Eccles' Tonic For Business Offered

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. — Chairman Eccles of Federal Reserve board told a senate committee today increased government spending and a compact between government, industry and labor for lower costs in the construction industry would go far toward ending the present depression.

"If the government put a billion dollars into circulation, it would in my opinion stop the recession," he said, but he later emphasized he was making no definite recommendation to this effect, only answering questions as to what would be the result.

He testified before a special committee, under the chairmanship of Senator Byrnes of South Carolina, which started today a long search for the causes of unemployment and remedies which congress might apply to business ills.

Price Rise Too Fast

Primarily, Eccles said, the recession was the result of prices rising faster than the purchasing power of most of the people. When a certain point in this movement was reached, he explained, recovery from the old depression "got out of balance."

Beyond that, he expressed belief certain rigid prices were a serious defect in the economic system. Some sections of industry and of organized labor, principally allied with construction, refused to permit a drop in prices and wages between 1929 and 1933 commensurate with the decrease in other lines, he asserted.

"Labor as well as industry would be affected by this," he said. "If they voluntarily took a reduction that put cost and wages where they were before the advance of 1935."

Sustain Consumer Buying Power

He acknowledged there were many obstacles to such a compact, principally a justifiable demand from labor for a guarantee of a bigger yearly income in return for a decreased hourly wage.

As for what congress should do now, he strongly advocated "a bottom" below which the wages of the lower paid workers could not fall. He asserted "the most important thing at the moment is to sustain consumer buying power."

He opposed repeal of the undistributed profits tax as "the most de-

Highway Patrol Reinforcement In Prospect

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 4. — Texas' war against highway slaughter may gain reinforcements when the Public Safety commission meets here, possibly this week.

W. H. Richardson, jr., of Austin, chairman, said the commission would discuss placing 50 to 60 recruits in a training school for highway patrolmen and driver's license bureau inspectors.

He was awaiting word from Albert Sidney Johnson of Dallas and George W. Cottingham of Houston, other commissioners, for a suitable meeting date before arranging details of selecting the best applicants.

Patrol And License Splits Up

Col. H. H. Carmichael, director of the public safety department, said the new men would be distributed between the patrol and license bureau, and although duties of each differ somewhat they coincide in many details since all are officers with statewide authority.

The safety director said the patrol, now at a strength of 188, probably would be increased to 244. The force suffered a loss in personnel when a detail of officers was transferred to the recently organized Driver's License bureau.

He said a training school could be put in operation in about 15 days following selection of the best applicants who would submit to oral and written examinations.

Col. Carmichael said the department's campaign for highway safety needed more men and under the system of pay now in effect the lump sum given the department by the legislature would allow for increased personnel.

He expressed belief additional officers might curtail 1938's expected highway fatalities. With records still incomplete, officials estimate 2,050 lives were lost in traffic mishaps last year, an increase of 163 over 1936.

NYA Extension Planned Here

Plans for operation here of four new projects of major importance in the National Youth administration were announced Tuesday by J. C. Kellam, state NYA director.

All plans are tentative, he explained, but authoritative information pointed to completion.

Kellam came to Lubbock to confer with A. V. Bullock, district supervisor; to confer with leaders at Texas Technological college and the city relative to projects; and to greet Garth Akridge of New Orleans, regional director of the southern NYA area comprising 12 states. Akridge was scheduled to arrive not later than this morning from an automobile tour of western states. He will accompany Bullock to Austin.

Four Projects Planned

Projects outlined by Kellam include:

Operation of a resident vocational agriculture training course at Texas Technological college, depending primarily on housing for 50 farm boys; operation of a cotton

Police Judge And Motorist In Agreement On Mishap Cause, With Some Modifications

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Jan. 4. (AP)—Police and Kent Allee, 55, a motorist, agreed that "suction" caused his car to collide with another—but they differed on the cause.

Allee told the judge "suction from a passing automobile" was responsible. Police testified "it was too much suction from three bottles of wine" found in Allee's car.

Allee was fined $10 and costs and his driver's license was suspended for a year.

Tom Heflin Poor Second; Third Is Williams

Veteran Congressman's Victory Hailed "Vote Of Confidence" For President Roosevelt

(By The Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 4.—Representative Lister Hill, New Deal supporter, defeated former Senator J. Thomas Heflin in Alabama's senatorial primary today, apparently by 2 to 1.

With 1,024 of the state's 2,200 boxes tabulated, the count was:

Hill	55,460
Heflin	27,737

Charles W. Williams, newcomer to state politics, trailed far behind with 3,048.

Bankhead For Hill

Heflin, whose speeches in the senate prior to his defeat in 1930 were favorites with the gallery, heard the news of the election from a hospital bed at his home town of Lafayette. He was stricken with lobar pneumonia more than two weeks ago.

Senator John H. Bankhead, who will be the colleague of the winner of today's race, announced he had cast an absentee vote for Hill. Governor Bibb Graves previously had announced he would vote for the veteran Montgomery representative.

The winner will succeed Hugo L. Black, named to the U. S. supreme court.

Hill was one of the few southern congressmen to favor the Black-Connery wages and hours bill. Both Heflin and Williams opposed the measure in campaign speeches.

Heflin Unable To Vote

Heflin's stump campaign was interrupted two weeks ago by an illness diagnosed as lobar pneumonia and the colorful former senator was unable to cast a ballot today.

Williams, newcomer to state politics, campaigned vigorously, explaining his farm relief program, and urging his election as a man independent of politics.

Hill promised to "stand by the New Deal" and his supporters urged his election as a "vote of confidence" for the president.

State liquor stores were closed today and no disorders were reported.

Governor Graves has announced he would appoint the Democratic nominee to a seat in the senate "as soon as he is officially known." Mrs. Dixie Graves, the governor's wife, will resign the post to which she was named temporarily when Black was appointed to the supreme court.

Cotton Biscuits? Scientist Says They're Good

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 4. (AP)—Some day you may be eating biscuits made of cotton!

Clarence B. Weiss, chemical engineer, told the Engineers club he already had tried them and "they didn't taste bad at all."

Weiss said he made the biscuits of a mixture of wheat and cotton flour. Outlining other uses for the future, the chemical engineer declared:

"Cotton is an almost perfect insulation and if successfully fireproofed and waterproofed, it's not impossible that much of it will be used to replace asbestos."

He also foresaw as possible the manufacture of sugar from cotton.

CONFESSION CLAIMED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced tonight that Wendell Forrest Bowers had confessed at Louisville, Ky., the slaying in Philadelphia of Mrs. William V. Carpenter.

ville FBI, admitted he was Bowers tonight after several hours of questioning.

Bowers has been sought several weeks in connection with the slaying Dec. 13 of Mrs. Wilma V. Carpenter, 38, at her home near Philadelphia.

Unlawful Flight Charged

Dewey placed a federal charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution on a charge of murder against the youth.

The agent said Bowers would be arraigned tomorrow but would not say whether he admitted any connection with the Carpenter slaying.

The prisoner was arrested here on charges of vagrancy and storehouse breaking.

Revelation of his identity came when his fingerprints were sent to the F.B.I. at Washington for a routine check.

Mrs. Carpenter was killed by a man who was noiced loitering around her home the day of the murder. The widow and a friend, Miss Mary Griffin, 22, beauty shop operator, were attacked as they entered Mrs. Carpenter's home, at Camp Hill, near Philadelphia.

Miss Griffin, who picked Bowers' picture from a group of 100 rogue gallery pictures, was slugged by the intruder, who shot Mrs. Carpenter when she went to the aid of the young woman.

The missing man came here three years ago from Albuquerque, N. M., after declaring there he had been threatened for disclosing to officers what he said was a plot to kidnap a wealthy contractor's son.

Billion Dollars May Be Deficit For This Year

President Completes Chart Of Federal Spending; Congress Gets Budget Today

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—President Roosevelt completed today a tentative chart of federal spending in the 1938-39 fiscal year and well-informed officials predicted it would indicate a $1,000,000,000 deficit.

The budget will go to congress tomorrow. Mr. Roosevelt told the legislators yesterday it would not be balanced but that the deficit would be less than in the present fiscal year ending next June 30.

The last official estimate of the propective deficit for the current year was $895,245,000. Officials indicated, however, the message tomorrow would revise this figure up to about $1,250,000,000.

Budget Only Tentative

The budget is expected to give only tentative recommendations for relief and naval expenditures, the final totals to be determined later in the light of what the president may deem necessary because of the business recession and world rearmament.

Under these circumstances, observers generally concluded any estimated deficit could be called only a preliminary guess, subject to wide revision according to developments in business—affecting both relief expenditures and tax receipts—and in international affairs.

Last year Mr. Roosevelt delayed his estimates of relief appropriation needs until April to receive beforehand reports of the spring business and employment outlook.

The probability of some "supplementary" recommendations for naval construction was advanced by the president recently in a letter to Chairman Taylor (D-Colo) of the house appropriations committee.

Mr. Roosevelt indicated to congress yesterday he believed regular federal expenditures could not be reduced below $7,000,000,000 a year.

In view of his previous requests,

Trapped In Fire, Score Injured

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Jan. 4. (AP)—Turning American British hall into a roaring inferno, fire tonight trapped approximately 200 persons attending a beano party and sent at least a score to two hospitals with serious burns and broken legs and arms.

An hour later, after firemen brought the blaze under control, Pawtucket police expressed the belief that everyone had been removed from the building and that there had been no deaths.

Running through flames into the smoke-filled building, firemen carried out scores of persons and brought at least 100 down ladders.

Smoke Gives Warning

Partly overcome by the dense smoke, several persons toppled from the ladders and were taken to hospitals.

Excited victims said the first warning of the fire came when smoke seeped through a door from the floor below.

The beano players darted for the door, only to find their path to safety blocked by leaping flames.

Pawtucket Memorial hospital attaches reported 20 persons, some burned, others with broken legs, had been taken there. Others were sped to a hospital in nearby Central Falls.

FORT WORTH, Jan. 4. (AP)—Mrs. Edna Burnside, charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of her husband, Johnnie Burnside, in their Fort Worth home April 28, will go on trial here tomorrow.

Burnside, who in 1920 was charged in Wichita Falls with murder, was sentenced to 99 years and was free on parole at the time of his death.

Charges Of Allred Hit At McDonald

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 4.—Gov. James V. Allred piled more criticism today on Land Commissioner W. H. McDonald, but the latter stood his ground, declaring all his official acts accorded with the law.

Latest broadside of the governor was in a press conference declaration "conditions" in the land office caused him, in the people's interest, to be alarmed.

At the same time, he refused to approve sale of 48.27 acres of land in Rusk county to Arlin Anderson for $1 an acre, asserting the tract was worth at least five times as much and certain records had been altered.

Charges Echo Others

It was the second outburst of the governor in recent weeks against the land commissioner. On the first occasion, joined by C. V. Terrell, member of the railroad commission, he refused to approve renewal of a lease in the Wichita river oil bed authorized by McDonald.

Allred and Terrell, constituting a majority of the state mineral board, adopted a resolution expressing the sense the renewal was improper and should be set aside. The lease is near the important KMA oil field.

In criticising the Rusk county transaction, the governor also indicated there might be important developments soon in the Wichita river bed lease matter.

Alteration Alleged

Field notes on the Rusk county tract, a vacancy, bore affidavits from the county surveyor valuing the land at $5 an acre, the governor said in a letter to McDonald, but on two of the affidavits "the $5 written in ink has been scratched out with a pencil and $1 placed in its stead."

Under the circumstances, he wrote, "I cannot sign a patent selling state land at $1 an acre, which is worth at least five times as much, and perhaps more; and certainly I will not sign this patent where the records have been altered, as in this case."

McDonald said the transaction was "entirely aboveboard," that the $1 was for sale of surface rights only, all minerals being retained by the state, that the price was reasonable and that it was customary in such matters not to charge the full market value.

McDonald Strikes Back

What the governor said was an alteration of records, McDonald stated, was merely a clerk's notation of the sale price finally agreed upon.

"My records are open to inspection by any one at any time," he said. "All my official acts have been strictly in accord with the law, and I'll put my administration of the land office in my one year against that of any other land commissioner."

Allred disclosed he had hired J.

