Perryton Man in Shadow of Egyptian Pyramids

Lester Bryan, age 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bryan of south of town, is one Perryton man that was the thick of things in North Africa and southwestern Asia long before the American forces took over North Africa and the British started the expulsion of the German and Italian armies under Rommel. Lester is employed by a United States construction firm engaged in building a pipe line through Iran to Russia between the Caucasus mountains and the Caspian Sea. In the above picture taken among the ruins of ancient Egyptian civilization, Lester, Texas cowboy boots and all, is astride the camel at the extreme right. Others from right to left are Dan Whitmore, Roy W. Pitman, John W. Stokes and Ted Owen.

District Court Into Third Week Monday

No Jury Cases Tried During First Two Weeks Present Term

War has effect on the workings of the courts of justice as well as every other walk and avenue of life. During the first two weeks of the fall term of the 84th Judicial Court convened in this city Monday, Nov. 16, not a single jury case has been tried.

The panel called for the petit jury for the first week of the term was cancelled by order of Judge Jack Allen. Judge Allen states that due to parties to suits and witnesses being in the armed services, many continuances are necessary. The criminal docket will be called this week.

Many Register For Gasoline Rationing

Estimate That 300 Car Owners Have Not Registered for A Book

On Tuesday afternoon, 908 "A" gas rationing books had been issued by the Ochiltree County War Price and Rationing Board. The greater part of these gasoline rationing books were issued at schoolhouses on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week.

Rationing office officials estimate that at least 300 car owners in the county had not registered for the "A" book Tuesday afternoon.

The special gasoline panel of the board meets at the courthouse daily to consider applications from car owners for supplemental rationing.

All wholesale and retail dealers are notified to call at the rationing office in the courthouse and get inventory forms on which to report gasoline on hand at the close of business at midnight, Nov. 30.

'Share the Meat' Program is Discussed by Ochiltree County Victory Council

JUST HERE and THERE

Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, wired this newspaper, Wednesday, an appeal for the American farmers to dedicate the remaining weeks of 1942 to an intensified scrap hunt.

He stated that the steel mills need more heavy scrap and the farms are one of the best sources of this type of metal. The nation is looking to the American farmer in this time of peril.

Most farms in the Perryton area have been pretty well cleaned of scrap metal but there still remains untold tons of metal that can and should be salvaged. Same farm scrap piles are untouched with their owners refusing to cooperate with the government in the war effort.

It might be of interest to those that so far have refused to haul in their scrap or let the salvage committee arrange for transportation that the government has now issued an order to scrap dealers and salvage committees requiring that the names of these parties be reported to the government at once.

This all adds up to the fact that the government is going to get hard boiled. If the scrap is not voluntarily made available to the steel mills, the government will take action. This is no time for consideration of selfish personal interests. The need of the prosecution of the war comes first. Let those that refuse to be patriotic Americans suffer the consequences.

It is our hope that every pound of scrap metal in the Perryton area will be turned in at once and that no citizen of this community will have to bear the stigma of being forced by his government to deliver such needed vital war materials.

Ennis Favors, Pampa, member of the Texas House of Representatives from the 122nd District, informs us that he plans to introduce a bill in the January session of legislature that will do away with the present restrictions on payment of old age benefits to the needy older persons of Texas.

On the Home Front of World War II

(A weekly summary of developments in the Victory Program, prepared by the Regional Information Office, OEM)

Home front morale in the Southwest has been put to the test increasingly in the last week. But gasoline mileage rationing, coffee rationing, milk and meat shortages, and serious prospects of shortages in butter and other commodities are not as bad as some of the discomforts and restriction we may have to undergo to win the war.

Discomforts, restrictions and even severe dislocation of business are necessary to the realization of our war aim—the destruction of those forces that threaten the very foundation of civilization, our homes and schools.

Gasoline rationing in the heart of the oil country to preserve our precious rubber supply is one of the minor inconveniences of war. Southwesterners should be thankful—and sympathetic—because we do have our huge oil supplies. In the East, where there is an additional factor of transportation, gasoline rationing have been cut to three gallons a week, instead of the four gallons to be allowed in the Southwest. On top of that, while Southwestern homes remain comfortably heated with natural gas, Eastern homes will be cold and uncomfortable this winter because of the transportation shortage.

