LITTLE ABOUT EVERYTHING NOT MUCH ABOUT ANYTHING

THE TIME is drawing close to the last date in which to pay poll taxes. February 1, is the last date, and that's about two weeks off. This is not a year for holding election for national, state or county for electing candidates to office, but there may be other elections in which you might want to participate that would be as important to you, as electing some candidate to office. As a precautionary measure it would be well to have in your possession a 1941 poll tax receipt.

MANY towns are reporting the invasion of robbers, some with a disastrous effect on local institutions. Stanton is not immune from the invasion, but there is one obstacle in the way that robbers will meet up with before they can do their job with much harmful effect in Stanton. That is they are going to exercise cunningness and a quick tempo to get by the eagle eye of Bill Pinkston, nightwatchman. He has an eye when sighted down the barrel of a .45 and a quick pull on the trigger gets his man, or so near it, that human flesh can be found scattered all about the premises. As to Bill's courage we only have to sight the prospective robber to the time when Bill walked into the mouth of a gun in the hands of one of three "bad men" wanted in many counties and received a bullet through the shoulder of his overcoat. Their rapid getaway saved them from being admitted to a premature grave. So it might be well for any who contemplate attempting to break into any Stanton store at night, and hope to leave town in whole or it part, pass it up.

PLACING the age of our "mug" at 40 years in last week's Reporter has developed considerable discussion among the wise-acs of our town. Taking a critical look at us they claim the "mug" would never see 50 years again, while the more conservative critics said I looked and acted more like one in the glamorous 40-year circle. Not many folks are as fortunate as I am—not any in this generation—able to support two "mugs." A shaving mug is "ancient history" to the young men of today, just as a mustache cup is. In my day the beau brummel of the young male set, was the young man with the most fluent growth mustache, and in order to keep it groomed properly, he must drink his coffee from a cup that had a protector against liquids from clinging to the hirsute growth on his upper lip.

J. L. Hall has looked up his shaving mug. Will every reader of this column who has a mug, let the writer know.

VERY seldom is it the case that a "home boy" will settle down to business in his home town and begins to make good from the start. But Stanton boasts just such a young man. Hardly had the paint become dry on the "shingle" he hung out than he is honored with the presidency of the association to which members of his profession belong. There is a sample of true worth "behind the scenes" to warrant this honored degree. Be that as it may, the news columns of the neighboring-town newspapers of last week that Stanton has a "home town boy" who has settled down in business right in the middle of "Main Street" of the town, and who has been honored in no small degree by older members of his profession over six counties. I have the honor to introduce that young gentleman and his new honored position, in the person of Dr. J. Leslie Hall, the founder and the "ramrod" of the Stanton Clinic-Hospital.

At a meeting last week held in Big Spring, the Six County Medical Society, elected Dr. Hall its president for the new year. While no doubt, the honor came to the young and energetic physician like a "bolt of light-

Mrs. Rugel is a prominent newspaper and magazine feature writer, many of her articles appearing in Goodhouse Keeping. Her six months cruise for Goodhouse Keeping, taking her to Italy, Greece, and other European countries, was delightfully told to the writer and his wife. Her personal visit to the Duke Benito Mussolini and Balbo, the noted Italian aviator who was shot down in his plane, the charge being placed on the British, as well as her description of other points of interest, were awe-inspiring to us. ## BURNAM HARDWARE AFTER 16 YEARS IN BUSINESS, SELLS OUT

J. H. BURNAM, SENIOR MEMBER OF FIRM HAS BEEN IN BUSINESS HERE 21 YEARS

J. H. Burnam came to Stanton in January 20, 1920 from Lorraine, Mitchell county, where he operated a furniture store. He took over the management of the Stanton Hardware and Furniture Company while it was in the hands of a stock company. Mr. Burnam operated the company until 1925 when he and his son, Clayton, bought out the stockholders and changed the name to The Stanton Hardware company, which it has been ever since. Mr. Burnam states that he has made many good friends in Stanton and wishes to thank all the people of Stanton and Martin County for the patronage given him throughout his and Clayton's 16 years in business.

