Negroes Violate Ordinance

Negroes in Birmingham, Ala., began riding city buses on a "first come, first serve" basis, in violation of city segregation laws. Police immediately began making arrests. The Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth, a leader in the integration movement, is in the second seat, next to the window.

Mad Bomber Still At Work As Hunt Widens

NEW YORK (AP)—A device described by police as "definitely the work of the 'mad bomber'" was discovered early today in the Paramount Theater in Times Square.

It was found by the city's special bomb squad. It was encased in a red sock and hidden in an orchestra section seat.

Grand Central Station had its second scare in two days when a cylindrical object was found at 8:30 a.m. atop a triangular door hinge near a taxi entrance at 43rd St. and Vanderbilt Ave.

Police described it as a brass pressure filter about six inches long and two inches in diameter, capped at both ends, and said it was harmless.

But until it was examined, the area was roped off to keep commuters from passing near the device.

A telephoned warning last night sent a score of policemen to the theater but a preliminary search revealed no bomb. After the theater's 2,500 patrons had left after the last show, police made a more thorough search.

A series of telephoned bomb threats which police attribute to crackpots and cranks has sent the bomb squad to several private and public locations since a pipe bomb was found last Monday in the New York Public Library. It did not explode.

Officials To Get Utilities Report

City commissioners will hold a meeting tonight which was postponed from last Tuesday.

The meeting will be at the city hall at 5:15 p.m.

The group was slated for a regular meeting on Christmas, but delayed it. Commissioners thought about cancelling it completely, but they decided to hold one tonight rather than have a month between meetings. The last session was on Dec. 11, and the next scheduled conference would have been Jan. 6.

H. W. Whitney, city manager, said this morning that two items were on the agenda — second reading of the dog ordinance and a report on the City-Air Force water and sewer line proposals.

First of three required readings of the dog ordinance was made at the Dec. 11 meeting. Second and third readings are just formalities, Whitney said, unless citizens appear to protest the regulation.

The ordinance will provide a pound fee and daily charges for dogs claimed after they have been impounded.

Whitney said a report had been received from the Air Force concerning estimates of costs and how the government means to supply finances.

At meetings earlier this year, the city agreed to pay for all lines, but the government would loan part of the money for the projects.

Hearing On Receivership For Insurance Company Postponed

AUSTIN (AP)—A show cause hearing for the Legal Security Life Insurance Co. was postponed today by the Insurance Commission at the request of the company.

A new hearing was set for Jan. 18 at 10 a.m.

The commission had ordered the Dallas firm to answer charges that its continued operations would be "hazardous to the insuring public" and it should be placed in the hands of a receiver.

A commission spokesman said the firm presented a doctor's certificate that George Heath, president of the company, was ill and unable to testify.

The commission ordered the show-cause hearing Dec. 13 after a hearing on transactions between Legal Security Life Insurance, Legal Reserve Insurance Trust, also of Dallas, and the American National Investment Trust Co. of Houston.

"Said Legal Security Life Insurance Co. has transacted its business in such a manner as to make its continued operation hazardous to the insuring public," alleged the commission. "During the interval

Massive Brush Fire Continues In California

MALIBU, Calif. (AP)—The massive Malibu brush fire was running loose in two areas today after covering about 25,000 acres, and at one point threatening a 75-room Franciscan monastery and about 20 homes.

The number of homes and other structures already destroyed by the fierce three-day-old coastal blaze was placed at 68 by County Fire Chief Keith Klinger.

He said the figure might have been much higher except for last-ditch stands by fire fighters who warded off flames headed for a colony of expensive, movie stars' homes and a 34-unit motel on the Pacific Coast highway.

In Sacramento, Gov. Goodwin Knight declared a state of disaster in Los Angeles County at the request of the County Board of Supervisors.

This makes legally available all manpower and equipment of the state government to help fight the fires.

The main area of distress today was in the Malibu Township area, where a second fire was started by flying sparks from the original blaze last night. The first fire was burning on a semicircular front starting about 10 miles west of Santa Monica and extending north and west. The other blaze was down the coast about 2 1/2 miles.

Firemen reported that most of the occupants of the monastery, located in Malibu Canyon, were evacuated, along with other residents of the area.

The fire threatening the monastery was known to have destroyed nine homes. There was a report that six more structures were destroyed in Carbon Canyon, where the blaze jumped from Las Flores Canyon.

The fire has taken only one life so far. One newsman described this as "amazing, considering all the people who were apparently trapped at one time or another."

Roaring Flames

Uncontrolled flames rear around this home in the Santa Monica Mountains near Malibu, Calif., as a firefighter stands by. Water sprinklers on the roof helped spare it. Officials said at least 35 homes were destroyed and more than 18,500 acres charred.

$50,000 Drive Set For Industrial Tract

The Big Spring Industrial Foundation today launched a campaign for $50,000 for purchase of a 186-acre industrial tract.

J. H. Greene, former Chamber of Commerce manager and a leader in the establishment of the foundation, was named to direct the campaign.

Deadline for raising the money is Feb. 19, the expiration date of an option the industrial foundation holds on the land. The property is situated approximately four and a half miles east of Big Spring between U. S. 80 and the T&P Railway.

Purchase of the land and the campaign for funds were authorized Thursday afternoon by directors of the foundation. Leroy Tidwell, president, outlined for directors the recommendations of the executive committee of the organization that the tract be acquired.

Actual cost of the land will be about $28,000, Greene said. However, the directors set the campaign goal at $50,000 to provide funds for erection of signs and for other expenses.

Campaign offices are being established in the Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored formation of the industrial foundation last year. Greene, who is receiving severance benefits from the Chamber, said he will manage the campaign without remuneration.

Twelve officers and directors of the foundation agreed yesterday to assist with the drive, and Greene said this morning he plans to recruit other community leaders.

The entire campaign committee probably will be completed by Monday, he said.

Foundation membership certificates will be issued to all persons contributing to the fund. All donations, of course, will become the property of the non-profit foundation.

Contributions will be accepted at the Chamber of Commerce, and Greene said all checks should be made payable to the Big Spring Industrial Foundation.

Greene said the tract is the closest to Big Spring that could be found by a site committee. All utilities, and rail and highway access are available.

Foundation officers and directors attending Thursday's meeting were Tidwell, president; Marvin Miller, vice president; and Larson Lloyd, Vance Lebkowsky, R. W. Currie, Clyde McMahon, Raymond River, Truman Jones, Roy Reed, Dr. P. W. Malone, Dr. R. B. G. Cowper and J. H. Greene, directors. Others present were J. B. Wiginton, acting president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Wayne B. Smith, chamber manager.

5 Die In Crash Of AF Weather Plane

HANNO, Japan (AP)—A U.S. Air Force weather reconnaissance plane carrying 11 men hurtled into a densely timbered forest slope near here tonight. Police said five persons were killed.

Bodies of four crewmen were dragged from the flaming wreckage. A Japanese farmer was fatally crushed by a tree felled in the crash, police said.

Maid Of Cotton Contest Begins

MEMPHIS (AP)—Seven judges settled down today to picking the 1957 Maid of Cotton from 23 Cottonbelt beauties. Winner will be named tonight.

She will be the industry's "ambassador" on a series of international promotion tours.

During earlier preliminary judging, the young women will parade in swim suits for the judges in a private session—the sedate Maid contest does not allow such doings in public.

Officials said judges will be looking not only for beauty of face and figure, but also "potentials as a model . . . the sort of personality that people instinctively like . . . audience appeal . . . a spirit of cooperation . . . exemplification of young American womanhood at its best . . . education . . . evidence of a good family background."

Fair Weather For Southwest Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cold weather in the East as a whole and in the Northeast were predicted today for the New Year's weekend.

On New Year's Day itself, the Weather Bureau said in a special holiday bulletin, the outlook is for prevailing fair weather in most of the country. The exceptions are parts of the Southwest where rain is expected; and the Great Lakes and Northern Appalachian regions where snow flurries are in prospect.

City, Bus Line Ask For Ruling

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Two parties to Florida's capital city bus segregation row were locked in litigation today after a rash of technical arrests and a non-violent street encounter between Negroes and white persons.

Cities Transit, Inc., asked a federal judge yesterday to rule whether it is bound by city and state laws that require Negroes to sit in the rear of buses. At the same time, the City of Tallahassee petitioned Circuit Court for an order directing Cities Transit to run its buses on a segregated seating basis, or forfeit its franchise.

Buses continued running—under protection of a federal court temporary injunction against interference—despite municipal orders to the contrary and token arrests of bus line personnel.

The City Commission suspended Cities Transit's franchise at midnight Wednesday and when Thursday runs started, Manager Charles L. Carler of the bus company and nine drivers were arrested.

Bond of $100 was posted by each on charges involving operation of unfranchised transportation. Service was allowed to proceed, but Police Chief Frank Stoutamire warned drivers they must enforce seating segregation.

The Negro-White encounter occurred at the transit company's main terminal. About 40 jeering white teen-agers and 200 white adult bystanders met a Negro group which arrived to carry out its announced intention of sitting in front seats of buses.

The Negro group drew back and did not board the buses.

The Rev. C. K. Steele, president of the Negro Inter-Civic Council which spearheads the seating integration drive, said the teen-agers' demonstration caused him and 15 council officers to abandon their project of sitting en masse in front seats.

"We are not seeking trouble," Steele said. "Those young people looked as though they might mean trouble. I felt we had nothing to gain by precipitating any disturbance."

Zapata Voting Probe May Go Up In Smoke

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Chronicle said today that evidence of alleged voting irregularities in Zapata County may go up in smoke unless the federal government acts quickly.

U.S. Atty. Malcolm Wilkey, who launched the original investigation in Zapata County after citizens there had complained, showed little signs of acting.

"The case is in abeyance," he said. "The next move is up to the Justice Department in Washington."

This was contradicted by Arthur Caldwell, chief of the civil rights department, which handles cases of suspected voting irregularities. Ballots wanted for evidence may be destroyed Jan. 6, unless the federal government takes some action.

At issue are 683 absentee ballots cast Nov. 6. Citizens there complained the absentee voting was being handled irregularly. The U.S. district attorney's office at Houston then stepped in and seized the ballots on election day.

Federal Judge James V. Alfred then released them to the state. He ruled that federal authorities had no jurisdiction over the disputed ballots and turned them over to state District Judge R. D. Wright of Laredo.

Wright ordered the ballots counted and then impounded them in his custody until the dispute could be settled.

But under state law impounded ballots can be destroyed 60 days after an election unless a request to preserve them is made to the judge who signed the impounding order, and granted by the judge.

Skies Clear Over Texas

By The Associated Press

A large high pressure system remained camped over Texas Friday, keeping winter's storms at bay.

Skies were clear and the Weather Bureau said they would remain that way. Predawn temperatures ranged from 54 degrees at Brownsville to 19 at Salt Flat.

Thursday's highs ran from 74 at Alice to 50 at Salt Flat.

Mother, 5 Children Perish In Blaze

IRONWOOD, Mich. — A young mother and five children died today in a fire that destroyed their seven-room farm home.

