. J. Day, two of the oldest settlers in the county, will give the welcome talks. Response will be by W. B. Clark of Floydada and Mrs. May Fullingim, of Lorenzo.

To Serve Lunch

At noon lunch will be served on the ground. Rev. R. E. L. Muncy, a pioneer minister, will give the invocation. Out-of-town visitors will be guests of local people.

The afternoon program includes "Home on the Range," by a male quartet, followed by the principal address, by Claude V. Hall, East Texas State Teachers college, Commerce. J. I. Carter, Arlington, is to talk and there will be short, informal talks by old timers. At 4 p. m. a parade will be held.

Officers will be named during the afternoon.

During the day, officers and directors of the West Texas Old Settlers reunion, meeting annually August 15 at the Hank Smith place between here and Crosbyton, will meet to discuss plans. J. B. Jenkins, Floydada, is president and W. T. "Bill" Dunn, Crosbyton, secretary.

Lowly Sorghum May Rival Corn In Dry Regions

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP) — Sorghum, despised sweetening in pioneer homesteads, is beginning to shed its bad habits through the alchemy of genetic experiments by department of agriculture and state experiment station specialists.

Since 1919 experiments have been under way in the bureau of plant industry and experiment stations in the southwest to produce varieties of sorghum which would stand straight, produce heavy heads, and be palatable for livestock.

As a result the new varieties—such as Atlas, Wheatland, and pink Kaffir—show possibilities of replacing corn as a major grain crop in dry areas and changing the livestock feeding map of the country. Inclusion of grain sorghums as basic commodities under the agricultural adjustment act has lent added interest to the potentialities of the new crops.

Nine States Raise 'Em

Sorghums have been known as agricultural crops for 2,200 years and were introduced into the United States in 1850 but have been largely ignored until recently, except where grown in small patches to provide a poor sweetening or poultry feed.

Within the past few years, however, the varieties have demonstrated their value as a sure crop and have begun to be extensively raised in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Arizona and California.

In these 9 states last year 8,143,000 acres planted to sorghums yielded 87,884,000 bushels valued on the farm at $35,802,000.

'Fool-Proof' Crop

The new sorghums come close to being the farm ideal of a fool-proof crop. They may be planted as late as July 1 after corn or wheat have been burned out, can be drilled in or planted in hills, require little care through the summer, and may be left in the field until after snow flies with only a small percentage of loss.

At the Kansas experiment station, cost records, which did not include taxes or land charges, were kept. Wheatland milo when planted with a grain drill in 14-inch rows and not cultivated was produced for 15 cents a bushel and wielded 33.38 bushels an acre.

Ten-Year-Old Boy Takes Precedence Over Executives With Auto Leader

CHICAGO, May 26. (AP) — A 10-year-old boy from Boston, Mass., took precedence over a half dozen executives at the world's fair today when he was taken on a tour of the new Ford exhibit by Henry Ford himself.

The boy was Geoffrey Herman and Mr. Ford, hatless and coatless, came upon the youth at the Ford exhibit. They struck up an acquaintanceship and Mr. Ford proceeded to guide him around. Soon other boys joined the impromptu tour and it became a pilgrimage with Mr. Ford leading the way.

Meanwhile, secretaries of the Detroit auto leader caught up with their superior and reminded him of previous engagements with men high in the world of business and finance.

"Mr. Ford," pleaded one, "you're not going to get any place today going like this. We can secure books for these boys and they can get all the statistics out of them."

"I'll give the statistics myself," was his reply. "The boys come first. We don't need to be afraid of anything in this country if we train our boys right. I don't get a chance like this very often. Come on boys. What did you say, Geoffrey?"

It was left to the secretaries to do the explaining to those waiting.

Shudders And Shivers Are Projected Across Footlights Of New York With Chilling New Production Of Mystery

BY MARK BARON
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, May 26. —Broadway now presents an item which has been lacking too long—a hit murder mystery play.

"Invitation To a Murder" is one of those chilling, thrilling documents that tingles with the eerie excitement of "The Bat," "The Spider" and other similar plays replete on the Rialto a number of seasons ago, but considerably scarce lately.

Experts Combine

Two of the town's most artful mystery experts combined to turn out "Invitation To a Murder"—Rufus King to write it, and Ben Stein to produce it. The author has maneuvered his exciting episodes with his usual cleverness, and Stein has given the play such a sympathetic production there should no longer be any doubt he is to murder mystery operas what the late Ziegfeld was to musical folderols.

The setting is the ancestral castle of one of those pioneer California families that ruled when that western domain was something of a feudal state. A regal, Borgia-like grand dame is convinced that one of her heirs is trying to murder her. So she has invited them all for a visit, while, in her cunning way, she attempts to discover the one who has plans on her life.

Tempts Physician

In her murderous manipulations, she enlists the services of a young physician by tempting him with enough money that he may retire and devote his time to medical experiments in which he is interested. Her idea is borrowed from Juliet, in that the doctor will inject into her a drug that will make her seem as dead. Then she will return from the tomb, and discover which one of her heirs it was who wanted to end her life. With cold blooded cunning, she begins her plans and even attempts to throw blame for her criminal acts on the doctor.

The scene where she rises from her coffin and lures her victims into seemingly inescapable traps is as dramatically frightening as could be imagined. Gale Sondergaard, as the murderous grand dame, combines all the homicidal tendencies of the Borgias in her impersonation. Walter Abel is just as tense and fearful in his acting of the weak and foolish doctor, and the remainder of the cast is excellent.

"Invitation To a Murder" is a welcome addition to the playbill for those who like to glean their shudders and shivers from across the footlights.

Barrow-Parker Reign Of Terror Ends As Grave Closes Over Gun Mo

Funeral Rites Read Saturday

Mother Of Bandit Woman Becomes Hysterical As She Arrives At Funeral Home For The Services

DALLAS, May 26 (AP) — The reign of terror of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker as the southwest's worst killers in a generation ended today as the grave closed over Bonnie, 23-year-old, red-haired, machine-gunning "moll."

Neighbors from West Dallas who had known Bonnie since childhood trampled weeds and graves in the old Fishtrap cemetery to witness the last rites, which were accompanied by the hum of newsreel cameras.

Barrows Send Wreath

Floral wreaths included one sent by the Barrow family, which buried the outlaw Clyde yesterday in a cemetery a mile away, beside the grave of his brother, Buck, killed a year ago in a gun fight with officers at Dexter, Iowa.

The Rev. Clifford Andrews, after reading the 90th psalm, spoke today of Bonnie as he had at the Barrow funeral, saying he "loved Bonnie, because God loved her."

"From what I have heard," he said, "I am sure that deep down in her heart, this young lady had a yearning for a better life."

Group Is Guarded

Even as he spoke, the funeral group was guarded from disorder by policemen who had spent weary hours searching for Bonnie and her killer companion whose career marked a trail of death among peace officers across the middle west.

Only about a hundred of Bonnie's relatives and friends attended private services at a funeral chapel. Police lines held in check a crowd of several hundred which milled around outside.

Billie Mace, 21-year-old sister of Bonnie, fainted when she saw her body, for the first time in many weeks. Billie came to Dallas under heavy guard from Fort Worth, where she has been held on a murder charge for the slaying of two highway patrolmen near Grapevine on Easter Sunday.

Returned To Jail

Billie was returned to Fort Worth without attending the service at the cemetery.

District Judge George C. Hosey permitted her to leave Fort Worth only after the district attorney told him that the state's case against her hinged on ballistic tests which could not be completed until next week.

Mrs. Emma Parker, mother of the girls, arrived at the funeral home on the arms of relatives, and, as she glanced at Bonnie for the last time became hysterical. She fainted twice Thursday when she saw the body several hours after it arrived from Louisiana.

Killed In Ambush

Clyde and Bonnie were killed near Arcadia when officers called on them to halt as they sped down a gravel road and then fired a barrage of bullets when Clyde, at the wheel, reached for his own weapon.

The tremendous crowds which surged about the funeral homes where the bodies lay Thursday and yesterday were absent today but 300 curious persons stood outside as the funeral services at the undertaking establishment began. Police provided a motorcycle escort for the small coterie of relatives.

Memorial Day To Be Observed Here

Customary Memorial day services will be conducted here Wednesday by Allen Bros. post, No. 148, of the American Legion, and its woman's auxiliary.

Dr. V. V. Clark is general chairman.

Legionnaires and auxiliary members will meet at Legion hall at 6 p. m. Memorial day. After ceremonies there, the group, with a firing squad led by W. E. Lavender, will go to Lubbock cemetery. The general public also may go to the cemetery, where additional services will be conducted.

Graves of Civil, Spanish-American, and world wars will be decorated.

Riley F. Huie, as post commander, will have a part in the program.

Bonnie's Mother Is Grief-Stricken

Her body shaken by sobs, her face buried in a handkerchief, Mrs. Emma Parker, mother of the notorious Bonnie, is shown leaving the funeral home after viewing the body of her wayward daughter.

Davidson Asks District Post

M. N. (Uncle Dave) Davidson, Veteran Peace Officer, Out For District Clerk; Served On Local Police Force

M. N. (Uncle Dave) Davidson, veteran peace officer and office-holder, announced yesterday he would be a candidate for district courts clerk in the Democratic primaries.

After nine years on Lubbock police department, serving under three police chiefs, Davidson was one of eight men leaving the department when the force was realigned under a new regime recently. While a police he became known familiarly as "Uncle Dave."

Clerk Of King County

Mr. Davidson served six years, or three terms, as county-district clerk of King county and two terms as tax assessor of Stonewall county. He was night desk sergeant of the police force here six years.

"Loss of my job in the police department, though no fault of mine, resulted in my late entry in this race," he explained.

"I refer the voters to anyone in the City hall, or to anyone else here or elsewhere who knows me, as to character and ability."

Support Is Asked

He said he would wage a vigorous campaign, but that he would be unable to meet all voters because of his late entry in the campaign. "I will appreciate your support even though I do not see you," he added.

Mr. Davidson, a Lubbock resident 10 years, has a family consisting of a wife and 10 children.

"I will try to give fair and impartial service," he explained. "I feel that my past experience in public offices makes me fully capable to fill the office I seek."

Insurance Cases Are Investigated

HOUSTON, May 26. (AP)—Postoffice inspectors here today pushed an investigation into what they characterized as an insurance "swindle" in which postmasters and postal employes in the smaller communities of New Mexico, Texas and other southern and southwestern states were the alleged victims.

One man was under arrest here on charges of using the mails to defraud. He was H. L. Bramble, 35, a salesman.

Bail Is Set

Bail of $1,000 set by United States Commissioner W. F. Carothers.

The charges were filed by Postoffice Inspector H. H. Black.

The scheme, Black said, was this: A man representing himself as an agent for a legitimate insurance concern of Denver, Colo., would call on the postmasters and postal employes in the smaller communities. He would claim that the postoffice department was actively supporting the concern; that the department desired the employes to take out insurance polices with that company.

After selling a policy—ordinarily a $1,000 one—he would give a receipt for the $6 premium and then would cause a policy of an entirely different company to be sent to the purchaser.

Black claimed Bramble worked for an insurance agency in Houston, the name of which was on the policies sent some of the complaining postmasters.

Japs To Give Up Claims To Naval Parity

Anglo-American Combine At 1936 Conference Is Feared By Nipponese; Will Seek Higher Treaty Ratio

BY GLENN BABB

(Copyright, 1934, By Associated Press)

TOKYO, May 26—Japan, fearing an Anglo-American combine at the 1935 naval conference, is ready, it was indicated today, to abandon any claims to naval parity with the United States and Great Britain.

These claims never have been enunciated by responsible officials. They have been hinted so strongly, however, that most observers had come to anticipate a vigorous demand for parity.

Higher Rates Sought

Instead, it was inferred by some officials and in editorial comment, the empire now is willing to forego parity claims provided Japan is given a higher ratio and theoretical equality.

Tokyo leaders have repeatedly emphasized their determination to oppose maintenance of the present 5-5-3 treaty naval ratios among the United States, Britain and Japan.

The new trends cropped out as a high official source made known London likely will be notified within the next 24 hours of Japans willingness to engage in discussions preliminary to the 1935 naval conference.

In these discussions, the Japanese government plans to pry into the much-discussed questions of naval limitation as well as helping lay the groundwork for the conference.

Want Talks With U. S.

While making plans to accept Britain's invitation, officials made no secret of their eagerness to receive a like opportunity for preliminary talks at Washington.

Tokyo's three leading vernacular newspapers — the Asahi, Jiji and Hochi—were united in the well-known contention for "new agreements fairer and more reasonable," as enunciated a day or so ago by Admiral Tsuneyoshi Sakano, chief of the navy office's propaganda bureau.

They insisted, however, that Japan's genuine desires are "Misunderstood."

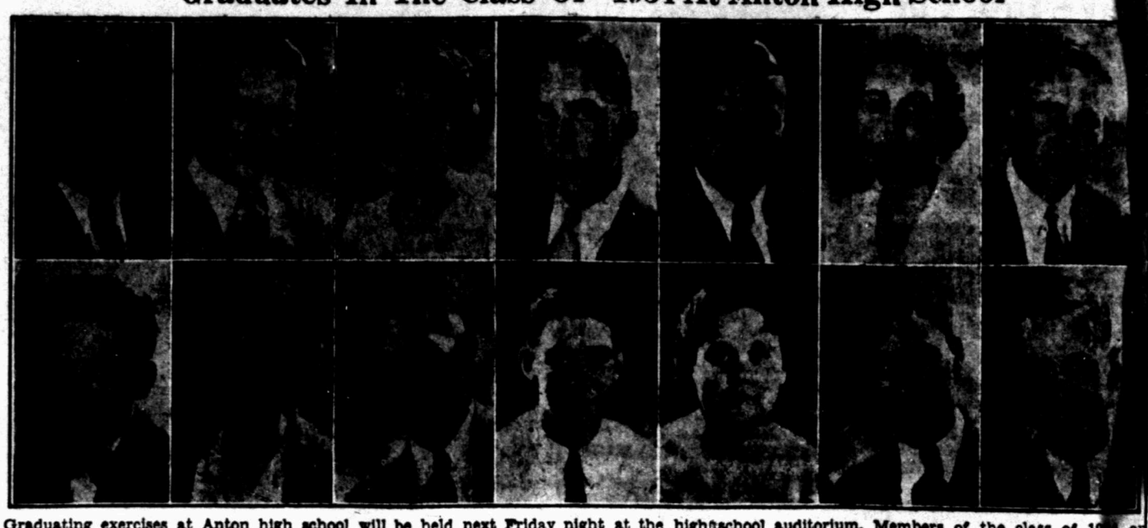

"It is far from Japan's intention to demand parity with Great Britain and America," said the Asahi in an editorial, "but present agreements compel Japan to maintain certain categories of war ships she does not need, and which constitute a burden.

"Japan insists that each nation possesses sovereign rights to make its own decisions on questions of national defense and security."

Then, grimly, it was added:

"Unless the United States and Great Britain take altered conditions into consideration the next naval conference will be futile."

Graduates In The Class Of 1934 At Anton High School

Graduating exercises at Anton high school will be held next Friday night at the high school auditorium. Members of the class of 19[illegible] are pictured above. Living Beyond Age Of 100 Is No Fun, Says Woman Who Will Be 104 Today

RIDGEFIELD, Conn., May 26 (AP)—Mrs. Eliza Gage Wade says living beyond the age of 100 isn't so much fun.

She speaks with some authority, for tomorrow she observes her 104th birthday anniversary.

"If anyone tells you it's fun to live to be 100 and over," she said, "don't believe him. I always wanted to have a large family and to die at an early age. Here I am, 104, and living with my only daughter."

Mrs. Wade, believed to be Connecticut's oldest resident, hasn't allowed her age to interfere with her sense of humor.

She recalled that recently she displayed a little awkwardness in stirring her afternoon cup of tea and remarked:

"Anybody would think I was an old woman."

A slight woman weighing less than 50 pounds, Mrs. Wade will spend tomorrow quietly. Among the birthday greetings she will receive will be a bouquet of 104 carnations from her neighbor, Sydney B. Farrar, father of Geraldine, the singer.

To those who wish to live long Mrs. Wade's advice is "eat to live" rather than "live to eat." She has been a vegetarian for years and never drinks water.

There are several regions in the world, especially in Africa, where money is unknown as a means to facilitate barter.

McCraw Political Rally Is Held At Winnsboro Saturday

WINNSBORO, May 26. (Special)—William McCraw, Dallas Candidate for attorney general declared the office he sought "demands a man in prime of life both mentally and physically able to meet the responsibility that is his" at a rally here this afternoon.

Representatives of seven counties greeted the candidate here as he swung into East Texas after what he described as four days of "going strong" in West Texas.

"I present my candidacy to you free of all political obligations," he said. "I have no political enemies to punish nor friends to reward."

IRRIGATION RATE

MULESHOE, (Special)—The city commission has inaugurated an irrigation rate for the summer to water users. A 5,000 gallon minimum per month for $2 for garden and yard usage, is for residents only.

The United States Geological Survey has a map of the Chicago district, which is so complete that even golf bunkers are shown.

Again we say

are good enough for your table

WHAT a misfortune it is to buy the freshest of meats, eggs, fruits and vegetables and then to serve them with the original flavor gone! Ever-present moulds, yeasts and bacteria are never "caught napping." Let temperatures rise above 50 degrees—even for a brief period—and spoilage has started. It has been estimated that spoiled foods cost the average family $62.95 a year—to say nothing of stale, flavorless foods that are "still good enough to eat."

No food is "good enough" for your table after it loses its native, zestful flavor! It's unfair to your family to ask them to eat stale foods. The fact is, you can serve foods that are always garden fresh for less than it's already costing for groceries. Simply install a silent automatic Gas Refrigerator and you'll banish all food spoilage henceforth. Moreover, the Gas Refrigerator operates for less than [illegible] per day.

PLAN CEREMONIES

FLOYDADA, May 26. (Special) — Memorial day services for the dead of all wars, buried in the Floydada cemetery, will be held here Sunday, it was announced. McDermett post of the American Legion will be in charge.

Former service men will meet down town at 2:30 and march to the cemetery, where the program will be held. Graves will be decorated.

Here's The Way Races Will Be Started At Amarillo Race Meet

AMARILLO, May 26.—Only the newest and best equipment will be used this spring by the Tri-State fair's racing committee for this spring meet here June 15 to 25. The track is in fine shape, stables in splendid repair, and grandstand spic and span. However, one of the biggest improvements will be the use of a padded starting gate, pictured above. It is practically impossible for a horse to be injured in starting from this set of stalls. The horse is backed up into the proper stall, and gets away to an even start when the starter releases the barrier. C. H. McMillan of San Saba will be the official starter. He will bring the 12 gate starting stall to Amarillo early enough so that many horses can get in some practice starting from it.

Leaders Of Science And Industry See Vastly Improved World In 100 Years

CHICAGO, May 26 (AP)—Five hundred of the nation's leaders in science and industry last night pushed aside the curtains of the future and pictured the world as they expect it to be 100 years from now. Higher standards of living were predicted rather than a division of what we now have. They saw:

Elimination of infectious disease.

Electric motors run by sunlight.

Slums eliminated by low cost prefabricated houses.

Multimotored air liners flying the oceans on frequent schedules.

These and scores of other scientific marvels were predicted, not as Jules Verne phantasies but as probabilities, by creative specialists who met at the hall of progress in the General Motors building at a Century of Progress at the invitation of Alfred P. Sloan, jr., president of General Motors corporation.

Banishing unanimously the philosophy that the world was finished and the progress was a thing of the past, they gave their answers to Sloan's question, "what will be the future developments in your field?"

Sloan said he wanted to know whether there was any foundation for the belief of pessimists that progress had ceased and that life must be maintained by dividing up available jobs and accepting a lower standard of living. He asserted that he believed that the amount of available work could be expanded continually.

Most of the answers were delivered in person; others were read from manuscript.

Dr. C. H. Mayo and Dr. W. J. Mayo of the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minns., Dr. Raymond Pearl of John Hopkins university, Dr. Morris Fishbein of Chicago, editor of the journal of the American Medical association, predicted that the normal life span soon would be 70 years, instead of the present 60, itself an increase from the 35 years of 1833.

"We are on the eve of things of an entirely different nature," said Charles F. Kettering, vice-president of General Motors. "Everything that ever moved on the earth has been moved by energy which comes directly from the sun."