Mr. Burnam recalls facts that will be of interest, especially to the old settlers of Stanton, concerning the location of several business in town at the time he came here. J. L. Hall drug store was located in the business house where Jack Jones Grocery is now; Carol had just bought out Ebbersol in the dry goods business; A. C. Straub had the Ford Motor Co, and was located in the building now occupied by the Schell Mercantile Co.; Gus and Bob Henson were operating a grocery where the post office is today; the Ratliff barber shop was in the building formerly occupied by the S&S grocery; Morris Zimmerman, now sheriff of Martin County, was in the cafe business with DeWitt McDurmon; J. O. Blackerby had a small light plant in the rear of his father's garage; picture show in the rear of the Ratliff barbershop; and many other interesting facts about Stanton in the early 20's were related by Mr. Burnam in an interview.

OLD ESTABLISHED BUSINESS SOLD TO JUDGE C. E. STORY

STORY AND FOREMAN EXPECT TO OPEN GROCERY AND HARDWARE BUSINESS

There is a deep dark mystery yet to be solved in Stanton. The windows of the building formerly housing the Stanton Hardware Co., are papered up so that people can't see in; noises of all classifications to the innocent snooper are going on inside. This reporter thinks maybe there'll be either a sawmill or a nail factory come to light in the building of mystery by first of the month. Dave Foreman of Lenora, was seen rushing out the back door with a wheelbarrow load of something that was a mystery within itself until he dumped the whole thing into the incinerator. Clues are all ending up like that—ending in a blind alley. Shorty Bland was seen bending over a stack of trash picking out old picture show slides.

One thing we know C. E. Story has purchased the building and that Wednesday night the grocery stock of the former S&S Grocery and Market, was moved into the building. This stock, we understand, is to be merged with the hardware stock of the former Stanton Hardware Co. Dave Foreman, who has been operating the Foreman store at Lenora, will be associated with Mr. Story in operating the business.

Anyway, the Reporter is putting Sherlock Holmes II, on the case, so watch its pages next week for the complete low-down.

ning from out of a clear sky," yet his older colleagues knew what they were doing. Dr. Hall was born and reared in Stanton, and with the exception of the time he was away to college and medical school preparing himself to battle the problems of a cruel cold world, he stamped the streets of his "old hometown," kicked tin cans up the back alleys, and piddled around his father's drug store whenever the parent could get him in there to piddle. Receiving his degree from medical college and serving his internship in one of the state's prominent hospitals and inveigling a charming young professional nurse to go with him in his battles of life, and, together, they established the Stanton Clinic-Hospital, a most valuable institution for the town. Recognizing the value to Martin county of this enterprise, it is receiving an excellent patronage from the people of the town and county.

I, together with a host of admiring friends, salute Dr. Hall for the new honor bestowed upon him, and in turn congratulate the Six County Medical Society for choosing this fine young man to head their society.

THE exchange desk of the Reporter this week "creaked" under the weight of a 68-page special edition of the Mission Times. It was the Eighth Annual Texas Citrus Fiesta edition, published by Joe T. Cook, and his associates, and brim full of historical data of the Rio Grande Valley, and large, "luscious" paid display advertising. For several years Cook, a young man, has been issuing one of those large special editions boosting the Valley, and all have been a work of art from the editorial rooms to the last printed page off the press. I noted in the issue an interesting article by my old friend Paul Vickers, manager of the McAllen chamber of commerce, formerly manager of the Midland chamber of commerce.

THIS week the Reporter is carrying a news item clipped from Sunday's Fort Worth Star-Telegram, relative to the Magnolia Oil Company acquiring a lease on 640 acres of land, one mile northwest of Germania in Midland county, Germania is 16 miles west of Stanton on highway 80, and the lease is three miles northwest of the west line of Martin county. The location is close enough to Stanton, should a producer develop, it would cause much wildcatting to get underway in western Martin county. In the event of an oil find in the Magnolia, of course the new producer will be "ten miles northwest of Stanton, no matter what James N. Allison and his Midland Reporter-Telegram might claim, to the contrary notwithstanding.

