City ready to bounce back

By Leon Hooten
Business Editor

Business and industry leaders "rolled up their sleeves" today to rebuild or relocate facilites damaged or destroyed in Tuesday's tornado and it was generally agreed residents would be amazed at the speed of reconstruction.

Joe White, executive vice president of Wichita Falls Board of Commerce & Industry, said, "I think people are going to be amazed how fast commercial, industrial and residential property will be rebuilt.

"I think an earlier statement that the process would take up to 10 years is absolutely incorrect....rebuilding and relocating are under way and its speed will amaze everyone," he added.

And throughtout the devasted areas, frustration was gradually being replaced by determination and courage.

David Wolverton, president of First Wichita National Bank, said, "I sense an awfully strong determination to rebuild...Wichita Falls is going to rebuild but it will take a lot of effort and strain our capacity as far as resources are concerned.

"First we must take care on a short and interim basis those with very real hardships, then we must start getting enough people in here to actually do the rebuilding...resources are a far greater problem than the finance problem," he added.

Ikard Smith, president of Midtown Now, said, "Number one, we are trying to find out what buildings are available in the downtown area and get the owner and the businessmen who need a location together.

"For the next month or so our main effort is going to be to find a roof for firms that have displaced so we can get people back to work.

Right now we could care less if the firm is retail or manufacturing, we just want to get them relocate. If they stay downtown a month...two months ...who cares..the best therapy is to get back to work," he said.

And plans are under way for Sikes Senter to open "within a few weeks" and plans for some merchants to open tents on the parking lot has not been approved by the management at Sikes,

Looters to get little sympathy

Wichita Falls prosecutors say they will deal severely with people charged with looting in the wake of last week's killer tornado.

"Certainly we'll deal as harshly as we can with people who have been taking advantage of the victims of the tornado," District Attorney Tim Eyssen said today.

"If they want to plea bargain, they're going to bargain for time in jail," said County Attorney Tom Schrandt.

Eleven people had been charged by early today with the felony offenses of theft over $200 or burglary of a habitation and four of the same people had also been charged with the Class A misdemeanor of theft over $20 in looting-related incidents, court records show.

Police Chief Curtis Harrelson said looting has been kept to a minimum.

"We are receiving reports of just a few isolated cases," Harrelson said.

"The tremendous saturation of foot patrol, motor vehicle patrol, and helicopter patrol has kept looting down to a minimum," he said.

Schrandt said there is no specific offense in Texas known as looting so suspects are charged with either theft or burglary.

Some of the felony charges may later have to be reduced to misdemeanors because Eyssen said he is unsure whether or not Texas law classifies a tornado-demolished house as a "habitation."

Another man was reportedly charged by mistake with theft over $200 after it was later learned the owner of a demolished apartment had given the man permission to remove his furniture.

Thirty-two persons had been arrested by Sunday night for curfew violations.

A Wichita Falls police officer shot and killed an unarmed man on a downtown street at 12:01 today when the victim reportedly fled after a routine traffic stop.

David Sosa, no age or address available, was dead on arrival at Wichita General Hospital following the shooting at Front and Ohio, according to police reports.

Officer Jay L. Wright reportedly saw the fleeing man reach into his pocket and, believing him to be armed, shot the suspect once in the back. No weapons were found in the area, police said.

Police Chief Curtis Harrelson said Officer Wright will appear before the grand jury which will determine if the officer's actions were necessary. Harrelson added that the fatal shot was the first fired since Tuesday's tornado and resulting curfews.

According to Wright's and accompanying Officer John J. Bailey's reports, the two officers were patrolling downtown when they observed two men in a vehicle stopped at Second and Indiana.

The officers said they pulled the vehicle over since a special curfew, initiated after Tuesday's tornado, was in effect.

Sosa, reports said, shoved Wright on the ground and began running east on Front. Both officers began chasing Sosa while Wright yelled, "Stop!, Halt!, Stop!"

As they neared the 100 block of Ohio, both officers said the suspect slowed down and put his hand in his pants pocket. The officers said they could not

United Way contributes $20,000 to fund appeal

By Jody Cox
Staff Writer

United Way of Greater Wichita Falls today contributed $20,000 to the fund appeal made by the Wichita County chapter of the American Red Cross.

In a noon press conference at City National Bank, Mayor Kenneth Hill issued a proclamation designating the Red Cross as the agency all citizens of Wichita Falls should recognize in terms of all contributions toward disaster relief assistance.

The purpose of the fund appeal, said drive chairman Ray Clymer, "is to make the people in our area aware of the kinds of services the Red Cross can and will provide.

"This is also being done to let our citizens know that the city fathers and the Red Cross feel that our agency can best utilize funds on a standardized basis in order to assist people who have suffered losses in our community," Clymer said.

In recognizing the organization's disaster relief efforts, Clymer said, "What has been most important to me is that Red Cross officials have assured me that even if only one penney comes from this community, all funds necessary to help our citizens will be made available through the agency's national disaster fund. I would have not accepted this job if I had not been assured of

Two men held in Lamb murder

By Times Staff

Two men were in jail in Wichita Falls Monday suspected of the robbery and murder of a 34-year-old resident of the city last Tuesday.

The body of Jerry Lamb, manager of Sheppard AFB Officers' Club, was found with three stab wounds in the back strapped to the hood of a car in a rural area near Olney, Tex., by Wichita Falls police and Texas Rangers last Friday.

The abandoned pickup truck with the body on the hood was discovered in an abandoned field just off Texas 114.

IRS adds more woes on troubled Wichitans

By Veda McGinnis
Staff Writer

As if Wichitans did not have enough to cope with today, they have an added burden on their shoulders, put there by the federal tax collectors.

Internal Revenue Service officials had indicated no penalties would be charged to tornado-ravaged Wichita Falls residents, but at today's IRS tax deadline, tax officials were saying interest of one-half percent would be charged...regardless of affected Wichitans filing 60-day extension forms.

The IRS has a special extension form, No. 2688, available for those persons who suffered "extreme circumstances" during Tuesday's tornado, and by filing this 60-day extension, "penalty would not be assessed," according to Marlene Gaysek of the Dallas IRS office.

She said "the law requires reasonable cause (which would include personal injury and loss of records) be shown."

However, filing the 2688 form does not exempt the taxpayer from having to pay interest on money due the IRS, another IRS official said.

Another 60-day extension form may

according to Bo Berlin, Sikes manager.

"The plan for Sikes Senter right now is for the owner of Sikes and architects to meet Wednesday or Thursday to evaluate the building to determine what needs to be done before we can reopen and at least set a tentative date to reopen.

"Personally I can't tell you a date (for reopening) but we are going ahead with cleanup operations as though we were going to reopen within a few weeks ... except for people like Pennys where it may take several months, perhaps this fall," Berlin said. He added that to date he hasn't heard of any businesses in the mall that didn't plan to reopen.

"Accounts of damage reported by the national press were grossly exaggerated," he quipped.

Persons who have available commercial, office or warehouse space are asked to contact BCI so that "people who have businesses that have been destroyed will know what's available," White said.

White also said that out-of-town building contractots should contact BCI until the City of Wichita Falls has a permit system established.

BCI also has had printed 20,000 bumper stickers that read "Wichita Falls is coming back stronger and fast." Stickers may be obtained at Red Cross center, disaster centers, BCI, Sears and Treasure City, White said.

D.D. Davidson, field representative of the Texas Employment Commission from Fort Worth, said that persons whose jobs were terminated because of the storm would probably qualify for disaster unemployment assistance and should report to TEC offices at 1101 Eleventh.

"If they were worked or were scheduled to work at a firm that is out of business because of the tornado they could qualify," he said.

Full-time students who worked part-time aren't elgible for disaster assistance, he added.

Many employees of damaged frims were put to work in the cleanup operation of the facility, such as Albertsons and several supermarkets.

Levi Straus and Surgikos, two plants that were damaged by the storm, have begun repair work and plan to resume operation in the near future, officials said. Workers will be notified when to report for work.

Rip Smith, president of North Texas Home Builders Association, warned residents not to pay a cash down payment to any contractor and should require the contractor to show a performance bond.

"Right now we (the home builders) aren't sure whether we should concentrate on building new houses or repair those that are damaged, but repairable," he added.

Smith said he was going to Lubbock Tuesday to see how home builders there handled the situation after a tornado hit that city several years ago.

Jackie Allen, one of the motivators of Midtown Manor, said officials from the Department of Housing and Urban Development were due here this week to see what could be done to up the planned 150-unit apartment complex for the elderly in the midtown area.

"If they would speed up the paperwork we can have it completed in 18 months...and we plan to apply for extra units when the HUD people arrive," she added.

City planner Roger McKinney said construction was scheduled to continue on the Farmers Market and Activities Center but "work could be delayed if the contractor had to go to a higher priority project."

John Hooker of Lawn Doctor said 200 other franchises in the same business had raised $20,000 to help him replace his firm that was destroyed in Tuesday's storm.

E.W. Herman of Dub Shaw Ford in Forth Worth called the Times this morning and said..."We want to help...we will sell new Ford below dearler invoice cost for 45 days or until the supply of 800 cars is gone." He said persons should call the toll-free number 1-800-792-2218.

Filing IRS extension doesn't stop interest, just penalty

By Helen Anderson
Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has no authorization under the law to waive interest on income tax due the U.S. Government.

Those who wish to and are eligible for an extension must fill out and send in Form 4868 by midnight tonight. On that form they must compute and estimate their income tax for 1978.

Internal Revenue Service officials noted that six out of eight U.S. taxpayers are due refunds on their 1978 taxes and that the rate of interest is only 6 percent a year. Those who file form 4868 and send in by check or money order what they estimate to be their difference in taxes will not be assessed interest and those who send in the money within the 60-day extended period will pay ½ percent interest.

No penalty will be assessed to the Wichita Falls disaster victims but there will be interest charged.

Form 4868 is "application for automatic extention to file." It authorizes the 60-day extension for a completed 1978 income tax form.

The Regulatory Commission of IRS has not issued the 60-day extension. However, a spokesman in the Office of the Commissioner of IRS said it is forthcoming and will be honored.

The Internal Revenue Service said that it is a statutory law that prevents them from waiving interest for those in disaster areas who find it difficult to meet the deadline for filing income tax forms.

IRS said it is also their impression that President Carter or any president cannot waive the interest by executive order.

If a person is in a presidentially declared disaster area, he can, under section 165 of the IRS code, claim the losses in the tornado on his 1978 income tax. This provision will be beneficial to those victims who do not have property insurance.

Owes it all to his coach

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — If Harry Welch doesn't do his one-armed push ups correctly, his dog gives him a nudge.

Welch, 31, who recently broke the world's record for one-armed pushups, says a lot of the credit goes to Fred, his Labrador-retriever.

"If I'm not doing 'em right, he rolls me over a little bit," said Welch, who started doing pushups when he was about 12 and does 25 to 50 every morning.

Welch, the general manager of radio station WTIK here, looked up the record for one-armed pushups in the Guinness Book of World Records two weeks ago. "I looked at the figures and just thought I could beat them."

So, last Thursday, he rounded up eight witnesses and started pumping.

He completed 140 pushups using his left hand to shatter the old record of 112 and 144 using his right hand, narrowly beating the old mark of 139, he said.

It was no big deal to Fred, however.

"He helped me more than anything else, but when I came home and told him about the record, he didn't see one bit impressed," Welch said.

be filed by persons "merely inconvenienced" by the tornado, Ms. Gaysek said. This form, 4868, allows extra time to file, but no additional time to pay. This means interest will be charged on any taxes due and not paid by April 16. The IRS official said 90 percent of the amount due the government must be paid by June 15.

"For persons suffering personal loss and injury we advise 2688 which waives the requirement of paying 90 percent of tax due," Ms. Gaysek said.

"In any extreme case, the taxpayer has the option to appeal any interest or penalty assessed. Reasonable cause enters into the judgemental decision," she added.

Congressman Jack Hightower was in Austin, and Texas Sens. Lloyd Bentsen and John Tower's offices were contacted by the Times.

Bentsen, who is a member of the finance committee, said, "I will introduce legislation to exempt the people of Wichita Falls from interest charges for late payment of income taxes this year. In the wake of last week's tornadoes, which left 20,000 homeless, it is understandable that many people cannot meet the tax deadline. Given the circumstances it makes no sense for their government to tack it on."

Bentsen said he would have already been to Wichita Falls except for the death of a granddaughter last week. He expects to visit the city soon.

Tower said, he would introduce legislation to the finance committee that will make policy on the interest payments parallel to that of penalty payments.

Tower's office also said, however, that it would be advisable for anyone filing a tax return to mark it at the top, "Disaster Loss Return." IRS publication 547 is the official publication dealing with disaster returns.

The Times' attempt to discuss the tax situation with the White House press office proved futile.

Robert Fonck of the Dallas IRS office is in Wichita Falls at the IRS office in the Triad Building at Kemp and Kell to oversee emergency filing procedures. The IRS telephone number is 723-6702.

Officials said Lamb, who had been reported missing at Wichita Falls Police Department, was believed to have been killed Tuesday, the same day the tornado struck Wichita Falls.

Both murder suspects, residents of Wichita Falls, were arrested by Dallas police after an alert was broadcast by law enforcement officials.

The body has been sent to Dallas for post mortem examination.

Jackson, Miss., flood forces thousands to flee from homes

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Workers frantically piled sandbags along muddy levees today to try to contain record flooding of the Pearl River which has forced thousands from their homes and inundated the city's new $48 million sewage treatment plant.

The mayor's office estimated that 17,200 persons have fled their homes in Jackson, a city of 250,000, but state civil defense officials said only about 8,000 were homeless across the state.

The river was at 42.6 feet at Jackson today, up only two tenths in the last 12 hours, and officials said the levee system, keeping even more water out of the city, was holding.

The National Weather Service said the river was expected to crest between 42.6 feet and 42.8 feet, about 25 feet above flood stage. The previous high water record at Jackson was 37.5 feet in 1902.

City officials said the state's new $48 million sewage treatment plant was flooded early today despite almost constant sandbagging operations since the flood waters began last week.

The water covered hundreds of homes and businesses in Jackson and major city streets were flooded in several sections. Interstate 20, a major east-west route through Jackson, remained open but traffic was slowed as dirt-laden dump trucks and emergency vehicles and sightseers searched for routes into flooded sections.

The National Weather Service said it expected the river to stabilize today after more than two days of relief from heavy rainfall that saturated most of Mississippi, Georgia and Alabama last week.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers appealed for volunteers to bring dump trucks and clay earth to bolster levees along the Pearl. About 200 state prisoners helped under guard to reinforce a downtown levee. Floodwaters rose to within a block of the governor's mansion downtown.

In other flood-hit states, about 800 people were forced from their homes in Missouri, and about 2,000 persons were still homeless after a month of flooding along the Illinois River.

There was no official estimate on the number of persons homeless in Alabama, where state officials predicted that 2,000 people would have to be evacuated in the Selma area, as the Alabama River moved toward a predicted 23 feet above flood stage by later this week.

Floodwaters in Alabama claimed four lives and two other persons were believed to have drowned.

Radiation cancer death rise minimized

ATLANTA (AP) — Based on what is known about exposure to high radiation doses, the Three Mile Island nuclear accident should cause no noticeable increase in cancer deaths, a Center for Disease Control researcher says.

Dr. Clark Heath said this weekend that experts predict one additional cancer death in a five-mile area around the plant as a result of radiation exposure. But he said such a death would be almost impossible to link to the accident. Heath, who is with the CDC's Chronic Diseases Division, said information about constant exposure to low doses of radiation is sketchy. CDC researchers are in Harrisburg to study the effects of the accident on the health of plant workers and area residents.

Two other officers arrived and began administering cardio-pulmonary resuscitation but were unable to revive him. Sosa was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital shortly after according to a hospital spokeswoman.

Sosa suspected of curfew violation, resisting arrest and aggravated assault on a peace officer, reports said.

The other suspect reportedly had remained in the car and was arrested on suspicion of violation of special curfew. He later was released from city jail.

Clymer's appointment as fund appeal chairman was announced by Red Cross chapter chairman John Barker. Barker said the Red Cross was most appreciative of the support from the mayor, city council, the county commissioners and the United way and that the Red Cross would pledge itself to do the best possible job.

Barker also said the support from other United Way and non-United Way agencies has been tremendous and that the Red Cross also would continue to work with the federal agencies that are in Wichita Falls.

National Red Cross Chairman Jerome Holland, also present at the press conference, said, "I am extremely impressed with the speed at which this local chapter responded to this most overwhelming disaster. I am sure that long after the initial shock of this devastation has been overcome, the Red Cross will continue to supply whatever is needed."

Foard searchers hunt for airplane

CROWELL, Texas (AP) — Spotters in airplanes, helicopters and mounted on horseback were still searching the rugged terrain of Foard County today for a missing small plane carrying two prominent North Texas ranchers.

Glyndon Johnson, 44, and Billy Johnson, 46, have not been seen since 6:30 p.m. Friday when they took off in a two-seat, green-and-white Bellanca aircraft.

A faint radio distress call, believed transmitted from west of Quanah, was picked up over the weekend, but so far authorities have found no trace of the two men, who are not related.

Rescue efforts today were being concentrated in a six-and-a-half square mile section near Kirkland.

Foard County Sheriff's deputies have been joined by the Civil Air Patrol, the Highway Patrol, military authorities and volunteers in the search for the missing men.

Community bulletin board

For as long as it is needed, Wichita Falls Times and Record News as a public service will publish in all of its editions a Community Bulletin Board listing information of a public nature concerning the recovery of Wichita Falls from Tuesday's tornado.

Gathering information for the bulletin board will be the responsibility of the community relations department of the newspapers.

The daily listings will be designed to act as a referral service for those affected by the tornado and to keep the general public informed about the city's status as the massive recovery effort continues.

All directors of agencies who have information in the public interest are urged to contact the community relations department of the Times and Record News between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday at 767-8341, extension 258, or by coming to Times Square, 1301 Lamar.

Hotlines

Federal Disaster Assistance Administration has established two hotlines to provide information about state and disaster aid. Hotline number in Wichita Falls is 855-6910; in Vernon, 552-2528. Hotline operation hours are 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Ministers

Regular luncheon meeting of the Wichita Falls Ministers Fellowship has been canceled. Instead, Wichita Falls and surrounding community ministers are asked to come to Trinity United Methodist Church Tuesday at 10 a.m. Representatives of numerous agencies will also attend the meeting and all ministers of all faiths are urged to attend. Plans will be made for disaster assistance.

For further information, ministers should contact the Rev. John Lightfoot of Trinity United Methodist Church, 766-4777.

Texas Electric

Texas Electric Service Co. is seeking information from customers in the disaster area where electricity is needed most. Customers who are planning to live in their homes and make repairs, where possible, will be given high priority, according to Tom Locke, division manager. Others who desire electricity for cleanup operations will be served as facilities are available. TESCO phone number is 766-3331.

Mail delivery

Mail delivery has been suspended in the areas affected by the tornado in Wichita Falls. All other areas of the city will receive regular delivery.

Postal customers affected by the tornado will be able to receive the following services.

Zip code zones 76308, 76309 and 76310 may pick up mail at the University Park Station, 4312 Call Field Road, during regular business hours.

Business hours for both locations will be 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday.

Mail for customers in the affected areas will be held indefinitely. Customers are urged to turn in a change-of-address as soon as possible so their mail can be delivered. This will avoid congestion at the Post Office.

BCI

Board of Commerce & Industry is asking that anyone who has office or building space, refrigerated storage space or warehouse space to contact the BCI.

Any persons with damaged or destoyed commercial businesses are also asked to contact the BCI as to their present location at 723-2741.

Disabled vets

Glen Neal, national service officer, will be in Wichita Falls Monday and Tuesday to administer emergency relief funds for service connected disabled veterans who were affected by the tornado. Veterans who believe they qualify are asked to come to the Disabled American Veterans Chapter Building at 417 Indiana after 9 a.m. on Monday or Tuesday.

Employment

Texas Employment Commission has job openings for carpenters, roofers, general construction laborers and other skilled and unskilled workers, according to E.R. Bearden, manager.

There is immediate need for people with some college background who can act as assistance counselers on a temporary or permanent basis. Those qualified are asked to come to the employment office Tuesday for interviews.

Texas Employment Commission is located at 1101 11th and is open daily from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Call 322-5481 for further information.

Transportation

Community Action Corp. is offering transportation. Anyone needing transportation should call 723-8186.

Amvets

The Amvets store at 717 Indiana has clothing and some supplies for tornado victims in need. Anyone wishing to donate clothing, linens or canned food for tornado victims is invited to bring items to the Amvets store for distribution. Hours of operation are 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily except Sunday.

Salvation Army

The Salvation Army is providing food and drink at stationary canteens for disaster victims and workers. They are located at Southwest Parkway and Fairway, Sun Valley Apartments on U.S. 287, Cynthia and Jacksboro Highway in Southmoor and in two mobile vans. The relief agency's clothing distribution center at Harrell Elementary, located just east of Beverly Circle on Seymour Road, is open from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Capt. Harwell, spokesman for the agency, said there is no further need for donations of clothing, but donations of nonperishable food and especially cash gifts are needed.

Cash donations may be mailed to Salvation Army, P.O. Box 2189, Wichita Falls, 76301 or may be dropped off at the office at 2900 5th. Ask for the officer in charge.

Harwell said there is desperate need for volunteers to process donations. Come to the 5th street office any time between 8 a.m and 8 p.m.

Aid programs

DISASTER LOANS

Loans to individuals and businesses for repair or replacement of home and businesses and personal property. Maximum loans are $55,000 to individuals and $250,000 for businesses. The interest rate on these long-term loans is 7 and three-eights percent. People who suffered losses in the five counties and any adjoining county are eligible to apply.

VETERANS BENEFITS

Veterans Administration can make adjustments to payment schedules for VA insured home mortgages. In addition, VA personnel will assist in obtaining death benefits, pensions and insurance settlements.

