CHARGED CARRANZA COWARDLY ASSASSINATED

SPECIAL RULE DESIGNED FOR SOLDIER BILL

Republican Leaders, However, Await Result of Poll Before Proceeding.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Republicans of the house rules committee today ordered a favorable report on a special rule giving the soldier relief bill legislation right of way. No date to bring the bill before the house was set, but Chairman Campbell advised that no effort to pass the bill would be made before Tuesday.

Objections of committee demands were based on the proposal to deny opportunity to amend the bill on the floor. Under the republican program only one motion may be made—to recommit to the ways and means committee.

Indecision of the leaders as to date for bringing the bill before the house was understood to be due to a desire to await the result of a poll of all republican members.

Meanwhile house democrats continued to prepare for a fight against the rules committee report expecting aid from half a hundred republicans opposing the cash bonus. The combination of the anti-bonus republicans with the democrats threatened to defeat the rule.

Opposition to another provision of the bill also developed. The nation wide protest against the Lane-Mendell land reclamation plan providing for homes for former service men. The complaint was made by A. M. Loomis of the secretary of the grange in a letter which said that the reclamation plan was a blanket raid on the United States treasury for the vast expenditure of money of all sorts and kinds of good, bad and indifferent reclamation projects under the guise and behind the cloak of "doing something for the soldiers."

NO CAUSE FINANCIAL ALARM PRICE SLASHING SAYS BANKERS' PRESIDENT

ST. LOUIS, May 22.—There is no cause for financial alarm in the present nation-wide price slashing movement, according to a statement by Richard S. Hawes, of this city, president of the American Bankers Association.

FEDERAL BANK ACTS AGAINST SUGAR SPECULATORS

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Another step designated to aid in driving down prices of necessities has been taken by the federal reserve board.

Governor Harding is understood to have intimated to federal reserve bank officials that they should scrutinize carefully the paper they hold as security for loans made to the sugar trade to the end that more sugar may be made available for domestic consumption.

It was estimated that probably $250,000,000 was tied up in "frozen loans" on sugar stocks and it was regarded as probable that the banks would be able to locate any sugar stock held for speculative purposes and force their distribution.

"The principles of the forms of government and the constituents include the terms of doctrinal subscription of the several churches uniting, are recognized as a part of the bases of union.

"The doctrines of worship of the several churches shall be a part of basis of union to the extent that congregations shall have the same freedom of worship, both as to forms and usages, under the united assembly as they had before the union."

RELATIONS WITH MEXICO DISCUSSED AT CONFERENCE

WORCESTER, MASS., May 22.—Professor Frederick Starrm of the University of Chicago, who has conducted investigations in ethnography and anthropology in Mexico, told the Clark University conference on Mexico and the Carribean today that President Carranza was the first Mexican executive "seriously to consider rights of the Mexican people."

"He recognized the rights of the Indian and common laborer," Professor Starrm declared.

Dr. A. W. Donly, formerly trade commissioner of the Dominion of Canada, addressing the conference related the revolt which has swept Mexico is not a popular uprising, but has been conducted by the very men who were instrumental in placing Carranza in power. He said the United States owes an undischarged duty toward many of its citizens in Mexico.

That the relations between the United States and Latin-America are at present fraught with danger, was the message sent the conference by Dr. John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American union. Dr. Barrett added, however, that they were equally fraught with the period of great progress.

Johnson is said to have expected to marry Mrs. Cathcart but his mother and sisters are reported to have objected. Since he has brooded over her marriage to Cathcart.

STATE DEPARTMENT WILL NOT DETER IRISH RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Secretary Colby wrote Chairman Porter of the house foreign affairs committee today that there were "no facts" in connection with foreign relations which should deter the committee from acting on pending resolutions dealing with Irish freedom and which the committee felt "conscientiously impelled to take."

The secretary added however, that it "hardly seems proper" for him to attempt to guide the committee's action, "by an expression of opinion of legislation at this stage."

The committee took no action on the resolution before it of proposing American diplomatic recognition of the Irish republic, adjourning until Monday.

Secretary Colby's letter was in response to a request from Chairman Porter that he appear today to discuss the resolution. The sessions were executive, but committemen said Representative Flood of Virginia, banking democratic member, had moved to continue until Irish matters were disposed of after the chairman had Mr. Colby's letter under protest.

500,000,000 BUSHEL ESTIMATE WINTER WHEAT

WASHINGTON, May 22.—A winter wheat crop of approximately 500,000,000 bushels was forecast today by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

"This estimate may vary 10 per cent or 100,000,000 bushels either way," said the chamber's announcement.

Last year's winter wheat crop was 731,636,000 bushels, according to reports of the United States agriculture department.

The department's estimate of the 1920 crop is 484,647,000 bushels, based on reports May 1.

The short crop estimated for 1920 is due, the chamber stated, to a scarcity of farm labor ans a "natural disinclination of the farmer to commit his land too largely to a crop whose price he expects to decline when the government guarantee is removed."

MUCH DEPENDS MANNER DEATH OF CARRANZA

If He Was Assassinated U. S. Might Refuse Recognition of New Government.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Venustiano Carranza has joined the many Latin-American dictators who have ended their stormy career in flight and death.

A fugitive in the mountains of Puebla, the old man who kept the United States and Mexico in a broil five years, was killed Thursday by some of the troops which had been protecting him as a royal body guard in his flight from Mexico City.

Whether he fell fighting or a victim of the celebrated "Ley Fuega" which made dead men of Madera and Suarez or was murdered in a coup d' etat is obscured in fragmentary information coming from the tropical vastness of Tlaxcaltenango, where he died.

Early dispatches today from Mexico City said Carranza had been killed in an attack led by General Herrera who had gone with him in flight but later deserted to the revolutionists.

The announcement made at headquarters of General Obregon gave the impression that Carranza had died in battle.

But later advices to El Paso charge Carranza had been made a prisoner and assassinated in a "cowardly manner" and said several friends who were with him hd sent a protest to General Pablo Gonzales.

The full story may not be immediately known and even then may be the subject of dispute.

Nun's Prophesy.

But it does bring to mind a prophesy said to have been made by a nun, which is now being talked about in Mexico.

The nun prophesied, the report said, that after Mexico had seen three Franciscos in public life, she would have for president an old man with a beard who would meet a violent death and that he would be succeeded by a president who mounted his horse from the "wrong" side. The prophesy also added that thereafter Mexico would lose its independence.

There have been three Franciscos in Mexico's public life since the prophesy was made. They were Francisco De La Barra, now in exile; Francisco Madero, the murdered president of 1913; and Francisco Villa, the bandit leader. Carranza was well known for his whiskers. Obregon who led the revolt against him and is expected by many to succeed him, lost an arm in the battle of Celaya with Villa, and mounts his horse from the "wrong" side.

Carranza's death and the manner of it probably will have some important bearing on the action of the United tSates when it considers recognition of the new government. When President Wilson refused to recognize Huerta he based his action on the untimely deaths of Madero and Suares, and announced a broad general policy that no government would be recognized which did not rest on constitutional elections and which was based on armed force alone.

Up to this point the Mexican revolution has been marked by an absence of fighting, and the question of whether the revolutionary forces might be recognized has been left for later developments.

If it were to be shown that Carranza was killed in a 'coup d' etat, the question of recognition of the new government probably would go back to President Wilson's originally outlined policy. If he were killed in battle with the revolutionists, it probably would still be a question as to whether the recognition of his successors came within the policy laid down seven years ago.

The details of the Mexican president's death will have to be known fully before the state department makes any decision on the questions of recognition.

Congress Called Monday

Legal procedure for establishment of a government in Mexico has not been altered by the death of the constitutional president. The constitution of 1917 provides that in the event of the death of president, congress shall name an ad interim president. Such steps already have been taken in the calling of congress in special session for May 24 to name a provisional president.

Advices to the de facto agents here have indicated the outstanding candidates to be Adolfo De La Huerta and Pablo Gonzales.

Luis Marones, chief of organized labor in Mexico, sent here on a special mission by Obregon conferred informally at the department today, explaining conditions that brought about the revolution and the aims of the de facto officials. He gave assurances that rights of foreigners would be protected.

Mexico City press advices received today quoted Juan Sanchez Asonna temporarily in charge of the Mexican foreign office, as saying the revolutionary authorities were "giving careful consideration to the best manner of complying with foreign engagements formerly entered into by Mexico.

Carranza was the country governor of Couhuila who united the Mexicans under the banner of the constitutionalists in 1913 and fought Huerta who seized the power with the wholesale executions which accompanied Madero's death. Headed by the military genius of Villa his army won many victories. But he soon quarreled with Villa and no sooner was he in Mexico City and recognized by the United States, than he had a revolution on his own hands with Villa.

BODY OF CARRANZA EXPECTED AT CITY SATURDAY NIGHT

MEXICO CITY, May 22.—The body of Venustiano Carranza is due to arrive here this evening. The six other victims were buried at the scene of the battle.

Permission has been granted relatives of the late president for private interment of his body. These include his daughters, Julia and Virginia, the latter the wife of General Candido Aguilar.

There is still uncertainty regarding Carranza's companions who were killed. It is believed, however, they were general Francisco Murguia, General Francisco Urquiso, under secretary of war and marine, Luis Cabrera, governor Puebla; Manuel Aguire Berlanga, secretary of the interior, and General Pilar Sanches.

DENIED THAT HERRERO WAS IN FEDERAL SERVICE

MEXICO CITY, May 22.—Lieutenant Colonel Cardenas who for three years commanded the garrison at Necaxa, near the scene of Carranza's death, and who is now here, is quoted today as denying General Rodolfo Herrero, whose forces killed Carranza was once a federal officer. Under Huerta, he said, Herrero commanded volunters from his own town and that this was his only connection with the federal army.

General Herrero, Lieut. Col. Cardina's report a former follower of Manuel Palaez and surrender March 8 to General Francisco De P. Mariel, who was with Carranza at his death.

NAME "GROVER CLEVELAND" ELIMINATED BY NEWSPAPER

NEWWARK, N. J., May 22.—The name "Grover Cleveland" was eliminated from the name of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll by the Newark Star-Eagle in its stories of the Philadelphia draft dodger, who yesterday escaped from his guards in that city and disappeared. In an editor's note at the top of the story is the following explanation:

"The Star-Eagle does not use the given name of this slacker because it was borne honorably by a native of Essex county who received the greatest honor that the American people have to bestow."

JOHNSON RENTS HALL NEAR COLISEUM AND WILL BE ON HAND EARLY

CHICAGO, May 22.—Senator Hiram Johnson of California today promised to furnish the real "curtain raiser" for the republican national convention opening here June 8.

Johnson has secured a hall near the convention building. With Senator Borah of Idaho, Senator Kenyon and others Johnson intends to stage the unofficial convention opening.

Arrangements were being made here today to receive the Johnson national headquarters which will be moved from Washington and New York Tuesday. Full forces of other candidates are expected to reach here next week.

WOULD MAKE MORE SUGAR AVAILABLE DOMESTIC USE

WASHINGTON, May 22. — Sugar hoarders will be easily traced under evidence to be turned over to the justice department by importers, Howard Figg, special assistant to Attorney General Palmer, said today.

"Importers agreed to supply the department with lists showing names of purchasers of the 1920 crop and the prices which the importers received," Figg said.

"Candy manufacturers and soft drink manufacturers are believed to be responsible for the sugar shortage. With the evidence we hope to get from the importers sugar should be made more available for domestic use," Figg said.

SOME PROGRESS TOWARD RELIEF OF FREIGHT JAM

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The Edge apparently has been broken off the nation-wide freight jam through joint efforts of the railroads, the interstate commission and shippers.

Advices tonight showed a slight and continued decline in the number of loaded cars awaiting movement, while reports to the American railroad association indicated a general public awakening to the need of thorough co-operation. This, with drastic steps taken by the gopernment in ordering disregard of routing and th eswift exchange of equipment, was counted on as "a starter."

Despite this more hopeful view, however, officers of the association and railroad men said the great bulk of freight tied up had suffered only a few dents and that the roads were so badly snowed under that it would take weeks, perhaps more to get back to normal.

BULLETIN

EL PASO, TEXAS, May 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—President Carranza of Mexico was assassinated by his own men, according to a telegram from Alvaro Obregon of Mexico City, received by revolutionary agents here today.

Carranza was killed by troops under General Rodolfo Herrer, a former federal soldier of the Diaz regime, the message from Obregon stated. The assassination was reported to have taken place at Tlaxcatlongo, Puebla, yesterday.

Carranza's chief followers, who were with him when he died, addressed a message to General Pablo Gonzales, protesting the assassination of their chief. This message was transmitted here by Obregon with his answer.

Carranzistas Protest

The Carranza leaders said Carranza was made a prisoner and cowardly assassinated at the cry of "Viva Obregon," by Colonel Rodolfo Herrera, and his men, violating the hospitality that had been offered him by Herrera.

"The undersigned of this message," said the Carrancista message, "protest with all their energy, honor and loyalty to the entire world against this new stain which has been thrown upon our country."

Obregon, in his answer to this message, scathingly arrainged Carranza's followers for allowing him to be assassinated.

"It is very strange," he said, "that a group of officers who are vouching their loyalty and honor like yourselves and who were accompanying President Carranza with the unfaltering duty of protecting him, should have allowed him to be assassinated."

Obregon's Answer.

Obregon's message to Carranza's followers ended with this paragraph: "I have the right to suppose that you ran away at the critical moment without having even made use of your arms, as none of you were wounded, if you have died defending the life of your friend and chief, who had showered so many favors upon you, you would have been honored by public opinion and would be at rest with your conscience and would have escaped the shame of your coward lines."

A message this afternoon to Luis Montes De Oca, commercial agent for the new de facto government, from the department of propaganda and information at Nogales, told him to give the information of the assassination of Carranza to the press, "laying particular stress on the fact that the happening occurred far away from the field of operation of our armies."

General Obregon's message to Roberto Pesquiera, financial agent of the de facto government here, said:

"Headquarters, General Obregon:
"Mexico City, May 22, 1920.
"R. V. Pesquiera, Ciudad, Juarez, Chihuahua:

"I am transmitting the following message received yesterday from Saxa:

Message to Obregon.

"'Early this morning at the town of Tlaxcaltenango, the president of the republic, Venustiano Carranza, was made a prisoner and cowardly assassinated at the cry of "Viva Obregon" by Colonel Rodolfo Herrera and his men, violating the hospitality that has been offered him by Horrera.

"'The undersigned of this message protest with all their energy, honor and loyalty to the entire world against this new stain which has been thrown upon our country. After having complied with our duty, which, our honor as soldier and friend of Carranza imposed on us we are at your service and we only ask permission to allow us to take the body of our worthy chief to its last dwelling place at the capital city, requesting you to order a special train for this purpose to Berbistieu.

"'Respectfully yours, (signed Gen. J. Barrigan, F. De P. Mariel, Frederico Montes, Marciano Gonzales),

"'Ignacio Bonillas, Lieutenant Col. D. M. Fernandez, Col. F. Lima and other officers'."

"'Your wire to General Pablo Gonzales. It is very strange that a group of officers who are vouching their loyalty and honor like yourselves and were accompanying President Carranza with the unfaltering duty of protecting him should have allowed him to be assassinated without complying with your duty as it would be viewed by the people of the republic and the people of the world, that you should have shared his fate. More so when the whole nation is aware that you are the only ones responsible for the unfortunate happenings of the last few weeks, and which had such a regretable finale in the death of Venustiano Carrenza which found him abandoned by his closest friends who at the critical moment failed in their duty to protect him.

"'On repeated occasions, President Carranza was notified that every guarantee would be given him if he would be willing to leave the danger zone but he refused to accept this offer because he considered it an undignified act for a man of honor to save himself, leaving his companions in danger; this act of Carranza's revealed the dignity and good fellowship which you failed to appreciate.

"'There are signed the message the names of thirty-two officers and one civilian, which is more than suff sufficient in number if they would have done their duty, to have saved Mr. Carranza's life, if, as you state, he was assassinated.

"'I have the right to suppose that you ran away at the critical moment without having made use of your arms, as none of you were wounded. If you had died defending the life of your chief and friend who has showered so many favors up on you, you would have been honored by public opinion and would be at rest with your conscience and would have escaped the shame of your cowardice'."

(Signed)
"A. Obregon."

OBREGON ASSERTS MEXICO NOW FREE INTERNECINE STRIFE

NEW YORK, May 22.—Complete pacification of all factions in Mexico has been accomplished and the country is now free from the internecine strife which has kept the republic in a turmoil for the last seven years, according to a message received by the United Press today from General Alvaro Obregon, head of the present revolutionary movement in Mexico.

"Mexico today finds itself in a state of actual internal peace for the first time in seven years," Obregon's message said. "Consolidation of all revolutionary groups which rose in arms with the movement initiated by the state of Sonora has resulted in consummation of efforts to set up a real republic in Mexico.

"There are today telegraphic and railway communications with all parts of the country. Every train moves without armed escort, something which has been unknown in Mexico for the last seven years.

STATEMENTS CONCERNING BERGDOLL'S ESCAPE

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, rich draft dodger, who escaped from two army sergeants at Philadelphia yesterday was permitted to leave Fort Jay on representation of his counsel that he had secreted a large sum of money in a place known only to himself, Secretary Baker said today in a formal statement.

Mr. Baker denied published reports that he had authorized the moving of Bergdoll and said his first knowledge that the prisoner had left Fort Jay was when Adjutant General Harris reported his escape. The secretary added that on receiving the report he "directed an immediate and thorough investigation."

A war department statement said General Ansell, former judge advocate and sounsel for Bergdoll, had informed the department "that he had gone into the matter carefully and that circumstances indicated the truth of Bergdoll's statement about the hidden money."

"He also stated," it was added, "that he would pay all the expense of the trip, and, notwithstanding the guard, he, as Bergdoll's counsel, would stand responsible for his prompt return to prison."

Ansell and Colonel Bailey, his partner, later issued a joint statement making public their correspondence with the war department regarding the Bergdoll case. It showed that the prisoner had previously received a secreted sum of money and he had declared "the remainder of his fortune ($150,000)" was secreted in a lonely spot on a mountain side about a day's journey from Philadelphia.

"We, of course," it continued, "shall do every thing within our power to see that Bergdoll is apprehended."

As a result there will be no Sunday editions of any local papers. A skeleton paper was printed today.

Tax 16,000 New Millionaires, Says Anne Martin, of Nevada

By JANE DIXON.

We are accustomed to think of Reno, Nev., in terms of the "final decree."

There may be an entirely new and different feminine angle to the town of the rapid fire divorces.

Disgruntled matrimonialists who stop over between trains to shake off the unholy bonds of matrimony will be greeted by a sight-seeing bally-hoo, for a palm crossed with silver will guarantee to give to the traveler his or her first sight of a potential United States woman senator.

Miss Anne Martin, suffragist and humanist in politics, has asked the citizens of her state to entrust her with senatorial powers.

Certainly Nevada could find no more sane and earnest worker for the good of country and citizenry than this forceful woman from the banks of the turbulent Truckee.

A Genial Personality.

A genial personality has this blue-eyed, gentle voiced pioneer woman politician—a personality pervaded by the warmth of tolerance and understanding, yet with outcropping strata of blue steel up leaders of men.

Miss Martin's hair has caught some of the snowdrift from the Sierras of her native state. There is much of the gold of these same mountains in her character and conduct.

As witness the platform on which she hopes to ride to the senate on is what she terms a republican-independent ticket:

Opposition to the treaty with Germany and the league of nations, as a breeder of wars. Support of a league of peace of all nations. Payment of soldiers in war an amount at least equal to civilian pay. Restoration of the rights of free speech, press and assembly. Release of political prisoners and conscientious objectors, following the humane example of our associates in the war. Recognition of the right of labor to bargain collectively and to strike.

Operation of a merchant marine either directly by the government or through lease or charter for the benefit of the people as a whole, with due regard to terms and conditions of employment.

Tax 16,000 Millionaires.

Taxation of the 16,000 millionaires produced by war profits, practically one for every three American soldiers killed, and of other financial beneficiaries of the war in amounts sufficient to pay the money cost of the war. Taxation of wealth in proportion to ability to pay by methods that will prevent taxes being shifted to the backs of the people by higher prices and increased cost of living.

Legislation imposing a tax on the value of land and of other natural resources held for speculation and on the capital value of property with a fair exemption.

National legislation to obtain the public protection of maternity and infancy, the removal of children from industry, the feeding of America's millions of undernourished children.

The application of the standard of ability instead of sex to determine opportunity and compensation in industry and the civil service, and the elimination by a blanket enactment of all remaining discrimmations against women and all legal barriers to their equal participation in government.

A hardy collection of principles, one worthy of the oldest and wisest of our senators. We may not agree with them all, but we must admit their vital import in the present scheme of living.

"Don't you think it might be a good idea to collect some of the money England owes us before we begin on our war millionaires?" I inquired of the lady from Nevada.

"Yes, indeed," was the hearty reply. "They haven't even sent along the interest, though they have enough in their coffers to make a two billion dollar appropriation for their navy. Such treatment of a national indebtedness is ridiculous, if it is not alarming. We should collect without further loss of time."

Regarding prohibition Miss Martin has this to say:

"I am opposed to anything which will bring back the saloon. If we can have beers and light wines in our homes, by all means let us have them. If these harmless beverages are to serve as a screen for the disposing of large stocks of intoxicating liquor, such as whiskey now held in bond in this country, then I am for the country remaining 'bone dry.'

Women Take to Politics.

"How are the women of Nevada taking their politics?"

"Seriously and splendidly. No, this interest does not interfere with their homes. It does serve as a constructive force for better homes."

She organized the campaign that won equal suffrage for Nevada women in 1914, was elected chairman of the national woman's party at its Chicago convention in 1916, and for two years acted as legislative chairman of this organization in Washington.

As an independent candidate for the senate in 1918, Miss Martin polled 5,000 votes. The republican candidate had approximately 8,000 votes and the democartic party came through to victory on a 12,000 total.

"I am hoping the republicans will offer me the candidacy this time," explained the Reno lady with a smile not without its modicum of mischief. "You see if they do not I will be forced to run on an independent ticket and again split the party."

Nevada Woman in Race for U. S. Senate

Miss Anne Martin, who hails from Reno thinks the senatorial toga would be very becoming to her, and if the republicans do not nominate her she will run independently. (Copyright by Harris & Ewing.)

PLANS PROGRESS FOR CAMPAIGN TO SELL BONDS

Finance Committee Guests of Councilman McFall at Dinner.

Plans for an intensive campaign in which citizens of Wichita Falls will be asked to vote and subscribe at least a million and a quarter worth of municipal bonds for pressing municipal improvements are being rapidly matured by the members of the "steering" committee of citizens appointed by Mayor Cline, following the recommendation of Finance Commissioner J. M. McFall, for the floating of these city bonds in a local "Liberty Loan" campaign, the details of which were explained in the Times of last Sunday, it was announced by Mayor Cline Saturday night.

The first conference of the steering committee, held at a Friday night dinner at which the members were the guests of Commissioner McFall, originator of the plan, found all members of the committee of a single mind not only as to the necessity of floating city bonds in this manner, in order that the growth of the city might not be hampered unduly for lack of proper municipal improvements, but equally firm in believing in the feasibility of the plan, and in the rising of the citizens of Wichita Falls to its needs.

The pressing needs of the city, as outlined by Mayor Cline and Commissioner McFall, fall principally under the heads of additional water facilities, additional sewers and general enlargement and extension of the system, and the extension of the paving, with the repair of considerable parts of the paving already installed.

Of the bond issue proposed, $750,000 will, it is estimated, be needed for the extension of the sewer system into the newly built up areas of the city, and to properly enlarge the central part of the system to care for the increased burden thrown on it by the extensions.

In addition to this, $250,000 is the amount considered necessary for building of a proper system of paved streets. The greater part of this amount will be devoted to caring for property owners on paved streets who are not able to pay for the paving in a lump sum, and must be cared for by the city and the money paid in installments.

The remaining quarter of a million is the sum considered necessary for the proper extension of the waterworks system, which the citizens of Wichita Falls early in the year voted to take over. Under present market conditions, after the selling of the $800,000 worth of bonds voted at that time, it is estimated that only $70,000 will be left for extension and improvement of the system, a far from sufficient sum to give the service which will be demanded from the system by the people of the city under municipal management.

The $800,000 bond issue, which is composed of five per cent bonds of large denominations, will, in the judgment of the steering committee, have to be sold outside on the present market.

The new bonds will be 40 year bonds, bearing six per cent interest, issued in denominations as low as possibly $50, and will carry the privilege of redemption in other bonds after five years' time. In this way the bonds, in addition to carrying a patriotic appeal, will afford a desirable conservative investment, in the judgment of the committee. The five year redemption privilege is considered necessary, however, for the safeguarding of the interest of the city, it being the judgment of the committee that the bond market will have so adjusted itself by that time that bonds carrying a lower rate of interest will be marketable, and the burden of a 40 year bond carrying six per cent will be saved the tax-payers of the city.

