The Texas Constitution, adopted in 1876, has had no less than 320 amendments proposed and 195 of them have been adopted by the voters.

Seven more proposals to amend the Texas Constitution will be on the ballot for the general election this coming Nov. 3.

The state constitution had been amended 18 times by the time it was 25 years old, and there has been a steady flow of amendments since then. The biggest year for amendments was 1965 when there were 27 of them submitted on the ballot and 20 of them were approved by the voters.

This year's seven proposed amendments are part of a package of 16 proposed by the legislature in 1969. Nine of them went to the voters on Aug. 5, 1969, with four being adopted. The remaining seven come up this year at the general election.

The 94-year-old Texas Constitution has been patched more and more during the past 25 years. Of the 195 amendments approved in its entire history, 106 of them have come since World War II.

Here is a "thumbnail" digest of the seven amendments proposed on the ballot in this year's general election:

No. 1, Amendment Article V, Sec. 1-a, of the Texas Constitution, relating to removal, retirement, or censure of justices, judges, and justiices of the peace under prescribed circumstances.

No. 2, Amending Article XVI, Sec. 20, Subsection (a), to authorize the legislature to enact a mixed beverage law regulating the sale of mixed alcoholic beverages on a local option basis.

No. 3, Authorizing the legislature to provide by law for the establishment of a uniform method of assessment of ranch, farm and forest lands based upon the capability of the lands to support the raising of livestock or to produce farm and forest crops.

No. 4, Amending Article III, Sec. 51-b, Subsection (a), to reconstitute the State Building Commission as a three-member appointed commission.

No. 5, Authoizing any county to issue road bonds in an amount not to exceed one-fourth of the assessed valuation of the real property in the county under certain conditions.

No. 6, Amending Article XVI, Sec. 51, to increase the value of the homestead exempt from forced sale from $5,000 to $10,000.

No. 7, Authorizing the legislature to provide for consolidating offices and functions of government and for performance of government functions by contract between political subdivisions in any county.

This line-up should stimulate some interest at the polls on Nov. 3.

AT RANCHERS' EVENT

Sweetwater Artist Has Top Painting In Show

A painting titled, "The Black Widow," by Mondel Rogers Jr. of Sweetwater took top honors Saturday in the art show held in conjunction with the Ranchers' Day Gathering in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Hundreds of people were gathering at the coliseum Saturday afternoon for the gathering, second such event to be sponsored here by the local unit of the Ranch Headquarters Association. The association is helping develop a ranch museum on the campus at Texas Tech University. The organization was founded a year ago at the first Ranchers Gathering in Snyder and since that time, development of the out-door ranch museum has been launched on a 12-acre site at Tech.

Rogers had the first place winner in the professional mixed-media division of the art show. The show was judged by Ben Konis of Amarillo.

Ted Bigham had the second place painting in that division, while H. V. Greer of Lubbock had the third place entry.

Rogers also had the first place painting in the professional watercolor division, with Pat Smith taking second and third.

In non-professional oils, Jess Everett of Snyder placed first and third, while Macke Hughes of Sweetwater was second. Ray McGuffin had the top professional oil painting, followed by entries of Amy Patton of Snyder, Peggy Snodgrass and Rogers.

In non-professional mixed media, Emmitt Hall was first and third, Carol Cramer was second; in non-professional watercolor, Mrs. V. A. Craven was first and Billie Joe Carmichael was second and third.

In the junior division, Roxanna Huddleston had the best entry 13-16 year class, followed by Rebecca Huddleston, Tonibeth Hurst and Barbara Hines. In the 12 and under class, the top entry was by Steve Wiman, followed by Felicia Huddleston.

In junior mixed media, Dennis Young placed first and third, D'Ann Fisher second.

PALESTINIANS WON'T OBEY

Majali Orders Shooting Halt

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Field Marshal Habis Majali, Jordan's military governor, ordered his troops to cease fire in their war against Palestinian guerrillas Saturday.

But a guerrilla statement broadcast from Baghdad, Iraq, said the Palestine forces would not join in the shooting halt.

The Baghdad transmitter of the Palestine Liberation Organization's Central Committee declared: "The imperialist agent Habis Majali. . . wants to catch his breath. We are aware of these tricks and Majali will not be able to lead us into any ambush."

Majali ordered his forces to stop shooting at 6 p.m.—12 noon, EDT.

Earlier in the day, Radio Cairo reported that King Hussein had agreed to an Egyptian proposal for a 24-hour cease-fire.

But this was thrown into confusion by an ultimatum by Majali to the guerrillas to surrender in three hours or face death by firing squads.

Also a guerrilla spokesman in Beirut had said it was doubtful guerrilla leaders would accept the Egyptian cease-fire idea.

Majali's cease-fire order, broadcast by Radio Amman, was addressed to all army, police and security units of the royal forces.

There was no immediate response from the guerrillas, who had contemptusouly rejected Majali's surrender ultimatum.

Two hours after the deadline for Majali's ultimatum the field marshal abruptly ordered his men to stop firing "except in dealing with sources of fire hindering your humanitarian duties."

Fighting in Jordan was reported raging for the third straight day.

Egypt's Middle East News Agency said the cease-fire proposal was sent to Hussein by President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

It quoted Nasser as telling Hussein through an emissary that a cease-fire for at least 24 hours could "prevent the international plot which is evident in suspicious movements of the American 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean Sea."

It also quoted the president as saying: "An immediate cease-fire is necessary because our information about casualties is frightening.'

A Cairo newspaper had reported earlier that the number of persons killed or wounded in Jordan had soared past 5,000.

Radio Amman broadcast the surrender ultimatum by Field Marshal Habis Majali, Jordan's military governor, who gave the guerrillas three hours to surrender or be executed by firing squads as mutineers.

Majali's announcement made no mention of the Egyptian initiative.

He tressed that the ultimatum was imposed under the martial law decreed by Hussein at the start of the fighting on Thursday.

The Egyptian effort and Majali's ultimatum came in the third day of fighting. Casualties were reported soaring past 5,000. Royal army forces were reported attacking the guerrillas—called fedayeen—in the north.

Majali's proclamation said: "This is the last warning to the fedayeen.

"All guerrillas must lay down their arms and surrender by 4 p.m. Anyone who resists the royal forces after this time limit will be treated as an outlaw and killed or arrested and tried by courts-martial on a charge of armed mutiny against the authorities.

"This crime is punishable by death."

The deadline was 10 a.m., EDT.

Majali repeated earlier assurances that guerrillas wishing to surrender would not be harmed.

In Beirut, guerrilla spokesmen said before news came of Majali's ultimatum that Nasser's proposed cease-fire had virtually no chance of acceptance by the guerrilla leadership.

The Iraqi news agency said guerrilla spokesmen in Baghdad denounced Nasser's efforts as an "affront to the dignity of the Arab nation."

UAW Talks Stalmated

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. today called in labor relations chiefs from its various divisions as both it and the United Auto Workers—stalemated in national bargaining—sought to get local-level negotiations moving.

Rail Strike Blocked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting "with great reluctance," the Nixon administration has blocked for 60 days a threatened nationwide rail strike.

President Nixon signed executive orders Friday barring a walkout by four unions against 160 rail lines and creating a five-member board to investigate the dispute.

Unless Congress enacts emergency legislation, the unions will be free to strike if no contract settlement is reached in the next 60 days.

The orders, signed under provisions of the Railway Labor Act, affect some 400,000 union members—about 70 per cent of the nation's railway work force.

Asst. Secretary of Labor William J. Usery, a top labor troubleshooter, said at the White House he had hoped for a settlement negating the need for the executive orders.

It was "with great reluctance," he said, that the Labor Department recommended the President sign the orders. But he indicated only a few points of major disagreement remain to be resolved after weeks of government-sponsored talks.

Those issues should be dealt with by the board, he said.

He said a five-member panel instead of the usual three-member board was formed "so that an equitable settlement may be reached at the earliest possible time." Its members are to be named later.

UNTIL MISSILES MOVED

Meir Says No Peace Talks

By ENDRE MARTON
Associated press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir has inflicted a heavy blow on American hopes that the Middle East peace talks could be resumed in the near future.

Mrs. Meir told President Nixon there can be no peace talks until Egypt removes the missiles Israel claims were implanted along the Suez Canal in violation of a military standstill agreement.

Nixon and Secretary of State William P. Rogers tried Friday but failed to persuade the 72-year-old Israeli leader that talks under United Nations mediator Gunnar Jarring provide the only avenue to peace.

In principle, Mrs. Meir agreed. But, she asked, why should Israel negotiate a peace treaty with a country which violated a lesser cease-fire agreement virtually the same day it agreed to observe it?

President Nixon and Rogers are reported to have understood Mrs. Meir's argument although they would not agree with her conclusion.

American officials concede the standstill cease-fire violations could not have occurred without the knowledge and complicity of the Soviet Union. They say there is no quarrel with the harsh words the Israeli leader used at her Friday press conference when she accused Moscow and Cairo of bad faith and said "they both are culprits."

The Nixon administration consoled itself with the conclusion that because of the Jordan situation the question of resuming of political talks is hypothetical anyway.

The United States, however, would not take Mrs. Meir's "no" for an answer. Diplomatic prodding will continue on several fronts, officials said.

Moscow and Cairo will be urged anew to "rectify the violations", which has been interpreted as removal of their missiles deployed in the Suez Canal Zone contrary to provisions of the standstill-cease-fire agreement, and new efforts will be made to persuade Mrs. Meir to end her boycott of the talks.

