Lewis Seeking Showdown For Labor Unions

United Automobile Workers Union To Demand Collective Bargaining Agreement With General Motors

(By The Associated Press)

Labor Leader John L. Lewis — spearhead of the movement to unionize the huge mass production industries—sought a showdown yesterday in the automotive field.

The United Automobile Workers union, affiliated with the Lewis committee for industrial organization, decided to demand a collective bargaining agreement with the General Motors corporation.

"Many Thousands" Enlisted

Lewis announced the decision after a Washington conference with Homer Martin, president of the union, and claimed "many thousands" of auto workers had enlisted under his banner.

The motor car industry already felt the effects of strikes sponsored by the union in Detroit, Atlanta, Kansas City, Canton, Ohio, and Racine, Wis.

Strikes in parts manufacturing firms in Detroit put a crimp in production at the Ford assembly branch and the main plant of the Pierce Arrow Motor corporation in Buffalo, N. Y.

Workers Remain Idle

While the Lewis group moved for a test of strength among the 200,000 General Motors employes, approximately 13,000 workers in the glass industry remained idle in a labor dispute and the widespread maritime controversy left some 37,000 temporarily without jobs.

Greatest Travel In Seven Years Seen

CHICAGO, Dec. 18. (AP)—A mass movement of homeward bound college students today started a Christmas travel rush gauged as the heaviest since 1929.

Many railroad passenger traffic managers estimated the carriers would enjoy the greatest Yuletide business since before the depression.

Major airlines prepared for what they expected to be the best holiday season patronage in their history.

Railroads were running principal trains with extra sections tonight and said the rush would continue until New Year's.

Gov. Marland Would Pay $1 To Drivers Getting Licenses

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 18. (AP)—While house members debated today on suitable state fees for drivers licenses, Governor Marland said he felt enactment of the law was so important that the state could well afford to pay successful applicants for licenses, if no other agreement could be reached.

"I'm willing to go so far as to have a drivers license law appropriate funds to pay $1 to each person who successfully passed the examination," Marland said.

"I'm interested in slackening this horrible death rate."

Letter Purported To Be Written By Captive Leader Asks Cessation Of Activities On Rebels Of Sianfu Area

(By The Associated Press)

NANKING, Dec. 19. (Saturday)—The Chinese government today gave Rebel Marshal Chang until 6 p. m. (5 a. m. Saturday e.s.t.) to deliver Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek alive, or face the fury of Nanking's armed forces.

Calling a few hours' halt in the drive on Sianfu to rescue its leader, the government notified Rebel Captor Chang Hsueh-Liang that its ultimatum demanding Chiang's release was final.

Letter Is Received

Chinese officials said this action was taken after receipt of a letter signed by the generalissimo himself saying he might "be back in Nanking Saturday."

The official (Chinese) Central News agency published what it asserted was the text of the generalissimo's letter, in which he asked cessation of infantry and air attacks on the Shensi rebels who hold him prisoner with several of his ranking generals.

Lieutenant Is Freed

The letter, the agency said, was brought to Nanking by General Chiang Ting-Wen, one of the generalissimo's most trusted lieutenants, addressed to general Ho Ying-Chin, minister of war. Chiang Ting-Wen, captured at Sianfu with his chief, was freed by Marshal Chang to permit him to communicate with the government leaders.

The date of the letter was not revealed.

Despite their declaration of a truce, government leaders were represented as convinced that further delay in the military operations, in which several of Nanking's finest divisions have been tightening a cordon around the rebel city, would be futile.

Founder Of Old Age Pension Movement Says He'll Never Pay A Fine For Contempt If Convicted On Charges

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18. — Dr. Francis E. Townsend surrendered today on a warrant based on a contempt indictment brought against him in Washington for refusing to testify before a congressional committee.

The founder of the old age pension movement bearing his name declared:

"I'll never pay a fine. If they convict me in Washington I'll go to jail. They can't give me much more than 30 days and I need a good rest. I can get it then and at the same time do a lot of work."

After Six Weeks Of Siege, Defenders Of Madrid Prepare To Meet New Insurgent Campaign After Bitter Battle

(By The Associated Press)

MADRID, Dec. 18. — Indignant Spanish government officials heard today that Fascist naval shells had narrowly missed the United States gunboat Erie while insurgent land forces pushed on toward encirclement of this sombre, half-dead capital.

The Febus News agency reported the insurgent cruiser Esrana had fired seven 12-inch shells at the Erie as the latter swung at anchor yesterday in the port of Musel on the northern coast. (A report to Washington from the Erie's commander stated, however, that there was nothing to indicate the Espana was firing at the gunboat, although one of two shells it fired into the port fell within 500 yards of the Erie).

Uncover Guns For Action

The Febus report said the Espana fled hurriedly when the Erie's crew uncovered its guns for action.

Government officials were making a complete investigation, preparatory to reporting to Julio Alvarez del Vayo, the Spanish minister of state. (The Washington state department said no United States action was contemplated).

After six weeks of siege, the Madrid defenders massed their forces to meet a new insurgent drive, following the loss of Boadilla del

West's Greatest Air Hunt On

Twenty-Five Definite Suggestions For Solving Knotty Farm Tenancy Problem In Texas Are Presented To Committee

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Twenty-five definite suggestions for coping with Texas' knotty farm tenant problem have been presented to President Roosevelt's farm tenancy committee on the eve of a congressional session which may evolve remedial legislation.

Here is the outline of procedure submitted by A. G. Mayse, Paris, Tex., newspaper publisher, whom the chief executive selected to report on conditions in the Lone Star state:

Financing and terms:

Long-Term Loans Proposed

Long-term loans at low interest rates on tracts not to exceed 150 acres; 30-year limit, with payments graduated upward after the first year and defaults permitted in case of complete crop failure; loans to be based on farm's earning capacity and living expenses of a family; "fair down payment" required;

Preference to be given to small farms and small investments, the largest of which would be $10,000; provide other loans for additional land purchases and for operation of tract; provide two year lease before farmer is permitted to buy; set up another loan system to prevent foreclosures.

From "Higher Brackets"

Selection of purchasers and of lands:

Farmers permitted to buy land should come from the "higher brackets" of tenants, with selections to be made by local committees of bankers and other citizens; land purchase price to be based on the past five-year production record, supervised by men familiar with the immediate territory; eliminate "red tape," such as investigations the results of which are "common knowledge."

Conditions and requirements:

All land purchasers would be bound by present and future government crop control measures, being especially obligated to prevent depletion of soil; purchasers would agree to proper supervision to see that requirements as to upkeep, operation and improvements are met; designate farm homesteads for all time; if farmer's age would prevent him "paying out" on farm, obligations would be signed by adult sons; purchaser would be required to carry a low-cost term life in-

Land Leasing Changes Seen

Marked Changes From Present System Probably To Be Recommended In Farm Tenancy Legislation Plans

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Marked changes in the present system of leasing farm land in this country probably will be recommended to President Roosevelt by his national commission on farm tenancy.

Possible paths for the reform to take have been outlined by secretary Wallace, resettlement officials and by experiments abroad.

Wallace has advocated long-time leases to encourage tenants to repair buildings and improve the soil. Further, he has suggested the tenants might be compensated for such improvements, instead of facing the prospect of "having the rent raised," as he said they do when they improve property under present leases.

The secretary of agriculture advised the commission that the changes he seeks might be accomplished by individual action, with "state and federal legislation" also a possibility.

The tenancy commission has been informed that several foreign nations, notably in England and Scotland, have improved tenant conditions by long term leases which carry a provision, enforced by law, for compensating tenants for any improvements they make.

Two Transport Ships Missing In Mountains

Northwest Airlines Plane Is Lost In Idaho With 2 Pilots Aboard; No Trace Found Of Western Air Lines In Utah

(By The Associated Press)

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 18. — The West's greatest air hunt was pressed tonight for two transport planes missing with nine persons.

The lost craft are:

1. A twin-motored, ten-passenger ship of Western Air Express. It disappeared with crew of three and four passengers Tuesday morning enroute here from Los Angeles. It is believed down in Utah mountains, all aboard feared dead.

Another Plane Vanishes

2. A northwest Airlines all-metal, low wing transport. It vanished early today in the snow-drifted timberland of northern Idaho near the Washington state border. Spokane-bound, two pilots, Joe Livermore and A. A. Haid, were the only occupants.

Upwards of a score of planes and men in hundreds were thrown into the hunt for the big airliner lost in Utah. Four planes roared above searching parties in the north Idaho hunt.

Searchers Experienced

"Aside from the magnitude of the effort here," said A. E. Cahlan, Western Air spokesman, at Salt Lake City, "probably the most experienced crew of pilots ever mustered for such a search is participating.

"Most of them have had over 7,500 hours in the air."

The searching ships, Cahlan said, flew a total of 50,000 miles today, used 3,000 gallons of gas.

While some began to fear the Western Air Express liner, with its cargo of two women and five men, might be covered by snow—might never be found until spring — arrangements were made to extend the hunt tomorrow.

Party Of First Part Agrees To Love, Honor And Cherish Party Of The Second Part

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—Under a seldom-invoked section of the domestic relations law, a couple was married here today simply by signing before witnesses a contract drawn up by a lawyer.