When this "sun-power" is controlled, he said, it will not be difficult to predict the propulsion of airplanes by radiated energy from power plants located on the ground, or to envision an entire system of aerial transportation unaffected by fog and weather conditions in general.

William R. Seigle, chairman of the Johns-Manville corporation, said office buildings of the future would be built as empty shells, with floors, ceilings and walls inserted according to the tenant's desires.

Amazing progress was predicted for the radio field by Merlin R. Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting company.

"I believe the day will come when you will turn on the fassimile (radio) receiver when retiring, and in the morning the paper tape will tell the story of what flashed through the sky while you were slumbering," He said. "Through radio in the home man will look and hear around the earth as if the globe were but a baseball resting in the palm of his hand."

Regular transcontinental airplane schedules of 15 to 18 hours and multimotored air lines crossing oceans on frequent schedules at approximately 200 miles an hour were envisioned by E. R. Breech, president of North American aviation.

Senator Clint C. Small Has Mapped Strenuous Campaign

AUSTIN, May 26. (AP) — Senator Clint C. Small of Amarillo, candidate for governor, has mapped a strenuous itinerary for next week, the schedule showing dates at four and five towns daily.

It is as follows:

Monday, Columbus, Bastrop, LaGrange, Schulenberg, Eagle Lake; Tuesday, Richmond, East Bernard, Hungerford, Wharton, Bay City; Wednesday, Blessing, Palacios, El Campo, Wharton; Thursday, Edna, Goliad, Beeville, Sinton, Refugio; Friday, Hallettsville, Yorktown, Runge, Kenedy; Saturday, Karnes City, Floresville, Stockdale, Nixon Victoria.

SERVICES TODAY

LAMESA, May 26. (Special)—Former service men will hold their annual Memorial Day services here Sunday at 3 o'clock.

Rev. A. L. Dennis, pastor of the Nazarene church, where the service will be held, will preach. Following graves will be decorated.

Theodore Roosevelt hunted many of the world's most dangerous animals, but the only recorded instance of any wild beast forcing him to climb a tree was when peccaries chased him, after he had emptied his rifle into the herd.

Mullican Sees Chance To Win

Congressional Candidate Has Just Completed Swing Into Southern And Central Area And Expresses Confidence

Col. Clark M. Mullican, judge of the 99th district court, returned yesterday from another swing through the southern and central parts of the new 19th Congressional district and announced upon his return that his congressional campaign is progressing favorably in all sections.

"I find below the caprock", he said, "that it is thought I will be in the runoff race with George Mahon. Above the caprock the opinion is that the second race will be between Arthur P. Duggan and myself. It has been gratifying for me to find my name mentioned is discussion of the runoff in every instance."

"Has Fighting Chance"

Colonel Mullican also said he feels "that I have a fighting chance to reach the runoff and I am now making that fight."

He said he had just completed a series of 12 high school graduating addresses, which have carried him into many sections of the 19th congressional district. His last address of that type was delivered Friday night at Canyon.

A fur seal, returning to its summer home on the Pribilof Islands, after the winter migration, touches land for the first time in seven to nine months, during which time it has covered 5,000 miles.

In Hospital

Virginia Peine Lehman, Chicago socialite known on the screen as Virginia Pine, was taken to a Hollywood hospital for observation and rest. She was suffering from an unexplained illness when she returned from a trip to New York.

Lawson Little Shoots Sensational Golf To Win British Amateur Title

American Wins Over Scot Ace By Wild Score

Californian Blasts Records For 14 And 13 Triumph In Exciting Tilt; Natives In Frenzy Over Victory

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

PRESTWICK, Scotland, May 26.—Literally blinding his opponents with the greatest exhibition of competitive golf ever shot in the championship, W. Lawson Little, 23-year old Pacific Coast husky, today overwhelmed hapless Jimmy Wallace, Scottish carpenter, 14 and 13, to win the British amateur title.

He was the third native American to win the championship. The gallery of upwards of 12,000, which swarmed after the match hopeful of victory for their native idol, gave the square-shouldered American one of the greatest ovations ever accorded a golfer in this country.

Every man, woman and child who watched the long-hitting Little burn up this strenuous seaside course under most trying conditions will remember the invader's red hot 66 to be 12 up at the end of the morning round and his three under par score for the concluding five holes. Wallace did not win a hole.

Gets Over Big

When the new champion and Wallace returned from the 23rd hole, where the slaughter ended, a solid lane of cheering Scots made a triumphant pathway to the clubhouse for the victor and the vanquished. There the spectators remained patiently for another look at Little, who ducked into the clubhouse to change his clothes for presentation of the trophy.

Regardless of their disappointment over Wallace's crushing defeat, the natives of the land of heather love a great golfer and when Little made a charming speech in accepting the trophy they interrupted him after every sentence with a booming cheer.

Throughout the sensational, record-cracking match Little's face was a mask of determination but he smiled when the cup was presented to him by the venerable Marquis Ailsa, acting for the Prince of Wales.

Usurps Jones' Place

As far as 12,000 Scots are concerned, Little now supplants Bobby Jones and the veteran Harry Vardon as the world's greatest golfer. They saw him shoot 23 holes in eight under par, including seven birdies and an eagle three for a new record for this classic tournament.

Little's 66 in the morning shattered the professional course record of 69 hung up by McDonald Smith and smashed the amateur standard of 17 set by E. Blackwell. That sizzling round also created a new low for championship rounds.

Goodness! Two Putts!

Only once in what was to have been a 36-hole match did Little yield to par. The lapse occurred at the sixth hole where he required two putts from six feet for a five. Otherwise he was even with par or under regular figures.

The hunky Californian sent the gallery wild at the 505-yard third hole in the morning. He belted two healthy wood shots to put the ball 15 feet past the cup and then sank the putt for a brilliant eagle three, demoralizing the carpenter who snared a birdie.

Little gained the finals by virtue of victories over the following opponents: R. W. Ripley of Banstead Downs; Lester Rankin of Sunningdale; Eric McRuvie of Scotland; Lionel Munn of Ireland; Gordon Peters of Glascow, and T. A. Bourn of Sunningdale. Bourn was beaten in the 1933 finals by the Hon. Michael Scott who did not defend this year.

Brings Home The Trophy

While Little was scorching the course Johnny Goodman, American open champion, who was put out in the fifth round by Leslie Garnett, looked after transportation of Little's baggage to Liverpool, from where the American Walker Cup players left tonight on the S. S. Laconia on their homeward journey.

Following the precedent established by Bobby Jones in 1930, when he won the championship, Little personally is bringing home the trophy. Jess Sweetser, who was the first native American to win the title, had the cup sent over after him.

Just A Breeze

After several narrow scrapes and tussles, W. Lawson Little, Jr., above, of San Francisco, came into his full stride yesterday to beat James Wallace, Scottish carpenter, by the one-sided score of 14 and 13 to win the British Amateur championship.

Eskimo Matman Grapples Here

Jack Van Bebber To Take On Jacque Eku In Main Event Wednesday; Cyclone Mackey Returns This Week

Jacque, The Eskimo Ear-Wrencher, contends with Jack Van Bebber in the main event of the wrestling show at the auditorium this week.

Eku made his mat debut in this section a couple of weeks ago, fighting Rod Fenton, hungry Canadian lumberjack, at El Paso. Fenton finally won by biting the Alaskan into submission.

The Eskimo is the muscle-tearing strong-man type of grappler, and has a splendid physique, the result of mushing over the icy trails of Alaska. Eku, started wrestling in the gold mining camps, and only recently entered this country.

Jack Keeps Going

This match will be particularly significant to Van Bebber, who is hoping to establish himself as the challenger when Gus Kallio defends his world's middleweight championship this summer at Amarillo. Jack has only lost to Otis Clingman since turning pro last fall and he has been knocking off the toughest importations which Promoter Sled Allen can bring to the local mat.

The durable Clovis welterweight, Cyclone Mackey meets Jittery Joe Bauer in the semi-final Wednesday. Mackey, who has been on a wrestling tour of the East, is one of the strongest and most scientific men in his weight division. Mackey is practically tireless on the mat and he sets a terrific pace for his opponent. Last summer he wrestled Sheik Mar-Allah for three hours in a main bout.

Promoter Allen is arranging a preliminary.

Stanford Athletes Triumph In Intercollegiate AAAA

PHILADELPHIA, May 26. (AP)—Stanford university's small but sturdy band of athletics stars turned the 58th intercollegiate A. A. A. track and field championships into another far western route today, pulling away from all opposition to capture the team trophy with unexpected ease in a meet otherwise featured by two dazzling double victories for "Bullet Bob" Kiesel, University of California spring ace, and Bill Bonthron, Princeton's champion middle distance runner.

HOUSTON, May 26. (AP)—The Houston Buffs today added 18-year old Frank Thompson, highly recommended semi-pro shortstop from Wisconsin, to their roster.

United States To Meet Mexico Next

WILMINGTON, Del., May 26 (AP)—United States against Mexico. That will be the line up for the American zone final of the 29th renewal of the Davis Cup tennis championships next week in Baltimore.

The United States earned the right to meet the players from below the Rio Grande in gaining a 3 to 0 victory over Canada by taking the doubles match for the third point in the opening American zone tie, today on the courts of the Wilmington country club.

George M. Lott, Jr., of Chicago, and John Van Ryn, of East Orange, N. J., defeated Marcel Rainville and Walter Martin, the Maple Leaf representatives, 6-0, 6-4, 6-0 in the doubles.

This followed the two singles victories scored by Lester Stoefen, of Los Angeles, and Francis X. Shields of New York, over Marcel Rainville and Walter Martin, respectively in the opening on Thursday.

The final two singles matches, which have no bearing on the decisive victory scored by the Americans will be played tomorrow. Shields will oppose Watts of the Canadian forces while Stoefen will meet Nunns, third ranking player of Canada.

Cubs Reclaim Second Place With 6-4 Win

Three Pitchers Hold Boston Scoreless Except In Seventh And Cubs Come From Behind To Win

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, May 26.—Held scoreless and to two hits by Ben Cantwell in the first five innings while the Braves gained a four-run lead in the fifth, the Chicago Cubs came from behind today to win the series opener 6 to 4 and to regain second place in the National League standing.

Aniela Gorczyca Wins Women's Go For Second Time

DALLAS, May 26. (AP)—The superior shot-maker of the Women's Texas Golf association, Miss Aniela Gorczyca of Fort Worth, continues to reign supreme as Queen of Texas links. She repulsed the challenge of Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas today in the 36-hole finals of the eighteenth annual tournament, 6 and 5. The impressive victory gave Miss Gorczyca the title for the second consecutive year. She defeated Mrs. Chandler in the finals last year at Galveston, 2 and 1.

The grand finale today did not glitter with sparkling shots. Neither player made the par shots they are capable of. Only one time during the 31 holes was Mrs. Chandler in front. The Dallasite went one up at the fourteenth in the morning round, held her slender lead for the next two holes and then slipped back to be one down at the conclusion of the first eighteen holes.

The challenger was no match for the champion in the afternoon. Miss Gorczyca, playing cautious golf, increased her lead to four up through the 27th hole. She then won two of the final four holes on the back side to make good the pre-tournament consensus that she would retain her title.

WAIT UNTIL BODY IS IN POSITION — THEN HIT

Many golfers make their first mistake at the start of the downswing. They try to hit immediately instead of waiting until the body is in the proper position.

Start the downswing slowly so that the clubhead will go inside the arc and the wrist will not break too soon, wasting their punch and power before the ball is struck.

Ramblers Play Hobbs 9 Today At Local Park

Lubbock Diamondeers Battle To Protect Home Record In Tilt This Afternoon With Tough New Mexico Team

Manager A. D. Allen leads his Hobbs, N. M., baseballers to Lubbock today, weather permitting, for a resumption of warfare with the Lubbock Ramblers. The game is scheduled for College Avenue park here.

The starting time is 2:30 o'clock.

The Hobbs nine, which counts on its roster several former minor league professionals, will be trying to break down the Ramblers' record of no defeats this season on the home grounds, meanwhile striving to maintain a better than even standing with the locals.

Thompson To Pitch

Manager Hollis Payne of the Ramblers said he would start Bull Thompson, star pitcher, against the Hobbs team today. Kelly, a side-arm flinger, is expected to oppose the locals.

Included on the Hobbs lineup are Shorty Burleson, stock shortstop who played that position with the Lubbock Hubbers last season, and Lefty McCann, a slugger who has seen service in the Southern association and who defeated, single handed, the Ramblers recently in Hobbs.

Lubbock's batting order this afternoon has been announced as follows: Blackie Hilliard, 2b; Andy Anderson, ss; Jack Thompson, 3b; Red Gaither, cg; Bill Davidson, lf; Lefty Bettes, 1b; Curtis Allen, rf; Payne, catcher, and Thompson, pitcher.

The Ramblers do not have a game scheduled for next Sunday and are open to invitations and challenges.

Pesky Panthers
Pitt Is Biggest Pain To The Irish

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—The casual sports follower may have the idea that Southern California, because of her string of football triumphs, is Notre Dame's biggest annoyance, athletically.

But the University of Pittsburgh is getting in its whacks, too, in a big way.

Not only have the Panthers drubbed the Irish gridders two seasons in a row, but the Pitt basketball team stopped Notre Dame's winning streak on the court at 22 games, then won the return 1934 engagement, too. And Pitt golfers won one of the two matches the Irish linksmen have lost in four years.

To top it off, a mile relay team from Smoketown took the gymnasium and Central Intercollegiate conference records away from Irish custody in the indoor meet here.

Another Texas Boy About To Make Good In Majors; Know Bus Mills?

BY SHERMAN J. McNALLY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS, May 26. (AP)—Colonel Butler Mills, whom his college contemporaries dubbed "Buster," or just plain "Bus," may be the next Cardinal rookie to follow in the footsteps of such colorful performers as "Pepper" Martin and "Ducky" Medwick.

Mills, an outfielder with a penchant for "hitting in the clutches," signalized his entrance into the big time by touching Pittsburgh pitchers for two singles, a double and a triple in five times at bat.

It was the same when he broke in with Mobile in the Southern association two years ago. In his first game he clouted a single, a double and two triples, and by way of topping off the afternoon saved the game in the ninth inning with a diving catch of a hard hit ball.

Hero On Grid And Diamond

Last year he was on a Redbird farm at Rochester, N. Y. Now, thanks to his sensational start, he's safely past the pruning which brought the Cardinals down to their mid-season player limit.

At the University of Oklahoma "Bus" studied petroleum engineering, but was famous for his feats on the gridiron. In 1930 he led the Sooners to a 20-to-7 victory over Nebraska, the worst trimming the Cornhuskers have taken from a midwestern team in 25 years, and was named all-Big Six quarterback. He also won the east-west charity game at San Francisco for the western all-stars by kicking a field goal which proved the only score.

BUSTER MILLS

In the final game of the 1931 Big Six baseball season, with the title trembling between Oklahoma and Iowa State, he crashed through with a home run to provide the winning tallies.

And In Track Meet, Too!

One of his most famous collegiate feats was performed the same spring, when he "doubled in brass" in a field meet between innings of a baseball game.

The baseball game between Oklahoma and Kansas State was pretty well on ice for the Sooners, thanks mainly to Mills' slugging, but the track teams were running neck and neck. John Jacobs, Oklahoma track coach, lacked a javelin thrower.

Remembering Mills' powerful arm as an outfielder, Jacobs, "borrowed" Colonel for the spear event.

"Gimmie one of those sticks!" exclaimed Mills, as he trotted over to the track in his baseball suit between innings. They gave him one, and without previous practice Buster tossed it nearly 180 feet, winning the event hands down.

ALL STAR DATES SET

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP)—The annual all-star game between the outstanding players of the American and National leagues today was set for July 10 at the Polo Grounds as K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, and the league president, John Heydler and William Harridge, decided to alternate the game each year in the future between the two circuits.

Local Dare-Devils Meet Big Spring Riders Today For Renewal Of Rivalry; Glaze To Crash Board Wall

Lubbock and Big Spring motorcycle polo clubs will lock handlebars on their playing field 2 3-4 miles south of the courthouse on the Tahoka highway Sunday, June 3.

Big Spring's poloists, playing without a coach as a result of the fatal crash of Sid House, their leader, May 13, are expected to seek revenge for the defeat Lubbock gave them in their last game under House's leadership.

Champlin Is Captain

Stewart Champlin is captain of the local team this year. Jimmy Cobb, jr., victim of a serious spill about two weeks ago during practice, will be ready to re-enter Lubbock's line-up. Other members of the Lubbock squad include Cleo Glaze, Buss Adams, Donald Nail, Wade Anthony, Robert Howard, Dugan Wheeler and Otto Flynn. Roy Lynch is coach.

Motorcycle polo is played on a field 200 by 300 feet. A soccer ball, kicked by the riders, is used in the game.

As a special added attraction, Cleo Glaze, dare-devil [illegible] will steer his speeding machine into a double board wall, which will have been ignited. This stunt has been performed successfully in the past, although numerous riders who have tried the feat have emerged considerably the worse for wear.

What Well-Dressed Equine Wears

About As Expensive As Preparing Drawing Room Debut Outfitting A Nag For Modern Track Is Touchy Job, And

DETROIT, May 26. (AP)—Equipping a race horse to face the barrier, it seems, is almost as expensive as outfitting a debutante daughter for her coming-out party.

The well-dressed horse, according to figures compiled by George Krehbiel, turf expert, has a "wardrobe" that costs its owner $195 at current prices.

At the top of the list is the saddle, made of imported pigskin and full leather lined with calfskin. It costs from $45 to $60. A pommel pad costs $3 and a pure linen saddle towel $1.

A bridle, of English russet leather with rust-proof bit and rubber covered reins, costs around $21 and the sheep wool covered nose band $3.50. A martingale, if one is needed, adds $3.50 to the cost.

If boots are needed to protect shins and ankles, they cost $6 a pair, while a set of woolen racing bandages costs $3.

Shoes range from $10 to $25 and they wear about as long as a small boy's shoes.

A horse with proper pride in its appearance would not think of being without a fancy paddock blanket, tailored in its owner's colors, for wear before and after a race. They cost $40 a piece. A lighter weight blanket of Australian virgin wool to be donned after reaching the barn costs $12.

"Blinkers" of broadcloth, in the owner's colors, cost $5.

For bedtime wear, when a horse isn't feeling well, a "night sheet" of double filled duck, bound with bedding, is necessary. That costs $12.

With an outfit like that, a horse can look the world in the eye confident that he, or she, is well dressed.

Philly Slugger Hits 10 Out Of 15 To Raise Mark; Roll-ie Hemsley Of Browns Is Few Points Short

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP)—Harvey Hendrick of the Phillies, and Rollie Hemsley of the Browns today led the two major leagues in batting.

Hendrick, in his first full week of daily playing, made ten hits in 15 times at bat and shot his average up to .391. This enabled him to oust Sam Leslie from first place although the Brooklyn clouter lifted his mark six points to .380.

Twenty-Six For Ten

Hemsley's mark declined a bit from last week's high of .426 but after collecting ten blows in 26 times up in the seven days which ended with yesterday he still had a .414 mark and a lead of 28 points over Carl Reynolds of Boston, who returned to second place.

Ross-McLarnin Bout Expected To Draw Rich Gate Tomorrow Night In Madison Sq. Garden

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP)—The saga of two Horatio Alger boys comes down to a final chapter in the ring of the Madison Square Garden bowl on Long Island Monday night.

But for one of them—smiling, sleepy-eyed Jimmy McLarnin or glittering little Barney Ross—there must be the unreality of the unhappy ending so foreign to the fiction plots of boyhood's favorite author.

They fight fifteen rounds for the welterweight championship of the world, these two youngsters who have battled up from the most meager beginnings to a place where each enters the ring a champion in his own right. In all probability there will be some 65,000 persons cheering them on, a treasure of close to $300,000 in gate receipts for them to share in the richest match boxing has known since the depression set in.

Death Plot In Cuba Is Bared

Plan To Assassinate American Ambassador Jefferson Caffery Reported; Police Are Guarding Diplomat

HAVANA, May 27. (AP)—A plot to assassinate United States Ambassador Jefferson Caffery and to destroy American property in Cuba was reported today by Cuban police, who revealed that extraordinary precautions are being taken to guard the ambassador's life.

