

BLIZZARD SHUTS DOWN PANHANDLE; HUNDREDS STRANDED

Two Freeze To Death In Snowdrifts

By The Associated Press

A blizzard shut down most of the Texas Panhandle today, and two persons, stranded in their automobile by snowdrifts that sometimes reached 12 feet, froze to death.

Strenuous efforts to clear streets and highways were resulting in only small success.

To Go Around Zero

Although the snow had stopped, strong winds created new drifts everywhere, and temperatures were expected to go to around zero by Tuesday morning.

The two freeze victims were found five miles west of Shamrock this morning.

They were not identified immediately. They were Mexican-American men.

Authorities said that as fast as street and highway machinery cleared passageways the high, gusting winds up to 60 miles per hour blew snow back onto the cleared area and drifted it.

In Amarillo, hub of the Panhandle, the Globe-

Times said at 8:30 a.m. that all traffic in the city was by foot except for a few emergency vehicles.

All Amarillo ambulances, for instance, were stuck in the snow.

Only garage wreck rescue vehicles and a few 4-wheel drive trucks were moving at that time.

Hard Layer Of Ice

Authorities could give no estimate as to when street conditions would ease. Forecasts said that temperatures would remain below freezing at least into Tuesday.

Complicating the efforts to clear streets and highways was a hard layer of ice beneath the snow and hard-packed snow above that.

Hundreds of motorists, some of them on buses, were stranded, but reports to the Globe-Times showed that all had been rescued and taken to places of safety by this morning.

One of the stranded buses was a Greyhound en route from Oklahoma City to Amarillo. It slid off snowbound U.S. 66 near McLean, 79 miles east of Amarillo. The eight passengers and drivers were rescued — however, the bus had sufficient gasoline to keep the heaters going throughout the delay.

The Globe-Times survey of the Panhandle cattle situation showed only minimum losses. Most ranchers could get feed to their cattle.

However, spokesmen for the Wheathead Feed Lots in Perryton in the far northeast corner of the Panhandle said they had been unable to get to their lots because of the roads and could not tell if there were any losses. The company has a lot near Buffalo, Okla., as well as near Perryton and has been unable to get to it for two days.

Temporary Relief

The snow will give only temporary relief for wheat and other small grains. It brought about an inch of moisture in an area suffering from a lengthy dry spell.

The forecast for Tuesday morning was for near zero to 17 above in Northeast Texas, 13 to 25 in North Central Texas, 17 to 24 in Northeast Texas, a hard freeze in the northern portion of South Central Texas and in Southwest Texas, and in the 20s and 30s in far West Texas.

The Adjutant General's Office in Austin reported that the National Guard has 28 trucks and three armored personnel carriers operating on search and rescue missions in Amarillo, Borger, Pampa, Shamrock, Plainview and Wellington.

The guard has 88 persons on duty, all from the 2nd Battalion, 142nd Infantry, commanded by Lt. Col. Jesse Barton of Amarillo. The same outfit saw service in the Lubbock tornado last year.

Guards Move Medics

In Amarillo, the full tracks of the personnel carriers have been particularly effective in the deep snow and a policeman has been assigned to each vehicle to help guide the drivers and for other duties.

Among other things, the National Guardsmen helped move doctors and nurses to hospitals. Universities and schools in the area canceled today's classes.

Travelers jammed motels, leaving their vehicles adjacent to ice-slick and snow-covered highways.

At the same time, tornadoes spawned from a cold front struck at Athens in East Texas and Belmeade, a Waco suburb. Five persons suffered injuries in Athens, and the twister at Belmeade caused an estimated $225,000 in damage.

The heavy snow in the Panhandle spread south to Abilene and east to the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

22 Inches Snow Pampa

More than 22 inches accumulated at Pampa, 17 inches at Canadian, 21 at Miami and 12 inches at Amarillo.

Deputy Sheriff Ruben Garcia of Claude, 25 miles southeast of Amarillo, took 25 stranded motorists to motels. He was forced to give up his rescue efforts because of damaged tires on his patrol car.

Twisters Kill At Least 74, Hundreds Hurt

By The Associated Press

Dozens of tornadoes tore across the flat lands of the Mississippi River delta Sunday night. Authorities said today that 74 persons were killed, hundreds others were injured and thousands of homes and businesses were destroyed.

Sixty-eight of the deaths were in Mississippi and the other six in Louisiana. Twisters also hit two cities in East Texas, but no deaths were reported.

And another section of the Midwest was hit Sunday with a heavy snowstorm. Five persons were killed in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri and many travelers were stranded, including two lanes of cars more than four miles long on the Kansas Turnpike.

The death toll climbed sharply early today when authorities reported additional victims in Mississippi's LeFlore County and in Inverness, Miss.

"It looked like a thousand hells!" exclaimed Willie Young, a railroad employee who survived one of the first tornadoes near Delhi, La.

A National Weather Service spokesman at Jackson, Miss., said there probably were 40 to 50 tornadoes in the 100-mile line of violent weather that raced across Mississippi after spawning two twisters in northeast Louisiana.

LIFTS HOUSE

Mississippi officials reported 19 killed in rural LeFlore County, 13 at Inverness, eight at Cary, seven at Delta City, five in rural Humphreys County, three at Little Yazoo, two at Rome and two at Bovina.

The LeFlore deaths included 16 at Pugh City where, a deputy sheriff said, only seven of the 50 houses were left standing.

In Louisiana, near Delhi, six persons died when a tornado lifted a frame house from its foundation and splintered it over a wide area. Some of the bodies were found 200 yards from the foundation of the house.

Telephone communications were knocked out in some of the hardest hit areas in Mississippi. National Guard units were mobilized in several communities and shelters were being set up for the homeless. About 50 emergency Red Cross workers were sent to the storm area.

DISASTER AREA

Sen. James Eastland, D-Miss., asked President Nixon to declare the stricken region a federal disaster area.

A spokesman for the University of Mississippi at Oxford said 40 students were hospitalized after a tornado struck a trailer park on the edge of the campus. He said 50 trailers were destroyed and 50 others damaged.

Damage at Inverness, Miss., a community of about 1,100 persons about 90 miles northwest of Jackson, was widespread.

Ray Armstrong, a Civil Defense worker who was helping to look for victims in the debris, said: "We don't know how many are dead, how many are injured or how many may still be under this stuff."

Authorities said a Negro section of Inverness was completely flattened and all homes in a four-block white residential area were either destroyed or heavily damaged.

TORNADO WATCH

Louisiana was placed under a tornado watch in early afternoon, but little severe weather developed until the system neared the Mississippi border.

The Weather Service in New Orleans said the system which produced the unusual number of twisters contained "a very deep low" pressure system fed by unseasonably warm air boiling in from the Gulf of Mexico.

A spokesman said the conditions which set the stage for Sunday's tornadoes were no different in nature from those which often occur, but were more pronounced.

In the Midwest and Southwest, a snow storm struck, killing five persons, stranding travelers and cutting power lines. Oklahoma and Kansas were hardest hit.

SNOW STORM — Drifts such as this one in downtown Amarillo were a common sight to citizens in the aftermath of the worst blizzard in the Texas Panhandle since 1964. The storm dropped 13 inches of snow and temperatures are not expected to move above the freezing mark today.

White House Demanding Report On False Alert

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the White House demanding an explanation of a weekend foul-up, the Defense Department and the Federal Communications Commission both say they will take a closer look at the way the government warns the nation against nuclear attacks.

The announcements Sunday came only hours before the emergency broadcast warning system malfunctioned for the second day in a row.

The system, directed by the North American Air Defense Command — NORAD — inside Cheyenne Mountain near Colorado Springs, Colo., first failed

Saturday when a technician inserted the wrong tape into the broadcast wires of The Associated Press and United Press International.

SYSTEM FAILED

The tape normally sent would have notified broadcasters NORAD was testing the system. Instead, it said the President had directed a notification of emergency action, that all normal broadcasting was to stop immediately, and that broadcasters were to transmit the warning.

The system failed again Sunday when NORAD was unable to take over control of The Associated Press teletype wires because of a technical failure. The test was transmitted as usual over the UPI circuit.

A subsequent test over the AP lines Sunday night worked. Technicians from NORAD, the telephone company and the AP said the cause of the earlier failure was unknown.

NEVER AGAIN

An investigation into Saturday's false alert was requested by the White House. A spokesman said Sunday "those responsible at NORAD will see that it does not happen again."

Saturday's erroneous alert remained in effect 18 minutes although many stations did not shut down. Some stations did not see the teletype message and others doubted its authenticity, an AP poll showed.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said he has asked for a report on the false alert and FCC Commissioner Robert Wells said the FCC and the National Industrial Advisory Committee of broadcasters and wire services will evaluate industry response to the error.

The fact the false alert did not create more alarm than it did suggests the system was not functioning as it is supposed to.

Louis I. Smoyer, civilian in charge of the Civil Defense National Emergency Warning Center in Cheyenne Mountain, said Sunday new procedures have been instituted to prevent any recurrence of the false alarm.

The Nixon administration will, in a sense, pit science against love as part of its $6 million campaign to combat sickle-cell anemia, the painful and crippling childhood disease that afflicts only blacks. See Page 2.

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Three people were killed and one injured critically in a two-car crash at 1:45 a.m. Sunday five miles west of Westbrook in the eastbound lane of IS 20.

Former Big Spring man Eddie Wayne Hogue, 22, now of Colorado City; Lawrence Dwayne Kelley, 21, and his wife Barbara, 17, both of Westbrook, were all pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Leonard Henderson of Colorado City.

All three were taken to Kiker and Son Funeral Home in Colorado City.

Alex Rocha, 19, Colorado City, alone in the other vehicle, was in critical condition Monday morning at Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene with chest injuries and a leg injury.

Highway Patrolman Randy Wilkinson, who investigated the accident, said that Rocha was westbound in the eastbound lane of IS 20 when the head-on collision occurred.

Funeral for Mr. Hogue, 22, will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the First Assembly of God Church with the Rev. Ronnie Frazier, officiating. Burial will be in the Westbrook Cemetery under the direction of the Kiker and Son Funeral Home.

He was born June 24, 1948, in Big Spring and had attended Westbrook High School and was a veteran of military service.

