Bank Nights Ruled Illegal; Lubbock Shows To 'Go Ahead'

Plans Are Laid For Drawing In City Tonight

Broadway-Lyric Executive Not Reached But Lindsey Theaters Await Home Office 'Stop Sign'

ALTHOUGH the Court of Criminal Appeals—Texas' tribunal of last resort in criminal matters—yesterday held that theater bank nights are illegal, Lubbock theaters Wednesday night were planning to go ahead, as usual" tonight with the regular weekly feature.

J. C. Cooley, assistant manager of Lindsey Theaters, Inc., said last night that unless he received orders from main offices at Oklahoma City, Okla., today not to hold the drawing that it would be held tonight. The drawing would be for $700.

Officials Non-Committal

Officials of the county attorney's office made no statement concerning preventive steps other than possible prosecution would be considered if complaints were filed in county court. Members of the district attorney's office said that department had no authority to stop bank nights, since any action against the feature would be in county court.

Efforts to contact W. A. Mauldin, manager of Broadway and Lyric theaters, early this morning were unavailing. Bank nights here are held by the Lindsey Theaters, Inc., and Mauldin of the Broadway and Lyric theaters.

The Court of Criminal Appeals held yesterday, after 19 months of consideration, that theater bank nights were lotteries and therefore prohibited by statute.

Decision Is Unanimous

The decision was unanimous. Judge P. L. Hawkins did not join in the majority declaration by Judge O. S. Lattimore but delivered a concurring opinion.

The Supreme court had ruled several months ago that the picture show drawings for prizes involved the lottery principle but did not pass on the important question of whether they were forbidden by statute.

The test case was against H. S. Cole, picture show owner at Bonham. The Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed the $100 fine assessed against Cole on conviction of violating the lottery law.

Justice Makes Statement

"Reports of the courts of last resort of our sister states." Judge Lattimore said, "are replete with the sad story of the efforts of men to invent schemes to circumvent the lottery laws of various states of our commonwealth, but none seem to be more patiently thus characterized than the one now under consideration. The ease with which the multitudes can be led to invest small sums upon glittering prospects of large gains, decided by the turn of a wheel or the drawing of a card, has led fertile brains to produce scheme after scheme."

Snowslides Halting Search For Bodies

SALT LAKE CITY, June 9. (AP) — Snowslides drove searchers for bodies of seven December air crash victims off the mountain slope below the tragedy scene today. They threatened to bury the bodies themselves beyond all hope of early recovery.

An avalanche of rock-laden snow roared down late yesterday. Boulders were strewn 300 yards down the mountain. Scores of searchers for bodies of five men and two women killed when a Western Air Express transport drove into a towering peak above had been at the slide scene a short while before.

FDR's Farm Tenant Loan Bill Is Okeyed By Senate Subcommittee

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Farm tenant loan bill cut to the size desired by President Roosevelt won the approval of a Senate Agriculture subcommittee today.

In accordance with an agreement announced by Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.) after a White House visit ,the measure would authorize $10,000,000 for loans the first year to aid tenants to purchase farm homes, $25,000,000 the second, and $50,000,000 the third year.

Mother's Pleas For Erring Son Are Heard Here

A MOTHER'S plea gave hope to a 16-year-old boy last night that he may escape a term in the state training school for his confessed theft of fishing tackle because, as he said, "I wanted to go fishing."

The youth's previous record mitigated against suspension of sentence when he pleaded guilty before Judge Pitts in 99th district court Wednesday morning. But the judge decided to withhold decision until he talked with the mother late in the day.

Her promise then to take the boy to California and Pitts' personal knowledge that the youth was reared in a broken home caused him to delay final decision until today.

Judge and prosecutors expressed the frank belief, however, that the boy stole not to go fishing, but to get something to sell.

Names Will Be Called In Tax Dodging Probe

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 9. — Congressional leaders predicted tonight that the first move of a proposed investigating committee will be to make public the names of wealthy persons accused by President Roosevelt of tax evasion and avoidance.

The leaders said they expect those named then will be given an opportunity to appear before the committee and defend themselves.

Roosevelt Sends List

President Roosevelt sent Congress a list of alleged evasions and avoidances recently, but did not name the persons involved.

Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) of the Senate Finance committee announced today that he will ask the senate to agree to changes made by the House in a resolution ordering the investigation.

The house amendments would prevent the proposed investigating committee of senators and representatives from empowering an agent to make public results of secret investigations. They would require the committee itself to decide in every case whether publicity should be given.

Authorization Today

After Harrison's announcement, leaders forecast that the senate would complete congressional action authorizing the investigation tomorrow. This would permit the inquiry to begin next week.

White House officials announced that the inquiry resolution passed by the house is acceptable to President Roosevelt, and that he will take no part in any controversy over its terms.

City Building Continues On Its Upward Trend; Tech Gets Court

The pace was a trifle slower but Lubbock building permit records records continued their upward trend Wednesday with the authorization of three construction projects to cost a total of $3,250, according to Building Inspector D. J. Schlag. Total for the month was increased to $53,703.

Permits issued Wednesday included one for $1,000 to W. G. McMillan, contractor, for a cement tennis court to be constructed on Texas Technological college campus as the parting gift of the senior class of 1937 to the school.

Other permits were: to Louis Feldman, owner and contractor, for sheetiron warehouse at 1808 Avenue G, $1,000; and to Tom Garrett, owner and contractor, for frame residence costing $1,250 at 916 Third second street.

Parking Meters To Be Ordered Back 'At Once'

City Commission Meets Today When Resolution To Come Up; Two-Hour Limit Agreed On

A RESOLUTION described as a final preliminary to the actual reinstallation of parking meters in Lubbock is scheduled to receive the attention of City commission at its semi-monthly meeting in the City hall council chamber this afternoon starting at 1:30 o'clock.

The resolution, informants at City hall said, will be the formal order directing that meters now stored in city warehouses be adjusted so as to set two-hour parking periods instead of one hour as provided in the original Lubbock meter experiment. The Dual Parking Meter company, manufacturer of the device, has agreed to to make the re-adjustment, the commission was informed at its last meeting.

Meters Back "At Once"

Adoption of the expected order, it was announced, will be followed by return of the meters to the streets "at once," which was explained as meaning by June 15. Then will begin, barring the possibility of interruption, what the commission intends to be a 120-day test of the meters under an ordinance adopted at a recessed meeting last May 29.

City officials insisted Wednesday that they have heard nothing officially of a rumored renewal of opposition to the devices which forced their removal from the streets last December and which resulted in the commission adopting the new "corrective" ordinance under which the return of the gadgets is contemplated. While opponents of the meters have held one recent conference, those who attended said reluctance was expressed to waging a new court fight upon the devices, or to an attempt to force an immediate election on their reinstallation.

Election Is Planned

Off-the-record opinions were expressed that the contemplated 120-day test will be permitted to proceed and that the opposition then will center its attention on an election the city commission has pledged itself to call to determine whether citizens of Lubbock favor retention of the meters.

Another matter which may receive attention of today's commission meeting is a proposed recreational project under which the city and the WPA would jointly finance the development of city park recreational potentialities. J. I. Kilpatrick, chairman of a chamber of commerce committee appointed to investigate the project, said that he will not know until today whether desired data will be available for further discussions with City commission regarding the proposed undertaking.

Movie Great Grieve Openly As Simple Rites Mark Last Fadeout For Jean Harlow

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

GLENDALE, Calif., June 9. (AP)—Hollywood said goodbye today to Jean Harlow, after a funeral ceremony as simple in character and beautiful in form as the "glamour girl", herself.

The service lasted only 20 minutes. In spite of its infinite simplicity, however, a number of persons, emotionally stirred, broke down and appeared to be near collapse

WHO SENT THE GARDENIA?

GLENDALE, Calif., June 9. (AP)—Of the $25,000 worth of blossoms ranging from humble cornflowers to rare green and white orchids at Jean Harlow's funeral today, a single, fragrant gardenia was placed in her hand shortly before the body was taken to a receiving vault.

The inscription attached to the stem read: "Goodnight, my dearest darling."

The donor's name was omitted. Friends said only two persons could have sent it, Jean's mother, Mrs. Jean Bello, or William Powell, the film star's sweetheart.

As soon as the funeral service was completed the costly floral offerings were loaded into trucks and distributed to hospitals throughout Los Angeles.

before it was over. William Powell, the actor to whom Miss Harlow was said to be engaged, was one of these.

His face was working with grief when he entered the chapel. When he left, supporting Miss Harlow's mother, Mrs. Jean Bello, he seemed more composed. But as he sank back into his car, Powell brushed aside his dark glasses and buried his face in his hands. His shoulders twitched, convulsively.

Others Weep Bitterly

Mrs. Bello was weeping bitterly. So were two girls who had been the actress' makeup attendants.

The mother, Powell, and Jean's father, Dr. Montclair Carpenter, of Kansas City, were the last to look upon her. Later today they decided the body will remain here and not be taken to Kansas City, the star's former home. Temporarily, the body reposes in a vault back of the Wee Kirk O' The Heather until Mrs. Bello chooses between cremation and a permanent crypt.

Barely 200 persons, most of them Hollywood stars and studio executives, were admitted to the church today.

Warner Baxter was one of the first to arrive. Clark Gable, who was both an usher and pall-bearer, came with Carole Lombard.

Movie Great Grieve

Ronald Colman, with no trace of emotion in his face, came alone. So did Spencer Tracy, who followed him by a few steps. Tracy was without a hat. His heavy, reddish-brown hair was twisted and tousled in the wind, and the lines of his face were more deeply cut than any Brady is said to have made a statement on the case at Coleman, where he was apprehended. Recently he was returned to the county jail here.

Group To Study Hospital Needs Of Area's Vets

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 9. (AP) — Brigadier General Frank T. Hines of the Federal Board of Hospitalization announced today the appointment of a subcommittee to study, among other things, proposals for a veterans hospital in the Texas Panhandle.

Representatives Marvin Jones of Amarillo, and George Mahon, of Colorado, whose districts are in or near the Panhandle, have introduced House bills for the erection of such structures in their section of the state at costs of $1,050,000 each. Jones' bill calls for a 300-bed hospital.

El Paso Seeks One

Representative R. E. Thomason of El Paso has introduced a bill asking for the erection of a hospital at a cost of $1,000,000, and Representative Clyde L. Garrett said he has been considering the introduction of a similar bill for the erection of one in his district.

The administration said the density of the veteran population in the Panhandle would largely determine the location, if and when such a structure is recommended by the committee, on which Dr. Thomas Parran, jr., surgeon general; general George H. Wood and Colonel George E. Ijams will serve. Parran is committee chairman.

Angry War Vets Demonstrate Against Amnesty Plans

BRUSSELS, June 9. (AP)—Mounted troops and tanks were thrown about Belgian parliament buildings tonight after angry war veterans had demonstrated against a proposal before the senate which would grant amnesty of all war-time prisoners.

Four hundred veterans threw their decorations on the tomb of unknown soldier in protest against the measure.

A delegation of former service men called on the speaker of the senate and swore to kill any "traitor" who profited by such amnesty. They left only after they were told the measure would not come up for a vote today.

Governor, Still Generous, OK's Rural Aid Bill

Eleemosynary Bill Also Gets Approval; Legislature Goes Ahead In War On Gambling

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 9.—Governor James V. Allred signed two more of the important biennial appropriation bills today while the legislature carefully mapped plans for the campaign against gambling which motivated its extraordinary session.

