He suggested that the robbers leave Mrs. Callahan her wedding ring, pointing out its sentimental value. The robbers nodded understandingly and returned the ring.

Callahan had $277 in cash and $3,000 in jewels. The robbers took it all. Callahan complained.

CHILDREN'S WEEK

June 16th to June 22nd

Children throughout the entire United States will celebrate their very own week from June 16th to and through Sunday (which is Children's Day) June 22nd. Six days of gala activities will be enjoyed by them.

We have prepared for these "play days" by purchasing cute little wearables for the youngsters who will participate in kiddie days. Fifty little play suits, the fast colored, washable kind. Pretty sheer little frocks for the parties and tea. Shoes, silk undies and other charming garments that are wanted for the occasions.

Our front window is a literal haven for these pretty little wearables, as well as enjoyable to look at as we have Mother Goose and several other interesting characters in high colored cut suits. Come down and view these beautiful scenes.

PRESIDENT HOOVER ANNOUNCES HE WILL SIGN TARIFF MEASURE

RECOVERY OF BUSINESS IS SEEN IN MOVE

CHIEF EXECUTIVE SAYS PARTY'S PLEDGE IS FULFILLED

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 16—President Hoover will sign the tariff bill. He regards such action as essential to prompt business recovery. Any inequitable rates the measure may contain, he says, can be corrected through the new flexible provision.

Foresees Expansion
With the return of normal conditions, he foresees a continued expansion of export trade. Foreign complaints against certain rates, he believes, can be satisfied through application to the tariff commission.

The chief executive sees in the flexible clause a much-needed "progressive advance" giving "great hope of taking the tariff away from politics, lobbying and log rolling."

He regards the bill, too, as the fulfillment of the republican party's pledge to protect the markets of agriculture and the wages of labor and of his own requests for a "limited" revision of the customs schedule.

Analyzing Contents
All this Mr. Hoover made clear in a statement issued for publication today, in which he bluntly asserted his intention of approving the bill and then proceeded to an analysis of its contents.

Immediately the tariff took on the aspect of a major issue in the coming congressional elections, with democrats and independent republicans from the west arrayed against the administration.

It was known the latter group which found in its effect to keep the tariff on a high level in the bill as necessary for an intensive campaign in the farming states and in support of Senator Borah as the principal speaker. The "average" farmer campaigned for Mr. Hoover's election.

Plan Spending Tours
The president himself will journey across the western tariff battleground this summer. In addition, such veteran champions of the protective policy as Vice-President Curtis and Senator Watson of Indiana, the republican leader, are considering speaking tours to meet the challenge of the independence.

In his statement Mr. Hoover placed responsibility for the responsibility squarely upon the shoulders of congress.

"Certainty," he said, "the president with his other duties, can pretend to make that decision, determining the terms of the compromise which sustained each of these 2,000 items, and which has required the attention of hundreds of men in congress for nearly a century and a half."

Advising in Tariff
After spending two months in tariff plans of two years ago and giving statistics in support of his position, the bill constitutes a "limited revision" and "no" he of advantage to the farmer, he Hoover devoted a large portion of his statement to the flexible provision.

No tariff law can be perfect, he said, and changing economic conditions require changes in the import duties. In the dynamic situation, he said, which should make a congressional revision, with its resultant agitation and business uncertainty, unnecessary for years to come.

Should the flexible clause of the bill prove inadequate, Mr. Hoover said he would ask that the tariff commission be given increased authority. He asserted a belief "that public opinion will give whole-hearted support" to such a program designed to develop a protective system "free from the vices" which, he said, have characterized every past revision of the tariff.

It is urgent that the uncertainties in the business world which have been added by the long-extended debate on the measure should be ended," the president said in summarizing his reasons for approving the bill.

ALAS FOR THE DRY! A VACATION PULL FINDS THE NATION DRIPPING WET!

—If one picture is worth 10,000 words, as the old Chinese proverb goes, then here's a yarn that'll stimulate your imagination. And does it have its exciting moments and a happy conclusion? Well, the fair mermaid at the left, with a gift from Papa Neptune draped around her shoulders, is not exactly what you'd call downhearted. And those kids in the upper picture, just to show you there is, after all, something nude under the sun, gallop into the surf as though they never had to worry about returning to school. The fellow with the rod and reel, who promised his friends he'd drop a line occasionally, proves he's a man of his word. Whatever are the virtues of acquiescing and boating most of us, on gazing at these photos, will say, "Let us spray!" And the only school that concerns these two young fishermen right now is a nice fat school of fish—"Blessing on thee, little man," etc., etc., and etc.