Members of the committee include R. E. Huff, Frank Kell, J. A. Kemp, J. A. Richolt, C. H. Clark, W. M. McGregor, J. B. Marlow, W. J. Gardner, W. F. Weeks and Mayor W. D. Cline. Four additions were named Friday night to this committee, including R. E. Shepherd, Rhea S. Nixon, W. R. Ferguson and H. L. Quiett. In addition to this number, Commissioner McFall and Hubert Harrison, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, were present at the first meeting.

KESSLER ADVISES AGAINST BUILDING SCHOOL IN PARK

That a system of subways under the railroad tracks in the vicinity of the Union Terminal station will in all probability be included in the Kessler city plan, opening a way for the rounding out of the city's expansion and for the development of the close-in territory beyond the railroads which has been heretofore slighted by the city's expansion in only one direction, was indicated Saturday morning by the trend of the questions asked by Mr. Kessler while before the city council. This phase of the plan was discussed at some length before the council by Mr. Kessler, who called on the members of the body for a considerable amount of data in this connection.

Opposition to the use of the city parks for purposes other than strictly park purposes was voiced by Mr. Kessler, and apparently concurred in by the council. This came out in connection with the prevailing general opinion to the effect that the new high school will be erected in the Bellevue park, and one of the new fire stations in the small triangular plot near the end of Tenth street, diagonaly opposite the J. A. Kemp home. Mr. Kessler took the view that the parks as such were a vital need for a city's population, and that the city could better afford to purchase other sites for these buildings than surrender any of its park facilities and in all probability never be able to regain them.

Following Mr. Kessler's appearance before the council he left for Dallas and other points where he is developing city plans, leaving two assistants in Wichita Falls for the gathering of the preliminary data necessary for the framing of the Wichita Falls plan.

ICICLE SLIM PULLS WILD WEST STUNT ON OKLAHOMA SIDE

Icicle Slim, veteran wild west performer of the northwest oil field and frequent visitor at the county bastile, is again doing acrobatics but this time the spotlight found him in an oil field settlement just north of Red river and in the vicinity of Devol, Oklahoma. Vague rumors of a wild gun battle upon the streets of the mushroom oil settlement indicates that all plans for the impending "battle" were made with due regard to motion picture effect. The booteed oil field workers were there and a gambling resort where women came to dance while the men played poker and earnestly prayed for "little Joes" was also there. Into this gathering of the oil fields walked Icicle, so the story goes, and as usual a general free-for-all followed. Icicle came out victorious and immediately left for other climes, according to a version of the incident as received in Wichita Falls.

"Icicle Slim pulled this stunt north of Red river so it's Oklahoma's job this time," mused Sheriff Bob McFall as an expression of contentment moved over his face. Three veteran members of the sheriff's department breathed freely once more upon learning that Icicle was "across the border" for each of them recalled more than one of Icicle's wild escapades in the northwest fields.

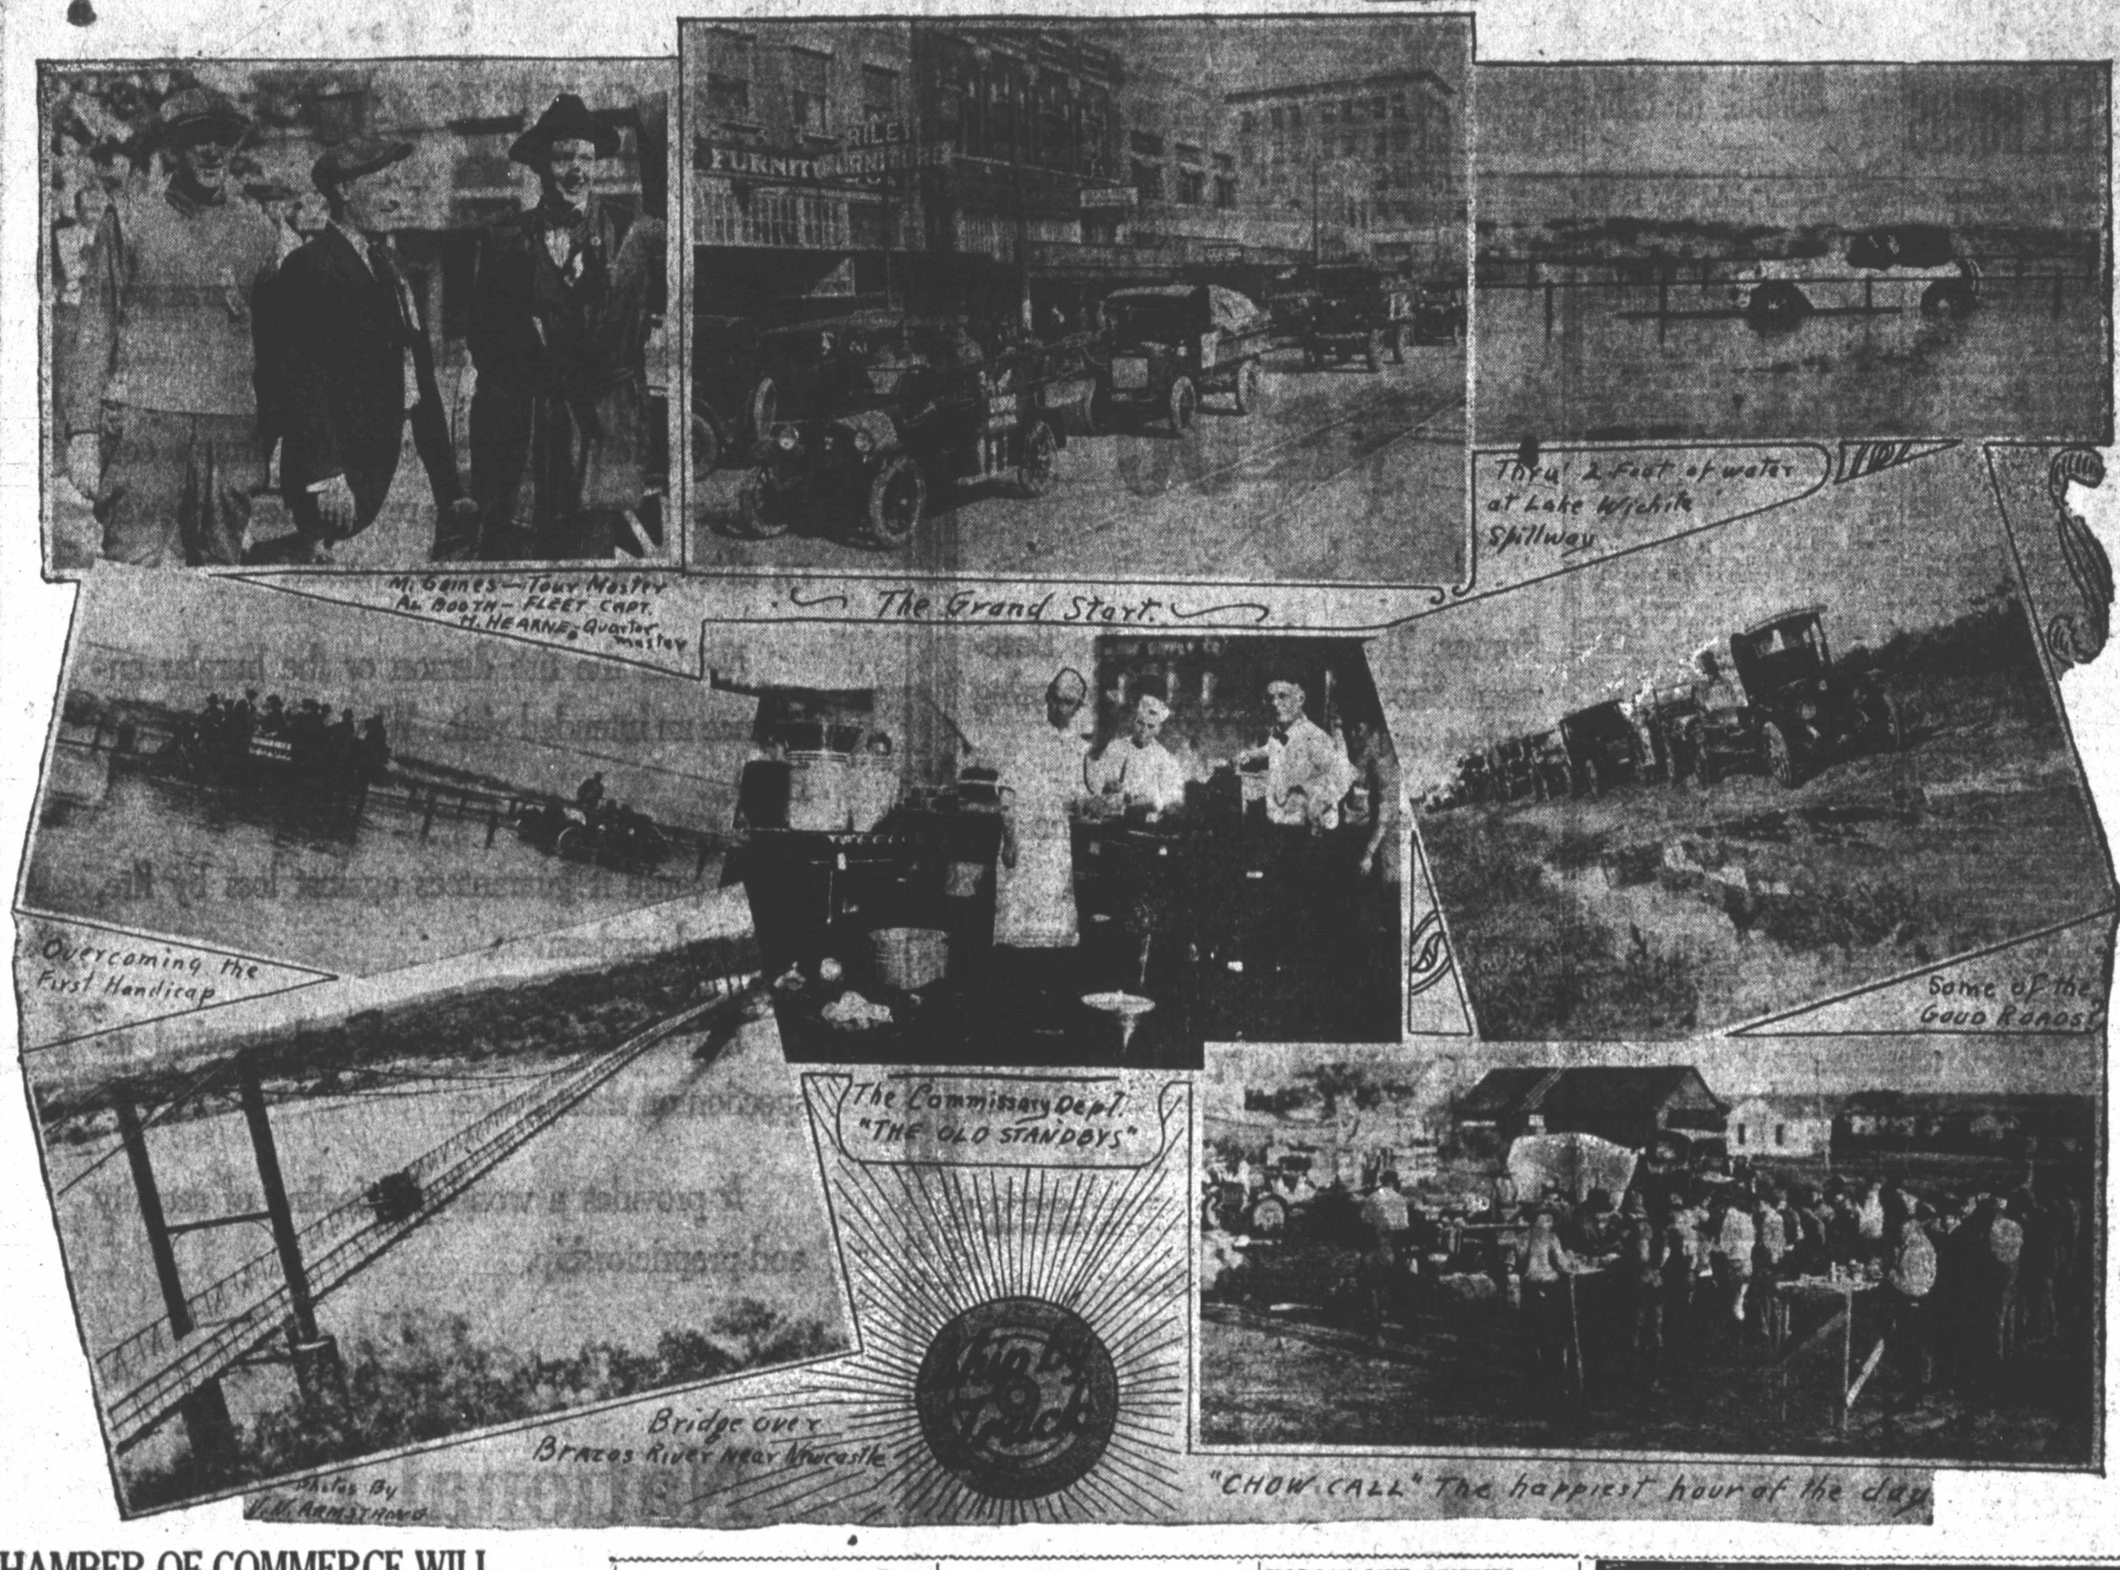
SCENES ALONG THE ROUTE WITH THE SHIP-BY-TRUCK TOUR



CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WILL SPREAD BANQUET FOR MEMBERS OF SHIP BY TRUCK TOUR

Short distance shipping of the future will be largely within the realm of the motor truck and a network of motor truck lines connecting all important shiping and marketing places of the Texas oil belt is but a matter of not years, but months, according to prominent Wichitans who last week went with the "ship by truck" caravan to "blaze the trail" across six or seven West Texas counties for the approaching "Age of Truckportation." The venture, although not an entirely new idea, was undertaken upon a much larger scale last week than ever attempted before in this section. The trip launched from Wichita Falls was just one of the many similar ventures staged throughout the entire United States for last week was "ship-by-truck-week" and automobile dealers and other business men through the country last week attempted to demonstrate that a new common carrier was in our midst and that American commerce was no longer tied to the steel rails of the great trunk lines but that independent shippers are able to blaze countless rural highways to inland and isolated towns by airline and deliver their loads of commodities. The expedition thoroughly demonstrated the fact that jobbers in the large commercial centers are able to send their groceries to retail customers in "vicinity" territory regardless of wether the yardmen strike or wether they stay on the job. It further demonstrated that small inland towns miles from the railroads can be reached by caravans of trucks traversing long stretches of country and acting independently of railways.

A New Word Coined.

"Truckportation" is a new word coined just recently and it—a child of the automobile industry. The new term just fits the latest method of transportation and literally means "truck transportation." It has not found its way into the dictionaries and will probably not be listed as "good English" for some time but the business world tireing of the long phrase and sought a short cut and "truckportation" is the result. Local motor truck dealers see a great future to "truckportation." "It's the beginning of a new era," said Al Booth, local manager of the Overland Sales company and an enthusiastic trucker, "It demonstrates beyond a doubt that the motor truck is a common carrier and capable of accomplishing great things as a freighter."

Continuing Mr. Booth declared that last week's "ship by truck" trip made it plain that Wichita Falls is in the rich territory for truck freighters and suggested that it is only a matter of time until much of the short-hauling would be done by truck. M. J. Gaines of the Gaines Motor Sales company expressed views similar to those of Mr. Booth's.

"Last week's trip was a wonderful affair," Mr. Gaines said, "I am convinced that shipping by motor truck will experience a remarkable growth within the next few months and that Wichita Falls will profit wonderfully as a result of the opening of new trade territory heretofore not available to local merchants, due to the poor transportation facilities."

Followed Trail of Buffalo.

Wichita Falls' first cavaran of motor trucks lead southward toward Newcastle following highways which in by-gone days were paths traversed by bison and further on between Newcastle and Haskell City a section of country was gone over which was once the domain of the Comanche and history says that along this same section, almost the identical highway followed from Throckmorton to Haskell City, the Red Man lonely followed the trail that led toward the Sunset, and ended upon the desert wastes of the West. Another decade or two and the covered wagon of the pioneer, restless and in quest of new adventure passed along the same path beaten deed by Comanche and Kiowa and then came the motor truck! From Haskell City the truckers again turned northward passing through Munday, in Knox county, Seymour in Baylor county and back to Wichita Falls.

A total distance of 276 miles was covered with the following milage per day: First day, 50; second day, 45; third day, 35; fourth day, 75; fifth day, 60. Not a mishap occured and everybody who made the trip reported a great time. Eats were served along the route by Whitey Hofling, master caterer of Wichita aFlls, assisted by two assistants from local cafes. Whitey's bulldog "Mack" accompanied the train and on several occasions boosted for the cooks and waiters' union in a way familar to most Wichitans. Whitey says that his bulldog is named for a popular Democratic candidate for the presidential nomination.

The "ship by truck" train left Wichita Falls on Monday, May 17, sixteen cars and 56 men composing the expedition. Three trucks carried cooks and eatables while the remainding trucks were loaded with various products.

The first trouble, which was not serious, was encountered at the Lake Wichita spillway. The cars plowed over two foot of flood water there and continued the journey over bad roads to Archer City, arriving at the Archer county seat a half hour late. The party were guests for dinner of the Archer City Commercial Club. Good roads were found leading to Olney where camp was pitched and a regular "outing" supper served. The roads were good to Newcastle, the train arriving there one half hour ahead of schedule. The tourists were the guests at dinner of the Olney Commercial Club. Poor roads were encountered between Olney and Throckmorton, 23 minutes being required to cross a bridge over the Brazos river. A parade was staged through the streets of Throckmorton and doughnuts and lemonade served by Whitey Hofling and his assistants. Seymour was reached ahead of time. Fairly good roads were found the remainder of the journey and the return trip was made without a serious mishap.

The tour not only demonstrated to thousands of people the possibilities of the motor truck but it promoted a most friendly feeling for Wichita Falls throughout the territory traversed. Everywhere the argonauts were greeted by large and enthusiastic crowds and this friendly spirit was further exhibited at the entertainments and meetings.

Members of the tour were delighted with the experience and returned to Wichita Falls with new enthusiasm for the sturdy trucks which carried them through mud and water and over the rough and slippery roads.

Banquet to Be Given.

All those who took part in the "ship by truck" trip will be guests Monday night at a banquet tendered by the Chamber of Commerce, through the mercantile bureau. The banquet will be held at 7:30 in the main dining room of the Westland.

Realizing the benefits of the excursion as a Wichita Falls' trade builder, the mercantile bureau decided upon this method of showing appreciation to the dealers and others who took part.

"Trips like that are of greater value to Wichita Falls than many of us realize," said Marvin Smith, chairman of the mercantile bureau, "and we want the truck dealers to know that their good work is appreciated."

Mr. Smith will be toastmaster tomorrow night. Several of those who participated in the excursion will speak, and it is also planned to repeat some of the "stunts" that added so much to the enjoyment of the trip.

AUTO BANDITS ROB CARRIERS OF PAY ROLL

KANSAS CITY, MO., May 22.—Three unmasked bandits seized a black bag containing $2,063.03, the pay roll of 80 employes of the Carnes Artificial Limbs company from a woman bookkeeper shortly before noon today as she alighted from a motor car in front of the building in the downtown section of this city.

The men escaped in a stolen automobile.

The robbery lasted three minutes. Two youthful, well dressed men participated in the actual robbery while another man sat at the steering wheel of a "chummy" roadster which is believed have followed the robber's car.

When one of the bandits seized the bag, Mrs. William Huddleston, middle aged woman and bookkeeper for the Carnes Company tightened her grasp. A sharp blow across the wrists forced her to release it.

J. P. Prescott, president of the company, was in the car which had just returned from the First National bank. He attempted to rescue the bag and was knocked down. James Davis, negro chauffeur, sat in the car, openmouthed, while the bandits sped away.

Few persons were on the street when the robbery occurred.

CARNIVAL BALL IS BRILLIANT SUCCESS

Brilliantly successful, the Carnival Ball given Friday evening in the roof garden of the City National Bank building by the Girls' Friendly was one of the most unique affairs of the season, and was enjoyed by a throng which far surpassed the most ambitious hopes of those staging the ball. The two prime objects, to raise money for the Girls' Friendly Loan, and to provide a novel entertainment, were both more than achieved. The net proceeds will total more than $600, it was stated, and all present can testify that the affair was most thoroughly original and delightful.

The ball room was decorated with vines and flowers, to resemble a vine covered bower, and a number of various booths were arranged where there were various attractions, all proving veritable money mints, particularly the fishing pond. There were also a number of auctions and other novelties, which were so attractive that it was impossible to get the floor cleared for dancing until a late hour. The Hazel Boyer Orchestra from Fort Worth supplied the music and there were attractive souvenir programs. Punch was served from an improvised well, banked in red roses, and the delicious iced nectar was served from a modern version of "the old oaken bucket."

MUSICIAN CLUB HOLDS LAST MEETING OF YEAR

There have been few more interesting meetings in the history of the Musicians Club in Wichita Falls than that of Friday evening at the beautiful and hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Adams, when the triple purpose of formally closing the club work until next fall, the honoring of the patrons and patronesses of the club, and the sad duty of bidding farewell as a club to Mrs. Wade Walker, past president and treasured member and worker of the club, since organization, who is leaving to make her home in California. In the expression of the club, through Mrs. F. C. Barron and Mrs. Walter S. Robertson, of the great regret at her going, there was no stereotyped phrases conventionally employed, but rather a spontaneous outpouring of the thoughts of all of those who have worked with Mrs. Walker in the club for the musical life of the city and in other movements as well for mothers club, school work, church and welfare work has found her always ready when called upon.

The club's tribute has been a substantial one, and one designed to have a wide and permanent influence in the way that Mrs. Walker would like it to be. A life membership in the Texas Federated Music Clubs, was taken for Mrs. Walker by the club, and the $100 which is paid for this membership goes to a fund created whereby the talented music pupil who has not the resources of his own to continue study, is enabled to develop his talent to the utmost.

Mrs. F. C. Barron preceded Mrs. Robertson, the president, in the presentation of this membership, and she told of the great and good influence Mrs. Walker had had and the inspiration she had proved.

Mrs. W. Robertson then made her presentation, in part as follows:

"Mrs. Barron has told you about Mrs. Walker's activities with the Musicians' Club, from its organization to the present time. How she has watched it grow from a little band of twelve members to over sixty active members with an associate, patron and patronesses list of over one hundred and twenty, all the while a tireless and enthusiastic worker, always doing her share and oftentimes the other fellow's always with the thought uppermost that music is a requisite in our community and lifts the soul above the sordid things in life.

"The Musicians' Club is deeply grateful to Mrs. Walker for her inspiration, comradeship and untiring efforts in the cause of music in Wichita Falls, and as she is soon to make her home in another state, we, the Musicians' Club desire to show our appreciation by giving her something that will live on, carrying out the principles ever uppermost in her life, that of rendering a service to those not in position to receive it otherwise. The club thought nothing could be more appropriate which would carry on her work after she has left us than a life membership in the Texas Federated Music Clubs. This life membership of $100 per member created a fund whereby the talented pupil unable by his own resources to secure an education, may have the financial assistance necessary to further pursue his work under the masters in the great cities of our land.

"Mrs. Walker, in behalf of the Musicians Club of Wichita Falls, it gives me great pleasure to present you with this membership. I wish to say as a further token of our love and esteem we have placed you on the roll of the Musicians Club of Wichita Falls as a life member."

This feature of the evening came at the conclusion of Mrs. Walker's songs, toward the end of the program. Mrs. Walker responded feelingly and gracefully to the compliments paid.

Mrs. Lucile Brooks Huff in a short talk discussed the work of the coming year, as the new president of the club, and Mrs. Q. H. Britain discussed the club's extension work.

The musical program was exceptionally interesting ,and of much musical value, as well as being highly entertaining. It follows:

Quarter, "Valse Brilliante," (Moskowski) Miss Florence Sammons, Mesdames F. R. Collard, Ben Bell and Lucile Brooks Huff.

"G Minor Concerto," (Bach) Mrs. T. B. Greenwood, Charles F. Templeton and Mrs. A. H. Britain.

WHAT EVERY WOMAN ASKS

By JANE DIXON

Third of those three phases which go to round out the human day—play time.

For the most part the question here confronting girl or woman is where shall I go?

How and where shall I amuse myself or find amusement?

Dangerous ground, this.

For it is in those moments of relaxation, those off-guard hours when we choose to forget the cares, the troubles, the duties the serious business of life and just "have a good time" that we drift, unseeing, into a current, which carries us swiftly into the rapids. Before we realize we are helpless, no longer a free spirit able and worthy to make a wise decision—we are on the rocks.

And, yet, it is positively necessary that every son and daughter of us set aside and keep this playtime.