The governor affixed his signature to the rural school aid and the eleemosynary appropriation measures, which totalled, respectively, $11,000,000 and $14,131,615. To the surprise of some, he did not blue-pencil a single item, despite the fact that only a few weeks ago he had said he would eliminate everything possible because of the heavy increase in total appropriations and failure of the legislature to provide additional revenue.

Both Appropriations Up

The eleemosynary appropriation was $2,654,524 more than for the current biennium while that to help the rural schools was $1,000,000 more. However, in the last two years the schools received, in addition to a regular appropriation of $10,000,000 a deficiency provision of $1,080,000.

Only the departmental bill, of the five major appropriation bills, remained on the gubernatorial desk, those providing for educational institutions and judiciary having been approved previously. They appropriated $16,657,001 and $4,951,130, respectively, marking increases of $5,600,009 and $495,109. As it went to the governor from the legislature, the department bill appropriated $24,307,221, an increase of $1,814,901.

Other Bills Signed

The governor also signed bills setting up a teachers retirement system and providing terms of state and district offices not fixed by the constitution should begin on Jan. 1.

With the governor's study of legislation passed at the general session nearing completion, sub-committees of House and Senate consider jointly bills aimed to outlaw book-making on horse races, dog track betting, marble machines and other forms of gambling. Floor action was not expected until next week and there was pending a concurrent resolution authorizing adjournment until Monday.

The House judiciary committee favorably reported a bill designed to encourage citizens to bring injunction suits against bookie shops

Street Markers To Be Installed

The first of Lubbock's new street markers probably will be installed this week, according to Marlin R. Smith, jr., city engineer.

Already a crew of a dozen Works Progress administration laborers have built more than 1,600 of the concrete bases upon which steel nameplates will be placed. According to present plans, 2,732 markers will be placed at street and avenue intersections.

Start On First Street

The government employes will start installing the markers on First street. They will place markers on streets in the order of their number, after which avenue markers will be installed, Smith said, in order to eliminate confusion. Two shipments of the nameplates already have arrived including approximately 900 markers.

The bases on which the names of streets and avenues will be placed are about 2' inches long and will stand above the ground about 8 or 9 inches. They will be buried 10 to 12 inches deep. On streets where there is concrete curbing, the concrete slabs will be placed just becommittee filed a complaint with the National Labor Relations board charging the Inland Steel Corp. had violated the Labor act by refusing to enter negotiations for a signed contract.

Fishing Catch Here Weighs 1,500 Pounds--No Foolin'

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

THE City of Lubbock counted its fishing season a huge success late Wednesday with a 1,500 pound beauty, more than 30 feet in length, as its prize.

The struggle lasted for days but finally the trophy was hoisted during the late afternoon upon the banks of the spring-fed reservoir on the city's 80-acre tract northwest of the city limits. Some day the city hopes to create a lake of 10-acres or thereabouts which will be Lubbock's water safeguard should the well supply be crippled.

The trophy of this particular fishing expedition was a drill bit which snapped in a quicksand strata of a test water well being drilled at the spot by the Baron Drilling company of Lubbock under contract with the city. Engineers believe that underground streams will tap streams to produce at the rate of 700 to 1,000 gallons per minute. If expectations are realized, other wells will be drilled about the spot, the flow of all will be diverted into the reservoir and the lake will be made possible.

The test well, however, has been a jinx for the driller almost from the beginning. Expectations were that the water level at a depth of about 100 feet would be reached almost a month ago. Depth Wednesday, city officials said, was 55 feet and they have

Hour In Jail Is Assessed Here In Liquor Case

ONE OF THE lightest penalties ever administered by a court in Lubbock county yesterday afternoon was assessed Mrs. O. J. Rowden, charged in county court with liquor law violation.

A jury of six found her guilty and set her sentence at one hour in jail. It was believed she would pay the penalty sometime today. The verdict was rendered after brief deliberation by jurors. The case was started about 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

Robert J. Allen, county attorney, represented the state, and Hill Stewart was attorney for Mrs. Rowden.

A liquor law violation charge against Mrs. T. M. Hill was continued until the first Monday in July, Judge Dillard said. Mrs. Rowden and her husband had been named as co-defendants in the charge, but severance was allowed.

The walkout, keeping 73,000 steel workers idle, entered its third week last night.

Governor Murphy, who was in Pittsburgh yesterday, planned a hasty return to the Michigan capital to attempt settlement of the dispute at the Newton Steel Co. mill at Monroe. Officals of the plant, a Republic subsidiary, decided to defer reopening until 4 p. m. Thursday.

Earlier the opening was set for 3 a. m., with union forces and law agencies mobilizing in anticipation. More than 150 officers were held in readiness. C. I. O. leaders said "8,000 to 10,000" men would come from the Detroit area to reinforce the Monroe pickets.

Rain of near cloudburst proportions, high wind and a severe electrical storm struck the Parsons area last night, producing four inches of moisture. Several creeks flooded but no excessive damage was expected.

Fall Meets May Be Held Under Injunctions

Speaker Calvert Tells House There's "Much Thought" Being Given Possibility Of Suits

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 9.—Speaker Robert W. Calvert told the House of Representatives today there was "considerable thought" that attempts would be made to hold fall horse racing meets in Texas under court injunctions.

Calvert made the statement in connection with his signature under protest of a bill repealing the law authorizing horse racing under the certificate system of wagering. He objected to the bill because it bore a certificate stating that a point of order was raised against Senate consideration.

Proposal Not Yet Signed

Governor James V. Allred's signature of the proposal, which would become effective 90 days after adjournment of the current special legislative session, was postponed for picture-taking purposes. The chief executive said he might have to wait until Monday in order that all 17 senators who voted for engrossment of the repeal bill could be here for the signing.

The certificate to which Calvert objected was placed on the bill by Lt. Gov. Walter F. Woodul at the request of Senate anti-repealists. The lieutenant-governor expressed the opinion its inclusion would not affect validity of the act.

"It is well known," Calvert said, "that the "that the courts have held they will not go behind the enrolled copy of a bill for the purpose of determining whether or not procedural requirements in the legislature have been compiled with.

Calvert Expresses Doubts

"This unusual certificate no doubt represents an effort to make it possible for the courts to abandon this rule and look to the journals to determine whether or not procedural requirements have been properly compiled with in the Senate. Personally, I doubt the certificate is effective for that purpose. It probably would be treated as surplusage by the courts since the constitution does not require a certificate of any character, and even if not treated as surplusage, I doubt the courts would abandon such a long standing policy in determining validity of the acts of the legislature.

"However, one cannot be certain of this. Evidently someone wishes the certificate or the usual certificate would not have been abandoned and this enlarged form used. If it may be assumed that the enlarged certificate is desired by any person, then I think it must be assumed that the object in seeking its use is that it might be useful in invalidating the bill.

"There is considerable thought that validity of the law will be attacked in the courts and especially that an injunction will be sought by the proprietors of the racing establishments so as to permit operation of the tracks during the fall racing season."

MRS. BROWNING'S LETTERS

MANUSCRIPTS and letters telling of the romance and runaway marriage of Elizabeth Barrett with Poet Robert Browning brought $18,000 at a public auction in London Monday. We hope the buyer will cherish them the way we are sure the college professor who taught us an appreciation of the English poets would do. Preserved by George and Arabel Barrett, brother and sister of Mrs. Browning, the collection included a series of 111 letters from Mrs. Browning to her sister.

It was Arabel who received the heart-searching first letter describing the flight from England and her new-found happiness, written on September 26, 1846, one week after the flight from Wimpole Street and a fortnight after the marriage. It seems rather appalling that these confidences of her favorite sister should be made public property, especially when we remember how shy the frail young woman was. But such is the price one pays for fame.

SHE WAS INVITED

AFTER interviewing well-informed Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, editor of cooperative extension work in agriculture and home economics in Texas, during her recent visit to Lubbock, we wrote a paragraph or two wondering why the Texas woman has never been called to Washington to confer with the President or Department of Agriculture workers. In Wednesday's mail came a note from her and the suggestion:

"FDR must have read that most flattering paragraph you had about me in your paper last month because I'm on my way to Washington day after tomorrow."

MIND YOUR MANNERS

TEST your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. When a hostess who is maidless serves a meal, is it correct for her to save steps by removing two plates or dishes at a time?
2. In preparing halves of grapefruit for serving, should the core be removed?
3. In which hand does the waitress hold a dish when she presents it for a guest to help himself?
4. When a platter is being removed from the table, should the silver be left on it?
5. How many salt and pepper shakers should be on a table?

What would you do if—

You are a hostess who has no ice cream forks and want to serve brick ice cream?

Use—

(a) Salad forks?
(b) Dinner forks?
(c) Teaspoons?

Answers

1. Yes.
2. It is preferable.
3. Left, unless dish is so heavy that it is necessary to steady it with right hand.
4. Yes.
5. One set between each two covers.

Best "What Would You Do" solution—(a). A spoon would be correct for ice cream served in sherbet glasses.

LIBRARY DREAM TRUE

READING the story of the library appropriation which means at long last there will be adequate room for the thousands of books and manuscripts at Texas Technological college and space for students to study, our first thought was of Miss Elizabeth West, librarian since the opening of the institution, and of how pleased she must be. Only those who have been associated with Miss West know how deeply she felt the need for a library. She was always philosophical about it, apparently relieving that the college would be remembered someday.

She never complained about the crowded conditions. Indeed she is such a good sport she almost made a game of finding room enough for the constantly incoming volumes. Long ago the basement was stacked past capacity and after the heat tunnel was closed for the summer even that oval space was utilized. She didn't think there was anything unusual in that; just was glad we escaped floods that might have ruined the books.

A person who never is downed by almost overwhelming odds is just the sort needed to have the place Miss West holds. And because she has expected the library appropriation for so long we know that she is in no way hysterical over it. Just proud and very grateful. That's Miss West.

Business And Professional Women Are Anticipating Future Jury Service

Striking back at abstractions, including the jibe that women are too emotional for such duty, Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs has suggested to its affiliants they prepare themselves for probable future jury service.

Under state law, a woman may not serve on a Texas jury. Women have become more insistent within recent years, however, that they have equal rights in hearing civil and criminal testimony from the jury box, just as they have equal rights of suffrage.

Forces Are Divided

Forces in Lubbock apparently are evenly divided on the question. Answers typical of those received from members of the Business and Professional Women's club here:

Jennie Fay Stennett, president of the club—"I have always been in favor of women serving on juries. They are quite competent to do so."

Elsie V. Link, secretary—"Jury service should be optional for women."

Lavenia Williams, city secretary—"Oh my goodness, I wouldn't want to serve on one. Would you?"

Mrs. Allie M. Dyer, president and manager of a ladies' shop—"I am not very much in favor of it. Women are too easily swayed. People would no longer get a fair trial."

Mrs. Fred Higbee, postoffice clerk—"Most women are as capable of filling the place as men."

Lubbock And Near Counties Bulwarked Against Typhoid

Inspection Shows Improvement Over Past, State Man Reports

Report that Lubbock and six of its neighbor counties are more thoroughly safeguarded against menace of typhoid and dysentary epidemics as the "danger season" approaches than ever before in their history, was made here Wednesday afternoon by Lewis Dodson of Amarillo, district supervisor of community sanitation and malaria control for the state health department.