Cayetano Fraga, chief of the technical police, revealed that an automobile, suspected of containing assassins, had been observed loitering along the streets through which the American ambassador drives on his way home.

Capture Sought

Several efforts to capture the occupants of this mysterious car have failed, the police chief said, as it has been too speedy for pursuing police machines.

While he said he had no definite information regarding the identity of the plotters, Fraga blamed "communists and other enemies of President Mendieta and of Cuba who wished this government to fail and with it the Cuban republic."

Special policemen in plain clothes have been delegated, the chief said, to guard all American property and to protect prominent Americans in Cuba "including newspapermen."

Bomb Is Exploded

The explosion of a bomb on May 22 in the Havana post office building was referred to by Fraga as one evidence of "a plot against American property."

Mr. Caffery, it was indicated, was selected as an intended victim by the plotters because of his relations with the present government.

Communists and other radicals who oppose the government have made him a target of unfriendly slogans and speeches in their demonstrations during recent weeks.

Ambassador Caffery declined to comment on the reported plot further than to say, "I know nothing of a plot against my life."

Toledo Strike

Tad Selander, 29, an official of an unemployed council. During the day a dozen suspects were singled out of the crowds and placed in improvised guardhouses of the militiamen for questioning in an effort to apprehend agitators.

During the evening's melee a guardsman fired on an automobile. He said the driver had failed to halt outside guard lines upon orders to do so. The windshield of another automobile was smashed by guardsmen, using their rifle butts for clubs, for similar reasons.

Only Serious Disorders

The incidents were over within a few minutes, the only serious disorders of the day. During five days of rioting two men have been killed, and nearly 300 persons injured.

Meanwhile, a sudden flurry of checker-board moves and counter-moves developed among negotiators. Out of the mysterious development came an agreement between union leaders and Charles P. Taft, chief federal negotiator, to meet together at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

Plan Round Robin

This conference will be followed by a round-robin of all interested groups—federal mediators, strikers' representatives, and officials of three employing companies, the Electric Auto-Lite company, Bingham Stamping and Tool company and Logan Gear company.

Union leaders started the sudden developments when they drew up their plan for settlement, and called a meeting of workers to pass upon it. The first condition of peace was withdrawal of national guardsmen. Others were:

Closing of the three plants during the controversy.

Submission of issues involved to a labor board.

Demands for a ten per cent wage increase and union recognition to go before whatever board is agreed to.

Settlement Voted Down

The union plan came a few hours after workmen had voted down a settlement proposed by the federal mediators. The federal plan was understood to provide for resumption of work with all strikers rehired without discrimination. All disputes would be arbitrated by a board composed of Taft, a representative of the national labor board and a representative of the union.

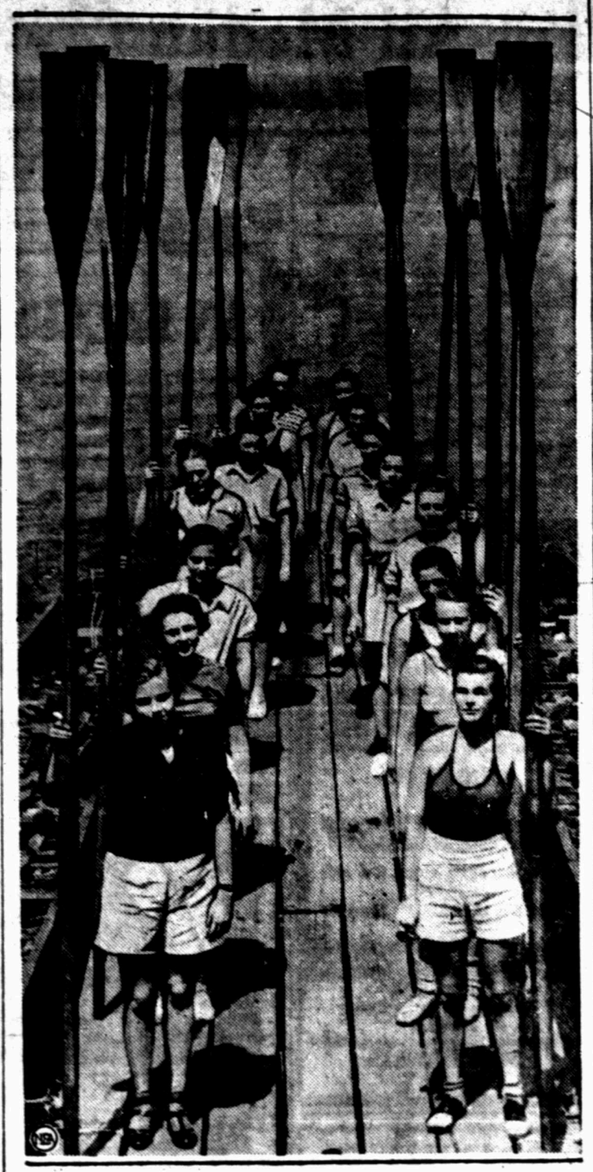

When the workers turned down this plan, Taft told their leaders the next move was up to them. Today's union proposal was the result, but as soon as it was disclosed, Taft asked the union to delay the vote of the workers.

Cattle Feeding

16,500 and Parmer fourth with 12,500 head.

The largest full feeding project in Texas, if not the entire southwest, is that of the Babicora Development company at Brownfield. Over 8,200 head have been on feed there. This is a half million dollar program.

6,500 At Littlefield

Second is the Peyton Packing company project at Littlefield, where a total of 6,500 head will have been fed this year. More than 4,500 head are now in the pen there Nearly 2,000 have been shipped out.

Slightly smaller than the Peyton program is that of Fred Snyder, Lubbock feeder, who operates in three groups this year. He has had 3,100 in his pens at Whiteface and 2,100 at Levelland, with 1,000 at Slaton in the oil mill pens.

Tom Good, Big Spring, fed 3,628 head near Lamesa. Len McClellan fed 1,100 at his ranch southwest of Lubbock.

Fall Under Former Years

The two large Lubbock projects did not reach this year the totals of a year ago. Unsettled market conditions were the greatest factor in this. The Lubbock Cotton Oil mill fed about 2,500 head and H. W. Stanton at his pens north of town about 3,000 head. The McDonald Packing company during the season fattened around 1,500 head.

Cass O. Edwards, Tahoka, sent over 300 of his best steers from the T-Bar ranch to the Slaton mills and fed them out.

Harris Mullins, Winters, fed 1,800 head of steers at Plainview this year as well as 7,500 head of sheep.

Not On Full Feed

P. E. Boesen, Sudan, roughed through about 550 head. He did not have them on full feed. E. G. Rall, Fort Worth grain man, who headquarters in Lubbock during the summer, fed around 666 head. G. L. White, son of J. Phelps White, is feeding 400 head at Littlefield.

The Buckle-L ranch, Dimmitt, has fed over 500 head. Most of these have been sold at Fort Worth. Ray Brownfield and L. Lumsden were reported feeding, 2,800 head at Brownfield.

Giles Connell, Post rancher, fed out in Lubbock pens, as usual N. A. Armstrong, Floydada feeder and shipper, handled more than last year in his pens at Floydada. Coble and Roberts, Coble Switch, west of Levelland, only fed 800 head this year. He had sheep on his fields, however.

Others Are Added

Frank Corn, Crosbyton, had 2,000 on part feed; later adding 1,800 head.

J. M. "Uncle John" Gist, fed out 550 head near Lamesa, due to dry conditions at Odessa.

By counties, feeding totals were: cattle—Terry, 11,000; Lubbock, 10,451; Lamb, 7,805; Hockley, 5,120; Dawson, 4,217; Hale, 4,158; Cochran, 3,100; Crosby, 2,050; Bailey, 1,267; Floyd, 930; Castro, 540; Garza, 282; Lynn, 235; Dickens, 154; Gaines, 140; Swisher, 25; total, 51,484.

Sheep—Hale, 51,125; Lubbock, 21,345; Hockley, 16,500; Parmer, 12,500; Lamb, 6,200; Castro, 3,900; Floyd, 2,600; Swisher, 2,450; Dawson, 1,400; Bailey, 1,400; Dickens, 800.

A new heep feeding development for this section is the feeding out of fall lambs or milk-fed lambs. Nineteen Hale county farmers fed 9,110 head and four Lubbock county farmers fed 2,350, a total of 11,460 head.

On the South Plains of Texas ranks with Arizona and California in the production of milk-fed lambs for spring markets. These animals usually are sold before Easter and bring prices of as high as four and five cents a pound over ordinary animals. Kansas City and Fort Worth are the chief markets for these animals.

ment for surrendering but that he likely considered such a move unsafe in view of the assembling of hundreds of citizens when news of the killing spread. Officers said, however, that apparently the crowd was merely a curious throng.

Woodrow Randolph, 16-year-old son of the slain sheriff, disclosed that antagonism between his father and Smith had flared for years. He said it was renewed last fall when the sheriff opposed selection by county commissioners of Smith as constable at Thackerville. Both officers were married, Randolph had eight children, Smith two.

Cleared Up Slaying

Marietta citizens said the feud between the sheriff and constable had its origin several years ago when the Ku Klux Klan was a political issue.

Randolph and Smith recently cleared up the slaying of Lieutenant Commander S. J. Trowbridge of San Diego, Calif., who was knocked in the head with a hammer by Leo Hudgins, a hitch-hiker, near Greensburg, Kan., a week ago. Hudgins confessed to the slaying to Randolph after his arrest Sunday by Smith at Thackerville.

The Randolph family said that Smith had been nursing a belief that the sheriff "stole" the credit for clearing up the Trowbridge case.

"When President Roosevelt, through a talking picture, opens this Century of Progress he is opening an event which will be reflected throughout the world. This project is so big that every individual will feel, directly or indirectly, its part in further increasing our prosperity and advancement."

Rufus Dawes extended a welcome and called attention to the feat of Col. Roscoe Turner in establishing a new record for a flight between Pittsburgh and Chicago. He had greeted the famous pilot a few hours earlier upon the completion of his 430-mile flight in one hour and 44 minutes.

The 20,556 patrons who had passed through the gates at noon scattered through the 82 miles of exhibits to inspect the wonders artists and artisans and $43,000,000 had wrought. They found the magic of carefully blended colors had transformed the futuristic structures from a Rococco array of architectural titles into a huge patchwork of beauty. They happened upon villages transplanted from foreign lands to Chicago's great front yard.

NEWS BRIEFS

H. R. Gholson, of Craig-Gholson Co., underwent an operation for removal of tonsils Saturday morning at West Texas hospital. He was to remain there until today and possibly longer.

Mrs. P. H. Sammons and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Marshall will leave today for Ruidoso, N. M., where they will open Mrs. Sammons' summer cabin. They will be there about a week.

Twenty - eight just graduated students from Martha, Okla., High school, accompanied by several teachers, passed through Lubbock on the way to Carlsbad caverns Saturday afternoon. They were in a bus.

On the way to the Rocky Mountains by truck, 35 King county 4-H club boys and girls, accompanied by sponsors, were in Lubbock, Saturday.

J. G. McKinnon, 1st lieutenant in the United States army 9th infantry reserves and second in command of company 1816, Civilian Conservations corps, at Lake Worth, Fort Worth, was here Saturday to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. McKinnon, 808 Avenue R. A friend, John D. Jarrott, jr., of Fort Worth, accompanied Lieutenant McKinnon here as a guest. The lieutenant, a former University of Texas athlete, is coaching baseball, among other duties, at the CC camp. His basketball team there last season won an East Texas CCC tournay. Among quintets it defeated was that of Stephens F. Austin State Teachers college freshmen.

Henry Clay Eastham and James Hodges, who were members of Lubbock High school's graduating class last week, are visiting friends and relatives in Dallas.

G. L. Eaton, deputy contable, yesterday was informed his mother, Mrs. G. W. Eaton, 73, was critically ill at her home near Brownwood. Mrs. Eaton's daughter, Mrs. O. W. Ribble, and George Eaton, grandson of Mrs. Eaton, have gone to Brownwood, and G. L. Eaton said he probably would go today.

Various legal documents, including leases and deeds, which have been filed in the county clerk's office still are held there because of incorrect addresses or because of changes in address, County Clerk Ed D. Allen, said yesterday. Mr. Allen suggested persons interested in regaining their papers either call for them or mail him their correct address. The department has mailed out all of the documents, but they have been returned, he explained.

Three of C. E. Hobgood's four dogs had been poisoned, he reported to police late Friday. He lived at 2101 Twenty-second street. Police investigating, reported they were without a clue.

R. L. Hooten of Shallowater and Vernice Ford of Lubbock received degrees at a meeting of Khiva shrine temple at Amarillo yesterday. James H. Goodman and A. Swarts accompanied the degree-candidates to Amarillo.

of Yoakum, land commissioner; John W. Miller of Smith county comptroller; E. N. Mulkey of Grayson county, state treasurer; Mrs. Hallett W. Reynolds of El Paso, state superintendent.

Not Hopeful Of Success

While the Republican leaders were not hopeful of success in Texas this fall, they expressed confidence that their party would return to power in the nation two years hence as a result of mistakes of President Roosevelt and his aides.

All speakers criticized either the national industrial recovery act or the way in which it has been administered.

J. W. Bass of Austin, former collector of internal revenue, pleaded for financial support of the national party organization, asserting that the organization was having difficulty in meeting the expenses of its Washington office, amounting to approximately $3,500 a month.

"I don't think you are in favor of conditions as they are now," said Bass. "The people of America are not in favor of such conditions. There are two outstanding examples which condemn the present administration to the public. One is the cancellation of the air mail contracts and the other the attempted persecution of the former secretary of the treasury, Mr. Mellon."

Calvin Smith Is Given Term In Whitesboro Bank Robbery

SHERMAN, May 26. (AP)—Calvin Henry Smith, 24, of Roff, Okla., tonight was convicted by a jury of robbery with firearms for the $13,220 robbery of the Whitesboro National bank last March 9. He was given a sentence of eight years.

The state had demanded the death penalty, while defense counsel sought acquittal on alibi testimony offered as proof that Smith was in Roff the day of the robbery. His attorneys announced they would file a motion for a new trial within two days.

Shallowater Gets Praise In Report

SHALLOWATER, May 26. (Special)—Shallowater High school is praised in a recent report of G. D. Holbrook, deputy state superintendent of education. The report said:

"That the building and equipment are in excellent condition and are being well-cared for.

"That all work, in both high school and grade school, is well-organized and directed. Excellent work is being done in all departments.

"That the course of study is well-planned and serves the needs of the immediate community.

"That the teaching force evidences a high standard of training.

"That specimens of all work in which credit is maintained or desired are on file."

John L. Fisher is board president and R. L. Hooten superintendent.

Mr. Holbrook, who commended the school board and citizens of Shallowater "for the efficient school system maintained," suggested that an annual appropriation be provided for improvement of libraries in the schools.

Golf Finals

Windy Watkins who won the finals of the third flight over Scott of Fort Stockton, 5-4 after having been given the third round by default.

John Edmisson and Geo. Norman of Lamesa fight it out in the finals in the first flight Sunday. Edmisson disposed of John Sears of Lubbock, 2 and 1 in a third round match and whipped Jimmie Smith, ranking Ranger star, 4 and 2 in the afternoon round. Edmisson, who qualified with a 77, one stroke above the championship flight, carded six birdies against Smith.

In championship consolation finals, Clinton Bussey meets Cotton McAfee. Bussey won the quarter-finals by downing Gib Faircloth of Ranger, 5-4.

In first flight consolations, Manson Allen plays J. S. Armour of Sweetwater. Allen won his third round match by default and then downed M. K. House of Big Spring, 4-3.

Gives Good Shots

Billy Holmes gave the gallery some shots to gasp about in both rounds today as he sent tee shots sailing for more than 300 yards. On No. 17, a five par hole and 576 yards long, Holmes' drive lay 327 yards from the tee on the morning round and again this afternoon he placed another one more than 300 yards on No. 16, a 369-yard, four-par hole.

Most of his drives were well over 250 yards and there was where his game was the strongest against both of his opponents and where he is likely to have the better of Wilson Sunday.

He finished the first three holes three up against Robbins this afternoon after carding two pars and a birdie on No. 2. He lost No. 4 when Robbin' puter got to working. He halved No. 5, lost No. 6, and won No. 7, with a birdie 2; halved No. 8 and then went three up at the turn again by carding a par to Robbins' five on No. 9.

Tee Shot Hits Tree

His tee shot hit a tree on No. 10 and his second was short. His third went into trap in front of the green and he had to take a 6 against Robbins' par four who made regulation shots on the hole.

Holmes hooked wide on No. 11 and went into the rough. Robbins tee shot sliced about ten feet into the rough and fifty yards short of the green. Holmes' low iron shot was twelve feet of the pin and Robbins matched it. They both holed out for a half.

On No. 12, both had drives well over 200 yards down the middle Robbins approached on the edge and Billy went to within two feet of the pin. Both sunk their putts.

No. 13 found Robbins in trouble as he hit one outside. His second was near the edge of the green in the rough and Billy's tee shot was stymied by a mesquite bush but he managed to knock it on the edge of the green. He rolled safe and sunk, going 3 up again.

Misses His Putt

Holmes pitched to within ten feet of the cup on the short 14th but missed his putt by two inches. Robbins tee shot was short but he approached eight feet over the cup and sent it down for a half.

On No. 15, Holmes sent his tee shot singing down the middle of the fairway for 260 yards. Robbins hit top of tree and his ball dropped short 150 yards. Billy's approach went 20 yards over green but he pitched within four feet of the cup and sunk it. Robbins iron shot was in the rough just off the green but he pitched to within four feet and went down with the putt.

Both drives were in adjoining fairway on No. 16 but Billy's approach was within twelve feet of cup while Robbins was short. Robbins approached but missed and conceded the match.

Holmes was three under par through the sixteenth when the match ended. He won, 3-2.

A large gallery is expected to follow the two players around Sunday.

making ready for the departure they had no time for dinner.

Rossi's aged mother begged him on bended knees to abandon the trip, but he was determined.

"Nothing, mama, will stop me," the son replied gently as Madame Rossi clung to him.

The aviators' route depended upon the weather, which was reported extremely favorable over the Atlantic where a tail wind was expected to boost their speed during the first 12 hours after they leave the Irish coast.

Pick San Diego

They expected to first sight the American continent over Newfoundland or Nova Scotia and cross it passing over either New York or Montreal. The fliers were eager to give New York a sight of their plane and picked San Diego as the most likely destination.

A prize of 500,000 francs ($32,500) awaits them if they succeed. The prize is offered by the French government, which owns the plane.

The single-motored plane has not been altered, with the exception of a new radiator, since the record-breaking flight to Syria.

The fliers, while depending on radio messages to help keep them on the right track, are carrying neither parachutes nor a collapsible boat for use in event of an accident.

The slow plane is built for distance rather than swiftness. It has a maximum speed of 105 miles an hour with a cruising speed of 93 miles. It takes off and lands at only 37 miles an hour.

Mae West Selects Beauties For Year Book At Texas

AUSTIN, May 26. (AP)—Seven coeds selected by Mae West, movie actress, for the beauty section of the Cactus, University of Texas student yearbook, were announced today by Chilton O'Brien of Beaumont, editor.

They were Misses Mary Beth Birdwell of Beaumont, Jacqueline Hallman of San Benito, Amali Runyon of Brownsville, Hortense Tellepsen of Houston, Helen Jane Tilley of Jacksonville, and Elizabeth Schneider and Helen Sharp, both of Austin.

Four Are Killed After Shooting

RAMSEY, Ill., May 26. (AP)—Enraged when a young farmer called to marry his housekeeper's daughter, Thomas Hayes, 69, today shot and killed three persons, including the bride-to-be and her mother; then committed suicide.

The dead, in addition to Hayes, are:

Miss Rosie Harris, 17, a graduate of Ramsey high school.

Mrs. Myrtle Harris, 40, Hayes' housekeeper for ten years and mother of Rosie.

William Roberts, 60, a farmer living near the Hayes home.

Henry Spires, a farmer living in the neighborhood, who was to have married Rosie Harris at 10 a. m. today at Vandalia, escaped by dodging behind his automobile.

When Spires arrived to take the girl to Vandalia to become his bride, Hayes got a shotgun, and Mrs. Harris, her daughter and Spires fled to the nearby Roberts farm. Roberts was working in a field.

