Government shutdown would be major letdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — No checks for vets. No parks for larks. No business for bureaucrats. No kidding, things could get dim if President Clinton and Congress don't act soon to avoid a government shutdown.

Hoping to squeeze concessions from Congress, the White House previewed plans Thursday to close many government operations and lay off 800,000 federal employees starting at midnight Monday.

That is when the government would run out of money if the White House and lawmakers don't agree on a stopgap spending bill to cover expenses during their budget wrangling.

Clinton promises to veto a bill working its way through Congress, arguing that it imposes harsh GOP spending priorities. Republicans say voters would blame the president for a shutdown.

What voters would be affected? Start with the 2.1 million government employees scattered around the country.

More than half are considered essential — from air traffic controllers who guide trans-Atlantic flights to NASA technicians who'll guide the shuttle Atlantis. These workers would stay at work but wouldn't get paid until after a spending bill is approved.

Veterans would not get paid either, at least not by the Veteran's Administration. Their benefit checks would be held up.

Tourists spending precious money and time in Washington would be barred from monuments and Smithsonian museums. The National Zoo, too, would be closed.

Yellowstone would be blue; the national parks would shut down.

And economists beware. Wall Street, watch out. Americans could temporarily lose track of the state of the nation's economy.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics would have to compute the Consumer Price Index, due out Wednesday, by the end of the day Monday. Other indicators, such as the monthly employment report, would be postponed.

None of the department's 1,500 employees, it seems, is essential.

Though blustery White House aides predicted a shutdown, history indicates that a closure would not be long-term.

The government's last shutdown was over Columbus Day weekend in 1990, affecting mostly tourists shut out of museums and monuments. Other shutdowns have been brief, including a one-day closing Nov. 23, 1981.

And not all services would be affected this time.

Post offices, criminal investigations, border control and inspections, federal prisons, medical care at veterans hospitals and Medicare, among others, would be immune.

Only two of the 13 appropriations bills for fiscal 1996 have been signed into law. Programs covered by those two measures, funding agriculture and military construction, would not be affected.

Social Security recipients would receive their checks, but new claims probably wouldn't be accepted.

A government shutdown would not hinder the mission of space shuttle Atlantis, which is scheduled to be launched Saturday, NASA said. But agency workers not assigned to the mission would be furloughed.

In the end, no taxpayer would be left untouched. Shutting down the government costs money.

The General Accounting Office said the 1990 closing cost $1.7 million, including the price of closing federal buildings and facilities and paying penalties associated with ceasing contractual obligations.

Resignation, bid accepted by SISD

Snyder Independent School District board of trustees made quick work of a short agenda last night as members accepted a resignation from an elementary school teacher and approved a bid for food service items.

Trustees also heard from a concerned parent and agreed to cast their ballots equally among five candidates for the board of directors of the Scurry County Appraisal District.

The resignation of Becky Hale, physical education teacher at East Elementary, was accepted by the board. Her resignation will become effective after the Christmas holidays.

One bid was accepted from the Coca-Cola Co. for Hi-C drinks in the amount of $18 for a five-gallon container of bag-in-box drinks.

In the public comment portion of the board meeting which normally precedes the action items on the agenda, one person addressed the board.

In referring to an incident that occurred on Oct. 12 at Snyder High School in which a 14-year-old girl brought an unloaded handgun into the building, Gloria Lopez urged the board "not to sweep the matter under the rug".

Supt. Gayle Lomax and board president Charles Anderson assured Lopez that the administration did not attempt to conceal information and the board was fully informed of the incident.

In reply to a suggestion from Lopez that the school district did not punish the girl enough, Lomax said the district followed the laws of the state in administering the maximum punishment allowed by expelling the girl from school for one year.

"It is now up to the courts to decide additional punishment," said Lomax.

The trustees voted unanimously to divide its 2,720 votes among nominees Billy Calley, Ross Carroll Jr., Bill Jones, Harold Lacik and Walter Stirl to the Scurry County Appraisal District board.

Recognized at the meeting were three schools in the district which received monetary awards as part of the Texas Successful Schools Award Program.

Wendell Sollis, director of curriculum and testing for the district, recognized three campus principals, including Lois Boles, Stanfield Elementary; Kellye Starnes, Snyder Junior High; and Jim Rosson, Central Elementary; for the achievement of their campuses for significant gains in student performance as part of the Academic Excellence Indicator System, more commonly known as the state's school report card.