The drabest, the most stupid woman in existence is the drudge who never treats herself to a good, healthy, hearty laugh, to a breath of fun, even frivolity. Such a creature is nothing more nor less than a machine made up of bones and sinews instead of iron and steel. The soul of her turns into a flywheel and keeps revolving until it shatters itself against the irresistible force of infinity.

"But," insists the self-appointed drudge. "I cannot afford to play. I need thus and so. Those dependent upon me need this and that. I must go on and on without recess."

Egoisms, my dear. The earth did not stand still, waiting your arrival on these terrestial plains. It will probably go on revolving in its orbit a long time after you have returned to the dust.

Meantime, a laugh was just put in our hearts, a smile in the corners of our mouths, that the earth might be better and brighter for their usage. It is the duty of every one of us to contribute our portion to the grand total of good humor.

Choice in Enjoyment.

When a girl or a woman starts out to enjoy the amusements of the day she makes a fairly deliberate choice of the kind of enjoyment she is going to have.

The wife, for example, who dangles around the haunts of pink candle light and camouflaged tea cups where suave young dandies of narrow chests and muddy complexions execute the last dance step with an agility that might better be applied to some manly occupation—such a wife knows full well she is drifting in dangerous waters.

The wife who spends the precious hours she might give to her home or to wholesome, health giving fun and squanders them over a packet of pasteboard in a "friendly game" at the home of a similarly silly woman, realizes she is drifting beyond her depth.

She knows it will be only a matter of days until the man she has sworn to honor will discover that money he gave her to maintain the dignity and good name of their home has not gone to tradesmen, but to gamesters.

He will miss the jewel he gave her in remembrance of their wedding day or on some happy Christmas tree, unless, of course, her luck turns and she can win it back before he is the wiser.

But fortune is another Tantalus. She promises many glittering things, then when we need her most, she deserts us completely. Utterly heartless, that is what she is and is sure to be.

Many a girl, otherwise sane, has lost her balance completely on the subject of automobiles. I know several of these addle-brains myself. I even know a woman well in her sixties, who does not bother to ask too many questions regarding an escort when a motor trip is in sight.

Likewise I have seen in the upper reaches of Broadway young girls of respectable parentage and of affluence, themselves schooled in becoming modesty and propriety, deliberately accept the invitation of a strange man or men to "take a little spin in my car."

Only a Lark to Them.

The girls giggled over their daring. It was a lark, just having a good time. And this in a city where every day the front pages of the papers carry details of crimes such as must make Satan himself shudder! In most of these soul revolting stories, the words "innocent victim" appear prominently in the cast.

Contrawise, I have skimmed the silver ribbon of the Hudson in a Coney Island boat, and there I have seen girls on the arms of stalwart young workmen. The hands of these best beaus were meaty with labor. Their rugged young faces reflected the forced nonchlance of youth ill at ease. With the aid of chronic spendthrifts, they "did Coney" from the "Merry Whirl" to the "Devil's Dip."

It is a matter too well established to evoke the contradiction that the real girls, the worthwhile girls in this Coney crowd would not exchange the thrill af these nickel rides with THE man for the most magnificent motor that ever sounded its siren horn—without THE man.

The wonder of it is a single one of us finds time to be lonely, to feel the necessity for amusement, when there is this whole lovely world wherein to play.

The second wonder is that so much of the best of these playgrounds are free, or at least inexpensive.

How, with all the possibilities of the out-of-doors, have we come to take our amusements sitting down?

Look about you. Is it not a fact that very few of the girls or women who lead a consistent outdoor life have kinks in their brains or in their mortals?

There seems to be a quality in God's good air which blows away the stinking shadows, the dangerous desires, reckless and restiveness and fetid imagination.

In winter we may fly over the glittering ice on our seven leagued steel runners. We may stroll through powdery white parks, tramp the snow blankets of the open country or walk briskly through city streets, the sting of the north wind spanking our cheeks to crimson, reviving the sparkle in dulled eyes, sending sluggish blood tingling.

Life's Book.

And the interesting things we may read in the book of life as we pass along—the beauty, the pulse beats, the heart throbs, the comedies, the songs we sing, the laughs that ring, the tear brushed away, the lure of the shop window, of a sunset so majestic we stop and scarce breathe for the wonder of it!

If we will only look, and, looking, see!

Summer time. Tennis, made easy in the city by well kept municipal courts in public parks, and by a host of private courts, where membership may be purchased for a reasonable sum. Bathing, almost every community has its lake or river or ocean. Boating, which lends itself to smaller streams.

Have you ever tried to paddle a canoe? It is vastly more interesting as a pastime than moping in the house, reading cheap novels designed to inflame the imagination.

Excursions, boat rides, hay rides, picnics. Just to pack a dainty lunch and carry it out in the open to some grassy bank or beneath some leafy tree, or even, out on the desert sand at evening to watch the purple robe of night train its velvet folds across the waste, is enough.

Only—keep in the open. If you are casting about for added amusement, or for your allotted bit of good time, let the background of your choice be the great, good out of doors.

So you will keep your body fit, your brain clear, your heart happy, your soul mellow.

Then, if loneliness overtakes you, drop into a "movie." If you can afford it, go to the theatre. Libraries are filled with the fascinating romances of history and of fiction. Magazines of today are miniature libraries in themselves. The daily papers are full of fun and knowledge and information.

The girl or woman who will sit in her room trying to beat senseless pasteboard in a game of solitaire, when she has a good friend with whom she might chat, an interesting book to read, all the outdoors for adventure, is hopeless.

Her question, "What shall I do?" will never be answered.

MIDWEST NEWSPRINT LEAGUE ORGANIZED AT KANSAS CITY SATURDAY

KANSAS CITY, May 22.—Organization of the Midwest Newsprint League, embracing 10 states, was effected at a meeting of publishers here today. Co-operative buying of print paper is the plan being considered most seriously by the league while co-operative ownership of paper mills is being also taken under advisement. The new league is headed by George W. Marble, Fort Scott, Kansas Tribune; Buford O. Brown, Vernon, Texas, Record, is vice president; and Herbert Cavaness, Tribune, Chanute, Kansas, is secretary.

ALABAMA'S DELEGATION TO BE UNINSTRUCTED

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., May 22.—Alabama delegates to the democratic national convention will go uninstructed, it was believed among politicians today, following the uneventful meeting of the 24 delegates late yesterday.

The meeting was conspicuous for lack of political discussion and the chief topic was planning for the trip to San Francisco.

LAPAZ, BOLIVIA, May 21.—Bolivia, it is declared in apparently reliable quarters here, will propose to Chile that she give Bolivia the outlet to the sea desired by this country at a point any where within the former Bolivian littoral.

ARREST MESSENGER ROBBER AT ST. LOUIS

TULSA, OKLA., May 22.—In the arrest here last night of Thomas S. Castleberry, alls J. S. Bishop, alias M. E. Richey, police officials and officers of the American Express Company have in custody the man who held up messengers from the American Express Company in St. Louis May 3 and escaped with approximately a $50,000 payroll after a running gun battle with the St. Louis police. Officers of the American Express Company have identified the man.

When arrested Bishop, the name he was going under here, had only $4.81 on his person and the officials have been unable to locate where he cached the money.

ANTI-LYNCHING LAW ON HOUSE CALENDAR

WASHINGTON, May 22.—An "anti-lynching law" was reported out today by the house judiciary committee and placed on the calendar for early consideration. Under the measure, any resident is entitled to appeal to federal courts for protection on the ground he has reasonable cause to believe that equal protection of the laws would be denied him in state courts. Participants in mobs would be subject to fine and imprisonment, and counties in which lynchings occur would be subject to a forfeiture of $10,000.

The majority committee report, drafted by Representative Dryer, republican, Missouri, gave a long recital of statistics relating to lynching showing that most of them had occurred in the south and added that: "It is an admitted fact, in many of the states, the local authorities are either unwilling or unable to protect the lives of either citizens or foreigners against local prejudice." The report argued at length that congress has the constitutional power to enact the legislation and further cited that several ex-presidents and urged that anti-lynching legislation by placed on the statute book.

SCOTLAND ADDITION RESIDENTS ORGANIZE TO OBTAIN IMPROVEMENTS

Scotland addition residents are to secure the much needed modern conveniences, and first of all sanitation in their addition, according to the concensus of opinion at the preliminary organization meeting held Friday evening, with W. B. Mackey elected temporary chairman. The permanent organization will be held on Wednesday, May 26, at Tenth and Broadway, when all the residents of Scotland Addition are urged to be present, and at which meeting it is hoped to have a representative of the city government of Wichita Falls.

Two hundred homes are in Scotland Addition, it is stated, without sewerage, lights or gas. There is water in the addition. The residents, many of whom own their own homes, having built them during the recent large growth of the city, are exceedingly anxious to see a sewerage system installed as soon as possible to better the sanitary conditions. Lights and gas are also much desired, though of course the sewerage is put first in the needs.

A committee of two, O. T. Ross and T. N. Dewberry, was appointed at the Friday meeting to make up a roll of the residents of the addition and to notify them of the meeting next Wednesday. A full attendance from this section of the city is hoped for, so that a representative organization to attend to the civic needs of the community can be formed.

RESIGNATION OF ROAD OFFICIALS DEMANDED

JONESBORO, ARK., May 22.—Resolutions demanding the resignations of all the commissioners of the Tri-country road district within 72 hours were adopted late today following organization here of the Citizens League of Northeast Arkansas by about 200 residents of Craighead Green, Poinsett and Clay counties. Resolutions also were denouncing certain laws recently enacted in Craighead county affecting the tri-country, Black Oak-Hancock and Monette road districts, and the action of Lake City citizens in forcing the resignation of road commissioners last Monday were endorsed. The resignation of V. C. Keys, president and Richard Whittaker and J. A. Blackford, members of the board of trustees of the state agriculture school, also demanded in resolutions.

$100,000 SUBSCRIBED FOR REFINERY AT STAMFORD

By HAMILTON WRIGHT

STAMFORD, TEX., May 22.—In less than five minutes last night at a mass meeting in the city hall auditorium $100,000 was subscribed for stock in the proposed Stamford Oil Refining company in anticipation of the almost immediate advent of a commercial producing well in the immediate Stamford territory. One man's offer to take $50,000 worth of stock was declined and he was allowed to take a much smaller amount, so that the holdings would be more representative and even.

Charles Brewington, recently elected grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias of Texas, who acted as chairman, recited the past details connected with the bringing in of the Colbert well five miles northeast of Stamford in 1914, when both oil and gas in what was considered paying quantities were brought in, and said that it was more than an even shot that inside of three weeks the Weart-York well, five miles northeast of Stamford, would be a big producer.

O. P. Harlan, president of the First State bank, urged the people to prepare for the onrush of new people who would come to Stamford the moment that news went forth that one of the three wells now nearing the pay sand had come in. Mr. Harlan told of the sensation of the Colbert well in 1914 and how it had been lost when oil was at a low price by the cave-in of the entire well. He paid a high compliment to Mr. Weart of the Weart-York company, which is now about to bring in their well northeast of town.

George Weart, prominent financier and business man of Vancouver, B. C., Canada, and one of the owners of the Weart-York well, told of the wonderful future in store for Stamford and of the great prospect for his well to be a big producer.

SPUDDERS RETURN TO ATHLETIC PARK FOR TWELVE GAMES

HONECK AND BURCH BOOT BALL IN ELEVENTH FRAME AND TOSS HARD GAME TO PANTHERS 4 TO 3

After pitching unbeatable ball for 10 innings, Fagan Burch, aided materially by Honeck, handed the Panthers a 4 to 3 win in 11 innings yesterday. All the scoring with the exception of the wining run was done in the early part of the day. The Spudders made the score 3 all in the last of the third and thereafter one of the best pitching duels of the season was staged by Burch and Whittaker. Burch wavered temporarily in the 10th, but pulled himself together in time to escape unscathed. He was not so fortunate in the 11th however, and tossed his own game away.

After the third inning Whittaker pitched wonderful ball. In the last 8 innings only two bingles were gleaned off his delivery and both men were thrown out on the bases so that only 24 men faced him.

Burch pitched every bit as good ball until the 10th. In this frame, Haley scratched a hit through the infield and went to second on O'Brien's sacrifice. Haworth placed a safely in right and fast fielding by Josefson held Haley at third. After throwing three straight balls to Whittaker, Fagan tightened up and fanned him. Stow ended the suspense by flying out to Mokan.

After Sears had gone out to Snedecor unassisted in the eleventh, Williams singled over second. He went to third when Honeck booted Kraft's grounder. Burch passed Hoffman purposely and forced Haley to pop to Tanner. It looked very much as if he were going to weather another storm, but O'Brien drove one straight at Burch who fumbled just long enough for all hands to be safe and Williams came in with the wining tally.

Josefson's hitting kept the Spudders in the running during the early stages of the game. Fagan was responsible for the first Panther tally when he uncorked a couple of wild heaves, but the other two should never have been scored, if the Spudders were getting any of the breaks.

The Spudders got away to a flying start. Josefson doubled past third and scored when Haworth hit Tanner in the back on the latter's bunt. Snedecor pushed Buddy along with a sacrifice. Whitaker then tightened up and Mokan and Brownlow went out via the whiff route.

The Panthers tied it up in quick fashion in their portion. Burch started like a world beater and fanned Stow. Sears did likewise but the third strike got away from Kitchens and Sears was safe. Burch heaved one past Snedecor trying to keep Sears close to the bag and he went to second. Williams hit one over first and Sears tallied. Kraft flew out to Josefson and Burch tossed Hoffman out.

The Spudders came right back in the second when Whittaker wabbled. Grubbs popped to Stow for a starter. Honeck slammed a single through Stow and Kitchens scratched one by Whittaker. Whittaker's error on Burch's grounder filled all the corners. Josefson came through with another safety scoring Honeck, and Kitchens was thrown out at the plate by Williams. Tanner, usually reliable in a pinch, popped to Stow, leaving Burch and Jo stranded.

The jinx was still on the Spudder's trail in the last half. Haley opened with a double to left and scored when Josefson and Mokan collided going after O'Brien's fly. O'Brien pulled up at third. Haworth flew out to Josefson and O'Brien crossed the plate, putting the Panthers in the lead. Whittaker then fanned and Stow flew out to Mokan.

The Spudders kept on their toes and went after Whittaker again in the third. Snedecor doubled to left and went to third when Haworth threw to centerfield trying to catch him napping. Mokan was tossed out by Whittaker. Snedecor and Brownlow gave a correct demonstration as to how the "squeeze" should be worked, Benny dumped one down the third base line and Snedecor tore across the pan with the tying run. Grubb popped to Hoffman.

From then on it was a pitcher's battle between Burch and Whittaker until Fagan cracked. Score:

ARMLESS WONDER TO DO HIS STUNTS AT ATHLETIC PARK TOMORROW BEFORE GAME

Frank ("Happy") McKeown, the only armless baseball player in the world, is going to give an exhibition at Athletic Park Monday prior to the Buff-Spudder game. "Happy" who, by the way, is an instructor in the army, has a true mission in life. His object is not one of sympathy—in fact, a suggestion of sympathy to him will do more to anger him than anything else. Instead, it is his purpose to demonstrate to the world that a man handicapped by the loss of an arm or a leg or even all four members does not have to go upon the streets begging.

McKeown, aside from doing some marvelous stunts as a baseball player, is a billiard player and bowler out of the ordinary.

Both Happy's arms were amputated at the elbows. Dispite this handicap, he can throw a baseball, catch it, bat and even tag a runner if necessary. He also demonstrates how it is possible for an armless person to use a straight razor without leaving his face looking like a butchered part of a cow.

GOING TO ENGLAND

By Wood Cowan

Well, if you look over Bob Gardner's record—and he's one of the boys who'll be there—America's going to have a mighty good chance of capturing the cup, or leather medal, or whatever the insigna may be.

Gardner is a Chicago product, having twice won the amateur championship in this country. He is one of the finest athletic types in American play. At Yale, he was captain of the track team and holder of the world's pole vault record. When the war broke out, he was one of the first to don a leaky raincoat.

He is tall and rangy, capable of making great distance from the tee. His midiron shots carry as far as many a good golfer gets with a wooden club. With the cleek he's a past master. Bob's putting is good—fact is, it's hard to find much of anything wrong with his game, and when it comes to the spirit, he has as stout a heart as any man on the links. The harder the match, the more likely he is to settle down to his best game.

There isn't a more popular golfer in the country, or one of higher type, and the man that beats him in the coming championship will know that he was playing the best game of his life.

PURELY PERSONAL

Sir Patrick Moran, of the Cincinnati Reds, has a worthy ambition. This ambition is to revive the Three-Year Reign. Fred Clarke was a Three-Year Mandarin in 1901, 1902 and 1903; Frank Chance was in 1906, 1907 and 1908; John McGraw followed in 1911, 1912 and 1913. Pat believes the time has come to inaugurate this ancient and pleasing custom. He wishes to prove that one can still build a machine good for more than a year. No National League club has won the pennant twice in succession since 1913. But Moran believes the old order will be revived this season, with Cincinnati still occupying the top flat around October 1.

"It doesn't always pay to know too much," says Eddie Van Vleck Jr., who was an old Yale pitching star. "Not unless you can stamp out your imagination. I remember the first game I ever pitched against the Giants. In the first inning Mike Donlin came up and I had no idea who he was, despite the great welcome he got from the fans. So I struck him out. Later on I found out who Donlin was, and after that he got four successive hits. You can't always take your imagination by the throat and choke it to death."

"Billy Johnston is the greatest tennis player I ever saw," said George M. Church recently, as he started on his way to Texas to drill for more oil. "He has the few vital things that a great tennis player needs. First, the strokes; second, the power back of these strokes to drive them home; third, the speed to meet each situation; fourth, the confidence, courage and coolness to give his best in a championship match. Did you ever hear of Johnston weakening or being off his game in a title match? Neither did any one else."

"Don't make any mistake about underrating Carpentier," remarked the captain of an American battleship, a few days ago. "I have seen him in action more than once. He is as fast as a streak, he can hit with terrific force, and he is a cool, experienced fighter. Any boxer who has this combination will always be extremely dangerous, no matter if his opponent is a Jack Dempsey. For unless Dempsey has an unusually fine defense Carpentier will hit him to a certainty. And when heavyweights with a punch reach the jaw no one can tell just what will follow."

"A number of fans," says "Babe" Ruth, "have asked me why I don't change my system once in a while; why I don't chop the ball across the infield in place of taking a full wallop. I'll tell you why. There are two reasons. In the first place the fans expect to see me hit a home run or at least try to hit one. They figure that's my trademark. It's what they want. In the second place, I like the old wallop myself. That's where most of the fun comes in—just to see how far you can send that old apple when you land. Home run hitting is supposed to be my trade, and I'm not trying to have two trades."

Harry Vardon and J. H. Taylor, who are both fifty years old, recently beat Abe Mitchell several strokes in a thirty-six hole medal test. This is an answer to the query as to whether or not the veterans have a chance against the young talent in the coming British open. Vardon and Taylor were off stride last season, but they have been coming back. They won't have as even a chance to win as they did some years ago, but they have already shown that a man at fifty is not to be discarded in advance.

Grover Cleveland Alexander got under headway slowly, but he is now after that thirty-victory mark again. This is Alexander's ninth season in the major leagues. He opened fire back in 1912, but lost one year visiting through eastern France and along the Rhine. He used up a big part of 1919 getting started again, but is now at the top of his old stride and back to his old art of putting more upon the ball than the other fellow has on his bat. Don't bet any important money that he won't win thirty games again—just as he did in 1915, 1916 and 1917.

"Has Walter Johnson lost any of his speed?" "Not so as you could notice it," advises Bob Shawkey. "He uses more curve balls than he once did, but when he cuts that fast one loose, it seems to travel with as much speed as it ever did. It may be that he hasn't quite the old hop left, but he has enough stuff to grab off many a ball game when warmer weather comes, and he can keep in condition. A raw, wet spring such as we have been having is no true test for a pitcher who has been in the big league since 1908. Don't forget that Johnson was a great pitcher when Matty and Wagner were in their prime, long before Alexander was ever heard of."

"After a slow start in this country, Jimmy Wilde is now keeping England on the fistic map. The flyweight has been lifting the dust since he got acclimated and adjusted to his work. That slow start left a nick in his reputation, but those who have been meeting him recently are willing to admit that he has as much as any one ever thought he had. After all, it isn't the start that counts when you begin summing up the complete verdict."

SPUDDERS OPEN SERIES WITH BUFFS AT ATHLETIC PARK; TEAM UP AGAINST IT FOR TWIRLERS

Sport Comment By Paul W. Larkin

There was excitement galore at Panther Park.

The Spudders went down fighting with the Jinx still on their trail.

Fagan deserved a win if any pitcher ever did, but is as much to blame for his loss as any one. Honeck started it, but Burch finished it.

There isn't a team in the league that could have done anything with Whittaker after the third round yesterday.

Many people blame Kitchens for letting that third strike get away from him in the third when Sears was at bat. It was Burch's fault, though, as the pitch was wild. Sears did some quick thinking and struck at it, realizing that Kitchens couldn't stop it. Fagan was not satisfied with sending him to first, but shoved him along to second with another wild heave and he tallied a moment later on Williams' bingle.

If there is anything a newspaper man hates to do it is to take back a statement, but we are forced to admit that Burch is showing a little more than we thought he possessed. Honest confession is good for the soul. Burch is proving his mettle and more power to him, say we.

Josefson's error in the second was excusable. Mokan ran into him on the play and knocked the ball from his hands. If Johnny had kept his head up, Josefson would have caught the ball. Haley was on second at the time as a result of a two-bagger, and would probably have scored anyway on the two long flies by O'Brien and Haworth, but O'Brien would never have crossed the pan.

Maybe "Red" Josefson isn't pounding that old apple. Jo has connected safely at least once in every game this week.

The Plaza airdome was no place for a man with a weak heart yesterday in the tenth inning. The suspense was terrible. The bags were densely populated and only one down, with one run needed to win the game. It was a regular Frank Merriwell setting.

Let's give the boys a royal welcome tomorrow. They're in there fighting every minute, even though they are in the grip of a losing streak. The season is but a pup and the breaks can't go against them all the time. Tickets for the opening game go on sale at Stoecker's cigar store, 106 Ohio Avenue, at 1 o'clock today. Better get in early and avoid the rush.

We hope Dick Durning has better luck with New Orleans than he did with the Spudders. Dick was the first hurler to get his ticket since the slump started. Don't be surprised if more go the same way.

Deviney will not get here as soon as was expected. He is not feeling up to snuff and wired that he would not hop a southbound rattler until Monday. He will be on deck the latter part of the week.

Two other new pitchers and an outfielder may be expected any day, also.

The Spudders limped along last week on a very flat tire. Their run of reverses had extended to five straight Friday night, three of which were at the hands of Beaumont, a team battling for the cellar championship. The team made over 50 hits from Sunday to Friday, so the fault certainly cannot lie in the offense. The pitching staff has simply gone from bad to worse.

The gloom in Salm's camp increased when Jimmy Zinn was forced to retire from the game with a damaged finger. The latest advice is that Zinn may possible work in the Fort Worth series, but Salm would prefer to save him until the team gets back to its old stamping ground.

The accident left Manager Salm with only one hurler that seemed to have a chance to win. Burch won his start against San Antonio last Sunday, but was knocked higher than a kite by the Exporters Thursday. There seemed to be little excuse for the poverty in pitching strength last week. Lefty Johns was doing a little bench warming for the Panthers when he might just as well have been sporting a Spudder uniform. He was finally recalled as a last resort and was used in Tnursday's game with the Exporters after Burch had gummed the works. By all the rules of the game, Johns should have gotten away with a win as his twirling was far better than the brand that had been served up by the rest of the staff. The infield went to pieces behind him, however, and threw away another game. If Johns had been called back as soon as it was discovered that Zinn would be unable to work in his regular turn, there might have been a different story.

Manager Salm will struggle along with his present staff until he receives aid. That aid is to arrive soon, according to the powers that be. A new flinger from Houston is on his way here and it is understood that two other new ones will be seen at Athletic Park in the near future. It has also been learned on good authority that another outfielder will soon be cavorting in one of the Spudder's outer gardens.

The Exporters certainly took a lot of wind out of the Spudders' sails, when they handed them three defeats in a row. The Spudders outhit them in two of the games, but could not hit when the hits meant runs.

A new pitcher (new to the Spudders) joined last week, but showed nothing startling. Sewell is the man's name and he was let loose by Dallas because he could not deliver. What does Salm want of him?

With the exception of the hurlers, the team cannot be surpassed in the league for talent. It is true that the infield booted away one game while Snedecor aided materially in losing another, but the games lost by the Spudder fielding are few and far between. Mokan continued to paste the pellet to all corners of the field and Josefson's batting was one of the features of the week's play. From Sunday to Friday he hit safely in every contest getting three on Sunday and two on Wednesday.