Complaints and protests over some of the restrictions—especially gasoline and coffee rationing—have been loud and frequent, but they don't mean that morale is threatened. When a person fights a fire, he's liable to get scorched and blistered when he's hurt he may yell. But he goes right on fighting until the fire is extinguished.

America and the United Nations have been fighting a pretty bad one, and now that our armies and navies are getting closer to the center of the trouble, the civilian population will have to do its share by doing without while the military forces are being supplied.

Doing without coffee while the ships that formerly brought it to us carry supplies to North Africa and the Solomon Islands is the easiest thing civilians can do. Our soldiers in Tunisia may not have coffee, either, but those coffee ships are carrying ammunition and other supplies to them. Cutting down our use of rubber by mileage rationing at home is better than cutting down the manufacture of rubber boots to save our Rickenbackers.

The week's developments, which included a "freeze" order on 50 percent of the butter stocks in 35 dairy markets (including Dallas and Port Worth) and an additional cut in allocations of meat for sale to civilians, probably won't be full felt until after the first of the year. Present plans call for card rationing of meat to replace the

The Agricultural Victory Council met Tuesday afternoon to discuss the "Share the Meat" program and make plans for getting the information concerning the program to the farm families.

Ten of the 11 communities of the county were represented at the meeting as follows: Huntton, Mrs. O. A. Schuster; Lone Tree, Mrs. George Fletcher; Twichell-Missouri Avenue, G. M. Dietrich and Mrs. Reese Taylor; Wolf Creek, Geo. B. Jackson; Waka, Roger Pearson; Farnsworth, Mrs. John Luthi; Black Blodgett, Dennis Reed; Notia, W. M. Good; McMillen, A. L. Swink and Mrs. Earl Waide; Ochiltree, Claude Crouch and Mrs. A. L. Carter Jr.

Other members in attendance were: E. W. Thomas, county agent; Miss Elizabeth Hufflines, home demonstration agent; Audie Conley, AAA chairman; A. E. Turner, FSA supervisor; and F. B. Sumpter, Federal Farm Loan secretary.

The "Share the Meat" program at present is entirely voluntary in which each family is asked to limit consumption of beef, pork and mutton to 2½ pounds for each person over 12 years old and 1½ pounds for children under this age. Poultry and fish are not included in the foods which should be limited.

Farm families are expected to cooperate in the program even though most of the meat is produced and killed on the farm. This is because meat produced and consumed on the farms is included in the estimate of 24 billion pounds to be produced in the United States during 1942.

There are no restrictions in regard to killing and curing pork and beef on the farm. In fact farmers are encouraged to butcher their own meat supply since this helps to relieve the transportation and packing facilities in supplying the armed forces and the general public.

Mrs. A. B. Holt Victim of Heart Attack, Wed.

Mrs. A. B. Holt, Canyon, former resident of this county, passed away suddenly Wednesday morning at her home in Canyon. Word was received in Perryton about ten o'clock by Mrs. G. D. Holt. Mrs. Holt will be remembered by many as Ida Faye Smith, who taught school at old Ochiltree and also in the Perryton Schools in the early days of the town.

One of her sisters is a resident of Perryton, Mrs. Glen Ragan. Survivors are her husband, two daughters, Georgia Faye and Carol Ann; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. I. Smith, Canyon; one brother and four sisters.

Funeral arrangements were not known as the Herald went to press. Mrs. Glen Ragan and children, Earline and Lawrence Henry, Mrs. G. D. Holt, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Holt left for Canyon Wednesday afternoon.

Red Cross Needs Workers

Sewers are needed by the local Red Cross Chapter. Mrs. J. F. Cox, production chairman, issues a plea for helpers. Two hundred kit bags are needed to be made by December 10. The bags are very easy to make and you do not need to be an expert seamstress to help with this work. Slips and blouses are also cut ready to be made.

The Red Cross room is opened each Thursday and Saturday afternoons from one to five p. m. or the garments may be taken home.