The principals, Rudolph F. Mallina, 44, an acoustical engineer, and Dr. Myrtle Bryan McGraw, 37, a child psychologist, explained they considered an ordinary civil ceremony "undignified," and thought customary non-churchgoers should not go to church just for their wedding.

The contract specified: "The party of the first part agrees to love, honor and cherish the party of the second part, and to keep unto him as her lawful husband forever; and the party of the second part agrees to love, comfort and cherish the party of the first part as his lawful wife forever."

Impeachment For Gomez Is Talked

HAVANA, Dec. 18. (AP)—A Cuban congressional group prepared impeachment proceedings today against President Miguel Mariano Gomez, fearful of a military coup d'etat if Gomez continues to fight the army-sponsored sugar tax for rural schools.

The president has threatened to veto the bill to provide for a 9-cent per bag tax in order to provide funds for the army-taught schools, feeling such a system means Fascistic education for Cuba's young.

A commission of senators and representatives, meeting today to draft impeachment, said that seemed the only way to avoid a coup by followers of Col. Fulgencio Batista, the army's strong man, and to preserve constitutional government for Cuba.

Body Hurtles Through Roof Of Residence

Arturo Trevino, 25-Year-Old Grocer, Takes Leap From Plane He Hired For Ride Over San Antonio

Motive Is Unknown

Pilot Says Man Tapped Him On Shoulder And Asked Him To Drop Lower, Waves And Takes 3,500-Foot Plunge

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 18—Arturo Trevino, 25-year-old grocer, plunged to his death here today from an airplane he hired for a 15-minute flight.

The body crashed through the roof of a residence near Trevino's store, barely missing three occupants, Mrs. Frank Padalecki, her baby and a friend, Miss Annie Gawlik.

Justice of the Peace E. H. Talbert withheld a formal verdict until tomorrow.

Hired For Short Flight

Victor James, Pilot, said Trevino hired his plane for a short flight over San Antonio. He said that when the plane reached altitude, his passenger tapped him on the shoulder and asked him to drop lower, indicating he wanted to observe something on the ground.

James said he saw Trevino crawl from the rear cockpit as the plane reached a height of 3,500 feet. The passenger then waved to the pilot and dropped from the plane.

Brother Identifies Body

The grocer's brother, Santiago Trevino, identified the body. He could advance no motive for the leap.

The body fell with such force it crashed through the tin roof of the residence, the ceiling and the floor, breaking a gas line beneath the house.

Mrs. Padalecki was in the kitchen

The Supreme Gift Of Love

Devotional Reading: John 15: 12-17

International Uniform Sunday School Lesson For Dec. 20

By Wm. S. Gilroy D. D., Editor Of Advance

It is some years now since Henry Drummond gave to the world his great exposition of Paul's eulogy of love in the 13th chapter of I Corinthians, under the title, "The Greatest Thing in the World."

That title was well chosen, for love is indeed just that. Here in our lesson it is called the supreme gift, and there is real significance in this title. Love is, first of all, a gift.

Years ago, a skeptical young critic whose own attitude was one of kindliness and goodness, but who was in a mood to find faults in current religion, said to me as he quoted lines from Leigh Hunt's poem, "Abou Ben Adhem": "Christianity starts with love to God, a very illogical procedure." I think he quoted also the words of John, "If a man love not his brother, whom he hath seen, how can he love God, whom he hath not seen?"

My reply to him was that whatever might be the defects in current Christianity, true Christianity started neither with love to God, nor with love to man, but with the love of God.

* * *

If love is indeed a fact, it is in the universe. It was there before we came into the world. God is love, and love is God's gift to man.

Love is like the sun that shines upon us; it is like the air we breathe. It is not something that we create, but it is something that we take and receive.

This distinction may seem merely one of words and theory, but it really is important, because it has to do with the essential character and supremacy of love. It means little for a man to love his neighbor as himself, if he has no real love for himself. If a man is a drunkard, or a sneak, or a thief, or if, without being any of these things, he is a weakling, it does not mean very much that he should love his neighbor as himself.

But when a man has discovered the love of God, when, with all his being, he has turned to God, and has returned that love with all his heart and soul and mind and strength, to love his neighbor as himself becomes the greatest thing that he could possibly do.

So it is that the writer here in I John sets the matter forth logically, and in its true foundation.

We ought to love one another because love is of God. If God so loved us, we ought also to love one another.

The man who lives in the sunshine and cares nothing whether other people live in dark, gloomy, and unsightly hovels is a poor specimen of humanity. God's sunshine has done very little for him, yet that is almost an exact illustration of the situation of a loveless man.

* * *

Love is not a matter of mere sentiment, or a kindly feeling. When it really lays hold of a man's life, it becomes the determining motive of all that he thinks and says and does.

It enlarges his life, and gives him a new conception of his world and his fellow man. This is suggested in the current lesson by the power of love to cast out fear.

Do we need any commentary on that? If so, we should find it in the lives of those who have particularly manifested the glory of love.

Think, if you will, of the men and the women who have loved their fellow men. Are not their lives the lives that most truly tell of strength and courage? They have lived above fear, as they have lived above selfishness and meanness.

Houston Cab Driver Reports Being Beaten And Held Up

HOUSTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—Edgar Fields, cab driver, reported to police Friday that two men beat and robbed him Thursday night "because I had not joined a taxi driver union which is being formed in Houston."

Fields said that after he was beaten, robbed and told that "there'd be a lot more cab drivers beaten up before this ends," the men shot his car full of holes, trundled it into a deep ditch and sped away in an automobile which he said had followed his cab.

He said he picked the men up as fares.

Baker Is Likely To Continue Testifying In Federal Court

Likelihood Artie Baker, Lockney banker, would remain on the witness stand throughout today, was expressed late Friday by attorneys in cause of Baker against the Food Machinery corporation, of which Peerless Pumps is a division. The action is in United States district court.

Baker, who was on the stand much of Friday, offered 36 exhibits to prove his contentions in the action, which involves sale of pumps by the banker to irrigation farmers of this area.

Baker is the only witness who had appeared in the trial.

Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, presiding, indicated the case might last until next week.

S. A. L. Morgan and D. H. Culton, Amarillo attorneys, and Dennis Zimmermann, Tulia, represent Mr. Baker. Charles C. Crenshaw and George W. Dupree represent the corporation. Vernon Edler, a vice president and J. M. Haile, chief engineer, are here with the attorneys.

"Tops" In Prices In City Far From Those In Chicago

Elegant gifts at elegant prices—those $200 handkerchiefs you read about in Chicago—are not available in Lubbock.

But if you wish you can buy $5.95 handkerchiefs, socks, at $3.50 the pair, ties at $5 each, hose at $2.95 the pair, and $5 shirts.

Those prices probably represent "tops" in merchandise being offered in Lubbock stores.

Thirty-five-dollar shirts and $200 handkerchiefs probably would find very few takers here.

Hundreds of Lubbock families will do all their Christmas shopping and buy a turkey on much less than $200.

Novel Method Of Selecting Tech's Beauties Planned

A novel manner of selecting the most beautiful co-eds at Texas Technological college will be attempted this year if students vote upon an amendment to the constitution which will be presented soon after end of Christmas holidays.

The constitution provides that the beauties be selected by student vote only. As result of a plan presented by Winston Reeves, yearbook editor, the student council has voted to present an amendment allowing an authority on beauty to choose the co-eds.

Students would elect 16 girls who would pose before a motion picture camera. The motion pictures would be made in color and sent to a beauty authority who would select eight girls.

Carrier Pigeons Make Good Reporters, Utah Man Says; Covers 25 Miles In Hour

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 18. (AP)—Carrier pigeons may be capricious and moody—but sometimes they are very good newspaper reporters, Bill McDougall, Salt Lake (Telegram) newswriter, said today.

McDoughall, climbing the mountains southeast of here yesterday with searchers for a missing airliner, bore three homing pigeons in a wicker basket on his back.

Flung Bird Loose

Yesterday, 3000 feet above the mile-high, valley floor, in snow three feet deep, McDougall pencilled a story, attached it to a pigeon and flung the bird loose.

Two hundred yards away, it alighted upon a stump and solemnly remained there. McDougall took one disgusted look and plodded on with his party—and his other pigeons.

"The snow was too deep to go and chase it away, and anyway I was too disgusted," he said. "I just let it sit there."

At Alpine, several hours later, the reporter dejectedly called his editor in Salt Lake City.

"Sure, the pigeon got here—and we had your story on the front page this afternoon," said the editor. The bird's 25-mile flight had taken but one hour.

Relief Funds To Be Asked

President Roosevelt Says He Will Ask Appropriation Of About $500,000,000 To Carry Work Through Year

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—President Roosevelt today said he would ask a deficiency appropriation of about $500,000,000 to carry on relief for the remainder of the fiscal year.

He will deliver his annual message to congress personally, he said, whenever it is convenient to leaders. The session opens January 5. The President's message customarily is followed the next day by reading of the budget message.

To Take No Sides

In answer to questions about the house majority leadership contest, the president said he would stick to his established policy and take no sides.

He said he would have no major appointments to announce before January 1.

Asked about a magazine article in which Dr. Stanley High, who organized the Pro-Roosevelt Good Neighbor League in the recent campaign, said the president might favor a law prescribing minimum standards of honesty for the press, Mr. Roosevelt replied with a query as to how this could be done.