GRAND OLD VACATION DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN—AND IT'S EVERYBODY'S INNING FOR AN OUTING IN WATER

"KINGDOM BUILDING" GREAT WORK

Sermon Delivered By Rev. Boyd P. Milburn, Pastor of West End Baptist Church

Subject: "Kingdom Building"
Text: Col. 4:11. "Fellowworkers with the Kingdom."

We are here today as kingdom builders. The most important business in all the world is not the building of roads, nor schools, nor cities, nor nations, nor governments, as important as these are, but building "the kingdom of God." The Bible tells us that "the kingdoms of this world are to become the kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ." Jesus said: "Fear not little flock it is the Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom. We may become kingdom builders through prayer, faith, and service."

Building Through Prayer
Secret prayer is one of the essentials in kingdom building. We need to make much of private devotion, because it warms the heart, setting one in touch with the Great Infinite. It adjusts the life, putting it in place where it belongs. It moves the soul, being a mighty movement of the soul toward God. "It is a stirring," says Edward M. Dowds, "of the deepest forces of the soul toward the throne of heavenly grace." It strengthens the Christian, fitting him for greater service, and severer tests in life.

Building Through Faith
The eleventh chapter of Hebrews gives a long line of the heroes. "Who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions, quenched the violence of fire, escaped the edge of the sword, were made strong in fight, turned to flight the armies of the aliens." Such victories as these should encourage us to exercise our faith more. Jesus challenged His disciples to faith, while on earth. When they had been unable to cast out

AUTHORITY FOR "GREATER PLAINVIEW" REQUESTED; WOULD INCLUDE 10,000

(Special To The Journal)
PLAINVIEW, June 16—Authority to include within a "greater Plainview" some outlying territory close to this city, has been asked of William M. Stuart, director of the U. S. Bureau of Census by the Plainview Chamber of Commerce. Maury Hopkins, secretary, announced today.

Population of Plainview is announced as 8,584 for the 1920 census and Mr. Hopkins believes that by including several suburban centers the figures of greater Plainview will be over 10,000.

Territories to be included in the city are: Seth Ward, Longacre and one or two other platted sections. Senators Tom Connally and Morris Sheppard and Congressman Marvin Jones have been asked to assist in the movement.

Brutality
 If you have numbered among your ancestors an old-time sailing-ship mate—a "bucko mate" of the old days—it might be well for you to go out to the cemetery and have a look at his grave. The chances are that he has recently turned over in it.

The reason for this lies in an obscure little news item that may have escaped your attention. It tells a story telling how the United States supreme court the other day upheld the award of $12,000 to a sailor, who had sued the steamship company that employed him because a petty officer knocked him down with a monkey wrench.

The sailor was struck and flogged because he was late in coming on watch. He sued and won his $12,000; the company appealed the case, claiming that the occurrence was simply a brutal common among seamen and not a thing for which the company could be held liable. The supreme court turned the appeal down, and the sailor will get his money.

So, we repeat—the graves of the old-time mates of the days of square sail had better be inspected. For if there is anything on earth that would make one of those old ruffians turn over in his last resting place it would be the news that a ship's officer can no longer knock down a sailor at will.

Our old traditions seem to be passing fast. None was ever better entrenched than this tradition of brutality at sea. While American sailing ships were winning fame for speed and seaworthiness all over the world, they were also becoming notorious among sailors everywhere for abuse and hard treatment. It was common to speak of an American ship as a "hell wagon." To discipline a crew with fists, belaying pins and sea boots, all applied freely where they would do the most good, was known as giving them "Yankee muscle."

This brutality was closely interwoven with the American record at sea. A man who shipped before the mast in an American ship, especially in the latter days of sail, when expenses were paid to the bone, crews were small and cramped quarters were the wildest dream of the waterfront to serve as able seamen, expected to be kicked and walloped. The prime function of the mate was to rule with an iron hand, and he generally did it with a whole-souled conscience.

There was one tradition whose passing no one need lament. The American sailor today gets decent quarters, decent food, decent pay and decent treatment. His officers have no greater privileges than the laymen in industrial plants ashore which is as it should be. If a sailor is struck he can get damages. The hard-boiled era of "the glorious days of sail" has died forever, and it is a good thing.