Here for inspections which will require several days, Dodson said that within a period of 14 months, 2,206 potential breeding places of typhoid germs have been eliminated by the construction of sanitary toilets and septic tanks as WPA projects in the seven counties of Lubbock, Hale, Crosby, Floyd, Hockley, Lamb and Hall.

Old Danger Removed

Among the danger places eliminated, he said, are several to which several typhoid epidemics of last year were traced. One in particular, he said, was found to be responsible for 18 cases of typhoid fever which developed within the space of two or three days.

In Lubbock county alone, his report continued, 622 sanitary toilets and 128 septic tanks have been installed in cooperation with the WPA.

Projects of that kind, Dodson explained, are the only type which the WPA is permitted to sponsor in cooperation with an individual. That method of cooperation is for the WPA to furnish the labor and the owner the materials, most of which usually can be found about the average farm, thus reducing the cost of the improvement to the owner. The extreme cost to such owner, Dodson added, would be about $25 while usually, the outlay to him is closer to $6.

Applications for such projects, his report continued, should be made through the county sanitation supervisor who, in Lubbock, is Olin Lee, with headquarters at South Plains fairgrounds.

Surface Just Scratched

"The work thus far done," said Dodson, "has little more than scratched the surface of the problem. However, the projects are well distributed so as to give visual example of their effectiveness to the largest number of home owners. The result is to bring an increasing realization of the necessity of such sanitation measures."

Dodson warned that July and August usually are the danger months for typhoid, and he predicted that sanitation projects already built will materially reduce the number of cases of fever in the areas where they have been constructed.

Hits Low Bank Wage

DALLAS, June 9. (AP) — The low wages paid bank employes were condemned from the bench in United States District court today by Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, above.

In sentencing Forrest R. Hazelwood, bank teller, to jail for six months after he pleaded guilty to embezzlement from the City National bank of Cleburne, the court said: "the banks should pay their employes enough to live on."

He added, however, "on the other hand, these young men should not take these places unless they can live on the salaries paid."

Hazelwood pleaded guilty to embezzling $3,627.05.

Records Of County Clerk Prove Farmers Really Have Taken To Fields; Business Is Slow

Daily records of County Clerk Ed D. Allen gave evidence Wednesday that farmers actually have returned to their fields to hasten the replanting made necessary by recent rains.

A list of filings kept available for ready reference in the office tabulated only 11 documents Wednesday and a total of 16 for the two days up to Wednesday afternoon.

The number compares with 27 Monday and an ordinary day's average of more than 50 with occasional rush days of more than 100, Allen said.

Traffic Course At Tech Commended

Traffic safety instruction being offered for teachers by Texas Technological college during the summer term which began this week was commended in a letter received by President Bradford Knapp from Dr. L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction.

"Permit me to congratulate you on taking this forward step. At a time when the attention of civic-minded groups is focused upon the very grave problem of reducing traffic accidents, it seems to me that it is quite proper for the institutions of higher learning to prepare teachers to teach safety," said Supt. Woods.

Reminder that enrollment in the course still is open was given Wednesday by F. L. McRee, associate professor of civil engineering and instructor of the course. Teachers planning to teach traffic safety courses in their schools are eligible to enroll. Teachers will be further aided through manuals which will be issued by the state department next fall, according to the letter from the state superintendent.

Goodwin Is Speaker At Rotary Club

Chemistry and its part in the development of modern comforts of life, was explained to Rotarians yesterday noon by Dr. R. C. Goodwin, head of the department of chemistry of Texas Technological college.

Warren P. Clement presided as chairman of the day and introduced the speaker. President Don L. Jones called a brief meeting of the directors following the luncheon.

Explaining that present day publicity about chemical research and developments probably, "had been carried to the extreme," Dr. Goodwin cited the use of the word "scientific" on many industrial and commercial products as "running into the ground," a technical back ground for many products.

Chemistry itself is old, dating back probably to early Egyptian dynasties and before, but modern chemistry is only 100 years old. The starting of the Chemical Foundation in 1918, by Francis P. Garvin, after the death of his little girl, was traced briefly. It has done much to render chemical assistant to medicine.

During war times, Dr. Goodwin pointed out, not over 10 per cent of the chemical industry is devoted to war material production, while in peace times, not over one per cent. Many chemical manufacturing plants can be changed over to a production of war munitions in two weeks or longer.

Believed In Supremacy

A factor in the recent World war was Germany's belief that it had chemical supremacy. Chemistry has a large part in the development of raw agricultural products into commercial uses.

Industry realizes the need for pure research," he said, and a proportion of research by chemists in many lines does not relate to that particular line. Dr. Goodwin showed several recent products of research work.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. # State Hospital Committee "Rolls Up Sleeves"; Preliminary Work Well Begun

Questions Of Statistics, Sites Considered By Local Workers

Chamber of commerce secret committee leading Lubbock's fight for the West Texas State hospital for which the recent legislature made financial provision figuratively rolled up its sleeves and went to work Wednesday.

Warned by their chairman that "we may have to move our cots and a stove into the chamber of commerce and stay on the job", the committee held its first session in several days and at its end, reported progress toward the submission of Lubbock's formal application for the hospital. C. E. Maedgen is chairman of the committee.

Sites To Be Submitted

Most important of the commitee's actions at its meeting was the decision to submit several prospective hospital sites to the state Board of Control and invite that body to tske its choice should the hospital be awarded to Lubbock. The committee was revealed as having accepted options on three possible sites, made tentative acceptances of others and announcing that other tracts of lands likely will be submitted before June 20, the deadline for submitting applications.

The committee did not disclose the specific sites under consideration, but did reveal that each of them more than matches the requirements laid down by the state board for the site which must be offered before a community may be considered as a location.

The minimum requirements as to site are 300 acres of good agricultural land, although expectation is that the city selected will offer substantially more than is required in area and in quality.

Wednesday's meeting also gave preliminary consideration to a mass of statistical and descriptive data relative to Lubbock which will be included in the application for the hospital. The compiling of that data is largely a matter of intricate detail on which the personnel of the chamber of commerce expects to work almost until the deadline for submitting the application.

While Maedgen did not set a time for the next meeting of the hospital committee, he advised members to expect calls at any time. He warned that the matter of hospital selection must be made paramount to all others until the award actually has been made, probably within a few weeks after June 20.

Maedgen said also that he plans to ask an early meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce for its approval of the hospital committee's actions.

C. E. Maedgen, Lubbock banker and former president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development, is chairman of the important secret committee seeking to secure for Lubbock the location of the newly authorized West Texas hospital for mental patients.

Power Strike, Affecting Half Million Persons, Settled

Electricity Is Off 15 Hours

(By The Associated Press)

FLINT, Mich., June 9. — Nearly half a million residents of the Saginaw valley were spared a night of darkness when striking employes of the Consumers Power Co. voted today to restore electric service that had been shut off here for 15 hours.

Flint division employes, first to vote, accepted, 88 to 27, an agreement between the Commitee for Industrial Organization and the power company reached last midnight in Washington.

Then the negotiations committee, which flew here from Washington to submit the agreement to the strikers, left for Saginaw. Wyndham Mortimer, first vice-president of the United Automobile Workers who headed the committee, said he was confident the employes of the Saginaw and Bay City divisions would accept it.

Strikers Defy Leaders

Since early morning the strikers had turned deaf ears to the pleas of their leaders that they restore service. They insisted upon waiting until the committee submitted the agreement to them in writing.

Just three weeks ago today, a power strike affecting the same area was terminated after nine hours when union leaders and Governor Frank Murphy prevailed upon the men to go back to work pending further negotiations on wages. The governor said then that "this must not happen again."

Praise of book-ends made in the mechanical engineering department of Texas Technological college has been received in a letter from Gov. James V. Allred, who received the book-ends as a gift last week. The department sent similar gifts to members of the board of directors.

The gift has drawn "no end of favorable comment" from visitors in the governor's office, according to the letter received by H. F. Godeke, head of the mechanical engineering department. "They are splendidly done and most handsome in appearance," the governor wrote.

Names of the officials receiving the gifts were cast into the brass book-ends.

County Court Is To Hear Cases

County court will be busy today with Judge J. J. Dillard on the bench.

Cases on today's docket are: Mrs. J. C. Hamby, liquor law violation, R. L. Davis, liquor law violation, and Jno. W. Thompson, tall real estate man, swindling with worthless check. The case against Mrs. Hamby was continued, said the county attorney.

Judge Dillard indicated the court probably would hear the lunacy trial of a woman who several times has faced charges of liquor law violations here. Proceedings were filed yesterday.

Physicians who have examined her, attorneys were advised, have recommended that she be taken without delay to the state hospital at Galveston for the treatment of psychopathic ailments. The woman, the county attorney was informed, has been confined to her bed for several weeks following a nervous breakdown.

Hot Weather is Here—Beware of Biliousness!

Have you ever noticed that in very hot weather your organs of digestion and elimination seem to become torpid or lazy? Your food sours, forms gas, causes belching, heartburn, and a feeling of restlessness and irritability. Perhaps you may have sick headache, nausea and dizziness or blind spells on suddenly rising. Your tongue may be coated, your complexion bilious and your bowel actions sluggish or insufficient.

These are some of the more common symptoms or warnings of biliousness or so-called "torpid liver," so prevalent in hot climates. Don't neglect them. Take Calotabs, the improved calomel compound tablets that give you the effects of calomel and salts, combined. You will be delighted with the prompt relief they afford. WHEN TIRE SAFETY IS VALUED MOST!

PROVIDE THE EXTRA MARGIN OF SAFETY ON THE SPEEDWAY OR THE HIGHWAY

THOUSANDS said that tires could not stand the terrific grind. They said cars had been built with much greater speed, turns in the track had been repaved with granite-like surface; yet Wilbur Shaw drove to victory on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires setting a new record of 113.58 miles per hour on one of the hottest days in the history of the Indianapolis track.

Here is stamina — here is dependability — here is performance that is proof of safety. 500 miles over the blistering hot brick track, at temperatures of more than 100°. Speeds of 130, 140, and even 150 were attained on the straightaways. Think of the terrific impact on these tires as the cars roared into the treacherous turns and out again. Tons of force straining, pulling, and twisting inside the tire, yet not one cord loosened, not one tread separated from the cord body — all because Gum-Dipping, the Firestone patented process, successfully counteracted the internal friction and heat that ordinarily destroy tire life.

Why have Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires been on all the winning cars at Indianapolis for the past eighteen years? Why did every one of the thirty-three drivers in this greatest of all racing events choose and buy Firestone Tires? # Dizzy Dean Turns Grim And Silent To Pin Back Ears Of Giants And Hubbell

Cards Take 8-1 Victory; Lose Second, 3 To 2

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP)—Dizzy Dean stood out there before a hostile throng of 55,577 fans today and turned in one of the best pitched games of his spectacular major league career to pin back the ears of the Giants and Carl Hubbell, 8 to 1 in the first game of today's double header at the Polo Grounds.

Harry Danning, a pinch hitter, delivered a ninth inning homer to enable the Giants to win the nightcap, 3 to 2 and remain in first place by a margin of just a few points.