He said he had never seen the High article.

Crosbyton Scene Of Judging Today

CROSBYTON, Dec. 18. (Special)—Two hundred forty-five vocational boys and Future Farmers will take part in a new type of judging contest here Saturday.

Six schools, including Lorenzo, Ralls, Crosbyton, McAdoo, Spur, and Patton Springs, have entered from 30 to Sixty boys each. Judging contests will be conducted in livestock, dairy cattle, poultry, grain, and farm shop.

First In West Texas

Each boy will represent his school or chapter in every contest. Hans Nelson, member of the Lorenzo chapter and president of the district organization, said that he believed that this was the first time this type of judging contest had ever been held in West Texas.

Usually three or four boys represent their school as a team and take part in only one contest. The new method is believed to increase the instructional value.

Officers To Conduct Contest

The Crosbyton chapter will furnish the material for the judging work. The district officers who will conduct the contest are Nelson and Edward Koonce, Lorenzo; Wallace Heath and Billie Cornelius, Crosbyton, and W. K. Harvey, Spur.

The home economics department of Crosbyton High school will serve a lunch at noon. While the judges and clerks are determining the winner the boys will attend a Future Farmer picture show.

"The Ideal B.T.U." Program To Be Presented On Sunday

A program on "The Ideal B. T. U." will be presented at a meeting of the Lubbock county association of the Baptist Training union Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the College Avenue Baptist church.

The program follows: song service and devotional; "The Ideal B. T. U. Organization," Miss Coreen Brown of the Lubbock First church; "The Ideal B. T. U. and Stewardship," Thelma Findley, Lubbock Calvary church; "The Ideal B. T. U. and Church Loyalty," Miss Eunice McReynolds, Lubbock, College Avenue church; reports and business; discussion of plans for 1937; special music; inspirational message, Rev. Vernon Shaw, Levelland. The meeting will adjourn at 4 p. m.

Hollywood Is Christmas Shopping, But Hardly In The Conventional Manner

(By The Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Dec. 18.—Hollywood is Christmas shopping, but hardly in the conventional manner.

Some stars, who can get away with it, go from store to store wearing the usual dark glasses and slouch hats. Others, who have discovered disguises attract attention, have hired shopping stooges. Some, busy with picture work, have salesmen bring their wares to the sets.

Joan's Secretary Buying

Joan Crawford is convinced her secretary must do her Christmas buying. Joan went to a Hollywood store an hour before closing time the other night, but the autograph seekers cornered her. By the time she got through signing their books, the store closed.

Claudette Colbert is credited with a discovery in connection with innocent disguises. She has gone in for simplicity—ultraquiet clothes, a different coiffure and a small coupe instead of a flashy chauffeur-driven equipage. Thus decked out, she presents so inconspicuous an appearance she seldom is recognized.

Myrna's Freckles Disguise

Myrna Loy, whose freckles are her street disguise, is doing both her own and Clark Gable's Christmas shopping. They happen to be working in a picture together. Fred MacMurray made the rounds of the stores wearing glasses, but not the dark kind. From the prop department he got some made of ordinary glass, with heavy steel rims. He passed unnoticed. Some stars, of course, can't disguise themselves no matter what they do. Mae West is Mae West, so she does her shopping by telephone.

ESTIMATE INCREASED

AUSTIN, Dec. 18. (AP)—The federal bureau of mines today estimated demand for Texas oil in January at 1,176,000 barrels daily. Its estimate for December was 1,145,200 barrels.

Shoe manufacturing was introduced into America in 1629 by Thomas Beard, who brought hides over on the Mayflower.

Berry Denies He Seeks NRA Again

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—Industrial Coordinator George L. Berry, denying he seeks to revive the NRA, said today his council for industrial progress proposed to bring about self-regulation of business rather than extend government control.

"I personally believe it would be a real catastrophe to the country," Berry said in a statement, "to repeat the errors and rebuild the Frankenstein of NRA."

He announced a list of business executives and labor union officials comprising a "correlating committee' which is to build from the reports of other council groups a legislative program for submission to President Roosevelt.

Gunman Flees After Holdup

Sheriff Jim Session Of Mexia Clips Piece Of Coat From Off His Back With Bullet But Escape Is Successful

(By The Associated Press)

MEXIA, Dec. 18.—Sheriff Jim Session clipped a piece from a gunman's coat with a bullet during an 80-mile-an-hour chase today after the man held up a filling station near Buffalo.

The felon's car, with a bullet hole through the windshield, was found a short distance north of here, several hours after Sheriff Session lost the fugitive when two trucks blocked his way north of Fairfield.

Car Stolen Tuesday

Officers said the automobile was stolen from Royce Walker of Fort Worth Tuesday when a robber kidnapped him and forced him to drive to Dallas.

Peace officers of North Texas guarded roads, watching for the fugitive.

Officers found a piece of the man's coat in the automobile, apparently ripped off by the bullet.

The Buffalo holdup victim said the robber appeared to be between 35 and 40 years old, was well dressed and had a dark mustache.

Six Felony Indictments Are Dismissed By Judge E. L. Pitts

Six felony indictments were dismissed Friday morning by Judge E. L. Pitts, on motions of District Attorney Daniel A. Blair.

Defendants thereby freed from prosecution were Bob Huie, forgery; Charlie Triggs, receiving and concealing stolen property; A. L. White, jr., theft over $50; Maurie Nelms, swindling; Bruce Underwood, attempted burglary; Grover C. Coleman, driving while intoxicated.

The district attorney's motions set out reasons for the requested dismissals. Restitution had been made in Huie's case, Triggs had not been arrested and arrest was declared to be unlikely. Nelms is serving 14 years in a California penitentiary. Underwobd had joined the United States army for a 4-year term with the understanding the prosecution would dismiss the case, and Coleman previously had been acquitted of a charge of murder in which the state had failed to show to a jury's satisfaction Coleman had been intoxicated.

"God-Sent Soldiers" In Japan Ordered To Trial In Spring

TOKYO, Dec. 18. (AP)—A band of 54 imperialistic fanatics terming themselves "God-sent soldiers" were ordered today to be brought to trial in April or May, 1937, on charges of plotting to assassinate the entire Japanese cabinet in 1933 and restore the rule of Japan directly to the emperor.

Facing trial after three years and five months in prison, the "God-sent soldiers" will be liable to sentences of only one to ten years' imprisonment because they were arrested on what the ministry of justice said was the eve of executing their alleged plot.

Federal Judge Gives Counsel Week To Submit Case Brief

SHERMAN, Dec. 18. (AP)—Federal Judge Randolph Bryant today gave counsel for the Arkansas-Louisiana Gas company one week to submit a brief before he would render a final decision on the contention of Texarkana, Tex., that gas rates should be made to conform with those of Texarkana, Ark.

William Arnold, attorney for the company, said the brief could be prepared in the time set.

City Attorney Ed B. Leves of Texarkana, Tex., said the city's brief was ready for the judge's inspection, but may be amended.

The city contended the present 47 1-2-cent rate with a $1 minimum charge, should be lowered to conform with the 45-cent flat rate in Texarkana, Ark.

Two Judgments Are Entered In 99th District Court Friday

Two court judgments were entered Friday afternoon in Lubbock, one for each district court.

To the action of the court the receiver and the plaintiff excepted and gave notice of appeal.

North Side At Amarillo, Port Arthur At Kerrville For State Semi-Finals

Sandies Rated 3-1 Favorites To Keep Going

Crowd Of 15,000 Expected To Jam Butler Field Today For Game; Cool, Clear Weather Forecast For Panhandle

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT

AMARILLO, Dec. 18. (AP)—Clear, crisp weather — predicted for the middle fifties—was the weatherman's offering for the attempt of Fort Worth's North Side Steers to halt Amarillo's Golden Sandstorm in their schoolboy semi-final game here tomorrow.

Light snowfall of yesterday gave way to rapidly rising temperatures and the weather bureau forecast but little wind and a probable 55 degree reading by game time at 2 p. m.

Mayes and Co. Ready

Odds favored the Sandies, seeking their third straight state title, at 3-1, and even the optimists failed to see where North Side's great defensive team could stop "Wildhorse" Mayes, Robert Clesson and Joe Davis, Amarillo's running backs.

Coach Herman Clark of North Side reported his squad was "in excellent shape and not at all jittery or nervous over prospects of playing Amarillo."

Coach Blair Cherry made a last-minute shift in his lineup, replacing the injured Bill Kilman, battering guard, with Weatherly, a 165-pound reserve tackle who was tossed into the slot after Kilman suffered severe injuries in the Abilene game last week.

Individual Duel Seen

School officials believed some 15,000 fans would be on hand to witness a heralded offensive duel between Mayes, the Amarillo terror, and Marion Pugh, North Side's 180-pound candidate for all-state halfback honors. The stadium's capacity is listed at 13,000 but officials expected even standing room to be at a premium.

Amarillo, losers of only five games in the last 84 played, crushed Abilene, 46-13, in last week's quarter-final game while North Side, featuring Pugh, rolled over Gainesville, 31-0.