'Hopper Infestation Predicted For 1938

BOZEMAN, Mont., Jan. 4. (AP)—Grasshoppers will invade more than 35,000,000 acres of land in 24 states nex. summer, with infestations in the great plains five to six times as serious as last year, R. L. Shotwell of the Federal Bureau of entomology predicted today.

The heaviest infestations, he forecast, will be in North and South Dakota, east of the Missouri river, and in Missouri where hot, dry weather last summer provided ideal conditions for propagation.

He said surveys showed the long-winged pests had migrated into virtually every state in the western two-thirds of the United States.

Shotwell estimated funds necessary to control the pests in the various states would include: New Mexico $16,980; Texas $251,300.

The grand jury reported, considered cases and decided there had been no crime committed.

"How about that hog theft, sheriff?" asked the judge.

"Oh, one of the grand jurors said he had just put it up for the owner."

Crop Control Amendment To Inspire Fight

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—A new and strenuous struggle about the crop control bill appeared to be in prospect today after senate-house conferees agreed they legally could eliminate so-called "dairy amendments." Backers of the amendments declared they would fight for them.

Drafted by Senator McNary (R-Ore) and Representative Boileau (Prog-Wis), the amendments would deny federal farm benefit payments and crop loans to farmers who used retired acreage to produce livestock, poultry and dairy products as a commercial enterprise. They were designed to protect dairy farmers from new competition.

They are indentical in terminology except for introductory language. That technical discrepancy, plus the fact that they do not appear under the same section titles in both bills, was seized upon by conferees as an opportunity to throw out the amendments if they so desired.

(When a provision is identical in all respects in both bills a conference committee is bound by parliamentary rule to accept it).

The amendments were written into the legislation over the objection of administration leaders and at the expressed displeasure of the department of agriculture.

Senator McNary called the com-

The records show an interlocking relationship between the 24 "leading banks," he said, expressing agreement with the president's statement that hundreds of small bankers are "compelled in practice to accept the policies laid down by a small number of the larger banks in the nation."

Frosty Mantle In Places 5 Inches Deep

Great, Wet Flakes Considered Of Much Value To Farming And Range Territory

SNOW, ranging from a thin coat to as much as five inches, Tuesday afternoon and night painted the South Plains white.

Along with the snow came sleet, rain and mist to boost the day's precipitation for Lubbock to .44 inches, according to figures from the Lubbock Municipal airport.

A three-quarter inch snow covered Lubbock early in the afternoon, melted; covered the town again late in the afternoon and melted again; and at midnight had covered the ground for the third time.

Six Inches At Seagraves

Heaviest snow for the South Plains was in the southern portions. Seagraves reported between five and six inches only to have it melt before midnight into approximately an inch of moisture. Brownfield also reported five to six inches with sleet, but the precipitation had ceased at 11 o'clock Tuesday night.

Snow had started to fall shortly before midnight at Plainview and had not covered the ground. It was falling heavily at Hale Center but was melting rapidly.

Intervals of snowfall at Littlefield had left the ground partially covered. Lamesa had only "very little" snow, slight rain, and no wind. Only mist had fallen at Post.

Wheat Land Helped

Snow turned into rain at Floydada but moisture was slight.

Between two and three inches of snow blanketed Levelland before 9:30 Tuesday night. Snow began falling at Sudan in the afternoon.

The Santa Fe Railway said most of the distance between Clovis, N. M., and Lubbock had not received snow, at least until late in the afternoon.

The moisture, according to agricultural authorities, will be valuable, especially to wheat crops already planted.

The main line station of the West Texas Gas company said at 11 o'clock last night its official ther-

DETROIT, Jan. 4.—Harry H. Bennett, Ford Motor Co. personnel director who spent a sleepless night directing a search for his 17-year-old daughter, Gertrude, learned this afternoon she had eloped to Indiana with a college sweetheart.

His fear she had been kidnaped was not dispelled until he had confirmed by telephone the news she was married last night at Auburn, Ind., to Russell Hughes, 21, a trap drummer.

Both were students at Michigan State Normal college. The families are neighbors.

Late today, he still had recieved no direct word from the couple and declared he would make no further effort to find them.

ADVICE FROM SYLVIA

LOUISE EVANS, reporter on the Amarillo News-Globe, is back from Los Angeles, where she consulted Madame Sylvia, conditioner of movie stars. The Tactless Texan described Miss Evans' visit in his column:

"Miss Evans had not been feeling well for some time, and had been losing weight so she became worried and went out to Los Angeles to see the great one. The first thing Madame Sylvia told her was to quit smoking. And that's exactly what I've been telling her for the last ten years.

"She also told her to drink plenty of orange juice, to go to bed regularly every night at 9 o'clock, to eat plenty of good rare beef and to drink lots and lots of milk and cream.

"She didn't charge Miss Evans a cent, and she talked to her for more than an hour, going over her physically and so forth. She was refused an appointment until she was told that she was a 'newspaperwoman on the News-Globe in Amarillo, Texas.'"

Miss Evans is anxious to bring Madame Sylvia to Amarillo to advise women of the Panhandle on their health and looks. Since the noted Swedish masseuse goes through there frequently traveling between Los Angeles and New York, this may be possible.

We agree with Mr. Howe that women of the Plains are good looking but they don't take as good care of themselves as they might.

They say the girls drive cars as much as their fathers or brothers and feel they would like to know what makes the car run, or, if it doesn't run, why not.

The boys complained of disliking "snacks" constantly and since many found they had to get their own meals they wanted to know how it is done.

ONE of the newest colors on the fashion horizon is copper. It is predicted to be exceedingly popular because it blends well with other predominating colors of the season, yellow, dark brown, certain dusty shades of rose, blue and green and is exceptionally smart combined with or accented by black. It gives a luxurious effect under your dark fur coat and is equally smart with gray or beige, and best of all, becoming to most complexions.

JOAN CRAWFORD showed excellent judgment in not attending funeral services for her father in Abilene this week. Her visit might have turned an unpretentious funeral for an old man into a mob of frenzied fans shoving for a sight of one of the most famous faces in the United States, for autographs or to satisfy curiosity as to her grief.

This Mr. Le Sueur couldn't have meant much to his daughter. She had not seen him since she was a child and he had had nothing to do with her phenomenal rise to success. Her gesture, sending a wreath, was a thoughful and sufficient one.

Study Club Season Awakes From Holiday Rest Early This Week

Programs Continue In Spite Of Snow

Like the ground hog which supposedly emerges from a winter's hibernation and decides to stay out if the weather is blustery, the study club season awoke from a holiday lethargy Tuesday afternoon and decided to continue its prescribed schedule despite a flurry of snow and cold atmosphere.

With few exceptions, clubs reported full attendance at their meetings.

Mrs. L. R. Gamble, 1918 Thirteenth street, was hostess for a Shakespeare club meeting. Roll call was answered with lines from Act V, King Lear, and discussions of the play were as follows:

"Why Cordelia Hated To Speak the Truth," Mrs. H. H. Redding; "The Question of Preclusive Action," Mrs. Cliff Widener, and "Shakespeare as a Psychologue of Women," Mrs. Grady West.

News Briefs . . .

Twenty farmers have asked County Agent C. C. Jobson for a date on which they may have terrace lines run for terracing or contouring. Terracing work is just beginning, since farmers are completing cotton harvesting. Monday Jobson and his assistant, Homer Thompson, worked on 1,000 acres for S. S. Forrest near Slaton. They ran some lines a mile and a half long.

Lubbock county 4-H club boys have an opportunity to get into a new type of state competition, handiwork, if enough boys are interested, L. L. Johnson, state club agent, has advised Homer Thompson, assistant county agent. If 10 per cent of the counties in the state want it, Johnson said he would begin the work. Leather tanning and woodcraft would be included.

Regular fourth Sunday program of the Lubbock County Singing convention will be held at New Deal High school from 2 until 4 o'clock the afternoon of Jan. 23, M. L. Kelly, president, said Tuesday. An all-day event will be Jan. 30 at Roosevelt High school, at which the Stamps quartet will sing. All singers of the South Plains are invited both Sundays, Kelly said.

Joseph R. Griggs, county superintendent, said about 10 Lubbock school superintendents will leave tomorrow for the annual school executives' conference in Austin Thursday and Friday. Subject of discussion will be: "Use of the Radio in the School and Visual Education." County superintendents and school superintendents from all the state are eligible to attend the conference, Supt. Griggs said.

About 50 boy scouts are in order for advancement at a court of honor for members of the northeast district in Floydada at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night. H. H. Hamilton of Lockney will be court of honor chairman.

Plans for a women's night program of the Lions club were announced yesterday, but no date announced for the event other than "about the middle of January." Announcement was made at the weekly luncheon in the Hilton hotel. Robert H. Bean, vice president, presided. J. Doyle Settle was initiated into the club. J. W. Jackson made a presentation talk. J. W. Henly, chairman of the losing team in a recent attendance contest, said his side would serve at the program.

C. C. Files, J. E. Cozby, H. B. Daviss, Carl Pennington, C. H. Pickett, and J. W. Ross of Lubbock were among persons receiving medal awards for meritorious work last year as representatives of the Waples-Platter company, wholesale grocers. Annual meeting of representatives was held at Fort Worth last week.

Three 4-H club boys of the county, who did not respond to an appeal from Homer E. Thompson, assistant county agent, for a report of their 4-H club work, missed a chance to get a trip to Washington next summer to the annual national 4-H encampment. Thompson was to submit records of three boys, with a picture, to the state club leader, L. L. Johnson. He asked E. W. Goodjohn, Shallowater; Truman Woods, Estacado, and J. B. Askew, Acuff, for reports. Reports had to be in College Station Saturday.

After a youth had been arrested by police in 1400-block of Avenue H Tuesday morning when suspected of attempted car theft, police pledged vigilance in preventing persons from prowling in the downtown district. Precautions will be taken against possible car thefts and burglary. Few cases of car theft have been reported here in the past and authorities have maintained a good record of recoveries.

An official of the chamber of commerce here Tuesday received a belated Christmas gift. It was a celluloid buck with an attached note reading: "This is about the only way you'll ever be able to get a deer." Anonymous gift was believed to have come from a fellow-member of a hunting party on which the official took "buck-ague" and could not get his rifle "off safety" when he saw a big specimen.

Texas Schools Receive More Financial Aid Than Ever Before During Past Year

Prehistoric Boat-Stones Were Used To Weight The End Of Throwing Sticks, Believed

AUSTIN, Jan. 4. (AP) — Texas anthropologists have come to the conclusion that boat-stones, prehistoric objects having somewhat the shape of a canoe, were used originally to weight the end of throwing-sticks rather than as charms.

Professor J. E. Pearce, editor of University of Texas' anthropological research publications, said a study completed by Dr. J. T. Patterson, professor of zoology, finally has cleared up the mystery of the stones found in the Gulf Southwest states.

"The throwing-stick was not known until just now to have been used throughout North America for a long period antecedent to the bow and arrow," Prof. Pearce said. "It could not have occurred to early writers on the boat-stone, therefore, that it may have made its meaning in association with this weapon."

Previously, the stones, found in Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas had been classed as ornamental-problematical forms but Dr. Patterson's study, according to Prof. Pearce, has settled the problem of the meaning of the boat-stone.

Whether They Drove Or Flew, They 'Made' Special

H. S. Brown, Lubbock man, brother of Misses Edna Mae and Oleta Brown, was "one busy man" Saturday morning when he made a near-flying trip to Clovis, N. M., to put two Texas Technological college co-eds on the Santa Fe Sun bowl special train.

The party missed the train here and drove to Littlefield in 25 minutes, only to miss connections there. He then drove to Clovis, reaching there at 8:45 o'clock, M.S.T., just 80 minutes from Lubbock for the 90 mile distance.

The two girls "made the train," after it had been held 25 minutes. Names of the girls were not learned by Clovis newspapermen.

The United States Office of Education sees a trend toward abandonment of one-teacher rural schools, which have declined 10,169 in the past four years, in favor of larger centralized schools.

Most Of Revenue Comes From Oil

By HARRELL E. LEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 4. — From the "little red schoolhouse" to the oil-rich state university, Texas schools received more financial aid from the state government in 1937 than ever before.