The victims were 31-year-old Mrs. Ina Helleg, wife of an iron ore miner, and their four children, Dennis, 10; Sandra, 9; Linda, 7; and Keith, 2; and James Gallo, 13, a nephew.

Gray Color Shows Mars Has A Drought

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—Life on Mars is colored gray, or has just turned that way. And the planet perhaps is having a bad drought, an astronomer reported today.

These are findings from excellent peeks at Mars when it paid its closest visit this summer in 32 years.

Dark areas which presumably are plant life have long been seen on Mars. They have appeared in vivid greens and blues to observers during the height of the Martian spring.

This year they seemed to be an almost uniform gray in color tests, said Carl Sagan of the Yerkes and McDonald observatories of the University of Chicago.

Perhaps the greens and blues seen before were optical illusions, or perhaps a severe drought cut down the lavish color this year, Sagan said.

Gray could be important for Martian life, he added. Gray-colored plants would absorb more of the weaker sun rays reaching that more distant planet.

Sagan described observations made by Dr. G. P. Kuiper and others in a speech prepared for the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

It still seems that Mars has plant life, but it must be a tougher, more efficient form than that found on earth, Sagan said.

The main evidence for life on Mars is seasonal color changes in its dark areas, and changes in their extent. Also, these dark areas reappear after being covered by huge Martian dust storms suggesting vegetation growing back again later.

Last summer the dark areas looked gray when compared with a color chart illuminated by daylight-quality light. Occasionally there were traces of green-blue pastels.

Great dust storms seen this year plus the re-formation of Mars' south polar ice cap after it melted may both indicate a drought in the equatorial regions of Mars, Sagan said. The dark areas are localized in this mid-belt.

Whitney Takes Briefings For Ambassador Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—Millionaire John Hay (Jack) Whitney has arranged a monthlong series of briefings before taking on his assignment as new American ambassador to Great Britain.

The 52-year-old sportsman-finance, who was named yesterday by President Eisenhower for the London post, will put aside his varied New York civic and business activities early next month to begin his training.

Friends said Whitney has already made it clear he intends to be a "working ambassador," dealing personally with major diplomatic chores instead of passing them to a big staff of career employees.

Whitney has asked for a round of unusually long and detailed State Department briefings, sessions on the problems that have jarred British-American relations, especially since the Middle East crisis.

About mid-February he will leave for London, accompanied by his attractive wife, the former Betsy Cushing Roosevelt, ready to stay on as long as the White House wants him.

The selection of Whitney to replace Ambassador Winthrop W. Aldrich, which had been widely forecast, was formally announced by the White House late yesterday.

An exchange of letters showed that Eisenhower accepted with "the utmost reluctance" the resignation of the 71-year-old Aldrich, U. S. envoy at London for the last four years. Aldrich said that for personal reasons he is anxious to return to the United States. He is a former chairman of the Chase National Bank.

The Whitney appointment is subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Whitney's main initial task will be to help direct U. S. moves to bolster Britain's present shaky financial footing while at the same time seeking to rebuild the traditionally intimate British-American partnership that existed before the Suez blowup.

One of his first major acts may be to help lay the groundwork for an expected Big Three conference bringing together Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Eden and French Premier Mollet.

Although Whitney has won many of his headlines as a polo player, movie producer, race horse owner and aviation enthusiast, he also has a reputation as a "serious millionaire."

Vatican Sources Think Fatima Prophecies Relate To Pius XII

By FRANK BRUTTO

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Do the prophecies of Fatima relate to Pope Pius XII?

Many here think they do. But the secret of the prophecies will not be revealed until 1960, unless Lucia dos Santos dies before then.

The only survivor of the three little shepherds who reported seeing the visions at Fatima 40 years ago, she now is a 51-year-old cloistered nun at Coimbra's Carmelite convent in Portugal, known as Sister Maria.

Whether the prophecies were revealed to Sister Maria or were her own, based on her experience, has never been disclosed. Part of the prophecies were made public in 1941. But the still secret portion is known only to Sister Maria, and, possibly, to two other persons—the Bishop of Leiria, her ecclesiastical superior, and the Pope himself.

The revealed portion of Sister Maria's prophecies forecast World War II and told of a possible conversion of Russia to the Roman Catholic faith. This conversion, however, was conditioned upon a "sincere return of humanity to Christian life."

Otherwise, said the prophecy of Sister Maria, "Russia will extend its errors throughout the world, promoting wars and persecutions against the church."

The second portion of her prophecy, Sister Maria said, was not to be revealed until 1960 or on the day of her death. "If it occurred before then."

Fatima, today one of Roman Catholicism's outstanding shrines to the Virgin Mary, has a story now well known.

Until May 13, 1917, it was a group of huts near the village of Aljustrel, so tiny it did not show on maps of Portugal.

The Cova da Iria, where the shepherd children reported their visions of the Virgin, was a grassy slope. The children had paused to play and were building a hut when the sky suddenly darkened. They were about to run when—as they later told their story—they saw a beautiful lady in white.

Lucia, oldest of the three, found courage to ask her what they should do. The children were told to come the 13th of each month to the same spot until Oct. 13, when, they were promised, something unusual would occur. The children's story spread.

Questioned closely by public authorities, they held to their story of the beautiful lady in white. They said they saw her the 13th of each month although others there saw nothing.

On Oct. 13 some 50,000 gathered on the grassy slope. Many waited throughout a rainy night. In the late afternoon, while rumbles of disbelieved increased, Lucia suddenly cried out: "Look at the sun."

The rain had stopped. Thousands later affirmed that they saw the sun revolve wildly, turn blood red in color and shoot toward the horizon. From that day the story of Fatima grew.

In 1930, after careful investigation, the Portuguese episcopate proclaimed the apparition of the Cova da Iria as being "worthy of faith" and permitting the cult of Our Lady of Fatima.

Meanwhile, death came to both Giacinta and Francesco Marto, the other two children who had experienced the visions. Lucia became Sister Maria Dolores.

Federico Cardinal Tedeschini, archpriest of St. Peter's Basilica, represented Pope Pius XII at Fatima's anniversary observance Oct. 13, 1951.

Cardinal Tedeschini said the Pope, walking in the Vatican gardens during the 1950 holy year, four times had experienced the vision of the sun as it had occurred at Fatima. Tedeschini's statement adds interest to what the unrevealed portion of Sister Maria's prophecy may contain.

So does one other fact. On the day that the three children announced their first vision, May 13, 1917, Pope Benedict XV was consecrating a 41-year-old monsignor bishop.

The young bishop was Eugenio Pacelli, now Pope Pius XII.

Negro Leader Got Courage From Blast

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A 34-year-old Negro minister is leading the mounting attack on Birmingham's racial segregation laws.

Fred Lee Shuttlesworth's belief in his mission was strengthened when he escaped unhurt in a dynamite explosion that shattered his home Christmas night. The dynamite has not been arrested.

"I know it was the hand of God," Shuttlesworth said. "I know I was preserved for a purpose: to preach the Gospel of Jesus Christ, and to implement that Gospel insofar as possible as it relates to human dignity and human rights."

The day after the explosion Shuttlesworth led Negroes in deliberate violation of Birmingham's bus segregation ordinance. This statute requires seating of the races in separate sections of public vehicles.

He hopes that the arrest of 21 Negroes on charges of sitting in seats reserved for white persons will bring a quick federal court test of the segregation law.

A Birmingham Baptist minister since 1950, Shuttlesworth during much of that time has fought for some relaxation of this Deep South city's rigid racial barriers.

Born in rural Montgomery County, Shuttlesworth grew up near Birmingham, the eldest of nine children. He completed high school, married and was preaching and working at Mobile, Ala., when he decided to complete his education.

Over the protests of his wife he sold his home, left his job and enrolled at Selma University at Selma, Ala., in 1947.

During the next six years he attended Selma U. and Alabama State Teachers College at Montgomery, preached in Selma area churches and for two years taught in Dallas County schools. Then he was called to the Bethel Baptist Church in Birmingham.

He quickly plunged into the civil rights struggle of Birmingham Negroes. Of his many conferences with white officials he says: "A white man has the best ability I know of smiling like he means yes and saying, 'Hell, no.'"

"It makes us know that we must move forward positively on our own and do it now."

As leader of the movement, he has urged a fighting campaign for full racial integration in the South.

New Year's Celebration To Be Big One

By The Associated Press
Much of America knocks off work for 1956 after today and gets a running start on New Year's Eve celebration that promises to be second to none — funwise or otherwise.

Centers of revelry across the nation report growing reservation lists for the biggest night of the year.

Costs are about the same as last year.

New York's Embassy Club and the Knight Box, both in the Ambassador Hotel on Park Avenue, asked the same top price as last year—$20 a person. Formal dress is a must.

The $30 tab includes only dining and dancing. Drinks are extra, as are taxes, which is the rule generally.

Prices are from $15 to $25 at two of New York City's three big night clubs — the Latin Quarter and the Copacabana — and from $15 to $20 at the third, the Chateau Madrid. Formal dress is optional.

The Ambassador Hotel's Copacabana in Los Angeles is not far behind New York's top prices at $28.50 a person, but there is one big difference. All the drinks you want are included.

Ciro's in Hollywood asks $22.50 a person for a steak dinner — no drinks.

In New Orleans, the Roosevelt Hotel's Blue Room is charging $25 a person but is pitching in drinks before and after dinner, plus a small bottle of champagne.

The highest prices for drinks in the Louisiana city probably will be at Prime's 500 Club, where Lily Christine, the so-called Cat Girl, is performing. Drinks there will be $2.55 up.

The peak price in Detroit is $30 a couple at the Wonder Bar night spot.

Elsewhere around the country: Philadelphia — Average evening at night club and hotel parties will run from $12 to $20 a person.

Boston — Costs will average $3 a person without dinner and $10 a person for a full course dinner.

San Francisco — Bimbo's 365 Club offering "everything but the drinks" for $15 a person. The Sheraton-Palace offers the same thing at $12.

Chicago — Prices range from $20 plus tax for dinner, show, favors and dancing at the Chez Paree night club and $20 tax included for supper, favors and dancing at the Ambassador East Pump Room to $6 at the Bismarck Hotel for music, favors and dancing.

Washington — Night spots generally charging around $2 to $3.50 cover. Some clubs and hotels are offering a package of "everything" for $10 a person.

Atlanta — Celebrations will average $10 a person if the club has a floor show and $7.50 if it does not.

Dallas — Night club prices will average $6 a person, with the range in the big hotels from $15 a person to $13 a couple.

St. Louis — One top hotel asking $12.20 a person, which includes dinner, floor show, favors and noisemakers. The range in other hotels is $8 to $10 a person.

Radar Catches 27 Speeders

Speeders found the going tough on Highway 80 Wednesday night. The police department used its radar unit for about two hours on spots on Third and Fourth Streets and issued 27 tickets in that period.

Drivers given tickets were traveling above the legal 30 miles per hour limit, and the fastest speed noted was 44. Most of the tickets were for speeds between 39 and 42 however.

