Jury Says Deason 'Not Guilty'

By Pat Blair
and Becky Werhan

A jury of four women and eight men declared Gary Deason "Not guilty" of aggravated assault at the end of two days of testimony in District Court Thursday morning, February 12.

The verdict was delivered at 10:50 a.m. in the court of District Judge Ronald Yeager following jury deliberation in the case that began at 9 a.m. Tuesday, February 10.

Deason was charged with threatening two Rockport police officers with a loaded shotgun during an incident that occurred on the night of July 3, 1980.

The State, represented by Assistant District Attorney Joel Johnson, was attempting to prove its allegation that Deason "intended to shoot someone that night" as the result of a grudge against then-Rockport police officer James (Randy) Jacoby.

Deason's defense was that he was going to the aid of his neighbor, James Cox, fearing that the man could be injured. Deason was represented by Corpus Christi attorney Michael DeShetler.

Among those who testified as the trial wound down Wednesday afternoon were County Attorney Jim Anderson and two members of the grand jury that indicted Deason.

In order to admit Anderson's and the grand jurors' testimony, Judge Yeager ruled that the secrecy rule applying to the grand jury proceedings could be broken regarding certain portions of testimony presented to the grand jury as it applied to Deason's case.

The State's case was based, in part, on an incident that happened some two years ago when Deason was arrested by Officer Jacoby for driving with an expired Motor Vehicle Inspection sticker.

As a result of the incident, Deason had to pay a $25 fine. Johnson, representing the State, maintained in opening remarks Tuesday morning, February 10, that Deason's resentment over this incident was allowed to "grow like an infection" and was the reason he threatened the police officers — one of whom was Jacoby — with a shotgun on the evening of July 3.

Police Officer James Tanner, the other officer involved in the July 3 incident, testified that, a day or two

Tugboat Sinks - Five Missing

Several questions still surround the sinking of the tugboat Galveston, which went down just off of Port O'Connor with the loss of five or six lives during heavy weather sometime Tuesday night.

One of the questions concerns the number of persons aboard at the time of the sinking. The tug was pushing two barges with three Halliburton oil well servicing trucks aboard, and four Halliburton employees on the tug. The trucks, a cementing pump truck, a bulk truck containing dry cement, and a pickup, had been at a well in Matagorda Bay. With rising winds and seas, it was decided to move the two barges to a safer mooring. Wednesday afternoon, Coast Guard personnel in Port O'Connor said that the captain of the tug, Tommy DeForest, 27, of Rockport, the only person rescued after the sinking, said from the hospital that there were five persons aboard in addition to two crew members, but Mike Hogan, Halliburton district manager from Victoria, said that only four Halliburton employees were aboard. Thursday morning, Coast Guard officials were still unsure whether they were seeking five or six persons still lost.

There was speculation that someone from the oil rig had caught a ride back to port on the tug. At last report, the captain was still in a semiconscious condition in Champ Traylor Memorial Hospital, in Port Lavaca, and had been unable to give a complete statement to authorities.

Capt. DeForest, the only person from the tug to be found so far, was discovered on a small island near the site of the sinking early Wednesday morning, after being in the water for six to 10 hours. He was semiconscious when found, and was suffering from a severe case of hypothermia, the medical term for the condition resulting from exposure to cold.

At the time of the sinking, the temperature was in the low 20s and the wind brought the chill factor to below zero. Water temperature at the time was 44 degrees.

The four Halliburton employees, all of whom worked out of the Victoria office of the firm, included one woman, Debbie Cope. Others were identified as Ken Baze, Jim Lala, and Arthur Volkert. Ages of the four were not available at press time.

According to fragmentary information obtained from DeForest, when the boat started sinking, all persons aboard went overboard, all wearing flotation devices. DeForest reportedly told Coast Guard investigators that he tried to keep the group together, but the strong current caused them to drift away, one by one. As DeForest finally reached what he thought was shallow water, he tried to hold on to the crewman of the tug, identified as Rosenda Vasquez, but the strong current pulled Vasquez from DeForest's cold-numbered hands.

As Coast Guard personnel

pieced the story together, the tug got into trouble early Wednesday morning, when high winds and strong currents, resulting from the arctic cold front that struck the area, caused a cable to the barges to break, with the

RISE ABOVE the choppy waters near Port O'Connor, only the top of the bridge and an exhaust stack are visible of the tug Galveston, which sank during a storm

Tuesday night. The captain of the tug was rescued, and the search for five or six other persons aboard continues.

DeForest Said To Be 'Satisfactory'

Rockport man Thomas DeForest, captain of the capsize tugboat "Galveston", has been removed from intensive care and pronounced in satisfactory condition, according to a spokesman for the Champ Traylor Memorial Hospital in Port Lavaca.

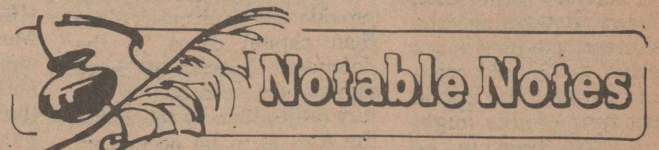

DeForest had been rescued off a sandbar by members of the Port O'Connor Coast Guard Station the morning after the tug, owned by Garrett Construction Company of Ingleside, capsized and sank off of Port Lavaca.

Still missing are tug crewman Rosenda Vasquez and four truck drivers employed by Halliburton Services of Victoria: James E. Lala, Kenneth E. Baze, Arthur W. Volkert and Deborah G. Cope, all of Victoria.

The Coast Guard Marine Safety Office of Corpus Christi has started an investigation into the accident, but

Brown Pushes For Enforcement Of Documentation

AUSTIN — Senator James E. "Buster" Brown is adding his weight to efforts of shrimpers along the Texas Coast — including Aransas County — to achieve enforcement of federal documentation laws.

The Senator, whose 17th district includes Aransas

County, hopes to introduce a bill in the State Senate in the next 10 days that would prohibit issuing of a Texas license to any boat that violates the documentation laws.