Manager Salm shifted his batting order the last of the week and a decided improvement was noticed. If the men would only use their heads when they once get on the bags, it is safe to say that there would be more wins chalked up. Base runners were thrown out time and time again trying to steal and they were caught napping off the bags several times. Poor base-running lost several tallies last week. One or two runs in any of the games except Monday's would have resulted in victory for the Spudders. In every instance the winning runs were left on the bags.

A decided change in the line-up is predicted before the end of the coming week, and it is to be hoped that the change will be for the better. The Wichita fans have stuck by their team and will turn out in great numbers upon its return. The team has not slipped so far that it cannot come back. If the pitchers will only round into form, all will be o. k. It must be admitted that the pitchers have had excuses for their poor work as all have been suffering from some ailment or other, but the fact remains that they have not delivered the goods, whatever excuse they have to offer, and unless they round into shape pretty soon, a new staff will have to be obtained from some source or other.

They open a series of three games with the Buffs tomorrow and then take on Beaumont, Galveston and San Antonio in the order named for series of three games each. They wind up their stay at Athletic Park June 4 with the Bears and then jump to Dallas.

GROSS OF SAN ANTONE IS REAL SLUGGER OF TEXAS LEAGUE; MOKAN STILL LEADS SPUDDERS

By WILLIAM B. RUGGLES.
(Texas League Statistician.)

With well over a month of the season already gone, seventeen Texas League players are still batting .300 or better. Of this number, ten have played in a majority of the games.

Ewell Gross of San Antonio, who on the averages through April 30, was tied with Mokan of Wichita Falls for the batting supremacy, has left competition far behind and is approaching the .400 mark. Gross has played in every game for his club this season. His average is 32 points better than that of Jewel Ens, whose bat is endeavoring to pull his unfortunate club out of the cellar. Houston and Beaumont, both in the second division, boast three regulars each above the charmed .300 mark.

Texas Leaguers batting .290 or better for all games up to and including May 18 are:

Fagan Burch, who after ten years or more of fooling around here and there on the diamond, finally deciding to become a pitcher, leads the league in the matter of allowing few earned runs per game. "Barney" has toiled 30 1-3 innings, has allowed only 1.17 earned runs to the game.

The real league leader is Jimmie Zinn, who has a 1.25 earned run average in 63 innings. Zinn, credited with six wins and no defeats, is also the leading winning pitcher, while Fincher of San Antonio is the only hurler to win seven games. He has two losses chalked against him. Fincher has worked the greatest number of innings, 80, while Conley, Wachtel, Pate, Cerniglia and Bailey have all worked ten games or fractions thereof.

Averages of pitchers through games of May 17 follow:

Note: First column of figures denotes games played in; second column, earned runs; third column, games won; fourth column, games lost; fifth column, earned run average.

AMERICA MUST LOOK OUT FOR SWEDEN IN COMING OLYMPIAD

Swedes Strong in Swimming and Gymnastics as Well as Other Branches.

ANTWERP, May 8.—Unless America is content with a possible victory in field and track events, she must send strong teams to represent the United States in military, equestrian, golf, tennis and other sports outside of track and field if she hopes to win Seventh Olympiad on points. This was the general viewpoint of European sport enthusiasts who attended the ice hockey and skating events, opening the Olympiad.

Sweden, which won the 1912 Olympiad on points, although America was victorious in track and field, will send strong teams to Antwerp, completing in practically every event.

The Swedes expect to be particularly strong in swimming and gymnastics and these sports, as well as shooting, equestrianism and other "outside" events, count just as heavily in the point totals as weight throwing, running and jumping.

Other European nations, which specialize in horsemanship, fencing, archery, wrestlig and half a dozen other varieties of sports, are to send crack teams for these events.

In 1912, at Stockholm, Sweden, scored a total of 128 points to America's 126, this being the count before Thorpe was disqualified on charges of professionalism, when the six points he had won for the two firsts in the all round events—the modern pentathlon and decathlon—were awarded to Wislander, a Swede, making the final count Sweden 134 to America's 120.

"FIGHTING MABLE" NAME ON JAIL REGISTER

"Fighting Mabel" is the rather unique name that made its appearance upon the Wichita county jail register Saturday. Investigation disclosed that a young woman had won the rather odd-sounding name following an "encounter" with Deputy Sheriffs Frank Morgan and Charlie Bebout Saturday night when the two officers attempted to escort "Mabel" to the county jail. Bebout attempted the task but soon called for re-enforcements and Frank Morgan rushed to the aid of his hard-pressed comrade. Mabel was vigorously protesting against spending the night in jail and especially at giving her correct name for the jail register.

"Alright, we'll call you 'Fighting Mabel'", said Bebout and he penned the name as Morgan locked the woman behind the safe walls of the county jail.

The woman was arrested on a charge of vagrancy.

JOHNSTON INCREASES BATTING LEAD IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

Cleveland Swatsman Boosts Average While Nicholson Leads National Circuit.

CHICAGO, May 22.—Oscar "Happy" Felsch, Chicago outfielder, has entered into competition with "Babe" Ruth, of New York, the home run king of baseball for the honor of leading in circuit drives in the American league. "Happy" cracked out his fifth homer in the game against Boston Wednesday, giving him two in two days and placing him in a tie with the New York slugger. Each has made five homers, according to averages released today and including games of Wednesday. Most of Ruth's homers were made on the Polo grounds where the field is short. Those of the Chicago fly-catchers were long clean drives.

There is a merry race on the Washington club between Roth and Rice for the honor of being the leading base stealer. Rice has pilfered eleven bases and Roth ten.

Ty Cobb, the Detroit star, is gradually finding his batting eye and has boosted his average to .277. Ruth is batting .260.

Johnston of Cleveland widened the gap between himself and Jackson of Chicago among the batters who have participated in ten or more games. Johnston added a few points to his average of last week, while Jackson dropped a few points. Johnston is topping the list with an average of .417, while Jackson is hitting .380.

Other leading batters: Kinney, Philadelphia .364; Gedeon, St. Louis .364; Gerber, St. Louis .358; Felsch, Chicago .352; Hendryx, Boston .349; Jacobson, St. Louis .348; Sisler, St. Louis .343; Weaver, Chicago .343; Dugan, Philadelphia .337; Peckinpaugh, New York .325; Speaker, Cleveland, .319.

The St. Louis club is in third place in the National League in team batting with an average of .260 and is ranked in last place in the percentage of games won and lost according to averages published today and which include Wednesday's games. Only one member of the club is hitting in the "300" class, and this is Rogers Hornsby, the star keystone sack guardian, who is the runner up to Nicholson of Pittsburgh.

Nicholson is leading the regulars with an average of .462 acquired in 14 games. Hornsby, in 25 games in which he has been at bat 101 times, has cracked out forty-two hits for a total of fifty-seven bases, which include eight doubles, two triples and a homer for an average of .418. He is being pushed by Heinie Groh, captain of the Cincinnati world's champions, who is trailing with .408.

Dode Paskert, the veteran outfielder of the Chicago Cubs, has joined his teammate, Robertson, and Cy Williams of Philadelphia for home run honors. The trio is tied with three a piece.

Max Carey, the fleet-footed outfielder of Pittsburgh is showing the way to the base stealers with nine thefts under his belt. His nearest rival is a teammate, Southworth, who has stolen seven.

Other leading batters: Gowdy, Boston .364; Leboureveau, Philadelphia .361; Myers, Brooklyn .349; Daubert, Cincinnati .337; Twombly, Chicago .333; Z. Wheat, Brooklyn 323; Young, New York .322; Burns, New York 321; Duncan, Cincinnati .313; Roush, Cincinnati .309.

HARRY KROHN OF AKRON

Tomorrow night's battle at the Camel A. C. with Harry Krohn of Akron will be just about the most important fracas in which Speedy Sparks has ever participated. Speedy never had so much at stake. If he wins he will be matched against the winner of the coming Selmars-Roman bout in Dallas, and if he loses he will have to start all over again.

Manager Al Edwards of the Camel A. C. made a trip to Dallas not long ago in an attempt to match Sparks with the winner of the Dallas bout. Officials down there, however, stated that Krohn was the man they wanted. Selmars and Roman drew $4,000 at their last meeting and the receipts will doubtless pass the $6,000 mark this time. When Edwards found out that Krohn was the man wanted he immediately got in touch with him and signed him up to meet Sparks. Dallas officials then told him that the winner of the bout could meet the Dallas winner. When the receipts reach $6,000 is it any wonder that both boxers are very desirous of getting the decision? That sort of purse is some target to shoot at.

Both men declared last night that they were in he pink of condition and that there would be no alibis. Both will show the best they possess and the fur will fly.

Manager Edwards was recentyl approached by several Wichita business men with the proposition that they would finance a new club building with the most complete gymnastic equipment available. He advised them to wait a short time until the boxing bill, now before the legislature, is passed. Should the bill fail to go through, it would be a sorry venture.

Few Wichita sportsmen realize that they have the only legitimate club in the state with headquarters of their own. The Camel A. C. has the largest floor space and best equipment of any club of its kind in the state. That's a broad statement, but Manager Edwards is in back of it. The club has over 5,000 square feet of floor space with elevated seats that will accommodate 1200 and ringside seats for 168. The shower baths and lavatories are complete in every respect and there are regular dressing rooms for all boxers.

In order to maintain such a club properly there should be at least 600 regular members. There should be a weekly income of $1800 to support and maintain first class boxing talent every week. When one stops to consider what the expenses are for a main bout, preliminaries, rent, advertising and incidentals too numerous to mention, the above sum is none too small.

The bouts that have been staged thus far at the Camel A. C. have been flawless and the fans have seen real fights at every exhibition. There has been no stalling and all have been satisfied. If they want the same kind of bouts in the future they will have to support them.

FAMOUS FIELD OF DRIVERS TO START IN SWEEPSTAKES

Premier Auto Racers of Two Continents Will Compete for $70,000 Purse.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., May 22.—The most famous field of drivers that ever faced a starter is expected to line up at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway at 10 o'clock Monday, May 31, for the start of the eighth international 500-mile sweepstakes.

The record breaking advance seat sale indicates that the largest and most representative audience ever assembled for a rasing event will be present when the bomb is sent up announcing the getaway of the premier pilots of two continents in the greatest racing classic in all the world—for the largest purse ever offered, $70,000.

More important than the prize purse or the thrills that will be furnished thousands, will be the benefits derived by the motor industry. For the first time in history, machines of 183 cubic piston displacement and 1600 pounds weight will be seen in racing competition. The dream of all drivers since the birth of horseless wagons is to get high speed and power from the smallest engine possible. The race at Indianapolis will do more to work out the kinks of this mechanical problem than any other event, acocrding to automobile engineers.

Barney Oldfield, veteran auto racer, will pace the race leading the field about the 2 1-2 mile brick track for the first lap.

MAUDLEEN—Condition Oct. 4, 1919. MAUDLEEN—Showing Improvement Dec. 4, 1919.

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 3, 1919.

Dear Doctor:

On October 3, this year, I brought my baby, Maudleen, to you more dead than alive. The doctor operated on her when she was just one month old. Finding a cancerous condition in the liver, they said they could do nothing for her and that she could not live. After the operation she began to have convulsions and large purple spots came all over her body. However, she lived on but was so emaciated from lack of assimilation, as the picture will show, weighing a little over 5 pounds. She had a large boil on her face and one on her right elbow. She cried and fretted all the time. She began to improve after the first adjustment and after taking two months' adjustments she now weighs 16 pounds and is, you might say, a normal baby. The first picture was taken after two weeks' adjustments. The last December 3. I am truly thankful that I have found out just what Chiropractic is, and that we have something now which will correct all our ills when everything else has failed. Wishing you much success, I remain, A happy and grateful mother

DEVELOPMENTS NORTH OF CLARA INDICATE NEW AREA OF PRODUCTION THAT SECTION

Interest in the district north of Clara, which was aroused several weeks ago when the Burk Cameron No. 1 in block 823 was brought in, received a considerable impetus on Friday with the reports that the Bowers-Oil Company, No. 1 in 832, a half mile southeast had drilled the sand Thursday night, and had a hole standing 1500 feet in oil on Friday, and also reports that the Staley test, a short distance north, and in the "flats" of the river, as showing up for a producer, after a testing of a sand drilled last week had been disappointing, and reports that the Clara Burk, some distance to the east, had the sand. This new district is bearing a considerable resemblance to the Waggoner pool in it's developments, being about the same distance in advance of production in the old Ramming pool, as the famous Burk Waggoner well was from the town site. There is much enthusiasm over the prospects in this section.

In the Waggoner the activities continue to increase in the newly opened districts, the Michna, Holtzen and C. Birk tracts, and in blocks 68, 69 and 70.

SUIT INVOLVING SIGLER OIL LAND FINALLY SETTLED

Special to The Times.

VERNON, TEX., May 22.—Settlement of the suit brought by J. E. Dodson Jr., against Lloyd Sigler and associates, which for weeks, clouding title to practically all the territory opened up for development by the Sigler strike of some months ago, was authorittively reported here today. The settlement was arranged at a meeting here Friday night by Dodson, W. G. Burton, and A. G. Carter, of Fort Worth, and Mayor Harry Mason of Vernon.

Although it was admitted at the Sigler offices here that a settlement satisfactory to all parties had been reached, the basis of the settlement was not disclosed by any of the parties concerned.

The news of the settlement was received with a great deal of relief, opening up, as it does, the projected development of the immense new territory opened up by the Sigler discovery. Mr. Sigler anounced the beginning of intensive drilling operations on the territory owned by the Sigler Oil company, and Sigler et al, adjoining, as well as the ordering of pipe and material for the refinery and skimming plant which is to be erected here by he and his associates.

Development of the oil industry has meant much to the Wichita Falls district and the City National Bank of Commerce has played an important part in that development. It has been able to render adequate service because it has expanded its facilities in keeping with the growth of the community. 10-1tc.

Late Oil News

A. B. A. H. MUNGER 3 REPORTED AS BEST IN ITS SECTION

Declared to be showing for the largest producer in its section, the Art-Boger-Ard-Haynes, No. 3 Munger, on the discovery lease, and the furthest northwest of this syndicate's wells on the lease, was late Saturday night reported flowing by heads, at a rate variously estimated from 1,500 to 2,000 barrels. This well was several days behind schedule completion, being held up by a leak in the 6⅝ inch casing which necessitated the setting of a liner, delaying its completion until Saturday night. The depth at which the sand was encountered in the test is given as 1738, and three and a half feet of sand are reported to have been drilled. Three other completions are reported for the end of the week from the Kemp-Munger-Allen pool, the second and third of the Cline Oil Company on the 2½-acre lease south from the first wells in this section, rated as 400-500 barrel and 600 barrel producers respectively. The No. 2 Munger of the Manhattan Production Company (Crude Oil Marketing) is the other of the week-end completions, reported making 600 barrels.

DANCIGER COMPANY GETS 1000 BARREL WILDCAT

News of the completion of a wildcat test near Davis, Okla., for what is estimated to be a 1,000 barrel producer by the Danciger Oil and Refining Company, was received at the Danciger offices in this city Saturday. The test is about 15 miles from the nearest production, which is in the Healdton pool, lying to the north of this pool and from Ardmore, Okla. The sand depth was around 1950.

OIL SAND DEEPER THAN K. M. A. SAND ENCOUNTERED

The encountering of an oil sand said to be at a greater depth than the Kemp-Munger-Allen sand in the Checkerboard Leasing Syndicate test, south of Lake Wichita, is reported by the Union Drilling Company, which is drilling the test. Casing is being set on the sand, the report issued from the office of the company states.

SELECTION DE LA HUERTA PROVISIONAL PRESIDENT IS BELIEVED CERTAIN

SAN ANTONIO, May 22.—Advices received here Saturday at noon from Mexico City declare that Governor De La Huerta of Sonora is sure of selection for the provisional presidency of Mexico. Twenty-six national senators at a preliminary caucus agreed to support De La Huerta, who headed the new revolution in connection with the plan of Augua Prieta and petitions are now being circulated by congressmen, indorsing his attitude on national and international questions and promising him their support.

THOUSAND BARREL SKIMMING PLANT IN K. M. A. DISTRICT

Announcement of the erection of a 1,000 barrel skimming plant in the Kemp-Munger-Allen pool by Kemp, Munger et al, was made Saturday afternoon. The plant will probably be located on the holdings of the Kemp-Munger-Allen Oil Company. Construction is to be started in the immediate future, the contract having been let to P. W. Adamson, Associated in this enterprise, in addition to Messrs. Kemp and Munger, and Messrs. Verschoyle, Culp and Simmons.

The plant, it is believed, will serve a definite need in the field, and in addition to being in the itnerest of proper conservation of the oil resources, will prove a successful commercial venture, having a ready market for one of its largest products, fuel oil, right at the plant. A large amount of the crude being produced by this field now goes in lieu of fuel oil to fill the large demand created by the intensive drilling program in progress in various parts of this area.

TWO BIG DEALS NORTHWEST EDGE WAGGONER POOL

Lease sales affecting 25 acres in the recently "reclaimed" section on the west edge of the Waggoner pool, which only a few months ago was considered condemned, and involving considerations aggregating nearly two million dollars were closed here at the end of the week, Emerich and Danciger, the pioneers of the "reclamation" development, and the Jupiter-Danciger interests being the sellers, and the Kansas and Gulf company, one of the largest and oldest independent companies in the oil development of this section being the buyers.

The 20-acre lease of the Emerich and Danciger interest comprised by lots 1, 2, 3 and 4, of the McConnell subdivision of the Michna, block 819, having six producers, including the discovery well in this late development, and two others practically ready for completion on the property, with a present daily production of around 5,000 barrels, was the largest piece of property involved in the deal, bringing a price which will probably run around a million and a half, being sold on a production gauge basis. The other lease was the Jupiter-Danciger five acres, lot 7 of the McConnell subdivision, having two producing wells and a production of 1,000 barrels daily, which brought around $3,500,000. The Danciger interests, which have been in this field for hardly a year, have taken the leading part in the development of this section of the Waggoner pool, they and their associates developing big production on the George and in several sections of block 819. Emerich is a new entry into the oil game, having only recently forsaken the railroad business for oil, and having made an unusually successful entry into the game in this section. The Kansas and Gulf company was one of the first to operate in the Waggoner, and in other North Texas pools. They now own upward of 50 producing wells in this section. H. L. Mourer is president, and in charge of the Wichita Falls office, Texas headquarters, in the First National Bank building.

The four men were discharged by the railroad about ten days ago.

GOMPERS URGES INQUIRY INTO MATEWAN SHOOTING

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, today urged that a senatorial investigation be made of the killing of residents of Matewan, W. Va., by Baldwin-Felts detectives May 19.

Gompers declared that the invasion of West Virginia by an armed band of men in pay of absentee owners of West Virginia mining properties constitutes the suspension of the "constitutional guarantee." Senator Kenyon said he would take it up with the labor committee.

TIMES DAILY MARKETS

New York Stocks, Grain and Provisions, Cotton and Livestock.

COTTON MARKET.

NEW YORK, May 22.—There was a renewal of liquidation in the cotton market today which sent all the active months into new low ground for the month. October contracts for instance, sold off to 34.32 or 58 points below last night's closing quotation and 19 points under the lowest price touched on the break of yesterday. Rallies followed on coverings and rumors of bullish private conditions, however with October closing at 34.67. The general list closed steady at a net decline of 73 to 40 points.

The market opened barely steady at a decline of 5 to 60 points, generally 22 to 37 points lower under overnight selling orders but soon steadied on a little trade buying and covering. July rallied to 37.90 and December to 32.93 or a shade above last night's closing on the latter position, but this advance met increased offerings and the market became weak during the middle of the morning.

July sold off to 37.35 and December to 33.30, with the general list showing net losses of 58 to 60 points. The decline was then checked by covering for over the week end and there was also some trade buying on the closing rallies accompanied by rumors that membership would buy here on exactions of a bullish private condition report on Monday.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, May 22.—Declines in cotton today were the result of a better turn in weather conditions over the belt. For a while the market was soft, but during the latter part of the session it had a better tone owing to a general demand for coveries on the short side, shorts being inclined to even and relapse over the week end.

The first call brought losses of 4 to 23 points after which the market moved up to levels 7 to 11 points over the close of yesterday on private reports of rains in the eastern belt. The weather map indicated next to no rainfall, however, and heavy selling ensued. Selling increased after the posting of the forecast, which called for day weather over Sunday in practically all portions of the cotton region. Under that pressure prices went 42 to 46 points under yesterday's finals, July falling from 37.85 at the high level, to 37.25.

Realizing on short contracts checked the downward movement and caused partial recoveries, so that the close showed net declines for the session of but 14 to 34 points.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, May 22.—Stocks were active and strong at the opening of today's short session, oils practically leading on reports of the death of former President Carranza. Representative rails and allied equipments shared substantial advances and sugars recovered materially from yesterday's sharp setback. Motors and their subsidiaries were irregular higher, the rubber issues being especially responsive to a moderate inquiry. Dealings in Liberty bonds at the outset were comparatively light but with indications that yesterday's rally would be maintained.

Trading was light but a steady tone ruled in today's market with occasional profit taking. The oil shares were especially responsive to Mexican advices and filled issues, such as motors and their specialties also made moderate gains. Rails and equipments improved on the better transportation outlook. Sugar, tobacco and leather stocks registered variable advances. The market became unsettled in the final dealings on selling of several of the high industrials, crucible steel reacting sharply. The closing was irregular. Sales approximated 300,000 shares.

Market Review

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, May 22.—Notwithstanding that much nervousness was evident in the corn market today, renewal of stampede selling which had been looked for failed to appear. Heavy margins calling together with other measures against wild trading proved effective toward bringing back conditions greatly different from the semi-panic 24 hours before. Closing quotations were unsettled, ¼ to 3c net lower, with July at 1.57⅛ to 1.58¾ and September 1.46⅝ to 1.50. The finish in oats ranged from 4 cents decline to 1⅝ cent advance and in provisions varied from 60c off to a rise of 5 cents. Most to the selling near the close was by traders who had bought earlier in the day mistakenly trying to anticipate week-end covering by shorts. On the other hand, talk of export business in wheat, rye and oats had only a temporary bullish influence.

Oats were governed chiefly by the action of corn.

Provisions like grain showed comparatively steadiness, except pork which dropped as a result of lack of demand.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, May 22.—The usual week-end settlement of professional contracts marked today's dull and perfunction session of the stock exchange, early firmness giving way to irregular changes at the close.

Mexican news stimulated a moderate demand for oils of that particular group, but priced domestic issues, such as Sinclair and Middle States, continued under bear pressure.

Rails were inclined to extend yesterday's gains further, short covering being induced by prospects of better freight conditions and equipments. There was some upward movement in the interstate commerce commission's revolving fund.

Dealings in bonds were small, Liberty and Victory issues retaining much of yesterday's rally, while the general list was steady. Total sales, par value, aggregated $8,750,000. On call for the week the old United States twos lost ¼, the fours ⅝ and Pan-American threes 2 per cent.

The clearing house statement was noteworthy, chiefly for the marked differences in adevarage and actual conditions. Actual loans decreased almost $30,000,000, reserves of members in the Federal reserve bank fell away by $24,000,000 and total excess reserves were reduced to slightly less than $17,700,000.

MR. AND MRS. FISHER TO LEAVE FOR COLORADO

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Fisher and family are making their plans to leave in the next week for their summer home, in Denver, Colo., where they will remain until the last of September. Mr. Fisher and son, Virgil, will leave the middle of the week to drive through, and Mrs. Fisher and the two daughters will go by train, leaving Sunday.

The many friends of the family will be glad to learn that present plans call for a continuation of their residence in Wichita Falls, though the purchase of the home in Denver led to reports that they would move to that place. Mr. Fisher's business is still in Wichita Falls and the family will continue to make their home here, according to their plans, at this time.

WHITE-FRIBERG WEDDING SOLEMNIZED IN MEMPHIS

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie M. Stratton of Memphis, Tenn., was the scene of a beautiful wedding Wednesday evening, May 12, when their sister, Miss Alice White, daughter of Mrs. A. M. White, became the bride of John F. Friberg of this city.

The handsome Stratton home on Union avenue, was beautifully decorated for the occasion with a wealth of greenery and cut flowers, pink being the predominate color note.

The ceremony took place in the drawing room where the handsome mantel banked with greenery, served as an improvised altar, being sentineled on either side by tall white flower vases holding great clusters of pink peonies.

The Rev. O. H. Hofstead, pastor of the Court Avenue Presbyterian church, officiated in the presence of a limited number of guests, including relatives and a few intimate friends.

For the ceremony the bride who was given in marriage by her brother, Dr. R. S. White, McGehee, Ark., wore an exquisite gown of white beaded and hand embroidered crepe de chine, and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and valley lilies.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Stratton, who was her matron of honor, was gowned in cream lace over georgette crepe with a bouquet of pink Killarney roses. The bride's little niece, Miss Katherine Stratton, wearing a pink georgette frock, scattered rose petals in the pathway of the bride. Mr. Friberg was attended by Homer Karrenbrock of this city, who served as best man.