The number of tickets issued is the largest number given at any one time while using the radar set.

Barker Loses Paternity Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Jess Barker, former husband of Susan Hayward, has lost a paternity suit brought against him by actress Yvonne Doughty.

Miss Doughty, 26, filed the action before the birth of the child, a girl named Morgana. Barker admitted in court that he had intimacies with the actress while he was still married to Miss Hayward, but said he would "not accept the role of father of the child."

Superior Judge Walter H. Odegar told Barker yesterday: "Frankly and honestly, I'm saying to your face that I don't believe you. I don't believe it ended when you say it did. I believe it went on — for too long."

Barker was ordered to continue paying $50 monthly support.

Apt Subject

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Gerald A. Swanick, the Republican candidate for mayor, chose an apt subject when he spoke to the Pima County Young Republican Club. The crowd at yesterday's meeting totaled 11 persons. Last week's meeting attracted seven persons. Swanick's theme: "The need for organization."

Probe Unit Cites Integration For Higher Costs, Delinquency

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressional subcommittee says higher costs and an "appalling" increase in disciplinary and educational problems have resulted from racial integration of Washington schools.

Contending that white and Negro pupils were mixed too abruptly, the House District Subcommittee said the local school system "is not a model" and "cannot be copied by those who seek an orderly and successful school operation."

Two members who protested the holding of hearings last September, Representatives Dewitt S. Hyde (R-Md) and A. L. Miller (R-Neb.), arranged to meet today to decide whether they will file "additional views" to the subcommittee's final draft of its report.

The draft apparently had the approval of Chairman James C. Davis (D-Ga) and Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss), the two members active in the hearings, and of Rep. Woodrow Wilson Jones (D-NC). The remaining member, Rep. Joel T. Broyhill (R-Va), is recuperating from an illness and has not seen the draft.

Both before and during the September hearings, the Washington chapter of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People sponsored protest meetings at which speakers contended the hearings were slanted and biased.

Several members of the local board of education have protested a number of the subcommittee's findings.

The report said the school board had "too hastily ordered the integration" shortly after the Supreme Court's ruling in 1954 "without sufficient consideration of the enormous problem, with scant preparation and without study or survey of known integrated school systems."

The action, the report said, "greatly accelerated" an exodus of white residents from Washington to the Virginia and Maryland suburbs. If the exodus continues at its present rate, the report added, "the District will become a predominantly Negro community in the not too distant future."

The mixing of students, the report says, "has focused attention upon the differences in ability to learn and educational achievement" of whites and Negroes, has "created a most difficult teaching situation," and has affected the health and morale of a number of teachers.

Discipline problems and delinquency resulting from integration "have been appalling," the report said, and sex problems in the schools have alarmed white parents.

Operating costs of the schools will be "substantially increased," the report said, and already a "new form of segregation" is being established by grouping students according to their ability to learn.

The report makes a number of recommendations, including a liberalized policy of permitting pupil transfers, establishing special schools for slow-learning pupils and for delinquents, and provisions for possible removal of school board members. It suggests also a requirement that school records be kept by race.

GI Housing Study Planned By Teague

WASHINGTON (AP)—When Congress gets going full speed a point of interest to war veterans will be a housing study directed by Rep. Olin Teague of the Bryan-Corsicana district.

Judging by the letters and wires coming in from over the nation, from banks and finance houses as well as veterans, a lot of changes in the GI housing program will be proposed. The crux of the problem is the interest rate on loans.

The situation is summed up by Oliver Meadows, counsel for the House Veterans Affairs Committee, of which Teague is chairman. Meadows hails originally from Ennis, in Teague's district.

The problem as he sees it: Federal Housing Administration loan interest rates have increased from 4½ to 5 per cent. With an added ½ per cent mortgage insurance charge, the margin now is a full 1 per cent on FHA loans and those insured by the Veterans Administration (VA) for veterans.

An act of Congress is needed to hike VA loan rates from the present 4½ per cent up to 5 per cent. The committee has received complaints that unless this is done, lenders just won't make money available under the GI program. The long accepted differtial is only ½ per cent.

Teague says even if the rate is increased, it still won't make much difference to the millions of veterans who live in rural areas.

He said banks, which make the loans to veterans with the VA insuring the mortgages, have done most of their business in the cities and heavily populated areas.

The committee has been told that the GI loan program doesn't net the banks enough return to interest them in making loans extensively in the more remote areas.

Raising the interest rate by ½ per cent, Teague added, would have "the effect of saddling a substantial increase" on the veterans around the cities who now are able to get loans. It would mean $600 to $1,000 more interest payable over the years on a $10,000 loan.

The VA now has 250 million dollars available for direct loans, but has not made use of its authority to make them. Teague said it has been proposed that this amount be boosted to a billion dollars and that the VA lend it out.

VA records show 25.2 per cent of all veterans over the nation have used the GI housing loan program. In Texas the figure is 28.9 per cent.

Suez Salvage Work Begins

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—Egyptian and Swedish salvage workers today begin clearing the southern end of the clogged Suez Canal.

Sunken ships, damaged bridges and other debris have blocked the 103-mile canal for almost two months. British and French salvage men cleared a channel from Port Said to El Cap, a third of the way down the canal, but since the British-French withdrawal the only work toward reopening the waterway has been Egyptian clearance of some mines and continued operations by three British and French ships in Port Said harbor.

Clearing operations scheduled to begin yesterday were reportedly delayed after Egyptian authorities announced they had to clear mines first.

There was no indication whether the Egyptians had changed their position and were ready to permit eight more British and French salvage ships assembled in Port Said to move south into the canal.

British and French crews remained with their vessels as volunteers under U.N. authorities after Britain and France pulled the last of their invasion forces from the canal zone last Saturday.

Leader Of Sumatran Revolt Escapes, Heads For Hills

JAKARTA (AP)—The government radio in the capital of rebellious north Sumatra announced today that the leader of the army revolt, Col. Maludin Simbolon, had escaped from Medan, the north Sumatran capital.

Army sources said Mustang fighters and B25 bombers of the Indonesian air force took off from Jakarta for north Sumatra this morning.

They said the planes, in squad strength, were going to help beat off any attack by Simbolon against officers trying to reinstate the authority of Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo's central government.

Simbolon's second in command, Lt. Col. Djumir Ginting, announced yesterday he had taken command of the army in north Sumatra. He pledged his loyalty to President Sukarno and said he would support the central government.

Simbolon and the leader of a companionless army revolt in central Sumatra, Lt. Col. Achmad Hussein, had demanded that Sastroamidjojo and his cabinet quit. Both, however, had announced their loyalty to Sukarno but also called for a reconciliation between the President and Dr. Mohammed Hatta, Sumatran co-leader of the Indonesian revolution who resigned as vice president Dec. 1.

Tax Discounts To End Monday

Residents are getting their last chance this week and Monday to get any discount on payment of their current taxes.

One per cent discount is given for payment in December, and full value is charged in January. Collections in the city tax office show $314,256.60 net paid, and this included $523.60 paid Thursday. The gross amount would be $323,590.52.

Meter Income Above $1,000

Parking meter revenue topped the $1,000 mark for the second straight week of the Christmas rush.

Collections were made Wednesday morning, which added another day to the total. The money counted out $1,194.94.

This included $658.70 in nickels, $533.44 in pennies, and $29.80 in dimes, which do not give any time on parking meters.

The previous week's total was $1,136.31. In December of 1955, the collections topped $1,000 four straight weeks and went over $1,200 one of those weeks.

Gaines Suspect Arrested Here

The man was arrested when he got off a bus here and held in jail overnight. This morning Gaines County sheriff's deputies arrived and carried him back to Seminole.

Traffic Fatality

Flames eat car of Mrs. Evelyn Porter and smoke floats upward near western city limits of Chicago, Ill., after her car crashed into rear of another car which stopped off the road to have rear window cleaned. Habermehl later died, according to 600-day toll around the nation. Police said the Porter car swerved off the road when another car passed. Roger Hammill, commercial photographer, made this picture.

Police Taxi For Drunks Planned New Year's Eve

As in the past, the city police department will give drunks a helping hand New Year's Eve.

Police Chief C. L. Rogers said today that the department will maintain a standing procedure to transport drunks home that night, if they ask for the service. This concerns only the persons who ask for it in a respectable manner.

Rogers said that if a person calls and asks for safe delivery home — and his home is in the city — policemen will oblige. One patrolman will drive the man's car.

"We had rather expend two patrolmen for a short time than have drunks creating traffic hazards on that night," Rogers added. The service does not exempt a person from spending a night in the pokie, however, the chief said, if the person is creating a disturbance.

"He will receive the same treatment as any other drunk if he asks for help and then starts giving trouble," Rogers said.

For the past two years at New Year's Eve, the city police department has sponsored the taxi service in an attempt to cut down on the number of drunk drivers on the streets.

Monday To Be 'Ordinary Day' At Courthouse

Monday will be an ordinary day of business at the Howard County Courthouse but the offices will be closed on Jan. 1.

There had been considerable discussion in the offices as to whether Monday would also be a holiday as was the case last Monday on the day before Christmas.

The city, according to officials, will operate on Monday and the courthouse will follow the same policy.

On Jan. 1, there will be the formalities of administering the oath of office to the office holders re-elected and newly elected. This is required by law and is necessary in order to keep the offices properly and legally filled.

Banks are to close on Jan. 1 but will be open on Dec. 31.

Bond Is Set On Burglary Charge

Hugh A. Currie, charged with attempted burglary of a Big Spring store, was ordered held for the grand jury and his bond set at $2,500 by Walter Grice, justice of the peace, at termination of an examining trial Friday morning.

Currie was arrested on Dec. 24. He acted as his own attorney at the examining trial and questioned state witnesses on his own behalf.

His defense was that he was at the residence in question on business and not for the purpose of attempted burglary.

He was remanded to jail until he has posted bond.

Deadly Game Of Hit, Run Marks Shrimp War In Gulf

By DAVE TAYLOR

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Dec. 28 (AP)—A deadly game of hit-and-run, punctuated sometimes by gunfire, has turned a strip of the Gulf of Mexico into a no man's land.

The fight is not over sunken galleon treasures in these one-time pirate waters. It involves an edible treasure, a bite-size crustacean called the shrimp.

They call it the "shrimp war" along the Gulf, and it hit the headlines a short time ago when a Mexican gunboat shot and wounded shrimpman Capt. Tom Wilson.

The war has been going on now about six years. Appeals to the U. S. State and Treasury Departments by Gulf shrimpers so far have met with little concrete response. The shrimpers want the State Department to work out an agreement with the Mexican government, and until that happens, they want Coast Guard cutters to protect American fleets.

Trouble brewed when a section of the Gulf off the coast of Mexico was found to be rich in shrimp. Boat operators converged on the shrimp beds from almost every port in the United States.

A hot international boundary dispute developed. Mexico claimed its authority stretched nine sea miles or about 10 1/2 miles from its shores. The United States limited the claim to three miles, but Mexico defended its position with gunboats, Alfonso Pore Ruelas, superintendent of the Mexican Navy Ministry, says his country has the right to defend its waters.