American and Israeli diplomatic observers agreed that despite the failure to smooth over differences, Mrs. Meir's day-long talks with the President and Rogers were useful because they restored confidence between the two countries.

U.S. officials reluctantly concede the safety of hostages held by Palestinian guerrillas and the chaotic Jordanian situation in which the throne of King Hussein, a pro-Western monarch, is at stake, have priority over the hoped-for resumption of the peace talks..

Senate Passes Bank Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill aimed at stopping the flow of profits from gambling and illegal transactions to foreign bank accounts has been passed by the Senate.

The measure, passed on a voice vote Friday, now goes to a conference with the House.

Sponsors of the legislation said use of secret foreign accounts is costing the U.S. Treasury hundreds of millions of dollars in taxes.

The measure is designed to stop the use of foreign banks to deposit gambling profits skimmed from Las Vegas, Nev., casinos, funds illegally obtained by racketeers and profits of criminal conspiracies taken abroad by couriers.

It would:

—Require banks and other financial institutions to maintain records of checks and other transactions, including the use of microfilming.

—Require financial institutions and individuals to report to the Treasury Department on exports or imports $5,000 or more in currency when the reports would be useful in criminal, tax or other proceedings.

—Authorize Treasury to require financial institutions and individuals to keep records of transactions with foreign banks.

—And extend present penalties on violation of the margin requirements on stock loans to the borrower as well as the lender. This provision is designed to prevent borrowers from evading the requirements by obtaining foreign loans.

The Senate deleted a provision giving the Securities and Exchange Commission authority to prohibit U.S. brokers from accepting securities orders from foreign banks unless the bank disclosed the person for whom the order was placed or certified he was not an American.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., sponsor of the bill, said deletion of the provision greatly weakened the measure.

The Senate also tacked on three extraneous bills in an effort to get action on them this session. Included were:

—A mass transit bill authorizing $3.1 billion in subsidies for capital improvements for subways bus systems and commuter lines.

—A bill banning unsolicited distribution of credit cards.

—A measure giving individuals the right to correct inaccurate information in their credit files.

All three bills had passed the Senate earlier. They will be considered by the conference as part of the bank bill.

Choate Asks Nourishment Standards

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the nation's most outspoken nutritional critics, calling the United States a "nation of nutritional illiterates," has asked the federal government to set up national nourishment standards.

Robert B. Choate, who stirred up a nationwide controversy last July when he told a Senate Commerce subcommittee many well-advertised cereals are sorely lacking in nutritional value, appeared before the Democratic Study Group's Consumer Affairs and Food and jagriculture task forces Friday.

Also testifying were representatives of the food industry, who offered the panel edibles ranging from potato chips to dietetic powders as they defended their products.

Choate said the "classroom nutrition teacher has been greatly outclassed by television persuaders."

"Junior is off at the TV set being misinformed by endless ads while Mother is slicing open a plastic package to save time and trouble," he said.

Should unwed mother give up baby?

By Abigail Van Buren

(c) 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: To start out with, I am an unwed mother. I kept my baby. Bobby is six months old now and is very sweet, but I don't feel I can give him the love and attention I should. You see, I work eight hours a day in a restaurant. It doesn't pay much. At night I usually have a date. I live with my family and they take care of Bobby. My father sort of shames me when I mention giving Bobby away. The only reason I kept the baby was I thought I would get his father to marry me. I am only 17 and want to live like other kids my age.

The boys have no respect for me and my girl friends let me know that they are better than me.

I would like to go back to school in another town and maybe start over again. Would it be so terrible to give my baby away? My folks can't give him much, and I think that giving him away would be the best way of showing him that I really loved him. CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: I see your point, and appreciate your confusion, but let's consider the baby. An unwanted child is rarely fooled. He knows he is unwanted and he'll suffer because of it. Perhaps your parents love and want Bobby enough to raise him. They may not be able to provide him with material things, but if he is given love, he'll be all right.

You are honest to admit that you don't want the child, and think he deserves better. Perhaps giving him away is the solution. Talk it over with your parents.

DEAR ABBY: Is something wrong with my brother? He wears makeup. First he started to borrow my "blush" which is a pinkish tint for the cheeks. I thought he was just goofing around, but pretty soon I noticed that every time I wanted it, the blush was in my brother's room.

Next, he experimented with some of my liquid base. When I told him I thought it looked fakey, he said he was only fooling around and wouldn't use that stuff if he was going anywhere, but I noticed he did.

Now, I found out that he has bought his own! This really scares me, Abby. He is 15 and is a nice-looking boy. He has a real pretty complexion. Do you think using makeup will get him pimples? HIS SISTER

DEAR SISTER: Not if he keeps his face clean. But worse than pimples are the jeers he may invite. Ridicule can be traumatic for a boy his age.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think my husband needs to see a head doctor? Or maybe I'm the one who should see one. Clem's brother called him in the middle of the night and told him that "Rusty" [Clem's dog] had died, so this nutty husband of mine threw on his clothes and drove 200 miles to go to bury a mutt. Do dogs have funerals, Abby? Rusty was an old dog, practically blind, and Clem had raised him from a pup, but in the two years we've been married Clem has lost aunts and uncles and he never went to any of their funerals.

Please tell me what you think of a man who will start driving 200 miles in the middle of the night just to bury a dog? CLEM'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: A man's devotion for his dog cannot be measured in uncles and aunts. And if you think Clem is crazy, I know a lot of people who would be glad to pick that bone with you.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

99 Diphtheria Cases Are Confirmed

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A diphtheria epidemic that began spreading here last July was on the brink of reaching 100 cases today.

Confirmed caes stood at 99 for the year after the addition Friday of two children to the list. There also were 25 unconfirmed cases.

Houston health officials reported two elementary school pupils have mild forms of diphtheria, bringing to five the number of confirmed cases in that city.

Dr. Robert Maclean of the Houston Health Department said, however, there was no cause for alarm.

The second phase of a mass diphtheria and polio immunization campaign entered its sixth day in San Antonio today with health officers reporting a gradual rise in crowds.

But despite slightly increased attendance toward the end of the week, only about 39,000 persons have been inoculated since the drive opened Monday, spokesmen said.

The 2877 rolled by Family lanes of Butler, Pa. was the only Booster score above 2800, in the 1970 ABC.

Harvard Dean Is Black

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Archie Epps is young, black, the new dean of students at Harvard College, and says he's a patient man.

"I know the value of having patience. . .students change their mind," says the 33-year-old native of Lake Charles, La.

"By my own conduct and demeanor," Epps says, he hopes to dissuade the use of violence at Harvard as a method of bringing about social change.

But Epps said Friday in an interview he is not opposed to protest, but he believes it should aim to "prick the conscience of your opponent, then have faith in the good sense of human nature to take over."

Epps, an assistant dean at Harvard the last six years, said one mistake that liberal institutions have made in recent years is attempting to mimic the politics of the black student movement.

"The result has been that blacks who are not political activists have found themselves without anyone to go to," he said.

Pearl Gets Birch's Estate

DALLAS (AP) — A struggle over the $200 million estate of California oil man A. Otis Birch has ended in victory for his widow and former nurse, Peal Chote Birch.

She gained control of the fortune Friday as Dist. Judge J. Roll Fair dismissed suits brought by five religious organizations based in California.

In asking reversal of a Dallas probate judge's acceptance of a handwritten will left by Birch, those organizations claimed that the miltimilliontaire was mentally incompetent when he changed that document to make her the sole beneficiary. He was 86 at his death in 1967.

No member of the organizations or lawyer for them appeared in court as the case was dismissed. His decision clears the way for Mrs. Birch, 63, to take over the estate within 30 days.

Mrs. Birch said she already had been granted permission to move into the millionaire's 32-room mansion in Pasadena, Calif., in a separate court case earlier this month.

The controversy first came to light in 1966 when Mrs. Birch was accused of kidnaping the elderly oilman and forcing him to marry her.

Then Birch's private nurse, she left California with him in October 1966 and announced they were married in Altus, Okla., a short time later.

A Breckenridge, Tex., grand jury refused to indict Mrs. Birch after her deaf and crippled husband testified. The couple then moved to Dallas and lived in a 70-foot-long trailer until Birch died on jmarch 15, 1967.

NEW YORK (AP) — Scientists reported today promising experimental work on a new birth control agent—one that would be used only once a month, when the woman believes she's pregnant.

The research was described as very preliminary, but a federal family planning expert said the agent may be very close to the "ultimate" family planning method.

The agent is one of a remarkable series of chemicals called prostaglandins, hormone-like fatty substances found widely in human and animal tissue.

Prostaglandins have an incredible range of effects, and researchers say they may find medical uses in therapeutic abortion, inducement of labor and, in contrast to their birth control potential, as a treatment for male sterility.

The versatile chemicals also may find uses in the treatment of ulcers, blood pressure problems, asthma and even nasal decongestion.

The newest report on prostaglandins came from Dr. Sultan M. M. Karim of Makerere University at Kampala, Uganda, to an international meeting on the subject held by the New York Academy of Sciences.

Dr. Karim reported that prostaglandin has been given to 12 women who had missed their menstrual period for from two to seven days. The chemical is in tablet form and inserted in the vagina. It produced a normal period in 11 of the presumably pregnant women. Pregnancy was confirmed in eight of them.