The wedding music was beautifully rendered, McClellan Vaughan, pianist, and Carl Willis, violinist, with Mrs. Fred McDonald as accompanist.

The ceremony was followed by a wedding reception during which delicious refreshments were served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Friberg left for their home in Wichita Falls.

Mr. Friberg is a prominent business man of this city and a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Friberg, long time residents of Wichita county, and who has a host of friends who will welcome his bride, who enjoys wide spread popularity in both west and middle Tennessee.

DELIGHTFUL PARTY TO CLOSE TRAVEL CLUB YEAR

Marking the close of the year's work, and also a compliment to the newly elected members, the Travel club entertained an open meeting Monday evening, in one of the most delightful social events of the month, at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, the husbands and friends of the members being the guests of the club. Lovely garden flowers made an attractive decoration for the spacious reception suite in which the tables were placed for bridge and forty-two. The club colors, gold and white, suggested a pleasing motif for the game appointments and for the refreshment course, the ice cream being moulded in lilies, and served with angel food cake.

Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames C. N. Alexander, Leslie Humphrey, Everett Jones, H. G. England, T. A. Hicks, H. O. Cravens, James Barnard, F. T. Datson, Luther Hoffman, Walker Harris, Guy Rodgers, R. E. Thornburgh, Richard Bailey, Brown Robbins, W. E. Maxson, Tarleton Morrow, J. L. Hart, Misses Blanche Potter and Pauline Richolt, Mrs. Ola Hamlin and Messrs Lester Aaron and Sellars Rodgers.

MR. and MRS. CAMPBELL WILL RETURN HOME TODAY

Mrs. Campbell has been in Wichita Falls for the past two weeks, and her stay has been made very pleasant by numerous informal hospitalities, there being a round of luncheon, bridge afternoons and teas, and dinners and theater parties among her intimate friends throughout the two weeks. She was joined the middle of the past week by Mr. Campbell.

A Woman Likes To Be Admired, No Matter How Old She May Be

Nature undoubtedly made woman to be admired, and man to admire her. No woman ever gets so old that she doesn't want admiration, and no man ever gets beyond admiring her. Good looks in woman do not depend upon age, but upon health. A woman's health depends more upon the distinctly feminine organism than upon anything else. Between that organism and her beauty there is the closest connection. You never see a good-looking woman who is weak, run-down, irritable, out of sorts, fidgety and nervous. Headaches, backaches, dragging-down pains, irregularities and troubles of that sort are all destroyers of beauty. Men do not admire sickness.

It is within the reach of every woman to be well, healthy and strong if she will take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is the safest woman's tonic because it is made entirely of roots and herbs, without alcohol. (Ingredients on label.) It is 50 years old, and its age testifies to its goodness. A medicine that has made sick women well for half a century is surely good to take. Women from every part of America testify to its merits.

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y. for a trial package and confidential medical advice, or booklet.

New Enjoyments in the Pikes Peak Region

Visitors say the Pikes Peak Region is better each year as a vacation point. Bring your golf clubs—there's a municipal course. A wonderful new bath house is rushing toward completion. There's a new "Cottage City."

Then you can scale Pikes Peak on foot, by burro, on the cog road or the new motor road. Better come early and enjoy the summer.

WICHITA FALLS LUMBER DEALERS ANNOUNCE 10 PER CENT CUT IN PRICES EFFECTIVE MONDAY

Effective Monday, 10 per cent reduction in the price of retail lumber will be put into effect in Wichita Falls, according to announcements by practically all of the retail lumber dealers Saturday afternoon. The amount of the reduction will vary from $7.50 to $35 per thousand feet, the largest reductions coming in the higher priced lumber—such as hardwood flooring and finishing.

"It simply seemed to us that a general price cutting was in order, and we wanted to demonstrate that we were in line with the general trend," said one of the lumbermen who announced a reduction, in explaining his action. "I do not look for any radical reduction—nor in fact for any other immediate reduction in lumber—as there is lots of building to be done, and the end of the lumber supply is in sight and has been for a number of years.

"It is true, however, that there is to be a temporary suspension of construction throughout the country, which for the time being will slow up the lumber market, which has resulted in the lumber mills, who have considerable stocks in transit at all times, to name an 'attractive' price for their commodities before reaching their destination, and in this way dispose of them and avoid the heavy demurrage charges. To this extent, then, the lumber prices will be reduced.

"In making our own decision to announce a reduction immediately without waiting until we had disposed of our present stock and had received a cheaper stock, we decided that it was not 'only a good business measure, but would help along a general reduction in all other lines.

"THE SILVER HORDE" REX BEACH PLAY AT THE MAJESTIC

"The Silver Horde," the new Goldwyn offering which will be shown at the Majestic theater beginning Wednesday is a glowing tribute to the ability of the author, Rex Beach. It is an Eminent Authors' production, and meets the high standard for pictures set by this brand.

The story fairly pulsates with the spirit of indomitable courage and daring which mark those who defy the ruggedness of the north and the vicious elements it breeds in the struggle for existence. The cast is made up of players of excellent types, all equal in ability to present true characterizations.

Most of the action revolves about the parts played by Myrtle Stedman, Robert McKim, Betty Blythe, Curtis Cooksey and Frederick Stanton, players popular with lovers of the screen, who put many thrills and a great deal of romance into the fight waged by the trust interests against the independent faction for a monopoly of the salmon canning industry in Alaska.

Rex Beach journeyed to the northwest with Director Frank Lloyd and the case for the exterior scenes made in that location, and rendered much assistance in keeping the action realistic and in harmony with his visualization of the story he wrote.

Other pictures at the Majestic this week are: Monday, Conway Tearle in "Atonement;" Tuesday, Elaine Hammerstein in "Greater Than Fame," and Friday and Saturday, Madge Kennedy in "The Blooming Angel."

LUCK OF THE IRISH FEATURE AT EMPRESS MONDAY AND TUESDAY

The opening scenes of "The Luck of the Irish," an Allan Dwan production from the famous novel by Harold MacGrath, which comes to Empress theater Monday and Tuesday, present a photoplay novelty. Inasmuch as there are more than 50 people in the scene, only the feet are shown, except that of James Kirkwood, who plays the leading role, William Grogan.

The scene is laid in the basement of a plumbing shop. William Grogan is a journeyman plumber who comes in contact with the outside world only through what he can see from the little window that looks out on the sidewalk of one of the side streets of New York. He can only see the feet of those who walk by each day. His only companions are the little children who poke their heads through the window and talk and laugh with him. He is the kind of a hero who, like "The Hindu Yogi, could set his body grinding corn, and take his soul and go visiting with it." For three years, from his cellar window, he saw the same two shapely feet, sensibly shod, trip lightly by. He knew there were many homely women with pretty feet, so he dreamed of her as what he hoped she would be. Not until fortune willed did he see the face of the owner of the two pretty feet. Then he found that his dream did not do justice to her beauty and charm.

It is on a trip around the world that he finally meets her. The pair of feet are on the same boat. This trip is full of adventure—mystery, treachery, intrigue and love are the keynotes. In this Allan Dwan master production, which is presented by the Mayflower Photoplay Corporation through Realart Pictures, every attention of detail is paid to production and cast.

TIM AND KITTY O'MEARA FEATURE WICHITA BILL FIRST HALF OF WEEK

Tom and Kitty O'Meara will lead the bill at the Wichita beginning Monday in a clever dancing act.

If it is dancing, the O'Mearas do it. They are one of the most versatile and proficient dancing teams in vaudeville. This fact was recognized when Bessie Clayton, the queen of American dance, selected them from all other dancers to assist her in one of her productions. It has also been recognized by many managers of the legitimate productions who have engaged the O'Mearas as the dancing feature of many musical comedies.

In vaudeville, they are what is known as standards. Dependability is absolute. They are seen in a modern dance whirlwind. This includes a variety of modern dances and a whirlwind dance that is positively the fastest thing that has ever been done in terpsichore. They revolve with the rapidity of an airplane, making a "tail spin."

Besides this feature there are four other well balanced acts that should make the bill above the average.

THE SACRED FLAME SHOWING AT THE WICHITA TODAY

There have been many photoplays which have shown how women have been tempted by social ambition, and how these women have chosen the tinsel and glitter rather than the true gold. "The Sacred Flame," Smily Stevens' latest picture which is being shown at the Wichita theater today, is one of the very few plays which portray the social temptations of a man. Although the lure of social prestige is too great for Lionel Brooke, the sacred flame does burn on to the end. Emily Stevens, who is playing the part of "Rosalie Allen," has an opportunity to display her fine powers of character portrayal in this picture. Miss Stevens reminds one strikingly of her cousin, Mrs. Fiske, in her ability to portray character.

It's May Time and Should Be Happy Time

It's a good time to take a new lease on life, to form new resolves and to get our wardrobe ready for the gladsome month to come.

With general summertime and vacation needs calling for attention our displays offer merchandise which meets best with your desires, yet which deviates not one inch from our economy pricing standard.

New Apparel Displays

To avoid sameness and yet not deviate too much from the prevailing styles is the satisfying purpose of these newly created modes. The fabrics from which they are developed are delightful in Texture. The colorings are gay—even brilliant—and altogether in keeping with the spirit of the season Quality here does not vary. In each instance it is the best obtainable at the price presented.

Of Course, You Will Want a Lovely Wash Frock

Fashion and this display are very kind for they present for your immediate selection such a bevy of bewildering Tub Frocks as, we believe, you have never had the privilege of seeing—much less of selecting from—before. Side by side are modes of linen, Swisses, organdies and voiles. Some are plain in tone and others have trim stripes or the most charming of floral designs. Many fascinating models are here to select from.

See our window display.

Suits Combine Pleasing Styles With Moderate Prices

No longer do fashionable women give preference to the plain tailored suit skirt. Now, it is the accordian pleated or the tiered skirt which receives the most attention. Both types are interestingly featured here. They are accompanied, of course, by jackets which lack nothing in distinction. Bloused backs, embroideries and cire sashes are distinguishing features about them.

Our entire selection of Ladies' suits are being offered at 1-3 off.

Distinctive Blouses and Separate Skirts

Though the Lingerie Blouses offer exceptional diversity in styles there's plenty of originality among the crepe Georgette models.

First come the Tub Skirts and then hosts of silk styles that will make smart companions to the blouses of Georgette.

A Chic Hat, a Cleverly Draped Veil—and One Has a Ravishing Effect

Since hats are noticeably Egyptian in influence, it naturally follows that they should be veiled. But how, is the question every woman must decide for herself. Our inclusive showing of veils embraces a style for every type of face.

Variety is the Keynote of Our Late Spring Slipper Displays.

The one eyelet tie is a distinctive compromise between the oxford and pump. It emphasizes the beauty of the slender ankle and its tie of rich grosgrain ribbon gives it a decidedly dressy touch. We are also featuring plenty of trim styles in two eyelet and plain pumps, colonial pumps and French Vamp Footwear, in all wanted leathers as well as in silk moire and satin.

Even in Summer a Coat is Frequently Necessary

For those occasions and for these present beautiful May days you will appreciate the Coat that is comfortably light and which follows the mode. As it is an unalterable rule that where there is fullness it must be restrained by some manner or means, most of our offerings achieve fashionable silhouettes by pleats or belts. And when it is a question of sleeves you may choose raglan effects, set-in or the popular kimona types. In all the wanted colorings.

Choice of any spring coat 1-3 off.

KELL EMPHASIZES SOUNDNESS OUR FINANCIAL POSITION BUT URGES DAMPER ON SPECULATORS

Declaring that there is no panic in sight, nor any reason for feeling undue alarm as to the possibility of one, Frank Kell, director of the Federal Reserve Bank of the district, declares it to be the duty of every banker to close down on money destined for speculation or for new construction of any nature, in a statement issued on the financial outlook at the request of a representative of The Times following his return from a visit to the principal financial centers of the country.

"The bankers of the country should, without question, refuse to discount bills payable where they are offered for the purpose of securing funds for speculative purposes, or even investments in new construction of any nature," is one of the striking statements made by Mr. Kell. "On the other hand," he continued, "paper offered to the bankers of the country for the purpose of handling the products of the farm, including livestock, where it is not for the purpose of hoarding these commodities, should be accepted and the federal banks of the country should in turn favor all such paper offered them through the system of members banks." Mr. Kell's statement follows:

"Replying to your inquiry in regard to the financial situation beg to advise that after having visited the leading financial centers in the east and talking with some of the leading bankers of the United States and listening to an address by George Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National bank of Chicago upon this subject and taking notice of the general conditions of the entire country as my business would bring me in contact with same, I am thoroughly convinced that there is no panic in sight nor no need of any undue alarm and that the finances of the country are sufficient to take care of current business, particularly the necessities of life, and the handling of the products of the farms of this country, including livestock, from which sources we must get all of our new money in the way of exportation of these products to foreign countries.

"It is, however, seriously important to every business man of this country, be he banker of any other kind, that the current funds of the country should be conserved to the utmost possible degree and that all speculation of every nature should be eliminated from our every day life and that where possible to reduce the volume of our regular business without impairing the business of the country this should be done also.

"The bankers of the country should, without question, refuse to discount bills payable where they are offered for the purpose of securing funds for speculative purposes or even investments in new construction of any nature. On the other hand paper offered to the bankers of the country for the purpose of handling the products of the farm, including livestock, where is is not for the purpose of hoarding these commodities, should be accepted and the federal reserve banks of the country should in turn favor all such paper offered them through the system of member banks.

Our Strong Position.

"We occupy a strong position among the governments of the world due to the fact that we are the largest exporting country in the world. For instance, with normal conditions prevailing until the end of the crop season we should produce in this country an exportable surplus of at least 200,000,000 bushels of wheat. We are going to carry over from this year's crop into next year's crop the largest surplus of wheat ever before in the history of the country, most of the authorities now figuring this to be 150,000,000 bushels. This added to the crop which is now fairly well assured of around 800,000,000 bushels would give us 950,000,000 bushels of wheat for the coming year with which to supply 600,000,000 bushels for seed and bread for ourselves and with a reasonable carry-over for another year, leaving us an exportable surplus of around 300,000,000 bushels which, at present prices, would mean nearly $1,000,000,000 of new money that is available to this country for the next year, to say nothing of the new money that will come to this country from the exportable surplus of other cereals, livestock and cotton. With this gigantic support behind us and all speculation cut out and all surplus placed in a very strong position and new construction delayed we are placed in a strong position and with this support good American business sense will meet the condition and our country will be pulled through the aftermath of the war without any serious damage to anyone.

RANGER ROAD TO CROSS CLEAR FORK OF BRAZOS NEAR CRYSTAL FALLS

Special to The Times.

RANGER, TEX., May 22. — Work will begin on the grade for the Wichita Falls, Ranger and Fort Worth railroad, north of Breckenridge in a few days. The line will cross the Clear Fork in the vicinity of Crystal Falls and the Brazos at Newcastle, where it will connect with the Wichita Falls and Southern, a property already owned and operated by Hamon and Kell. tI is intended to extend the system across Red river at once into the Oklahoma oil fields for connections with the Frisco and probably the Rock Island systems. Thus it will traverse and serve all the oil fields of north and north central Texas and southern Oklahoma.

The Wichita Falls, Ranger and Fort Worth railroad is now operating trains over 50 miles of its line from Dublin to Frankell and will operate from Fort Worth to Breckenridge by the middle of June.

NO BIDS OFFERED FOR SCHOOL BONDS SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Saturday afternoon the school board met to open bids for the $350,000 school bond issue recently voted, but adjourned without doing so. There were no bids to open. Just what measures will be taken to sell the bonds now Superintendent Lee Clark was unable to say Saturday. The sale had been thoroughly advertised, he stated.

Belief that they could be placed locally if they were exempted from state tax, as well as income tax, as at present, was expressed by Mr. Clark. The bonds can bear only five per cent interest, are exempt from income tax but are taxable by the state, so for this reason the five per cent makes the bonds of little interest as an investment to a private individual.

LETTER FROM REV. GRAFTON ENDORSING SCHOOL FUND

Many citizens are writing Superintendent Lee Clark endorsing the movement of citizens to raise a fund of $100,000 to supplement the regular funds for the maintenance of the public schools in Wichita Falls. Mr. Clark has just received such a letter from Rev. N. F. Grafton. This letter follows:

"Dear Mr. Clark:

"I desire to lend my endorsement of the movement to put our schools on a safe financial basis. The campaign to raise $100,000 is most commendable and should meet with the heartiest support of all citizens. It's a shame that Texas, a leader in so many things, should be 43rd on the list of states as to the expenditure of money per capital. The amendment should remedy that to a large extent and make possible the financing of our schools in such way as to give adequate wage to every teacher. The movement in America for better salaries for our underpaid teachers is a wholesome one. May it strike our state and city full in the face."

Have you rendered your property at the city hall? The book will soon close. 342-tfc

TEXAS TO FIGHT RECEIVERSHIP FOR PATENTED LANDS

"I have never agreed to a federal receivership involving lands which have been patented to individuals by the state of Texas," declared C. M. Cureton, attorney general of Texas, in a wire received by operators interested in the Red River valley oil lands involved in the receivership Saturday. This statement was in answer to a direct question in a wire dispatched to the attorney general by local operators, which was sent following the general circulation of a rumor to the effect that the Texas attorney general had agreed to this receivership.

Furthermore, Mr. Cureton's wire stated that all efforts of the property owners affected to get relief in any way from the receivership would be most vigorously supported by his department, and he felt sure, the other departments of the state government, as has been the case from the start of the litigation.

Mr. Cureton stated that he had submitted to the board of control an estimate of the expenses necessary for the fighting of the case, both as concerns the patented lands, and the lands in the river bed, aggregating $90,000, and he was sure that the appropriation would be made by the legislature, and that the entire state government would co-operate in every possible way with the land owners in the defense of their titles. Assistant Attorneys General Keeling and Taylor are on their way to Washington from Austin to assist in any possible way the efforts of the interested parties to obtain relief from the receivership.

Some preliminary work in the canvassing of owners interested in patented lands for funds with which to conduct the fight against the receivership, and the employment of additional counsel, was done Saturday, something like $20,000 being raised in little over an hours work. A total of $50,000 is estimated to be necessary for the conduct of the fight.

"The Satisfactory Store"

Faith and Confidence

The personnel of this store looks out upon the future of Wichita Falls with great pride and inspiration. Last week Wichita County produced 725,000 barrels of oil, which means that Wichita County has, for its oil interests alone an income of nearly $12,000,000 per month.

When we travel through the miles and miles of proven oil territory in this county we cannot but feel that Wichita Falls is certain to become a great and thriving city, a city possessed of great wealth. Along with the oil industry many other industries will spring up. In fact numerous industries are growing and expanding in this city to a greater degree than perhaps they are in any other city in the United States. Together with our industrial development there will grow up a modern city with progressive civic attractions, and in a few years our city will be beautified with many paved streets, beautiful homes, beautiful parks and public buildings appropriate to a city of its character. The personnel of this store has thought soberly of the resources and possibilities of this community and we can arrive at only one conclusion and that is that Wichita Falls is building for stability and permanency.

But, even with such apparent great wealth it is essential and vital that people should be practical. They should be frugal and at the same time economical. The entire country has just gone through an era of unprecedented speculation and there is at this time a wide-spread inclination on the part of financiers and business people of every character to call a halt on speculation. A concerted effort is being made by merchants all over the country to reduce the price of merchandise and to that end they are advertising their stocks at reasonable discounts.

This store is glad to join a movement of this kind and we are for that reason conducting a sale in which not a single article in our brand new stock is reserved.

Entire Stock at 25% Discount

This store carries complete lines of men's, women's and boys' wearing apparel; men's furnishings, clothes, shoes and hats; boy's clothes, furnishings and hats; women's suits, dresses, silk and muslin underwear, silk hosiery, corsets, handkerchiefs and women's shoes; men's and women's fine traveling bags; women's umbrellas and novelties. POPULATION OF U. S. TO BE MADE PUBLIC DURING OCTOBER

By RALPH F. COUCH.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Aided by complicated machines which perform miracles of automatic calculation, 3000 expert statisticians and clerks in the employ of the census bureau here now are sorting and classifying the greatest mass of statistical information ever collected.

The population of the United States will be ready for announcement some time in October under present plans, Director Sam L. Rogers said today. This population total, expected to be about 106,000,000, will be announced also by states. State population announcements will begin to issue from the bureau in about six weeks.

Announcement of city populations began February 21 and about 600 have been made. At least 1,000 more city population announcements may be expected, bureau officials estimate.

Congressmen, senators, civic organization representatives and newspapermen appear at the census bureau twice daily to receive city population announcements. Each by special telephone or telegraph arrangements previously set up, tries to be the first to get the news to his home town or city of its new nose count.

Newspapers "extra" on it and crowds gather at bulletin boards. It's "big news", census bureau officials are told. Local boosters cheer—sometimes.

Complaints are flooding the bureau. They're usually from local boosters, civic bodies and sometimes from chambers of commerce protesting the count. The enumerators didn't get everybody in the count, is the text of most of the complaints.

"Thank you for calling this to our attention," reads a form letter which goes out immediately under the signature of Director Rogers. The letter promises an investigation of the count. And the boosters wait, but—

"In only two cases have we found that the complaints were justified and that our count was incorrect," said Rogers. "In these cases the enumerators skipped small groups of people."

Local boosters have complained of the results in about half of the towns and cities so far announced. Census bureau officials emphasize that they welcome complaints, they are just as anxious to correct mistakes as are the local inhabitants, they declare.

But counting populations of cities, counties, states and even the U. S. is but one function of the census, officials emphasize.

The census is intended to furnish information on which better government may be based, according to Director Rogers. This is why the great mass of economic and social data is included. The bureau now is nearly half finished with the agricultural and manufactures census. Information collected in these investigations is that of most use to business men, government officials and economists.

The agricultural census includes a count of the number of farms in the United States, number of farmers, including owners, managers and farm hands, and the value of all crops. Similar information is collected in the manufactures census.

The present census is expected to show that there are in the United States 7,000,000 farms as compared with 6,000,000 in 1910. To be classified as a farm, a piece of land must include at least three acres, must have produced $500 worth of crops per year for the past few years or must have required the entire time of at least one man to cultivate it.

To complete the present census will require at least three years, according to Director Rogers. Although the enumerators are all done, except 600 working on the farm census and 300 on the manufactures census, sorting and classifying the data they obtained will take months. The printing also will require a long period. The results will be printed in twelve large volumes.

Approximately 75,000 enumerators were required to collect the ordinary population returns now all in. They received about $6,000,000 for their work.

The entire cost of this census is placed at approximately $25,000,000. This includes printing.

WOMEN AS MINISTERS AND ELDERS BEFORE PRESBYTERIAN BODY

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—Admission of women to ordination as ruling elders of the Presbyterian church is a question that will be submitted to a referendum vote of the entire denomination in the United States if the recommendation of a commission which has been studying the subject for the past year is approved by the Presbyterian General Assembly which opened its annual sessions here the past week.

A survey, taken by the Commission on the Official Relation of Women in the Church, in which the opinions of leading ministers, elders and women was obtained, led its members to these conclusions:

"That the Scriptures did not forbid either women elders or women preachers; that three other denominations ordain women to the ministry but that few women avail themselves of the privilege; that four other denominations did not have women preachers and are not inclined to have them; that the evidence shown is favorable to women as elders but unfavorable to women as ministers; that of the Presbyterians canvassed 60 percent favored women as elders, 43 percent favored women as ministers, while 31⅓ percent opposed any change in the present usage of the church."

An elder in the Presbyterian church occupies a spiritual office but does not preach. He assists the minister in his religious duties and, as a presbyter, is a member of the governing body of the church endowed with the function, among others, of maintaining denominational doctrine and administering discipline. For centuries the office has been filled exclusively by men.

Last year, three Presbyteries, it was said, made overtures to the general assembly. One from the Presbytery of Columbia river asked that women be made eligible to ordination both as ministers and ruling elders. Another from the Presbytery of Dallas, Tex., asked that a committee be appointed to investigate the whole question of enlarged opportunities for women in the church and the Presbytery of Saginaw, Mich., urged that they be ordained as ruling elders. The Moderator thereupon appointed a commission to inquire and report, composed of the Rev. S. Hall Young, chairman, the Rev. Edgar W. Work and Rush Taggart, all of New York, the Rev. William M. Barrett of Bellfontaine, O., and John T. Manning of New Haven.

The Commission said it found that the Methodist Protestant, the Congregational and the Christian churches ordain women to the ministry but few availed themselves of the privilege. Four other denominations, the Lutheran, Baptist, Episcopal and Methodist Episcopal, it was said, "do not have women preachers nor does there seem to be any particular inclination in these churches to accord them this office.

"In practically all of these seven churches," said the report, "women are admitted to every other official position in the church except the ministry. They serve on official boards, are trustees, deaconesses, etc., and there is a growing tendency to admit them to official equality with men in the matter of council and oversight in the government and service of the church."