The bill would require the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department — which issues the state licenses to commercial fishermen — to inspect a vessel and make sure it meets federal documentation requirements before a state license is issued.

In other action, the Senator has sent telegrams to Texas Governor Bill Clements, to U.S. Senators and Congressmen from Texas and to U. S. Department of Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis urging their support of the federal documentation laws.

The telegrams urge Lewis to dispatch additional Coast Guard personnel and boats to the Texas Coastal area to enforce the documentation requirements.

Also requested is legislation that would amend the fine for violation of the documentation law, raising the fine from $30 for non-compliance to $3,000.

"A fine of $3,000 might give people a bit more pause" over breaking the documentation law, the Senator said.

Brown is also asking, in his telegrams, that the federal government "examine the practice of relocating Indo-chinese to the Texas Gulf Coast area with an aim of stopping such relocation."

Brown said that, with the tensions presently felt along the coast, the influx of more

Indo-chinese people is "adding fuel to the fire."

Telegrams have gone to U.S. Senator John Tower and to U.S. Congressmen Lloyd Bentsen, Jack Brooks, Ron Paul and Bill Patman.

"Tensions between the American and Vietnamese shrimpers are growing daily as the competition (for the shrimp) escalates," Brown observed.

He noted that some newspaper accounts of the coastal situation have likened it to a range war and in his telegrams urged, "As the State Senator from the affected region, I ask your help in ending this 'range war'."

In his telegram to Clements, Brown urged the Texas Governor to "lend the great weight of your office" to the effort to get more Coast Guard personnel into this area.

Terry Glaser, administrative assistant in Senator Brown's office, said he under Amador Ramos Sanchez, 35, of 910 Verne has been charged with aggravated assault and placed under $5,000 bond in connection with the February 5 shooting of Joe Zamudio of Rockport.

Zamudio was admitted to Memorial Medical Center in Corpus Christi suffering a gunshot wound in the upper left shoulder following the incident that occurred at 521 Bay Street about 3:45 p.m. Thursday, February 5.

Two other men, George Pena and Christobal (Chris)

Pena, were treated and released from Enterprise Medical Center after suffering leg injuries when they were reported struck by a car apparently in connection with the same incident.

Paramedics were called to the Rockport police station to treat a fourth victim of the February 5 incident but he allegedly refused treatment. He was not identified.

Rockport police said the shooting and other injuries arose out of an occurrence that apparently started on Rockport Beach.

REBUILDING UNDERWAY

Restoration of Fulton Mansion is becoming visible, with the lighter portions of the Mansion showing where a coat of primer has been applied. John Carle, supervisor of the restoration job, says the demolition phase of the project is complete and now "we're starting to put it [Fulton Mansion] back together." Construction workers will begin putting siding on the mansion on Fulton Beach Road this week "weather permitting." Restoration of the 110-year-old mansion is being undertaken through the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department. Carle said the project, expected to be completed by June, 1982, has been "a long drawn-out affair because there was a lot more damage than what they [TP&W] thought."

Anti-Crime

Bill To Provide For Jury Instruction On Parole Laws

Editor's note: This is the fourth in a series being presented in the Pilot on the eight bills in the Anti-Crime Package Texas Governor Bill Clements has brought before the 67th State Legislature. The Pilot feels the public should be aware of, and support, these measures.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION
The judge, when he sentences a person to the Texas Department of Corrections (TDC), is fully aware of the provisions of the parole laws and how they can affect the actual time served by the person. He knows also that good conduct time credits may reduce the actual time served and that only a part of the sentence need actually be served before a person will be eligible for parole consideration.

Under the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure, a defendant has the option to choose to have his or her punishment determined by a jury rather than by the court.

Under current law, should the defendant elect to have the jury rather than the court determine the punishment, the jury is not permitted to be told what impact parole and good conduct time credits might have on the time to be served in TDC.

Numerous reported cases demonstrate that juries nonetheless frequently speculate as to how these laws operate and moreover frequently assess a harsher or more lenient penalty than might have been assessed had these laws been correctly understood.

The Court of Criminal Appeals has reversed numerous cases because of such incorrect speculation on the part of a jury.

PURPOSE

By providing for the jury to be accurately instructed as to how parole and good conduct time laws actually operate, it will be possible to avoid reversals and costly mistrials in the future.

It will also avoid any prejudice to the rights of the defendant or improper encroachment on the executive branch of government which is charged with responsibility for operation of the parole and good conduct time laws.

SECTION BY SECTION ANALYSIS

Section 1. Article 37.07, Code of Criminal Procedure, is amended by the addition of a new section, Section 4, to provide that in all cases other than capital cases, if the defendant elects to have punishment assessed by the jury rather than by the court, the jury is to be accurately instructed as to

(1) good conduct time laws; and

(2) the provisions of the parole laws applicable to the particular case.

The jury is further instructed that it is not to speculate as to a date certain that the defendant might be released through operation of such laws and the exercise of discretion vested in the executive branch of government.

It is further provided that nothing contained in this section should be construed to permit argument or evidence on the operation of parole and good conduct time credit laws in the punishment stage of a criminal trial.

Section 2. Emergency clause.

"Low Down"

FROM THE
Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

Federal Employees Snub Social Security

Representative Elliott H. Levitas (Ga.)...I am today, reintroducing legislation (H.R. 889) that would require Members of Congress and employees of the legislative and executive branches of the Federal Government to participate in the social security program.

"Not all citizens outside of the Federal Government realize that most Federal employees do not participate at all in social security — and when they do become aware of this fact, their first question logically enough is: If the social security system is such a wonderful program, why do not Federal employees and those in Congress — which, after all, was the originator of the system and is now responsible for making desirable changes in it — participate in social security and come under its coverage?"

"Is their own retirement system better and more beneficial?"

"It seems rather strange that the social security system which supposedly is good enough to cover 114 million working Americans at the present time is apparently not good enough for Congress or even the Commissioner of the Social Security system himself..."

