Action Against Mellon Is Asked

Both Criminal And Civil Prosecutions In Charges Are Being Sought By Senator

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 27. — A department of justice investigation of charges that Andrew W. Mellon and other former and present officials of the treasury failed to collect more than $600,000,000 in taxes and interest from foreign steamship companies and the Gulf Oil company, a Mellon concern, was sought in a resolution today by Senator Wheeler (D., Mont.)

The resolution cited civil suits had been filed against Mellon and others by David A. Olson, former counsel for the senate stock marketing investigating committee, charging the taxes had been "illegally withheld" from the treasury and seeking their recovery for the government.

No action has been taken to prosecute these suits, the Wheeler proposal stated, adding the attorney general should be requested to take "immediate steps" to investigate the charges "with a view to bringing both civil and criminal prosecutions in the event he finds there have been violations."

Wheeler told newspapermen he would seek senate action on the resolution in a few days.

"The charge is," he said, "that some of these companies didn't report their proper income taxes and that Mellon and others didn't do their duty in collecting them."

Jewish Atrocity Reports In Germany Stir Entire World; Protests Lodged

Threats Of Boycott Cause Germans To Counter Attack

(By The Associated Press)

An "anti-lie" campaign was started Monday night by the German government as mass meetings were conducted in many parts of the world in protest against alleged mistreatment of Jews in Germany.

Chancellor Hitler's nazi party threatened imminent boycotts against Jewish business in the reich in answer to similar threats against German goods.

Counter Moves Planned

"Sharp counter-active measures" were announced by the nazi minister of propaganda against those responsible for reports of Jewish atrocities.

Eleven anti-Hitler meetings were conducted in Warsaw, and a score of gatherings were held in other Polish cities. At Lodz orthodox Jews fasted.

Despite statements that there were no atrocities in Germany, thousands of Jews in New York met to express sorrow and indignation over the reported developments in the reich.

Fifteen Are Hurt

In Sofia, Bulgaria, 15 persons were hurt when young facists, cheering for Chancellor Hitler, stormed a mass meeting of Jews.

A number of nationalist steel helmet leaders and many civilians were arrested in Brunswick, Germany, on charges of plotting a counter - revolutionary attempt against the nazi party.

Telegrams expressing indignation at "exaggerations" of atrocity reports were sent to America by members of the Protestant clergy industrialists, and representatives of Jewish organizations in Germany.

Twenty Jewish physicians were ousted from Berlin hospitals in a "cleanup" campaign.

State Highway Patrolman Is Injured While Chasing Auto

A reckless driver escaped and E. C. White, state highway patrolman, suffered a broken right wrist when White's motorcycle skidded from under him Sunday on the highway about three miles north of Lubbock.

White, who was downtown again yesterday, said he had caught up with the automobile he was pursuing when he saw danger of collision with an approaching car. The motorcycle skidded when White placed the brakes too quickly, the rider falling between two automobiles. White said he was driving about 70 miles an hour. He also suffered bruises and abrasions in the accident. The driver which White had intended to halt was not hailed.

Dallas And New Orleans Men Are Missing After Leaving Nicaragua; Other Ships To Take Up Search

(By The Associated Press)

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 27.—The government instituted a search late today for W. A. Flowers, Dallas, Texas, and Harry Scott, of New Orleans who left in a single-motored plane for Puerto Cabezas early Sunday and are believed to have been forced down in the jungles of eastern Nicaragua.

Flowers piloted the plane, which had a United States license. They left here at 8 a. m. Only one report had been received regarding them, although the trip usually takes three hours.

The plane carried sufficient gasoline for a five-hour flight.

Three observation planes and one amphibian plane belonging to the United States army in the Canal Zone will be sent here tomorrow at daylight to aid in the search, a message received here by Matthew E. Hanna, American minitser to Nicaragua, from General Preston Brown said.

Negro Slayers Being Tracked

Entire Southern Part Of The State Being Scoured While All Suspicious Characters Thrown Behind Bars

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, March 27. — From meager clues left by two phantom like negro terrorists who shot William W. Porch, jr., 24, to death early today and criminally attacked his girl companion, police tonight sought to trace the marauders.

Eight negroes were held in Houston, Galveston and Hempstead, as the entire southern part of the state sought to apprehend the pair.

Arrests Widespread

Five negro suspects held in jail here were questioned by detectives. A sixth was released. At Hempstead, two negroes taken from a freight train were questioned by two Houston police officials. Galveston police arrested one negro as a suspect.

The slaying occurred on the Scott street road on the outskirts of the city shortly after midnight. Porch and the girl had parked on the

Ansell Shoots Another Libel Suit At Long

Retired Brigadier Is Asking $500,000 For Accusations Of Crookedness Launched On Senate Floor

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Brigadier General Samuel T. Ansell, retired, today filed a new libel suit against Senator Huey P. Long, in an effort to collect $500,000 in damages for the Louisianan's accusations of crookedness and scoundrelism launched first against him on the immunity-cloaked senate floor.

Ansell was counsel for the senate committee that dug into the Louisiana 1932 senatorial primary. He unearthed testimony charging Long and his political machine with irregularities in the primary, which had resulted in the nomination of former Representative Overton over the veteran Senator Broussard, foe of Long.

Long Retaliates

Long retaliated with vitriolic denuncations of Ansell, one-time judge advocate general of the army. Some were made in the senate and Long told questioning members he would not invoke senatorial immunity. Ansell sued and Long's counsel quickly submitted the immunity claim.

Today Ansell filed a new suit, claiming the libel took place also in the circulation by mail of the speech made in the senate, and also in a circular issued allegedly by Long in New Orleans just before suspension of the senate committee hearings.

In the senate Long charged Ansell with forgery of an army order and called him a "scoundrel and thief of the lowest level of crookdom."

Mrs. S. J. Almack Dies At Home Of Daughter In City

Mrs. S. J. Almack, 69, died about 9:30 o'clock Monday night in the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. M. Hawes, and Mr. Hawes at 2243 Nineteenth street. She had suffered a paralytic stroke about 6 o'clock Monday morning.

Sanders Funeral home this morning will send the body to Nardin, Kay county, Okla., Mrs. Almack's home. In ill health the last several years, Mrs. Almack had visited her daughter and son-in-law here since last Thanksgiving. She had been ill about two weeks.

Funeral services probably will be conducted Thursday at Nardin. Burial will be there. In addition to the widower of Nardin, and the daughter here, Mrs. Almack is survived by six sons, Eyon of Alamosa, Colo., Elmer and Lloyd of Wellington, Kan., and Everett, Dewey, and Holland Almack of Nardin.

Secretary Wallace Sends Up Program For Adjustment Of Indebtedness Through Huge Financing Plan

Picks Morgenthau

Little Likelihood Seen That Moves Will Be Made To Put Barrier In Way; Order Will Be Unmolested

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The scattered federal farm credit agencies, including the farm board, were tied into a single unit today by President Roosevelt in the first of his organization moves.

Traveling swiftly upon the heels of the chief executive's submission of this order to congress, Secretary Wallace sent to Capitol Hill a program for adjusting farm indebtedness through a huge government financing plan.

Parallel Program

The secretary of agriculture refrained from saying his proposals constituted the administration's plan for aiding the debt burdened farmer. The plan paralleled, nevertheless the program at the White House on the farm mortgage situation.

In sending his farm agency consolidation plan to congress, the president named Henry Morgenthau, jr., present head of the farm board, to be governor of the new farm credit administration which goes into operation 61 days hence, provided a majority of both houses does not vote the proposal down within that time.

To Propose Refinancing

Through this new government unit the president will operate the billion dollar refinancing of agriculture he will propose to congress later this week.

The program submitted by Wallace today would have the refinancing of farm mortgages handled by the machinery of federal land banks and the regional Agricultural Credit corporations, using Reconstruction Corporation funds.

The credit corporations would be authorized to make loans direct to farm debtors for paying interest, amortization installments and taxes for a period of not more than two years.

Refinance Indebtedness

Federal land banks using Reconstruction Corporation funds would refinance the existing indebtedness of farm owners including interest or taxes. The land banks would be authorized to purchase existing mortgages or to exchange Recon-

Two Are Struck By Auto Monday

Two young women were slightly injured when they were struck by an automobile driven by William C. Grimley of Tyler at the intersection of Main street and Avenue J early Monday night.

Miss Alma Clinton, about 22, of 1916 Avenue O, suffered bruises and scratches. Miss Edna Earl Chapman, 19, of 2308 Avenue U, suffered contusions of both ankles, the automobile running over them.

The women were walking across Main street, going north, when they were struck. Grimley said he was turning his car east into Main from Avenue J and that he did not see the girls until a spectator shouted, "Look out!" Grimley aided in placing the women into a Rix ambulance, reported to police, and then went to the hospital where the pair was treated.

Criticism For Roosevelt Farm Relief Bill Piling Up; Substitute Proposed

Hearings Are Rushed And Senate Action Seen This Week

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Criticism of the Roosevelt farm relief bill piled up end on end today before the senate agriculture committee as the administration's measure bumped along toward the senate floor.

