

Jubilee Joy Is A Jumpin'

BY BOB NIGH
MANAGING EDITOR
The Hereford Town & Country Jubilee is picking up speed, and large crowds are expected for the big day of activities Saturday, highlighted by an afternoon of fun at Dameron Park at "Jubilee Junction."

The second annual celebration of life on the High Plains here has already seen a lot of activities take place, and the events on Saturday's schedule will provide everyone with an opportunity to enjoy themselves.

The Jubilee quilting bee, Jubilee of Arts, Agriculture Jubilee, National Cowgirl Hall of Fame rodeo and HOF art show highlight activities today. The quilting bee is being held in the Heritage Room of the county library, while the Jubilee of Arts is in the community center from 1-6 p.m. today.

At the Bull Barns the Agriculture Jubilee, or county fair, is being staged. Judging of entries in the fair began at 9 a.m. today.

The HOF art show is at the HOF headquarters, and the all-girl rodeo kicks off at 7:30 tonight at the local rider's club arena.

Highlighting activities Saturday are the T&C Jubilee parade at 10 a.m., and Jubilee Junction in the park, where some 54 booths have been scheduled, including a variety of games and food and drink.

The county fair, quilting bee, Jubilee of Arts, and HOF art show, all continue on Saturday as well. A map of the booths included in the Jubilee Junction was printed in Thursday's brand.

Lisa Snyder, recently-crowned Miss Hereford 1982, will reign over the festivities, and will be featured in the parade.

Also on tap Saturday in Veteran's Park is a chili cookoff sponsored by the HOF. That begins at 1:30 p.m.

The Jubilee concludes Sunday with a final performance of the HOF rodeo and the final day of the Jubilee of Arts, from 1-5 p.m.

After Congressional Approval

Tax Bill On Way to Reagan

WASHINGTON (AP) - The bill nobody wanted - a measure raising taxes by $98.3 billion over the next three years - is on its way to President Reagan after winning the support of a Congress that overcame election-year jitters.

The bill, which also includes $15.2 billion worth of social-spending cuts and up to 10 weeks' extra federal benefits for unemployed workers in every state, likely will be signed into law by Reagan during his two-week California vacation.

The Republican-controlled Senate approved the bill 52-47 Thursday night on a touch-and-go roll call whose outcome was in doubt until the last minute. Vice President George Bush was on hand in case his vote was needed to break a tie.

Nine Democrats, most of them lured by the extra unemployment benefits, joined 43 Republicans in backing the bill. Eleven Republicans and 36 Democrats opposed it.

In the House, where Democrats are in charge, the final margin was 226-207 - wider than had been expected. The measure drew support from 123 Democrats and 103 Republicans, but many of the conservative GOP members who are among the president's most consistent backers, deserted him on the vote.

The bill will double the federal cigarette tax to 16 cents a pack; triple the 1 percent tax on telephone service; require that 10 percent of most dividends and interest be withheld for taxes; reduce deductions for medical expenses and casualty losses; raise the 5 percent tax on air fares to 8 percent starting Sept. 1; toughen the "minimum tax" on high-income investors and, in an effort to catch some of the $98 billion in taxes that are evaded each year, require better reporting of income from tips, state tax refunds and investment income.

Although the measure leaves intact the across-the-board cut in personal tax rates that was enacted at Reagan's insistence last

Hicks Takes Show Honors

Lambs and steers kept the Bull Barn busy Thursday as 4-h'ers and Future Farmers of America exhibited at their stock show.

Twelve-year-old Jeff Hicks won three top honors in the lamb exhibition. His 92-pound fine wool cross garnered the grand championship in the market lambs and helped the 4-H'er win the Junior Showmanship ribbon.

Jeff, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hicks, also showed the reserve grand prospect.

The top prospect lamb was shown by Gwen Wilhelm, a Future Farmers of America Winner.

Kari Maddox' lamb won the reserve grand market title.

Robbie Phillips won the Senior Showmanship ribbon. Shandy Lindley's market steer took top honors and the grand championship on the steer show while Jeremy Myers' animal won the prospect steer title.

Kristie Allison' steer took the market reserve grand championship and Ricky Yosten had the reserve champ of the prospect steers.

The junior showmanship title went to Kristie Powell and the senior showmanship to Ricky Vogel.

All are 4-H'ers.

Complete results from judge Tracy Haymes, Randall County Extension Agent, are:

SOUTH DOWNS - 1 and 2, Jim Brett Campbell, and 3, Aaron Savage.

Rape of Child Charges Filed

Rape of a child charges were filed on Joel Cavazos Thursday and his 16-year-old cousin who had consented to the sexual intercourse was returned to Fort Worth by her parents.

Cavazos, 24, of 419 Avenue G, told police he thought the relationship was okay because she was his cousin and she had consented. However, Texas laws state that intercourse with a minor is statutory rape.

The girl was held here on a juvenile runaway charge until her parents took custody of her Thursday.

Cavazos and the girl had been caught together in Fort Worth, also. He brought her to Hereford and they have been living here for the past five months.

Police report that apparently the parents did not know where their daughter was, but had given a description of the car. The vehicle was spotted at Center and Fifteenth and the two were taken into custody.

Police are investigating a burglary at 601 W. Fourth where $1,200 worth of goods were stolen. A color television, an HBO box and stereo with speakers are reported missing. Entry was gained through a back window where an air conditioner was.

A set of golf clubs were stolen from an unlocked vehicle at 116 Rio Vista.

Officers arrested one person for public intoxication, checked a minor accident and issued six citations.

American Troops Will Aid PLO Evacuation

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Reagan said today he will send American troops to help evacuate PLO guerrillas from west Beirut. About 800 Marines are expected to play what the president called a "carefully limited noncombatant role."

"In no case will our troops stay longer than 30 days," the president said in a brief statement to reporters in the White House Rose Garden.

Reagan also said the American troops would be removed immediately if shot at.

The Pentagon has disclosed that a five-ship Navy amphibious group, with 1,800 Marines on board, is assembling off the Lebanese coast.

French and Italian troops are also scheduled to participate in the evacuation. The first American troops are not likely to land until four or five days after the operation begins, probably on Saturday.

The president praised the role of U.S. special Ambassador Philip C. Habib in negotiating the withdrawal agreement with the PLO, Israel, Lebanon and Syria.

"Phil never lost hope and, in the end, his spirit and determination carried the day," the president said.

Reagan said he expected the terms of the agreement "to be carried out in good faith and in accordance with the established timetable. Violations by any party would imperil the plan and bring new bloodshed."

Reagan formally asked the United States to help with the evacuation.

Inclusion of U.S. forces was "essential" to the success of the agreement, said the president.

"Our purpose will be to assist the Lebanese armed forces in carrying out their responsibility for ensuring the departure of PLO leaders, officers and combatants in Beirut from Lebanese territory under safe and orderly conditions," he added.

On Thursday, Lebanon formally asked the United States to help with the evacuation.

AT&T, Feds Okay Changes

WASHINGTON AP - By accepting changes sought by a federal judge the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and the Justice Department have cleared the way for final approval of an antitrust settlement that calls for the breakup of the Bell System. Attorneys for both sides informed U.S. District Judge Harold H. Greene Thursday that they accepted conditions he set forth Aug. 11 for approval of the landmark settlement which will foreshadow the largest corporate reorganization in history.