Probable starting lineups:

North Side	Pos.	Amarillo
Farrell	LE	H. Ricketts
Kerlee	LT	E. Ricketts
Pressley	LG	Williams
Shook	C	Toombs
Sherrod	RG	Weatherly
L. Pugh	RT	Miller
Stephens	RE	Sweeney
M. Pugh	QB	Gill
Manriques	LH	Davis
Mayfield	RH	Mayes
Matson	FB	Clesson

Large Radio Hook-Up To Broadcast Games

The largest intra-state radio hook-up ever attempted will broadcast the two semi-final games in the Texas Interscholastic league playoff today from the fields at Amarillo and Kerrville.

Magnolia Petroleum company will be the sponsor. The games will be broadcast over a network of 14 stations that will bring the play-by-play report of the game to interested listeners in every section. The entire state will be covered, from Amarillo to Houston, and from Wichita Falls to Weslaco.

KFYO To Broadcast

The clash between the two amazingly powerful North Texas teams, the North Side, Fort Worth Steers and the Amarillo Golden Sandstorm, will be heard by listeners all over the state through the following stations: KGNC, Amarillo; KTAT, Fort Worth and KFJZ, Fort Worth; KRLD, Dallas; KGKL, San Angelo; KGKO, Wichita Falls; KFYO, Lubbock; KRBC, Abilene; KTSA, San Antonio; KNOW, Austin, KTRH, Houston, and KPDM, Pampa.

While Kerrville's Tivy High Antlers and Port Arthur's Yellow Jackets, representing South Texas' best, battle at Kerrville, fans may follow the game through WACO, Waco; KGFI, Corpus Christi and KRGV, Weslaco.

When the winners of these two games play the final game for the state championship next week, Magnolia will broadcast the game for the entire state to hear.

Hardin-Simmons Cagers Win From Baylor Bears, 37-16

ABILENE, Dec. 18. (AP) — Frank Kimbrough's rangy Cowboys of Hardin-Simmons university brought down the Baylor Bears tonight with a stunning 37-16 victory that opened the basketball season for both teams. They will play again Saturday night.

After an uncertain state, Hardin-Simmons pulled ahead 18 to 10 at the half, and never gave Baylor a chance in the final period. Carol Benson, 6 foot 3 inch forward, paced the victors' scoring machine with 13 points, and H. Kirkpatrick, center, led Baylor with six.

Modern "Gas House Gang" Sissy-Rickey

BY PAUL MICKELSON

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—Down the sports trail to meet Branch Rickey, the man who beat poverty and the white plague in the same ring on his rise to become one of the most powerful forces in baseball.

GAS HOUSE . . . Rickey, whose far sightedness made the St. Louis Cardinals one of baseball's greatest teams, has been painted by his critics as a cheapskate and a gas bag, but no kinder or more fearless man ever got into baseball. He's had enemies by the score during his career because he's progressive. But he won them over. Today he can count the enemies on the fingers of one hand.

He likes to be the center of attention, but no one minds because he, the father of six children, usually has something to say. You'd think he never had a care in his life.

He Knows Worry

That's wrong. Rickey had his worries long before he heard of Dizzy Dean—worries that would stop 99 men out of 100. He beat them.

Tuberculosis was one of them; poverty the other.

After a brief and none too spectacular career as catcher for the St. Louis Browns and New York Yankees, Rickey decided to become a lawyer. He became a school teacher at Lucasville, O., later an instructor at Ohio Wesleyan, commuting to Columbus between classes to study law at Ohio State. Just as his future appeared the brightest, he was stricken with tuberculosis and sent to Saranac Lake. He earned his way through that "course" by making picture frames. Later he was pronounced cured. He worked his way through the university of Michigan law school by helping coach the baseball team and subsequently hung out his shingle in Boise, Idaho, where customers were few, the air good.

The late Robert Lee Hedges, owner of the St. Louis Browns, wanted Rickey back in baseball and he accepted, scouting up and down the Pacific Coast the first summer and then getting a desk in the front office.

He Got The Holdout

"The first job I got," laughed Rickey, "was to whip a holdout into line. A fellow named Pratt wouldn't sign unless he got a big raise in pay, so Mr. Hedges asked me to write him a letter. I worked on the letter for a day, Mr. Hedges okayed it, and I'll be doggoned if Pratt didn't send in his signed contract with the next mail.

And Dizzy Dean should try to outfox a man like that?

"Really," said Rickey as he puffed on his cigar, "this Gashouse stuff is old with me. Our Cardinals think they are tough, rough fellows but compared with the fellows who used to play in the games between Dallas and Fort Worth, why, they're just a bunch of sissies.

"Those were the games. Many is the time I'd make a hit, light out for first and then keep right on going to the rooming house with a riot in progress. One day, one of our players got sore at the ump and threw the ball into the stands. The fans rushed on the field with six-shooters, clubs and rocks. Those were the gashouse gang days."

BOB PASTOR WINS

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—A modern "Jack the giant killer" turned up tonight when Bob Pastor, former New York university heavyweight star, knocked out the gigantic Ray Impellittiere of Cold Springs, N. Y., in the seventh round of their 10 round bout in Madison Square Garden. Impellittiere scaled 238 pounds to Pastor's 183 1-4.

RAZORBACKS WIN

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Dec. 18.(AP) The Arkansas Razorbacks won their final pre-holiday practice basketball game tonight easily, turning back the Southeast Oklahoma Teachers 39 to 28.

The Razorback first stringers played only part of the first half and saw no later action.

Business-Like Pitt Panthers In Hard Drill

Coach Sutherland Admits Club Not As Strong As Former Rose Bowl Crusaders, But Present Attitude Better

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Dec. 18. (AP)—A crusading Pittsburgh grid squad heading for the football war of Roses in Pasadena New Year's Day where it hopes to atone for three unsuccessful invasions, broke its transcontinental trip today with a hard, secret workout on the mile-high University of New Mexico gridiron.

Ominously silent and business-like were these youthful, powerful Panthers, as they took advantage of a warm sun to lay the ground work for their contest with the University of Washington, January 1.

Jock Breaks Silence

Few words were spoken. It was obvious, without any comment, that this Pitt squad is brooding over those Rose Bowl defeats at the hands of Stanford and Southern California and the belittling remarks made about them when the Pacific Coast conference champions selected them again this year.

So impressed with the attitude of his team was that silent Scot, Dr. Jock Sutherland, that he broke his reticence.

"This is not the best football team I have taken to the Rose Bowl," said Coach Sutherland. "It is young and lacks the experience Washington has. But it has a better attitude than any of those other teams I took west.

"We'll have to make up for this difference in experience with the Huskies some other way if we hope to win. And after all, it is about our turn.

"The boys aren't talking much. There has been none of the usual levity of the other trips west. They have spent their time reading. I haven't spoken to them about the game yet, but I know their minds are on it."

It was a long conversation for the doctor who prefers deeds on the gridiron to words.

Now It's Time To Deny Rumor

Coaching Situation At Texas Stays In Print; Yesterday It Was Twomey, Today It Is Not Twomey, Who Gets Job

AUSTIN, Dec. 18 (AP)—The coaching situation at the University of Texas remained unchanged today with all official sources denying a choice had been made to replace Jack Chevigny, resigned.

Ted Twomey, first assistant to Chevigny and regarded a likely possibility for the position of head coach, had no comment.

J. C. Dolley, chairman of the athletic council, branded as "entirely false" a report that Twomey, former team mate of Chevigny's at Notre Dame and one-time member of the athletic staffs at Kentucky and Georgia, had been selected.

H. H. Weinert of Seguin, chairman of the board of regents' athletic committee, admitted Twomey was being considered but said the regents had not met to discuss the matter.

The athletic council, which makes recommendations to the regents, was admittedly negotiating with a number of "big-time" mentors with a view to making personal contacts in New York City Dec. 27-29 at a meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic association. Dr. Dolley said he would attend the meeting.

The council said it had received applications from Benny Friedman, famed All-American quarterback of Michigan who has been playing professionally the past six years; Fait Elkins, Olympic track star of 1928, who played football for Kansas, and Percy Locey, Oregon State and San Francisco, Olympic club coach.

Other applications were held confidential upon request of the applicants.

Larry Kelley Loses Verbal Argument To Photographer

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 18. (AP)—Larry Kelley, Yale's nimble-tongued All-America end hadn't been on the field five minutes for the first meeting of the Eastern all star football squad today before he lost an argument.

Kelley didn't go for a pose a news photographer suggested and voiced his objections at length. After he finished, the photographer said: "Now, now, I was making pictures before you were born. Let's do it my way."

Kelley grinned and posed the photographer's way.

Trojan Hoopsters Defeat Ags 26-18

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 18. (AP)—The University of Southern California Trojans won their fifth game in five days as they defeated the Texas Aggies 26 to 18 in a rough and tumble basketball tilt tonight.

The Trojans grabbed the lead in the first 10 minutes and held it throughtout. They led 13 to 8 at the half.

Thirty-four personal fouls were called, 18 on the Californians. Each team made 10 points on free throws.

Ed Lee, Aggie guard, was high scorer with eight points. Gail Goodrick, forward, and Kowak, center, paced the Trojan attack. California reserves played much of the game.

"Sweetest Combination In United States," Thinks Jimmy Phelan Of His Washington Touchdown Twins

SEATTLE, Dec. 18. (AP)—Meet the "Touchdown Twins" on the University of Washington football team—Byron Haines and Jimmy Cain.

They will show their wares for the last time in intercollegiate competition against Pitt in the Rose Bowl game New Year's day.