Harry W. Farr of Greeley, Colo., presented the objections of the livestock industry, led off the list of witnesses. He opposed the measure as unsound and costly to producer and consumer.

Substitute Offered

Francis J. Clair of Chicago and J. E. McDonald of Austin, the Texas commissioner of agriculture, offered a substitute that in substance was the domestic allotment plan submitted at the last session of congress.

John A. Simpson, president of the National Farmers' Union, appearing for the third time in as many days, reiterated his opposition to the bill, and urged a price fixing guaranty of production costs, while Mrs. Nell Q. Donnelly of Kansas City, a garment manufacturer, said she felt the measure would be a "hardship to the wage earners" by increasing food costs to them.

Objections Added

Fred J. Lingham of Lockport, N. Y., representing the Millers National Federation, added his objections, declaring a belief that the plan would not work, while the proposed processing tax would result in a per capita cost of $11.75 to each American for his food.

W. F. Jensen of Chicago, manager of the American Association of Creamery and Butter manufacturers, announced his organization's neutrality, but proposed that processors should be represented in the groups in charge of distributing benefit payments.

Remaining Neutral

"We are not opposing the bill and we are not advocating the bill," he said, and answering Senator Norris (R., Neb.) added "if it is enacted we will give it our wholehearted support."

Chairman Smith announced the hearings would be pushed through tomorrow in the hope the bill might

Early Action For Proposal Is Predicted

Proponents And Opponents Of Bill Testify At Hearing By State Affairs Committee Of Texas House

Roll Call Is Cut

Political Questions Brought Into Hearing; Labor Head Favors Bill While Pastors Are In Opposition

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 27.—The house state affairs committee voted a favorable report tonight on the bill to legalize 3.2 per cent beer in Texas. A roll call vote was not taken, committeemen who voted "aye" outnumbering those voting "no" on an oral expression.

Representative John M. Mathis of Houston declared the bill would be reported favorably.

The committee's action came after a hearing at which proponents and opponents of the bill appeared.

Political Questions Up

Political questions were brought into the hearing as two or three opponents of the bill were asked if they did not support Herbert Hoover for president last year and in 1928.

Rep. Weaver Moore of Houston asked that question of Dr. H. K. Taylor of Dallas. Dr. Taylor replied he voted for Mr. Hoover but that he did not see what that had to do with the subject under consideration.

Moore told Dr. Taylor he had rather take the word of Franklin D. Roosevelt as to what constituted an intoxicating beverage than the word of "you and Atticus Webb and Tom Love."

Admission Obtained

Moore obtained the admission from Dr. Taylor that he had no objection to the question of repeal of constitutional state prohibition being submitted to the people. The Houston representative had introduced a proposed constitutional amendment to provide for substitution of local option for state prohibition.

"This attempt to bring back 3.2 per cent beer is direct nullification of the state constitution," Dr. Taylor said. "We're willing to meet you on repeal of the state prohibition amendment and the eighteenth amendment but we are unalterably opposed to nullification."

Dr. W. H. McKenzie of Austin urged the legislature not to act on legalization of beer until the people of Texas had been given an opportunity to express their view on repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Proponents Are Heard

Arguments for the bill were made by George Slater of Austin, executive secretary of the state federation of labor, and D. A. White of San Antonio, representative of the Crusaders.

"You can get all the beer you want illegally now," Slater said. "But we want the right to get it legally."

Slater stressed the contention that legalization of beer would furnish employment for a large number of persons.

Wheat emphasized the revenue feature of the beer bill.

"Temperance by legislation is a failure," White said. "It now is time to try temperance by taxation. We hope that some of these young people now drinking hard liquor will be weaned over to beer."

Dr. Webb Gves Views

Dr. Atticus Webb of Dallas, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, cited several court opinions in an effort to show that a bill to legalize 3.2 per cent beer would be declared unconstitutional.

"If the gentleman is so sure that this bill will be declared unconstitutional, why is he worried about it?" Dr. R. J. Boyle of San Antonio countered.

Dr. Webb said 3.2 per cent beer

The men told Burton S. Burks, assistant district attorney, that they broke into a Rodeo store last Friday night.

Ferguson Declares Public Peace Not Endangered In East Texas Situation

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Mar. 27.—James E. Ferguson, husband-advisor of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, said today information he had obtained indicated the situation in the East Texas oil field was not as bad as unofficial reports pictured it.

Ferguson said there existed some confusion and unrest in the field, but he had been assured the public peace was not endangered.

"Of course, one cannot tell what might happen, as things have a way of changing overnight, but just now there does not seem to be any reason for undue alarm," Ferguson stated.

Ferguson said the governor had not been visited by Malcolm Crim, mayor of Kilgore, and other East Texans, who were reported from Kilgore to have come to Austin to petition the chief executive to use her powers to forestall "riot and bloodshed."

Ferguson said the governor's representatives to the Washington conference had been advised that the chief executive did not have any objections to the federal government helping out in the situation.

"But, as good patriotic Roosevelt people, we believe we should relieve the president of that burden," Ferguson said. "It is our opinion that we can handle our own oil situation without bothering any one else."

Hundreds Of Plains Citizens Throng City Streets For Spring Style Show

By BLANCHE BEAN WILSON
Of The Avalanche Staff

THE Easter parade will be splotched in white this year, while hats and dresses alike will be marked by perky bows.

At least those were the indications Monday evening when Lubbock merchants had an annual unveiling of windows to show the newest things in women's wear for spring.

Then just to show how milady's escort will look strutting along by her side, some of the store windows were done up in the conventional greys and tans that men will wear. But this part of the show was not as drab as it may sound, for there were sporty shoes, striped and checked accessories to add a smart touch.

If this unveiling is an indication of spring in Lubbock, one may choose her colors as long as they are in pastel shades, and with almost anything white accessories will be the rule rather than the exception. There were small hats; large, straw hats and turbans in the array of women's wear. There were close-fitting little dresses with large bows tucked under the chin. There were long, trailing dresses of sheerest organdies with huge bows tied at the waist and fluffy sleeves that couldn't possibly be stuffed into an ordinary coat. There were gowns for evening, frocks for golf and

Presbyterian Women End Year's Work; Lenten Program Given At Hall

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE BEAN WILSON
Avalanche Woman's Editor

IN spite of the reputation that women have in some quarters for extravagance, it is the thrift of women that keeps the wolf away from many doors.

Without feminine management and economy and thrift—and much of it has shown more bravery than you know—there are many homes that could not have survived the panic of the last few years. Housewives and mothers as a whole over the country have practiced thrift until they are masters of the art. Many of them could give profitable lessons to their husbands and to others in the business field on stretching dollars and nickles.

And because so many women know so much about thrift the next meeting of the General Federation of Women's clubs should have a profitable program. It is to be on thrift.

It isn't unlikely that with this program, much that is useful might be brought out. For if the federation could glean from its hundreds of homemakers—its thousands of insignificant members—their workable knowledge of thrift and pool that in to one great lesson for the nation, there would be a remedy for many of the ills of the country. For thrift is one of the greatest things that people may possess.

JUST COUNT IT UP

SOME of these days while you are cooling your heels on a street corner waiting for the other half of your appointment to show up, you can count the days that have been lost in your life because things have not been done with promptness.

Of all the virtues, none ranks higher with me than being on time.

After all of that the chances are that I will be late for every appointment this week, but the fact remains that it is still considered a virtue.

When people are busy, and many people are these days, one late person can ruin an entire day and effect an untold number of people. One person who is late can interfere with the schedule of the one he is to see and, in turn, disrupt the plans of many others.

There are times, of course, when delays are unavoidable. There are many other times when one is late for no good reason. There are people who are consistently late to church. Instead of arriving at 11 o'clock when the service starts, they arrive 15 or 20 minutes late Sunday after Sunday. There are women, and men, too, who never arrive on time for a club meeting. Being tardy is such a habit that they actually believe it is unavoidable. There are people who make appointments and never keep them on time because it has become a habit with them to be late.

It is a dangerous thing to be sure to write a harangue like this because there is a ways the possibility that the writer may not get any place on time for weeks to come, but it would make the world run a lot smoother if more people were on time.

MAYBEE you have one in your home or office—the women who always call you dearie or agree to anything with a nice cheerful "all rightie."

Now, perhaps this just happens to be one of my personal peeves, but if there is anything that starts me out on the day all wrong, it is for some such cheerful person to breeze into my life.

As much as I hate these perennial grouches, I prefer them to people who use either "dearie" or "all rightie."

A clerk who calls me "dear" or "dearie" has lost her chance of making a sale in the beginning. And the same happens when the person happens to be doing anything else. Perhaps that just happens to be my personal peeve but it is one of the things that start a day or a week off all wrong.

Thirteen Take Part In Play, "The Spirit Of The United Offering"; Install Officers At Presbyterian Meeting

Programs for two church societies Monday afternoon varied from regular meetings. Officers for another church year were installed when the First Presbyterian auxiliary met at the church. In place of study, a program showing the meaning of the united offering was presented at Seaman hall by members of Saint Paul's Episcopal auxiliary.