Two Coast Guard cutters are stationed in the Gulf of Mexico, but shrimpers say they have not intervened, even when a Mexican gunboat chases a shrimp.

Troop Use In Mid-East Urged

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today President Eisenhower is reported considering asking Congress for authority to use United States armed forces "as he deems necessary to maintain peace in the Middle East."

Quoting "a reliable source," the dispatch from Washington said congressional leaders would be asked to give their views on "the possibility of getting congressional sanction for the President to use the armed service."

The Times article by James Reston said the conference would be held at the White House next Tuesday. Secretary of State Dulles was expected to be on hand.

Dulles and the President met at the White House yesterday and discussed the Middle Eastern situation. But, said the newspaper account, "nothing was said about any decision" to ask Congress for authority to use force if necessary in the Middle East.

"Officials here," the dispatch continued, "have become increasingly disturbed about the possibility that trouble in Iraq, Syria, Egypt and Jordan may lead to further Soviet penetration of that part of the world."

School Agriculture Barn Being Built For Coahoma Pupils

COAHOMA (SC)—Work has started on a new work barn for the Coahoma High School agricultural program.

R. A. Foster, vocational agriculture instructor, said that the structure will be 50x60 feet and will contain a feed grinder and mixer, facilities for raising chickens, stalls for stock, a show arena, and other items.

Plans call for completion in advance of Jan. 19 when the annual livestock show will be held. A barbecue dinner is planned in connection with the first event in the building. On Jan. 17, the FFA chapter has set its annual Dad's banquet.

Postmen Deliver Tax Report Forms

No additional mail bags of 1956 U. S. Income Tax reports reached the Big Spring Post Office Friday morning. The 15 bags received on Wednesday and Thursday were being delivered by carriers today.

The accumulation of some 8,000 or more report forms will be in the hands of taxpayers soon, Elmer Boatler, postmaster said.

Many of the forms were distributed Friday and others will go out on Saturday. The process will continue until all have been delivered.

It is possible that other pouches of this type of mail will be received. It had been estimated that the shipment would run at least 20 bags — approximately 10,000 pieces in all.

Steers Win, 103-40

BROWNWOOD (SC)—Big Spring set a new scoring record in defeating Kerrville in first round basketball play at the Howard F. basketball tournament in Brownwood Friday morning, 103-40. Jan Loudermilk scored 46 points for the Steers.

A shrimp boat caught inside what Mexico calls its waters is taken to the nearest Mexican port, its cargo and some of its gear is confiscated and a fine of about $1,200 is assessed. Sometimes the boat is held in port for a considerable time, meaning a loss of time and money for the operators.

Ex-Gang Member To Leave Prison

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP)—Floyd Hamilton, a member of the notorious Barrow gang which terrorized the Southwest in the '30s, will be released from Leavenworth Penitentiary tomorrow, a federal term completed but still facing a legal battle for freedom.

Texas authorities will be on hand in an effort to take the brother of executed badman Raymond Hamilton back to that state for further confinement.

Hamilton, 49, is to leave the Leavenworth prison after doing 18 years of a 30-year term for bank robbery, assault and violation of the Dyer Act.

Sheriff Arden Rhyme of Leavenworth County, armed with an extradition warrant issued by Gov. Fred Hall of Kansas, said he and his deputies will take Hamilton into custody at once. Also expected to be present is an agent of Texas, which wants him for a state conviction.

Hamilton, who once escaped from Alcatraz and was taken from a cave on the island four days later, has filed an application in probate court here for a writ of habeas corpus. A hearing will be held tomorrow.

Hamilton's application states he was convicted and sentenced about

Oct. 1, 1938, by a Dallas County court to 5-25 years in the Texas Penitentiary. On Oct. 28, 1938, the petition says, he was convicted and sentenced by a Montague County, Tex., court to 2 1/2 years to be served concurrently with any sentence the federal government might impose.

After sentence was passed, Hamilton argues, the Montague court released him to a U. S. marshal and he was taken to Fort Smith, Ark., where on Nov. 5, 1938, he was given the 30-year federal sentence.

Hamilton alleges he was taken to Fort Smith involuntarily and maintained Texas voluntarily consented to the acts of the federal authorities in transporting him from Texas jurisdiction. By so doing, the petition states, Texas waived all rights to future claim and lost its jurisdiction.

Hamilton is the last of the five principal members of the Barrow gang that included his brother, Buck and Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker.

Raymond Hamilton was electrocuted in Texas in 1935 for his part in a prison break in which a guard was killed. The Barrows and Bonnie also died violently.

Stevens said the Mexicans boarded his boat, inspected his papers and, not finding any shrimp, left after begging and obtaining some cigarettes for the gunboat crew.

Stevens said he was in a group of boats later in the day when the gunboat took off after Capt. Wilson and his pascador. Wilson headed for open sea, Stevens said, and between 15 and 25 shots were fired at his fleeing boat.

Dakota Hay Inferior, But Benefits Martin Stockmen

STANTON — The drought relief hay being shipped into Martin County is inferior to that grown in Texas, according to County Agent Gerald Hanson, but it has been a big help to the livestock farmers and ranchers.

After half the freight and the government certificate is taken off, the net cost averages about $30.90 per ton, which is from $10 to $15 cheaper than Texas hay.

The hay was purchased by Woodford Sale who made a trip to South Dakota in the interests of the county's livestock owners. He found plenty of hay but nearly all of it had some rain damage and the outside of the stacks had moulded.

Hanson said they had been able to sell it all, but might have sold a little more if the hay had been of better quality. Four more cars are to be shipped in this week and that will be the last of it. Each car holds from 12 to 14 tons.

When the last shipment arrives this week, the total will be about 325 tons.

Hungary Reds Ask West, Russ Help

BUDAPEST (AP)—The official newspaper of Premier Janos Kadar's Communist party today appealed for technical as well as financial aid from the United States, Britain and Russia.

The paper Nepszabadsag admitted that Communist regimes had been lying to the Hungarian people for years to hide the much higher living standards and technical and scientific advances made in the West.

It said the Hungarian people, especially its intellectuals and technical experts, had been cut off from the West "in order to prevent them from learning how backward Hungary has been."

The paper's three-column article pleaded with Hungarian intellectuals and engineers to stop fleeing to the West and added:

"Our most important task today is to lead our country out of its economic troubles. For this purpose we need among other things, loans from abroad. And we must prevent our own experts from leaving the country, legally or illegally. Of course this should not be done by punishing those who escape or refusing passports to those who ask for them. It should be done by a radical change in our own economic life."

Stevens said he was in a group of boats later in the day when the gunboat took off after Capt. Wilson and his pascador. Wilson headed for open sea, Stevens said, and between 15 and 25 shots were fired at his fleeing boat.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

Jess-Talkin'

by Jess Blair

Cotton gins in Martin County are taking the last of the cotton crop now. Most of them are ginning only on certain days.

"What we're getting now is mostly dust and scraps and lots of burs," said one manager. "There is also a little cotton mixed with it."

He said bolls were scarce and some farmers were not having any luck getting the last of the crop harvested.

About the only dryland cotton grown in the county was around Three Leagues in the northwest part. D. E. Richards who farms there said the crops in his area made fair yields.

The main worry up there at present is cattle feed, he said. He has been feeding cotton burs, but was in Stanton to look at the effects of the drought on the feed.

The cotton yield has not been determined yet, but has been estimated at about 25,000 bales. It could be a little more if farmers gather all the cotton in the fields.

The gins turned out all the way from a few hundred bales on up to nearly 7,000. About half the county crop was ginned at two gins — one at Tarzan and one at Stanton.

Midland probably has more irrigation wells than any county on the South Plains, and they are going down rapidly. Lester Herrington said the average well wouldn't pump over 175 gallons per minute, and those drilled the last year wouldn't make that much.

Some of the smaller wells won't put out over 60 gallons a minute, yet farmers irrigate quite an acreage with them.

"Usually when a farmer drills water, he will drill several of these small wells," Herrington said. "Pumping expense is not so great because the water is fairly shallow. South and east of Midland a short way the drillers strike red beds at from 75 to 80 feet."

I had always thought that Midland had more well-dressed young men and women than any place I'd ever been. This was verified by a store owner there who said: "The town's swarming with girls and young bachelors. A lot of girls come here from surrounding towns to work in the offices and look for husbands."

"And are the young men looking for wives?" I asked him. "I doubt it," he retorted. "These boys have good jobs; they live in nice apartments and drive new cars. With that kind of living, what use would they have for a nagging wife?"

Later I learned why the man was such an authority on wives. As I suspected, he was an old bachelor.

A few caged-bird projects have come to Dawson County, according to County Agent Leroy Colgan. He says one reason for some people failing to make a profit with laying hens is because they expect too much.

"Even with close management, the average poultryman will clear only about $1.50 per hen," Colgan said. "Of course some of them make more, but that's a good average. It's also a pretty good sideline income, when a man can make $1,500 a year from one house."

Most of the land between Big Spring and Lamesa has already been plowed. On the other side of Lamesa in the irrigation belt, a lot of fields still have a little cotton.

Most of the irrigation farmers will need to irrigate their fields before plowing them.

The Howard County 4-H club members are getting their show animals ready for the Odessa Sandhills Herd and Quarter Horse Show which opens Monday. They will take to lambs and 10 steers. All the lambs will be shown by boys and girls of the Foran community.

They are Johnny King, Harry King, H. K. Elrod, Susan Elrod, Muri Bailey, William Conger, Lari Overton, and Lanell Overton.

The steers will be shown by Del Roy Buchanan, Mac Robinson, Joyce Robinson, Freddy C. A. White, Wanda Boller, Tommy Newton and Jerry Edin.

County Agent Jimmy Taylor said some of the entries might win. At least three good steers and three lambs would have a chance, he said.

Taylor said the last rains may revive the grain fields enough to furnish some grazing, particularly in the Knott and Luther communities. None of the small grain died, but it is a little too early yet to know if the rains will make enough growth for winter pasture.

He said the moisture also started some winter weeds on range pastures, which may help out for awhile.

A young farmer from Eola who is trying to get a farm in the Lawrence community says it may be a blessing that the irrigation wells are so small.

"If there was lots of water, a few big farmers would move in and buy up all the land," he said. "That would force the residents to leave. As it is, the wells are little and everyone has to work hard to make a living. This keeps more families on the farm and they have a better community."

Philip Bryant of Martin County has been selected as one of the two boys in a 24-county area to take part in the calf scramble at the Houston Livestock Show. His alternate is Bobby Kelly, who lives west of Stanton. The other participant in the district is James Parker of Wickett.

In this contest there are about twice as many boys as calves and they are all turned loose in a huge arena. Each boy has a halter, and with it he tries to catch a calf and drag it across a finish line.

The winners get $125 toward the purchase of a calf that can be entered in a special division at the next show.

No Bottleneck Seen In Refugee Program

CAMP KILMER, N.J. — Vice President Richard M. Nixon says he sees no possibility of a "bottleneck" developing here in the refugee resettlement program if expanded processing goals are reached.