FARM AND RANCH AID

U.S. Department of Agriculture makes available a number of programs to assist farmers and ranchers who have suffered losses. These include:

—Farmers Home Administration can provide loans for repair or replacement of farm homes and physical property and production and operating losses.

—Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service can provide grants of up to 80 per cent of the cost of debris removal from croplands, fence repair and rehabilitation of farmlands.

TAX ASSISTANCE

Internal Revenue Service will assist storm victims to file casualty loss claims and to amend income tax forms which may result in refunds on federal taxes already paid.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Social Security Administration will help in expediting benefit checks and in obtaining disability, death and survivor benefits.

LEGAL HELP

Young Lawyers Section of the American Bar Association will provide free legal counseling for disaster related problems, such as replacing legal documents, transferring titles and contracting.

INSURANCE

American Insurance Association will provide counseling on insurance problems such as obtaining copies of lost policies, filing claims and expediting settlements.

GRANT PROGRAM

Texas Department of Human Resources will take applications for grants to individuals or families who have serious needs or necesary expenses which other aid programs can not meet. The grants, which can be up to $5,000, may be used for repair of owner-occupied homes, medical, dental and funeral expenses, replacement of personal property and various other necessary needs.

DEBRIS CLEARANCE

Contractors hired by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will remove debris considered a menace to public health and safety from both public and private property. Owners of private property who need debris removed must visit a disaster center and sign an access agreement before contractors may do the work.

TEMPORARY HOUSING

Housing for those whose primary residence was left uninhabitable by the storm may be made available without charge for up to one year. Housing may include exisiting government-owned and government-assisted units, privately owned rental property or mobile homes.

UNEMPLOYMENT AID

Unemployment compensation can be made available to those who became unemployed as a result of the storm. This includes those not covered by regular state or private unemployment insurance programs. Assistance in finding re-employment also will be available.

Published as a community service
by Wichita Falls Times and Record News

Architects

Rental board

Wichita Falls Board of Realtors has established a rental coordination center to provide assistance in securing rental property and to try to prevent price-gouging in the housing industry.

Persons may call for rental assistance or report suspected price-gouging at 723-7365, 723-7366, 723-7377 or 723-7378.

Federal centers

Federal Disaster Centers to provide assistance to persons who suffered losses in the storm will open Saturday at two locations: 4-H Barn 1626 Midwestern Parkway and Notre Dame High School, 2821 Lansing.

Centers are open 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Mission

Faith City Mission has food, clothing and bedding for disaster victims. They also have beds for those who need shelter. Open 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily at 402 Lamar, 723-5663.

Red Cross

Red Cross Blood Center at 1809 5th is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. Hours Wednesday are 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Service center is open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Friday.

CLAY COUNTY

A Family Service Center for Clay County residents has been set up at the First Baptist Church in Dean. Hours are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

DRIVERS NEEDED

Emergency Operations Center Procedure

After 6 p.m. April 15, 1979
Memorandum from Gerald Fox, city manager

1. The Emergency Operations Center at the Police Headquarters will be disbanded beginning 6 p.m. on Sunday, April 15th.

2. Curfews in effect since April 11th will be modified beginning the evening of April 15th. The disaster area curfew will be 9 p.m. until 6 a.m. and the rest of the city curfew will be 11 p.m. until 6 a.m. Continued cooperation of the public is requested.

3. Command Center No. 2 at Windthorst Road and U.S. 281 Expressway will be closed permanently beginning at 6 p.m. Sunday, April 15th.

4. Disaster Assistance Centers at Notre Dame High School and 4-H Barn will continue indefinitely with hours of 9 a.m. until 7 p.m.

5. All inquiries concerning City of Wichita Falls related functions should be directed to the main City Switchboard (322-5611).

6. Inquiries pertaining to many other areas of concern should be made directly to those interested agencies. (See accompanying list.)

7. Any general inquiries or specific ones which are not covered on this list should be directed to the office of Civil Defense Director of the City (322-5611, Ext. 281.)

8. Most all City Departments will return to normal duties and normal working hours beginning Monday April 16th. City business can be conducted at regular place of business during regular working hours beginning that date.

9. There will be an engineering briefing meeting on Tuesday, April 17, beginning at 2 p.m. in the City Council Chamber for the start of the process on the replacement of public property destroyed or damaged in the tornado.

10. The regular City Council meeting will be held on Tuesday, April 17th, beginning at 8:30 a.m. in the Council Chamber. As much of the regular and consent agenda will be handled as the directors are able to prepare supporting information by Monday P.M. There will also be some items added to the agenda pertaining to the type and location requirements for temporary housing.

11. All news releases from city deparmtents should be corrdinated through the city manager's office. Copies of news releases from other agencies involved in the disaster should be sent to city manager's office.

Wichitans pause to offer thanks on Easter

By PHIL RINGMAN
Staff Writer

"We thank you for the thousands of miracles you have performed this week in the lives of so many," the Rev. Glenn Booth prayed Sunday just five days after a thunderous tornado heavily damaged his home but spared his family.

So began the Easter worship service at First Baptist Church, the largest church in a city ravaged less than a week earlier by a tornado that left 44 dead and 20,000 homeless.

The downtown church, undamaged in the storm but undergoing a remodeling project on its sanctuary, had previously scheduled its Easter service for the nearby Memorial Auditorium in order to handle an expected larger than usual Easter crowd.

After the deadly tornado, though, the 2,700-seat public auditorium was nearly full with people whose own churches were destroyed, in addition to many First Baptist Church members, a congregation in which one member had been killed and several others critically injured.

More than a hundred others in the church were injured less seriously and nearly that many families had homes completely destroyed or heavily damaged.

"God does not arbitrarily cause such a disaster," Dr. Morris Chapman, pastor of the church less than two months, assured the congregation in his message titled "The Dawning of a New Day."

"God did not chart the path of the tornado," Chapman said as he described what he called the sources of man's suffering.

"This disaster has been from a natural cause," he said. "He (God) permits the laws of nature to operate and he does not exempt us from those laws."

Chapman said God has no desire to destroy, only to create.

But, he said, the tornado "forces us to ask, 'Where is God?' "

Answering his own question, in part, Chapman recited Romans 8:28 — "And we know that God causes all things to work together for good to those who love God, to those who are called according to his purpose."

"I know the providence of God is such that whatever happens, God can bring good out of it if you'll let him," Chapman said.

"Even Jesus cried on the cross, 'My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?' " Chapman said. "Just as we wonder, he wondered."

But, Chapman said, "God didn't forsake Jesus. Neither will he forsake you."

"Let the whole world know that Jesus lives in Wichita Falls," Chapman said as television newsmen from the three national networks and several television stations filmed portions of the worship service.

Chapman said he hoped all Wichitans would pause at 6 p.m. Tuesday, one week after the tornado struck, for a time of prayer to remember tornado victims.

"If God has given you life today, and he has, he has spared you for one purpose — that you might know him," Chapman said before extending the traditional Baptist invitation for people to publicly commit their lives to God.

A handful of people responded.

Nine of Wichita Falls' 150 churches were damaged or destroyed in the tornado, forcing congregations to double up Sunday with other churches and to hold their worship services in schools, vacant churches, and other locations.

Several undamaged churches, including First Baptist, continued to serve Sunday as Red Cross aid shelters for those left homeless by the devastation.

As Sunday's Easter service ended, the First Baptist Church choir sang, 'Because he lives, I can face tomorrow.'

Tornado winds said highest in 10 years

By PAT ZAJAC
Staff Writer

Winds in last week's tornado may have been as high as 200 to 250 miles per hour, a spokesman with the Texas Tech University Institute for Disaster Research said.

"Perhaps it was not the highest, but one of the highest we have seen in the last 10 years," Dr. James R. McDonald, institute representative, said.

McDonald and three other members of the institute were in Wichita Falls last week to study the storm's effects.

For the last 10 years, members of the institute have studied tornadoes in 35 states and Australia. The research organization was formed after a tornado whipped through Lubbock, Texas, killing 26 people and destroying eight square miles of the city, McDonald said.

The institute is asking that the public send in any pictures, moving or still photos, of the tornado funnel. Reproductions will be made and the film will be returned to the sender, McDonald said. Pictures may be sent to Texas Tech University, Box 4089, Lubbock, Texas 79409. Persons may also call the institute collect at 806-742-3476.

"The pictures will help us learn what we can about wind field patterns," McDonald said. "From the appearance of the damage we can estimate the maximum winds in the tornado."

By studying tornadoes, the institute can determine what types of structures hold up best in wind storms. The organization makes recommendations on how to build schools and hospitals and makes recommendations on how storm shelters can be built in those buildings.

"We have also been studying how mobile homes can be made more safe in wind storms," McDonald said. "In this case, I hasten to add there's not much one could have done except seek shelter in a more substantial structure."

The institute also has made recommendations on how homeowners can strengthen a small room or closet that can serve as a tornado shelter. "It requires little warning, so you can duck into it and don't have to run into a back yard into a storm cellar," he said.

The institute also recommends that persons do not stay in their automobiles when they see a tornado coming and to seek protection in a small closet, bathroom or some other interior part of a building.

Persons should not open the windows of their homes. "We think opening windows is a myth," McDonald said. "People think low pressure in the tornado causes the house to fail. Our research has shown this is not the case.

"The house fails because of the winds blowing over and around the building. We recommend that you don't take time to open windows. You can better spend that time finding a place to hide. In some instances, depending on which way the wind is coming, open windows may be detrimental," McDonald said.

Why do tornadoes skip and dance, leaving some structures standing and demolishing others nearby?

"Sometimes what appears to be a skip may be a difference in the strenth of construction," McDonald said.

A tornado also consists of one large circulating wind, which is embedded with smaller, more intense funnels that rotate around the parent wind, McDonald explained.

Depending on where the smaller funnels are in their rotation, some structures may be spared while others are not, he said.

City returning to normal

By JIM MILLER
Staff Writer

The city of Wichita Falls returned to more or less normal operations this morning six days after the worst tornado disaster in the nation in five years hit here.

The Emergency Operations Center at police headquarters was officially disbanded at 6 p.m. Sunday as was Command Center N0. 2 at Windthorst Road and U.S. 281 Expressway, City Manager Gerald Fox said.

Most of the city offices returned to normal duties and working hours at 8 a.m. today, and regular business with the city may be conducted at the appropriate offices, Fox said.

All inquiries concerning city functions should be made to the main city switchboard, 322-5611.

Fox said curfews that have been in effect since Wednesday will continue with modified hours. Hours in the disaster area will be 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. Hours for the rest of the city will be 11 p.m. to 6 a.m.

Disaster Assistance Centers at Notre Dame High School and the 4-H Barn will be open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. indefinitely until all disaster vicitms have been served.

Tuesday the city council will meet in regular session beginning at 8:30 a.m. in council chamber at Memorial Auditorium.

Fox said the council will handle as much of the agenda as city staff can have ready for the meeting in addition to some items added concerning type and location requirements for temporary housing.

Items on the regular agenda that may or may not be covered include an appropriation ordinance for emergency street repair funds, an ordinance retaining sales tax on sale and distribution of electric and gas service to residential customers, new enforcement hours for parking meters, establishing certain no parking zones and other largely routine items.

Also Tuesday at 2 p.m. will be an engineering briefing in council chambers concerning replacement of public property destroyed or damaged by the tornado.

While the city and many businesses are returning to something approaching normalcy, Wichita Falls will not see business as usual for quite some time.

An estimated 6,100 homes and businesses were damaged, Fox said, and Red Cross officials estimate some 20,000 persons are homeless.

Even with the outside aid from state, federal and private agencies, Mayor Kenneth Hill and city architect Charles Harper both have predicted it will take 10 to 15 years to restore the devestated parts of the city.

MSU resumes classes Tuesday

By PAT ZAJAC
Staff Writer

Classes at Midwestern State University will resume as scheduled Tuesday.

Students affected by the disaster who will not be able to attend classes Tuesday or Wednesday are asked to call the Office of Student Affairs at 692-6611, ext. 217 beginning Tuesday morning to explain their situation.

Some 35-40 faculty members were affected by the storm and three agencies are using campus facilities to help the tornado victims, so some rescheduling of classes may be necessary.

A list of rescheduled classes will be published in the Tuesday Record News or or new locations of classes will be posted on the classroom door.

Students are asked not to call the university for class schedules. The American Red Cross is using all available telephone lines to help disaster victims.

Continuing Education classes will resume as scheduled. The EMT refresher course and the Critical Care Physical Assessment of Patients course, however, will be rescheduled for this summer.

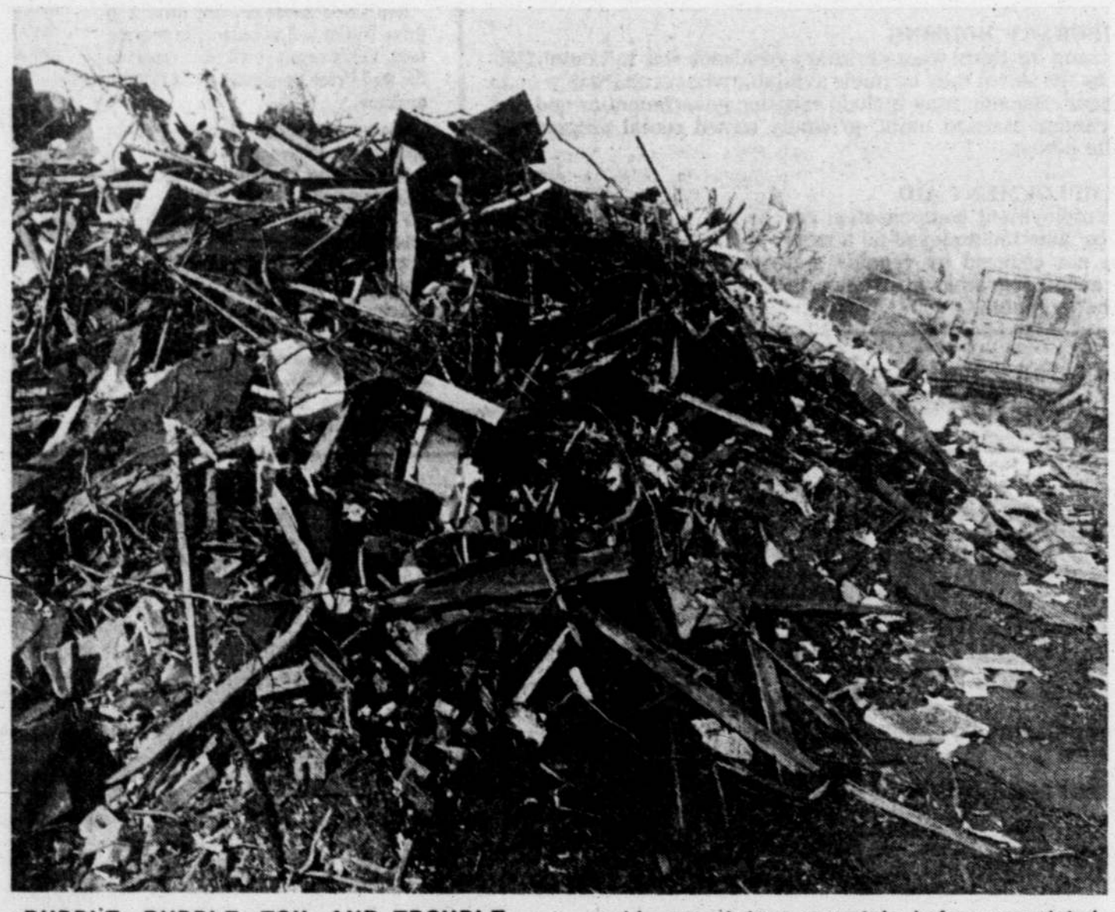

The university is making arrangements to house students displaced by the storm in campus dormitories. Students who do not have a place to live should call the Office of Student Affairs.

A list of campus activities that will be rescheduled, cancelled or continued as originally scheduled will be published later this week. Presently, commencement is scheduled for its regular time.

The university sustained about $700,000 in damage.

Workshop set

The area-wide school board workshop will be held at Midwestern State University at 1 p.m. Tuesday in rooms 105,106 and 106 of Clark Student Center.

Not down for the count

By JIM MILLER
AP Writer

In the aftermath of the worst disaster to ever hit this city, it was immediately clear that it takes more than a tornado to Wichita Falls down for the count.

Two examples of Wichitans' ability to dig out and bounce back were Underwood's Cafeteria in Southmoor Center and Southwest National Bank on Southwest Parkway.

Within minutes of the killer tornado all but leveling Southmoor Center, employees at Underwood's cleared away enough debris to allow them to return to manning the kitchen facilities.

According to Underwood's manager Joe Ezzell, his people were on the job throughout Tuesday night and into Wednesday serving food and coffee free of charge until they ran out of things to fix.

"Some of the employees went home, of course," Ezzell said. "But some of them stayed. They didn't have a place to go, and they stayed out here and fixed what we had left, sandwiches and things like that as long as they held out, until we completely ran out of water."

Asked about how long he thought it would take to get his cafeteria back in shape, Ezzell said, "The center we don't know (about) yet. They feel like they are going to have to demolish it and start over. But on this end we are hoping we can be open in probably 30 days or so. Our structure is sound on this end.

"There's nothing out in this area to feed from," Ezzell continued. If they can't open as soon as hoped "we're going to pull in portable units and serve out in the parking lot just as soon as we get things together."

Gaylon McDonald, vice president of Southwest National Bank, told the Times the bank was operational on a limited basis Wednesday although all that remained of the bank was the vault.

"We were operational, paying and receiving, on a limited basis Wednesday morning," McDonald said.

People began coming to the bank Wednesday morning inquiring about the security of their safety deposit boxes. When bank employees told them the boxes were safe, the customers were satisfied.

"Other people were getting into (their deposit boxes)them," McDonald added. "Nobody's closed any. They've gotten into them and got some of their insurance papers out and checked other things. Once they made their deposits, they were all reassured."

McDonald said he had heard some rumors that merchants were a little reluctant to take personal checks drawn on the bank.

"No merchant should be," McDonald said. "It's business as usual.

"We're cashing checks, we're taking deposits, we're handling drafts as they come in on the people's cars that were totaled."

McDonald concluded that bank personnel would be organizing their operations over the weekend in the three temporary buildings that had been set up behind the bank site. By Monday morning he said the bank expected to be as much a full service bank as any other.

By PAT ZAJAC
Staff Writer

Wichita Falls public school students returned to school Monday, except for students at Rider, McNiel, Cunningham, Milam and Bonham schools.

Since McNiel Junior High and Milam Elementary were destroyed in the storm, McNiel students will attend Rider and Milam students grades 1-6 will attend Cunningham for the remainder of the year. Those students will return to school Tuesday.

The roof at Bonham Elementary is being repaired, so those students will not return to school until further notice. The start of school will probably be delayed from two days to a week, school officials said.

Rider students will attend school from 7 a.m. until noon. McNiel students will attend from 12:30 until 5:30 p.m. Lunch will not be served at the school because the cafeteria was damaged in the storm.

Cunningham students will attend school from 7 a.m. until noon. Milam students will attend from 12:30 until 5:30 p.m. Lunch will be served at the school. Arrangements are being made to serve the morning students a snack.

Faculty and staff of Bonham were to have met at the school today. Faculty and staff of McNiel and Rider were to have met at Rider to discuss consolidation of their schools. Faculty and staff of Milam and Cunningham were to have met at Cunningham today.

Parents of the affected schools may transfer their children to schools in a more convenient location.

Early reports indicated that some 38 teachers were absent from school and may have been affected by the storm, Perry Goolsby, assistant superintendent of schools, said. One teacher has been hospitalized, he said.

Many teachers lived in the Western Hill, University Park and Brentwood housing additions, which were heavily damaged or destroyed in the storm, Goolsby said.

School administrators were sent to all of the open schools,q to determine how many teachers and students were affected by the storm, how many student transfers there were and school materials needed.

In a statement at a press conference Friday, Dr. Lee Williamson, superintendent of schools, said to parents: "It may be that you will find that some classrooms will become crowded. Some teachers may have to be relocated. We may have a temporary shortage of textbooks and teaching materials. But please bear with us. We will do our best to provide for your children's needs."