Giles Boggess Is Convicted For The Slaying Of Couple

DALLAS, May 26. (AP)—Giles S. (Jack) Boggess, 43, convicted of slaying his wife and mother-in-law March 2, was formally sentenced to from 2 to 99 years in each case. He pleaded guilty when his trial was called last Monday.

Mrs. Gladys Boggess, 39, and her mother, Mrs. Julia Woodward, 76, were shot and killed at the home of Mrs. Boggess' sister after Boggess tried to effect a reconciliation. The couple had been estranged for several months.

Six Burned In Beaumont Fire

Damage Of $75,000 Is Caused In Theater Saturday Morning; Entire Business Block Is Threatened

BEAUMONT, May 26. (AP)—Six firemen were injured, one critically, in a $75,000 theater fire here this morning.

The blaze, originating in an organ loft in the theater, spread through the building and threatened the entire block in the business section of the city, but was quickly brought under control by firemen.

Newt Richardson, assistant fire chief, suffered seven broken ribs, a broken shoulder bone and a punctured lung when he fell into the theater as the roof collapsed. Five other firemen, including the chief, Steve O'Connor, also were injured when the roof gave way.

Had Not Opened

The theater had not opened for the day's shows, however, and none was inside but theater officials and employes. The picture house was owned by the Jefferson Amusement company.

Others receiving injuries were Captain Austin Manuel, Jack Thompson, Charna Higgins and L. Peleteire.

In following out an agreement between the fire departments of Beaumont and Port Arthur, twenty miles from here, a truck and firemen from that city rushed to Beaumont when the third alarm was turned in.

Eight men were on the roof when it fell in. Two, Richardson and Higgins, fell with it. Captain Manuel caught a pipe as he fell and held on until a ladder could reach him. Chief O'Connor, Will Herm, Bob Tullos, Wesley Phillips and Bill O'Connor leaped for the fire wall and saved themselves.

Studying Life . . .

PROPER TRAINING is the birthright of every American youth. Without the proper education and development of those faculties which will be necessary to him in later life, he will be seriously handicapped.

Realizing this, the newspaper industry is seeking to give the boys who are associated with it every opportunity for advancement. Through close co-operation with school authorities and by giving their boys special training in the fundamentals of business, they are developing a generation of boys who are above the average in intelligence, self-reliance, dependability and health.

Your carrier boy is one of 588,000 boys who are engaged in the sale and distribution of newspapers—a task that requires less than an hour and a half a day. He is a young merchant, supplementing his school work with a course in practical business training. He is learning the lesson of service, courtesy, punctuality and thrift. Encourage him in his task and respect the ambition and initiative which he has displayed in choosing it.

Your carrier boy buys his papers at wholesale and retails them to you. Failure to pay him promptly every week may mean a loss to him.

NOTICE

Just three hatching days and we are through—June the 5th, is the last. We do not have any special price to offer on our chicks. They are of the same genuine high quality that we have sold throughout the season. It cost us more to produce chicks of real quality than just ordinary chicks from flocks that have never been culled for any thing. Therefore we are not able to quote you any reduction in price and we do not feel that our customers expect this of us.

We have enjoyed a real business, and wish to thank our customers for their splendid cooperation in helping us to make this a successful season. And we do hope to receive your future favors along with your patronage again next year as we will be here.

The South Plains' Oldest Piano Dealers offer you

PIANOS AT REAL BARGAINS

"This is not a Forced Sale to Pay Storage" or a "Manufacturer's Sale" —

We have been selling Pianos in Lubbock and on the South Plains for the last 10 years. Therefore we have proven ourselves to be fair and reliable, making good our word or guarantee whenever it became necessary. Don't you think that it is better to buy from a long-established firm . . . . a firm that has helped toward building the country . . . . than from someone who ships pianos into the town and advertises them "for sale to pay storage costs and manufacturers demands"? THINK THIS OVER—ASK YOUR MUSIC TEACHER FROM WHOM TO BUY THE PIANO—THEN COME AND SEE OUR BARGAINS.

"You can buy any of our pianos with a small payment down, and the balance in convenient installments—with delivery to any point without charge."

We have the largest stock of Pianos on the South Plains—Below are two of our exceptional bargains.

Borglum's Financing Plan May End Stone Mountain Monument's Mix-Up; Project Started Nineteen Years Ago May Be Completed By Noted Sculptor

BY EDWIN HOLMAN

ATLANTA, Ga., May 26. (AP) — Nineteen years after its beginning, the unfinished monument to the Confederacy on Stone Mountain has been given a new promise of completion.

Led by Mayor James L. Key of Atlanta, the Georgia Memorial and Monumental commission has invited Gutzon Borglum, the original sculptor, to resume work on condition that no debts be incurred.

Inadequate financial support was the memorial's chief stumbling block in the past, but this time the sponsors say they have learned their lesson.

Seeks Mountain Title

First of all, the commission seeks to obtain absolute title to the gigantic granite monolith that towers above the plain 16 miles northeast of Atlanta. A deed to half of the mountain is held by the commissioners, and they propose to secure the other half by "gift, deed or condemnation."

Borglum told them $100,000 would get the work under way and maintain it for a year. He said he could obtain $50,000 from the federal government and asked the commission to underwrite another $50,000.

Thereafter, he suggested, operations could be financed by the sale of half-dollar coins authorized by congress a decade ago. Many of the 50,000,000 authorized have been sold at a premium, but the greater portion is still to be disposed of.

Borglum would have the coins placed on sale to the public at banks throughout the United States.

New Figures Super-Size

His new conception of the memorial makes the original seem like a pigmy in comparison. He plans to make the heads of General Robert E. Lee and the other principal figures 35 feet high. By the same scale each figure on horseback would measure about 250 feet.

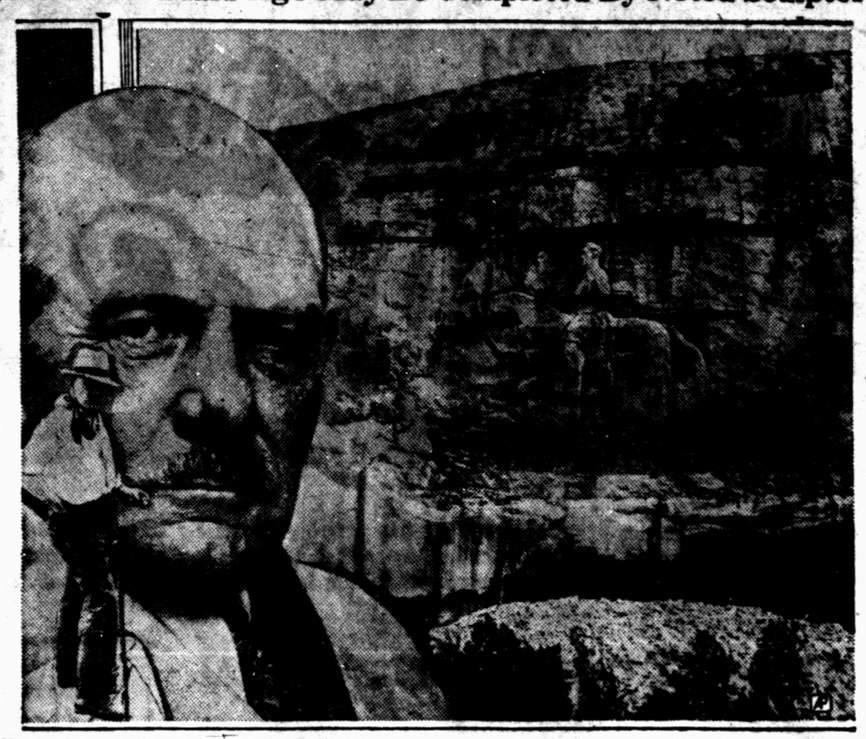

The unfinished design of General Lee on horseback, with the heads of General Thomas J. Jackson and President Jefferson Davis barely discernible, would be left untouched. But the far larger figures of them would be included in the new group 200 feet eastward.

The history of the memorial is one of controversy and financial handicaps. Borglum started work in 1915. He outlined the head of Lee and then suspended operations during the World war. He resumed in 1920, but soon was embroiled in a dispute with some of the original sponsors.

Progress Held Slow

They claimed his progress was not fast enough and discharged him, employing the sculptor, Augustus Lukeman, in his stead.

Lukeman spent some time obliterating what Borglum had done and then started a new group. The year 1927 found the figures of Lee and his horse nearly finished and Jackson and Davis just started. But the money gave out about that time, and work was abandoned.

WALL STREET REPORT

BY FREDERICK GARDNER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, May 26.—For the third consecutive session, stocks edged upward today. Dullness was unbroken as the stock exchange ended one of its slowest weeks in great years.

Sugar stocks attracted some buying following announcement of best sugar quotas for domestic producers, and on expectation insular quotas would be fixed next week under the recent sugar bill passed by congress.

Rails, motors and tobacco shares extended their advance a little. Otherwise the market provided no action of note.

Professional trading continued to mark time. The market was too thin to lure inand-out traders. Transfers on the stock exchange 6748 and $583 during the two-hour session totaled 279,300 shares, not much larger than the turnover a week ago. The average price of 90 stocks moved up five-tenths of a point to 77.5.

Kenneth Dunaway of Edna, Kas., claimed a long-distance shooting mark by bringing down a coyote at a distance of one-fourth of a mile.

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, May 26. (AP) — Cattle trade at mid-western markets this week was featured by a sharp increase in receipts. Fed steers with weight were scarce at steady to slightly higher prices with choice 1305-lb. averages in Chicago scoring 9.60, a new high for the season. Lightweight steers and yearlings were tendered a general decline of 25 to 50 and most centers reported a similar loss on she stock. Aggregate receipts for the week at eleven markets totaled 216,300, an increase of 35,000 over last week and 56,000 heavier than the corresponding period a year ago.

Fed lambs sold at substantially higher prices the fore part of the week, but on closing sessions fed offerings lost most of the early upturn. Springers at a few markets are 25 to 50 higher than a week ago. Aged sheep took a seasonable price decline of 25 to 75, heavy ewes off most. The week's supply approximated 261,700 against 223,507 last week and 261,302 a year ago.

Hog prices fluctuated within a narrow price range throughout the week and closing levels are steady to 10 lower as compared with last Saturday. Total offerings for the week of around 498,000 were 62,000 more than last week and 78,000 in excess of a year ago.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, May 26. (AP)—Hogs 850, steady on truck hogs; top 3.40; 180-250 lb. truck hogs 3.25@3.40; packing sows 2.25@2.75.

Cattle 200; calves 100; nominal. For week: grass slaughter steers 15 to 25c lower; better grades fed yearlings steady to 25c lower; slaughter cows around 10 to 15c lower; calves 25c lower. Bulk prices: Grass slaughter steers 3.25@4.25; good to choice fed yearlings 5.50@6.25; good fat cows 3.25@3.50; butcher sorts 2.25@2.75. Weighty slaughter calves mostly under 4.00 level, few good heavy fat calves 4.25@4.75.

Sheep 1,600; nominal. For week: spring lambs weak to 25c lower; shorn fat lambs 25 to 40c lower; shorn aged wethers 25 to 50c lower; shorn ewes 25c lower, spring lambs 7.50@8.50; medium to good shorn lambs 6.00@7.50; shorn aged wethers sold early in week up to 3.25 and closing sales mostly 2.75; shorn fat ewes closing at 2.25 and less, short feeder lambs 3.75@4.25.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, May 26. (AP)—Following a slow decline during most of the short session cotton prices rallied near the end today on covering by shorts and closed steady at net advances of 3 to 5 points. Trading was dull.

The opening was dull as Liverpool was closed and only two months were traded in at the start.

Towards the end prices rallied owing to shorts covering for over the week-end and near the close July advanced to 11.40, October to 11.60, and December to 11.72, or 7 to 10 points above the earlier lows. There was one trade in May of next year at 11.99 right at the end.

All the active months closed 8 points net higher for the day while May closed 3 points net higher. Weather reports indicated rather cooler weather in the belt but there was not much rain and conditions were generally regarded as favorable.

Port receipts 6506 for season 7,327,742, last season 8,344,284. Exports 8012 season 6,672,975, last season 6,642,955. Port stock 2,874,629, last year 3,991,811. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 80,671, last year 133,452. Spot sales at southern markets 2,736, last year 15,198.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP) — Cotton was quiet but steady today with October advancing to 11.64 or 22 points above the low level of yesterday on covering and a little buying by the trade. That delivery closed at 11.63 with the general market ending steady at net advances of 7 to 10 points.

There was scattered buying which evidently encountered very few offerings. The early action of the grain and stock markets contributed to the advance, and while prices sagged slightly following reactions in wheat, they firmed up again in the late trading on a somewhat increased trade demand.

December advanced to 11.76 and closed at 11.74, and final quotations generally were within a point or two of the best. Some further liquidation of July was taken by the trade without much change in differences, and the continued absence of selling orders from the south left the market sensitive to comparatively small buying orders.

The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 86,000 bales against 134,000 last year and 110,000 two years ago.

Gooseberry and currant bushes have been found to harbor the blister rust that ruins white pine forests.

Grains

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, May 26. (AP)—Fair demand was reported at the week-end on the grain market here. Prices quoted:

Wheat No. 1 hard 94@98. Barley No. 2 nominally 55@56; No. 3 nominally 54@55. Sorghums No. 2 milo per 100 lbs. nominally 1.08@1.10; No. 3 milo nominally 1.06@1.08. No. 2 kafir nominally 98@1.00; No. 3 kafir nominally 96@98.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: corn No. 2 white 78 1-2@79 1-2; No. 2 yellow 70 1-2@71 1-2. Oats No. 3 red 42 1-2@43 1-2, No. 3 red 41 1-2@42 1-2.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, May 26. (AP)—Possibilities that next week would witness general break-up of drought led to wheat price setbacks late today that more than wiped out earlier gains.

The government weekly weather forecast pointed to a period of probable showery conditions, and this with profit-taking on a large scale did much to cause a right-about-face of market action. Downturns of values, however, did not ensue until after September delivery of wheat and also of oats as cash corn had overtopped season high price records.

Wheat closed easy at the same as yesterday's finish, corn 1-4 to 1-2 down, oats 1-8 to 1-2 up, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents decline.

Bailey is seeking the post now filled by Senator Tom Connally.

Rioting Breaks Out After The Election Of Two Girls

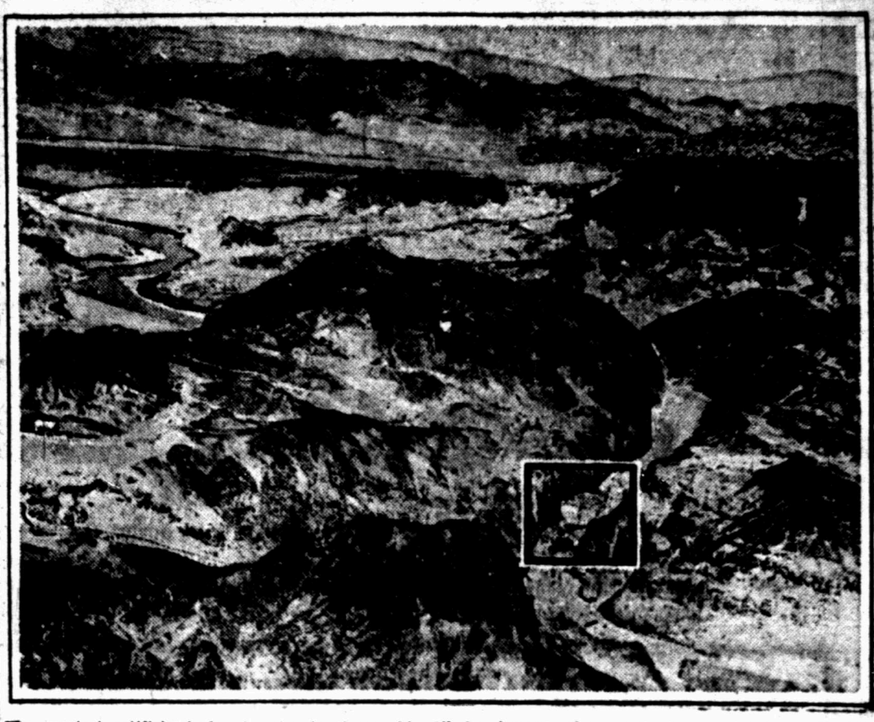

MARIETTA, O., May 26. (AP) — Rioting broke out in fraternity row of Marietta college late last night and continued after midnight, the outgrowth of a campus election in which two co-eds were chosen for student council offices for the first time in the college history. Police reserves detained a half dozen students.

Three sororities and one fraternity combined against four other fraternities to name Craig Waugh, Wellsburg, W. Va., president, and Helen O'Hara, Dayton, and Sallie Taylor, Washington, D. C., vice presidents.

Windows and doors of the fraternity houses were smashed by the rioters who were scattered by police.

Experiments with rats seem to show that slow growth and late maturity are most conducive to longevity.

If We Had This We'd Have Plenty Of Water, Eh?

The greatest artificial body of water in the world will be formed when work is completed on Boulder Dam and waters of the Colorado river are impounded in the area shown upper left in this picture. It will cover 12,647 acres, for which the government will pay $750,000. This view from the air shows the nature of the country, with its towering peaks and awesome depths, around Uncle Sam's giant project, the dam being indicated by the square.

Public School Teachers Plan Summer Study

Majority Of Group To Attend College Here Or Elsewhere During Vacation Days; One Will Travel In Europe

RELEASED from their teaching duties only this week, many of the teachers in the Lubbock Public school system are going right back into the school room but this time in the role of a student.

The majority plans to attend either term or both terms of the summer semester at Texas Technological college. Others will study at universities in the east. One teacher is going abroad and others have not definitely decided how they will spend the vacation period.

Going With Party

Miss Ruby Atwood is leaving the middle of June to join a party of thirty travelers in a tour conducted by Dr. Frank Leavell of Nashville, Tenn. The itinerary will include a visit to Egypt and the Holy Land, to Greece, Italy and other countries on the Continent.

The party is to spend six days in Berlin, Germany, attending a Baptist World Alliance. They will see the Passion Play in Oberammergau, that is celebrating its three hundredth anniversary. The ship is to enter New York harbor on August 31.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Watts will be in school in Boulder, Colo. this summer.

Goes To Mexico

Miss Velma McCandless expects to attend school at the University of Mexico in Mexico City. She is to go with an expedition of students at Texas Technological college headed by Dr. W. C. Holden.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Slover have gone to Fort Worth to enter the Baptist Theological Seminary.

Miss Eula McCorkle has gone to Chicago, where she is to attend the University of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stone have gone to Abilene for a short visit before going to Austin, where Mr. Stone is to attend the University of Texas.

Study At Columbia

Miss Gertrude Daniel and Gertrude Watson, teachers of home economics, are to be in school at Columbia university in New York City this summer.

Miss Ethel Lawson, dean of girls, and Miss Thora McCorkle are planning to leave June 15 for Chicago where they will study this summer at the University of Chicago.

Mrs. T. J. Beck has gone to Indiana to spend the vacation with her mother.

Miss Mary Lou Roberson plans to study at West Texas State Teachers college this summer.

Misses Sallye Bean and Violet and Florence Pickett have gone to Fort Worth and Dallas for a visit. Miss Bean is to study art in Chicago after this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner Adams have gone to Artesia, N. M., to visit Mrs. Adams parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Sable.

Miss Mittie Jones has gone to Clyde for a short visit. She plans to

The dance is to be from 6:30 until 9:30 o'clock. The supper is to be served at 10 o'clock. Patronesses are Mesdames C. E. Hedgen, A. W. Weaver, Fredda Dykes Hunt, J. E. Vickers, Floyd Hall, Roscoe Wilson, W. O. Stevens, Jerome H. Smith and Miss Julia Wilkinson.