Coach Jimmy Phelan describes his two halfbacks as "the sweetest combination in the country."

Finesse By Haines

Haines, a southpaw passer and kicker, supplies the finesse and speed, while Cain shines at ball-lugging and blocking.

Phelan uses Cain for heavy artillery work in both the senior and sophomore backfield combinations. Haines is his ace in the hole for special touchdown duty.

It was Haines, a triple-threat, who tossed the pass for Washington's touchdown against Minnesota, and scored the only touchdown for a 7-0 victory over Oregon, and it was Cain who tied Stanford with two touchdowns to save the Huskies from a conference defeat. Jimmy also led Washington to victory over Southern California while Byron was sitting on the bench with an injured leg.

Cain Plays Everything

Cain was the most versatile player on the squad. At one time or another he played every position in the backfield during the season. And he tied for coast conference scoring honors with 37 points.

The only time he tried a placekick for the extra point after a touchdown he split the uprights like an expert.

Both boys won places on the all-Coast football eleven.

Schmeling Win Biggest Upset

German Clouter Again Rates In Sports Poll; Football Dominates Dope-Spilling Incidents Otherwise

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Joe Louis, who was the experts' best friend a year ago because he never let them down, was set down by those same fellows as being the party of the second part of the greatest sports upset of 1936.

Max Schmeling's execution of the erstwhile ebony executioner was rated by a majority of the nation's observers as the most startling result of the year, far and away surpassing anything that happened on the country's gridirons. Thus, Schmeling received his second laurel wreath of the Associated Press' sixth annual poll. Yesterday he was acclaimed the year's comeback king.

Duquesne Spills It

Football, as usual, dominated the dope-spilling incidents. Duquesne's moleskin marauders were the leading upsetters. The Dukes' 7-0 conquest of the preferred Pittsburgh Panthers was rated behind Minnesota's 6-0 defeat by Northwestern in what was the Gophers' first loss in four years, but Duquesne also received dubious recognition for its 2-0 defeat a week later by West Virginia Wesleyan. Another result that placed in the "first ten" was New York university's 7-6 win over Fordham.

Texas Gridders Seeking To Name Dormitory After Coach

AUSTIN, Dec. 18. (AP)—University of Texas football players today petitioned the board of regents to change the name of their dormitory from "Oak Grove" to Jack Chevigny Hall."

The players requested the change be made in tribute to the man they said "made it possible for us to have a dormitory of our own."

Chevigny retired from the head coaching position some time ago.

Caldwell And Lubbock "Mystery Men" Outstanding In New Deal Cage Joust

MONROE, Dec. 18. (Special) — Basketball teams representing Tip-Top Cafe of Lubbock, and the Caldwell community, loomed as outstanding competitors for top honors in the New Deal Independent cage tournament after first round games tonight.

The Caldwell team, made up of present and former Texas Tech cagers "out for a lark," buried the Brownfield Independents, 27 to 7, while Tip-Top's "mystery men" laid it on Draughon's Business college quintet of Lubbock, 49 to 8, in another game.

The "mystery men," so called because they wear brilliant red masks over their faces and heads, similar to the headdress worn by a certain well known middleweight wrestler, had easy swimming, and loom as one of the teams to beat. The red-hooded boys created quite a sensation in the New Deal gym.

Four games were played tonight. The Peel and Barnett team of Lubbock defeated Hale Center, 29 to 22, in one of the more interesting games, rivaling the game between the Lubbock the Lubbock Ex-Westerners and Estacado for closeness. The Ex-Westerners won, 27 to 21.

Five games are scheduled for this evening and tonight, beginning at 6:30 o'clock. Grovesville meets Center in the opener, Idalou plays Cotton Center in the second game, Ropesville plays New Deal at 8:30, and Abernathy meets Wolfforth in the final first round game.

The second round starts tonight at 10:30 with the Lubbock mystery men playing Peel and Barnett of Lubbock.

The play-off resumes Monday night, and three games will be played among the four remaining teams Tuesday night.

King Carl Bats Right-Handed On Golf Course

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 18. (AP) — You can't throw a golf ball around the course.

Hence—"You gotta give me a handicap."

It was Carl Hubbell, New York Giants hurling ace, speaking as he stepped up to the first tee for a round of golf with Major Lawrence "Biff" Jones, retiring University of Oklahoma football coach, and a couple of sports writers.

"After all, you fellows are golfers, while I have played this game only occasionally," said King Carl. "The bug didn't bite me hard until this winter. I can't break 100."

The customary adjustments having been made, "The Hub," stepped to address his first tee shot. He took his stance from the right side.

Mel Ott, Pro

"Hey, you're bating wrong!" chorused his colleagues, surprised that baseball's greatest hook-arm thrower would swing righthanded.

"Oh, no," said Carl, "I learned early from Mel Ott, the Giant outfielder. He started golf playing lefthanded but decided to change over and took 20 strokes off his game, so I'm profiting by his experience."

Hubbell plunked his ball into a sandtrap on No. 2.

"If I ever find a course that doesn't have those darn things on it, I'll buy it and take it home to practice on," said the National League's most valuable player.

Von Elm Leads Glendale Play

Former Open Champ Cracks Par By Four Strokes To Lead At 36-Hole Mark In Southern California Open Tourney

GLENDALE, Calif., Dec. 18. (AP)—Turning in his second sub-par round of golf, George Von Elm of Hollywood, former National amateur champion, took a two-stroke lead over Olin Dutra, ex-United States Open king, at the close of the second round of the $1,500 Southern California open today.

Von Elm rang up a 68, four under par, to go with his first round 69 for a total 36-hole score of 137.

Dutra, Los Angeles pro, finished with a 71 for a total score of 139. Jack Grout, Waco, Texas, shot 73-73—146.

Richard Arlen, motion picture actor, overcoming his customary stage-fright in front of a crowd, turned in one of the best rounds in his golf career. He came in with a 73, as against his 84 yesterday.

A goodly share of spectators followed Babe Didrikson, only woman entry in the meet. The Texas athlete clipped three strokes off her first round 87, hardly enough to qualify for tomorrow's play, but she will continue through the tournament as a courtesy gesture by the committee.

Playing in a major tournament against male competition for the first time, "The Babe" was somewhat disappointed in her first showing but "promised to do better next time."

Marquette Gridmen To Drill At Durant For Cotton Bowl

DALLAS, Dec. 18. (AP)—Marquette's Golden Avalanche of Milwaukee, opponents of Texas Christian in the Cotton Bowl here Jan. 1, will begin training for the game at Durant, Okla., Monday.

Conrad Jennings, athletic director of Marquette, notified Cotton Bowl officials that the team would leave Milwaukee Sunday morning and arrive in Durant Monday morning. The team will train on the Teachers College field.

Southwestern sports writers have been invited by the Durant chamber of commerce to a press luncheon Monday, at which they will meet Marquette players and coaches.

Tivy And Port Arthur Due To Play Hot Game

Each Team Has Support, Dope About Even; Antlers Bring Impressive Record This Far In Drive To Title

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF

KERRVILLE, Dec. 18. (AP)—Kerrville's ironmen face their greatest test here tomorrow afternoon in their drive toward the Texas Interscholastic league football title.

The durable Antlers, who have blazed a trail of sensational victories, play the fast-moving Port Arthur Yellow Jackets in a game that will determine the lower bracket finalist in the state race.

Clear, bracing weather—just the type for football—was the prospect as the teams rested for the battle. A crowd of 5,000, taxing the capacity of the field, was forecast for the kickoff at 2 p. m.

Seen As Toss-Up

The contest was rated a toss-up, some critics leaning slightly toward Port Arthur and its wealth of reserve strength, others giving the edge—if any—to Kerrville because of the team's fine record, which includes 11 games without defeat or tie, and the all-around brilliance of the veteran Antlers.

Port Arthur enters the game with one defeat and one tie but gaining power steadily since those reversals. The only Texas team holding a victory over the Yellow Jackets is Amarillo, which meets North Side (Fort Worth) tomorrow to determine the upper bracket finalist.

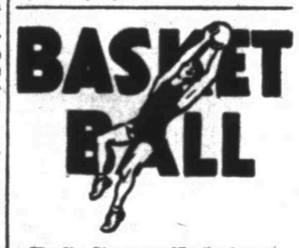

The teams compare well in weight, each with a big line and light, fast backfield. Both schools have star players on the ailing list.

Kyle Holloman, 228 pound Tivy tackle, was definitely out of the game. He still had temperature of 102 late today. He will be replaced by Walter Ridgeway, 190-pound reserve. Marland Jeffrey, big gun of the Port Arthur backfield, is nursing an ankle injury but is expected to start.

Probable starting line-ups:

Kerrville	Pos.	Port Arthur
Heinmann	LE	Rapp
Henke	LT	Collett
A. Coleman	LG	Couch
Hauser	C	Rising
Lee	RG	Formagus
Holloman	RT	Peveto
Rust	RE	Haas

Parking And Common Sense

WHILE Lubbock awaits some sort of disposition of its parking problem our business and professional men will be doing both themselves and their public a big favor by parking their own cars away from the glutted retail section—and by seeing that their employes do likewise.

It so happens that the switch from the briefly tested meter system to no system at all caught Lubbock in the midst of one of its busiest seasons.