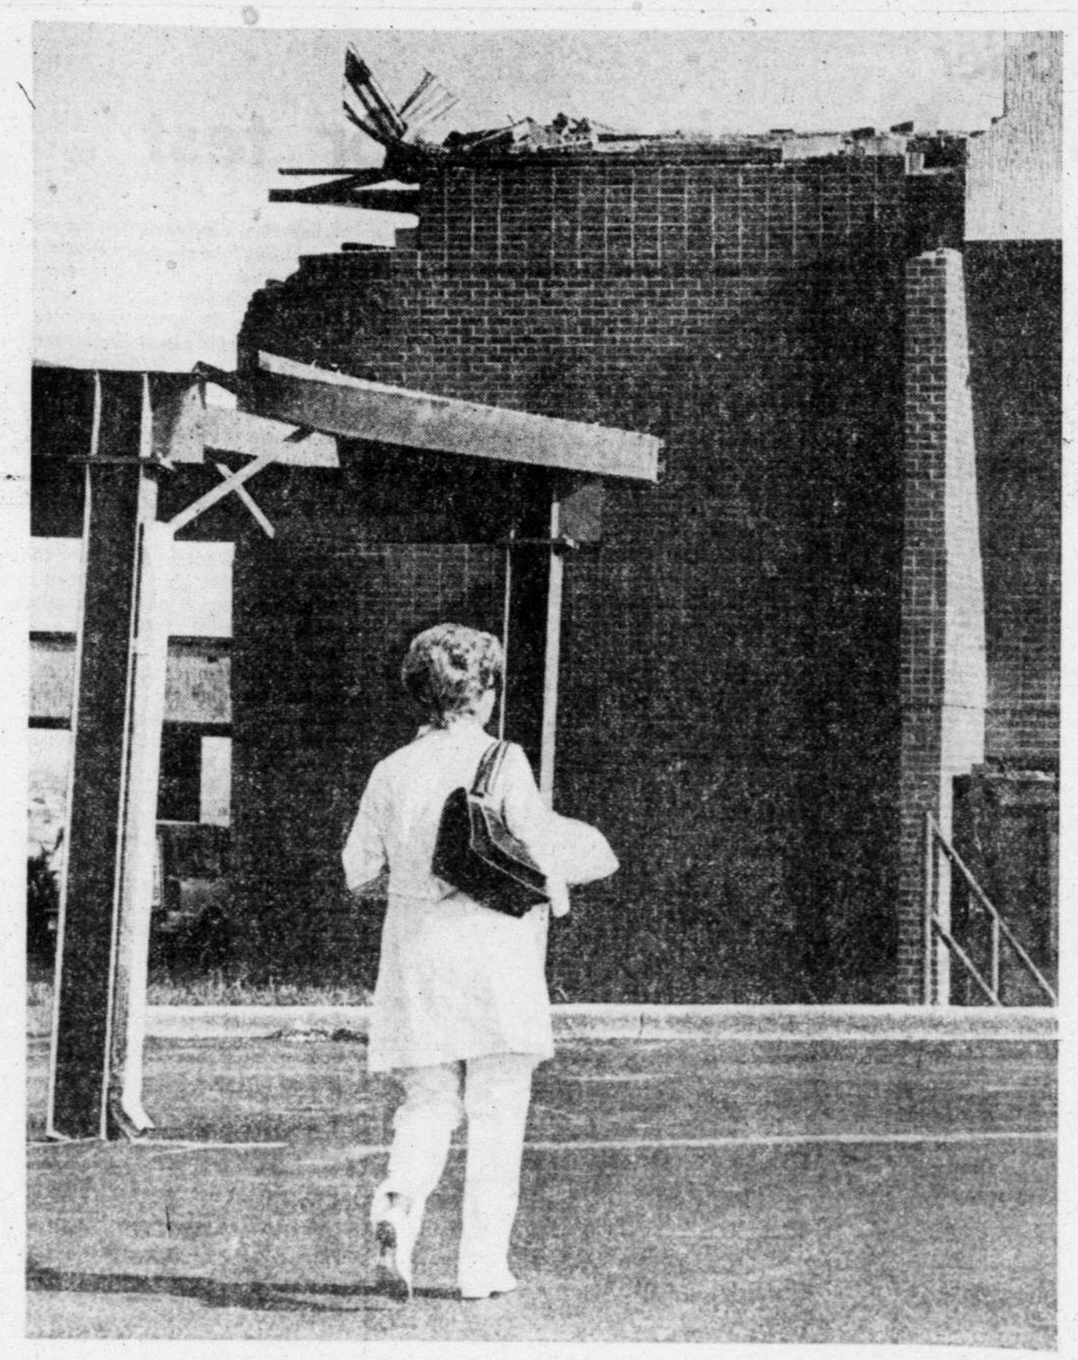

Mrs. Shores' morning kindergarten class at Milam will attend Jefferson School. Students will meet at the Milam parking lot at 8:15 a.m. Tuesday and will be returned there at 11:45 a.m.

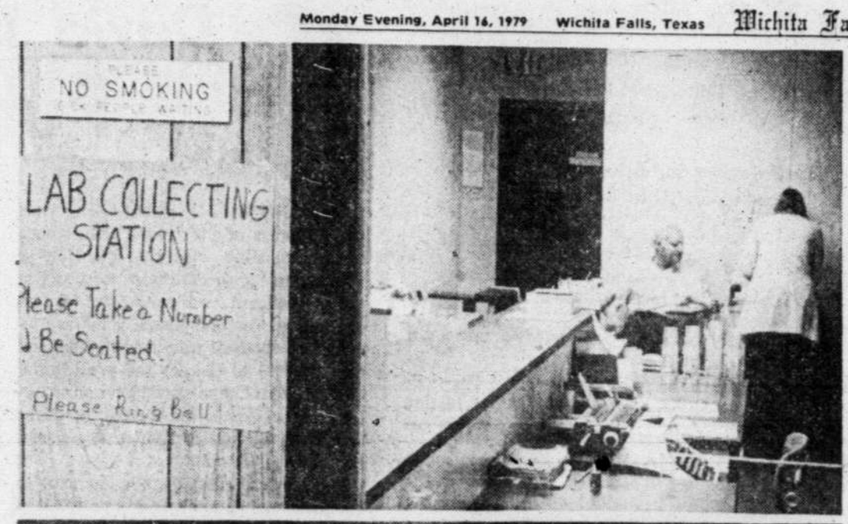

Mrs. Shores' afternoon kindergarten class will attend Crockett and will meet on the Milam parking lot at 12:15 p.m. and will be returned at 3:45 p.m.

Mrs. Wales' afternoon kindergarten class will meet in the Milam parking lot at 12:15 p.m. and be transported to Fowler Elementary. They will be returned at 3:45 p.m.

By Monday morning, telephone service had not been restored at Bonham, Fowler and possibly Lamar elementaries, Goolsby said.

McGaha and Fowler elementaries did not have electricity and gas, he said. Sandwiches were served to the students at those schools, he said.

CLINIC OPENS — A nurse, left photo, returns to work today at tornado-damaged Wichita Falls Clinic. The clinic is operational out of floors one and two, but the third floor is closed because the building's roof was blown off but should be back in operation in three months, according to clinic administrator. The clinic was busy today seeing patients, top photos, but the administrator said it was not more than the staff could handle. (Photos by Jim Cochran)

Sirens may go off again

Wichitans along Southwest Parkway may be hearing the city's tornado warning sirens go off again today because of telephone company work on the lines, said Gary Cook, Wichita Falls Southwestern Bell manager.

Cook said the sirens may be heard during the afternoon and early evening while crews are splicing together cable all along Southwest Parkway.

If the sirens are heard, Cook said, residents should listen to local radio station to see if weather warnings or watches have been issued.

One siren on Easy Street reportedly went off this morning.

More bodies rumors false

Civil Defense Director Mark Wilson said today he wishes to dispel rumors of more bodies being found amid debris since Thursday and not being reported to the public.

"There are a great number of rumors circulating that we are not reporting the total number of dead," Wilson said. "That situation does not exist. As the body count changes, we will get the information out."

Wilson added that he also had not heard of anyone dying from tornado-related injuries since the issuance of the 44th victim's death Thursday.

"I think the basis for this rumor is that people cannot believe that in a disaster of this magnitude, only 44 persons were found dead," he said. "We have even heard the rumors that the city is keeping the real number of dead a secret."

Wilson was reluctant to say whether more dead will be found but said the search and rescue operation appeared to be "quite successful."

He said one indication that the search and rescue was thorough was that a second search by trained dogs of areas covered by heavy debris also turned up no bodies.

"The fact that the dogs did not find anything is a positive indication that the search and rescue was quite thorough," Wilson said. "We even had people hide in the debris to test the dogs and the dogs found them."

Hospitals' tornado injured list

BETHANIA

This is a list of the people who were hospitalized from tornado-related injuries as of Saturday, April 14, at Bethania Hospital:

Earl Anderson; Karen Kay Anderson; Sylvia Jo Austin; Dan Austin; Marie O. Babas; Shirley M. Beck; Jessie Benkston; Natalie Bedingfield; George Berchied; Kathy O. Price gouging hotline opened

Reports persist of price-gouging by service stations in the Wichita Falls area in the wake of last week's tornado.

Persons with information regarding incidents of this nature, or any incidents of irregularities in prices for energy products, should call the federal Department of Energy's Economic Regulatory Administration toll free at 1-800-424-9246.

Filing IRS extension doesn't stop interest, just penalty

By Helen Anderson
Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has no authorization under the law to waive interest on income tax due the U.S. Government.

Those who wish to and are eligible for an extension must fill out and send in Form 4868 by midnight tonight. On that form they must compute and estimate their income tax for 1978.

Internal Revenue Service officials noted that six out of eight U.S. taxpayers are due refunds on their 1978 taxes and that the rate of interest is only 6 percent a year. Those who file form 4868 and send in by check or money order what they estimate to be their difference in taxes will not be assessed interest and those who send in the money within the 60-day extended period will pay ½ percent interest.

No penalty will be assessed to the Wichita Falls disaster victims but there will be interest charged.

Form 4868 is "application for automatic extention to file." It authorizes the 60-day extension for a completed 1978 income tax form.

The Regulatory Commission of IRS has not issued the 60-day extension. However, a spokesman in the Office of the Commissioner of IRS said it is forthcoming and will be honored.

The Internal Revenue Service said that it is a statutory law that prevents them from waiving interest for those in disaster areas who find it difficult to meet the deadline for filing income tax forms.

IRS said it is also their impression that President Carter or any president cannot waive the interest by executive order.

If a person is in a presidentially declared disaster area, he can, under section 165 of the IRS code, claim the losses in the tornado on his 1978 income tax. This provision will be beneficial to those victims who do not have property insurance.

Judge dismisses complaint by inmate

By PHIL RINGMAN
Staff Writer

U.S. District Judge Robert Hill last week dismissed a complaint filed in federal court by a Wichita County Jail inmate alleging the inmate received inadequate medical care from the jail physician.

Calling it "frivolous," Hill ordered the complaint, filed by Zebedee Young Jr., dismissed.

Meanwhile, U.S. Magistrate John Tolle of Dallas accepted an application for a writ of habeus corpus from Young, who alleges his constitutional rights are being violated and that he should be released from jail.

Young has another suit pending in federal court against Wichita County Sheriff John Gibson alleging jail conditions deprive him of constitutional rights.

Young is in jail under a $20,000 appeal bond awaiting the outcome of an appeal to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals after a Wichita County jury convicted him in 1976 of aggravated assault and sentenced him to 15 years in prison.

Spring cleaning at White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even the White House gets spruced up at this time of year.

Shortly after President Carter and his family left Washington last week for a long Easter vacation in Georgia, a team of General Services Administration workers, wearing white overalls, scurried into the Oval Office. Drapes were pulled down for cleaning, and putty was spread around loose panes. Outside, gardeners cleared dead leaves from the shrub beds, fertilized the rose garden and began cutting grass.

Social Security benefits ready

If you have lost a loved one, you should contact the Social Security office at 1000 Burnett (322-5213) immediately to file for survivors benefits.

Social Security provides family protection in the case of death; monthly survivor's benefits may be paid to a surviving spouse, an unmarried child under age 18 (or 22 if a full-time student) and a child disabled before the age of 22.

Benefits can be paid if the deceased worker had credit for a certain amount of work. Though it takes a few weeks to process an application, all applications for benefits will be processed as quickly and efficiently as possible.

"We have Social Security representatives at the disaster centers to help with change of address for Social Security benefits, but that's about all we can do at the centers," said John R. Bynum, district manager for the Social Security Administration. "But we would encourage anyone to contact the Social Security office for applications."

MHMR meeting set

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Wichita Falls Community Mental Health Mental Retardation Center will be at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday, according to Board Chairman Joe B. Meissner Jr.

The board will meet in the assembly room of the City County Health Unit, 1700 Third Street, and the meeting is open to the public.

Concert canceled

The President's Concert scheduled Tuesday night at Midwestern State University has been cancelled. Jim Bell, director of choral activities at MSU, said "the concert has been "postponed" and will be reset later.

The city faith built

Easter Sunday was a day of rebirth for Wichita Falls, a city digging out from the worst Texas tornado in the past 25 years. Again, the churches of Wichita Falls, "the city that faith built," are playing a major role in bringing comfort to those affected; stability to all of us.

The lilies are in bloom, the traditional symbol of new hope and the promise of new life. From the pulpits of our churches that were spared, and from makeshift platforms, the eternal message of His resurrection went forth Sunday, promising the dawning of a new day.

In the aftermath of the disaster, many of the city churches have been opened as emergency shelters, serving the physical as well as the emotional needs of the community. Many of our ministers have worked around the clock, coordinating relief efforts, comforting the bereaved, and helping to identify the dead.

In time of trial, people cling to their faith. As Rev. Bruce Weaver of First United Methodist Church, said: "Some people will remember this as an experience that turned their lives around. Rev. Morris Chapman, pastor of First Baptist, the largest church in North Texas, said: "It is in our weak moments that we know the strength of God."

Easter services were a celebration of the miracle that things were not worse. Although people are still stunned by what happened last Tuesday and although the experience was shattering, most people are determined to carry on, to rebuild their lives.

Wichita Falls is the city faith built. It is the city faith will rebuild.

Traffic patterns change

The Arab oil embargo of 1973 led to the national 55 mph speed limit, which caused the highway death toll to plunge dramatically in 1974. Pundits at the time said the Arabs did more for American traffic safety in one fell swoop than all our programs combined to save lives on the highways.

The latest OPEC one-two punch, a price hike and supply squeeze combination, obviously will hit highway transportation hard — again. But it also ought to trigger long-needed action to make our existing urban and suburban road systems handle traffic more efficiently.

Traffic congestion is now found on the fringes of metropolitan areas as well as downtown. The reason is that most urbanites now live in the suburbs and most urban area jobs are now in the suburbs. More than 142 million Americans are suburbanites, and nearly nine out of ten of them rely on automobiles to get around.

But while our cities have been changing around us, much transportation planning and engineering has concentrated on the traditional job of getting people downtown to work. The new, scattered travel patterns are sometimes poorly served, creating traffic jams and attendant fuel waste which has now become intolerable.

The argument is sometimes made that if gasoline becomes scarce, why not shift to public transit and forget about roads and streets? For one thing, almost three-fourths of public transit trips are made on buses, which must use roads and streets. Also, while a shift to public transit can and should be made wherever possible, transit is not available for most scattered urban area trips.

The message is clear. Most Americans will continue to rely on some form of highway transportation for essential travel.

Capt. Roy Anderson will be honored from 7:30-9 at the Central Fire Station here this evening with a retirement party. Capt. Anderson has as a memento an old fireman's hat, which saved his life during the Dec. 12, 1929 blaze which destroyed the Antler's Hotel and killed two firemen and a guest. The old "hard hat" was credited with saving his life when the building collapsed when he was on the second floor.

Public financing up for test

WASHINGTON — Income-tax time finds the Congress of the United States once again wrestling with the question of whether to tap the Treasury to subsidize the campaign costs of candidates for federal office. The $1-a-person voluntary income-tax checkoff was used for the first time in 1976 to finance the presidential election. This Congress will have an opportunity to decide if the same procedures should be applied in 1980 to House and Senate races as well.

The move to extend public-financing to congressional campaigns was defeated in the last Congress. Despite the widely publicized complaints about the growing role of "special-interest" and "single-interest" groups in financing the 1978 election, the odds are against the public-financing bill again this year.

In large part because they are still looking for votes, some of the proponents of public-financing are finally beginning to give serious weight to an issue which Congress has studiously neglected in its past consideration of taxpayer-subsidized campaigns. That question is the proper role in such a plan for the political parties.

The post-Watergate campaign finance law set the stage for the first use of public funds in the Carter-Ford race of 1976. The law ignored the parties entirely until, as an afterthrough, a provision was added underwriting the nominating convention expenses.

As a result of that deliberate neglect, the irony is that a bill which aimed to cure a gross abuse of political money by a personal presidential campaign committee in 1972 gave millions of taxpayer dollars to personal presidential campaign committees in 1976.

The same anomaly would be extended to Senate and House campaigns in H.R. 1, the administration-backed and Common Cause-endorsed bill that is the focus of this year's debate. Once again, the parties would be ignored and the money given to personal campaign committees for House and Senate candidates.

But because the votes are not in sight to pass H.R. 1, as it stands, the House Administration Committee last month provided a forum for the first serious discussion of how the bill might be rewritten to strengthen, rather than undermine, the role of the major parties.

A bipartisan panel of political scientists, and several state chairmen, also from both parties, urged the lawmakers to build on the example of the half-dozen states which already use the political parties as the vehicles for channeling taxpayer subsidies to individual candidates. The suggestion seems likely to be given serious consideration when the committee begins redrafting H.R. 1, next month.

Bringing in the parties as the conduits for public funds has several attractive features. For one thing, the parties could take responsibility for certifying the eligibility of candidates and handling much of the paperwork in the program. This would reduce the role of the Federal Election Commission, which has quickly achieved a place a distinction among Washington's more cumbersome bureaucracies.

Some, like Michigan Democratic Chairman Morley Winograd, would insist on a pro rata division of funds among all eligible congressional candidates in a state. Others, like Stephen W. Roberts and Edward L. Campbell, respectively the Republican and Democratic chairman in Iowa, would grant considerable discretion to the state party organization in its allocation of federal funds.

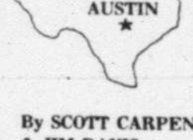

In any case, all the proponents suggest that a portion of the federal subsidy be retained by the state parties to cover the administrative costs of the program and, more importantly, to help finance registration, get-out-the-vote and educational activities, aimed at combatting the pervasive decline in voting.

The great advantage of this approach, over the existing presidential subsidy and H.R. 1, is that it would tie the candidates closer to their parties, rather than widening the breach between them. Winograd hit the key point when he said that direct Treasury subsidy of individual candidates encourages those "candidates to hold themselves above party. But a candidate who holds himself above party makes himself an easy prey to single-interest politics."

The treatment of this issue by Congress in coming weeks will offer a real test of the members' understanding of the steps it will take to rehabilitate our fragmented politics.

Legislators try to help Allred

By SCOTT CARPENTER & JIM DAVIS
Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Sympathetic legislators tried to do little favors for Rep. Dave Allred of Wichita Falls while he was back home surveying tornado damage.

The House Rules Committee appointed another member to present two resolutions Allred was sponsoring. That moved forward the memorializing of Ernestine Williams Davis of Brownwood and the praising of Dr. Mark Huff for intervening in a scuffle at the Wichita Falls jail.

Rep. Hugo Berlanga of Corpus Christi tried to vote for his deskmate on a key issue but Allred's voting buttons were turned off since he was out of town.

Another Wichita County legislator, Rep. Charles Finnell of Holliday, flew with Gov. Bill Clements to survey the damage. He returned to the House that same day but still missed a vote–for the first time in his six terms.

A bottleneck in the House threatens passage of major bills and the continued existence of 26 state agencies.

With adjournment six weeks away few bills are ready for House action. Seventy-two percent of the bills sent to committee are still there.

Bills such as appropriations and financing public education will tie up at least a third of the remaining time.

The House has yet to consider bills recreating agencies set to be abolished under the Sunset process.

The logjam is nothing new. It happens every legislative session due to the large number of bills and the constitutionally limited meeting time.

But the problems have been aggravated this year.

Four dissident House members warned that would happen Feb. 1. They charged that House Speaker Billy Clayton with orchestrating the bottleneck.

It is to Clayton's advantage, they said, for the House to have limited debating time on major issues.

The speedy action required in the closing days leaves House members with a pass-as-is-or-nothing alternative.

Since the as-is version came from hand-picked Clayton committees, the third-term speaker controls the specifics of the proposed laws.

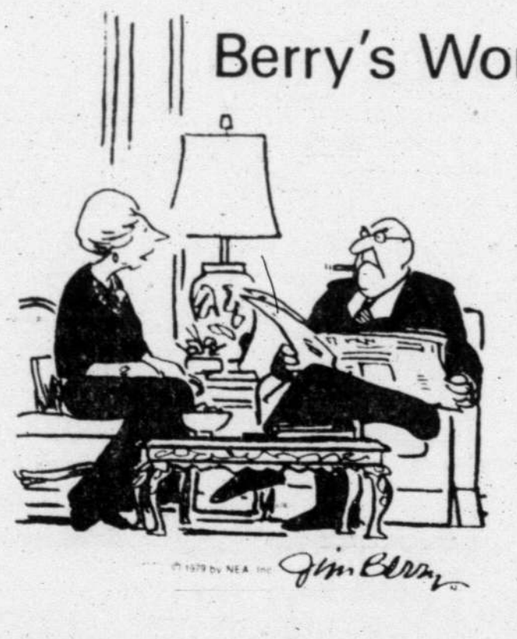

That may be good for the House leadership, but it is a rotten way to make law.

At a Feb. 7 news conference, Gov. Clements made fun of a reporter who used the term "moneys" in asking about funding wiretapping.

At his April 12 news conference, Clements used the term in answering a question about emergency planning for any nuclear accident in Texas.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1917, the communist leader, Nikolai Lenin, returned to Russia after years of exile to take over leadership of the Russian revolutionary movement.

On this date:

In 1521, Martin Luther arrived at Worms, Germany after being summoned to appear before the Diet to justify his criticism of the Roman Catholic Church.

In 1789, George Washington left Mount Vernon, Va., for his inauguration in New York as the first president of the United States.

In 1945, U.S. troops entered Nuerenberg, Germany in World War II.

In 1947, more than 500 people died in fires and explosions at Texas City, Texas, as a French freighter loaded with nitrate blew up.

In 1970, 72 people were killed by an avalanche that crashed down on a children's sanitarium in the French Alps.

Ten years ago: Pope Paul VI announced he would go to Geneva in June to address the 50th anniversary meeting of the International Labor Organization.

Five years ago: U.S. Army Secretary Howard Callaway cut in half the 20-year sentence imposed on Lt. William Calley for the killing of South Vietnamese civilians at My Lai.

One year ago: Israel reaffirmed that UN Resolution 242, calling for eventual withdrawal from occupied Arab territories, remained the basis for Middle East negotiations.

Suggestions for Mr. Carter's song book

News item: The president listens to music — while working or relaxing — 10 hours a day. Favorites: guitarist Chet Atkins and opera singer Beverly Sills.

Well, no wonder we're in such a fix. That explains a lot.

With all due respect to Miss Sills and Mr. Atkins, who are tops in their fields, their music hath the wrong kind of charms to soothe Mr. Carter's political style. With rock to the left of him and Rossini to the right, his middle-of-the-road psyche is so mixed up he'll never stumble across the solution to inflation.

It's one thing to have them over to the house for an East Room hoedown, but when he's wrestling with the budget, he needs something more conservative to get the old gray cells perking again.