Those opposed to any change in the present usage in the Presbyterian church were quoted by the commission as arguing that ordination of women would lower the dignity of the office, afford an excuse for men to shirk their duties, retard or defeat the union of Presbyterian churches in the United States, keep men from church and countenance and accelerate a "dangerous feministic movement."

Arguments quoted in favor of the change included statements that it would accord with the spirit of the age and with women's civil equality, that women and girls composed the majority of the membership of the church and did more work than the other sex and that they were "entitled to the honors as well as the labors."

The commission declined to express any opinion on the merits of the question, stating that it was divided, "a majority having expressed themselves as conservative."

ACTIVITY CONTINUES IN WILBARGER COUNTY

By A. C. McCONNELL.

Activity in the Vernon district continues. The week-end was featured by the great number of leases changing hands. A number of foreign capitalists have secured acreage the past week, and announce a drilling campaign. The Sigler field is still getting the big play and the foreign operators are not overlooking its possibilities. Acreage throughout the county, especially in the Sigler district, has taken a decided advance in price and there is considerable activity in the leasing game. From one end of the county to the other leases are changing hands at a rapid rate and material for derricks is being moved in as fast as the railroads can transport same, and trucks are relieving the congestion.

A large number of scouts for the big companies are seeking close-up acreage. The presence of these scouts, together with the marked activity in leases indicate that the development of Wilbarger county field is being closely watched by the larger companies. Ascending prices in leases are looked upon as a decided factor that Wilbarger is a real oil territory. Operators are still arriving daily from all over the United tSates, being atracted here by the Sigler discovery. It is rare that these parties leave without investing in some form of development, acreage or stock, after direct investigation. Almost every available acre near good formations is under lease, especially around the Sigler, Waggoner and Piper tracts. Whenever a new location is made in this area, leases begin to ascend in prices. Leases are bringing from $25 to $3,000 an acre, with drilling restrictions. The higher figure is acreage in the Sigler district.

Frankel & Rubenstein report the sale to Peoria, Ills., parties 10 acres near the Sigler well for $20,000. The purchase was made by prominent Illinois lawyers who will start drilling operations at once on the newly acquired acreage. Messrs. Frankel and Rubenstein are members of the board of directors of the Sigler Oil and Prescott-Peoria Oil Co.

It is also reported that Geo. Works, an operator in the northwest extension pool, representing a leading oil company, has purchased 20 acres near the Sigler discovery well for $40,000 and drilling operators will be started immediately.

Last week $30,000 was paid for 10 acres near the Sigler well, which is indicative that the Sigler pool is attracting much foreign capital.

Harry Frankel of the firm of Frankel & Rubenstein, lease brokers, has returned from a business trip to Peoria and Chicago, Illinois. While there he negotiated the sale of over $200,000 worth of Wilbarger acreage to oil operators in Illinois. Forty acres in section 52, block 14, was sold for $500 an acre and the operators will immediately drill on the acreage.

Guy Waggoner has spudded in a test on his ranch, south of Vernon, in section 35, block 1, near the Sigler well. Mr. Waggoner has platted section 35 into 10-acre drilling blocks, and placed same on the market, being priced from $1500 to $2500 an acre, with the exception of 90 acres which belongs to the well being drilled by Waggoner. He announced that he will let a contract soon for another well to be drilled on his home section in section 41, block 1. An extensive drilling campaign is to be inaugurated in this district, which is near the Sigler discovery well.

205 TONS FOODSTUFFS DESTROYED BY DEPARTMENT

AUSTIN, May 22.—Destruction of over 205 tons of foodstuffs since September 1, unfit for human consumption, is the record of the state food and drug department, according to Commissioner R. H. Hoffman. Nearly 141 tons of this was assorted canned goods, which together with 71 tons of eggs, constitutes the principal items destroyed, he says. His statement shows 295 convictions of dealers for violations of the pure food laws since September 1.

DUTY OF MOTHERS TO SEE BIRTHS REGISTERED

AUSTIN, TEX., May 21.—It is largely up to the mothers of Texas to put the state in the registration area; the State Board of Health fully recognizes that if Texas as a state is to ever get into what is known as the registration area or the United States Vital Statistics Bureau and become recognized as being on a par with those states which now enjoy this great advantage that this will come about largely through the co-operation of the mothers themselves. There are almost daily evidences of the fact that mothers are becoming more and more aware of the vital importance of having their children's births recorded which is important not only from a legal, social and industrial standpoint, but is absolutely necessary for the accurate and scientific study of disease and its proper prevention.

While it is the duty of the mother to know that her child's birth is recorded it should at the same time be a great pleasure and a source of satisfaction to her to know that she has performed this important piece of business for her helpless child and there is no one thing requiring so little time and effort on her part that will be so much appreciated by the value of this forethought on the part of its own mother.

child when it has grown to realize the

During 1919, probably more than 10,000 children were born in the state of Texas whose births were not reported.

Millions of dollars have been lost in claims and millions more have been spent in litigation for property rights which might have been saved to some one's children if only mother or some one had acted in time in behalf of the child by recording the date of birth.

Mother, will you help your child by making such report to the State Board of Health and also urge other mothers to do likewise?

last as long as the average car itself

The question of prime importance as regards an inner tube is "How long will it last?" By reason of an exclusive process in their manufacture, Empire tubes are noted for their exceptionally long life. Many sold ten years ago are still doing duty, although the cars they originally supported have been junked.

We feel that we are very fortunate in being able to offer to our customers this unexcelled tube. Having been recently appointed Empire Direct Factory Distributor, we are in a position to fill your needs instantly and accurately from a complete stock of all sizes.

Putting forward the declaration that President Wilson's Oregon letter is sound and true, but that its weakness politically is that "it appeals to the higher reason and political campaigns are for the most part within the realm of lower reason," the New York Times, consistent supporter of the treaty and League of Nations, sees greater hope of democratic advantage from the letter in the effect the appeal may have in the councils of the republicans. "They have so far put out of their thoughts all objects and purposes save the overthrow of Mr. Wilson and his works," notes the New York paper, "that, under urging from their heated passions and from Senator Johnson, they may be betrayed into a platform repudiation of the treaty and the League altogether. That would make more votes for the democratic candidate than a thousand appeals from the President." Johnson and Borah unquestionably would have the Chicago convention accept the President's challenge for a straight-out fight on ratification. They would have the platform feature a non-ratification plank and would not accept even the Lodge reservations as accepted by almost all of the republican senators and leaders. Herbert Hoover, in his recent exchange with Senator Johnson, probably more correctly represented the general republican sentiment when he urged a middle course and warned the republican leaders not to be betrayed into an extreme course by either the President on the one end or the Johnson-Borah-Reed irreconcilable group on the other. It is gossip—and given for what it is worth—that Johnson has been induced to accept the treaty and League plank, which already has been prepared for acceptance by the Chicago meeting. This plank is confined, as the story runs, to denunciation of the President's position and neither endorses the Lodge reservations nor yet unequivocally opposes them—a sort of middle ground that grew out of the necessary compromise between the Johnson faction and the bulk of senate republicans who favor the Lodge program because they are fearful of outright opposition to the treaty and League and prefer the flank attack to the frontal. But if the President's letter to Oregon democrats—which was a flat-footed endorsement of the treaty and League as they are writ—should lead the republicans into the error of an equally flat-footed opposition, its political effects are apt to be decisive, even although, as the Times suggests, appeals to higher reason in a political campaign do not carry the weight that demagogic appeals to the lower reason do.

David Lawrence, in a copyrighted Washington dispatch, reminds us of the interesting fact that General Pablo Gonzales, co-revolutionist with General Alvaro Obregon, was strongly pro-ally even when he was serving under the neutral (?) Carranza government, and came out in a positive declaration for the entente and against the Central powers when the United States entered the war. General Obregon, man of business and widely-traveled and informed, is friendly to the United States because he feels that way in the first place and because, in the second, he appreciates the fact that the friendship of the United States is a sine qua non for any permanent government in Mexico.

"Therefore," writes Lawrence, "Mexico is ruled today by two men of business minds. They understand the language of commerce and should make it possible to do what Carranza has stubbornly refused to do, namely, make a business agreement with the United States, looking toward the commercial advantages of both countries."

Mr. Lawrence outlines what he believes to be a tentative program decided on by our own state department as a prerequisite to recognition of the de facto government. This program includes:

1. Appointment of a mixed claims commission to settle pending claims by Mexicans against the United States and by Americans against Mexico.

2. Guarantee of protection to the lives and property of American citizens and quieting title to rights held prior to the adoption of the Mexican constitution in 1919.

3. An understanding about the distribution of the waters of the Colorado River, which affects 50,000 Americans in the Imperial Valley of California.

4. Adjustment of the expropriation by Carranza of improvements made by Americans in Mexico.

5. Removal of the Carranza decree forbidding Americans to own realty in the frontier zone.

There is nothing in that program that the Obergon-Gonzales regime cannot accept without loss of dignity, either of themselves or of their nation. There is nothing in that program that is unreasonable for any government to ask of a friendly neighbor, such as Mexico has claimed to be. Acceptance of the program and recognition of the de facto government by the United States would go far toward settling some of the recurrent troubles in Mexico, and toward giving General Obregon time and opportunity to convince the Mexican people of the advantages of having a government that not only means something but which has the real interest of the Mexican people at heart.

The city manager idea is growing rapidly and the salaries being paid indicate that successful city managers are not only in demand, but that they are appreciated. Ossian A. Carr, who took the city managership of Dubuque, Ia., the other day at a salary of $8,400 a year, has served three other cities, Springfield, Ohio, Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Cadillac, Mich., each change being in the nature of a promotion and a better salary. There are, notes a bulletin issued by the National Short Ballot Organization, now 180 city managers in the United States. The principal cities operating under the plan are Akron, Dayton and Springfield, Ohio; Grand Rapids, Mich.; Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va.; Wheeling, W. Va., but there are dozens and dozens of other cities of from 5,000 up to 40,000 using the city manager plan of government and apparently well pleased with it. Here in Texas the idea has prevailed in a number of live cities of the second and third groups in population. Beaumont, we believe, is the largest and it recently selected George J. Roark, former Chamber of Commerce secretary, at a salary of $8,000 a year. Amarillo, Sherman, Brownwood and others of that class furnish the bulk of the city manager towns in Texas, however. A noteworthy fact is that not a single one of the larger cities of the state has adopted the manager plan, which may indicate that the politicians in the larger cities do not like the idea of an appointive head of the city government and the fixing of the sole responsibility upon him. The idea of divided responsibility in government covers a multitude of inefficiencies simply because they can't be placed on any single individual or department. The highest paid city manager in the country is Manager Ashburner of Norfolk, Va., who gets $12,000 a year.

The recent Bailey conference was marked by denunciation of the newspapers by speakers who were venting their soreness at defeat upon the newspapers not because of any wrong the newspapers had done them but because criticism of newspapers is about as good an alibi as they had for the crushing defeat they received. Under the heading, "Just Plain Bunk," the Fort Worth Star-Telegram very satisfactorily disposes of these speakers—one of them its own mayor—saying:

May we be permitted say, in good temper and without heat, that the distinguished gentlemen who have had so much to say about the newspapers suppressing facts in connection with the results of the recent precinct conventions, have been talking plain bunk?

Our esteemed mayor is quoted with having said in Dallas Saturday that "more counties were for repudiating the administration than the people were told, because the press deliberately failed to give the correct returns."

It would be interesting to the men who worked so hard and disinterestedly to get as full and correct a report of the results of those conventions as possible, to learn upon what the mayor bases such a statement and what are the sources of his information. The charge of unfairness against the newspapers is a habit with some people. But when the newspapers go to a great expense to perform a purely public service, for which the state makes no provision, and when a great army of workers co-operate together and labor impartially to perform that service effectively, it would be little enough to have such service appreciated instead of being subjected to unbridled and unmerited abuse from persons whose quarrel is with the result itself and not with the newspapers that reported it.

The gathering of returns from elections and such conventions as were held in Texas on May 1 is a thankless task at best. It requires the close co-operation of the leading newspapers throughout the state, entails a great deal of extra expense and much extra labor. But if it were left to the ordinary agencies provided by the state it would be weeks before the result could be known, and in cases where the contest was close, that would give great opportunity for fraud and defeat of the people's will. The results, as recorded by the newspapers, would be useless both to the newspapers themselves and to the public, if absolute impartiality were not the guiding purpose of the work and if every possible care were not taken to insure accuracy. The official result of the recent contest will not be known until the convention roll has been made up, when the state democratic convention meets in Dallas on May 25. But, on the basis of past experience, we venture to say that it will show the newspaper reports of the result to be remarkably accurate. In any event, we are quite certain that neither the official result nor any well authenticated reports from the precinct and county conventions themselves will supply material upon which to base such sweeping and wholly unwarranted statements as those of our esteemed mayor and the other distinguished gentlemen at Dallas.

The acute print paper shortage has struck another of Texas' big dailies, and the Fort Worth Star-Telegram announces that its limit for week-day issues from now on is 24 pages and for Sundays 60 pages. The Star-Telegram announces that it has been able to buy enough paper for a couple of Sunday issues, but it had to pay 14c a pound f. o. b. the mill, making the cost nearly 15½c in the store-room. "The average Sunday paper," notes the Star-Telegram in announcing its predicament, "weighs more than a pound and a quarter." In other words, just the blank paper in "the average Sunday paper" costs nearly 20 cents, not to mention any other of the numerous items of cost entering into the completed publication.

Apropos the treaty and League further: Not even Senators Borah and Johnson have been more bitter in their denunciation of "this infamous pact" than the socialists. "This infamous pact" must be smashed to make way for the international parliament to be set up by socialists throughout the world, so declares the socialist platform. And Morris Hillquit and other socialist leaders at their recent convention equalled if they did not really excel Lodge and Knox in their denunciation of President Wilson politically and personally.

Ten thousand statesmen fume and fret, upon the well known stump, and tell how crises should be met, and carted to the dump. They elocute until they're hot, and rant and tear their duds; and it would help things out a lot if they'd start raising spuds. By growing Burbanks here and there, they'd help a land distraught; we need potatoes more, I swear, than we need Gems of Thought. Ten thousand poets twang their lyres until they break the strings, and boost our altars and our fires, our bulwarks and such things. But nations are not saved by tunes, however nobly played; the poets should be growing prunes, which is a better trade. For prunes the hungry children cry, and stricken parents pray, while bughouse poets drool and sigh of temples in Cathay. Ten thousand agents seek our doors to sell us foolish books, and they'd be far more useful bores if they plied reaping hooks. The country's full of well dressed skates who grow no hay or straw, produce no pumpkins, figs or dates—there ought to be a law.

WHY?—

IS THE SKY BLUE?

(Copyright, 1920, by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

After astronomers and scientists of various kinds had puzzled over this apparently simple question for many hundreds of years, Professor John Tyndall, a famous scholar of the last century, solved the mystery with the following explanation:

Sunlight is pure white light, made up of rays of the seven primary colors which are seen in the rainbow—red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet. The sky, which is really the air which surrounds the earth, is filled with myriads of tiny specks or particles of matter which absorb some of the colors in the rays of sunlight and reflect others—forming the combination whic hwe have come to know as "sky blue." The variations in shade of this blue is due to the fact that the atmosphere is filled with different densities of these dust-particles at different times and also to the varying angles at which the sunlight strikes upon them. After a rain, however, the air is washed comparatively clear and the sky then appears at its true blue which we are accustomed to associate with it. If one could penetrate outside the shell of air which surrounds the earth, the "sky," instead of being blue, would appear to be pure white because there would be nothing to impede the direct rays of the white sunlight.

Unlucky Billy Green.

I used to think that Billy Green was luckier than me.
He hasn't any mother watchin' over him to see
If his neck an' ears are dirty, an' there's no one seems to care
If his shoes are nice an' shiny or he ever combs his hair.
He's an orphan, so they tell me, an' with all I have to do
I used to think that maybe I should like to be one, too.

He wears the same old shirt-waist an' his shoes are full of holes,
An' they're bigger than they should be an' they haven't any soles,
An' his underwear's not fussy, like the kind I have to wear,
He's got safety pins for buttons, an' when he goes anywhere
No one calls him in to wash him. Oh, I've often wished to be
An orphan just like Billy with no one to pester me.

But I'm glad I'm not an orphan, an' I found it out today
When Billy's leg got twisted in a game we fellows play,
An' it hurt him something awful, an nobody came to see,
An' he didn't have a mother who would take him on her knee
An' fix him up an' kiss him. So I took him in to mine
An, he said: "Oh, Bud, you're lucky! Ain't your mother just divine!"

Now I'm never goin' to whimper when my mother scrubs my neck
An' scolds me just a little coz my clothing is a wreck.
I'll do just as she tells me, an' I'll stand for being clean—
I don't want to be an orphan any more like Billy Green,
Coz although nobody scolds him when his face is smeared with dirt,
He hasn't any mother he can go to when he's hurt.

HOROSCOPE
"The stars incline, but do not compel."
(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Sunday, May 23, 1920.

Astrologers read this as an unfortunate day, since Saturn and Uranus are in evil aspect. Jupiter, however, is in a place that promises aid to humanity.

All the signs seem to indicate an access of national energy and an awakening to the urge of current events. Enterprise of every sort is well directed. Great courage in business ventures is foretold.

While men, and women, too, are subject to astral forces that make for discontent and unrest, this period of reconstruction will bring about conditions most favorable to the progress of society.

Uranus is read as forecasting books and plays that will be extremely critical of women in their new relations as voters and the women are advised to be exceedingly wise in all their public activities, for the stars presage many campaigns of gossip and even scandal.

Labor continues subject to a sway that promises continued disturbances. These may not be uniform or apparently centralized, but they will produce sensational results.

The seers declare that the planetary aspects denote that the world revolution is as recognizable in the United States as elsewhere and they urge an awakening to the real significance of current events.

Both Saturn and Uranus exercise great power over the human mind, despite the sway of other planets. This means a conflict between old traditions and new ones, and it will not soon end, according to astrologers.

In the coming weeks the race question will come to the front in a way that will command national attention, it is prophesied.

Since colored women come under the sway of stars making for strong demands for equality and justice, it is prognosticated that they will become prominent as factors in a great reform movement.

Personal dispute and heated debates among legislators again are forecast. Party leaders will clash in unexpected situations that are now developing, according to those who read the stars.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of routine and successful activity. If born in the morning, they may expect a great deal of prosperity.

Children born on this day are likely to have careers that proceed smoothly and advantageously.

Development of the oil industry has meant much to the Wichita Falls district and the City National Bank of Commerce has played an important part in that development. It has been able to render adequate service because it has expanded its facilities in keeping with the growth of the community. 10-1tc.

Side Talks
By RUTH CAMERON

How We Hate It!

How we hate self-conscious goodness!

A woman who really does a great deal of good, said to me the other day, "I never think of myself, I practically give up my life for others."

I guess that is pretty true. She has a sick brother who lives with her, she is always ready to do anything for her neighbors, and she is a stalwart worker in the church. And yet when she said that something inside of me squirmed.

If I knew her well and we were having an intimate conversation that would have been perhaps a justification. But I know her little more than casually, and she had manouvered the conversation around to a point where this remark could be brought in.

"But I—"

Another manifestation of this self-conscious goodness is the naive way people have of telling how other people do what they "hadn't oughter," and then add, "Now I" with an unconscious emphasis on the I. For instance, a man I know tells me how some people judge the people they meet by first impressions, which is very unjust. "Now I" he says with that unconscious laudatory emphasis, "always hold back my judgments until I know people better."

One feels called upon to say how very wise and good that is of him. And yet because one is so called upon, one feels a most perverse desire not to say it—no matter how much one admires the habit of reserving one's judgments until one knows people better, or how impossible it would be to deny that he really has this habit.

You Spoil the Value of Your Gift.

Presumably one tries to live up to one's ideal because one wants to feel that one's life is a gift and a blessing to the community.

Now one of the greatest services of a selfless life is the desire it inspires in others to emulate. But it is invariably true of self-conscious goodness that it never arouses this feeling because the self-consciousness fills us with antagonism.

Therefore, if you let your goodness become self-conscious, you have robbed it of half its value.

Christianity and Good Breeding.

Over and over again you will find that the precepts of Christianity are also the precepts of simple good breeding and good taste. Doubtless you have already guessed what precept I am about to quote which certainly fills both these qualifications. Yes, you are correct—"Let not your left hand know what your right hand doeth."

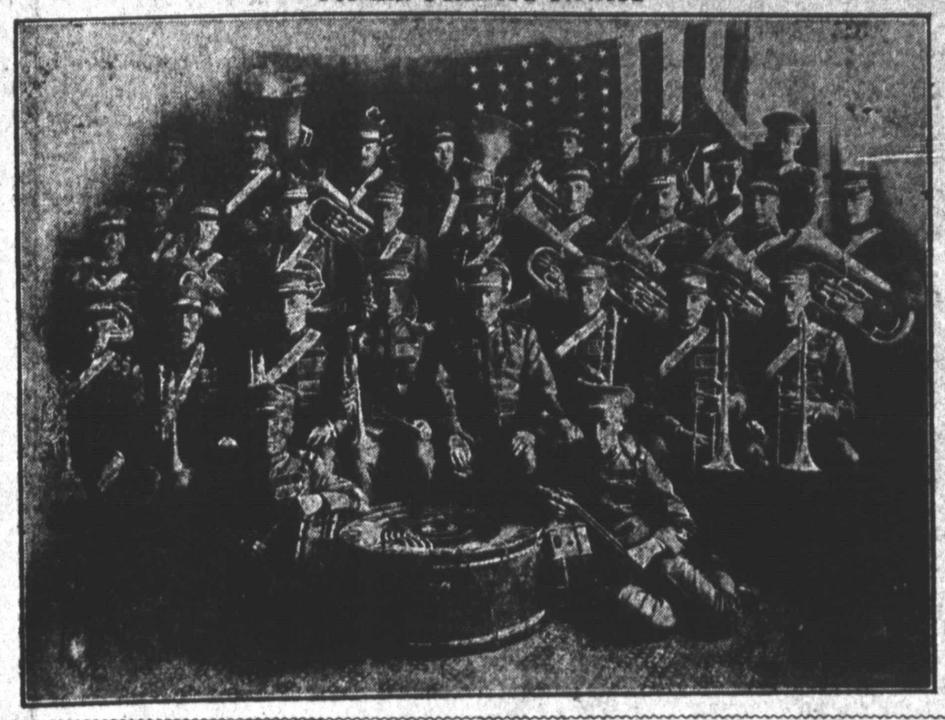
SALVATION ARMY STAFF BAND WHICH COMES TO WICHITA FALLS FRIDAY NIGHT



SALVATION ARMY STAFF BAND IS COMING FRIDAY

Famous Musical Organization Will Give Concert Program at First M. E. Church

A notable event in the musical world in Wichita Falls will be the visit of the Salvation Army Staff Band of Chicago, which is coming to this city on Friday, May 28, and will give a concert program at the First M. E. Church, South, corner of Tenth and Lamar, Friday evening. Wichita Falls and Dallas are the only two cities in Texas which are being visited by this Staff Band on its first tour of the south, and Salvation Army officials in this city feel that this visit is quite a distinction, and are hoping that the reception accorded the organization will show an appreciation by the citizens of the importance of the event.

This Salvation Army Staff Band consists of 32 players, with Lieutenant Colonel J. T. Fynn, noted army band organizer and leader, as bandmaster; Ensign J. Arthur Fynn as conductor; Ensign H. E. Burtenshaw as secretary, and James Nielson as librarian. The band is internationally famous, and was one of the leading bands of the world that participated in the great musical congress that took place in the Crystal Palace in England in 1914, just before the beginning of the great war. During the war there were 16 stars in the Staff Band service flag, and a number of the members who were in the army are now back with the band.

The instrumentation in unique, owing to the fact that it is entirely brass. No reed instruments being used whatsoever. The music is scored for 18 parts, and by clever manipulation it is possible to crescendo from PP to ff without any annoyance to the hearer whatever. On the contrary the effect produced is delightful and most exquisite.

In addition to the brass band there are two other excellent combinations within the circle, namely: The staff instrumental quartet and the staff band male chorus. The program rendered is delightfully varied in character, and by alternating the bands ensemble with numbers of the quartet, male chorus and pianoforte selections, a most interesting entertainment is afforded.

Lieutenant Colonel George Wood, commander of the Salvation Army for the Southwestern Division, will be in Wichita Falls for this event, and will preside as chairman of the program.

The City National Bank of Commerce is the largest bank in Wichita Falls, and the largest in the state, ever, does not prevent its officers giving the same courteous, careful attention whether the account is large or small. 10-ttc.

MAY 30 TO JUNE 6 TO BE KNOWN AS BOY SCOUT WEEK

Wichita Falls Branch to Conduct Campaign to Raise $7,000.00

Throughout the United States, the week of May 30 to June 6 will be observed as Boy Scout week, with a program of ourdoor activities participated in by the half a million scouts and scout officials who compose the 17,000 local troops of the Boy Scouts of America.