There have been only minor side effects, he said, and the chemical seems to leave the body after affecting the uterus. One tablet is inserted in the morning in the hospital, another four hours later, and the woman goes home.

Dr. Karim said prostaglandins offer the possibility of self administration and may only need use at the time of a late menstrual period, statistically three to four times a year.

Dr. Reimert Ravenholt, director of the Office of Population for the Agency for International Development, told a news conference: "This is a very historic occasion in the evolution of technology for the control of fertility."

None of the scientists would say when such an agent might go on the market, if it does. But confirmation for the research, from animal studies, was presented by Dr. Kenneth T. Kirton of the Upjohn Co., of Kalamazoo, Mich., a drug company which has conducted much of the prostaglandin research in this country.

Speakers Condemn Violence

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin and the top state law officer zeroed in Friday on those who seek social changes through violence.

They spoke at the attorney general's law enforcement conference.

Smith condemned "those in our society who take it on themselves to attempt to change the laws of our land through force or intimidation...any change in our system of laws must be accomplished within the framework of our Constitution and not at gunpoint."

Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Department of Public Safety, said "in my mind, there is no way to separate unlawful civil disturbance and crime. Often, a civil disturbance, by its very nature, involves breaking the law."

Speir said "swift and positive action is going to be needed to purge the revolutionaries from our society." He specifically mentioned the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), which he said claims 30,000 members in this country, as the "central movement" of "outrages" committed by the New Left.

He quoted Gus Hall, executive secretary of the Communist Party U.S.A., as saying, "the SDS is the greatest thing that the Communist Party has going for it today and has already exceeded every expectation."

Martin said the rate of acceleration of crimes dropped in 1969, and he added, "it seems obvious that Americans, at last, are getting their fill of confrontation politics."

South Texas Banker Dies

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Louis A. Schreiner, prominent South Texas banker and son of a pioneer Kerr County settler, died Friday night. He was 99.

Known throughout the Texas Hill Country as "Mr. Louie," he was chairman of the board of the Charles Schreiner Bank here.

He recently completed 80 years on the job at the bank, which was founded more than a century ago by his father, Capt. Charles Schreiner.

The father, a pioneer merchant, rancher and banker who came to Texas in the 1850's, endowed Schreiner Institute, a church-related junior college for men.

Schreiner started to work in the bank as a bookkeeper. He became vice president in 1916 and three years later assumed full ownership. He became chairman of the board in 1959 and was at his desk in the bank daily until he entered a hospital Thursday.

Schreiner would have celebrated his 100th birthday Dec. 31. Earlier this month he said he planned to be on the job as usual that day.

He once attributed his stamina to the fact that he rode horseback daily in his younger days to stay fit.

Funeral arrangements were pending.

'Standing' Delivery Chair Is Invented

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Childbirth should not be taken lying down, an Argentine doctor says. He advocates a natural vertical position which he says people used before doctors introduced the "modern torture" of the delivery table.

Dr. Tucho Perrusi, honored by the Argentine Medical Association for his studies, has invented a special chair for delivering babies.

"Look at the ease with which mothers give birth in taxis and trains, without assistance of any kind," he says.

Perrusi's device, resembling a dentist's chair permits the obstetrician to stand while delivering the baby.

A study of 3,520 babies, half of them delivered in Perrusi's chairs and half on the conventional table, indicated that chair-delivered infants had a better record of blood pressure, temperature, pulse and other physiological signs.

Fair Entries Sought For Women's Division

The annual Scurry County Fair, Oct. 8-9-10 will have beautiful displays of textiles again this year. There will be quilts and crochet, knitting and embroidery, and lovely hand made garments.

There will be plenty of space for more however, and yours are needed. Each year people come to look and then comment "Why, I've got some just as good as these." Of course, someone does have some things as good as, or perhaps a little better than, the ones exhibited. But they'll never win a blue ribbon in the linen closet at home, so please bring them.

The rules are simple. Articles must be exhibited in the name of the person who made them, except antique quilts. The articles must not have been shown previously, must be complete, and stay in place until the Fair closes at 8 p.m. on Saturday. The articles may be picked up Saturday night or Sunday morning.

To enter the articles bring them to the Towle Park Barn on Wednesday afternoon, October 7 any time between 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. The Superintendent of the department and her helpers will accept the article and enter it in their books. They will be checked out to you in the same way at the end of the Fair so that we have a record of each article.

There are two departments, one for adults and a junior department for children and young people. Everyone is welcome to enter their handwork in the department for their age group.

History Of Micoacan

THE CHRONICLES OF MICHOACAN. Translated and edited by Eugene R. Craine and Reginald C. Reindorp. University of Oklahoma Press, Norman. $7.95.

Micoacan is an area of Mexico roughly west of Mexico City and extending to the Pacific Ocean.

The Tarascan Indians did not take the brunt of the Conquest. They were isolated from the Conquest but not from other Indians. They were not inventive but adapted the arts of other areas admirably.

The chronicles, never before translated, are a Spanish Colonial document, believed written 1539-1541 by Friar Martin de Jesus de la Coruna from oral traditions of the Tarascans.

Historians will find that it ranks highly among the source books of pre-history.

The book contains 44 plates of illustrations, a part of the original manuscript in the Escorial in Madrid, Spain.

The editors are Eugene R. Craine, history department head at Wright State University, Dayton, Ohio, and Reginald C. Reindorp, of Wesleyan College, Macos, Ga., a New Mexico native bilingual since birth.—The AP.

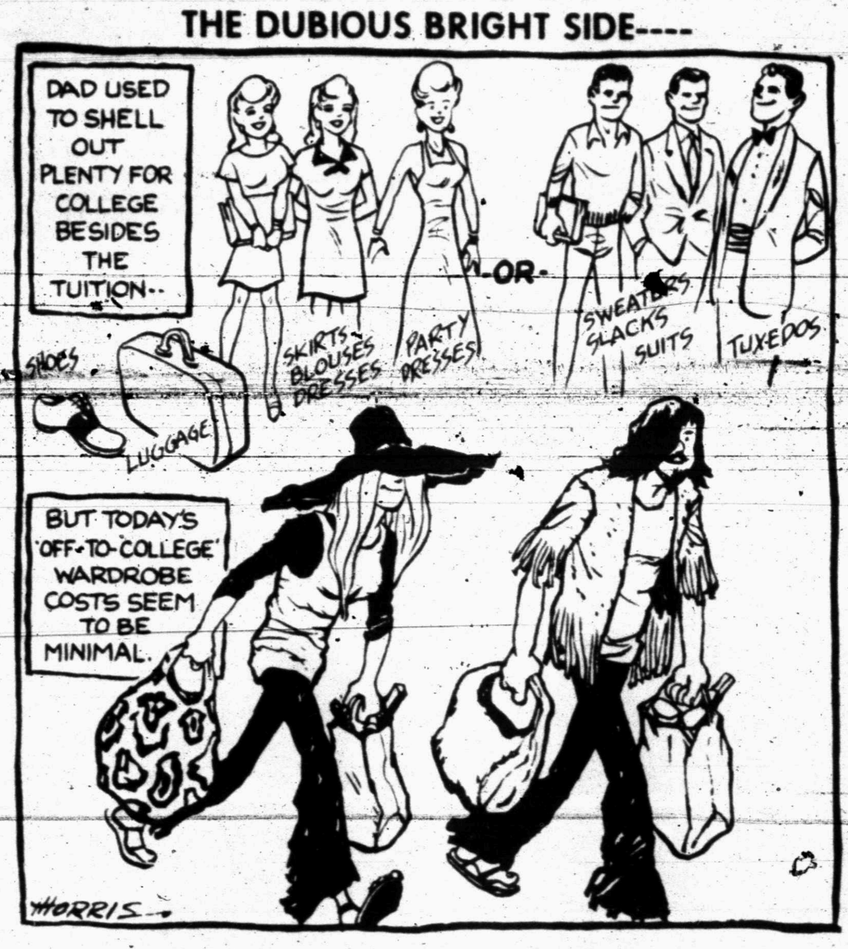
THE DUBIOUS BRIGHT SIDE----



State Moisture Situation Is Changed By Felice

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Tropical storm Felice changed the moisture situation considerably over the eastern half of Texas.

Harvesting has again been delayed, said Director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and some crops were damaged since a high percentage of the cotton is open. He said damage depends upon the amount of rain and wind.

Ranges improved and a late cutting of hay in the eastern half of the state is insured, he said. Grain planting is active and growth is good in some areas, he noted.

Livestock are in fair to good condition but many stock tanks are still low, he noted.

Much more rain is needed in the Panhandle since recent showers were generally spotted and light. Wheat planting is on and corn is being harvested for silage. Grain Sorghum is maturing rapidly. Ranges are below average but livestock, with feeding, generally are in good condition.

South Plains (Lubbock) rains spurred grain planting and will green up ranges. Moisture generally was too late to help cotton and sorghum yields. Rain slowed the sorghum harvest. Some cotton is being harvested. Wilt and bacterial blight are increasing in some cotton. Livestock generally are in good condition.

Moisture over the Rolling Plains (Vernon) is still short and most farmers are waiting to plant grains until it rains. Little grain is planted. The sorghum harvest is near completion; ranges are very dry; some feeding and watering are necessary; while others are selling their livestock.

All but seven North Central Texas counties have adequate moisture and farmers are busy planting grains. The cotton harvest is on while most sorghum is reaped. Livestock are in fair condition.