For openers, the song that belongs on the absolute top of the presidential hi-fi every morning is that now-forgotten hit from the 1960 musical, "Do Re Mi," titled "What's New at the Zoo?" It fits, but it's probably a collector's item by now.

Still, it shouldn't be too difficult to find 10 hours of catchy show tunes that would remind him it was the popular touch that got him where he is today ("Bewitched, Bothered and Bewildered"). (Keeping in mind, as he manipulates the pocketbooks of his people, that they're singing their own blues these days: "I've got plenty of Nuthin'.")

Say Jimmy's sitting there, trying to invent a new way to crack the oil cartel. So how about a rousing chorus of "Anything You Can Do I Can Do Better" or "I Ain't Down Yet"?

And when the hot line rings and it's Begin or Sadat on the other end, he can quick put on "Promises, Promises" and then croon a few bars of "You'll Never Walk Alone."

As for what that hydrogen bubble in Harrisburg did to national confidence in his nuclear energy program, well, how about "Get Out of Town Before It's Too Late," "Till the Clouds Roll By" or "I Guess I'll Have to Change My Plans"?

Then there's old buddy Bert Lance, who warbles his own tunes: "Ain't Misbehavin'" and "Who Will Be With You When I Am Far Away?" When that special investigator starts digging into the Carter peanut loans, the prez is going to need a few picker-uppers like "You're an Old Smoothie," "How Long Has This Been Going On?" and (in honor of Bert) "After You're Gone."

Also, if his critics are right in their suspicions about where the money really went, Jimmy's going to have to change his tune to something like "Just One of Those Things," "Everybody's Doin' It," "Someone to Watch Over Me" and (most likely) "You'll Never Know."

Moving right along, the higher inflation gets the more crucial his selection of tunes. "Pennies from Heaven" won't cut it, not even for a born-again believer. Neither will "What Do the Simple Folk Do?"

For those pesky prices he needs strong stuff. Like "You've Got Me Out on a Limb," "Come to Me, Bend to Me" and "Ya Gotta Have a Gimmick." Maybe even, as we head into the double digits again, "My Heart Stood Still."

Now and then, when some ungracious clod brings up those campaign pledges about tax reform, the president can comfort himself with "I'm Always True to You — in My Fashion," "That Great Come-and-Get-It Day" and "If I Were a Rich Man."

It's tougher to find something suitable to play as his wage-price guidelines go down the drain, but how about "Wouldn't It Be Loverly?" "I Want What I Want When I Want It" or "I Can't Get Started With You"?

Which brings us to that sweetheart deal with the teamsters. This one lends itself to all kinds of musical accompaniment: "I'm Just a Girl Who Can't Say No," "You Took Advantage of Me" and that old-time grabber, "It's Not Cricket to Picket."

But what if nothing works and it begins to look as if Mr. Carter won't be invited back for another term? Well, there's always "This Nearly Was Mine," "They Didn't Believe Me" and that golden-oldie from the 1903 production of "The Prince of Pilsen": "He Didn't Know Exactly What to Do."

Let Beverly Sills top that.

Your Money's Worth

Who's hit hardest?

By SYLVIA PORTER
Field Syndicate

(First of four columns)

If you're a worker earning $22,900 a year — the maximum wage base for Social Security taxes in 1979 — you're paying your SS taxes at the new high rate of 6.13 percent for the entire year. You'll no longer get any "vacations" from Social Security deductions in the final months of each year, as you did when the wage base was lower.

If you're a worker earning $30,000 a year, your contributions will end after 40 weeks and you'll still get 12 weeks "off," during which your paycheck will automatically be larger.

If you earn $50,000, your deductions will end after 24 weeks and, from July on, you'll have a "vacation" from SS taxes.

If you earn $100,0000, your deductions will end after 12 weeks and your vacation from SS contributions will start in April.

Let's say you're one of the workers earnine at or above the maximum taxable under SS consistently throughout the years, and you are now 44 years of age. Under the present law, it is projected you would receive yearly benefits of $22,725 when you retire at age 65 in the year 2000. An additional $11,362.50 would be payable to your eligible spouse, also 65. These benefits would be inflation-proof, kept up-to-date with the cost of living and, unless the income-tax laws are drastically changed, they also would be tax-free.

And this, of course, would be just your retirement protection. Your increased Social Security contributions are buying you larger protection for your family in case of your death or disability.

Benefit payments to your widow and children, if you died before they were adults and through college, could reach a total of $180,000 at present rates. If you were to become disabled for work, disability payments to you and your dependents over the years could come to even more.

The key point that emerges from any in-depth study of the Social Security figures now that the initial uproar over the tax increases has begun to subside is that only higher-paid workers are being hit by the tax and wage-base hikes. And in return for paying more, their Social Security benefits also are slated to be more.

If you are the $10,000-a-year average worker, your SS taxes are roughly 15 cents a week higher in '79 than in '78. Over '79's span, this will amount to $8 extra — and for most, in this earnings bracket, the $8 bite will be more than offset by income tax cuts.

The January rise in the SS tax rate from 6.05 to 6.13 percent works out to an increase of 33 cents a week for the $20,000-a-year worker, and even for the $50,000-a-year earner the increase is a mere 77 cents a week over 1978.

The shorter vacations from SS deductions in the later months of the year will be the most noticeable impact of the substantial rise in the total of earnings taxable for SS purposes.

Last year, when $17,700 was the top amount on which you paid the SS tax, about 85 percent of all workers earned that amount or less and, therefore, paid SS taxes all year. Only for about 15 percent were there vacations during which deductions stopped.

Under the 1977 law, the scheduled three increases in the wage base, starting in 1979, will result in about 94 percent of the nation's workers having all their earnings covered by Social Security and thus paying Social Security taxes year-round.

This comes close to restoring the proportions that existed in the 1930s when the original SS law was enacted. At that time, a maximum wage-base of $3,000 covered all the earnings of about 96 percent of the covered work force.

The members of Congress of that day reasoned that the 4 percent of workers earning more than $3,000 a year were in a position to augment their SS benefits with private investments.

As a result, they did not think it desirable to count earnings of over $3,000 a year in computing Social Security benefits.

In 1979, the maximum wage base is $22,900 instead of the $18,900 it would have been increased to under the old law. In 1980 it's slated to go to $25,900, as against $20,400 under the previous law. And in 1981, it is scheduled to reach $29,700 as against $21,900.

After that, the wage base will rise only to the extent that average wages move up, the arrangement in the old law.

This helps put the tax and wage-base increases in proper perspective. The lower-income groups were paying SS taxes all year 'round anyway; their tax hike amounts to a few cents a week. The higher-income workers are having their Social Security vacations cut shorter and shorter — a return to the original concept of SS contributions in the law of the 1930s.

How the big cars compare

By the Editors of Consumer Reports

General Motors, alone in the "down-sized" car market the past two years, is getting some competition from Ford and Chrysler with 1979 six-passenger models redesigned for better gas mileage.

Consumer Reports compared the 1979 Chevrolet Caprice — basically unchanged since 1977 — with Ford's new sleeker LTD, a down-sized Mercury Marquis, and Chrysler's new Dodge St Regis.

The Caprice, LTD and St. Regis were equipped with small V8 engines, air conditioning, extra trim and AM radios. Although the Mercury Grand Marquis was similar to a Ford LTD, the options we purchased included a larger V8 engine, automatic temperature control, automatic speed control, AM-FM stereo and then some.

Our first choice, the Chevrolet Caprice, has demonstrated its reliability over the first two years of ownership. Other GM large models — Buick LeSabre, Oldsmobile Delta 88 and Pontiac Catalina — would likely test similarly.

The Caprice listed at $7,311 with the options we ordered, not including freight and taxes. It cost the dealer about $5,810.

The Caprice's engine was responsive, the ride quiet and smooth. The car has a predicted repair incidence of average to better-than-average for the first year of operation, and better-than-average for the second year.

The Caprice's optional 305-cubic-inch V8 engine usually stalled once after a cold start. After that, it ran well. The car is relatively easy to work on under the hood except for the inconvenient location of the ignition timing marks and two right rear spark plugs. The Caprice seats six with some difficulty.

The Ford LTD Landau tested as well as the Caprice. Listing at about $7,297 with similar equipment, the LTD cost the dealer about $5,825. It had a smooth ride and a responsive 302-cubic-inch V8 engine that sometimes stalled once before it warmed up fully.

The LTD handled well and had very good brakes. The front safety belts allow about six inches of slack, some four inches more than we recommend.

We can't predict the repair incidence on this newly designed model, although previous large Fords have had generally average to better-than-average records.

The Mercury Grand Marquis lists at about $9,487 with all the luxuries we bought. It costs the dealer about $7,550. However, we recommend doing without most of the extras. For the high price, the Grand Marquis does offer strong acceleration and predictable handling.

The first Dodge St. Regis we purchased had so many problems that we purchased a twin to make sure all tests could be performed. The two cars alternated visits to the garage.

The St. Regis listed at $7,497 and cost the dealer about $6,000. Because it is a new model, we don't have information on repair incidence, but previous Chrysler models with similar chassis and mechanical components have had worse-than-average records.

Despite the reduction in body bulk, none of these new cars were quite ready to break the 20-miles-per-gallon barrier on our 195-mile road test.

The St. Regis came closest to 20 mpg, averaging 18.2 mpg. The Ford LTD followed the St. Regis with a 17.6 mpg average.

The Mercury, with its large V8 engine, had the poorest overall gas mileage — 16.5 mpg. Yet the same Mercury had the best in-city gas mileage, an average of 11.4 mpg. The Caprice averaged 17.0 mpg overall but was the most wasteful in city driving with a 9.8 mpg average. The St. Regis and the LTD were right in the middle, each averaging 11.2 mpg.

Study to see how inflation affects wholesalers

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A national study of the impact of inflation on a major U.S. industry group will be performed by a research team from the University of Michigan.

The team will make a year-long study of the impact of inflation on the 32,000-firm wholesaling industry, whose gross sales total some $500 billion a year.

Headed by Professor Thomas G. Gies, chairman of finance at the U-M Graduate School of Business Administration, the research team will explore the effects of inflation on sales, internal costs, liquidity, capital positions and tax liability.

The project is designed to analyze for the first time the results of the 1973-78 inflation on a major business sector. It will be conducted under a grant from the National Association of Wholesalers.

School phobia misnamed

By Dr. KAREN BLAKER
NEA Writer

DEAR DR. BLAKER — I am worried about one of the students in my 4th grade class. Because she is new in the school, I don't know her very well. But she is consistently absent one or two times each week.

When she does come to school, I try to find out how she feels about her experiences here. I guess I am afraid she is staying away because something is happening in our class that she finds very unpleasant.

From what she says, however, that doesn't seem to be the case. She says she likes school.

I have tried calling her mother, but she is always out or busy. And she never returns my calls. She has not kept one appointment for a conference.

I'm confused. If this is a case of school phobia, wouldn't the child hate to come to school?

DEAR READER — Children who are phobic about school usually hate to attend. Unlike what the name connotes, however, the reason more often lies at home than at school.

School phobia really means fear of leaving home, not fear of attending school.

Experts say that in classic cases of school phobia, the mother is communicating in words or actions that she wants the child to stay home. Her own psychological disturbance probably makes it terrifying for her to be separated from her child.

Once the school psychologist is consulted, a diagnosis can be made and treatment begun.

In the process of making the diagnosis, you and the psychologist will want to consider other reasons for the child's unexplained absences.

Does the family have financial problems? Perhaps your student must stay home with younger children while the parents work. Or they may keep her at home because they can't afford all the necessary school supplies.

It's even possible the mother does not offer any explanations for the absences because she does not speak English.

One thing is clear: Your consistent caring attitude about the child will help her through whatever crises may be occurring at home. For some children, school is a haven.

Although school phobia may be a misnomer, most phobias are clearly defined irrational fears of certain objects, people or situations. WHAT TO EXPECT WHEN YOU ATTEND

Many of you have never been to a service of the church of Christ meeting at 1814 Buchanan and therefore do not know what to expect when you attend. When you arrive at the building there will be people happy to see you and welcome you to the service. The weeknight services will consist of congregational singing (Eph.5:19), prayers (1Cor.14:15f), and gospel preaching where book, chapter, and verse will be given for all preached. The preacher will not go into a lot of death-bed stories, personal experiences, and emotionalism. He will ably teach the Bible proving all he teaches by citing where it is found in the Bible. He will preach in such a way that you can easily understand what is being taught. You will notice many taking notes on what he preaches so they can continue to benefit from it. Most services will last about an hour unless the preacher is dealing with some subject that requires more time. He will take all the time he needs for no one will tell him how long he can preach yet he will not try to impose on the audience. The meeting will be designed to help you learn the truth that makes men free (Jn.8:32) from sin. Why not plan now to attend and be our honored guest? When? April 23-29. Dan Shipley of Burnet, Texas will be preaching. 7:30 nightly. ALL WELCOME. David Bonner, preacher, church of Christ, 1814 Buchanan (One block off Kemp) P.S. No collections are taken at any time except on Sunday.

Tax on windfall oil profits running into serious trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's proposed windfall profits tax on decontrolled oil, though still on the White House drawing board, appears in serious trouble, and some congressional critics are already drafting substitute plans.

Those plans would leave more money in the hands of the oil companies to invest in new production. They would also eliminate the president's proposal for a special energy fund financed by the windfall profits tax.

"It doesn't make a lot of sense to tax away a substantial part of the capital to provide needed replacement oil," said Rep. James R. Jones, D-Okla., the author of one alternative plan.

Jones, an influential conservative on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, favors allowing the oil companies to keep profits resulting from decontrol and taxing only future increases stemming from world oil price hikes.

Jones' proposal also would put any oil tax revenue in the Treasury, instead of the energy fund Carter proposed.

Earlier this month, the president announced he would gradually lift price controls on domestically produced oil, beginning June 1, in a move to force energy conservation and encourage increased U.S. oil production.

To prevent the oil companies from reaping a huge financial windfall, he also proposed an excess profits tax amounting to one-half the companies' income from higher prices. The money would then go into a fund to pay for mass transit, energy research and the fuel bills of low-income Americans.

However, from the start the president's proposal faced a doubtful future, largely because of expected opposition from Sen. Russell Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

Last week, Long did not rule out the possibility of Congress passing some sort of windfall profits tax, but he added that oil companies should first be given a chance to use the extra money for exploration.

"We'll then take a look at the profits they're making, and if it appears to be out of line, we could tax it," Long said.

However, the more immediate problems for Carter's tax measure could come from the House Ways and Means Committee, which will be the first congressional panel to review it.

Carter is expected to send his windfall profits tax bill to Capitol Hill April 24. The Ways and Means Committee has set hearings for May 9-11.

Although Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., the panel's chairman, has been noncommittal about the president's plan, opposition from conservative Democrats and the committee's Republican minority could mean the bill will be substantially rewritten.

Rep. Barber Conable, R-N.Y., the panel's ranking Republican, objected to Carter's plan for the tax and energy fund as likely to result in "bigger government."

He said he favored assessing a "fairly substantial tax" on the profits from decontrolled oil, but then granting a dollar-for-dollar reduction for money oil companies reinvest in energy production.

Damaged jet lands safely

DALLAS (AP) — A shattered outer windshield forced a Braniff jetliner to make a "precautionary landing" Sunday at Dallas' Love Field. None of the 39 passengers on board were injured.

The pilot of the Boeing 727, Robert Kammeyer, elected to land the damaged aircraft at Love Field instead of Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport, approximately 20 miles away.

"The pilot felt it was best to land at Love Field because we have a maintenance crew there," said Braniff spokesman Lou Garcia.

The passengers on Flight 606 from Houston were taken on to D-FW by bus, he added.

Tower officials at Love Field said Kammeyer reported the shattered windshield at an altitude of 26,000 feet. The cause of the accident was not known.

Missing girl back with family

METAIRIE, La. (AP) — Four days after she disappeared from her home, Wendy Lenor Hitchcock, 9, was reunited with her family in this New Orleans suburb, and a 34-year-old neighbor was held on $1.4 million bond in the case, authorities said.

John J. Storms, who lives about a block from the Hitchcock home, was booked on charges of kidnapping, attempted murder as well as three sex charges, said Lt. Harold Klibert, a spokesman for the Jefferson Parish sheriff's office. He said Storms had a previous conviction on assault and sex charges.

He said Storms was arrested late Sunday by members of the sheriff's juvenile division while he was making a phone call from a public telephone booth at a Metairie intersection. Nearby, the little girl was found lying on the front seat of Storms' car, Klibert said.

Klibert said the child was hospitalized for observation, but appeared to be in good physical condition when sheriff's deputies arrested Storms and found her.

"However, you could see that she was very emotionally upset," he said. "She appeared terrorized."

Klibert said there appeared to be rope burns around her neck, although she was neither bound nor gagged when found.

He said Storms was booked on one count each of simple kidnapping, attempted murder, aggravated rape, aggravated crime against nature, and indecent behavior with a juvenile.

"After we have an opportunity to speak with the 9-year-old child in greater detail, we may either add charges or increase the number of counts," he added.

The girl apparently was picked up early Thursday evening, not long after she was last seen riding her bicycle from the family's apartment, Klibert said.

Thinking about next year's taxes?

By LOUISE COOK
AP Writer

Now that you've filed your 1978 federal income tax return, it's time to start thinking of next year — particularly if you had to search through stacks of papers to find the records you needed to fill in the forms.

It's important to keep copies of past returns, canceled checks, receipts, salary statements and other papers for use at tax time. But it's equally important to throw out records that are not essential.

Start with those old returns. According to "Keeping Household Records: What to Discard," distributed by the federal Consumer Information Center, you generally do not have to keep the returns — or the records you used in filling them out — for longer than three years. That's because the Internal Revenue Service has only three years in which to audit federal tax returns.

There are exceptions, however. If you fail to report 25 percent or more of your gross income, the government has five years to act against you. If you file a fradulent return, the government has six years to initiate legal proceedings, and if you file no return at all, there is no time limit.

Once you have checked your salary stubs against your W-2 form, you can throw them out. Canceled checks that relate directly to your return and medical bills should be kept for three years.

(State laws on tax audits vary. Check with local authorities to find out what you have to keep and for how long.)

Copies of the household records pamphlet are available, at no charge, from Dept. 638G, Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo., 81009. Action for Independent Maturity, a division of the American Association of Retired Persons, also offers a free guide on what records to keep. It includes forms on which you can list important account numbers, insurance policy information, etc. You can get a copy of "Your Vital Papers and Where to Find Them" from Dept. VP, 1909 K St., N.W., Washington, D.C., 20049.

Make sure that everyone in your family knows where important records are kept. The best filing system in the world is useless if the only person who understands it gets sick or dies.

Some records should be kept in a bank safe deposit box. They include: birth and marriage certificates, divorce or separation papers, adoption papers, citizenship records, military service files, government bonds and stock certificates.

If you're not sure what to do with something, ask yourself how difficult or expensive it would be to replace. Anything that would be hard or costly to get a copy of should be in the deposit box.

You can keep one copy of your will in the safe deposit box, but make sure you have another one readily available to avoid legal delays after death. (The attorney who draws up the will keeps the original.)

Do not assume that joint rental of a safe deposit box protects you against delays. State laws vary and you should ask bank officials these questions:

—After death, does the surviving holder of the box have immediate access? If not, how long does it take?

—Is a tax inventory required before you can have access to the bank?

—What are the rules on removing a will from the box of a deceased renter? What about insurance policies?

Records stored at home should be divided into two files: active and dead storage.

The active file should include unpaid bills, receipts for recently paid bills, current bank statements, current canceled checks and income tax working papers. These items can be transferred to the dead storage file, or, in some cases discarded, after three years.

Items to keep permanently in the active file are: employment records, credit card information, insurance policies, copies of wills, family health records, warranties and appliance manuals, education information, Social Security information and an inventory of what's in your safe deposit box.

You can probably manage to sort everything out with the aid of a few file folders, but it may pay to buy a filing cabinet. Simple, metal cabinets are available for $30 — sometimes less — and solve the problem of where to put your files once you've organized them.

Nader proposes federal oil, gas exploration group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader is calling for the formation of a federal corporation to explore and produce oil and gas on federal lands.

Nader said Sunday that the corporation, patterned roughly after the Tennessee Valley Authority, would be "an energy producer of last resort" to protect Americans from shortages or high prices. He also said he opposed the Carter administration's plan to decontrol the price of U.S.-produced crude oil. He said he does not think the policy will result in greater conservation or encourage increased oil production. Nader made his remarks on ABC News' "Issues and Answers."

Mobile homes shipped in for homeless

Mobile homes sent to aid twister victims

By AUBREY RODGERS
Staff Writer

Disaster recovery officials Sunday began installing 48 mobile homes in northwestern Wichita Falls as an order for 139 more housing units went out to federal storage depots in Texas and Georgia.

The first four dozen two- and three-bedroom mobile homes began arriving early Sunday, and engineers began placing them on commercial mobile home pads in the Lakeside Village Mobile Home Park near City View Lane.

Federal coordinating officer Joe D. Winkle said he hopes to have homeless tornado victims living in the mobile homes by the middle of the week.

Winkle said he did not know how many more mobile homes may be required for the five-county North Texas disaster area, but he estimated the number might be 2,000 or more.

"The federal government has an ample supply of mobile homes in storage around the country," Winkle said. "We will be able to supply living units to all who are eligible for this type of temporary housing."

The 139 units ordered Sunday will come from storage areas in Palo Pinto County, southeast of Wichita Falls, and Forest Park, Ga. Officials expect the trip from Georgia to take about four days.

The units will be placed on existing mobile home sites at the Sunrise Mobile Home Park on Nashua Drive off North Central Freeway.

Personnel from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers have located 400 available mobile home sites in Wichita Falls, and many already are under government lease.

Engineering teams moved into Wilbarger, Foard, Clay and Baylor counties to search for other sites.

As mobile homes are being moved onto the leased sites, work is expected to get under way on development of large group sites in the affected area.

Eligible applicants may live in the mobile homes rent free for up to one year or until they can secure permanent housing.