"More than 112,000 State and local government employees have relinquished their membership, which is voluntary in the system, and well over 99,000 State and local employees are now in the two-year process of doing so."

"In fact, one State, Alaska, has already terminated coverage for all State and local employees throughout the State..."

"We should in all fairness explain to our constituents just why what is good enough for them is not good enough for us... An explanation will be requested, if not demanded by our constituents."

ments. "And if it is sought by enough people, the only justifiable and defensible response we can give will be to enact either this bill or the necessary remedial legislation..."

"After all, if the present system (social security) is so good, why should not we all pay for it and benefit from it. On that basis alone, I would confidently anticipate speedy and overwhelming passage of this legislation..."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Why should congressmen — employees of the legislative and executive branches of the Federal Government — be entitled to better retirement plans than those offered to other American citizens? The answer is easy — they're not!

Veterans Administration News

Q -- I received a letter stating the Veterans Administration has put my education loan in default. I selected the option of quarterly payments; now VA wants payment in full or other payment arrangements. Why?

A -- Once an account has been reported in default, it is treated as any other debt due the United States government. The agreement signed was only in effect if the payments had been made on time. Therefore, it is void.

New arrangements must then be set up for recompment of this debt. Either by offset, if possible, or monthly payments.

Austin at Wharf

IT IS, I SUPPOSE, TYPICAL of us as a people that we react and then overreact at certain times. One of those occasions has been in the instance of the recent hostages. Rarely has a small group of Americans been received, greeted with such wild fervor.

Reflecting, I feel that their release came at a time when we as a nation needed something to cling to, a moment when we needed to renew our faith in our country. In any event the reception we gave those men and women was somehow good for us.

Now we have rather cooled off and we occasionally note expressions of embarrassment. Never mind; it was good for us all. The time will come when the hostages will become little more than a footnote in history. That should not be because, in the aftermath, our conduct as a nation after they returned home was and has been a glowing hour.

There were people who — after the release — like Senator Jesse Helms of South Carolina exploded, shot from the hip. He wanted the whole agreement thrown out, because, he said, it was reached under duress with "a bunch of bums."

Instead we acted with dignity. Simply put, Iran had acted badly and because we refused to be vindictive we earned the respect of the civilized world. It may even be that our rationalism saved the world from catastrophe.

Suppose we had disavowed the agreement, then waded revengefully into a divided and chaotic country seeking revenge? Let the reader draw his own conclusions.

WHENEVER I encounter any of my male colleagues with neolythic mentalities who contend that women have no place in business or politics I have a fondness for pointing out former Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine — as honest, intelligent and able a statesman as any of our 50 states have ever sent to Washington.

Some days ago I discovered a counterpart when CBS "60 Minutes" introduced Congresswoman Millicent Fenwick of New Jersey. Wow, what a gal! Intelligence, wit, humor. Of course I shall be reminded that from Texas we have had Barbara Jordan whose political ideas I didn't always like. But by golly, I respected her.

SOME DAYS I FIND our new president's conduct to be almost too good to be true. I have said before that I like his cabinet appointments, like most if not all the advisors with whom he has surrounded himself.

Almost I want to say, something has got to give, and surely it will, yet still

... Top aide Ed Meese is not the least of the men I like and it was good to hear him say that such nonsensical departments as Education and Energy will be gone within the year.

This was bolstered when the head of Education lowered the boom and talked sense about bilingual education. Not that his order will have as much effect in Texas as it probably should.

On the other hand it proved a point to which I have long held — that the over-zealous proponents of bilingual language in Texas are not so concerned about the people they purport to represent; instead they are concerned for their own power which they believe — contrary to what they say — lies in keeping Hispanics uneducated and apart from the American mainstream.

Do I make my point? Consider only two other words that come to mind because they are so constantly and overly used. Sophistication and fantastic. Most of us who perceive ourselves as having a measure of education are flattered if someone refers to us as being sophisticated. Again, invade the old dictionary and some change of mind may result.

And fantastic? Who can be sure they'd like to live with a fantastic man or woman, coddle a fantastic cat, sip a fantastic libation. Yeah, and driving a fantastic car, wearing a fantastic bra, spending a fantastic evening in front of the boob tube, and yes, writing a column that is fantastically sophisticated. — ahah

Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher

Editor's note: The Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher on his grassy ranch examines the question of whether court trials should be televised.

Dear editor: Some public officials are worried over the Supreme Court's ruling that the Constitution doesn't forbid the televising of court trials — excusing the Supreme Court itself, where cameras won't be allowed.

It's hard to tell whether barring cameras from the Supreme Court is sound Constitutional interpretation or just expert programming, as what goes on there generally is pretty dull and wouldn't have much audience appeal.

But it's the televising of ordinary trials, especially criminal trials, that the debate is about.

Some say that if you're the judge, a lawyer on either side or a member of the jury, the fact that you're on television will influence you, one way or another.

"The accused won't get a fair trial," some defense lawyers say. This is an odd argument. Most defense lawyers' aim isn't fairness, it's a not-guilty verdict. An ounce of technicalities beats a pound of fairness.

However I don't go so far as the citizen who claimed defense lawyers consider all their clients innocent until proven broke.

On the other hand, take the case of a man whose occupation is robbing banks. I can see how he'd object to having his trial televised, with his picture going out all over the country.

It'd ruin his professional career. Even if his lawyer got him off scott free, every time he walked into a bank some teller would step on the alarm button.

Of course he could avoid this by banking by mail, but it's hard to rob a bank by mail.

Taking a broader view of the matter, I don't see how televising trials will affect justice. Televising those Congressmen taking bribes hasn't affected Congress. It goes right on raising the debt ceiling whenever it's handy.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

EDITOR:

This letter is addressed to a statement made by a Mr. Casterline on Channel 3 one morning last week. He said that most of the shrimping trawlers owned by the Vietnamese are under five tons. (Trawlers under five tons are not required to be licensed by the United States).