Before Felice, moisture in Northeast Texas ranged from short to adequate. Grain planting was active and a late hay cutting was qinsured. Cotton and corn yields are light. Worms were in Texarkana area soybeans. The sweet potato harvest is on. Rains helped pastures and livestock hold their good condition. Marketing was steady. Farm labor is short.

Ranges in Far West Texas are improving as scattered rains fell over most of the district. Cotton is maturing and grain growth is good. A very good pecan crop is in prospect. Livestock are improving in rain areas and calf shipments are increasing.

Showers helped ranges but some West Central Texas counties are dry and grass is very brittle. The sorghum harvest is about over and the market was slow. Land is being prepared for grain and some is being dry planted. Peanuts look good and a fair to good pecean harvest is in prospect. In the drier counties, livestock are under some drouth stress but are in fair to good condition in other counties. Goat shearing is about over, sheep shearing is in full swing. Goats, lambs and calves are moving to market.

Moisture is still short in the western counties of Central Texas. About 10 per cent of the grain has been planted. Up to 65 per cent of the cotton been harvested in south counties. The sorghum harvest is about complete. Most stalks have been shredded and plowed under. Only a few peanuts have been harvested. Ranges are improving where rain fell but stock water is still low.

East Texas moisture was improved by Felice. Oat planting is active and prospects for late hay are very good. A light corn crop is being gathered. Pecan prospects are only fair. Pastures are below average but improving; livestock are in good condition; and some slowing of marketing was noted. Mostly culls and calves are being sold. Labor is short.

Southeast Texas caught the heaviest rains. Good progress was made early in the week in harvesting. Second crop rice is heading. Soybean prospects were good, pecan prospects fair. Ranges are furnishing about 85 per cent of the needed grazing and are improving. Livestock are in good condition.

Moisture in South Central Texas when the week began was mostly short. Harvesting is about complete. Vegetables under irrigation are making good progress. Ranges need rain for forage and stock ponds. Livestock are mostly in good condition. Good labor is needed.

Moisture is short in the western counties of South Texas.

Junior Editors Quiz on MONEY

QUESTION: What is the money of other nations like?

ANSWER: The stater, made in Asia Minor about 700 B.C. was the first coin used by civilized man; this led to the shekels and talents mentioned in the Bible and the later use of pieces of eight, dubloons, dollars, and so on. We show some examples of what the currency of other nations looks like. The peseta, and peso, used by Spanish speaking peoples, are often confused. The peseta is the money unit of Spain, equal to 100 centimos. One, two, and five peseta coins have been used at various times in silver, brass, and aluminum bronze. In 1960, its value was $.0167 of a U.S. dollar. The peso is a Mexican coin, with a value in U.S. money of 12.49 cents. It is also used in other South American countries and in the Philippines, with varying valuations. In French money, the nouveau franc, in 1960, was worth $.2041 in U.S. money. The unit of Great Britain is the pound, and in 1960 its valuation in U.S. money stood at $2.802 dollars. In 1967, it was down to $2.40. Remember that money values often change because of various economic conditions; for example, the British pound once was worth $4.866 and the Mexican peso $.50.

Net Worth Factor In Buying House

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Many young people want to buy homes but they are discouraged for many reasons. Newer estimates of house indebtedness stress that the price of the house should be no more than one and one half times the annual income. If a young man makes $10,000 a year, he would have to find a $15,000 house.

But this rule of thumb doesn't necessarily apply to everyone, points out Sidney M. Laas in the pocketbook, "Lawyer's Title Home Buying Guide."

"If you earn $10,000 a year, it might well be true that you could afford only a $15,000 house, but it is equally true that you could afford a $30,000 house. So much depends on how much cash you can raise for a down payment, how long the mortgage runs and at what rate of interest, whether you normally live within your income or splurge on cars or clothes or a boat, how much you are in debt, your future prospects in your job, and any number of other factors."

He points out that the 1½ times annual income estimate used by the government "lumps together all kinds of people in all kinds of circumstances in all geographical areas. The differences in their ways of life are enormous."

When you seek money from a lender, he will think of you as an individual risk, not in general terms.

Laas suggests that the best way to determine how much you can afford for a home is to list how much of your income must go for other things. Whatever is left may be used for housing.

You can determine your potential by establishing your true income and your credit rating as the lender will see it. He will use a central rating bureau to determine your record for meeting payments on installment purchases, and so on, in your precious location. Laas cautions that if one is thinking of going into debt for a new car or color television, it might be well "to defer such indebtedness until you have acquired your new home."

At least three facts will determine your credit rating:

1. Your true disposable income. This is your effective income or take home pay after taxes and other withholdings. It excludes irregular income such as bonuses or overtime, money from a sideline or windfalls of one sort or another. Your carrying charges on the house will be regular, so your income must be equally dependable.

2. Your fixed expenses and debts: This is roughly your cost of living, plus your financial obligations to repay borrowings or to carry installment purchases. If you have savings, it is a good sign that your living costs are under control.

3. The cost of owning a home: What it will cost you to occupy the house you propose to buy, including not only the normal carrying charges but such items as repairs and gardening. The lender will compare this cost to your present rent or housing expenses.

To calculate your "net worth" to determine where you stand financially, you must determine the sum of your assets minus the sum of your liabilities. Here are some things to look for:

Cash—in the bank or in your wallet or in the cookie jar.

Life Insurance—the cash value of it.

Securities or other investments that nay be converted into cash.

Automobile—At current resale price as a used car.

Personal property—jewelry, fur coat, stamp collection things that may be readily sold.

Real estate or anything else you might own.

The total is what you own.

You also must make a list of what you owe. Such things as installment loans on appliances, furniture, clothing or personal loans. Put down what remains to be paid.

Charge accounts, unpaid bills including utility bills, newspaper delivery, rent, milkman, doctors or dentists bills should be listed.

Laas points out that if you come out on the plus side, your good management will impress the money lender, but if you are heavily minus due to indebtedness, you may have some difficulty swinging a mortgage loan on a new house.

Extra or irregular income—bonus, overtime pay, wife's take home pay, and so on—provide you with a cushion for the building of savings, but you can't count on it for meeting daily expenses, he points out.

AUDUBON'S BIRDS AND FLOWERS

We have all seen the famous American bird pictures painted by John J. Audubon, organizer of the famous Audubon Society. This famous painter had mastered the technique of painting delicate feathers and features of birds, but he acquired the services of other artists to paint in the floral and plant backgrounds on his pictures.

Flowers, he thought, are special, and need special artists to capture their delicate beauty.

We feel flowers are special, too. That is why we fill our orders with special care. You can be confident that when you order flowers from us, they will be just what you want, carefully prepared.

Cornflakes Man Becomes Gourmet

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer

Robert P. Adler, youthful president of the mammoth Waterman-Bic Pen Corporation, generally refers to himself as a "cornflakes man." But he's on the verge of acquiring a gourmet taste.

"I have always felt that eating was like refueling a car," said the 37-year-old executive, who burns up a good deal of energy putting in a 12-hour work day and golfing or water skiing in his spare time.

"I have to eat to have the energy to work and play, so I eat."

Left to his own devices, Adler would probably settle for a hamburger or steak, but the cook in the dining room of his Milford, Conn. office, and his wife, Sandra, who supervises the kitchen activities at their Orange, Conn. home, have other ideas.

As a result, Adler is being exposed to such delicacies as Roast Duckling to Montmorency and Shrimp Normande.

Other influences are also at work. As Adler travels around the United States and Canada supervising his ballpoint empire, he eats in many restaurants and has begun acquiring a taste for certain specialties, despite his avowal that food means no more to him than a form of fuel.

Corn bread is one favorite Adler seeks out when he is in the South, and California-style chili is another. Not gourmet fare perhaps, but a step in that direction.

Mrs. Adler has been channeling her husband's diet along subtler lines. With wisdom and logic, she chose shrimp for a starter. This delicious crustacean has become a universal favorite, from the great shrimps in the Gulf of Mexico to the tiny half-inch creatures found in the gelid waters of Scandinavia.

Shrimps have won such a faithful following in America that in the South where they abound, they are often served with hominy for breakfast.

Shrimps surface under different names according to location. What is a jumbo shrimp in San Francisco Bay, is a prawn in Dublin Bay, and the crustaceans plucked from the Mediterranean are known as scampi or langoustine. But in the final analysis, they are all shrimp.

Shrimps range in color from brownish-red to a gray-green, but turn bright pink when cooked. And cooking is usually a brief process; about five minutes does the trick as a rule. As soon as they acquire the pink hue, they are ready.

Mrs. Adler's version of Shrimp Normande has not only won smiles from the man of the house, it is a great favorite among the guests. Here is her recipe for this delicious dish.

SHRIMP NORMANDE

2 pounds fresh shrimp
¼ pound butter
1 clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon dried tarragon
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
½ cup bread crumbs
salt and pepper to taste
dry Vermouth, about eight ounces
1½ cups heavy cream
slice of lime
bay leaf

Shell and devein shrimp and cook for four minutes in enough boiling water to cover, with bay leaf, lime slice and 1 teaspoon salt. Blend butter with garlic, tarragon, parsley, seasonings and bread crumbs. Roll shrimp in butter and crumb mixture and then place them in greased baking dish. Pour in enough wine to cover completely. Top with cream and bake about five minutes in a hot oven (475 degrees). Serves about four people. Good with a dry white or rose wine.