City eligible for more funds

Texas Department of Community Affairs has indicated the city can receive $250,000 in additional funding to handle request for clean-up and clerical assistance made necessary by the tornado, Jerry Fisher, manpower director for Nortex Regional Planning Commission, said.

No Comprehensive Employment Training Act requirements will be waived, Fisher said.

Most of the clean-up is being handled by contractors hired by the Army Corp of Engineers.

To qualify for Title VI CETA employment, a person must have been out of work 10 of the last 12 weeks and be economically disadvantaged.

Interested persons should contact the Human Resources Department in Memorial Auditorium in Wichita Falls or Bob Harrison at the Manpower Office in Wilbarger County Courthouse.

Debris shows up in Oklahoma

By BRENDA SIMMONS
Regional Staff Writer

Debris from Wichita Falls and Vernon, Texas, is finding its way into all parts of Oklahoma following Tuesday's devastating tornado.

The wind from the twister apparently has scattered the debris to areas in South, Central and Northeast Oklahoma.

Bob Hamilton, publisher of Iowa Park Leader, last week received a letter from Loco, Okla., where the writer found a printing plate from the Jan. 25 issue of the Iowa Park paper.

The plate apparently blew about 50 miles northeast from Wichita Falls' Nortex Offset Publications, where the newspaper was printed.

Also finding materials in the Oklahoma County was Vernon Martin, who resides 3¼ miles north of Elmore. He said his pasture was scattered with bills and checks from Wichita Falls, while Jerry McCaskill of Elmore City reported finding a letter from Wichita Falls in his pasture.

Some of the materials are being given to Preacher Carter of Pauls Valley, who is trying to locate some of the owners.

Some began finding the debris as early as Tuesday evening, right after the tornado swept through Wichita Falls.

Walter Fisher of Frederick, Okla., was on his way to Manitou to escape the tornado's threat. He reported a piece of plywood fell from the sky before tornadic weather began in Oklahoma. He figured that debris came from Vernon.

Andy Wright of Pauls Valley, reported a 24"x24"x1" piece of styrofoam dropped from the air before the storm reached Pauls Valley Tuesday night.

Red Cross chief visits city

Dr. Jerome H. Holland, chairman of the board of the American Red Cross, toured Wichita Falls Sunday to assess the tornado damage and the Red Cross' performance in giving aid to its victims.

He will report back to President Jimmy Carter on his findings.

"It will be extremely difficult when I go back to explain to the other directors just how extensive the damage is in Wichita Falls," he said. "But despite the damage, I think the local chapter performed magnificently."

Holland took a helicopter tour of the devastated areas and then flew to Lawton, Okla. to assess the damage there.

He praised Bob Draper, Wichita Falls disaster chairman, for the "tremendous job" he and his staff of more than 5,000 volunteers did.

JEROME HOLLAND
Red Cross chairman

"There are literally thousands of people that have been helped," Holland said, "and more people will be brought in if needed.

More volunteers are needed to serve as caseworkers and drivers for the Red Cross. Caseworkers help tornado victims get long- and short-term disaster relief. Interested persons may report to the relief center at Midwestern State University's Clark Student Center. Other volunteers may report to the Red Cross Center at 1809 Fifth.

"We will be here for a long time," Holland said. "Our emphasis in the weeks to come will be to help people by the thousands know what help is available."

Storms delay phone repair

Restoration of Wichita Falls telephone service was delayed Sunday when storms in states southeast of Texas placed additional demands on cable supplies, said Mac McGee, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. district manager.

In addition to Mother Nature's delaying tactics, McGee said the safety factor also caused delays.

Service for Sikes and Midwestern Park additions, originally expected to be restored by Sunday night, now has a target date of Monday night, McGee said.

He said areas in far South Wichita Falls, generally around Lake Wichita, should be in service by 9 a.m. Monday.

"Service to all customers in inhabitable areas of the city should be restored by Thursday evening," he said.

At present, about 3,200 customers still are without service, down from the original 7,429, he said.

McGee apologized for the added delay and asked citizens to be patient.

"Our goal is the same as yours, (to get) service restored as quickly as possible while working safely," he said.

Ecumenical invitation extended by Lutherans

Elders of St. Paul Lutheran Church Sunday voted to invite three churches whose buildings were demolished in Tuesday's tornado to use the Lutheran church's facilities for worship services.

The Rev. W.C. Harting, pastor of St. Paul, said Sunday night he had been able to contact only one of the pastors of Trinity Baptist Church, Evangel Temple Assembly of God and All Saints Episcopal Church.

The pastor of All Saints Episcopal Church told Harting that his church would be meeting in Episcopal Elementary School, Harting said, adding that he still was trying to contact the other two pastors.

In addition to his church's invitation, Harting said four Lutheran congregations in Dallas have sent three pickup loads of clothing, household utensils and food for Wichita Falls' tornado victims.

The pastor said St. Paul Lutheran Church and Our Redeemer Lutheran Church would be dispensing these items.

The Dallas congregations also sent $750 in donations which St. Paul Lutheran Church will distribute, he said.

Fire station in operation

The station will service the area previously served by the station on Southwest Parkway in Kiwanis Park which was destroyed by last Tuesday's tornado.

Guerrillas burn oil storage depot

FORT VICTORIA, Rhodesia (AP) — Guerrillas set fire to an oil storage depot here Sunday night, destroying nearly a million gallons of diesel oil and thousands of gallons of gasoline in the first major black nationalist attack of Rhodesia's election week.

There was no report of casualties.

Eyewitnesses said towering columns of flames and black smoke rose from four burning tanks throughout the night until firefighters extinguished the blaze early today.

The action was the seventh attack on urban centers this month. It was the first major strike by guerrillas in a week in which Rhodesia's biracial interim government is holding five days of parliamentary elections that are to give limited power to the black majority for the first time.

It came during a general mobilization of some 90,000 regular and reserve troops and police who have been called out to ensure that the polling goes smoothly.

(Zambian President Kenneth Kaunda imposed an all-night curfew along the rail link with Rhodesia and on the southern borders in the wake of Rhodesian air and ground attacks on guerrilla camps in Zambia.

Despite acquittal

Guilt over boy's death still lingers

KERRVILLE, Texas (AP) — The pains of an accidental electrocution of a 4-year-old boy may never subside for Vernon Smith, even though he has been legally cleared of any wrongdoing.

Smith, a 35-year-old auto mechanic, wired a 110-volt household current to his garbage cans to discourage prowling dogs. A grand jury ruled he was guilty of poor judgment but not criminal conduct after Travis Fry grabbed the hookup and instantly was killed April 1.

Murder charges were dropped April 5.

Texas

"I've had a lot of knocks, but nothing like this," Smith said. "... I can't think of any disaster that's ever hit harder. I didn't want to hurt anybody."

Smith told the Dallas Times Herald that after he wired the garbage cans, he touched one to test the effectiveness and got only a "tingle." He said he was convinced neither pets nor humans could get seriously injured by touching the cans.

"I don't have anything against anybody's pet, and I didn't want to kill anybody's dog. I just wanted to scare them off," he said.

In fact, Smith said he disconnected the wire several days before the child's death, but his son, without his knowledge, hooked it up to a bicycle, apparently to discourage thieves.

"He just patterned after Daddy," Smith said.

The Fry boy wandered by the Smith trailer the next morning and died instantly when he touched the bicycle.

"It was just a freak accident," said Smith. "I've been taught a terrible lesson." He said he has been "like a zombie" since the accident.

Local residents say many of Smith's neighbors harbor deep resentment toward him, and a police officer said several citizens have walked into the police station and said Smith should be "hanged."

But the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Fry, who live across the street from the Smiths, said they feel no bitterness, only compassion, toward Smith.

"We feel sorry for them and they feel sorry for us," said Fry, 29. "I know it's going to be hard on him. I know what he's going through."

The Frys have taken comfort in something their son told them several days before the April 1 accident. They said one morning he announced, "I talked to God last night. He told me I was going to be with Him real soon."

"It was his time to go," said Mrs. Fry. "His little body may be in that grave, but he's really with God. Knowing that has been the only way we've been able to hold on."

"With God's help, they'll get over it," Smith said of the Frys. "I feel sorry for them. The shoe could have been on the other foot. It could have been one of my boys."

AUSTIN–Rep. Hugo Berlanga does not violate a House rule that many House members don't also ignore. He just does it too openly.

Yesterday, Berlanga discovered to his surprise that an Austin newspaper photographer had documented him trying to vote for an absent colleague on Tuesday.

Asked about his double-voting, Berlang a conceded he often casts votes for absent members with desks near his.

"Sometimes I vote for four or five at a time," he said. "I know how all of them would vote."

House rules say that any member who knowingly votes for absent members is subject to disciplinary measures.

But Berlanga said the practice is so common that he isn't worried about being reprimanded.

He said he plans to get the incriminating picture framed for his capitol office.

Davis arguments begin today

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Final arguments were ordered today as the long and stormy divorce trial between industrialist Cullen Davis and his estranged wife, Priscilla, nears its end.

District Judge Clyde Ashworth has promised a final decision by April 23 in the 5-year-old case, which has been delayed by a shooting spree at the Davis mansion and two criminal trials against Davis.

Diamond sells for $360,000

FORNEY, Texas (AP) — A tear-shaped, 64-carat diamond was sold at auction for $360,000 Sunday, but the buyer did not attend the sale, held in a tin shed in this town on the North Central Texas prairie.

The gem, billed by the auctioneer as the world's 96th largest polished diamond, was sold to an anonymous motion picture producer who placed the winning bid by telephone.

Charles Clements, president of the corporation that owns the Clements Auction Gallery, declined to identify the buyer, but Clements said he was a producer connected with the film, "Superman."

Sarita families can't return

SARITA, Texas (AP) — About 12 families in this tiny South Texas coastal town still don't know when they will be able to return to their homes, evacuated because of a natural gas well blowout.

The refugees have been living in motels since Thursday when the Exxon well blew out and caught fire. No one was hurt, but the heat blistered paint on small wooden frame houses located about 100 yards away.

How area senators voted

AUSTIN — This is how North Texas senators voted on two issues in the Texas Senate last week:

An unsuccessful attempt, 15-13, to consider a bill allowing the Parks and Wildlife Commission to raise hunting and fishing license fees by 20 percent.

Sen. Ray Farabee — no; Sen. Tom Creighton — yes.

A vote, 25-5, to prohibit 18-year-olds from drinking alcoholic beverages.

Farabee — yes; Creighton — yes.

Tornado vignettes

In a Wichita Falls department store, a small girl, about 4, was seen "trying out" cuddly toys. She would take a stuffed animal from the rack, hug it, then put it back and take another.

Presumably she had lost a loved toy in the tornado and was shopping for a replacement.

On the lot of a heavily damaged service station sat a heavily storm-damaged compact American car with a hastily-lettered sign reading: "For Sale, $100; I need the money."

Several would-be purchasers were inspecting the wreckage.

Two neighbors were discussing the aftermath of the twister. One asked the other, "Do you know whose car that is in my living room?"

A Wichitan, busily digging through the ruins of his house, was offered help by two strangers.

Accepting, he introduced himself. One of the volunteers shook hands, introducing himself to the Wichitan as "James Carter." The other proffered his hand, saying his name was "Reagan."

The two were from Rotan, Texas, but Reagan's first name wasn't Ronald, it was Ernest.

One Wichita Falls couple argued during a clean-up process about who had opened a bottle of whiskey. The bottle was nearly empty, but upon closer examination the man and woman found the seal had not been broken. The same experiences have been told about soft drink bottles with screw-on caps.

One man reported he was able to save canned goods from his tornado-stricken home. When a can of vegetables was opened, however, he found wood splinters in the food.

A building engineer at First Baptist Church supervised much of the activity at that location when the church became a shelter.

When water shortage became a major problem, he went to a friend who watches over City National Bank at night. They got plastic bottles from a supply company and drained the plumbing in the tall building to use as drinking water.

"I don't know which town it came from because I also found newspaper bits of a Wichita Falls paper," Cathy Little said in a letter to the Times.

"I know the parents would like to have it," she said about the portrait.

"Having lost many mementos in a fire, I know they would like to have it, harmed or not."

Sertoma International helps Wichita Falls disaster victims

By MARK WITHERSPOON
Staff Writer

Urgent needs of Wichita Falls' tornado victims caused an expected shower of clothes, bedding and other necessities arriving here Sunday to turn into a trickle.

But officials of Sertoma International, who are bringing the needed items to Wichita Falls from the Dallas-Fort Worth area, hope they can fill three 18-wheel tractor-trailers by next weekend and cart them to this devastated city.

Dallas-Fort Worth Sertoma officials called various dry-cleaning businesses in their area last week, requesting any unclaimed clothes for the Wichita Falls tornado victims, Tom Staples, governor of the North Texas District of Sertoma International, said Sunday as he and other Sertoma officials were unloading a small trailer full of about 130 pieces of clothing, bedding, household items and canned goods at First Baptist Church.

"We have a bunch of things but we only brought what we were told (Wichita Falls citizens) needed the worst," Staples said.

He said 35 to 40 people are loading an 18-wheel tractor-trailer at the Arlington collection post and he planned to return to Arlington Sunday to separate the things needed most in Wichita Falls. "Children's clothes, bedding and food are what we're pushing for down there now," he said.

Bill Cummings, president of Wichita Falls Sertoma chapter, said the Dallas-Fort Worth dry-cleaning establishments laundered the clothes and everything is ready to be distributed at First Baptist Church.

Staples said he hopes to bring at least one truck to Wichita Falls next weekend, depending on the needs of the tornado victims.

"There's no use bringing up everything now when people don't have anywhere to put them," he said.

However, "the way things are coming in right now, it looks like we'll be able to fill three of those 18-wheelers," he said. "We may wind up bringing more than the people of Wichita Falls can use."

Building information offered on hot line

North Texas Home Builders Association has established a hot line to provide tornado victims with rebuilding information.

The hot line, number 322-8857, will be open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday and from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily after Monday.

SEARCH FOR EGGS — While thousands of disaster-stunned Wichitans Sunday were unable to celebrate Easter in the true tradition with church services and Easter egg hunts for the children, others took time for the observance and hunt. Estimate made of property loss

By CINDY RUGELEY
Staff Writer

Wichita Falls received $125 million in real property damage from Tueday's tornado, City Manager Gerald Fox said Sunday.

About 6,100 properties were damaged, Fox said.

Broken down, the damage included 4,160 residences, 109 commercial properties, 1,772 apartment units and 21 tax exempt structures.

The American Red Cross Friday said 57 persons in Texas and Oklahoma had died as a result of the tornado. Forty-four persons have died in Wichita Falls alone.

In Texas, 1,570 persons were injured and in Oklahoma 35 were injured, the Red Cross said.

All missing persons in Wichita Falls had been accounted for Sunday and were alive, police said.

In Wichita County, including Wichita Falls, 2,566 homes were destroyed, 879 received major damage and 1,659 received minor damage.

Three guards slain in multi-million-dollar robbery

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP) — Thieves reportedly stole an estimated $30 million to $50 million in negotiable securities today after shooting and killing three Purolator Security Inc. guards at a company office, the New Haven Register reported. Police would not comment on the amount taken, but the newspaper said it had received its estimate from a police investigator who would not be identified.

State police and FBI spokesmen would not comment.

Waterbury police advisor John Connelly said at a brief news conference that an undetermined amount of cash was taken. He declined to say whether any stocks or bonds were stolen.

Negotiable securities are most commonly stocks or bonds, and can generally be sold easily through banks or stockbrokers.

Connelly said the robbery occurred when the truck arrived at the Waterbury office about 4:30 a.m. with a shipment from Hartford. Two of the slain guards were on the truck and the third was on duty at the depot, he said.

The bodies were found by a Purolator employee at 7:15 a.m., he said.

The armored truck was in one of the office's two truck bays and police said 11 bullet holes had shattered the glass and wood garage door.

If the size of the robbery is confirmed, it would far exceed the amount involved in one of the country's most famous thefts — the 1950 holdup in which $2.8 million, including $1.2 million cash, was taken from Brink's Inc. Boston express office.

The largest cash robbery in U.S. history occurred last December when $5 million in U.S. currency and about $800,000 in foreign currency and jewelry was stolen from the Lufthansa Airlines cargo terminal at Kennedy Airport in New York. Until then, the largest cash robbery in the country had been the 1962 hold up of a U.S. mail struck near Plymouth, Mass.; $1.55 million was stolen.

Clements vows interest veto

State

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements said today he would veto any legislation this session that raises the interest ceiling on mortgage loans in Texas from 10 to 12 percent.

Social Security outlook grim

Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trustees of the Social Security system warned today that a recession could create cash-flow problems for the retirement fund by 1983, despite the higher payroll taxes already scheduled for the 1980s.

The problems could persist until the early 1990s, the trustees said in their annual report to Congress.

In a recession, the Old Age Survivors Insurance trust fund might not have enough money on hand at the end of one month to pay the following month's benefits, the trustees said.

Paperwork, fish on agenda

SAPELO ISLAND, Ga. (AP) — Fishing topped today's agenda for President Carter, who says he's also doing some paperwork each morning of his seaside vacation.

Looking tanned and relaxed, the president said he does "a good bit of paperwork every morning," goes jogging daily and has read four or five books, including a collection of Ernest Hemingway's short stories, since arriving on Thursday.

Terrorists bomb Brussels airport

World

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Palestinian terrorists hurled a gasoline bomb into the main lobby of Brussels international airport today, injuring at least 12 persons shortly after the arrival of an Israeli airliner from Tel Aviv, police said.

Officials said the terrorists fought a gun battle with police and two were captured and one or two escaped.

Police said the captured terrorists claimed to be working for the Palestine Liberation Organization and quoted them as saying the Israeli El Al airliner had been their original target, but that the plane was parked too far from the terminal to be attacked.

Dayan comment sparks furor

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Foreign minister Moshe Dayan sparked a furor today with a remark suggesting that Israel might have to evacuate its settlements on the Golan Heights in exchange for peace with Syria.

Prime Minister Menachem Begin called Dayan into his Jerusalem office for clarification, members of government and opposition parties demanded an explanation and Israel Radio reported that an unidentified minister in Begin's cabinet had requested Dayan's resignation.

Sadat wants Arab Jerusalem

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Anwar Sadat said today that Egypt is committed to the return of East Jerusalem to Arab rule.

Israel annexed the Arab, or eastern sector of Jerusalem, after capturing it from Jordan in the 1967 war.

Both hardline Arabs and moderates such as Saudi Arabia and Kuwait have opposed the peace treaty on grounds it does not provide for the return of East Jerusalem nor the establishment of a Palestinian state.

Demo changes sides

WASHINGTON (AP) — Susan Morrison, the former press secretary for the Democratic National Committee, who resigned that post suddenly last week, today joined the campaign staff of Republican presidential contender George Bush.

235 die in Yugoslav quake

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Tens of thousands of Yugoslavs spent the night in the open after an earthquake Easter morning devastated more than 60 miles of Adriatic coastline in southern Yugoslavia and Albania and killed at least 235 persons.

Aftershocks continued through the night.

Belgrade Radio said there were more than 200 known dead in Yugoslavia. It said the Albanian news agency reported at least 35 persons killed and 350 injured in Albania, Yugoslavia's southern neighbor.

Doctors flown in from across Yugoslavia treated hundreds of injured in makeshift relief centers. Rescue workers, using specially trained dogs, searched more than a dozen coastal towns and villages for survivors or bodies buried in the rubble. Frogmen probed the coastal waters for persons whose homes slid into the sea.

The Seismological Institute in Belgrade said today that the original quake registered 6.5 on the Richter scale, revising previous reports that gauged the quake at 7.2 on the ground motion scale. It was the strongest quake ever recorded in Yugoslavia, although the toll was far less than that of the 1963 quake in Skopje, 100 miles to the east, in which more than 1,100 were killed.

Officials at the institute said the quake, which occurred at 7:20 a.m. Sunday, had the power of 10 million tons of explosives. Hardest hit was a coastal strip in southern Montenegro from the town of Herceg-Novi on the north to Ulcinj, 10 miles from the Albanian frontier.

Justices' ruling due on Kissinger papers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide whether Henry A. Kissinger can bar public access to transcripts of his telephone conversations while he was secretary of state and White House national security adviser.

The justices voted to study two separate appeals — one from Kissinger and one from several organizations seeking access to the transcripts — in reaching a decision.

Lower court rulings cleared the way for public access to at least a portion of the transcripts of conversations Kissinger had while secretary of state.

Those rulings, however, barred public release of the transcripts made for Kissinger in his job as national security adviser for Presidents Richard M. Nixon and Gerald R. Ford.

In other action today, the high court:

—Turned away a Nashville, Tenn., woman's attempt to persuade the Nuclear Regulatory Commission to take "emergency" action and shut down virtually all U.S. nuclear power facilities as poisoning the environment.

—Refused to hear appeals of two former Democratic congressmen from Brooklyn, N.Y., both convicted of felonies, who claimed their constitutional rights were violated by their automatic disbarment under New York state law.

—Left intact a lower court ruling in a Virginia case that threats made by prison officials, even if not carried out, may violate an inmate's constitutional rights.

—Let stand an appeals court ruling that a California man's burglary conviction was invalid because he was denied the right to act as his own trial lawyer.

—Ended former quarterback Joe Kapp's seven-year legal battle against the National Football League in defeat when it left intact two lower court rulings that Kapp is not entitled to any money damages in his antitrust suit against the NFL.

—Refused to hear a broad constitutional attack on Mississippi's death penalty law, and left intact the murder conviction of a Georgia man and the death penalty of another convicted Mississippi murderer.

Kissinger served as national security adviser from 1968 to 1975. In 1973, he also became secretary of state, a post he held until January 1977.

Levy fashions cater to full-figure set

By ELLIE GROSSMAN
NEA Writer

NEW YORK (NEA) - The TV's on the fritz, your new drapes arrived seven weeks late with fuchsia instead of beige dots; and now you've been voted woman of the year by the community council and you have nothing to wear to the dinner.