A President's Wife Speaks Out

Mrs. Roosevelt's Column

A Day In Fredericksburg—By Eleanor Roosevelt

ANOTHER day of one's visit to historic Virginia is well begun by visiting Mary Washington's cottage in Fredericksburg where she lived from 1775 to 1789 and where her son came to visit her. She must have lived through many hardships, but I imagine that she kept a certain enviable serenity, for there is a monument erected to her memory on a site overlooking the valley where it is said she used to bring her work and sit and sew of an afternoon, which would seem to indicate that in her declining years she was able to enjoy the quiet and beauty of nature. Her little cottage is every simple, but it has been restored. Some of the old fashioned things apparent in the furnishings of the little house bring to us the difference between the way we live today and the occupations every housewife had in those days.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt

From there, you may go to Monroe's old law office. Be sure to look into the little garden at the back for it has a charm all its own. You will then go to Betty Washington's home—Kenmore—which has been beautifully restored. Betty Washington, George's only sister, married Fielding Lewis, maker of guns during the Revolution.

Tradition says that the first Christian shrine in America was erected by Spanish missionaries in Fredericksburg, and it is a matter of record that Captain John Smith visited it in 1608, one year after the settlement of Jamestown. It was known as "Leaseland" until 1727 and was located at a point below the falls of the Rappahannock where the ocean-going vessels of those days made their way. I doubt if any other city of its size has so many interesting traditions. The farm where Washington lived as a boy is to be found there and some of the stories surrounding his boyhood, which may or may not be true, probably emanated from incidents which happened on that farm.

HERE in Fredericksburg, you will also find the home of Matthew Fontaine Maury, known as the "Pathfinder of the Sea," and the home of John Paul Jones, "Father of the American Navy," is likewise in this little city. Again, we find a Masonic lodge (possibly the oldest in America) where Washington was initiated, passed, and raised as a Master Mason and where, with patience and courtesy, the caretaker will show you a large number of relics. You will, of course, want to see the Rising Sun Tavern where the patriots gathered and drafted the resolution which was tantamount to a Declaration of Independence. In more modern times, Fredericksburg was the objective for both the northern and southern troops and the numerous historic markers on all the roads leading to Fredericksburg will attest the violence of the struggle that centered around it.

IF IT is warm weather, and you can procure an introduction, I would urge you to stay at the Farmington Country Club, though the Hotel Monticello, at Charlotteville, which faces the old court house across an interesting square, is comfortable and convenient for visiting the University and Monticello. Farmington, though now a club, was an old plantation where one of Jefferson's friends lived. Jefferson's taste and aid was invoked in the planning of the building, which is charming and spacious. I

End Of School Parties Being Given In City

Younger Set Here Is Making Most Of Vacation Days In Gala Events; Las Dichosas Club Entertains

THE waffle supper in the home of Nell Brooks Pirtle, 2118 Twenty-Seventh street, this evening will end a two-day progressive party given by members of Las Dichosas, girl's social club of Lubbock High school.

The party started Saturday morning at 6 o'clock with a sunrise breakfast at the County park, which was followed at 10 o'clock with a bridge luncheon in the home of Miss Emma Sue Gunn, 2005 Avenue R. During the afternoon the group went bicycling.

Formal Dance Given

On Saturday evening a formal dance was given in the Bob Townsend studio. Members of each of the boy's and girl's social clubs of the high school were guests. Jack Casteel played for dancing.

A pre-view party at the Lindsey theater, following the dance, and a slumber party in the home of Mary Jane Weaver, 2410 Tenth street, started today's lap of the festivities.

Breakfast is being served at the Weaver home with Mary Helen Taylor as hostess. Afterward the group is attending services at the First Methodist church.

Luncheon Planned

Ina Bacon and Dorothy Duncan are to be hostesses at luncheon. At 4 o'clock this afternoon the girls are going swimming at Buffalo Springs.

Bride Of Week Is Given Gift Party In Robinson Home

Mrs. Charles Gordon Moore, who was Miss Eloise Robinson before her marriage this week, was complimented Friday afternoon when Mesdames Clyde Early and Flossie Seale entertained with a miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. W. M. Robinson, 1111 Thirty-second street.

L'Aiquillee Club, Special Guests Are To Have Picnic

Members of L'Aiquillee club are to have a picnic Wednesday evening at City park. Each is to invite a visitor. The group will meet in the home of Mrs. R. M. McCollom, 1508 Avenue K, at 5 o'clock.

Here's Smartness—A Bit O' Scotch, A Sailor Dress

The young lady at left is wearing the American cousin to the Scottish Glengarry. It is made of mercerized crochet cotton and trimmed in a contrasting color. To be really Scottish, the cap can be worn with the tails in the back. The middy dress at right is one of the season's most popular frocks. It is of white silk crepe with blue stripes and a nautical bow. The pumps are of crushed kid perforated in tear drop design and the roll brim sailor hat is of stitched white linen. Mrs. Badger Is To Be Honored This Morning

May Bride Is To Be Guest Of Honor For Breakfast; June Brides-Elect Are Honored; Parties Planned

By MARGARET TURNER
Woman's Editor

THE attention of Lubbock society has turned to the occasion of weddings since several brides-elect have announced June dates for their marriages. During the next four weeks several weddings will take place here and at least one out-of-town ceremony will be of interest.

Mrs. Robert W. Badger of Littlefield, who was Miss Ruth McKee of this city before her marriage early this month, has been given a number of courtesies. She and Mr. Badger are spending the week-end with Mrs. Badger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McKee, 1812 Fourteenth street.

Miss Porter Hostess

Miss Myrtle Porter is to entertain with a breakfast at 9:30 o'clock this morning in the Aztec room of the Hilton hotel as a courtesy to Mrs. Badger.

Guests are to be Mrs. Emory Selman, Mrs. Allan Moses, Miss Ruth Ford, Miss Frances McKee, Miss Edith Grantham of Snyder, Misses Gladys Porter, Emma Ruth Jones and Gladys Wales of Littlefield.

Misses Jones, Wales and Porter entertained with a dinner party Thursday evening in Littlefield for Mrs. Badger. Roses and other summer flowers were decorations.

Program Is Given

Miss Jones proposed a toast to the bride, Miss Lucile Nance gave a reading and Mrs. Bob McCaskil gave a humorous reading. They are all of Littlefield.

After the dinner, the honoree was presented with a shower of gifts.

For Lela Gill

Miss Lela Gill, who is to become the bride of Hershel Tadlock of Amarillo on June 27, has received a number of compliments since her engagement was announced several weeks ago.

Friday evening Misses Bonnie K. Dysart, Vivian Johnson and Gussie Teague entertained with a theater party honoring Miss Gill. Other guests were Misses Zella Riegel, Johnnye Gilkerson, Sylva Wilson, Lucille Gill, Bessie League, Lulu Stein, Nancy Oliver, Mayme Twy-

Lubbock County Council Ends Season's Activity

Elect Two Officers At Meeting; Talk Is By Dr. Key

In their last meeting for this season, members of the Lubbock County Childrens council meeting at Seaman hall Friday evening heard a talk by Dr. Olan Key, elected two officers and listened to committee reports. Mrs. H. F. Godeke, chairman, presided.

Judge E. L. Pitts was elected co-chairman. Dr. F. B. Malone was elected treasurer of the council to succeed the Rev. Walter P. Jennings, who has moved to Plainview.

High Points Given

Dr. Key discussed "The Conservation of Maternity and Infant Mortality." Highlights of his talk included the following suggestions: Education that will give prospective mothers some knowledge of the processes of reproduction, adequate medical care for all expectant mothers, proper co-operation between patient and physician, greater emphasis upon obstretics and pediatrics in medical schools, employment of rigid asepsis, yearly health examinations for children and the proper immunization against contagious diseases.

All cooperating agencies were asked to send in a written report of child welfare work that they had done during the year.

Mrs. Joe H. Smith, reporting for the health committee, stated that a survey of tuberculosis in Lubbock county is planned. Miss Mae Murfee reported for the welfare committee.

The City Parent-Teacher council presented a playlet, "Punishments and Rewards."

There were about 35 persons attending.

"JEAN HARLOW'S Own Love Story" screams a headline across a cover on a romance magazine. Wonder if "her own love story" is her first, her second or her third marriage or if she has fallen in love since divorcing her husband several weeks ago?

ANNIVERSARY GIFTS

EVERY day of the year there are couples celebrating the anniversary of the day they took the vows of matrimony and promised each other to "love, honor and obey." The festivities may be in honor of two, 20 or 50 years of wedded bliss. Whatever it is, there is a symbol for the occasion.

Symbolic gifts have been set traditionally as follows: First year, paper; second year, cotton; third year, leather; fourth year, fruit and flowers; fifth year, wool, sixth year, sugar; seventh year, wool; eighth year, India rubber; ninth year, willow, tenth year, tin; eleventh year, steel; twelfth year, silk and fine linen; thirteenth year, lace; fourteenth year, ivory; fifteenth year, crystal; twentieth year, china; twenty-fifth year, silver; thirtieth year, pearl; fortieth year, ruby; fiftieth year, gold; seventy-fifth year, diamond.

THIS MAY HELP

WE read recently that celebrations for the first ten years are seldom taken very seriously by the gift givers. The crystal wedding is the first to be given grave consideration. The following list of gift suggestions should provide inspiration or at least start you to thinking and grinding out a better idea.

Engraved stationery, books, pictures, artificial flowers, playing cards, paper scrap baskets, quilts, rag rugs, bathroom accesories, desk accessories, luggage, gloves, belts, perfume, potted plants, canned and preserved fruits, portfolios.

HERE AND THERE

MUSINGS: Mrs. Chester A. Hubbard etched the old Nicolett hotel from the alley that runs behind the building, changing her position as the light-faded. . . . She named it "Old Nicolett Hotel," but the etching will be known as "The Last Tree" as it travels on the Texas Fine Arts association circuit. . . . When I am a dowager I am going to wear pince-nez glasses but I hope I do not spend all of my time trying to unfasten or fasten them as most wearers do. . . . That Q. in Roger Pierce junior's name stands for Quarles but it appears "Quarrels" on the Tech graduation announcements. . . . Evelyn Babb and I cannot read each other's writing. . . . Lot's of people think I pronounce certain words in an amusing style. . . . Less than half a century ago today my father ceased pacing the floor long enough to announce that his first daughter was to be name Frances Margaret. . . . A certain successful woman has as her motto "If you know what you want you can get it." . . . Members of St. Paul's Episcopal auxiliary are having a dumb waiter installed at Seaman hall. . . . LUBBOCK OWES HIM

W. R. WAGHORNE, who was for nine years head of the music department at Texas Technological college, has hung up a successful record as an educator in the musical world and as a patron of the fine arts. He possesses an indefatigable sense of humor that came in handy when he tried without success to interest local people in a civic orchestra or in a fine arts association.

During the first years of Tech's career, when all of the concert programs were given in the college gymnasium, the students left early in hordes, making their exit under the seats through a vacancy that since has been made into offices for the coaches. Mr. Waghorne was not discouraged. He had faith in the students. He kept bringing the best musicians he could here to give concerts.

In addition to being a teacher and composer this Scotchman can play an organ until the vibration makes one want to cry. He has no use for "high-hat" folk and his friends number many of the well-known people of the musical world.

ford, Emma Main and Mrs. R. M. Chitwood.

Misses Margaret W. Weeks, Mabel Erwin and Jonnie McCrery entertained with a luncheon Thursday in the tea room of the home economics building for Miss Gill.

To Return Here

The engagement of Miss Zula Mae Logan to W. J. Culp of Pampa was announced last week-end in Amarillo, where the bride-elect teaches school.

Miss Logan is to arrive for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Logan, 2119 Fifteenth street, next week-end. Her marriage is to take place on June 17.

Miss Ethel Lawson and Mrs. Grady Knight are planning to entertain for Miss Logan.

Club Party Planned

Members of the Tech D.F.D. club are to entertain Thursday afternoon with a bridge party at their house, 2301 Thirteenth street, honoring Miss Evelyn Hawkinson, bride-elect of Oquin Meyers of Lamesa. This marriage is to take place on June 10.

Miss Hawkinson has been honored with several parties since her engagement was announced. She is a student at Texas Technological college.

Two parties were given the last week for Miss Augusta Jenkins, who is to marry Fritz Stengle of Mason next Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. The ceremony is to be read at First Baptist church by the pastor, the Rev. R. C. Campbell.

Of interest here is announcement of the engagement of two former students at Texas Technological college, Miss Elizabeth Pickett of Post and Foster Davis of Haskell. They are to be married on June 3. A number of Lubbock persons will be invited to pre-nuptial courtesies for the couple.

Rural Women Are Active In Club Program

Gardening, Improvement Of Rooms Interest Women In Home Demonstration Clubs Throughout The County

Household economy, home decoration and new and successful methods in gardening have been among the various subjects occupying rural women who belong to the county home demonstration clubs directed by Miss Hazel Bratley.

Letters from women, who are pleased with the success of their own experiments and who wish to spread their benefits so that other housewives may enjoy the accomplishments which are theirs, are being reproduced, in part, here.

Builds Storage Closet

"Five dollars awarded me for first place on sweet milk and on the judging of dairy products at the Plainview Dairy show was used to build a clothes storage closet which surpasses, by far, the curtain closet in one corner of my bedroom which I have used for the last five years" states Mrs. Bennett Lane, wardrobe demonstrator of the Homemakers club.

Is Papered Like Room

"The closet is three by five feet. The walls are made of wallboard and papered to match the room. On the wide uppermost shelf which runs the full length of the closet I store blankets, quilts and other winter things. On a narrower shelf placed just a little lower are hat racks which I have made.

"Across one end are four shelves for boxes, mending kit and smaller garments. Clothes are hung on a small galvanized rod, the length of the closet, and a wooden shoe rack on the floor is just the place for shoes."

Sub-Irrigation Praised

Mrs. Jack Lokey, writing of products grown in her sub-irrigated garden, says "These are the largest and most productive strawberries I have ever raised. We began eating berries the first of May and, from the abundance of small fruits and blossoms on the plants, I am expecting them to bear most of the summer.

"I let water into the tile," Mrs. Lokey continues, "about twice every ten days and I find the moisture remains twice as long as that in surface irigation and it does not rot the berries. I plan to plant many more berries over tile as I enjoy their pecuniary returns."

Believes In Tile

Mrs. E. E. McClendon, garden demonstrator of the Idalou club, is another believer in sub-irrigation. "I wish I had all my smaller garden in tile,' she writes. "This is the first year I have used tile but my husband and I are convinced thoroughly that it is the best way to water. It takes about one third as much water as surface irrigation and there is no baked soil which has to be cultivated afterward. I find sub-irrigation especially useful in dampening the soil for the sprouting of seeds. I have three rows of English peas over tile."

Club lectures and demonstrations are only a few of the sources of information available to members. Mrs. Orlan Payne, former pantry demonstrator for the Hurlwood community, tells of benefits derived from following suggestions gleaned from home demonstration literature, "Flour, sugar, coffee and fruit," she explains, "complete our grocery order and surplus eggs and butter are exchanged for these now that we are following the plans for producing a living at home as suggested in circular C-95."

Mrs. Payne writes further that "A garden plot 150 feet square provided 24 different varieties of vegetables last summer. These were used fresh, canned and dried. We cure or can our own meat and make lard and soap. Last November my pantry contained 782 quarts valued at $218.64 and 550 pounds of dried or stored foods."

Singing Convention Will Be Conducted In City On Sunday

Lubbock county plateau singing convention will be conducted in the Assembly of God church at Nineteenth street and Avenue Q at 10 a. m. today.

Local churches will be represented on the program, and a number of out-of-town singers are to be here, said R. N. Shelton, president. John F. Taylor, president of the plateau convention, and his school of Claude will be here. There will be singers from Clovis, Portales, Littlefield, Quitaque, O'Donell, Borger, and other cities.

Instead of putting a piece of butter into each slit on the tops of the baked potatoes, waiting for it to melt and then sprinkling with paprika and chopped parsley, try melting the butter in a pan with paprika and parsley. Then, when the potato skins have been slit and they're ready to be taken to the table, pour a tablespoonful of the mixture into each one.

Individual Patterns, Colors Are Discussed At Gathering

BROADVIEW, May 26 (Special)—Mrs. C. T. Potts was hostess to members of the local home demonstration club Thursday afternoon. After a short business session Miss Hazel Bratley, county home demonstration agent, discussed materials, colors and shades best suited to individuals. She also judged the foundation patterns. Ice cream was served to 12 members and eight visitors. The next meeting will be with Mrs. D. Stokes, Jr., 14.

Miss Elsie Link is spending week-end in Dallas in the home Mrs. A. C. Anderson.

White With Brown And Orange Tones

Two fashion points—the vogue for white and the popularity of the new tie silks—are combined in this classic summer sports frock of foulard, printed with tones of brown and orange on a fresh white background. The tawny colors are perfect with sun tanned skins. Both skirt and bodice have pleats in front and back, giving plenty of freedom for arms and legs whether you're swinging a golf club or taking your small dog for a walk in the country.

Shallowater Club Meeting Conducted At Club House

SHALLOWATER, May 26 (Special)—The local home demonstration club met Friday afternoon at the Community club house. Mrs. Henry Mahoney, wardrobe demonstrator, reported on the making of 16 foundation patterns.

Miss Hazel Bratley, county home demonstration agent, discussed colors, designs and materials which may be used in making dresses for the county-wide contest to be conducted in June. She also checked the foundation patterns.

Attending were Mesdames J. W. Grimes, E. J. Wright, E. L. Corley, L. L. Anderson, V. Stanton, V. J. Farris, F. C. Haught, L. L. Baker, O. L. Malone, A. F. Reese, M. T. Stanton and two visitors, Miss Eva Johnson and Mrs. J. W. Dickinson.

IDEAS FOR SUMMER

To make your home cool-looking and more comfortable during the summer months, replace heavy winter rugs with grass mats. They're inexpensive and come in colorful designs to match summer slip-covers and curtains.

You can dispense with the array of sofa pillows on the divan, too, leaving only one or two light-colored ones there. Pretentious-looking window draperies are out of place in summer. Have them cleaned and stored away and then put up light simple ones or, if you like, do without any overdrapes, using only glass curtains.

Quilting Is Diversion For Caldwell Women At Meeting

CALDWELL, May 26 (Special)—Local home demonstration club members were entertained in the home of Mrs. C. C. Cecil last week. Mrs. M. L. Seay presided for a business session, after which quilting was the diversion.

Attending were Mesdames Pat Nix, W. P. Cox, Tony McGee, C. L. Jackson, Levi Pettet, J. P. Young, W. F. Buske, Odie Hamilton, W. N. McCrummen, R. S. Veazey, W. F. Bell, R. R. Richardson, Velma Anderson, A. F. Hess, R. F. Hess, Misses Martha Lynn Seay and Marva Richardson. Miss Lee Ila Tubbs of Abernathy was a visitor.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Rhodes and daughter, Ruby Tom, left Saturday for their home in Houston, Miss. They were accompanied by Ruth Parkhill, who is to go to Tolly Springs, Miss., to join her grandmother, Mrs. J. R. B. Cooper. The two are to return to Lubbock about July 1.

In the low-price motor car field there's nothing that even comes near with Chevrolet's famous 5-mile ride. The reason is: No other car at Chevrolet's price has any of the vital features pictured here. And without these features, it's impossible to equal Chevrolet's ride! You can't get Knee-Action results with anything less than a genuine Knee-Action car. You can't get six-cylinder economy with more than six—nor can you get valve-in-head performance with anything inferior to valve-in-head design. And the same thing applies to the Fisher body, the brakes, the steering. Chevrolet offers one feature after another that makes a tremendous difference—in the way the car feels, performs and saves. One feature after another that puts Chevrolet far ahead in value . . . farther ahead every day in sales!

Barbara Stanwyck One Star Who Is Indifferent To Public's Opinions

BY HUBBARD KEAVY
Associated Press Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD, May 26. (AP)—Barbara Stanwyck is the only player of importance I have ever met who seems totally indifferent to public praise or criticism. She dislikes Hollywood and has never made any effort to hide the fact.

BARBARA STANWYCK

She is charmingly frank or painfully blunt, according to one's viewpoint.

Her own name and that of her husband, Frank Fay are on the post box and the front gate of their walled estate in Brentwood, near Hollywood. Her name is listed in the telephone directory.

Her early struggles and her unique romance have been generously publicized—with her permission. She resents only published untruths about herself or her family.

More Husbands?

"I SEE three more husbands for you," Jean Harlow was told by a professional fortune teller . . . . This was a few weeks before Jean admitted she and Hal Rosson would separate . . . . Jean's reaction to the card reader's prediction is not known . . . The same looker-into-the-future insists that a certain star's husband wants wants her back as badly as she wants him . . . But when the star phones her estranged mate, he hangs up . . .

