Speedy Action For Relief In Texas Sought

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—Texans trying to solve a WPA employment certification problem which has tied up scores of projects throughout the state met today and arranged for an immediate conference with Paul V. McNutt, administrator of the federal security agency.

Eight representatives of the Texas County Judges and Commissioners association, including its president, Judge Homer Bouldin of Albany, met in the office of Senator Morris Sheppard and unloaded their worries before the Texas congressional delegation.

Not Spending Enough

The situation, as pictured by Judge C. C. Randle of Waxahachie, was: the Works Projects administration has funds to carry on approximately $10,000,000 worth of work in Texas monthly, but because of a lack of certified relief workers, the amount spent is only about $7,000,000.

Approximately 25,000 needy men and women in Texas want WPA employment but cannot be placed on jobs because they have not been certified. About 68,000 persons now are on WPA in Texas, but they were certified for employment before funds for certification work were exhausted last October 31. Certification could be continued at no extra expense if the social security board would permit the Texas welfare department, which it aids financially, to supervise WPA "intake" work. This work could be combined with the taking of information for old age assistance and

Transcontinental Speed Hop Of Flying Fortress Halted

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Jan. 18 (AP)—A transcontinental speed hop by a four-motored "flying fortress" was nipped here at 5:15 a. m. (CST) today when the army bomber was forced down because of bad weather eastward. The plane was bound from San Diego, Calif., to Dayton, Ohio.

The pilot, Major Stanley M. Upstead, and Capt. Leonard P. Harmon took off from San Diego at 2:06 a. m. (CST), hoping to make the trip in eight hours by flying through the stratosphere. Albuquerque airport officials said it appeared the plane would be held up all day.

Eleven Russian Bombers Are Shot Down

Soviet Forces Being Pushed Slowly Back

Finns Advance 28 Miles In Salla Region; Mass Retreat By Red Invaders Reported

(By The Associated Press)

HELSINKI, Jan. 18.—The Finns announced tonight that their forces had pushed the Russians back 28 miles in the Salla region above the Arctic circle.

The army communique also announced that the Finns had shot down 11 Russian bombing planes in fighting yesterday. Previously it had been reported unofficially that 11 of 18 raiding red planes had been shot down in a raid on Lappeenranta in southern Finland.

Advance 28 Miles

"In Lapland," the communique said, "our troops have advanced 45 kilometers (28 miles) in the Salla sector during the past few days.

"The enemy has been pushed back from Joutsijarvi to Markajarvi, for possession of which fighting is proceeding."

Joutsijarvi is approximately 65 miles inside the Finnish border, and the communique's account of fighting there was the first Finnish acknowledgment in recent accounts that the Russian troops had pushed this far into Finland. Markajarvi, northeast of Joutsijarvi, is 20 miles southwest of Salla, principal town of the region.

General Russian Retreat

(Dispatches received in Copenhagen last night reported a general Russian retreat in the Salla sector involving 40,000 troops.)

The Russian drive westward in the Salla sector was the most direct of several aimed ultimately at cutting approximately 200 miles across Finland to capture Tornio, a railhead at the head of the Gulf of Bothnia.

By doing this the Russians believe they could cut Finland's overland supply route from Sweden.

(The Russian communique of last night said 11 Finnish planes had been shot down in aerial combat, but did not disclose the location.)

Offically, the Finns reported that the Russians braved the bitterest cold in 25 years to drop 150 bombs

Quake Strikes Turkey Again

(By The Associated Press)

ANKARA, Jan. 18.—Turkey's second major earthquake in three weeks was reported today to have killed fifty persons and injured 160 in the Nigde district, some 200 miles southeast of here.

This district, which he escaped the disastrous earthquake of December 28 which killed at least 30,000 persons in northeastern Anatolia, suffered a series of heavy shocks last night accompanied by terrifying underground rumblings.

New Shocks Are Felt

New quakes were felt in the devastated region of the December shocks—about 200 miles northeast of the new quake area—but no casualties were reported from there.

In the western plains, rivers swollen by melting snow flooded 15 more villages and caused a landslide which crushed two bridges. In this region late December floods killed at least 1,500.

In the area wrecked by the Dec. 28 quake relief workers still were busy among the ruins, helping the inhabitants in their fight against cold, disease and hunger.

Jealousy Is Blamed In Man's Slaying Of His Infant Son

LANSDALE, Pa., Jan. 18. (AP)—Police Chief Samuel Woffindin said today that Benjamin McCabe's jealousy over his wife's devotion to their infant son apparently was responsible for the slaying of the child on New Year's day.

McCabe, lodged in jail after pleading guilty to a murder charge, retained the composure he displayed as he told police he smothered the 51-day-old boy. "I was jealous of my wife and the affection she showed the baby," he was quoted.

The baldish young WPA worker told guards at the Norristown county prison he was "glad that's off my mind."

His pretty, brunette wife, Mildred is 19.

Little Joke Man Played On Wife Takes A Tragic Turn

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 18 (AP)—The little joke that Arthur Richter played on his wife for years took a tragic twist last night.

He would shut off the light whenever Martha Richter, 58, went to the basement, and turned it on after she protested.

Last night he flicked off the light but heard no protest. He hurried downstairs to find his wife dead on a coal pile. Detectives said she apparently received a shock from an extension line into which she had screwed a bulb and it affected her heart.

Mercury Is To Slump Below Zero Tonight

Only Light Snow Reported In Panhandle-Plains; But The Worst Is Yet To Come

Biting 7.5-degree temperature early today had abated at noon and light snow driven by a 36-mile west of north wind temporarily had ceased falling.

But the worst was yet to come, if government forecast is borne out.

To Drop Below Zero

Weatherman H. T. Collman of Amarillo predicted the mercury tonight would drop to the season's low in most of the Panhandle and that readings would range from 2 to 10 below zero.

Livestock warnings were issued, although no snow was expected.

The wall of wind is expected to die late this afternoon.

The Dallas government forecast read: West Texas—Snow tonight, partly cloudy Friday, colder in south and north portions tonight, much colder in extreme south tonight, moderately cold wave.

Coldest In Two Years

Some sections felt the coldest wave in two years.

Readings were 4 degrees above zero at Amarillo, Plainview and Borger.

At Borger the mercury dropped 65 degrees in six hours and light snow covered the ground.

Snow fell fitfully in the Panhandle and moved across the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Plainview had the coldest weather in two years.

The wind, blowing so hard as 40 miles an hour in places, put a keen edge on the cold, filtering into residences and clothing impartially.

Low Readings Reported

Big Spring reported 14 degrees, coldest this season, and light snow; Sweetwater 12 degrees, lowest since

Cattle Thieves Are Sought In Slayings

TULIA, Jan. 18. (U.P.)—A savage slaying of two aged persons, L. B. Hand, 72, and his sister, Mrs. Lula Widegreen, 76, prompted officers today to search for cattle thieves, who, they believed, committed murder when they were caught in the act of theft.

The burned bones of the two were taken from their smouldering farm home yesterday. Justice of the Peace V. R. Gardner ruled that they were slain by "persons unknown."

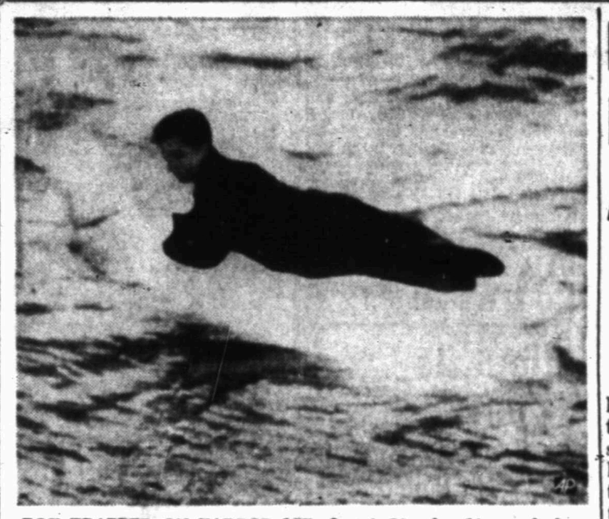

A cow and chickens, belonging to Hand, were missing. A pool of blood and Hand's upper plate of false teeth were found in the cow lot. Blood spots led to the house, discovered burning fiercely Tuesday night by a neighboring farmer.

Sheriff Hugh B. White of Swisher county believed Hand caught someone stealing his cow, was killed in the struggle, the body dragged to the house, where Mrs. Widegreen was killed and the place set afire.

Austin Woman Plunges To Her Death From Hotel Window

AUSTIN, Jan. 18. (AP)—Mrs. Virgie Morris, 62, of Austin plunged to her death from a 12th-story bedroom window of the Driskill hotel here today.

Justice of the Peace Sam Rogers rendered a verdict of "suicide apparently caused by ill health."

BOY TRAPPED ON HARBOR ICE—Joseph Murphy, 14, was lucky. He was picked up by a police boat half mile off shore in Boston, clinging to an ice floe that broke away from the shore and carried him out to sea. He's shown here on the ice. Four boys of the 11 trapped on the floe were drowned.

Five Persons Die In London Blast

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Five men were killed and a number injured in a series of rapid-fire explosions in a north London war plant today which damaged houses as far as two miles away.

The casualties were announced by the ministry of supply several hours after the blasts.

(Information received in New York indicated the plant was the Royal Gunpowder factory at Waltham Abbey.)

No Enemy Action

Police said the blasts were accidental and involved "no enemy action."

There were two or three explosions in quick succession.

They shattered thousands of windows, caused many ceilings to drop and resulted in many minor casualties due to falling debris.

A great column of flame and smoke roared upward, leaving a thick mushroom of smoke over the area.

Spectators Kept Away

Police kept spectators far from the plant as fire brigades inside the works fought the flames.

Many civilians fled to air raid shelters when the explosions were heard, believing the city was being bombed. Said one woman:

"We made a bee-line for a dugout. Five minutes later we thought it safe to come out and saw a great column of flame over the works," the Royal Gunpowder factory at Waltham Abbey.

