Soviets Protest US Fleet Maneuvers in Black Sea

Destroyers Accused Of Being Provocation

ISTABUL (UPI) — Two U.S. guided missile destroyers headed for the Bosporus Strait Saturday for "routine" maneuvers in the Black Sea despite Soviet protests that the vessels were "uninvited guests."

Authoritative sources said the destroyers Dyess and Turner would enter the sea, which the Soviet Union regards as largely its own, sometime Monday. The sea borders the U.S.S.R. for 1,000 miles.

Peaceful voyages by warships into the Black Sea are allowed under a 32-year-old treaty, the Montreux Convention.

Although the maneuvers by the U.S. ships were described by a 6th fleet spokesman as "routine operations," sources saw them as an apparent show of American strength and displeasure at the recent Soviet naval buildup in the Mediterranean, long dominated by the U.S. 6th fleet.

The Russians said the entrance of the U.S. destroyers into the Black Sea was a "provocation."

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda charged that the destroyers were armed with missiles that could carry nuclear warheads and that these armaments were not covered by the 1936 treaty and were illegal. A U.S. spokesman dismissed the charges.

There was no indication from U.S. fleet headquarters in Naples, Italy, how far into the sea the destroyers would steam, or how close they would go to the Soviet landmass.

The Soviets also protested Saturday against the establishment of an air reconnaissance headquarters at Naples for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). Pravda said such a base would "threaten the security of the Mediterranean peoples."

The air center would coordinate aerial observation of the Soviet warships in the Mediterranean, which now number 50.

STARTS MONDAY

Contested Will Due Hearing in Court

Hearings will get underway at 10 a.m. Monday in 31st Judicial District Court here in the contested will case of Mrs. Verna E. Shaw.

Mrs. Shaw, a prominent 80-year-old Pampan, died Dec. 10, 1967, and left an estate valued at $100,000.

Prime point of contention in the hearings will be the validity of two wills; one dated Dec. 14, 1966, and the other, earlier will, dated March, 1966.

Only that portion of the wills dealing with the part of the estate to be left to charitable institutes is being contested.

Both wills provided that a portion of her estate be left to 26 friends and relatives. The codicils were very specific and provided gifts ranging from furniture and personal items to cash stipends for several nephews and nieces.

Being contested is the last will of Mrs. Shaw, dated Dec. 14, 1966, which left a portion of her estate to two charitable institutes, the Bible College and Old Folks and Childrens Home of Boone, Iowa, and Cal Farley's Boys Ranch.

The earlier March, 1966, will had named First Christian Church of Pampa, the Juliette Fowler Home in Dallas and the home in Iowa as beneficiaries of a portion of the estate.

First Christian and the Juliette Fowler Home claim Mrs. Shaw was mentally incompetent at the time the December, 1966, will was made. Proponents of the last will claim that she was not.

Medical testimony concerning Mrs. Shaw's competency is expected to play a major part in the trial.

The $100,000 estate left by Mrs. Shaw included her house at 221 N. Somerville and lots 5 and 6 block 20 on which the house is situated.

Three Incidents Inside DMZ Area Reported by US

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. command Saturday reported three "significant" incidents inside the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), including the largest sighting of Communist troops since the Nov. 1 bombing halt.

Spokesmen said U.S. Army and Marine artillery crews fired scores of high explosive shells into the Buffer strip after all three incidents Friday. It brought to 35 the number of full-fledged "incidents" in the DMZ since American planes stopped bombing North Vietnam proper.

On the diplomatic front, South Vietnam's negotiating team for the Paris talks took off from Saigon Saturday in a charter ed jetliner escorted by five jet fighter-bombers. President Nguyen Van Thieu told the team headed by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky to seek a peace settlement that would end the "invasion" of this country.

"The outcome all depends on the position and attitude of the Communists," Thieu said at the send-off ceremony Ta Tan Son Nhu Airport.

Hearing on City Annexation Is Set For Tuesday

A public hearing on proposed annexation of certain property in northeast and east areas of Pampa will be the first item of public business at Tuesday's 8:30 a.m. session of the city commission in City Hall.

Also on the agenda is a report of the City Planning Commission on Pampa's proposed Comprehensive Plan and a request to consider it for adoption.

Commissioners will consider authorization for payment of $132,475.75 to Texas Securities Corp. as the city's share of the 1968 residential paving program and monies placed in escrow from property owner participation.

Other business scheduled Tuesday includes consideration of establishing a second reading date for ordinances, November salary changes and approval of monthly bills.

Officials Make Arrangement For US-Soviet Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Diplomatic sources said Saturday that U.S. officials are trying to wrap up arrangements for Soviet-American talks on arms limitations that could start with a trip by President Johnson to the Soviet Union.

The official sources said it was still uncertain whether the opening session of discussion on a mutual curbing on strategic missile systems would begin with the participation of President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

Johnson has long hoped for a meeting with Kosygin in Russia.

But it was questionable whether the Russians would feel there would be much gain for them in a meeting with a chief executive who will be out of office on Jan. 20.

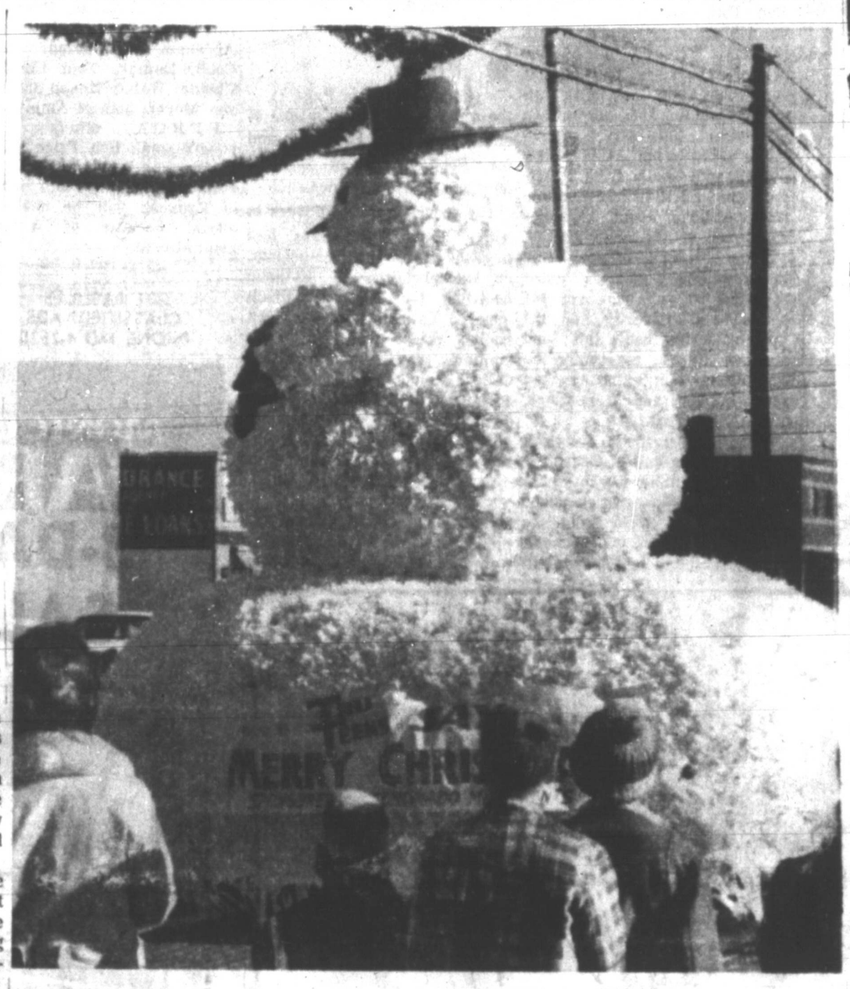

Despite Johnson's interest in visiting Moscow, the sources said, it was more likely that the talks—if held—would begin in a neutral European city like Geneva, then move to Moscow for the prolonged, technical bargaining that would follow.

The sources said both the United States and the Soviet Union consider a Moscow site more advantageous for limiting publicity about a highly complex round of negotiations.

The diplomatic sources said that when he returned to Moscow Nov. 27, Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin carried word of U.S. willingness to begin talks on a limitation of extremely costly anti-ballistic missile systems in both countries.

Agreement on such talks was reacned in principle after the Nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty was initialed by representatives of the United States and the Soviet Union last fall.

Dobrynin attended a farewell luncheon given by Secretary of State Dean Rusk two days before his departure. Rusk used the occasion to tell him of American willingness to reopen the question of Missile talks, the sources said.

Hanoi Insisting On Agreement For Cong Independent Status

By LOREN JENKINS

PARIS (UPI)—A Saigon delegation led by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky flew toward Paris Saturday for expanded Vietnam negotiations. But Hanoi threatened a new delay of the talks by insisting the United States agree to give the Viet Cong independent status at the conference table.

The South Vietnamese team, due to arrive in Paris Sunday, was under orders from President Nguyen Van Thieu to negotiate the "cessation of invasion and restoration of peace." But Thieu said the outcome all depends on the attitude of the Communists.

In Paris, however, North Vietnamese diplomats said it was unlikely the enlarged Vietnam conference would get underway next week because of U.S. refusal thus far to grant the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front (NLF) independent status at the talks.

High Hanoi officials said they had formally told the United States that unless the NLF is seated as a separate partner in the expanded talks, there will be no conference. They did not, however, threaten to break off Hanoi's negotiations with Washington.

The flamboyant Ky will be met at Orly Airport by U.S. delegation chief W. Averell Harriman, who was flying back to Paris Saturday night from U.S. consultations with President Johnson and President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

But a Saigon delegation official announced that at the request of French authorities a mass welcome demonstration for Ky at the airport had been cancelled. When Viet Cong delegates flew into Paris last month, tumultuous demonstrators waved NFL lags and shouted 'Long Live Ho Chi Minh."

The latest Hanoi statement was made following a report that American and North Vietnamese negotiators had failed to meet in private, as expected, Saturday to try to work out ground rules for the conference opening.

Planning and Zoning Commission Approve Reports of Master Plan

Members of the City Planning and Zoning Commission adopted three resolutions concerning Pampa's Master Plan and proposed zoning revisions Friday afternoon to be presented to the Pampa City Commission.

The commision approved the proposed zoning ordinances as revised by Marvin Springer, Dallas consultant engineer for city planning, to be presented to the city commission for use in a public hearing.

The commission did not officially adopt the proposed revisions but approved their use for the public hearing.

The city commission is expected to set the public hearing for Jan. 28, 1969, at their meeting Tuesday.

Various amendments and additions to the proposals may result from the public hearing. After such changes are incorporated into the final revision, the planning and zoning commision will consider the adoption of the ordinances.

The public hearing will be held at a joint session of the city commission and the planning and zoning commission.

Property owners will be notified by mail of the date for the hearing.

The commission also gave approval to the use of a keyed map of the city, marked off by zones, to be used at the public hearing. The final map, which is expected to be used by the city, will be subject to any changes resulting from the hearing.

In other business, the commission approved the basic comprehensive plan report on the development and growth of Pampa as prepared by Springer. The approval was limited to the basic concepts of the report, subject to final changes after the public hearing.