The per capita apportionment to public elementary and high schools for the year starting last September is $22, three dollars greater than in any previous twelve-month period. Since the state has $1,566,544 children of school age (six to seventeen inclusive) that means an increase of approximately $4,700,000.

Oil Taxes Big Reason

Texas apparently will be able to pay that large a per capita by the close of the fiscal year, notwithstanding the state ad valorem tax for school purposes was trimmed from 20 to 7 cents on the $100 valuation. Oil, which pays a production tax of 2 3-4 per cent of value, is the big reason.

Three years ago the per capita apportionment was only $16.50. School people already have started talking of a $25 allotment in 1938 or 1939.

The legislature last spring appropriated an additional $1,080,000 for rural school aid for the 1935-37 biennium. The regular allotment for the 1937-39 biennium is $11,000,000, higher by $1,000,000 than ever before.

Colleges Receive More

The rise in financial support of the higher educational institutions was even more marked. The appropriation to colleges for the current fiscal year aggregates $8,694,886. That for the first year of the preceding biennium was only $5,554,681. Continued enrollment gains were partly responsible for the big increase.

According to the scholastic census rolls, Texas has only 4,117 more school age children than in 1930. Education department officials say the rolls are not an accurate index, however, because a few years ago they contained many names which should not have been listed.

Two of the outstanding trends of 1937 were increasing interest in vocational education and school district consolidations. Still more consolidations would be beneficial, in the opinion of State Superintendent L. A. Woods. He says administrative expense thereby would be reduced and educational opportunities more nearly equalized.

Form Of Earth Resulted From Cooling, Melting Of Lava, Stanford Professor Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. (AP) — Men who study rocks and reefs heard today a theory that the form of the earth—its mountains and valleys, continents and oceans—resulted from 2,000,000,000 years of melting, cooling and melting again in spots.

Dr. Bailey Willis of Stanford university told the Geological Society of America that eventually these "melting spots" under the surface cropped out as ledges of rock and burst forth in streams of lava.

The heat which causes the melting, he said, is believed to come from the break-up of atoms, a process known to science as radio-activity.

DAWSON GINNINGS

LAMESA. (Special) — Dawson county ginnings are expected to reach 110,000 bales by the close of the season, cotton men here said. Dec. 13 report showed 97,996 bales, and the 100,000 bale mark has been passed. It is pointed out that many bales of cottor. from the county have been ginned in other counties, including Lynn and Howard.

Delay Announced In Shipment To Tech Of Recent Gift

The bronze head of Vice President John Nance Garner recently presented to Texas Technological college by Mr. and Mrs. Amon G. Carter of Fort Worth probably will not reach Lubbock for 30 to 60 days, according to information given Tuesday by Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Tech.

The head is the work of Mrs. Electra Waggoner Bowman, a former Texas girl who has won wide recognition in New York City for sculpture.

Delivery of the bronze awaits the completion of a plate which will be fixed to the pedestal. When received, it will be placed on exhibition at West Texas Museum building until it can be removed to the new Tech library now under construction.

Hotel Workers "Go To School" In Special Training Course

Employes of the Lubbock hotel are going to school this week, taking courses in dealing with the public, in classes conducted by John B. O'Meara, Oklahoma City, Okla., an authority on efficiency and hotel service. Not only are waitresses given instruction in their duties, but also in all departments.

O'Meara has been engaged in this work for the past five or six years. He writes a weekly article for the Central Southwest Hotel News and for other publications.

Improved service to the public from all departments is the objective of the work.

The department of interior has mapped topographically about 57 per cent of the United States since 1875, when the project was started.

New, Possibly Revolutionary, Pneumonia Serum Being Administered To CCC Here

A new type pneumonia serum was received Tuesday at six camps of Lubbock CCC sub-district and was administered to a number of enrollees, according to information given by Lieut. Harry Jacobson, assistant district surgeon.

The supply, he added, will be sufficient to innoculate only about half of the approximately 1,1000 men enrolled in the six camps, which are located in Lubbock, Littlefield, Lamesa, Amarillo, Memphis, and Perryton.

The vaccine will be given only to enrollees who volunteer, but practically all have asked for it, Lieut. Jacobson said.

The vaccine was developed at Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, Md., and has proved highly effective as a preventive in U. S. army tests. Belief is it will become available to the public generally if the experiments in CCC camps are as successful. It has been effective, officials here were advised, as a safeguard against the two types of pneumonia which account for approximately 40 per cent of all pneumonia cases.

Lubbock sub-district has been fortunate, in its pneumonia record this year, Lieut. Jacobson disclosed. Only three cases have occurred this winter, none was serious and all have fully recovered, he added.

Golden Gloves And Basketball Not To Conflict; Tech-ACC Cage Dates Moved

Boxing Goes On Monday Night; Cagers Follow

In order to clear up a boxing-basketball conflict, Coach George Berl Huffman of the Texas Tech varsity cagers has arranged with Abilene Christian college officials to shift the dates of the Tech-ACC series next week to Tuesday and Wednesday nights, Jan. 11 and 12.

First program of a four-night boxing tournament in Lubbock, a rare occasion indeed, is to go on as scheduled next Monday night, Jan. 10, at the Auditorium. It will be followed a week later by the finals in the City Golden Gloves tournament, and this is to be followed next month, on the nights of Feb. 7 and 8, by the District Golden Gloves tournament.

Deadline On Saturday

Approximately 50 amateur boxers have applied for membership in the Avalanche-Journal Amateur Athletic club, which sponsors the Golden Gloves events in Lubbock, and entries are expected to increase this week.

Saturday, Jan. 8, at noon, has been set as deadline for entries in the City tournament. All amateur boxers of the section, even those residing outside the city, are invited to participate in the events next Monday and the following Monday nights. Defeat in the city tournament does not necessarily mean elimination for the district event. All boxers who plan to enter the district tournament are invited to compete in the city tournament. Even though defeated, if a boxer looks good, he'll be invited back for the district affair.

Getting back to basketball, next week will be full of it.

Texas Tech plays Abilene Christian college on Tuesday and Wednesday nights, then faces University of New Mexico on Friday and Saturday nights in the opening Border conference series.

The Tech-ACC series originally was scheduled for Jan. 8 and 9. At the request of Coach Bugs Morris of A.C.C., the dates were moved to Jan. 10 and 11. Then, at yesterday's request of Coach Berl Huffman of Tech, the dates were changed to Jan. 11 and 12, so as not conflict with the Golden Gloves tournament.

The Red Raiders have appeared only twice before the local fans, those times in a losing series with Texas Christian university.

Five hard games in the Oklahoma City all-college invitation tournament last week, however, should have served to toughen the Red Raiders for a medium well cage season, although talent prospects are below the average at Tech.

Tech won only one game out of five at the Oklahoma City tournament, an event in which they placed third a year ago. But the Raiders made quite an impression with their fiery brand of basketball. They play it with a lot of vim and vigor and enthusiasm. Making the headlines every day during the tournament was Tech's big Sasche, high-scoring member of the Tech team who became eligible during the holidays. Sasche, one of the high scorers of the entire tournament, although Tech figured far down in the won and lost columns, was one of the most popular players in the tournament.

Four other men join the Tech cagers this week, after taking off long enough to prepare for and play the Sun Bowl football game last Saturday. Elmer Tarbox, Rex Williams, Dudley Aiken and George Webb, all footballers, were back "out for basketball" yesterday, after a start in the T.C.U. series.

Abilene Christian college is expected to bring a strong club here next week, and University of New Mexico is looking forward to one of its most successful Border conference seasons.

Slaton Beats Post In First Cage Go

SLATON, Jan. 4. (Special) — Coach Jim Neeley's Slaton High school Tigers opened their "conference" cage campaign here tonight with a fine display of defensive ability and a 34 to 7 victory over the Post Antelopes.

Otis Simms, southpaw forward, sank half a dozen field goals to lead the Tiger offense. Gene Kirkpatrick was second with 4 points. J. B. Ward, guard, played a fine defensive game, as did the entire Slaton team, in holding Post to seven points.

Ferguson, forward, led Post's scoring with 3 points. Davis, center, played a good game.

Slaton meets the district favorites, Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes, at the Slaton gym Thursday night at 7:45 o'clock in an important contest.

Horned Frogs Will Try To Keep Coach Dutch Meyer

FORT WORTH, Jan. 4. (AP)—T. C. U. will "make every effort" to retain Coach Dutch Meyer who has been offered the head coaching job at the University of Mississippi.

Dan D. Rogers of Dallas, chairman of the athletic committee of the T. C. U. board of trustees, said his committee would meet within a day or two to consider the problem. It is believed that a salary boost to meet the Mississippi offer in part will be offered.

Golden Gloves Tickets Move At 3 Places

Boxing seldom comes to Lubbock, but when it does, it's on a big scale—sometimes.

The Golden Gloves tournaments coming up next week and next month are one of the "sometimes."

For the past two days, entries have been coming in at the rate of half a dozen a day, and the total is more than 50. The fighters will be there—and so will the fans, if they react to 1938 Golden Gloves as they did to the more or less half-hearted 1937 events.

Advance ticket sales do not yet indicate a sellout, but they have been on sale for just one day. To assure yourself of a good seat for next Monday night's opening program, better drop by one of three places—The Hilton Hotel lobby, the Hotel Lubbock drugstore, or Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers—and make the purchase.

Tonight only, they're on sale at the Auditorium.

Season tickets—one block of tickets for the entire four nigths of fighting—may be reserved only by calling or visiting the Avalanche-Journal editorial offices. The young lady at the telephone desk, or the sports editor, will reserve season tickets up to noon Monday, Jan. 10. There is a saving of 10 per cent, and assurance of the same ringside seat for all four nights of scrapping.

Pro Boxing Gets 'Screwy' Start

Porkers, Ponies Are Favorites In Cage Race

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Forgotten in the bustle of the Cotton Bowl football classic, the Southwest conference basketball race officially blooms down at College Station Friday night when Arkansas' rangy sons of the Ozarks start a two-game series with Texas A. and M.

Potent as usual, Arkansas sets out to regain its lost cage glory against an Aggie team its own coach, Hub McQuillan, doubted would win "a single conference game."

However, since Coach McQuillan dropped tha quip, his Aggies have come along against pre-season opposition, knocking over several recognized south Texas independent units.

Mustangs On Tour

The Razorbacks, with stony-faced Don Lockard, last year's leading looper, back as captain at a forward post, and with other veterans sprinkled in the lineup, take up their perennial role as favorites, along with Southern Methodist university, defending champions, now on an Eastern tour.

Lockard, who roped 159 points in the 1936-37 season, will have Jim Benton, big football end, as his forward partner, while Ray Hamilton, the other wingman on the grid squad, will hold down center. Jack Robbins, still another grid hero who banged in 72 points from his running guard position last year, will be back. Harold Brady will hold down the other guard.

Coach Glen Rose, who saw his charges finish third in the recent Oklahoma City collegiate tourney, is moaning about lack of reserve strength and inability to click on the defense.

Saturday night at Austin a University of Texas team that has concentrated more on speed than height, shoves off a favorite over Texas Christian, for three years the tail-enders.

Coach Mike Brumbelow of T. C. U., who went so far a few days ago as to predict his Christians would win at least three conference games—they won only one last year—had his team considerably shaken when Ben Abney, brilliant sophomore forward, suffered a hand injury in an automobile accident that may keep him out of the lineup for a couple of weeks. None too potent in early season skirmishes, the Christians went into the first league tilt in the usual underdog role.

Porkers Stay In South

The Methodists, who knocked over Gettysburg, Eastern power, in the first game of a swing that will take them into Madison Square Garden against Long Island university, will open against Baylor at Waco on Jan. 11.

Arkansas, after its Aggie series, will move into Houston to help Rice open its league schedule on next Monday and Tuesday nights. Texas will invade North Texas next week, scrapping S. M. U. at Dallas on Friday night and T. C. U. at Fort Worth on the following night.

First Golf Picture Of 1938; 'Half-Clubs' Discarded As Linksmen Seek To Qualify For 14-Club Limit Rule

By LARRY ROLLINS
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 4.—Take it from the big-time golf professionals—their scores will be just as low in 1938, despite 14-club rule.