Under the settlement AU&T will be forced to give up its 22 Bell System operating companies worth $80 billion in assets but it will retain long-distance service, the Western Electric Co. which manufactures equipment, and Bell Laboratories.

In exchange, the government has agreed to drop its 1974 antitrust suit against AT&T.

Greene has already said he would sign the document if his conditions were accepted, but he has not indicated how long he will take to get the final agreement ready.

Once signed, the settlement specifies AT&T will have six months to develop a detailed plan for spinning off the Bell companies. Once that plan is approved by the Justice Department and Greene, AT&T will have up to 12 months to actually break up the Bell System.

Reagan Victories Full of Ironies

WASHINGTON (AP) - The tax and spending victories President Reagan claimed from Congress this week climax a strenuous budget fight over terrain mapped by his Republicans allies and ultimately secured by his most implacable Democratic foes.

Some of the more memorable ironies: -A smiling House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., at Reagan's side in the Rose Garden in an unusual public appeal for passage of the $98.3 billion tax bill. "The tax bill will not repeal Reaganomics," O'Neill, an archfoe of Reagan's economic policy, said several hours earlier. "But it is at least a step in the right direction."

-Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, urging enactment of the tax bill by saying it was the only way to provide increased unemployment benefits most Democrats and many Republicans want. The year began with Reagan declaring, "I will seek no tax increases this year." And his February budget, rejected and then rewritten from top to bottom by his Republican allies, requested slight cuts in unemployment compensation.

-Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., as persistent a critic as Reagan has in Congress and a likely contender

Sales Tax Rebates Total $97 Million

AUSTIN, Tex. - State Comptroller Bob Bullock Monday sent checks totaling $97.9 million to 967 Texas cities as their share of the one-percent city sales tax for August.

"So far, these monthly rebates of local taxes are running nearly 12 percent ahead of last year's totals," Bullock reported. "As we predicted last month, the oil glut has slowed down the pace of this growth markedly, especially in the places that were experiencing oil booms. But the general state growth rate is still strong and healthy."

Houston received the biggest share of the one-cent local sales tax with a check for $20 million, based on taxable sales of $1.96 billion by 51,166 business outlets. So far in 1982 Houston's payments are up 14 percent over 1981.

The city of Hereford's share was $66,984.57, just under the $67,462.39 received for the same period a year ago. This year's total sales tax rebate is $325,800.68, .6 percent under the $327,775.36 for the same period in 1981.

Other area cities and their checks for this period include Dimmitt, $18,889.61; Friona, $12,044.13; Hart, $1,902.89; Farwell, $3,948.78; Nazareth, $1,502.81; Bovina, $3,505.79; and Vega, $4,011.32.

Dallas got $11.1 million, bringing the total received during 1982 to $53.6 million.

Boot Company Laying Off Workers

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Blaming a downturn in sales, the chief executive officer of Tony Lama, Inc. has announced the well-known El Paso boot-makers plans to lay off between 250 and 270 of its production line workers.

V.E. "Gene" Hoseney said the layoffs will begin Monday and be phased in over the next three weeks.

"Hopefully, something will happen so that we can cut this off before we lay off the whole 275," Hoseney said Thursday. "And, I assure you, at the first sign that our business is turning around or that the economy is turning around, we'll call these people back."

Hoseney said Tony Lama profits were off 51 percent during the second quarter of this year, compared to a similar period last year.

"We expected it to pick up in the traditional buying season of July and August, but it hasn't," he said.

Waste Producers Identified by Attorney General

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The 17 companies whose hazardous wastes were abandoned at the Tate Cove hazardous waste dump, north of Ville Platte, were identified Thursday by Louisiana Attorney General William Guste.

Guste said earlier Louisiana might sue the companies if they refuse to help pay the cost of cleaning up the dump. He said their names could be added to a $4 million damage suit filed two years ago against BWS Inc., the now-defunct company that brought the wastes to Louisiana from Texas and Kentucky during 1972 and 1973.

The 17 companies identified by Guste are:

Celaese Coating Company of Louisville, Ky.; Collins Radio Company of Richardson, Texas; Conchamo, Inc. of Houston; Diamond Paint Co. of Houston; Eastman Kodak of Dallas; G.A.F. Corporation of Texas City, Texas; Gastron Boat Company of Austin, Texas; Gulf States Paint Company of Houston; Mobay Chemical Company of Baytown, Texas.

Judge Orders

Program to Educate

Austistic Girl

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge has ordered a suburban school district to design a year-round educational program for a 15-year-old autistic girl.

U.S. District Judge Carl O. Bue gave the Pasadena Independent School District until Sept. 30 to design a highly-structured program for the teen-ager, identified only as Stacey G.

Dissatisfied with the district's special education program, Stacey's parents placed her in a private school for autistic children near Dallas in 1979. She was later moved to another private center in San Antonio.

On Thursday, Bue ordered the district to develop a program that would allow Stacey to return to her home, about 15 miles east of Houston.

The parents argued the district failed to provide their daughter with free special education even though it receives federal funds earmarked for such programs.

Donald G. Henslee, the girl's attorney, said at first the parents' insurance paid for private schooling, which cost about $2,800 a month.

When the funds were exhausted, William and Jane G. asked the school district to finance their daughter's private education.

School officials refused, claiming the existing special education program was adequate. But a federal judge last year ordered the district to pay the bills.

America's 'Good News' Newspaper Passes Troubled 100th Birthday

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Grit turned a troubled 100 last month, beset by declining circulation and rising costs that could spell bad news for the country's biggest little "good news" newspaper.

Largely unknown in the nation's big cities, the tabloid-sized weekly newspaper offers a smorgasbord of family features with such titles as "Twins: Twice the Fun for Mom and Dad," "Old Grape Juice Provokes Barnyard Uproar" and "Indiana Cop Uses Puppets to Solve Crimes," mixed among recipes, dress patterns and ads for mail order products, farm equipment and health aids.

Its contents remain relatively unchanged since Dietrick Lamade, a 23-year-old German-born printer, took over the paper in 1884, two years after it was first published.

No one's sure where Grit got its name, says President James Crossley. "We think it comes from the old American 'stick-to-it' fortitude," he said. "It means 'true grit.'"

Grit's bread-and-butter readers have been people from rural areas, particularly the South and Midwest. But its audience has aged and new, younger readers have not picked up the paper loved and revered by an older generation.

Huge postal and newsprint increases severely pinched revenues and forced Lamade's grandchildren to sell the weekly in March 1981 to ADVO-System Inc., a direct-mail printer and distributor based in Hartford, Conn.

"We were running out of steam," said James Lamade, a grandson and former Grit vice president. "It came to the point where we didn't have the wherewithal to continue it as a viable publication."

With a new owner came change. Long-time editors, born and raised here, were replaced and Edwin Goodpaster, a veteran editor with Time and the Washington Post, was hired as president and publisher.

Luring new and younger readers was a high priority for Goodpaster, an avid outdoorsman who once edited a string of rural papers. Hired in November, he jumped into the job with a zest that impressed the Grit news staff.