I have in my hand a document entitled "License of Vessel under Twenty Tons." As certified by the Admeasurer, "register length 26.7, register breadth 9.0, register depth 2.5, gross tonnage 6.83, net tonnage 5." This document can be issued only to a citizen and the person whose name appears on it as Master must also be a citizen.

Surely we agree that this vessel is much smaller than most owned by the Vietnamese and that it is impossible to determine the size by just looking.

The State of Texas issues a shrimping license without first requiring a survey of the vessel to determine that the license can be legally used. We, as citizens, went through the proper channels in order to work under the laws of the United States. We ask only that aliens comply with our laws. If the State cared about an industry which supports many of its citizens, it would long ago have limited the number of shrimping licenses which it issues. And, it would protect us from illegal shrimping in our waters.

I feel the fault lies with the State and that I have a right to demand it take immediate action. This I have done in a letter to the Governor.

Name withheld by request.

Speaking Out

How do you feel about bi-lingual education?

Cepha Jessee
Rockport

It may be furnished early — in kindergarten through the third grade, if necessary — if a child is language-handicapped, but no higher. By that time, most children will have gained a fair command of the English language.

Jeannette Stalker
Rockport

I have mixed feelings. I don't think it should go up too high, though. The parents should take the responsibility of speaking English. I taught school and I know it's difficult if a child does not understand.

Lynn McIntosh
Rockport

Sounds like a good idea to me. I feel everybody should have an equal education — have a good chance at it, no matter who it is.

Donald Elliot
Rockport

I'm against it. Everyone should speak English. Parents ought to teach their kids to speak English. English is the best language in the world. Spend that money on defense. I'm a combat veteran. I should know.

Harold Buick
Rockport

If they're going to live in America, make it a home — they ought to speak English. I was taught German (when I was a kid) — I don't think it's right. If they're going to be Americans, they should live like Americans.

I don't see why they have to teach a foreign language. It might be appropriate for the individual... but they should be taught English in this country.

Pirates Slam Calallen 79-66

By Bob Crawford

With six players hitting for double figures, the Rockport-Fulton Pirates slammed the Calallen Wildcats 79-66 in Rockport in a District 15-4A contest Tuesday night, February 10.

Rockport could have buried the Wildcats, but Coach Bobby Flanagan emptied his bench and the Cats drew much closer in the final moments of the game here.

In a very physical game, the Pirates assumed control toward the end of the first quarter. Donnie Frels got hot for the Pirates and hit for 10 of his 12 points in that opening eight minutes.

Rockport held a lead of 18-12 after a quarter.

Pirate quickness took over and steals by Dennis Hull, James Walls and Pee Wee Solis each resulted in Pirate scores, and suddenly the Pirates had assumed a lead of 26-16. At that point, Marty Davenport entered the game.

Davenport, by far the biggest player on the court, began to take control of the game and quickly popped for eight points in the second quarter. By the half, the Pirates had run away from Calallen 40-24.

Rockport asserted their skills again in the third period and opened up a lead of 27 points over the Cats.

In the fourth period, Calallen's Mike Rhyne took over and began to rip the nets. He finished the night with 27 points as the top scorer for the Cats. Football fans will remember Rhyne for his incredible 270 yard performance with his passes against the Pirates during the football season.

With Rhyne's hot shooting and Rockport's bench play, the lead was cut down in the final minutes.

Davenport led the Pirates with 20 points, but he was followed by Frels and Solis with 12 each. Hull and Micheal Simmons each contributed 11 markers. The win now gives the Pirates a record of 15-13.

Rockport's JV played well enough to pick up their 12th win against six losses. In the 51-44 victory, Tim Redden, Aaron Commander, and David Ramirez all hit for double figures to pace the Pirates.

The Pirates opened a big lead early in the contest, and they stayed ahead the remainder of the game.

The Freshmen Pirates travelled to Calallen to beat the Wildcats 46-25. Eddie Bechtol led the scorers with 13 points, and Dwayne Walls hit for 10.

Calallen Girls Claw Lady Pirates

By Bob Crawford

Calallen's powerful Wildcat team came to Rockport Tuesday night and outscored the Lady Pirates 50-29 in a district contest.

The loss by 21 points was far better than the first time the two teams met when the Cats stomped the Pirates by nearly 50 points.

Both teams started slowly with each team scoring twice in the first period, leaving the teams knotted at 4-4. Then in the second period, the Cats awoke and outscored the Pirates 16-5 to take a big lead.

From the half on, the Cats were under control, although the Pirates narrowed the gap to 9 points at the end of the third period. In the last quarter, the Calallen ran away with the game.

Kim Foitik found the range for 15 points to lead the Lady Pirates, and Genny Mundine added 10 points. The loss evens the season's mark for the Pirates at 15-15.

Calallen's JV jumped on the Lady Pirate JV in the first half and then increased their margin as the second half unfolded. At the half the Pirates trailed 25-12, and at the end Calallen had pulled away 60-23.

The Freshmen Lady Pirates also had problems with Calallen as the Cats took the Pirates 76-22. No Pirate hit in double figures, and only Mona Cowen with 8 got close to that mark.