Sollis said the awards are based on the schools' 1995 performance on the Texas Assessment of

The feller on Deep Creek says, "You can't change the wind, but you can adjust your sails."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

Several towns, including Snyder, have been cited as possible location for a $30 million plant to be built by Plains Co-Op Oil Mill.

The mill would employ about 50 persons and would crush 500 tons of cottonseed a day. The site is expected to be picked by January.

In Littlefield, grass roots support has surfaced. Local citizens, showing support for the location in Lamb County, put hundreds of signatures on three pages that were published in the Lamb County Leader-News.

In Big Spring, a simple shoplifting incident has resulted in more serious "robbery" charges to be filed.

A 30-year-old woman allegedly lifted two pairs of jeans and a shirt valued at approximately $50.

When approached by a store clerk, the suspect fought with the clerk. Investigators said any time force is used in the commission of a theft, the violation becomes robbery. Maximum punishment is 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

In Dawson County, there was a leak in district court. The moisture was coming from plumbing serving an outdated jail.

Commissioners there have closed down the jail, located on the top floor of the county courthouse, and county inmates are being housed in nearby towns.

Lamesa now is looking at the prospects of building a new jail that will meet state standards. Pricetag: $1.3 million.

O.G. Nieman says there's an Aggie in the church he attends who was being scolded by the minister about his missing church one Sunday.

"I'm told you attended a Cowboy football game.

"That's just not true," said the member. "And I have the fish to prove it."

Food Drive collection is Saturday

Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts from Scurry County will continue distributing bags throughout the community today in preparation for Saturday's annual Scouting For Food Drive.

The scouts began placing the bags at homes Thursday afternoon.

Citizens are asked to put canned goods and other nonperishable food items in the bags and place them outside their homes at or before 9 a.m. Saturday.

Depending on the weather, it will take the volunteers until early to mid afternoon to collect all the bags.

All food collected will be donated to the Ministerial Alliance Cupboard here.

Residents outside of Snyder are asked to place their food donations in a bag and take them to either Lawrence IGA location. The main collection point for this year's drive is the former Lone Star Gas Company building at 1800 27th St.

Food donations may also be brought to Hermleigh Community Center.

Participating in the drive are Cub Scout Packs 61 and 177, Boy Scout Troop 27 and some Girl Scout Troops.

Veterans Day activities scheduled for Saturday

Poppys today, honors tomorrow.

In recognition of Veterans Day, members of the American Legion are selling Buddy Poppys today. The Poppys are sold annually as an emblem of sacrifice to Americans killed in the service.

The poppies are made by disabled veterans and over 25 million are distributed each year.

On Saturday here, American Legion Post 181, the Ladies Auxiliary and Sons of the American Legion will host Veterans Day activities Saturday at the post home.

Breakfast will be served from 6 until 10 a.m.

Flag ceremonies are to be held at 9 a.m. and a barbecue will be held from 5 until 7 p.m.

A dance is scheduled from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Sunday.

All veterans and their families are invited.

Gail 'Coyote Opry' set

Gail will host its annual Coyote Opry at the Borden County Show Barn on Saturday.

The main feature is the talent show, where local and area adults and children sing "down home" country and gospel music from 6 p.m. until 9:30. Between acts, homemade pies, cakes and cobblers will be auctioned off to benefit youth activities.

A brisket supper will be served from 3 until 6 p.m. The meal is $6 for adults or $3.50 for children.

From noon to 9:30 p.m. there will be a youth art display, showing off the artistic talent of Borden County youngsters.

'Christmas Scrip' loan program underway here

Scurry County citizens have an opportunity this Christmas season to shop locally with money available at a low interest rate of seven percent from three Snyder Banks.

American State Bank, Snyder National Bank and West Texas State Bank will once again participate in a "Christmas Scrip" loan program for holiday purchases.

The program is sponsored by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce and member merchants of the chamber. It will allow citizens to borrow from $250 to $1,000 to be spent with the local merchants.

"This is a really great deal for everyone," said Donna Fowler, executive director of the chamber.

"Compare this rate with your credit card rate," exclaimed Fowler. "It's easy to see where one can save money just on the interest rates alone — not counting the other expenses when people go out of town to shop."

Fowler is urging everyone to apply at one of the banks beginning today to see if they qualify for the low interest loans.

If approved, the loan proceeds will be issued in scrip of denominations of $20, $50 and $100 and can be used at participating merchants. A list of the merchants can be found in The Snyder Daily News throughout the holiday shopping season and at the chamber office.

Fowler said that merchants who wish to participate in the program should call the chamber.