Despite the widespread damage, the effects of the explosions were less than in normal times because windows of so many buildings and homes had been protected with sand-bags or boards.

The explosions occurred at 10:45 a. m. (9:45 a. m. C.S.T.) and the blanket of smoke hung over the district for some time afterward.

Cut In Naval Funds Sought

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House naval committee proposed a $500,000,000 cut today in the pending $1,300,000,000 fleet expansion program, by eliminating 34 projected new destroyers.

At the opening of today's session, Vinson announced he would ask the committee to approve a reduction in the total tonnage of the proposed expansion from 400,000 tons to 218,000 tons.

Would Authorize Others

He said the bill as thus revised still would authorize three additional aircraft carriers of approximately 25,000 tons each, an unspecified number of cruisers and 34 submarines.

Vinson made it plain the specified number of ships to be built would be left to the navy's discretion within the tonnage authorized. In that connection, he said it would be possible to build four cruisers of 27,500 tons each—as compared with the present limit of 10,000 tons.

Larger cruisers have been advocated because of Germany's "pocket-battleships."

Slight Industrial Downturn Seen For First Part Of '40

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. (AP)—The bureau of agricultural economics reported today that an industrial downturn was expected during the first half of 1940, but that it was not likely to be prolonged or severe.

Officials emphasized that commodity prices appeared to be "less vulnerable" than on some other occasions when the industrial situation was similar. They pointed out that commodity prices had failed to respond to the 1938-39 recovery in industrial activity and consumer income until the outbreak of war in Europe.

Flashing Signals For Autos Of The Future Are Needed

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Jan. 18.—A vision of future motor vehicles "winking and blinking" the intentions of their operators was presented to the Society of Automotive Engineers convention here today by Harry C. Doane, of General Motors corporation, who said there was distinct need for a front view, flashing type of automobile direction signal.

"Since the pedestrian must be kept in mind as well as the motorist," Doane said, "signals are necessary at both front and rear of the vehicles; they must be located so that front signals for left and right turns are palinly visible not only to an approaching motorist but also to a pedestrian standing at an intersection."

Front and rear signals, he added, must have sufficient brilliance to be visible for 100 feet in bright sunlight.

"The necessity for front signals that must be plainly visible when headlights are on," he said, "stresses the need for a flashing type of signal."

Netherlands Has Confidence In Spirit Of Army; Defense Measures Being Extended

BY H. C. BUURMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Jan. 18.—Members of the Netherlands general staff said today that they had complete confidence in the military preparations they had made and were ready to defend the country against an attack by any side.

"We have complete confidence in the spirit of our army," they said.

Technical State Of Siege

The statement was made as Queen Wilhelmina by royal decree placed a wide area of the North sea coast under a technical state of siege. Some key coastal areas had been placed under a state of siege last November.

Authoritative quarters said that the decree was simply an extension of national defense measures.

In face of foreign reports that a German attack on France through The Netherlands and Belgium is possible, and with knowledge that special precautionary measures have been taken, the Dutch and the Belgians are going about their industrial life as usual, but watchfully and ready for an emergency.

Proof Of Calmness

The strongest proof of the calmness and resolution of the people was the attitude of key men of the general staff with whom I have talked here. These men forbade me to publish their names but permitted me to say I had talked with the general staff.

I askd regarding the opinion expressed by Allied diplomatic agents that the Germans would be able to

Heavy Fire Loss In New Mexico Town

SAN JON, N. M., Jan. 18 (AP)—Fire destroyed practically half of the business district here last night. Seven buildings, three of them just completed and partly stocked, were razed.

In ruins are a mercantile store, a hardware store, a drug store, a bar, a grocery, a cafe, a feed store, all in one block on the south side of the Will Rogers highway.

Firemen from Tucumcari, 20 miles away, answered the alarm and joined bucket brigades in fighting the flames. No estimate of the loss had been made this morning.

Sergeant's Friends Turned Up Just At The Wrong Time

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 18. (U.P.)—Police Sergeant John Harrington spotted a well-known police character looking over a display of guns at a hardware show here last night.

Harrington, himself in a neighboring booth, observed the man for many minutes, finally caught him when he attempted to steal a gun.

"My only trouble," Harrington said, "was that friends I hadn't seen in years kept coming by the booth where I had hidden. They all yelled, 'Hi-ya, sergeant.'

"I just gave them the cold stare. I bet they hate me today."

Physicians Say All Hope Gone For Recovery

Aged Solon Has Been In Coma Most Of Time Since Suffering Cerebral Hemorrhage Tuesday

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Mrs. William E. Borah, wife of the veteran Idaho senator, said that physicians had given up all hope for his recovery from a cerebral hemorrhage.

The 74-year-old senator suffered the hemorrhage Tuesday morning when he slipped in the bathroom of his apartment, and has "been in a coma most of the time" since then, she said. He has recovered consciousness occasionally.

Senator Borah

His physicians, headed by Dr. Worth Daniels, have told her "there is no hope for his recovery," Mrs. Borah said.

After a visit to the senator's apartment, Cora Rubin, his secretary, told reporters in a trembling voice:

Unconscious Most Of Time

"The senator is very, very critically ill. He is unconscious most of the time, but regains consciousness at times to call for Mary, his wife."

Miss Rubin said that the senator was breathing regularly and seemed to be in no pain.

Telephones in Borah's office rang constantly. Many senators called to say that they were praying for the Idaho veteran. Other senators telephoned the Senate press gallery to keep in touch with developments.

Slipped On Rug

Miss Rubin said that Mrs. Borah has not been able to find out what caused the senator to fall and strike his head. He was believed to have slipped on a small rug. He was unconscious when picked up and carried to bed.

When Borah's injury first became known yesterday, it was said merely that he had been bruised in the fall

Losses At Sea Mount Today

(By The Associated Press)

OSLO, Jan. 18.—Two Norwegian steamers were reported today to have been torpedoed and sunk in European waters within the past 24 hours.

Fourteen of the crew of one vessel were missing, while all aboard the second were rescued.

Owners of the 1,590-ton Norwegian steamer Fagerheim reported she had been torpedoed in the Bay of Biscay on a voyage from Africa to England.

Five Persons Injured

A group of survivors from a torpedoed Norwegian vessel, presumably the Fagerheim, reached Vigo, Spain, last night. Five persons were injured, including the captain who had two legs broken.

Reports were received that another Norwegian ship, the 1,140-ton Enid, had been torpedoed and sunk off the Shetland islands. All her crew was reported saved.

Immigration Patrol Inspector And Smuggler Dead In Battle

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 18 (AP)—W. L. Sills, 30, a U. S. immigration patrol inspector, and an alleged smuggler were killed last night in a gun battle on the Texas-Mexican boarder near La Grulla in Starr county. Sills was stationed at McAllen.

W. A. Whalen, district director of immigration and naturalization, said Sills and two other patrol inspectors, Alvin Ullrichson and L. H. Buchanan, were reported to have come upon a gang of suspected smugglers herding a flock of goats across the Rio Grande from Mexico into the United States.

The gun battle ensued, during which Sills and one of the suspects were mortally wounded. The other suspects were captured.

Simple, Double Duty Wardrobe Holds Secret Of Comfortable Travelin

Utility Tweed First In Line

By MARIAN YOUNG
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Except for a few light-hearted accessories, so-called high-styled fashions have no place in the wardrobe of the veteran traveler. She chooses simply tailored, classically cut clothes that are appropriate on train, boat or plane and which may be worn season after season.

She invariably has a tweed coat—reefer or raglan style, and a tweed suit that looks as right against the sun-drenched mountains of New Mexico as it does on the promenade deck of a cruise ship or the streets of Bermuda. It comes in the "tweed for town" category and may be dressed up or down to suit the occasion and locale.

She dotes on easy fitting shirtwaist dresses with pleated or subtly flared skirts, pleated or tucked bosoms. She has them in washable silks and cottons for southern resorts, in sheer wools for chilly days in any climate, in velvet or lace or luxurious silks for tea and informal dinner in any city, any country.

She has a knack of collecting shoes that will do double duty. Her medium-heeled, one-eyelet ties in navy suede are nice with a gray tweed suit when she wants it to look not todo countrified, and just as nice with a striped silk dress when she wants it to seem not too citified. She has perfectly simple suede or patent leather pumps which go with dressy afternoon or dinner dresses. She manages to make two pairs of evening shoes do for any trip of reasonable length.

Less Clothes, Less Luggage

She knows that one good wide-brimmed hat of black or white straw, one dark felt in a not-too-extreme shape and a couple of easy-to-pack turbans (one for dinner, another for sports) are adequate for a southern vacation and, more importantly, guaranteed not to require two or three extra pieces of luggage.

She likes black or navy lace evening gowns with matching jackets, long-sleeved dinner gowns of uncrushable crepe which lend themselves to a variety of bright belts and costume jewelry, separate evening skirts in wool, silk or velvet and evening jackets, blouses and sweaters to wear with them.

To make each of these classically cut, fundamentally simple suits, coats and dresses seem not too conservative, she collects bright scarfs, amusing belts, unusual clips, pins and necklaces. Her hats are never drab in color or in design. Her gloves are plain pull-ons, but she has bright red, green and pastel ones as well as navy, black or brown.

In other words, she builds her wardrobe on a solid foundation of "back logs" which will not go out of style in one season or in four, then keeps this conservative theme from becoming monotonous by choosing gay, eye-catching accessories. Not a bad idea to adopt when you travel a great deal, very little, or not at all.

Harris tweed in green and dusty rose check is used to make this English walking coat, designed for all-year wear. It falls straight from the shoulders, has a back vent, single-breasted front closing, leather buttons and deep, vertical pockets.

HOW TO REMEMBER . . .
In One Easy Lesson!