He was an employee of an oil well service company.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hogue, Colorado City; four sisters, Mrs. Glenn Morris, Colorado City, and Vickie, Judy and Susie, all of the home in Colorado City; three brothers, Rickie, Bill and Allen, all of the home.

Funeral for Mr. and Mrs. Kelley is pending at Kiker and Son Funeral Home. Arrangements will be made when Mrs. Kelley's parents arrive from Virginia.

He was born June 22, 1949, in Colorado City and attended Westbrook High School. He married Barbara Annette Parham Jan. 2, 1970, in Ft. Eustis, Va.

He was a Vietnam veteran and was an employee of an oil well servicing company.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Kelley of Westbrook; four brothers, Dale and Larry of Westbrook; Don Kelley, Colorado City; and Glenn Kelley, of Germany; two sisters, Duan and Dorothy, both of the home.

Mrs. Kelley was born Oct. 13, 1953, in Georgia, and came with her husband to Westbrook in October of 1970.

Survivors include her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Parham of Newport News, Va.; and one sister.

If You Don't Like It, Wait Just A Minute

If you waited long enough, Sunday you could get everything but warm.

Sunday brought snow, sand, sun and rain (.05 inch) to Big Spring and surrounding areas, but it was cold the whole time.

Reports from Fairview, Moss Creek Lake, Vealmoor, Forsan and other nearby areas were the same as those in Big Spring.

"It was cloudy, then the sun came out, then it snowed, then it blew, then the sun came out, and then it snowed again," one man said.

Most weather observers were reminded of the old saying: "If you don't like the weather in West Texas, wait a minute, and it will change."

Temperatures were rarely above freezing, despite the occasional glimpses of the sun.

PRINCIPAL DEFENDANT IN FEDERAL STOCK SUIT

Osorio Says He Is Innocent Of Any Wrongdoing

DALLAS (AP) — John Osorio, former president of National Bankers Life Insurance Co. of Dallas and a defendant in a government stock fraud case, says he is near bankruptcy as a result of the suit.

In a copyrighted interview in the Dallas News Sunday, Osorio, an Austin lawyer, says he is innocent of any wrongdoing alleged in the case.

Osorio and National Bankers Life are among defendants against whom the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has obtained a temporary injunction against fraud and manipulation of stock prices.

MANY HURT

Osorio filed an answer Friday in the U.S. Court clerk's office here to charges made against him in the SEC civil suit.

"I think a lot of people have been hurt in here—unjustifiably so—and I think I'm one of 'em," Osorio said in the interview.

Osorio said he came out of this thing with any money. "I imagine that every one of the defendants that are placed in the same position I'm in feel the same way, that they're catching this whole load."

U.S. Dist. Judge Sarah Hughes granted the temporary injunction against Osorio and others Feb. 10.

His dealings as NBL's president were not illegal "as far as I was concerned," and he never engaged in illegal sale of any stock, he said, adding:

"I had no preconceived plan of running the stock up. This transaction would have gone down as another economic failure if it hadn't involved some big names, and that's all."

The SEC claims in its injunction suit that Osorio and others enabled several state officials to make quick-profit deals in NBL stock through loans from the now defunct Sharpstown State Bank in Houston.

THAT'S A CRIME? Houston developer Frank W. Sharp, among those temporarily enjoined along with Osorio, at the time controlled the bank and National Bankers Life.

Osorio said stock deals involving Gov. Preston Smith, House Speaker Gus Mutscher and others had nothing to do with his effort to obtain passage by the legislature in 1969 of state deposit insurance measures — legislation which eventually was vetoed by the governor.

He told state Democratic chairman Elmer Baum, identified in the SEC suit as a partner of Gov. Smith in stock dealings, that NBL was on an expansion campaign, Osorio said.

"I think the only crime that Dr. Baum has ever committed was being my next-door neighbor (in Austin)," he added.

"We had already made a release to the papers, as we were required by law to do, that we were going to put on a growth program. And when he said that he wanted to buy some (stock), I told him 'fine,' and he said he didn't have the money and I told him where to get it."

Osorio said he told State Rep. W. S. Heatly of Paducah also about NBL's planned growth.

"Bill Heatly is also a very close personal friend of mine," Osorio related, "and I recommended the stock to him."

Osorio said he had nothing to do with stock deals involving Gov. Smith, Mutscher, State Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth and two Mutscher aides.

The SEC has alleged that the deposit insurance legislation was aimed at freeing banks controlled by Sharp of surveillance by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

GOOD IDEA Osorio declared the only reason for the measures was to attract large deposits into Texas banks.

"I thought of the bill in its original stages and Sharp thought it was a good idea," he went on. "The bill was not of that great importance to me. I did go down there, I did try to pass it, because I thought it was a good bill—good for the public."

Mentioning that he also has worked for passage of measures to help mentally retarded children and other bills, Osorio said, "The only reason I do these things is because I know my way around down there. I've been down there too long to try to do anything which the SEC implied."

'COPING WITH YOUR INCOME TAXES'

'Keys' To Look For This Year

EDITORS NOTE: Following is the first in a series of five articles entitled "Coping With Your Income Taxes." They were written to help taxpayers prepare their 1970 tax returns.

By BILL NEWKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — When you're ready to start figuring your 1970 income tax, the best advice is to find a cozy chair at home, turn on a bright light, and bone up on changes in the tax laws.

The preparation will prove invaluable since far-reaching amendments favoring most taxpayers were made when Congress passed the 1969 Tax Reform Act. The personal exemption is higher, the surcharge is lower, and deductions for some expenses are greater.

One way to get yourself prepared is to read thoroughly the instruction booklet mailed by the Internal Revenue Service with your returns. For more detailed information, a good buy is IRS' 160-page "Your Federal Income Tax," available for 75 cents at IRS offices throughout the country.

Another handy document — and free — is "Highlights of 1970 Changes in the Tax Law," also at IRS offices.

DEADLINE

The deadline for filing is, as usual, April 15, and your return must either be in the hands of IRS or postmarked by midnight on that date.

Change is the word to describe the 1970 tax year. Not only have the laws been liberalized, but the IRS has spruced up its old reliable, form 1040, removed some of the clutter, filled it with more white space, and eliminated the instructions from the back of the form.

The result, IRS officials say, is a neater, less complicated and more readable form for the bleary-eyed millions who labor through figures into the early hours of morning.

BASIC POINTERS

All the preparation and typographical niceties won't help, however, if you overlook some basic pointers every veteran tax filer should know.

First, don't forget to sign the return and list your Social Security number. If it's a joint return, your spouse's signature and Social Security number are a must.

Second, clip your W-2 forms to the back of form 1040, another simple but necessary chore. Failure to do either can delay your tax refund.

Most taxpayers who filed returns last year have been mailed a booklet containing all the necessary forms. There's a gummed label that can be peeled off the cover of the instructions and put in the address area of form 1040. If your address has changed, you can make the corrections right on the label.

The form 1040 is basically a one-page return this year. The old schedule "T," a separate form for calculating your taxes, has been eliminated, and taxpayers may now do their figuring on 1040 itself.

But if you itemize deductions, had pension income, or sold stock, you will have to add pages to the basic form using IRS' "building block" method.

BIG CHANGE

One of the big changes in the tax law increases the amount of the filing requirement, last year set at $600. Now, if you're single and under 65, you must file if you earned $1,700 in 1970. For married couples living together and entitled to file jointly, the filing requirement is $2,300.

If you're 65 and over, you can add another $600 to the filing requirement in each case. So, if a husband and a wife filing a joint return are both over 65, the filing requirement is $3,500.

Adjusted gross income is what you're aiming at first in the mass of calculations you'll be making. All it means is total pay — not take-home pay — minus such things as sick pay, moving expenses, travel expenses and payments to self-employment retirement programs. If you claim these adjustments, you must file a special form for each.

ITEMIZING

If there's one lesson to be learned from filing returns, it's that itemizing your deductions usually pays off, especially if you own a home, carry substantial debt, give a lot to charity, pay substantial state and local taxes, and have high child care or medical expenses.

If you itemize, such outlays are deductible. They can be subtracted in whole or in part from your income, thus decreasing the amount of it on which you will have to pay taxes.

But if itemizing is too confusing or won't pay off, you can take the standard deduction, figured at 10 per cent of your adjusted gross income, but the deduction cannot be more than $1,000 (or $500 if married and filing separately).

In addition, the tax reform law included a new low income allowance, which may be as high as $1,100 for some taxpayers. The allowance, designed to remove many poor people from the tax rolls, is automatically figured in the tax tables.

Some key things to look for this year:

— The personal exemption has been increased from $600 to $625 for all of 1970. Next year, it will be higher.

— The 5 per cent surcharge, although officially eliminated last July 1, from income tax withholding, is still part of the return. It will be figured as 2.5 per cent of your total tax for the year. Taxpayers can use the tax tables to determine their surcharge.

— The standard mileage rate for automobile expenses has been increased to 12 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles of business use and 9 cents after that. For charitable and medical purposes, the mileage rate has been boosted to 6 cents.

DEVLIN VISITS ANGELA DAVIS — Bernardette Devlin stood in line with other visitors Sunday outside the Marin County Jail waiting to visit black militant Angela Davis. She showed her Irish passport, which she is holding, for identification and was searched before she spent the full 20 minutes allotted for the visit. A sheriff's deputy stands guard at the entrance. Miss Devlin, a representative of Mid-Ulster in the British Parliament then went to San Francisco for a lecture.

Nixonites Will, In A Sense, Pit Science Against Love

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration will, in a sense, pit science against love as part of its $6 million campaign to combat sickle cell anemia, the painful and crippling childhood disease that afflicts only blacks.

It plans a genetic counseling program in a pilot effort to identify prospective marriage partners with the disease trait and alert them to the danger facing their offspring, according to Dr. Ian Mitchell, an administration health aide.

TIME BOMB

"People sitting on a time bomb would like to know it," said Mitchell, who will direct the sickle cell campaign, scheduled to begin later this year in a number of cities.

"This doesn't mean, however, that we will tell people they shouldn't marry," he continued in an interview. "We will give them information so they can make a rational decision."