But—can you imagine what one of those old "bucko mates" would say about this little lawsuit?

Foods
 A recent United Press dispatch from New York presents some interesting statistics on sectional preferences in food in the United States.

Corned beef hash, it develops, is New York's most popular restaurant dish. Philadelphia's favorite is, of course, scrapple. New Orleans diners like their food highly seasoned. In the middle west the reverse is true. Minnesota goes for steaks in a big way. California is extremely fond of salads. Boston baked beans are popular everywhere, although the eating of them has become a Saturday night ritual nowhere but in their native city.

Travelers often complain that American cooking is too standardized; but there are still sectional preferences and local favorites. The traveler who takes pains to inquire about local dishes and ask for them, will find a most commendable variety of local good eating the country

THE PLAINSMAN
 Says:

That Girl on Broadway says possibly there's no connection, but the day after Ma Ferguson announced her gubernatorial candidacy, Congressman John Garner suggested splitting Texas into five states.

The Ferguson candidacy, incidentally, reminds this column that the widely discussed democratic party pledge must be in for another test along about next November. The Plainsman doesn't think Mrs. Ferguson has much chance to win the democratic nomination, but a Ferguson is always a political threat in Texas and with the present crowded field almost anything might happen.

Should Mrs. Ferguson be nominated a lot of otherwise staunch democrats will vote for the republican candidate, or else stay away from the polls entirely. As a matter of duty, should the republican candidate be someone of the admittedly high calibre of Dr. George Butte, many voters will cast a GOP ballot to save the state from further 'Fergusonism'.

The greatest exodus from the democratic ranks will be seen if Mrs. Ferguson is the standard-bearer, but the nomination of either Thomas B. Love or Earle B. Mayfield will also result in some wholesale bolting. Mrs. Ferguson and Messrs. Mayfield and Love are very positive characters, who have made considerable enemies as they have gone along. Their platform, policies and past connections are disagreeable to many Texans who would rather vote for a republican than to cast a ballot for either.

Swarms of the insects, blown four or five miles out from land, settled on two large gas and whistling buoys off the Massachusetts coast and put out the lights, the Lighthouse Service of the Commerce Department reports.

Attracted by the heat, the hornets crawled in the ventilator holes in the lantern tops and found their way around the intricate arrangement of baffle plates to the gas burner.

The gas buoys have flashing lights which are turned off automatically every few seconds and relighted from a small pilot flame. A hornet got on the pilot flame and put the lights out. Dozens of the darned things were still in the lantern when the lighthouse tender arrived.

Two years ago the Lighthouse Service was having trouble with hornets which took a fancy to bolt the party. Time alone will tell the story.

The butler, for instance, is called Hastings, not John. In England, a lady's maid is also called by her last name and the cook, if married, is addressed as Mrs. A chef is usually called 'Chef' or by his last name."

That's something that has been worrying the Plainsman for years and probably a lot of the readers of this column have felt the same way about it. Now that it's all straightened out we feel considerably better.

Imagine the Plainsman's embarrassment at calling his butler by his first name! Mercurius heavens!

Incidentally, Mrs. Post also casts some light on the valet (pronounced 'val-eyt, not val-lay') which is interesting. "The valet," she reports, "is what Beau Brummel calls a gentleman's gentleman. His duties are the same as those of a lady's maid—except that he does not sew!"

Personally, the Plainsman wouldn't have a valet who wouldn't sew. Fact of the matter is, sewing is about the only thing the Plainsman needs done and a valet without needle and thread would be a valet unto the union decides that it'll be all right for them to replace buttons and sew up trousers ripped in the wash. Speaking the London treaty brings to mind the fact that some of the Washington wits are using it as a peg on which to hang various jokes about Senator William E. Borah of Idaho. One was said that Senator Borah wants to support the treaty, but is holding back because he cannot support the treaty without supporting the administration as well. Another tells this yarn:

"Senator Borah was riding horseback through Rock Creek park the other day. He was at peace with the world when he suddenly discovered that he and the horse were going in the same direction. It made him so mad he fumed for an hour before he could get calm. He's in the same fix about the treaty."