The ambition to remember well can be realized by practicing one simple rule.
A well known principle of the psychology of memory is to associate the fact you wish to remember with something you already know. Take the following as an example:
You wish to remember that the Pilgrims landed in America during the year 1620 . . . now associate this fact with THE BAKER COMPANY telephone number which also is 1620. . . . Presto, the job is done . . . it's easy to remember . . . telephone 1620.

re Less Fearful

the water-line defenses and Belgium are fully hose countries are less Germany will push into ry to carry forward the war against England. This sharply underscores the water-line defensibility lesson the Finns have taught not only Russia, but German high commands. Behind Chamberlain's words implying full confidence that Germany could be halted if she marched upon her low country neighbors must lie the conclusions of French and British general staff experts.

The "lull" in the land warfare, which Chamberlain again noted, applies at the moment as much to the neutral low country danger area as to the French-German west front, or the Russo-Finnish conflict. A temperature dipping in Finland 50 degrees and more below zero has intervened to impede Russian efforts to turn defeat quickly into victory and overawe all Scandinavia with a display of Russia might.

No Lull In Sea Struggle

But there is no lull in the sea struggle between the Allies and Germany. What has happened and is happening in Helgoland bight stirred Chamberlain to his most optimistic words to parliament. Due to the British air, undersea and surface patrols in the bight, he dismissed German air scouting over the North sea and along British coasts as mere "meandering" flights. By contrast he reported British bombers harassing German air and U-boat bases in the bight day and night, whenever weather permitted.

The prime minister contended that this British offensive defense against German air raiders in the North sea had forced "a rigid blackout" at enemy bases. Any gleam of light needed to give the enemy opportunity for take-offs has brought British planes to blast at it, he said.

And undoubtedly it was upon that British activity primarily that he based his assertion that German mining operations on the high seas were not only being brought under control, but "presently" would be "defeated." Whatever other methods for dealing with loose mines may have been devised, it is obvious that Chamberlain believes the battle of Helgoland bight is the major action of this war and is apt to produce the ultimate decision.

HOW TO CATCH SCIENTIFIC COLD—Dr. Max B. Lurie, of Philadelphia, demonstrates simple method of catching cold, using device that sneezes and coughs infectious germs. Doctor (A) shoots air borne germs from bottle (B) forced by compressed air (C) through glass tubing (D) while assistant (E) draws off samples of air (F) from glass bell (G) to measure number of germs sneezed at waiting rabbit (H) who catches the cold. Device, used in tuberculosis research, enables scientists to stimulate natural manner of infection by inhalation rather than by inoculation.

LONG SENTENCE

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — A negro complained to City Judge Rex Cornelison that his daughter-in-law knocked down his door with bricks, "cussed" him out and stole his shotgun. He told the judge he never wanted to see her again. So Judge Cornelison put the woman under $100 peace bond, instructing her never to return to her father-in-law's home "until Judgment Day."

MORE U. S. POTASH

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—With German potash cut off from the United States by the war, production will be stepped up by the plant at Trona, Calif., and about 120 employes added. The potash is used largely as a fertilizer.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store. Adv.

Jan. 8, 1937; Midland 14 and snowing; Wichita Falls 13; Denton, Fort Worth, Brownwood 16; San Angelo, Dallas, Sherman and Gainesville 15; Corsicana 19; Austin 24; Longview 31 and falling, accompanied by light rain; Brownsville 60; Corpus Christi 53; Del Rio 42; El Paso 27; Galveston 51, Houston 50.

Fort Worth's 16 was the coldest in four years. The wind was 40 miles an hour.

Cold weather was promised even to the gulf coast tonight. South Texas points that had enjoyed balmy weather Wednesday expected a tumble of the mercury late today.

Coldest Since 1936

Weatherman Frank Haynes at Austin reported the capital city's temperatures would fall to 18 degrees today, the coldest since February of 1936.

At mid-morning, reports generally throughout the state predicted colder and much colder weather, with possibility of below zero for the Panhandle, temperatures of from 4 to 14 degrees for the north part of East Texas, 14 to 20 in the interior and 20 to 26 along the gulf coast.

Dallas reported a 46-degree drop from Wednesday.

Lubbock golfers played in their shirtsleeves Wednesday afternoon, but a 50-degree drop in 12 hours sent them indoors or to the "19th hole" this afternoon.

Air Flights Continue

Dr. J. L. Cline, federal meterologist, said the snow might extend into north-central and east-central Texas.

Airline companies at Dallas and Fort Worth said the Panhandle snows had not forced cancellation of flights.

Oklahoma City reported a temperature of 9 degrees. Kansas City shivered at 5 below zero. At Denver the mercury stood at 7 below. Des Moines 17 below.

Chicago was in the grip of the cold wave with a temperature of 12 below. Points in North Dakota reported 36 below zero, a temperature comparable to that in which the Russo-Finnish war is being fought, since foreign reports reckon thermometer readings in fahrenheit scale, rather than centigrade that is standard in this country.

The 6:30 o'clock report from Municipal airport in Lubbock:

Wind 36 mph, WN; temperature 10 degrees; dew point 7 degrees; ceiling 2,500 feet; visibility 6 miles; 10/10ths cloudy; minimum temperature over the night 9 degrees; maximum temperature Wednesday 58.7 degrees.

Don L. Jones, superintendent of the experiment sub-station east of Lubbock, said the terrific wind had caused cold to sift into barns and houses more than almost any other cold spell of the winter.

"We need much moisture," he said, "slightly more than an inch if the farmers are to find their soil in shape for seed bed planting and with a little left for reserve. The way the wind has been blowing the damp surface of the soil rapidly will lose its moisture."

yesterday in southern Finland, striking at Hanko, Turku, Viipuri, Rauma, Tammisaari and Lappeenranta.

The damage was said to be relatively slight, with only two persons killed, two wounded and two missing.

Finland's great white ally—winter—was reported to have accounted for large numbers of Soviet dead among the land forces.

Finnish patrols said they had seen hundreds of red soldiers frozen to death at their posts on the Karelian isthmus front alone.

The invaders were said to be inadequately clad for the present record cold which ranged as low as 54 degrees below zero fahrenheit.

A Finnish officer told of the silent effectiveness of the cold against the reds on the isthmus front.

"It is the easiest death they could die," he said, "—easier than being machine-gunned and more pleasant than being bombed. They simply fall asleep and after that whatever happens is not their battle."

Finns Better Prepared

The Finns have welcomed the coldest weather in 25 years. They have reason to believe that their men at the front are better prepared for it than their foe.

Finland's soldiers and civilians must and do endure hardships unprecedented in modern war but one things appears certain—they won't weaken for lack of food.

This correspondent has eaten his way across Finland from the Bothnian gulf to the Karelian isthmus war zone, taking food as it comes, and nowhere, whether in city, town or village, whether in peaceful hours or in air raid excitement, did he find anything but good food and plenty of it.

The reason for this is that Finland was a big exporter of foodstuffs until hostilities began, particularly butter and bacon. Now there is a surplus which means a loss to producers but insures the army and the people against actual hunger regardless of what other handicaps abound.

job insurance under the social security act.

Five Texas members of Congress were named to discuss the matter with McNutt, who agreed to come to the capitol today and meet the group. They were Senators Sheppard and Connally, and Reps. Luther Johnson, Mahon and Garrett.

Also at the conference may be Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the social security board. Besides Bouldin and Randle, other county judges here were Mike Reinhardt of Rockwall, Marshall Formby of Dickens, Dave Miller of Fort Worth, Joe McGill of El Paso, Roy Hofheins of Houston and Merrit Gibson of Longview.

SHE GETS TOUGH—In a drastic protest against Swedish aid for Finland, Mme. Alexandra Kollonai (above), Soviet Minister at Stockholm, warned Swedish Foreign Minister Gunther that anti-Soviet press campaigns, enlistment of volunteers "under protection of Swedish authorities" and the "direct supply of arms" could be excused only if "Sweden were in a state of war with the U. S. S. R."

Stock Market

LOSSES ARE REDUCED

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—A little pressure on the steels took the heart out of the stock market for a while today but quiet support in the last hour substantially reduced principal losses.

The pace was slow in the forenoon, quickening for a brief period after midday when prices were around bottom. Transfers approximated 650,000 shares. An assortment of favorites finished with modest plus signs.

Reports of dwindling mill operations in some centers cut steel stock quotations. Elsewhere there was about as much good as bad news for speculative consideration. Coppers jogged as the domestic price of the metal was shaded.

Conspicuous on the offside at the worst were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Anaconda, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Chrysler, Phelps Dodge and Union Carbide.

Minor declines were the rule for rails, utilities, oils and rubbers. Ahead at one time were Allied Chemical, Loft, American Telephone, American Tobacco "B" and Johns-Manville.

Aluminum of America advanced in the curb. Inclined to waver were Electric Bond & Share, Jones & Laughlin and Gulf Oil.

Senator Borah

and was expected to be up in two or three days.

Then today his office announced: "Senator Borah is suffering from a cerebral hemorrhage which occurred early Tuesday morning."

Was Pronounced Well

Friends said that only on Monday Borah had undergone a physical examination and had been pronounced well.

On Capitol Hill, the usually calm Vice President John N. Garner paced back and forth in his office.

"Senator Borah will be missed as much as any member of the Senate," he said.

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, R., Mich., had tears in his eyes when he returned to the Senate after a call at the Borah apartment.

"One of the foundation stones of stones is being swept out from under the country," he said.

Prays For Recovery

When the Senate convened at noon Chaplain Barney Phillips prayed for Borah's recovery. Senators were visibly moved.

Mrs. Borah, a graying woman, met reporters in the living room of the apartment. She seemed composed and responded quietly to the few questions that were asked of her.

The apartment is decorated with miniature elephants and rows of books line each wall.

Borah has only two close relatives. They are a sister, Mrs. Mattie Rinard, of Fairfield, Ill., near where Borah was born, and Wayne G. Borah, a nephew who is a federal judge in New Orleans.

The older boy will face charges to be investigated by a grand jury, it was decided.

Three other persons were held by police for investigation into theft from an oil company. J. B. Vickery of 1908 Twenty-eighth street reported he had found a mattress in the street, and Wheeler Mount of Lubbock route 1 found several sacks of feed cake, taking five of them to the station, four to his residence where they may be claimed, he said.