Sickle cell anemia is a hereditary ailment found only in Negroes. Some eight to 10 per cent of the black population carries the disease trait in their genes and can be so identified by tests.

CARRIERS ESCAPE

While these carriers do not suffer from the anemia, they can impart it to their children if they marry another carrier. Statistically, of four children from such a union, one would have the disease, two would have the trait but no disease, and one would have neither.

Approximately one in 500 black babies is born suffering from the disease. Most die of the blood disorder before adulthood after numerous bouts with jaundice, abdominal pain, joint disorders, progressive weakness and infection.

The symptoms are caused by abnormal red blood cells that become elongated, something like matchsticks or a sickle blade, and form logjams in capillaries of the blood system. Tissue death results at the jam points.

SAD FACT

"It is a sad and shameful fact that the causes of this disease have been largely neglected throughout our history," President Nixon said last week in announcing a $6 million request for concentrated research on the anemia as part of his special health message to Congress.

"We cannot rewrite this record of neglect, but we can reverse it," he said. Mitchell said plans for the counseling centers are not complete. He would not say where they will be located or how much they will cost.

Local Man's Unusual Hobby Gives Snakes A Bad Time

Ex-Governor, Wife Scheduled For Arraignment

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Former West Virginia Gov. William Wallace Barron and his wife are to appear for arraignment in U.S. District Court here Wednesday on charges of bribing the foreman of a federal jury that acquitted Barron of bribery conspiracy charges in 1968.

Barron's brother, Fred, said the former governor left his Pompano Beach, Fla., home Sunday and intended to be here Wednesday. But he said he didn't know where the former state executive had gone.

Bench warrants were issued Saturday for the Barrons' arrests and bond was set at $100,000 each.

face with impressive rattlers as the numerals.

"I made this for my brother-in-law, E. E. Vadakin, Cleveland, Ohio, as a conversation piece," he recalled. "I had fashioned his name at the bottom in rattlers, and the clock really did attract attention."

When Hudson Engineering Corp. transferred him to Martin County to work on a methane plant three miles north of Tarzan, he drafted others to rounding up West Texas rattlesnakes. One of these characters measured 63 inches long, but Kopnick has discovered that the size of the snake does not necessarily determine the size of the rattlers.

To date he has fashioned seven of these unusual clocks, one in a star design, another in an oval, etc. Already he has been commissioned to create a clock using Indian arrowheads for numerals, also one using a shell collection from Guam.

This hobby, which seems to get bigger all the time, replaces one he had in music. For a long time he was a professional musician, preferring the violin and banjo, until two broken fingers slowed him down. As it turned out, this was bad news for rattlesnakes.

Casually Yours

By JO BRIGHT

Sweet Jean Yates and her husband, Don, are still getting nostalgic thumbing through the lovely, antiqued "Book of Memories and Family Ties" which their children had made in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary. The children surprised the two with a dinner at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Donna Thomas, where Jerry Thomas joined other family members, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Elliott, to make the presentation.

I'm anxious to see the book, and will this week, when I stop by to share a cup of Louisiana coffee with the Yateses.

Another enjoyable family get-together was that of Andy Brown's family who marked his 80th birthday Feb. 15 with a dinner at the Ranch House in San Angelo. Sharing the spotlight with Andy were two grandsons, David Read of San Angelo, whose birthday was Feb. 2, and Phil Condra of Austin, who had a birthday Feb. 18. Miss Betsy Brownlee of Dallas, a guest, had a birthday Feb. 11. As if that weren't enough to celebrate, Feb. 14 was also the Brown's 16th wedding anniversary. Among the 22 attending were Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Read of Big Spring, Mrs. Bill Condra and Gay of Austin, and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis (Mary Read) Winterrowd and children, Lance and Julie. Winterrowd is a supervisor of the new Ethicon underground plant in San Angelo.

Incidentally, David Read, who decided to get his law degree after serving in the legislature, is now associated with Turner, Eaton and Read, attorneys and counselors in San Angelo.

Mrs. Johnnie Winham, recently named Sweetheart of Texas Delta Delta Chapter, PSA, is planning a spring trip to Guam to see her niece and her husband, the Roger Hubbards, and go with them to Tokyo, Japan.

Mrs. Shilne Phillips, still recuperating from a broken hip suffered in Miami, has been visited by two daughters, Champe Phillips came from Saigon and Mrs. Garth (Nancy) Jones was here from Austin where Garth is Associated Press chief. Nan's at Big Spring Nursing Inn till she can get around better.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Curtis had a weekend guest under curious circumstances. Miss Hedy Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Robertson of Mexico City, wants to enter Brighton College in England and is required to be interviewed and get a recommendation from a member of the English organization, Association of Teachers in Colleges and Departments of Education. The college informed Miss Robertson that the nearest member to her was Mrs. Curtis, so the young lady flew up over the weekend for the interview. Mrs. Curtis is an "Okie" but did work on her doctorate in math at Brighton College.

Meanwhile, Big Spring girls still favor Texas colleges. At Mrs. Martha Saunders presided at the Friday meeting of the Golden Age Sunday school class, Berea Baptist Church, in the home of Mrs. R. A. Chambers, 2113 Warren. The devotion was by Miss Olivia Mackenzie, and the opening prayer was given by Mrs. Chambers. Games were led by Mrs. Ira Norrell.

A LOVELIER YOU

Diet Without Feeling Hunger And Fatigue

By Mary SUE MILLER
(This is the third in a series of special articles on reducing by spring fashion time.)

Fear of hunger, fatigue, lowered resistance and slack muscles keeps many of "them what should" from dieting. But there are no such terrors in the plan unfolding here. Today's menus are an example of the way to diet without discomfort.

Breakfast. Orange juice; dry cereal, skim milk, 2 tsp. sugar; unsweetened coffee or tea. Lunch. Tomato consomme; tuna fish (water packed) salad with dieter's mayonnaise, lettuce and cucumber; 2 diet crackers; lemon jello; unsweetened beverage. Dinner. Vegetable plate — carrots, broccoli, baby onions, broiled mushrooms (garnish onions with parsley, broccoli with heated diet Italian dressing); small hard roll, 1/2 pat butter; fruit of choice. Between: Skim milk, night and morning.

Today's slimmer, for the midriff: Stand with back against wall so that head, shoulders, hips and heels touch it. Relax — flex — knees, pull waist in and up. Press spine to wall. Hold for 5 counts, rest and repeat 30 times.

Reducing Tip — How To Diet and Like It:
1. Eat SLOWLY FOR GREATER ENJOYMENT. 2. To take the edge off hunger, start meals with plain salads. 3. Quiet any hunger pangs between meals with a glass of cool water or low-cal beverage.

4. When you eat at home alone, prepare a proper meal. Dishes and drabs from the refrigerator often contain more calories than planned menus. 5. Shut bedtime snacks. Sleeping, you may not burn up the calories. 6. Make liberal use of foods packaged for dieters. 7. lucky 7. Hold the thought that your diet improves your skin and hair as well as your figure. You have nothing to lose but weight!

SHROVE TUESDAY Britishers Set Pancake Race At Highland Center

A pancake race, in the English tradition will be held on Shrove Tuesday by the British Wives Club at Highland Center. Plans for the race were made when the club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Ronald Huntley, 2402 Carleton.

The event calls for each racer to have a skillet and a large pancake, and as the racer runs, she must continually flip the pancake into the air. The club is inviting other organizations to run against them if they desire, and the British Wives will provide pancakes for all entries. Anyone wishing to enter the race is asked to call Mrs. Kenneth Daubney, 263-6783. At the conclusion of the race, the club will have a pancake breakfast at the home of a member.

In other business Thursday, Mrs. Corne Lancaster, a guest, introduced Miss Sheree Dorton of the House of Charm who presented a program on wigs, using Mrs. Glen Fergus and her daughter, Vicky, as models. Mrs. Larry Henderson won a free hair styling. In another contest, Mrs. Thomas Pace won a flower arrangement to be wired to her mother in England.

Mrs. L. Leopard On Dean's List

KNOTT (SC) — Mrs. Lawrence Leopard, daughter of the Larry Shaws, was recently named to the Dean's List at Texas Tech where she is a senior home economics education major. She is a graduate of Sands High School.

Fabrics Return Feminine Look

The over-all picture presented by the 50,000 garments produced by 800 manufacturers and viewed by 20,000 French and foreign buyers at the recent mammoth ready-to-wear exhibition here definitely stressed the clinging, ultrafeminine look underlined by the supple textured fabrics and a return to printed silks and sheers.

Spring colors also will contribute to the new approach divided between the "tender" and the "violent" with all the sand, rosy beige, blue, fuschia and white, for the first, bright reds, gold, burnt orange, coffee-brown and chocolate browns, reseda green, navy for the second and a good deal of black, as the French consider it ultrachic with a well-tanned skin.

Spirit Of The Times Captured By Cardin

Editors Note: This is the second in a series of articles written by Charles Hoch for Marie-Henri News Service, concerning the Men's Fashion Association press preview in Philadelphia, Pa.

By CHARLES HOCH
PHILADELPHIA — Pierre Cardin captured the spirit of the times at a breakfast fashion show when 175 men's fashion editors were served elegant eggs benedict against a background of mind-numbing rock music.

Cardin, one of the great heroes of the Peacock Revolution, broke no icons this morning but stayed close to his original concept that the male fashion silhouette should be long, lean and elegant. The designer paid meticulous attention to details for spring and summer — most of his new suit coats are single-breasted and the deep center vent of past seasons has been replaced by very deep side vents. The same details remain constant in Cardin's sport coats. All Cardin Trousers are flared (some cuffed, some not) and many are styled with a new high-rise waistband for almost cummerbund effect.

WHITE SUITS
Also like many of the other designers, Cardin showed lots of white shirts for a cool and elegant look. While still in limited supply these new white shirts with their deep band, long point collars will be seen in increasing numbers during the coming seasons. Most of the shirts are white-on-white or textured.