Most tournament money players like the rule, which—they say—will make necessary more skill, and will make the game less mechanical.

But few of them use more than 14 clubs anyway.

The pro brigade offered proof in the $10,000 Miami Biltmore open, in which the new U.S.G.A. limit was adopted.

Sam Snead, the big belter from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., went out the first day and polished off a neat 67, four under par, using just 11 clubs.

Two days later Jimmy Thomson of Shawnee, Pa., another long hitter, cracked the course record with a 65, using only 10 clubs. Ten golfers bettered par that day.

Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., won the tournament with a 72-hole 282, two strokes below par and just one over the record. On no single round did he use the full limit.

A composite bag of clubs—established by a canvass of 17 leading pros—consisted of driver, brassie, spoon, irons number 1 through 9, sand-wedge and putter.

The Dissenters

Seven of the 17 golfers used that combination exactly. Five others took along a fourth wood, dropping the No. 9 iron. All but three decided to discard the "half clubs"—that is, those graduated between the usual numbers.

Those three—Ralph Guldahl, National open champion; Willie Macfarlane and Snead—retained the 7 1-2 iron.

Some adapted their chosen 14 clubs to peculiar styles.

Revolta, for instance, has a notorious hook that makes him miss many a green and depend on his unusually fine short work. So he not only carried his reliable chipper, but he retained a pitching sand-iron—in addition to his wedge—to help him out of traps. To keep within the limit Revolta dropped his No. 2 iron.

ARMOUR'S ARTILLERY

Tommy Armour, the Silver Scot from Chicago, shows the clubs most pros will carry. From right to left, they are: Driver, brassie, spoon, Irons No. 1-9, sand-wedge, and putter. "Fourteen clubs are plenty," says Tommy. "More than that usually only duplicates."

Macfarlane, who once won the National open, hazarded an opinion the trouble with the average club member is not too many clubs, but too few.

"I could stick four more clubs in his bag," he said, "tell him how to use them, and he would lower his score. The average player should never have less than 12 clubs, for he must have the club to fit the shot. The pro can adapt his clubs to any requirement. Different clubs, naturally, are needed for different courses. I might use a set of 14 here, go somewhere else, look over the course, and substitute two or three."

The Comment

Here's what some of the others had to say about the 14-club rule:—

Harry Cooper: "It will make the golfer depend more on skill, and not entirely on the club."

Denny Shute: "I wish they had made the limit 15 at least. I used 16 clubs before, but just had to discard my No. 4 wood and niblick."

Snead: "I think a golfer could get along with 10 clubs after he got accustomed to it. It just makes a player think more about his shots."

Ed Dudley: "The rule will help scoring. The players will get to know their clubs better."

Bobby Cruickshank: "I'm for the rule, except that I think it's nonsense saying we can't substitute clubs during a round. If I find out, halfway around, that I'd like a club I left behind, what's to prevent me from breaking one over my knee and sending back for another? The rule won't make much difference; I use only 10 clubs, anyway. Boiled down, big-time golf is all in the putting."

Horton Smith: "The rule doesn't make any difference to the better class of players but the younger, or unsteady, class might like more clubs."

Cooper Cagers Play At Abernathy; Bearded Boys Win

Coach Fred Rich's Cooper High school basketball teams will play a doubleheader with Abernathy High teams Thursday night at the Abernathy gymnasium, starting at 7:30 o'clock, Rich said yesterday.

The games, between "A" and "B" teams, are expected to be two of the best in the South Plains league season.

Under the promotion of Fred Rich, one of the biggest basketball parties of the season was staged at the Wolfforth gymnasium Monday night when the bearded House of David cagers from Benton Harbor, Mich., tangled with four high school teams.

Four Against One

Quintets of Cooper, Ropesville, New Deal and Roosevelt took turn about playing the Davids, one of the cleverest semi-pro basketball outfits in the nation, each team playing one quarter.

The tall, long-whiskered boys prevailed, 40 to 24, against the four teams, one at a time. Then, in a five-minute overtime period, the regular teams of all four of the high schools rushed on the court against the five David players. The score was a stalemate, each side getting 2 points. Twenty-five players were on the court at the same time.

One of the largest crowds ever to see a basketball game on the South Plains, except at Lubbock, jammed the Wolfforth gymnasium, occupying every seat and every inch of standing room. Many were turned away; the teams had difficulty playing the game, so crowded was the floor space.

Coach School Site To Be Determined At Local Session

Local men, officials of Texas Tech's athletic department and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, will meet this afternoon to decide if Lubbock wants to serve host to the 1938 coaching school of the Texas High School Football Coaches association, and the annual North vs. South all-star football game.

Officials of the coaches association, including Coach Weldon Chapman of Lubbock High, met last Saturday in Dallas to decide site of the 1938 school and game. The event was held at Baylor university, Waco, last year, and Baylor has made a strong bid for the 1938 affairs.

Unless Texas Tech and local business men meet the "invitation" standards set by Baylor, the school will return to Waco, it was learned here yesterday. Coach Weldon Chapman reserved comment until after today's meeting.

It was believed, however, that Lubbock could get the school and the game by "stretching" a point or two and meeting Waco's bid.

Jap And Indian Clash Tonight In Main Event

TONIGHT'S LINEUP

Curtain raiser — Andy Tremaine, Tucson, vs. Cyclone Mackey, Clovis. One fall or 20 minutes.

Semi-final — Jack Mandell, Boston, vs. Sailor Moran, Arkansas. One fall or 30 minutes.

Main event—Tetsura Higami, vs. Bill Cazzell, Amarillo. Two out of three falls or 2-hour time limit.

Place and time—The Auditorium, 8 o'clock.

International peace may not be at stake tonight, but there's a certain Japanese grappler who is going to make it awful tough for the Indians when the curtain goes up for the main event of tonight's wrestling show at the Auditorium.

Indian Bill Cazzell, big and rough Indian from Amarillo, who is no doubt going to get somewhere in the professional wrestling game, tackles Tetsura Higami, the veteran Japanese expert who was knocking over the best welterweights in the game, before Cazzell was through playing high school football for Amarillo High.

Higami isn't the man he used to be, but he's still pretty tough and plenty dangerous, especially when the other fellow takes the offensive.

Cazzell will look like a giant beside Higami, who is short and squat. The Indian is tall, broad and rangy, virtually a light heavyweight who manages to stay in the middleweight division only by strict dieting and training. Cazzell no doubt is stronger, physically, and under ordinary conditions probably could manhandle a man the size of Higami with ease. But the Jap has other resources. He is an exponent of jiu pitsu; he is smart in the ways of grappling, and he delights in making bigger and taller men bite the dust.

Tonight's supporting card brings on a quartet of capable grapplers. Jack Mandell and Sailor Moran should put on quite a show in the semi-final, with the Sailor figured to win if he starts his heart punches. Mandell has shown a lot of stuff and stamina lately, and may give Moran a chase. It should be interesting, to say the least.

Andy Tremaine, who delights the customers every time he wrestles, ties into Cyclone Mackey in what should be one of the fastest opening events of the winter season.

Possum Kingdom Dam Contract To Be Awarded Feb. 24 For Brazos Control

Would Be First Of 13 Projects

(By The Associated Press)

TEMPLE, Jan. 4.—Announcement today that the contract for construction of the Possum Kingdom dam in Palo Pinto county would be let Feb. 24 brought nearer to realization the far-reaching plan to harness the dangerous Brazos river.

The Possum Kingdom dam would be the largest and first of 13 structures along the Brazos, which in years past has wrought destruction to life and property at flood stage in its sweep across Texas. Last year it spectacularly broke through levees at Waco, inundating much of the eastern part of the central Texas city.

Officials of the Brazos river conservation and reclamation district said today bids would be received here until Feb. 24, when they would be read and the contract for the $4,500,000 dam let.

Work will begin soon after the contract is let. Site of the dam is in the Possum Kingdom bend, 18 miles west of Mineral Wells. The complete plan for control of the river calls for a series of dams, connected by a telephone communication system to regulate flow of flood crests along the river.

Would Be Pioneering Project

The district itself, embracing 44,000 square miles, is the first area in the country in which the control of an entire watershed is being projected.

Detailed designs and plans for the Possum Kingdom unit have been drawn by the Ambursen Engineering corporation of New York, whose president, S. W. Stewart, and vice-president, A. Streiff, have been in Texas often during the past three years in preparing general engineering data on the entire project for the district. Streiff also designed the Buchanan dam.

The structure, according to General Manager John A. Morris, of the district, will rise 150 feet above the river bed, and approximately 20 feet above the expected lake level.

A lake 66 miles long will be created. Distance around the lake will be 290 miles. It will impound 750,000 acre feet of water (enough to cover 750,000 acres one foot deep), and will cover an area actually of 26,500 acres.

One prong of the reservoir to be created will back up Salt creek to a small dam above the city of Graham.

The most distant point which the water will back up from the dam is down on the left prong of Brier creek bend in Young county, 15 miles southwest of Graham.

Town Would Be Covered

Pickwick will be the only community to be covered by water. The lake will stand 27 feet deep at that point.

One cemetery in the reservoir area will have to be moved.

There are a few small oil wells which it is likely will be pumped in, with proration limitations removed, before the lake is created. The district and the contractors are not required to use relief labor on the project.

The job will be let under one large contract. Ambursen Engineering corporation will serve as designers and supervising engineers but has been disqualified by agreement from bidding on the construction job.

Installation of hydroelectric machinery is not included in the project as it has been set up. Later, however, it is contemplated that the district out of its own funds will install such machinery.

The state law which in 1935 created the master district of the Brazos watershed granted to the district the ad valorem taxes of the 10 counties in the river's overflow area for 20 years contingent upon federal funds being appropriated for at least one dam. This amounts to $309,000 annually, or a total of $618,000.

On this revenue (two years payments of which have been received) the district will be able to issue bonds to finance the purchase of lands in the reservoir area which cannot be bought with federal funds.

Surveys and maps have been completed for some time on the Possum Kingdom area, as well as on eight other areas in the project.

NEGRO GETS 10 YEARS

Help Wanted—

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. — A classified ad from President Roosevelt—if he used them to get administration aides—might read like this:

Wanted — Several men, or women, with knowledge of diplomacy, labor conditions, transportation or finance, willing to work for $8,000 to $17,500 a year.

A double handful of posts of this nature are open in the administration. Some, however, have been vacant for months, giving rise to a belief Mr. Roosevelt does not intend to fill them.

The most desirable spot now open, from the standpoint of prestige and salary, is that of ambassador to London, made vacant by the recent death of Robert W. Bingham.

Being an ambassador there gives you international prominence, living quarters in an embassy and $17,500 a year. It is an expensive job, however, calling for a lot of entertaining.

Other major diplomatic posts to be filled are ambassador to Germany, ambassador to Chile and minister to Austria.

William E. Dodd, University of Chicago professor, has resigned as ambassador to Germany. Hoffman Philip, ambassador to Chile, recently was retired at the statutory age of 65 and Grenville T. Emmet, minister to Austria, died.

Aside from the ambassadorships, the best paying posts now open are two $15,000-a-year jobs on the Federal Reserve board.

Other vacancies:

A $9,000 position as first assistant secretary of labor, vacated last fall by Edward J. McGrady.

Another assistant labor secretaryship, paying $8,000.

Assistant secretary of the treasury, a $9,000 post temporarily held open on the chance Miss Josephine Roche might return.

The Rosetta stone, discovered in Egypt in 1799, gave a key which resulted in the deciphering of Egyptian hieroglyphics.

Brrr! With Sleet And Snow Falling, Plans For Modern City Bathhouse Announced!

Final approval has been given for a new and modern bathhouse at City Swimming pool in Mackenzie State park and construction of the foundation has been started, according to announcement here Tuesday afternoon by K. D. Vernor, superintendent of the park, and K. N. Clapp, chairman of the city park board and a member of the state park board.

The structure, the officials said, will be a building which would cost a private builder in excess of $15,000. The actual investment from funds provided by the national park service will be approximately $4,500 to pay for materials and skilled labor.

Much salvaged material also will be used in the construction and unskilled labor will be done by CCC enrollees.