Mrs. Carl L. Svensen told of the history of the united thank offering at the meeting in Seaman hall. This offering is given to the church during the Lenten season by Episcopal women all over the world.

Mrs. Wallace W. Rix directed a play, "The Spirit of the United Thank Offering." Those taking part were Mesdames M. V. Gray, Robert Strickland, Jack Barr, Misses Ann Dohoney, Helen Barstow, Sally Russell, Sue Michie, Mary Pauline Grote, Mary Thomas, Sue DeLafosse and Marjorie Johnston, Betty Jane Smith and Ada Monroe Williams.

Mrs. Barstow Presides

A silver tea offering was taken after the program. Mrs. J. L. Barstow, president of the auxiliary, poured tea. She was assisted in serving by Mesdames Edgar Lewis and Brete Ferguson.

Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, presided at the installation service for auxiliary officers. Annual reports were read.

Mrs. T. R. Prideaux is the new president with Mrs. Roberta Doughtie as vice-president and Mrs. R. A. Studhalter, secretary.

Mrs. Prideaux was elected delegate to the El Paso Presbyterial meeting in El Paso on April 18. Mrs. Ed Ainsworth was elected as alternate delegate.

Mrs. J. A. Pressley, who is president of the Presbyterial, Dr. Lewis and Dr. W. K. Johnston are to attend the sessions, also.

Members of Circle 6 were hostesses during a social hour.

There were about sixty in attendance.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, March 27 (AP)—Cotton values sagged today in relatively quiet trading, closing barely steady 18 to 20 points net lower in sympathy with reactions in stocks and on liquidation by traders who considered Washington advices on the farm relief bill ad erse.

The opening was irregular with Liverpool cables about 2 penny points worse than due. Private cables said market was quiet and featureless with transactions confined to the local trade. First trades were 2 points up on May and 2 points down on July, but prices eased soon after the start on some hedge selling and an easier start in stocks, continuing easy most of the morning owing to lack of support and disposition of traders to await farm relief developments. Before noon May had dropped to 6.29, July to 6.44 and October to 6.65 or down 9 points from Saturday's close.

Prices steadied and recovered partially in the early afternoon, then turned easy again in the later trading on liquidation induced by weakness in stocks and an unfavorable view of farm relief advices. May declined to 6.19, July to 6.35 and October to 6.53, down 16 to 21 points from the highs of the morning. The close was at the bottom with May closing 19 points net lower, July 18 lower and October 20 points down.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 7 to 8 penny points down.

Port receipts 9,216, for week 14,930, for season 7,473,874, last season 9,126,611. Exports 10,666, for week 19,787, for season 5,999,793, last season 6,649,924. Port stock 4,367,659, last year 4,452,569. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 102,368, last year 151,364. Spot sales at southern markets 6,392, last year 16,422.

NEW YYORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—Cotton followed other markets today, declining about $1 a bale under foreign selling and liquidation.

May contracts sold to 6.18 in the late trading, or 20 points net lower and closed at 6.19, with the general market closing barely steady at net losses of 18 to 20 points.

After opening 3 to 5 points lower the market worked gradually lower up to midsession.

Offerings increased near the close, and prices broke about $1 per bale from the final quotations of Saturday with October declining to 6.54. Closing prices were within a point or two of the lowest for the day.

Some southern selling was reported on the late decline, but offerings from that source were generally light and reports from the southwest said that spot holders were showing little disposition to sell with the basis generally firm.

Liverpool cables said that market sentiment there was rather mixed with a general disposition to await action in Washington especially as regards farm relief. According to the New York cotton exchange service world's consumption of American lint cotton for February totalled approximately 1,095,000 bales against 1,093,000 in February last year, the total for the seven months of this season.

Versatile Stage Show Presented

Singer's midgets who are appearing at the Palace theater, present a spritely, versatile stage show from their orchestral opening with an eye-catching little chorus to one of those Harlem finales.

The youngsters enjoy it, with elephants, ponies, a duck, and amusing midget folk, but for adults too it is the best state presentation Lubbock has had in several years. Lilliputian, from drums to piano the orchestra not only knows how to create a torrid climax; it interprets less modern selections too. Normal sized ladies of the ensemble yell could be envious of the doll-like little chorus.

Glowing Swiss miniatures, a toe dance enacting capture of a fox by red-coated riders, an unusual penguin dance, and the Harlem finish are particularly captivating—B. McC.

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, March 27 (AP)—Cattle trade continued to feel the effects of a sluggish demand for dressed beef and at markets where receipts had appreciable volume, packers enforced a moderate decline on everything but low grade killing steers and the lower grades of the stock. The market on killing cattle ruled unevenly steady to 25 lower. Chicago had a top of 6.65 on yearlings while heavy steers both at Kansas City and Chicago made 5.25. Medium to good 828 lb fed Texas yearlings at Kansas City brought 5.00. There was a fairly broad country demand for stockers and feeders at firm to 25 higher rates. Feeder buyers at some points competed with packers for well-bred fleshy light weight steers, several loads of this description clearing on country account at 5.00-50. Aggregate receipts at eleven markets totaled 48,800 against 43,977 last Monday and 57,015 a year ago.

Increased receipts of hogs at most centers resulted in a slow trade at prices unevenly 5-20 lower. Chicago had a top of 4.00.

There was a material increase in the sheep supply and as a result fat lambs are weak to 25 lower. City butchers in Chicago paid 5.65-85 for a few choice natives while at the river markets bulk of fed wooled lambs sold from 5.10-25.

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT
By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—Financial markets were largely reactionary today, thus continuing the dominant trend of last week.

Stocks went through the dullest trading since January 30, but sporadic selling in a number of leaders and the absence of buying interest made for lower prices all around.

Much of the decline, which ranged from 1 to nearly 4 in some issues, occurred in the last hour. Previously, the market had been so stagnant that fluctuations were meaningless except as they reflected evaporation of the enthusiasms prevalent ten days ago.

Divided uncertainties appeared to have been a factor of some importance in determining the list's movement.

Rails were less cheerful than of late. Baltimore & Ohio, New York Central, Delaware & Hudson, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Chesapeake &Ohio and Louisville & Nashville returned losses running up to 2 points.

Appointment of a senate sub-committee to study the various plans brought forward for aiding silver was accompanied by a flurry in a few metal stocks, while sugar issues strengthened on news that Cuban producers were discussing an extension of the segregation period for 700,000 tons. Oils ignored the conservation conference in Washington. Sales totaled 493,970 shares.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, March 27 (AP)—Unsettled by reports indicating doubt that the house agricultural bill at Washington would be much changed by senate action the wheat market developed weakness today.

At no time did wheat values go above Saturday's finish, notwithstanding that the United States visible supply total and amount of wheat afloat for importing countries were both heavily curtailed. Word of further crop damage by severe dust storms in Kansas was also virtually without effect as a stimulus to buying.

Wheat closed unsteady at almost the day's bottom figures, 3-8 - 7-8 lower, corn unchanged to 1-4 up, oats 1-8 to 1-4 off, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to a rise of 7 cents.

NEWS BRIEFS

John Romine, who was arrested at Snyder in possession of articles stolen from Jeff Patterson, of four miles east and a mile south of Slaton, pleaded guilty of theft and was sentenced to 90 days in county jail by Judge E. L. Pitts yesterday. County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson filed the complaint against Romine, charging him with theft of three shirts, a pair of trousers, socks, a billfold, a traveling bag, a frying pan, a boy's wagon, an alarm clock, a razor, a shaving brush, a French harp, flour, sugar and soap.

Miss Pauline Lokey of Slaton, who has been named demonstration agent at large for Crosby and Briscoe counties, will begin work April 1, Miss Myrtle Murray of College station, district home demonstration agent, has announced. Miss Lokey, a graduate of the College of Industrial Arts at Denton, has had several years of teaching experience and until recently was home demonstration agent in Swisher county.

Farm Proposal

be laid before the senate some time this week. There were indications a compromise would be worked out in committee between the widely divergent views of members, farm and business spokesmen.

McDonald approved of the administration measure "with some amendments." He proposed the Clair plan as a major amendment and as a substitute for the section giving Secretary Wallace broad power to deal with the farm problem.

Substitute Explained

Clair's substitute, which Clair himself explained, would permit the government to fix the price of basic agricultural commodities going into the domestic markets, while the surplus would be impounded on the farm but could be sold for export at the world price.

He estimated $5,000,000,000 would be added to the farmers' purchasing power through such a move, and argued it would benefit industry, trade and commerce as much as the farmer.

He and McDonald argued that prices should not be stabilized at 1909-1914 levels, as proposed in the administration bill, but should be fixed at current levels as compared with industrial price levels, and that this parity should be maintained.

Style Show

just ordinary street clothes to make the feminine mouths water with desire.

There were even some clothes in the somber navy, but invariably there were starchy organdy blouses or bright accessories to match the mood of spring.