Cardin spills white into his suitings for a crisp, summery look. White with blue and white with red were the first two plaid suits shown this morning. Both were of an Italian linen and wool blend and were styled with two-button, single-breasted coats and high-rise trousers. Cardin was at his best for the casual scene in "Beaujolais, Cardin's Summer Wine." This teamed a sculptured grey and burgundy sport coat with a burgundy, double-knit high-rise trousers. His walking suit was of beige linen and terylene and the model knotted the belt around the fly front jacket. Cardin used linen twirling for his striped signature pants meant to be worn with a blazer for town and shirtless for beach or poolside.

"Summer Supper", shown to go anywhere after 8 p.m., was a single-breasted suit of dark granddaddy striped worsted tropical blend.

LOWER PRICES
The breakfast show closed with a sneak preview of Cardin's new boutique line. This line, to be available in July, has been designed for the young man at young prices. The line reflects an air of youthful elegance and is typified by the same controlled cut and rich colors that mark Cardin's designer fashions.

His all-weather canvas coats for fall and winter should be dear to many a young dandy's heart — they were all very tubular, very slim and very, very long with the hem falling well below the calf.

Wise To Look Both Ways

Rep. James W. Symington of Missouri had a great opportunity and met it with unsurpassed wisdom in addressing an elite student group of Williamsburg, Va., recently.

He spoke to the Williamsburg Student Burgesses' 14th annual conference.

His words are worthy of note not only by the young leaders, but by people of all ages.

Symington said there is a futility in demanding instant reforms. Change will be brought about not by one generation, but by many, he pointed out.

"Any generation that fancies it can face the future must first honestly face the present, and deal with its immediate challenges."

"You must come to grips with those ancient and still powerful dividers of men: race, religion, and socio-economic structure, each in your own land, your own community."

"If you do that, you will see the futility of demanding instant reforms and the fallacy of promising them."

Symington said "as students you form habits of mind and make choices that may determine whether your future will involve confrontation with a hostile society, resignation to a meaningless one, or participation in an improving one."

He challenged the students to derive insights to make better laws while honoring the laws they have in the meantime. He urged that they respect the great figures and the works of the past.

"We are tempted to expect an instant receptivity, just as we are accustomed to instant foods, cleaning agents, and other short cuts to happiness," he noted.

This country has a social awareness, recognition of its manifold problems, such as never before known in our history. It probably also is true that we have more acute problems, than at any time since the Civil War.

This awareness is good. Progress in spiritual, social and economic realms was never achieved by standing rigid on the status quo. There is so much about us that is neither just nor perfect.

But in evaluating the present and peering into the future, it is instructive to examine the past. The problems of today did not suddenly emerge yesterday. Still, the trend of all our history has been one of progress toward the ideals for which the nation was founded.

It still can be, and can be quickened, if the wise counsel of Rep. Symington is widely noted and followed.

Bail Bond Situation

The bail bond system is a failure. That's the conclusion of a special House committee that studied in Texas. It also is the conclusion of an American Bar Association study on criminal justice.

This has provoked a number of proposals which are side issue, but the ABA goes to the heart of the issue.

It recommends elimination of the cash bail bond business; that courts hold whatever cash bond they may require to insure appearance. Some judges have begun using citations to appear as sufficient guarantee in most cases. A recent census, for the first time, covered city and county jails in the United States and showed 160,883 persons in the country's jails. Of this number 7,800 were juveniles; of the total in jail, only 35 per cent had been arraigned, and 52 per cent had not been convicted.

DOVES

Cost-Cutting Continuous Fight

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Cost-cutting has already trimmed some of the fat that accreted on corporate bodies during the rich diet days of the 1960s, but if the past is a criterion, obesity and slovenly methods will slowly return.

This is almost in the nature of human behavior, of course, so it certainly is no surprise to individual executives, whose own personal battles with the waistline are gradually lost until they are shaken by the doctor.

A shock in the form of a recession is usually needed to force business to consider the state of its health—whether manpower, material, methods, markets and goals are properly coordinated to produce the greatest profit. But then the deterioration begins again, although it needn't.

"The greater part of cost-cutting is just common sense," says Phil Pomerantz, a partner with the accounting firm of Lybrand, Ross Bros. & Montgomery, who has compiled scores of profit improvement opportunities observed by the firm's accountant in recent months.

Pomerantz believes one of the clues to alerting executives to these opportunity areas is to hang a dollar sign on them. Human nature being what it is, he believes, it isn't sufficient merely to call attention to the problem. It must also be "dollarized."

Considerable savings often can be made in purchasing procedures, Pomerantz concludes. Too often the company purchasing agent is insufficiently informed to shop the market. He is outclassed by the superior knowledge of the vendor.

Obvious errors are commonly made in freight and traffic departments.

"Many companies," Pomerantz found, "leave the method of shipping up to the vendor. They do not specify how their goods are to be shipped. They permit the seller to choose whatever suits him."

A broad area of needlessly rising costs involves maintenance. The ratio of service people to production workers has risen in many businesses, and much of the increase results from poor planning, Pomerantz believes.

Electronic data processing has, of course, become an area of staggering costs for many companies that had hoped to realize savings. One reason, Pomerantz says, is that top management often doesn't know what is going on in the computer room. "It's a new area, they don't feel up to understanding it."

The problem is compounded by the narrow vision of some EDP supervisors who often are technicians lacking an understanding of the company's broad goals or do not have access to the information.

In Other Days—

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

You're not getting any younger if you can remember when:

A person who traveled as far as Shreveport or Tucson was regarded as a globe-trotter.

The person spoke for well over an hour and the entire church service ran for two hours.

One subscribed to the Literary Digest in order to be recognized as an authority on national problems.

PEOPLE relied on entries in the family Bible to prove the date of their birth.

Housewives shopped for crackers displayed in a barrel.

Oranges were a delicacy available only at Christmas. They usually could be found in children's stockings left by Saint Nick.

Tying a can on the tail of a mongrel dog was regarded as great fun.

NEW CAREERS began to open up for women. If she didn't care to get married, she could (1) teach school, (2) go to work for the telephone company, or (3) take in sewing, ironing or washing. Motorists kept yard sticks under their car seats to measure their supply of gasoline, either that or a small branch off a tree.

PEOPLE recognized homes where people were confined with serious illnesses by various color of flags that were displayed on porches.

The man who had attained his 60th birthday was considered very, very old.

A college graduate was a lot rarer than a two-headed snake and was pointed out as a visiting celebrity.

TEETH were pulled by the town dentist without benefit of anesthesia, although the dentist kept a bottle of red-eye around for the men who wanted to ease the pain.

Relatives and friends of the dearly departed sat up all night in the funeral parlors with the remains.

A woman who wore extra high heels was considered somewhat of a hussy. The only vacations most people took were to visit with relatives.

The Laos Affair

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — For several days recently the press carried dispatches from Saigon and Washington deploring the embargo that was placed upon news about the movements of American forces in South Vietnam who were assisting the South Vietnamese in their expedition into Laos to cut the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

THE NEWSMEN were complaining either that they weren't being told about the plan or that they were not permitted to publish what they did know. Some members of Congress thought there was unnecessary secrecy and, generally speaking, the administration was subject to a lot of criticism. But last week President Nixon held a press conference at which he told newsmen the whole story of just what did happen, and the transcript took more than six columns of space in the few newspapers which printed it in full.

THE PRESIDENT's explanation of what occurred shows that the expedition was a success and that a very important route used by North Vietnam to supply its forces in South Vietnam was effectively disrupted. The President indicated clearly that Americans are helping the South Vietnamese army but that he is continuing with his plans to withdraw our own troops, with no change in the schedule in that respect. He was asked why the incursion into Laos, which had been under consideration by military men in Saigon for some years, had just been decided on. He answered:

"IT WAS NOT undertaken during the previous administration, as I understand, and I can speak for this administration, was not undertaken until now for a reason that the South Vietnamese and for that matter, the United States, had enough on our plate in South Vietnam."

"Laos would not have been possible had it not been for Cambodia. Cambodia, cutting off one vital supply line and thereby practically bringing enemy activity in the southern half of South Vietnam to an end, released the South Vietnamese forces — who, by this time, had not only gained confidence in Cambodia, but also had additional strength — released them for undertaking what they could not have undertaken even eight months ago, an incursion on their own into Laos with only U.S. air support."

"THE DECISION to do it now, or

I think perhaps the decision not to do it before, is that, one, neither the United States nor the South Vietnamese felt that they apparently had the capability to do it; second, the decision to do it now was that based on the fact that the South Vietnamese, because of the confidence, the training they gained as a result of their actions in Cambodia, the South Vietnamese felt that they were able to undertake it. Our commanders agreed and, therefore, it was undertaken."

THE PRESIDENT went on to say that the objective is not to occupy any part of Laos. He emphasized that the South Vietnamese are not there to stay and are there only "to disrupt the enemy's lines of communication, their supply lines, their infiltration routes — and then to get out." Once this is accomplished, he added, "they will get out."

What Others Say

Blackmail has been successful. Fifteen prisoners have been removed from their gaols and flown out of Brazil, while release of the kidnapped ambassador had still to be left to the good faith of the kidnappers. Of course it is a disastrous precedent, which will encourage more kidnappings and hijackings. If blackmailers have enough targets to choose from, and are prepared to be quite ruthless, they can always find some suitable hostage. These conditions apply almost everywhere in Latin America, and in most other parts of the world too. There will be plenty of people eager to take a leaf out of the Brazilian underground's book.

General consternation will be felt over the fact that an ambassador has this time been the target. No international life is possible if diplomats cannot move freely about in the country to which they have been sent. It was the generals in Peru who a year ago seized American assets, and a Christian Democrat government in Chile which threatened to nationalize the great Anaconda Company of New York. But no doubt the drama of kidnapping an ambassador will put other gestures in the shade. The heroics left will now be the heroines. After all, they have won. And Che Guevara became a legend in spite of the fact that he fumbled and failed.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I'm not certain what the Bible means by, "Come ye out from among them and be ye separate." Does this include participation in sports and attending games and the like?