Teen Age Boys To Register Start Dec. 11

Youths to Register On Birthday as They Attain Age 18

President Roosevelt has fixed three separate registration periods for youths who have reached or will reach their 18th birthdays in the last half of this year.

By proclamation, he set the week beginning December 11, and ending December 17, for draft registration of those who became 18 in July and August.

Young men who reached that age in September and October will register in the following week and those who become 18 in November and December, will register in the week starting December 26, and closing December 31.

Mr. Roosevelt also provided for continuous registration on their birthdays of youths who become 18 on or after next January 1. If the birthday falls on a Sunday or holiday, they must register the next day.

This will be the sixth draft registration. The last, on June 30th, covered young men who already were 18 and 19 and those who had become 20 since the preceding registration.

Mr. Roosevelt's proclamation said the new registration and the others which had been held were "advisable to insure victory, final and complete, over the enemies of the United States."

The new registration will take place simultaneously in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico, with daily registration hours fixed for 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., local time.

Late registrations will be permitted for those unable to present themselves during the stated period because of circumstances beyond their control.

The chief executive asked that all employers give their workers sufficient time to complete their registrations.

While new regulations were bringing restrictions, there were compensations for farmers who have been hard pressed to keep their labor in the face of draft demands and competition of industry.

Instructions were issued to local selective service boards to defer farm workers between the ages of 18 and 45 who are necessary to and regularly engaged in agriculture. Local boards may seek advice of Department of Agriculture officials and county war boards as to what farms are essential to the war and what jobs on them are necessary.

Workers leaving necessary farm jobs for jobs in industry or on non-essential farms elsewhere must

A Week of the War

President Roosevelt, in a radio address said that "during the past two weeks we have had a great deal of good news and it would seem that the turning point of this war has at last been reached. But this is no time for exultation. There is no time for anything but fighting and working to win."

Navy Secretary Knox reported the following total damage inflicted on Japan in the Battle of the Solomons November 12-15: Sunk—2 battleships (1 may have been a heavy cruiser), 6 heavy cruisers, 2 light cruisers, 6 destroyers, 8 transports, 4 cargo transports; Damaged—2 battleships, 1 cruiser, 7 destroyers. The Japanese lost between 20,000 and 40,000 troops, as well as large numbers of naval personnel. U. S. losses were 2 light cruisers and 6 destroyers sunk.

Mr. Knox said U. S. forces are in complete control of the area in and around Guadalcanal and "our hold on the island is very secure." The President said the battle is a major victory. War Secretary Stimson said Army aircraft from Australia and New Caledonia played an active and effective role in the battle.

Allied headquarters in North Africa reported that American, British and French troops are driving into Tunisia from all sides, closing in a ring around the northeastern triangle of Bizerte and Tunisia. The British First Army, reinforced by U. S. and French units, engaged Axis mechanized columns in Tunisia and drove them back, the War Department announced. Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported November 21 that American and Australian forces are driving hard against the Japanese, who are pinned along the Northeastern coast of New Guinea between Buna and Gona on a narrow beachhead extending 20 miles along the coast and 6 miles inland.

Selective Service
President Roosevelt ordered registration for selective service for all young men who have reached the age of 18 since July 1, as follows: Those born July 1 to August 31, 1924, inclusive, to register the week beginning December 11; those born September 1 to October 31, 1924, to register December 18-24; those born November 1 to December 31, 1924, to register December 26-31. Young men reaching 18 after January 1 will register on their birthdays. Selective Service headquarters ordered distribution of questionnaires to 18 and 19-year old registrants, who will be inducted as their numbers are reached.

"To make sure that no one who is really irreplaceable shall be separated from an essential position," the President ordered the Secretaries of War and Navy to "see to it that present government employees, who have been deferred, are not enlisted or commissioned, unless they can produce the approval of the head of their agency." Mr. Roosevelt said that after his order November 17 for cancellation of all deferments already made on the basis of federal service, there was a rush of government employees to get into uniform. He said his new order should apply not only to the regular civilian employees of the government "but also to employees in Army arsenals and in Navy Yards and Navy shore establishments owned or operated by the United States."