JEAN HARLOW

Pulitzer prize winner Sidney Kingsley (for his play "Men in White") was a scenario writer here about three years ago . . . Columbia assigned him to a deep sea story, but didn't allow him to finish it . . . Too bad they neglected to ask Sid if he had a story about doctors and nurses up his sleeve . . .

Teatime, Beertime

WHEN Boris Karloff was a truck driver, years before he became the movies' master menace, he often wished for time off in the afternoon to indulge in that old English custom of a pot of tea . . . But he never had the time or the money . . . When he was building his house recently, work stopped every afternoon at 4 because Boris thought the workmen should have some respite . . . But instead of tea, he served beer . . .

BORIS KARLOFF

Gloria Stuart, who's divorcing her husband (after trying a trial separation), says she won't marry again for a long, long time . . . And denies there's anything like another romance in her life . . . Platinum dahlias may be had now, if you're that much of a Harlow fan . . .

Maid A La West

MAE WEST'S negro maid, Lillian Taylor, adopted her employer's penchant for diamonds and was wearing her entire collection to work . . . Mae cautioned her about hold-ups telling Lil to leave her "poke" at home . . . . Forty copies in oil of Remington's outdoor scenes decorate Gary Cooper's dressing room . . The copies are said to have cost him $1 each . . .

GARY COOPER

Tired of being Tom Brown's father, Harry Brown will try his luck in pictures . . . Used to be a vaudeville actor . . . New batch of gossip includes an item about a he-man actor who got so tired of insults that he took up drinking to give him courage . . . And now he's said to be getting in all kinds of fights . . .

Old-time recalls Hollywood's first famous fight, that between Louis B. Mayer and Charlie Chaplin . . . Mayer, an independent producer then, was starring Mildred Harris, Charlie's first ex-wife, as "Mrs Charlie Chaplin." . . . So the men exchanged blows.

Shortest Courtship

THE rejected suitor may still be waiting, as patiently perhaps as in a good scenario, but from all accounts the Charles Boyers are most happily married.

The recent marriage of Boyer, "French Barrymore," and Pat Paterson of England, climaxed one of the shortest courtships in Hollywood.

It occurred, after an airplane flight to nearby Arizona, just one day before Paul England arrived here from London to propose marriage again—so he told friends—to his estranged fiancee, Pat Paterson.

It became known then that young England had been Miss Paterson's business manager at home and that, after an acquaintance of several years, they became engaged to be married.

"Sadie McKee" Will Headline Lindsey Fare

"Search For Beauty" Starts Today At Broadway; "Double Harness" At Lyric; Fight Feature In On At Texan

LINDSEY — Sunday, Monday and Tuesday: "Sadie McKee" (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer). Joan Crawford, Fanchot Tone, Edward Arnold, Gene Raymond and Esther Ralston.

Vina Delmar's story dramatizing a beautiful young woman of humble birth. Three men, an attorney, a weakling crooner and a drunken millionaire, enter and help to mould her life after she goes to the city.

BROADWAY — Sunday, Monday and Tuesday: "Search for Beauty" (Paramount). Larry "Buster" Crabbe; Ida Lupino, Toby Wing, James Gleason, Robert Armstrong, Gertrude Michael, Roscoe Karns and 30 "Search for Beauty" contest winners.

A vivid account of what happens when two youthful Olympic athletic champions get mixed up with crooked promoters who use them for fronts in a money-making scheme.

LYRIC—Sunday, Monday and Tuesday: "Double Harness" (RKO-Radio). Ann Harding, William Powell, Henry Stephenson, Lilian Bond and George Meeker.

A spicy story of a young woman who tricks a man-about-town into marrying her, and later, after falling in love with him, has to fight to keep him when he learns of her ruse.

TEXAN — Sunday and Monday: "The Prizefighter and the Lady" (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer). Myrna Loy, Max Baer, Primo Carnera, Jack Dempsey, Walter Huston and Otto Kruger.

A story of a speakeasy "bouncer" who becomes a leading heavyweight fighter. Baer and Carnera fight a bout the like of which you probably would like to see, but never will, in a fight ring.

TEXAN — Tuesday: "The Meanest Gal in Town" (RKO-Radio). Zasu Pitts, Pert Kelton, El Brendel, James Gleason and "Skeets" Gallaher.

A depression comedy about the difficulties in which a Scandinavian barber finds himself after he hires a stranded actress to vamp new business for his shop.

LINDSEY — Wednesday and Thursday: "Manhattan Love Song" (Monogram.) Robert Armstrong, Dixie Lee, Helen Flint and Franklyn Pangborn.

A smart comedy showing a comparison between society leaders and their servants, and extending from expensive penthouses to tawdry burlesque houses.

BROADWAY — Wednesday and Thursday: "Big Time or Bust" (Majestic). Regis Toomey, Gloria Shea, Edwin Maxwell and Walter Byron.

LYRIC — Wednesday and Thursday: "Broken Dreams" (Monogram). Randolph Scott, Martha Sleeper, Joseph Cawthon, Beryl Mercer and Buster Phelps.

TEXAN — Wednesday and Thursday: "Horse Play" (Universal). Slim Summerville, Andy Devine and Leila Hyams.

LINDSEY — Friday and Saturday: "Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox). Warner Baxter, Madge Evans, Sylvia Froos, John Boles, James Dunn, Shirley Temple, Arthur Byron, Ralph Morgan and Stephin Fetchit.

A story of a Broadway theatrical producer who is called upon by the president of the United States to help restore prosperity by reviving the spirits of the people through a gigantic amusement campaign, which is put on with the cream of the entertainment crop.

BROADWAY — Friday and Saturday: "Obey the Law" (Columbia). Leo Carrillo, Blackie Moore and Lois Wilson.

A comedy drama of a young lawbreaker who, while trying to preach respect for law-makers, gets himself into trouble and has a difficult time talking out of it.

LYRIC — Friday and Saturday: "Murders of the Zoo" (Paramount). Lionel Atwill, Charlie Ruggles and Kathleen Burke.

TEXAN — Friday and Saturday: "The California Trail" (Columbia). Buck Jones, Helen Mack and George Humbart.

At the THEATERS

Franklin Pangborn, Dixie Lee and Robert Armstrong in a scene from "Manhattan Love Song," which starts at the Lindsey Wednesday.

Buster Crabbe and Ida Lupino as they appear in "Search for Beauty," which starts today at the Broadway.

"In the early days of the World War, French airplanes carried "brick-throwing" machines for hurling brickbats into an enemy's propeller; two planes were brought down in this way.

KLAN EDIFICE RAZED

Religion Grows In Austria As State Changes

VIENNA, May 26. (AP)—Tens of thousands of new members are flocking into Austria's churches.

The semi-official "Politische Korrespondenz," calling attention to the return of approximately 25,000 men and women to the Catholic church in Vienna alone, believes it is a natural result of the destruction of social democracy in Austria. Says this semi-official organ:

"In consequence of the overthrow of social democracy, which had succeeded in estranging hundreds of thousands from the church by terrorists methods and by heaping contempt on its representatives and most sacred symbols, there has developed in all parts of Austria a 'back-to-the-church' movement simply astonishing in extent."

Protestant Views Differ

On the other hand, at headquarters of the Protestant churches (Augsburg and Helvetic confessions), the influx of almost 20,000 new members in Austria since February 12 is interpreted as a revival of the Protestant faith stimulated by opposition to the government's goal of establishing a Christian-Catholic state.

Protestant leaders also point out, however, that some who drifted out of the churches when the socialist party dominated Vienna, are coming back now.

The Jewish newspaper "Neue Welt" puts still another interpretation on the new popularity of church membership. Unofficial but nevertheless persistent and quiet elimination of Jews from academic and professional posts, says this newspaper, coupled with an official emphasis on the "Christian-German" character of the new Austria, is causing among faint-hearted Jews a "baptismal movement,"—an attempt to make themselves "Christian-German" by joining a Christian church.

Journal Decries Conversion

What percentage of the new Protestant and Catholic church members are of Jewish ancestry is not clear. The "Neue Welt" itself does not attempt to estimate.

But it does protest vehemently against the suggestion voiced in some pro-government quarters—notably in the "Linzer Volksblatt"—to the effect that the only satisfactory solution of the Jewish problem is the conversion of the Jews to Christianity.

"The bait of baptism doubtless will be effective with certain so-called 'Jewish elements' of the population," observes the "Neue Welt," "but the great mass of Jews will remain and with them the Jewish problem. The Jewish problem must be solved here by the Jews and the Christians—but not via the baptismal font!"

Just what the churchward movement since February 12 actually means thus remains a matter of opinion. Protestant leaders contend their new memberships are significant because only about 200,000 Austrians, out of a total population of 6,500,000, were listed as Protestants. An increase of 20,000 is, therefore, percentually a big growth particularly as it developed in less than three months.

Lubbock State Highway Division Gets New Trucks

Canyon Teacher Is Named To Staff Of Teachers College

CANYON, May 26—Miss Frances Usery, of Canyon, has been elected assistant in the piano department of the West Texas State Teachers college and will take up her duties in connection with this position in September.

Miss Usery, who received her bachelor's degree from W. T. S. T. C. in 1933, was an outstanding student in the music department during her college career. She goes soon to Los Angeles where she will study under the celebrated E. W. Grabill, one of the foremost instructors in piano in the United States.

A cable repair ship pulled up a broken cable off the coast of Newfoundland in 1931 and found a whale on it; the cable had pierced the whale's mouth and was completely looped around the body.

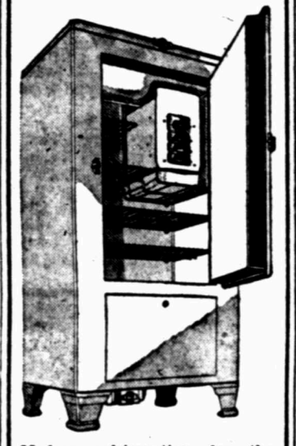

FEDERAL BUILDING SOLD

CHISHOLM, Minn. (AP)—Sale of Duluth's 40-year-old federal building and postoffice will give this city a civic center. The city and St. Louis county purchased the old structure for $36,000 and will spend an additional $17,500 removing it to pave the way for landscaping and completing the civic center.

Jess Mitchell Seeks Office

Editor And Publisher Of The Muleshoe Journal Out For Legislative Post From The 120th District

MULESHOE, May 26 (Special)—The second newspaper editor in the 120th legislative district to toss his hat into the political ring is Jess Mitchell, editor and publisher of the Muleshoe Journal and former editor and publisher of the Lamb Leader at Littlefield.

Mitchell this week formally announced his candidacy in statements sent to newspapers over the district. There are eight counties, Bailey, Parmer, Castro, Lamb, Hale, Briscoe, Floyd, Swisher, in the district.

Three others are candidates, W. W. Holcomb, editor of the Castro County News at Dimmitt; A. B. Tarwater of Plainview, who is seeking a third term, and J. N. Johnston, Floydada, who opposed Tarwater two years ago and was defeated in the runoff.

This is the first time Mr. Mitchell has asked for an elective office, although he has been interested in political affairs all his life. He served as a private in the Spanish-American war and was a secret service department employe during the World war. Later he was U. S. commissioner at Columbus, N. M., under President Wilson.

Coming to Northwest Texas nearly 12 years ago, Mr. Mitchell established the Lamb County Leader at Littlefield. Four years ago he sold it and bought the Muleshoe Journal. He owns a farm in the North Panhandle, a 320-acre farm near Portales, N. M., and an irrigation farm near here.

140 Acres Of Cantaloupes To Be Grown Near Carlsbad

CARLSBAD, N. M., May 26 (Special)—Approximately 140 acres of cantaloupes will be grown in the Carlsbad area of the Pecos valley, according to Charles Otis, representing the Joseph Gettinger company, who was here for an inspection of the area.

Shipments are expected to begin around August 5, lasting from four to six weeks. An average of 200 crates per acre should be expected, according to Otis.

Short crops are expected over the nation. The Imperial valley of California, where shipments have started, is 7,000 acres short. At Las Cruces, N. M., the acreage is 1,300 acres short. From Phoenix, Ariz., and from Colorado, shortages also are reported. In the east, Maryland and Delaware report short crops.

Private Construction Over Texas Is Still Far Behind

AUSTIN, May 26. (Special)—Private construction in Texas still lags, it was pointed out in the monthly report on building activities from the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Reports from nearly 38 Texas cities show a total of $1,242,137 in building permits issued in the State during April, a decline of nearly 2 per cent from March and 10 per cent below April, 1933. Cities showing a substantial increase over April last year were: Abilene, Amarillo, Beaumont, Dallas, El Paso, Galveston Houston, Plainview, Port Arthur and Waco.

Foster School Ends Sessions

Miss Mae Murfee Is Principal Speaker As School Term Is Closed; Diplomas Awarded To Graduates

FOSTER, May 26— (Special) — Foster High and grammar schools last week closed the current year with graduation exercises. Miss Mae Murfee, county superintendent of schools, addressed the graduates.

Honor certificates for straight A-cards were awarded to Helen Alexander and Barney B. Prestridge of the seventh grade. In the lower grades students receiving honor certificates were: Frances Nell Hobgood, Evelyn Louise Denton, Dortha Nell Dawkins, and Elisabeth Locklar. Perfect attendance certificates went to Louise and Emogene Welch and Elizabeth Locklar.

Diplomas Awarded

Ed Schroeder, president of the school board, awarded diplomas to: Velma Jenkyns, Mary Belle Woodson, J. T. Waldrop, J. C. Pointer, and Clifton McDougal, seniors; Helen Alexander, Barney B. Prestridge, Johnnie Waldrop, J. M. Hitt, Hershel Jenkyns, and Robert Watson, seventh graders.

E. F. Dawkins is principal. Other faculty members are Mrs. E. F. Dawkins, and Misses Edna Rea, Martha Pearl Copeland, and Georgia Belle Greer.

ISSUES WARNING

MORTON (Special)—L. T. Stone, county agent, announced receipt of a wire from Cully A. Cobb, chief of the cotton production at Washington, advising that corn for fuel cannot be planted on rented acreages." The growing of corn for fuel would invite all sorts of abuses and should not be permitted, he added.

The Farmer Looks Ahead

PROBABLY the most encouraging phase of the South Plains farmer's troubles is that they have caused him to look with a new and inquiring eye upon social and economic problems.

He has discovered that the world has changed much—that methods that were good 30 years ago are disastrous now. He is finding out that no one can prosper alone in a world in which the interests of every business, every producer, are inextricably intermingled. He is finding that the co-operative ideal—whether in industry, or agriculture, or simply social relations—points the road to stability and permanence.

During the depression thousands of farmers have joined co-operatives. Thousands of others have redoubled their efforts in behalf of their co-operative, where before they simply held "passive" memberships. These are the farmers that are applying real business methods to farming and that are in line to profit in the future.

Much can be said for and against co-operatives but the fact remains that in the Lubbock territory, at least, a great deal more can be said for them than against them.

And after all, the foundation of this country is laid upon the soil and will continue to rest there for more years than any of us here now are likely to see.

COST OF CRIME

If the people could be aroused to a full realization of the cost in money that crime in the nation annually exacts, there can be little doubt that more effective means than now prevail for dealing with it would be found.

According to Earl W. Evans, president of the American Bar association, the cost is more than $12,000,000,000.

"Crime not only threatens the prosperity and happiness of our people," he said, "but the very life of the nation itself. It exacts an appalling toll—some $12,000,000,000 in money and more vastly more than can be measured in money, in misery, death and weakened morale."

If the government were proposing to levy $12,000,000,000 in new taxes upon the public to finance some undertaking regarded generally as unessential, a great howl would arise from one end of the country to the other. Yet we hear comparatively little public outcry against crime.

One of the results of this situation is the perpetuation of conditions conducive to crime. Officials become negligent in their duties and politicians continue to put in office men who will form a link between themselves and the underworld.

Additional legislation of some kind may be needed, but more alertness on the part of the public in driving crooks from office and demanding vigorous and impartial enforcement of existing laws would do a great way in improving conditions and cutting down the present cost of crime.

CAUTION NEEDED

Just when Chicago seemed well on the road to curbing if not eliminating its gangsters and racketeers the Illinois supreme court hands down a decision upsetting one of the laws which had been instrumental in placing many of Chicago's gunmen behind the bars.

Among those who will be released as result of the ruling are "Two-Gun" Alterie, James Belcastro, "king of the bombers" and "Machine Gun" Jack McGurn, former Capone lieutenant.

The Supreme court held to be unconstitutional the new state vagrancy law which provided six months' sentence for persons with criminal reputations. It was under this act that the gangsters now to be released were convicted. It was neceessary only to establish their reputations as lawless characters to send them to prison.

While not ignoring "the worthy purpose" of the act, the supreme court held that it was necessary, under federal and state constitutions, "that before liberty or property may be taken from any one, regardless of his reputation, there must be proof that he is in fact a habitual criminal."

The decision will have the effect of emphasizing the danger of going too far in legislative efforts to curb crime. Hysteria must not be permitted to endanger constitutional guarantees. There are plenty of laws for punishing criminal acts.

MAKING GODS

"God is not a man." Numbers, 23:19.

In speaking of God as being a Personality or as having intelligence, we are attributing to Him human characteristics. We are making Him in our own image. There is danger for us in doing this. In time of need we discover He has no power to help us since He was made by us, instead of realizing that we were made by Him.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

POLITICAL Washington views with complete unconcern the action of the LaFollette brothers in setting up a Progressive party in Wisconsin to contest directly with the Republicans and Democrats.

Three Senatorial leaders—one a Republican, one a Democrat and the third a Progressive from another state—summed up the situation by expressing an identic view. It was:

First, that the movement is purely local and has no national significance; second, that the LaFollettes were forced into hoisting a third-party label because they had no place else to go.

Senator Bob LaFollette is in a peculiar position. Virtually every member of the upper house, whether Democrat or Republican, personally would like to see him come through this fall. Privately the so-called Progressive Democrats would far prefer him to a Democrat such as they fear might be elected.

Having actively supported President Roosevelt last election the Republican banner is no longer available to him. National Democratic leaders would like to give support but Wisconsin Democrats, long deprived of a place at the table, are demanding their share of the pie in too loud a voice to be disregarded.

So there was nothing for young Bob and his brother Phil to do but revive the party at the head of which their famous father polled over 4,000,000 votes for President in 1924.

EXEMPT: Aides to George Peek, special foreign trade adviser to the President, are indignant over what they term a widely spread misapprehension, namely that the Johnson Act hamstrings the Russian Export-Import bank.

Although the Johnson Act prohibits financial dealings with a debt-defaulting nation they point out that a final clause specifically exempts government corporations.

(It hasn't seen fit because the bankers' own directors adopted a resolution against dealing with the Soviet while it remained in the defaulter's class.)

SALVAGED: Robert Jackson of New Hampshire is having a silent laugh at the expense of a lot of Washington newspaper correspondents.

As one of the politico-lawyers who came into official disfavor some time ago, Jackson resigned his post as Secretary of the Democratic National committee. It didn't hurt his lucrative Washington law practice a bit.

Bob failed, though, to resign as Democratic National committeeman for the state of New Hampshire. He has never been off the committee.

ESTIMATE: Public Works, as previously reported here, has been slow to show concrete evidence of widespread reemployment although the men running it had so anticipated from the start.

In recent days some of Administrator Ickes' assistants have been chafing under the slow process of visible expansion. For some months they have been estimating that two men are employed indirectly for each man who gets a job on a PWA project.

Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the Bureau of Public roads, reported that the ratio was 2.1 to 1 on road-building work. This heartened the PWA boys because they figured it might run twice that high for building such things as battleships and subways.

When the general problem was put to such figure-jugglers as Isador Lubin, Commissioner of Labor Statistics, and Winfield W. Riefler, Chairman of the Central Statistical board, they ran into a stone wall.

It developed that this 2-to-1 proposition is a long standing statistical estimate that would require terrific research to prove on any appreciable scale.

GALLANT: Senator Carter Glass isn't a betting man but he lost $5 to his nurse during a recent illness on Senator William E. Borah's age.

The nurse asked for the information. Glass said "in his seventies," and when the nurse questioned the answer, offered to bet. The young lady dug up a Who's Who and discovered the Idahoan would not be 70 until June 29, 1935.