Springer noted that the report will probably be amended as to specifics, but that the basic concepts would remain the same.

Included in the report, which will now be presented to the city commission for consideration Tuesday, are projections on expected population growth, proposed thorough-fares and housing recommendations.

The City Planning and Zoning Commission will review the comprehensive plan, proposed zoning revisions and the zoning map after study by the city commission and public hearing.

Pope Announces Church in Stage Of New Crises

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Buffeted by widespread criticism of his ban on artificial birth control and by other dissension within the church, Pope Paul VI said Saturday the Roman Catholic Church is going through a period of "self-demolition."

But the Pontiff said that while many people evidently expect him to make "clamorous gestures and energetic and decisive interventions," he would rely instead on Christ to "calm the storm."

Pope Paul said he would await Christ's assistance in prayer to overcome the turmoil, which he termed "the condition that Jesus himself has chosen for us, so that he may operate in fullness."

"Even the Pope needs to be helped with prayer," he said. The Pontiff chose the appearance of a group of superiors and students from Milan to speak out on the crisis of authority rocking his papacy.

Facing Crisis

"The church is in an hour of unquiet, of self-criticism, one would even say of self-demolition," the Pope said. He said that he had become "a sign of controversy" within the church, the world's largest.

Pope Paul, who has been the target of personal criticism from parishioners and priests alike over his encyclical banning the use of artificial birth control, and who has become the center of storms over priestly celebacy, papal infallibility and interpretation of the Catholic fifth, admitted the trials are difficult and sometimes hard.

"But," he added, "the reality of our priesthood makes us bless the Lord for these trials. The Christian knows the joy that arises from trials. It is the certainty of being with the Lord...and a feeling of great confidence and trust."

Pope Prays

The Pontiff, who turned 71 in September, told his audience he would pray and then "give himself up, without anguish or untimely anxiety, to the mysterious play of the invisible but very certain assistance of Jesus to his church."

Czech Leaders To Visit Russia

PRAGUE (UPI)—Reports circulated in Western diplomatic circles Saturday said that Communist party leader Alexander Dubcek and other top party officials will go to Moscow soon to meet the ruling Soviet Troika.

The reports could not be immediately confirmed.

A statement by Dubcek himself on Thursday indicated that such a trip has been planned and that the Czechoslovak leaders would make use of it to protest the distribution of the pro-Soviet Newspaper Zpravy in the country.

The youth newspaper Mlada Fronta asked Dubcek whether he was satisfied with the way the Soviets were carrying out the terms of agreements made since the Aug. 20-21 Soviet-led invasion.

North Vietnam Withdraws Men By Laotian Trail

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—U.S. sources said Saturday two North Vietnamese army divisions—about 20,000 men—have withdrawn from South Vietnam via the Ho Chi Minh Trail through Laos. Many wounded have been seen on trucks.

The 300-mile trail still is a two-way street, the sources said, with North Vietnamese military supplies moving over it into South Vietnam as usual.

Traffic south has shown a sharp increase since the end of the rainy season last month, the sources said, although the flow is not as heavy as it was at this time a year ago.

Information on what goes on under the high jungle canopy that hides most of the trail comes from U.S. reconnaissance planes carrying highly sensitive cameras and electronic snooping gear, from reports from natives and from teams of trail watchers who creep past North Vietnamese defenses from both the Vietnamese and Laotian sides to observe the Communists.

According to the reports received in the past two months, there have been large North Vietnamese troop movements out of South Vietnam and into Laos. Some of the troops are still believed to be in the border areas, available for future fighting.

In Madrid, the Spanish government announced Saturday that joint Spanish-American military exercises will be held in Spain next Wednesday through Saturday. The exercise, called "Pathfinder Express II," will involve 25 army and air force units from both countries in what the Spanish announcement said would be major troop airlift operations.

The U.S. Defense Department said Friday that 15,500 American troops will be flown to West Germany next month for war games near Grafenwohr, 30 miles from the Czechoslovak border. The exercises were regarded as a reaction to the Soviet bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Halfway around the globe U.S. naval maneuvers brought angry words from North Korean Communists. Upset by the presence of U.S. warships in the Sea of Japan, North Korea contended the vessels were creating "tension" in the area and could provoke a "war of aggression."

marked the fifth time this week that U.S. artillery fire has been directed against Communist positions in the six-mile-wide strip between the two Vietnams.

In one, artillery rounds rained down on 31 North Vietnamese troops while the reds tried desperately to hide themselves in the thick clouds of their own smoke grenades. It was the largest single group of Communist soldiers seen in the DMZ since Nov. 1.

In another incident, a Communist 50 caliber machine gun nest opened fire on a U.S. spotter plane a half mile below the Ben Hai River boundary between North and South Vietnam. U.S. spokesmen said American artillery fire silenced the nest.

Six Communist soldiers were seen by a U.S. forward observer about 300 yards south of the Ben Hai, spokesmen said in describing the third DMZ incident Friday. A Marine artillery barrage touched off one secondary explosion indicating destruction of ammunition or fuel.

The battleship USS New Jersey sent shells from its 16-inch guns hurtling into Communist positions about 12 miles southwest of Da Nang Friday.

Navy briefing officers said the New Jersey gunners "put a reported 90 per cent" of the shells fired "directly into the target." A few hours later and about a mile to the south, the New Jersey's big guns wrecked seven bunkers and 10 buildings, officials reported.

U.S headquarters Saturday announced the end of Operation Henderson Hill, a sweep which began Oct. 23 in an area about 25 miles south of Da Nang.

The 45-day push, which ended Friday, resulted in 700 Communist troops killed, a communique said. U.S. Marine losses were 35 killed and 273 wounded.

Good Samaritans Abound in Pampa

Gibson's Discount Center and a local radio broadcaster have made life happier for a Pampa woman who thought Christmas would be blue this year instead of white.

Mrs. Lela Stover was shopping in a local store last week and trying on sweaters. She put her purse down and when she looked around, it was gone, along with $135.

Mrs. Stover, whose husband is an invalid, was presented a check by Gibson's Saturday for $135.

But Christmas didn't end there.

Earl Davis of radio Station KPDN asked his listeners to help the Slovers out also and they responded with $53.

The speech followed a week in which Dutch theologians had published a liberal cathecism, or interpretation of Catholic doctrine for laymen, which angered Vatican authorities; an Italian priest who had done similarly was banned from his duties; and the leader of Catholics in Britain, Cardinal John Heenan, said Catholic couples could decide for themselves whether they wanted to practice artificial contraception.

Four Children Treated After Car Accident

Four persons were taken to a local hospital Saturday, following a three-car collision at Hobart and Highway 70 near the intersection of Lincoln and No. Ward Sts.

Three of the four, all youngsters, were released, but Krissy Kelley, 3, was listed in satisfactory condition. All, including Alice Kelley, 3, Kelly, 3, and Robert Kelley, of Guymon, suffered cuts and bruises.

All of the other Kelley children are from Pampa. All were passengers in a car driven by Kenneth D. Kelley, 30, 638 N. Banks.

According to a Pampa police investigation report, a car driven by Lynda Culberson Pierce, 20, 828 Malone, was stopped at a stop sign at Lincoln and Hobart Streets.

The vehicle driven by Kelley was traveling across Hobart from a service station and was almost across the intersection when another vehicle, driven by Waldon David Poe, 17, 121 S. Dwight, going south on Hobart, collided with the Kelley car.

Kelley's vehicle then struck the Pierce car in the front. Poe's car struck the right side of the Kelley car.

Poe was given a citation for exceeding a safe and prudent speed.

Pampa Lt. P.E. Bailey and Captain George Wallace investigated the collison.

He eased into the grain of what he had to say by recalling a situation he had run across in India on one of his visits there.

"People were starving to death there and yet they had 500 engineers in the country who were unemployed . . .

"They say that education is the answer to all our problems here in the U.S. but this makes you wonder . . .

"We have college-educated hippies walking around in the U.S., who do not work, live on welfare and many of whom are supported by welfare.

". . . And so it would seem to me that education is not the answer to everything—but honest work is," he concluded.

Additional highlights of the banquet included a social hour and open house activities.

Pickett served as past chairman.

We get many calls from gardeners concerning nematodes. Recently, Mrs. John Pritchard of Lefors called. Just a few years ago it was a very complicated process to rid one's garden of this pest. We have literature that explains how this can be done very easily. If you are having this garden trouble give our secretary a call and she would be happy to send you helpful literature. The phone number is MO 4-2671.

LEAFLETS

We have numerous helpful leaflets on insect problems such as "Texas Guide for Controlling Insects" and "Diseases of Fruits & Nuts." Others on household insects, ornamentals and many other plants.

WHEAT PASTURE

We just haven't had enough unseasonably warm weather to get wheat pasture in a lush condition over most of the county. This cooler weather could actually be beneficial to us over the long run. The more the wheat is held back in growth now, the more responsive it is likely to be next Spring. In other words, the wheat is being held back and the underground moisture will be in reserve when you really need it for both pasture and grain harvest.

Several irrigation farmers have contracted their wheat for pasture. We think a trend is developing in the Gray-Roberts area with regard to grazing out of wheat intended for grain. We have had occasion to check figures on several producers that have grazed out wheat intended for harvest. Last Spring we feel most producers would have been fifteen to twenty dollars on acre better off to have grazed out. The fellow owning the wheat would have also be running his own cattle. It is doubtful if this advantage would have been this great based solely on one dollar per cwt for grazing calves and yearlings.

Assuming there would be just a ten dollar per acre advantage of grazing area wheat farmers could pick up an additional three-quarter million dollars on the seventy five thousand acre wheat allotment in Gray County.

Panhandle Water District News

By FELIX W. RYALS

Last week we carried a portion of an address made by Texas State Rep. Bill Swanson of Houston on "What Texas Must Do Now To Preserve Its Water Resources." His speech carried much significance since Rep. Swanson is a member of one of the most important committees in the Texas Legislature, the Interim Water Committee.

The next legislature is going to listen to him in matters concerning water legislation. He has taken a very strong stand in asserting that the people of Texas are going to demand that we protect, conserve and wisely use the water we now have, before trying to import water. Space not permitting us to carry his entire address last week, we are now carrying the conclusion of his speech as follows:

"In an effort to preserve our water resources, we can:

(1) Have and observe satisfactory water quality standards. Texas has adopted water quality standards for streams, and these have been accepted by the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration. The Texas Water Quality Board is responsible for enforcing these standards. The Railroad Commission works closely with the Water Development Board in the protection of groundwater resources from spoils produced and disposed of by the oil and gas industry. The Water Development Board's groundwater program of issuing recommendations for surface casing of wells drilled and for disposal wells used by municipalities and industry to dispose of waste is helping preserve our water resources.

(2) "Make more use of return flows. We must use and reuse our water again and again. Some of our cities are reusing their waste several times before releasing it "downstream" for use by other municipalities.

"(3) Practice conservation of water—not waste it. Most water conservation practice could begin in the home where it is estimated that each household member uses about 160 gallons of water daily.