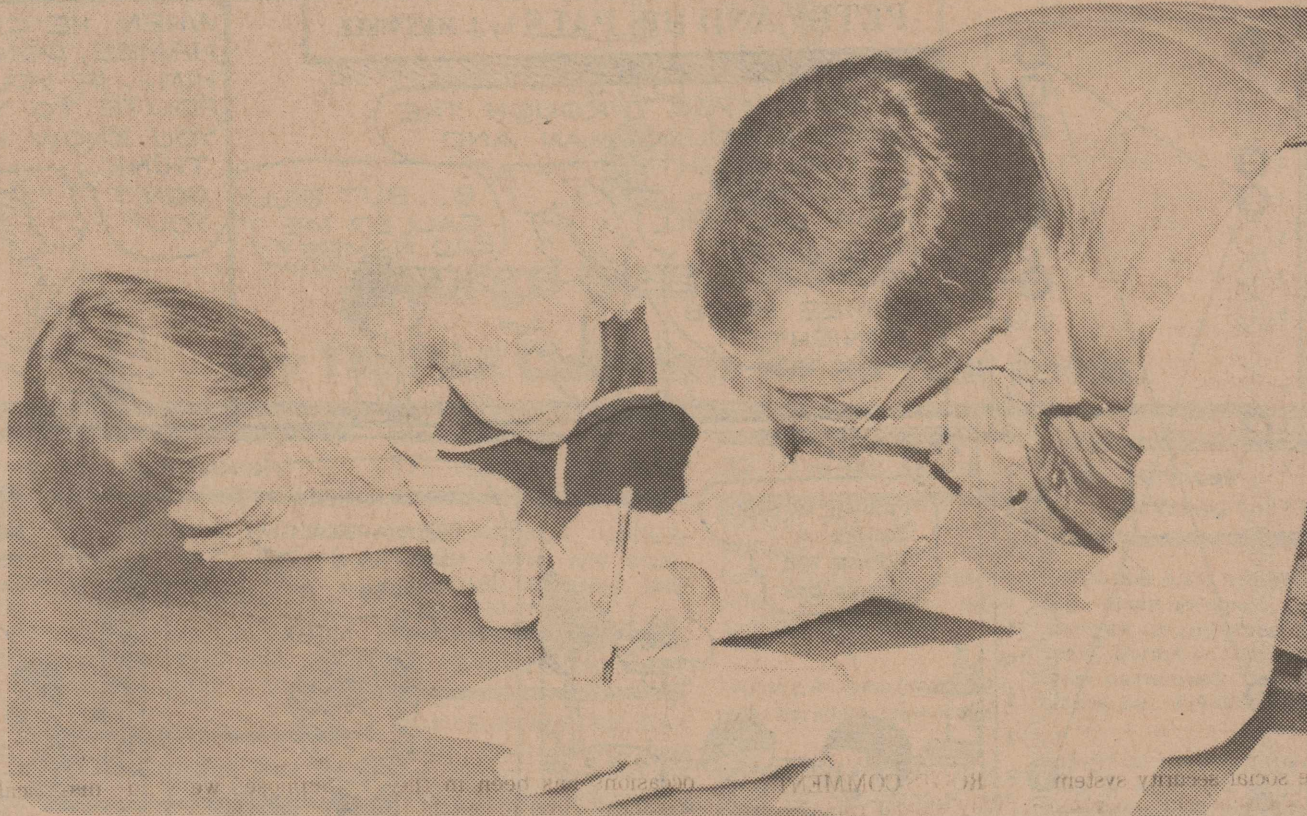

Home Energy Assistance Ends

The Home Energy Assistance Program will end at the end of February, 1981, according to Manuel A. Arredondo, Texas Department of Human Resources Regional Administrator.

The HEAP program was designed to help low-income families in Texas with their heating bills. Some families will receive this help automatically, but others have to apply in order to test their eligibility.

Anyone who was certified for AFDC, Food Stamps or S.S.I. on or before January 30, 1981, and who meets the income guidelines for the HEAP program will receive an automatic payment from the Texas Department of Human Resources to help defray heating costs.

Pirate Tennis Team Captures Robstown

Although there was not a winner in any event from Rockport-Fulton, the team came away with first place honors in the Robstown Tennis Tournament played Monday, February 9 in Robstown.

The tournament had to be moved from Saturday because of the wet conditions in the Coastal Bend.

Tony Aleman, one of favorites to capture the District 15-4A title in Boys Singles, placed second in the tournament in his event. Also getting a second place was the team of Terri Price and Holly Garrison in Girls Doubles.

The team of Bobby Albin and Scott Meyer made it to the semifinals, gaining points for the team. Meredith Montague advanced to the quarterfinals to also score points for the Rockport-Fulton effort.

The trophy for the tournament represents an outstanding effort for the Pirates, taking the first place honors over fourteen other teams.

Coach Jim Hatfield indicated that he hopes his team will now continue to improve so that by district tournament time, they will challenge for the top spot.

Epigram not Twain's

The epigram, "Everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it," is attributed to Mark Twain, but Charles D. Warner, editor of The Hartford (Conn.) Courant, is believed to have coined it. Twain did say, "If you don't like the weather in New England, just wait a few minutes."

Council Approves Southside Improvements

Rockport's City Council authorized a street light at the intersection of Murray and South Magnolia and a cost study to decide the feasibility of widening the 1000 block of South Austin Street.

The action was taken in last Monday night's, February 9, council session during which the council also gave the Harbor Oaks Property Owners Association permission to plant live oak trees in the median at the Harbor Oaks Subdivision entrance on Highway 35 North.

Also approved Monday night was the formal calling of the April 4 city election on April 4. Filing for this election started February 3.

Council members authorized the street light and cost study in the area south of Rockport's downtown district after discussion of a letter from Robert and Mary Lazare in Monday night's session.

A request by property owners for additional fire hydrants in the area was judged unnecessary since fire hydrants are located within 500 to 600 feet of property on the streets in question.

J.C. Gurley said the city fire truck has 1200 feet of hose so that distance of the fire hydrants does not pose a hazard to any of the property owners.

Appointment of a citizen to the Animal Control Department was tabled pending additional study.

The city animal control ordinance calls for a citizen-member of the Animal Control Department along with the city secretary, chief of police, animal control officer and city health officer.

In other action, the council reviewed the January police and animal control reports and reviewed the city financial statements as of December 31, 1980.