But we are watchful." Then came the statement that the general staff has complete confidence in its preparations and in the spirit of the army and was ready to defend the country.

Position Is Dangerous

I asked regarding the opinion ex-Allied and neutral diplomats. They all expressed the belief that the situation of Holland and Belgium remained dangerous so long as more than 1,000,000 Germans were concentrated on the lowland countries' borders.

But nearly all agreed that if Holland and Belgium kept their nerves steeled and their defenses in readiness, it was hard to see what advantages anyone could obtain in invading the low countries. They said the untold damage could be done and terrible miseries might result but that there was but the smallest chance of Germany breaking through, provided Allied support was forthcoming as soon as possible.

Gloria Vanderbilt Nears 16 And Gets Richer Every Day

Gloria Vanderbilt on a visit to Hollywood last summer.

BY JOAN DURHAM
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 18—It won't be long now before the country's most famous "poor little rich girl" will be sweet sixteen.

Gloria Laura Morgan Vanderbilt, daughter of Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt a the late Reginald Vanderbilt, and heiress to approximately $4,000,000, will be 16 on February 20. And she is rapidly developing into a little beauty.

She wears her glossy dark hair in a long, long bob—just like the other sub-debs with whom she runs around and whose usual round of charities and dances she follows. She has taken to deep red nail polish and quite a lot of lipstick, too.

Money Piling Up

A recent accounting showed her estate to be worth $4,068,593 at the beginning of the year. It had earned $191,484 in the last twelve-months, an increase of $48,853 over the previous year.

Both her mother and her aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, one of New York's richest dowagers—with whom little Gloria lives on Long Island—keep her out of the public eye as much as possible. (The courts awarded custody of little Gloria to Mrs. Whitney several years ago with provisions for visits to her mother, after a severe family court battle involving Mrs. Whitney, Mrs. Vanderbilt and Gloria's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Laura K. Morgan).

"We are very anxious for her to live a normal happy life like other girls her age," her mother told me when I went to call on her.

Two-Windows Wide

Mrs. Vanderbilt, once reported as inheriting $7,000,000 from her late husband, Reginald G. Vanderbilt (who died in 1925) now lives in a modest four-story white stone house on East 86th Street. It's just wide enough for two doors on the ground floor—a front entrance and a service entrance. It is just two windows wide all the way up.

Between the two doors a sorry, little ivy vine trails down from a wire bracket fastened about carriage-lamp height. A rather faded shade is pulled down inside the front door to hide the foyer from peekers.

The door is opened by a very nice blonde butler in uniform who speaks with a slight Austrian accent and who smiles faintly when smiled at. He is politeness and kindness personified. I waited in the rather dark Japanese-muralled foyer while he announced me.

"If I could give you any information about anything else I'd do it gladly," said the slender, brown-haired woman whose daughter looks more and more like her every year. (She spoke in a decidedly foreign accent—which came as a shock to me until I remembered that after all, she had spent much of her life in Paris, on the Riviera and with her sister, Lady Furness, in England).

Not For Three Years

"But not about my daughter. The child isn't a moving picture actress. She isn't a Shirley Temple . . . or (she hesitated) . . . a Clark Gable . . .or . . . a Greta Garbo.

"Those people profit by publicity and notoriety. But my daughter is just a sweet young girl home for the holidays—like other boys and girls her age. (Gloria attends one of the most exclusive girls' finishing schools—not far from New York. She was graduated a year and a half ago from the Greenvale School at Roslyn, Long Island, close to her aunt's home).

"Is she to make her debut soon?"

"She's only fifteen," her mother emphasized. "She won't make her debut for three years—until she's 18.

"Does she plan to go to college?"

"That's her business. If she wants to go when she gets to that age she'll go."

Honeymoon Isle Now Opened To Newly Married Couples

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—A 43-year-old business man who has always loved islands decided today to turn over a wooded isle he owns in the Gulf of Mexico to honeymooning couples—on the theory that "your honeymoon should be the happiest, most carefree time in your life."

From now until September, they can go and live for two weeks on Clinton M. Washburn's island—henceforth to be "Honeymoon isle"—25 miles off Tampa, Fla.

Palm-thatched roofs will be their shelter. (Washburn is going to provide a radio or so, so they can dance on the beach in the moonlight.)

The only things they have to bring: clothes, cooking equipment, wherewithal to buy groceries on the mainland, and whatever they wish in the way of sleeping bags.

"No more stuff than they can carry," Washburn warned. "They mustn't come luggin' a cook-stove."

A new system of center lines will be painted on Kansas highways this winter at an estimated cost of $55,000.

Straight Posture Best In Dancing

BOSTON, Jan. 18 (U.P.) — Straight posture and bodies rather close together is the 1940 style of dancing, students at Boston University's college of physical education are told.

"There are no more awkward bumps and angles in a couple dancing the modern style," Miss Anne A. Cameron, dance instructor, says. "Men no longer dance bent over backward and women dented in the middle."

Miss Cameron warns the girls never to drag on a man's shoulder and says a "gentleman should never push a lady around and a lady should never have to be pushed."

Blues And Soft Greens Are Stylish Colors For Men

CHICAGO, Jan. 18 (AP)—Blues and soft greens will be the most stylish colors for men's suits this spring, the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers announced today.

Its members reported suits would be cut in a modified drape to give wide shoulders and narrow hips to men who haven't them and wider shoulders and narrower hips to those who have.

Was So Discouraged Before The Gly-Cas

Now Able To Eat and Sleep Good; Awful Soreness and Stiffness Has Left Mr. Green's Limbs Too

"Most of my life, until I began Gly-Cas, I never knew what it was to enjoy really good health," said Mr. W. A. Green, 1304 W. Adams St., Temple, Texas. "My bowels were in a terrible condition allowing the clogging of toxic impurities. After every meal I ate I would endure awful pain from the gas formations, belched dreadfully and regardless of what I ate I felt miserable. Pains settled in my limbs and muscles, I became stiff and sore, feel swelled badly until I could hardly get around and at my age of seventy I did not have much hopes for relief. I did not know what to do next when friends persuaded me to give Gly-Cas a trial."

MR. W. A. GREEN

"Little did I realize any medicine could be so wonderful as Gly-Cas," continued Mr. Green. "It didn't take long to find out that it was exactly what I had needed for so many years. My digestion is greatly improved until I eat the foods I wish without distress afterwards. The removal of those clogged intestinal impurities gave me relief from my suffering. All these muscular aches, pains and swelling has been relieved too and I can truthfully say Gly-Cas has met my highest hopes."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns. Adv.

South Plains Schoolboy Cagers Driving Hard Toward District Tourname

Little, Stahl And Krueger Lead In Frisco Play

Second Round In Test Will Be On Today

BY RUSS NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 18—Battling par and each other for the right to remain in the running, the bulk of the country's top-notch professionals and a handful of crack amateurs opened fire again today in the second round of 36-hole qualifying tests in the $5,000 San Francisco match play open golf tournament.

Only ten of a field of 175 in the initial round were able to better the standard 36-36—72 figures of the Lake Merced course.

Three Are In Lead

The three leaders, starting from the halfway mark, were Lawson Little, the former champion now playing for pay; Marvin Stahl of Lansing, Mich., and Al Krueger, of Beloit, Ill., the two latter not enjoying national prominence but solid competitors nevertheless.

Starting one blow behind them were Sam Byrd, Philadelphia; Craig Wood, of Mamoroneck, N. Y., Dick Metz, Oak Park, Ill., Jimmy Demaret, Houston, Tex., George Beer, San Francisco, Charles Sheppard, Oakland, Calif., and Vita Machado, Antioch, Cal.

Their 71's put them within easy shooting distance of top honors, of the low medal prize, a matter of $75. Metz won the tournament a year ago and Demaret captured the Oakland Open last Sunday.

Hardin-Simmons Is Next Foe Of Tech

Even though their next games are two weeks away, the Texas Tech cagers are putting in plenty of practice licks these nights under the commands of Coach Berl Huffman —all in anticipation of finishing the second and toughest half of their campaign on a triumphant note.

The Raiders' next series will be against the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys, the first game here Friday night, Feb. 2, the finale in Abilene Saturday night, Feb. 3.

Cowboys Thump Teachers

It can be recorded with confidence that the Techs are going to be plenty sharp for this important series which calls for the resumption of athletic relations between the two institutions. The Crimsons opened their eyes just a little wider Wednesday on being informed that the Hardin-Simmons loopers had plastered a neat 32 to 25 shellacking on the highly publicized, skyscraping West Texas State College Teachers of Canyon.

No easy victim is the Canyon aggregation and the Cowboys' feat was one to make the Abilene aggregation's future foes look to their laurels.

Making preparations for ticket sales, "Mule" Dowell, athletic business manager, predicted the largest crowd of the year.

Idalou And Lamesa To Meet In Cage Battle On Friday

IDALOU, Jan. 18 (Special)—Boasting a record of only one setback in 15 starts, the Idalou cage charges of Coach Kelley Friday night will attempt to plaster the Lamesa High Golden Tornado quintet in the local gym for the second time this year.

Victorious over the Dawson county crew in an early season engagement, 25 to 19, the local lads have met defeat only at the hands of the mighty Abernathy Antelopes, considered a serious district threat, and that in a three-game series.

Three tournament crowns now repose upon the Wildcats' heads, bringing to Idalou one of its most successful hardwood seasons in years.

Following is the Idalou roster: C. Holt, D. Kelcy, D. Holt, captain, J. Sneed, H. Burris, R. Sowder, O. Cannon, H. Sage, R. Smith, E. Coats and J. Hamilton.

Sharpshooting Bunch Of Hellions Making Up Rhode Island State's Team Receive Nomination For Cage Gas-House Gang

BY STEVE O'LEARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

KINGSTON, R. I., Jan. 18.—If basketball had a gas house gang, there could be only one choice—the sharpshooting, unorthodox bunch of hellions which has made Rhode Island State's team one of the top-scoring quintets of the nation.