Crowd Comes To Jeer

The big crowd, which came to jeer and hoot, but remained to cheer, saw the Cardinals' ace right-hander narrowly miss plastering the Giants with a coat of whitewash as he mowed them down with three widely scattered hits, a double and a single by George (Kiddo) Davis and another one-ply swat by young Jimmy Ripple.

While old Diz, making his first appearance against the Giants since the riotous afternoon of May 19 in St. Louis, had the New Yorkers swinging their heads off at his high hard one, the gas house gang was getting to Hubbell for 13 safeties, in the eight innings he toiled before giving way to Dick Coffman.

Brusie Ogrodowski and Don Padgett led the assault with three apiece.

They're All Square

The victory pulled Dean up to within one game of Hubbell in the series between the two. The count now stands at 5 to 4 in Hub's favor. So far this season, each has trimmed the other once.

It was no wise-cracking bad boy that tamed the Giants today, but a grim, uncompromising young man who literally pitched his head off to show the Terrymen he could trim them without throwing "bean balls," the direct cause of the St. Louis rioting last month.

On the bench before the game, Dean, usually the loudest of all the loud-mouthed Cardinals said hardly a word. He just sat there staring into center field.

Is He Scared?

Finally someone asked, "are you scared?"

"Me?" replied Dean. "I ain't scared of nothing."

Then he strode to the middle of the diamond and proved his remarks with far and away the most convincing demonstration and fancy pitching Polo Grounders have seen this season.

Dean breezed his fast one by the Giants to retire 13 batters in order, five of them by strikeouts. Then third-sacker Stan Bordagaray let a sizzler off Davis' bat go through his legs for a double and the first New York hit.

A wild throw by Leo Durocher in the seventh, put a man on second in time for him to ride home aboard Davis' second hit and rob Diz of a shutout.

Sad Day For Carl

Booed from the minute he stepped on the field, Dean had the big crowd with him at the finish. He got a ripple of applause after the first when he fanned Dick Bartell and Lou Chiozza and made Jimmy Ripple fly to center, won additional converts as the innings rolled on and when he came back to the bench for the second game, the stands made it unanimous as they applauded a magnificent exhibition of slab work.

It was a sad afternoon for Hubbell, erstwhile king of the screwball who has now been shellacked from the rubber in his last four starts. He didn't have his usual stuff and was hampered by shoddy fielding in the early stages.

The Hubbers were yipping and yahooing yesterday, but not hitting the ball any too consistently, in one of the best workout sessions of the season.

Tomorrow afternoon the Hubmen play their final home game before taking to the road. They meet the little known but swiftly improving Muleshoe club in a week-day feature at three o'clock Friday afternoon at the local park, then start returning games away from home Sunday at Sudan.

Yesterday's workout consisted mainly of a scrimmage with the Black Hubbers, well-dressed, hard-hitting, nifty-fielding, loud-talking negro nine which makes its official debut Sunday in a double header with the popular San Angelo colored team. The two-bame bill is to start at 2:30 o'clock, at the local park. It promises a lively entertainment bill for whites and blacks, the covered grandstand to be reserved for the "whites," with special sections otherwise held for what is expected to be a huge "colored folks" crowd.

Friday's game with Muleshoe is the nearest attraction, however, and the turnout of fans for this contest will determine the practicability of scheduling weekday games.

Muleshoe No Setup

Sunday crowds have been satisfactory, and fans of the town and countryside have suggested playing weekday games. So it'll be tried out tomorrow. If the fans show up in sufficient numbers, other weekday games will be carded.

Muleshoe's team is not considered a set-up, by any means. The team has been building up gradually since early spring, has not "popped off" about itself, and has played but few games. But the club is coming to the front, and Manager C. E. Smith believes it'll be a good match for the Hubbers.

Lefty Beans Pair probably will start against Muleshoe tomorrow. He wobbled badly in his last start, after pitching good ball in his other starts. Against Amarillo, he failed to click, and was removed before the first inning was over. He's "due" now, however, and should be at his best. Slim Spradlin, steady, curveball righthander, will be ready to take the mound if Pair falters again.

Lefty Blanchard, ace of the club, will be there, too, but probably will be "saved" for Sunday's game against the Strong Sudan outfit, which played Lubbock a good game here recently.

Race Drivers Win Guarantee Appeal

INDIANAPOLIS, June 9. (AP) — The nation's leading race pilots ended a "sit-down" strike for "guarantees" here today and started rolling toward New York to compete in the George Vanderbilt Cup race at the Roosevelt raceway July 3.

Leon Duray, spokesman for the drivers, said, "we'll race those foreigners silly for the $70,000 put up by the Roosevelt raceway management and the added accessory prizes which will make the total well over $100,000.

"We are just battling for the tail end drivers, and when the Roosevelt raceway owners understood our point they readily agreed."

From Paul Abbott, raceway treasurer, came the announcement that only the 30 fastest cars will be permitted to start the race.

A total of $50,000 will be decided among the first ten cars to finish the race, with $20,000 to the winner.

Abbott said the $10,000 consolation prize would be divided equally into 20 prizes of $500 for each of the 20 cars which start, but which do not participate in the first ten place prize awards. This was the concession won by the drivers.

Heavy Rain Throws Damper On Opening Of National Open; Stars Assembled

By ALAN GOULD

BIRMINGHAM, Mich., June 9. (AP)—The weather man tossed a big wet blanket of rain over final preparations today for the opening round of gunfire in the battle of Oakland Hills.

Neither the all-day downpour nor the low visibility, however, obscured the likelihood that the 41st United States Open golf championship, starting tomorrow, will be another free-for-all shot-making scramble.

Made up of 167 assorted shot makers at the latest checkup, survivors of country-wide eliminations, the all-star field faced a rugged scoring fight for the title, as well as fame, fortune and fares to Europe for the quartet of professionals landing the remaining places on the American Ryder Cup team. The latest withdrawal was George Von Elm of Los Angeles 1931 runner-up.

To Trim Roughs

Eleventh-hour encouragement for the rain-bound golfing forces came from the United States Golf association which announced, through President John G. Jackson, that the foot-high rough would be cut to less hazardous proportions on a half dozen holes.

The order to get out the mowing machines before the first pair tees off at 8:15 a. m. (est) tomorrow was issued after a thorough inspection of the Oakland Hills Country club layout, host to the tournament for the first time since 1924 (when Cyril Walker's 297 was the winning score) and rated one of the toughest tests in the middle west.

Prospects that the course will play "slow" as a result of today's steady rain, favored the chances of the big hitters and accounted for the fact that most club house betting installed such clouters as Henry Picard, Byron Nelson, Ky Laffon, Slammin' Sam Snead and Ralph Gauldahl among the top choices.

Bookies Quote Odds

Rival bookmakers made Snead and Tommy Armour the betting choices, at respective odds of 8 to 1 and 10 to 1.

Odds quoted against the chances of Picard, Cooper, Nelson, Guldahl, Laffoon and Menero ranged from 10 to 16 to 1.

Twenty five amateurs are listed among the starters, including Omaha's Johnny Goodman, the 1933 champion, but all are long-shots. Jimmy McGonagill of Dallas has shown the best practice form of any simon-pure.

Single rounds will be played tomorrow and Friday. The low 60 and ties for 60th place will qualify for the final 36 holes Saturday. If there is a tie for first place, the playoff will be at 18 holes on Sunday.

Cleveland Climbs Half-Game From American Lead

CLEVELAND, June 9. (AP)—Cleveland evened up its series with Boston today by landing on three pitchers for 14 hits and a 12 to 6 victory. Jimmy Foxx hit his tenth home run of the season. With the Yankees and White Sox idle, the Indians drew within a half game of first place.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Boston | 101 000 400 | 6 11 0 |
| Cleveland | 421 200 03x | 12 14 0 |

Ostermueller, McKain and DeSautels; Berg; Harder and Sullivan.

Runs batted in, Averill, Trosky 2, Solters, Hale 2, Sullivan, Hughes 3, Harder, Cronin, Foxx 4, McNair. Two base hits, McNair, Cronin, Sullivan, Averill, Trosky, Hughes. Three base hits, Trosky, Averill. Home runs, Foxx. Stolen bases, Hale. Sacrifices, Solters, Harder 2. Left on bases, Boston 7; Cleveland 9. Bases on balls, Ostermueller 4, Olson 3, McKain 1, Harder 2. Strikeouts, Ostermueller 1, Olson 1, Harder 4. Hits, off Ostermueller 7 in 2 innings; Olson 4 in 4 2-3; McKain 3 in 1 1-3. Losing pitcher, Ostermueller.

PANTHERS GET PITCHER

ST. PAUL, June 9. (AP)—Manager Fred Kaney of Toledo, American Association club announced today that Joe Hare, right hand hurler, had been released to Fort Worth of the Texas League and that the Hens had signed Lou Garland, who pitched for the club last season.

Rudy York, who will play in the outfield, and Vic Sorrell, pitcher, joined the club today, coming down from the Detroit Tigers.

The city of Johannesburg, South Africa, was founded after gold was discovered there in 1886.

Vic Weber Climbs Toward His Former Wrestling Niche By Beating Sheik Mar Allah; Lipscomb Is Winner

Vic Weber showed some of his old time cunning last night to win a more or less impressive main event victory over Sheik Ben Ali Mar Allah of Persia to climax an exciting show at Sled Allen's Auditorium.

Weber, after leading with his chin and being outfoxed by the swiftly moving, sleek Sheik, in turn surprised the Sheik and all the customers by scramming for the ropes barely in time to save his hide, the match, and his self respect. The Sheik had won the second fall with a well executed Japanese crab hold, in 15 minutes. He slapped it on again after 8 minutes of a very fast third fall, but Weber, who had been trying to act the part of a gentleman throughout the match, pulled himself under the ropes. He got up mad, whipped Mar Allah with a couple of bouncing jolts off the ropes, then smothered him for the fall.

Vic used the same hold in the first fall to win in 14 minutes. Outside of his victory spurts, Vic looked slow and not exactly smart against the Persian, who applies very few wrestling holds but who can do plenty of damage with the few he uses. They swapped arm stretches for the first ten minutes, wrestling fairly clean. Mar Allah used a vicious reverse hammer lock to almost win, but Vic came out of it, used the Irish whip off the ropes and won.

They did a heap of good, solid arm wrestling in the second fall, but when they got rough, the Sheik grabbed Vic's legs, turned him over and applied the crab.

Kopecky, Hagen Draw

The supporting card almost swiped the show, starting with the first event when Buck Lipscomb, brash, tough youngster from Indiana, added dozens of enemies with an uncouth attack upon the person of Ace Freeman. He literally whipped Freeman to a pulp, striking before the bell sounded and keeping it up, biting, choking, hair-pulling and slugging, much to the disgust of the fans and apparently to the disdain of the referee. Buck won in 12 minutes with a Japanese crab. There followed a little scrap between Buck and Referee Alan Plummer, the latter succeeding in quieting the ambitious Hoosier.

Veteran Joe Kopecky was the regal figure of the show, however. He mixed with Jack Hagen in a free-for-all that went the limit but which Kopecky might have stopped after the halfway mark. He pounded, choked and hammered Hagen to a frazzle. Again the referee didn't intervene, and how Jack stood up long enough for the final bell to ring remains a mystery. He did not fight back like he had promised, mostly because Kopecky led the battle and gave Hagen little opportunity.