To Replace Old Structure

The building will replace an unsightly frame structure which has been used in the past because no other could be secured and which has been demolished. The new building, Vernor said, will be completed by June 1.

The structure will be built of tile with stucco finish on the outside and plaster finish on the inside. It will measure approximately 100 feet on the longer outside front and approximately 90 feet on the shorter. Included in the building will be men's and women's dressing rooms opening from opposite sides on a large central lobby which will extend the width of the building. Eight-foot accordion doors will be installed at each end of the lobby, an arrangement described by Vernor as expediting the handling of crowds. Also in the building will be a business office, concession space, a basket room, a kitchen and an illuminated display space for trophies and similar articles.

Individual booths will be provided in the women's dressing room but not in the men's. Only a partial roofing will cover the dressing rooms, a feature described as being the latest innovation for structures of the kind. The design of the roofing will be such that sunlight will reach all portions of both dressing rooms for an extended period each day. Patrons can be handled at the rate of approximately 350 an hour, which is the capacity of the pool, Vernor said. Dimensions of the pool itself are 60x150 feet, with depths ranging from two to 10 feet.

Play space surrounding the pool also will be enlarged, the park officials announced, and later plans call for the erection of a covered shelter for spectators at one end of the pool. Separate toilets will be provided for bathers and spectators.

The swimming pool is operated by the city, having yielded a profit of nearly $2,000 last summer.

Margin Of $61,000 Reflects Building Growth In Plainview

PLAINVIEW, Jan. 4. (Special)—Plainview building permits for 1937 were $89,876, Mack Gregg, building inspector, reported. They were $61,000 higher than in 1936.

Largest permit was to West Texas Cotton Oil mill for construction of a seed house. A. E. Boyd was issued a permit for a $10,000 residence and a filling station permit was for $5,800.

Fifty-five permits were issued, including repairs and new construction.

P. O. LEASE RENEWED

LEVELLAND. (Special) — The postoffice department has signed a lease for another year on the present location of the postoffice. It is in a building owned by J. J. Barham, on the west side of the court house square. Receipts the past year showed substantial growth.

CLEANUP UNDER WAY

WHITEFACE. (Special) — The Whiteface Boy Scout troop, under the direction of Scoutmaster Goodgrass, is engaged in a town clean-up campaign. It has secured a dump ground and later will take all junk off vacant lots.

Feels One Hundred Per Cent Better Since The Gly-Cas

Mr. George K. Roberts, Age 75, Gives Gly-Cas Total Credit For Restoring His Health

"Gly-Cas gave me results that I had previously thought impossible," said Mr. George K. Roberts, 1707 McKinley St., Brownsville, Texas. "For fifteen years I had been forced to endure the discomfort brought by a chronic case of constipation. My system became filled with poisons and before I realized it my stomach was terribly disordered and regardless of how carefully I watched and planned my diet I continued to suffer. My entire body was filled with aches and pains from my head to my feet. Rheumatic pains in my knees were at times most unbearable. I became terribly nervous and in this condition a good night's sleep was almost a total impossibility. I tried so many medicines and met with so many failures but that was before I gave Gly-Cas the opportunity to prove its great difference to me.

"Gly-Cas accomplished wonders in my stubborn case," continued Mr. Roberts. "My stomach and bowels have been toned into the best condition ever and now I can eat anything I wish with no fear of after effects, all those dreadful aches and pains are gone and rheumatism is wonderfully improved. I feel like a different man since Gly-Cas has given me such a complete new outlook on life and I feel I cannot begin to say enough for its merits after the wonderful results I have been given through its use."

Lilley Chairman Of Agricultural Group

Lubbock county agricultural board members met yesterday in the county agent's office and selected C. E. Lilly of Slaton chairman of their committee. R. E. Powell of Becton was named vice chairman.

Grover C. Gillett of Shallowater was named third member and R. P. White, alternate.

"This automatically places Lilly and Powell as president and vice president of the Lubbock County Agricultural Conservation association," said County Agent C. C. Jobson. "They will serve during 1938."

The board is composed of the six chairmen of the districts into which the county has been divided.

The Washington naval agreement of 1924 limited the size of aircraft carriers to 27,000 tons.

Lubbock Building In 1938

WITH a year of remarkable building activity behind us, Lubbock probably has never looked forward with greater uncertainty as to what construction totals for the succeeding 12 months may be.

In years of the past, competent and qualified observers have known with reasonable assurance that the approaching year either would see much, normal or little new building and invariably they have been correct. Of course there have been times when there was more building or less building than had been expected, but estimates never were far from wrong.

But this year finds the so-called experts in the position of not knowing whether there will be much, or little construction. From present indications, it is as likely to be one or the other.

There is more than a possibility that all Lubbock records will be broken. Contractors report that numerous substantial business structures are assured unless the very unexpected occurs. They believe also that 1938 likely will bring the much discussed lofty office building; that there will be extensive expansion of hotel facilities; that several industrial plants will be built or enlarged. Even the most casual observer knows that only the slightest encouragement is needed to launch Lubbock on the greatest home building year the Plains region ever has seen.

Even if there is no "encouragement," Lubbock probably will be the scene of steady building activity for the simple reason that present business and housing facilities are insufficient for the demand. Some building must be done or the city will go backward.

However, if there should be discouraging developments, if the prices of materials continue at their present peak, if the government continues its present attitude toward business, a building paralysis is virtually certain to be felt not only in Lubbock, but in the entire nation.

The Star's Good Judgment

SOME persons doubtless will criticise the failure of Motion Picture Star Joan Crawford to attend funeral services for her father, Thomas E. LeSueur, a plasterer, who died several days ago in Abilene.

Most people will agree, however, that in her decision she displayed good taste. That would have been true no matter how close the attachment between father and daughter and there is nothing to indicate there was any extraordinary affection between them.

Most of us can recall the scenes which have attended the obsequies for famous figures in motion pictures. The disgraceful rioting about the mortuary where the body of Rudolph Valentino lay a few years ago was a national scandal.

Had Miss Crawford elected to attend services for her father, her presence doubtless would have attracted huge crowds who would have been there for curiosity's sake and for no other reason. She even could have capitalized upon the event for publicity.

The fact that she did not is another evidence of the sound judgment without which she could not have attained place in the front rank among stars of the silver screen.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT

CRIME FILE ON BOLITHO BLANE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Investigating the murder of BOLITHO BLANE, British financier, aboard CARLTON ROCKSAVAGE'S yacht, Detective Officer KETTERING runs into a maze of conflicting clews.

As the investigation progresses, Kettering learns from REGINALD JOCELYN that Rocksavage possessed the best motive for the crime—financial gain. Moreover, he learned that Rocksavage was able to dress for dinner in four minutes, a feat conceivably enabling him to commit a murder and return to the ship's lounge without creating suspicion. Only NICHOLAS STODART, Blane's secretary, has a complete alibi.

Confronted with Jocelyn's revelation, Rocksavage counters that Jocelyn, too, had a good motive—money. Furthermore, that Japanese agent INOSUKE HAYASHI, stood to lose a million dollars had Blane lived and concluded a merger with Rocksavage, thereby killing the soap monopoly deal Hayashi sought. At the same time LADY WELTER becomes deeper involved when unable to account for her time when the crime was committed.

Hayashi, questioned again by Kettering, admits interest in the soap monopoly, but denies murdering Blane. Then the BISHOP OF BUDE is called in for reexamination. Kettering confronts him with his unsavory past and his old acquaintance with Blane; accuses him of murder. But the Bishop protests his innocence—without a shred of proof.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXI

Having re-examined all the parties, I proceeded to a new analysis of the situation and composed a fresh draft of possible motives.

(POSSIBLE MOTIVES No. 2.) 9-1-37.

MRS. JOCELYN.: Nil, as far as is known at the moment but she is in collusion with her husband, supporting his statement that he was in his bath at 7:45, when we know that he was not, and she may or may not have been in her own cabin at that hour.

COUNT POSODINI ALIAS "SLICK" DANIELS.: A motive, in that he admits that it was through Blane's agency that he was sent down for his first term in Sing Sing, and that Jocelyn brought him on board with the deliberate intention of giving him the opportunity of getting even with Blane. It is even possible that Jocelyn may have paid him to do the job, or that they did the job between them. His alibi depends on his being able to prove that Mrs. Jocelyn was in his cabin from 7:45 till 8:10, and this she denies.

MR. ROCKSAVAGE.: Strong motive, and it is now proved, owing to his capability of changing in under four minutes, that he had ample time to commit the crime between 8:10 and 8:30.

THE BISHOP OF BUDE.: Strong motive. In the Bishop's previous statement he said that he had only met Blane casually in an English country house once about seven years ago (1929), whereas he does not now deny that he met Blane in France in 1917.

Blane's letter shows that there was some strong tie up between the two. It now seems certain that this was in connection with the unsavory business that the Bishop is so anxious should not be made public. The probability is that Blane was holding this over him and, as there was ample opportunity for the Bishop to commit the crime, he now comes strongly under suspicion.

LADY WELTER.: Strong motive, owing to the fact that it looks as though she would have been completely bankrupt if the Rocksavage companies had gone under and no longer in a position to finance the group of papers which are her principal life interest.

MR. HAYASHI: Strong motive. It now appears that he stood to lose a considerable sum of money if Blane and Rocksavage had ever got together.

MR. JOCELYN: Strong motive. Lady Welter's bankruptcy would have thrown him back into the precarious existence which he was leading between 1923 and 1931, with the additional burden of a wife to support. It is now proved that he told a direct lie in his early statement where he said that he was in his bath at 7:45, since Mr. Rocksavage met him in the passage still unchanged at 8:10. Moreover, "Slick" Daniels' evidence goes to show that Jocelyn had deliberately invited him on board in hope that he might square accounts with Blane.

MISS ROCKSAVEGE: Nil, as far as is known at the moment.

The foregoing examinations and the writing of the report have occupied me all morning and at the moment I admit that I am completely baffled. Only the two stewards, the ship's carpenter and Stodart are conclusively ruled out, it having been quite impossible for any of them, or any other member of the crew to commit this crime.

Against Miss Rocksavage and the Hon. Mrs. Jocelyn we have no evidence of motive, although both of them had opportunity.

On the other hand there was motive and, in many cases, very strong motive against Count Posodini, Mr. Rocksavage, the Bishop of Bude, Lady Welter, Mr. Hayashi and the Hon. Reginald Jocelyn; and all of these had opportunity.

A further report will follow this evening.

DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S FIFTH REPORT.

After lunch today Mr. Rocksavage came to me and said that he would like to see me privately. We went to the small writing room together and he told me that our interview of the morning had greatly upset him. He again protested his complete innocence of Blane's death and said that, in spite of any unpleasantness which might arise for him out of the matter, he had decided to inform me of certain facts which would clear him altogether.

He then sent for Doctor Ackland, his personal doctor, who always travels with him, and in the presence of the doctor, Detective Officer Neame and myself, he made the following voluntary statement.

This statement has been duly vouched for as the truth and signed and witnessed by Dr. Ackland.

VOLUNTARY STATEMENT MADE BY MR. CARLTON ROCKSAVAGE. 9-1-37.

As a man who is responsible for many millions of other people's money, I have been subject to bouts of acute worry at times, when my affairs have not been going well. In consequence, a few years ago, I took to the habit of administering drugs to myself by injection; their purpose being not to allay nerves but to key me up for further efforts at times when I was suffering from severe strain.

Dr. Ackland has always prepared these injections for me and, on the night in question, I brought him down to my cabin with me for this purpose, as I anticipated having to enter into a strenuous conference with Blane that night after dinner. It was customary for me to rest for a quarter of an hour after the injection, in order that the drug might take effect. I did so on this occasion Dr. Ackland remained with me until I had changed and went up to the lounge for dinner.

I could have mentioned the doctor's presence before as an alibi and given some false cause for his presence in my cabin but, in view of this police investigation, where my habit of injecting myself with drugs might come to light later, I felt that suspicion might be cast upon Dr. Ackland's veracity unless I told the whole truth now.

Carlton Rocksavage.

The foregoing statement was written in my presence and I bear witness to its entire truth.

Ph. S. D., F. C. S. B.