To the connoisseur of basketball traditions, their play resembles nothing on this earth, but they get results.

Roll Up 750 Points

In 10 starts they have rolled up 750 points, an average of [illegible] per game, and dropped but one of these decisions when they played straight basketball against Dayton, O., university recently.

They go at top speed from start to finish, shoot with uncanny accuracy from any point and handle the ball like professional jugglers, adding to this ability and whimsy, a flaming spirit.

They believe in the old theory that a good attack is the best defense, so defensive play is a minor matter since they figure they can get two goals for every one scored against them—and usually prove their opinion correct.

Coach Stan Modelewski, a Worcester, Mass., sophomore, sparks the team and has accounted for 223 of its points, with 95 field goals and 33 free throws. "Bud" Conley, junior forward, is next in line with 171 points.

Really Lovable Character

Coach Keaney, incidentally, is regarded with lifted eyebrows by some of his brethren but he's really a lovable character.

His players treat him disdainfully, arguing openly with him at the drop of a hat. They heap insults on his head, confident that their voluble tutor will more than repay them in kind.

But they know he's the softest touch in the world and there isn't one of them who wouldn't crawl on hands and knees to win a game for him.

England today is spending less money on groceries and more on meat, including poultry and rabbit.

Entry List Is Near 70 Mark

Hurtling upward like a stock market report on war-boom prosperity, the entry list for the fourth annual Lubbock Avalanche-Journal Golden Gloves tournament bounced near the 70-mark late Wednesday when a sharp surge of interest sent in 15 "intentions to knock somebody's ears down," the largest single day's jump since plans for the joltin' jamboree were made public.

Actually, the number of individual entries is nearer 65, but promises of various schools and tournaments to send representative teams here boosts the list far above the wildest expectations of the district committee.

Three Nights Seen

And as a result, three nights instead of the previously announced two may be necessary to reel off the tournament in form and not crowd any one challenger. The Merchants Building on the Fair grounds in all likelihood will be jammed Wednesday as well as Monday and Tuesday nights, Feb. 5 and 6—provided another expected 40 to 50 entries are received by sponsors.

Under the new plans, first round fighting will be conducted Monday night, Feb. 5, with second round and some semi-final tussles on the Tuesday night card, the remaining semi-finals and championship clashes on the Wednesday night docket.

Bell To Defend Crown

With the new batch of entries came another defending titlist, diminutive Harry Bell, the dodging, weaving little bantamweight of Slaton. His name brought to five the 1939 champions who are "coming back" to attempt to make it two-in-a-row. Bell, wearing the colors of Slaton last year, is now employed in Shallowater, but probably will compete with the Slaton team again. Of featherweight proportions now, he expects to step on the scales a bantamweight.

Others sending in entries yesterday:

James Seideman, Slaton bantamweight; Max Kersey, Slaton flyweight; Joe M. Carmack, Texas Tech heavyweight; Fred Wallace, Lubbock lightweight; Gerald Fincher, Girard lightweight; Wayford Cooper, Girard welterweight; W. D. McCarty, jr., Littlefield bantamweight; Woody Culpepper, middleweight; Billy Kirk, bantamweight; Curly Blackburn, featherweight; Windy Rose, lightweight; George Bussey, welterweight; J. Ramsey, light heavyweight, and William A. Warren, heavyweight, all of Littlefield CCC camp.

Three or four other entries are expected from the Littlefield camp, as well as several from high school athletes there. So far, Littlefield has not announced a preliminary tournament.

Three Preliminary Jousts

Preliminary tournaments are to be held, however, at Plainview, Floydada and Tahoka, all during the week January 22-27.

The Elks club of Plainview is sponsoring an amateur fight nights program Monday and Tuesday nights, Jan. 22 and 23.

Tahoka High school is conducting an amateur tournament on Tuesday and Wednesday nights, Jan. 23 and 24, and if enough fighters show up, the finals will be held on Friday night, Jan. 26.

Superintendent Walter Travis and Coach Odell "Scatter" Winter of Floydada High school have announced a tournament for Thursday and Friday nights of the same week.

Enemy Chiefs Choose Cards For Pennant

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 18. (AP)—Managers of three National league clubs two of them pre-season pennant contenders—reluctantly forecast today clear weather ahead for the 1940 edition of the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I was hoping somebody would trade 'em out of some of their players," sighed William (Memphis Bill) Terry, field boss of the New York Giants. "They look too tough right now."

Win By 10 Games

"The Cardinals," avowed Terry's fellow Memphian, Manager James (Doc) Prothro of the Philadelphia Phillies, "should win by 10 games. They've got a ball club that will give the Yankees all they want."

The St. Louis bandwagon picked up a burst of speed yesterday when Gabby Hartnett, Chicago Cub pilot, named the Cards as his choice for the National league flag.

"But," Gabby warned, "we're going to b up there, too." The veteran catcher-manager is in Hot Springs, Ark., working off surplus poundage.

Interested In McCoy

T[illegible] admitted his Giants were definitely interested in the future of Infielder Benny McCoy, cut loose recently from the Detroit Tigers by edict of baseball's Commissioner K. M. [illegible]ndis. He added, however, his club had made McCoy no offer.

Terry said he planned to go to New York late this month.

"Got a few holdouts," he explained ruefully. "The boys think they finished in first place instead of fifth."

Tahoka Boxers Are Victors In Meet

TAHOKA, Jan. 18. (Special)—Reverberations of actual firing on the leather miteen front furnished fuel for conversation here today following Wednesday night's match boxing meet between the Tahoka ring artists and a squad flying the colors of the Littlefield CCC athletic department.

Giving observers and the fighters themselves a quick glance of preliminary Golden Gloves preparation in the area, the dual clash found the homelings taking five, losing two of seven team matches. A large crowd which thronged into the Tahoka High gymnasium witnessed four additional matches to those scheduled on the dual card.

Served As Warmup

The matches served as a warmup for the Tahoka Invitation tournament Jan. 23-24, which in turn is a big preliminary to the District Golden Gloves meet in Lubbock Feb. 5-6 and possibly 7.

In the team matches, Herbert Lamb, Tahoka, won a technical knockout over William Warren of Littlefield, in the second round of the heavyweight fight; J. Ramsey, Littlefield light heavyweight, won a technical knockout in the second round over Moore of Tahoka; Woody Culpepper, Littlefield middleweight, won by technical knockout in the second round over Thompson of Tahoka; Cloe of Tahoka knocked out George Bussy, CCC welterweight, in 30 seconds of the first round; Junior McLaurin, lightweight, decisioned Windy Rose, of the CCC; Daniels of Tahoka decisioned Payne of Littlefield, and Sessums of Tahoka defeated Billy Kirk, CCC bantamweight.

Other results: White of Tahoka defeated Wells of Tahoka, decision; Trippett of Tahoka decisioned McFadden of Tahoka; King of Tahoka decisioned Davis of O'Donnell, and Willis of O'Donnell defeated Brown of New More.

Sportometer
Of Boxing And Baseball
By Collier Parris

THE GOLDEN GLOVES couldn't come at a more opportune time in the sports program of the community . . . which is one reason the Golden Gloves is promoted and publicized. . . . It is what is commonly called the "dull season" in sports, and, although basketball is raging, it's still a loose season. . . . The sporting world should be grateful to Mr. Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, for thinking up such a thing as the Gloves. . . .

So, with your permission, Aunt Matilda, we'll do a lot of space-filling with amateur boxing for the next few weeks, particularly Golden Gloves boxing, and if you miss a lot of local and sectional golf, blame it on the season and the weather. . . . It's quite an event, this Golden Gloves—it comes but once a year and so far it has been a welcome entry in the sports ledger. . . . As explained in the bulletins, Golden Gloves was conceived partly as an aid to the promotion of amateur sports and partly as an aid to sports writers and newspapers which do not happen to be situated in the sunny climes of California or Florida during January and February. . . .

And it is exceedingly pleasing to report that Golden Gloves interest, particularly on the part of athletes, has been rising from year to year . . . To date, some 65 young men of the city and surrounding communities have filed "intentions to fight" in the fourth annual Avalanche-Journal District Golden Gloves tournament, which is a record-setting number for this time of year; as a rule, some 60 to 70 boys send in their entries, most of them coming during the final week of registration. . . . The entries to date indicate an ultimate number of more than 100, which will necessitate extension of the District tournament to three nights. . . .

Beginning Tuesday night, a number of Golden Glovers are flocking to the downtown gymnasium located in the basement under Pup Thomas the Tailor's store. . . . Thomas has kindly consented to the use of his basement, formerly occupied by a restaurant and soon to be occupied by a beauty shoppe, as a training grounds for ambitious Golden Glovers. . . . All amateur boxers who plan to compete in the Golden Gloves tournament are invited to take part in the training lessons now being given at that location. . . . Cliff Caraway, former professional boxer, is giving his time to training the boys, and his work is highly appreciated by the Golden Gloves committee. . . . He is there every evening from 7:30 o'clock on, and all the fellows are invited to attend. . . . The place isn't large enough to accommodate a large party of observers, and the railbirds are kindly requested to bide their time until the tournament proper starts on Monday night, Feb. 5. . . . In the meantime, tickets are on sale at Mark Halsey Drug No. 2, on College avenue, at Hotel Hilton lobby desk, at the A. & L. Drug store, Texas and Thirteenth, and at the Hotel Lubbock Drug store. . . .

Conspicuous in workouts at the downtown gymnasium last night were Fats Mitchell, heavyweight champion of last year's district tournament; D. A. Thompson, a regular entry in the lightweight division and who promises to be quite a figure in this year's program, and Howell Steen, handsome welterweight, formerly of Brownfield, who looks capable of making things very tough for the 1939 champion, Pete Nachlinger, or the challenger, former lightweight champion, James Siotts of Slaton. All three boys are Texas Tech students, and you may put them down on your card as people to remember when the district tournament gets under way.