"(4) Increase our conservation storage capacity of our reservoirs. It has been state policy for nearly a decade that reservoirs constructed on streams—whether they are built by federal state or local entities—must be of "optimum" size in order that the state's waer resources will be developed fully. More of the capacity of reservoirs must be devoted to conservation storage space in the future than to other benefits such as flood control.

"(5) Provide protection against floods by impounding flood waters, thus conserving water for municpal, industrial and agricultural uses and curtailing the flow of this needed water resource into the ocean.

"The State will make every effort to bring about a realistic set of quality standards to be in compliance with the provisions of the Federal Water Polution Control Act of 1965.

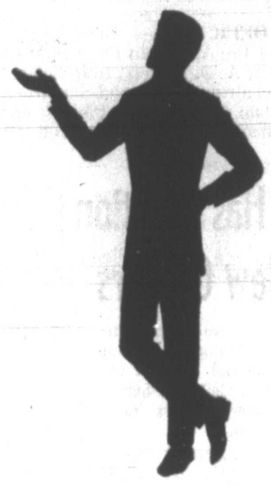

"Through the objective participation of State agencies, and local and private interests, Texas can meet its responsibilities for achieving the goals of water quality and quantity, which we all regard as essential to our future growth and enjoyment of our water resources.

"If we fail to assume our obligations, we can be assured that as in the past where conflicts of interest have appeared to develop, there has been too often initially an abdication of responsibility at the local level."

Q Is there more than one way to endorse a check? How can I be sure by payroll check couldn't be cashed if my mail deposit got into the wrong hands?

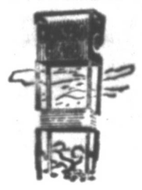

A. "Endorsing" a check means that by signing your name on the back of a check (in the same way that it appears on the front) you are transferring your rights or ownership in that check to someone else. There are three common endorsement forms: (1) a "Blank" endorsement shows only your signature and makes the check payable to anyone who presents it. You should use this form of endorsement with caution, ordinarly only when you are at a teller's window, waiting for the cash. (2) a "Special" endorsement allows you to name the person or a firm who must re-endorse the check to cash it or pass it to others; for examples, you could write on the back of the check: "Pay to the order of Smith & Co." and sign your name below. (3) a "Restrictive endorsement limits the use of the check to a specific purpose. When you deposit a check to your account (such as your payroll check), by mail or in person, always "restrict" the check by writing the words "For Deposit Only" on the back above your signature.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL
Executive Secretary ARC

We hope that all of you had a wonderful Thanksgiving and are getting ready for the Christmas holidays. As our National Red Cross manager from St. Louis says, "We must grow a Christmas tree that does not wither the day after Christmas — a tree that is nourished within our own hearts and spreads its branches from man to man as it unites us all in a world of eternal love."

He suggests that we hang on this tree a blood donation, a life saved by first aid, a verification of emergency leave, food in a disaster emergency, helping youth mature in social responsibility, and a Christmas bag for every serviceman in Vietnam.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary gave a dozen men's garments and 12 lap robes to be given to the veterans at the Amarillo VA Hospital for Christmas. These articles of clothing were clean and warm and we know someone will thank this organization for their thoughtfulness.

Our good friend, Horace Prince, who works at the VA and who lives in Pampa, takes all of our articles to the VA for us. Thanks again, Horace, for helping us in this way.

More schools have completed their enrollment in the schools: Grandview School with Principal A. J. Barron enrolled his two rooms with $2.10. Hopkins Elementary School with T. Atkins enrolled his school with $2.11. Junior Red Cross News will be ordered for both of these schools.

Horace Mann, with Mrs. DeAnn Schaffer, teacher sponsor, enrolled their 14 rooms with $14.82, Lamar Elementary with Gina Schaffer, teacher sponsor, enrolled with $22.33; Travis Elementary enrolled with $46.85, with Mrs. Wanda Caldwell, teacher sponsor; Lollipop Day School enrolled with $5 with Mrs. Marie Fitzgerald, principal; Pampa High School enrolled with $167.57, with Mrs. Nancy Kastor, teacher sponsor.

Schools who have not completed their enrollment to date are: Woodrow Wilson Elementary, St. Vincents School, and Robert E. Lee Junior High School. Watch for these schools next week.

Mrs. R. D. Morris has completed making 40 colorful ditty bags for the school children to fill for the Vietnam school children. Mrs. A. L. Patrick also helped with this program. Thanks to both ladies for helping with this program.

Bags have been filled by Baker School, Hopkins School, and Lefors Elementary School. Thanks to all of our boys and girls who share with other children so far away from Pampa.

The Truteen Service Club and other organizations in Pampa have taken servicemen to remember at Christmas time, with Christmas cards and with packages of candy and cakes. These boys from our town will thank each of you for remembering them.

A letter has been received from the Agriculture Extension Service inviting each of you who are interested in taking a course in management over TV-Station KFDA from 10:30 a.m. eech Tuesday starting Jan. 14 through Apr. 1. Enrollment in the course is $1 and your time. Enroll by sending your fee to Jimmie Wainscott, County Home Demonstration Agent.

There will be NO Red Cross Board meeting this Tuesday. Should any emergency arise, the chairman will call an executive board meeting.

TWO MEMBERS OF THE SEX QUARTET, "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice," are Dyan Cannon and bikini-clad Natalie Wood, shown here in a scene from the forthcoming movie. No one is saying very much about the plot, but the film is rumored to involve wife-swapping.

QUID QUO PRO

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Architect Lawrence Halprin is so confident that the new ferry building fountain will be a fine work of art that he s wilngi to bet his neck on it.

He told the recreation and park commission that if it isn't great "I'm going to slit my throat."

The commission approved the fountain in a 4-2 vote and commissioner E. Everett Cahill commented: "On the basis of Mr. Halprin's willingness to slit his throat, I'm willing to stick my neck out."

In 1931 President, Herbert Hoover refused to see a group of so-called "hunger-marchers" at the White House.

National Window

By GEORGE J. MARDER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It is doubtful that President-elect Richard M. Nixon wants or that Congress would give him standby power to raise or lower taxes.

President Johnson made the suggestion. The idea was to give the next President a ready weapon to cope with the threat of recession or inflation. It was an extension of a plan first advanced by President John Kennedy.

The Kennedy proposal was for half the power Johnson suggests —presidential authority to lower taxes on an emergency basis when the nation appeared to be slipping into a recession.

Because of the clear constitutional mandate that only Congress could raise taxes, Kennedy steered clear of any request that the President be allowed to hike taxes, even in an emergency. He confined his request to emergency reductions within a 5-point range for a period of six months.

Congress would not even listen to the Kennedy proposal.

The House Ways and Means Committee shelved it without holding hearings.

Problem Remains

Nevertheless, the problem remains. When emergences arise requiring tax action, it takes Congress so long to move that the result usually is one of the following:

The medicine no longer can cure.

At best, the remedy does not work nearly as well as it would have if applied sooner.

The tax changes are higher, and consequently less palatable, then would have been necessary if action was taken promptly.

A case in point is the impact of the 10 per cent income surtax which went into effect as of last spring. So far, it has failed to appreciably slow down the economy. If it had been imposed a year sooner, the effect on the economy probably would have been much greater.

Johnson never asked for tax-changing power for himself. He knew Congress would say no.

Alternatives Sought

As an alternative, the Johnson administration worked up a series of proposals aimed at getting quick action by Congress on emergency tax proposals.

One idea was for the White House to label its tax proposals either long range or emergency. The long range reforms or basic tax suggestions would be handled in the normal manner: Committee hearings for as long as Congress felt necessary, with the bill possibly killed in committee.

However, with emergency tax proposals Congress would commit itself to vote those tax proposals up or down within a limited period—say, 30 days after submission in the House and 60 days at most in the Senate.

There was some talk of formalizing the procedure with a resolution or a law. The idea, however, was never pushed as a formal mater. Instead informal arrangements were made in the hope of insuring prompt handling of emergency tax measures.

The informal arrangements did not work out, however, when Johnson asked for a surtax. It ook considerably more than a year to get final action.

Harvesters Win 14th Top O' Texas Tournament

By RON CROSS

The sweet smell of success spilled all over Pampa Friday and Saturday and the Harvesters won their 14th straight Top O' Texas basketball tournament with a 46-43 victory over Enid in the finals here Saturday night.

In a game that couldn't have been any more exciting, the Harvesters took the lead to stay with 2:10 left to play when Johnny Epperson, who hadn't scored enough points in the previous four games to have an average, hit a free throw to make it 44-43.

Shortly before his charity toss, Epperson had tied the game at 43-all with a goal under the basket.

With 28 seconds left Epperson stepped to the line again and hit one of two from the free throw line to make it 45-43.

But Enid got a chance to pull within one when Tommy Ivey was guilty of a foul with 18 seconds to play. The Plainsmen's Chuck Graves, who was the tournament scoring leader, missed the shot, and eight seconds later Ivey was fouled.

But the tall senior missed his opportunity and Enid was given a new breath of life. The Plainsmen could not cash in on it and Ivey was fouled again with three seconds left.

This time he didn't miss and the Harvesters had their fourth victory in five outings and that same number of victories in the past two days.

Just when most folks thought this might not be the year of the Harvesters, Coach Sterling Gibson's young squad upheld the Pampa tradition of having never lost a game in this tournament.

Earlier Saturday, Canyon won third place with a 67-65 victory over Elk City; Monahans won fifth place by downing Woodward, 58-44; and Dumas took seventh place with a 73-48 victory over Sweetwater.

Pampa and Enid led the All-Tournament team with three players each being named to the all-star squad.

The Browns, who have won seven in a row, can lock up the Century Division title by beating Washington, or if St. Louis loses to New York. Cleveland has beaten the Redskins nine straight times and has been averaging better than 37 points per game in his last seven starts.

The Cardinals must beat New York and hope for Washingon to upset Cleveland in order to keep their hopes alive for the Century title. A victory Giants would assure th their first beern-than-.50 son since 1963.

Colts Blitz Green Bay, 16-3

GREEN BAY (UPI)—The Baltimore Colts' brilliant defense converted three fumbles into 13 points Saturday for a 3 victory which virtually ended the Green Bay Packers' hopes for another National Football League Central division crown.

The victory gave the Colts a full game lead at least for a day over the Los Angeles Rams in the Coastal Division. The Packers, at least temporarily, fell a full game behind both Minnesota and Chicago in the Central, and a win Sunday by either the Vikings or Bears would eliminate Green Bay.

Baltimore scored its only touchdown 5:05 into the game on a 26-yard pass from Earl Morrall to Willie Richardson, then added field goals of 37, 15 and 15 yards by Lou Michaels.

Green Bay's only score was a 45-yard Mike Mercer field goal in the first period as the Colt defense now has allowed just two touchdowns in the last seven games. Baltimore has a 12-1 record, and will meet the Rams in the final game of the season in a probable Coastal Division showdown. The Packers are 5-7-1 to insure their first losing season since the pre-Vince Lombardi year of 1958, when they were 1-10-1.