Mustangs Blank Tigers On Rain-Soaked Turf

ANDREWS — Halfback Danny Browning, a 182-pound senior, led Andrews' Mustangs to a 20-0 victory over Snyder's Tigers Friday night after the two teams fought to a 0-0 stalemate in rain-soaked Mustang Bowl during the first two quarters.

Snyder actually held the upperhand in the first half, gaining 85 yards to Andrews' 47, but the Mustangs took command of the game in the third period, rolling up 134 yards while holding the Tigers to 15. The hosts' edge in offense in the last quarter was 89 yards to 68.

Browning collected most of the yardage in Andrews' first two touchdown drives in the third period and he shook loose on an 88-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter.

The first touchdown drive spanned 57 yards and required 12 plays. Browning carried the ball five times during the march and contributed 29 yards. The payoff was a 9-yard burst around left end by halfback Mickey Matthews, who also hurt the Bengals with his powerfil thrusts. David Nix kicked extra point with 7:02 remaining on the clock.

Then, with 1:03 remaining in the third stanza, Matthews went 12 yards over left guard to cap a 90 yard drive. The big gainer was a 38-yard romp by Matthews, but Browning also contributed valuable yardage with three carries. A 19-yard [illegible] Rogers set up the TD.

On his long touchdown run, Browning simply shot over left tackle and outran the Bengal defenders. The Mustangs hurt the Bengals mostly with their end runs. Snyder also had difficulty containing the middle stuff since the Andrews backs ran with considerable authority.

Snyder came close to scoring in the second period when Travis Bunch intercepted a pass at the Andrews 45 and returned it to the seven. However, a clipping penalty moved the line of scrimmage back to the 45 and the Mustangs ultimately were able to hold at the 24. Stewart Sims carried the ball six straight times, advancing the ball to that point, but Andrews held on fourth down.

Snyder mounted a 42-yard drive that reached the Andrews 38 in the fourth quarter, but a fumble recovery by Alfred Rougeaux stopped that march. Also, in the first quarter, the Tigers moved from their 39 to the Mustang 26, but the Mustangs held on downs. Four fumbles lost contributed to the Bengal downfall.

It was apparent that Andrews had come to play. They simply out-gunned the Bengals.

Jerry January and Bill Wilson were outstanding on defense for the Tigers, and Svewart Sims was the leading offensive player. He also did a good job punting.

Next Friday, the Tigers entertain Big Spring at hoome.

Ira Pops Paint Creek

PAINT CREEK — Ira's Bulldogs, led by Rickey Cox and Billy Payne, thumped the hosts 43-0 in a Six-Man gridiron contest Friday night.

Billy Payne went 40 yards for a touchdown on the first play of the game, and he also made good on the kick for two extra points.

Minutes later in the opening stanza, Payne plunged across from the five, and Rickey Cox kicked for two points.

Cox went 10 yards for a touchdown as Ira took a 22-0 lead in the second period.

On its first possession in the third quarter, Ira scored again with Cox scampering 60 yards to pay dirt. Minutes later, he took a pass from Obie Crawford for another touchdown. The play covered 40 yards. The successful conversion kick boosted the count to 36-0 as the Bulldogs turned the remainder of the action over to the reserves.

Steve Sallee sprinted 30 yards for a touchdown in the fourth quarter, and Richard Daves ran over for one point as the final count reached 43-0.

Paint Creek threatened only once during the game as everyone in the Ira defensive alignment turned in a good game.

Next Friday, Ira will host Christoval.

Defense Is Key To Ram Success

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Quarterback Roman Gabriel won honors in 1969 as the National Football League's most valuable player and could be better this season, yet the success of the Los Angeles Rams pivots on defense.

Stopping opponents proved the biggest factor during the first three seasons of Coach George Allen's tenure particularly in 1967-68, but they didn't do it as well a year ago.

Allen says he counts on his veteran defensive platoon but admits it left some things to be desired in 1969. Although both free safety Eddie Meador and linebacker Maxie Baughan, the man who called defensive signals, retired after last year, both changed their minds.

"Gabriel's best years are ahead of him," said the coach before this season began and after his quarterback completed 217 of his 399 passes for 2,549 yards and 24 touchdowns a year ago.

Los Angeles won the Coastal Division title but lost to the Minnesota Vikings 23-20 in their playoff game for the Western Conference title. Then they walloped Dallas 31-0 in the Playoff Bowl.

Defensively along the front line, the Rams have such stalwarts as 270-pound Merlin Olsen, 250-pound 'Deacon' Jones, 270-pound Coy Bacon and 255-pound Diron Talbert.

Add to that list 260-pound Rick Cash, who has looked much better this fall, and you have an impressive array.

Jack Pardee, Dough Woodlief, Jim Purnell, John Pergine, Myron Pottios and rookie Jack Reynolds provide linebacking strength.

A trade brought former UCLA star Kermit Alexander from the San Francisco 49ers in exchange for place kicker Bruce Gossett to bolster the defensive secondary which also numbers Alvin Haymond, a kick return ace, Clancy Williams, Ron Smith and Willie Daniel.

If the Rams are to improve offensively, they must get more mileage from running backs.

"Larry Smith will definitely be improved," said Allen of the Florida product who won his way into a starting job last year but has been hampered with injuries this fall.

Les Josephson, after starring in 1967, missed the entire 1968 season because of a torn Achilles tendon.

"Josephson will be better this year," said Allen.

Tommy Mason provides a spot runner and Willie Ellison has shown improvement although he also has had injury troubles so far this campaign. Jim Thomas, after seven years in Canada, signed with the Rams and might possibly be of help.

Pass receivers look solid at this point with Jack Snow, Wendell Tucker, Bill Truax, Bob Klein and Jim Seymour, the latter a former Notre Dame star who missed last season because of military service.

Allen, himself, feels he must produce a winner in his fifth year of coaching. He was fired after his third campaign despite a divisional title and then rehired when players stood solidly behind him. Still this is his final contract year and so far the Rams management hasn't proffered a new pact.

Fog Covers Cup Race

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Gretel II lifted eyebrows and raised Australian spirits Friday, but it was all lost in the fog.

The second America's Cup race was called on the fourth leg of the six-legged race, with Intrepid slightly in front.

Jim Hardy had his Australian challenger flying as he took on Intrepid and skipper Bill Ficker at their own game—windward sailing—in the second of the best-of-seven America's Cup series. Intrepid leads 1-0.

Gretel II led at the first two marks—the first time a challenger has been in front at that point since Britain's Endeavor in 1934.

Ficker slipped by on the third leg, but Hardy was back at him when they rounded the third mark and started tacking upwind again. As he was climbing right up the heels of the Americans, the New York Yacht Club Race Committee ruled it too dangerous to keep sailing and shot off three rounds on the committee boat canon, ending the most exciting Cup racing since Weatherly-Gretel in 1962.

The spectator fleet had to take most of the excitement as hearsay. By the time Gretel — rounded the first mark with a 1-minute, 54-second edge, the fog blanketed the spectatcle from view. At the end visibility was down to 200 yards.

The 3243 shot by Hamm's Beer of Minneapolis in the 1970 ABC tied for the second best team score ever rolled by a Regular division team in the history of the ABC tournament.

Floodlights Fail At Hurst

HURST, Tex. (AP) — Trinity High of Hurst and Poly Tech of Fort Worth played a schoolboy football gane Friday night which must have been like none ever before.

They were still in the first quarter when two of the six banks of floodlights failed over Pennington Field—leaving one end of the gridiron in black darkness.

As a result, whenever a team drove as far as the 30-yard line in that direction they switched to the other end of the playing field in order to see what was going on.

It was agreed that if any player broke loose for a long run and disappeared into the gloom, all would simply take his word on whether he scored.

Oh, yes—Trinity won 28-6.

Teams In 3-AAA Loop Break Even

District 3-AAA football teams broke even in six games Friday night, as the Lamesa Tornadoes made a strong bid to become the favorite to cop the district title.

The Tors whacked Seminole 25-0 for their second victory of the season, after having shut out Andrews, 12-0 in their opener a week earlier.

Andrews made a second-half surge to down Snyder, 20-0, and Sweetwater had a tough time nipping Class AA Stamford, 19-14. Brownfield, also got its second victory of the campaign, a 25-12 decision over Denver City.

Biggest surprises of the Friday evening activity were Colorado City's 18-24 defeat at the hands of Coahoma, and Lubbock Estacado's mauling by Monahans, 28-7.

San Angelo Lake View had an open date, and Lubbock Dunbar was scheduled to host Dallas South Oak Cliff at Lubbock on Saturday evening.

Hermleigh Falls 52-18

MILES — Despite the individual heroics of Hermleigh's Randy Roemisch, the host Miles Bulldogs captured a 52-18 decision in a Six-Man football tussle here Friday night.

Roemisch scored all three of the Cardinals' touchdowns, getting one in each of the last three periods.

Miles built a 16-0 lead in the first quarter when Stanley Luedtke went 35 yards to paydirt and when David Switzer swept left end from the six for another touchdown.

Other touchdowns were credited to Mario Martinez, Stephen Treadaway, Larry Gentry, R. B. Wright, and Ronnie Stringer.

LAURINBURG, N.C. (AP) — The Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association have cut Bobby Cremins, former University of South Carolina star, and two other rookies.