Alley Oop salutes those who served during World War II

NEW YORK — This Veterans Day, Alley Oop salutes all the men and women who served in the armed forces with a special comic strip. Alley Oop, the caveman who travels through time and space leading exciting comic strip adventures, joined some real-life adventurers when he accompanied the armed forces on several missions during World War II.

In particular, cartoonists Dave Graue and Jack Bender honored the members of the 820th Bomb Squad, 41st Bomb Group, (M), 7th Air Force who carried Alley Oop into battle with them in the Pacific Theater during World War II. "During World War II, many different squadrons had a comic strip mascot," Graue explains. "This squad was one of several in the armed forces that adopted Alley Oop as their mascot."

Alley Oop creator V.T. Hamlin painted a tough-looking Oop, ready to launch a missile at the enemy, onto the nose of their planes for inspiration. When the 820th Bomb Squad gathers in New England in May of 1996, copies of the special comic strip will be distributed to all the veterans attending the gathering.

Alley Oop, created in 1933 by V.T. Hamlin, is currently written by Graue and drawn by Bender. The classic caveman comic strip is syndicated worldwide by Newspaper Enterprise Association.

The Alley Oop comic strip revolves around the irrepressible caveman who travels from prehistoric Moo all the way to the 21st century in his friend Doc Wonmug's time machine. Other favorite regulars in the strip include King Guz and Queen Umpa, the king and queen of Moo; Oscar and Ava, assistants to Wonmug; Ooola, Alley Oop's girlfriend; and Dinny, Oop's dinosaur friend.

Health task force cost $14 million

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the White House assembled a task force headed by first lady Hillary Rodham Clinton in March 1993 to overhaul the health care system, it projected the effort would cost less than $100,000.

Last year, after most of the work of developing the plan had already been completed, a White House aide told Congress the costs amounted to at least $211,000.

On Thursday, after months of wrangling, congressional auditors disclosed the complete price tag for developing the ill-fated health care reform plan — nearly $14 million.

Costs for the 12-member President's Task Force on Health Care Reform were spread across 10 agencies and totaled $13.8 million, the congressional General Accounting Office said in a report Thursday.

Of the total, $7.56 million went for personnel, $5.4 million to various contractors hired to assist the administration, $301,768 was spent on travel, $183,240 on office space and $73,564 on telephone calls.

Rep. William Clinger, R-Pa., chairman of the House Government Reform and Oversight Committee, said the discrepancy between the original cost estimates and the final price tag was "another example of the Clinton administration not being forthcoming with the Congress and the American people."

The White House said the total cost for the task force "paled in comparison" to what opponents of the health care plan spent to defeat it.

"The magnitude of the task was great, and the overall cost in comparison is relatively modest," spokeswoman Ginny Terzano said. She said that despite the low estimates it was "never our intent to mislead or misreport" the true costs of the effort.

The White House said it had never tried in its estimates to compile a government-wide cost figure for the health care initiative and never purported to do so. The GAO was the first to calculate such a figure.

More than half the total spent, $7.7 million, was spent between June and November 1993 when the White House was writing a 1,342-page bill to encompass the reforms it had settled on, the GAO said.

The administration bill was discarded by Congress almost immediately, as various committees drafted their own plans and then feuded over which version should be voted on.

Congress abandoned the effort in late 1994 in a major blow to President Clinton's agenda.

City of Snyder gets award from GFOA

A certificate of achievement for excellence in financial reporting has once again been awarded to the City of Snyder by the Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada. (GFOA) for its comprehensive annual financial report (CAFR).

The certificate is the highest form of recognition in the area of governmental accounting and financial reporting, and its attainment represents a significant accomplishment by a government and its management.

An Award of Financial Reporting Achievement has been awarded to the individual designated as being primarily responsible for preparing the CAFR and this was presented to Jeanne Johnson, the city's director of finance.

The CAFR has been judged by an impartial panel to meet the high standards of the program including demonstrating a constructive "spirit of full disclosure" to clearly communicate its financial story and motivate potential users and user groups to read the CAFRT.

The GFOA is a non-profit professional association serving 12,625 government finance professionals with offices in Chicago and Washington, D.C.

A gout regimen that really works

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I just love you. When I see your picture in the paper, I see the face of an old friend. Now to business.

I have gout, and want to share with other readers who have this disease.

1.) Diet doesn't help. Allopurinol does.

2.) Don't use allopurinol for an acute attack. Ibuprofen works better.

3.) Stay away from aspirin, because it can bring on a gout attack.