BUILDS NEW CELLAR FOR FOOD STORAGE

As foods demonstrator of Valley View club for 1940, Mrs. W. P. Reid, has a new cellar that cost only $8.60 and was built by her husband and son. When club women and friends visited her cellar on the day of the tour, they saw displayed 427 containers of food and 19 varieties. Mrs. Reid said to her visitors, "I am so glad I was a poultry demonstrator for this year, because I have always wanted a storage place for my foods and this year I got it because I was demonstrator."

Mrs. Reid started in February to keep record on her flock of 280 White Jersey Giant hens. In April 650 baby chicks were hatched. In November the records showed cash income from poultry was $578.35; expenses $289.62 with a clear profit of $288.73. She put up 51 cans of chicken which was valued at $15.30.

GOLD STAR 4-H CLUB GIRL CHOSEN

Barbara Neal of the Valley View 4-H club was chosen as the Martin County Gold Star Girl. Each 4-H club of the county selected a candidate to represent the club and these names were sent to the office of the home demonstration agent. A committee composed of two demonstration club women and two 4-H club girls visited the homes of each candidate to see the various work that had been done and to listen to a detailed account of the work.

In order to qualify to be a candidate, the girl must have completed one demonstration, and have been a club girl for three years.

After comparing the work that was shown and the stories told, the choice was made by the committee.

RUTH KELLY, POULTRY DEMONSTRATOR FOR STANTON 4-H CLUB

Ruth Kelly of the Courtney community, was selected poultry try demonstrator for 1941. As a result of her experience from last year, Ruth remarked, "Even though this was my first experience to raise chickens it is not going to be my last time. Whether I am a demonstrator or not next year, I will still be raising chickens." She is making her word good by volunteering to be a poultry demonstrator.

Last year Ruth bought 50 White Jersey Giant eggs in March and from these 42 chicks were hatched. Of this number Ruth lost 12. The roosters were killed for meat for the family and Ruth saved the pullets because she wanted to raise more chickens this year.

THE FRIENDSHIP SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

Mrs. Clayton Burnam

Nineteen hundred and forty-one marked the beginning of the 30th anniversary of the Friendship Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church. The class was organized in 1928, before the present church building was erected, under the leadership of Mrs. Nobye Hamilton. She has served as teacher of the class all this time, with the exception of one year, when Mrs. Bess Richards, now deceased, filled the place.

Some of the outstanding achievements this class has accomplished during its early life, was to provide seats for the choir, seats for their class room, install telephone in parsonage, and equip the church kitchen with silverware and many other items too numerous to mention.

Mrs. Hamilton is an efficient and faithful teacher and the Friendship Class takes this method of extending to you a most cordial invitation to join them, if you are not in Sunday school, and to the old members, we urge you to attend and renew your friendship with the members of this class.

A membership drive is now on, so won't you come?

Model Airplanes Help Flying Cadets Gain Knowledge of Aviation

Exact model airplanes of the full-size basic training planes are often employed in teaching military aviation to new classes of Flying Cadets at Randolph Field, Texas, home of the Army Air Corps Primary Flying School.

The models simplify the course of flying training and eliminate the loss of many precious minutes in the air when a student pilot fails to understand the principles involved in any particular gyration. In the accompanying photograph the instructor (center) is demonstrating the position of the airplanes in the "Vee" formation which is the fundamental formation used in all mass flying.

Qualified young Americans between the ages of 20 and 27 make up the corps of Flying Cadets at Randolph Field, the "West Point of the Air." While in training each Flying Cadet receives $75 per month, uniform, board and lodging, medical care and all other necessary services.