Released Friday along with Cremins were Chuck Lloyd of Yanktonn College in South Dakota, and John Mathis of Svannah State.

Harry Steinfeldt was the third baseman in the Chicago Cubs' famous Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance infield in the early 1900s.

Feller Pans Sports Stars

By GREG MACALEESE
Associated Press Sports Writer

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Bob Feller, the Iowa farmboy known for his fastball when he pitched for the Cleveland Indians two decades ago, says knowledge of fundamentals isn't the only thing missing in the major leagues today.

"Determination, dedication, truth—they're all lacking in the game today," he said while here for a children's baseball clinic and hitting contest to promote the minor league Albuquerque Dodgers.

He said cases in which players like Joe Pepitone and Richie Allen jump their teams is undermining the power of the owners.

"A contract means nothing today. It's just a piece of paper," Feller said. "Some of these guys apparently don't feel they have an obligation to the fans and to their teammates."

He said it was "just unfortunate that there aren't enough good players today so that people like Pepitone could be sent to the minors,"

"It's guys like Pepitone, Jim Bouton and Joe Namath who give sports a bad name," Feller said. "Nowadays they call players like Pepitone colorful. In my time, only players with ability like Ted Williams, Mickey Mantle, Willie Mays and Stan Musial were called colorful."

Feller said he felt Curt Flood, who is challenging baseball's reserve clause—which binds a player to the team he signs a contract with—was the wrong man to undertake the challenge.

"Flood is just a crusader. Baseball hasn't hurt him. He's selling his paintings for $1,000 each so what does he care," Feller said. "I think the case against the reserve clause would have been much more effective if some player hurt by baseball had taken it to court."

Feller said the reserve clause should have been modified "a long time ago." And he predicted the U.S. Supreme Court will modify the clause shortly.

"They're teaching more fundamentals in the majors now," Feller said in a crisp, sharp voice. "I think this is wrong. Fundamentals should be taught in the minor leagues. It's always been more important to have good managers in the minors than in the majors."

College coaches aren't doing their jobs, either.

"I don't know what some of these college coaches are doing," he said. "But they sure aren't teaching fundamentals. There are a few exceptions, such as those guys in Arizona, Bobby Winkles at Arizona State and Frank Sancet at the University of Arizona, but most of the kids coming out of college don't know the first thing about fundamentals."

Time has given Feller a graying, thinned-out hairline and an extra inch or two around the waist, but the former Iowa farmboy didn't look out of place pitching to aspiring heroes during a pre-game home run hitting contest.

No one, not even the Albuquerque Dodgers, came close to hitting one of Feller's offerings out of the park.

Dressed in a 1950-vintage Cleveland uniform with 19 on the back, Feller threw easily and accurately.

The strong right arm, which once struck out 348 batters in one season, looked amazingly supple for a man 52-years-old.

"One guy in Oklahoma City once hit four out on me," Feller said. "On the next pitch he got one under the chin."

Allen Is A Mystery

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Terry Bradshaw again will be the center of attention Sunday when he quarterbacks the Pittsburgh Steelers in their season opener with Houston, but a less publicized Steeler may be just as important.

He's middle linebacker Chuck Allen, whom coach Chuck Noll, calls a "kind of mystery case."

"He's not real big, he's not real quick or fast and he doesn't have great strength although he can stick 'em at times," Noll said. "To look at him you wouldn't think he could do the job."

Allen, a nine-year veteran acquired from San Diego in an off-season trade, has led a defense that allowed only two touchdowns in five preseason games, four of which Pittsburgh won.

After the final victory at Oakland, Raider coach John Madden said:

"Allen is to the defense what Bradshaw is to the offense. He gives the defense direction."

The Oilers, who were 2-4 in preseason games, will be looking for their direction from quarterback Charley Johnson, acquired in an offseason trade with St. Louis.

"He's easy going but he takes charge on the field," is Oiler wide receiver Jim Bierne's analysis of Johnson. "And he can throw the ball.

Bierne, of McKeesport, said he expects the Oilers to be ready for Pittsburgh.

Rotan Hits Stanton

ROTAN — Rotan smashed Stanton 55-13 here Friday night with Walter Herrera leading the point parade. He scored on runs of one and 29 yards, returned two intercepted passes for touchdowns, kicked five extra points, and ran over on two other extra point attempts.

Rotan built a 28-6 lead after a scoreless first quarter, boosted it to 49-6 in the third period and then coasted to victory.

Mickey Early tallied twice for the Yellowhammers, and Steve Nowlin was credited with one touchdown.

For Stanton, Jackie Swanson scored in the second period and Ricky Wilson scored in the fourth quarter. Glen Ray kicked one extra point.

O'Brien Puts Down Hobbs

HOBBS—Quarterback Danny Del Hierro led O'Brien to a 14-6 conquest of Hobbs here Friday night in Six-Man gridiron action.

Del Hierro passed 37 yards to Steve Figueroa for a touchdown in the first quarter, and he tossed a 15-yard TD pass to Rayland Hayes in the last quarter. Hayes kicked for two extra points following the first touchdown.

The host Panthers had narrowed the gap to 8-6 in the third quarter when S. T. Dooley turned in a 31-yard touchdown run.

Haymond Stuns St. Louis

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Alvin Haymond stunned St. Louis with a 98-yard touchdown run on the kickoff opening the second half and the Los Angeles Rams swept by the Cardinals in their National Football League opener Friday night, 34-13.

A crowd of 63,130 roared in approval as the 194-pound Haymond took the kick in front of the goal post, swung to his right, received key blocks from Kermit Alexander and Jeff Jordan, reversed to his left and kept flying for the game-breaking score.

Grid Star Has New Signals

By DAVE WHITNEY
Associated Press Writer

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Former Iowa State University quarterback John Warder is back on campus, but he's calling signals for a different team—the Campus Crusade for Christ.

Warder, a fleet-footed option runner, now pitches passes for Christ on a low-keyed man-to-man basis.

"If anyone had told me five years ago I would be doing what I am today, I probably would have punched him in the nose," Warder says,

Warder quarterbacked the Cyclones in 1967 and 1968, was named co-captain and most valuable player in 1968, and was selected for Cardinal Key, the highest men's honorary at Iowa State.

Now 23, he is a full-time staff member for the Campus Crusade for Christ International. His wife, Sharri, 24, a school teacher, joined the Crusade staff this summer.

Warder graduated from Iowa State in February with a degree in zoology, and someday may teach biology and coach football, but right now has no plans to change careers.

"I want my life to count for the greatest impact, especially because of what is happening on college campuses today," Warder says. "Campus Crusade hopes to have 10,000 staffers on campus by 1976, and my wife and I want to have a part in training these people."

Warder and his wife will have spent about $1,000 traveling to San Bernardino, Calif., to take an eight-week training course at Crusade headquarters.

The money will come from Warder's Crusade account, which paid him a base salary of $285 a month before his wife joined him, and will now pay the doth of them a total of $425 a month, plus expenses.

The money in the account is put there by Warder who must solicit contributions from businesses, churches and individuals to support the Crusade.

Campus Crusade is an evangelistic movement and staffers make appeals to small groups in fraternity or sorority houses and to individual students by appointment.

Warder became interested in the movement as a freshman. He met a Crusader over a cup of coffee. He says the Crusader introduced him to the "personal commitment" theory.

"For the first time religion makes sense to me. It really centers on a relationship with a person—and that person is Jesus Christ. He is alive and wants to live in our lives and produce that quality of life, that 'abundant life' that He promised," Warder says.

"The change in my life was not dramatic or emotional; there was just a realization of the fact that Christ did come into my life when I asked him. I began to have a more positive attitude toward life, had more interest in other people and their concerns, prejudices disappeared.

"I was reared a Presbyterian, attended Sunday school and church, and was president of the youth group. But, I never understood how Christ applied to me personally. I never really saw the value of personal commitment."

But, Warder, a native of the Chicago area, says now that he is a part of the Campus Crusade, his sole purpose is "to help bring students into a personal relationship with Jesus Christ."

Gail Flails Three Way

GAIL — Host Borden County flailed Three Way 44-6 in an Eight-Man football skirmish here Friday night.

The powerful Gail runners were just too much for Three Way to contend with. Joe Harding scored three touchdowns for the Coyotes, Jimmy Hodge and Randy Hensley each collected two and Charles Billeck scored one.

Hendley, Harding and Hodge [illegible] collected extra points.

Three Way's Allen Joyce scored in the last period.

Steelers Pin On Hopes Bradshaw

By D. BYRON YAKE
Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Terry Bradshaw.

The Pittsburgh Steelers are pinning their future on him, but the golden-haired rookie will likely get more offensive support from his teammates than preceding quarterbacks have for years.

The Steelers were 1-13 last season, reason enough to arouse hopes and dreams when a 21-year old quarterback laughs them to three successive preseason victories.

Bradshaw, the No. 1 pro draft pick, seems to have more skills than just throwing a football with the precision and release of a rifle.

"In this case, it's leadership by example," says Steeler veteran Andy Russell. "He's doing it. He doesn't have to say anything."

"Now our football team knows it can win," Coach Chuck Noll said after the third victory. "All the pieces are falling into place."

Bradshaw is the cornerstone of the new Steeler structure, but Noll has made trades that should strengthen the total offense.

To buoy up an attack which last year scored only 218 points while the opposition was getting 404, Noll traded quarterback Dick Shiner to the New York Giants for running back John Fuqua and linebacker Henry Davis.