DEAR READER: Your comments about gout, a form of acute arthritis, are right on the mark, especially the one (which I have, in the past, forgotten to mention) about aspirin. Allopurinol is a gout preventive. Anti-inflammatory drugs (ibuprofen and others, including colchicine) are best for acute attacks. Aspirin can, indeed, cause (or worsen) a gout attack.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "About Gout." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

P.S. That photo does me more than justice. Don't be deluded.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm in my early 20s and have a lot of unattractive moles on my face. Would laser surgery be a satisfactory treatment?

DEAR READER: That is a decision best left to a specialist, either a dermatologist or a plastic surgeon. In general, lasers are very effective in removing blemishes because the hot pinpoints of light cause very little tissue damag e; hence, scarring is minimal.

Laser surgery is expensive because the equipment costs a lot and special skills are required to operate it properly. However, the laser procedure might solve your problem. Also, why not consider surgical removal, a more traditional therapy? Best of all, it's cheaper.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a healthy 41-year-old woman with a low-grade fever of 99 degrees that has been present for several weeks. A blood count, urinalysis, chest X-ray and chemical screening were all normal. Nonetheless, I'm afraid of what the fever might mean. My doctor dismisses the fever and tells me to "wait it out." My normal temperature is 97.6 degrees. Please advise me.

DEAR READER: There's a surprising variation in normal body temperatures: Healthy people often range between 97 and 99 degrees.

Therefore, I'm not at all sure that you do, in fact, have a fever. Ordinarily, a degree above or below "normal" is no cause for concern. You can be further reassured by the normal medical tests that you had.

Further, in the absence of symptoms — such as malaise, fatigue, pain, and so forth — you can relax. I think your doctor is correct: wait and see. Oh, by the way, keep your thermometer in the medicine cabinet; don't constantly be taking your temperature. Check for fever only when you feel ill.

Calvin, Hobbes creator will retire comic strip on Dec. 31

By The Associated Press

Cartoonist burnout strikes again.

"Calvin and Hobbes" creator Bill Watterson will retire his comic strip Dec. 31, becoming the third top cartoonist this year to hang up his pen at an early age.

After a decade of drawing the terrible tyke and his sometimes-stuffed tiger, Watterson said Thursday he wants to escape the deadline grind and the frustration of ever-shrinking funny pages.

He follows Gary Larson, whose last "Far Side" panel appeared Jan. 1, and Berkeley Breathed, who stopped drawing "Bloom County" in 1989 and then retired his weekly "Outland" comic strip last March.

Larson is 45, Breathed is 37 and Watterson is 38 — mere babes compared to someone like Charles Schulz, who still draws "Peanuts" at 72. But all three young retirees cite artistic burnout as a reason for quitting at the top of their game.

Larson wanted to keep his work out of the "Graveyard of Mediocre Cartoons." Breathed said cartoonists "die and go to hell for working beyond that magic intersection of art and fun."

And now Watterson:

"I've done what I can do within the constraints of daily deadlines and small panels," he said Thursday in a letter to the 2,400 newspapers worldwide that carry his strip. "I am eager to work at a more thoughtful pace, with fewer artistic compromises."

He said he would continue to work with his distributor, Universal Press Syndicate, but neither he nor syndicate officials said what form that might take.

Single Mom Learns It Takes A Village to Raise Her Kids

DEAR ABBY: I never expressed my appreciation to my ex-husband [illegible] sent to help support our three children, but I would like to publicly thank the following people who will recognize themselves:

Thank you to the grocer who cashed the occasional support checks I received — and held the ones that bounced until I could make them good.

Thank you to the parents who took my children with them on vacations I never could afford — even though I worked full-time while holding down several part-time jobs.

Thank you to the doctor and the dentist who charged me less than their regular rates for my children.

Thank you to my principal for paying me to paint the interior of his house so I could buy groceries during the last three weeks of summer before school resumed.

Thank you to the superintendent who valued me enough to ignore the demeaning letters from my ex-husband.

Thank you to the farmers who hired my sons to clean their chicken coops and help with harvesting their hay crops. What you paid them was their only spending money.

It has been more than 20 years since you opened your hearts to my children and me — but if you could see the two lawyers and Ph.D. chemist they became, you'd know we did a good job with the kids.

Abby, I'm sure that most other single mothers have similar thank-yous to offer.

THANKFUL IN VIRGINIA

DEAR ABBY: You really blew it! Your answer to the lady who had a friend whose daughter had an incontinent dog was terrible. Your suggestion that she leave the dog in a motel that permitted dogs was really the pits.