You may as well walk out the window. A smart outfit for a woman 5-feet-5 (or under) with a full figure? That's half-sizes (12½ to 26½). That's as hopeless as something smart for the full figure 5-feet-6 and taller (sizes 38-46).

Still, take heart and take a look at Barbara Jordan. "She's one of our customers," says Herbert Levy from Dallas who designs smart clothes for "the short or tall full figure."

"Eleanor Roosevelt was also a customer of ours," he adds. So you're in prestigious company, which means you'll have to pay. "We do the top bracket in price, between $100 to $500 for a collection of 50 to 60 items from street dresses and suits to cocktail costumes. And we're the only people who offer Ultrasuede for the large-size woman," he adds.

Whatever Levy offers is with the best interests of his customer in mind. "To begin with, we pare down rather than exaggerate," he says.

"The wider shoulder is in now so we give the effect of one by putting shirring or buttons on the shoulder, or with tucks and darts.

"We do easy skirts that look straight but we give them gores for movement, and when we do a slit or a wrap look, it's only an illusion. The skirt is stitched down so it doesn't fly open."

Family

At the waist, he puts elastic in skirts and nothing in dresses. "We simply shape the waist with a self-belt."

And, since his customer prefers not to have bare arms, Levy's sleeves are either three-quarter or long, often turned back so they can be further rolled up or down.

"Necklines are very important," he says. "Most of our ladies have double chins or no chin so we could never do a turtleneck. Usually we make V, round or sweetheart necklines, never anything plunging or off the shoulder. And our collars stand low in the back so they don't interfere with the hairline."

So sell the TV, return the drapes and ante up $500 for his beige Ultrasuede suit for the dinner. You get a concealed side-zipped wrap-look skirt whose buttons go three-quarters of the way down with a final slit that's stitched. And a jacket semi-boxed with narrow notched collar and tucks at the shoulder line.

Very smart. Something to make the size 10s look up from the chicken a la king.

Oh, those aching feet!

Weary feet are common after a season stuffed in boots, ski gear, ice skates or high-heeled shoes. To get feet back in shape for warm weather baring, regular pedicures are in order. Beginning with a foot bath, this provides good relief for tired, aching feet. A warm water soak promotes circulation to relieve soreness.

Bath salts added to the water help soften outer layers of skin so that it can be readily removed with a face cloth or pumice stone, advises The Soap and Detergent Association. After bathing and drying feet thoroughly, cut nails and file them straight across. This will prevent ingrown toenails. Massage a rich cream or moisturizer into skin from toes to the knees for a relaxing, soothing all-over effect. A special foot powder or talc can be applied to further alleviate soreness and tenderness, and to prevent chafing and absorb perspiration.

Dear Abby

This really is mixed-up mess

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
Chicago Tribune

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I divorced after a 20-year marriage. My girlfriend has been living with me for the last nine months.

My eldest son, 19, has his girlfriend living with him, and the problem is that his girlfriend does not like my girlfriend at all. My son and his girlfriend told me they are getting married in July. They've made wedding plans and have decided that my ex-wife and I will be invited, but neither of us is allowed to bring a date. This plainly means the girl I live with is not invited.

I am ready to tell them that if I can't bring my girlfriend I will not attend, either. My girlfriend is so hurt that I'm not even sure she'd go if they changed their minds and invited her.

I'm leaving the decision up to you. — MIXED-UP MESS

DEAR MIXED-UP: First find out whether your son and his fiancee will change their minds and invite your girlfriend. If they won't, and you want a good relationship with your son, go without her. If they DO invite her, try to persuade her to attend with you. If she refuses, go alone.

DEAR ABBY: With the rising divorce rate and the trend toward total truthfulness these days, I firmly believe that the marriage vows should be changed from "til death do us part," to "til something better comes along."

What do you say? — TELL IT LIKE IT IS

DEAR TELL IT: I say that it will never play in Peoria.

DEAR ABBY: The letter about getting rid of door-to-door religious pitchmen reminded me of how I got rid of the first team I encountered.

I had just moved from New York to California, after growing up under two religious influences — Episcopalian and Quaker. A young mother, I was having one of those hectic days. The baby had just thrown a bowl of pablum on the floor, the older boy was smearing the dog with honey, the cat had just given birth to kittens on the clean clothes in the linen closet, and the vacuum cleaner had given up the ghost. At that point the doorbell rang. I answered it and was faced with two obese women, the daughter as wide as the mother. The mother, with no introduction whatsoever, sang out, "How would you like to live on this earth forever?"

My instant response was: "GOD FORBID!"

Talk about being stopped cold! They were totally speechless! — E. A. J.: HUNTINGTON BEACH, CALIF.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M. J. M. IN GARDEN CITY: Yes, I know obesity is unhealthy. But I refuse to starve myself to death in order to live a little longer.

Do you hate to write letters of condolences, congratulations, and thanks. It's not difficult when you let Abby guide you in her booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to donate my eyes and kidneys and any other parts of my body that would be of use to a living person (after I die of course), but I doubt if they would be good enough.

You see, I'm 72 years old, have had a gall-bladder operation, two heart attacks, and put drops in my eyes regularly for glaucoma.

I wonder who would want my eyes? And since the rest of me isn't in very good shape either, would it be worth the trouble to donate any of my parts to that organ bank you wrote about?

You may print this because I'm sure other people want to know the answer, too.—ALL USED UP IN HIBBING, MINN.

DEAR ALL: Organs that are not suitable for transplants are useful for research and teaching, so please don't hesitate to register with The Living Bank, Box 6725, Houston, Texas 77005.

Wedding bells in your future? Whether your lifestyle is bridal gown or blue jeans, Abby lays it all out for you in her booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Sweet idea

Brown sugar won't get hard and lumpy if you keep it tightly covered in an unbreakable plastic jar with a layer of dampened paper toweling under the lid.

These jars come in assorted sizes—up to 105-ounce capacity—ideal for storing flour, pasta, cereals and other dry staples. Translucent sides make it easy to identify contents.

Corny egg scramble

Vegetables can easily become part of a hearty breakfast. For Corny Egg Scramble, combine ½ pound crisply fried and crumbled bacon with 6 beaten eggs and one drained 7-ounce can vacuum packed golden whole kernel corn with sweet peppers. Cook in a large skillet until eggs are thickened. Season to taste; serve.

Water lawn right after heavy rain

Think of your lawn as a sponge. Once that realization sinks in, so will the water you sprinkle on it. Especially right after a good rain.

"Water poured on a dry sponge will run right off," he said. "But give the sponge a chance to become damp, and it will soak up the water. A dry lawn is the same. Most of the water you apply by sprinkling will run off at first.

"It's better to sprinkle for a half-hour, then wait another 30 minutes before resuming sprinkling. This will give the lawn a chance to become moist, and it will absorb the water more readily."

The best time to water your lawn, oddly enough, is right after a heavy rain. Most of the rain will run right off into the street, but some will remain to moisten the lawn.

Save energy

During the next few months, save energy and money, advises Pat Seaman, housing and home furnishings specialist with Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Turn off the home heating system as soon as possible and wait until very warm weather comes to use the air conditioning.

In Piano Lessons

Fun, fundamentals replace bordom

NEW YORK (AP) — Nearly 2 million children will start piano lessons this year but only 2 percent will actually enjoy lessons and continue them beyond 1980, says Dr. Robert Pace, executive director of the International Piano Teaching Foundation.

"The problem is that the traditional one-on-one teaching method, in which children learn pieces by rote, is not enjoyable for most of them," Pace explains. "And it teaches them very little about the fundamentals of music. They don't like it, and they don't understand why they should bother."

Pace has a remedy. He prescribes fun and fundamentals to replace boredom and nonunderstanding. His teaching technique is based on peer group learning situations and "comprehensive musicianship." Groups of students, age 4 and up, are taught not only repertoire, but also the fundamentals of music, rhythm, melody and harmony.

Pace has been teaching children in groups since 1952. As professor of music education at Teachers College, Columbia University, he has been teaching teachers to teach children in groups for as many years. In 1977 he assumed directorship of the foundation to train teachers across the country in his method.

"Peer learning really means peer teaching," says Pace. "Children learn directly and honestly from each other. I can teach music as a musician. But only an 8-year-old is an expert at being an 8-year-old and thinking like one."

Children are encouraged to listen to each other, observe one another, and offer constructive criticism. Every child has his or her strength, the music professor points out. One might be good at sight reading, another at improvisation. The students become role models for each other, and stimulate healthy competition, he says.

"Practice becomes a time when children prepare to go back to their friends with new accomplishments, ideas, and even a composition. If children learn the fundamentals of music, they can improvise on the piano and write it down," he says.

Ear training is one fundamental taught right from the start. The teacher strikes a low note and a high note on the piano, showing them to the student, then "hiding" a note in between. The child at a second piano, unable to see the note the teacher has played, has to find the note based on what he or she hears played, working on its relation to the other two notes.

Sight reading is another basic skill. From the beginning, children are taught to read in all keys with correct rhythm and phrasing. Reading notes on flash cards helps them to read music from a book as they play. In peer learning, a classmate will watch the player to make sure that he is not looking at the keyboard and that fingers are properly curved.

The piano is used in Pace's technique because it is a perfect vehicle for getting across the fundamentals of music, he says, adding that, once learned, they can be easily transferred from the piano to another instrument.

"The piano is like a big audiovisual tool," Pace explains: "Children hear the differences between a high and low note, a marching or waltzing rhythm, a major or minor progression. On the piano they can also see and feel music."

The activities are paced so that no one concept is worked on for too long, he notes. Children take turns frequently at the piano or blackboard. They play their compositions for each other and take part in mini-music festivals.

Exact amount still uncertain

Social Security living cost benefits to increase in July

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost-of-living increase Social Security beneficiaries will automatically begin receiving in July will likely be a record of about 10 percent, government sources predict.

The exact increase will not be known until April 26, when the Labor Department reveals the Consumer Price Index for March. Social Security benefits climb automatically each July if the index for the first three months of the year is 3 percent or more above the figure for the same period of the previous year.

Double-digit inflation in January and February already has helped boost the CPI to 9.3 percent above its level in the first quarter of 1978. The index's March jump, which is inevitable, will push it close to 10 percent, said the sources, who asked not to be identified.

Last July the nation's 34 million Social Security beneficiaries got a 6.5 percent increase. The highest previous automatic hike was 8 percent in 1975, following a year in which inflation hit a postwar high.

The trustees of the Social Security trust funds, meanwhile, were releasing their annual report to Congress today.

Last year the trustees, Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr., Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal and Labor Secretary Ray Marshall, reported higher taxes had put the system's retirement and disability trust funds on a sound footing until the early 21st century.

However, they said the Medicare hospital insurance trust fund will go broke by 1990 unless it receives additional revenues.

The cost-of-living increases, which have been automatic since 1975, are one reason the system has been thrown into the fiscal crisis that led Congress to pass higher taxes in 1977.

The maximum Social Security benefit for a worker retiring at age 65 in 1978 was $489 a month, so a 10 percent increase would boost his benefit to $538 a month, or $6,456 for 12 months. A spouse of retirement age is entitled to an extra 50 percent for a total benefit for the couple of $9,684.

Reactor fuel damage severe

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A federal agency's staff report says extensive damage to uranium fuel elements occurred during the early stages of the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant accident.

A preliminary evaluation by the staff of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission said much of the reactor's 100 tons of uranium was uncovered when pressurized coolant water was turned to steam.

"It was during these periods of deficient cooling that extensive damage to the fuel elements occurred," the NRC said Sunday in a status report.

The agency said the March 28 accident crumbled and twisted the zirconium alloy cladding that encased the reactor's uranium rods.

"Significant cladding oxidation occurred in the upper regions of the core and most fuel rods have some damage," the report said.

"The core geometry in the upper regions of the core, especially near the center, is believed to be severely distorted due to loss of fuel cladding integrity," it said.

But the report added that technicians believe temperatures did not reach 5,100 degrees Fahrenheit, the melting point of uranium.

Last week officials reported there was a remote chance of a meltdown during the cooling-off period because of the possibility gases might reform in the reactor chamber, reproducing the bubble that worried disaster workers in the early stages of the incident.

An uncontrolled meltdown of uranium is considered the worst possible accident that could occur in a reactor, because it could send geysers of deadly radioactive steam into the atmosphere.

Just how close Three Mile Island came to such a disaster won't be known until technicians can look inside the reactor, which is still hot and surrounded by high radiation.

Efforts to bring the reactor to a cold shutdown continued over the weekend, but at a slower rate than anticipated.

The NRC said Friday that pressurized coolant water circulating through the reactor core would be brought down from about 280 degrees to 230 degrees, just over the natural boiling point of water, at a rate of about 10 degrees per hour.

It dropped only to 250 degrees by the end of the day Saturday and to 249 degrees by late Sunday, although officials were not concerned. "The heat removal mode is being balanced by the heat generated in the core," said NRC spokesman Karl Abraham.

"It's just a slow and steady process, and time is on our side," he said.

Jailbreakers nabbed

COMANCHE, Texas (AP) — Comanche County authorities recaptured two prisoners during the weekend. The inmates escaped from jail by overpowering a jailer and a trusty Friday night.

Deputies arrested Louis Gonzalez, an ex-convict accused of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, shortly after midnight about 10 miles north of this Central Texas town.

The other jailbreaker, Mike Williams, was captured Saturday night about three miles north of Comanche hiding under a house traier. He had been accused of attempted capital murder.

Theft gang gets millions

OTTAWA (AP) — The biggest robbery in Canadian history netted a gang of well-briefed thieves an estimated $4 million to $5 million in negotiable money orders, traveler's checks and other loot from the main Ottawa postoffice, police said today.

The thieves broke through a door in the northeast corner of the block-long building early Sunday while the only guard was on duty at the southeast corner. They went to the registered mail room on the third floor, broke in and in two hours collected an estimated $2.4 million in negotiable American Express money orders and traveler's checks

The police said the thieves' obvious advance knowledge of the situation in the postoffice indicated that a postal employee was a member of the gang.

Esteli atrocities reported

ESTELI, Nicaragua (AP) — Broken glass and spent cartridge cases littered the streets and blood-stained sidewalks of Esteli as residents told of atrocities by President Anastasio Somoza's army during the week-long fight to take the city from leftist guerrillas.

Nearly every building in Esteli showed evidence of the fighting. Some were scarred by bullets. Others were reduced to rubble by cannon and mortar fire.

Townspeople who took refuge in the San Juan de Dios Hospital during the fighting said soldiers burst into the building Thursday afternoon, took 40 young persons outside and shot them.

"They shot four men right here in the hospital," said one woman. "All had been wounded and all were unconscious."

Stela Gonzalez de Selva said her husband, a doctor at the hospital, was among those killed by the soldiers.

"They burst into the hospital at 1:30 p.m. Thursday just as he was coming out of surgery," Mrs. Gonzalez said. "He had his surgical gown on and had been working around the clock.

"They took him outside, walked him down to the corner and shot his chest out with machine guns. They did it just for pleasure."

Another woman who had been at the hospital at the time confirmed the account and said she saw the doctor's body in the street, his chest cavity caved in by gunfire.

National guardsmen continued to surround the city Sunday night, refusing to let residents enter or leave the city. There were troops behind the barricades the Sandinista guerrillas threw up, and armored cars were at major intersections.

An estimated 400 guerrillas of the Sandinista National Liberation Front stormed the 100-man national guard garrison in the city of 35,000 on April 5. It was the biggest assault since the Sandinistas led an unsuccessful two-week uprising against the Somoza family dictatorship last September.

There was no reliable estimate of the number of persons killed during the week that the guerrillas held off Somoza's troops. Military officials, the Red Cross and residents declined to give estimates. Persons interviewed in the city told of 94 deaths. A spokesman for the national guard said the troops killed at least 46 guerrillas in retaking the city.

An Associated Press reporter-photographer team was allowed to spend 90 minutes in Esteli late Sunday. On their way out, troops confiscated the photos and cassette recordings they had made.

Occasional bursts of gunfire were heard, and nervous guardsmen fingered their weapons behind the barricades.

South of Esteli, two truckloads of guardsmen roared up to a farmhouse and forced the occupants out, hands on their heads. One guardsman swung his rifle like a baseball bat, hitting one man in the small of the back.

Chain collision fatal for three

CLEVELAND, Tenn. (AP) — A patch of dense fog caused a 16-car, chain-reaction pileup that killed three persons and injured 13 others on southeast Tennessee's Interstate 75, authorities said.

Highway Patrol Sgt. Lloyd Baker in Chattanooga said Carol M. Harris, 36, of Newport, Tenn., died in the Sunday morning crash along with a truck driver believed to be from Salt Lake City.

The third fatality, a 15-year-old boy who may have been related to Mrs. Harris, died Sunday night in a Chattanooga hospital, Baker said.

Authorities were continuing their investigation late Sunday, and no citations had been issued, he said.

Trooper Carlton Miller said the fog formed in a pocket at a point where the highway it crosses the Hiwassee River, about 30 miles northeast of Chattanooga.

"A mile from the accident, it was clear," Miller said. "The fog hits you all at once. It was just like walking into a dark room."

Explosion hits U.S. offices

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — An explosion early today shattered the main entrance of the John F. Kennedy Cultural Center in Beirut. It was the second attack on an American target in the Lebanese capital since Egypt and Israel signed their peace treaty last month.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said no one was injured in the blast, which occurred just after midnight. There was no one in the building when the blast occurred, he said.

The explosion blew in the center's main doors and dug a crater three feet in diameter in front of the entrance. It also shattered windows in a neighboring apartment building.

On April 2, eight days after Egypt and Israel signed the U.S.-sponsored treaty in Washinton, two rocket-propelled grenades damaged the first and fifth floors of the U.S. Embassy building. There also were no casualties in that attack.

Palestinian guerrilla forces linked in Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization said they nothing to do with today's attack. According to reliable reports, the PLO has assured the Lebanese government it will not hit American targets in Lebanon despite its vows to punish all those involved in the peace treaty.

Prison officer slain in Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A prison officer, walking hand-in-hand with his three-year-old daughter, was shot to death in Northern Ireland today as he left his sister's wedding.

Police said the officer, who was not immediately named, was killed by shots fired from behind a hedge outside St. Macartan's Cathedral in Clogher, County Tyrone. His child was unhurt.

They said the officer, who was in his early 20s, was going toward a car to drive to the wedding reception.

Resignation offer story unconfirmed

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements' office said today it could not confirm that Hugh Yantis, head of the state's Natural Resources Council, has offered to resign.

'The Deer Hunter' worthy of this year's Oscar

By MARTHA STEIMEL
Arts Editor

"The Deer Hunter" is not the first picture about Vietnam, nor will it be the last, but it will be a long, long time before there is one with greater impact.

It deals with the war as it ravaged the lives of three men and those who were close to them. It's not like "Coming Home" because it talks about more than the mangled men who are in veterans' hospitals.

"The Deer Hunter" rivets you to your seat, almost as though some extra G-forces were holding you there. This keeps happening for more than three hours as the powerful story goes on and on deeper and deeper.

Michael and Nick and Steven are the three men we learn to know. We know them as workers in the blast furnaces of a Pennsylvania steel mill, as bridegroom, best man and usher at Steve's wedding; roistering at the joyous wedding dance; as tuxedoed hunters enjoying their last deer hunt together before reporting for military duty.

Michael — Robert DeNiro — is the sensible one, the guy who always gets his deer with one shot. Steven — John Savage — is the sensitive one, loving his bride enough to marry her even though he's pretty sure he's not the father of the child she's carrying. Nick — Christopher Walken — is the intelligent, fun-loving one. Their friendship is deep, solid, dependable.

When they are reunited in Vietnam, it is to be captured almost at once, made pawns in the deadliest and bloodiest of gambling by the Viet Cong. It's Russian roulette that nobody can win.

Michael engineers an escape; he and Steve and Nick float down a muddy river, Nick is saved by a helicopter airlift and the other two mingle with the hordes of refugees fleeing North Vietnam.

It is easy to see why Christopher Walken won the Oscar as best supporting actor this year. His performance is absolutely stunning. He dances as he shoots pool in the steelworkers' after-shift hangout; he roisters through the wedding and then, pulls a trigger that shatters his sanity instead of his brain. It's remarkable.

DeNiro, as always, is entirely in command of his character. Michael could have been the too-noble hero; instead DeNiro makes him seem exactly right, reacing to danger with the same detachment that he does to his raucously-planned homecoming.

More of "The Deer Hunter" takes place in Clairton, Pa., than it does in Vietnam. The contrasts in the mill town, dominated by its fiery giant of a mill; and Saigon, full of the seamiest sort of characters yet overlapping, are both dramatic and to the point.

Michael Cimino directs this movie, named the best picture of the year by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. It's not for the squeamish, because there is lots of blood, lots of horror and more naked fear than I've ever seen on any screen.

The horror isn't all in battle, either. It happens when Michael loses his own control for a moment on a welcome-home deer hunt. It is reinforced when he finds Steven a triple-amputee in a Veterans Administration Hospital and persuades him to go back home. It is magnified when he finds the zombie Nick, still in Saigon and meshed in the deadliest game of all, far deadlier than the war that trapped him into it.

Meryl Streep is in the movie. She plays Linda, Nick's fiancee. She is an actress that built a huge new group of fans when she appeared in "The Holocaust" on television. In this picture she is worth remarking and remembering as well.

Vietnam affected all out lives in one way or another. This movie shows us a sampling of lives from a Russian-American community, a reservoir of strength.

"The Deer Hunter" is at Parker Square Cinema and is rate rated R because of language and violence. The movie could not have been made without them.

Profiles ...no wedding bells

LONDON (AP) — LINDA RONSTADT watchers note: she says he hasn't proposed to her, she hasn't married him, and she doesn't want to hear anymore about such "absurd rumors."

He, of course, is California Gov. EDMUNG G. BROWN JR. But when the 32-year-old singer arrived at London's Heathrow Airport from Kenya on Sunday night, it was "Governor who?" when reporters asked if she and the 41-year-old Brown had gotten married.