IT'S PLEASING TO note that Neal Rabe, erstwhile manager of the Amarillo Gold Sox, deposed during the latter part of the season, has been appointed by Owner Bob Seeds as business manager of the Amarillo club for next season. . . . Rabe has done a lot of fine work in the West Texas-New Mexico league, and he surely deserves a job, even if it isn't as team manager. . . . During the fall, Rabe conducted a team of Texas and southern ball players through a baseball tour of South America—and the team did mighty well. . . .

From Borger we learn that plans are under way to form a new stock-holding syndicate with the Borger-Gassers-for-a-Pennant as the theme . . . They must be in pretty good shape over at Borger, the town which produced the section's best semi-pro outfit for several years, because all they're asking is $2,000 the money to be acquired through sale of stock. . . . In the story we see the name of two fine friends and baseball addicts, Bob Takewell, business manager, and Bob Lindsey, president, of the 1939 organization . . . Players of baseball who wish to try out for positions on the Borger club are advised to communicate

Select 16 Teams To Take Part In Affair Scheduled At Tech Gym Latter Part Of February

Asking no quarter and certainly not giving any, approximately 85 South Plains schoolboy cage aggregations are girding their already smoothly functioning machines for the final month's drive that will send a select 16 of them into the white hot hardwood competition that is the District 3 tournament at Texas Tech's gym the latter part of February.

Branded one of the toughest districts in the Texas Interscholastic league, this section annually produces more surprises in its county and district basketball meets than perhaps in any other sport.

Competition Plenty Stiff

Naturally, one reason for this is the many teams participating. But perhaps a more important factor is the type of ball unreeled by the determined high school cage squads of the South Plains. If there is any other section in the state which has more rabid followers and more enthusiastic or more hotly contested tournaments then they are yet to be heard from.

With the turn of the month, county tournaments over the area comprising District 3, fourteen surrounding counties, will be conducted and champions will be selected to participate in the District meet, annually one of the highlights of the spring schoolboy sports program on the South Plains.

Automatically qualified for participation in the district meet are Lubbock High's star-studden, veteran-packed Westerners and Plainview High's double-tough Bulldogs, two Big Five cage powers. The Black and Gold is the defending champion.

They are all ambitious—those approximately 85 contenders. And they will have many thrilling battles to play before the 14 county titlists and the Westerners and Bulldogs are ready to start mixing it up in the finals. They are all tough. And they go a long way usually after capturing highest honors here.

Four years in a row, from 1932 to 1935, District 3 champions representing the Lubbock territory forged to the semi-finals of the [illegible] twice were in the finals [illegible] it was Ropesville who [illegible] burden; the next time [illegible] mesa's Golden Tornado [illegible] in top competition. There was more of the [illegible] in 1938, when Abernathy [illegible] crown. The score of the [illegible] was Abernathy 26, Ralls [illegible] semi-finals, the Antelopes [illegible] ed Southland, 40-19, [illegible] second round they had [illegible] Lubbock, 28-26.

Remember Meadow

The other semi-final [illegible] thriller of the tournament [illegible] took two overtime [illegible] Lamesa, 31 to 29.

Many South Plains [illegible] remember a game [illegible] team of 1937 that, with [illegible] smallest teams in the [illegible] four games practically [illegible] stitution and won the [illegible] 26-20 victory over a [illegible] Floydada gang. That was [illegible] hustling gang of boys [illegible] got ahead right at first [illegible] there until the finish.

There was plenty more [illegible] battling in 1936. Lamesa, [illegible] district and region titles [illegible] years in a row, was a [illegible] to win, and after eliminating [illegible] land, 24-20 in the first [illegible] sailed on to the finals [illegible] heavy scores.

There were plenty other [illegible] tuck, "photo finish" affairs [illegible] ceding years. So, if it's district [illegible] school cage squad [illegible] schoolboy aggregation [illegible] its eyes on the District [illegible] days—just take a [illegible] going to be rough and [illegible]

Lamesa Junior Cagers Tackle Lubbock Juniors Here Today

Lamesa's Junior High cagers invaded the city this afternoon to test the seemingly steel-like defense of Coach Lovic Liston's Junior High lads in a regulation basketball tussle.

Following along in the tracks set by the grid aggregation not so long ago in bowling over the opposition at will by top-heavy scores, the Cowboys will be seeking their fourth straight triumph.

The starting lineup will send the following five on the floor for the Lubbock Junior High cause: Primo McCurry, forward; Captain Joe L. Thompson, forward; Hubert Bechtol, center; Ezell Wallace, guard; and Hollis Walker, guard.

Dean T. U. Taylor Of Texas University Is Grand Old Man To Thousands Of Studes

BY JACK KRUEGER
Associated Press Staff Writer

The news stories out of New York tell of the rare honor the American Society of Civil Engineers has bestowed on T. U. Taylor. They relate that the august engineers elected him the 43th living man to become an honorary member in the 88-year-old organization. But the Yankee writers seemed to have m'ssed much of the flavor of Texas' own "Mr. Chips." . . . Thomas Ulvan Taylor has the job of being dean of engineering at the University of Texas, but unofficially he is the grand old man to thousands of students and exes. He's 82, straight as a tau' string and spry as a cricket . . . The only thing about him that droops is his mustache. It used to be a ritual at Texas to have "the old man" climb up on the platform at football rallies, peel off his coat and lead the noisy students in a yell or two . . . Any Texas man who didn't have the "Texas spirit" was anathema to him. Any engineering student of his who didn't evince the old fight fell into a class with India's forlorn untouchables . . . Dean Taylor has a perfect right to all th campus legends and traditions that cling to him: He has been connected with the school longer than any other person; he was there before any structure now gracing the campus was built . . . His years do not weigh on him. He is up early every morning in time to greet the milkman and paper boy and gets down early for his 8 o'clock class. If he gives a make-up quiz (for students given a last desperate chance to keep from busting a course) he springs the question at 6 a. m. . . . In such crises he is as unyielding as the high collars he wears but to him every good engineer is worth two of any other kind of man. The poor but able student often gets a helping hand from the T. U. Taylor foundation. It is characteristic of him that his foundation makes outright cash grants to students who will work—only the work must not be in the white-collar class; the student must be willing to wash dishes, wait tables or carry newspapers . . . It seems almost beyond coincidence that Dean Taylor's initials are "T. U." . . . That is the clinching link in his attachment to Texas university . . .

S. customs service and district headquarters for the census . . . To Laredo's laurels we add that the San Antonio ball club will train there this spring . . . That $1,500,000 in 1940 construction is already assured . . . And that a swarm of American tourists will pass through there this year on their way to Mexico . . . All of which should help Herschel Hunt, who edits with one hand and fires up his corncob pipe with the other, keep the Times humming for a while . . .

They called several former Aggies to help in the identification . . . Not one begged off because he was too busy. The answer to the Aggie SOS was invariably "I'll be right down." They finally identified their man too . . .

Merchants Of The City Are Invited To Tech Meeting

Reasons why some clerks are more successful than others in making sales will be discussed at a meeting of research students in business at Texas Technological college Friday night, which merchants of the city are invited to attend, according to announcement Wednesday.

The students will present results of a study of 300 clerks of Lubbock. The meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock in room 320 administration building.

The students, all seniors, visited clothing, drug, grocery, and chain stores and service stations.

They obtained information on employes, by observation, under the following classifications: Description, physical characteristics, approach, sales method and morale. They held conversations with customers and obtained information on whether the customers had been in the store before, whether they were personally acquainted with the clerk, whether satisfied with purchases, what appealed to them about the store and other data. They also questioned employers.

Loan Association Directors Are Chosen On Wednesday

Directors were chosen at the annual shareholders meeting of the First Federal Savings and Loan association here Wednesday afternoon.

Homer D. Grant, Amos H. Howard and Knox T. Thomas were named to three-year terms and J. D. Hassell to a one-year term to fill the unexpired term of Spencer A. Wells.

George E. Benson is president of the association; Durwood H. Bradley, vice president and attorney and Louis Murfee and Glen Hess are the other directors. Thomas is secretary.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Extreme heat wiped out the dinosaurs that roamed the earth 25,000,000 years ago, says Dr. Raymond B. Cowles of the University of California, at Los Angeles. This contradiction to a widely held belief the dinosaurs succumbed to glacial cold is based on a study of existing lizards.

CONRAD THIBAULT came to Lubbock. Robert Taylor lost an admirer—and thereby hangs a tale.

As all and sundry should know by now, for a long, long time Mr. Robert Taylor, MGM's pretty boy, has had first claim on the heartthrobs and the affections of our Miss Margaret "Doc" Turner, the women's editor down here at The Avalanche-Journal.

Miss Turner hasn't bled, or died, for her idol—but, by golly, she sure has fought for him! Like a cornered lioness protecting a lone cub, "Doc" has for years fought off the men on the staff when they insinuated that Mr. Taylor is (1) a bum actor, (2) an animated clothes horse and (3) that the hair on his chest is false.

While Mary Martin's heart belonged to Daddy, "Doc's" heart belonged to Bobbie. That is it did until Tuesday morning.

Along with a lot of other ladies who wanted to sop up a little culture—and some husbands who dutifully went along as ordered—"Doc" went out to hear Mr. Conrad Thibault sing here Monday night.

Mr. Thibault made a hit with "Doc"—as he did with everyone who heard him — and she thought he was mighty good and mighty handsome. But that's just the first part of the story.

Since "Doc" handled Mr. Thibault's publicity here and since Mr. Thibault is a swell person and no stuffed shirt like so many of his colleagues are, he went out of his way to thank her. Then "Doc" did an unheard of thing for her—because she's a very retiring, shy and demure young lady. She made bold to ask Mr. Thibault, over the 'phone, to autograph a picture of himself and leave it for her to call for later.

But no lug is Conrad Thibault, and he did credit to his French ancestors.

"Why should you have to chase around to get my picture?" he asked, "when I can bring it to you?"

In two shakes of a sheep's tail who should stride into the editorial rooms but the radio star and concert singer, Conrad Thibault!

In his paw he held the autographed picture which he presented, in person, to Margaret "Doc" Turner, whom, of course, he caught in the middle of making a deadline—hair streaming, nose shiny and suffering from a vicious attack of the jitters brought about by being dealt with so kindly by a real artist!