Nixon yesterday wound up a two-day inspection of the Hungarian refugee center, the last stop for thousands in their flight to freedom.

He saw many aspects of camp life, including long lines waiting outside the three mess halls. But the lines moved quickly and there was plenty of seating space inside the halls.

Living quarters are Army barracks partitioned into small rooms with wallboard and curtains. Two persons to a room. Children played quietly in the corridors, with new toys while adults read or shopped at the post exchanges. Others watched television, sewed or just talked in the recreation center.

In the processing buildings, newly arrived refugees moved steadily through medical examinations, customs, fingerprinting and immigration. Then they were interviewed by relief agencies for their job qualifications and where they wanted to settle and finally were issued new clothing.

Most refugees are processed within nine hours. The rest of the time is spent waiting to be matched with a job opportunity in the area where the refugee wants to live.

The vice president said he made the daylong tour of this reactivated Army reception center to see if a "bottleneck" had developed in the sea and air operation bringing thousands of refugees to America.

Nixon, who returned Monday from a tour of refugee camps in Austria, said he had received "no concrete information" that any Hungarian Communists have entered the United States on the airlift.

"Pretty effective screening" of possible Communists is done by immigration authorities in Austria, he said, but he does not know if any suspected Communists have been turned back in Austria.

The immigration service said in Washington, meanwhile, it is satisfied no Communist or member of the Hungarian secret police has reached here.

He Had God On His Side

WHITTIER, Alaska — Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, president of the National Council of Churches today could make these two entries in his book of results upon completion of his holiday-season tour of Alaska military installations.

Checker games won one. Backsliders retrieved at least one for four weeks, anyway.

His vanquished opponent and the admitted backslider are the same. Pfc. Simeon Nelobidev, an Eskimo soldier from the Philibol Islands and checker champion at the port of Whittier.

Dr. Blake, a devotee of the game, heard of Nelobidev's championship and challenged him to a game. Nelobidev agreed but said he usually liked to make a slight wager on each game. Dr. Blake, who had learned his opponent was a backslider, agreed, stipulating the penalty for a loss by the soldier would be four weeks attendance at chapel services.

Nelobidev never had a chance.

Signal For Theft

CHICAGO — Mildred Frohman, 45, a clerk, told police she stopped in the middle of a street for a motorist to pass. The driver slowed the car, stuck out his hand, snatched her purse and sped away. She said the purse contained $5.50 in cash, some checks and three $25 government bonds.

Champion Milkmaid

Pretty Texas Tech coed Julia Reed whispers a word of thanks to Tech Design Ann, registered Jersey from the college herd, for co-operating in helping her win the title of Tech's Champion Milkmaid. Julia, a junior government major, has been milking cows on her father's ranch near Meridian in Bosque County for 16 of her 19 years. She milked five pounds in three minutes to defeat 14 other contestants and win the title.

Streamlined Combat Units Announced

SAN FRANCISCO — Infantry divisions made up of five combat units and geared to fight atomic as well as conventional warfare, soon will replace the bulkier, three-regiment divisions.

Armored divisions also are to be modernized, but the changes in them at this time will be comparatively minor, the Army announced yesterday in Washington and at 6th Army headquarters here.

A special combat development and research center at Ft. Ord, Calif., has been taking the "bugs" out of the new basic combat unit around which the streamlined divisions will be created.

Field tests have shown that the unit best suited for modern warfare is "larger than the old battalion and smaller than the regiment."

Just how many men it will have was not disclosed. The reorganized infantry divisions will be characterized by increased firepower, greater mobility and the capability of wide dispersal to survive under atomic attack.

The new division will have 27,000 men. A whole new group of weapons is contemplated. The Army has announced a new 7.62 m.m. machine gun, which it describes as "a lightweight, general purpose gun developed to replace all three of the present .30-caliber machine guns. It can be fired from shoulder, hip, bipod or an aluminum tripod mount."

The 7.26 bullet is just a fraction smaller than .30 caliber. There is a new rifle on which tests have been completed which fires the NATO ammunition and embodies certain improvements. The infantry will have a new guided missile known as the "Dart," transported by light truck and described as "a simple but effective antitank missile" with a high probability that a single hit would destroy a heavily armored tank.

Improved artillery, mortars, submachineguns, helicopters and the addition of Honest John and other type missiles will, the Army believes, make the smaller division much harder hitting.

Gas, Oil And Blood—That's The Story Of Modern Traffic

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

CHICAGO — Gas and oil and blood.

Those three vital fluids are associated with the operation of our automobiles these days.

They spilled on highways during the Christmas weekend, when 706 Americans were killed and an estimated 24,000 others were injured in thousands of traffic accidents.

The National Safety Council now predicts 490 fatalities during the New Year celebration. That would be a record for that holiday week-end. The Christmas total was an all-time high for any holiday period.

To a newsman who has been counting the dead, in season, for 15 years, the most disturbing thing about it is this: The abiding feeling that bumper harvests of bodies are inevitable.

The experts make the forecasts. And holiday after holiday, the victims fulfill them.

J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Assn., made this comment on the holiday season's huge toll:

"If a man from outer space happened to pick up one of our newspapers Wednesday, he might conclude that the approved way of celebrating the coming of a new year in the United States is with a sacrificial highway suicide."

Texas had 43 motor vehicle fatalities during the Christmas period. It ranked third, behind Illinois with 56 and California with 73.

A veteran police officer, Bernard R. Caldwell, California's highway patrol commissioner, described his state's yuletide carnage as "the most useless, extravagant dissipation of life I've ever seen."

More Americans perished on the streets and roads during the Christmas holiday than in many major disasters, such as the San Francisco earthquake and fire, with 432 dead; the 1937 Ohio-Mississippi River floods, with 360; the Texas City explosions, with 312.

Why the heavy toll? Officials suggested many reasons, but the one cited most often was speed.

The State Division of Traffic Safety found that the most common of several causes in Illinois was driving too fast for road conditions. Gov. William G. Stratton's office summed it up as:

"Too much horsepower, too much bad weather, too much speed."

Chicago's traffic chief, Philip McGuire, reported that drinking was the prime cause in 9 of 12 fatal auto accidents there.

"Carelessness and high speed were the big factors," said Col. James H. Smith, commander of the state highway patrol in North Carolina, where 30 died. "Apparently a lot of people just let down and didn't pay much attention to safety warnings."

Musick, Texas safety executive, said drinking drivers and speeding bulked large in the grim accident picture.

An NSC spokesman listed underlying factors as:

1. The "extra" day. Most Christmas observances since World War II have lasted one, two or three days.

2. Heavy travel, estimated at a total of seven billion miles, as a result of the almost universal urge to go home for Christmas.

3. Weather that in much of the country was bad enough (sleet, rain, light snow) to slick roads but not bad enough to compel slow motoring.

4. Drinking.

What can be done? Some safety men say they have the know-how, but they must have the backing of civic leaders and the full cooperation of the public.

Safety effort is split into three general categories — engineering, such as providing safe roads and safe cars; enforcement and education.

Education at times has had remarkable results. During the Christmas holiday period in North Dakota, for instance, no traffic deaths were reported. The superintendent of that state's highway patrol, Clark Monroe, credited the Perfect Performance to safety messages published by newspapers and broadcast by radio and TV stations for 10 days before the holiday period began.

Until virtually all the drivers accept the responsibility, many state officials are going to rely on what they regard as their best

Drawing For Positions

Big Spring automobile and truck dealers gathered at Truman Jones Motor Company Thursday afternoon to draw for the positions in which they will display their 1957 offerings at the races to be staged Sunday by the Big Spring Timing Association. Bob McEwen, center, is the first to draw while Truman Jones holds the half of position numbers. Eleven firms will display cars, trucks and other equipment. The display area is adjacent to the timing strip on which races will be unrolled at Webb Air Force Base, starting at 10 a.m. Sunday. Hot rod owners from a wide area have been invited to compete in the timed events.

County Offices To Be Vacant Briefly As New Year Starts

It seems to be a pure technicality and of no importance in fact but there will be eight or nine hours on the night of Dec. 31 and morning of Jan. 1 when Howard County will not have the official services of a half dozen or so of its county office holders.

According to the prevailing impression, the present term of office of those holding county positions ending this year, expires at midnight on Dec. 31. They cannot officially succeed themselves nor can their successors, in the event there is one, succeed them until official swearing in time on Jan. 1. This ceremony can be anytime—8 a.m. or any hour. As a result, on Monday night at midnight, there will be no tax collector, no sheriff, no county attorney, no district attorney and there will be only two county commissioners on the county board for a matter of several hours. In that same interval, there will be one justice of peace out of action, and two constables who are not operating.

The office holders elected to four-year terms who are now approaching the half-way mark of their tenure will not, of course, be affected. Officials who will be involved in this "off-and-on" routine seem to be Mrs. Viola Robinson, re-elected as county tax assessor-collector; Miller Harris, who begins his official term as sheriff on Jan. 1; Guilford Jones, district attorney; Harvey Hooser Jr., county attorney, both of whom were re-elected; Arthur Stallings and Ralph Proctor officially terminate their services as county commissioners at midnight Monday. P. O. Hughes and Hudson Landers, who will succeed them on the court, take office when they are officially sworn in on the morning of Jan. 1.

Walter Grice, peace justice, also re-elected, will be "off duty" like his colleagues for the brief interval.

Two constable's posts—that for Precinct 1 and for Precinct 2—will also be tenantless for the period. On Jan. 1, J. W. (Wes) Patton will take over the former and Grover Coates the latter.

Probably little business will be transacted around the Howard County Court House on Tuesday. The day will be a general holiday.

It was said, however, that the formalities of swearing in the new officials and those who have been re-elected will be carried out. With this ceremony will also go the formalities of approving the bonds of the several office holders.

It was uncertain who would function as the official administrator of the oaths of office. The county judge, the district judge or, for that matter, any one who holds the license of a notary public can perform the office.

Members of the Howard-Glass-

Kiwanians Set Ladies' Night, Installation

Horace Reagan will be installed as the president of Big Spring Kiwanis Club on the evening of Jan. 3 at the Cosden Country Club. He and the other new officers of the organization will be honored at a ladies night party at the club at 7 p.m.

Announcement of the plans for the special evening meeting were made at the regular Thursday noon luncheon of the Kiwanians. Details of the program will be made public later.

Harve Clay, retiring president, utilized the last regular meeting of the 1956 year to give a brief resume of the accomplishments of the Kiwanians during the year just ending.

Committee chairmen who have served for the past 12 months submitted reports on work done and offered suggestions for work to be carried on in the year to come.

Other than for these informal statements, no set program was presented at the luncheon. Clay urged all Kiwanis members and their wives to be present at the Jan. 3 meeting at the Cosden Country Club.

Baylor President Suggested For Post

BARTLETT, Tex. (AP)—Sen. Jarrard Secrest of Temple said last night he has proposed Dr. W. R. White, president of Baylor, as interim U. S. Senator.