"I don't know him, really. Why are you asking me these questions?," she replied.

"No, I haven't married him, and I would like to know how these absurd rumors get about."

And, as for those rumors, she said: "Would you marry somebody you'd known for just two years? I know some rock stars have reputations for whirlwind romances, but I don't."

Brown and Ms. Ronstadt arrived in Nairobi, Kenya, on Friday after spending two days at a wildlife camp in southern Kenya.

Brown also was expected to arrive in London from Tanzania, where he attended Easter services at a Roman Catholic church with President JULIUS NYERERE.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor HENRY FONDA, who just returned from a one-week hospital stay in Chicago, has been admitted to Cedars-Sinai Medical Center, hospital officials said.

Fonda entered the hospital Sunday night for tests and observation of the same affliction that kept him hospitalized in Chicago – "inflammatory arthritis of the left hip," said spokesman ROBERT POWELL.

Fonda's physician said he was in excellent condition, Powell said.

The 73-year-old stage and screen star reportedly injured his hip here during a performance of "First Monday in October" last month. He was appearing in the same play in Chicago when he was admitted to Michael Reese Hospital there, and flew home following his release Saturday.

LINDA RONSTADT
...she's still single

And the singer, honored here for raising nearly $600,000 for the Atlantic City Medical Center, said the city could always count on his help.

"We are all in this together," he said Sunday. "We are partners in humanity. If you ever need me, just holler. I'll be around every hour of the day and night loving you all."

During the rededication ceremony, the hospital named its eight-story, 170-bed south wing for Sinatra. The rededication was in honor of a performance by the singer that raised nearly $600,000 for the hospital.

The 42-year-old minister told his congregation at Easter Sunday services that he will join the White House staff May 15. He has been pastor of the north Georgia church for 7½ years.

Among the 850 members of the congregation are JACK and JUDY CARTER, one of the president's sons and his wife.

Saying he is "cut from the same cloth" as the president, Maddox said he accepted the position "out of a sense of call and responsibility."

Carter is also a Baptist. Maddox said he met the president in the mid-1960s during church activities.

Silent film Cisco dies

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP) — Herbert Stanley Dunn, who played the original Cisco Kid in silent pictures from 1913 to 1915, has died of a stroke.

Dunn, 87, who starred in about 100 Cisco Kid movies, apparently suffered a stroke as he prepared for bed Friday night.

The son of an Irish sea captain and an Algonquin Indian actress, Dunn was born in Brooklyn in 1891.

Easter trip gas hard to find

By The Associated Press

American motorists taking an Easter day drive found tight supplies of gasoline in some parts of the country, leading to empty fuel tanks and pleas for help.

Phones "were running over" with calls from drivers looking for an open gas station, the emergency road dispatcher for the American Automobile Association in Seattle said Sunday. "We can't keep up with it."

State police in the Seattle area were giving motorists one or two gallons to limp into gas stations, but some stations ran out of gasoline.

Andrew Bozek, a spokesman for the Chicago Motor Club, said the office had gotten 10 to 20 calls this weekend from motorists stranded because of empty tanks. He said not many stations were open over the weekend, but mostly because of the holiday, not a lack of gas.

Many service stations decided to close on Sundays following recent delivery cutbacks by suppliers. The American Petroleum Institute said last week that gasoline inventories are about 11 percent below 1978 levels, largely due to the Iranian crisis and high demand. Most oil companies have limited the amount of fuel they will sell dealers to about 90 percent of last year's levels.

DENVER (AP) — The Colorado Division of Wildlife says a combination of emergency feeding programs and milder weather has averted the threat of widespread death among the state's deer and elk.

Severe winter conditions, called the worst in decades, had prompted wildlife experts to predict that up to 60 percent of the state's deer and 20 percent of the elk would die for lack of food. But Division of Wildlife spokesman Pete Hansson said those early estimates have been sharply reduced.

Field Syndicate

NEW YORK — Susan Saint James of all those TV shows flashed a diamond ring from redhead rock superstar Stephen Stills and said, "Unless he asks for it back we're going to get married . . . probably in August.

Susie, who's seen constantly on "McMillan and Wife" reruns with Rock Hudson and on "The Name of the Game," says Stephen Stills, the Texas-Louisiana-Southern singer, formerly of Crosby, Stills & Nash, asked her father for her hand and also wrote a beautiful song about her. This was all for Susan Saint James who plays opposite George Hamilton as Dracula's love interest in the spoof "Love at First Bite."

In Australia she got her ankle tattooed. "I wanted my grandchildren to think their grandmother was something wild.

Susan, who's been married twice, has a daughter, Sunshine, and a son' Harmony. She has joined Stephen on a Southern tour. They met in November on a blind date and the way they tell it now, it was love at first bite.

ROBERT REDFORD is being asked to shorten his hair for his next film, "Brubaker," about a prison warden, to be shot in Lancaster, Ohio, but we hear he doesn't wanna. Director Bob Rafelson is reported in favor. It's believed that the ladies would never accept the reduction of his blondeness to anything short.

LIZA MINELLI'S been having a flirtation with a handsome South American model Pedro Aquinado, so they tell me . . . Rod Stewart has moments when he talks of marrying Alana Hamilton . . . Producers of "Stepping Out," a film about three oldsters who couldn't live on relief and robbed a bank, are trying to get Lee Strasberg to join George Burns and Art Carney.

SHIRLEY JONES fell on the ice seven times at Wollman Rink while she was filming a TV movie, "Shirley," between rains yesterday. Shirley and everybody got drenched. She portrays a woman starting out a new life, and along the line she may find herself cast in romantic situations with Pat Wayne, John Wayne's son, or Adam West of "Batman" fame. Shirley didn't call for a stunt woman to take her falls. NBC prez Fred Silverman is interested in this show as a one-hour weekly series.

SHOW BIZ QUIZ: What role was played by both Bob Hope and Charles Laughton? Ans. to yesterday's: Jo Stafford and husband Paul Weston made off-key albums as Jonathan and Darlene Edwards.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Joan Rivers claims that one of her maiden aunts finally got a husband. "She married so late in life that Medicare paid for the honeymoon."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: This is the time of year, says Bobby Vinton, when the weatherman's likely to get rid of anYthing he has in stock.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: The happy man is he who lives the life of love, not for the honors it maY bring, but for the life itself. — R. J. Baughan.

EARL'S PEARLS: Stan Babich is proud of his wife: "She's very careful about money — always spends it fast so she won't lose it."

Services for Mrs. Rillar Devers of 803 Rosewood, who died Thursday in a Wichita Falls hospital, will be at 1 p.m. Tuesday in Antioch Baptist Church. The body will lie in view at the church from 11:30 a.m. to 12:45 p.m.

The Rev. Melvin Montgomery, pastor of Mount Zion Baptist Church at Graham, Texas, will officiate. Burial will be in Lakeview Cemetery under the direction of Wells Funeral Home.

Born in Bienville Parish, La., Mrs. Devers had been a resident of the city for 60 years and was a member of Antioch Baptist Church.

Survivors include two sons, Louis D. Thomas of Chicago and Tommy Lee Ruth of New York City, and one grandchild.

Woman killed in car accident

A Wichita Falls woman was killed and two Wichitans were injured Sunday in a two-car collision on Texas 79 service road northeast of Holiday Inn East.

Grace M. Standifer, 72, of 703 Taylor, died about 5:30 p.m. Sunday at Bethania Hospital where she, her husband and the driver of the second vehicle were taken after the 3 p.m. accident.

Her husband, Ernest M., 74, remained in stable condition today, and Glen Wade Austin, 23, driver of the other car, was treated Sunday and released.

Police said the Standifers' car was southbound on Texas 79 West service road when it collided with Austin's car, which was eastbound on the service road leading to Texas 79 East.

The collision spun the Standifers' car in a half-circle before it came to rest just short of a light pole. Austin's car was knocked about 100 feet.

Learning disabilities meeting cancelled

Thursday's meeting of the Wichita Falls Area Council for Children with Learning Disabilities has been cancelled. The next meeting will be on May 17th.

The executive board meeting formerly scheduled for Tuesday will be postponed and board members will be notified when it is rescheduled.

Nortex Regional Planning Commission executive committee meeting scheduled Thursday has been cancelled.

E. J. Johnson, chairman, said officials will be notified if the meeting is rescheduled.

Some missing said found

Persons listed by the Wichita Falls Police Department as believed to be missing from tornado-related causes as of Saturday night have apparently been accounted for, a police department spokesman said today.

Two still missing in raft accident

ROOSEVELT, Ariz. (AP) — Two University of Arizona students were missing after four of five rafts carrying 16 students on an outing down the Salt River overturned below an intake dam, authorities said.

David Jordan of the Gila County Search and Rescue squad said the chances of the two missing students being found alive were slim.

A spokesman for the Gila County Sheriff's department said the party, sponsored by the UA Students Activities Board and a Tucson sporting goods store, was looking for a place to beach about five miles east of Roosevelt Lake.

"They could see the place but they couldn't see the rapids," said one deputy.

Burkburnett

AN IMPORTANT AND LENGTHY AGENDA faces Burkburnett City Council when it convenes at 7 p.m. Tuesday at City Hall.

The monthly session was postponed from the normal third Monday time because of Easter vacation.

Heading the agenda will be the election of a mayor and mayor pro tem following the canvass of the April 7 election. New councilmen Pat Yarmoski, Coy Martin and Doss Hamilton will be sworn in by City Attorney Joe Janeke.

Other agenda items include approval of the fiscal year 79-80 budget, setting a tax rate and discussion of the water rate and amendment of the Wichita Falls water contract.

City depository bids will be opened and a health officer named.

Iowa Park

IOWA PARK CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IS coordinating a list of available housing for persons who have been left homeless from last week's tornado in Wichita Falls.

Electra

A RECEPTION HONORING ELECTRA'S new doctor Surreye Boztepe will be from 7 to 9 p.m. today in the Electra Chamber of Commerce.

ELECTRA CITY COUNCIL HAS APPROVED a voluntary water rationing program to begin Friday.

Commissioners are asking Electra residents south of Business Route U.S. 287 and residents in Harrold, Texas, to use water outside of domestic purposes only on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Persons north of the business route and outside of the city limits may use the water on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Residents have been asked not to use water on Sundays except for household purposes.

Councilmen recently approved a water purchasing contract with Wichita Falls to give Electra 500,000 gallons of raw water daily at 14 cents per 1,000 gallons.

City of Electra will have a maximum two years before the pipeline may be laid to Lake Kickapoo and the contract will become effective at that time.

City fathers also approved a pre-application to obtain funds from Department of Housing and Urban Development for construction of 24 additional low-rent public housing in Electra.

The council named Jannis Hayers, Jewell Livingston and Jack Hollis to Electra Service Corporation board.

Kirk indictment dismissed

By PHIL RINGMAN
Staff Writer

An aggravated perjury indictment against former District Judge Stanley Kirk has been dismissed because of faulty wording, District Attorney Tim Eyssen said today.

Kirk was indicted April 4 by the Wichita County grand jury for allegedly making false statements to the StateCommission on Judicial Conduct, incorrectly called the State Judicial Qualifications Commission, Eyssen said.

Eyssen said he met with Kirk's attorneys last week in Fort Worth who said they would attend Wednesday's grand jury meeting to present Kirk's case.

Kirk's attorneys said they were unable to attend previous grand jury meetings where they were invited to testify because of conflicts with other court cases, attorney Mike Hinton said earlier.

Hinton, one of Kirk's attorneys and his partner in a Houston law firm, said Kirk never would have been indicted if his attorneys had been able to speak to the grand jury.

"They assured me they would be present the 18th," Eyssen said.

No motive found in double suicide

TURNER CENTER, Maine (AP) — Police say they can find no motive for the double suicide of an elderly couple who had celebrated their 50th wedding anniversity just a few months ago.

Bigg was an accomplished musician and had played violin with such bands as the Paul Whiteman Orchestra, Fred Waring, Jan Garber, Myer Davis and others. He also played with the Philadelphia Symphony and with many local symphonies in Maine.

A son, Dort Bigg Jr., said his parents had been ill for some time, and a police investigator said Biggs had terminal cancer.

Wallace Viles, Androscoggin County medical examiner, confirmed the deaths as a double suicide, but would not discuss the cause of death, pending the outcome of laboratory tests.

"They lived life completely and fully at all times," said Dort Bigg Jr. of his parents. "Their lives were composed of giving. They always had family and friends in mind."

Mrs. Bigg was a sister of William Zeckendorf, a real estate consultant who was instrumental in developing the property where the United Nations is located in New York.

Help available for disabled vets

Many vicitms of last week's tornadoes are finding relief spelled D.A.V. as tons of clothing and cash grants were made available today.

Grants are being made available to victims with military service-related disabilities by the Disabled American Veterans, as well as clothing and other donated items available to any and all storm victims.

Glynn Neal and Ken Smith, national service officers for the D.A.V. from the Dallas and Waco offices, are in Wichita Falls today and tomorrow. They will be interviewing disabled veterans who sustained tornado-related losses and issuing checks on the spot to provide a means of meeting immediate needs.

"The money (for the grants) is coming from our organization in Cincinnati, Ohio (national D.A.V. headquarters)," Neal said this morning. "We have more than 600,000 members in the United States, and funds are set aside (from membership dues) for disaster relief."

In order to qualifiy for grants, Neal said, service-connected victims must prove they are not receiving duplicate funds from other agencies, organizations or insurance.

Persons who feel they may qualify for these grants should come to the D.A.V. Center, 417 Indiana, with proof of their veteran status, Neal added.

"We will have an interview with each individual and discuss with them their losses and ask them at that time if they have received other monitary benefits from other agencies.

"The checks (being issued on the spot) are for limited amounts, naturally," Neal said. "We cannot cover all damages. We're able to give them something to tide them over, to help them out a little."

Neal added that a similar operation has been established in Lawton, Okla., for tornado victims there, and that Vernon veterans may come to Wichita Falls to apply for grants.

Meanwhile, workers with the Wichita Falls D.A.V. chapter were working to keep up with the tide of donations coming into the center almost by the minute.

"It's completely overwhelmed me the way people have come forward to help," Lynn Meador, D.A.V. representative, said.

"We haven't even gotten to these yet," Mrs. Meador said, indicating a mountain of clothes bundled like bails of cotton. "This is about one and a half tons of clothing we just unloaded off a truck from Chapter 32 in Tulsa."

D.A.V. volunteers were busy throughout the center. One woman, a victim of Tuesday's devastation, sat trying on shoes with tears in her eyes. The eyes of a volunteer helping the woman were tear-filled as well, but the tears could not dim the volunteer's broad, satisfied smile.

In addition to numerous Wichita Falls merchants and units from Sheppard Air Force Base, donations were pouring in from Arlington, Fort Worth, Dallas, Amarillo, Bowie and other locations.

Many of the donated clothes, shoes, bedding and other items were coming from schools and churches and being channeled to Wichita Falls through various D.A.V. chapters.

Mrs. Meador said that the donated items are available to any disaster victims regardless of prior military service.

Accident victim reported in stable condition

Marilyn Shelton of Lawrence Road was reported in stable condition at Bethania Hospital late Saturday after being injured about 7 p.m. in a one vehicle accident at Avenue K and Seymour Road.

Police said Mrs. Lawrence was reportedly driving westbound on Seymour when her vehicle lost control and crashed through an electrical pole. She was pinned in her car for approximately 30 minutes before firemen freed her with the Jaws of Life.

Accidents mar pageant

MEDICINE PARK, Okla. (AP) — A resurrection and three deaths were remembered Sunday as crowds came to an accident studded Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge Easter Sunrise Service.

Crowds estimated at over 12,000 came to the service, which is held in the Lawton area, and heard prayers for the victims of last week's tornadoes, which killed three in Lawton.

Authorities said that during and following the annual presentation of biblical scenes from the life of Jesus several accidents were reported.

Service officials said one girl in the play had to be taken by helicopter to a hospital after she scratched her eye with a wire used in an angel costume.

Also, an automobile owned by Bertie Toyekoyak, Lawton, was engulfed in flames when a spark from an auto leaving the service started a grass fire, police said.

Firefighters said they were able to douse the blaze before it did any further major damage or injured anyone.

Oklahoma

Oklahomans eying lilies as cancer medicine source

And though they neither toil nor spin, those Easter flowers are being touted as a possible extender of life for victims of cancer.

Tweedy says people have used the extract of the Easter lily for years, and that after its use, "people who should be dead are still alive."

Neither the National Cancer Institute nor the Food and Drug Administration condones the use of lily extract.

Proponents of the substance, in a campaign resembling that over the apricot extract known as Laetrile, have a bill on the floor of the state Senate that would allow doctors to prescribe the substance.

Backers are hoping to organize a national association to be headquartered in Tulsa to promote use of lily extract in cancer treatment.

Donations of Easter lily blossoms were to be accepted through today at the First Christian Church of Jenks, a Tulsa suburb.

Tweedy said the lily extract is available free in Tulsa. The substance is not illegal, but its use for medical purposes is outside the law.

Spooked elephant goes for a walk

PAULS VALLEY, Okla. (AP) — Pauls Valley looked a little like darkest Africa recently when an air horn convinced Bunny to take brief walk through a residential area of the city.

Bunny is a huge circus elephant, from the Carson and Barnes Circus, and was being used to unload equipment in the city Thursday. Police said a blast from an air horn spooked the animal and she ran through two fences, a backyard garden and sent a pet dog packing before being calmed by handlers.

They said no one was injured and the damage weren't major.

Last photos of child wanted

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A camera containing some of the last pictures of an 18-month-old girl who was killed recently is being sought by the baby's relatives.

Elda Finney of Oklahoma City, who is the grandmother of young Jamie Johnson, said Sunday she is asking that a camera left at the scene of the young girl's death, or at least the film from the camera, be returned to the family.

She said the young girl died Saturday when a rock or projectile of some type, probably thrown from the wheels of a passing vehicle, hit her as she was being pulled in a wagon near the community of Newalla.

Her mother, Mrs. Carla Johnson, was pulling the girl in a small wagon after taking her to a nearby residence for an Easter celebration. Mrs. Finney said a camera used to take pictures of the young girl in her Easter clothes was also in the wagon.

"Those are the last pictures of the baby," Mrs. Finney said. "It is really important to the mother that we get them back."

She said that after the accident Mrs. Johnson left the wagon and camera at the scene and someone apparently took them. She says no questions will be asked if the film is returned.

Students work on schools

BYNG, Okla. (AP) — New buildings are going up on the campus of the Byng school system, partly due to the efforts of a large group construction workers who look remarkably like students.

In fact they are vocational-technical students, who as part of their vo-tech classes have been laying brick, doing carpentry and pouring concrete to help the system with construction needed to keep up with rapid student body growth.

Because the district had long ago reached its maximum indebtedness "and we couldn't vote any more bonds," Superintendent Marvin Stokes said. "It meant new buildings had to be built by the kids."

The concept isn't new to the system, which has grown from 250 to 1,600 students in the last 20 years. Stokes said the teen-age builders first went to work 15 years ago and of the 37 buildings on the campus "about 30" were built with student labor.

"The main benefit of the program is that the students learn a trade, and this is good," Stokes said.

By CARROLL COPELIN
Staff Writer

You know, the President's energy program has me feeling almost unpatriotic. I heard his plea for us Americans to conserve all the energy we could, but after thinking about it, there doesn't seem to be anything I can do to help.

I can't join a car pool and thereby save hundreds of gallons of gasoline a month. No one on the staff who lives within 10 miles of me has to come to work as early as I do.

I don't drive over the speed limit — something I've been tempted to do of late as I almost get run over every morning coming in on the expressway.

I don't drive a big gas-guzzling automobile. The 4-year-old six-cylinder economy version is all I can afford.

I set my thermostat on 74 degrees in the summer and 68 in the winter to save electricity.

I even turn the light out in the men's room at the office when I leave.

What, then, is there for a guy like me to do to help my country and President? There's the rub. I'm already doing everything I can think of to help out.

Multiply my plight by the millions of others just like me, and the number of us who want to help but don't know how is staggering. Some of us were discussing this in the coffee shop the other day, and the question of "what appliance would you give up if it came down to a choice" came up.

Electric skillets, crock pots, toasters and even hair dryers were mentioned, but then one smart-alec turned the discussion into mush when he offered us a choice of either the air conditioner or the dish washer or the clothes washer and dryer.

Now, that's when he quit preaching and went to meddling! Not even someone with an "America, love it or leave it" bumper sticker is going to make that kind of sacrifice for his country.

Seriously, though, if it actually came down to all of us having to make that kind of choice, I wonder what it would be? Personally, I'd probably give up the clothes washer and dryer since I don't have them now, but to choose between my apartment's summer air conditioning and its dish washer would be a tough decision.

A mother would probably opt to keep the clothes washer and and dryer over anything else. A husband might be willing to give up the dishwasher over, all else.

The same attitude holds true for those who could really contribute something to an energy conservation program. A factory employing several thousand workers isn't going to turn the air conditioning down one degree — because workers would complain. A national truck line isn't going to order its drivers to cut their speed by 20 miles an hour — they won't even force them to conform to the present 55 mile per hour speed limit.

What then is the answer? I honestly don't know. I only know that the problem is there, and someone is going to have to solve it.

Justice served on jury, in more ways than one

HOUSTON (AP) — Justice of the Peace Paul Till said he was surprised when he was selected to serve on a jury in a civil district court case.

"I could have ducked it but a lot of people come into my court for jury service," Till said after the civil trial ended Thursday.

"It would have been chicken for me to duck service and then turn around and ask them to serve."

"It's been an education to me," he said, adding that he gained insight into the attitudes and problems of jurors.

Attorneys in the case agreed the selection of Till on the jury was no accident.

Riecke Baumann, a plaintiff's lawyer, said he thought bias might come into play in the jury's deliberations and that Till's legal training "would keep it close to the straight and narrow."

Raymond Matthews, a defense lawyer, said he likes the way Till thinks.