After Mr. Thibault left, the men on the staff couldn't say very much to kid "Doc."

After all, Thibault was a thoroughly likeable, human and masculine gink who had won their admiration, even as he had won "Doc's."

So after she'd calmed down, all anybody could think of to say was, "Well, 'Doc', how does he compare with Bobbie Taylor?"

"Doc" didn't come right out and say it, but we all knew by the blush on her cheek and the far-away look in her eye.

It was lights out for Bobbie. Mr. Thibault had moved him over!

INCIDENTALLY, Mr. Thibault's conquering of the Civic Music audience and his conquest of the newsroom remind us of another visiting musical star of years ago who came to Lubbock, acted like a human being, and had the whole town at her feet. That star was, you remember, Miss Margaret Matzenauer.

Like Miss Matzenauer, Mr. Thibault was more than generous with encores in his performance here. And he sang songs the people wanted to hear.

Like Miss Matzenauer, he didn't have to put up an insulting "front" to "impress the natives of these hinterlands" with his very evident ability and sparkling personality.

The Plainsman, who didn't have sense enough to go hear Mr. Thibault the other night because he thought he preferred detective stories to culture, hopes some day to join hundreds of others here in welcoming Mr. Thibault back to Lubbock.

That, however, may be a long way off, if it ever happens. Guys like Conrad Thibault climb so high that they usually find it impossible to appear anywhere save in the world capitals and big population centers.

ALL right, you puzzle fans. You asked for it—and here 'tis. Here's a stem-winder of a problem which we will call "Roy Riddel's Riddle," because it was sent in by Roy Riddel, the banker man.

As Mr. Riddel explains it:

A man went into a bank and got a check cashed. The teller made a mistake and where the check called for dollars, he paid the man cents; and where it called for cents, he gave the man dollars. (For instance, if the check was for $5.50, the teller gave the man $50 and 5 cents).

The man took his money, started home and on the way home spent $3.50 of his money.

When the man got home he counted what he had left and discovered the amount was exactly twice as much as the original check called for.

What was the correct amount of the original check?

Mail your answers to The Plainsman, please!

You either know Dan Powers, or you've heard of him.

Teacher, friend, counsellor to thousands of Lubbock boys since he first joined the local school system nearly 14 years ago, Dan Powers is quite a citizen here among us. No "he school ma'rm," but instead a two-fisted teacher of the first water, Mr. Powers has played a steadying and an inspirational role in the adolescent life of more boys than any of us could count between now and next January.

For 30 years Dan Powers has been a teacher and in all those 30 years this is the first time he has ever missed a day from his classroom because of illness.

A fine record of health and devotion to duty, made by a fine teacher.

The Plainsman, along with all the hordes of others who appreciate a man for what he's worth, is looking forward to welcoming Dan back in the harness again.

Women Want Beauty!

BY LOUISE HOLMES
(Copyright, 1940, NEA Service, Inc.)

CAST OF CHARACTERS

SUSIE LAMBERT—She served waffles and dreamed of being beautiful.

DICK TREMAINE—He liked Susie's waffles but he couldn't see Susie.

JEFF BOWMAN—His chief concern was to make Susie as beautiful as she wanted to be.

Yesterday: Susie balks at going through with her beauty program. But Jeff convinces her she must try.

CHAPTER XII

Jeff felt helpless. Knowing that Susie's reaction was that of any well-bred girl, he could think of no convincing arguments. He started at the beginning again.

"You must have had some reason for answering Mr. Harker's ad," he suggested.

"Yes." Susie twisted her cotton gloved hands. Dick—to be the kind of a girl Dick admired—to get away from the drab nothingness of her life—it had seemed worth any sacrifice.

"The reason still remains?" he went on, noticing the change in her defiant attitude.

"Oh, yes," she answered forlornly.

"Then give it a try. A little publicity won't hurt you. The movie stars lie awake nights trying to think up ways to attract attention. Let Mr. Harker tell an interested feminine public what you didn't eat to drag off superfluous pounds, let him tell the kind of shampoo that brought out the gold in your hair—"

"Gold in my hair—," she looked up disgustedly.

"Let him publish your picture now—and later. Listen to the envious gals gasp when they see Suzanne—"

"Suzanne—?" Susie started incredulously.

"Yep. That's what the Chief said. "Susie it is, when we finish with her she'll be Suzanne." And he'll do it, Susie. That is, he'll do it if you'll help, if you'll co-operate and not be difficult."

Susie blazed a glance at him. "I'm not difficult. I'm nice inside."

"That's the girl." Jeff mentally patted himself on the back. At handling women he was a wizard, positively a wizard. Parking the car in the companys garage, he ushered Susie through the store to an elevator. A buzz followed them, subdued laughter brought the purplish flush to Susie's round face. Once before she'd heard a buzz like that, laughter like that. It was in a fraternity house dressing room.

After four years the old wound had still not healed. What had she let herself in for? Oh, to be out of it—to be back at the waffle irons. She set her teeth and mentally prepared a speech of courteous withdrawal for Mr. Harker. She'd bet her best hat, a thing she did not own, that Mr. Harker was one of those wolves they had been talking about, nice like a sheep on the outside, cold and crafty underneath.

At the door of his office, with the switchboard girl staring, round-eyed, after her, Susie almost turned and bolted. She did half turn and Jeff's big arm shot out to stop her. In that split second before she faced about a voice came to Susie. It was her own voice. "I'd give my hope of heaven, I'd give the rest of my life—"

She dropped her head in shame. It was a humble, disciplined Susie who walked into Mr. Harker's office. Rising, he came around the desk, holding out his hand.

Jeff said, "This is Susie Lambert, Mr. Harker." He knew, from the Chief's controlled expression that he hadn't expected anything quite so bad as Susie. And Susie was at her very worst, brows drawn, eyes defiant, desperately afraid that she was about to meet unkind laughter again.

Mr. Harker shook her had and led her to a chair close to his desk. Jeff, his mission accomplished, went to the outer office and Mr. Harker followed him.

"She's pretty bad," he said thoughtfully. Then he brightened. "But that's what I wanted."

Jeff said, "Be a little cagey with her, Chief. She bolted once, said she wouldn't be a guinea pig."

John Harker's eyes lighted with a laugh. "That's good—swell. I was afraid she didn't have spirit. Anything else I should know? What did your mother say?"

"Edna likes her, she sees possibilities. Susie has a nice sense of humor, she's repressed and inhibited—it'll take a lot of doing." Jeff felt very proud to have the Chief ask his advice. But that was like the Chief. The swellest man a guy ever worked for.

Mr. Harker went back to Susie. He met her hurrying toward the door and pretended not to notice the flight.

"Sit down, Susie," he said. "I'll call you Susie because we're going to see a lot of each other in the next several months. Let's talk things over a little."

She sat down, nervously smoothing her gloves. "I—I don't think I can do it, Mr. Harker." She spoke as one who was about to have her tonsils removed.

"Tell me why," he said gently. In truth Mr. Harker was of the same opinion at the moment.

Susie bit her lip to curb the threatening tears. "Be-because I won't be a success, because I'm impossible," she said chokingly. "Because you are doing it for publicity and failure would be bad for your business." Saying this Susie raised her eyes and Mr. Harker's doubts vanished. Her eyes were misted, they were the most desperately unhappy eyes he had ever seen. He leaned across the desk.

"You want us to try, don't you, Susie?"

"Oh, yes. It's been so—awful." What had been so awful she left to his imagination and he nodded understandingly.

"Perhaps we can't make a raving beauty of you; to tell the truth, there are very few raving beauties in the world. But you can have charm, Susie, you can attract without startling beauty, we can help you make the most of yourself."

"Can you?" she inquired, leaning toward him wistfully.

"Yes indeed we can," Harker assured. Then, remembering the guinea pig complex, he added, "You'll have to understand that our criticism is no more personal than your doctor's would be if he said you had a bad appendix or if your French teacher complained of your accent in trying to help you. See what I mean?"

"I think so." After a hesitation she said, "The picture in the paper, Mr. Harker—I don't like it. People don't seem to realize that all girls are the same inside—they'll laugh at me—"

Mr. Harker nodded sympathetically. "No picture shall be published unless you are willing. I have a photographer—he's tops in his line. We have in mind a picture that will suggest your bad points without emphasizing them. Will you let him try?" You shall see the proofs and decide."

He was so kind that Susie's defense went down in disorder. She found herself agreeing to everything, submitting willingly. And with the first hard moment over things began to happen. Susie was photographed from every angle.

At first furiously conscious of herself, she gradually accepted the impersonal treatment. With the departure of the cameraman other people were called in consultation. A physical director not connected with the store, a blunt, forceful man with a Scandinavian accent; Miss Fleming, head of the Beauty Salon, a middle-aged woman with skin like a girl.

She squinted at Susie, making notes on a pad. Hair—oil treatment, frequent shampoos, daily sunning. Skin — shows faulty diet, needs bleaching, massage, nourishment. Eyes—very good when face is thinner. Teeth—excellent. Mouth—interesting—much improved by proper use of lipstick. Brows—Pluck. She underlined this. She wrote "Nose" and put a cross after it. Obviously Susie's nose was to be the stumbling block.

Susie looked dazedly at Mr. Harker, at Miss Fleming who was making notes about her fingernails, at Clifford Kane who, as manager of her campaign, must know every step of the way. They kept talking together as if she weren't there. Exercise would help her awkwardness. If not, dancing lessons would turn the trick. When it was all said and done, what about her nose? Her feet weren't so bad, it was the shoes. But her nose— Susie felt twisted and torn and pummeled.

LET'S DECIDE IT OURSELVES!

It is to be hoped that the Congress of the United States will make up its own mind regarding the fortification of the island of Guam without being swayed by Japan's wishes in the matters.

The island is one of the furthest outlying of our Far Eastern possessions. It is possessed of one of the finest natural harbors in the world. It is strategically situated so as to become a vital base in our air transportation with the Far East, New Zealand and Australia.