Secrest said he made the proposal in a letter to Gov-elect Price Daniel, whose Senate seat will have to be filled in a special election in the spring. An interim senator must be appointed.

Dr. White said he was "overwhelmingly surprised."

Seek Clergy's Aid In Traffic Drive

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy says he plans to enlist the help of the city's 2,531 clergymen in his traffic safety campaign. Kennedy said letters will be sent to the clergymen asking them to make pulpit appeals for applying the Golden Rule in traffic.

6,000 Pieces Of Christmas Mail 'Undeliverable' Here

Nearly 6,000 Christmas cards, letters and packages received at the Big Spring post office could not be delivered to the addressee because of improper and incomplete address, insufficient postage or other error.

E. C. Boatler, postmaster, said the number of undeliverable pieces of mail this Christmas season was lighter than normal and that efforts are still being made to locate the addressees and make delivery.

Many of the letters were hampered by lack of street addresses. Some were sent to the wrong town. Wrong addresses accounted for others. A great many which cannot be delivered bore two-cent postage and as a result cannot be forwarded.

In such cases the addressee is notified that a letter is being held at the post office for him and upon remittance of two cents postage it will be forwarded.

Already the post office has received five letters from anxious senders of Christmas parcels and letters explaining that in the haste of the holiday the items were mis-addressed. These letters gave corrected addresses and asked that the post office find the misplaced articles and send them on.

Boatler said that where this was possible it was being done.

The two-cent mail will be held a month or two while efforts are made to locate the addressees.

Boatler explained that a great many of the wrongly addressed letters came in the fading days of the holiday season. This is indicative of the hectic pressure on the senders and accounted, the postmaster believes, for many of the errors in addresses and towns.

Tributes Paid To Ex-President

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three living men who have served in the White House paid tribute last night to Woodrow Wilson, the World War I president who was born 100 years ago today. Eulogies from President Eisenhower and former Presidents Truman and Hoover were issued by the Woodrow Wilson Centennial Commission on the eve of special ceremonies scheduled today at Staunton, Va., Wilson's birthplace. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, who has continued to live here since her husband died in 1924, arranged to attend the Virginia centennial observance.

CONSTIPATED?

new laxative discovery
un-locks bowel blocks
without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

ONLY A BULK LAXATIVE can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to re-create a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery is so effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy. SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions. IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT! Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! The price, only 98c for the economical 60 tablet package, brings you positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

A Bible Thought For Today

Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee. So that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do unto me. (Hebrews 13:5-6)

Dredging Up The Noisome Pits

The Very Rev. Dr. James A. Pike, dean of the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine, attended the New York premiere of the controversial motion picture "Baby Doll" the other day and rendered his verdict on it in a Sunday sermon before 3,500 parishioners.

Whether it is a "sin" to see this picture depends upon the motive of the viewer and how he receives the experience," was his reverend verdict.

A week earlier Francis Cardinal Spellman made a rare pulpit appearance at St. Patrick's Cathedral and exhorted Roman Catholics against patronizing the film "under pain of sin." It had been condemned by the Roman Catholic Legion of Decency.

It is sometimes suspected that film producers would give their good right arm to have a production classified as sinful to see, or even as controversial. Nothing stimulates the box office more. Not all of the controversial ones make the grade of box office success under condemnation, however; but whether the failure to draw crowds is due to the censorship or to its own intrinsic shoddiness might itself be a controversial question.

Dean Pike's comment "One could attend this picture with a sinful motive and could, in the course of it and as a result of it, indulge in sinful thoughts. There have been those who searched through the Bible with similar intent and similar results: The same would go for many great works of art, some of them portrayed in famous churches and museums. We had better leave all that to the individual and his conscience."

As for "Baby Doll," it's about the usual you-know-what, and it could be condemned just as unreasonably as expressed by the reverend gentlemen advance. It's another one of those Southern slum deals, and the Southern slum theme has been run into the ground and broken off by a generation of Southern writers who specialize in titillating the prurient ear by roke-helling the South.

A lot of apostate Southern writers have won fame and fortune by ignoring everything worthwhile in Southern society, ancient and modern, and dredging up the noisome pits that exist to some extent in every part of our world — no more so in the South than in many other sectors we might mention.

And many of us are fed up with it, not to mention bored stiff. By constant iteration and association of ideas as expressed by muck-raking Southern writers, the South has been grossly libeled, and we for one hope the last man jack of them, male and female, fall victims to writer's cramps. Bad cess to the lot of them. Phooey on them.

It's Still A Dream But A Start

Woodrow Wilson was called the father of the old League of Nations, and no title was more deserved. In a somewhat wobbly line of descent the United Nations could be said to be Wilson's grandchild, and like its parent league it possesses some of the characteristics that eventually reduced the original to impotence and desuetude.

Born 100 years ago December 28 in his father's parsonage at Staunton, Va., much of Wilson's fame today rests on his man-killing struggle to bring forth an organization of nations designed to produce and maintain peace through compromise, arbitration and accommodation. He knew the difficulties that lay ahead, but he felt that it was necessary to make a start, and once a start was made the world might eventually learn to live together under the law.

He knew that the American colonies set up their nationhood under a Constitution that was the result of compromise not of principles, but of methods. At Versailles, in order to get the league going, he was forced to accept compromising in the treaty ending World War I, and this treaty and the league became indistinguishable in thought and operation. Unfortunately some of the treaty compromises involved principles, and the treaty and the league itself died of their own internal disorders.

The successor United Nations also contains the seeds of its own eventual destruction, because it contains compromises of principles. The UN is now launched on its first major experiment of the kind in Egypt, and if it fails in this its days of real and potential usefulness will soon be numbered.

Woodrow Wilson's chief contribution to the world struggle for orderly association among nations was that he gave impetus to it, and outlined the high principles on which it might survive and flourish.

The dream is still far from fulfillment, but out of Wilson's dream may yet come the enduring machinery of a new way of life among the nations.

Integration And Southern Congressmen

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(Writing for Marquis Childs.)

WASHINGTON — A current episode dealing with public school integration, involving Southern members of Congress, illustrates the sort of trouble that can constantly harass the Democratic party in Congress because of its predominantly Southern leadership.

This imposes a difficult job on the Southern leadership in trying to avoid continual dramatization of the party's Southern contingent which could be costly in future national elections as it was found to be in analyses of the November 6 Presidential contest.

The current episode revolves about an investigation into integration of public schools here in the national capital which, you will recall, was carried on a few weeks ago by a House committee headed by Rep. James C. Davis (Ga.). Its membership also included another outspoken foe of integration, Rep. John Bell Williams (D., Miss.), who refused to support the Stevenson-Kefauver national ticket and instead threw his support to the third party headed by T. Coleman Andrews, of Richmond, formerly Internal Revenue Commissioner.

A report on this investigation, prepared under direction of the committee's special counsel, William E. Gerber of Memphis, was criticized by two Republican members of the committee — Reps. A. L. Miller (Neb.) and DeWitt S. Hyde (Md.) — when it was submitted last week and reviewed. They declined to subscribe to it as it was presented, voting "present," while it was approved by the three Democratic members, all Southerners, including Rep. Woodrow H. Jones (N.C.) in addition to Reps. Davis and Williams.

Asked why he had objected to the report, Rep. Miller said:

"You know the make-up of the committee and the staff. I think a tendency to want to discredit integration was evident throughout the report."

Neither Rep. Miller nor his Republican colleague, Rep. Hyde, attended the hearings, giving as an excuse their campaigns for re-election.

What Rep. Miller said echoed charges made repeatedly during the course of the public hearings several weeks ago that Rep. Davis and his Southern Democratic colleagues were trying to discredit integration by emphasizing difficulties experienced here in the national capital. Considering the haste with which integration was carried out here, and the fact that this is in many aspects a Southern city, the difficulties were perhaps fewer than might have been anticipated. Integration was completed here earlier than the Supreme Court decision than in most cities where schools had been segregated. This was done at the instance of President Eisenhower, who wanted the national capital to set an example by complying with the law as soon as possible.

The integration investigation had its repercussions in the November 6 election in two significant instances, according to political reporters familiar with the situations. These are samples of the dynamite in this issue for the Democrats.

One was Memphis, Tennessee, where President Eisenhower carried. It is the home town of the committee's counsel who, as "Willie" Gerber, was known for years as the strong-arm man for the long dominant political machine of the late Boss Ed H. Crump in Memphis. His identification with the integration investigation here was credited as an important factor in the unexpectedly large turn-out of Negroes in Memphis to vote for President Eisenhower. The Memphis vote assured Tennessee for the President, one of five Southern states that he carried in the November election.

Another example of the political effect of the integration investigation was in the Fifth Congressional District of Georgia, in which Atlanta is located. This is Rep. Davis's district. To his activity in originating and pursuing the integration investigation here in Washington — attributed the large Negro vote for a local Republican lawyer, Randolph Thayer, who ran against Rep. Davis. The Republican got a total of 58,777 votes to 85,292 for Rep. Davis. The latter got only a few more votes than he did in the previous Presidential year election — 1952 — when he ran unopposed. His 1952 vote was 83,920. In the 1954 off-year Congressional elections, when he did have a Republican opponent, he got 54,069 votes against 29,911 for the Republican, Charles Moye Jr.

What Will The Russians Do Now?

WASHINGTON — This was truly an extraordinary year. It not only raised some of the biggest unanswered questions since World War II but forced hundreds of millions of people to re-examine their thinking.

The questions how for answers — answers which may change the history of mankind, for they cover most of the main areas of the earth: the West, Middle Europe, the Middle East and Asia.

The Russians lost more ground in world opinion in 1956 than in any year since the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917. The biggest of all the unanswered questions of the year is: What will the Russians do in 1957?

Their massacre of the revolting Hungarians compelled people everywhere — non-Communists and Communists with illusions — to recognize that the basic Russian foreign policy is old-style colonialism.

The Kremlin's new appearance of good fellowship was proved to be a cover for an essentially cannibalistic policy.

The revolts in Poland and Hungary showed the iron grip of Russia could be loosened, if not broken, and that the captive people, after 11 years of exposure and indoctrination, loathe communism.

These disasters for Russia had their roots in the relaxed policy toward the Kremlin announced in February.

Now these questions arise: Will the Kremlin scrap that policy and revert to the iron rule of Stalin? Would anything it did now stop the breakup of its empire? What will the West do to help such a breakup? No answer to any of these is visible yet.

At the beginning of 1956 the Western alliance — particularly among the United States, Britain and France — was solid, based on a policy of staying armed to block Russian expansion.

Before year's end the alliance was shaken by the British-French attack on Egypt and the United States' reaction. This country not only disapproved but led the United Nations into pressuring Britain and France to withdraw from Egypt.

That break, creating distrust on both sides in the alliance, is not fully healed. It probably will be. The main enemy is still Russia. The Allies weaken themselves by splitting up Britain and France can hardly turn to Russia.

The 1957 questions for the Western Allies: Will they work to avert a "broken alliance"? How will they handle Russia and the problems they face in the Middle East, especially the problem of Egyptian President Nasser.