Everyone knows that during the next four or five days the retail areas will be thronged with shopping crowds, the parking spaces from Avenue L to Avenue F and from Tenth to Fourteenth streets will be at a premium. By Lubbock people adopting a policy of using no more of that space than is absolutely necessary our visitors from over an 80 or 100 mile radius will be able to do their shopping at the minimum of time and discomfort and will leave Lubbock with a better feeling as a result.

One reason the parking meters were brought in here was because too many Lubbock business and professional people —and their employes—insisted upon "hogging" downtown parking space.

Nothing will react more against the city than for hundreds of shoppers to troop in here from a distance, only to find that they have to park in the suburbs.

Let's use some sense, for a change, in the matter of parking.

Co-operation will turn the trick.

ENTER THE LIGHTING CONTEST!

Noon today is the absolute "deadline" for filing in the Christmas lighting contest being sponsored by the Lubbock Garden club, whose civic-minded members seek to make Lubbock's residential district glow with the Yuletide spirit.

Why not enter your lighting display this morning and compete for one of the numerous prizes the club is offering this year?

Entries may be made through any one of four Garden club members. They are Mesdames Frank Winn, Elmo Wall, M. C. Overton and Paul Barrier. Any of the four will be delighted to receive notice of competition.

The Garden club points out that entry in the contest does not call for a large expenditure. Prizes will be awarded, by out-of-town judges, not to owners of the most expensive displays but to those whose displays are the most attractive and the most original.

In addition to a beautiful loving cup, which goes to first winner as an extra reward, numerous cash prizes are being offered. The prizes, donated by Lubbock merchants, are: General display, first prize, $20.00; second, $12.50; third, $7.50; doorway, first, $10.00; second, $5.00; third, $2.50 window, first, $10.00; second, $5.00; third, $2.50; scene, first, $10.00; second, $5.00; third, $2.50.

Surely Lubbock is "chock full" of people who would be glad to receive any one of the prizes and who are capable of arranging beautiful lighting effects at their home.

Enter the contest this morning!

Today's One-Minute Sermon

Since the days of our fathers have we been in a great trespass unto this day; and for our iniquities have we, our kings, and our priests, been delivered into the hand of the kings of the lands, to the sword, to captivity, and to a spoil, and to confusion of face, as it is this day.

For we were bondmen; yet our God hath not forsaken us in our bondage, but hath extended mercy unto us in the sight of the kings of Persia, to give us a reviving, to set up the house of our God, and to repair the desolations thereof, and to give us a wall in Judah and in Jerusalem.—Ezra IX:7-9.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

SYNOPSIS: Terence Mahony has rescued Elsa Little and Ruth Fraser from Ambrose Lawson's gang of kidnappers. The difficulty about exposing Lawson is that Terence cannot prove anything; more to his annoyance, he knows Lawson murdered Elsa's uncle, and yet he finds himself suspected. He is being questioned by Inspector Kennedy, and to add to his discomfiture, he finds that Elsa herself believes him guilty. Lawson is smugly watching the proceeding.

Chapter 15

RUTH AGAIN

There was another brief pause. Elsa had been growing restless during this process of questions and answers. It seemed to her to be a flagrant injustice that Mahony should be standing there so very much alive, and with such an unworried air, when he had just killed her uncle.

He was guilty; he ought to be made to suffer for it, and the sooner the better.

"What are you wasting time for?" she demanded wildly. "You know he did it. Why don't you take him to prison?"

Her vindictiveness stung Mahony again.

"Miss Little," he said very earnestly, "I swear on my honor that I did not kill your uncle. Won't you try to believe me?"

It was unlike Mahony to speak in that fashion. He was not the kind of man who went about swearing things on his honor. But he wished desperately to convince Elsa that he was innocent.

He did not convince her. His outburst only seemed to her to be evidence of his consummate hypocrisy.

"Honor!" she exclaimed scornfully. "What does a creature like you know of honor? Do you think I don't realize that all the things you told the Inspector about your movements last night were lies? I know it was your voice I heard in the study last night when my uncle was killed. I know you were there and that you killed him."

"I tell you I didn't kill him," said Mahony vehemently.

There was nothing he could do. He shrugged his shoulders slightly. What was the good of going on arguing?

Lawson turned aside and busied himself lighting a cigaret. He had savored this last bit of by-play with all the enjoyment of a connoisseur of the theater enjoying a well-acted scene from an amusing play.

The Inspector was frowning slightly. As yet he had not quite made up his mind what he was going to do. He rather thought that he was going to detain Mahony on suspicion. He was just about to put these intentions into effect when the door of the room opened, and the maid's voice announced:

"Miss Fraser to see you, Miss."

Ruth Fraser entered the room.

Ruth's sudden appearance is quite easily accounted for.

She awakened late that morning after a good sleep, and her breakfast was brought to her in bed. While she was breakfasting, her guardian entered her room to see her.

"Good morning, my dear," he said. "I just looked in to remind you that you'd better fix up your story about staying with an old school friend pretty quickly. As soon as you've done it I must inform the police that you have returned."

"I'll do it now," said Ruth.

There was a telephone by her bedside, and she lifted the receiver and called a number in Sussex. The number she rang belonged to a girl named Anne Dowson, with whom she had been at school. Anne was a wild, eccentric, good-natured girl, who lived in a tiny cottage on the edge of nowhere and painted landscapes for a living.

"Hallo, Anne," said Ruth. "Look here, old hag, if anybody asks, can you tell them that I've been staying with you for the last three or four days? Do you mind?"

"Dee-lighted, I'm shore," replied Anne. "But if anybody does want to ask, they'll have to do it pretty quickly, because I'm off to Berlin for a show of pictures today. I don't suppose you'll mind that, though."

"That's grand," said Ruth. "Thanks ever so much, Anne. How are the landscapes going these days."

"They've gone," answered Anne, who had rather a literal mind. "They went a fortnight ago. The show starts tomorrow."

"Oh, you're going to a show of your own pictures, are you?" said Ruth. "That's good. But what I really meant was, how is art going? Are you selling lots of stuff, and making a heap of money?"

"I'm hanged if I know," answered Anne. "Incidentally, I can hear my hired car stopping outside. So I must fly. Good-bye, my pet. Be careful."

Ruth hung up the receiver, laughing. Anne was quite mad, but a terribly good sort. She was glad she had fixed that up all right.

She told her guardian what she had arranged, and went on with her breakfast. The previous night she had been much too tired to bother much about the whys and wherefores of things; her only curiosity had been about the identity of her rescuer.

This morning, after a good sleep, that curiosity was intensified, and added to it was a curiosity about the rest of the story. Mysterious things had been happening to her. Not many girls of her age had had such advantages.

The one fly in the ointment of her bliss was the fact that she did not know her rescuer's name. That did not suit her at all. One thing she had to work on—that he had been friendly with Billy Ross. In that case, other friends of Billy would probably know him. Elsa Little, for instance, would probably know him; there was not much about Billy that she didn't know. Ruth decided to go to see Elsa, describe Mahony to her, and try to find out who he was.

After breakfast she drove round to Elsa's house in her big cream-colored sports car. The maid who admitted her knew her as a frequent visitor, and showed her at once into the drawing-room, where Elsa, Mahony, Lawson, and the two detectives were assembled.

For a moment she was astonished; she had not expected to find all these people present. But her astonishment was swallowed by her delight in meeting Mahony there.

"Hallo, Elsa," she said. She turned to Mahony and smiled; her eyes sparkled with mischief.

"Hallo," she said casually, "fancy meeting you."

Inwardly she was purring with glee. Mahony had said that they would not meet; she had been quite determined to prove him wrong; and by the most incredible good luck she had succeeded first shot. She could not resist the temptation to rub it in a little.

She looked at him, smiling. He had no answering smile for her. Nor had Elsa. Then, for the first time, she perceived that somewhere something was definitely wrong. Her glance travelled round the solemn circle of the people in the room.

Lawson was staring at her with an expression of the utmost bewilderment on his face, as if he could hardly believe that she was real. Nobody had yet told him of her rescue from the house near Watford; her presence in the room was his first intimation of it.

"What's the matter with all of you?" she asked. "Why are you all looking at me as if I'd come out without any clothes on? What's wrong?"

For a moment nobody answered. Then Inspector Kennedy replied to her.

"I'm sorry to have to tell you that Mr. Little, Miss Little's uncle, was murdered last night."

"Murdered!"

Ruth was horrified.

"How . . . how dreadful. Elsa . . . I'm terribly sorry to hear it. Is there anything I can do? Have they . . . have they caught the man who did it?"

Elsa made a little gesture with her hand indicating Mahony.

"That man did it," she answered stonily. "He came in here late last night and stabbed my uncle in the back."

". . . I don't believe it," said Ruth instantly. "He couldn't have done it. He was with me nearly all last night."

Everyone except Mahony stared at her in a shocked fashion. Mahony scowled ferociously at her. Was this fool girl, he wondered going to spill all the blasted beans, when he had particularly asked her to keep her mouth shut?

Ruth guessed what he was thinking; she went on hastily:

"He came down into the country, in his car, to fetch me from my friend's cottage. I've been staying with a friend named Anne Dowson in a cottage near Harfield, in Sussex. I asked him if he'd come down and give me a lift back to town, and he came."