The Home Energy Assistance Program will end at the end of February, 1981, according to Manuel A. Arredondo, Texas Department of Human Resources Regional Administrator. The HEAP program was designed to help low-income families in Texas with their heating bills. Some families will receive this help automatically, but others have to apply in order to test their eligibility. Anyone who was certified for AFDC, Food Stamps or S.S.I. on or before January 30, 1981, and who meets the income guidelines for the HEAP program will receive an automatic payment from the Texas Department of Human Resources to help defray heating costs. Persons who desire to test their eligibility for a HEAP payment may apply at the HEAP office nearest their home. The location of these offices may be obtained by calling the TDHR office nearest to their home. The deadline for applying is February 28, 1981. Low-income families are urged to act quickly if they wish to apply. Household income guidelines for the HEAP Program are:

Plan A Special Seafood Meal

Many old sayings have a grain of truth in them, and while flowers and candy may win the fair lady, the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. Plan a seafood dinner for your valentine with shrimp and oysters. The following recipes offered by Annette Reddell Hegen, seafood specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are great all-time favorites. Choose an hors d'oeuvre and main dish to build a special dinner.

Why not make oysters part of a special weekend brunch treat. Enjoy Oysters Benedict Supreme for a new twist with an old favorite. Gently poached oysters are nestled in a bed of seasoned spinach atop sauteed Canadian-style bacon on a crunchy toasted muffin. Topped with a light tangy Hollandaise, this oyster recipe is sure to demand an encore.

Oysters Benedict Supreme
1 pint fresh oysters
Quick Hollandaise Sauce
1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, thawed
2 tablespoons, chopped onion

1 tablespoon margarine
1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
6 thin slices Canadian bacon or ham

3 English muffins
Prepare Hollandaise Sauce and keep warm. Split muffins and toast lightly. Place one-half muffin on each serving plate and keep warm. Saute bacon in a medium size fry pan until lightly browned. Place bacon on muffins. Add spinach, onion and margarine to fry pan and cook about 2 minutes or just until onion is tender. Add seasoning. Place about 1/4 cup drained spinach on each slice of bacon and keep warm. Pour oysters and liquid into fry pan and simmer for 2 to 3 minutes or until edges of oysters curl. Remove oysters with a slotted spoon and place on spinach, dividing evenly among servings. Spoon hot Hollandaise Sauce over oysters. Serve immediately.

Quick Hollandaise Sauce
2 egg yolks
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash cayenne pepper
1/2 cup melted margarine
Place egg yolks, lemon juice and seasonings in blender. Blend for 5 seconds on low speed. Slowly pour in melted margarine, continuing to blend until sauce is thick and smooth. Keep sauce warm while preparing the entree. Makes 1/4 cup sauce.

Bamboo Shrimp
1 1/2 pounds raw, peeled and cleaned Texas shrimp
1/4 cup salad oil or margarine

2 beef bouillon cubes
2 cans (5 oz. ea.) bamboo shoots, drained
2 cans (4 oz. ea.) sliced mushrooms, drained

2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon ground ginger
Dash salt
Dash pepper
3 cups cooked rice

Cook shrimp in oil for 5 minutes or until shrimp are pink. Dissolve bouillon cubes in 1 cup boiling water. Add bamboo shoots, mushrooms, soy sauce and bouillon. Combine cornstarch, 1/4 cup water to make a paste. Add cornstarch and seasonings to shrimp mixture and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Serve over rice. Serves 6.

Oysters Remick
36 shell oysters
2 cups mayonnaise
1/4 cup chili sauce
1 tablespoon prepared mustard

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon paprika
6 drops liquid hot pepper sauce

Dash pepper
2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons melted margarine

1/4 cup dry bread crumbs
Scrub shells well and rinse in cold water. Shuck and drain oysters and place on deep half of shells. Place shells on broiler pans. Combine mayonnaise, chili sauce, seasonings and lemon juice. Spread 1 tablespoon sauce over each oyster. Combine margarine and crumbs. Sprinkle over oysters. Broil about 3 inches from source of heat for 5 minutes or until edges of oysters begin to curl. Serves 6.

When Longfellow mentioned "the spreading chestnut tree" everyone pictured it. Likewise it wasn't hard to envision "the trail of the lonesome pine." But little has been written about a single white birch. It's always a stand of birches.

Perhaps because birches are like people. They're the same in many ways, yet each is different. And their true magnificence cannot be realized seeing one alone. It's when they stand together that their diversity blends into a oneness which can be spectacular.

In the worship and activities of the church we gain the true perspective of our individuality — and our community. The church cares about you as a person. Yet it helps you learn to care about the society of which you are a part. It inspires each to serve all. To achieve oneness of faith and spirit despite our diversity.

Film Deals With Loved Ones In Nursing Homes

"Peege"—a motion picture about reaching those isolated by age and failing mental capacities—will be shown at First Presbyterian Church, Live Oak and Laurel Streets, 9:45 a.m. Sunday, February 15.

This film introduces the second phase of study by adults. "Dealing with Death," and it reveals the family and personal dynamics involved when a loved one enters a nursing home.

A young man, home from college, accompanies his family to visit his dying grandmother in a nursing home. Peege (the grandmother's nickname) has gone blind and has lost some of mental faculties.

The visit is awkward because none of the members of the family know how to deal with the non-responsive shell that once was a vibrant woman.

When they find an excuse to leave, the young man remains with her for a few minutes. He tries to trigger some response by whispering into her ear some of his early memories of her. He uses simple human touch to form an expression of closeness.

His efforts succeed, and he is able to communicate despite the barriers of disease and age. When he leaves, she is alone again . . . but now with a feeling of worth, knowing that someone cares.

Following the film, Maxine Mayer, Director of Social Services with the Aransas Pass Nursing and Convalescent Center, will share her insights with those present.

The public is cordially invited to see the film which will be shown in the Fellowship Hall.

Coast Guard Plans For Boarding Of Vessels

The U.S. Coast Guard will be routinely boarding and inspecting shrimping boats working in area bays, according to Coast Guard Capt. Gerald Hinson, captain of the port of Corpus Christi.

"Some (Coast Guard) people from the Port Aransas station will be patrolling routinely, especially after March 15" — opening date stands a member of the Texas House of Representatives has met with a representative of the shrimpers and there is a proposed moratorium on bay shrimping, "but we haven't seen a copy of this legislation."