Both have made the starting lineup, although Fuqua is presently hampered with a sore leg.

The Steelers also acquired Preston Pearson, a running back who didn't reach his potential at Baltimore. After four exhibition games, Pearson was the Steelers' leading ground gainer with 190 yards in 40 attempts. Fuqua gained 166 yards in 30 tries, a 5.5 average.

Pearson came to Pittsburgh with safety Ocie Austin for linebacker Ray May.

In May's place, Noll has Chuck Allen, who at the age of 31 and with gimpy legs was a question mark but has done the job. He traded rarely used receiver Don Alley for Allen from the San Diego Chargers.

The Steelers also traded quarterback Kent Nix to the Minnesota Vikings for a 1971 draft choice.

That leaves the reins to Bradshaw, second year man Terry Hanratty and rookie Bob Leahy.

In four games, Bradshaw has completed 44 of 87 passes and thrown for one touchdown.

Against the New York Giants, on national television, Bradshaw completed 15 of 23 passes for 244 yards. The Steelers won 21-6. And at quarterback for the Giants was Shiner.

Noll also traded Roy Jefferson to Baltimore for Willie Richardson, a proven receiver who nevertheless may find himself beind the Steelers' second draft choice, Ron Shanklin, and Dave Smith, Dave Kalina and Hubie Bryant, also rookies.

Joe Greene and company—Lloyd Voss, Chuck Hinton and Ben McGee—still are the defensive line and a good one.

Andy Russell, the defensive co-captain and perhaps one of the most underrated defensive players in pro football, will combine at the linebacker spot with Davis and Allen. Jerry Hillebrand will also see a lot of action.

In the defensive backfield will be John Rowser, formerly of Green Bay, Chuck Beatty, Austin and Lee Calland.

Gene Mingo, who fought soccer-style kicker Alan Watson to the wire for the job, will be the Steeler kicker.

Punting will be handled capably by Bobby Walden, who averaged 42.3 yards last year.

There's one player almost forgotten—he's usually forgotten until the Steelers need crucial yardage—Dick Hoak.

Presently he and Warren Bankston are backing up Pearson and Fuqua. But Hoak can't be counted out.

The two 299 game bowled in the 1970 ABC were rolled in the second game of doubles competition on the 8 a.m. shift.

Broncos Are Solid Team

By LOUDON KELLY
Associated Press Sports Writer

DENVER (AP) — Stocky Jlou Saban, on the verge of the fourth season of his 10-year contract as coach and general manager of the Denver Broncos, says: "We are sure we will have a good, solid ball club this year."

Every starter on offense and defense, except possibly one linebacker, should be an experienced pro veteran.

One linebacker spot in the starting defensive eleven should go to Dave Washington, from Alcorn A&M, a Atlanta draft choice, or to Bill Butler, signed as a free agent from San Fernando Valley State College. They are among a half dozen rookies who have brought a slight gleam to the frosty Saban eye.

"We have a good mixture of rookies and veterans and the youngsters we have had for the last two or three seasons are beginning to mature," he said.

The No. 1 quarterback will be Steve Tensi, but he won't be ready for heavy duty for another week or so. Tensi, whose pro career has been short-circuited often by injury, underwent surgery this summer for removal of a disc from his back.

Pete Liske, opening his third season with the Broncos after a stretch of canadian football, is the backup quarterback and has done most of the signal calling in exhibition games this summer.

The Broncos have two excellent runners in Floyd Little, former Syracuse All-American, and fullback Willis Crenshaw, a battle-tested veteran obtained in a trade with St. Louis.

"W""il he was laid low by a a trade with St. Louis.

Until he was laid low by a knee injury, Little led all American Football League ball carriers last season.

The Broncos have strengthened their forces substantially in other trades, getting safetyman Paul Martha, tight end Billy Masters, and cornerbacks Cornell Gordon and Booker Edgerson.

Gordon played under Saban at Buffalo and West Illinois College. Martha gives the club an excellent free safety position that is difficult for a rookie to fill," the coach said.

The offensive line has veterans like tackles Mike Current and Sam Brunelli, guard George Goeddeke and center Larry Kaminski. On defense, such as Rich Jackson, Dave Costa, Rex Mirich, Pete Duranko, Jerry Inman and linebackers Chip Myrtle, Carl Cunningham and John Huard don't have to step aside for anybody in the National Football League.

The pass-receiving corps has able operatives like Al Denson, Mike Haffner and John Embree plus freshman Jerry Hendren, Al Idaho last season. Hendren, the top pass receiver among major collegiate teams.

All-America back Bob Anderson, who set a career total offensive record in the Big Eight Conference at Colorado last season, has been pretty well swallowed up among the horde of husky job seekers at the mile-high training camp and also has been bothered by a slight knee injury.

But Saban says: "The young man has lots of promise and he'll learn and develop." Anderson was the Broncos' No. 1 draft choice.

Another rookie the coach is high on is 250-pound defensive end Alden Roche from Southern University.

Denver a charter member of the AFL. When it was formed in 1960, never has been a contender. Under the new alignment of the expanded NFL, the Broncos are in the same section of the league's American Conference with the Kansas City Chiefs, Oakland Raiders and San Diego Chargers.

Saban calls it the toughest division in the NFL. "If we can win in this division," he said, "we won't be afraid of any of them."

Door Opens For Clay

NEW YORK (AP)—It's Cassius Clay's move as far as fighting in New York is concerned.

The New York State Athletic Commission said Thursday it would consider Clay's application for a license in the state whenever he applies.

Clay, also known as Muhammad Ali, was stripped of his heavyweight championship by the New York commission and other boxing governing bodies when he was convicted June 20, 1967 of refusing to accept military service, and the New York commission turned down Clay's request for a license last Oct. 14.

But a federal judge ruled last Tuesday that the commission's ban had been "arbitrary and unreasonable" and a departure from the commission's "established practice of granting licenses to applicants convicted of crimes and military offense."

The commission said Thursday it has decided not to appeal the court ruling.

Clay still is appealing his conviction and has been granted a license by Atlanta for a scheduled 5-round fight there against Jerry Quarry Oct. 26.

Abernathy Socks Seagraves, 34-8

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Top-ranked Class A Seagraves' 34-8 humiliation by Class AA Abernathy highlighted Texas schoolboy football action Friday night in which Wichita Falls, Ennis and Iowa Park won big as expected.

Seagraves, which received 12 first place votes in The Associated Press' weekly poll, was expected to have a tough time with Abernathy. However, Seagraves was predicted to put up a stiffer battle than it did.

Wichita Falls, the defending state Class AAAA king and No. 1 ranked in that division, rolled over Amarillo 34-7. Second-ranked Ennis of Class AAA CRUSHED Azle 34-14. The top-ranked AAA power, Dumas, wash idle. Iowa Park, ranked first in Class AA, mashed Graham 26-0.

All the top clubs in Class AAAA came through. Third-ranked Abilene Cooper clipped Fort Worth Eastern Hills 30-0, fourth-ranked Galena Park nipped Conroe 7-6, fifth-ranked Odessa Permian edged past Killeen, the 10th ranked team, 7-0; seventh-ramked LaMarque whipped Houston North Shore 33-6, and eighth-ranked Houston Spring Woods clubbed Brazosport 42-6.

In games Saturday, Second-ranked Austin Reagan met Spring Branch, sixth-ranked Dallas South Oak Cliff met Lubbock Dunbar and ninth-ranked Port Arthur Jefferson played Galveston Ball.

In AAA, third-ranked Monahans thrashed Lubbock Estacado 28-7, fourth-ranked Jasper edged Marshall 7-6, fifth-ranked Daingerfield outlasted Atlanta 12-7, sixth-ranked Brenham blasted Navasota 48-0, and seventh-ranked Sinton was stunned by Class AA power Refugio 19-14. Ninth-ranked Brownwood tripped Temple 14-6 and 10th-ranked Fort Worth Brewer defeated Lake Worth 5-8.

Eight-ranked Wichita Falls Hirschi played Saturday at Lawton, Okla.

Refugio is second-ranked in Class AA. Third-ranked Eastland overwhelmed Ranger 43-6, fourth-ranked Mart clipped Mexia 20-6, and Floydada, in a fifth-place tie with San Antonio Randolph, ran over Tulia 41-0. Randolph was whomped by San Antonio Clemens 29-0. Upsets took their toll of ninth-ranked Jacksboro, which fell 48-6 to Decatur, and Reagan County, 10th ranked, which bowed 7-6 to Ballinger.

Second-ranked Poth outmuscled Woodsboro 32-6 in Class A and third-ranked Sonora took Junction's measure 27-0. Fourth-ranked White Deer smashed Clarendon 33-7, fifth-ranked Barbers Hill downed Anahuac 7-0 and sixth-ranked White Oak wiped out Whitehouse 36-0, but seventh-ranked Schulenburg was shocked 7-6 by Weimar. Eighth-ranked Albany clubbed Cisco 46-7, ninth-ranked Mason mangled San Saba 28-6 and Kaufman upset 10th-ranked Forney 13-12.

Hurdler Hill Has Surprises

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas State University hurdler Thomas Hill is full of surprises.

In June, he tied the world record of 13.2 in the 120-yard high hurdles and, two weeks later, handed Willie Davenport, the 1963 Olympic gold medal winner, his only defeat of the year.

"That's what I like to do, surprise myself," says Bill.