Sligo Celebrates School Improvement

SEAGRAVE, June 16.—(Special)—Sligo school, in southern Yoakum county, has just made some improvements and in honor of the completion, patrons of the district recently staged a program and celebration.

A permanent stage for the giving of entertainments by students of the school and others, was installed. Also a certain and other equipment.

A partition was removed to make the building into one large room 50 by 80 feet. C. M. Robertson, superintendent, explained, Miss Pauline Wilhoit of Lubbock, will be primary teacher for next year.

"We had 30 pupils last year and next year I believe we will have at least 35 to start the year with, Mr. Robertson said.

One of the improvements added was a system of acetylene lamps for lighting the building.

In New York

NEW YORK, June 16.—Whenever about this season of the year you observe Joe Cahill plodding down "the avenue" in his high boots and ten-gallon hat, you can get down on your cuffs that the gentle sport of "dude wrangling" is again under way.

Somewhere out in Wyoming and Montana they're taking the rattle-snakes from under the bed; getting a few good-looking cowboys rounded up for the romantic eastern gals; shaking a little dust off the sage-brush, and otherwise getting ready for the influx of "dudes."

And you can quote T. Joe Cahill, of the Dude Ranch Association to the effect that the word "tenderfoot" is rapidly disappearing from the wild west vocabulary.

The pretty maiden who rides the bride path in Central Park each morning has turned out to be a pretty good imitation of a cowgirl. And the young man who wears a monocle to the theater and takes to polo as a side line has been known to mount some of the very fractious bronchs and make them like it.

The dear fat ladies all done up in hiking pants may furnish comedy relief for the kitchen brigade but they just love the big open spaces.

New York and way points, as a matter of fact, have gone generally westward during the past few years. It's been about that length of time since a large group of dude ranch owners got together formed a society and decided to seek their customers from the lovers of swanky hotels.

Thousands of easterners now make western treks, living in log cabins and swallowing desert dust and getting the sweet fragrance of sagebrush in their nostrils.

They practice roping in their kitchens and stomach the native westerners by reappearing after a season or two and roping a calf from the saddle. There's a young lady from up Cape Cod way who has become almost as expert as the dyed-in-the-wool cow persons.

All this as it may, one of the facts of the year is going to be "sun branding."

In the good old days when a steer was roped, tied and ironed with the "L" or "Y" that was all in a day's work. But each dude ranch I am told, has a sunburn fund aimed at competing with the best that Florida affords.

The women from back east will be sent home with the brand of the ranch upon which they camp, says Cahill.

And it's the rays of the sun which will do the branding. A Lay JD will signify that she's spent the summer somewhere in the general vicinity of Cody, Wyo.

Each ranch has a set of initials cut in adhesive paper. When the sunburn-seeking visitor arrives, the initials are placed in whatever convenient spot she chooses—her back, shoulder or more appropriately, the calf.

Thus tan will appear all about the symbols and when they are removed that will be that.

Which reminds me that of all the wisest sights to be observed in this city of odds and ends, none is more touching than that of the crowds of tired folk gathered before the windows which reveal spectacular sunsets in the Canadian Rockies or sunset tinted deserts of rainbowed mesas. Hungrily they get in vicarious touch with the great outdoors while breathing carbon monoxide as it drifts by the pavements.

County Is Richer Following Raid

SEMINOLE, June 16.—(Special)—Gaines county is richer by $1,500 the result of a raid staged some time ago by Sheriff New McCleary says a deputy on a farm near town.

Three persons, two men and one woman, were captured, with a big copper still with a capacity of over 150 gallons of mash. The still, several barrels of mash and other equipment, were brought to town along with the trio.

Bond in cash, $500 for each person, was set and the trio released. When the case was called they failed to appear. The court ordered the bond turned into the proper fund and the mash destroyed. Later the still, now in custody of the sheriff, will be destroyed also.

Deep Planting Is Cure For Blowing

SEMINOLE, June 16.—(Special)—J. E. Woodard, a farmer living two miles west of Seminole, county seat of Gaines county, reports that deep planting has been of great help to him in stopping the blowing of sand on his land.

On a ten acre plot of land which he plowed deep in 1928 as an experiment, as visit following a heavy sand storm showed none of the sand had blown out. Said on adjoining acres had been seriously damaged by the wind.

"I am absolutely sold on deep planting, since it did not blow after the high winds," Mr. Woodard stated. "This spot used to be the sandiest place in my field and blew out bad. It has not blown out at all during the past three seasons, since I plowed it deep."