The unanswered questions about the Middle East: Will Nasser talk business? Will war break out there again? How much progress can the Russians make? What can be done to keep the Middle East away from Russia?

In Asia all through 1956 the Red Chinese followed a mild policy: India's Nehru, the neutralist, had his eyes opened by the Russian performance in Hungary. Will this shove him and the other non-Communist Asians toward the West? Or will Nehru and his friends try to play it down the middle as before?

Farm Frontier Of Texas Out Of Diaper Stage

DELL CITY, Tex. (AP)—Dell City, which residents like to call the "final farm frontier of Texas," is out of the diaper stage.

The 14-mile road that tapers off the Carlsbad highway, which dead-ends in Dell City, echoes the loneliness of far West Texas. But there's activity in town. Citizens of the sparsely-populated area are cemented together with the strong bond of community spirit.

This spirit brought a black top road to the town, three years after the boom started, and got a school going.

This spirit brought electricity to the town, and got a community center built.

This spirit got a three-day-week medical clinic started, and built five churches.

This spirit is bringing telephone communications to the town, and building a bracer recreation center.

Residents, many now settled in new $30-$40,000 homes, like to recall the "old days" when they lived in shacks, or tents, and searched the barren desert for water.

Some lucked out. Others failed. Today, the bounds of Dell Valley are pretty well defined. The land is either planted or spoken for.

Beeville Man Makes Hobby Of Collecting Spurs

BEEVILLE — In almost any period back to 300 B.C., Dr. Tom Reagan would be a well equipped horseman, as far as spurs are concerned.

Reagan has what he thinks is the world's finest spur collection. It includes more than 500 pair, ranging in size from huge, star-rowelled gaucho spurs, bound with rawhide thongs, to minute box spurs, which slipped into a slot in the boot heel and could be carried in the vest pocket.

Except for a stirrup spur from Greece and a Roman prod, Reagan thinks his collection is complete as to types and periods.

The oldest spur in his collection, a tiny bronze spike, was worn by a Greek horseman, bound to his bare heel, in 300 B.C.

This was probably one of the earliest metal spurs, but authorities on these riding accessories believe that long before that time horsemen bound pointed bits of wood or bone to their heels to hurry the pace of their mounts.

Reagan says during the Middle Ages spurs began to take on symbolic meaning. The wearing of spurs was a sign of freedom and distinction and their design and ornamentation was a symbol of the wealth and social standing of the owner.

Around The Rim

Consider The Low Descending Pun

A little more than a decade ago, during the conflict in the Pacific Theatre of Operations, a naval task force was having trouble with a new design in destroyer escorts. Most of the new ships were holding up as well as older models, but those used for submarine chasing were, inexplicably, shaking themselves to pieces. The deteriorating process always started at the stern and worked its way piece by piece up to the bow, until every part of the ship had been shaken loose from every other part.

The U. S. Navy called in its best scientists to solve the mystery. The wise men poked and probed and finally came up with an answer. The design of the ships, they said, was such that vibrations from the motors, re-inforced by echoes from stored depth charges, would shake the ship to pieces. The scientists spoke darkly of "sympathetic vibrations," and pointed out that the same physical principle could cause a bridge to fall should soldiers march over it in step.

The scientists suggested that the Navy "tone" its remaining ships to discover if they were also in danger of falling apart. This "toning" consisted of running the ship's motors in drydock, with observers standing by a seismograph rigged to the stern. If the seismograph's needle jumped, it was to mean an unfit ship.

The admiral himself came to oversee the toning of his ships. As his special inspection crews stood by, the admiral placed himself on a specially built platform from which he could view the entire procedure, puffed up his chest, and made a pep talk to his men:

"All right, men, let's look lively now, and let's not leave a single stern untuned."

Overhead in a Big Spring schoolroom: Pupil: What does Question No. 5 mean, Mama?

Teacher: I told you not to call me 'Mama' in the classroom. Wait till we're home.

Pupil: Oh, sorry, I forgot.

Fella in a local steak joint unknowingly summed up the state of kingship in a world now safe for democracy:

"Waiter, take this steak back. Why, it's not even fit for a king."

The story goes that the Wright brothers were very ingenious at an early age. When they were just boys, a man came to fix the roof of their house. The man scrambled up the ladder, only to find that the ladder was not long enough to permit him on the roof.

The Wright brothers saw his plight and proposed to stand on each other's shoulders on top of the ladder, and let him climb over them and onto the roof.

This sounded like a good idea, and they got in place and the man started up. The only trouble was that they were still too short and as a result, all three tumbled down.

There is a moral to this story: two Wrights do not make a rung. (Stolen from Don Henry.)

Sad comment on the modern American character:

If the Russians had been busy elsewhere, or if we had chosen to go to their aid instead of preferring peace at any price, the Hungarians would have won their freedom. We rebelled against a foreign power 180 years ago, but England was busy at the time with France. And France came to our aid, as busy as we were in Europe. Else we would have been crushed as completely as were the Hungarians.

Strong Ties In The Western Alliance

WASHINGTON—This is the season for taking stock of the spirit of our times. The tragic tendency is to exaggerate differences and to ignore areas of agreement — to emphasize weaknesses and to overlook signs of strength.

Thus, for many weeks now there has been a reiterated reference in the press here and abroad to the "weakness" of the Western Alliance — meaning especially the relations between the United States on the one hand, and Great Britain and France on the other. Some observers have called it a "strain," and some have talked about the need for mending something that has been "broken."

But has there ever been a real break in the "alliance" of the peoples of these free countries? There can be and often has been a difference in policy pursued by one of the governments in relation to the others. The leaders elected by the people sometimes have followed a course that is subsequently found, both inside and outside a country, to have been unwise. The American government has at times taken action at which both the French and British peoples have looked askance. Our neutrality, for example, between 1914 and 1917 shocked Britain and France and caused much bitterness. Conversely, there has been sharp disapproval here recently of British and French policies in the Middle East.

But are these latest differences so fundamental that they warrant any such interpretation as has been given them in the talk of a "broken alliance"? Can there really be a "break" between the American people and the brave people of Britain who in World War II valiantly fought alone for two years against the Nazi planes which were daily bombing their cities and towns and villages?

Can there be a "break" with the people of Great Britain who for centuries have scrupulously guarded the liberties of free men—a record of prolonged championship unparalleled in the history of mankind?

Can there be a "break" with the people of Great Britain who lost the flower of their manhood in two world wars but managed nevertheless to preserve a free government in the face of a rising tide of state socialism in many parts of the world?

Can there be a "break" with the people of Britain who, notwithstanding the taunts of "imperialism," have gradually by grants of autonomy and self-government built among their colonial possessions the foundations for several independent democracies?

Can there be a "break" with the people of France whose hearts went out to the American colonies in their early struggle for independence and who sent the French fleet to Yorktown to help us win our own revolution?

Can there be a "break" with the heroic people who stood at the Marne and fought the battle of the civilized world against Prussian autocracy in World War I, and then, though weakened and overrun by Nazi armies in World War II, never surrendered their spirit of resistance, which helped pave the way for the liberating armies of America?

Can there be a "break" with the peoples of Britain and France whose cultures have meant so much to the American people over decades of time?

Governments with their human frailties may come and go. Statesmen may speak in petulant and critical voices. But a court of public opinion, where nations are free to air their family differences, is a far different forum than the governments of enslaved nations are permitted by the Kremlin to go to with their grievances.

It is sometimes said carelessly that Britain and France are no longer "great powers." Does the term merely mean militarily superior and economically powerful? Or is the true measure of greatness the spirit and moral power of a nation?

If it's the latter, then America and Britain and France stand together as equals among the truly great powers of all history in an alliance of freedom and liberty.

Such an alliance will never be broken up by ephemeral differences in this difficult era in which the world is seeking for the principle of collective security a permanent place in the lives of nations. For, though the methods of attaining the common objective—peace—may cause impassioned debate, there is no weakness in the political, economic and cultural ties that have been built so strongly between Britain, France and America. There is no break or even slight fracture in the healthy respect and esteem which the people of the free countries long have had for each other.

If You Get What You Ask For, Ask Big

During the next few months, I shall be busy in all spare moments remaking the sampler that hangs above my desk. I am changing it to read from "THINK" to "THINK BIG."

I have been short-changing myself in publicly noting the lack of small and insignificant gadgets in my household. When the craze for sequins on everything, including mousetraps, sprang up a few years ago, my remarks on the incredibility of sequined flyswatters at $7.50 per copy resulted in a rain of sequined flyswatters on Chez Robb. (We never had that many flies on us.)

When, more recently, I wrote of such exotic gift shop wares as camel saddles and gold toothpicks, darned if I didn't receive a brace of camel saddles and a gold toothpick embossed with a ruby.

All of the above should have been a lesson, but I guess I'm a slow study. Anyway, after a motor trip, I wrote that what this country needs is a garbage disposal all for automobiles, a handy gadget attached to the dashboard that will grind fine and get rid of apple cores, candy wrappers, paper napkins and all the other debris that accompany a motor tour — not excluding small, obstreperous children.

Well, sir, to date I have received 43 garbage cans or trash baskets designed solely for use in automobiles. I have them in all sizes, colors and materials. They range from striped plastic through plaid canvas (the Stuart dress plaid, I believe) to imitation leather in decorator colors. (The thoughtful manufacturer of the striped, plastic job even sent a billy, gag and strait jacket to take care of the kids.)

Oh, I am up to my suppers in machine-age garbage units intended for automobiles, but . . .

Gentlemen, and you all wrote such nice notes to accompany your hydraulic-brake, power-steering, live-speed trash cans — haven't you overlooked something? Isn't there a vital ingredient missing?

Where — and I am putting this as delicately as possible — is the 310-horsepower, air-conditioned, broad-beamed, road-hugging, quick pickup vehicle to which I am supposed to attach these 43 streamlined garbage units?

The holiday season has been all but ruined for me by an unhappy suspicion that just possibly I am the kind of woman on whom men press garbage receptacles rather than limousines. It has shaken my confidence to realize that no manufacturer felt impelled to accompany his trash unit with, say, a nice canary yellow hardtop convertible.

"The gift without the giver is bare," says the poet, and so is a lone trash basket accompanied by nothing more than a suction cup to attach it to a car. Even a second-hand Cadillac would have been acceptable.

But I have learned my lesson. From now on I am going to "Think BIG" instead of just "Think!" My future complaints will highlight the need and the need begins at home for bigger diamonds, better yachts, finer mink coats, larger houses and faster cars.

A trash basket is nice, all right, but as Miss Anita Loos remarked long ago, "A diamond bracelet lasts forever." And I'm in an everlasting mood.

Are You The Demure Type?

Then this white ermine bonnet is for you! Designed by Sally Victor, it is veiled in black Chantilly lace and just made for gala occasions.

Prettier Than Jack Benny's

Much prettier than an ordinary wig is this flower wig. Made entirely of multi-colored flower petals, this headliner fits smoothly, covering the hair.