E.S. I believe that the Bible means what it says. Every child of God should be willing to yield himself to God's guidance in matters of entertainment, recreation and sports. I certainly do not think, however, that a Christian should be a recluse. Jesus dined with Publicans and sinners and by that means was able to make contact with them and witness for His heavenly Father. A good rule is: Don't do anything that would grieve God's Spirit, and don't go anywhere where you can't conduct yourself as a Christian should. I see nothing sinful about clean, wholesome sports, which are designed to make the body strong and the mind more alert. It is possible, however, to let "good things" take precedence over the "best things." Any activity which makes us less Christian should be discontinued. But, remember, it's not "our righteousness" by which we are saved; it is the righteousness of Christ. We must not be smug like the Pharisees and say, "Thank God I'm not as other men." We must remember that, "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God."

A Devotion For Today . . .

Let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth. (1 John 3:18)

PRAYER: Enlarge enkindle, and fill my heart with love that I may love with a zeal like Thine, O Lord. Help me lead others to Thee, Thou Shepherd who died for us all. Amen.

Dope Problem

Omar Burleson

WASHINGTON — In football the only sure way to break up a forward pass is to block the passer. Iran, one of the heaviest producers of opium, has applied this tactic to dope peddlers with what they say is maximum effects.

Poppy farmers in Iran are under government supervision. The acreage devoted to poppy raising is allotted and all production is sold to the Iranian government at a fixed price. As would be expected there is also a large amount grown outside that allowed. It is sold illegally at a higher price than that sold under regulation. The same situation exists in Turkey, where there is even larger poppy production.

POPPIES SOLD on the black market are crudely processed in clandestine plants in Iran and Turkey. The rough product is then taken to France where, again, it is illegally refined into heroin and other drugs for illicit sale, a large amount of which finds its market in the United States.

Our country's representatives have been in consultation with Turkey and Iran in efforts to curb the illicit traffic of drugs to this country. A subsidy to the farmers of both countries to reduce acreage has been considered, with the U.S. contributing.

IN THE MEANTIME, we are discussing with France her responsibilities of taking action against dope refineries. It seems some headway has been made but certainly more needs to be done.

Iran itself has a narcotics problem and has recently invoked the death penalty against peddlers convicted of a second offense. Iranian officials say that since a number of peddlers have faced a firing squad, their drug problem has come under control.

THE DRUG problem in this country is common knowledge. Even one addict is a problem to someone — himself and to the family. Multiplied by two million or more — and no one really knows for sure — it becomes a crisis. To make the matter more sad and alarming is the fact that addiction has spread to grammar school children. This is known to be happening here in Washington and is declared to be the case in a number of our large cities.

MURDER IN THE first degree, since about the beginning of time, has been the most serious offense under any kind of legal order. In this century the murder of the soul of a child might well be considered a more dastardly crime than the killing of the physical body of a man.

The Dope Addict not only becomes the victim of the drug seller but a menace to all society. A victim in the awful grip of addiction is under compulsion to satisfy his habit which may run to a cost of $100 or more a day. As a result a huge percentage of the crimes of violence are committed to obtain money to buy drugs. Our nation's capital is an appalling example.

Vast sums of money are being spent for the care and treatment of narcotic victims. The numbers continue to grow — the results in treatment appear doubtful.

THE OBSERVATION of President Thomas Jefferson might be appropriate when he noted that "the choice of two evils is often a necessity of political life." The most severe penalty on the dope peddler, as between the conversion of school children to drugs, is the lesser of evils. It is not a matter of the care of the criminal but rising to the defense of children.

For thousands of years, man has defined crimes against property and against his physical person. It remained for the scientific 20th century to produce crimes against the soul.

A New Veep?

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — Seeking the truth at President Nixon's vacation retreat in only sometimes sunny Florida, the instant historian is startled to hear a new name dropped in casual, off-the-record chats with persons from the throne room.

The name is Mark Hatfield, liberal Republican Senator from Oregon, and it is dropped absent-mindedly, as it were, when talk gets around to who will be Nixon's Vice Presidential candidate in 1972.

SUCH NAME-DROPPING, it is understood, never indicates endorsement by the dropper. That is why the air and tone are absent-minded. The intention is to get across the reminder that any President always keeps his options open in pondering the No. 2 spot on his ticket. Other Presidents, through their associates, have played this little game as a harmless way of keeping everybody guessing while the boss avoids a premature commitment.

BUT HATFIELD? The Oregonian is about as far removed from being a Nixon man as it is possible to manage and still escape dishonorable discharge from the Republican Party. He disagrees with the President on the war, the economy, integration, youth, and probably on how to make a martini.

But, yes, Hatfield. His differences with Nixon are just the point. His liberal presence would balance the ticket, show Richard Nixon's broad-mindedness and emphasize party unity. Hatfield also is a pretty good-looking politician who projects a quality of sincerity and dedication. It is not at all incredible that Richard Nixon, who has always argued that merely being a Republican reveals a man's perspicacity, might reach way out and bring Mark Hatfield into his official family.

NONE OF THIS is intended to suggest that Nixon will drop Spiro Agnew from the ticket two years hence. But there is an ambivalence in the White House atmosphere that seems designed to convey the impression that Agnew has no lock on the Vice Presidency.

At this point, it seems safe to report that within the Nixon establishment the Agnew people and the anti-Agnew people are about evenly divided.

THAT, OF COURSE, is the real story — the fact that the casual, gossiping "suggestions" should permit a bystander to speculate that a new face will run with Nixon in '72. It is almost as if somebody is trying to tell the Vice President something.

WHAT ALL this means, to me at least, is that sugar-plum visions of new Vice Presidential faces occasionally run through Richard Nixon's head. A president is comfortable in the knowledge that unless he picks a horse thief the party has no choice but to accept the man he wants for No. 2. Mark Hatfield? Well, Franklin Roosevelt forced Henry Wallace on the Democrats.

Asks Tax For Church-Owned Businesses

TO THE EDITOR:

The governor of Texas is seeking more revenue through increased taxes on its populace. Recently it came to light in the Sharpstown Bank in Houston that a religious order was involved in this fiasco to the tune of several million dollars.

The churches receive contributions from members, and this is non-taxable, as it should be, because they give in order that the church might carry on the order of Jesus Christ expressed in Matthew 28: 18-20.

Now, when the churches do not spend these monies and a great surplus is built up, which is then used to enter the business world instead of the Lord's business, then it behooves the government to tax businesses the same as any other business created for making money.

A great many of our citizens are not aware of the great number of businesses that are church-owned which run into billions of dollars and are competitive to the businesses of the members which contributed to its wealth to begin with.

So, I say to the governor and the Texas Legislature to please consider taxing the churches' business ventures in as much the Lord did not will this to be as it has now developed. It is not stepping on the Lord's toes to tax those churches that are not heeding the first commands.

Sincerely,
WILLIAM K. BOLING,

Dr. Spurr Named President At University Of Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Dr. Stephen H. Spurr, 35, vice president and dean of the graduate school at the University of Michigan, was named Sunday the third president in less than a year of the University of Texas-Austin.

In announcing Spurr's selection at a news conference, Chancellor Charles LeMaistre said Spurr met informally over the past two months with University of Texas System regents and that the regents have expressed unanimous agreement with his selection.

His appointment, expected to be confirmed at the regents meeting in Austin March 12, is effective July 1.

Spurr succeeds Dr. Bryce Jordan, president ad interim since the resignation last July 1 of Dr. Norman Hackerman, now president of Rice University.

Jordan becomes the first president of Texas-Dallas July 1.

The new president holds a B.S. with highest honors from the University of Florida, a masters degree in poetry and a Ph.D. in forest ecology from Yale.

Ironically, Hackerman reportedly got into difficulty with University of Texas regents chairman Frank Erwin Jr. over his handling of the Waller Creek episode during which giant trees were bulldozed to make way for an expansion of Memorial Stadium.

Spurr told a news conference he was "deeply honored."

"I can honestly say that I have never aspired to be a university president. Indeed, I can't imagine that anyone in his right mind would want the job of a university president," Spurr said.

Unwanted Baby

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and I am about to have a baby. I don't want this baby. The problem is the guy I am pregnant by is married. I didn't know he was married until it was too late. At first everything was fine. He gave me money and bought me just about anything I wanted. He even sent me to a private doctor. Then I found out he was still living with his wife and now I can't stand him. I don't want to see him any more and I don't want him calling me.

His wife found out about me and she wants me to go ahead and have the baby and give it to them, and then go on and be myself again like nothing happened. Do you think that is a good idea, Abby? I don't want this baby. I can't keep it myself, and I don't want to be involved with him anymore. Please tell me what to do.

UNWED MOTHER PROBLEM
DEAR UNWED: You say you do not want to be involved with him anymore. A wise decision. He is bad news. Feeling as you do, I suggest you deal directly with a licensed adoption agency. If you give your child to this man and his wife you will be involved with him forever.

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever picked up a women's magazine in the beauty parlor and started to read something very interesting only to find that some stinker has torn a recipe out and left a great big hole in the page? This infuriates me. Why are some people so selfish and inconsiderate? Please put this in your column. Some women need to learn that this little stunt is dishonest and irritating.