Canines Draw Applause

Promoter Sled Allen announced that Kopecky, apparently the hottest thing in wrestling pants around here, would take on Jack Reynolds, the welterweight champion, in next week's main event. Reynolds has the reputation for being one of the cagiest grapplers going. He is known in this section for his fights at Amarillo with Cal Farley.

As a special treat last night, Allen introduced T. L. Franke of Hollywood and his educated dogs, Prince and Black Gold.

Prince is the most renowned of all canine claimants to the movie title formerly held by Rin Tin Tin. A six-year-old German shepherd, Prince demonstrated almost human intelligence in the ring, and Black Gold, his two-year-old son, was almost brilliant in the acrobatic stunts directed by Owner and Instructor Franke. Prince has appeared in several Hollywood movies, and commands a high salary while working. The dogs responded with surprising agility and swiftness to "hand motion" orders of the trainer.

Baseball Farms Necessary Evil Says Old Fox

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 9. (AP)—Farm systems are a necessary evil of baseball, Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators and Chattanooga Lookouts of the Southern Association, declared today.

"My honest opinion is that baseball in general would be far better off without farms," he said in an interview. "Interest in the minor leagues would be much better.

"But," he deplored, "we can't get away from them now."

Braddock Dishes Out Torture To Sparring Mates

GRAND BEACH, Mich., June 9 (AP) — James J. Braddock demonstrated convincingly today he was drawing near to a sharp edge for the defense of his world's heavyweight championship June 22 against Joe Louis.

Braddock worked for full punching force in belting three sparring mates in a five round workout. He revealed he had power, for he was letting his punches fly. He boxed with more viciousness than ever before, connecting solidly with left hooks to the head and sharp right crosses. It was his most empressive workout.

Mixes 'Em Up

The champion employed a new procedure in his glove work, having Charley Massera and Henry Cooper work alternate rounds so they could be fresh enough to extend him to top speed.

First to face the champion was Ralph Odell, of Ottumwa, Ia., a former Trojan football hopeful from the University of Southern California. He has been ballyhooed recently as a future heavyweight champion today because Braddock knocked him off balance with sharp left hooks and shook him up with right crosses to the chin. Odell, a game, rugged youngster, kept on throwing punches, however, with Braddock boxing carefully.

The champion will do no boxing tomorrow, taking the day off except for a bit of road work and limbering up exercises.

Men who don't know the price think they cost much more.

...armers Of Plains Section Gather Here ...n Wednesday; Cliff Day Speaker

...South Plains farmers yester-...y were urged by Cliff H. Day ...f the Texas Agricultural asso-...ion, to let representatives ...nd senators know how they ...tand on proposed agricultural ...gislation, in a talk in the dis-...rict court room yesterday ...orning.

About 90 farm leaders from 10 or 12 counties in this section were present and there seemed to be a unity in favor of the proposed measure, which is to be given Congress. The talk was punctured throughout with questions about phases of the program, by interested farmers. Day gave others an opportunity to ask more questions.

Wants Letters Written

Day made a plea for the association leaders to not only write both Texas senators, Congressman George Mahon of this district, Congressman Marvin Jones of the 18th district and chairman of the House Agricultural committee, but also Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace. "And the President too," he added. Likewise he suggested the county groups call meetings to lay before all members the program.

H. G. Lucas, Brownwood, president of the association, was unable to attend yesterday's session. He had planned to be here. The two men are on a tour of the state, speaking to similar groups seeking to get Texas farmers to take a stand on agricultural legislation.

Day was a member of a committee from the South that discussed the bill, known as the Agricultural Adjustment act of 1937, with Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace.

Particular attention was given to the cotton angle of the bill. Its provisions were outlined and its application to both voluntary cooperators and others explained.

A parity price would be set and cotton payments based on a parity paid, as well as soil conservation payments. Only 85 per cent of the parity would be paid producers.

Control features of the act were discussed. The secretary of agriculture would allot production to producers and 20 per cent of the allotment would be put into storage.

Day said that the affair was a "national program," and that it would cost probably from $250,000,000 to $750,000,000 a year to handle. Payments would come from appropriations and not from a processing tax, as that angle so far has not found approval of the supreme court. Those who did not voluntarily cooperate would be penalized.

Day referred to a diversion price of cotton and the possibility of a half cent per pound being paid on the 1936 crop. He pointed out cotton in 1934 had a payment of four cents a pound on diverted acres; four and a half cents in 1935 and five cents in 1936.

At a meeting last year Day and others sought to get six cents a pound for cotton. It was said then that it was doubtful that there was enough money on hand to pay it. Since then it has been found that there is enough funds on hand to pay half a cent per pound on this cotton. Plans are for legislation to authorize payment to cooperators.

A number of county agents were on hand with delegations. Among them were: V. F. Jones, agent of Lynn and C. A. Lawrence, assistant; R. N. McClain, Terry; L. A. Bredthauer, Floyd; Davis F. Pounds, assistant in Lamb; Roy Hickman, Cochran; Frank A. Buckley, Motley, and W. D. Sherrill, agent and Lee Pool, assistant, in Hockley.

County's Wheat Not Yet Ready

Familiar harvest smells and noise will not affect Lubbock county's wheat section before another 10 days, in opinion of shippers and railroad men.

Nothing but unusually hot weather would hasten the harvest period, it generally is conceded.

Monroe, Shallowater and Becton are principal shipping points for Lubbock county.

Shipped From Abernathy

A considerable portion of the county's crop is shipped from Abernathy, just across the line, in Hale county. This is due to the fact that in addition to a considerable acreage south of town, wheat from Monroe, a non-agency station on the Santa Fe, is billed out of the Hale county town.

Likewise on the Fort Worth & Denver, Kittilou, west of Idalou, does not have a station agent, nor does Becton, the former billing cars out of Lubbock and the latter at Petersburg, in Hale county.

Idalou has good wheat prospects this year, rains recently increased the probable yield several bushels per acre. Acreage is not large, but the movement will be heavier than for several years.

Prospects Are Good

Shallowater wheat prospects are also good, rains having increased yield. Neither Slaton nor Lubbock have much wheat acreage and the movement is usually small.

However, Lubbock is a grain inspection point and there is a good movement through here for federal inspection. Several grain buyers located here bring considerable whea... into this market for handling to ports or terminal elevators.

This year there will be one firm to purchase wheat for export. It is the first time that this has been done in Lubbock.

Six Lubbockites In Attendance At Southwide Baptist Session

Six Lubbock representatives were in attendance Wednesday when a southwide Baptist student retreat was convened at Ridgecrest, N. C., for eight days.

Eileen Holland, Arline Harris, Marian Tatum, Ruby Atwood, James Litton, and Corinne Brown, student director of the First Baptist church at Lubbock, joined the 60 other representatives from Texas and an estimated 1,000 from 18 states included in the Southern Baptist convention.

The Lubbock delegates left Saturday for Fort Worth to join the Texas group. They expect to spend one day in Nashville visiting the Parthenon, the Hermitage, and other points of historical interest.

TALKS ON NYA

In a talk over radio station KFYO yesterday afternoon, Joseph R. Griggs, Lubbock county school superintendent, discussed the workings of the National Youth administration in the public schools.

The program in Texas is under the supervision of the state NYA director. Griggs, R. W. Matthews, A. L. Fabion, and David Lemon have charge of the work in this county, and 160 high school students under the direction of their school principals are doing tasks in the school which help to defray their school expense. This work is usually in the library, office, or on the school ground, and pays 20 cents an hour, or $6 a month, Griggs said.

SHORT WEEK VOTED

KANSAS CITY, June 9. (AP)—Support of a 36-hour maximum work week in the oil industry and a proposed federal embargo on importation of foreign oil were voted by 200 delegates to the inter-National Association of Oil Field, Gas Well and Refinery Workers of America here today.

Hubby May Turn Paycheck To Spouse Without Qualms (Oh, Yeah?) If She's A Tech Home Economics Division Grad!

Hubby may turn over his paycheck to his wife without qualms, if she is a home economics graduate of a college subscribing to the trend followed at Texas Technological college.

Based on the assumption that women are the buyers of the land, home economics instruction at Tech is stressing wise choices of food, furnishings, clothing, and other purchases left to the woman.

Consumer Viewpoint Stressed

"One of the new phases of home economics work is stressing the viewpoint of the consumer, because women are the consumers of the land", said Miss Markaret W. Weeks, dean of home economics.

Instruction in consumer buying will be passed on to high school girls through training offered at Tech. "Methods of Teaching Consumer Buying in the High School" is the subject of a course offered during the term, which opened this week, for home economics teachers.

Miss Hazel McKibben Kuehn, former assistant professor of home economics education at Iowa State college, is visiting instructor of the course.

Child Development Featured

Another course featured during summer school is that in child development offered in connection with the summer nursery school. Sixteen children have been accepted for the school, and many parents have placed their names on the waiting list.

The children are taken to the home management house on the campus between 8:30 and 9 o'clock each morning and left until after lunch. They are examined by a nurse each morning, and play, sleep, and eat at certain times. The nursery school serves as a laboratory for students.

Miss Sannie Callan, associate professor of home management, is in charge of the school and is assisted by Miss Martha Elizabeth Smith, visiting assistant from Purdue university, where she is apprentice teacher in the nursery school.

MY OWN SUCCESS STORY

Giving people more mileage

I like people to know that I'm not just hired at my station. I'm the proprietor, making my living, all on my own. Naturally I'm choosey about anything I recommend, so no matter how close you might check whatever I say about mileage and performance, I can always look you square in the eye. And that goes double for my Conoco Germ Processed oil. It is the only kind that can Oil-Plate your engine. The patent Germ Process, you might say, gives this oil a real strong "yen" for metal. The oil actually joins up with every working part, always leaving a durable, slippy Oil-Plating that cannot run down, whether your car is stopped or hitting it up. Then you can start up a thousand times a day, or streak along from morning till night. But Oil-Plating will still be there, heading off wear, and letting you skip a lot of stops you used to make for oil. You'll be back here saying even more than me, about all your mileage and performance from Conoco Germ Processed oil.

The Hearings Will Help Us

THERE is room for much difference of opinion—room enough to park a couple of Zeppelins—about the wisdom or otherwise of the pending administration bill to set minimum-wage and maximum-hour standards in American industry.

But one thing is quite certain. The hearings which go with the bill will be about as useful a course in elementary education as the American people could well ask for.

Before Congress can decide on this bill, it must go into the whole question of what our fabled American standard of living looks like to the wage-earner in the lower brackets. If, as the President has said, a third of our population is "ill-nourished, ill-clad and illhoused," we ought to know about it. Then—whether the administration bill passes or is defeated—we shall at least know just where we stand.

IN 1929, according to the Bookings Institution, nearly 6,000,000 American families—better than one family in every five—had incomes below $1000 a year. Some 12,000,000 American families had incomes below $1500 a year.

A Washington correspondent recently took these figures to Dr. Isador Lubin, U. S. commissioner of labor statistics, and asked him just what incomes of that size mean. How does a family get by in modern America on less than $1500 a year?

The average family in that income group, said Dr. Lubin, spends about a third of its income on food. That means around $8 a week for a family of four. If that sum has to be shaded very much, the family cannot afford enough green vegetables, fresh fruit and milk.

That same family will be able to spend about $4 a month, per person, for clothing. The head of the family must make a suit of clothes last two or three years. Once in four or five years he can buy an overcoat. His wife must wear dresses that sell at $5, or thereabouts.