On Green Bay's first series of plays, Donny Anderson was hit by Mike Curtis and fumbled with Bob Boyd recovering on the Packer 28. Two plays later, Richardson got behind Herb Adderley on the right side of the end zone and Morrall drilled a perfect scoring pass.

The Packers got their only score after the ensuing kickoff. Zeke Bratkowski, who played all the way at quarterback in place of the injured Bart Starr, passed 18-yards to Anderson to set up Mercer's field goal.

The Colts scored on the first series of the second quarter following an Anderson punt. Starting at their own 38, Morrall hit tohn Mackey on passes of 17 and 11 yards. The drive stalled on the Packers 30, and Michaels kicked a 37 yard field goal to give Baltimore a 10-3 lead.

The Eagles must have felt so too, considering the drubbing they gave Detroit last week. . . .

Dramatic Face-Lifting Due For Baseball

r FRANCISCO (UPI)— t even waiting to name a leader to replace the d Commissioner William kert, organized baseball e d an all-out partie for the right to keep calling itself he t"National Pastime."

"Now we will begin moving with the times," said owner John Fetzer of the world champion Detroit Tigers. "I believe baseball now will gain a new high plateau of fan interest and sports success."

Eckert, the three-star Air Force general who ruled as commissioner three years, was shot down in flames Friday when baseball decided he was not the man to lead the way in a super-streamlining of the game—a streamlining many feel is needed to turn back the challenge of pro football for ranking as the nation's most popular sport.

Mike Burke, the shaggy-haired president of the New York Yankees, was the man most commonly being touted today as likely to be the next baseball commissioner.

Many Possibilities

But many other names were being mentioned, too—American League President Joe Cronin, owner Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers, owner Roy Hofheinz of the Houston Astros, General Manager Lee McPhail of the Yankees and even Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Only one thing is certain—the owners mean to give baseball the most drastic face-lifting in its history.

Everything, they say, will be different: All of baseball probably will be run by one central office headed by a strong—not a figurehead—commissioner, a la pro football commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Various league organizations are likely to be weakened as the central authority is made stronger. And on the field of play itself, things may be zipped up—such proposed changes as a pinch-runner specialist who can be used several times in one game, pinch-hitters for pitchers all the time, an automatic walks are likely to get serious trials.

Two things will happen immediately:

Master Plan

—A committee headed by Gerold Hofberger of the Baltimore Orioles and Richard Meyer of the St. Louis Cardinals will begin next week to chart a new master plan for baseball. Hofberger said the job could take "six months, a year, two years."

—I n the meantime, a new commissioner will be chosen. Exactly how wasn't being said, except that "the owners will pick him." There appeared to be substance to reports that a secre meeting will be held on secret meeting will be held on the subject soon, probably in Chicago next week.

Eckert will continue to serve until the new commissioner will b^ named. But that won't be long.

Eckert, a courtly gentleman whose lack of knowledge about the game frequently embarrassed and frustrated baseball people, was allowed the privilege to announce he was resigning. He even denied that h ehad been fired.

But the facts were more harsh, and were only thinly disguised at the news conference announcing his departure. Open proof came when it was disclosed Eckert was being paid off for the remainder of his contract—$60,000 per year for four more years. People who resign aren't paid off; only people who are fired.

SCHEDULE BOUT

NEW YORK (UPI)—Harry Markson, director of boxing at Madison Square Garden, said today that Feb. 3 was the new date for the heavyweight fight between Buster Mathis of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Canada's George Chuvalo.

The bout was originally scheduled for Dec. 6, but Chuvalo asked for and received a postponement Thursday because of an injury to his left ring finger during a training session.

Pampa Eighth Wins Pair of Cage Games

Pampa eighth grade basketballers picked up a couple of victories Friday and Saturday in Borger.

Pampa eighth clipped Borger Austin, 54-46 Friday and slapped Borger Houston, 38-25, Saturday.

In Friday's game Richard McCampbell hit 13 points, Ricky Smith led all scorers with 15, Fred Wilbon and Ron Proctor scored nine each, Randy Holt hit five and Ricky King three.

In Saturday's game McCampbell paced the scoring with 16 points, Proctor had six, Smith, Wilbon and King scored four each, Tom Patterson and Robert Smith, scored two points each.

Pampa eighth is now 2-0 for the season.

Penn State Rips Syracuse

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—Penn State, sparked by the record-breaking running of halfback Bob Campbell, trampled Syracuse 30-12 Saturday to complete its first perfect season in 21 years and only its third in its history.

Campbell scored on runs of 87 and 19 yards and amassed 207 yards rushing in the first half as the Nittany Lions rolled up a 24-0 lead.

Peenn State also scored in the first half on Charlie Pittman's 27-yard jaunt and Bob Garthwaite's 25-yard field goal.

The two Syracuse scores came in the final nine minutes of the game against State's second team. Lee Castner ran 21 yards for one touchdown and Rich Panczyszyn's three yard rollout accounted for the other score.

Campbell, who missed almost half of the season because of a shoulder separation, had his greatest day. His 87-yard run was the longest run from scrimmage in Lion history, breaking a mark of 86 yards set by Bob Riggle in 1964. He also picked up 239 yards running, only 11 short of the record of 250 yards se by E.E. (Shorty) Miller in 1912.

The victory gave the Lions a record 10 wins—the first time they have won that total in a single season since they began intercollegiate fooball competition in 1887. The 1947 Penn State team, which tied Southern Methodist in the Cotton Bowl, was undefeated but played only nine games in its regular season.

Upsets Hit Prepsters

By United Press International

A few of this year's Texas high school football powerhouses will be looking on from the sidelines for the rest of the playoffs thanks to some king-sized upsets in the quarter-finals Friday night.

There were surprises and close calls around the state, but old reliable Poth made mince-meat out of another supposedly tough foe and romped into the semifinals with 10 other clubs in the four top divisions.

Upset Victims

The two big upset victims Friday night were Galveston and Randolph.

Galveston, top-ranked in Class AAAA, fell to Houston Washington 22-9 on two fourth quarter touchdown passes from Larry Foster to James Cain.

The win was the 13th without a loss for Washington and moves the Eagles into the semi-finals against the winner of the Reagan-Wheatley affair.

Randolph, the runner-up in Class A last year and the No. 2 ranked team this season, fell victim to Klein 24-8.

Refugio, the No. 1 club in Class AAA, had its troubles for the second weekend in a row but managed to hold off Mission 17-8.

Plano Bumped

In the top AAA game of the night, undefeated Henderson bumped off Plano, last year's Class AA champion, 21-7.

Iowa Park, a top contender this year in Class AA, was held to a 0-0 tie by Big Lake but moved into the semifinals thanks to a lead in penetrations. The Hawks will meet Daingerfield next week.

Daingerfield was one of the more convincing winners Friday night, knocking off San Saba, 42-6.

Besides Poth's stomp of defending Class A champion Tidehaven 34-0, other Class A games saw Sonora edge Sudan 26-20, Clifton nip Ranger 14-12 and Rosebud advance on penetrations after tying White Oak 27-27.

Sonora will meet Clifton and Rosebud will try Poth next weekend in the Class A semi-finals.

Chargers, Chiefs In Showdown

By United ress International

Dick Post, a ball carrier with 4-F military credentials and a 1-a football rating, will be a welcome addition to the San Diego lineup Sunday for the important American Football League showdown between the Chargers and the pace-setting Kansas City Chiefs.

The embattled Chargers (9-3) tackle the Chiefs (10-2) at San Diego in the first of two games which may decide the Western Division championship.

Post, the Chargers' top ball carrier, reported for military service a week ago, but the military found him physically unfit so he will be back in the lineup for the San Diegans.

Oakland, tied with Kansas City for the lead, hosts unpredictable Denver and the defending champion Raiders can't afford to stumble in this one.

The New York Jets, crowned the Eastern Division champs on Thanksgiving Day, tune up for the title game by taking on Cincinnati at Shea Stadium in New York.

The only other Sunday game sends Boston to Miami.

While Post, who has picked up 699 yards this season, will be the top Charger running threat, San Diego is primarily a passing team and will rely on the John Hadl to Lance Alworth combination.

Hadl passed for five touchdowns last Sunday against Denver with Alworth catching four of the scoring aerials. Both acomplishments were club records.

Kansas City won the first game between the two clubs, beating the Chargers 27-20. The Chiefs enter Sunday's game well rested and in good physical condition.

HOW'S BUSINESS?

Business Inches Ahead To Rebound from Slump

By The Babson Staff

Business activity inched ahead in November, continuing the rebound following the sharp brief slump which occurred last August. While the advance was not particularly pronounced, there was enough upthrust to nudge the Babson Composite Business Index higher.

The November reading of 156.4 compared with 155.7 for October. The sustained high level of business enabled this barometer to keep its wide advanage over a year ago when the reading was 152.9.

The rebound of stee production provided a good deal of the uplift to industrial activiy during November. Surprisingly, seel output has snapped out of its sharp inventory adjujsjtment of the prior hree monhs following the lass-minute labor contract settlemen in mid-Summer.

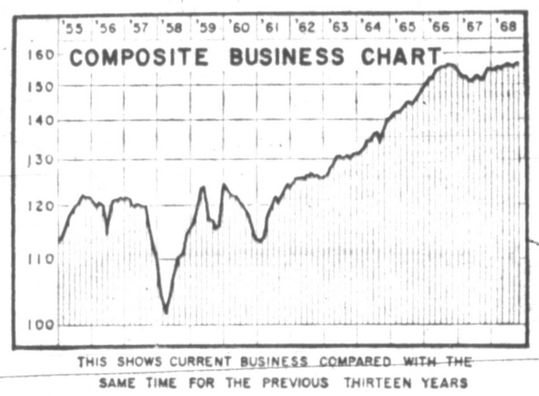

With the high volume of imports threatening to aggravate the strike-hedge - steel-inventory digestive process, it was feared that the liquidation would be slow and painful. However, its duration has been cut by the tremendous seel consumption rate.

Automobile production tapered off. The stuttering of new-car buying forced the industry to ease back on the throttle of output in November.

Elsewhere in the industrial scene there appeared to be renewed vitality, after some sluggishness encountered during the third quarter of 1968. Particularly important were the stronger showing in business equipment, machinery, instruments and related products, chemicals, and fabricated metal products.

Production of consumer staples, paper and paper products, textile items, consumer home goods, and building materials continued to post upward progress.

The anti-inflation measures may finally be taking hold. Consumer demand in particular nas lost a good deal of zip. Nevertheless, there is still sufficient momentum to assure high-level business for the next few months. Thi s cus hoainhsbnee months. This cushion has been augmented by the upspurt in new orders recently received by manufacturers.

THIS SHOWS CURRENT BUSINESS COMPARED WITH THE SAME TIME FOR THE PREVIOUS THIRTEEN YEARS

Miss Carmen Butler, Jimmie D. Brown Exchange Marriage Vows in Odessa

Miss Carmen Loretta Butler exchanged wedding vows with Jimmie Dale Brown in a double ring ceremony in Sherwood Baptist Church, Odessa. Rev. Lenard A. Hartley officiated for the evening ceremony Nov. 9.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Butler, Odessa, and formerly of Pampa. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton H. Brown, Roswell, N.M.