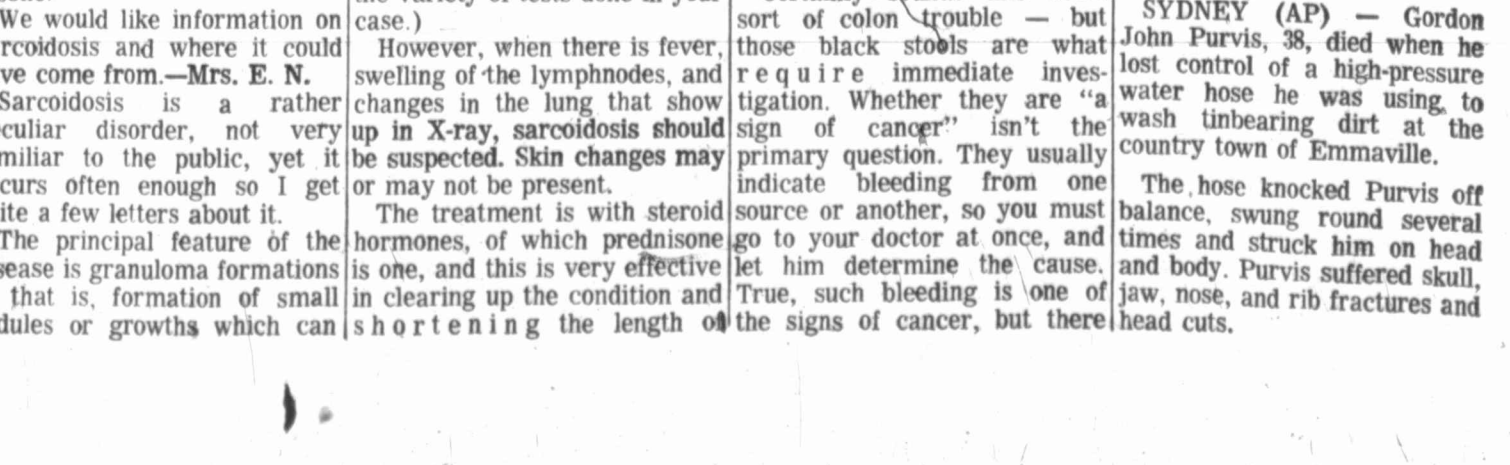

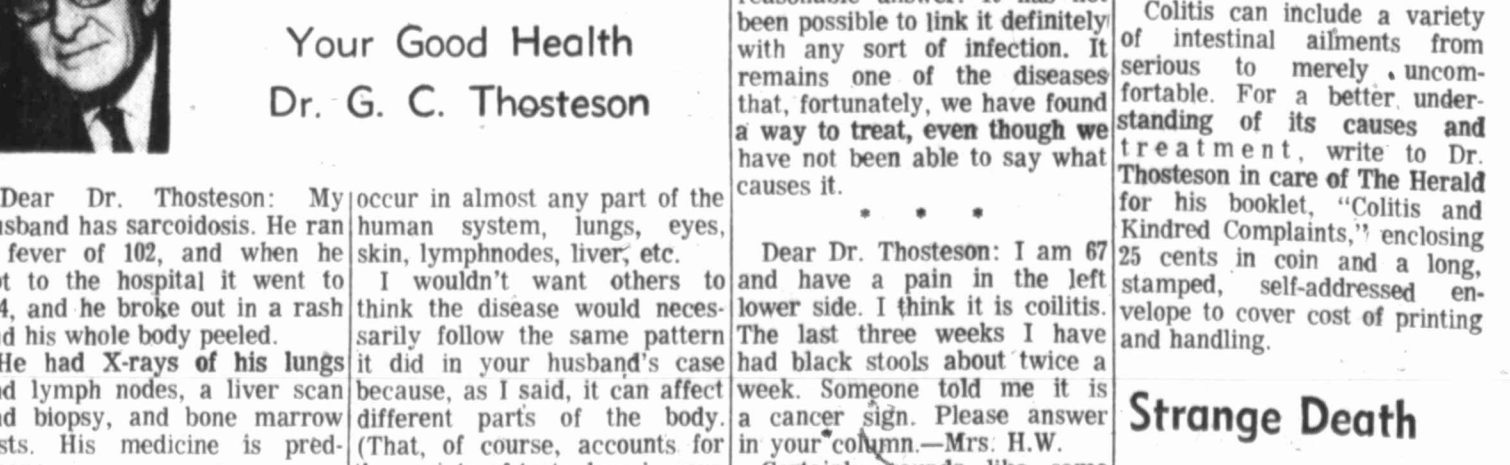

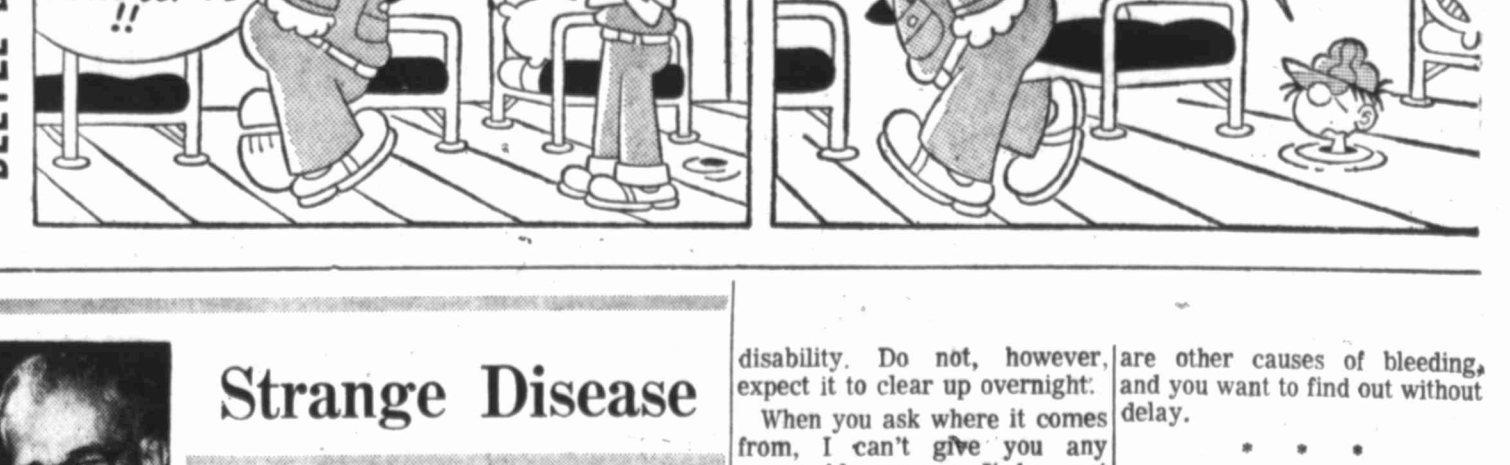

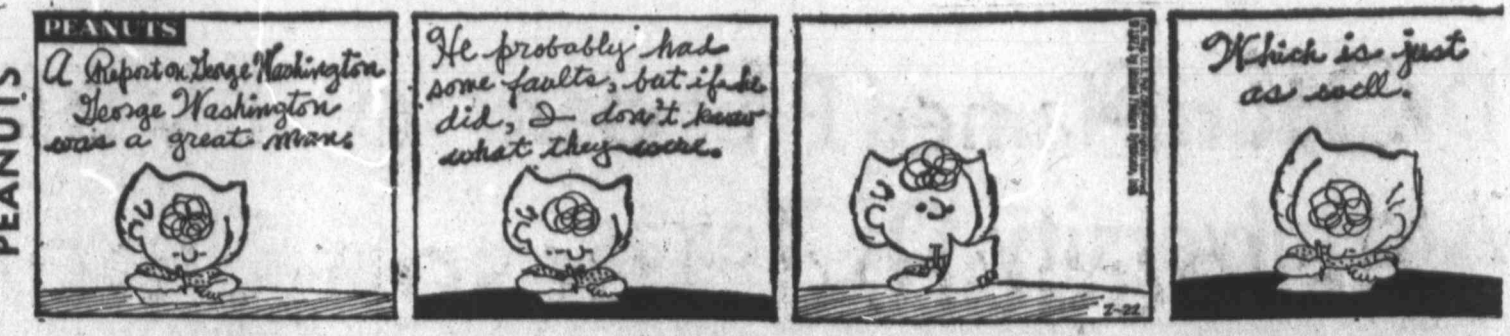

IRRITATED
DEAR IRRITATED: I have been there, and I agree, it is irritating. Ladies, are you listening?

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I will be married for 25 years next month and a good friend of mine told me we are going to be given a "surprise" party. I guess he thought he would be doing me a favor by telling me so I would be prepared. So since I already know about it, how should I act when everybody jumps out and yells "surprise?"

TIPPED OFF
DEAR TIPPED: Act surprised! How else?

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069.

Strange Disease

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband has sarcoidosis. He has a fever of 102, and when he got to the hospital it went to 104, and he broke out in a rash and his whole body peeled. He had X-rays of his lungs and lymph nodes, a liver scan and biopsy, and bone marrow tests. His medicine is prednisone.

We would like information on sarcoidosis and where it could have come from.—Mrs. E. N. Sarcoidosis is a rather peculiar disorder, not very familiar to the public, yet it occurs often enough so I get quite a few letters about it.

The principal feature of the disease is granuloma formations—that is, formation of small nodules or growths which can occur in almost any part of the human system, lungs, eyes, skin, lymph nodes, liver, etc.

I wouldn't want others to think the disease would necessarily follow the same pattern it did in your husband's case because, as I said, it can affect different parts of the body. (That, of course, accounts for the variety of tests done in your case.)

However, when there is fever, swelling of the lymph nodes, and changes in the lung that show up in X-ray, sarcoidosis should be suspected. Skin changes may or may not be present.

The treatment is with steroid hormones, of which prednisone is one, and this is very effective in clearing up the condition and shortening the length of disability. Do not, however, expect it to clear up overnight.

When you ask where it comes from, I can't give you any reasonable answer. It has not been possible to link it definitely with any sort of infection. It remains one of the diseases that, fortunately, we have found a way to treat, even though we have not been able to say what causes it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 67 and have a pain in the left lower side. I think it is colitis. The last three weeks I have had black stools about twice a week. Someone told me it is a cancer sign. Please answer in your column.—Mrs. H.W.

Certainly sounds like some sort of colon trouble—but those black stools are what require immediate investigation. Whether they are "a sign of cancer" isn't the primary question. They usually indicate bleeding from one source or another, so you must go to your doctor at once, and let him determine the cause. True, such bleeding is one of the signs of cancer, but there are other causes of bleeding, and you want to find out without delay.

Colitis can include a variety of intestinal ailments from serious to merely uncomfortable. For a better understanding of its causes and treatment, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for his booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Strange Death

SYDNEY (AP)—Gordon John Purvis, 38, died when he lost control of a high-pressure water hose he was using to wash timbering dirt at the country town of Emmaville.

The hose knocked Purvis off balance, swung round several times and struck him on head and body. Purvis suffered skull, jaw, nose, and rib fractures and head cuts.

Off Pace, Trevino Eyes Beleagured Tucson Open

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Lee Trevino was four strokes off the pace, not playing particularly well—and talking about winning.

"I figure I've got to go eight under par to win it," he said. And he's got 36 holes to do it today in the weather-plagued $110,000 Tucson Open golf tournament.