For the first time, copies of the paper, marked with praise or criticism, came down to the newsroom from the front office.

The national edition, which in 1978 was dressed up with a picture coverage to attract newsstand and supermarket sales, was steered on a course closer to America's rural heart.

A network of stringers was revitalized; editors were turned over to reader-written essays; and columnists focusing on family or rural life were added.

One letter-writer, Corrine Pollak of Hartwick, N.Y., so impressed Goodpaster that he hired her to write a weekly column chronicling day-to-day events as seen from the restaurant she and her husband own.

But Goodpaster left abruptly in June. His departure reportedly stemmed from differences over spending priorities, but neither he nor Crossley would comment.

Then the new owners announced a layoff that trimmed 10 percent of Grit's workforce and cut the editorial staff from 25 to 15, sparking rumors the paper was about to fold.

The paper's problems are reflected in its circulation figures. From a peak of 1.5 million in 1962, Grit steadily lost readers until last year when its circulation sank to about 650,000.

Grit also lost many of its biggest boosters, a sales force of boys and girls which at one time numbered 35,000. They hawked the paper in return for $3 to $5 in weekly profits or prizes. That figure has now fallen to 12,000.

Over the years, Grit has counted John Glenn, Gene Autry, Tommy Dorsey, Burl Ives and Loretta Lynn among its sales crew. Today they sell the paper at 45 cents per copy; on the newsstand it costs 50 cents.

Changing and more affluent lifestyles have dried up that delivery system.

"Kids seem less willing to spend the effort and time to deliver the paper for peanuts when they can get more money from their parents in weekly allowance," said Terry Ziegler, former Grit editor.

To compensate, Grit is working harder on mail subscriptions, which, at $13.50 a year, stand at an all-time high of about 400,000, said Crossley, who started with the paper 18 years ago as an assistant treasurer.

Crossley says the paper will survive.

"We are not planning on closing our doors," he said in an interview at Grit's headquarters, a distinctive turn-of-the-century brick and stone building.

Overall national circulation is expected to climb to 725,000 this year, according to Crossley, the first annual circulation gain in years.

A recent cover featured a picture of a father-daughter arm-wrestling team and teased readers with headlines for stories on "The Community Where Clergy Join Police on Patrol" and "Artist Recalls Days of the Noble Outhouse."

Ironies

for the White House in 1984, becoming the first Senate Democrat to say he will vote for the bill. The alternative, an aide says, could be further economic decay as deficits and interest rates rise.

Reagan, never reticent about urging spending cuts on the public, making paid television commercials to rally support for the tax measure without specifically mentioning it would raise taxes.

In the end, a $13.3 billion package of spending cuts passed handily — 67-23 in the Senate and 243-176 in the House. But on the companion tax bill, it was O'Neill and the Democratic leadership that carried the day for Reagan over the opposition of conservatives claiming they were trying to save him from himself.

In the House, Republicans provided 103 votes, Democrats 123. And in the Republican Senate, where Democrats are rarely needed to enact GOP legislation, it took the support of nine Democrats and 43 Republicans.

Overshadowed by the unity needed to pass a tax increase in both an election year and a recession was how several months of bickering produced this ultimate irony:

The tax and spending bills rose from the ashes of Reagan's original budget — a blueprint so unacceptable to members of both political parties that it was rejected 20-0 in the Republican-controlled Senate Budget Committee and shelved without a vote in the House.

Reagan asked for "revenue enhancements" and improved collection methods over three years of less than $50 billion. He wound up asking, pleading, cajoling, demanding and serving lunch at Camp David and dinner at the White House to win a measure raising taxes by twice that amount.

"I applaud AT&T and the Department of Justice for accepting Judge Greene's thoughtful and necessary modifications to their antitrust agreement" said Rep. Timothy E. Wirth, D-Colo. who tried unsuccessfully this summer to convince Congress to mandate some of the same restrictions laid down by Greene.

"The new agreement provides a solid foundation for national telecommunications policy," Wirth added. "And it is good for consumers and business subscribers because it will encourage competition and keep local rates from rising precipitously."

The changes demanded by Greene last week and accepted Thursday are designed to bolster the financial health of the Bell System companies and ensure strong competition in a variety of fields.

For example, the changes let the Bell companies retain the lucrative Yellow Page directories and sell regular telephones; ensure the Bell companies are not saddled with too much debt when set free; and prohibit AT&T from entering electronic publishing for a minimum of seven years.

The Justice Department said by forcing AT&T to get rid of the Bell companies, the 105-year-old communications giant would lose the ability to use control over local telephone networks as a way of freezing out competitors in the long-distance and equipment markets.

AT&T agreed to give up two-thirds of its assets so it could escape the uncertainty posed by the antitrust suit, and begin pursuing the technological innovations of the Bell Labs into new fields.

Once the Bell breakup is completed, telephones that consumers now lease from their local Bell company will be owned by AT&T.

year, it would wipe out about one-third of the 1981 business tax reductions. The sale of corporate tax benefits through "leasing" arrangements would be repealed at the end of 1983.

Most of the tax increases will take effect next Jan. 1.

After the House vote, Reagan praised those who voted for the bill. "This was a hard choice for many of them, especially in an election year," he said, adding that the vote "is an important milestone" in putting the economy back on course.

Bygones should be bygones, he said of those who voted against the bill. "Let's get on with the nation's business: an economic recovery that will mean more jobs and more opportunity for all our people."

Many Democrats viewed the tax increase as the first step away from Reagan's economic program, which they say has failed. "This bill will not save the nation, but it is a cold splash of economic reality," said Rep. Wyche Fowler, D-Ga.

"Let's do what's right for the country and put aside our election-year cowardice in the process," pleaded Sen. Malcolm Wallop, R-Wyo.

The bill was written chiefly by Senate Republicans and endorsed by Reagan as a weapon for forcing down interest rates by cutting government borrowing.

As the compromise measure made its way through the House and Senate, one lawmaker after another who supported it proclaimed that nobody wants higher taxes but something must be done for the economy.

"No one will love us but the entire country will benefit from this bill," said Rep. Fortney Stark, D-Calif.

"This is the most painful decision of my career," said Rep. Henry Hyde, R-Ill., "but another $150 billion deficit is staring at us with bloodshot eyes."

Conservatives who took the lead in battling the tax increase said this is no time to abandon the philosophy on which Reagan was elected — lower taxes and less government. Several quoted Reagan's words earlier this year in which he said "raising taxes won't balance the budget."

Although it is important to support the president when possible, Rep. Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., cautioned colleagues, "What really matters to you: the Washington political establishment or the long-anguished voice of the American people" crying out against higher taxes.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, leader of the liberal Democrats who often have been the subject of Reagan's ire, went all-out to rally his own troops and the president's as well.

Looking to the GOP side of the chamber, O'Neill said about 30 of the young Republicans were swept into office on Reagan's coattails. "He's looking for a change of policy. Are you going to follow the leader who brought you here or are you going to run?"

The City of San Antonio received a check for $5.3 million, up 5.4 percent from last August's payment of $5 million.

The City of Fort Worth and the City of Austin each received checks for $3.3 million.