DETECTIVE OFFICER NEAME'S SHORTHAND NOTES OF DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S EXAMINATION OF DR. FRANK ACKLAND, Ph. S. D., F. C. S. B.

K.: Doctor, you have just vouched for this statement of Mr. Rocksavage, that you went below with him at 8:10. You are quite certain that is correct?

A.: Yes.

K.: But you weren't in the lounge with him?

A.: No. I was sitting just outside, enjoying the evening air on deck. As Mr. Rocksavage passed the deck entrance of the lounge he saw me and beckoned. I knew at once what he wanted, so I got up without a word and followed him down.

K.: You had to come into the lounge to follow him down the companion-way though.

A.: Yes. A few steps, that's all, as the companion-way is within a couple of yards of the deck entrance.

K.: No one in the lounge seems to have noticed you. Don't you think that strange?

A.: No. The Bishop, Lady Welter and Mr. Stodart were sitting together at a table with their backs to the companion-way and the deck entrance, so they would not have been likely to notice me as I stepped through. Cane, the lounge steward, saw me though. Ask him if you doubt my word, and Mr. Jocelyn too. Mr. Rocksavage and I passed him in the passage-way below.

K.: Thanks, doctor. If the lounge steward saw you I guess that will do.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

MR. ROOSEVELT has finally determined that industry has gone "on strike" in an attempt to discredit him with the people and politicos—and that he must fight back desperately. More than ever before, he will try to prove himself the "master" or supposedly hostile interests.

The constant layoff of workers was only the last straw. In his brief confabs with utility men, bankers and business leaders during his conciliatory mood he thought he detected signs that they were "putting him on the spot." He has told advisers that his visitors misinterpreted his statements to them, represented him as backing down and sought to circulate that impression among Democratic conservatives on Capitol Hill. The strictures of men like Lewis Douglas—and the honors paid the latter by influential New York groups—infuriated him.

It portends restoration to favor of the radicals—Oliphant (on taxes), Ickes (on power), Hopkins (on spending and relief). It means an endless quarrel with Congress, especially the Senate, unless the politicos can be whipped into line by the fury of the denunciations of "the, strike." The White House spokesmen—Ickes and Jackson—deliberately chose a time for their jeremiads when members were away on holiday, and pesumably more susceptible to the home folks' reaction.

TROUBLE: Cloakroom recalcitrancy on the Senate side has become more vocal than ever before. It is in the upper chamber that anti-Rooseveltians expect to kill the major portions of his legisiative program even at the risk of a pre-election party split.

The heaviest barrage will be directed against (1) the farm bill now in committee; (2) any tax revision which seeks to modify rather than repeal the undistributed surplus levy; (3) proposed cuts in such political appropriations as roads, relief, C.C.C. camps. The House, despite the wage-hour revolt, will trot along rather amiably, and its leaders will work more faithfully and energetically for the President. In the Senate the restless Southern bloc has more power, and the head men are less enthusiastic for the New Deal—as well as more adept at sabotaging it.

Vice-President Garner fathers the prediction that it will be a long and trying session—probably dragging out until June or July. When such an astute student of senatorial minds and politics ventures such a prophesy, it means trouble for the No. 1 man.

HYDRO: President Roosevelt and Senator Norris have mapped a strategic campaign which may enable them to salvage portions of their original seven-T.V.A. program. It doesn't please either man, but both realize that the present legislative mood demands a compromise.

Ben Cohen is writing a new measure much milder than either the Norris bill in the Senate or the Mansfield proposal in the House. It will be substituted for both of them at the proper time. The President will devote himself to procuring passage in the lower chamber, while the Senator will handle the proposition down the corridor. His colleagues usually accede to his wishes on this issue. Senators Bone and Schwellenbach will serve as the older man's lieutenants.

Roughly, the new scheme contemplates a duplication of T.V.A. in several major valleys—probably the Mississippi and the Missouri. Meanwhile, the two power plotters will concentrate on purchase or construction of municipal plants and transmission lines, provided the Supreme court doesn't intervene. An adverse decision there would cripple their hydroelectric dreams.

HELP: Representative Albert Thomas of Texas, has adorned the Congressional Record with a New Year's greeting to his constituents that won't add to his popularity with fellow-Texans on Capitol Hill.

The man from Heavenly Houston informs the world that he copped one-third of all the P.W.A. money distributed in Texas for his district. Though a first-termer, he claims to have wangled direct relief totaling $2,800,000 for good old Harris County. When the folks back home read the list, they'll probably wonder how a freshman member could obtain more funds than the Vice-President and other veterans. Mr. Thomas, naively, gives the answer:

"Our friend and neighbor, the honorable Jesse Jones, is at all times eager to do something for our district. He is never too busy to help, and he knows how to get the job done." Note: The R.F.C. chairman also hails from Houston.

BARED: Representative Maury Maverick yearns to become the first columnish in the history of the Congressional Record. And he insists he's serious.

He has asked House editors if they will permit him to insert his thoughts every day during a session. He can, of course, make a speech a day, or ask daily leave to extend his remarks, but that smacks too much of ordinary procedure. He wants the same spot in each edition and a more distinctive head than day-by-day oratory enjoys.

The political journalists are somewhat old-fashioned, however. Somebody once sneaked a cut of a cow into the Record, and sometimes the copy is spicy, but they draw the line at more modern innovations.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

KEEN New York observers haven't always been respectful of Oliver M. W. Sprague as an economist. He has been referred to on occasion as "the vague Mr. Sprague." But when he stated in a speech last week that recovery depends on price and wage reductions to expand demand, these sources conceded that he had said a mouthful.

There are strong indications that we have come to an economic crossroads and that the road from here on slopes downhill. Our high standard of living has been built on a practical monopoly of efficient production methods. Now we have equipped the rest of the world with our knowledge and our machinery. So we have lost our advantage and must henceforth compete directly with nations whose standards are crucially lower than ours.

The remorseless operation of economic law tends to drag us towards their level. There's no sense in playing ostrich about it.

CANUTE: Far-sighted analysts figure that our future depends in large measure on statesmanship courageous enough to face this situation squarely and bring about the necessary readjustments. One of the biggest problems will be that of getting everyone concerned to accept the inevitable.

Patchwork repairs won't do. Our ship of economic thinking has to go to drydock for a major overhaul. There's a storm ahead and the water is growing shallower. We must fit ourselves to navigate the new channel or risk piling up on the rocks.

The Roosevelt administration evidently hopes to stem the ebb tide with a burst of rearmament spending. That looks like Canute stuff. It must be borne in mind that we have spent $20,000,000,000 in the past five years to build up recovery—and where are we now? We haven't got 20 billion more to spend—not without wrecking the national credit. You can spend half your capital in an emergency without serious harm if you keep the other half. But you can't spend it all and avoid catastrophe.

FADE-OUT: Another grand and glorious humanitarian scheme has folded up very much sotto voce and with anxious avoidance of headlines.

Only five months ago the American Board of Guardians for Basque refugee children was trying to obtain all the publicity it could get. Thousands of Spanish civil war orphans were to be transplanted to our shores. Generous Americans responded to the tune of $2,051.06 in cash.

Not a single Basque refugee child was brought over. But more than one-third of the money collected was spent for publicity, etc., according to State Department files.

* * *

EXAMPLE: Anti-New Dealers crack that if the administration is really convinced that monopolistic price-fixing is the root of our present troubles, it had better turn the Department of Justice loose on the Bituminous Coal commission.

Side Glances---By George Clark

"Come in, but don't step on Colonel Glick—we're playing a game."

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says her cousin is so cross-eyed that when he puts a penny in a gum machine, peanuts come out.

* * *

Somebody sent this in, but it's terrible:

Why is a corset like a trash wagon?

Because it gathers up the waist!

* * *

THE PLAINSMAN got a letter yesterday. He doesn't know who wrote it, since it bore "A Daily Reader" for a signature. It was postmarked Brownfield.

But it was a good letter. A thoughtful letter.

Here it is:

"Dear Plainsman: While it is a little late to be talking about New Year's resolutions, it is still early enough in 1938 to buckle up our belts and try to do better than we did in 1937. I am enclosing a poem with which you are no doubt familiar and which I think would be fine to publish at this time of the year. I know it has been of great help to me ever since I was a young woman. Every time I am dejected, and every time I feel I am slipping, I read it over. I believe it would be helpful to others and that is why I suggest you put it in your column. Keep writing every day and good luck in 1938."

The poem enclosed was "If," by Rudyard Kipling.

Thankful to the lady for her suggestion. The Plainsman will follow her idea.

It so happens that he, too, is an ardent Kipling fan and particularly admires "If." Further, in these unsettled, troubled times, he feels it is a fine way to start out the brand new year which has been dumped into our laps.

So here goes:

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you;
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting too;
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or, being lied about, don't deal in lies,
Or, being hated, don't give way to hating,
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise;

If you can dream—and not make dreams your master,
If you can think—and not make thoughts your aim;
If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster
And treat those two impostors just the same;
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken,
And stoop to build 'em with worn-out tools;

If you can make one heap of all your winnings
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,
And lose, and start again at your beginnings
And never breathe a word about your loss;
If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone,
And so hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the Will which says to them: "Hold On";

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with Kings—nor lose the common touch;
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a Man, my son!

* * *

DOUR Mr. Kipling really had something when he hit upon the idea of writing "If", and while many persons more erudite may not appreciate it as literature, The Plainsman does not know of many verses which can measure up to it.

Especially in a campaign year those last four lines of the first verse hit the nail right on the head!

We hope you got something out of it. It's there, if you'll only think it over.

* * *

J. Edgar Hoover's Federal Bureau of Investigation boys have been publicized so much as super-sleuths that the public is beginning to look to them for all kinds of help not in the statute book.

For instance, take this story, from a Washington correspondent:

"G-Men have been asked to take a pot-shot at Cupid. The other day they received by mail an empty highball glass, wrapped carefully in cotton.

"This note accompanied it:

"'Dear Sirs: This glass bears the fingerprints of the man who wants to marry my daughter. I suspect him. What do you know?'"

Let's hope this kind of thing doesn't happen too frequently. If it does, the business of getting a wife is going to be harder than ever!

DR. GEORGE COX, head of the state department of public health, is following the lead of Dr. Thomas Parran, jr., U. S. surgeon-general, in fighting the spread of venereal disease.

Pointing out that thousands of Texans have one or more such diseases and that thousands of others are joining their ranks every year, Doctor Cox has stripped from the subject every segment of false modesty.

His action is to be commended, for from it may evolve a statewide campaign which will bring cures to many victims and save from similar infection many, many others.

Those who suspect they may have such infections should immediately go to the physician of their choice for a complete examination and, if need be, full treatment.

For the benefit of the penniless, there should be in every community of any size a public clinic, where careful, scientific examination and treatment can be secured.

Doctor Cox calls one social disease—syphilis, to be exact—the greatest enemy to health in the entire state. If he is right—as he doubtless is—it is time we were doing something about it.

That Man on Avenue Q says if you think a banker's eye is cold, you ought to see two strange women giving each other the once-over at a bridge party!

MR. ROOSEVELT said in his message to Congress that no government can conscript co-operation.

He is right—and neither can any government get whole-hearted co-operation via a campaign of vituperation against those who do not see eye-to-eye with it.

TARZAN'S QUEST. No. 155 — By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Now the spinning plane screamed down and crashed thunderously in the courtyard of the temple. As it burst into flames, the Kavuru fled in panic to the shrouding gloom of temple corridors. Despite his fright, the warrior T'Geni maintained his hold on Jane.

Tarzan touched the ground first and he had thrown off the parachute harness by the time Brown was down. A moment later the two men started for the temple at a run. There was no one to block their way. Even the guards at the outer gate fled in terror.

As they entered the courtyard, a few frightened leopards raced past them. They had been terrified by the flames that devoured the wrecked airplane, a hundred feet away. Now the Jungle Lord, followed by Brown, ran for the main entrance of the building.

Even here there was no one to dispute their right to enter the sacred precincts. They plunged on, through the dim corridors. Here, in the maze of dark passages, a horde of Kavuru warriors might easily be lying in wait to pounce upon them and kill them!

Ask The Master Psychologist
DR. LA ROSE, Ps. D.