H. B. White is chairman of the Wichita Falls Boy Scout week committee and is prepacing an interesting program to be given during that week. There will be a downtown camp of scouts on some vacant lot and the boys will perform various stunts daily to give the general public an idea of the great work that is being done by them in this county.

A campaign to raise $7,000 will be started to finance the local branch. The campaign will be under the personal supervision of J. P. Fitch, National Scot Commissioner of this district, assisted by a group of local business men.

The program will be opened Sunday, May 30, in the churches of the country, talks being made in churches of all denominations on the merits of scouting in holding the boyhood of the community.

Friday, June 4, will be known as overnight hike day, and it is expected at least 200,000 Boy Scouts will spend the night in the woods, and in many communities plans have been made to invite fathers of scouts on the overnight hikes.

National scout field day is planned for Saturday, June 5, with competition in tent pitching, fire building, wall scaling, signaling, trek-cart demonstrations, tower and bridge building and first aid and life saving work, scout games, etc. Camp cookery with free samples of miniature flap-jacks will be a feature of the field day program.

Demonstrations of all scouting activities will be held during the week throughout the country in communities where scout troops exist in order to show the work done by the scouts. This will include life saving, safety-first, clean-up and good health campaigns and various other activities for which the Boy Scouts are noted.

MAYOR IN FAVOR OF NEGOTIATIONS WITH GAS COMPANY

"Personally, I would be in favor of joining with Fort Worth, and see if a fair and reasonable trade could not be worked out with the Lone Star and affiliated gas companies whereby we might get some gas, or at least make some effort to get gas, before the coming winter, even if it did cost more money," Mayor Walter D. Cline of this city declared Saturday afternoon in discussing the deadlock into which negotiations between the companies and the various municipalities served by them had aparently resolved themselves.

'Some action of this nature is the only possible way that I can see for us getting more gas before the coming winter, as I hardly believe that a trade could be arrived at by any one city acting by itself which would justify the gas company making any great efforts toward getting more gas, knowing that they could not trade with the other towns which they serve. So, unless some action along this line is worked out, I would say that the gas outlook locally is rather bad for the coming winter.

"The loss of the additional gas during the coming winter will more than offset, in my opinion, the difference in the amount of money which would be collected by the company under the new contracts which they are asking."

Mr. Cline also expressed disagreement with the carrying of the fight before the legislature, expressing the belief that it would be harder than ever to get action from the gas company with the prospect of possible adverse legislation staring them in the face. Futhermore, he oposed the putting of the control of the gas company in the hands of the railroad commission.

"It strikes me that the members of the railroad commission are about as hard worked now as any three men could be, and it would be expecting entirely too much to have this additional matter saddled on them and expect them to give it the attention which it deserves," he continued in this connection. "Rather than this I would favor the creation of a public utilities commission, composed of experts, who would have jurisdiction over that and similar matters."

The City National Bank of Commerce is the largest bank in Wichita Falls, and the largest in the state, west of Fort Worth. Its size, however, does not prevent its officers giving the same courteous, careful attention whether the account is large or small. 10-ttc.

THE MOTORISTS' PROBLEMS'

By WILLIAM H. STEWART, JR.

Motor Department: Please let me know through your Motor Department column if there is any car made which regulates use of gas by a button on the dashboard and oblige.—L. D.

A number of cars have a dash attachment whereby the mixture of the carburetor may be regulated. Whether this is accomplished by a lever or a button is a detail involving mechanical control. The writer does not know of any particular car using a button which regulates the use of the gas.

Motor Department: Which type of clutch do you consider better, the cone or the multiple disk? I mean which gives best results and which is best on rear tires?—A. G.

The best clutch is the one that gives smoothest action, as this gives less strain to all the mechanism, including the rear tires. A gripping clutch has a tendency to spin the rear wheels and to wear the tread. The multiple disk clutch has less tendency to grip, but a cone clutch properly cared for will give every satisfaction.

Motor Department: Please tell me if I am troubled with a slipping clutch or not and what the remedy may be. When I put gears in low speed and let in the clutch the car does not always move. Sometimes it does and at others not. I do not have this trouble with the other speeds. Please advise.—D. K.

From the fact that the other gears work correctly it would seem that the clutch is not at fault. The trouble is probably in the control of the low-speed gear. The control must be adjusted. Have it examined by an experienced mechanic.

Motor Department: The other day I noticed a bak squeak under the car and upon investigation I found that the front universal joint was very hot. After packing same with grease the noise disappeared. How often do you think it necessary to grease joint to avoid having this trouble?—C. W.

Universal joints should be packed with grease about every one thousand miles. The modern universal joint does not heed greasing as often as the old-fashioned type, such as was used in cars three or four years ago.

Motor Department: What is the meaning of a direct drive and an internal drive gear?—A. L.

Direct drive on a selective sliding gear set is where the clutch shaft and the spline shaft are locked together on third speed. This drives directly through the gear set without using countershaft. Internal drive gear is used on rear wheels of trucks. It consists of an internal gear fastened to each wheel. The driving axles, instead of being at the hubs of the wheels, are provided with pinions which drive the internal gears.

Motor Department: To settle a dispute, please answer the following question: If piston is placed exactly at top dead centre, both valves closed and a spark produced in the spark plug, would the gas ignite and the engine turn?—M. L.

The engine would not stop exactly on dead center, but it is possible for you to place it there. The gas would not fail to ignite if in proper explosive proportions, no matter what the position of the piston might be. But the piston would not move. That is why that position is called dead centre.

Motor Department: We have a Ford car with starter on it. We wish to know how to install an ammeter. We would like to know how to wire it and whether it makes any difference how heavy a wire one uses and whether one needs a fuse so as not to burn it out.—M. F.

The ammeter should be placed between the battery and the switch. Use No. 10 wire or larger and connect in such a way that it will show charge while battery is discharging. If it shows the reverse, change the wires around. It is not customary to protect it by a fuse, as it is capable of standing the usual current running through it. Unless you are familiar with starting and lighting systems, it would be best to have the ammeter attached at a service station of the starting company.

Motor Department: I always get a knock on a hill, but it stops if I retard the spark lever. Is this anything serious? Please give me the remedy, if there is one.—L. P.

This is known as "spark knock" and is the result of advancing the spark too far. The gas is exploded before dead centre and the explosion pressing downward meets the piston coming up. This makes a knock. It does not occur on a level road because the engine is running faster and has time to pass over dead centre. But the car slows down on a hill and this causes the knock. The rule for spark advance is to keep the lever advanced just short of the point where a knock occurs.

Motor Department: Is there anything that will restore the original polish on headlight reflector, where same has had glass broken out for some time?—G. T.

There is nothing that will restore the original lustre except refinishing, but the reflector may be improved by polishing with a good non-acid polish. Use a soft cloth and apply polish with a circular movement until all the surface has been covered. Then use clean soft cloth and polish surface.

Motor Department: My car heats up very badly after a few miles. The radiator does not leak, the hose connections are perfect, the pump works properly. The water runs through the radiator, but slowly. Can you advise me if radiator can be clogged and how to clean same without injuring the interior? Thanking you for the above, I am.—H. R.

The sluggish circulation suggests clogging of radiator at some place. It may be sediment and slime from the water or rust and scale. Dissolve two pounds washing soda in hot water sufficient to fill radiator system. Use car as usual for several hours. Then drain thoroughly and fill with clean water. If circulation is still sluggish, remove radiator and run city water pressure from bottom to top to force out sediment. Steam pressure would be better. If this fails to remedy trouble, have radiator attended by expert repair man.

HELPFUL HINTS.

As many motorists are now taking their cars out of winter storage and preparing them for duty, a few hints will be of use. First, get the motor in shape. Drain out all the old oil and pour kerosene into crank case. Put a little kerosene into each cylinder to loosen up the rings. See that gasolene tank is filled and battery strong enough. Fill cooling system. Run engine a few minutes to wash out oil base and crank case and then drain out all kerosene. Fill to proper level with fresh oil.

Sometimes the manner in which a car is washed will cause considerable trouble. Care should be exercised to allow no water to get under the hood

HUDSON SUPER SIX

Hudson Is Best Known For Its Super-Six Motor

Official Proofs Established Its Supremacy; Thus Hudson Became the Largest Selling Fine Car

Few of the 90,000 Super-Six owners have ever tried the limit of Hudson speed or power. They realize they have a vast reservoir of ability that is never called on.

Yet no one mistakes it for mere idle surplus simply because it is beyond his ordinary requirements.

For that latent capacity is Hudson's greatest value. It is the life of a car. Because of it, thousands are now getting the fullest satisfaction and service from Super-Sixes nearly five years old. They know the durability it gives. They know what it means in smooth operation. Their cars have required neither costly replacements nor constant attention to minor disorders.

Moreover, it is good to know that you have at instant call greater speed, acceleration and hill climbing ability than any other stock car has ever shown.

80% More Efficient—
Within 10% of Perfect

Many have called the Super-Six "the perfect motor." That, of course, is not accurate. Perfection would mean utter freedom from friction and vibration. No machine can ever be that. But the Super-Six comes within 10 per cent of it. Could another type approach that close Hudson's records might be matched. But for nearly five years they have stood. None has equalled them. The possibility of their being rivalled seemed never more remote than now. Certainly the type to do it has not yet appeared.

And mark this important fact. Hudson's supremacy means no added complications, weight or size. The patented Super-Six principle applied to a standard type of motor added 72 per cent to power. Motor efficiency is increased 80 per cent. Endurance thus has been increased to limits yet unknown.

Note These Tests Made to Prove Its Endurance

Think that a Super-Six stock chassis set the speed record at the rate of 102.53 miles per hour. A stock Super-Six holds the acceleration record. And Hudson made the fastest time for the famous Pike's Peak hill climb. The Super-Six principle in speedway racing won more points than any racing team ever took, in a single year. And think of Hudson's double trans-continental run of 7,000 miles in 10 days 21 hours. No other car ever equalled its time in either direction.

These tests speak for Hudson endurance—the real reason for its appeal to you today. There can be no question regarding its beauty, its completeness, its fineness—advantages patent to any observer.

You will best assure delivery when you want it by speaking for your Hudson now.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

THE mere fact of owning a motor car counts for but little these days unless it is a car of which its owner may justly be proud.

And this, we believe, is one of the reasons why the Paige Seven-Passenger Touring Car commends itself so highly to the car-owning public. It excites such general admiration that it is a constant source of pride to its owner.

Ever since the Paige Six-55 first appeared three years ago, it has held an unquestioned position of leadership among the finest seven-passenger motor cars on the American market.

Its handsome body, sturdy chassis and smooth-running motor are features often commented upon as being quite exceptional in a car of such moderate price.

You have undoubtedly, at some time or other, ridden in a Paige Six-55. But, if not, you will certainly wish to do so before deciding on your next motor car purchase.

With the demand for the Paige Six-55 far exceeding our utmost production efforts, a prompt decision is advisable. Orders placed now mean just so much more of the best touring season assured for your enjoyment.

and short-circuit spark plugs or magneto. By covering the engine with a piece of canvas when washing this trouble can be prevented.

When giving the car its usual spring overhauling and getting it ready for another season's use one point it is well to bear in mind—namely, to clean out all oil grooves and grease conduits. Filling the grease cups at frequent intervals will prove of no use if the grease ducts are closed. Grease cups are installed at points where lubrication is necessary to prevent unnecessary wear. It is obvious, therefore, that the grease should reach its destination.

Go over the leather of the body occasionally with special leather dressing and the difference in the appearance o fthe upholstery will repay you a thousand times. It also keeps the leather soft and pliable, helps it to resist rain and prevents it from wearing out so rapidly.

When any part gets rusty put kerosene on it, but be sure to wipe it off after it has stood a while. Kerosene is useful in removing rust, but it will also cause rust. After wiping off all the kerosene very carefully put oil on the parts or wipe with an oily rag. Crude oil is also very good to remove rust.

LIBERTY BONDS BELONGING TO EX-SERVICE MEN

Liberty bonds to the value of $127,150 belonging to 2,543 ex-service men have been returned to Washington by the postoffice department because of incorrect address, according to Lieutenant Colonel Mathew C. Smith, head of the service and information branch of the war department, in a statement issued today. Veterans who have not received their bonds at this late date are advised to write to the zone finance officer, Wasnington, D. C., giving their name, army serial number, organization and address.

There are also on file with the zone finance officer 7,059 discharge certificates which cannot be delivered to their owners because they were mailed in without return address, or mailed out and returned undelivered. Alphabetical lists by states of these undeliverable discharge certificates have been furnished to all senators and congressmen, with the request that they be given the widest publicity possible.

In April 7,384 Liberty bonds to the value of $369,200 were mailed, making a total of 1,077,978 bonds of various issues to the par value of $53,898,900 now delivered to ex-service men.

During the same month the $60 bonus was paid to 3,960 ex-soldiers who did not receive it at the time of their discharge. Bonus claims settled to date total $98,640,120, showing that 1,644,002 ex-soldiers who did not receive their bonus have now been paid. Additional travel pay to the amount of $2,859,111.40 has been paid out to date to 152,662 soldiers.

Ex-service men who still have claims to be adjusted with the various government agencies should address Lieutenant Colonel Mathew C. Smith, Council of National Defense building, Washington, D. C.

KNOWLEDGE FOR CAR OWNERS

Interesting and Important Facts That Every Motorist Should Know.

Never allow a battery to become loose on the brackets.

To make riding easy, the springs should be oiled at least once a week.

Never allow dirt, water or any pieces of metal to come in contact with or remain on top your battery. Inspect regularly and keep clean.

Ordinary tire tape may be used to patch inner tubes by runing it twice around the tube and overlapping the ends so as to cover the leak. Surgeon's plaster may be usel in the same way in an emergency.

The familiar type of trouser holder which used to be popular with cyclists make very acceptable automobile curtain holders. When the curtains are rolled up and fastened with these holders they will not become wrinkled and generally battered.

Clutch spinning is often due to excessive friction in the spring thrust bearing, though sometimes faulty alignment of the fly-wheel and clutch cone prevents the engaging surface from entirely clearing each other. A bent clutch shaft might also cause this trouble.

The attention of car owners should be directed to the inadvisability of thinning rubber cement with ordinary gasoline, which contains too much oil to be safe for that purpose. Oil is a deadly foe of rubber. High test gasoline or bi-sulphide of carbon are the proper agents for thinning rubber cement.

In some cars looseness of the engine bolts which hold the water in place may cause misalignment of the engine with serious consequences. If there is even a slight looseness of the bolts it may permit the engine support to hammer and in time the supporting arm may actually break off.

To obviate the obscuring of the windshield glass by moisture, rub the glass all over with strong soapsuds made from automobile soap and permit the spuds to dry. This prevents the formation of the small globules that hinder clear vision through the glass in rain or dust.

In engines not fitted with special valve stem guide bushings, excessive wear of the guide and consequently valve stem side play and oil leakage may be prevented by reading the guide and fitting a bronze bushing. The bushing may be obtained already machined from any supply house. In fitting, the valve should center on the tappet, otherwise there will be a side thrust against the bushing, and it will wear eccentrically.

It is often conventione to frost bulbs and lenses, and here is a method by which this work can be done at home. To a mixture of twenty-four ounces of ether and eighteen ounces of benzine add two and a quarter ounces of sandarach and half an ounce of mastic. The parts to be frosted should be immersed in this solution for a few minutes.

If a pound in the engine is regular and continuous, it is likely to be from lost motion in the bearings. If it is irregular and occasional it is more likely to be due to pre-ignition caused by incandescent carbon or from imperfect electrical connections. If the pounding is accompanied by occasional missing, especially if the missing is more frequent when the car is running than when the engine is idling, it is more apt to be due to imperfect electrical connections.

Few car owners realize what a convenient accessory is a little square of canvas about eighteen inches over all. It saves the knees of the trousers when you have to kneel to get at some inaccessible part. It keeps the jack from slipping on snow or ice. It keeps the inner tube out of the dust when this part is being inserted by the roadside. It will serve to strain gasoline through, it will keep the tools from rattling, and will also protect the hand in handling hot parts and finally it will make an emergency inside blowout patch.

CHALMERS

Has Led All Motor Car Design WITH ITS HOT SPOT AND RAM'S-HORN

The public the country over now accepts Hot Spot and Ram's-horn, and in accepting them the public pays Chalmers a nation-wide tribute.

For when the great American jury endorses a principle it means other makers must follow that principle.

Just what Hot Spot and Ram's-horn accomplish and how they do it has been told many times, but no other maker has yet found a way to improve upon them. Hot Spot vaporizes the raw, heavy, inferior gasoline of the day into a "fine cloud." Ram's-horn rushes it at a velocity of 100 miles an hour through "easy air bends" to each cylinder, equidistant from Hot Spot.

One without the other would be ineffective.

Playing together they lift Chalmers to a high peak of efficiency.

ESSEX WINS OIL LAND FOR MONTANA CLAIMANT

Defeating scores of other cars, an Essex won the right to file the first notice on a section of government land near Choteau, Mont. The occasion of the race was the recent signing of the oil leasing bill by President Wilson. This threw open a tract of government land which was considered valuable because of its oil possibilities.

Throughout that section of Montana great preparations were made to invade the tract the instant it was thrown open to obtain the most valuable locations. It was a case of first come, first served, so a young attorney who wished to file a claim enlisted the aid of Dr. H. J. McGregor, an Essex owner.

When the word came that the bill had been signed, the race began. The Essex was the first car to reach the tract, covering 20 miles of snow covered roads in 36 minutes, thereby gaining the oil rights which may be worth a fortune.

ABSOLUTE GUARANTEE BEHIND LYCOMING ENGINE

In a new advertising campaign just launched, the Lycoming Foundry and Machine company is making known the fact that its product is guaranteed. No 60 or 90 day warranty is attached to each motor, but an absolute guarantee that the company stands back of its product; that the material and workmanship is absolutely right so far as it is humanly possible to make it so. Because of the well known reputation of its motor, for its length of service, no exact guarantee is placed on its performance, but in case of trouble the company stands ready to remedy it.

This act on the part of the company is just another step forward in the service that it gives its customers. To uphold the position that the management has taken the high standard of workmanship on its product must be upheld at all times.

This motor is used by the Gardner car, handled here by the Gaines Motor company.

U. S. AUTOS CAPTURE LAND OF THE MIKADO

The growing popularity of American automobiles in Japan is indicated in the following letter from an owner received at the Hudson factory in Detroit.

"I take much pleasure in informing you of the Hudson car in the Far East and this will show you how the Super-Six is acting in the land of the Mikado empire.

"I am so interested in the elegance and reliability of the car that father is the user of two Hudson cars. True, by climbing mountains, driving at high speed and having a comfortable drive even on the rough roads, I appreciate the perfection and endurance of the Super-Six.

"In consequence of the great war, the American cars took the place of the European cars in Japan, and now here in Tokio street, Hudson is predominant over the others, entirely due to its high quality. This, I think, is a sure sign of Hudson's popularity in Japan."

CHEVROLET FACTORY WILL SOON BE RUNNING FULL TIME

The Cochran Motor company reports that owing to the fact that the Chevrolet factory at Fort Worth has been running only a part of the time, the firm has been able to make deliveries on only a few "490's." They made four deliveries last week and have two cars on the floor for delivery now. Mr. Cochran is advised that the factory will be runinng on full time very soon, and his firm will have little trouble in getting shipments in future. Mr. Cochran anticipates a strong demand for Chevrolets for the remainder of the season.

Distances are measured generally by the time it takes to go from one point to another. This distance of 1,000 miles between New York and Chicago makes no impression on a business man; he knows only about the 20 hours by train. By airplane the two cities would be seven or eight hours apart, which would thus move the Western City in point of time to the position of Syracuse by rail.

ROAMER CAR MADE AT TULSA NOW SOLD HERE

The Standard Motor company at 704 Scott avenue have been appointed agents for the Tulsa motor car and have received a complete line of these attractive cars. The "Roamer" denominated by the factory "America's Smartest Car," is their de luxe product, and the sample at the show room of the Standard Motor company has been admired by many visitors. Of the "Tulsa" the factory description says:

"This amazing car was born of rugged necessity. For years, big oil companies, buying cars in fleets for field use, tried, but found wanting, all light, inexpensive makes.

"It was then that Tulsa capitalists decided to build a car to fit the country—a car that would 'whip' the oil field roads.

"They summoned an engineer of national repute who studied conditions exhaustively and designed the first Tulsa models.

"The test has covered more than two years of merciless punishment and the Tulsa has won, overwhelmingly. The very depths of mud, mire, gumbo, sand and ruts have been encountered and overcome.

"Its performance has amazed oil men throughout the mid-continent field; its builders were themselves astonished; and the general public has awakened to the fact that here is a car that upsets past value and service standards.

"It conquered the world's worst roads. For others it has no fears."

FLAT TREAD PNEUMATIC TIRES PROVE THEIR WORTH

Trucking on pneumatic without the flattening out which deforms the ordinary round tread truck tire under normal conditions, is now possible, according to an announcement made by chemists of the Miller Rubber company, Akron, O. Deformation of the ordinary tread under load has long been a problem in tire manufacture. Its recent solution by means of a flat tread is particularly interesting.

When a load is placed upon a round tread tire, it causes it to flatten out in order that the tread surface necessary to bear the load will come into contact with the road. The amount of this deformation depends both upon the weight of the load and the air pressure in the tire.

To solve the problem it was simply a question of building up the tread so that it would have the maximum amount of road surface when under normal conditions.

It was also found that such a tread scuffs away at only about half the rate of the round tread. For example, where 1,000 miles with the round tread will wear off one-fifth of a pound, the flat tread will wear off only one-tenth of a pound.

A committee of the Massachusetts legislature appointed to make a study of the cost of operation of motor buses and electric trolley cars has estimated that privately owned automobiles, exclusive of jitneys or motor buses operated for hire, have reduced the income of the traction lines in that state by 12 per cent. If this reduction should be applied to the whole country in proportion to the population the total reduction in electric car earnings would amount to $17,000,000 per year.

The windmill has not been generally found available for the generation of electricity because of the irregularity of the air currents, but this has been overcome by a Swedish inventor. Instead of being directly connected to the dynamo in the usual manner, the millwheel shaft is geared to a hoisting device, which serves to elevate a two-ton weight to the top of a 53-foot steel-and-wood tower. When the weight reaches the maximum height, it is released, and, as it falls, actuates the dynamo, which is mounted on a bracket at the apex of the tower with the millwheel. A storage battery and switchboard are housed in the lower portion of the tower.

Cole Aero-Eight

BALANCED TO ZERO

What frees the Aero-Eight from the usual ravages of time and wear and enables its performance year after year to possess the same uniform efficiency?

One of the outstanding requirements of the aeroplane is that it perform consistently, efficiently and without interruption for periods of long duration.

By the elimination of friction and wear, alone, is this possible. To obtain this requires the most minute care and attention in the manufacture and assembly of every individual unit and the perfect balance of the mechanism as a whole.

Cole engineers have achieved this in the Aero-Eight. They have balanced it to zero, and thereby have removed every condition which militates against the long life of the mechanism and its ability to maintain its original efficiency after long years of use.

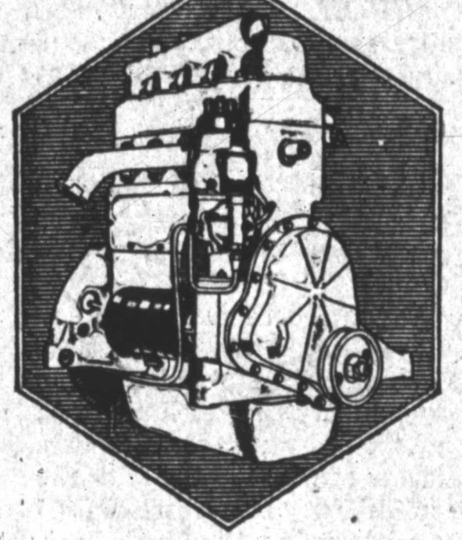
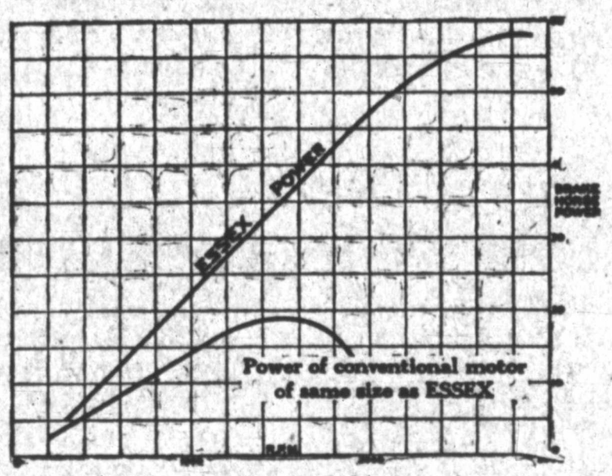
ESSEX MOTOR CARS





Note How Essex Trebles Motor Power

The swing of interest to light cars, led by champions of the Essex, calls for particular caution.