Windows, brilliantly lighted, formed a pleasing setting for these styles and almost every merchant in town had dressed up his display for the occasion. Tulips, Easter rabbits, roses and other spring flowers were placed to add color for the occason.

Spring is here, according to the merchants, and milady may wear the color she wishes. But from now on she must be perky if she keeps in step with spring.

Hundreds of South Plains and Lubbock residents jammed sidewalks and flowed into the streets as they window-shopped. Music of the Tech Matador and High school Westerner band kept the huge crowd in lively spirits.

During the opening hour, crowds always were around show windows of almost all the downtown stores selling clothing. One store directed a two-ring style show with models.

Pipe Line Divorcement Bill Given An Unfavorable Report

AUSTIN, March 27 (AP)—The house committee on municipal and private corporations tonight voted against a favorable report on the pipe line divorcement bill, 12 to 4. There was some indication an effort would be made on the floor of the house to have the bill printed on minority report.

The bill would require a complete separation of all pipe lines from oil companies.

Dinner Is Served

A score of members of the chamber of commerce served a dinner to over 350 in the livestock pavilion at 6 o'clock. It was followed by an informal program. Dean A. H. Leidigh of the school of agriculture presided. He introduced Dr. I. E. Barr, who made a short talk of welcome. Others presented included Dean James M. Gordon of the college of liberal arts; Director Haines, Frank Wimberly, vocational advisor from New Mexico and several others.

High teams in the several contests, with high men, were announced by Rav C. Mowery, in charge of the contests as director general, as follows:

roadside, said the girls' statement to police, and the negroes approached the machine from opposite sides.

The couple were forced out of the machine and one of the negroes seized the girl's wrist and started toward a wood. Porch lowered his upraised arms and one of the negro gunmen fired a bullet into his back, the girl said.

Screaming the girl fell across the body of her escort and pleaded with the negroes to allow her to drive him to a hospital. One of the negroes dragged the body from the roadside and into the wood about 150 feet. The girl was forced to accompany them and was attacked within six feet of the body of Porch, she said.

this year if money were available.

To push applications for self-liquidating loans the regional chamber proposed to sponsor formation of local public works committees in the 150 towns of West Texas, these to be tied up with a central bureau to be established in Stamford; and both to work with a board of engineers whose personnel will be picked from the various cities of the territory. The headquarters board and engineers staff will undertake to put up the loan applications in proper form after getting up necessary engineering data; to present them to the R. F. C. board in Washington; to follow them through; and, if desired, to assist in planning the public works projects.

HOW TO RELIEVE HEADACHES IN THREE MINUTES

When you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, you can get soothing relief in three minutes with "B. C." a reliable, pleasant-to-take remedy. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia; for reducing fever and quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. Luckies Please!

Lake Louise, Canada

In every corner of the world, both here and overseas, wherever you find joy in life, 'tis always "Luckies Please"

Luckies are distinctive in character ...unique in mildness

The wide world over, people want a cigarette that has character . . . and mildness . . . That's why they choose Luckies.

The "Cream of the Crop"—in those four words, you have the reason for Luckies' character—a character that sets them apart from all other cigarettes. The choicest tobaccos are aged and mellowed for nearly three years . . . and then "Toasted" for true mildness. For these two reasons—Character and Mildness—"Luckies Please!"

Our Farm Boy Guests

LUBBOCK had as its guests Monday some 200 or more future farmers of West Texas, at the eighth annual Vocational Agriculture Judging contest sponsored by Texas Technological college. These young men from the farms of this area will, in a few short years, be the leaders in agriculture and community life in this part of the state.

Entertaining these youngsters is a part of the program of Texas Tech, the Lubbock chamber of commerce and business men of the city. Not that the boys need much entertainment—they are here for work first and play later. But after the serious business before them has been attended to, then they are ready for recreation and enjoyment.

Future of West Texas depends upon the coming generation. Farm boys to remain on the farm and to do a better job than has been done, must know how to do things. This is where the vocational agricultural work comes in; boys learn, by practice and experience, best methods of farming.

If a boy's trend is towards dairying, he finds in vocational agriculture an opportunity to study his preference. He learns how to select the best type dairy animals, how to feed it for better production, how to get rid of the "boarders" of his herd and how to produce a higher grade of milk at a lower cost. The same is true of the boy whose bent is toward feeding livestock, or raising poultry, or in growing grain sorghums and other small grains, and cotton. At the same time he receives some fundamentals in farm mechanics so that he can build what he needs or keep his machinery and equipment in first class shape and thus save time and money.

Agriculture is and will be for many years to come, the backbone of this area. Rapid strides have been made along these lines in the past decade. The next should see even greater progress, because of such work as the vocational training and these contests at Tech.

Lastly, there is the training that comes from rubbing elbows with the boys of neighboring schools and communities, in a larger place. He learns to mingle with his fellows and to get a broader view of life.

Once there was a teacher who offered a prize to the boy who wrote the best essay on which has the best time and the most fun, the city or the country boy. All but one praised the city boy as having the best time. This fellow said: "we boys from the country have the most fun—we have the fun of coming to town."

We hope the boys who were our guests yesterday had a good time—had not only the "fun of coming to town" but also the enjoyment which comes from learning more about a subject in which we are all deeply interested.

OLD GOLD DEPOSITS

North Carolina provided the first gold deposits worked commercially in the United States, the first shipment sent to the mint for coinage being taken from the field in 1804. Gold was mined in that state and in South Carolina, Georgia, Virginia and Maryland during the next 30 years, mints at Charlotte, N. C., and Dahlonega, Ga., converting the precious metal into more precious coins.

Richer finds of gold in California in 1849 put the Southern Appalacian fields out of business, releasing their miners for the gold rush westward. The great gold fields in Colorado were discovered by a party of prospectors trained in the old mines in the South.

Though the Southern gold fields have been neglected for a hundred years they are not forgotten. In fact, they have just taken on a new importance due to unemployment in that region and to the higher comparative value of gold.

Jobless men are again digging and "washing" in the mountains of Kentucky, Georgia and the Carolinas, spurred on by the belief that the real lodes there have never been discovered. Each prospector hopes to some day strike a bonanza and though the chances of success may be few they probably exist.

Discovery of gold in paying quantities so near the great Eastern centers of population would probably precipitate the greatest gold rush the world has ever known.

Some politico-doctor has missed a good bet by not claiming to have cured the sick man of Europe.

Grapefruit is becoming popular with the British. They always were known for their sportsmanship.

Speaking of going to absurd lengths, what do you think of these artificial eye lashes?

We guess there's nothing to be done about spinach but grit and bear it.

Bad Banking Of The Past

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Assurance of sound banking in future is all very well, but is there to be no retribution for shockingly bad banking in the past?

This question is being put up to the administration more and more urgently, as it becomes increasingly apparent that comparatively few of the institutions, which have not yet reopened since the moratorium, are likely to pay out in full under the conservators now in charge of their affairs.

Homer Cummings

It is a question for the justice department to answer.

Quite naturally Attorney General Homer S. Cummings will require considerably more time than he has had, before arriving at a decision how to act.

The senate's stock market investigating committee already had begun to dump testimony on his predecessor's desk while President Hoover was still in the White House. The volume of it now from that and other sources, is enormous.

Neither justice nor treasury department officials are communicative.

Allowances

Still, there are enough leaks to justify the statement that both groups agree upon the necessity they will be under to make many allowances, partly because of laxities in American banking laws, partly because of the widespread financial delirium which prevailed during the boom period.

That is to say, misjudgment was so rampant, while so-called prosperity was on the upswing, that critics of today find it hard to blame even very competent, normally conservative business men for having been influenced by it. In other cases, of which they take a less charitable view, they are compelled to recognize legal elasticities that doubtless will stretch to cover numerous doubtfully ethical proceedings.

The boom era is perhaps regarded with smaller suspicion by investigators than the three and a half years of steadily increasing strain following the crash. This interval unquestionably will be scrutinized minutely for hints of actual transgressions of the statutes by hard-pressed money-changers, in desperate efforts to save themselves.

State institutions, of course, are outside the justice department's jurisdiction.

Their future will, indeed, have to be reckoned with by congress, in effecting a general adjustment of banking conditions throughout the country. It is agreed in Washington that banking will not be itself again until this has been accomplished.

Complicated

It will be a highly complicated, technical undertaking.

Big bankers make no concealment of their determination to concentrate the business, if possible, in the hands of a very few huge concerns, with branches everywhere.

The plan's opponents, contending that these leviathans' power would be dangerous, do concede that it would make for safer banking than at present, but propose to provide the safety element by a guarantee or insurance of deposits—which the big banks naturally object to, inasmuch as it would block their own scheme. They maintain, too, that it has been tried on a state-wide scale, and failed—in Texas and Nebraska. Senator William G. McAdoo, its chief proponent, rejoins that it worked admirably in both the Lone Star and Cornhusker states until sabotaged by its enemies.