El Paso received a $2.1 million check based on a taxable sales of $217.5 million by 9,912 business outlets.

Bullock also forwarded

August rebates to the state's two Metropolitan Transit Authorities. The Houston MTA received $22.1 million, bringing the total received this year to $115.1 million, bringing the 1982 total to $14.2 million.

The city and MTA sales taxes are collected along with the state sales tax by merchants and rebated monthly to the cities in which they are collected by the Comptroller.

Kids Taught To Spot Sexual Abuse

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — A "green flag" touch is like a hug from your mom. It makes you feel good. A "red flag" touch is a touch that's forced on you, that makes you feel bad or confused.

Children all over the country are learning about those kinds of touches through a coloring book called "Red Flag, Green Flag People," written by a former counselor at Fargo's Rape and Abuse Crisis Center.

Since 1980, the center has sold 15,000 coloring books in 48 states and Canada, Mexico and Australia, at a cost of $4 each. It is the main tool of social workers and police officers in a "touch" program presented to third- and fourth-graders.

Authorities say, children are reporting more cases of physical and sexual abuse, although figures are not exact.

In 1980, the National Center for Child Abuse and Neglect in Washington received 788,000 reports of abuse and neglect of children under 18, up from 413,000 in 1976.

Of those reports, about half — 394,000 — turned out to be substantiated, says Aeolian Jackson, a technical information specialist at the center. And about 7 percent of those verified cases involved sexual abuse, she said.

"We try and stress that if they are touched by somebody and it's confusing or frightening, they shouldn't be afraid to tell," said social worker Carol Grimm of the Rape and Abuse Crisis Center.

"Often an adult will say, 'this is our little secret,' so they won't tell."

The coloring book was written by Joy Williams, a former counselor at the Fargo center, who patterned it after a mime theater presentation she once saw.

"We were seeing more and more children," she recalled in a recent interview. "We couldn't find a vehicle to get them to tell us what was happening without traumatizing them."

"I figured a coloring book would be acceptable to parents and to children," she said. "It was a matter of just keeping it simple ... There's no hidden message in it. We're just dealing with feelings."

In a recent session in nearby Moorhead, Minn., local police and social service agencies worked together in two 45-minute presentations. In one, social worker Becky Montgomery started by talking about support systems.

"What is a problem?" the children were asked. A hand went up.

"Something you're stuck on," one girl answered.

"When you don't know what to do, whom do you go to?" Ms. Montgomery asked them. "Who can you go to when you have a problem?"

That leads to a list of people they trust — parents, teachers, doctors, and police officers.

Ms. Montgomery goes on to talk about the "private part of our bodies." For boys, she said, it's the part covered by their underpants. For girls, it's the part covered by their undershirts as well. Sometimes, she said, people are touched in the private part of their bodies when they don't want to be.

"When that happens, when it's forced on them or when they've been forced to touch somebody else, they feel bad and they feel confused," she tells the class.

The children break into groups to go through the coloring book, which opens with pictures of people like Mom, Dad and grandparents. It talks about different kinds of touches and what to do if they encounter a "red flag" touch.

They are told to say "no" if strangers offer candy or rides, to run if someone tries to grab them, and to tell their parents. If the red flag person is a relative, they are told to tell someone they trust, or the police.

Ms. Montgomery says the course is not a sex education course. The social work team meets with parents and teachers before talking with the children, and each parent receives a permission slip. If parents do not want their children to participate, they return the slip.

"Of the 811 students we talked to last year, 14 brought back slips," said Dave Andersen, a juvenile officer for the Moorhead police department. "Four of those parents didn't understand the program and later let the kids be in on it."

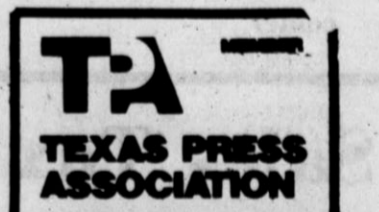

Andersen said Clay County, where Moorhead is located, had 35 reports of child abuse in 1976. That number climbed to 297 in 1980. Last year's figures haven't been totaled but he believes they are slightly higher.

When the touch program was presented in Moorhead schools last year, Andersen said, seven children in the classroom reported that they had been abused. In all seven cases, he said, the children were put in foster homes. Most of the offenders went to jail.

"In most cases, children don't lie about those things," Andersen said. "We've found a couple of cases where they exaggerate, but if they go through the trauma of reporting it, they're usually telling the truth."

One question after viewing the scene in the supermarket: Why do they call 'em "slacks"?

Voice Machine Donation

Hereford Kiwanian Steve Nieman presented Keith Lindell, seated, a $500 check to be used in the purchase of a voice machine. Keith has cerebral palsy which prohibits him from normal verbal communication. Also at the presentation were, from left, Alice Lindell, Keith's mother; Kevin Lindell, his brother, and Dana Hemelstrad, caseworker with the U.S. Department of Health in Canyon. The equipment for Keith will cost $3,000.

Ann Landers To the "Other Man"

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This letter is to The Other Man. You say you love my wife and want to marry her? Well, why don't you? I'll tell you.

Because you don't want her on a full-time basis. She would be impossible, and you know it. Also, she doesn't want to marry you because you couldn't even afford her shoe bills. I would dump her in your lap and let you two goofs figure it out, but she is a good mother and her children need her.

Some people probably think I am crazy to put up with this, but I have my priorities straight and I know you will get sick to death of her after awhile and that will be that.

By the way who is sleeping with your wife while you are spending so many evenings with mine? Funny how husbands who cheat never give it a thought. I could tell you his name, but I've told you too much already. Keep smiling chum. Life can be beautiful. — Her Husband.

DEAR HUSBAND: Were you sober when you wrote that letter? I doubt it. But I am printing it because you've zeroed in on a point or two that might wake up a few dozen (hundred? thousand?) people. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You printed a letter from a woman who broke her hip when she turned over in bed. You said she probably had osteoporosis, a bone disease fairly common among elderly people.

Please share with your readers some wisdom from Dr. Robert P. Heaney of the American Society for Bone and Mineral Research. He recommended daily exercise, either running or walking. Bones, like anything else, tend to atrophy if they are not used. A calcium-rich diet, which means milk and other dairy products can also be helpful.

Dr. Hearney warns against large amounts of Vitamin A and D. If taken in massive doses over a long period of time, the bones will deteriorate.

I checked this out with my physician, and he said it was worth writing to you about because many people don't like to go to doctors and can learn a lot from your column. Have a good day. — Emma In High Point, N.C.

DEAR EMMA: I checked out the information with my consultant in Chicago and he said Dr. Heaney knows what he is talking about. So, thanks for the input and have a nice day yourself.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 16 years old and just plain ugly. My hair is frizzy, my nose is too big, my lips are too thick, my skin is bad, I'm too skinny, and I wear a size 9 shoe. Don't tell me looks don't matter. I hear that a lot — from people who are good-looking.

When I meet someone new, I am afraid to call attention to myself, so I don't say anything. Then they think I am stupid on top of being ugly. Can you help me? — Minus One In Mankato.

DEAR ONE: Your problem isn't your hair or your nose or your feet. It's how you feel about yourself.