I am the general manager of a motel. We allow pets, although they cannot be left unattended in the room. Even the best behaved dogs will bark at the strange sounds in a strange place.

But an incontinent pet! I wouldn't want one in my motel under any circumstances.

Abby, how would you like to be a housekeeper for this person's room? Most probably, the carpet would have to be removed to relieve the room of its odor. Pretty expensive solution to this problem. I think you owe an apology to all motel keepers.

DIXIE COOPER, SUPER 8 MOTEL, HAVRE, MONT.

DEAR DIXIE COOPER: Oops! A thousand apologies for my unenlightened advice concerning the incontinent dog. Too late did I become aware that there are "diapers" for dogs.

If and when I ever go to Montana, I'll ask Jane and Ted if they can put me up for a night or two. (I don't bark, and I don't need diapers.)

Clark signs book deal

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Prosecutor Marcia Clark commanded a high price for writing her side of the O.J. Simpson case, signing a $4.2 million book deal that puts her among the likes of Colin Powell and Newt Gingrich.

Even as the ink on the contract dried, Clark's co-workers officially lodged complaints over bonuses that totaled $43,000 to members of the Simpson prosecution team.

Penguin USA emerged on top after a spirited, three-day, eight-way bidding war for Clark's yet-to-be-written book.

"Viking Penguin shares my vision for the creation of a book of quality and depth and I am delighted to enter into this project," Clark said in a statement Thursday.

Clark did not comment on the value of the contract, and Viking described it as a "multimillion" dollar deal. Two people close to the negotiations, speaking on condition of anonymity, confirmed the sale was for $4.2 million.

The book will be published next fall by Viking in hardback, with a Penguin paperback to follow.

Clark's deal comes close to the $4.5 million deal initially offered to Gingrich for his book, "To Renew America." Harper-Collins later withdrew the offer to the House speaker amid ethics questions. He now receives only royalties from sales.

Powell, the retired general who ruled out a potential presidential campaign Wednesday, reportedly received at least $6 million for his best-selling book, "My American Journey."

Simpson's deal for his jailhouse book, "I Want To Tell You," was worth about $1 million before sales.

Clark is represented by the William Morris Agency, the same talent agency that represents Deputy District Attorney Christopher Darden, who signed a $1.7 million book deal last week.

"These book deals do not compromise their positions as deputy district attorneys or their responsibilities," District Attorney Gil Garcetti said Thursday.

The disclosure of the book deal came at perhaps the worst time for morale in the district attorney's office.

The best value in bridge

By Phillip Alder

What is the best value in bridge — apart from this column, of course? Right, it's the Daily Bridge Calendar (to which I contribute). Every day you get at least one problem to test your expertise in the three aspects of the game. And in 1996 you get an extra problem as it's a leap year.

To order, in the United States call (800) 745-3292. In Canada, call (800) 263-4374. In both cases, ask for Department 560. The cost, postpaid, is US$15.95 or C$17.95.

Here is a problem from this year's calendar. It features a defensive discard that would be missed by many players.

Against three no-trump, West leads his fourth-highest club, the six: seven, jack, king. South plays a diamond to dummy's king and a diamond back toward his hand. Which card should East discard?

East should start by using the Rule of Eleven. Deducting the value of his partner's lead, six, from 11 tells East that there are five clubs higher than the six in the other three hands. And East has seen all five: the seven and nine in the dummy, his jack and queen, and declarer's king. So, West's club suit is ready to run. However, West doesn't know that. South might still have the queen and another club in his hand. If this is the case, West must get East on play in another suit for a club lead through South.

East's clearest discard is the club queen. Now West, when he wins with his diamond trick, should have no difficulty in cashing his four club tricks to defeat the contract.

Never underestimate the value of the Rule of Eleven.

Six-man season comes to an end

District 6, six-man football action comes to an end tonight. On the local front, Hermleigh (5-4, 2-2) will travel to Loraine (4-5, 2-2) for a 7:30 kickoff. The other game features the two top teams, Westbrook (6-3, 4-0) and Highland (5-3, 4-0).

Ira (1-7, 0-4) was scheduled to go to Borden County (4-5, 0-4), but Ira was forced to cancel the remainder of its season due to injuries.

The Cardinals are coming off a big loss to Westbrook, 72-23, while Loraine was off last week as they won by forfeit over Ira.

The winner of the Westbrook-Highland game will advance into the playoffs as the number one seed, the loser will settle for the number two seed.