Volunteers signal bond of kindness, concern

Susan Hunt, 14, left, and Stella Frazier, 31, were two of many Wichitans who pitched in to help at the Red Cross after last week's tragedy-laden tornado. "We heard on television they needed volunteers," Mrs. Frazier said, "And we'll come back as long as they need us."

Miss Hunt, an eighth grader at Barwise, and Mrs. Frazier didn't know each other before their volunteer duty together, but became acquainted while they registered victims and gave out information. "Some people have come wanting to give blood," Miss Hunt noted, "And people are dropping by from out of town and even out of state with food and clothing."

At that moment, a man who had driven in from Walters, Okla., walked up with clothing, 24 loaves of bread, cakes, hamburger buns. He is only one example of widespread benevolence. Mrs. Frazier said, "I was on the phone at first calling shelters to see what supplies they needed, and they had almost everything. They even had enough volunteers. People are being so helpful."

Mrs. Frazier's voluntarism was a particular sacrifice. An employee at Ebner Brothers Packing plant, she has been off work after hip and knee surgery. But, crutches and all, she came with her young daughter Tina to help out. "Everyone has helped me so many times, I'm glad to help," she said.

It appears in the aftermath of destruction, something important is being built in this city, too strong for tragedy to destroy — a bond of kindness and concern. Miss Hunt is the daughter of Helen Hunt, 1685 Woodrow. Mrs. Frazier and family live at 16 Thaten Dr.

Artist captures primitive cultures with adventures

By GENE SCHROEDER
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Lunda Hoyle Gill has shared a shower with a deadly poisonous green mamba snake, traveled down a jungle river in a dugout while crocodiles glided alongside, and been stranded four days on a fogbound island in the middle of the Bering Sea, 40 miles from Siberia.

It's all part of the job for the portrait artist, a 5-foot-2, green-eyed blonde with a rare taste for adventure and a determination to preserve on canvas the vanishing cultures of the world.

"I'm too naive to be scared," says Mrs. Gill, of McLean, Va., whose travels have taken her to Africa, Papua New Guinea, Indonesia, Australia and Alaska in the past five years.

Her goal is to capture the beauty of the cultures of primitive tribes, such as the Masai in Kenya and the aborigines in Australia, before they disappear forever under the encroachment of so-called civilization.

"They're vanishing so fast," she said. "Everybody wants to wear Levi's and T-shirts now, and all the native women want to look like Ann-Margret."

Mrs. Gill explains that as a child she learned not to be afraid of people because she moved around frequently with her parents, mainly in California.

"So I feel very free to go to anybody or into any situation," she said. "I think that by my opening up to them, they open up to me. I really couldn't paint these people if they didn't give themselves totally to me."

Mrs. Gill's portraits hang in museums, universities and private collections in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Europe. They are also on view in various embassies around the world.

Currently, the Smithsonian Institution's Museum of Natural History is showing a collection of her paintings of Eskimos, entitled "Alaska's Native People." An earlier Smithsonian show, in 1976, exhibited her paintings and sketches of Kenyans.

Mrs. Gill, who works exclusively with oils, renders most of her paintings with a palette knife, a method which seems to bring the portraits alive with varying textures.

"I find when I take this dead canvas and all of a sudden it turns into a living human being looking back at me, the excitement is unbelievable," she said.

When she packs for a trip she has to take "every single thing" with her, including turpentine. For food she carries tuna fish, oranges, bread that doesn't mold, plus water.

First-time entrant takes the Masters

The triumph came on the second hole of a sudden death playoff — first in Masters history — with 1977 champion Tom Watson and Ed Sneed, a bitterly disappointed 11-year veteran who saw his hopes of a first major title slip by when he blew a 5-shot advantage in the tricky winds of the famed Augusta National Golf Club course.

The victory came on an eight-foot putt on the 445-yard 11th hole, a part of the famous Amen Corner that has provided victory as well as agonizing defeat during the 43 years of this prestigious event.

"I just had to let one go," he said of the booming shot off the tee at 11, one that carried almost 300 yards and left him within easy range of the flag, some 150 yards away.

When the putt fell, the broad-shouldered Indiana native hurled his putter into the air, raised his arms in a victory salute and embraced his caddy, Jerry Beard, who Zoeller said "led me around all week long."

The fifth-year professional thus destroyed the myth that a player in his first Masters had no chance to win.

"I felt none of that pressure," he said.

"To me, all the pressure was put on by other people. They were the ones that said I couldn't win. I never said it. I wouldn't have been here if I didn't think I could win."

But he did have some doubts earlier in the round.

"I didn't think I had a chance (going to 15)," Zoeller said. "I was sitting at 7-under and Ed was at 11."

But Sneed then opened the door by going bogey-bogey-bogey on the final three holes, giving him a closing 76 on a sunny Easter Sunday that left him at 8-under-par 280, a figure matched by Watson's closing 71 and Zoeller's 70.

He also had to worry about Jack Nicklaus, who reached 8-under with a birdie at 16, only to lose that shot when he bogeyed 17 and finished at 69-281.

He built his advantage back to three with birdies at the two par 5s, Nos. 13 and 15, before disaster struck.

"I never at any time felt like I lost control," Sneed said. "It just didn't happen. There's no other way to explain it."

The victory was worth $50,000 to the 5-foot-10, 190-pound Zoeller, who had earned his first tour victory earlier this season in the San Diego Open — a triumph that got him into this invitational event.

Texas' bullpen aces come back to earth

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

The pitchers are supposed to be ahead of the hitters this time of year, but you'd never know it from Sunday's American League games. Five teams scored in double figures and the 14 AL clubs combined for 96 runs, an average of nearly seven per game.

"That was wild and wooly," said Detroit Manager Les Moss, after his Tigers rallied for seven runs after two were out in the ninth inning to hand the Texas Rangers their first loss of the season Sunday, 11-6. "What's the odds on something like that happening?"

Tigers 11, Rangers 6

With two out, the bases empty and relief ace Sparky Lyle on the mound, the Rangers' seventh victory appeared to be in the bag. Nine batters later, the Detroit Tigers had handed Texas Manager Pat Corrales his first major league loss.

The Tigers loaded the bases against Lyle, who was making his fifth appearance in as many days, on two walks and a single. Corrales then called on Jim Kern, who had pitched well early this season but was hit on the wrist by a line drive Friday night.

Kern yielded a two-run single to Mankowski and RBI singles to Tim Corcoran and Lynn Jones. An error by Texas shortstop Bert Campaneris kept the inning going and Parrish capped it with his two-run double.

"I don't think anybody should be shocked that we finally lost a game," he said, adding, "161-1 should win it."

Twins 18, Mariners 6

The Twins scored three times in the first and fourth innings and five times in the fifth and eighth innings. Their 18 runs and 20 hits were the most against the Mariners in the franchise's three-year history.

"It was one of those days when they could have thrown the resin bag up and sombody would have hit it for a two-base hit," said Twins Manager Gene Mauch. "It's a lot of fun when you're on this side. I'm just glad I'm not on the other side."

Red Sox 14, Indians 4

Remy drove in two runs with a triple and a single, Burleson had three RBI with a double and a single, Lynn hit a two-run homer and Scott had a two-run single as the Red Sox drove 13 hits, eight of them for extra bases.

Royals 12, Blue Jays 10

Kansas City struck for four runs in the eighth inning on three doubles and a pair of singles to overtake Toronto. Hal McRae drove in the first run of the eighth with a double, Amos Otis tied the score with a single, Wathan singled home the go-ahead run and Clint Hurdle capped the rally with an RBI double.

Angels 8, A's 1

The Angels completed a three-game sweep of the A's in which they outscored Oakland 27-5 and collected 40 hits, including five home runs. As a team California is batting .313.

Carew had a homer and three singles in his best day since joining the Angels as a free agent during the offseason. It raised his season batting average to .368.

Yankees 6, White Sox 5

Mickey Rivers broke a 4-4 tie with a run-scoring double in the ninth inning and scored on a single by Willie Randolph that Chicago right fielder Claudell Washington lost in the sun as the Yankees beat the White Sox.

The White Sox got one run back in the bottom of the ninth on an RBI single by Alan Bannister before Rich Gossage got Eric Soderholm to ground into a game-ending double play.

Brewers 4, Orioles 2

Larry Hisle belted a two-run homer and Mike Caldwell shut out Baltimore for eight innings as the Brewers completed their three-game sweep of the Orioles.

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

"We've got the hitting, pitching and guys who can run," declared Houston Astros' left fielder Jose Cruz. "If we put it all together, we're going to be tough."

The San Francisco Giants surely are believers after Cruz blasted two homers and knocked in eight runs Sunday as Houston posted a 4-3, 9-1 doubleheader sweep to climb into first place in the National League West.

Since being traded to the Philadelphia Phillies from the New York Mets four years ago, Tug McGraw has come back on more than one occasion to haunt his old teammates. Now Nino Espinosa is beginning to scare them a bit.

Ruthven and McGraw combined on an eight-hitter and Bob Boone drove in the winning run with a sixth-inning single in Philadelphia's opening-game triumph. Espinosa got hitting support in the nightcap from Mike Schmidt, who slugged a three-run homer for the Phillies in the eighth.

Braves 11, Dodgers 4

Barry Bonnell and Jerry Royster each drove in three runs to pace Atlanta over Los Angeles. Atlanta scored four runs in the first two innings off Burt Hooton and added five more in the seventh and eighth against reliever Charlie Hough. The Braves picked up two more runs in the ninth with the help of a throwing error by first baseman Steve Garvey.

"In the four years I've been with the Braves, this is by far the best series we have played," said Royster, whose Braves beat the Dodgers three out of four times over the weekend.

Cards 9, Pirates 4

A three-run double by Keith Hernandez capped a five-run, 10th-inning burst that triggered St. Louis past Pittsburgh in a game played in cold weather and intermittent rain at Three Rivers Stadium.

Bernie Carbo's sacrifice fly preceded Hernandez's big hit, then Tony Scott singled home the final run of the rally off Pirates reliever Kent Tekulve. Winner Mark Littell pitched the final two innings.

Cubs 5, Expos 1

Lynn McGlothen pitched a six-hitter and Dave Kingman slammed a two-run homer to pace Chicago over Montreal. The victory was the Cubs' first of the year after four losses.

The Cubs nicked Expos starter Steve Rogers for a run in each of the first two innings, then scored three more times in the sixth on Bill Buckner's RBI double and Kingman's two-run shot.

Astros 4-9, Giants 3-1

Jose Cruz belted two home runs — one in each game — and drove in eight runs to power Houston's sweep of San Francisco. Right-hander J.R. Richard improved his record to 3-0 with relief help from Joe Sambito in the opener and right-hander Joaquin Andujar pitched a five-hitter in the second game.

Padres 6-5, Reds 3-7

San Diego scored six unearned runs and Randy Jones gained his second victory of the year with relief help from John D'Acquisto as the Padres won their opener from Cincinnati.

Boston Marathon race today

Dodging bicycles and horse-drawn carriages, John J. McDermott of New York covered the 26 miles, 385 yards in what was considered a remarkable time of 2 hours, 55 minutes, 10 seconds.

Today, on the 83rd birthday of one of the world's most prestigious marathons, McDermott would barely qualify. There's a rigid standard of 3 hours for men and 3½ hours for women and for men over 40.

The more than 7,800 qualifiers, including 517 women, were to start at noon at the little town of Hopkinton and finish at the Prudential Center in Boston's Back Bay.

Defending champion Bill Rodgers, who set the course record of 2:09.55 in 1975, was favored. The Boston sporting goods store owner was listed at 2-1 by a Las Vegas bookmaker publishing odds on the race for the first time.

Putting up a new building too often means paying more than you expected and taking longer than you thought.
The most frequent reason? No one person is clearly in control. That can cause a basic communication breakdown among all parties involved, resulting in confusion, cost overruns and missed deadlines.
But we offer you a team of construction professionals capable of controlling your entire project ...concept to completion.
We can handle all the details—planning, rights-of-way, permits, construction, even landscaping. We'll make sure you get your building on-time and on-budget. And we'll do it using construction methods and building systems that can cut up to 40% off some conventional building timetables.
So if your next building has time and budget limitations, call us. We'll give you both the building and the control you need. 277

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Avoid negativism and stick to the goals you've set for yourself. This could be a very productive day if you don't let doubts stop you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Social situations call for dignified behavior today. Be especially on guard that you're not careless in your speech, or you'll make the wrong impression.

GEMINI (May 21-June 30) Family matters should be handled with a firm hand today, or one whose motives are a wee bit selfish could cost you some money.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Stick to taking care of all the small details today and the big picture will come into focus. Don't be awed by the size of your task.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Today will be materially rewarding if you don't look for others to help you out, even if they promised you they would. Rely on yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't back out of a fun thing you've planned because of some minor problems that pop up. They will take care of themselves.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Family issues may take priority over projects you had planned to do today. Take care of what needs to be attended to. Your tasks will wait.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll do a lot better dealing with a large group today than you could on a one-to-one basis, especially socially. Don't show favoritism.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) To succeed today you'll have to keep your mind on your objectives and strive persistently. Small distractions will quickly take you off course.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You may have a tendency today to hide your real reasons for doing things. This could cause a problem. Be discriminating, but be honest.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You may have to come to the aid of one who now needs your help, but don't expect your expenses to be covered. Write it off as a donation.

PISCES (Feb.20-March 20) It's not the day to try to take the lead if you're involved in a group venture. Be cooperative. Let others take the bows.

Your Birthday

April 17, 1979

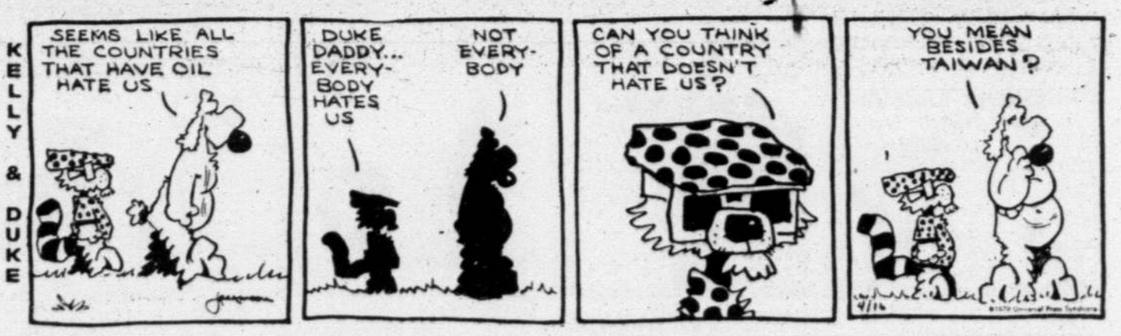

Although they may appear to be a little slow in coming at first, rewards due to you for past efforts will be there. This will be a profitable year.

Egypt envoy resigns

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — A U.S. Embassy spokesman confirmed today that the U.S. ambassador to Egypt, Hermann Eilts, is resigning to take a teaching post at Boston University.

Egypt's official Middle East News Agency reported from Washington over the weekend that Eilts, 57, would be replaced by Alfred Atherton, the State Department's special Middle East envoy who was the mediator between Israel and Egypt during much of their peace treaty negotiations.

The embassy spokesman said Eilts plans to leave June 10. But he said he did not know if a replacement has been chosen.

Having a hard time delivering her fan mail

The girl became something of a national celebrity last month when President Carter came to Elk City and she was photographed talking with him.

Elk City Postal officials say that since the picture was taken they have received letters from all across the nation addressed to her, but they have been unable to locate her.

TV In Review

By PETER J. BOYER
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Some words from TV producer Brad Marks:

"I consider television itself tantamount to a Milky Way bar; I call it mind candy. It feeds your need for sugar."

Those sentiments considered, you won't be surprised to hear that Marks is the man behind an annual CBS special called "The National Collegiate Cheerleading Championships, the second volume of which we are offered this evening.

This is 1½ hours of cheerleaders cheering without benefit of a team or a game. You might not think that would sustain a variety show. It does. Last year's cheerleaders special drew a phenomenal 41 percent of the TV sets in use. Predictions are that tonight's affair will do as well.

Now, these figures made me wonder. I watch college football all the time, and I've never seen a televised game without cheerleaders. But here are cheerleaders without a game, and it's big-rated stuff. Hmm. Maybe it's not whether you win or lose OR how you play the game that counts.

Maybe it's the flush-cheeked action on the sidelines that matters. Hey, this could be a whole new sport. The National Cheerleading League. College drafts and everything. I could be commissioner. I could...

Oh. Wait a minute. Seems somebody has already thought of that. Brad Marks.

It figures.

Marks, tongue placed firmly in cheek, is proud to announce the first annual collegiate cheerleading draft, "offering the most eligible NCAA college cheerleaders to the National Football League, the National Basketball Association and major league baseball."

"Inserting the spirit of college cheerleaders within the ranks of pro squads will bring a rich tradition of true cheerleading along with proven crowd leadership to the professional fans."

Gee, and I thought they were just there to look at.

"I was watching the UCLA-USC game," he says. "Andy Sidaris (director of college football coverage for ABC) was watching the cheerleaders more than the game. I thought, hey, there's more to this than meets the eye."

His eye, maybe.

Anyway, since these cheerleader specials have more viewers than most football games, I figure the time is ripe for the National Cheerleading League. And if Marks insists on being commissioner, maybe I'd just settle for my own franchise.

Average gas price up almost a dime

NEW YORK (AP) — The average price of a gallon of gasoline has jumped about 12 percent, from 67.99 cents to 76.22 cents, since Jan. 1, according to an authoritative newsletter that follows the gasoline industry.

That increase is not quite as large as the 18 percent rise in the first three months of 1974 during the Arab oil embargo, when prices rose from about 38 cents a gallon to about 45 cents a gallon. But the 8.23-cent price boost so far this year is greater than the 6.88-cent increase in the first three months of 1974.

The prices were contained in the latest issue of the Los Angeles-based Lundberg Letter, which does frequent surveys of prices at 16,700 gas stations. The survey, taken earlier this month, found this year's increase is most pronounced in the West.

Dan Lundberg, publisher of the newsletter, said the U.S. petroleum market has become "supercharged" and predicted that "retail prices are capable of rising considerably more."

The price of a gallon of regular-grade gasoline at full-service stations on the West Coast has risen 8.22 cents, from 70.45 cents to 78.67 cents. In the Rocky Mountain states, the increase so far is 8.41 cents a gallon, from 69.41 cents to 77.82 cents.

With the Iranian crisis squeezing crude oil supplies, the basic price of crude rose 5 percent in the first quarter of 1979, and many oil-producing nations tacked on surcharges that made the effective increase several percentage points larger.

On Sunday, Iran added a $1.90 surcharge to the price of its crude, bringing the price to $16.57 per barrel.

A further oil-price rise approved by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries in March is expected to add at least 3 cents to retail gasoline prices over the next couple of months.

A change in government regulations, known as the "tilt," allowed refiners to pass on to gasoline customers more of the costs of making other products.

Seven more executed inside Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Islamic firing squads have executed seven more of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's men, raising to 136 the number killed by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's executioners since he ousted the royal regime two months ago.

Brig. Gen. Ahmad Hamadi Ashtiani, former police chief of Kermanshah in western Iran, was executed in Tehran today after a revolutionary court judged him "corrupt beyond limit," the state radio reported. He was the 27th general sent to his death by Khomeini's courts.

A firing squad in the western oil town of Abadan killed an army major convicted of corruption and murder, the radio said.

During the weekend, three police officers were shot Saturday night in Tabriz, a policeman was executed Sunday in Tehran, and an army lieutenant colonel was executed in the northwestern city of Ardebil.

Meanwhile, the Nationsl Iranian Oil Co. put a surcharge of $1.90 a barrel on its light crude oil, raising the price to $16.57 a barrel retroactive to April 1. A surcharge of $1.80 a barrel was announced for heavy crude, raising the price of it to $16.04.

The surcharges are in addition to the new price set by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries last month.

THE GIANT, LONGHORN CHEVROLET WANTS TO KNOW...

EXECUTIVE SALES CAREER

Because sales have increased, we will recruit 15 people for positions in our sales department. We will pay salary, furnish a new car and offer many fringe benefits. We prefer someone over 25 with at least a high school education. Experience is not necessary. This could be your opportunity of a lifetime. If interested, please apply immediately.

Experienced automobile salesmen need not apply.

MONDAY, APRIL 16, 1979 and TUESDAY, APRIL 17, 1979

BETWEEN THE HOURS OF 1:00 P.M. AND 7:00 P.M.

EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITY

We are looking for an individual to supervise the sales, service and collections of our newspaper.

WE OFFER THESE BENEFITS:

1. We pay for using your car on the job
2. Family hospitalization Plan
3. Paid Vacation
4. Paid life insurance
5. Retirement program
6. Stock Purchasing plan

Here is the type person we are looking for — if you qualify, come in to see us.

1. Good driving record.
2. A mind for detail and thoroughness.
3. A sincere interest in creating good customer relations.
4. An interest in training boys to be successful.
5. Determination to complete projects that you start.

You don't need to bring us a world of experience — if you bring the right attitude, we will train you in the right methods to be successful.

DUTIES INCLUDE:

1. Working with Times and Record News carrier boys.
2. After a training period, you would be assigned to a specific geographical area.
3. Be responsible for the good service, proper collections, sales calls on non-readers and good customer relations in your assigned area.
4. Regular contact with parents of your carrier boys.

Please apply in person Monday through Friday, 8 to 5 p.m. Times Publishing Company, 1301 Lamar, Personnel Department.

Merit Smashes Taste Barrier.

—National Smoker Study

And in research conducted among current MERIT smokers:

Confirmed: 85% of MERIT smokers say it was an "easy switch" from high tar brands.

First Major Alternative To High Tar Smoking

MERIT has proven conclusively that it not only delivers the flavor of high tar brands—but continues to satisfy! This ability to satisfy over long periods of time could be the most important evidence to date that MERIT is the first real alternative for high tar smokers.

Kings: 8 mg "tar," 0.6 mg nicotine—
100's: 11 mg "tar," 0.7 mg nicotine av. per cigarette, FTC Report May '78