Much Gained Land Lease

OVER 400,000 ACRES SAID TO BE UNDER OIL CONTRACT

(By Staff Correspondent)
 SEMINOLE, June 16.—The Mobil Oil Petroleum company owns the simple title to some 90 sections of land in Gaines county, according to county officials. It is said to be one of the largest land holdings in the entire county.

In the event of oil being found in Gaines county, there is very little doubt according to officials, but the Magnolia would get into active drilling campaign.

400,000 Acres Leased
 More than 400,000 acres of land Gaines county is now under lease. Carol Cobb, county clerk, estimated Leases on a large part of this expire in two years and it anticipates there will be a big drilling campaign before the leases expire, Cobb said.

The north and west parts of the county, especially those adjoining Lea county on the west or Yoakum on the north, have been leased in large blocks.

One tract is now under way at the time, on what is known as the "B" tract in the southwest part of the county. It is in block A-27.

The store is being redecorated and rearranged. New stock has been ordered.

Opening will be late in the week. Miss Johnson has been connected with dry goods stores at Whitfield, Plainview and Floydada and is a experienced buyer and business woman.

Lvelland Proud Of New Courthouse

LEVELLAND, June 16.—(Special)—Residents of Leakey county are proud of the handsome brick courthouse which they moved into on May, 1928. It is three stories high with all of the county officers having space in the building and with the jail on the top floor.

The structure cost more than $200,000. Bonds amounting to $150,000 were voted by the county and warrants amounting to $50,000 were issued to complete the structure.

Besides the county the city of Levelland has one room for its office in the building.

HOBBAS HAS TEN MEN FOR EVERY JOB; SURPLUS OF COMMON LABOR IS RATHER SERIOUS; HUNDREDS OF THEM 'BROKE'

(By Staff Correspondent)
 HOBBES, N. M., June 16.—(Special)—That all the boys here from Signal Hill to Oil City, what are we going to do?

This is the problem that worrying hundreds of men from all over the middle and southwest, who have drifted into Hobbs after reading about the wonderful oil field development.

Too Many Men Here
 "We've got ten men for every job" one man declared. "There are lots of men who came here expecting to find work but didn't."

True it is there is lots of building going on in Hobbs. But contractors report they have more men than they can use.

There is a surplus of carpenters, bricklayers, masons and the like. Many of these came without definite assurance of a job, hoping to pick up steady work.

Many Bring Own Crews
 Contractors from such towns as Lubbock, Big Spring, Lamesa, Roswell, Clovis, Portales and Brownfield, who came here, brought their own crews of men. The larger contractors have been able to keep their men busy most of the time. About the only idle time is when it rains or when a job is finished ahead of time and there is no new work to start that day.

A good many "one man contractors," that is carpenters, who do their own work or else employ a friend or a relative or two, are not able to get steady employment. As a result a good many carpenters are taking jobs by the day at from $4 to $5 and $6, rather than be idle.

Oil field workers for the most part are hired by the larger companies and men here from other fields. Drillers and others who are well known in their lines, know they can get work on a well and they come here.

Common Labor Around Oil Well
 Common labor around oil well and supply houses have a glutted market. There is little demand, if any, for this type of work. Often there are two or three times as many men as there are places, when work starts.

Scores and hundreds of men come in broke. They are seeking work and have only a little money. Some times they get a day's work or two but for the most part they just live from hand to mouth.

These men unable to pay the $2 or $3 a day demanded by hotel men for rooms, have to sleep in cot houses or go without. Often one will see them slip back into a partially constructed building and spend the night on the boards, sleeping in their clothes.

PULLMAN SERVICE IS GIVEN HOBBES

HOBBES, N. M., June 16.—(Special)—With the establishment of passenger train service from Hobbs to Dallas and Fort Worth, by the Texas and New Mexico railroad, a through Pullman sleeping car will be in operation. G. W. Marshall agent for the company here, announced.

"We will have a through Pullman from Fort Worth and Dallas to Hobbs, leaving there at 10 o'clock at night and reaching here at 7 o'clock in the afternoon," he said.

The return will be from Hobbs at 5:30 with arrival in Fort Worth at 7 o'clock in the morning and Dallas at 8:30. The Pullman leaves Fort Worth at 11:30 o'clock at night."