Highland knocked off Borden County a week ago, 48-28.

DISTRICT 5-AAAA PREVIEW

By Brent Taylor
Sports Editor

It's almost hard to believe, but football season is coming to an end. Week 10 in the district has one game with playoff ramifications and two that are just for pride.

Snyder (6-3, 3-1) at Sweetwater (9-0, 4-0)

Last Week:
Snyder defeated Estacado 29-20
Sweetwater defeated Lamesa 37-10

Snyder has hoped all season for a shot at the Mustangs and a chance to go to the playoffs. They get their chance as the district championship is on the line. The Tigers have not been invited to the post season ball since 1991. It was Pampa who ousted Snyder in the bi-district round, 31-15.

The Tigers must play a perfect game, keep Shaun Carr to under 200 yards and hope for some Mustang turnovers in order to come away with the district title.

In order for the Mustangs to win, they must break the Snyder defense which is rated fourth in the area.

A capacity crowd is expected in Mustang Bowl. As of this morning, over 900 reserved seat tickets had been sold. Tickets will be on sale at Mustang Bowl before the game.

Estacado (5-4, 1-3) at Frenship (6-3, 2-2)

Last Week:
Estacado lost to Snyder 29-20
Frenship defeated Levelland 22-21

Coach Louis Kelly is finding himself in unfamiliar territory, playing the last game of the season with no chance of making the playoffs. The Estacado Matadors, picked number two in most preseason district polls, are wishing this was next year. Starting in 1996, three teams from each district will enter the playoffs.

If this was next year with the new rule, this game would have playoff contentions. But this is still 1995 and the game will be played for pride.

Levelland (5-4, 1-3) at Lamesa (3-6, 1-3)

Last Week:
Levelland lost to Frenship 22-21
Lamesa lost to Sweetwater 37-10

Levelland must think they have been snake bitten this year. They have lost two games by one point to Snyder and last week to Frenship. If those two games were wins, the Lobos would be looking at the playoffs.

Lamesa proved they can play football two weeks ago with the win over Snyder and will be looking to close out the season on a positive note with a win over Levelland.

Aggies survive scare by determined Owls

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice coach Ken Hatfield sprung a slew of trick plays on No. 18 Texas A&M. Aggies coach R.C. Slocum sprung Leeland McElroy.

Hatfield's gadgets — two fake punts, an end-around and a desperation halfback pass — gave the Aggies a scare Thursday but it was McElroy who carried the day as Texas A&M struggled to a 17-10 victory.

McElroy ran 28 times for 168 yards, including a 45-yard score, and quarterback Corey Pullig threw a 26-yard touchdown pass to Albert Connell that put the Aggies ahead for good in the third quarter.

But Rice, ending a 75-year series against Texas A&M with the Southwest Conference's demise, left the Aggies something to remember.

Owls punter Tucker Phillips completed two fourth-down passes in the first half, each time catching Aggies special teams napping. His first-quarter, 37-yard pass to Jeff Venghaus gave the Owls a 7-0 lead.

"I just threw it up," Phillips said. "I wasn't trying to put it anyplace. I think luck was on my side. But the loss kind of overshadows everything."

"You never know what to expect," A&M coach R.C. Slocum said. "You've got to give credit to them. They made big plays on the fake punt. That gave them some momentum and got them going. But in a ball game, a trick play will only carry you only so far."

It was the fourth straight victory for Texas A&M (6-2, 4-1 Southwest Conference) since consecutive defeats at Colorado and Texas Tech. It was also the Aggies' 15th

Aside from McElroy, neither team displayed much offense for a national television audience.

"We didn't execute on offense and I think we may have underestimated them some," McElroy said.

Mavericks make it 4 in a row

DALLAS (AP) — While the Dallas Mavericks lack an intimidating shot-blocker in the pivot, they make up for it with solid team defense.

The result is a 4-0 start for the Mavericks — the best in team history — following their 104-94 victory over the Milwaukee Bucks on Thursday night. Dallas has held all four opponents under 100 points, the first time the Mavs have ever opened a season with such strong defense.

"We've learned that defense is the key," said Mavericks forward Jamal Mashburn, who finished with 27 points. "There are so many great offensive players in this league that if you can hold even one of them down, that gives you a great chance to win."

Vin Baker had 29 points and 14 rebounds to pace the Bucks (1-3). Glenn Robinson scored 15 points.