Then there is housing. The family will spend about $20 a month on rent—a flat, half a double house, or a four or five-room frame house. Fuel, light, etc., will take $15 a month. In many cases there will be no running water. Steam heat will be a rarity. Electric refrigerators will be almost unheard-of.

These expenditures eat up most of the income. For the under-$1000-a-year family they eat up all of it, and then some. The luckier family, up near the $1500 mark, will have a little money left—for medical care, house furnishings, recreation, education and savings.

NOW this is not a picture of complete destitution—but it is a picture of bleak poverty which we of the South Plains, inhabitants of an agricultural belt and a moderate climate cannot easily imagine. Yet we know that Dr. Lubin must be right and we know the picture he has drawn ill-accords with our boast American standard of living. If these Washington hearings, by adding to the details of this picture, force us to realize that even prosperous America could very well do with a much greater measure of prosperity than it has ever had before, they will be doing us a great service.

With Our Contemporaries

Yesterday: Bob learns Sybil has lied about police suspecting Joan. Police order city-wide search for Joan assuming she may be in danger, since she may have surprised the murderer on the scene.

CHAPTER XXVIII

It was a different Dorothy Starke who opened the door a short while later for Bob Andrews. Gone was the sparkling gaiety he had become accustomed to expect in her, and in its place was a pitiful desperation. Dark rings encircled her eyes, and her face was white and haggard. Evidently she had had no sleep that night.

"Bob!" she exclaimed when she saw him, "if there is anything at all to mental telepathy, it has worked for me now. I've wanted so badly to see you, and I was afraid to leave a message with—with the police."

New hope sprang into Bob's eyes. "Do you know where Joan is?" he asked quickly.

She shook her head hopelessly. "No, I don't. But we'll find her, Bob. We've got to. I forced her into this mess, and upon my soul, I'll get her out of it." She led him into the living room and shut the door behind them.

"How did you force her into it?" Bob asked her.

"It's such a long story, Bob. And we've so little time. Let me explain, as quickly as I can. You remember last night at Sybil's, she mentioned something about her brother making a special survey in Chicago, then Seattle, and finally San Francisco?"

"Yes. He phoned, just before we left."

"Do you know just what sort of a survey Phil is making, Bob?"

He shook his head. "No, I don't. Sybil said he had a new job."

"Yes, he had a job. A job for Sybil. I had a letter this morning from my aunt—she's the principal of Eastman High School, where Joan and I attended. Philip has been making an investigation into the life of Joan Barrett. He was at the school to check on her, and my aunt wrote me because I had written her of meeting Joan here in New York. . . ."

"Philip did that?"

"Just that. Sybil didn't want you to marry Joan, and she was bound she'd find some way to prevent it. . . ."

Bob stared at her in amazement. "But why?" he asked. "Why in the world would Sybil do that?"

Dorothy frowned. "Don't bother to ask," she said impatiently. "You men are so darn stupid. . . ."

"I thought Sybil and Joan were getting along fine together," Bob protested, feebly.

"You did, eh? Well, I met Joan—for the first time in seven years, incidentally—at a tea Sybil Hendry gave for her while you were out west. And if ever there were a parcel of cats trying to tear one little mouse apart, that was the occasion."

Still Bob seemed dumfounded. "Joan never said a word of it—"

"Of course Joan didn't!" Dorothy snapped. "She's too gentle, too fine, to put up a fight. No matter what Sybil did to her, she'd never tell you—because Sybil is a friend of yours—and a niece of Mr. Hendry's. That's why Joan has suffered all these years, why she has been driven from place to place, persecuted and tortured, because she can't—or won't—fight back."

"You mean—about her father?"

"Yes. Sybil told you that, I suppose?"

"She said the police found it out."

"She's a liar. She dug it up herself. Or rather, she had Philip do it. Joan knew it last night. She wanted to run away then."

"Before—but why?"

Dorothy threw up her hands. "She had only one fixed idea—she wouldn't marry you, if you knew about her past. She believed people shrunk from her because of her father, and she was afraid, so she said, that you'd come to hate her for it, too."

"But that's ridiculous. What do I care about that?"

"I tried to tell her that. Last night I quarreled with her, finally. I told her she was a coward . . . I dared her to beat Sybil at her own game, to tell the whole story to Mr. Hendry before Sybil told him first."

"And that's why she went over there last night?"

"Yes."

"She hasn't come home since?"

"No. But she can't have gone far, Bob. She had no clothes, no money—nothing. She must have gotten there after—after it happened, and she's hiding away some place, terrified to death, haunted by the memory of what happened to her father."

Bob rubbed a clenched hand across his eyes. "We've got to find her," he cried. "We've got to!"

"We will!" Dorothy assured him. "But first of all, let's talk this whole thing over. I have an idea in my head that's driving me frantic, but I didn't want to tell the police."

"You think you know who did it?"

"I think so." Then seeing the hope rise in his eyes, she hastened to amend: "But I'm not sure, Bob. I'm clutching at a tiny straw, and the police may laugh at me. Yet in my heart I feel that it must be right . . ."

"What is it? Tell me."

"Come over to the desk, here." She drew forth a large envelope and emptied it of its contents in front of them.

"A week or so ago," she explained, "Joan and I were talking about her father. She knows he was innocent, of course. And I believe he was."

"So do I!" Bob agreed heartily. Her father never killed a man—"

"No. But he was hanged for it. Heres' the whole story of the case. I had these photostatic copies made from newspapers I found in the public library. I was convinced that Joan should try to prove her father's innocence, even at this late date to preserve her own peace of mind. She can't let herself be happy, Bob. She tried to believe that once you and she were married, the world would forget Joan Barrett, but the memory was always there, haunting her . . ."

"I know. There was something in her eyes, at times. But I never wanted to ask her."

He picked up the papers, looked them over carelessly. "Why bother about this now?" he asked. "The case is closed. I want to find Joan."

"Just read these clippings over, Bob. Then I'll explain."

He did as she asked but she saw that the story of Thomas Barrett's conviction made no impression upon him.

"All circumstantial, of course," he commented, after he finished. "Public opinion seemed to be against him from the start."

"Didn't you notice anything else?" Dorothy asked anxiously.

"What, for example?"

Dorothy almost wept in desperation. "Oh, Bob, you make me so discouraged. The moment I read those papers over this morning, one fact jumped out and stunned me. I thought you'd see it immediately."

"What is it?" He scanned the columns once more.

"Read this." Dorothy pointed to a carry-over on an inside page of the paper.

"Police are at a loss." Bob read out loud, "to find anybody who might have had a motive for killing Jeremiah Jordan. Mr. Jordan never made an enemy in his life, according to Charles Norton of Placerville, one of Mr. Jordan's closest friends, who saw the victim in San Francisco last Monday."

Bob wrinkled his brow. "Charles Norton, eh?" he repeated thoughtfully.

"Exactly," Dorothy said triumphantly. "Charles Norton of Placerville was in to see Jeremiah Jordan on Monday, the day before he was killed."

For a moment Bob sat there, amazement written all over his face, trying to piece the two cases together.

"Suppose," Dorothy went on, "suppose—oh, if only I dared hope it might be the truth! Suppose that Norton went in to see Jordan the day before his murder to sell him a mine—for $40,000 in cash."

"Good Lord!" Bob gasped.

"You notice," Dorothy pursued, "that Norton made no mention of why he visited Jordan. And nobody—not even Thomas Barrett—knew for what purpose the money in the office was intended."

"And Norton might have played the same trick again—on John Hendry." Bob scarcely breathed the words.

"Yes. The irony is that Joan Barrett is the daughter of the very man who paid his penalty."

Bob jumped to his feet. "Dorothy!" he cried, "I believe your hunch is right. If we can only pin the murder of Mr. Hendry on Norton, we can solve the old case, too. . . ."

"And save Joan from a lifetime of mental agony," Dorothy pointed out.

"It's got to be true!" Bob declared. "It's got to be! Norton was

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE final but unannounced figures on 1936 national income surpass the rosiest estimates of private and political pollyannas. The tabulation has been ready for release for several days, but it has been withheld while wide-eyed experts rechecked their work sheets.

Whereas the most optimistic prediction—Daniel C. Roper's—had ventured a total of "almost 60 billion", last-minute calculations place it at about 64 billion dollars. That compares with the 1929 peak of 80 billion and a 1932 low of thirty-nine billion. To unbiased experts it forecasts a complete return to 1929 levels, even including population growth, by late 1938 or early 1939, provided a domestic or foreign crisis does not intervene to thwart the Alpine climb upward.

F. D. R. has the so-called "economic royalists" to thank for the four-billion kitty. The bulge above the Roper figure is accounted for by the wave of pay increase dished out during the fall to offset threats of major strikes. Labor's share approximates 66 per cent, or a 2 per cent gain over its 1935 portion. Divided among 33,000,000 non-agricultural workers, the increase means an extra annual dividend of $38.06 for each Lewis-Green man. Redistribution of wealth appears to be an extremely ponderous process even under New Deal reinforcement.

OPPOSED: The rolling snowball of steady economic progress collides somewhat violently with the administration's latest panacea for unemployment and technological improvements which are supposed to have exiled millions of workers from their machines. It has split Washington economists into two schools, although they confine their arguments to cocktail rather than Congressional sessions.

If you include the factor of much lower 1936 prices in the income picture, you will find that national production as measured in real wages falls below the 1929 total by about 10 per cent. Likewise employment is approximately 10 per cent below pre-depression levels. In short, the same number of workers is producing the same amount of goods they did eight years ago. Shorter hours have apparently taken up the slack, offsetting the introduction of improved machinery. Now the question arises whether continued economic improvement (about 15 per cent above the present level) will not furnish a consumer market for all the goods which every able-bodied man can produce.

New Deal economists scoff at the suggestion, insisting that a further cut in the work week is vital.

REVELATION: What most people don't realize in connection with the apparent death of the Supreme court reform plan is that it represents the first major defeat President Roosevelt has suffered since he entered public life as New York governor in 1929. It's important because it has colored—or discolored—his second term and altered the direction of the ship of state.

Mr. Roosevelt, even his friends concede, has not shown himself to be a good loser. He has abandoned his original determination of using his second term to readjust the vast machine he built up during his first four years. He has apparently forgotten his post-election plea for peace and tolerance. He has proved what his closest friends said about him—namely, that in a fight he can be cold, stubborn, determined, slightly ruthless. Privately his leaders on Capitol Hill—and certain cabinet members—deplore his eagerness for conflict.

Lately he has singled out specific enemies for personal attacks, utilizing his press conference as his forum. He has assailed (by name) members of the court, anti-New Deal publishers, lawyers, old-fashioned Democrats, "millionaire tax dodgers", and inspired headline lynchings. Washington is getting a glimpse of a new Roosevelt, or at least of a side that was not seen before.

COMPLETE: President Roosevelt is not talking compromise on his court-packing plan for the simple reason that such an offer would depict him as a twice-defeated President. His advisers may not be keeping him correctly informed of senatorial sentiment, but the case has become hopeless even for a two-man addition.

There was a time when the antis would have gladly dickered with the White House on this basis. They passed the word along to Mr. Roosevelt's spokesmen, and the proposal was laid before him when he returned from his fishing trip off the Texas coast. But F. D. R. had been informed by certain advisers—National Chairman Farley and Son James—that he could win if he would hold out, fight and turn on the heat. Mr. Roosevelt spurned the antis offer and sent Majority Leader Robinson scurrying back to Capitol Hill with the slogan of "no compromise".