The Texas and Pacific operator from Dallas to Moraines where the connection with the Texas-New Mexico is made. The latter line is a subsidiary of the T-P.

With establishment of the passenger service through express service is to start July 1, fast mail service will be added.

THE TIMINIES

The Timinies thought that they had had enough of Finland. They were glad when friendly "Hinterland" Man said: "Let's be on our way. Across the Gulf of Finland we can go as carefree as can be. If I in course passage we will leave this dry day."

"I'll go down to the boat dock now. While I am gone don't start row, but stay real quiet together. When I return, I'll be on our way. And to be hit the bunch behind they waved good-bye and didn't mind. Said Scouty: "Where we'll get next, I guess we'll shortly hear."

And then they heard see Goppo say: "I know before we're on our way. If we're to cross the Finland Gulf, in Russia we will land. I bet we'll land in Leningrad and, if we can, I'll sure be glad to hear about that city and I sure it's pretty grand."

The soon found out that he was right. Before there came the dark of night they all were on a small boat and bound for Leningrad. The gulf was calm as it could be and everyone was full of cheer. Said Goppo: "This is really quite the ideal side we've had."

"Oh, yes. I don't agree with you," said Scouty. "The big ocean blue that we sailed on some weeks ago gave us our finest trip. I like this calm but even so, when on a boat, you will get it's fun to have a bit of rough to make the big boat dip."

The boat soon got dark at Leningrad and every little Timy had passed to the shore. Then, very soon, they went up into town. Con-

That would be the most beautiful way to go."

REVIEW OF THE WEEK'S FOREIGN NEWS

By The Associated Press

BY CHESTER L. SHAW, Associated Press Cable Editor.

If a red backed novel told of a prince who renounced his royal rights and went into exile with a woman he loved, who came back to take the throne of his father amid general acclamation, who proclaimed as his queen the wife who divorced him for deserting her two year previous, it might be regarded as pleasant and romantic fiction but certainly not as something which could happen.

Yet such was the course of Carol II, proclaimed King of Rumania, by parliament with only one adverse vote and welcomed by the people in general. Then, with a throne, he needed a queen. Hence he considered that all laws relating to his exile enacted in Rumania from Jan. 4, 1926, the date beginning his exile, were invalid, and he considered the decree included the divorce granted his wife, Princess Helen, because he deserted her for Mrs. Magda Lupescu two years ago. He then proclaimed her queen.

Next Step Taken Queen Helen was understood to consider the divorce valid, however, so the next step was ecclesiastical annulment of the decree by the Rumanian Holy Synod, which was done.

Thus did the former crown prince, once considered a permanent royal exile, capture the throne of his late father and remove all hindrances in his path. In addition, he dismissed officials who talked against his return; he promoted army officers and others who had worked for him; he obtained a government, headed by former Premier Maniu, of the peasants' party which aided in his return, and decreed wide amnesty for political prisoners. He announced that his chief aim would be strengthening of the army and Rumania's financial structure.

Develops Into War China's annual spring strife has developed into a real war, the battles on a large scale, although there are hints now that peace is impending. For three months the government troops, headed by President Chiang Kai-Shek, have fought a northern coalition under Yen Hsi-Shan and Peng Yu-Hsiang, two outstanding northern warriors. Both sides have claimed victories, but it is no secret that losses on each side have been heavy.

The outstanding event of the Indian situation during the week was publication of the first section of the Simon report, written by a British governmental commission which for two years has studied the British Asiatic territory with a view to recommending its political future. The report was preliminary, as the recommendations will be published June 24, but some observers preferred to see in it a forecast that India should be given dominion status. As to India itself, the civil disobedience campaign gained strength in Bombay. Nationalist leaders decried the government by picketing.

foreign cloth shops and saloons, and sought to prevent mill hands from going to work. In addition they caused a huge demonstration which resulted in twelve Indians being injured by police sticks. As a precautionary measure the government asked for reinforcements and sent another battalion of troops was sent from Poona.

LEVELLAND, June 16.—(Special)—Clovis L. Vaughn of Morton has purchased the Houston Motor company with W. P. Smith, of Bledsoe. Mr. Smith has been superintendent of schools there for two years.

SEMINOLE, June 16 (Special)—Six hundred automobile tags have been issued by Sheriff Newt McCleskey so far in 1930. This number is 40 less than the total for all of 1929.