When the last session of Congress considered the proposal that it be fortified, Japan squalled to the high heavens. Her leaders pretended to see a threat to their nation's independence, in spite of the fact that the base suggested was not and is not of the type from which a major campaign of conquest could be attempted. It would be of value defensively, however, and if Japan ever contemplated an attack upon Hawaii or the American mainland, she would have to dispose of a fortified Guam first.

But whatever the final decision as to fortifications, it should be predicated upon its value and need to the United States of America, and not upon what Japan might prefer in the matter.

Swollen Social Security Fund Breeds Fight In Congress; Move To Broaden Act Is Expected

BY BRUCE CATTON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 — Money is piling up in the unemployment insurance reserve fund faster than anybody figured when the Social Security act was passed.

Today the fund stands at a billion and a half, and it's growing fast. It paid out $425,000,000 in benefits last year, but it took in $800,000,000. Barring an industrial slump, it will do as well or better this year.

Catton

This rapid growth is bringing on a scrap over possible changes in the act.

Labor groups want it liberalized. Congressman John W. McCormack of Massachusetts is in with a bill which would set up minimum benefit standards for the states, which would have to comply or they'd get no money. He proposes boosting the amounts paid, lengthening the time of payment and shortening the waiting time. He'd also try to induce the states to go above the minimum by offering graduated payroll tax reductions.

On the other hand, reports from various states indicate other groups want to cut down the benefits now paid.

Backs Higher Benefits

Social Security board gives three reasons for the unexpected growth of the fund.

One: 1939 was a good year — tax yield good, benefit payment lower than expected.

Two: Many states didn't get their plans into full operation, although they did pay the tax.

Three: The original actuarial estimate was, maybe a bit conservative.

Chairman Arthur J. Altmeyer is known to feel that benefits ought to be higher. Last year he told a Senate committee that there is not a single state unemployment compensation law that should not be liberalized to afford more adequate benefits." The board has indicated that it doesn't figure the 3 per cent payroll tax is enough.

It also feels the fund isn't unduly large now, holding that some reserve must be at hand in case a really bad year like 1937 or 1929 comes along.

Tragedy With Good Fortune

Meanwhile, the SSB is piling up some fantastic human interest stories, as payment of old age insurance begins.

There was a Washington man, for instance, who was dying on the last night of 1939. Someone remembered that if he died in 1940 his widow and children would get old age payments; doctor kept him alive four hours with adrenalin; now his family draws $70 a month which it wouldn't have got if he'd died before midnight.

In Philadelphia, a New Year's eve celebrant died of heart failure just after the whistles blew; because he died just after instead of just before, his family is getting $43 a month.

A District of Columbia lineman went out on a repair job New Year's day and was ... his wife and three ... getting $70 a month.

SHE WANTS TO SEE DAUGHTER—Mrs. Pauline Anderson, a lonely young mother from Ohio, is shown at Pasadena, Calif., where she said she was going to ride a bicycle back to Cincinnati to join her 8-year-old daughter, Mary. Mrs. Anderson told acquaintances she had pawned all her belongings and left her boarding house.

Elections Likely Will Be Required For Further Extension Of The City Limits

Elections in all probability will be required if any of the proposed extensions of the city limits are put into effect, according to information given this morning by Durwood H. Bradley, city attorney.

He added that if the limits are to be extended so that the people residing there are to be shown by the 1940 census to be part of the population of the city of Lubbock, very little time remains for action.

Willing To Cooperate

City officials have been informed that Lubbock will be credited in the census with all the population residing within its area on next April 1.

City officials and those of the chamber of commerce gave assurance of their willingness to cooperate with the residents of any area who might desire to be included within the official limits. However, the initiative in any such undertakings must come from such residents, it was explained.

Must Be Unanimous

Officials were under the impression for a time, it was explained, that if a petition bearing the signatures of a majority of the property owners within an area should be submitted to the city commission requesting inclusion in the city limits, the commission would be authorized in the matter.

The city attorney explained, however, that any such petition must bear the names of all the property owners in such areas.

Four suburban areas have been proposed for inclusion in the limits so that their populations might be counted as part of Lubbock's representing a combined population estimated at 3,500 to 5,000. Most populous of those areas is the Arnett and Benson addition northwest of the city limits, where approximately 1,500 people make their homes. Others are the areas immediately joining the present western city limits at Tyler street, a section south of Thirty-fourth street and one southeast of the city.

HAVE EVENINGS OFF

WEST POINT, N. Y.—Army will play all its home basketball games in the afternoon this year.

Senior Plans Are Outlined

Plans for Senior day, graduation and the class gift were discussed at a meeting Wednesday of the senior class of Senior High school, of which Jack Lovin is president.

Announcement was made that the identity of favorites named by the class will not be disclosed until their full page pictures appear in the 1940 edition of The Westerner.

The ten boys and the ten girls receiving the greatest number of votes in the election, according to Mrs. Ethel Terrell, class sponsor, were: Louise Chappelle, Marian Manning, Betty O'Mara, Joyce Halsey, Marie Peterman, Bernice Keeton, Lucille Hall, Marjorie Sneed, Betty Rhea Caldwell, and Ina Faye Gordon and Cleveland Cobb, Leete Jackson, Howard Alford, Jack Lovin, Pete Cawthon, James Merriman, Orville Alderson, Joe Tyson, Joe McCraw, and Leon Hughes.

Committees Named

Committees appointed by Lovin were: banquet, place, Izora Edwards, Carol Caliborne, and Thomas Pardue; entertainment, Lucille Hall, Joyce Halsey, Robert Lively, and Mrs. Rosa Mae Burford; menu, Mary Ellis Maedgen, A. C. Straley, and Sarabeth Kimmel; decorations, Jean Renner, Betty Jo Rice, Mona Lou Pierce, and Mrs. W. A. Sides; gift to the school, Virginia Belle Gamble, Ruth Hereford, James Merriman, and Miss Grace Padley; senior picnic, C. C. Cox, chairman, and Miss Padley, with students to be chosen by the teachers.

Kid Day Announced

The class voted to have their commencement service similar to the one which was held last year, called the streamlined commencement. No outside speaker will be brought to Lubbock for the service. In fact, there will be no speaker, outside of possibly a class member. Students will plan this commencement which is to be approved by the faculty.

Faculty members who will approve these services are: D. M. Howell, Mrs. Sides and Miss Padley, graduation exercises; Carl Willingham, Mrs. Burford, and Cox, the commencement sermon.

The commencement sermon will be held on Sunday, May 26, and the graduation on the Monday night following.

Date for the annual Kid day for the Seniors was announced as April 26.

Invitations Are Mailed For Welding Conference At Tech

Approximately 600 letters extending invitations to attend the fourth biennial welding conference to be held in the engineering building at Texas Technological college Feb. 2 and 3 were mailed from the chamber of commerce this morning.

The letters, bearing the signature of Mark Halsey, president of the chamber, remind that a banquet will be held in Lubbock hotel the night of Feb. 2 at which E. W. P. Smith, consulting engineer with the Lincoln Electric company of Cleveland, and A. R. Keller, chief inspector for the Hartford Steam Boiler Insurance company of New Orleans, will be speakers.

Louisiana Voters Smash Only U. S. Dictatorsh

Long Fails To Get Majority

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 18. (AP)—Louisiana's voters, regardless of who they put in as governor, have smashed the only dictatorship ever established in the United States.

Returns of Tuesday's Democratic primary clearly indicate the absolutism will be stripped from the regime set up in Louisiana 12 years ago by the late Huey P. Long even if Huey's brother, Earl K. Long, goes in as chief executive.

Lacks Majority

Still incomplete returns gave Long a commanding lead over Attorney Sam Jones of Lake Charles but he lacked a majority over Jones and the three other "reform" candidates.

All indications pointed to a second primary February 20.

What happens in the second primary will depend largely on the disposition of the vote polled by State Senator James A. Noe of Monroe and Attorneys James H. Morrison of Hammond and Vincent Moseley of Opelousas.

Among the more significant primary developments was the lead taken by Eugene Stanley, anti-administration candidate for state attorney-general, over three opponents. His election would be an effective brake on roughshod tactics previously employed by administration leaders.

Another important factor in the breakup of the dictatorship was the election of a new legislature which, from all indications, will lack the docility through which Huey P. Lon, imposed his every whim upon the state.

O'Daniel Pays Poll Tax B Declines To Discuss Pla

FORT WORTH, Jan. 18. (U.P.)—W. Lee O'Daniel, who was elected governor without being able to vote, was eligible today to vote but declined to discuss his own political plans.

Exactly one year to the day after being inaugurated as governor at Austin before the largest crowd ever to witness the ceremony in Texas, O'Daniel appeared at the Tarrant county tax collector's office late yesterday and paid $1.75 each for himself and Mrs. O'Daniel. Two years ago his failure to pay a poll tax became a major political issue. O'Daniel then announced his opposition to the tax.

Gives Age As 49

For the poll list, O'Daniel gave his age as 49 and his occupation as "governor of Texas." He listed his wife's occupation as "housewife."

A questioner asked if O'Daniel intended to seek a second term as governor.

"It's nice weather we're having," he replied.

The O'Daniels' legal residence is Fort Worth, and political history began here when the erstwhile radio flour salesman announced his candidacy in 1938. Many thought his campaign was a "joke" but as the race progressed it became apparent that the ballad-writing flour merchant was selling himself to the voters to the tunes of his hill-billy band.

Held A Majority

When the results were counted in the first Democratic primary, O'Daniel held a majority over all candidates. It was an unprecedented victory for a political first-timer.

His career as governor has been tempestuous. O'Daniel aroused a gale of controversy when he advocated a general sales tax to finance social security, after condemning the tax in his campaign for office. His critics now are assailing him for refusing to summon a special session of the legislature to attempt passage of a statutory tax measure for old age assistance.

Pensions Decline

O'Daniel advocated $30-a-month old age pensions when he sought office, but during his one year in office the average monthly payment has declined from $14 to less than $9.