The new manpower setup to be completed soon, the President said, would provide for deferment and prohibition of enlistment of men needed more urgently for war production than in the Army. More uniformity could be obtained from local draft boards, he said, by plant managers certifying to the boards cases of men who are irreplaceable and by more consultation between draft boards and war production employees.

The Armed Forces
Navy Surgeon General McIntire said Navy fatalities among the wounded at Guadalcanal are less than one per cent, compared with an average of seven per cent wounded in World War I. Due principally to use of new medical discoveries in treatment of wounds, the President appointed Brig. Gen. Frederick H. Osborn, Chief of Special Services of the War Department, as Chairman of a committee which will work out plans for post-war education of young men whose school years are interrupted by entrance into the armed services. The President increased the maximum size of the WAAC's from 25,000 to 150,000 women. More than 1,000,000 soldiers have applied for benefits on behalf of their families under the Servicemen's Dependents Allowance Act. The Office of War Information announced 48,956 members of U. S. armed forces have been officially reported as killed, wounded, missing or prisoners since the war began—exclusive of the African campaign. The War and Navy Departments organized the United States of America Typhus Commission, headed by Rear Admiral Charles S. Stephenson, to "function as a board of strategy against typhus, the common foe of all armies and of all people."

Production
War Production Chairman Nelson announced aircraft production in 1943 has been fixed at more than double the 1942 output. At the same time he appointed a new top board of aircraft production supervision under the chairmanship of WPB Vice Chairman Charles E. Wilson. Mr. Nelson issued a statement asking war workers to stay on their jobs Thanksgiving Day. The WPB Smaller War Plants Division reported it has completed its operating organization and now has the staff necessary to carry out its work.

Farm Prices and Production
The WPB froze until March 6, 1943, one-half of the supply of cold storage butter in the 35 principal markets of the country—between 30 and 35 million pounds. Without regard to existing contracts, this butter may not be delivered except on specific permission by the WPB or to the armed forces, Lend-Lease, or other specified government agencies. The freeze order applies to any person in the 35 markets, who between November 6, 1942, and November 20, 1942, had any butter in his possession or under his control in any warehouse. He is required to set aside until March 6, 1943, 50 per cent of the supply of butter he had on hand November 6 or November 20, whichever is higher.

The OPA set special price ceilings on turkeys sold direct to consumers by farmers and processors. Employment on farms November 1 totaled 10,879,000, a seasonal decline of about 1,000,000 persons during October and representing a much higher percentage of women, children and townspeople.

Rationing
The OPA cut the value of the basic A gasoline ration coupon from 4 to 3 gallons in the District of Columbia and 16 of the now-rationed eastern states. B and C books were not affected. Those motorists who, because of the change of the value of the A coupon, are unable to obtain "essential mileage" may now apply for supplemental rations. To allow motorists extra time in which to dispose of idle tires in excess of five per passenger car, the OPA postponed the deadline for idle tire turn-ins until December 1. A total of 2,872,000 tires had been turned in by motorists at the close of business November 14.

War Finances
To finance the war effort, the Treasury will borrow during December the unprecedented sum of approximately $9 billion. Treasury Secretary Morgenthau announced. Twelve Victory Fund committees will launch an intensive sales campaign on November 30 on three series of offerings of new securities, with 44,000 volunteer workers soliciting subscriptions. At the same time the war savings staff, with its 300,000 volunteers, will intensify its drive to add at least 7 million more income-earners to those already investing regularly in war bonds thru the payroll savings plan.

A Plan to Protect Agriculture After This War

For years the tragic results of the expansion of food-producing acreage during World War I has haunted American agriculture. Every farmer, as a matter of patriotism, interrupted his rotation of crops to produce food and more food for our armies and our Allies. Now again in World War II, to feed our soldiers and our Allies and to serve the special demands of war industry, we are dislocating our normal production as a matter of patriotic service.

It seems plain that by the end of this war American farms will have created a tremendous surplus production power which ordinary peacetime requirements will not absorb. By the end of 1942 our overall average increase production over the average for the last 10 years will be more than 21 per cent. How then can American agriculture side-step a post-war farm tragedy even worse than that following World War I?