A detachable train added fullness to the back with chantilly lace on the train border. Her headpiece was a pillbox covered in chantilly lace and attached to a shoulder-length veil.

She wore a strand of pearls given to her by her father, for something old. She also wore a six pence in her shoe, a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Nance of Pampa.

She carried a cascade of white feathered mums and a removable corsage of white phaelonopsis orchids over a white Bible, which was given her by her aunt Mrs. T. L. Kimbell, Hereford.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Howard (made up name) and I are both 25, and have been married for 3 years. We've had no serious problems to speak of until now, and I'm not so sure this is one.

A few months ago we went to a costume party. Howard dressed up in my clothes — falsies, wig, and made-up face. He shaved his legs and wore black fishnet panty hose and heels. He looked like a doll. No one knew who he was, and he got more attention from the men than I got.

Since that time Howard has bought some ladies lingerie and lounging clothes and now likes to dress up in them when we are home alone together. I can honestly say it hasn't hurt our marital relationship in the least. If anything, he seems to be more relaxed and more romantically inclined.

I have mixed feelings about this. Should I worry as long as the rest of our marriage is normal?

HOWARD'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You had better have a talk with a doctor who is familiar with such off-beat behavior as Howard has suddenly evidenced. There is something "wrong" with a man who would so casually switch from the masculine to the feminine role and back again. And a wife who does not find it disconcerting is also a little odd.

DEAR ABBY: First of all, if you use my letter in your column, do not use my name, or mention the state from which I wrote.

My son who is now 12 has been smoking and chewing tobacco with his father's consent since he was 5 years old.

I know this seems incredible, but it is a heart-braking reality.

We are country people, but our son goes to a "city" school. I never allowed the boy to have tobacco of any kind, and I kept close tabs on him. But his father, who is a very heavy tobacco user, used to give it to our son and help him deceive me.

Could you send me the names of several doctors who could testify as to the harm tobacco can do a growing boy? My son can't keep up with the other boys in sports, complains that he is "tired" and his color is bad. I think tobacco is the cause of this. Some of my friends say that I have already lost the battle, but I am not giving up. Please give me what help you can.

STILL FIGHTING

DEAR STILL: If you believe that your husband has been encouraging your son since age 5 in the use of tobacco, you need a lawyer! You may also need a doctor. For your husband. And if you let this go with the evidence you believe you have, you may need a doctor for yourself. For goodness sake, lose no time in telling your lawyer the story you have told me.

DEAR ABBY: How does a hostess keep her guests out of the kitchen? It makes me nervous to have other women in the kitchen with me when I am serving a meal. I am well organized and prefer to do things alone, but when women insist on coming into my tiny kitchen to "help" me, I could scream.

They don't even ask. They jump right up from the table when I get up to clear it, and they start collecting dishes and setting them in the kitchen every which way, and there is such a mess I became nervous and upset.

I have seen other hostesses in similar situations, so if you will print this, with some advice on how to keep people out of the kitchen you would help us all.

NERVOUS

DEAR NERVOUS: You sound like one of those good-natured women who has not the courage to speak her mind. Better to build the snow fence before the blizzard hits. Make the announcement in advance that your kitchen is off limits, and you neither want nor need the help. If a guest starts to "help" you — tell her again. If you have to raise your voice a little, raise it. It's the only tone some people take seriously.

BAD HABIT

The habit most women have of carrying combs loosely in their handbags is a bad one. Always make sure the comb is as clean as possible before using, because it may carry to the hair traces of face powder, lipstick or some other cosmetic with which it has been in contact in your handbag.

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

FOR SUNDAY, DEC. 8.

YOUR BIRTHDAY Today: The coming year brings together commercial and financial opportunities. Earnings and savings could improve, but you must take care not to profit at the expense of your own long-range interests for those of your community. Joint ventures with familiar associates prove effective.

Sunday's natives often have audacious imaginations and live in terms of rash deeds.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19); Go to church, then seek pleasant social activities. This Sunday has considerable zip to it; enjoy yourself. . .

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20); Short trips are useful as a source of better information in your profession. You acquire new knowledge to protect your health. Take time for mental pastimes and correspondence.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20); Go to church, gather your friends, and go pleasure seeking wherever your favorite sports and games are played. Come home early, and review the day's doings.

CANCER (June 21-July 22); Improve your living quarters. Keep promises of social action. Give thought to your health. Be ready to meet interesting people from whom you can learn quite a bit.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22); Make a dignified affirmation of your faith. Work out some features of your scheduled plans; answer correspondence, invitations; share your enjoyment with others.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22); It is lively Sunday. Apply fresh energy to improve your home and living conditions. Entertain this evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22); You have better going now—and more energy. Make the rounds, see what's going on in your neighborhood. Catch up on the news. Plan fun in the evening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21); If you share your efforts with institutions or hospitals, organized programs go well. Take time to plan what to do with your life in the coming few years now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21); Pleasure is easy enough to find, but don't neglect your church and your community. Gather information, lay out an active plan for the week's work.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19); When you've done your share of the communal expression of faith, sit down and line up all the odds and ends of your accounts. See just where you are and what you must do to improve matters.

AQUARIUS (an. 20-Feb. 18); Excitement begins early; people you have not seen lately come with new friends in tow. Go along with the social whirl, but find time somewhere for a solitary rest, even a nap.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20); Unexpected, pleasant incidents pop up in this peaceful Sunday. Plan your health program; seek better advice and more understanding. Enjoy a social evening.

MONDAY, DEC. 9

YOUR BIRTHDAY tomorrow: Your path through the coming year is variable, many times beyond anything you have done before. The temptation is to be lazy about your inner growth and just manipulate the circumstances you meet without deriving any spiritual message from day-to-day experience. Today's natives are often too clever and flexible for their own good.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19); Launch a vigorous week while the getting is good. Put in a full day, then line up your paper work and correspondence in the evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20); You are fortunate today! Deals with influential persons are favored. Home affairs, improving property, and the like are important to you at this time.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20); Your daily routine can become more interesting if you let it. The community seeks more of your time and energy. Your concentration is sharper than usual and you should use it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22); Carry your own responsibilities and reap all the benefits—they may be substantial. Good advice from prominent people is available; at least show the courtesy of listening.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22); Gathering new information, writing about it, training people in the use of it—such are your most prominent activities. Put in every effort to advance.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22); Confidential work is favored. Work out the details carefully and seek the exception as a basis for some profitable new angle. Best work single-handed.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22); Surface all your personal energy and use it to advance your prospects. Bring in your friends if need be. Seek new connections; make a strong pitch.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21); Try to improve your working conditions or your earnings. You will find others with similar ideals willing to explore with you. Labor can sit down with management today—with good results.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21); Religious, scientific and legal matters are all slanted in your favor. Start early and get busy organizing a better career for yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19); Conclude your negotiations and agreements this morning. Settle into the new working pattern smoothly. Put forth a major effort so by tomorrow it will seem usual already.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 Feb. 18); Teamwork is the most essential factor. Find consultants, information, whatever you need for a complete job, and make the best use of them. Settle in for a peaceful evening at home.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20); There is good opportunity for achievement. Go after it. Put in your suggestions in person. Health can also be improved.

INSPIRED by the movie, "McKenna's Gold," soft gold foundation, beige into yellow eye make-up and gold-flecked eyes are the mistletoe musts of the coming Christmas season. HINTS ON MARBLE

Keep your marble lovely by keeping it clean and properly protected. Wash marble with clean cloths and fresh, lukewarm water. Twice a year, wash it with a mild detergent as an additional safeguard to remove residue dirt. Then protect it with a marble polish. This will help combat staining and discolorization by absorbing into its pores a discoloring material.

PROFESSIONAL ABILITY as airline stewardesses is the sole basis for judging the International Air Hostess Quest, conducted annually in Australia. Although it reportedly is the only contest featuring women in which beauty of face or figure plays no part, judges will find the entrants easy to look at if these examples are any indication. Clockwise from upper left are: See Biew Wah, Malaysia-Singapore Airlines; Magda Moustapha, United Arab Airlines; Kirsten Rosendahl, Scandinavian Airlines; Gwen Oesch, American Airlines; Marie France Dubost, Air Afrique; and Joan Raines, United Air Lines. The young women are dressed in the uniforms they wear when asking, "Coffee, tea or milk?"

How to Freeze Eggs

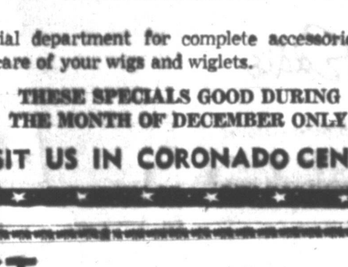

If your recipe calls for only part of an egg, the rest can easily be frozen for later use. To freeze whites, pour into ice cube trays or muffin tins till frozen, then transfer to a plastic bag. Yolks will coagulate, so you must add either salt (⅛ teaspoon to six yolks) or sugar (two teaspoons to six yolks), according to use you might make of them later. Mix lightly, but try not to mix in air. Freeze in ice cube tray. When using later, one yolk equals one tablespoon and one white equals 1½ tablespoons. You can also mix the whole egg lightly before freezing.

A really good chocolate or fruit drink from an up-to-date Suzy Homemaker blender will bring a happy smile to kids who like to play housekeeping.

HUMIDIFY ROOMS

Rooms should be properly humidified, as an extremely dry atmosphere will dry out natural oils. Too much humidity will cause woods and leathers to "sweat," causing the finish to blister.

Late fall and winter are just a snow flurry away. And this year the icy blasts mark the start of the leather look in young girls' headgear. Soft, crushable and packable, these young-looking hats are an addition to any busy girl's wardrobe. Soft, brushable beret by Elizabeth (top left) in brown leather has the slightly larger look and is given a new treatment with a gathered drawstring crown. Ribbed cloche of cinnamon leather (top right) with a rising crown and snap brim is from Scheer Bros. A jaunty "on-the-go" look is given to a fall outfit with the snap brim, side angle fedora (lower left). It is of gray leather set off with front grosgrain lacing and a Betmar design. Rajah draped turban (lower right) in brown crushable leather is from Frank Olive's latest collection.

Pounds Away Club Attends Meeting

GROOM (Spl)—The Pounds Away Club met recently in the Home Economics room at the high school. After the business meeting, a program was presented by Sue Pair. Low calorie refreshments were served to the club members.

Those present were Pat Pair, Sue Pair, Gloria Huck, Irene Baggerman, Dorothy Mansel and Mary Rose.

The club also met twice recently in the Home Economics room at the high school for a regular meeting to make donations to the Future Homemakers of America for servicemen overseas. Mary Rose presented the program.

Sue Pair won the fruit bowl for having lost the most weight during one week.

Members present were Pat Pair, Sue Pair, Gloria Huck, Dorothy Mansel, and Mary Rose.

The club also attended a meeting in Pampa, in lieu of the regular meeting. Members and guests included Messrs. and Mmes. Lester Pair, Ed Pair, John Huck, Howard Mansel and Howard Rose.