Small scale models of BT-9 training planes are used extensively in ground instruction at Randolph Field. These miniature planes have moveable controls, as shown in this photograph. Instructor, center, is adjusting the rudder and elevators to the position they would be in when doing a "chandelle." This way the student pilots are able to visualize just what goes on when they go aloft to put the theory into actual practice. Ask any Air Corps pilot what maneuver he had most difficulty with while going through Randolph Field, and his answer invariably will be, "chandelle." Actually the chandelle is just an exaggerated climbing turn of about 180 degrees. While it has no tactical value, it is highly important in that during the maneuver the plane is flown at all speeds from a slight dive to a steep climb, approaching a stall. As the speed varies, so does the pressure on the controls and thus in one maneuver requiring a small part of a minute, a complete range of control pressures is obtained.

WOLCOTT BOY IN THE NAVY ON WAY TO PUERTO RICO

The following letter is from D. W. Chisholm, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Chisholm of the Wolcott community this county, who is in the U. S. Navy, and has arrived at Puerto Rico:

We started today at 12:00 o'clock sharp. Writing this letter at about 7 o'clock at night. I am just about seasick. I've never seen so much water in my life—water everywhere. It's getting a bit rough too, the boat is rocking a little sidewise, but here's hoping I make it.

The captain said we would get there about Sunday or Monday if we have good luck. There are about 1000 men aboard this boat and as far as weight is concerned it's not nearly loaded. However, it's a bit crowded on here now.

When we left Newport News, Va., a convoy of planes followed us a short distance out at sea—zooming over, dipping their wings in salute. Then they would come up in single formation like a group of cranes at home, just missing the top of the ship it seemed. There were about thirty planes in the group.

This happens to be a series of letters, as I can't mail them until I reach Puerto Rico, so I will write an account of the day's happenings as I go along.

This is about 12:00 o'clock of the 3rd:

We went through a fairly quiet night, but the water was a bit rougher. I went into an ante-room about 3 o'clock this morning and there were several leaning over large cans vomiting like nobody's business. So far I haven't got that bad off yet. When this thing weaves around I have a light feeling in the pit of my stomach.

We had a fire drill this morning. A bell rang and we all made a dive for our life belts. There was quite a bit of excitement. After all if this large ship was torpedoed, it would take something around 6 minutes to sink. My approximate guess of the ship's length would be about 300 yards.

About 8 Hours Later

We have just eaten supper. Had pork sausage, hot tea, butter, whole wheat bread, jam, potatoes, beans, and salad. I really feel much better too. I thought for a while I was going to be seasick but I believe I can make now. This morning about 10:

We ran into a school of porpoise fish or whales. They came up close to the ship and leaped up out of the water. They looked like about 50 of them, weighing about 40 pounds each. The ocean is really pretty this evening. White capped waves just as far as you can see. Just as the sun was setting I took a picture of the ocean. I surely hope it is a good one. We have traveled about 400 of the 1200 miles, making it less progress than at first, because of the rough sea. We are already getting into warmer climate. One can stand on deck without getting cold.

Early next morning:

Here is about 2 o'clock p.m. of the 4th day. We went through an uneventful night. Seas were rough but no one seems to be very sick. I went up on deck after breakfast this morning and

It has been pleasant enough—no extra rough seas or storms, but after all a 1200-mile trip with a thousand men aboard will soon get rather tiresome. long time to stay anywhere and not like it, so I have made up my mind to like it.

We have seen three ships, hundreds of flying fish, one shark, and some porpoise fish since we left Norfolk. Well, I suppose you are getting tired of this so I will stop until I can put the final touches to this letter some time tomorrow.

Next day.
Thank Goodness! We're in Puerto Rico. The most beautiful country I've ever seen. Fields of ribbon cane, coconut trees just loaded down, bananas and everything that can be grown anywhere the year around.

I have never seen so many pretty flowers and trees.

It's really hot down here but I am sure I will like it.

We have more freedom here than I ever thought we would have. All of our quarters new and well ventilated. Showers will be in a few weeks, swimming pools and every convenience we can wish for.

I suppose I am a bit excited but I am really satisfied. When you write, send it airmail, costing 10c per letter up to 1/2 oz.