How to obtain Love, Happiness, Success, being loved and admired for yourself alone, capturing the hearts and friendship of all about you, can bring you more happiness than all the jewels and fine clothes you could wear . . . than all the wealth you could spend in a lifetime. Without friendship and love, life would not be worth living, for admiration and affection are the breath and heart beat of all human happiness. Within you is a power that controls your destiny. It is in every woman and man, but few discover it. Those who do are blessed with the key to Life's Happiness. With all my heart I urge you to bring forth this innate charm that is yours. Develop it, and you will attract to yourself those things that make life worth while. You are helpless in the hands of women who have learned how to use their hidden powers of attraction. You have these powers. You can discover and develop them and swiftly make yourself irresistible to men . . . even in competition with women far more attractive-looking. You can win and hold the love of the one you want. So if in doubt, ask the man who knows.

Start 'Em Young Is Davis Cup Theme Of Re-Building

NEW YORK, Jan. 4. (AP)—Don Budge is in Australia and not yet a professional, Bobby Riggs is on the Southern circuit and again winning tournaments, so for the present the international supremacy of American tennis appears secure.

But what of the future? That too, is being provided for by the officials of the U. S. Lawn Tennis association.

The "providing" has taken the form of a nationwide development scheme that takes in supervision and tournaments for boys (fifteen and under), girls, schoolboys, collegians, juniors and, above all, junior Davis Cuppers.

Junior Squads Established

In the year just past junior Davis Cup squads, with no age limit but generally taking in youngsters between 15 and 20, were established at 28 major tennis points through the country.

Each of these squads had the benefits of supervision by its own sectional committee and its own qualified coach.

As yet they have produced, of themselves, no outstanding prospects. Their make-up did include such noted young players as Don McNeill at Kansas City, Billy McGehee at New Orleans, Frank Kovacs at San Francisco, Bob Kamrath at Austin, Tex., and the Murphy twins, Chester and William, as well as Norma Bickel and Norbert Burgess at Chicago. But all of these lads had established themselves before joining their Cup squads.

Must Be Aggressive

"What the program already has done, and will continue to do," says Walter L. Pate, captain of the triumphant 1937 forces, "is to bring about a general improvement in the caliber of tennis played by these youngsters. It will give them not only a thorough grounding in correct stroke production and general sportsman-like deportment, but will instill in them our principal idea—that, to be a top-flight performer, a boy must play aggressive tennis."

"That policy, together with the junior development program, was what brought on the self-termed "pipe dream" of one prominent tennis official who looked forward to the day when "each tournament will have two tildens, a couple of Budges and several Vinnie Richards, Bill Johnstons and Norris Williams—and nobody will be able to tell who'll come out on top."

Ladies Day For Country Club Women Moved To Next Week

Contrary to previous announcement, Ladies Day will not be observed at Lubbock Country club today.

Officials of Lubbock Country club's Women's golf association said yesterday that Ladies Day would go on as regularly scheduled, next Wednesday, the second Wednesday of the month, but that tentative plans to conduct the usual bimonthly event today had been discarded.

In event of unfavorable golfing weather next Wednesday, the ladies probably will adjourn to the home of a member or to the clubroom, but no program is arranged for today.

GIANTS TRANSFER FARM

NEW YORK, Jan. 4. (AP) — The Giants announced today they were transferring their Greenwood, Miss., team of the Cotton States league to Fort Smith, Ark., in the Western division, bringing the latter circuit to eight teams. Both are Class C leagues.

ARMAMENTS AFFECT MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 4. (AP)—Spurred by growing expectations of heavy armaments spending, buying forces pushed up selected stocks 1 to 4 points generally in today's market. There were isolated advances of 9 or so.

Steels and aircrafts, which would be among the principal beneficiaries if congress enacts a "big navy" program, were in the forefront.

Exhibiting strength were motors, coppers, electrical equipments, rubbers, oils, tobaccos and a wide assortment of specialties.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was up 1.3 points net at 44.2, the best day's performance since Nov. 7.

Most final prices were near the tops of the day. The market also was exceptionally "thin."

Outstanding on the upswing were U. S. Steel at 57⅞, Bethlehem 61⅝, Crucible 37¾, Douglas Aircraft 41⅝, Boeing 34⅜, Wright Aeronautical 89½, Curtiss-Wright "A" 17⅞, Chrysler 50⅞, General Motors 32¼, Anaconda 31⅝, Westinghouse 104, U. S. Rubber 24⅜, Texas Corp. 40½, American Tobacco "B" 67, Philip Morris 86¾, Loew's 47¼, Sears Roebuck 57, J. I. Case 85 and International Paper and Power preferred 35½.

Rail stocks, including Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Great Northern and Erie edged ahead despite weakness of carrier bonds, many of which dipped to new lows since 1933. There was another slump in Erie liens following yesterday's default in interest payments on 5 of this company's outstanding loans. Improvement was shown in some other sections of the bond department.

A modest revival in share purchasing from London and the continent was reported. Both sterling and the French franc turned downward in terms of the dollar.

Steels were heartened by estimates of expanding output and signs that the worst had been seen for mill operations in this field.

A brighter view was taken of the motor group when Hudson Motors announced 6,000 employes would be returned to work in the next several weeks, partly for the purpose of turning out a new low-priced car. Hudson stock was up 1½ at 8½.

Cotton . .

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Jan 4. (AP) — Cotton prices advanced approximately $1 a bale here today but a flurry of profit-taking in late trading reduced the gains and the market closed steady, net 12 to 13 points higher.

Strengths in stocks and wheat was the primary influence behind the advance which at the top showed net gains of 19 to 20 points on active positions.

In the final few minutes of trading early buyers took profits and from 6 to 7 points of the maximum gain was erased. Jan. closed at 8.42-bid, March at 8.50, May at 8.59, July at 8.64, Oct. at 8.69 and Dec. at 8.71-bid.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 4. (AP)—New highs for the movement were touched in some cotton deliveries today on a renewal of buying aided by firmness of other markets. March sold up from 8.28@8.45, but encountered realizing and closed at 8.36. Final prices were 8 to 13 points net higher.

The market opened 2 points higher to 1 lower but soon responded to trade demand, principally from local and New Orleans sources. Some resistance appeared as May approached 8½ cents but it finally advanced to 8.52 while the list gained 14 to 20 points net. Final prices were off 6 to 9 points from the best.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 4. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 8.41 cents a pound; average for the past thirty market days 8.18 cents a pound.

Peons Take Over Agua Caliente Hotel And Casino In Mexico

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., Jan. 4. (AP)—The luxurious Agua Caliente hotel and Casino, one-time playground for film folk, was held today by a grimly-determined army of former employes of the place who demanded "the right to work."

The resort has had a hectic existence since Mexico's anti-gambling laws first turned it into a ghost playground, but its seizure by the workers was the most bizarre twist of all.

Accompanied by their families, 400 peons took over the hotel yesterday, locking the gates behind them, barring police and officials of the Agua Caliente company.

NYA Projects

industrial survey to determine occupational opportunities in that industry; increase in number of rural persons in Lubbock county receiving NYA aid; and erection of Boy Scout shelters where open air meetings can be held in seasonable weather.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Tech, with whom Kellam and Bullock conferred, was enthusiastic in approval of the two projects in which the college is the key. Most uncertain of the projects was described as that for the training course.

Housing A Problem

Plans, as outlined, call for 50 youths from rural areas of the South Plains to take a four-months course in vocational agriculture. NYA jobs would enable them to earn room, board and other expenses. Housing is necessary to secure the project.

One solution appeared likely, that of housing boys at the fairgrounds while they built a barracks-type building on the college campus if materials can be secured.

Cotton survey will be made by members of Tech faculty under supervision of Dean A. H. Leidigh of the division of agriculture. Scout shelters were discussed with Earl M. McClure, executive for South Plains council area, and matter of increasing number of NYA enrollees in rural districts was discussed with County School Supt. Joseph R. Griggs.

The state director invited Griggs to make request for any needed additions to the roll

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 4. (AP) — Sensational worldwide soaring of wheat prices, 3¾ cents a bushel in Chicago, 4¼ at Liverpool and 5 cents at Winnipeg followed waves of buying today.

Cables reported that President Roosevelt's message to congress had given more confidence to markets abroad. This, together with big European purchases of North American wheat, about 1,500,000 bushels, mostly wheat from the United States, formed the chief apparent basis for the buoyancy of values.

Export takings of United States corn today were estimated as high as 2,000,000 bushels, and in addition there were overseas sales of 1,200 barrels of American flour, as well as quantities of rye and barley.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures showed 2¾ to 3¼ cents jump compared with yesterday's finish, May 93⅛@93⅜, July 87½@87⅝, corn up ⅞ to 1⅛ cents, May 62¼@62, July 61¾, oats ¼ to ⅜ advanced, rye showing 1⅞ to 2¼ bulge, and provisions, dearer 2 to 12 cents.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Jan. 4. (AP)—Very good demand was reported for the light offerings on the cash grain market today. Estimated receipts: wheat 5 cars, barley 1, and sorghums 3.

Freight paid to Texas Gulf ports, domestic rate, or Texas common points:

Wheat No. 1 soft red winter 1.10½@1.11½; No. 1 hard 1.12½@1.14.

National Deficit

observers generally believed his budget would call for a sharp reduction in highway expenditures, currently more than $200,000,000 a year.

A strong bloc in the house and senate is opposed to such limitation of expenditures for roads.

Officials close to the president said aside from the budget message, another urging revision of the anti-trust laws, and possibly one asking supplemental naval appropriation, he was contemplating no messages to congress.

An official said today the anti-monopoly message would aim at correction of the practices of a small group of corporations, but that these were around the top of the thousands in the United States. Less than 100 corporations, he said, produce 65 per cent of industrial output.

Levelland Bows To Ralls By 28-15 Count On Lobo Court

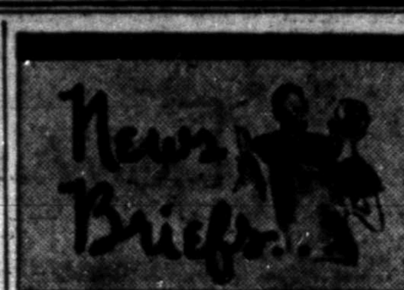

LEVELLAND, Jan. 4. (Special)—In the first conference go for both quintets, Ralls high school took Levelland High here tonight, 28 to 15.

After a slow start for both teams, with the score of 6 and 4 for Ralls at the half, the visitors snapped into a prolonged last-half rally which gave them a 13-point margin of victory.

Individual honors went to Beans Reed, Ralls center, with 11 points. Tops for Levelland was Caddell, forward, with a half-dozen tallies.

In a preliminary, Levelland High's B squad beat Sundown 16 to 8.

A "good crowd" attended.

Mesdames Farris Fish, Charlotte Hunsucker asd Tom Newman, all of Matador, were visiting and shopping in Lubbock yesterday. They were accompanied by Lt.-Col. Carl L. Svensen of Lubbock, a member of the state board of registration for professional engineers, attended a birthday party for Dean Thomas Taylor Sunday at Dallas. Taylor received license certificate No. 1, issued by the board and designed by Svensen, who returned to Lubbock Monday night. Thomas Taylor, dean emeritus of the college of engineering at the University of Texas, celebrated his 80th birthday and spoke to engineers from four states. Taylor has taught 50 years and intends to continue teaching at the university, he said.

Members of the Lubbock High school football team viewed moving pictures of the Lubbock-Amarillo game Tuesday at the Palace theater. Amarillo won the district championship, defeating the Lubbock Westerners, 14-6.

Next meeting of the Lubbock county bar association has been scheduled for 10 o'clock Monday morning in the district court room, according to announcement Tuesday by A. V. Weaver, jr. A report will be made by the committee on illegal practice of law.

Considerable improvement was reported late Tuesday in the condition of Neil Johnston, formerly associated with the circulation department of Avalanche-Journal publications, who is ill of a heart ailment at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. S. C. Spikes of 1720 Avenue J. His condition earlier had been reported as critical.

Steady improvement in the condition of G. C. Victory, traveling agent for the Fort Worth and Denver railroad here, was reported late Tuesday by authorities at West Texas hospital, where he recently underwent appendectomy after an acute attack of appendicitis Sunday.