In the second meeting in the Home Economics Room at high school a total of 7 pounds was reported lost with Dorothy Mansel receiving the fruit bowl for losing the most weight.

Dr. Richard Hall presented the program. After the program a salad supper was served to Pat Pair, Sue Pair, Gloria Huck, Dorothy Rose and Mary Rose.

PROTECT FURNITURE

Writing on bare wood will make marks, especially when a ball-point pen is used, because you press harder on it. Always put something under what you are writing on to protect your furniture, if you must write on an unprotected top.

SEWING MACHINE ARTISTRY—Stitch a pretty picture to hang on your wall or give for Christmas. This unusual wall-hanging of cotton homespun was created by Talon's Department of Design with single fold bias tape and mercerized cotton thread. Flower centers are thread pompons, and the bowl and leaves are outlined and shaded on the machine with free-motion stitching.

THREE-IN-ONE—Living, dining, and sleeping is provided for in the same room, thanks to a space-saving sofa bed. Equipped with a cotton and innerspring mattress, the unit affords comfort and resiliency for easy sitting and restful slumber. Cheerful floral-printed cotton adorns the sofa bed and makes tie-back ruffled curtains. The reproduction of an old iron Franklin stove does even better than a fireplace. Photographed at Chicago's Merchandise Mart.

The Prairie Wind

By CLEO TOM TERRY

Many Thanksgiving visitors around these parts: Nathan and Karen Killough and son visited both sets of parents, the Killoughs in Pampa and McKissicks in Skellytown. The young Killoughs live in Dallas where both work and where he is taking IBM training.

Patricia Beigle was home from Abilene Christian College for Thanksgiving. Over at Girls Town near Borger, Sally Starr was hostess for her own granddaughters, as her daughter who also planned to be here with her husband and children underwent surgery in a Lubbock hospital. They were guests of Floss and Dock Stockton for Thanksgiving.

In this neck of the woods, after the three grandchildren, Tam, Tonya and BeBo spent Wednesday night and Thanksgiving Day with us they visited with their other grandmother, Elsie Groninger of Pampa and enjoyed the visit of their aunt and uncle Billie and Bob Stepkins of Ponca City and young cousins, Cindy and Shari. Another cousin, Becky McBrayer, who attends Denver University, is home for a whole month of holidays! The Cammie E. Terrys enjoyed a visit from Cindy Pulse and Starla Molynax over the week-end and another one from the three Francis boys, Arlie and Mark, and Dan their father of Amarillo.

But the visit that will be remembered and spoken of for a long time was the one from Jim Akeridge of California. Jim and his wife, Mabel, and the three oldest children, once lived at the White Deer Creek Camp of the Hay Hook Ranch when it was run by Johnny McClellan. The Ernie Jones family were their closest neighbors, and they can remember how Mabel, who was scared to death of storms would come riding her old horse Brownie, over the hills slippery with rain at a dead run—baby Mildred in front of her on the saddle pommel while Willie Mae clung like a four-year-old leech to the saddle strings or her mother's belt from behind!

Jim Akeridge took his first deer hunt in company with Cammie Terry and his first prarie chicken hunts in company with E.B. Jones of Pampa. He tells of an amusing happening at the White Deer Camp once when the Jones family, with one of the extra boy-cousins who visited them in the summer, came to visit at night. Ernie just kept looking around through the windows and over his shoulder and when the eight-year-old boy got nervous, declared that he couldn't help it, there were Indians around there. During the night there was quite a commotion out in the chicken house. It was made to order for Ernie Jones. He hollered, "There are the Indians now," and he crawled under the bed. (Beds, not couches, were the large article in the front room then.) Mr. Jones wasn't under the bed alone; right beside him, crawling right with him, was a terrified eight year old boy!

Back before the dams on the Canadian the old river used to really go on the rampage nearly every spring. One year the river rose so high that all the Plemons residents took to the flat-topped "little red mountain" behind town, and Oklahoma City had a river right in the middle of the city. After the rains had started, Jim, who knew all his water-gaps would go, went down the creek right to the river, for at that time Hay Hooks owned the land all the way to the river. Jim would cut the fence in the water gaps and pull out the posts, in order to save the posts and wire when the creek, trees and brush came tumbling down the flooded creek bed.

As he rode home, he heard someone yelling for help. The voice said, "Jim, save that horse!" Jim saw the head of his own horse, wearing Carl Lockhart's saddle and bridle barely above the raging water. He had his nose and mouth under the water, held by a forked tree branch which had one fork broken off, but the fork part itself holding the horses head. Jim reached out and broke off the other fork of the branch, freeing the horse's head then hooked his catch rope onto the saddle horn pulled the horse to the bank. The horse went over and laid down. He didn't even move.

It was quite a job to persuade Lockhart to be pulled back into the swirling water from which he had just walked to safety—walked with his head under water, walking because his feet were on the bottom and that was the only way out. He'd about clawed out the bank trying to get a hand-hold on that east side and wasn't anxious to get back in! Jim finally got his lariat rope and Lockhart's rope tied together and threw the end across to Carl, who looped it around his chest. Jim tightened the rope easily not wanting to jerk Lockhart in two, but a little rope burn wasn't bothering Carl eckhart, he yelled "Pull, doggone it! Get me across here." Lockhart and his little brother had been moving cattle off the creek and his horse had played out so he'd stopped and caught one of Akeridge's. This was the horse he'd been telling Jim to save. When he rode off next morning to gather his cattle and get going toward Miami, he told Jim the horse was ruined and for Jim to come get any horse from his bunch that he liked, and to keep coming for horses till he got the one he wanted to replace his own. Jim saw that his horse had gotten up so he said he'd be all right. Johnny McClellan told Jim that he should have taken Lockhart up on it, for the horse if he did get over it, would be sore and stiff and like an old horse for the rest of his life, because a horse that had to fight a river rise never got over it. And it turned out that way. The horse was always stiff after that. Lockhart made the remark when he left that he'd ridden into the Canadian River when it was just boiling but that if he never got to the west side of White Deer Creek again, it'd be too soon!

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistant with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Thefts In Postal System

"The extent of the crime wave which has swept over the Nation's Capital was dramatically pointed up recently when a Republican congressman disclosed that one of the country's largest cathedrals has been the victim of mail thefts amounting to some $25,000."

The above is a quote from an article entitled "Brown Asks Congress to Investigate Charity Mail Theft Scandal in Capital" in the Oct. 21, 1968 issue of the Republican Congressional Committee Newsletter. Intended, one must assume, to point up the disgraceful condition of the Post Office Department under a Democratic administration and, thus, garner votes for the Republicans in the recent election, the article, from which we shall quote at greater lengths, is especially appropriate now that the shoe is on the other foot and responsibility for the patronage-ridden, deficit-accumulating postal bureaucracy rests squarely in the Republican lap.

"At the same time," the Republican newsletter article continued, "a check disclosed that other churches and charitable institutions in the Washington area have been hit by thefts of contributions and other donations, mainly from the mails."

Thus, to the other ills plaguing the POD must be added stealing, apparently on a wide-spread and organized scale.

We continue to quote from the article:

"Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, who blew the whistle on mail thefts . . . pledged an investigation after the 91st Congress convenes . . .which would give this matter the urgent attention it deserves.

"Other institutions hit by mail frauds in the Washington area," the newsletter continued, "include Missionhurst and the Holy Ghost Mission, both Catholic charities, and Korean Relief, Inc. None could give a precise estimate of the amounts stolen, although the Rev. Paul Melveren, director of Missionhurst, said there have been thefts every week for the past two or three years . . Rev. Melveren said he believed that every charitable organization in Washington has the same problem.

"William Vita, managing director of Korean Relief, Inc., said his organization has been suffering losses from its mail for the past two years. He said one Main Post Office employe was caught with $139 on her person, all intended for Korean Relief, Cathedral officials said missing money was found in the locker of a postal employe, but that the employe has thus far never served a day in jail."

Pointing up the contemptuous attitude of bureacrats entrenched in positions of power, the article said, "Congressman Brown said the Very Rev. Francis Sayre, Dean of the Cathedral, expressed his alarm in a letter to the postmaster general in 1967 but received no reply. Another letter, mailed in April of this year, received only a 'typical bureaucratic perfunctory reply,' Brown said."

Emphasizing the widespread prevalence of theft in the POD, one newsletter concluded, "On one occasion postal inspectors 'seeded' the mail with 50 National Cathedral contribution envelopes in a single night. Only one came through to the church. Meanwhile, the thefts continue."

As it seems to us, here is a good place for the victorious Republicans to begin making good on some of their campaign promises to clean up the government.

Holiday Traffic Reminder

Most automobile drivers recognize the need for strict traffic laws, but many do not want the laws enforced strictly—except perhaps for other drivers.

Statistics compiled by the National Safety Council show that the chronic violation of traffic laws by the motoring public is a serious factor in the number of traffic fatalities each year. In 1967, some 53,1000 persons died in traffic accidents.

One of the most flagrant violations is driving while under the influence of alcoholic beverages. Traffic authorities report that drinking is a factor in at least half of all fatal motor vehicle accidents each year. A study conducted in one State reveals that three-fourths of the drivers killed in single-vehicle accidents during a 5-year period had been drinking.

Excessive speed also takes its toll each year. Statistics show that about three out of 10 of the fatal accidents in 1967 involved vehicles exceeding the speed limit or going too fast for road conditions. The irony of excessive speed is that usually it accomplishes very little of what it is supposed to do—save time. A 1,000-mile test by officials in a foreign country demonstrated that a fast driver, speeding and taking certain risks, arrived at his destination only 31 minutes ahead of a driver who observed the speed limits, avoided all risks, and moved with the flow of traffic. Certainly, a mere half hour saved in a timespan exceeding 20 hours discredits any arguments for fast, reckless driving.

In addition to the alarming number of traffic fatalities in 1967, some 1,900,000 other persons were seriously injured, and motor vehicle accidents cost our Nation approximately $10,700,000,000. Once again, December was the leading month with 5,160 fatalities, and Saturday was the most dangerous day with an average of 225 deaths.

A ray of hope does exist, however. Expanding interstate highway systems have been credited with saving about 4,700 lives last year, and safety belts may have saved as many as 2,500 lives. In 1967, there was a decrease in both the mileage death rate and the registration death rate. This was possible because the increase in traffic deaths was held to less than 1 percent while vehicle mileage and the number of cars on the road increased 4 percent each.

These are encouraging trends; however, super highways and safety devices cannot do the whole job. Much of the highway carnage which haunts every home, community, and State is the fault of irresponsible and careless drivers. Realistic enforcement of traffic regulations and proper punishment of guilty violators, particularly where drunk driving and excessive speed are concerned, would save thousands of lives in our country each year.

As we enter the crucial Christmas holiday period, each motorist should make certain that traffic accident statistics are not increased because of his driving derelictions.

Pull Up A Chair

By JOHN KEASLER

The Right to Revolt

The stories get a little boring about kids being booted out of school because their hair is "too long," whatever that means.

I don't take sides on the general issue. Things, like people should be judged one at time. My own opinion is that I don't care how long anybody's hair is unless it gets in my eyes.