Have a session with a woman in a store where cosmetics are sold. She can help you with your face and hair, and would even suggest the type of clothes that will flatter your figure. Everyone likes to be around people who are pleasant, friendly and well-informed. Go to work on the inside of your head, too.

This world is filled with beautiful people who are miserable. Good looks are no guarantee that life will be kind to you. So stop moaning about what you don't have and develop the resources at hand.

Seminar Begins Tonight

Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship will host a sex and marriage seminar Friday through Sunday at the Her-ford High School cafeteria. The Friday evening session begins at 7:30 p.m. A buffet supper will be served for $3.75 on Saturday evening. The supper starts at 7 p.m. and the session at 7:45 pm. The Sunday session will begin at 3 p.m.

Youth Choir to Perform Sunday

"Miracle," a singing group from First United Methodist Church of Lubbock, will lead the evening worship service at the First United Methodist Church here Sunday at 7 p.m. The high school and college students are directed by Scott Davis, minister of youth for that parish.

The group performs contemporary Christian music. Hereford's congregation will host a snack supper at 6 p.m. There is no admission charge.

The three-session seminar will be led by Larry and Delta Meaux, who found healing for their marriage by turning to God in a divorce court seven years ago. The seminar will deal with God's order of the home, how husband and wife become one flesh, and what the Bible has to say about current issues.

Around The Town

Members of the J.J. Clayton family gathered recently in Cimmaron for a family reunion. Attending from Hereford was Lois Ethridge.

Other family members present were J.D. Clayton and Mickey of Conroe, Nedra and Curtis Ward of Paris, and Molve Stafford, who resides near Springfield, Mo.

Ms. Stafford and Ms. Ethridge then traveled to Cyril, Okla., for the golden wedding anniversary of a cousin, Arlys and Dub Gudka.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Lockhart were weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O.G. Nieman and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoover. They are former Hereford residents who now live in Round Rock.

Several Kiwanians attended the Texas-Oklahoma District District Convention in McAllen last weekend. Approximately 1600 Kiwanians and their wives and families, representing 256 clubs, were in attendance.

Included from Hereford were Mr. and Mrs. Steve Nieman, Dean Herring and Bartley and Jean Dowell. Nieman is the incoming president of the local club.

A coffee honoring Mary Gilster, a former Hereford resident who was here visiting, was given Wednesday by Carolyn Baxter in her home. The Gilsters moved to Omaha, Neb., when the Armour plant closed here.

Convention Slated This Weekend

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary to VFW Post 4818 met recently to make final plans for the District 13 VFW Convention to be held at the Post Home Saturday and Sunday.

Doris Wilson presided as members voted to donate $10 to the Bob Hope USO Center and World Headquarters. Members present were Helen Bishop, Doris Coffin, Rose Goheen, Maysie Heath, Essie Martin, Erma Murphy, Edith Richardson, Bessie Saulcy, Marta Williams, Vivian Williams, Ms. Wilson, Mabel Yocum, and Marie Goheen.

The next meeting will be Sept. 6 at 8 p.m., with a covered dish supper preceding at 7 p.m.

Blacks Host Hamburger Cook-Out

Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Black were hosts to a hamburger cook-out in their backyard at 218 N. Texas Tuesday evening.

Guests were members of Adult II Sunday School

Department at First Baptist Church. About 40 were in attendance.

Black is superintendent of the department. Marie Stringer and Pat Robbins serve as teachers.

Hamburgers, corn-on-the-cob, homemade ice cream, and desserts were included on the menu.

Once-upon-a-time you could spend the pot at the end of the rainbow instead of smoking it.

Members of the Hereford High drill team will participate in the Town and Country Jubilee tomorrow with a beard growing contest, a photo booth featuring pictures with the Whiteface Bull, and members will be sitting on the dunking board in the dunking booth sponsored by the Noons Lions Club. Several of these mysterious young ladies are, left to right front row, Kari Maddox, Trinetta Bowling, and Sharon Mitts; and left to right back row, Angela Richburg, Sara Martinez, Jana Morgan, and Karri Vinton.

Drill Team Plans Jubilee Involvement

Hereford High drill team members will be sitting on the dunking board at the Noon Lions Club Dunking Booth in the park Saturday. This group of young ladies will also sponsor a photo booth so that Jubilee-goers may have their picture taken with the Whiteface Bull.

One more project which the drill team has been working on since before June 1, when the contest was actually kicked off, is the beard growing contest. Preliminary judging will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday in Dameron Park. The judges will be on hand to make selections of the finalists.

All contestants will be invited to ride on a beard contest trailer in the parade, which begins at 10 a.m.

Final competition will take place Saturday afternoon on the fine arts stage in the park. Categories include new beards, which were started on June 1, 1982, and existing beards, which were started before that date. Awards will be presented in both categories for the best beard, mustache, goatee, and sideburns.

Anyone not possessing either the Beard Certificate or the Shaver Permit may be subjected to punishment assessed by the Kangaroo Court during the Jubilee festivities.

Kim Sims is Awarded First PEO Scholarship

Chapter F.O. of the International Chapter of P.E.O. gathered on Tuesday evening in the home of Berta Otteson to award this chapter's first scholarship.

Kim Sims, recipient of the scholarship, was honored with a "Go to A&M Shower." She is the daughter of Bob and Sue Sims.

The scholarship is funded by the annual Christmas greenery sale. Furthering the education of women is a main objective of P.E.O., and the scholarship will be awarded annually to a female graduate of Hereford High School.

Hostesses for the evening were Ms. Otteson, Pat

Fisher, Donna Jones and Karen Abney.

Other members present were Roberta Caviness, Bonnie Futrell, Lois Scott, Dean Bradley, Susan Sublett, Carolyn Hayes and Virginia Holmes.

Guests included Shelli Scott, Christi Carrigan, and Kim and Sue Sims.

Good Nutrition For Summer

COLLEGE STATION — Fun-filled summer months can be fast-paced, making it easy to simply "grab-a-bite" without thinking about nutritional nutrients.

"Keep in mind that good health is no accident, and it can be wrecked by poor nutrition," warns Dr. Dymple C. Cooksey, food and nutrition specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Summer hungries" can be fended off with sandwiches and sodas, but these alone are not enough," Cooksey says. Each of the major food groups - including milk, cheese and other dairy products; meat, poultry, seafood, legumes and nuts, including peanut butter; breads and cereals; and fruits and vegetables - are important and provide essential nutrients. In addition, sugars, fats and oils fall naturally into eating patterns, she says.

"As a team working together, selections from the major food groups satisfy all of the body's nutritional needs," Cooksey explains. Within the groups are many choices to avoid low nutrient density foods.

A healthy diet should be limited in rich baked goods

Will Grid Champ Be Surprising or Traditional?

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Will there be another surprise national champion this fall, like Clemson a year ago, or will one of the traditional powers reclaim the college football throne?

"There have been only eight repeat national champions in the AP poll since they have been doing it (1936), so it is obviously difficult to win it a second time in a row," says Clemson Coach Danny Ford. "Everyone thought it was impossible for us to win it a first time, but we did."