Glaser said he has heard the bill proposed a one-year moratorium on the licensing of bay shrimpers, beginning with the "shrimping season after this (current) one."

However, he emphasized no one in the Senator's office has seen a copy of the proposed legislation at this time.

of the shrimping season — Capt. Hinson said.

"They won't just be looking at one law, he added. "They'll be looking at everything — flares, lights, every-

The "one law" Hinson referred to is documentation — which is the one American shrimpers along the Texas Coast (including in Aransas County) say they want enforced.

American shrimpers have charged that the Vietnamese shrimpers are operating boats that should be documented but aren't.

Hinson said Roy Hoffer, an admeasurer from Houston, finished measuring some 12 boats in Aransas County Thursday, February 12, and that "some of these were obviously American" while some others were Vietnamese.

The measuring of a boat is the first step toward documentation of a vessel.

Vessels weighing more than five tons and that are used for commercial fishing must be documented to meet federal regulations. Federal law also requires that such a boat must be owned and operated by an American citizen.

If the admeasurer finds a boat weighs five tons or more, he informs the owner who is then responsible for applying for documentation from the Coast Guard in Corpus Christi.

Capt. Hinson said his office has no way of knowing who is or is not operating a boat legally without boarding the vessel.

He added that some boardings have already been made in the bay area. "I understand a Coast Guard patrol boarded four American vessels last week and found improper documentation," he added.

"But," he added, "we can't concentrate on just one law. We have to enforce all the laws — we just don't have the people to only look at one. We do the best we can with the resources available."

Texas Senator James E. "Buster" Brown, representative from District 17 which includes Aransas County, has sent telegrams to state representatives in Washington, the Secretary of Transportation and Governor Clements urging their support in getting more Coast Guard officers into this area to better enforce the documentation laws.

State Agencies Endorse Pier Project

Fulton To Have New City Map

FULTON — A new map of Fulton and the surrounding area will be drawn up, at a cost of approximately $1,000, as a result of action taken in Tuesday's, February 10, Fulton city council meeting.

Council members gave unanimous approval to the proposal for a new city map. The existing map of the area is based on an original drawn in 1888.

In other action Tuesday, Fulton city officials formally called the April 4 city elections, and Mayor L.E. Casterline read a letter from the Governor's office to officials in Washington giving endorsement from several state agencies to Fulton's fishing pier project.

The project, for a 1,000-foot fishing pier, has now been endorsed by the Texas Historical Commission, the Texas Department of Water Resources and the State Parks & Wildlife Department.

Mayor Casterline assured council members that "everything is still go" on the project which is being funded by a grant of $217,500 through the Coastal Energy Impact Program.

Four council posts are up for election this year, but one council member — the person elected to position 1 — will serve only a one-year term, until April 1982.

Position 1 was formerly held by Ray Patterson who was to have served until 1982, but Patterson resigned from the council last year and was replaced by Elgin Dietz.

Dietz was appointed to fill the post until the coming April elections when a council member will be elected to fill the remainder of Patterson's unexpired term.

Also up for election April 4 are the Place 3 post now held by Katherine McLester, Place 4 currently held by Dominga Benavidez and Place 5 held by Pat Loflin.

Filing for the council is in the office of City Secretary Cynthia Tilden.

In other action Tuesday night, Casterline informed council members that the city has applied for additional "stop" and "yield" signs.

Council members also approved the cash report which shows Fulton with $4,318 in assets and a January disbursement of $2,413.

Engineers Authorize Channel Dredging

The Army Corps of Engineers has approved a permit to allow dredging of the channel into Little Bay in Rockport between Rockport and Key Allegro.

Aransas County Harbor-master Bernie DeForest said the work, which involves dredging of some 11,000 cubic yards of material, is expected to begin in March. The permit was submitted

September 29, 1980, at the authorization of the Aransas County Navigation District No. 1.

The material dredged from the channel will be deposited on Rockport Beach to rebuild eroded beach areas.

In addition to the dredging, the permit also authorizes the installation of channel markers.

JURY

before that, in a conversation with Deason, Deason said if Jacoby ever left the police department, Deason would "get that money (the $25) out of him (Jacoby). He said he would whip or beat it out of him," Tanner testified, "or get a shotgun and blow his (Jacoby's) so and so head off."

Deason later testified that what he said on that occasion was, "The day he's (Jacoby) not a police officer, I'm going to turn him upside down and shake the $25 out of his pocket."

The incident began when police officers Tanner and Jacoby, on July 3, followed James Cox to his residence at 1101 Broadway allegedly because the man was speeding. The officers testified that they were pursuing Cox with lights flashing and siren on and that, upon arrival at his residence, when they attempted to arrest Cox, the man fought with them.

In later testimony for the defense, Cox, his wife, Deason and Deason's son, Andy, maintained that Cox was not fighting with police and that the police car was not displaying flashing lights or siren when police arrived at Cox's residence.

Witnesses for the defense testified that the siren was turned on for only a short burst when the police pulled into Cox's driveway behind his car.

Deason said he was at supper when he saw Cox's car, followed by the police vehicle, come down an alley leading to Cox's residence. He made no effort to interfere, he said, until the police car turned into Cox's residence and he heard the siren.

That was when "I jumped and ran," Deason said. He told jurors he thought — and told his family — "Jimmy's (house is) being broke into." Deason said he ran to the front door and picked up the shotgun — which he keeps loaded and near the door — on the way out.

Deason testified that when he arrived at the scene, the police had Cox handcuffed and that Tanner maced Cox and pulled his gun on the man. "He came out with his gun right into Mr. Cox's gut," Deason said. "I said, Hey, don't do that! He's a neighbor and a pretty good friend."

Deason said his purpose was to draw Tanner's attention away from Cox.

Tanner, in earlier testimony, said he did not draw his gun until Deason's arrival and said he drew the weapon on Deason. Tanner quoted Deason as saying, "You let him alone; he's a friend of mine," and said he did not draw his gun until he had ordered Deason to put the shotgun down and Deason refused.