Then came Mr. Farley's unfortunate remarks concerning his old friend Senator O'Mahoney, and several disciplinary moves involving patronage. Mr. Roosevelt also antagonized several members who tried to persuade him to back down gracefully from his original proposal. For their pains the friendly intermediaries got only rebuffs. Having beaten him on the six-man proposition, now they scheme to repulse him on the milder alternative—two defeats on a single issue. So Mr. Roosevelt figures he might as well lose if lose he must, on the larger question.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE Committee for Industrial Organization is not a communist-dominated outfit, as widely charged, but it is nevertheless true that members of the communist party are active in the affairs of several C. I. O. unions.

Red leaders have found in the C. I. O. a made-to-order setting for their propaganda operations and the brand of cain-raising in which they specialize. Picketing and sit-down techniques in strikes involving Lewis unions have often been conducted on the established pattern of communist demonstrations.

John Lewis is of course aware that the reds are using his organization as a handy vehicle to further their own aims. So far he has tacitly accepted all the aid they wanted to give him on the basis that it would accelerate the building up of the C. I. O. Moreover, if he were to rebuff them now, it would split his following wide open just when he most needs united forces for the double battlefront against hostile industry and the A. F. of L. The communists for their part find Lewis a useful front. So the alliance will remain in effect for a while.

DANGER: But keen New York observers see a showdown between Lewis and his communist pals as inevitable. The latter are getting pretty cocky and are using steamroller tactics to get control of some unions. The question of who is the real boss of the C. I. O. is bound to come to a head.

The reds have been planning all along to grab command of the whole movement as soon as they were strongly enough entrenched in the member unions. Lewis is presumably on his guard against any such coup d'etat. Wresting the scepter out of his hands would be a plenty tough assignment for any group.

Most of the lack of discipline in C. I. O. unions which has embarrassed Lewis on various occasions traces directly to the communist influence. The situation may reach a point where he has to disown his trouble-making friends openly as a matter of self-preservation. Insiders say that the C. I. O. is far greater danger of internal disruption by a struggle for dominance between Lewis and the reds than it is of defeat by employers of rival labor organizations.

BLUNDER: The administration and Congress can and probably will have a Roman holiday in the months to come with Mr. Roosevelt's millionaire tax-dodgers. But New York analysts scoff at the idea that plugging the loopholes so indignantly cited by Mr. Roosevelt will make any natural difference to the Treasury's financial condition.

New Deal critics characterize the whole affair as an absurdly transparent attempt to explain away the Treasury's substantial overestimate of March revenues. While neither Mr. Roosevelt nor Mr. Morgenthau said so in so many words, the inference was plainly conveyed that the Treasury's figures would have been okay if the wicked rich had only lived up to their moral obligations.

Justice Court Suit Unusually Treated

A proceeding described as extremely unusual for a justice court resulted Wednesday in the transfer of a suit from the court of Justice of the Peace Walter Davies in Lubbock to justice precinct No. 1 at Silverton, Briscoe county, on a plea of privilege. The suit was brought by Alexander Film company against J. B. Mercer alleging a breach of contract.

Attorneys for the company, Judge Davies said, agreed that the motion should be granted on the showing by Mercer that he never has been a resident of Lubbock county. The proceeding was described as being the first of its kind to be filed in a justice court here this year, and probably for an indefinite period previously.

Investigation Discloses That Man Had Committed Suicide

LONDON, June 9. (AP)—An investigation disclosed today that George Southcombe, 42, had apparently shot himself to death with a fire extinguisher. He was found dead in his office yesterday with the extinguisher by his side.

The preliminary inquiry indicated he had removed the cylinder from the instrument, substituted a cartridge and then exploded the cartridge by striking the hammer of the extinguisher.

TARZAN AND THE MAYAN GODDESS, No. 124

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The natural pallor of Queen Zalya became a ghastly whiteness when Togatzal pronounced that Tarzan must die by her hand. She could not question that such a judgment was provided in the sacred script, for only the priestly caste could read the ancient hierogiyhs.

Meanwhile, Tarzan stood calmly in the arena, awaiting the next move of his captors. Then, from somewhere above ground, came the dull muffled crack of firearms. Hope leaped in Tarzan's heart. Perhaps his friends were coming to save him from the monsters. . . .

. . . Ula, George and Tohus, however, were fighting now to save D'Arnot, who had fallen into the monsters' hands; and they knew they would be fortunate to save themselves, for the hideous, fearless denizens of the Deal City were closing in from every quarter.

"Don't try to help me," D'Arnot shouted. "Go back! Run, Ula! Save yourself. Goodbye, Ula! I—I love you!" If the brave girl had required fresh encouragement, it was provided by D'Arnot's words. "I won't go back," she cried; "because—because I love you!"

Wall Street..

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP) — The stock market was hit for losses of fractions to a point or so today in lifeless trading.

Shipbuilding stocks, bolstered by the administration's proposed program for a subsidized merchant fleet, were resistant most of the day. New York shipbuilding preferred jumped 3½ to 60 and American shipbuilding was up 1¼ to 49¼.

Enthusiasm for these issues and a few scattered specialties failed to dispel the gloom occasioned by widening of the strike areas, and the rest of the list after an indifferent start pointed downhill on small volume.

General Motors Decline

Giving impetus to the retreat, some analysts said, was the decline of General Motors to a new low for the year. The issue closed off 1¾ at 52⅝. Selling was prompted by strikes affecting the corporation's operations and by disappointment in some circles over sales, reported yesterday.

The stock market's decline, measured by the Associated Press average of 60 shares was 0.4 of a point to 67.3. Transactions totaled 624,040 shares, compared with 597,990 Tuesday.

Cotton..

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 9. (AP) — Cotton prices broke over $1 a bale here today under a barrage of selling induced by a favorable weekly weather and crop summary. The close was barely steady at net declines of 18 to 21 points.

A drastic shakeout during the past three days has carried the market off from $5 to $ a bale under the high points of the current season established in the early part of April.

Market On Downgrade

Persistent liquidation and speculative selling appeared to make up the bulk of offerings and with a complete lack of sustaining support the market was on the downgrade for practically the entire session.

There were flurries of covering at times but only minor rallies ensued and final prices were at or near the lowest of the day.

July closed at 11.87, Oct. at 12.01, Dec. at 12.08, Jan. at 12.09, March at 12.14 and May at 12.16. Only 48 bales were sold on the local spot market and middling slipped off 21 points to 13.27.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP)—Cotton broke below 12 cents today under renewed liquidation promoted by a favorable weekly weather report.

October sold off from 12.27@11.95 and closed at 12.02. Final prices were 13 to 20 points net lower.

Opening advances of 6 to 9 points were extended in early trading, influenced by steadiness at Liverpool and on moderate buying for a reaction. The demand was not active, however, and prices soon responded to favorable features in the weather.

Wall Street Starts Selling

The weekly weather and crop bulletin was more favorable than anticipated and attracted local and New Orleans offerings. Wall street and foreign interests then turned to the selling side nd although some resistance developed at 12 cents, prices in the early afternoon broke to net losses of 18 to 26 points as stop orders were uncovered.

Late rallies were feeble with buying restricted to trade price-fixing and a little covering. The Weather Bureau said rainfall in mostly generous amounts over most of the cotton belt accounted for a generally favorable week. Exports today 22,128 making a total of 5,432,727 for the season thus far. Port receipts 3,356. U. S. port stocks 1,312,728.

Funeral Services For J. L. Jones Are Set For Today In Plainview

Funeral services for and burial of J. F. Jones, 47, who died in a hospital at Lubbock early Wednesday afternoon probably will be at Plainview today, according to reports last night. Other arrangements had not been announced here.

Jones died as a result of injuries suffered when struck in the stomach Tuesday afternoon by a metal pin from a tractor on which he was working at Hub City Machine company, 1008 Avenue H.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. L. A. Jones of Slaton, and two sisters, Mrs. J. D. Webb of Plainview and Mrs. Jesse Presser of Slaton.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, June 9. (AP)—Readjustment of accounts late today, to prepare for any United States government June crop report surprise tomorrow, largely overcame earlier steep upturns of wheat values.

The upturns hoisted the wheat market in Chicago about 2½ cents a bushel, and nearly six cents at Liverpool. Torrential rains in parts of domestic wheat territory where the crop is almost ready for harvest, together with increasing reports of black rust, and with big drought damage in Canada, were largely responsible for the new bulge of values.

Enthusiasm Fades Out

Fading-out of wheat buying enthusiasm became apparent, however, in the later trading, and in some cases the price gains were temporarily more than wiped out. Moderate rallies nevertheless ensued during the final dealings.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were ⅛ to 1 cent above yesterday's finish, July $1.09⅝@1.09¾, Sept. $1.09⅝@1.09½, Dec. $1.11½@1.11⅝, corn unchanged to 1¼ lower, July $1.16¾@1.17, Sept. $1.03¾@1.04, Dec. 76⅛@76⅜, oats varying from ¼ decline to ½ advance, July 40⅝@40¾, and rye ⅛ off, July 87½. Provisions results ranged from 7 cents setback to a gain of two cents.

Picturesque River Captain Is Claimed By Death Yesterday

ST. LOUIS, June 9. (AP)—Capt. Louis Rosche, picturesque 89-year old Missouri and Mississippi river boat master, died at his home here today.

His active river career began at the age of 11 years. He was master of at least a dozen well known river boats. He owned the J. J. Odill, which went down with the loss of several lives during a tornado here in 1896.

ceased predicting when the desired level might be reached.

Early progress on the project went according to schedule until quicksand was reached. Then the bit failed to pull the sand and the break occured. Various methods, most of them the power type, subsequently were tried unsuccessfully in the effort to lift the huge length of metal to the surface.

The plan which finally succeeded involved the use of powerful lift while a stream of water played under pressure into the hole, releasing the sand which had fastened itself about the drill.

Plans now are to wall off the sand with casing, but none would say when the well might be completed. "This same thing might happen again" was the answer to requests for predictions.

WPA Projects In Full Sway

Work on WPA projects throughout Lubbock district was in full swing once more for the first time in more than three weeks of intermittently inclement weather, according to reports of WPA officials Wednesday after a day of inspections.

Among those on which work was resumed during the day was the placing of a caliche base on Highway 24 which was within 2,000 yards of completion to the Hockley county line when work was interrupted by rain. The work will be completed Friday unless weather interferes, officials said.

Bailey Job Near Close

Another to be completed Friday, weather permitting, will be caliching of 15 miles from Muleshoe to Needmore store in a rich farming area of Bailey county, reports to district headquarters said. Men now employed there then will be transferred starting June 21 to a grading and drainage project from the store 15 miles to the Cochran county line on highway 214. That improvement, WPA officials said, will be preliminary to expected early pavement of the road.

Lubbock's Water Consumption Shows City "Wetter" Than Ever; Gallonage Mirrors Growth; New All-Time Mark Forecast

Lubbock definitely has gone wetter and cleaner than ever before in its history during recent weeks, according to water department figures made available Wednesday by D. D. Martin, city auditor.

Continued warm weather during June, he said, indicates that all records for consumption of water during a single month in the city will be broken, exceeding the present record total of 109,734,000 gallons in August, 1936.