It's not impossible for Clemson to repeat, but the Tigers must first beat out North Carolina, the preseason favorite in the Atlantic Coast Conference. North Carolina has tailback Kelvin Bryant and quarterback Rod Elkins operating behind a stout offensive led by guards David Drechsler and Ron Spruill. Tackle William Fuller heads the defense. Clemson returns 13 starters, including quarterback Homer Jordan and All-American free safety Terry Kinard.

However, both teams will be tested right off the bat in rugged road openers. Clemson visits Georgia, the 1980 national champion, while North Carolina is at Pitt, one of the 1982 favorites.

Elsewhere, much of the headlines are centered on Pitt and Penn State in the East; Alabama, Florida, Georgia and Mississippi State in the Southeastern Conference; Miami of Florida among the Southern independents; Ohio State, Michigan and Illinois in the Big Ten; Notre Dame among the Midwest independents; Nebraska and Oklahoma in the Big Eight; Southern Methodist, Arkansas and Texas in the Southwest Conference; Washington and Southern California in the Pacific-10 and Brigham Young, Wyoming and Hawaii in the Western Athletic Conference.

Without a bruiser at fullback and an offensive line that must be restructured, Joe Paterno is changing Penn State's image from a grind-it-out to a big-play team. The skill people include quarterback Todd Blackledge, running back Curt Warner and wide receiver Kenny Jackson.

Pitt also has plenty of firepower in quarterback Dan Marino, wideouts Julius Dawkins and Dwight Collins and running back Bryan Thomas behind a superb pair of offensive tackles in Jimbo Covert and Bill Fralic.

Once again, the top names in the SEC are Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant and Georgia tailback Herschel Walker. Last year, Bryant became college football's winningest coach with 315 victories and he is expected to add a lot more this season.

Alabama and Georgia don't meet during the regular season. Florida has never won the SEC title, but the Gators are getting a lot of support and their Nov. 6 meeting with Georgia will be crucial. Walker makes Georgia a power and he will be joined by a super freshman class.

Miami lost heavily to graduation, but quarterback Jim Kelly makes the Hurricanes a threat.

In the Big Ten, Iowa ended the Michigan-Ohio State domination by going to the Rose Bowl. The Hawkeyes must replace most of their rugged defense and Illinois is given a real shot at joining the elite this year led by record-breaking Tony Eason at quarterback.

Ohio State lost quarterback Art Schlichter, but almost everyone else is back. Michigan returns its aerial duo of quarterback Steve Smith and wide receiver Anthony Carter. At Notre Dame, the Fighting Irish will try to rebound from their first losing campaign in 18 years against a schedule which includes Michigan, Miami, Pitt, Penn State and Southern Cal.

Oklahoma is smarting from an unaccustomed 7-4-1 season and the loss of its Big Eight crown to Nebraska. The Sooners are counting on their usual horde of running backs and better things from a defense led by tackle Rick Bryan and linebackers Thomas Benson and Jackie Shipp.

Nebraska's hopes rest on quarterback Turner Gill's recovery from a foot injury that kept him out of the Orange Bowl loss to Clemson. Indications are that Gill will be okay, joining tailbacks Mike Rozier and Roger Craig behind All-American center

Dave Rimington.

Texas, which lost heavily to graduation, went to the Cotton Bowl even though it finished behind SMU in the SWC. The Mustangs, who were on probation last year, have a new coach in Bobby Collins and the same impressive set of tailbacks in Eric Dickerson and Craig James. Arkansas has a 1-2 quarterback punch in Tom Jones and Brad Taylor and a defense led by All-American end Billy Ray Smith.

The big story in the Southwest, however, is Jackie Sherrill, who left Pitt for Texas A&M and the richest contract in coaching history.

The Washington Huskies are one of college football's best-kept secrets, but they have gone to the Rose Bowl two years running while reportedly building for this year. Coach Don James returns 17 starters, including running back Jacque Robinson, the only freshman ever to be named MVP in the Rose Bowl.

Southern Cal is on probation and ineligible for the Pac-10 title, but Auburn in 1957 and Oklahoma in 1974 won national championships while on probation. The Trojans have settled on slinging Sean Salisbury as their quarterback and a huge offensive line includes tackle Don Mosebar, guard Bruce Matthews and center Tony Slaton. Stanford will be dangerous as long as John Elway's strong right arm holds up.

Brigham Young's string of six WAC titles could be in jeopardy with the emergence of the programs at Wyoming and Hawaii. The latest in BYU's long line of standout quarterbacks is Steve Young, Brigham's great-great-great-great grandson.

'White Shoes' Attempts Comeback from Canada

SUWANEE, Ga. (AP) — Billy "White Shoes" Johnson, attempting a National Football League comeback after a year in Canada, hopes his experience and his quickness will gain him a position with the Atlanta Falcons.

The punt return specialist dazzled his way to three Pro Bowl appearances — in 1975, 1976 and 1977 — during seven years with the Houston Oilers before going down with knee injuries.

With Houston, Johnson set an NFL record for career average punt returns at more than 13 yards a return. And he tied a league record in 1975 when he returned three punts for touchdowns and scored another on a kickoff return.

Following knee surgery in 1978 and 1979, Johnson went to the Canadian Football League. With Montreal last season, Johnson ranked third in pass receiving and punt returns but "the administration there was falling apart, everything was helter-skelter and they wanted me to take a pay cut, so I opted to come back to the NFL," he said.

"He has been a pleasant surprise," Falcons Coach Leeman Bennett said of the 29-year-old Johnson.

"One of our primary reasons for signing him was for his punt return ability," said Bennett. "He's also got playing ability at wide receiver. Many people said he no longer could do it as a receiver, but that's inaccurate, he can still play."

"He's still got great quickness. There was an image painted of him as sort of a hot dog. From what I've seen, that's totally inaccurate. He's been all class since he's been here. I've seen nothing negative about him," said Bennett, whose club lacks a speedster at the punt return position.

"The knee injuries haven't bothered me at all," said the 5-foot-9, 170-pound Johnson. "I just have to continue to work hard on them. I can't afford to take it easy."

He said he was clocked at 4.4 seconds for the 40-yard dash as a rookie out of Widener (Pa.) College in 1974 and ran a 4.53 recently.

"To tell you the truth, if I run 4.5 or 4.6, I'm happy. The biggest thing is my quickness and I've still got that," said Johnson.

"Another thing, I'm an experienced ball player. I don't think you can beat experience. It has proven itself time and time again, there's no substitute for experience," he said in a recent interview at the Falcons' training camp here.

Schuhmacher Caught Twixt Stars

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) — Houston Oiler offensive lineman John Schuhmacher keeps getting caught in the shadows of superstars.

Schuhmacher inherited the starting left tackle job three seasons ago and two weeks later the Oilers traded for All-Pro Leon Gray, who stepped into the position.

Last season, Schuhmacher emerged as the starting left guard. Now he faces another challenge after the Oilers made Penn State lineman Mike Munchak their No. 1 choice in the National Football League draft.

"It took Leon to get me out at tackle," Schuhmacher said. "Now Munchak ... I've been in some pretty good company."

Although Schuhmacher graded out higher than Munchak in last week's exhibition victory over New Orleans, Munchak is the favorite to eventually start at Schuhmacher's left guard position.