"Putting will do it," said Trevino, winner of the last two Tucson Open titles and the 1970 leading money-winner. "I'm going to be playing with some of those guys up on top. Some of them. And if I can make some putts, put some pressure on them, anything can happen."

"But if those guys on top start good, get some putts in the hole, well, nobody is going to catch them. It doesn't matter much where you hit it on this golf course—it's the putting."

Those guys on top going into today's 36-hole windup are J. C. Sneed and Dale Douglass, along with DeWitt Weaver.

Sneed, a hulking, hard-hitting nephew of Sam Sneed, managed only a 71 in Sunday's second round for a 137 and was caught by the lean and lanky Douglass. Douglass, a 34-year-old former Ryder Cup player attempting to play out of a prolonged slump, grabbed a share of the 36-hole lead when he holed a 40-yard wedge shot for an eagle three on the 11th hole at the 7,305-yard, par 72 Tucson National Golf Club course. He had a 68 in the twice-delayed second round of this event.

Husky Weaver, tied for first with Sneed going into the day's play, needed 37 putts en route to a 72 and was alone in third at 138.

Larry Mowry had a 68 for 139 and was followed by a group of five at 140. They included Frank Beard, 68; Bob Lunn, Bobby Greenwood and Steve Spray, all with 70s, and Don Bies, 71.

Trevino headed a large group at 141.

The scheduled first round of this 72-hole tournament was washed out by rain Thursday, a snowstorm canceled play Saturday.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

IN THE RUNNING — Dewitt Weaver, former Lubbock High and SMU star who is now playing out of Atlanta, Ga., is still among those in the Tucson Open running. He is in third place, one stroke off the leaders with the final round slated today.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Second-round scores Sunday in the $110,000 Tucson Open golf tournament on the 7,305-yard, par-72 Tucson National Golf Club course:

Colonels Pull Fruitful Rally

By The Associated Press

The second half was the better half for Kentucky and a bitter half for the New York Nets. Kentucky overcame an 11-point deficit behind Cincy Powell and Darrell Carrier in a second-half burst to lead the Colonels to a 125-121 American Basketball Association victory that snapped the Nets' winning streak at five Sunday.

Powell had 18 of his 29 points in the last two quarters and Carrier, 17 of his 24 to rub out the Nets' big advantage. Carrier's two free throws gave Kentucky the lead for good with 33 seconds left in the third stanza. The Nets climbed to within a point four times behind Rick Barry's hot hand, but never were able to catch the high-flying Colonels. Barry, who only had a point in the first quarter, finished with 39.

Elsewhere in the ABA, Virginia whipped Carolina 124-119, Utah smashed Denver 120-107 and Indiana clubbed the Floridians 121-107.

UTA Also Upsets ACC

By The Associated Press

Texas-Arlington is getting some great mileage out of the old David and Goliath theme. The Rebels, who have won only eight games this season, first became giant-killers two weeks ago when they upset Arkansas State 80-73 for the Indians' first Southland Conference basketball defeat.

The same principal applied last Saturday when UTA shocked league-leading Abilene Christian 85-78 to possibly throw the SLC championship game into a showdown next Monday at Jonesboro, Ark., in a rematch between ACC and Arkansas State.

Arkansas State has a 3-2 SLC and needs two more victories to set up the showdown with ACC next Monday. ACC has only the Arkansas State game remaining with a 5-2 record. Lamar Tech also got in on the upset business last Saturday by upending Arkansas State 82-78. Trinity downed Pan American 74-58 in the only other game.

TEARS IN EYES Richey Muffs Match Points

By The Associated Press

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — Clark Graebner, known as Clark Kent to his tennis colleagues, didn't resemble Super Man when he tumbled while putting away the final shot which won the $50,000 U.S. National Indoor Open.

Graebner, who wears horn-rimmed glasses but hardly has been recognized as having mild manners, performed his miracles earlier, however.

He staved off two match points by Cliff Richey in the fourth set Sunday, won 2-6, 7-6, 1-6, 7-6, 6-0, and hauled down the $9,000 first prize.

"The reason I lost those two match points," Richey managed to joke during the awards ceremony, "was that it happened so quick the eye didn't see it—but Clark put his cape on in the middle of the point."

Later, away from the crowd and in the presence of newsmen, the 24-year-old Richey wept as he thought of his second successive runner-up finish in the National Indoor Open—both times after mugging two match points.

Last year, winner Ili Nastase of Rumania was serving when Richey faltered. But this time, the nation's No. 1 player was serving with a 4-3 lead in the nine-point tiebreaking game of the fourth set, then tied 6-6 in games.

"I had been waiting for that moment for 365 days," Richey said, after being consoled by his father, George Richey. "I thought I had the ball put away, but I didn't hit it quite hard enough the first time and the second one I didn't place correctly."

Richey referred to a pair of overhand slams, which Graebner retrieved against the back retaining net, eventually forcing a Richey backhand error.

With still another chance to close out the match, Richey served at 4-4 but sent another backhand volley into the net and Graebner was on his way.

Juan Gisbert and Manolo Orantes of Spain, seeded No. 2, won the doubles and shared the $2,000 prize, staving off a match point in the 10th game of the third set to beat Graebner and Thomaz Koch of Brazil, the No. 3 seed, 6-3, 4-6, 7-6.

A softball organization meeting has been set for 7 p.m. today in the Reddy Room at TESCO.

Joe Dobry of Baroid Chemicals, commissioner of both the church and the city leagues, will be in charge. Representatives of all teams interested are urged to take part.

A tennis fan may find he's right at home in Heart 'O Texas Coliseum Tuesday when Baylor and Texas Christian battle for Southwest Conference basketball supremacy. The way both teams like to run, the action could be changing from one end of the court to the other like a good, fast volley of a tennis match. "All year long, we've tried to run if we could get that quick outlet pass," said TCU Coach Johnny Swaim. "But I'm not saying it'll be a running game. We'll just play it by ear and do what the defense lets us do."

Swaim is all too aware of the run and shoot tactics of the Bruins. After Swaim's Frogs had all but eliminated Rice with a 102-86 victory Saturday, Swaim drove to Waco to watch Baylor mangle Southern Methodist 112-79.

"We'd been listening on the radio at the start," Swaim said. "By the time we parked and got inside, it looked like both teams were tired. I think Baylor had really been running and from that point on it looked like SMU just couldn't get it in the hole. The showdown should be the cross roads for both teams. TCU had a one-game lead over Baylor with an 8-2 record. The Frogs have two of their last three games at home. Baylor now is 7-3 and could put it in a tie with a victory."

In other games Tuesday night, Texas Tech is at Arkansas, Rice is at SMU and Texas is at Texas A&M.

play and the start of Sunday's play was delayed 1½ hours because of frozen greens.

With many of the players faced with getting to Florida for the PGA national championship starting Thursday, sponsors announced that anyone with a

Hull Pulls Old Shot Magic

By The Associated Press

Chicago's Bobby Hull has become the National Hockey League's all-time trickster and Toronto's Maple Leafs are aiming to become this year's arch thieves.

Hull banged in three goals Sunday night in the Black Hawks' 7-5 victory over Los Angeles for the 27th hat trick of his career—one more than the old record held by Maurice Richard.

Toronto, meanwhile, whipped Minnesota 4-1 for its third straight victory behind the brilliant goaltending of Bernie Parent.

"It's the steal of the year," Toronto Coach John McLean said of the recent trade that brought Parent to the Maple Leafs from Philadelphia to alternate with veteran goalie Jacques Plante. "We've got the best goaltending in the league now."

In Sunday's other NHL action, New York topped Detroit 4-1 and St. Louis defeated Buffalo 3-1.

Hull, who moved past Richard last week into the No. 2 spot in the all-time NHL scoring parade, eclipsed another of the Rocket's marks with his 37th, 38th and 39th goals of the season for a career total of 549.

Lone Star Tie Possible

By The Associated Press

Coach Vernon McDonald and his Southwest Texas State Bobcats are spreading their own kind of pollution.

The Bobcats spoiled Stephen F. Austin's Lone Star Conference basketball lead with an 81-80 upset last Saturday. And tonight, they hope to spoil Sam Houston's chances to keep a share of the lead with S. F. Austin.

Stephen F. Austin and Sam Houston each have 14-3 LSC records going into tonight's final regular season schedule. Stephen F. Austin closes out against Texas A&I.

Should both SFA and Sam Houston win tonight and tie for the crown, a playoff game would be scheduled on a neutral court sometime this week. The LSC champion enters the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Dist. IV playoffs Saturday against the Big State Conference champion.

The possibility of a three-way tie also exists. Should both SFA and Sam Houston lose and Howard Payne win, there would be a three-way tie.

Howard Payne hosts Tarleton State and East Texas State is at McMurry to close out the LSC schedule.

Ruth Jessen Bounces Back For Rich Win

PORT ST. LUCIE, Fla. (AP) — Golfer Ruth Jessen pulled one off for medical science.

Bouncing back from cancer and five operations, the 34-year-old blonde won female golf's largest check ever Sunday — $10,000—in her first tournament since 1969.

"I'm happy to be alive," she beamed, "much less playing championship golf. Nobody will know the thrill I feel."

Miss Jessen, a pro for 15 years, shot a windup 72 at wind-slapped Port St. Lucie Country Club to win the $60,000 Sears Women's World Classic by two shots.

Miss Jessen had rounds of 76-72-72 in her one-over-par total of 220.

Sandra Palmer fluttered away a three-stroke lead on the final day of the 54-hole "richest ever" ladies tour event. She got runner-up money of $2,140 for a 222 total.

"It's great to be back," said the champion. "I'd been around hospitals so long I felt like I should buy my own."

MULTIPLE SURGERY

Miss Jessen's latest surgery was for tendonitis in 1970 and she began playing golf again only four months ago. She had a disc fusion in 1963, a tumor removed from her neck in 1965, major cancer surgery in 1968.

What she did was lick a field of 73 pros and five amateurs on a course raked daily by breezes off the Atlantic.

Miss Jessen had not won since 1964, a year she claimed five victories.

Mary Mills finished third, shooting 75 for a 223 total on the par 36-37-73 course. She won $4,610. Judy Rankin, DeDe Owens and 6-foot-3 Carol Mann stood at 224 and earned $2,533.