KEEP DOLLAR UP ABROAD

Obvious English and French efforts to keep the dollar up in world markets have considerably entertained Yankee financial experts during America's monetary crisis.

No fiscal authority attributes this solicitude to consideration for Uncle Sam's feelings.

A partial explanation of it is that, as the dollar sinks, it becomes easier for Americans to bid successfully against their rivals for trade in internationally competitive fields. Moreover, one of Europe's strongest arguments for war debt reduction (if outright cancellation is refused) has been the high price of the American dollar, in comparison with its rating when the borrowing was done. It would be exceedingly inconvenient for the debtor powers to have it slump heavily just as a discussion of the subject is about to begin.

CONFIDES IN DEPOSITORS

President Wade H. Cooper of Washington's big Commercial National Bank, which went into a receiver's (not a mere conservator's) hands just before the moratorium, is, as he puts it, "entertaining" the institution's 20,000 depositors at a series of meetings. He outlines, to an orchestral accompaniment, his plan to reopen it on a sound basis.

MANY APPOINTEES

TOMORROW: A RICH STRIKE.

SPOTLIGHT

by H. W. CORLEY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SHEILA SHAYNE, dancer, refuses to marry DICK STANLEY, son of wealthy parents, who is in New York trying to learn to write plays. Sheila's idea of marriage is a cozy little home far from Broadway. Although she has spent most of her life on the stage she would be glad to leave the theater.

On a road show tour she meets JERRY WYMAN. Jerry is attentive and Sheila falls in love with him. She thinks he is a hard working young man with little money and does not know his father owns the factory where Jerry works. Soon his affection seems to cool and he writes infrequently.

Sheila returns to New York and a few months later joins another road company; this time as the featured principal. They play in Jerry's home town but she sees him only once. After that she has no word from him until the tour ends and the company returns to New York. There she learns from her friend, JAPPY, a chorus girl, that Jerry has married a girl in his home town.

Sheila is too unhappy to look for another job until her money is almost gone. Then she is hired as a dancer in a night club. After two weeks she is out of work again. TREVOR LANE sends her to see HENRI, fashionable designer, in the hope that she can get a job as a model.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVIII

SHEILA found Henri in one of his most tempestuous moods. Nothing suited the designer that morning. Business was very bad. The models—not one of them pleased him. Their frocks did not look right. There were bills to be paid and other bills—those owed to Henri—long overdue. An order of silk had not been delivered.

Those models! Henri was shouting that every one of them were fired just as Sheila arrived on the scene. The girls—all of them attractive and smart looking—accepted this announcement with marked unconcern. Not one of them standing about like so many lovely goddesses, gave as much as a sign that they had heard their employer.

It was an old story. Business was not really bad, and they knew it. Henri lost his temper, discharged every one and immediately forgot about it every few months. It meant nothing at all.

But it was not an old story to Sheila and she stood frightened and uncertain what to do until the little Frenchman, pudgy and red in the face from screaming, suddenly wheeled and faced her.

"Mr. Lane sent me," she said timidly.

"Mr. Lane sent you?" Henri shouted, flapping his arms like a frantic hen. "Mr. Lane says I should take you on? And how do I pay your salary? How do I teach you to walk, to stand? How do I know you can wear my gowns? How do I know that?"

Sheila couldn't answer. She stood still under the force of the tirade. It was a shock until she saw one of the mannequins, a girl clad in a pale yellow chiffon evening gown, gazing at her. Their eyes met and the other girl, turning so that the irate man could not see, winked encouragingly.

"You girls get into the dressing room," Henri ordered. Then he turned a suddenly becalmed countenance to Sheila.

"If Mr. Lane says you will do I suppose you will. I need a model," he grumbled. "Go into the dressing room and get ready. I'll see what you look like." He raised his voice sharply. "Gordon, put number 17 on this girl. Hurry!"

Gordon was a pump, black-garbed woman whom Sheila was to know later as a real friend. It was her duty to see that the models appeared in the lovely, costly creations Henri designed at exactly the moment they were wanted, her duty to see that the gowns were always in perfect order, hung away after a wearing. She kept the girls quiet, concealed their squabbles, found ways to excuse a tardiness or a broken rule with calm diplomacy that would have won the admiration of Henri himself if he had known about it. Occasionally Gordon had designed gowns which took the most exacting customers by storm.

The older woman nodded curtly to Sheila and led the way to the dressing room. It was bare indeed, compared with the outer salon which was rich with smart modernistic furniture, thick carpets, priceless oriental rugs and smaller decorations representing a fortune.

The girls divesting themselves of their finery, stood about in delicate underthings chatting coolly. To watch them no one would have dreamed that they had been the objects of Henri's wrath so recently. Two of them, swinging themselves to a table, were lighting cigarets. The girl in pale yellow stepped out of the frock and tossed it over the back of a chair, then stood before the mirror regarding the line of her red gold hair with a speculative frown. Another was reddening her lips pensively. The fifth sat on a low bench and stared casually, then smiled in welcome at Sheila.

The girl with the red hair was hardly more than 18. "Did the old man scare you to death?" she asked.

"Never you mind the old man," Gordon interrupted with vigor. "It's time you girls were getting into those tailleurs. Now don't keep me waiting!"

There were murmured protests but with one accord the mannequins began getting into the costumes.

"It's a wonder you couldn't stand on a sheet, Flo," Gordon continued. Bustling about, handing out this and that frock, Gordon finally came to Sheila. Her practiced eye ran up and down the graceful figure, indicating more approval than her lips would ever voice. The frock Sheila was wearing did not, however, seem to please her.

"Take it off," she said shortly and Sheila was glad she had worn her best combination.

"What's she going to wear, Gordon?" asked one of the girls, "A bathing suit?"

There was a sudden sally of laughter at this, instantly quelled by Gordon in a sharp command.

Evidently the bathing suit joke was well known. Sheila decided that she would ask about it later.

"Number 17, Rosie!" Gordon called. "Turn around now, child." This last was to Sheila. "You wear your hair well."

Rosie, an undersized little creature with a tape measure around her neck and a huge square cushion of pins attached at her waist, came forward bearing a froth of green and orchid chiffon.

"Stand here," Gordon indicated a raised platform and Sheila obeyed. The woman slipped the green and orchid confection over Sheila's head and drew it carefully down over the slender figure. The folds billowed down to the sheet with which the patform was swathed. Mirrors told Sheila that the dress was beautiful. It fitted her exquisitely and the colors became her.

"Let's see you step down from there," ordered Gordon when not a wrinkle remained to mar the perfection of the frock.

Fearfully Sheila obeyed. "It can't be worse than the stage," she thought in panic. After all if she should fail Harrel would surely find a job for her somewhere.

She swayed across the room, not with the stilted manner of a professional mannequin but with natural grace. "You're hired right now!" murmured the girl named Thelma, looking up from fastening a belt about her smart black and white walking suit.

A moment later Sheila stood before Henri. She moved across the room to the mirror, turned and walked back again. Henri nodded.

"You'll do," he said. "The salary is $50 a week. Gordon, have her put on Number 12 and let me see her."

The other girls listening showed their surprise: Fifty dollars for a beginner! It meant that instead of displaying gowns, appearing and disappearing as different costumes were requested, Sheila would mingle with the customers. She would appear to be another shopper, sipping tea if it was served, sitting, standing and talking to the women and girls who had come to buy Henri's gowns. Wearing the designer's most handsome creations, she would be a model incognito.

Customers would think her another patron, like themselves, and hurry to inquire secretly of Henri what was the price of her wrap or frock, whether it could be duplicated.

The prospect alarmed Sheila. It was welcome news, indeed, that she was to earn $50 a week but when Gordon explained what would be expected of her she doubted her ability.

"Just be yourself," Gordon told her. "Slip into this gown and hat and walk around or sit just as the others do. Now and then pretend to inquire about a purchase."

"But I don't know anything about modeling!" the girl protested.

"Neither do our clients. They'll think you are one of themselves."

In another five minutes Sheila was dressed and ready. "You'll be all right. It's easy," the red-haired girl reassured her.

Sheila stepped again into the soft glow of the outer salon. She hesitated, then moved on. As she did so her eyes fell on a familiar figure directly across the room.

Letters To The Editor

Lutheran Pastor Answers Bible Teacher's Letter

Editor, The Avalanche: Recently we read of the execution of Zangara and what the columnists had to say about it. Those expressions called to my mind a letter, written by Miss Mary De Bardeleben, which you printed in this column on March 14; which letter I felt urged to comment on at that time, then passed it by, but now am prompted to return to for such action.

In that letter we read: "What is death? Is it annihilation, is it life in another state? We can not know." Looking at the official position that the lady holds at Texas Tech I am prompted to ask in the words of Christ: "Art thou a master of Israel and knowest not these things?"

In that same letter we read, with reference to the recent action of the court in the Mitchel case, "What right have corporate citizens to do a thing for which we punish the individual citizen? We quote the commandment 'Thou shalt not kill' to the individual citizen, yet, as a body, we break that commandment." Again looking at her official position it seems to me that I can hear from out of the Bible the echo of Caesar's words, spoken under like circumstances, "Et tu Brute!"