Hill had not run better than 13.6 until May 23, when he clocked a wind-aided 13.4. Then, in the U.S. Track and Field Federation meet he ran 13.3, 13.1 and 13.2. An improper wind gauge in the semifinals may have cost him a world record.

"I guess 13.6 was kind of a mental barrier," Hill says. "It was a matter of putting it all together."

The following week he ran 13.9 and finished fifth in the NCAA meet.

Davenport talked with Hill before the two met in the national AAU meet at Bakersfield, Calif.

"He (Davenport) saw the NCAA meet on TV and told me some things that I was doing wrong," says Hill. "He's an unselfish man. He'll sit down and talk with you."

Davenport has been Hill's idol for a couple of years.

"Beating him was one of the greatest feelings of my life," admits Hill. "You don't beat a guy like that every day. He's my idea of the best and that includes looking at him as an individual."

Hill's improvement has been rapid.

He did not formally compete in the hurdles in high school at New Orleans, participating in the high jump and long jump. Coaches persuaded him to concentrate on the hurdles although he still participates in several events in some meets.

Hill says he has no idea how much faster he can run the hurdles.

"I didn't think I could do this well," he says. "I'm far from being the world's best hurdler. There's room for a lot of improvement, motly in technique and form. If I can correct my faults, maybe I will surprise myself again."

Banking Rates High Interest

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain

Dear Joyce: How can I find out about various careers in banking -- for both high school and college graduates? -- C.S., San Diego, Calif.

Deposit your request with the American Bankers Association, 90 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10016. You'll get a return of free career literature.

Dear Joyce: My husband will be retiring soon and we want to open a small plastics business. Do you have any tips on how to keep it on a paying basis? -- M.B.I., Statesville, N.C.

Small business owner-operators will be interested in two recent publications: "Keep Pointed Toward Profit" and "Sweeping Profit Out the Back Door." Both are free publications of the U.S. Small Business Administration. Obtain a copy of each from SBA field offices, or, while my supply lasts, I'll send you a copy if you mail me a stamped, self-addressed, long white envelope at this newspaper. Write "Profit" on your outside envelope.

Dear Joyce: How old do you have to be to train to be a hairdresser? -- G.G., Inglewood, Calif.

Usually you must be at least 16 to begin training; states' educational requirements range from 8th grade to high school graduation. For beauty career information, write to the National Association of Cosmetology Schools, 125 Halsey St., Newark, N.J. 07102.

* * *

Dear Joyce: What do you think about rehabilitation counseling as a career? -- D.Y.V., Fort Wayne, Ind.

If you're the Good Samaritan type, excellent! You might be called on to:

Give rehabilitation counseling to a blind young woman ready to make the switch from a job in a sheltered workshop to a regular job among non-handicapped workers. Work with a shoemaker whose open-heart surgery ended his factory job. Or perhaps help a young man released from a mental hospital after eight years at the age of 24 -- he must be trained and helped to find work.

Rehabilitation counselors' main concern is the occupational adjustment for individuals who are disabled by disease, or conditions of severe social impoverishment. This includes counseling, training, job placement and follow-up. Current starting salaries range from about $4,600-12,000 with a mean of $7,500. Experienced counselors earn approximately between $7,800-22,000 with a mean of $11,800.

WHERE TO WRITE -- For a single free copy of career literature on rehabilitation counselors, which will be sent to you by the National Rehabilitation Counseling Association, mail a postcard to Joyce Lain at this newspaper. Ask for "R.C."

Dear Joyce: What do electric sign repairmen do exactly? -- T.T.L., Charlottesville, Va.

This is a bright-light possibility for those with electrical and mechanical potential, plus good color vision. Servicemen's duties range from painting and cleaning signs to repairing small cracks in them, but their main concern is to maintain the electrical systems in the signs. Training may be on the job, or through electricians' apprenticeship programs, specializing in signmaking and repairing. If this job lights your idea-bulb, send 10 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20402. Ask for Occupational Outlook Reprint No. 1650-85: Electric Sign Serviceman.

SIGNS PROCLAMATION — J. P. Ellis (left) and Bonnie Timera watch as Mayor Bobby McCormick signs a proclamation declaring Sept. 20-26 "V.F.W. Freedom Signature Week." Ellis represents Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 8231, and Mrs. Timora represents the V.F.W. Auxiliary. These organizations are conducting a campaign to obtain signatures on a petition calling for the release of American prisoners in Southeast Asia.

VFW Sponsors Petitions In Behalf Of Prisoners

Freedom and humane treatment for American servicemen held prisoners in Southeast Asia will be the object of petitions which members of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 8231 and the Ladies Auxiliary, of Snyder will circulate among local citizens Sept. 20-26, Commander J. P. Ellis announced today.

Commander Ellis said signed petitions obtained during "VFW Freedom Signature Week" will be forwarded to VFW Commander-in-Chief, Herbert R. Rainwater who will personally seek to deliver them in October to the North Vietnam delegation at the Paris Peace Talks.

"If this fails," Commander Ellis said, "then Commander-in-Chief Rainwater will present them to U.N. Secretary General U Thant and ask that the world organization bring pressure on Hanoi to assure that our men are treated humanely and the sick and injured released."

Over 1,400 American fighting men are believed to be held in Southeast Asia by the North Vietnamese, Viet Cong and other Communists, Commander Ellis reported.

"Reports from the handful of prisoners released by Hanoi and from those who have escaped tell us that our servicemen are being held prisoners without proper food or medical care in callous disregard for the standards set up by the Geneva Convention," he said.

"My Post believes that all Americans have a special obligation to these men," Commander Ellis continued, "and feel that these petitions will vividly demonstrate to North Vietnam that the nation is united solidly on this issue and that the cruel and inhuman treatment they are inflicting will only serve to prolong the conflict in Southeast Asia."

Petitions will be in local stores next week for signatures and read as follows: "We the undersigned urgently request the immediate release of all American Prisoners of War being held by your government. All the world is saddened by the reports of the cruel and inhuman treatment being accorded these men, and all peoples, including both those for and against the conflict in Southeast Asia, feel great compassion for those men being held. Failure to release these men can only prolong the conflict and bring down the wrath of humanitarisn everywhere upon the leaders responsible for the imprisonment of these men. Please release the American Prisoners of War."

The local campaign is part of a nation-wide campaign. One of the first steps taken by the local Post and Auxiliary was to get Mayor Bobby McCormick to sign a proclamation declaring Sept. 20-26 as FVW Freedom Signature Week" in Snyder.

Officers in the VFW Post 8231 and its Auxiliary urge local residents to sign the petitions.

A part of the Mayor's proclamation follows:

". . . Therefore, I, Bobby McCormick, Mayor of the City of Snyder, do proclaim Sept. 20-26, 1970, as 'VFW Freedom Signature Week' and urge all citizens of this community to demonstrate their obligation to these fellow Americans by signing petitions requesting the immediate release of all Americans held prisoner by the North Vietnam government and by Communist political front groups in Southeast Asia."

Illness Costly To Industries

LONDON (AP) — Labor turnover, sickness and absenteeism costs Britain's electronics industry at least 75 million pounds a year, according to a government report. The report claims that 3.7 million working days were lost in 1969 through absenteeism, compared to 335,000 in industrial disputes.

Sophomores elected H. Baker, president; Larry White, vice president; Vicki Smith, secretary-treasurer; Steve Beaver, reporter.

The eighth grade elected John Bilano, president; Diann White, vice president; La Ree Baker, secretary-treasurer; Chuck Jones, reporter.

GOOD GRASS MANAGEMENT — Fat cattle and good grass are shown on a Borden County ranch operated by Bun Smith. Smith has a 2-pasture grazing system. The cows he normally ran in 2 pastures were put in one herd. They are switched from one pasture to the other every 4 months. Mesquite was sprayed in 1968 under the Great Plains Conservation Program.

Rotation Grazing Plans Paying Off

Deferred rotation grazing systems are proving to be the most economical way of improving rangeland and increasing the income from these lands.

At the Barnhart Range Experiment Station, located about 125 miles south of Snyder, deferred grazing systems are showing a good profit over continuous grazing.

On a 4-pasture rotation system, the gross income was $3,050 per section. In a 4-pasture system the livestock from the 4 pastures are divded into 3 herds. This allows three pastures to be grazed and one rested. Each pasture is grazed 12 months and then rested 4 months. Onlyy one herd is moved every 4 months.

The 6-pasture system grossed $3,024 per section. In the 6 pasture system, each pasture is grazed 25 days and rested 125 days.

Pastures grazed at a moderate continuous rate averaged only $2,455 per section. The pastures in a rotation system out-produced the other pastures by about $500 per section. As the better grasses increase in the rotated pastures the stocking rate can be increased, and this will increase the profit even more.

A 4-pasture rotation system at the Sonora Experiment Station grossed $6.47 per acre and netted $1.68 per acre. Continuous heavy grazing at the station grossed $6. per acre and netted only 66 cents per acre.

Better distribution of grazing is attained in a deferred rotation system. Livestock are more concentrated and this eliminates spot grazing. Since the livestock are more concentrated, better grazing use is made of the undesirable grasses which are not normally grazed. The rest periods provided for in a rotational system is the key to range improvement. The rest periods allow the more productive and desirable grasses to increase. The rotation allows the rest period to come at a different time each year.

Soil Conservation Service technicians assisting the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District can be contacted for technical assistance in setting up grazing systems.