When Glass accused Borah of making him lose one of the few bets he has ever made, Borah replied:

"About my age? And to a beautiful young lady? I will gladly reimburse you."

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

BRITAIN has privately agreed not to interfere with our silver program (as indicated recently in this column) but she's pushing hard in other directions to reestablish sterling supremacy.

New Yorkers with connections abroad find evidence of this in Central Europe. The British have skilfully promoted themselves as financial middlemen for the trade relations of the smaller nations to the point where the latter quote nearly all their foreign business in terms of sterling. It's only a step from there to complete acceptance of sterling domination. Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria are already under the British spell and Czechosolvakia, Jugoslavia and Rumania are said to be in process of transferring their financial allegiance from France to England.

The British have one important advantage over us in a trade and currency contest. Their whole financial structure—including all banks and acceptance dealers—are closely knit and responsive to a single authority—the Bank of England. There's no such efficient collaboration over here with the Treasury and the banks often working at cross purposes.

CANADA: Establishment of a central bank in Canada—directly under London influence—remains a cornerstone of the British comeback plan. It has run into an unexpected obstacle in the form of Canadian nationalism—especially as expressed by the French element in parliament—but will be quietly pushed until something happens.

Insiders say that recent speeches in the Canadian parliament favoring the central bank were sponsored—and in some cases prepared—in London. They add that the ballyhoo about the collapse of the Ottawa agreement was largely inspired for our benefit and that actually the agreement has worked remarkably well.

ARMS: Local observers predict more British support for the French stand against German rearmament is generally expected. Most of the London cabinet is reported to be afraid of Hitler and to rate it safer to tie up with France than risk having France make commitments in other directions.

Prime Minister MacDonald is said to lean toward the German side because of his feeling that Versailles was unjust. But his influence in this instance is slight and not expected to prevail—even with the support of munitions interests eager for markets.

THE NEW BOOKS

Warwick Deeping Refurbishes An Old Idea In His "Seven Men Came Back"; New Novelist Is Discovered In "The Great One"; Crime Yarns Are Featured In Week's New Book Releases

"SEVEN MEN CAME BACK," by Warwick Deeping; (Alfred A. Knopf, New York).

WARWICK DEEPING is refurbishing an old idea very pleasantly for us in "Seven Men Came Back," published this week.

Mr. Deeping takes seven men, English officers of greater or less importance, and shows them to us just as the strain of war relaxes, and they celebrate the relaxation by a good dinner and considerable to drink. In a quite short time he gives us a very good idea of the caliber of his cast.

Then he sends them back to England, after they have agreed to meet again for dinner next Armistice Day night. These parties are to be regular features of life from that moment hence, the camaraderie of war days is to be reproduced — and so on, indefinitely.

Things Change

But of course that isn't what happens at all. For when the next Armistice Day rolls around and the group reassembles they are not at all the same persons they had been a year before. Bastable, for example, was a nasty and occasionally craven subaltern at the first dinner; now he is a very important person in one of those fluffy but impressive post-war corporations.

Captain Sherring, who had been the senior officer and a man of great, though quiet, force, is a salesman engaged in getting big prices for old motor cars. Kettle, Sherring's orderly, has given up his pre-war profession of burglary for green-grocering and doing well at it. So it goes; the dinner is in no sense a success.

Sherring is slated for love under odd circumstances, and before it is all over and he is safe in a typically English port he even has become dancing partner to his beloved. The others—but there is no space to tell what happened to them, and besides, that is Mr. Deeping's job. Be it mentioned, he does his job in a much more workmanlike manner than he has in some others of his novels. There are quantities of sentiment, but also some apt analysis.

About A Man Losing His Soul

"THE GREAT ONE," by Henry Hart; (John Day, N. Y.)

THERE is always something fascinating about the spectacle of a man losing his soul; and when he sells out for intangibles that fail to bring him anything resembling happiness, the fascination is somehow all the greater.

That's the sort of spectacle you get in "The Great One," by Henry Hart.

This novel tells about a Philadelphia politician who has more than a passing resemblance to the late Boies Penrose.

Has Good Intentions

Well born and wealthy and gifted with a limitless vitality, this man emerges from Harvard with the determination to enter politics and strike a blow or two for the common man.

He goes into it with his eyes open, fully aware of all the corruption and chicanery that go with politics; he is going to play the game in the traditional way, make himself mayor and master of his city, and then do something for the people at the bottom of the heap.

But the game itself licks him. He has to touch too much pitch; his dream slowly flickers out. And by and by, having conducted himself too arrogantly, he has to take a beating and see his ambition to be mayor go out the window.

This doesn't end his political career; indeed, it really begins it. He goes on to become U. S. senator, the most powerful political boss in the land, maker of presidents and chief liaison officer between industry and politics, enjoying vast power and riches.

But something in him has died His old dream dissolves. He plays the game, henceforth, without scruples, for what there is in it; he sells his soul to gain the world, in other words—and in the end there is no profit in it.

Contrary To History

"OLD ROWLEY," by Dennis Wheatley; (Dutton, N. Y.)

CHARLES II of England was not the licentious old reprobate history has made him, if Dennis Wheatley is to be believed. His "Old Rowley" is an attempt to rehabilitate the jolly monarch in the public eye.

It was Charles' jollity, incidentally, that gave him his black eye with posterity, Mr. Wheatley believes. Charles was two men, he adds; in public he was merely the gay roue, more interested in his mistresses than in his dominion. But privately he was an astute and worthy king, Mr. Wheatly is convinced. He is so convinced that his reader is likely to be converted.

Schooled In Poverty

Charles was schooled in poverty, "Old Rowley" points out. All through his long exile he existed on the crumbs that fell from various royal tables, and they were not numerous. Upon his return he found himself almost foundering under the mistakes of the Cromwellians, the debts of his father, and none too secure a throne.

He steered through these precarious waters in a way that seems to most of us, fed as we are on school history, rather erratic. Mr. Wheatley persuasively argues that the course only looks odd; that really it was the best one Charles could have followed. The title of his book, by the way, is one of Charles' nicknames. "Old Rowley" was his favorite stallion.

Crime Yarns

A NICE kitty plays a leading role in one of the more sprightly of the new murder yarns—"The Puzzle of the Silver Persian," by Stuart Palmer (Crime Club).

This tale begins with the disappearance from an Atlantic liner of a beautiful young heiress and the mysterious death of the ship's barroom steward and it follows an assorted handful of passengers through England while some homicidal maniac tries to make away with all of them.

In the end, a rather fussy spinster from New England succeeds in solving the tangle—and all because kitty kills and eats a robin at a certain time and place. You probably won't believe much of it, but you may well enjoy reading about it.

Ben Ames Williams is represented this month by "Hostile Valley" (Dutton). Here we have a farmer wandering up into a lonely valley in Maine for a day's fishing and running into a queer tangle of hates and fears which results in murder. He teams up with an aged female herb doctor to get to the bottom of things, and the tale is told in Mr. Williams' usually competent and entertaining manner.

From Murderer's Viewpoint

"Portrait of a Murderer," by Anne Meredith (Reynal & Hitchcock) is another of those stories describing a crime from the murderer's point of view. An aging Englishman calls all his grown children together, and each one of them has murder in his heart. One of them yields, and smacks the old gent down. You see the crime committed and know how it was done; the interest of the story lies in watching the way in which the law tries to run the murderer down.

"Travel Book"

"BEYOND THE MEXIQUE BAY," by Aldous Huxley; (Harper's, N. Y.)

BY STRETCHING the term a bit, one might call Aldous Huxley's "Beyond The Mexique Bay," published this week, a "travel book."

But where the usual writer of the usual travel book travels with Baedeker, and often rewrites that indefatigable gentleman, Mr. Huxley travels on his brain. He is not so much amused by what he sees as by what is suggested thereby.

It makes for a curious melange, this peculiarity. For an example—Huxley took a look at Guatemala City, which lay conveniently on his route through Central America and Mexico, and presto, he evolved a long and digressive essay on nationalism, militarism, emotional over-stimulation, and heaven only knows what else. The essay is 37 pages long and contains a little information about Central America. It also is interesting.

This same thing happens to Mr. Huxley with terrifying frequency. He is unable to face a ruin without evolving a new, and sometimes startlingly original history therefor. A stela in Copan produces a piece on the difficulty of grasping time intellectually, and the sight of Cholula is the starting point for comment on the change in the descriptive habit of writers.

So that the reader unfamiliar with the Huxley system might feel, on finishing "Beyond The Mexique Bay," that he had bought tickets for a burlesque show and been provided a symphony concert instead. It depends on the mentality of the purchaser whether he is pleased or horrified.

But which it should not be understood that there is no information about Central America and Mexico in the book. There is much information, and most of it is of the kind that the average visitor would overlook completely.

Side Glances —By George Clark

"We'll be standing in the lobby. My husband is a tall man and I—I will be wearing a blue hat."

The Foreign Situation

Hookup Of Government And Corporations Is Uncovered

Japan

WORD from Tokyo throws light on the hook-up of the government with the big Japanese corporations. The two largest trusts Mitsui and Mitsubishi—with a total capital of almost five billion yen—control not only most of the Japanese merchant marine but also a large part of the textile and machine industries and over half of the entire export trade. Of the 466 members of the Japanese Parliament 272 belong to the Minseito party which is financed by Mitsubishi, while the Seyukai party supported by Mitsui controls 175 seats. That's one of the reasons why military force is so easily available when new markets are required.

Japanese industrialists are much more worried over conditions than they admit. They feel that the present prosperity, based on dumping and the devaluation of the yen, is not a permanent proposition. Tokyo foresees wholesale dumping won't last much longer. An agreement on the part of western nations to give Japan a free hand in China will be balanced by a cessation of the troublesome exports. The Nipponese have planned for this with able vision.

Ten Year Plan Laid

Tokyo estimates that it will take at least ten years to make Manchukuo an effective producer of raw materials and a profitable market and is worried by the huge military expense of clearing the country of the robber bands which made extensive colonization impossible. (These lawless nomads, now swelled by deserters from the Manchukuan army are estimated at 300,000.) Meanwhile the enormous Chinese market, the hope of Japanese industry, remains closed by an unofficial boycott.

Control of China is viewed as the only permanent solution—its raw materials, market and colonization possibilities can make Japan independent. The increasing use of Chinese labor (50 per cent cheaper than Japanese) by European capital in China is the Japanese nightmare.

Tokyo believes that the shutting of the Chinese door would mean a fight—at sea. With the growth of Russian power and the strengthening of the British defenses the chances of swiping the necessary oil supply grow slimmer. Insiders say that 1936 (completion of the Osaka-Tsuruga canal) has been set by the militarists as the now-or-never limit should diplomatic trades fail to come off.

Russia

The revolutionary campaign which the Comintern has launched in Indo-China calls for putting the French white troops in a mutinous frame of mind, inspiring a general hatred of the regime, fostering nationalism and developing the ideal of a Soviet system. A large group of organizers has been sent from Moscow, but Paris is wise to the scheme and it's believed that the "Comrades" will get short shrift.

Insiders report that there is considerable truth in the rumored reorganization of the GPU. The feeling against the absolute dictatorial power and unique privileges of this mysterious police force (which is its own court, prosecutor and defense) has grown very much within the last year. The foundation of a State Attorney's Office and the appointment of Akulow, an opponent of the GPU, was the first step toward breaking the power of the Soviet, a state within the state. The GPU troops, now used as border, railroad and industrial police, are to be split up between the army and the Transport commissariat, while the GPU police will lose its independence and be placed as a normal force under a Commissariat of the Interior. These reforms won't be easy to carry out as the GPU is hidden under a veil of secrecy even from the Soviet government officials and has enormous power which it won't relinquish without a struggle.

Great Britain

THE French press is spreading rumors of a coming Anglo-French defensive pact against Germany—which is far from the truth. Although German rearment—especially in the air—makes London very nervous, the government is not even willing to give France any extensive guarantees of safety in the form of sanctions against Germany unless Europe actually begins to disarm. France claims that only a united Anglo-French front will prevent German aggression but British public opinion will support only disarmament and not the suppression of Germany, which Paris obviously intends. If Great Britain is jeopardized she will protect herself, as the London Times recently wrote, but sees no purpose in a pact primarily designed to protect France.

London has no intention of being sucked by promises into a war which France starts. The Parliament Liberals are bringing pressure to bear for more energetic action by the government in the arms question, but this is principally a political maneuver and doesn't mean much. Insiders say that Great Britain will have one more try at Geneva to bring about a disarmament agreement, and if that doesn't succeed, pull out and let the Continent do its own washing.

Major Issue Avoided

Although powerful circles in the British textile trade stirred up public opinion over the Japanese trade threat to a pitch that the government couldn't resist Trade Chief Runciman did not take the extreme stand of the industrialists, who wanted a complete rupture with Tokyo. This could become a major political issue.

London insiders report that Indian representatives have been talking turkey with the government, pointing out that Japan is slowly but surely extending a political hegemony over the Far East. The Indians blamed the government's inactivity and pressed for plain speaking and acting. "Before it's too late" was the attitude. The British officials replied that nothing had yet occurred which warranted such a move. "Then make something occur" was the retort.

The British Press is much incensed by the recent arrest of the Munich correspondent of the Daily Herald press. It's the fourth case of the kind in Bavaria within six months. The government is "making representations" but they won't do much good so far as gathering concerned. Berlin has given out that the journalists be treated with utmost courtesy in future but their work be hindered and discouraged as much as possible.

Germany

ESTABLISHMENT of the "People's Court" for treason has brought a flood of criticism and denunciation from all over Europe. This court—with its two judges and three lay members and designed for rapid and summary action on the basis of Nazi philosophy rather than law—has been a pet brainchild of Goering's ever since the Reichstag trial, which went too slowly to his taste. It was pigeonholed at first as an irritation to foreign public opinion. With the alarming growth of Communist propaganda and the increase of general unrest due to the critical financial situation as well as the necessity of keeping German military secrets under cover, Hard-boiled Hermann has had his way. Liberal use will be made of the death penalty when this court under the influence to "destroy the specter of revolution with an iron hand." These judges are to be men "with experience in combatting subversive activities," selected by the Chancellor himself.

Prussia Is Federalized

Most observers report that the appointment of Federal Minister of the Interior Frick as Prussian minister of the same branch in place of Goering—Prussia is thus to be completely federalized and Goering's political power fixed off. The former is true but the latter, according to a pro member of the inner ring, the opposite of true. With this new Prussian police, by far the in Germany, leaves the control of the Ministry of the Interior stays under Goering's direct al management. He is dicke a new Federal Ministry of which will include all police tions—in exchange for letting his resistance to federa There are certain political ties but it looks as though his way eventually. He's not on the wane.

New Industry Booms On South Plains; Cotton Burr Ash Being Sent To East And South As Fertilizer For Tobacco

A new industry for the South Plains was reflected in the shipment since January 1 from Post of 23 cars of cotton burr ash to tobacco manufacturing concerns of the east and south to be used as fertilizer in growing tobacco.

The ash, in clinker form, was purchased by Ted Alkire, a buyer who has been here for some months. Prior to this year, Mr. Alkire had the ash ground into powder form at various places. Now he has established a hammer mill at Post and does the work there.

Chief purchaser of the ash is the Sumatra Tobacco corporation of Griffins, Conn. However, companies at Amsterdam, Ga.; Quincy, Fla., and Bridgeport, Conn., are also purchasers.

Ash is purchased at a number of places. Most of it comes from gins, at which burrs are used for fuel.

Carload shipments have been made from other points besides Post. O'Donnell last fall shipped five or six cars. Shipments also have come from Littlefield, Lamesa, Sudan and Seagraves.

Recently the Santa Fe authorized a grinding in transit rate to permit grinding of the cinders. The work is now being done at Post, but may be done in Lubbock.

It is understood that there is available for shipment 170 tons of ash over the territory. This represents about seven carloads.

Wheat Drills Plant Cotton

W. E. McLaughlin, Banker Of Ralls, And Son Planting Hundred Acres Per Day On Bailey County Farm

Cotton seed planted by wheat drills, at the rate of 100 acres per day, is the unusual feat that W. E. McLaughlin, Ralls banker, and his son Marvin are performing on their league tract in Bailey county near Baileyboro, according to S. B. Jackson, Frederick, Okla., cotton man.

"They are planting 700 acres of cotton this year," Jackson said. "They bought delinted cotton from me and it is being planted with a wheat drill. Never in all my experience have I ever seen anything like that before.

Two Drills Used

"Two drills are being used, one a 12-foot drill and four rows are being drilled at a time; the other a 10-foot drill with three rows.

"Seed is just dumped into the seed box and it goes through like wheat. They told me they could put in 100 acres a day. A tractor is used to pull the drills."

The McLaughlins are using what is known as the Kemgras treated seed, developed by Mr. Jackson. Through a special treatment, which he has patented, the lint is removed from the seed and the imperfect and under-developed seed cleaned out.

Mr. Jackson discovered the process in 1927 and developed it for several years. He later built a treating plant at Frederick, Okla., in time for preparing seed for the 1931 season of planting. Since that time he has built up a large business in the cleaning and delinting of seed.

Weight Is Reduced

The greater portion of the bulk of the "fuzzy" seed is the lint, while the weight is reduced only about six pounds per bushel. A 32-pound bushel of seed, when delinted and cleaned, weighs about 26 pounds, Mr. Jackson said.

"Ten pounds of delinted seed will plant an acre of ground as well as 32 pounds of the old type," he explained. "We clean out all imperfect seeds and those that are left have a high germination content.

"In Oklahoma we plant the seed in hills with a corn planter. We find the seed germinates from three to five days quicker than the other seed."

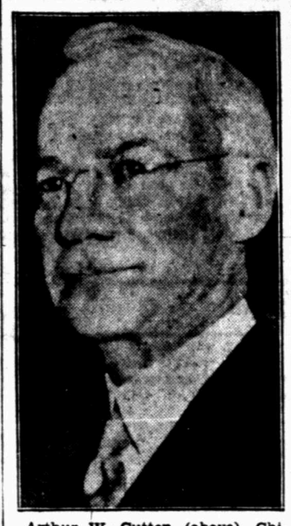

Mr. Jackson indicated he might locate a seed treating plant in this section, probably at Lubbock. While he uses a half and half seed for his own use, he will treat any kind of seed in the plant.

Quebes and Brandes, Plainview, sold 14 steers, 860 pounds, for $5.50 and 16 mixed animals for $5.10. They averaged 670 pounds.

Swiss Farmers Turn Socialist As Prices Fall

BERNE, Switzerland, May 26. (AP)—Swiss mountaineers, caught in the same falling-price trap that maimed American farmers in 1931-32, may hold the fate of the Swiss franc in their calloused hands.

Devaluation of the currency appears to them as the only way out of their dilemma.

A socialist-agrarian bloc is in the making which may force devaluation of the franc in an attempt to break the vicious circle in which they find themselves.

Socialists Making Hay

The socialists, who are in the opposition, are gathering the classes hard hit by the depression behind the doctrine of planned economy and managed money. They are the only party in Switzerland which frankly talks about taking radical measures.

The farm debt runs to 4,800,000,000 Swiss francs or about $1,600,000,000. The total state indebtedness amounts to 7,000,000,000 francs, of which 3,000,000,000 were spent to keep the state railways going.

Farmers are not able to pay interest on this debt, for it is all that they can do to make ends meet in the face of falling prices for agricultural products.

Exports of cheese, milk and chocolate have dropped off 50 per cent. All exports have fallen by two-thirds since 1929.

Party In Power 86 Years

But thrifty farmers also have suffered from the 54 per cent drop in income from foreign investments—one of the country's most important means of livelihood—and from the tourist traffic which has sunk almost to war levels.

Farmers traditionally have been the backbone of the radical party, a moderate group of the center, which has the amazing record of running the Swiss state machine for 86 years, ever since 1848.

But the severe economic plight is shaking the party's roots. Its leaders are foes of monetary inflation and the farmers have not been able to change the party's course.

Owners Of Rose Bushes Are Urged To Start Spraying

Owners of rose bushes who want to control leaf spot this summer should begin a weekly spraying of the bushes, according to C. V. Russell, horticulturalist of the division of agriculture at Texas Tech.

Sulphur makes the best spray, he said. It can be easily applied and it gets results, he added.