When will people, who set out to quote the Bible, learn to abide by the word which Christ spoke in just such a connection, namely: "And the scripture can not be broken?" In other words, when will they learn the unfairness of playing off one scripture against all passages on a given subject and focus them on that subject so that "in thy light we shall see light"—if they care to see it?

Can capital punishment be justified? Yes, and that from several positions; and especially so from the Biblical position. It is this that I am interested in here. Permit me to set forth that justification. It rests in the four following propositions.

(1) Life is the essential property of God. God is life, He "hath life in Himself." But also this precious property He shares with man. "He giveth to all life, and breath, and all things." And that life continues in man only by the merciful providence of God; "Thou hast kept me alive" is the thankful confession that every thinking individual will gladly make with the Psalmist. And furthermore, as God alone can give life, as He alone can preserve life, so has He reserved for Himself a third prerogative namely, to take life. "Thou shalt not kill" is the plain and final dictum that He has written into the moral code for all men of all times. In other words, He lays His finger on life and says to you and to me, "Hands off, that's Mine!"

But do not these last statements cinch the case for the abolitionists of capital punishment? If the Bible stopped here they would. But it does not stop here.

H. C. Ziehe,
Posey.

EDITOR'S NOTE—The above is the first of three letters written to The Morning Avalanche by Rev. Mr. Ziehe, Lutheran pastor, in answer to a previous letter from Miss De Bardeleben, who has the Methodist Bible chair at Texas Tech. The other two letters will follow tomorrow and Thursday.

Browns Strengthened By Trades; Edmisson Leads Country Club Golfers

Killifer After Higher Stakes Than 6th Rung

Result Of Trades With Washington May Not Be Known Until Race Is Started But It May Benefit Browns

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Quality, rather than quantity, and the re-birth and spirit and dash that often comes to established stars with a change of scenery, are the twin hopes of doughty Bill Killifer for a place somewhere above sixth for his St. Louis Browns in the 1933 American League drive.

Dissatisfied with the even tenor of the past three years, wherein the Browns wound up with remarkable accuracy within a one game range of 64 won and 90 lost each season, finishing fifth once and sixth twice, Killifer dived head first into the frantic trading melee that enlivened the past winter.

But he gave value for value received, two outfielders and two pitchers to the Washington Senators for two outfielders and two pitchers, with all eight so evenly matched time alone can tell who got the better of the deals.

Trades Outfields

He sent his centerfielder, Goose Goslin, to the Senators for their centerfielder, Sam West, and his left fielder, Fred Schulte for their left fielder, Carl Reynolds. His best southpaw, Wally Stewart, had a bit better average than the southpaw Clark Griffith sent him, Lloyd Brown, and nothing but personal opinion can tell as yet whether right handed Dick Coffman will do him more good on the mound than the second lefty he sent to Washington, Charley Fischer.

Killifer himself thinks they all will help a very great deal.

"Defensively the Browns should be one of the best teams in baseball.

"I don't think any infield will be faster or better on defense than the Browns. Young Art Scharein rounded it out when he came up from the Texas League late last season and gave one of the greatest exhibitions at third base the St. Louis fans have ever seen."

Storti A Reserve Now

The infield is exactly that which finished the 1932 season, Scharein at third, Jim Levey at shortstop, Oscar Melillo at second, and Irving Burns at first. There is no mystery as to who fills in if any one of these was incapacitated, Lin Storti, regular third baseman until Scharein came along is the only reserve infielder with the club.

Similarly the outfield was cut and dried as soon as the trades of the major league winter meetings were over. With West in center and Reynolds in left, the right fielder continued to be thumping Bruce Campbell, who hit more home runs last year than Goose Goslin.

The reserve outfielders are Ted Gullic and Debs Garms.

Dick Ferrell At The Plate

Dick Farrell, the leading hitter of the teams with a .315 average last season, heads a catching staff that has more replacements than any other department. Muddy Ruel and Benny Bengough, a pair of old timers, and youthful Jack Crouch are available for first aid.

The pitching staff is well fortified in experience, if not in numbers. George Blaeholder and Jack Knott, the latter a Milwaukee recruit who won 17 and lost 12 last year, complete the starting list that includes Hadley, Brown and Coffman. For relief work Killifer has the veteran Sam Gray available, along with Wally Hebert, young southpaw, and Russell White, a kid lefty from Newark who is under observation.

DALLAS SUSPENDS RADCLIFF

DALLAS, Mar. 27. (AP)—The suspension of Rip Radcliff, hard hitting rightfielder, was the spot news today in the Dallas Steers training camp.

Early today, Bob Tarleton, vice-president of the Steers, wired Radcliff that he was suspended for not signing a contract.

"In suspending Radcliff, I gave him the privilege of trading himself to another club providing he gets the same salary he demanded from Dallas," commented Tarleton.

Sam Langford, last year leftfielder, probably will play right field.

Tarleton does not believe the suspension of Radcliff will weaken the Steers.

Bonura Is Next

Nothing has been heard from Zeke Bonura, holdout first baseman who is working out with New Orleans. Tarleton is confident that Bonura will arrived in camp sometime this week. However, Tarleton claims he will wait no longer than this week. If Bonura fails to appear he will be suspended along with Radcliff.

PHILS GIVE BRAVES LESSON

INDIANS PLAY 5 GAMES

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 27—(AP)—Only five exhibition games will be played by the Oklahoma City Indians before the Texas League opening the afternoon of April 11, Fred Luderus, Tribal manager, announced.

The exhibition schedule includes games with the Tulsa Oilers, the other Oklahoma member of the league, at Ada, April 1-2; a game with the Pittsburgh Pirates at Oklahoma City on April 7, and two more games with Tulsa here on April 8-9.

Meanwhile the big problem was to get shoes to fit "Sock" Johnson's feet.

After working up some sizeable blisters and losing a toenail Sock's chiropodist advised him to get number 13 shoes. Shoes that large weren't to be bought here so a pair was ordered. They arrived today.

West Texas Independent Baseball Loop Organized At San Angelo On Sunday

SAN ANGELO, March 27 (AP) — Organization of a West Texas Independent baseball league was perfected here Sunday with Texon, Abilene, Coleman, Ozona and San Angelo as members.

A 10-week schedule, the first half of a split season, was drawn up by Ray Johnson of Texon and Blondy Cross of San Angelo and was adopted by the league. The circuit is to play all its games on week-ends, with exception of holiday games, two games to the week, with exception of weeks that include holidays.

The season opens April 22 with Coleman at Abilene for a two-day stand. San Angelo is to play a double-header at Ozona April 23. Texon and Abilene, classed as the flag favorites, do not meet until May 7 when Abilene plays a two-game series at Texon.

A series of player and game rules was adopted and W. D. Holcombe of San Angelo, league president, was given full power to rule on all controversies regardless of the type of disputes, if any, indulged in by the rival managers.

A special rule was written in to curtail subsidization of athletes by Mose Simms of Abilene and to prevent him from drawing players from more than five surrounding towns. Simms is the sole owner and manager of the Abilene team.

Eight big-league pitchers are, or will be before the end of next season, 40 years old. They are Jack Quinn, 48; Red Faber, 45; Adolfo Luque, 43; Eppa Jephtha Rixey, 42; Sam Jones, 41; Dazzy Vance, Jess Haines and Burleigh Grimes, all 40.

City Champ Is High With 111 In Qualifying

Fifty-Four Country Club Men In Perpetual Tournament; Edgar Doherty Shoots 114 To Give Edmisson A Chase

John Edmisson, Lubbock city open champion, heads the "ladder" of 55 Lubbock Country club golfers in the gold-silver-bronze golf ball tournament, scores released yesterday showed.

Sunday was the final day of qualifying in the Country club tournament, which runs continuously through the summer season, and the final list showed three full flights, with Edmisson's 111, three over par for the 27-hole round, leading the championship flight.

Three Full Flights

Eighteen golfers comprise the championship flight, 18 the first flight and 19 the second flight. Championship flight golfers possess gold, silver and bronze golf balls, subject to loss through the season to first and second flight players. Edgar Doherty, South Plains invitation tournament champion and winner Sunday in the "get acquainted" tournament at the Country club, turned in a 27-hole score of 114, and "Cotton" McAfee was third with 115.

V. O. Jennings, Bob Harvey and Sid Thrash, former Meadowbrook champion, receive gold balls along with Edmisson, Doherty and McAfee. Bays Bryant, Windy Watkins, Buster Fluke, J. T. Krueger, T. H. Buckingham and F. A. Finberg received silver balls. Peter Evans, Len McAllister, Joe Dick Slaughter, Frank Wright, Lewis Price and Ross McWhorter were others listed in the championship flight, who received bronze balls. McWhorter, however, was tied with E. W. Trotter with 133's for last place in the top flight. Trotter at present is listed as lead off man in the first flight.

Play 18-Hole Matches

Country club officials urge that players who are tied in the qualifying score get together and determine who shall stand where in the ladder. A nine-hole medal play-off is suggested, or a drawing or coin-flipping.