Jason Kidd had 22 points and seven assists for the Mavericks, who also got eight key points in the final 3:05 from Jim Jackson to hold off a Bucks rally.

Lorenzo Williams, the Mavericks' undersized center at 6-foot-8, had 12 rebounds and four blocked shots, and forward Popeye Jones grabbed 15 rebounds.

Dallas wasted most of an 18-point third-quarter lead as Milwaukee pulled to 92-88 with 3:25 to play. But Jackson delivered a 3-pointer on the Mavericks' next possession, and the Dallas lead never again fell below five the rest of the way.

Dallas won the game from 3-point range, where the Mavericks were 11-for-23. Kidd was 4-for-8 and Mashburn 3-for-7 from behind the arc, as Dallas shot 52 percent from the field.

Tech, TCU meet for last time in SWC

DALLAS (AP) — Jones Stadium will become the first to bid farewell to Southwest Conference play Saturday, and the teams saying goodbye have made for some memorable moments in their rivalry.

The noon game between Texas Christian and Texas Tech probably will be their last in football, at least for a while. Tech, Baylor, Texas and Texas A&M are headed for the Big 12 next year. TCU joins Rice and Southern Methodist en route to the Western Athletic Conference.

In the meantime, there's a matter a retribution to be settled between the Horned Frogs (6-2, 3-1) and the Red Raiders (5-3, 2-2). TCU beat Tech 24-17 in Fort Worth last year to rob Tech of a first outright SWC title.

A 48-7 loss to Texas probably knocked Texas Tech out of contention this season, leaving coach Spike Dykes the task of regrouping for last SWC game in Lubbock.

"When you win, you forget it in about 10 minutes," Dykes said. "But the agony of defeat will linger and linger if you let it."

The Frogs' problems run much deeper than morale. Riddled by nagging injuries and facing another game without star tailback Andre Davis, who serves the last of a four-game NCAA suspension Saturday for alleged dealings with an agent, TCU is in for a tussle.

"We desperately need to get most of our injured players healthy and ready to play this week," Frogs coach Pat Sullivan said, "because against Texas Tech, we are going to need every shot we have in our gun."

In recent years, the series has been among the more entertaining, especially at Jones. In the past two decades there have been five games decided in the waning minutes and ties in 1979, 1981 and 1983. TCU scored three touchdowns, a field goal and a safety in the final 13 minutes in 1981 to force the 39-39 stalemate.

HJHS downs Loraine

Andy Luna ran for two and threw for two touchdowns as the Hermleigh Junior High Cardinals defeated Loraine, 32-18.

Luna hit Caleb Calloway on two passes of 40 and 45 yards. Luna scored on runs of 15 and 30 yards and converted an extra point. David Digby scored on a three-yard run.

The Cardinals finished the season 5-2, 4-1 in district play for second place.

Mustangs run roughshod over JV Tigers

Kevin Carr scored on a 62-yard run Thursday and Gabe Madrid caught a nine-yard pass from Chad Carter, but it was not enough as the Sweetwater Mustangs' JV defeated Snyder, 22-12.

Snyder had one touchdown called back and had the ball knocked out of the hands of a receiver, two plays which could have changed the outcome of the game.

"These kids have come a long way," said JV coach Tommy Doyle. This was the last game of the season.

VIRTUOUS WOMAN

THROUGHOUT THE AGES A VIRTUOUS WOMAN HAD BEEN REVERED AND ESTEEMED BY ALL NATIONS AND THE BIBLICAL PEOPLE TENDED TO PUT HER IN A POSITION OF HIGH HONOR. ALL ONE HAS TO DO IS TURN TO THE BOOK OF PROVERBS TO FIND THE POETIC DISSERTATION ON THE QUALITIES OF A VIRTUOUS WOMAN. "OPEN THY MOUTH, JUDGE RIGHTEOUSLY..." SAYS THE BOOK OF PROVERBS, "WHO CAN FIND A VIRTUOUS WOMAN? FOR HER PRICE IS FAR ABOVE RUBIES." ACCORDING TO THE SAME CHAPTER OF PROVERBS, "THE HEART OF HER HUSBAND DOTH SAFELY TRUST IN HER..." AND ACCORDING TO THIS VENERABLE BOOK, "SHE WILL DO HIM GOOD AND NOT EVIL ALL THE DAYS OF HER LIFE." THE BIBLE'S PORTRAYAL OF ITS VIRTUOUS WOMAN GOES ON, "SHE STRETCHETH OUT HER HAND TO THE POOR; YEA, SHE REACHETH FORTH HER HANDS TO THE NEEDY. SHE OPENETH HER MOUTH WITH WISDOM; AND IN HER TONGUE IS THE LAW OF KINDNESS." THIS IS BUT A SMALL SEGMENT OF CHAPTER THIRTY ONE OF THE BOOK OF PROVERBS BUT ONE CAN SEE THAT THE BIBLICAL OPINION IS A STRONG ONE IN PRAISE OF A MORALLY CORRECT AND UPRIGHT WOMAN, AND TO GIVE THE BOOK OF PROVERBS THE LAST SAY, "GIVE HER THE FRUIT OF HER HANDS; AND LET HER OWN WORKS PRAISE HER IN THE GATES!"