W. C. WRIGHT ON WAY TO ATTEND NATIONAL ENCAMPMENT

LAMESA, June 16.—W. C. Wright, Dawson county 4-H club boy, left here Sunday for Washington, D. C., as one of Texas' representatives to attend the National 4-H club encampment June 18 to 24. Wright won the Texas Bankers' association prize trip with all expenses paid with his three year's club record of raising 11 registered Duroc-Jersey hogs. The trip was awarded on the basis of net earnings, show records and management.

Wright began with one registered sow in 1927 and since that time he has distributed 35 head of registered hogs in the Texas Panhandle, New Mexico and Oklahoma. He won the Santa Fe R. R. free trip to the Chicago Livestock Exposition in 1928 with the same project.

"Wright will be joined en route by representatives of the Texas A. & M. college extension service," W. W. Evans, county agent, said. "The 4-H club boys and girls and representatives will be guests of the U. S. Department of Agriculture during the national camp. This encampment will afford those attending an opportunity to study government at the nation's capital as well as receiving instruction in rural leadership."

ABERNATHY'S CHEESE PLANT SUPPLIES NEEDS OF PLAINS; MARKET STEADILY INCREASES FOR STRUVE-MADE PRODUCT

By Staff Correspondent

ABERNATHY, June 16.—Located in a small town in the center of one of the most rapidly developing dairy counties in West Texas, is a cheese factory, perhaps the only one within 200 to 300 miles of the center of the South Plains country.

It is the Struve Cheese factory, owned by F. W. Struve, now mayor of Abernathy and for many years a merchant of this town.

R. Schroeter is the manager. He has lived here for many years and is well known among farmers and business men over the South Plains. Tom Struve is the cheese maker, having taken a special course of instruction in cheese making from an expert from a Wisconsin factory.

"We have the best equipment in the state for cheese making," F. W. Struve said. "There is no better to be had anywhere."

"We started making cheese about a year ago and after we had made up quite a lot, found we had not handled the business right and had overproduced. Then we had to start over for a little while and start over again. That, of course, was costly."

Cheese Making Art Cheese making is an art in itself. Fresh milk and cream has to be used and used the same day it is milked. Otherwise it will become sour and the cheese would not be good.

The plant consumes an average of 2,500 to 3,000 pounds of sweet milk per day. Manager Schroeter explained.

"Eight pounds of milk will make a pound of cheese," he said. "The plant has a capacity of 8,000 pounds of milk per day or 1,000 pounds of cheese. We are not operating at full capacity at this time, due to the fact that our milk supply is not as large as it will be later in the summer."

Make Two Types "It takes about 24 hours to run off a batch of cheese. We make two types, the 'Jonah' and the 'Prince'. Our brand is 'Queen of the West' and we're having a steadily increasing market."

"My son is the salesman and his territory covers from Amarillo south to Brownfield, Lubbock and other towns in this territory."

The plant has storage room with a capacity of 20,000 pounds of cheese. The room is a refrigerator type, kept at an even temperature and contains racks in which the cheese is placed for aging purposes.

Age To Suit Tastes

"We age our cheese to suit the tastes of our customers," Mr. Schroeter explained. "Some want it greener than others. We have some cheese that is a year old. It is very mellow. But the average cheese is aged about three months."

"Because we have to use the milk when it is sweet, we operate seven days a week. Each morning Mr. Struve makes up his batch of cheese and in the afternoon puts it into the molds. The next day he takes the cheese out and puts it in the store room.

Make Buttermilk "We make our own Bulgarian buttermilk for the foundation for making cheese. Occasionally there is a call for buttermilk and we handle it. But our entire business is the manufacture of cheese."

Annual production of the plant will be around 150,000 pounds, Mr. Schroeter added.

Recently N. E. Smallin, editor of the Abernathy Review, staged a "buy home made cheese" campaign through his newspaper on connection with the plant. A goal of a thousand pounds of cheese was set.

"More than 2,000 pounds of our own cheese was sold here in Abernathy," Mr. Smallin added. "I think that is a pretty good test of town loyalty."

The plant makes its cheese in several sizes, a store size that will average 10 to 12 pounds and a "family size" that will run about one third of that weight.

Before being placed in the cooling room each cheese is wrapped in cheese cloth and then coated with paraffine. The longer the cheese is permitted to age the better it will be, the cheesemaker said.