Through the summer months, matches of 18 holes are to be played between the qualifiers. To begin, it is planned that even-numbered players match odd-numbered qualifiers. At least one match must be played by all qualifiers each week, otherwise the non-player automatically slip a notch.

Players are urged to challenge each other and set dates for 18-hole matches.

Here's the complete ladder with qualifying scores:

Fifty-Eight Candidates Report First Day Of Spring Grid Training At Tech

Ed Doherty Wins Honors In Country Club "Get Acquainted" Play Sunday

His 73, one over par, leading a field of 39 players, Edgar Doherty, Lubbock High school athlete, South Plains open champion and Country club golfer took the honors in the 1-hole "get acquainted" tournament held over the Country club links Sunday. Doherty toured the back nine in 39 strokes, then played the first links in a fine 34, two under par, to lead the field.

Clinton Bussey, Meadowbrook golfer, came within a stroke of equalling the course record for nine holes when he shot a neat 33 on the first nine, then took a 41 for a total of 74 to tie John Edmisson for second place. Edmisson shot two 37's.

The Country club was host to Lubbock golfers in a free day Sunday. Fifty-one golfers started the round, 12 of them falling by the wayside.

The golfers finished in the following order:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT

Edgar Doherty, 73; Clinton Bussey, 74; John Edmisson, 74; Walter Pendleton, 75; Bill Cook, 77; Bob Harvey, 79; Billy Holmes, 80; Bays Bryant, 80; W. D. Girand, sr., 80; J. Dick Slaughter, 81; Cecil Cantrell, 81; J. W. Heidlecker, 82 and Sid Thrash, 83.

FIRST FLIGHT

Peter Evans and Rufus Ryan tied for first place in the first flight and four tied for second place honors. Francis McCrummen and Paul Campbell took high score prizes.

W. W. Trotter was given the second flight prize, Mansell and Jones tieing for second place. Brown took high score prize in the second flight.

Farm Laborer Is Being Held Here

Although other witnesses had been questioned yesterday, no additional light was said to have been shed on what was called an attempt to poison Bryan Jeeter of Union community Saturday.

A farm laborer, 26, arrested Sunday as a suspect, still was in county jail last night. A detailed statement, made by the suspect to Burton S. Burks, assistant district attorney, contained no admittance of knowledge of an attempted poisoning.

The suspect, according to the assistant prosecutor, admitted whisky, which Jeeter alleged contained carbolic acid, was not as it should have been. The man held admitted no knowledge of what was in the liquor or how it was adulterated, Mr. Burks said.

Jeeter, Saturday, reported he discovered condition of the whisky when he took a mouthful of it.

Farmers And Ranchers Urged To Halt Work Of Poisoning

J. M. Hill, representative of the United States biological survey who is located here, yesterday urged farmers and ranchers to stop poisoning of prairie dogs until May 1.

"Poison placed now will kill only the old prairie dogs, but if the mixture is placed after May 1 both young and old dogs will eat it," Hill said.

Mr. Hill has gone to San Antonio in the interest of the department work.

Graduate Nurses Of District Will Gather In City Tonight

Graduate nurses of district No. 18, which includes South Plains counties, will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Lubbock sanitarium.

Mrs. Ruby Gilbert of West Texas hospital staff is chairman of the district and Miss Aline Moody of Lubbock sanitarium staff is secretary-treasurer.

BY ED McKEEVER
Tech Sports Correspondent

The first workout of spring football training was held yesterday afternoon when 58 football players started practice by running a few laps on the track in order to get their muscles and wind in shape for what promises to be the finest spring training ever held at Texas Tech.

Head Coach P. W. Carthon outlined, in part, what is to be expected from the players in training. For the next two days the men will be divided up into basketball teams according to their football positions, and play a "round-robbin" schedule for the championship. The first game will begin this afternoon at 4 o'clock when the Guards and Tackles meet. There will be four games in all this afternoon; and the championship is to be played off tomorrow.

Future Looks Bright

From the competition for each position, and the list of available material Texas Tech has possibilities of a really great team for this spring and ultimately for next fall.

The men out for each position are: Tackles: Baker, Eddleman, McWilliams, Young, Barlow, Crews, Cunningham, Marks, Williams, Wilson, and Vaught. Ends: Braxt Gilmore, Will Gilmore, Matt Hitchcock, Howell, Sam Jones, Lewis Jones, and West. Centers: Priddy, Barton, Fortner, Cross, Morris, and Williams. Guards: Greer, Eli Harris, Lacy Turner, Owen, Alford, Davis, Grigg, Nichols, May, and Hoyle. Fullbacks: Curfman, Dowell, Wilson, St. John, Marr, and Watters. Right Half-Backs: Walker, Sollis, Marion Harris, Archer, Scoggins, and Burrus. Left halfbacks: Cannon, McElroy, Fuqua, Gaylor, Powers, and Briscoe. Quarterbacks: J. V. Beauchamp, Johnnie Beauchamp, Adrian Clark, Forrest White, and Ed McKeever.

National League Schedule Is Announced; Opens April 12

NEW YORK, March 27. —(AP)— The National League today fulfilled its promise to make a radical change in its 1933 baseball schedule, advancing the first inter-sectional clash five days and the second East-West series nearly three weeks. The 154-game schedule opens April 12 in Boston, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and Chicago.

In comparison with last year when the East invaded the West, May 5 and 6, the western clubs this year will come east for their opening series May 1 and 2. After closing the intersectional series on the Atlantic seaboard, the eight teams will move into the western cities May 15 and 16. Last year this shift was not made until June 7.

The Pirates will be the first team to move eastward, opening a three-game stand in Philadelphia, May 1. The following day, however, the Cardinals will be in Brooklyn, the Cubs at the polo grounds meeting the Giants and the Reds at Boston.

Tech Awarded Boxing Joust For Colleges

Guthrie Of Tech Wins Heavyweight Title In Southwest Tournament At Roswell; To Be Held Here In 1934

Texas Tech college was awarded the 1934 Southwest Intercollegiate boxing tournament, sponsored by the National A. A. U., at the conclusion of this year's meet at Roswell Saturday night.

The tournament will be held on two days of the first week in March next year.

Tech took one first place and one runner-up place in the Roswell meet, in which first Texas, Arizona, and New Mexico schools participated. New Mexico Military institute, who won the meet by taking six of the eight championships, was host.

Results of the final matches follow:

Harry Guthrie, heavyweight, Texas Tech, defeated Cadet Maxwell of the institute, by decision.

Julio Chiaramonte, 165, Institute, won a close decision over Gil Cartier, 167, of Texas Tech, for the light heavyweight title.

Hoffman, 158, Institute, was given a decision over Williams, 155, of New Mexico University, for the 155 pound class championship.

Brunton, 146, Institute, knocked out Jack Kilgroe, 148, Institute, in the first round.

Smith, 137, of Amarillo College, won a decision over Gallegos, 135, of New Mexico University.

Heller, 125, Institute, won by default over Brown of Amarillo College. The coaches refused to let Brown fight, as he was sick.

Perkins, 115, Institute, won over "Goldy" Goldstein, 118, Institute.

The Cartier-Chiaramonte fight was the highlight of the tournament. As in the dual meet here, the rushing, slugging, charging Chiaramonte found difficulty in coping

Millions Are Expected To Be Spent For New Breweries And Alterations And Additions On Scores Of Others

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORK, March 27—L. Seth Schnitman, chief statistician of the F. W. Dodge corporat'on, estimated today more than $65,000,000 will be spent in the next few months for new breweries and for alterations and add.tions to old ones.

The estimate was based on reports from 37 states east of the Rockies, and on statistical calculation for the far western states.

The figure did not include expenditures for building and rehabil tating retail establishments. It covered only a small proportion of the sums to be spent for brewery equipment, and none of the other expenses incidental to starting the brewing industry. Te total has been estimated by the United States Brewers association at $400,000,000.

Schnitman said 170 reports of brewery construct'on had been received since Dec. 1, covering 37 eastern states. The total for these states was $58,000,000, and he believed another $7,000,000 at least would be required for the western states.

In the Pittsburgh area $6,000,000 will be spent on 36 projects. This district includes the western half of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky.

About $9,000,000 was to be spent on 35 constructions in the Chicago area, including upper Illinois, lower Wisconsin, Indiana and Iowa.

Among the 29 reported projects from the metropolitan area of New York, including northern New Jersey, which will spend an estimated total of $15,000,000 is a $5,000,000 operation by Jacob Ruppert, and a $2,500,00 plant by the New Amsterdam Brewing company.

About $2,000,000 was listed for Texas.

Future Farmers Of Texas Group Will Be Formed During Show At Plainview

Plans for organization of a district Future Farmers of Texas organization during the Sixth Annual Panhandle-Plains Dairy show at Plainview April 10, was made yesterday afternoon during the vocational agriculture contest here. The session was held at Hotel Lubbock. J. W. Hulsey, Olton, president, was in charge.