But one thing the stories do is remind me of my revolt before revolution was as popular as it is now in school. In fact, it was frowned upon.

The stories remind me of my principal, Mr. Mack. It had nothing to do with long hair. But if it had I'm sure Mr. Mack would have worked it out without involving the federal courts, somehow.

I admired Mr. Mack. He was a good enemy. You never had to feel sorry for him. He enjoyed outsmarting you, and he used the dirtiest trick of all. He always played fair.

My revolt was over chewing gum. I was in the tenth grade. My best friend, Paul Parker, was, like myself, a leading intellectual. He was also what I learned later in the Army, is referred to as a Guardhouse Lawyer. (These are the guys who can prove conclusively why they shouldn't be in the guard house, where they always are.)

For 10 years when a teacher had told me to throw away my gum in class, I got up and threw it away.

And I did this fateful day.

"Paul Parker and John Keasler, throw out that gum," snapped our English teacher, during a Shakespeare inquisition. We did. After class, Paul held a cell meeting and declaimed:

"She has no right to make us throw away our gum. Gum costs money. It is not against the law. Who'll go in that class with me tomorrow chewing gum and stick up for our rights?"

He looked first at me, in the circle of guys standing around. So I shouted, "Me! Me!"

"Who else?" Paul demanded.

The rest of the guys said we must be out of skull, turned and spread the word all over school about Parker and Keasler—the marytrs.

I was suddenly a rebel with, unfortunately, a cause, and I didn't even much like gum. just chewed it to take my mind off Shakespeare.

Next day, the English teacher said throw our gum away. Paul stood up and said, "Ma'am, we feel we have a right to chew gum and —"

"Go to the office!" she shouted. "The very idea. Now if—John are you chewing gum?"

Every eye was on me. I got up and went to the office. I was too chicken to chicken out.

Mr. Mack leaned back, stroked his chin and heard us—Paul, rather —out, I rather admired Paul's fluency. Nothing like a guillotine with style.

"Ummm," said Mr. Mack, at long last, and looked out his window. He wheeled his chair around and slammed his fist on his desk, scaring me witless.

"You're right!" he shouted.

Paul smiled. I didn't. Mr. Mack said, "I can't find any flaw in your case. You are within your rights. Does it really bother you not to chew gum?"

"Yes sir," Paul said.

"I will not force the issue," said Mr. Mack. "Chew gum all you want. One thing—I also have to protect your teacher's rights. It bothers her to see a classful of gum-chewers. Come with me."

He led us to an empty study hall room.

"That's the gum chewing room," said Mr. Mack. He wrote us both a note. It said: "Please excuse bearer at any time to go to gum chewing room."

We were practically laughed out of school. I gave up after 15 minutes of people peeking in and snickering. Paul made it for three English periods. On the fourth day I was, shamefully, among the crowd looking in the doors and windows to roar in laughter at Parker glumly chewing gum all by himself.

I sure remember Mr. Mack. He taught us a lot about rights working both ways. I don't know how he would handle long hair, assuming he bothered to worry about it, which I doubt.

But I do know I wish people would quit involving themselves in issues no more important than a wad of gum. Mr. Mack, in any case, followed a philosophy I later noticed was quite popular in the Army.

The good non-coms can't make you do anything you don't want to. They can just make you wish you had.

What's Up In Kremlin?
—Guessers Gloomy

JOHN GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — With an anxious eye on Eastern Europe, authorities here and in capitals abroad again are playing an old and familiar guessing game: "What's going on in the Kremlin?"

Speculation about the Soviet power structure has increased in the uncertain wake of the Soviet-led blitz into Czechoslovakia. Both the direction and the durability of the Kosygin--Brezhnev leadership are now in question.

In recent weeks, touring U.S. lawmakers have had a chance to trade theories with officials, U.S. and foreign, in Eastern Europe. When and if President Johnson meets with Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin he will have a chance for a personal appraisal.

President-elect Nixon, who spoke during the campaign of a series of meetings with Russian leaders, may prefer to defer his summitry until the long-range view gets a little clearer.

Many experts believe, as we previously reported, that Russia's long-range intentions are now masked by a desire to calm anxieties aroused by the move into Czechoslovakia. Sharp reaction, especially the reaction of Communist parties outside Russia, has, in this view, disconcerted the Kremlin.

Two theories are emerging, however, with respect to long-range trends:

—A shift to the right is developing in Soviet policy, toward the hard-line, Stalinist concepts. This view is rather widely held among senators and congressmen returning here from travels abroad.

—The now fluid situation could mean a power struggle and even a change in the Kremlin's top leadership. This idea is not so widely held, but it has its strong supporters.

POLICY — In his one hour and forty minute talk with Sens. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., and Claiborne Pell, D-R. I., Kosygin gave a tough outline of the newly enunciated "socialist commonwealth doctrine" — the idea that Russia is to determine whether a Communist sister state is following the doctrines of Marx and Lenin.

Neither senator is a hard-liner on U.S. policies toward Russia. Gore, a proponent of a U.S.-Russian detente, was quoted after the interview as stating that the road to such an accommodation between East and West would be "a longer, rougher road than I had hoped."

Privately, Gore has since stated that Kosygin gave a stark and simple summary of the commonwealth doctrine: "No nation now in the Communist orbit will be permitted to leave it. If troops are necessary, we (the Russians) will use them."

The possible implications of such a policy for the United States could be very serious. Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., a member with Gore and Pell of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, referred to one of them after returning from the Nov. meeting of the NATO Assembly in Brussels.

"What does the policy mean if Cuba wants to move out of the Russian Communist orbit?" asked Mundt. "Will Russia send troops"

LEADERS — At the Brussels NATO meeting Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., told the assembly's military committee that, "The invasion and subsequent declarations of policy raise questions of great concern to NATO.

"Has there been a change in Soviet leadership or policy, or both, which would cause the Soviet Union by design, or because of fear, misapprehension or miscalculation, to undertake military action or harassment of NATO members?" asked Cooper.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., was more positive in talking of the unpredictable course of Russian policy before the same gathering:

"The uncertainties we confront are compounded by the possibility of further shifts within the Kremlin's power structure, where there is already evidence of a move toward the hard-liners," Jackson declared.

Jackson has been even more direct in telling friends he is quite sure there is a struggle for power in progress in the Kremlin. Some European Kremlinologists, he says, support that assessment.

"There is every evidence," says Jackson, "that power is swinging to the right, to a Stalinist group which is unsure of itself and unpredictable."

He adds that, while U.S. intelligence gathering is now "damn good" on the whole, it has never been able to forecast a power shift among Kremlin leaders.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

With the coming of autumn, the crickets' singing becomes louder and longer. The tempo of a cricket's song is determined by the temperature. As the weather gets colder, the tempo becomes slower. Scientists, The World Almanac notes, have derived a formula to calculate the temperature in degrees Fahrenheit by counting the number of chirps in 15 seconds and adding 40.

How Not To Run A College

(Chicago Tribune)

The president of St. Cloud State College in Minnesota caved in when threatened with forced confinement to his office by 25 Negro students out of a total enrollment of 9,000 and announced he would hasten to meet all their demands. The black blockaders also prevented newspaper reporters from entering the office of President Robert Wick.

Wick assented to a cultural center for the black minority and promised more black students, instructors, counselors, supervisors, and athletic coaches. Funds are not available for the center, but the president proposes to shake the bushes in the community for help.

It seems to us a strange distortion of values when a public college must defer to the whims of a mere handful of students resorting to illegal means. Kidnaping and coercion of college administrators call for stern law enforcement rather than submission.

Such incidents occur almost daily. At San Francisco State college a spineless president shut down the institution after 500 blacks and faculty supporters got into a rock-throwing melee with police. The great preponerance of the student body of 18,000 was denied the right to pursue its studies in an orderly and unhampered manner, much as all but 25 of the St. Cloud student body were treated as the tail of the kite.

Weak-kneed college administrators ought to memorize a recent decision by a panel of four Missouri federal judges, who held:

"Attendance at a tax-supported educational institution of higher learning is not compulsory. The federal Constitution protects the equality of opportunity of all qualified persons to attend. Whether this protected opportunity be called a qualified right or a privilege is unimportant. It is optional and voluntary.

"The voluntary attendance of a student in such institutions is a voluntary entrance into the academic community. By such voluntary entrance, the student voluntarily assumes obligations of performance and behavior reasonably imposed by the institution of choice relevant to its lawful functions.

"So long as there is no invidious discrimination, no deprival of due process, and no abridgment of a right protected by circumstances, and no capricious, clearly unreasonable or unlawful action employed, the institution may discipline students . . .No student may, without liability to lawful discipline, intentionally act to impair or prevent the accomplishment of any lawful function of an educational institution."

When educators begin to act on these premises, and summon up the courage to expel troublemakers forthwith, there may be some peace and quiet on the nation's campuses, and not before.

CAPITOL EYE

School Takes Second Look As Voters Nix Tax Boosts

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The closing of the public schools in Youngstown, Ohio, from now until Jan. 2 for lack of funds is merely the newest and most dramatic evidence of a growing phenomenon in this nation — the near financial starvation of from 30 to 50 school districts a year.

The cause of Youngstown's closings was the failure by some 1,500 votes of a tax increase proposition at the polls on Nov. 5. It failed chiefly in poorer ethnic wards where the many Catholic citizens who send their children to parochial schools dislike the rising burden of public school costs.

But Youngstown seems to be unique only in the fact of its total shutdown. Last year Cincinnati and Los Angeles schools felt the money pinch for lack of new levies. At earlier times, Cleveland and St. Louis have been affected.

Education officials who now are checking this matter carefully see it as a mounting threat for thousands of American children in elementary and secondary grades.

One other Ohio town, Perry, a small Lake Erie community, closed its school doors for a month this fall. Six more may have to do the same if voters reject tax increases in impending elections.

Meantime, some city school districts appear to have been living at the edge of starvation for years. Several Delaware communities are in frequent trouble, one having spurned tax increases for nine straight years. The record of steady tax hike rejection is nearly as high in a number of New Jersey places.

In two Alabama counties, tax proposals needed for school maintenance get beaten at the polls regularly.

How do badly pinched school systems meet their financial emergencies? The responses naturally are immensely varied. Los Angeles eliminated foreign language teaching and physical education in the elementary grades, left teacher vacancies unfilled and made classes larger. Cincinnati schools temporarily did away with football and other extracurricular activities.

Obviously, the larger the school system the more chances there will be for cutting some corners and keeping basic education going. A common practice is to cut maintenance outlays, though this can be costly in the long run if it speeds the deterioration of school properties.

There are instances where individual sets of parents actually are asked to volunteer contributions to help defray maintenance costs. In the two mentioned Alabama counties, the school children sell candies and magazine subscriptions competitively as many do elsewhere to finance senior class trips to Washington or some other place of interest.

Though plainly there are numerous repeaters among the communities which suffer financial malnutrition, authorities in education estimate that perhaps as many as 150 have been affected altogether in recent years and suggest that the proportion will rise among the nation's roughly 22,000 school districts.