Some may think of Essex only as one of a finer type, marking a general advance in standards throughout the light car field.

But the facts quickly expose that mistake. The Essex Motor is patented. No larger than standard motors that yield but 18 H. P. at utmost, the Essex delivers 55 H. P. And Essex performance, so enthusiastically admired by all motordom is the product of that exclusive invention.

Essex has set the greatest official endurance record of 3037 miles in 50 hours. It has never been equalled by any car, regardless of size or price. And Essex made the world's 24-hour road record of 1061 miles.

All Results of Its Patented Motor

For cars of its piston displacement it has set every official record from 1 to 50 hours. And in its first year it set a selling record never equalled in motor history.

It creates a new standard of light car capacity in a totally new type. And it cannot be copied. Do not forget that. You can get the abilities for which these records stand, only in the Essex.

The Republican Candidates

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

The campaign for the republican nination has now proceeded far ugh to enable an impartial observer iscern the drift of sentiment and mate the relative chances of the erous aspirants. General Wood easily the leading candidate. His port is countrywide and rests upon eral distinct influences that are her local nor spasmodic. He is a favorite son in the sense in ich the term is usually employed hat is, he is not being urged by his state merely with the idea of pay- him a compliment. General Wood the first choice of those who favor iversal compulsory military train- , and that number is considerable, ch larger in the republican party an in the democratic party. In the inning this sentiment was divided tween General Wood and General rshing but the race was an unequal e from the start and General Persh- 's defeat in his home state, Ne- aska, eliminates him as a presiden- l possibility. If General Pershing d had a strong national following, defeat in his own state would not ve been fatal to his prospects but s vote everywhere was included mong the scattering. When both enator Johnson and General Wood n ahead of him in his own state the al word was spoken and his exit om the field recorded.

General Wood's friends were in the eginning inclined to capitalize the resident's refusal to send him to rance in command of the army but hat argument is not being stressed ow because it has become apparent hat the military element in the re- ublican party is not as strong as was t first supposed. In fact, it has been ust a little amusing to note the hange of tone at the Wood's head- uarters. The cartoonists, who al- ways emphasize by exaggeration, have illustrated the change by picturing General Wood first in military garb, hen as part civilian and part soldier nd finally in the garb of a Quaker. One of his supporters went so far as to defend him against the charge of being a professional soldier by show- ng that his active military service was confined to a very limited period. The change from the military to the civil tone in the case of General Wood reminds me of a story told in Ne- braska some thirty years ago when the Populists were strongly prejudiced against lawyers. A candidate was put in nomination in a populist convention and the man who presented his name referred to him as a lawyer. His friends immediately noticed that the reference made an unfavorable impression and the man who seconded his nomination hastened to correct the mistake and restore him to standing by explaining that he had been a lawyer but had been disbarred.

In the early stages of General Wood's campaign a strong appeal was made to the Roosevelt vote but a change has taken place in this respect also because of Senator Johnson's stronger appeal to the progressive sentiment. The senator from California having been on the ticket with President Roosevelt and having received the support of the Progressives at that time, is in much better position to claim their allegiance now, and the support of General Wood has shifted from that element to the opposite side of the party.

With the progress of the campaign it has become more and more evident that General Wood has strong financial support. In fact, his backing has to some extent been made an argument against him. Senator Borah has called attention to the cost of General Wood's campaign and inquired as to the source of the funds. Senator Johnson has been making a political asset out of his lack of funds as contrasted with General Wood.

It would seem from present indications that General Wood, while the leading candidate, is near the limit of his possibilities and that he will reach the limit before he has secured a sufficient following to bring him within reach of the nomination. With militarism waning and universal military training losing its hold, General Wood cannot hope for a strong vote from this source. With Senator Johnson weaning away the Roosevelt following, General Wood cannot hope to win as the Roosevelt candidate, and the rallying of big business to his support is likely to drive away more votes than it attracts. I venture the guess, therefore, that General Wood will be found unavailable by the time the convention meets.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

Senator Johnson is the second force in the republican party to be reckoned with and his vote has surprised the republican leaders. The preliminary expressions have been sufficient to locate his following. He carried Detroit by a large majority over General Wood. He received the compliment of having a large number in Chicago write his name on the ballot—a very marked indication of preference. In New Jersey he ran strong in the cities and his written-in vote in Ohio came largely from industrial centers. He has shown strength in the west, as might have been expected, leading in Nebraska over both Wood and Pershing and gaining a decisive victory in Montana. The trend of the labor vote has been strongly toward him and the returns show him popular with the farmers. His opposition to the treaty has gained for him a considerable portion of the so-called German-American vote and also the anti-British vote.

He has also called to his standard the more radical of the Roosevelt following and also that element of the republican party that manifests growing uneasiness at the influence which the big corporations exert over republican leaders.

But there is nothing to indicate that Senator Johnson can secure anything like a majority of the republican delegates. He has the field against him and the field is quite large and is divided among a number of aspirants. Senator Johnson is the only man feared and bitterly opposed. The anti-Johnson republican feels about him as the man did who was solicited by a candidate. "No," said the citizen, "you are my second choice." "Who is your first choice?" asked the candidate. "Anybody to beat you" was the reply. The enemies of Senator Johnson will support anybody who can beat him.

The field is at present occupied by a number of men who lack the following of General Wood and the intensity of Senator Johnson.

Governor Lowden will go into the convention with a very respectable following from Illinois and Iowa, and with scattering votes from other states. His following will be respectable in another sense. It will have all the dignity that is supposed to go with large accumulations. He would probably be the first choice of the extremely conservative but for the caution that goes with conservatism.

Five hundred of them were tested on cars loaded to weigh 5200 pounds. Each demonstrator had instructions to drive until a tire burst. They drove day and night, changing shifts, through mud, snow and ice, over hard, soft and rutty roads. No owner would ever drive his own car over such roads long; certainly not 12,000 miles.

But Kelly-Springfield Cords averaged 11,725 miles on rear wheels; 14,000 on front wheels—or 12,000 miles all around.

Senator Lowden's connection with the Pullman Company is a well recognized handicap. He was one of President Taft's supporters in 1912 and is familiarly acquainted with those who dominated that convention. And, it may be added, his friends led the republican party to inglorious defeat. Such close identification with the organization that polled less than half the republican votes is an embarrassment at this time when the party needs unity to give it any chance of success.

Senator Harding of Ohio deserves to be mentioned among those who "also ran." The Ohio primary gave him a complimentary vote but the victory was dearly purchased. General Wood ran so near him as to greatly reduce the value of the triumph as a political asset. The vote too, was small compared with the total vote of the republican party. The republicans count on more than 500,000 votes in the state and Mr. Harding's vote was not such a recommendation as to give encouragement to his friends.

It may be remembered also that Senator Harding was temporary chairman of the national convention that re-nominated President Taft. The senator's speech on that occasion would not be useful this year as a campaign document in view of the decisive vote by which the republicans that year repudiated the administration which Senator Harding so eloquently endorsed.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, the scholarly chief executive of one of the nation's greatest universities, is sorely handicapped in this campaign by the fact that he is a scholar. The republicans have spent eight years in attacking President Wilson as a "professor" and it would take several months to readjust themselves to a defensive campaign. They would have to spend so much time explaining why the criticisms hurled against the President of Princeton would not apply equally to the President of Columbia that they would have no leisure left for the active work of the campaign. Dr. Butler does not appear among the leading candidates and it is not likely that he would be accepted as a compromise. Even if he were not a college president he lacks the middle ground qualities of a compromise candidate.

Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts will have a strong delegation backing him but he is being talked of a great deal more as a Vice-Presidential candidate on somebody else's ticket than as the man for the head of the ticket. He, too, lacks the qualities that will be needed to unite the different elements of the party.

Senator Poindexter has failed entirely as a vote getter. Even where he might have been expected to develop the greatest strength he has been almost without a following. His vote, therefore, will be purely a favorite son vote.

Mr. Hoover might have been in a position to offer himself as a compromsie candidate if he had refused to allow his name to be entered in the primaries, but his managers evidently felt that they needed him to save the party from Senator Johnson. That has located him.

Who, then, can bring the warring factions of the republican party together and raise a standard about which the party can rally? It is merely a guess and a guess without any firm basis for calculation. If the radical element in the party develops controlling strength Senator Kenyon is the one man above all others who will appeal to the party. He is a Progressive, a thorough Progressive, and would receive the enthusiastic support of practically all of the friends of Senator Johnson and he would be much stronger than Senator Johnson with the elements that are most hostile to the Californian, but Senator Kenyon is too progressive a man to have much chance of a nomination.

At this writing, I would pick Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania as the most likely compromise. The reactionary element will doubtless be in the majority in the convention, they would nominate a reactionary if they dared to do so but they may be afraid to risk the result. If they must have a progressive they will want an eastern progressive—one surrounded by an environment that will restrain him from any great advance. Governor Sproul showed his independence by defeating Senator Penrose's candidate for the governorship; he showed his popularity when he secured the support of the dry democrats. He is sound on prohibition and right on woman's suffrage; he is a successful business man and a strong character. If I were in a position where I was compelled to guess I would guess Governor Sproul, but I would not advise anybody to risk any money on him. If I advised betting at all, which I do not, I certainly would not counsel any one to risk any money on any possibility. Even in the case of Governor Sproul I would feel like the man in the minstrel show who, when question about a statement, said "I would swear to it but I would not bet on it."

UNCLE JAKE LYLRIE GASSER EXTINGUISHED

EASTLAND, TEX., May 22.—Spouting a stream of fire several hundred feet into the air the big gasser on the "Uncle" Jake Lylrie farm, two miles south of this city was extinguished by placing eight boilers close by and turning steam on it simultaneously. It is believed the well caught fire from an explosion when it suddenly blew the cap off more than two weeks ago. The flames were visible for many miles around and attracted considerable attention from visitors in the city and many of the new-comers here. While the well was located fully two miles from this city, the illumination was so bright that a newspaper could easily be read on the edge of the city limits where buildings were not in the way on dark nights while the well was burning.

"MYSTERY MAN" CAUSES EXCITEMENT AT STAMFORD BY PECULIAR ACTIONS

STAMFORD, TEX., May 20.—Stamford police and citizens are mystified by the erratic actions of a stockily built man who almost nightly cuts screen windows and gets in bed with occupants of the room and flees on being discovered.

Not less than five residences have been entered in the last two nights and police say that he has been "operating" for the last two weeks. Last night his "sporadic" jaunts were multiplied five times and a little artillery was used to coax him on his flight, without having apparently phased the "gentleman."

The mysterious man is described as being short of stature, heavily built, with a heavy beard and spindle legs. He "sizes" up his place of visit, cuts the screen window or door, and takes the precaution of opening a door so that he can facilitate his escape. Then he walks to a bed occupied by tenants of the house and crawls in as unconcernedly as if he was the master of the place. When he arouses the sleepers and they show alarm he takes to his feet and makes his exit through the previously opened door.

Two or three women who reported cases of the visit to their homes told the police that they waked to find a man in bed with them. They claimed he had heavy beard. One woman who awoke to find a man in bed with her caught him by the leg and tried to hold the marauder, but he escaped. She was able to describe him as being spindle-legged.

Last night the man entered three different houses in as many different parts of the city. He was shot at once, but was not touched. Police are of the opinion that he is a dope fiend, while others declare it must be a demented person. Unless his depredations cease shortly an armed town is expected to take him in its meshes.

BIG DEVELOPMENT TAKING PLACE NORTHWEST EASTLAND

EASTLAND, TEX., May 19.—A string of team-drawn wagons more than two miles long heavy loaded with casing, rig timber and other oil field equipment left this city late Wednesday afternoon for the new northwest extension to be used in development of the newly opened territory made so by the bringing in of the Henry Exall well by the Texas Company, located seven miles northwest of Eastland. Several of the locations include that territory adjacent to the Yellow Mound school house, five miles northwest of this city, and some are of the opinion that this will be another Pleasant Grove school house scene when that famous territory was developed north of this city last fall. It is said this Yellow Mound congregation are getting ready for a rich strike of oil as their school house site is in the middle of the big proven territory.

This country's tire business in 1914 was $300,000,000, while that of the present year, it is estimated, will be $1,200,000,000.

Donald's Trip to the Woods

DONALD PHILLIPS lived on a farm situated a few miles from a flourishing town.

And on pleasant mornings he very often saw men dressed in smart hunting suits, carrying guns over their shoulders, going past his home. And they were always very busily talking of the "game" they expected to take back to the town with them.

"Daddie," Donald said the first time he saw the hunters, "why are those men going past our farm carrying guns over their shoulders?"

"They are going to the woods to shoot birds, and rabbits, and squirrels, my boy," Mr. Phillips answered.

"But isn't it cruel to kill the poor, timid creatures?" the boy asked, looking anxiously after the hunters.

"Before we moved out to this farm and lived in the large town I never thought whether it were cruel to take their lives when I saw 'game' of different sorts hanging in the store windows. But now that I've seen the hunters doing their shooting, I think there is much cruelty practiced. Because there are poor creatures, often wounded, and left to die miserable deaths, as the men very often will not take the trouble to try and find their 'victims' when they flutter or wander a distance away. Then, too, many birds are shot for their plumage, and that is cruel. I think you know the Audubon Society doesn't approve of women wearing feathers in their hats," said Mr. Phillips.

And Donald's mother added, "I hope, my dear little boy, you'll never take any of the poor little creatures' lives, which live in the woods."

Donald often watched the hunters, and they all seemed to have had such a jolly time, and they were so pleased if they had long strings of birds or rabbits or squirrels hanging across their shoulders as they wended their way toward the station where they took the train to the town; that, boy-like, he, too, began to long to capture either a squirrel or a rabbit.

"As for the dear birds," he said to himself, "I'd never think of ever wanting to take their lives, I love them so dearly."

Then, one day, he happened to see in the newspaper "How to make a trap for catching squirrels or rabbits."

He read the article over and over again until he could remember every word of it, and when he went upstairs to his own room that night he wrote down the directions on a slip of paper and hid it carefully in his writing desk.

"If I'd cut the directions out of the paper," he said to himself, "Daddie would have been sure to have asked me for the cut-out part; he doesn't allow me to take any part of the paper away until he's read it."

A few days later there was a very stormy Saturday, so he went to the attic room, which his mother had given him for his own workshop. And with strips of wood and pieces of heavy twine and a spring taken off an old screen door, which he found standing in another attic room.

He contrived to follow the directions of "how to make a trap" quite correctly.

Then by sneaking down the stairs and out the front door and around the house to the barn, he managed to hide it carefully away.

And on Monday afternoon, after he had come home from school, he did the "sneaking act" again and took it to the woods and set it under a low-growing evergreen tree.

All that night he slept only in fitful snatches, and the next day at school he, the head boy in many of his classes, failed in most of his tests; his mind would wander to that trap in the woods, then, too, Donald had been an obedient, upright boy, and he knew only too well he was not doing right. For hadn't his dear, loving mother asked him not to take the little creatures' lives?

However, when school was dismissed at 3 o'clock he didn't wait to walk home with his dearest boy friend, who lived on the farm next to them, but ran to the woods and looked in the trap under the evergreen tree and there he saw the dearest, prettiest little rabbit he had ever seen.

But the trap had injured one of poor bunnie's hind legs quite badly. Donald felt so sorry for the frightened creature that he would have liberated it, but he feared it would die of its injuries.

"I'll take it home and show it to Muzzie, and tell her how cruel I have been. I feel sure she can cure its leg."

How grieved Mrs. Phillips was that her boy had been so disobedient, but she said: "Donald, I am very glad you brought this little rabbit home. I will fasten it in a pen in the woodshed and bathe its injured leg and try and cure it."

Then Mrs. Phillips tenderly bathed poor Bunnie's injuries and after placing him on a bed of soft hay and fastening him in his pen very securely, she placed tender young cabbage leaves before him.

In a week he was almost well and he was so tame that he didn't need to be fastened in his pen, and he ate tender leaves of cabbage and velvety spinach with great relish. And he loved his new home so much that he wouldn't leave it, even when urged to return to the woods.

Oh! how Donald loved him, and his pet lived to a good old age.

Freddie's Giant

THERE is a great big giant in the cellar," said Fred, his teeth chattering as he said it.

"How do you know?" asked Harry.

"Because I saw his shadow. Please don't try to go down there, because I know that giant will eat you up."

"I don't believe there is such a thing as a giant," said Harry, "and I am going down there."

Freddie, who was only a very little boy, began to cry. He did not want Harry to go and he was sure there was a giant there, because he had seen such a tremendous shadow. He was standing on the steps and he could see the great black creature, or at least his shadow, and he had run away as fast as he could go. Mother came along and wanted to know why Freddie was crying and he told her the story of the giant. It was just like one in his story-book, he said; that was the reason he knew it was a giant. It was tall—clear up to the top of the house, almost.

"Where did you see it?" mother asked.

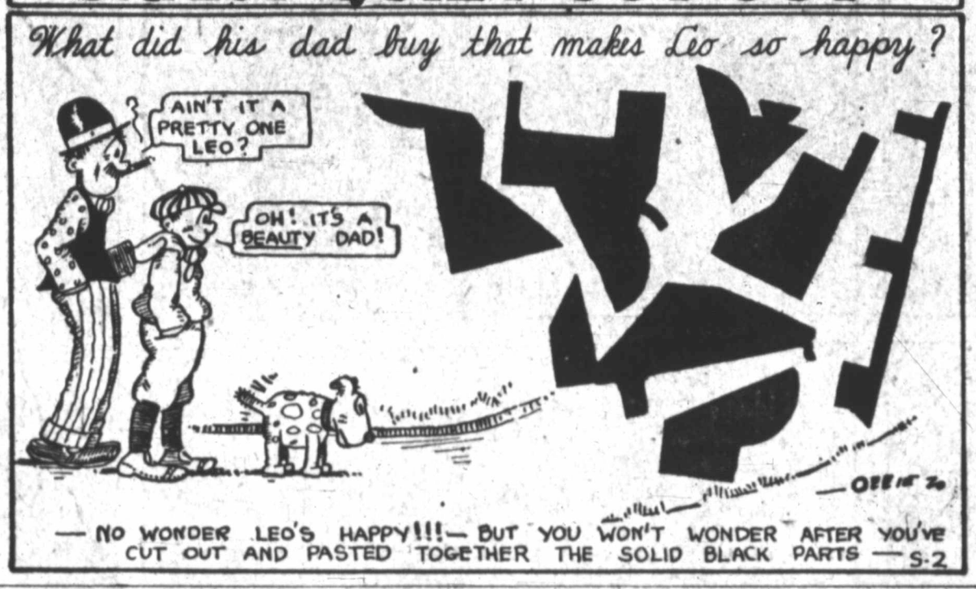
"Over there when I was standing on the steps, and then I ran."

"Let us go and see if the shadow is still there," mother said. "I can't see it from here."

Freddie did not want to go, but mother persuaded him that giants were harmless in these days of electricity and other big things, and so he took hold of her hand in fear and trembling and they stood on the steps and behold there were the shadows of two giants. Mother laughed and showed Freddie that they were the shadows of themselves and that what he had been so much afraid of was his own shadow.

"Now, remember, dear," mother said, "many of the troubles we make for ourselves in this world are only the shadows of ourselves, for we often stand in our own light when we do not intend to."

CRAZY QUILT CUT-OUT



ANXIETY.

Sometimes my mother takes me down
To shop and buy a party gown!
Some ribbons pink, and laces new,
Some white silk socks—a shoe or two!
It's lots of fun to look around
To see what lovely things are found!
And when I spy a candy shop,
I most especially have to stop
To look at all the glad array
Of favors pink and goodies gay.
"We'll have a party all in pink,
Next week, dear, if you are good, I think!"
Says mother, but O dear, O dear,
She might as well have said next year!
I want it now; it's very sad
To wait a week and not be bad!

Telling Fortunes.

A daisy tells your fate this way:
You pull the petals off for play,
And "Loves me, Loves me not" recite.
Sometimes it does not come out right.
I was surprised that Katie Lee,
My little playmate, hated me.
Our janitor that chases kittens
And would not help me hunt my mittens
Dearly loves me! It was queer
How some despised, some held me dear.
Should I try mother? Still I sat—
I need no flower to tell me that!
—M. L. H.

It's very easy to grow up,
But once you're up, you stay;
And, though you learn a lot, you never
Have much time to play.
Oh, dear!

A Copy-Cat.

I'll tell you that a copy-cat
Is quite a foolish annymile.
A person can not walk or talk
Nor frown, nor neither can he smile
Without that cat as sure as scat
A-copying the way he does it.
He never thinks himself at all,
He copies others' thoughts because it
Is less trouble. This one here
Is copying a social cat
Who has high teas and lives in ease
And always wears a tall silk hat.

Why Stories

WHY THE BEECH LEAVES WERE PRECIOUS.

(An Alpine Legend.)

ONCE upon a time, when many enchanted animals walked about the earth, an old woman went out one day to gather violets.

On the shores of a beautiful lake in one of the Alpine valleys old Thora found great beds of the beautiful flowers.

"I'll gather my basket full to the top," she decided; "maybe I can sell some of them in the village. I need a few pennies so very much!"

And Thora began to pick the little purple flowers which were growing in such profusion near the lake.

Presently her basket was filled to the very top, and she turned to go back to her home.

Thora was old and was tired stooping so much, and when she was about half-way on her homeward path she sat down to rest for a few minutes.

It happened that she had sat herself down by a great tree, the trunk of which was hollowed out.

As she was thinking this, guess how surprised she was to see a great goat with branching horns coming right out of the hollow tree trunk!

"Give me your violets!" commanded the goat.

"Give me some more," he said.

Thora gave him another bunch.

The goat ate that also. "More!" he demanded.

Thora gave him another.

"More!" again ordered the goat, when he had devoured the third bunch.

Thora gave him a fourth bunch, which he ate also.

"More! More!" cried the goat, and Thora continued feeding him with her lovely flowers until there was not one violet left.

"That was a fine dinner!" said the goat. "Here is your pay for it!" and he put a few dried leaves in Thora's hand.

Her hands were old and trembling, so the leaves fell on the ground, except some few that lodged without her noticing them, in her old gaping apart shoes.

The goat disappeared in the hollow tree, and Thora took up her empty basket and went on her homeward way.

She was almost at the door of her little cottage when she exclaimed:

"What can be hurting my feet so? I must have gotten some bits of stone in my shoes!"

She sat herself down on the stone at her door to see what hard thing was hurting her feet, when lo! and behold! ever so many bright, shining gold pieces were there.

Every withered beech leaf had become a piece of money, and there were enough of the golden coins to make poor old Thora comfortable for life.

INSTRUCTIVE PENCIL PICTURES

I HAVE a great many eyes but with all of them I can't see at all. You know my eyes make me grow and sometimes in the springtime when I'm in the cellar little green and white eyelashes shoot out of my eyes. To see me growing out in the field you'd think I was merely a big bushy weed for I keep all my eyes under the ground.

My worst enemy is a little bug that feeds on my leaves and if all of them aren't killed they soon eat all the green off my leaves and I don't look a bit Irish!

The Germans now use me in their war bread and the French cut me into long boat-like strips before frying me crisp and brown. The English and Americans prefer to bake or mash me and as for the Irish—well, they take me any old way. Yes, and I mustn't forget the delicious —— cake grandma makes out of me and I'm sure you enjoy them. I wonder which way you like me best?

Of course, you're already made a big guess as to what I am, but to find out for sure, take a pencil and starting at dot number 1, continue to draw a line through dots 2, 3, 4 and so on back to 1 and you'll recognize me. Be sure and save all this series of Bed-time Pencil Pictures, as they will tell you many interesting things about vegetables and plants of all kinds. The next instalment will be equally as interesting."

I CAN TELL.

Little boy, little girl,
With your armful of books,
You are going to school,
I can tell you by your looks.
For your face wears a frown,
And you poke along slow,
Your whole being proclaims,
"Oh, I don't want to go!"

Little boy, little girl,
With your armful of books,
You are coming from school,
I can tell you by your looks;
For your face is a smile,
And you leap and you play;
Your whole being proclaims,
"I'm so happy and gay."
—Elliott Kays Stone.

The Nightmare.

At night, at night the nightmare comes
And gallops through our sleep,
And on her back so broad and black
Ride things to make you creep.
Sometimes they're pirates, other times
They're giantess and bears,
And right into our room she runs,
And up and down the stairs
The nightmare chases us. But I
Have heard if you are good
She never bothers us at all.
I shouldn't think she would.
(Should YOU?)

"OR SHIP WILL FLOUNDER IN GRASS SEA."

Reigho! for games of long ago,
That even yet some children know,
For "Wring the Dish Rag," "Sail the Ship,"
Reverse the motion for each trip—
Hold tight small comrades' hands, dear me—
Or ship will flounder in grass sea!

When through my telescope I see
My daddy coming home to me,
I say to Gyp: "There he is now!"
And Gyp he answers: "Bow, wow, wow!"