Totals Not Exact Yet

While exact daily totals of usage since May 31 have not been made available by City Engineer Marlin R. Smith, the records for May revealed, according to figures obtained from Martin, that the consumption on May 21 totaled 4,332,000 gallons to exceed the peak days of both July and August, 1936. On July 20, 1936, a total of 3,820,000 gallons were used. August 14 consumption last year was 3,580,000 gallons for the daily top of that month.

Growth Is Mirrored

The increased use was attributed almost wholly to the growth of Lubbock, the comparisons becoming all the more remarkable, Martin said, when it is considered that May consumption usually is comparatively low while July and August find demand at its highest. Barring wholly abnormal weather conditions, new all-time peak for Lubbock will be set during one of those two months this year with the likelihood that the distinction will go to August.

Steady growth of the demand in Lubbock was vividly reflected in the fact that gallonage for last May totaled 77,166,000 as compared with 55,754,000 in May, 1936.

Second to August as the peak month of 1936 was July, with consumption of 99,377,000 gallons.

New School Head Is To Be In City Soon

W. R. Irvin, recently elected Lubbock city school superintendent, plans to be in Lubbock the latter part of next week to complete preparations for his removal here, according to word received by school officials Wednesday.

Irvin, superintendent of schools at Perryton for the last 12 years, is scheduled to begin a one-year contract as Lubbock superintendent July 1.

The new superintendent wrote that he plans to spend the first half of the summer in Austin at the University of Texas where several men of national repute are to discuss school curricula and where he will be associated with several other interests of value to a school executive.

All but four of the grants will go for old age assistance, which totaled $13,599,947. One grant of $10,260, to New Mexico, was for dependent children.

The old age grants included: California $806,688; Colorado $426,300; Hawaii $4,181; Idaho $103,050; Nebraska $413,315; New Mexico $24,436; Oklahoma $551,952; Oregon $263,352; Texas $1,343,205; Utan $159,170; Washington $416,135 and Wyoming $49,571.

Negro Convict Slain After Attack Made

HUNTSVILLE, June 9. (AP) —P. N. Long, dog sergeant at the Ferguson farm of the Texas prison system, killed Dave Ladd, negro convict, late yesterday when the inmate attempted to attack him with a hoe, it was announced today at the penitentiary offices.

Capt. J. P. Hamilton, in charge of the farm, said in a report that Ladd, urged to return to work after he laid down the implement to get a drink of water, attempted to assault the guard.

Long shot him through the head, Hamilton's report said. Statements from two other guards said the killing was unavoidable, Hamilton said.

Ladd was sentenced to serve two years from Chambers county for forgery and passing. He was received at the prison May 24.

Bank Night Ruling

the drawings were not lotteries because a person was not forced to pay to have a chance at the prize. They asserted that a person outside the theater on the drawing night could win.

Scheme Not Effected

"We think it does not materially effect the scheme," Lattimore said in reply, "that there be a possibility that some one might get a prize who had not paid for a picture show ticket. The appellant's purpose and plan—as frankly admitted by him—was to increase the patronage of his show."

The test case bank night was one in which the person whose name was drawn could claim the prize if i side the theater or if appearing at the theater entrance within four or five minutes.

The decision lightened the work of the current special session of the legislature. A bill to make certain that bank nights were unlawful had been introduced.

The legislature last fall imposed a 20 per cent tax on bank night prizes. Through June 6 the revenue from that source aggregated $92,411.02. State officials said they contemplated no tax refunds.

movie camera has ever seen them.

Myrna Loy wore a dark gown with a black veil attached to her hat. She wore no makeup, and her freckles contrasted sharply with the pallor of her face. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Montgomery, and Maureen O'Sullivan and her husband sat near each other.

These early arrivals passed through a crowd of about 1,000 persons, massed at the iron gates on the rim of Forest Lawn memorial park.

Jeanette MacDonald Sings

Promptly at 9 o'clock, Jeanette MacDonald's strong, compelling voice began one of Jean Harlow's favorite songs, "The Indian Love Call."

After the last note of the song died away, Mrs. Genevieve Smith, Christian Science practitioner, began the service.

Mrs. Smith read the Psalm of David, "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want." Then she asked for a moment of silent prayer, resuming, she intoned the oft-quoted funeral passage, "Let not your hearts be troubled. In my father's house are many mansions. If it were not so, I would have told you."

Following a passage from the textbook of her religion, Nelson Eddy sang another of Miss Harlow's favorite songs, "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life." Mrs. Smith then delivered a three-sentence eulogy of Jean Harlow. She spoke entirely in the present tense.

MICK OFF ACTIVE LIST

DETROIT, June 9. (AP)—Walter O. Briggs, president of the Detroit Baseball club, announced today that at Manager Mickey Cochrane's request he had been removed from the active player roster of the club and will be carried as a non-playing manager.

Tech Rejoices At Good News

Rejoicing reigned at Texas Technological college Wednesday.

A long-sought library was assured late Tuesday when Gov. James V. Allred gave his signature to a general education appropriations bill, which allowed $275,000 for a Tech library.

Miss West Rings Bells

Climbing to the east tower of the administration building, Miss Elizabeth H. West, librarian since the college opened in 1925, pulled the rope ringing the "Victory bells".

"I rang with all my might", said Miss West. Dean James M. Gordon also rang the bells a few minutes and many students requested that they be allowed to ring the bells which proclaimed Tech's forward step. Class representatives and the janitor also pulled the rope.

Many students and faculty members told Miss West they thought the library appropriation "the best thing that has happened to Tech in a long time". One faculty member was described as "whooping for joy."

Miss West has been the person who studied means of stretching Tech's library facilities to the fullest extent despite limited space for books and for reading. She has stored books least used in the basement and has crowded those needed so closely that "we had to be careful to keep from tearing books in getting them out", as expressed by Miss Emma L. Main, assistant library.

Won't Rattle Around

"We won't rattle around in the new library", said Miss West.

"I can forsee myself next year spending most of my waking hours studying and helping work out library plans", she said. "We will attempt to plan a library with as little meaningless ornament as possible and with the very maximum of facilities for work and service. We hope to arrange it so it can be expanded as students and books increase".

Miss West came to Tech in the summer of 1925 from Austin. She formerly was state librarian. She has served the entire time except for two years leave of absence, when she went to Spain and Miss Main served in her place.

Street Markers

hind the curb between the street and property line on what commonly is called "parking space." On street intersections where there is no curbing, they will be placed farther from the street and nearer the property line.

Plates Are Large

Plates will be 4 by 20 inches with 2½ inch white letters on blue backgrounds. At practically all intersections four markers will be placed, two naming the avenue and two naming the street. At only a few intersections in the extremities of the city will less than four markers be installed, Smith said. He estimated 90 per cent of the intersections would be marked with four plates.

The markers will be placed so that they may be seen by drivers on the right side of the street after they have passed the intersection.

A survey of the intersections by city officials shows that only 13 of the nearly 3,000 markers cannot be placed on the concrete bases. At these corners the plates will be attached to the curbs so that they may be read from the streets, it was pointed out.

City Sponsors Project

The construction of the markers is a Works Progress administration project and is sponsored by the city. Only cost to the city is materials, installation, equipment, and hauling. V. L. Wampler is project superintendent. The markers are being made at the South Plains fairgrounds.

The work was begun about three months ago and will require about that much more time before completion, it was estimated. After a short suspension of operation of the project between pay periods, the laborers are scheduled to resume work today.

Labor Disturbance

Textile Workers Organizing committee, said at Washington a strike, affecting silk mills employing between 50,000 and 60,000 workers, probably would be called in about two weeks to support a demand for signed contracts.

Unionists in a Fisher body plant at Baltimore struck, forcing a shutdown of the neighboring Chevrolet assembly plant and leaving 2,200 wage earners idle.

Peace Offers Rejected

Peace offers were rejected by strikers in a Ford Motor Co. plant at Boston and in a hotel at St. Paul, Minn.

A compromise was sought in the truckmen and warehouse workers walkout in New York. The strikers' numbers swelled by 1,500 yesterday and reached a total of 2,500.

Union leaders sought negotiations with Nebraska truck operators in a strike unionists claimed affected 6,000 workers and 1,500 trucks.

Two Bills Signed

in event prosecuting attorneys did not. The bill would permit reimbursement of citizens for the costs of prosecuting a suit provided a permanent injunction was granted. A citizen would be given a lien against the defendant's property used for illegal purposes to aid in collection of his expenses.

Admitting error in a previous ruling, Speaker Robert W. Calvert permitted introduction of a bill authorizing the supreme court to mandamus and compel local officers to perform their duties. Calvert had held the measure did not come within the governor's call for the session.

A bill to place additional restrictions around trading in grain and future contracts also was introduced.

Bus Bodies Are To Be Rebuilt

Bodies of more than half the buses bought for Lubbock county rural schools in 1935 will be rebuilt this summer to increase the "safety factor" for pupil transportation during the 1937-38 terms, according to information given Wednesday by Joseph R. Griggs, county superintendent.

Five of the buses serving Roosevelt school were started for Dallas Wednesday in a motorcade headed by M. L. Kelly, Roosevelt superintendent, Griggs said.

In Dallas, the bodies will be rebuilt in accordance with contract terms made with the dealer at the time of the purchase, Griggs explained.

Six other buses from New Deal school and perhaps others from other districts also will be taken to the same shops, probably within the next few days, Griggs said.

Agreed To Rebuild Bodies

The rebuilding will be done in accordance with a contract made when 23 of the buses were bought for Lubbock county schools in 1935. At that time, the seller agreed to rebuild the bodies as often as advisable if the county would transport the buses to the shops.

The work to be done, said Griggs, is that which might be expected of any such vehicles after having been subjected to constant use. Even as they are, school officials said, they undoubtedly would pass a high standard safety test. However, examination by experts and correction of any faults will tend to eliminate as far as humanly possible any hazards which might exist.

Kelly recruited his own staff of drivers, as will be done in the case of New Deal and other rural school districts.

(Special To The Avalanche)

TULIA, June 9.—Graybeards and more youthful residents will gather here July 16 and 17 to observe a 47th anniversary of the founding of Swisher county, said J. W. Kellogg, general chairman of the celebration.

With prospects for the best wheat crop in six years, Tulia promises a better celebration than the one last year, attended by 10,000 people. The most important event scheduled is the rodeo and barbecue. Other features are a mile-long parade depicting the growth and development of the county since 1890, entertainment of various kinds, band music, and dancing.

Kellogg has working with him on an executive committee, C. C. Northcutt, H. E. White, Sam C. Wilks, Walter Tomlinson, B. C. McCasland, and P. C. Colgin.

Notaries Public In City Are Warned

Those appointed notaries of public at the last session of the legislature will have their last opportunity to qualify today, County Clerk Ed D. Allen warned Wednesday.

Of the 569 appointments made by the legislature in Lubbock county, Allen said, only 397 have qualified. Failure to qualify will mean, he added, that those desiring such appointments must file new applications which, however, may be acted upon during the present special session.

Ten appointments made during the present special session were received late Tuesday. Those named, according to the clerk, will have 10 days from the receipt of notification to qualify. The only exceptions to those time limit rules are persons who are ill or out of the county at the time of notification. Persons delayed in qualifying because of sickness are required to present a physician's certificate. Persons out