You Can Be Sure She Has On A Hat Now

Once upon a time, in the very recent past, you couldn't be sure whether a woman was wearing a hat or not, especially after five. A band, a flower and a scrap of veil could double for a hat at almost any function.

This season there is no doubt about it—hats are hats, and the more spectacular the better. Milliner Sally Victor creates a fantasia of holiday headgear ranging from fur bonnets to flower wigs, saying:

"The whole idea is to make women look prettier—and this year's hats can do the job."

Mamie Eisenhower's favorite milliner, the small, energetic and sparkling Mrs. Victor, covers the full range of glamorous toppers, using all varieties of luxury furs, jewels, flowers, velvets, satins and feathers for the greater glorification of her customers. The hats are high, wide and handsome—and there's a silhouette for every type.

Serve Fruit Dessert For New Year's Eve

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A fruit dessert will make a superb end to a New Year's Day dinner if you combine fresh apples and serve them with a special sauce. You'll find this delectable combination is a welcome change after those holiday mince pies and plum puddings.

If you haven't time to prepare the vanilla sugar called for, use pure vanilla extract as suggested. If fresh grated coconut—wonderful as it is—is beyond you, substitute the moist finely flaked shredded coconut now available in cans.

STEWED APPLES WITH COCONUT SAUCE

Ingredients:
Two cups vanilla sugar, 1½ cups water, ¼ teaspoon salt, 4 medium-sized or large tart apples, coconut sauce.

Method:
Mix vanilla sugar, water and salt in a 10-inch skillet that is at least 2 inches deep. Mix well and heat slowly, stirring often, to dissolve sugar; bring to boiling point. In the meantime pare, core and cut apples into eighths. Add to boiling syrup. Cook, uncovered, until tender and transparent, turning carefully to cook uniformly. Time will depend on variety of apples. Remove apples from syrup and cool. Reserve syrup and use for cooking another batch of apples. Serve apples warm or chilled as dessert with coconut sauce. (Apples may also be served as meat accompaniment with pork or ham.) Makes 6 servings.

Note:
Plain granulated sugar and ¼ teaspoon pure vanilla extract may be substituted for the vanilla sugar called for.

COCONUT SAUCE

Ingredients:
One-fourth cup vanilla sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 eggs (slightly beaten), 2 cups milk, ½ cup shredded moist coconut.

Method:
Mix vanilla sugar and salt together in a heavy saucepan or in the top part of a double boiler. Blend in eggs lightly with fork or whisk. Stir in ¼ cup cold milk; heat the remaining milk and stir gradually into mixture. Cook and stir constantly over very low heat or over hot (not boiling) water until the custard coats a metal spoon. Remove from heat. Add coconut; cool. Serve with stewed apples. Makes 2½ cups. This sauce may also be used over sliced bananas and oranges.

Note:
Plain granulated sugar and 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract may be substituted for the vanilla sugar called for.

VANILLA SUGAR

Ingredients:
Split 2 vanilla beans down the center. Place in a tightly covered canister containing 5 pounds granulated sugar. Store for at least 2 weeks before using so sugar will pick up the essence of the vanilla bean. Add additional sugar to the canister as the vanilla sugar is used. Use the vanilla sugar in fruit desserts, fruit compotes, cakes, cookies and over cereal.

The New Heaven and New Earth

ST. JOHN HAS A VISION OF THINGS TO COME WHEN THE OLD WORLD HAS PASSED AWAY

Scripture—Revelation 21.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

WE HAVE now come to the last chapter of our Bible, written by the last of the apostles, John.

He was on the island of Patmos, in the Aegean sea. Dr. Wilbur M. Smith calls this chapter "One of the most exalted, glorious, radiantly beautiful chapters of all the Bible."

St. John writes:

"And I saw a new heaven and a new earth; for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea. And I, John, saw the Holy City, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband."

Probably even the youngest of the Sunday school pupils has seen a bride dressed for her wedding, and looking her loveliest, to meet her bridegroom.

"And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, will be thrilled with John's description of the jasper walls, "clear as crystal," of the great wall with its 12 gates guarded by 12 angels, the 12 foundations of the wall on which were the names of the 12 apostles.

There was no temple in the great city, for there was no need, for God and His Son, the Lamb, ruled there to be worshiped.

The city was pure gold, and the 12 gates were of 12 pearls; "every gate was of one pearl." . . . "And the city had no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it; for the glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb (Jesus) is the light thereof."

"And the nations of them that are saved shall walk in the light of it; and the kings of the earth do bring their glory and honor into it."

"And the gates of it shall not be shut at all by day; for there shall be no night there. "And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that deand He will dwell with them, and they shall be His people, and God Himself shall be with them, and be their God.

"And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain; for the former things are passed away."

"And He that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And He said unto me, Write: for these words are true and faithful."

"And He said unto me, It is done. I am the Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end (these are the first and last letters of the Greek alphabet). I will give unto him that is athirst of the fountain of the water of life freely. He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be My son."

"We have not space to describe in all details this beautiful city which God shall create for His children, but the younger children as well as the older ones.

flesh, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie; but they which are written in the Lamb's book of life."

Dr. Smith quotes the words of the late Mr. Scott about the stones that composed this great city, as follows:

"Amongst precious stones the jasper and sardius are remarkable for their brilliancy. These hard and indestructible gems are fit emblems of incorruption in the glorified state. The blue 'wavy colors of the rainbow' in the one, and the red of the other are flashed out in wondrous beauty."

This beautiful city was larger than any city on earth today. Dr. Smith has computed the number of people who may inhabit it to be a hundred thousand million.

"When will it come? No one knows, but wouldn't you and your families like to be eligible to live in it? And how happy and comforted the apostle must have felt after he was given this vision of the Holy City!"

THE ANSWER IS GOD!

WORSHIP HIM IN CHURCH EVERY SUNDAY . . . AT HOME EVERY DAY . . .

THE GLEAM FROM BEYOND THE CLOUDS

There may be folks who dream of a new year with no clouds over the horizon. But life has taught most of us that there is never a day free of uncertainty.

Some like to rejoice in the calm of today and give no thought to the clouds of tomorrow. There is a contentment without strength, a happiness empty of hope.

But stronger souls see both the calm and the clouds. And they look beyond the clouds to the Light whose rays bathe the horizon.

These are the souls who face the new year with faith in their God. They know the days will not be without shadow. The ripples may sometimes become angry breakers. But they follow the gleam across another year . . . the Gleam from beyond the clouds.

The Church is for those who would look ahead . . . ever toward the Light.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

725,000 Chinese Forcibly Resettled

HONG KONG (AP)—Peiping radio said today that 725,000 people were uprooted in Red China this year and resettled in the sparsely settled northeastern and northwestern provinces. The forced migrations were stepped up this year in an effort to solve the unemployment problem in major cities, particularly Shanghai.

Non-Red Okinawans Turn Backs On Anti-U.S. Mayor

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—The non-Communist majority on Naha City Council declares it will not cooperate with the newly elected anti-American mayor of the biggest town on this U. S. defense island south of Japan.

Twenty-seven of the 30 Council members joined in the no-cooperation move. They called Kame-jiro Senaga "the Communist mayor or who pledged to destroy the progress and development which Naha made with the assistance and good will of the United States over the last 11 years."

Senaga, who heads the Okinawan People's party, says he is not a Communist. But he has been the most effective agitator against U. S. control of the Ryukyus, of which Okinawa is the biggest island. Two U. S. deputy governors of the Ryukyus have called his party Communist controlled.

The United States now administers the former Japanese islands under the San Francisco Peace Treaty of 1951 with military authorities in governing positions. Okinawans elect their own city officials and a legislature which has limited powers.

Senaga was elected mayor Tuesday, polling 16,100 votes and leading his nearest opponent by 2,100. Two candidates split the conservative vote. Senaga is expected to take office Jan. 5.

The 27 Council members said they will form an "anti-Communist front" to oppose Senaga's policies. They also said they have launched a drive to oust the mayor's party as Communist.

Jugo Thomas, whose recent appointment as chief executive of Okinawa left the mayor's post open, reported to Civil Administrator Maj. Gen. V. F. Burger that the "opinion of the general man on the street is 'Let Senaga hang himself.'" He added that Senaga "cannot possibly keep his campaign promises of tax reform and city reconstruction without American aid."

Delay Reported In Oil Map Theft Trial

PITTSBURGH (AP)—U. S. Atty. Malcolm Anderson says four men indicted for conspiracy in the theft of valuable geological oil maps from Gulf Oil Corp. will not be brought to trial until June "at the earliest."

A federal grand jury indictment charges them with conspiring to transport stolen property in interstate commerce from Jan. 1, 1952, to last Dec. 18.

Indicted are: Odie Seagraves, 70, well known Houston oil and natural gas promoter; Irving Miller, about 40, formerly of New York and now believed to be living somewhere in Canada; Emanuel Lester, also known as Emanuel Lieberman, 32, of New York. He is now serving a prison term for attempted extortion of the slain financier Serge Rubenstein; Edward Lieberman, 20, of New York, brother of Lester and president of the U. S. Tackless Corp., a New York carpet firm.

The grand jury named two co-conspirators in the fantastic case but did not indict them. They were: Thomas Smith, 47, of Pittsburgh, described as the Gulf employee who stole the maps; John Levia, 34, of Orange, Tex., a geologist who was arrested along with Seagraves and Lieberman on similar charges when FBI agents broke the case Dec. 18.

Both Smith and Levia testified at the secret grand jury investigation. Anderson said he would request that the charge filed in New York against Levia be dropped because of his cooperation.

No charges have been brought against Smith. Anderson said Smith and Levia "may or may not be charged in the future."

Crater Lake Holds
Small Volcanic Cone

By RAMON COFFMAN
Today I have several questions to answer about the Cascade Mountains.

Q. Are the Cascades in Washington and Oregon?

A. The Cascade Mountains run through the states named, but parts of the range are in British Columbia and northern California.

Q. What is the highest peak in the Cascades?

A. Mount Rainier in Washington. This beautiful mountain rises to a height of about two and three fourths miles.

Located hardly 50 miles from the city of Tacoma, Rainier is one of the most interesting peaks in North America. It was built up by material thrown out by a volcano which was active in the distant past. Small openings still send out steam and fumes of sulphur, but the volcano is classed as extinct.

Mount Rainier was discovered by Captain Vancouver, who named it in honor of Rear Admiral Rainier of the British navy.

Q. Is Crater Lake in the Cascade Mountains?

A. Several crater lakes exist but the most famous is Crater Lake in southern Oregon. The lake rests in an opening in the old volcanic cone known as Mount Mazama, a segment of the Cascade

Three "sister peaks" in the Cascade Mountains.

Range.

Q. How deep is Crater Lake?

A. In one part it is two fifts of a mile deep. The length is about six miles and the width five miles.

Oregon's Crater Lake contains Wizard Island, the top of a small volcanic cone. It is believed that the last eruptions in this area came from this "baby cone."

Crater Lake was discovered by a mining prospector 103 years ago. Early explorers failed to find any fish inside it, but it was stocked with trout 35 years after the discovery. Since then, other kinds of fish have been placed in the water.