"The kid (Munchak) is a good one, no question about that," Schuhmacher said. "He may be one of the best ever before he's through. But I still think that if I play like I can, he won't be able to replace me, at least this year."

"And I think they'll want to play the 11 best players right now."

The competition continues Sunday when the Oilers host the New York Jets in the Astrodome in their second preseason game. The Oilers defeated the Saints 22-20 last week.

Schuhmacher, a 12th-round draft choice from USC in 1979, may be fighting for more than his starting position. The Oilers probably will keep only three guards and four veterans are on the team.

In addition to Schuhmacher and Munchak are starting right guard Ed Fisher and George Reihner.

Reihner has been sidelined with a pulled thigh muscle since camp started, but turned to practice Wednesday and will play against the Jets.

Niekro Pulls Braves On Track While Perez Tours Atlanta

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer
Pascual Perez got lost trying to drive his way to the ballpark, but Phil Niekro was able to put the Atlanta Braves back on the right track.

"I never expected to pitch tonight," said Niekro after filling in for the AWOL Perez and pitching the Braves to a 5-4 victory over the Montreal Expos Thursday night. "I felt a little more tired than I usually do - but sometimes when they catch you off guard, it's good."

Niekro was thrown into the breach when Perez, a relative newcomer to Atlanta, got lost when he rented a car and drove himself to Atlanta Stadium for the first time. He finally arrived in the first inning, and got slapped with a $100 fine for his tardiness.

"Sometimes you've got to get lost to find yourself," said Atlanta first baseman Bob Watson, obviously alluding to the Braves' recent losing streak more than Perez's logistical problems.

Before Thursday night, the Braves had lost 19 of their last 21 games, and dropped into second place in the NL West after losing a seemingly insurmountable 9-game lead in less than three weeks. Claudell Washington was the hitting hero for Atlanta, smashing a two-run homer and then a run-scoring single in the seventh for the winning run.

The Braves were losing 4-3 when they rallied to win with two runs in the seventh off reliever Woodie Fryman, 7-3, on a sacrifice fly by Jerry Royster and Washington's RBI single. Niekro, 11-3, allowed only three hits while pitching seven innings and Gene Garber worked the final two innings to gain his 21st save.

In other NL action, it was Los Angeles 8, Chicago 2; Pittsburgh 6, San Francisco 1; Houston 7, Philadelphia 6 in 11 innings; San Diego 4, St. Louis 3 and Cincinnati 3, New York 1.

Cubs 8, Dodgers 2

Bill Buckner whacked four hits, including a double and a homer, and Jay Johnstone also homered, leading a 17-hit Chicago attack as the Cubs pounded Los Angeles.

Ferguson Jenkins, 8-13, checked the NL West-leading Dodgers on four hits, walked three and struck out four in eight innings in gaining the 272nd victory of his major league career. Dick Tidrow pitched the ninth inning for the Cubs, allowing two hits. Bob Welch, 14-8, who had won his previous five games, was the loser.

"I'm always motivated when it comes to hitting," said Buckner, brushing off questions about trying harder against his former teammates.

Pirates 6, Giants 1

Jason Thompson slammed two singles and drove in two runs and John Candelaria scattered seven hits in seven innings as Pittsburgh defeated San Francisco. Tony Pena also hit a solo homer for the Pirates, his seventh, in the sixth inning.

Candelaria, 10-5, struck out five and walked two in seven innings before he was removed because of a blister on his left foot. Loser Rich Gale, 6-12, lasted only four innings, giving up four of the Pirates' five runs and seven hits.

Astros 7, Phillies 6

Denny Walling's RBI single with one out in the 11th inning paced Houston to a comeback victory over Philadelphia.

Danny Heep drew a walk from loser Sid Monge, 5-1, to lead off the 11th. Heep was sacrificed to second by Dickie Thon, setting the stage for Walling's game-winner.

Dave Smith, 2-4, pitched one-hit relief over the final three innings for the win.

The Astros had rallied from a 6-2 deficit to tie the score with three runs in the fifth and one in the eighth off Steve Carlton, who pitched 10 innings for the Phillies.

Padres 4, Cardinals 3

St. Louis right fielder

George Hendrick's two-base error opened the gates for a three-run third inning and rookie left-hander Dave Dravecky scattered seven hits in 8 1-3 innings as San Diego beat the Cardinals.

Dravecky, 4-1, gave up three runs, including Gene Tenace's two-run homer in the ninth, before getting relief from Luis DeLeon, who gained his 11th save.

Loser John Stuper, 5-3, hurt his own cause by walking Tim Flannery and Tony Gwynn around a sacrifice bunt by Dravecky in the third.

Garry Templeton then hit a low liner to right for a single which eluded Hendrick, who tried for a shoe-string catch. Gwynn scored and Templeton, who reached third, then scored on Gene Tenace's passed ball to make it 3-0.

Reds 3, Mets 1

Ron Oester's two-run homer in the 10th inning lifted

Cincinnati over New York and extended the Reds' winning streak to four games, their longest of the season.

The Reds had rallied with two out in the ninth to tie the score 1-1 on Larry Bliittner's RBI single. Mike Vail led off the 10th with a double off reliever Tom Hausman, 1-1, who came on for starter Craig Swan. Oester then followed with his fourth homer, into the right-field stands at Riverfront Stadium.

In the ninth, the Reds had tied the game on Larry Bliittner's RBI single. Jim Kern, 3-5, pitched the 10th inning in relief of Bruce Berenyi for the victory.

Gura Pitches 7 With Pulled Muscle

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer

Larry Gura didn't take the easy road to become the first 15-game winner in the American League this season.

The box score of the White Sox-Royals game looks routine enough, with Gura allowing five hits in seven shutout innings. But what the record books won't show is that the Kansas City left-hander pitched almost the entire game with a groin muscle pull.

Royals Manager Dick

Howser nervously watched the veteran left-hander work in pain for seven innings before calling on Dan Quisenberry to get the last two outs of Kansas City's 3-0 victory Thursday night.

Gura, 15-8, who hasn't allowed a run in his last 17 innings of pitching, outdueled LaMarr Hoyt, who also had 14 victories going into the game.

Hoyt, 14-11, was nicked for single runs in the second, fourth and seventh as the White Sox, who have rallied in the past month to get in the AL West race, lost their third straight game.

Doubles got the Royals started in each of those innings.

Willie Aikens led off the second with a double and came around on groundouts by Jerry Martin and Frank White. Martin doubled in the fourth and scored on a single by White, who led off the seventh with another two-base hit and went to third when John Wathan singled to chase Hoyt.

Salome Barojas almost got out of the jam, coaxing a double play grounder from Greg Pryor, while White held at third. Second baseman Tony Bernazard then made a good play on Willie Wilson's sharp grounder, but threw wildly to first, allowing White to score on what was ruled an infield hit.

Brewers 10, A's 6

Fred Stanley hit his first homer in three years for Oakland, but Milwaukee bats were hot again as the Brewers snapped a four-game losing streak to increase their East Division lead to four games.

Ben Oglivie's three-run homer gave Milwaukee a 7-2 lead as it scored four unearned runs in the fifth inning. Paul Molitor contributed four hits, scored three runs and knocked in two.