Results Of Tests To Learn Best Methods Of Fattening Cattle To Be Given At Big Spring Experiment Station

BIG SPRING, May 26 (Special)—Date of the annual Feeders' day for the U. S. dry land experiment station here, has been announced by Fred Keating, superintendent, as Friday, June 8.

During the past 196 days 60 head of Hereford calves have been under experiment, for the purpose of gaining information on the value of different methods of preparing milo maize in a ration for fattening cattle. In the test four different methods were studied when milo was fed in conjunction with other West Texas grown grains, such as red top cane fodder and cottonseed meal.

Test Rations Vary

Fifteen head were used in each test. A different ration was used in each test.

The program begins at 10 a. m. Detailed information on the results will be available, Mr. Keating said. The station is located north of the city, on the former route of highway No. 9 and a short distance east of the new highway cutoff.

J. M. Jones, chief, division of range animal husbandry in Texas for the state experiment service; J. J. Bayles, superintendent of sub-station No. 9, Balmorhea; R. E. Dickson, superintendent of sub-station 7 at Spur, and Don L. Jones, superintendent of sub-station 8 at Lubbock, are among those expected here. W. L. Stangel, head of the department of animal husbandry at Texas Tech, Lubbock; John Jones, College Station, animal husbandman for the extension service; A. L. Smith and George W. Barnes, livestock specialists of the extension service also are expected.

In addition county agents from all over West Texas, vocational agriculture teachers and beef cattle feeders and ranchers have been invited to attend.

SELLS AT AMARILLO

N. A. Armstrong, Floydada shipper-feeder, sold Monday at Amarillo 32 steer calves weighing 800 pounds, for $4 per hundred. Twenty-one 320 pound calves brought $2.50.

MOVEMENT STARTS

First movement of cattle from the pens of the Babicora Development company at Brownfield started last week when 32 cars were moved out Monday and Tuesday. Additional orders for cars are expected by the Santa Fe at any time. About 1,000 head were moved in the first train load leaving over 7,000 head in the pens.

LARGE SINGLE SALE

Tom Good's recent sale of his calf crop on feed near Lamesa to the Kilpatrick brothers of Beatrice, Neb. was one of the largest single sales. A total of $91,000 was paid for 3,628 head. The steers were loaded into 68 cars at Lamesa. Two trips were made by 18 cowboys in bringing the herd from the feed lots to the cattle pens. The Santa Fe is reported planning extending the pens at Lamesa to take care of additional shipments.

Largest Sale Of Plains Cane Seed Is Reported Here

Largest sale of South Plains-grown red top cane seed this season in Lubbock was reported by George Roach of the George M. Roach Wholesale Grain company, who sold 750,000 pounds of seed for the drouth areas of the northwest.

The sale, Mr. Roach said, included half a million pounds in one lot for western Nebraska, Idaho and eastern Montana.

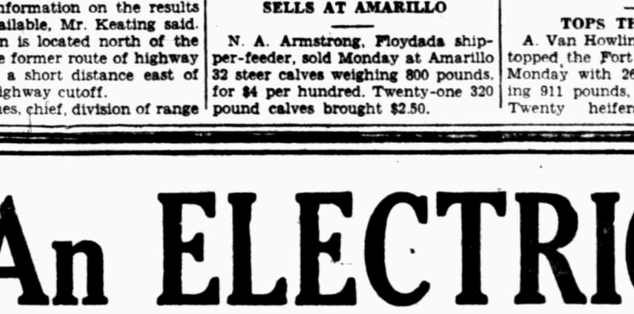

Receiving an order for at least half a million pounds of seed from a northern house, Mr. Roach located the seed and bought it. "As far as I could learn, it was the last large storage of seed," he added. "It is the first time that seed from the Panhandle-Plains country has been shipped into that section, that I have heard about."

The shipment was handled in 20 cars and shipment has been started to the drouth-stricken areas. After locating the first lot of half a million pounds, Mr. Roach bought a quarter million pounds more to meet an additional need.

Worth last week. Twenty three, 824 pound yearlings brought $6 per hundred; eight 609 pound yearlings $4.80 and eight 618 pound yearlings $6.50.

An ELECTRIC Refrigerator Makes A LOT Of Food Cost LITTLE

You know of the CONVENIENCE of electric refrigeration . . . the safeguards it places around the HEALTH of your family . . . but don't overlook the ECONOMY of electric refrigeration. Convenience and health come first, of course, but ELECTRIC refrigeration enables you to save a good portion of your food bill each week.

Here are a few ways you save with an electric refrigerator:

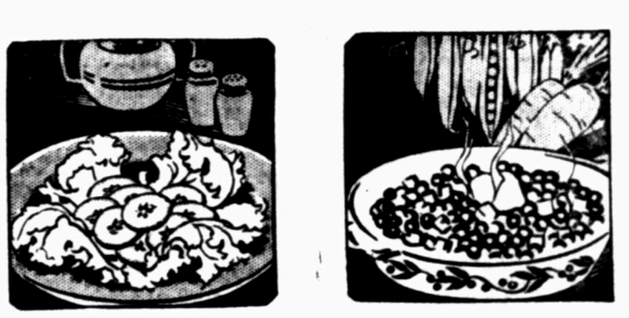

1. Take advantage of "specials" on perishable foods and buy enough to last a week.

2. Buy in larger quantities when the signs say "10c . . . 3 for 25c."

3. Make frozen desserts instead of serving purchased desserts.

4. Confine your refrigeration costs to just a few cents a day on your electric sevice bill.

5. For around $100 you can own a 1934 model electric refrigerator, and your electric refrigerator dealer will arrange terms to suit your convenience. Choose the make and size you want and then notice the many ways in which it saves you money.

And these are just a few of the savings. That half-bottle of milk, the left-overs from yesterday's dinner and other foods often thrown away because of spoilage are saved in an electric refrigerator and can be made into appetizing dishes.

Austria, Hungary, Italy

ALTHOUGH the trade negotiations between Austria, Hungary and Italy have turned out well officially the Italian position in Central Europe has not been strengthened through them as much as the Duce expected.

Hungarian farming interests are disappointed and industrialists embittered by the new exchange quotas. It's obvious that Mussolini isn't willing to turn his back on the Little Entente for the benefit of Hungary, and the old Magyar distrust of Italian double-dealing is cropping up again. Although Austria got away favorably with a ten million dollar increase in annual exports to Italy the feeling among the population against Italian domination—which is held responsible for the dictatorial constitution and the abolition of all popular franchise—is getting more and more bitter.

The Danube problem isn't settled by a long shot, and nobody knows it better than the man who rules Italy.

Officially Secretary Suvich went to London to talk about disarmament, in reality to negotiate a loan. He was politely but coolly treated on both counts and came back to Rome and a furious Duce with his tail between his legs.

Worried by these failures—which have set Italian prestige down considerably—and by a turn for the worse in the financial situation, Mussolini regards the German-Jugoslav trade pact with great misgivings. At this time of German's money shortage the quota preferences which Berlin has accepted represent a great sacrifice and show how anxious Germany is to get a foothold in the Balkans.

France

The final report of the Stavisky commission, due any day now, is viewed by insiders with great concern as more oil for the fire. The results of the investigation have been far from satisfactory and the presence of politics is obvious. The government is haunted by the fear that the whole opposition will take up Henri Beraud's cry: "If you don't deliver us these scoundrels and murderers you'll do well to surround the Palais Bourbon with barbed wire." Policies of Right and Left have counted for which much more than truth with the investigating deputies in spite of Doumergue's clear warning that dishonesty now means dictatorship. That's dynamite.

The government is widely criticized for not speeding up constitutional reform. Insiders have it that Doumergue is waiting until the stock of the Chamber of Deputies is so low as a result of the Stavisky report, that he can force through his plans with the weight of almost unanimous public opinion. Some insiders predict that opinion will go further than he wants it to.

Sour Apples For Deputies

The planned transfer of initiation of appropriations to the cabinet, decrease in the number of deputies from 600 to 400, changes which will make it difficult for the chamber to exert political pressure on the executive—all will be sour apples for the Deputies. But it's that or radical dictatorship — and the masses, with growing faith in Doumergue, are for the Republican course.

An important Socialist stronghold was levelled recently when a government decree gave the Minister of Posts and Telegraphs discretionary hire-and-fire power —civil servants or no. Communications, as the mainstay of public security, are to be under supervision of people absolutely loyal to the government. Socialist press has risen in arms,

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR, No 7 — By Edgar Rice Burrou

Keeping well in the shadows of the shrubbery growing profusely about the bungalow, Werper made his silent way to a point beneath an open window of the room in which he could hear his host and hostess talking earnestly. Almost the first words he overheard filled him with excitement. Lady Greystoke was speaking: "I always feared this might happen, but it seems incredible."

"Whatever the cause," replied Tarzan, "the fact remains that I have lost everything and there is nothing for it but to return to Opar and get more gold." "Oh, John," cried Lady Greystoke and Werper could feel the shudder through her voice, "I would rather live in poverty always, than have you risk the hideous dangers of Opar. Is there no other way?"

"There is no other way half so easy to obtain another fortune, as to return to the treasure vaults of Opar and bring it away," replied Tarzan. "You need have no fear. I shall be very careful, my dear, and the chances are that the inhabitants of Opar will never know I have been there again. They do not know the value of their treasure. In fact few of them know of its existence."

Tarzan had made his decision and Lady Greystoke accepted his judgment. The following morning Werper announced his intention of departing. His party made but a short march when Werper pretended he was ill. He sent one of Achmet Zek's trusted blacks back over the trail to watch for the departure of Tarzan, then to return and report the direction taken by the ape-man.

Churches Plan To Entertain Sailors While In Manhattan On Shore Leave

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—Churches here are taking considerable pains to see that good, clean entertainment is provided the thousands of sailors who will invade the city when the fleet is here from May 31 to June 18.

"Sunday evening teas, suppers and social hours" are being planned for the seamen.

The Greater New York Federation of Churches has suggested to members "that social gatherings be arranged for evenings, if possible. Good social dancing under careful supervision will be provided, the young women of the church and community to be carefully selected."

Choirs, quartets and soloists will be asked to sing on the ships and assist fleet chaplains in services. Chaplains will be asked to preach in local churches, with their men attending services in a body.

After the services, it has been suggested the sailors be taken to members' homes for dinner.

Church officials, without commenting on the picture, view the fleet's arrival as "an opportunity for service and a real responsibility."

Canyon Opens Last Week Of School Today

Dr. E. M. Waits Will Deliver Baccalaureate Sermon For Class Of 84 This Morning; To Confer Degrees Thursday

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

CANYON, May 26.—Commencement week will open Sunday for the 84 members of the June graduating class of the West Texas State Teachers college, with Dr. E. M. Waits, president of Texas Christian university, Fort Worth, delivering the baccalaureate sermon at 11 o'clock.

The culminating event of the week will be Thursday at 10 a. m. when degrees will be conferred by President J. A. Hill, following the commencement address by R. A. Stuart, ex-student of the college and a former member of the Texas legislature.

Class Play Given

Although Sunday is the first day of the final week of college for the class, many important events have already been marked off the senior calendar. The class play, "The Gossipy Sex," was given April 25. May 14 was sneak day, when seniors played childish games, and picnicked with juvenile abandon.

Today was Class day, when the somber black of academic regalia appeared on the campus for the first time this year. At the exercises of the day the seniors presented their gift to the college, a beautiful, hand carved trophy case to hang in the administration building.

Tonight the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hill was the scene of a gathering of seniors and faculty.

Band To Play

Monday night the annual commencement band concert will be given under the direction of Professor C. E. Strain.

Tuesday evening the commencement concert, under the director of Professor W. R. Clark, head of the music department, will feature the college orchestra, the men's chorus and the women's chorus.

Wednesday evening the graduating class of the college training school will have its exercises with members of the class contributing all the numbers.

Following the college commencement on Thursday there will be an ex-student luncheon at which important problems will be presented by the outgoing president, T. H. McDonald, of Pampa. Entertainment features will be presented by the class of 1932.

Shipments Of Stock Decline

Livestock Movement To Fort Worth And Interstate Cities In April Decline From Total During 1933

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

AUSTIN, May 26—Livestock shipments from Texas to Fort Worth and interstate points during April fell below those of the corresponding month in 1933 for the first time during the current year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

"Total shipments of 8,052 cars compared with 8,794 cars during April last year, a decline of 10 per cent," the bureau's report said. "Only one class of animals, cattle, showed an increase and that was only 5 per cent. Respective carload shipments of the various classes of livestock compared with April, 1933, were: Cattle, 6,659 and 6,358; calves, 651 and 873; hogs, 395 and 765; and sheep, 347 and 798. It will be noted that only about half as many hogs and sheep were shipped from the state as in April last year and about 25 per cent fewer calves.

"For the first four months of the year, however, total shipments of 18,513 cars were still above the 17,907 cars of the corresponding period last year.

"This is the season of year when large shipments of cattle and calves are made to the Flint Hills of Kansas and the Osage country of Oklahoma for summer grazing. Shipments to Kansas this year were much larger than in April a year ago, but there was a decline in shipments to Oklahoma.

Changes Occur

"A number of significant changes occurred in shipments of livestock to important markets in comparison with last year. Fort Worth, for example, received only about one third as many sheep and half as many hogs as during April last year, and shipments of Texas cattle to Los Angeles were 80 per cent below those of April last year while no Texas calves or sheep reached that market during the month.

"Receipts of hogs from out-of-state points totaled 277 cars, against 106 cars in April, 1933. The bulk of these receipts came from points in Kansas, Nebraska, and Oklahoma.

Variation Noted

"Compared with last year consideration is to be noted in the number of animals shipped from the different sections of the state.

"This situation probably reflects differences in range and forage conditions. Fewer cattle were shipped from the Panhandle section than in April a year ago, but in North Texas east of the Cap Rock a considerable increase in shipments occurred. There also was a large increase in shipments of both cattle and sheep from the Trans-Pecos country, while a marked decrease in shipments of cattle, calves, and sheep occurred from the Edwards Plateau."

The Chessboard

Interest in chess has grown rapidly both in Lubbock and in neighboring cities since the Avalanche-Journal first announced a tournament this spring.

The tourney, the first conducted by a newspaper in this section, was satisfactory. In view of interest in the game, the Avalanche-Journal papers are offering another feature which no other West Texas paper gives its readers. That innovation is a chess column to be published weekly in the Sunday Avalanche-Journal.

Objectives

Unusual games, problems, chess news local and international will be presented.

Whether you have a smattering knowledge of chess or are an expert, you may find something to interest you here. If you know only that a "horse" (knight to you) is one of the pieces, almost any player will give you pointers on a game so old its origin is lost in antiquity's haze.

$10,000 Purse!

Ten thousand dollars is purse of a world championship match now underway in Germany. Dr. Alexander Alekhine, Paris, is champion; E. D. Bogoljubow, Triberg, Germany, challenger.

Doctor Alekhine draws $2,000 as a fee and $8,000 will be divided 60-40 between winner and loser. Alekhine probably will remain champion, having won 6 games, drawn 11, and lost 1 in the first 17 games of the match.

U. S. Title Play

Championship of the United States will be at stake in a match between Frank J. Marshall of New York, the holder, and Isaac Kashdan, challenger, this summer. A Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago may be site of the series. Marshall has been U. S. title-holder since 1909.

Here is first game of the Alekhine-Bogoljubow round:

Class B Play Slow

Class B division play again moved slowly last week, and players were urged to speed up games. W. D. Crump, Shallowater, and Alfred B. Peticolas remained tied 19 games won and 3 lost. J. A. Cobb, jr., was third. Others, in order, were: Bill Wilder, Glenn Ridge, Thord Dockray, H. H. Hughes, Irving Hall, Fred Hines, and N. H. Christopher.

Club Night Approved

Lubbock Chess club members last week voted to conduct a meeting each Thursday night at 8 o'clock as well as Sunday afternoons at 3 o'clock. The arrangement was designed to enable all members to attend.

Dr. Alan L. Strout, T. R. Putnam, and V. O. Jennings were named committeemen to draft by-laws and a constitution. The club voted to join National Chess federation and to schedule inter-city play.

Play Us A Game

The Chessboard challenges local players to a game. Suppose the Ruy Lopez, a popular opening, be used. We will have the white pieces, our readers the black. Usual Ruy Lopez moves are: 1. P-K4, P-K4; 2. Kt-KB3, Kt-QB3; 3. B-Kt5. If black moves 3. Kt-B3, then White 4. castles.

Readers will send in their suggestions for Black's moves not later than Friday night each week. Majority choice, of course, will be Black's move. What are your suggestions for moves 3 and 4?

Problem No. 1

Our first problem is a simple two-mover. Key move will be given next week. Set your board as follows:

WHITE—(reading from White's side of the board)—K on KR6, Bs on QKt 4 and QR2, R on KB1, and P on K5. Five pieces.

BLACK—(reading from Black's side) —K on KR1, P on KB7. Two pieces.

And Another Game

The following game, won by the late Dr. Siegbert Tarrasch, a German, has an unusual ending:

RUY LOPEZ

Tarrasch White	Burn Black	Tarrasch White	Burn Black
1. P-K4	P-K4'	15. Q-B2,	d P-R3
2. Kt-KB3	Kt-QB3	17. B-K3	B-K2'
3. B-Kt5	P-QR3'	18. K-KKt1	P-Kt4'
4. B-R4	Kt-B3'	19. P-Kt3	P-B3'
5. O-O	B-K2'	20. P-KB4	KtPxP
6. R-K1	P-QKt4'	21. KtPxP	PxBP
7. B-Kt3	P-Q3'	22. BxP	Kt-Q3'
8. P-QR4	B-Kt2'	23. R-KB1	Kt-K2'
9. P-B3	O-C	24. B-K3	B-Kt3'
10. P-R3	B-Q2.	25. R-B3	Kt-R2'
11. P-Q4	Q-B'	26. QR-KB1	R-K1'
12. B-Kt5, b	R-Kt'	27. Q-Q1, e	Q-B'
13. PxP	PxP	28. KKt-B3	B-K'
14. QKt-Q2	R-K'	29. Kt-R4	QKt-Kt4
15. K-R2, c	B-Q'	30. Kt-Kt6	Resigns.

(a) If B-K3, then BxB, followed by exchanging the pawns and rooks, would bring Q-Kt3 into consideration.

(b) Threatening, after exchanges on QKt5, K5, and KB6 to win the QB.

(c) Move of the king paves the way for a decisive strengthening of the attack against the center.

(d) Black's king position could be destroyed by 16. P-Q5, Kt-K2; 17. BxKt, PxB; 18. P-Kt4, but White would have had his own position shattered by the three pawn moves, P-QB3, P-Q4 and P-KB4.

(e) To post the queen on KR5.

(f) The final position is unique—smothered mate of the black queen while all the pieces remain on the board.

The foregoing game was played at Ostend in 1907.

CLUB FOR 40-YEAR-OLDS

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Men and women 40 years old and more are organizing in this section of Florida to combat what they term employers' discrimination against persons that age. They call their organization the Age Opportunity League.

Irish Potatoes Are Grown As Money Crop At Plainview

PLAINVIEW, May 26 (AP)—Irish potatoes are being grown on an increasingly large scale on irrigated lands near Plainview. Approximately 350 acres have been planted as a "money crop" this season.

March and April planting mature in July and August, to be followed by a second crop which will be harvested in the fall.

ADDS SHORTHORN BULL

HALE CENTER (Special)—H. S. Cline has recently received a young registered Shorthorn bull from Dr. J. F. Wallace, Canton, Mo. This animal is out of Jewell British Bates, by Anderson Matchless Bates. The dam has a record of 17,165 pounds of milk and is out of Outs Jewel with a record of 10,135 pounds in eight months. He has four crosses each of Cyrus Clay and General Clay.

State employes of Florida, traveling on expense accounts, are limited to $4.50 a day for hotel rooms and meals.

PORTABLE ELEVATOR

LAMESA (Special)—Bert W. Self, Crowell grain dealer, is planning buying grain here during the season, through a portable elevator. Roy Ayers of Crowell will run the business here. The Burrus Elevator company, Fort Worth, is reported looking over Lamesa as a probable location for a mill and elevator here.

A driverless two-horse team calls for Miss Dorothy Quell, a schoolteacher, at Lone Star school, Oshkosh, Neb., each day, after classes.