Freddie-faced Betty Burdett didn't win a dime for rounds of 82-77-80, but the 5-foot-2 youngster did walk away wearing a mink coat worth $3,000.

She won it in a closest-to-the-pin competition on the 150-yard third hole, hitting within 10 inches of the cup with a four iron.

Super player Kathy Whitworth, now president of the LPGA, had her poorest showing in years. She finished with an 81 for 233, tying for 35th place.

Blue Monday For Pistons

By The Associated Press

It's Blue Monday for the Detroit Pistons ... after a black weekend.

The Pistons are alive today but not quite well, after blowing three games in less than 48 hours, losing a player to injury and skidding to fourth place in the National Basketball Association's Midwest Division.

Detroit started out the week-end Friday in second place and with forward Terry Dischinger in tact. But the Pistons lost three games, including Sunday's 125-112 walloping by Chicago in which Dischinger suffered a torn kneecap.

Dischinger will have to undergo surgery, tentatively scheduled for Tuesday, and appears to be out for the rest of the season.

The Pistons, however, managed to find a bright spot in an otherwise crushing weekend. Dave Bing scored 54 points Sunday, a club record.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Baltimore 121, Atlanta 109; Portland 123, Cleveland 115; Milwaukee 125, Phoenix 97; Seattle 135, Philadelphia 128 and Los Angeles 124, Boston 116.

Levi Alcindor scored 36 points to pace Milwaukee's rout of Phoenix. The Bucks, with four players in double figures, led all the way after the first five minutes.

Hawks Snowbound In Amarillo

By The Associated Press

Tuesday's showdown here could be there.

The Howard County Junior College Hawks, who held on to hopes for the Western Junior College crown by nosing out Frank Phillips at Borger Saturday evening, are snowbound at Amarillo.

Their bus went on the blink Saturday night near Amarillo, but they got into town despite the beginnings of a vicious blizzard. This morning, roads were blocked between Plainview and Amarillo.

Tuesday the Hawks are due to meet Amarillo here, but if the weather continues to block traffic, conceivably they could elect to play it in Amarillo—but that's not likely. The HCJC girls were slated to play West Texas State in Canyon tonight, but they face the same travel problem.

Jenkins Signs For Less, But Other Stars Hold Out

By The Associated Press

Ferguson Jenkins has been a 20-game winner for four straight years, but it appears the Chicago Cubs' pitching ace will have to do his thing all over again to crack baseball's exclusive $100,000 clique.

Jenkins signed his 1971 contract Sunday for less than the six-figure salary he was seeking—despite the efforts of two attorneys who joined him in final negotiations at the Cubs' Scottsdale, Ariz., spring training base. The Minnesota Twins, meanwhile, concerned themselves with a different form of exclusion. Several black members of the team complained that an Orlando, Fla., golf club discriminated against them during the weekend.

The players said the club's pro told them they could play only with members, although some white teammates were permitted to play on their own. The signing of Jenkins, who was 22 in last year and worked a career high of 313 innings, left only two players—pitcher Ken Holtzman and outfielder Billy Williams—outside the Cubs' fold.

Minnesota still hasn't landed nine players, including pitcher Jim Perry, the American League's 1970 Cy Young Award winner, and outfielder Tony Oliva, one of many major league standouts angling for $100,000 and up.

Twins boss Calvin Griffith said he has made Oliva a final offer, reportedly in the $75,000 bracket.

Bob Howsam, general manager of Cincinnati's NL champs, took a hard line over the weekend in dealing with super catcher Johnny Bench's demand for a three-year, $500,000 pact.

Howsam said Saturday the Reds will give Bench, the league's 23-year-old Most Valuable Player, neither a multi-year contract nor a $100,000 for the coming season. Pete Rose and Tony Perez also are among a large number of unsigned Reds.

Almost Beaten By Own Skis

KINGFIELD, Maine (AP) —

Gustavo Thoeni's skis are causing him some trouble. Not the ones he skis on, but the ones he loans out.

Thoeni, the World Cup leader from Italy, loaned a pair of his skis Sunday to Edmund Bruggmann of Switzerland before the running of the two heats of the men's giant slalom at Sugarloaf Mountain.

Bruggmann's skis were destroyed in a fire Saturday.

Thoeni almost proved to be generous to a fault.

Bruggmann, a five-time Swiss champion in the giant slalom, gave Thoeni's skis the second best ride of the day. Thoeni gave another pair the best.

Louisville Has Lead

By The Associated Press

Henry Bacon kept Louisville from falling out of the trying pan in Missouri Valley Conference basketball action Saturday and the Cardinals have a one-game lead on the downhill side of the MVC race.

Bacon hit seven of Louisville's nine points in an overtime period Saturday as the Cardinals, now 8-3 in the MVC, edged Wichita State 98-97.

Memphis State, the Cardinals' nearest rival at 7-4, is one of Louisville's last three opponents. Louisville has two of the last three at home, hosting North Texas State Saturday and Memphis State March 6 and traveling to St. Louis March 4.

Two non-conference games are slated tonight. North Texas is at Northeast Louisiana and West Texas State is at Texas-Arlington.

MOTOR TREND'S CAR OF THE YEAR IS NO BIG THING.

VEGA

It's a little thing—Vega.

But Vega's a lot of car for such a little car. In fact, Motor Trend says, "For the money, no other American car can deliver more."

Here are some of the reasons. Vega's got as much room per passenger as many big cars. It also has an engine that offers plenty of freeway power (and still sizzles 25 miles from a gallon of gas.) And Vega has big 16" front disc brakes. And very comfortable foam-filled front bucket seats.

Yet Vega is inexpensive to buy, and inexpensive to own.

Stop in soon, and test-drive Vega. How often do you get a chance to drive the Car of the Year?

ACADEMY AWARDS 'Five Easy Pieces' Strong Contender

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The film industry's 43rd Oscar Derby reaches the semifinals today with scheduled announcement of nominees for awards of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

LOVE AND WAR

Advance indications pointed to a contest of love and war. Two hard-bitten treatments of the war theme, "M-A-S-H" and "Patton," seemed certain to figure among the important awards. So did a couple of romances, "Love Story" and "Ryan's Daughter," which proved immensely popular with audiences, if not critics.

Another strong contender was "Five Easy Pieces," a tale of present-day alienation starring Jack Nicholson.

Those five films were nominated for best direction in the annual awards of the Directors Guild of America, which are generally a good bellwether for the Oscars.

The final awards will be announced April 15 in the annual Oscar extravaganza, held at the Los Angeles Music Center for the third straight year. The nominations receive a less sumptuous production, but there was to be a touch of glamor.

Past winners John Wayne, Shirley Jones, Anthony Quinn and Ruth Gordon were to appear at the Academy's headquarters in West Hollywood to read off the nominations for the news media.

'THE HUSTLER'

The Oscar campaign, which had been in a lull since the deadline for nominations a week ago, now begins in earnest. A question mark in this year's race is George C. Scott.

His portrayal of Gen. George Patton was certain to be nominated for best actor. But all of the 2,986 Academy voters are aware that Scott once tried to decline his nomination for best supporting actor in "The Hustler."

Now he has been quoted from a location in Spain that he still thinks the Academy Awards are bunk and he would refuse an Oscar if he won it.

City Commission To Meet Tuesday

City commissioners will consider 16 items during their regular meeting Tuesday at 5:15 p.m. in the City Hall commissioner's room.

High on the agenda will be the second reading of the controversial mobile home ordinance, passed on first reading in the last commission session, Feb. 9.

Also the commissioners will discuss an ordinance amending an ordinance passed in the last regular meeting, repealing the appointment of election officials and appointing new officials.

Drive Into Laos Stalled, Traffic On Trail Doubled

SAIGON (AP) — More heavy North Vietnamese attacks stalled the South Vietnamese drive into Laos today for the fifth successive day. Lead elements of Saigon's 16,000-man force were still only 17½ miles from the border they crossed two weeks ago.

Military sources said the campaign also had not achieved its objective, to cut the flow of enemy supplies down the Ho Chi Minh Trail. Instead, these sources said, the North Vietnamese had doubled the truck traffic, from 1,000 to about 2,000 "movers" per day, and diverted them to the west to routes beyond the South Vietnamese advance.

FIRE ATTACKS
"The enemy conducted at least 10 indirect fire attacks with rockets and mortar rounds against South Vietnamese fire bases and field positions in the southern panhandle of Laos Sunday, causing light over-all casualties," a South Vietnamese communique said.

A spokesman said they were the heaviest enemy attacks since Saigon's troops moved into Laos Feb. 8. He would not disclose specific casualties, but "light over-all casualties" indicated some units may have suffered moderate or heavy losses.

The enemy attacks drove remnants of one South Vietnamese ranger battalion from a hilltop patrol base six miles inside Laos after 298 of the battalion's 450 men had been killed or wounded in a three-day siege. The survivors carried 108 wounded with them but left behind 130 dead comrades and 60 other wounded to fend for themselves.

Another ranger base a mile away, also under siege since Thursday, was still holding out today under rocket and mortar fire. But a U.S. helicopter got in to lift out an American helicopter crew chief, Dennis Fujii of Hawaii, who was stranded at the other base last Thursday and manned a radio to direct U.S. air strikes against the enemy positions. Fujii was reported wounded slightly.

A South Vietnamese spokesman at Quang Tri, a rear base for the Laotian operation, claimed Saigon forces in Laos killed 63 North Vietnamese in a series of clashes north and south of Highway 9 Sunday and today. He said 11 South Vietnamese were killed in these clashes.

The U.S. Command announced the loss of two more helicopters to enemy anti-aircraft fire in Laos, and said four of the American crewmen were missing and two were wounded. South Vietnamese headquarters announced its third helicopter loss but said there were no casualties.

NO SERIOUS DENT
Despite the lack of progress on the ground, the defeat suffered by the ranger battalion and the reports of no serious dent in traffic on the Ho Chi Minh Trail, officials of the Nixon Administration in Washington insisted the operation is proceeding according to expectations. They said the North Vietnamese resistance was anticipated, but that South Vietnamese forces are proceeding well, and the operation is disrupting the flow of enemy supplies southward.