Ohio, New Jersey, Delaware, Arizona, California, Texas and Oregon comprise only a partial list of the states where voters get occasional or frequent chance to express what appears to be rising resentment against the steady growth of property taxes which undergird the school systems in so much of the nation.

The laws which compel putting the issue before the voting public on a fairly regular basis are complex and varied, and can't be detailed here. Situations sometimes are special, as when a large industry paying heavy taxes suddenly shuts up shop and leaves town, throwing a heightened burden on remaining taxpayers.

Areas where state aid to schools is a huge budget factor naturally are having the least trouble. But it is notable that in many states education today accounts for 40 to 50 per cent of total annual budget costs.

Hundreds of major school systems still are not near the financial peril point. But the warning signs highlighted by Youngstown are ominously clear.

A LOOK AT THE BOOK

By DR. BOB JONES

Pagan America

America is not a Christian country. There are Christians in America. Christian influences went into the building of our nation, and the impact of Christian truth is still felt to some extent in our national law and life; but America is essentially and predominantly pagan.

The great majority of our people worship the same gods which were reverenced in ancient Greece and Rome. Of course, they are not called by their classical names nor recognized as deities; but they are worshiped nonetheless, though graven images are not set up and statues and altars are not erected to them.

When the ancients worshiped Jupiter or Mars or Venus, they were bowing down before some attribute or characteristic of their own human nature which they had deified. Athena was the deification of wisdom, Mars of war, Venus of lust. The deities were made in the image of their worshipers.

Today in America, though men do not burn incense on the altars dedicated to deities who are projections of their own characteristics and impulses and passions, they worship and serve these attributes and passions, for the thing which becomes supreme in their lives becomes the god of their lives.

There are some men who worship their own intellects. Their minds are their gods; wisdom is their chief pursuit. The standard by which they measure values is the standard of their own reasoning. Others sacrifice everything to greed; avarice is their god. They are devotees of wealth. Others are mastered by their appetie for drink. No priest of Bachus was ever more zealous than they. Many live to serve the lust of the flesh and worship the bas passions of their nature.

serve the lust of the flesh and worship the base passions of their nature.

America is a pagan nation. America is not a Christian nation. It never will be until Christ becomes the Lord of our people.

Bob, Carol, Etc. Get Down to Nitty-Gritty

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Eating a nice, greasy, movie-caterer's stew on a wooden bench in the hot Pasadena sun across from Natalie Wood in a bikini isn't calculated to improve the digestion. But these are the sacrifices we have to make to keep you informed about the Hollywood scene.

Natalie was shooting a movie called "Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice," hereinafter called "Bob & Etc." They had rented the luxurious pad of some Pasadena millionaire and were shooting around the pool. The caterer had set up his mobile kitchen and his comfy wooden benches in a field across the street.

It's been two years since Natalie has made a movie. She says she couldn't find a script that was different. But the two years off weren't a total loss — "I learned to play tennis, to cook, and I got myself a fiancee. That's not a bad two years' work."

The fiance is an English agent-turned-producer named Richard Gregson. Natalie says they will probably marry early in '69 — "The problem is where we'll live, but it will work itself out."

The young actors who play the children in the picture clustered around Natalie, who is evidently popular with them. They did not call her 'Natalie" nor did they call her "Miss Wood." It was always the whole name — "Hey, Natalie Wood, can I try on your sunglasses?" or "Hey, Natalie Wood, you got two salads."

One of the other stars of the picture, Bob Culp, joined us. And we talked about the director, Paul Mazursky. This is his first feature film.

Culp said he has known Mazursky for many years, and was high in his praise of the rookie director.

"He's great," Culp said. I think he'll be this town's second comedy director — there's Mike Nichols and him and nobody else."

The other two actors who make up the foursome in this sex quartet are Elliot Gould (Barbra Streisand's husband) and Dyan Cannon (Cary Grant's ex-wife). Since nobody is talking very much about the plot of "Bob & Etc." — the rumor is that it has to do with wife-swapping — I asked Dyan to explain it to me.

"It's the story of two married couples and their insecurities and securities," she said. "It takes them apart, from the time they get up until they go to bed — with the accent on the later. It gets down to the nitty-gritty."

So we're still in the dark. Dyan laughed, a sight calculated to make one forget details like movie plots.

She says she's achieved happiness — and she looks it — through the use of a form of yoga called Agni-Yoga, which involves meditation as well as yoga exercise.

"I used to be up tight," she says, "but now I have a relaxed ind." m-mind."

She's changed, she says, in many ways.

"I used to think I knew everything," she says. "Like I was sure I knew the way to a happy marriage. All you had to do was work at it. I was sure that if I devoted myself to it completely, it would work. So I did just that — I was a good wife 24 hours a day.

"It didn't work. If I get married again — and I have no plans — I'm not sure what I'll do. If I knew the secret of a happy marriage, I'd bottle it."

Bursitis Is A Bursa Inflammation

A bursa is a small sac, filled with a slippery fluid. It is located between two body parts that move upon one another. They occur in several parts of the body and serve the same purpose as a bearing. The bursa near the ligaments of the shoulder joint is a frequent pain causer.

Rest and treatment are usually required to reduce the inflammation and enable the bursa to regain its slippery quality. You can save yourself a lot of future pain by visiting your doctor.

TEEN DANCES — For all the teenagers the Center has the number one activity, the teen dance. Each Friday night the Center sponsors a teen dance for those who are interested in this activity. The dances are well chaperoned affairs with the parents of the band, volunteers and the Youth Center staff on duty. Parents can rest assured that we are looking out for your son and daughter to have fun.

There are two types of dances sponsored by the Center. During the school year when the Harvester athletic club is playing in town, we have an after the game dance for high school and college age students from 9:30 to 11:30. When the Harvesters are playing out of town we sponsor a dance for all age students from 8-11 p.m. Dances are $1. The schedule is: Dec. 13 Tyme; Dec. 20 Mojos; Dec. 24 Tyme; Dec. 27 Right Turn Only; Dec. 31 New Years Dance.

BASKETBALL LEAGUE — The men's basketball league begins action this week with some 6 teams competing. They are First National Bank, Cock O' Walk Drive In, First Baptist Church, Curtis Well Service, Coca-Cola and Celanese. Each team plays once each week with trophies awarded the winner and runner-up. Games this week find on Wed. at 8:30 First Na'al vs Curtis Well; Thurs. at 7 Cock O' Walk vs Coca Cola and 8:30 First Baptist vs Celanese.

CLASS — The new activity, judo, has really proven popular here in Pampa. Some 75 students are enrolled in the course which meets on Monday and Thursday nights from 7-8:30 p.m. Classes are conducted by Mr. Sam Moot and Paul Moot under the jurisdiction of the Texas Black Belt Association. If you are interested in this activity you may still enroll by coming to the meetings. You must be a Center member to participate.

WOMEN'S SWIM TIME — The Center has an activity for the women of Pampa designed solely for them. This is the exercise and swim time set aside each Monday and Friday mornings from 9:30 to 11:30. If you desire to participate in an informal exercise class led by records, you may come at 9:30. If you desire to swim you may come at 10. You may participate in one or both of these classes. You need only be a Center member.

SPACE WARDROBE is required dress for technicians who fuel the Saturn rocket at Cape Kennedy. The protective suits, designed by NASA and Bendix, carry built-in back packs that supply two hours of breathing and cooling air. A Saturn rocket will launch the Apollo 8 astronauts on their lunar-orbiting mission set for late December.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It was reported this week that a group of congressmen recently stopped off in Las Vegas while making a tour of military installations.

The visit was said to have included dinners and shows at some of the Las Vegas night clubs, with the Air Force picking up most of the tab.

These reports have given rise to insinuations that the mission was not really vital. The theory is that if the mission had been really vital, the congressmen would not have stopped of in Las Vegas.

They would have stopped off in Paris.

This theory is based on one of Parkinson's laws, which states: "There is no matter of vital concern to the U.S. Congress that does not require a trip to Paris."

I must say, however, that I disagree with such insinuations.

It may be true that a congressman cannot collect as much vital defense information in Las Vegas as he can in Paris. But that doesn't necessarily mean a stopover in Las Vegas is unproductive.

The U.S. Air Force, which arranged this particular tour, obviously would not have included Las Vegas on the itinerary had it not believed the congressmen would profit from the visit.

All of this was explained to me by a friend in the Air Force with whom I discussed the matter.

"Bear in mind that Congress appropriates the funds for the Armed Forces," he said. "One of our main problems in the Air Force is making sure Congress doesn't give us more money than we need, while shortchanging the Army and Navy.

"If we felt our sister services were being deprived of funds because our projects received budgetary priority, we couldn't live with ourselves.

"We try to prevent that from happening by taking congressmen on inspection tours so they can see for themselves which our projects should be left unfunded."

I said, "What projects might they eliminate in Las Vegas?"

"In that instance the Air Force probably was trying to help out the Navy," he replied. "If the Navy wanted to build a submarine base in Las Vegas, Congress would need first-hand information about the project."

"I see," I said. "But suppose the Air Force wanted to build something in Las Vegas?"

"In that case the Navy would take a group of congressmen to Paris."

THE SOWER

LONDON (UPI) — Sotheby's auction house collected about $4.5 million in a three-day impressionist art sale that ended Thursday. Among the highest prices paid on the final day were $16,300 for a Van Gogh pencil portrait of a man, entitled "The Sower," and $7,680 for a pen-and-ink study of a woman by Matisse.

1 Card of Thanks 1

ZONA PEARL HONEYCUTT

We take this means to thank our many kind friends and neighbors in Pampa and Shamrock for the kindness extended us at the time of our sorrow in the loss of our beloved Mother and Grandmother. For the beautiful floral offerings, the messages of condolence and the meals prepared and served to us. We are indeed thankful to Joe Dukes and Elmer McLaughlin. We wish to thank Dr. Raymond Laycock, Dr. Royce Laycock and the nurses at Highland Hospital. We also wish to thank both Funeral Homes, Carmichael-Whatley, and Richerdson Funeral Home of Shamrock for the impressive last rites for which we are grateful.
May God bless each of you.

What would we give to see your smile
To sit and talk with you awhile.
We often sit and think of you.
The things you used to say and do.
We miss you now, our hearts
are sore
As time goes on we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face
No one can fill your vacant place.
The blow was sudden, the shock severe.
To part with you whom we love so dear
Wonder why you had to die.
Without a chance to say goodbye.
Many a lonely heartache,
Often a silent tear, but always a Beautiful memory of one we love so dear.

THANK YOU GOOD SAMARITANS

We are most grateful to many fine folks in Pampa who called on us during the week we were confined to Highland General as the result of a wreck South of town on Nov. 16th to offer their assistance to strangers.

We are especially indebted to two groups of people whose names, regretfully, we do not know. One car arrived at the scene of our wreck almost immediately and went at once to summon help, another car, I believe it was a Blue El Camino type pickup, arrived within a moment and the drived carried Mrs. Joyner, who seemed most seriously injured, and I to the hospital while his wife stayed at the scene to look after our daughter who was not seriously injured.

Everyone we met in Pampa was most considerate and we are deeply grateful from the bottom of our hearts.