"I am Inspector Kennedy, of the Criminal Investigation Department, of Mr. Little," said Inspector Kennedy. "May I ask your name?"

"My name is Ruth Fraser," answered Ruth.

"Aren't you the girl who has been missing from home for several days?" he went on.

"Yes," she admitted. "But that was all a false alarm."

Temporarily, Tuesday, the situation eases for Mahony.

Rocket ships, unlike airplanes, need no atmosphere to sustain their flight. In fact, they can travel faster in a perfect vacuum.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S legal craftsmen have harked back to horse-and-buggy days for a constitutional amendment that will free the executive and legislative branches of Supreme court domination. Their private, tentative solution was debated but discarded by the Philadelphia convention which framed the constitution.

Under the new-old proposal Congress could override either a presidential veto or a Supreme court rejection by repassing a bill with a two-thirds majority. But if a measure runs into trouble at both ends of Pennsylvania Avenue—the White House and the high tribunal—it can be restored to the statute books only through a three-quarters majority of both House and Senate. This non-revolutionary suggestion reveals the administration's reluctance to apply reelection pressure to the venerable jurists.

The President himself hopes that he can sidestep such an issue, though he is determined to face it, if necessary. But he trusts that the judges will regard November 3rd's results as popular indorsement of a central and controlling government. His advisers are still squabbling over phraseology of an amendment vesting far-reaching regulatory power in Washington, and doubt the wisdom of such a move. You can write down one alternative as "out"—packing of the court with New Deal liberals.

• • •

THRILLER: Secretary Morgenthau has authored a "black book" which would become a best seller overnight if he would open the pages to the reading public. It recounts the dramatic experiences and successes of his famed Internal Revenue Intelligence unit.

The headline chapter reveals that two treasury agents arranged the trap which eventually caught Bruno Richard Hauptmann. Over Colonel Lindbergh's protest they insisted upon recording the numbers of the ransom bank bills. Then they laboriously enlisted the nation's bank officials in the legal conspiracy which snared the world's most infamous kidnapper. The "black book" also describes how the Capone gang was smashed. It discloses that almost every favorite Hollywood actor and actress had to pay tax deficiencies ranging from $10,000 to $1,000,000. It reveals that judges, senators, politicians, bankers and high-up industrialists often appear among the tax dodgers' lineup. It names names.

Only ten copies were printed, and the type was then destroyed. Ten lucky holders are President Roosevelt, Vice-President Garner, Secretary Morgenthau, Treasury Assistant Gaston, Internal Revenue Commissioner Helvering, Chief Treasury Detective Elmer Irey, two Senators and two Representatives. All ten happen to be detective-story devotees.

BLAZE: President Roosevelt may read the riot act to his Cabinet and emergency heads as a result of the well-engineered revolt they have quietly staged against economies in the cost of government. Protests flowing into the White House against PWA-WPA-RA-REA reductions bear the marks of friendly fingerprints.

The New Dealers concerned are too smart to appeal directly to the White House and Budget Bureau. Such a maneuver would spotlight their opposition to FDR'S budget-balancing act. From previous experience they have perfected a more effective and camouflaged arrangement. They simply tip off their respective beneficiaries—cities, cooperatives, Congressmen, Mayors, individuals—that it's time to apply pressure on the White House and Capitol Hill. The wire-pulling is timed and arranged by remote control.

The administration has already backed away from its order for drastic cuts in relief rolls. That retreat has encouraged rival dispensers of public funds. President Roosevelt's long absence from the country offered them a chance to light a blaze which may burn up his written demands for sweeping savings.

• • •

AUTOPSY: Preliminary laboratory tests of the Republican vote on November 3 indicate that Alf M. Landon's defeat was more sweeping than the superficial returns reveal. The final diagnosis may strike a hard blow at the Kansan's claim to titular leadership of the G. O. P.

Examination of Republican presidential and Congressional returns reveals that the standard-bearer ran far behind lowly candidates for the House in several key states. The total vote for all G. O. P. Congressional nominees may exceed Mr. Landon's ballot by 2,000,000. The contrast impresses the politicos for the reason that in many southern states the G. O. P. permitted House and Senate seats to go by default. They didn't bother to run anybody.

• • •

CHARM: American diplomats breathe more comfortably, now that Edward is safely in exile and George VI on the throne. The comparative calm with which Britain and her Dominions accepted the switch of sovereigns apparently safeguards the unwritten Anglo-American agreement for commercial—and even naval —cooperation in the event of world war involving other nations.

Anglo-American neutrality in such a conflict would be an "armed" affair. The United States and Great Britain are building their navies to war-time strength with this consideration in mind. The two nations—and their customers—would continue to trade under protection of the world's most powerful armadas. Any nation—or alliance—which dared to encroach on this arrangement would run into 16-inch salvos.

But if the Simpson affair had weakened ties between the dominions and the crown, the appeal of such a joint policy would vanish for us. As only a small island off the northern coast of Europe, England loses her charm as a political and commercial mate. Nations must be callous and cold-blooded even in the blaze of the world's most famous romance.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

DANGER of a second organized labor split inside the Committee for Industrial Organization—imminent a few weeks ago—has passed. John Lewis and David Dubinsky of the International Ladies Garment workers have made peace.

The latter union recently issued an official statement reading in part as follows: "There is more than a desire for peace involved in this dispute. There are involved fundamental concepts of trade union organization, methods and tactics . . . A peace which would leave such fundamental issues out of consideration cannot be lasting." This serves plain notice that the Ladies Garment workers intend to stick by the CIO.

So ends the hope of AFL chiefs that Dubinsky and his powerful union could be weaned away from Lewis. Insiders say the Federation executive council has only itself to blame. Dubinsky was getting irritated with Lewis' dictatorial methods and intransigeance. He would have been glad to meet the Federation halfway in a gesture of reconciliation. But the bitter-end attitude of the council at the Tampa convention and after convinced him that the CIO—for all Lewis' faults—is the only outfit that can build constructively for the future of organized labor.

WAR: CIO officials privately were plenty worried about the possibility of Dubinsky's defection. The house subdivided against itself would surely have fallen.

Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing workers—perhaps the staunchest and ablest lieutenant Lewis has in the CIO and a close personal friend of Dubinsky—is said to have played an important part in persuading the latter to stay with the ship. Now that an unbroken CIO front is assured he trumpets fresh defiance to the AFL. His union puts out a statement blasting the "illegal and treacherous suspension of the CIO unions." It demands that this be lifted and expanded organizing activity along industrial lines in the mass production industries be guaranteed as prerequisites for peace between the Lewis group and the AFL.

This statement accurately reflects Lewis' own sentiments and is tantamount to declaring that the fight will go on to a finish. Would-be peace-makers might as well save their breath.

AGREES WITH MILLER

Editor, The Avalanche: I think that Mr. Webb Miller's article in last Sunday's Avalanche-Journal is one of the greatest that I have ever read in a daily paper. Like some others, he selected a vital subject and he has surely given it great thought. Conditions have changed and we must conform to the changes.

While this is not directly on Mr. Miller's subject, I wish to convey one that I think would help in our change:

Why not place in the Farm bill clauses to this effect:

First: That the landlord shall only receive government money in accord to the amount of rent that he receives for his land. To wit, if he only receives one-fourth as is custom on cotton he will only get one-fourth of the federal money.

Second: Make the tenant's part of crop and money independent of the landlord's part, with the right to do as he pleases with same.

Third: That all farm labor shall receive standard union wages and shall work standard union hours. Further, that labor shall be classified; as skilled, semi-skilled, and common labor. Skilled laborers being the operators of all motor-driven machinery. Semi-skilled being all assistants to the operators of motor-driven machinery, and common laborers shall be composed of that class of labor to which belong men, women and children without any training.

This, I think, is fair, as the landlord gets his, the tenant gets his, and the rural workers get theirs. As everything now stands, the landlord or owner, as the case may be, can discharge all his tenants and work his land with hired help which he uses only part time at low wages and the government gives him money enough to pay all expenses and tenants and workers are left out.

Again, some few men rent or lease large tracts of land, discharge a number of tenants and use this same method, leaving out a large number of tenants and rural workers.

If I owned land and had to pay standard union wages and only get union hours work, I think I would rent it out. And I am sure that I would not rent a large tract and work it with hired help.

If this were put into effect, I think that we would have many more tenants and not near so many on W. P. A. or some other form of relief.

Society is so complex that if I go down I am sure to pull someone down with me and many are going down each year. Where will it all end!

Respectfully,
Ross Ford.

"Watering" Of Wine Is Being Investigated In Texas Areas

AUSTIN, Dec. 18. (AP)—Bert Ford, liquor administrator, said today the board was investigating reported "watering" of wine by unscrupulous retailers and wholesalers.

Investigations were to center in Houston and San Antonio.

"We are interested not only because of possible tax evasion," Ford said, "but we want to protect the consumer. The federal government should be concerned because of the pure food laws. Preliminary investigation reveals the practice mainly in the bulk wine business."

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN, 126

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

As the pygmies started off to kill Tarzan, that weird ape-call rose once more from the prisoner's hut; and a moment later, out of the dim distance, came an eerie cry that seemed a counterpart of the first. The warriors shook their heads and retired to the campfire.