Anderson and the two grand jurors called to testify said they did not recall any testimony during the grand jury proceedings of Tanner drawing his gun on Cox.

All of the witnesses who testified on the incident said Deason was holding the shotgun with the muzzle in the air.

Deason testified that, after Tanner told him the first time to drop the shotgun, "I hesitated to be sure his (Tanner's) attention was on me, (then) I pitched it at my boy, Andy." Deason said Tanner came out to the street, asked if the gun was all right then took it from Andy, unloaded it and told Andy to take it to the house.

The jury in Deason's trial deliberated for about an hour and a half Thursday before returning the "not guilty" verdict.

Mixed Drink Sales Bring $5,817 Into County

Sale of mixed drinks in Aransas County during 1980 brought $5,817.07 in revenue into the county, according to State Comptroller Bob Bullock.

Revenue for the three cities in the county — Rockport, Fulton and the portion of Aransas Pass that is in Aransas County — amounted to just over $4,600.

The largest share of the mixed-drink tax revenues went to Fulton which has received $2,252.35 from the comptroller's office.

Tax revenue to Rockport from mixed drink sales amounted to $906.27 and Aransas Pass received $1,501.28.

The tax return to the cities and county represent the 15 percent rebate on the 10 percent gross receipts tax charged by the state on mixed drink sales.

During 1980, the state received a total of $67.7 million in taxes from mixed drink sales.

The tax, authorized under the law that legalized the sale of mixed drink sales in Texas, is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission. Rebates are sent quarterly to cities and counties from the comptroller's office.

DEFOREST

(Continued From Page 1) as of the Pilot's press time had not yet contacted DeForest. Said Lt. Lorrigan, officer in charge of the investigation, "He's been through quite an ordeal and has been surrounded by people — I don't want to press him." Lorrigan planned an interview with DeForest Thursday afternoon or evening.

struction Co. of Ingleside, that it was missing, and Coast Guard helicopters from Corpus Christi and boats from Port O'Connor started a search at daylight Wednesday.

The private motor vessel Ling, aiding in the search, discovered the sunken tug, which had just the top of the bridge and superstructure above water, at 7:15 a.m. At 8:18 a.m., a helicopter spotted DeForest and he was airlifted to the Port O'Connor Coast Guard station, and then taken by ambulance to the Port Lavaca hospital.

The search continues for the others from the tug. It has been speculated by persons familiar with the area that currents may have swept them into the Gulf of Mexico. Coast Guard authorities hold little hope of finding any of them alive.

Early Wednesday morning, two civilian divers from Port O'Connor, Eddie Voss and Deputy Sheriff Rick Brush, dived on the sunken tug. Cold temperatures and muddy water hampered their search, but they found no sign of life.

Thursday morning, Champ Traylor Hospital reported that DeForest, who is reported to weigh approximately 300 pounds, is in satisfactory condition, and will be moved to a private room from the intensive care unit.

The Galveston was raised Wednesday afternoon, and is now docked in Port O'Connor.

According to Capt. Gerald Henson, of the Coast Guard Marine Safety Office, in Corpus Christi, there is "no evidence that DeForest holds a current captain's license," although there is record of him receiving a merchant seaman's license in 1974. Capt. Henson added that regulations do not require a current license for captains of mineral and oil towing vessels of less than 200 gross tons.

This 'N' That

Need proof of the power of advertising?

One of our readers sent us the following the other day, taken from the December, 1980, issue of the "Reader's Digest":

In a speech at Illinois University, Ralph Nader, to stress the impact of advertising, asked how many people knew the name of the Attorney General of the United States. A few hands went up.

Nader then asked if anyone knew Morris, the Cat. Not only was there a good show of hands but a round of applause as well.

From the Texas Highway Department, Traffic Safety Section, comes this tidbit for thought:

At 60 miles per hour, a car needs about 360 feet to come to a full stop. But at night, its headlights can only illuminate 300 feet — at the most.

That means if you're driving at 60 MPH at night, by the time you see a roadside hazard — such as a pedestrian, bike rider, animal, or stalled car — it's already too late to come to a full stop...

Also from the Highway Department is this: A new study by the insurance industry shows that is would cost $25,458 in parts and labor to repair a totally wrecked 1980 U.S. compact car which originally cost $6,018...

And do you remember those Burma Shave signs that used to decorate Texas roadsides with rhymes about traffic safety — always ending, of course, with Burma Shave? I do. So does a fellow by the name of Ed Jamicki who, in a recent issue of the "Southwest AAA Motorclub newspaper, quoted some of the more memorable jingles.

My favorite of the bunch he quoted was: "At school zones...heed instructions...protect our little...tax deductions..."

Somehow, it seems appropriate for this time of year.

Our home had a very delightful and most entertaining group from the Travel Trailer Haven of Fulton over Wednesday afternoon. Sal Espe and his band as well as other ladies and gentlemen came over and we just had a great time, singing the old songs, dancing, and being served cookies and punch by this group. We can't thank them enough for making so many of our residents happy. We will be looking forward to their next visit.

Also Wednesday afternoon Gloria Haskett brought out Troop 145 Cadette Girl Scouts to decorate our doors for Valentine's Day, with decorations the girls had made. Representing the troop were Kathy Hale, Laura Vest, Edith Arrington, Deborah Carawan and Julie Nations. These girls really made a hit with our residents when visiting with them.

Thursday afternoon, Mary Portenier, our Winter Texan, was out to do her volunteer visitation.

Friday morning, Frankie Edwards and Mary Gunn were out to lead their weekly paint class and to bring fruit and gum to their friends.

Saturday morning Father James Hamilton was out to give Holy Communion to all of our Catholic residents.

Sunday morning worship services were led by Rev. Al Bankert and Sunday afternoon, the Ingleside Church of Christ members and friends were over for their monthly group singing program.

Each morning, Tuesday through Friday, we had our reality and exercise program and also each morning and afternoon we had our coffee and social hour. We had many relatives and friends out to visit during the week which we are always glad to have.