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

Nigerian playwright executed today

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Nigerian playwright Ken Saro-Wiwa was executed today, the News Agency of Nigeria said.

Saro-Wiwa, 54, was convicted Oct. 31 in the deaths of four men during a May 1994 political rally. He says he was framed because of his opposition to the military regime of Gen. Sani Abacha and to Nigeria's vital oil industry.

Earlier in the day, a British group said he and eight other condemned men were moved between prisons for execution and hangmen were dispatched.

The Ogoni Community Association, a British-based organization of people from Saro-Wiwa's ethnic group, said a witness saw him and the others moved in chains from one jail in the southern city of Port Harcourt to the main jail.

"They had chains round their ankles," association spokesman Cliff Ettridge told the AP in London. "This was at 7:30 a.m. Nigerian time. Troops have continued to build up in Ogoniland prior to any possible riots."

Saro-Wiwa's son said the military dictatorship had sent executioners to the jail in Port Harcourt.

Nigeria's Provisional Ruling Council on Wednesday upheld the death sentences against Saro-Wiwa and eight other members of the Ogoni ethnic group.

Saro-Wiwa has campaigned on behalf of the 500,000 Ogoni people who live in Nigeria's oil-rich south and say their land and water are being destroyed by oil industry pollution. Oil accounts for about 80 percent of Nigeria's export income, and critics of the industry often are silenced.

Ken Wiwa, the son of the Nigerian activist, released a statement in Auckland, New Zealand, that said sources close to the junta told him executioners had gone to the jail where the condemned men were being held this morning but the warden turned them away.

Wiwa is at the Commonwealth conference of Britain and 51 former colonies to lobby leaders to appeal for his father's freedom.

Kevorkian's attorney, ME spar over autopsy

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Amid debate over whether the latest person to die in his presence was terminally ill, Dr. Jack Kevorkian insisted she was suffering from bone cancer and challenged a prosecutor to charge him.

"I dare you to charge me. D-A-R-E. If you don't, you're either a coward or a liar," Kevorkian said in an appearance Thursday night on CNN's "Larry King Live."

Oakland County Prosecutor Richard Thompson said a decision on whether to charge Kevorkian had not yet been made.

"This is not a game," Thompson said. "As a prosecutor, you're not going to make decisions based on a dare."

Asked by King if Patricia Cashman died peacefully, Kevorkian replied, "Like everybody else, I would guess that she died peacefully."

Cashman, 58, of San Marcos, Calif., was found Wednesday in a car near the morgue. Kevorkian's lawyer, Geoffrey Fieger, said Cashman had undergone a mastectomy three years ago and suffered "excruciating" pain from the disease spreading through her body.

A preliminary autopsy found no visible traces of the disease.

At the request of The Associated Press, Dr. Jeffrey Forman, vice chairman of radiology at Wayne State University School of Medicine, reviewed some of Cashman's medical records, which were provided by Kevorkian's lawyer.

Cashman did have bone cancer, but it wouldn't necessarily have been detected during a routine autopsy, Forman said.

Forman added he couldn't say how close to death she had been, because he had never examined her or the X-rays, and the records he looked at were 6 months old.

Child killer gets 14 years

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A young girl convicted of capital murder for smothering two young children in her care was sentenced today to a 14-year term.

Victoria Dalton, 13, wept when her punishment was announced in State District Judge Carmen Kelsey's court.

It took jurors five days to decide the fate of Ms. Dalton, who was convicted last week of suffocating 5-month-old Timothy Gutierrez and his 2-year-old sister Renee Gutierrez as she was watching them.

Jurors, sequestered in a local hotel Monday night after they had been unable to unanimously determine the girl's fate, had a range of sentencing options from probation to 40 years behind bars.

Ms. Dalton will be turned over to the Texas Youth Commission. She will face another hearing when she turns 18.