There they held a long council, consisting of a maximum of talk and a minimum of thinking. Meanwhile, Nkima grew braver and decided to risk a visit to his imprisoned master. With chattering teeth the little monkey entered the gloomy hut and leaped to Tarzan's broad chest.

"I have come to gnaw the cords that hold you," he announced. "That you cannot do," replied the ape-man; "otherwise I should have called you long ago." "Why not?" demanded Nkima; "my teeth are sharp." "Besides the rope, they twisted copper wire on my wrists and ankles."

"I can gnaw the rope, and take off the wire with my fingers." Tarzan shook his head: "I'm afraid your fingers are not strong enough." But Nkima had no chance to try his strength, for now the pygmies sallied forth once more toward the hut to kill their prisoner!

Wheat Prices Hit New Highs

Scramble Of European Powers For Breadstuff Excites Extensive Buying; Revival Of War Talk Added Cause

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—Wheat prices shot upward again to new seven-year highs in the world's grain markets today.

The scramble of European powers for breadstuffs excited heavy speculative buying that skyrocketed quotations more than five cents here and at Minneapolis and almost that much in other important world trade centers, particularly Winnipeg, Liverpool and Buenos Aires. Some traders said there was a revival of war talk, too.

Chicago December wheat sold as high as 1.40 7-8, a gain of 20 cents since the first of the month and 55 cents above the season's low point. A year ago, December wheat sold around $1.02.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—Offerings expanded in today's stock market and leading industrials stepped down fractions to 2 or more points.

While declining tendencies, generally were in evidence from the start, a few utilities, rails and specialties were resistant and managed to weather the squall for moderate advances.

Supporting influences included a less than seasonal dip in last week's freight shipments, mounting steel mill operations, record consumption of electricity, the largest motor car output for any December week in the history of the automotive industry and signs that Cristmas shopping is attaining momentum not exceeded since 1929.

On the other side of the picture analysts said many traders were induced to dump commitments because of the market's lackadaisical performance in recent sessions and its evident refusal to take cognizance of increasingly hopeful economic developments. Then, too, both speculative and investment forces appeared to be more concerned regarding widespread labor problems.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was off .6 of a point of 69.7. Transfers totaled 1,907,506 shares compared with 1,951,220 yesterday.

The share division found no special inspiration in soaring wheat prices to 7-year peak levels, and another jump to new tops by soy beans and rubber futures.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 18. (AP)—Cotton switched back to the upgrade in today's market, prices making gains of just under 25 cents a bale.

The market was helped by official denials from Washington that a plan had been promulgated for selling the government's holdings of loan cotton.

The advance was whittled down in the last hour by profit taking and realizing sales which supplied more offerings than the market could absorb at prevailing levels.

At the close March sold at 12.14, May at 12.06, July at 11.89 and 11.66 was bid for Oct. The first sale in the December, 1937, position occurred at a price of 11.70, a few points premium over October.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP) — Cotton was higher today on general trade buying.

March rallied from 12.17@12.25 and closed at 12.20 with final prices generally 1 to 7 points net higher.

The market opened 5 points higher to 1 lower with moderate trade, commission house and foreign buying taking hedge selling and scattered liquidation. Following heavy selling of Thursday, contracts were scarce.

The visible supply again decreased as forwardings of 322,000 bales of American cotton to mills of the world for the week exceeded the into-sight movement by 37,000 bales.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 18. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 12.58 cents a pound.

Levelland Cagers Win From Littlefield Cats, 23 To 21

LEVELLAND, Dec. 18. (Special)—The Levelland High school basketball Loboes defeated Littlefield's Wildcats, 32 to 21, here tonight in a Conference B game.

Bill McIlwain, with eleven points, Raymond Langley and Jack Bates with ten each led the Levelland scoring. Bill Wilson scored 11 to lead the Wildcats.

SUPPORT O'CONNER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP) — O'Connell (D-RI) today gave his support to Rep. O'Conner, (D-NY) in the contest for house majority floor leader.

Cards May Retain Dizzy; No Takers At Rickey Prices

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 18. (AP)—Branch Rickey, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, said today Dizzy Dean, ace pitcher, probably would not be traded.

Rickey, who sought to peddle the eccentric hurler for a small fortune in cash and almost a complete baseball team, quickly added that didn't mean he was going to quit trying. It was just that no one semed willing to pay the price.

But whatever the outcome, Rickey saw a National League pennant for the Cards in 1937.

"Dizzy is one 'if' confronting the team," Rickey pointed out.

Paul Dean, younger brother of Dizzy, ineffective most of last season because of a sore arm, is not being counted on.

"We can't tell anything about him until spring training camp," Rickey said.

Farm Tenancy

surance policy of at least five years.

Points For Consideration

Points for consideration in setting up solution plan:

Start state-wide educational campaign to create desire by tenants to own farms and to eliminate ideas some persons have that tenant farmers are "unworthy and void of ambition;" provide adult education in rural areas, encourage consolidation of small schools and establish rural high schools with full nine-months terms;

More and better farm-to-market roads, expanded rural electrification; develop new crops adapted to given areas; inaugurate health campaign to eliminate malaria and other "energysapping diseases which are often the cause of lack of industry than the prevalent notion that many farmers are downright lazy."

Guard against making rural regions "dumping places for failures for cities;" organize agency for cooperative selling of all farm commodities and issue some form of service award in form of certificate to those farmers whose records are good.

Officials at the hospital said it was a "minor operation" and not extremely painful.

Water Suit Delay Denied By Master

EL PASO, Dec. 18. (AP)—New Mexico and the Middle Rio Grande conservancy district lost their fight to have the Texas water suit delayed until March 1, when Special Master Charles Warren today overruled the motion for continuance. Texas counsel characterized the postponement sought as unreasonable and strenuously opposed it.

Special Master Warren set Dec. 28 as the date for the resumption of the hearing in Albuquerque, where it first started, Nov. 9.

Texas rested its case Friday noon. Dr. A. S. Roberstson, Las Cruces, president of the Elephant Butte Irrigation district, last witness for the Lone Star state, related the history in connection with the formation of that district. Charles B. Stevens, pioneer El Paso resident, who preceded Dr. Robertson, told about the character of vegetation in this section when he arrived in 1897.

Visiting attorneys and engineers left for their respective homes to spend Christmas. Special Master Warren will be in Santa Fe, N. M., for the holidays, instead of Washington, D. C., his home.

Nature's Generosity Has Left Florida With Citrus Headache

Plenty of sunshine, the right amount of moisture and dry spells at just the proper time have given the state its greatest grapefruit crop. The estimated 27,523,000 boxes was an increase of approximately 9,000,000 boxes over last season.

Orderly marketing of the huge crop at good prices was the goal of citrus men who have mapped a national promotion campaign through 37,000 associated retail stores, advertising in northern cities; a speakers' campaign, a "Florida Orange and Grapefruit week" and large purchases of the fruit by the federal government for distribution to relief clients.

U. S. Ambassador To Mexico Says American Investments To Be Protected In Mexico From Recent Law

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 18.—United States capital and investments welcome to Mexico will be protected from the southern republic's recent expropriation law, Ambassador to Mexico Josephus Daniels, a 30-minute visitor here said today.

The ambassador, accompanied by Mrs. Daniels, was enroute to Washington to attend the annual gridiron dinner of the Washington press. He and Mrs. Daniels will then go to their home in Raleigh, N. C., for the Christmas holidays.

Assured By Cardenas

Daniels, greeted by Congressman Maury Maverick, said he had recently been assured by President Cardenas of Mexico that American capital would be protected under the property confiscation law.

The ambassador said "President Cardenas assured me there was no ground for any fear that American property would be endangered or confiscated by the government."

In a brief discussion of the law, Daniels said:

"Certain business interests and chambers of commerce in Mexico feel provisions of the law are too broad and too vague and that its enaction will depend on the interpretation of the law made by the president.

"Some people feel the weakness of the law lies in the fact a loose interpretation might admit confiscation of private property for purposes not entirely public."

New Wildcat Showing Oil

New Field Is Believed Made In Lea County, New Mexico, As 1,080 Feet Of Oil Shows In Test Between Two Pools

(By The Associated Press)

PONCA CITY, Okla., Dec. 18. — Continental Oil company officials announced today a New Mexico wildcat well in Lea county showed for 1,080 feet of oil in a four-inch drill stem in 14 minutes with gas pressure estimated at 580,000 cubic feet.

The company said the showing, which might mean the opening of a new field in New Mexico was made on a test from 3,704 to 3,760 feet and operators were setting seven-inch casing.

The announcement said the well was about midway between Lea county's Eunice and Cooper pools. Continental, California, Atlantic and Stanolind companies each own 25 per cent of the well, the company said, with Continental the operator.

Company officials said the partners had about 8,900 acres in the township in which the well is located.

Another Message Of Peace Given By Italian Chief

LITTORIA, Italy, Dec. 18. (AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini gave the world another message of peace today.

He told rural workers here: "Fascist Italy hopes she is entering the longest possible period of peace."

At the same time, however, Il Duce repeated the concept, "we Fascists reject the fable of permanent peace which never existed and never will exist."

All Italian accounts in East Africa, Mussolini said, now are regulated, but others still remain which "I firmly believe will be regulated by normal means."

The glove of a child, found in the painted box of royal robes in King Tutankhamen's tomb, is said to be the oldest glove of which there is record.