Mrs. Maude Bradley and son, Ned, 1810 Avenue W, are visiting relatives and friends in Temple and will go from there to Houston for a brief stay.

A series of revival services at the Church of Christ, 1509 Avenue L, led by Leland H. Knight of Booneville, Ark., will begin this morning and continue through January 16. Knight has held other meetings in Lubbock. Services will begin at 10:30 o'clock each morning and 7:15 o'clock each night. The song services will be led by Arthur B. Watkins.

'War Of Chatter' Is To Be Intensified

ROME, Jan. 4. (AP)—Italians today saw in Britain's Arabic language news broadcasts to the Near East a challenge to duel in the ether.

Britain began the broadcasts last night with the avowed purpose of combatting what the British government considers Italian propaganda—by Italian news broadcasts—among Arab peoples.

Some Fascists here predicted Italy would answer with intensified broadcasts of her own, and with powerful stations intended to reach British India, Australia and New Zealand.

The often officially inspired editor, Virginio Gayda, termed the British newscasts "a war of chatter."

news of his daughter's marriage was "Trudie is just a baby; she's too young to get married." Later, he expressed his joy the disappearance was not caused "by any of the reasons we were afraid of."

"She should have telephoned," he added. "It would have saved all this trouble. This is the only time in her life she failed to call me."

Bennett said he did not know whether Hughes had a job, but declared that, should he be unemployed, he need not expect his father-in-law to get him a job at the Ford plant. "He should have thought about that before they got married," he said. "Their future is up to them."

Marquart Bond Not Made, Though Cut

Marie Marquart, about 30, charged with murder by poisoning in connection with the death of T. J. Elliott, 75, early in December, late Tuesday had not posted bond despite its reduction by Walter Davies, justice of peace, from $5,000 to $1,500. Reduction was on recommendation of Burton S. Burks, district attorney.

The Marquart woman was committed to the Lubbock county jail Dec. 14. Tests by the Texas Department of Public Safety showed that sufficient amount of strychnine was found in the viscera of Elliott to cause his death.

Jas. P. Posey, chief deputy sheriff, left Tuesday to transfer a 15-year-old Monahans boy to the state reform institution at Gatesville after the youth entered a plea of guilty of burglarizing five Lubbock residences.

Bill Mabray, police identifications officer, said several rings and watches assertedly stolen from residences here by the boy had not been identified. He said the boy admitted taking the jewelry, but was unable to tell from what houses. Mabray asked that persons believing their residences were entered and with jewelry missing to go to police headquarters to determine if that taken from the youth belonged to them.

Two Memphis Men Die In Car-Train Crash

AMARILLO, Jan. 4. (AP)—Thomas Hampton, 28, star northwest Texas golfer, and R. L. Robertson, about 48, both of Memphis, were killed this afternoon when a southbound Fort Worth and Denver passenger train struck their automobile at a crossing in the northwest section of Memphis.

Hampton was killed instantly, and Robertson died in an ambulance a few minutes after the crash.

Hampton, a member of a prominent Memphis family, was a former champion of the Green Belt Golf association, and also won several city titles at Memphis.

Business Remedy

flationary thing that could be done." It was unsound, he said, to contend repeal would be a good thing because it would permit corporations to reduce debt and lay away reserves against times of stress.

No reduction of private debt is desirable, he said, adding "we have never experienced an expansion of business activity without an expansion of debt."

Since early in the fall, he testified, industrial production has fallen "at the sharpest rate of decline on record." The principal causes he enumerated thus:

A rapid advance in prices.

An accompanying increase in inventories.

A downturn in construction expenditures, reducing the government's "contribution to general buying power."

The inability of the railroads to spend for maintenance of equipment, a result of the high price level.

Recovery from the old depression, he said, had at first been "orderly" and "stable" but finally got "out of balance" due to a "distortion of prices."

"Prices went up," he said, in explanation, "while the buying power of a great proportion of the population did not."

Earlier, the committee heard testimony from three ranking government officials that employment had dropped precipitately since September and that, from all indications, a further drop was to be expected this month.

To this, Isador Lubin, commissioner of labor statistics in the labor department, added an assertion that some firms, which in the early days of the depression that began in 1929 followed a policy of spreading work by shortening the work week of each employe, were not now doing so.

In response to a committee question, he said he did not know "whether or not this change was deliberate." Perhaps some companies felt they "overdid it" in the previous instance, he said, or "there might be a thousand and one reasons for it."

Another witness was Corrington Gill, assistant WPA administrator, who told of an increasing roll of work relief recipients, estimated to average 1,800,000 this month and 1,900,000 next. Still another was Frank Persons of the United States Employment service, who said the number of applicants for jobs was growing.

Snow Blankets South Plains

mometer was standing at the freezing mark and had been since 6 that night. The maximum of 39 degrees for Tuesday was reported at 1 o'clock in the morning.

Great Flakes Fall Here

Flakes at Lubbock, at times in the afternoon, were large as bolls of cotton. Many residents described them as "The biggest I've ever seen!" Men, women, and children on the streets and in downtown buildings paused in their activity to watch the fall.

Almost no wind was reported on the South Plains. The airport at 6:30 reported a two-mile northwest current. The barometer was unsteady and falling.

The Associated Press forecast for West Texas: "Partly cloudy and warmer in north, cloudy with light rain in south portion Wednesday; Thursday generally fair."

C. C. Jobson, Lubbock county agricultural agent, pointed out the value of the moisture, especially to wheat. Although wheat crops had not begun to suffer to any extent, the moisture was needed, he said.

"Better Than Rainfall"

"The type of moisture received Tuesday afternoon and night was better than the same amount in rainfall," Jobson said. "None of it will run off the ground. It will soak into the ground so that maximum value may be obtained."

Even though the moisture amounted to less than half an inch here, he said, "every little bit" helps toward a good season for this year's crops of cotton, wheat, and feeds.

Practically all the wheat is in the ground, it was pointed out. There is very little spring wheat planting in this area. He estimated a "normal" acreage of wheat in the county.

Most Cotton Gathered

Relative to cotton, he said, "Approximately 94 or 95 per cent of the 1937 crop has been gathered and I don't believe this type of moisture will damage the remaining five or six per cent. It will only delay gathering it."

Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state agricultural experiment sub-station east of Lubbock, said the precipitation would be invaluable for moisture in the top soil. Beneath the top soil there was good seasoning, but the top crust had begun to need water, he said. He also pointed to the added value of the snow and sleet in comparison with a like amount of moisture in rain.

Although wheat and grain crops had not begun to suffer from lack of moisture, the fall was needed, Jones said.

No Damage Seen

"The bulk of the cotton crop has been harvested and it is doubtful if the snow would damage the crop other than to delay gathering," he said.

Poor visibility and street slush made for traffic dangers. The snow, more than an inch deep in most places, was hazardous to both motorists and pedestrians. The port's temperature reading was 31 degrees.

However, at midnight no major accidents had been reported in this immediate territory.

Only one minor accident had been reported at Lubbock. Miss Edith Tarter of route 3, Lubbock, a clerk for Southwestern Associated Telephone company, suffered a fractured right arm when she slipped about 6:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

She was taken to West Texas hospital for treatment of the injury and was released after emergency treatment.

Glass Observes His Eightieth Birthday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. (AP)—Senator Carter Glass observed his 80th birthday anniversary today surrounded by his family and amid a shower of congratulatory messages and floral tributes.

The vigorous little Virginian, affectionately called the "unreconstructed rebel" by President Roosevelt, had only one complaint:

"I'd rather be 40 than 80."

He had expressed the wish the occasion be a quiet one.

Confucius' Birthplace Taken By Japanese Armed Forces

SHANGHAI, Jan. 5. (Wednesday) Japanese officials here raised what a foreign authority called a "grave issue" today by threatening to take action in Shanghai's International settlement unless "anti-Japanese outrages" are stopped.

Japanese infantry columns continued their advance southward through Shantung province, causing the Chinese to withdraw toward Suchow, vital railway junction in north Kiangsu province.

The birthplace of China's great sage, Confucius, was captured when Japanese forces marched into Chufu. They had promised previously not to harm the tomb of Confucius or the great Confucian temple.

New Scoutmaster, Committee Installed At Troop Meeting

The committee for Boy Scout troop 8 of Lubbock met with the organization's new scoutmaster, J. G. McKinnon in dinner session at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday night in the Hilton hotel.

Officers of the committee were selected: George Brewer, chairman; K. M. Renner, promotion officer; J. A. Raley, court of honor chairman; Dr. Fred W. Standefer, health and safety officer; and another committeeman to be selected to be in charge of program planning. He will be selected by Brewer and A. C. Jackson, commander of the Allen Bros. Post of the American Legion, sponsors of the troop.

Jim White, master of the troop seven years, will continue to work with the group as assistant scoutmaster.

Improvements Of Lamb Discussed

LITTLEFIELD, Jan. 4. (Special) Trade extension, civic improvements and proposal to make highway 51 a through federal road were stressed as major projects for the year in first 1938 meeting of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce today.

Sound publicity, city park improvement, work on a federal building, yard and business district improvement, home building, proposal of a good hotel, rural electrification, cooperation with certified seed men, the county fair, and compiling of a county directory were discussed.

Road Topic Discussed

S. A. Davis of Springlake spoke on mutual benefit to Littlefield and his community of highway 51. Homer Hall, president, conducted the meeting and Glenn Burgess, manager, gave a brief review of work done in 1937 and discussed proposed projects for 1938.

Burgess stressed the work of the chamber of commerce and outlined its purpose in civic development. He told of the 1937 work which included the county fair, the Christmas celebration, contacting farmers, working with the Panhandle Water Conservation association, stopping outside advertising "rackets," working on highways, and organization of Highway 51 association.

O. F. Dent of Springlake emphasized importance to Lamb county trade of a good north-south highway and business loss by lack of one. Don Bryant, Olton commissioner, expressed belief all Lamb county was enthusiastic over prospects of highway 51, and pledged support of his community.

Mrs. Grace Lloyd, Lamb county sheriff, of Olton and J. J. Willhite of Springlake were other visitors.

Ropesville Houses Being Constructed

Construction work on a number of houses at the Ropesville community project of the Farm Security administration 22 miles southwest of Lubbock, is well under way and by early February it is believed nearly one-third of the 48 houses will have been completed.

Framework on four or five houses is under way, foundations have been poured for several more and ditches for some others have been dug and locations staked. W. S. (Buck) Moss, Lubbock contractor, will build 38 four-room and 10 five-room houses.

E. K. Hufstedler & Sons, Lubbock implement men, have delivered a considerable amount of material for the windmills and cypress tanks for the wells. Drilling of wells will start soon.

Fields Bros., Lubbock contractors, who have the job of clearing and grubbing the additional 12,000 acres added to the tract, are starting and will plow land.

The additional acreage has been surveyed, roads staked out and construction of roads by Huddleston of Crosbyton will begin soon.

Lloyd Johnson has come here as project engineer. James P. Williams of Lubbock is project manager.

NACOGDOCHES, Jan. 4. (AP)—C. E. Weaver, recently appointed Nacogdoches county auditor by District Judge C. E. Brazil, said in a statement here today he had been locked out of his office.

Weaver said he assumed the post January 1, reporting to work Saturday morning. He said he found the office padlocked both then, and when he attempted to enter Monday.

Judge Brazil named Weaver auditor on November 30 to fill the unexpired term of R. C. Tompkins, who resigned effective January 1.

The Nacogdoches county commissioners' court then named a man of its own choice to the post.

Weaver recently resigned as assistant director of WPA district 1, at Marshall.

College Preps For Spring Band Tour

Annual spring concert tour will be the next major event on the program of Texas Technological college band, according to information given Tuesday by D. O. Wiley, director.

While the itinerary and dates are yet to be set, Wiley said, attention of officials will now be centered on those details. The last several weeks had been spent in preparation for New Year's Sun Bowl festivities at El Paso, where the bandsmen added another to their long list of blue ribbons. The "blue ribbon" in this case was a $50 check representing first prize in college band competition.

Winner of first prize in the high school class was Wink, with Pecos second and Alamogordo, N. M., third.