Pete Vuckovich, 14-4, got the victory despite allowing nine hits, including six for extra bases, in six innings. Matt Keough, 10-16, took the loss but only three of the eight runs he allowed were earned.

Rickey Henderson of the A's stole his 111th base of the season, pulling to within seven of Lou Brock's major league record. Tony Armas hit his 20th homer for Oakland.

Twins 9, Orioles 3

Tom Brunansky, Gary Ward and Gary Gaetti slugged homers as Minnesota started the game with six straight hits to blister Baltimore.

The Twins took a 6-0 first-inning lead with the homers, all of which carried over 400 feet in the Minneapolis Metrodome.

Bobby Castillo, 7-9, had a four-hitter going into the ninth inning, but he gave up a two-run homer to Eddie Murray and a solo shot to John Lowenstein to ruin the shutout bid. He also struck out a career-high 10 batters.

Loser Scott McGregor, 12-12, failed to retire a batter in the first, giving up the first five runs.

Angels 8, Red Sox 5

California scored five runs after two were out in the seventh inning to beat Boston and stay in sole possession of first place in the West, one game ahead of the Royals.

Don Baylor singled in the go-ahead run in the seventh, which started with the Red Sox ahead 5-3.

Sherrill Orders Linemen To Muscle Up Offense

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ AP Sports Writer

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — As head football coach at Pittsburgh, Jackie Sherrill liked to put human mountains in the offensive line and laugh at opposing defenses trying to climb over to the quarterback.

Then he came to Texas A&M last spring and found mostly flatlands.

Although the Aggies return eight starters on offense, including highly regarded quarterback Gary Kubiak, Sherrill is most concerned about improvement in the offensive line. Among his first orders were for the offensive linemen to muscle up.

"The offensive linemen have done an excellent job of getting on the weights and getting stronger," Sherrill said. "You don't see any teams winning without strong offensive and defensive lines. SMU and Houston were good examples last year."

Sherrill likes to start his linemen shopping list at 6-5 but he'll have to settle for considerably less this season.

"There have been 6-2 linemen who have played for me but they have to be very strong and physical," Sherrill said. "You like to be able to rattle off 15 names of offensive linemen who can play but we don't have them."

Sherrill has been pleased with the weight work of starting left tackle Bryan Dasin and left guard Greg Porter, who are now at the 250-mark. They'll be joined by center

Matt Darwin, 6-4, 252, guard Tim Ward, 6-5, 275 and tackle Tommy Robins, 6-4, 275, along the offensive line.

The Aggies spent spring training trying to digest Sherrill's complicated multiple offensive scheme, and Sherrill says he's pleased with the progress of Kubiak, who set a Southwest Conference record of six touchdown passes against Rice last season.

"Gary is a player with the intelligence factor and athletic ability to adapt to our philosophy," Sherrill said. "He's got a quick release and he can run the option. The only thing he doesn't have is a cannon."

Kubiak will get his plays from the sidelines but "he'll have the option to audible at the line," Sherrill said. "We'll give him a lot of freedom to call the plays. He'll direct about 85 percent of the game."

Running backs Johnny Hector and Earnest Jackson also return along with flanker Jimmie Williams. Jimmy Teal will replace graduated split end Mike Whitwell.

The defense also is loaded with eight returning starters with only end Keith Baldwin, linebacker Mike Little and cornerback Dan Davis missing from the 1981 starters.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Polly Fisher

Easy oil crust recipe

DEAR POLLY - I hope you can help me. I lost my recipe for pie crust made with oil. No one seems to have one like it. It had sugar, flour, a little salt and oil stirred up into a lump on waxed paper. Do you have a recipe like this? - MRS. F.R.B.

DEAR MRS. F.R.B. - While I don't know if this is the same as your original recipe, perhaps this Oil Pastry (from the book "Pies & Pastries" by Janet Pittman) will be an adequate substitute. It is an extremely easy dough to work with and is quite tasty for either sweet or savory fillings. Stir one cup plus two tablespoons flour and one-half teaspoon salt together in a medium bowl. Add six tablespoons vegetable oil and two tablespoons cold water all at the same time. Stir quickly until mixture forms a ball. If necessary, add one or two teaspoons water to crumbs in bottom of bowl. Shape into a flat ball. Place the dough ball between two 12-inch squares of waxed paper (don't coat it with additional flour). Roll out dough between waxed paper to desired size. Peel off top paper. Flip over dough and remaining waxed paper. Center dough over pie pan. Gently peel off paper. Ease dough into pan. Bake as for any unfilled pie shell, or fill and bake as your particular pie recipe directs. This makes one single-crust shell. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - To save money on stamps which are so expensive nowadays, I save all letters from family members and pass them all in a group along to another family member. They read them and pass them on to the next person. This also saves me a lot of discomfort since I'm in my eighties and my hands bother me when I write. - MRS. L.M.W.

DEAR POLLY - When my daughter and I go visiting overnight, we take our sleeping bags along, place them right on top of the bedding and sleep in the bags. This saves the hostess the chore of laundering the bedsheets. ELAYNE

DEAR POLLY - We are redoing our kitchen. What are the pros and cons of using tile for the counter surfaces? If anyone has used tiles for this purpose, please give us your opinions. - NEEDING ADVICE

DEAR NEEDING - Tile would certainly be a lovely looking countertop. However, I personally prefer a smooth, one-piece surface of the plastic laminate type, saving tiles as a beautiful covering for a backsplash on the wall. The grout between tiles gathers dirt easily and the somewhat rough surface is not as easy to clean. Also, when choosing tiles, you must be very careful as to the material and finish of the tiles. Some finishes may be easily marred or discolored if you accidentally put something hot on them. Some types of tiles may be easily scratched if a family member errantly uses the counter surface for a cutting board. If you do decide on the tile, shop carefully and be sure the dealer knows exactly what the tiles will be used for. And if any readers have their own opinions and experiences, please let me know. I welcome opposing views! - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - To soften washcloths before using, fold in fourths and rub between your hands vigorously. The roughest washcloth will soften every time. - ESTA

DEAR POLLY - To easily grease a bundt cake pan, I first heat the pan with hot water and quickly dry it. The shortening or butter then glides on quickly and easily. - RUTH

WHO AM I?

I could really knuckle down. At age 19, I broke in with the Red Sox. That was the year when Roger Maris hit 61 homers. I'm known for a dubious achievement. In one season, I won 20 games and lost 20 games.

ANSWER: Willie Mays (1967-78) of White Sox (1967-78) who broke in with the Red Sox (1949-1951) and won 20 games and lost 20 games in one season. (c) 1982 NEA, Inc.

ANSWERS

1. James stresses the value of patience and speaks of the farmer who patiently waits for his harvest in the time of the early and latter rains. The early rain is in the months of October and November and the latter in March and April. Crops are planted so they will grow in the rainy season.

"Be patient therefore, brethren, until the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain." - James 5:7

Faith in God can conquer fear.

"Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night; nor for the arrow that flieth by day; Nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness: nor for the destruction that wasteth at noonday; A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand; but it shall not come near thee." — Psalms 91:5-7