V. S. Payne, Abernathy, was selected as ecunselor of the proposed group. Each school will send two or three delegates to Plainview during the vocational contest there on Monday. These delegates will select their officers and start their program.

A district public speaking and debate contest is to be held in Lubbock at Texas Tech, the first Saturday in May, it was decided. The contest will start at 10 a. m. and Tech will supply judges for the two groups.

Winner will be sent to the state contest at College Station. A small fee will be charged entrants and the money used to pay expenses of the winner and his coach.

The new d rector, Paul G. Haines, discussed with the teachers, problems concerning their work.

A message was sent to Taylor White, Odessa, formerly at Tahoka, who has been ill and in a hospital. He was active in the district until moving to Odessa.

Those present included: C. J. Van Zandt, Post; O. T. Williams, Floydada; W. C. Taylor, Crosbyton; V. S. Payne, Abernathy; J. H. Taylor, Ralls; R. H. Wells, Seagraves; R. A. Box, Littlefield; R. H. Maxwell, Hale Center and Mr. Hulsey.

Unemployed workmen and farmers of northern Oklahoma earned as much as $100 to $200 each through sale of furs from animals trapped this winter.

Calf Is Sold To Texas Tech

Purchase Of "My Texas Baby" From Post C Of C Announced Monday; Will Be Added To Local Herd

Purchase of "My Texas Baby" a registered Hereford calf raised by Miss Mohota Morgan, of Post and seventh place winner in the recent Third Annual Quality Meat show, from the Post Chamber of Commerce, was made yesterday by the school of agriculture of Texas Tech. The animal is to be added to the Tech Hereford herd.

Miss Morgan, daughter of Tom Morgan of Post, a well known Hereford breeder, fed the animal as her vocational agriculture project and entered him in the baby beef show here. She won seventh place in the junior division, out of a class of 115.

E. R. Wright, president of the Post Chamber of Commerce, negotiated the sale with the local institution. His organization had bid in the animal at the Hereford sale Friday, paying 14 cents a pound. The business men felt that they should support their local entrant in the local show, Mr. Wright explained.

"My Texas Baby" was calved June 21,1932. Miss Morgan began feeding the animal last October 15 and on November he weighed 586 pounds. Just before the sale he tipped the beam at slightly over 900 pounds.

"I fed him a mixed ration of ground oats, barley corn and maize," Miss Morgan said. He also received cotton seed and cotton seed meal with wheat straw and prairie hay for roughage. Each day I exercised him for about 5 minutes, showing him how to stand. I fed him three times, in the morning, at noon and at night."

This is Miss Morgan's second year in vocational work, she having fed a calf, a sister of this years animal, for the 1932 show. She placed tenth last year. "Miss Paragon 45" is the calf's dam and Superior Lad 20th the sire. The dam is out of the herd owned by C. D. Jones of Fluvanna and the sire from the C. M. Largent herd at Merkel.

Miss Morgan, a sophomore in the Post high school, fed her first calf when she was five years old. She has fed out six animals and is planning on starting another project some time soon. "I owe a lot to my father who gave me the calf and who also gave me the feed," the girl said.

C. J. Van Zandt, vocational teacher at Post, under whose directions she fed the calf, pointed out her willingness to obey instructions and suggestions in feeding and the regularity with which she fed him three times a day, were contributing factors in her success.

Chic, Little Stella Royal Presents Virtue To Capture Hearts Off-Stage

STELLA ROYAL
And Her Leading Man

My nattiest visitor of the afternoon is shown in—a diminutive fashion plate all in blue. For Miss Stella Royal, of the Singer's midget troup which is appearing here, goes calling dressed in a smart spring outfit that has been designed for a Lilliputian.

Her cocky blue hat is one of her own design. Her matching blue frock was made by her big sister, her shoes were especially made by a New York shoe firm, and she cut down a pair of hose to fit her tiny feet. With this combination, she appears as chic as anyone.

Charm Is Virtue

Off stage, Miss Royal is no less attractive than on. Her clear blue eyes, their color accentuated by the blue of her frock, are fringed in long black lashes. Her complexion is one that any teen-age girl might envy. Her charm and poise are virtues.

One grows accustomed to personal questions and to the curiosity of other people, according to Miss Royal, and thinks little of their questions. Yet, with all her readiness to answer, there is a dignified reserve about her hardly to be expected in one so small.

Born To The Stage

She has her philosophy, too. Having been born to the stage, she likes it and has no other preference in things to do. She likes to travel. She likes to meet people, to sing and to dance.

Stella Royal is 26 years of age and 36 inches tall, and weighs 42 pounds. Although she was born in Europe, she was brought to America when she was two years of age and has never returned there. Her parents are of normal size and she has a sister that is normal, although other children in the family are small. Her home is in Chicago, where she attended school and received a high school education. Since she started trouping when she was very young, her higher education was not pursued.

Normal In Habits

Likes of Lilliputians are the likes of larger people, she asserts. They read, play cards, like sports, sew—do the things that other people do.

Recently the midgets in this troup have been working jig saw puzzles as diligently as other people in the country.

Although she does not care for bridge, Miss Royal likes to play rummy and she likes to read. In common with other people on the stage, she has considerable time to devote to such hobbies as she travels from one part of the country to another.

Designs Own Hats

She designs her own hats and finds that it is a satisfactory way to keep well dressed. She chooses a hat with a small head size then cuts it down and makes it over to suit herself.

Her older sister makes her clothes. She selects the style that she likes and sends a description home. Upon her visit here she was carrying a fashion magazine and looked as though she might have stepped from any one of the pages.

"It may seem strange to you, but I had rather sleep in a large bed than a small one, she said, in discussing furniture. Midgets do not find the ordinary furniture that is found in hotels and restaurants to be inconvenient, she believes. A house to her is a home, regardless of size.

Carry Pets Along

She has a toy Pomeranian that she usually carries with her wherever she goes. Last year some members of this particular company had some birds and it is not at all unusual for them to carry their pets along, she says.

So far Miss Royal "has not thought much of marriage." Whether or not she will wed is a matter for the future to reveal. She finds it more convenient now to be free to travel and to follow her profession. Wedded life brings its troubles when it is mixed with such a career, she believes.

Luncheon For Visitors Held

Vocational Agriculture Teachers Of West Texas Guests At Affair; Leidigh Welcomes Them To Lubbock

Vocational agriculture teachers of West Texas who were here for the eighth annual Texas Tech judging contests, held a luncheon yesterday noon in Hotel Lubbock. There were about 28 men present.

Dean A. H. Leidigh of the college of agriculture at Tech, welcomed the visitors to Lubbock and expressed for himself and the school, pleasure at their coming to the city. He assured the teachers of the continued support of the local school in their work in training farm boys of the area.

Haines Is Speaker

Paul G. Haines, new director of vocational agriculture in the state talked "shop" to the teachers, many of whom he was meeting for the first time. He urged his co-workers to lend support to the Quality Meat show just held here, the Panhandle-Plains Dairy show at Plainview; the Panhandle-South fair here in the fall and the Tri-State fair at Amarillo just before the Lubbock show, as well as the Panhandle-Plains Poultry show at Slaton.

"Above all, have your own local show for your school or community, and then support next these regional affairs," he urged his hearers.

Appreciation Is Told

Frank Wimberly, State College, N. M., advisor of New Mexico vocational boys, spoke briefly and expressed his appreciation of the service rendered his state by Texas Tech, and also the hospitality of West Texas teachers and others.

The teachers decided to hold the ninth annual contest during the next meat show, in 1934. Details of the plan are to be left to Tech officials and district officials.

Others speaking briefly were: R. A. Box, Littlefield; John W. Hulsey, Olton; C. J. Van Zandt, Post; George P. Grout, Panhandle, and Donald Hill, Tulia.

More than 300,000 people have attended weekly community signs at St. Petersburg, Fla., during the past five winter seasons.

ILLUSION:
A "strong man" once gave public performances in which he stopped a 9 lb. cannon ball shot from a fully charged cannon. The audience gasped when the gun flashed and the human Gibraltar stepped forward out of the smoke uninjured, with the 9 lb. shot in his hands.

EXPLANATION:
The trick lay in the way an assistant prepared the cannon for the performance. He used the regulation amount of powder and wadding, but placed the greater part of the charge of powder ahead of the shot. The cannon ball was propelled only by the small charge behind it which was just sufficient to lob the 9 lb. ball over to the strong man.

It's fun to be fooled— ...it's more fun to KNOW

A performance sometimes staged in cigarette advertising is the illusion that cigarettes are made easy on the throat by some special process of manufacture.

EXPLANATION: All cigarettes are made in almost exactly the same way. Manufacturing methods are standard and used by all. A cigarette is only as good as the tobaccos it contains.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

In costly tobaccos you will find mildness, good taste, throat-ease.

Smoke Camels critically, and give your taste a chance to appreciate the greater pleasure and satisfaction offered by the more expensive tobaccos. Other cigarettes, we believe, will taste flat and insipid to you forever after.