Experiments in Rubber and Other Products

Our Government is now experimenting with domestic sources for rubber. Some sixty thousand acres are devoted to the production of guayule and its possibilities as a source of domestic rubber. Emergency plants for the production of thousands of tons of synthetic rubber from oil and alcohol are now springing into production.

We have learned how to make paper from slash pine and starch from potatoes. We are learning how to raise medicinal herbs which we formerly imported.

Denied the use of kapok which we imported from the East Indies and used in life preservers, we have discovered that the floss from milkweed makes better life preservers than kapok ever did. Factories have been built and several thousand acres are now devoted to raising milkweed intensively.

Already we are producing tung oil successfully. Thousands of acres will be needed before we can supply even our present domestic market.

Luckily, we have at hand the National Farm Chemurgic Council, an organization of research chemists from our several industries who compare notes and gain new enthusiasm in the research for new uses of old crops and new crops which can be cultivated in America. Our government has established research laboratories.

More than fifteen thousand different kinds of plants grow in the natural state in the United States. We use less than three hundred of these plants. Farm chemurgic will not be complete, nor the post-war problem of agriculture solved until every plant is re-examined in the light of modern science and made to serve its part in contributing to the comfort, happiness and security of our America of the future.

A Plan That Deserves Support

The United States Senate is considering a plan which will require the use of 20 per cent of war profits during the war for the purchase of Recovery Bonds by each company in order to have available the necessary cash to quickly change their business and industrial plants back to peacetime activities at the close of the war and to adjust the employment of their normal number of factory workers.

This percentage of war profits could also be used in a broad plan of research by industrial chemists to develop new uses for products of the farm by our domestic industry. If our industry has the knowledge and the money in hand to convert an all-out war effort to peacetime production, maintain employment and launch the new products discovered by science, we have a reasonable chance to absorb our farm surplus even in the post-war period.

Depression hit our rural areas longer and harder than our industrial areas. Our hope for the security, happiness and prosperity of Rural America is at stake. If we can develop this practical plan for taking care of our surplus in the after war period, we can go forward unafraid in an all-out production effort for the winning of this war and in providing the food necessary for starving people in the after war period. We will know that we have provided an ever-expanding America with new crops and new uses. Worth thinking about.

Q. What is the principal difference between the sources of money for the Available School Fund and the Permanent School Fund?

A. Bascom Giles, Commissioner of the General Land Office, answers this question. At the present time about 15,000,000 acres of school land are held by purchasers under contract of sale. The interest received under these contracts is placed in the Available School Fund; and the principal, when paid, is placed in the Permanent School Fund, Commissioner Giles explains.

What becomes of the miles you don't drive?

Today undriven miles are war weapons.

The rubber you don't use is airplane tires, antitank-gun treads, machine-gun mounts, life rafts, tank-interior pads, pontoons, and hot water bottles for field hospitals.

The gasoline you don't use is fuel for fighter and bomber planes, for jeeps and tanks, for motor torpedo boats and armored cars. And more, the magic of the new petroleum chemistry takes the material, which formerly became gasoline, and Aladdin-lamps it into precious synthetic rubber and devastating high explosive.

Send Gifts of Tanks, Guns and Planes To Our Boys With . . .

A War Bond in Every Stocking!

CHRISTMAS in any year is a happy time—but this year it will be a happiness more brave than jolly. It is a war-minded Christmas—too many of us feel the absence of loved ones from the holiday festivities for it to be otherwise. Christmas merry-making will not be the same in this nation or any other of the United Nations while democracies and the rights of free men are in peril. Our boys on battlefields all over the world know this, and their valiant fight for freedom will go on through the holidays, through the New Year, through years to come if necessary. They ask us to "keep the home fires burning" this Christmas as on other Christmases—with holly berries, with gayly lit Christmas trees, with a Wassail cup, with gift-giving, and with heartfelt prayers for their safety and the return of Peace. They ask us also to remember their urgent and constant need of help—tangible and immediate help in the form of guns, tanks, bombs and planes. Casual, flippant spending is out of fashion for Christmas, 1942. Choose gifts to fill a practical need for the receiver. Don't forget that the gifts that are most practical, the gifts your friends and family will be happiest to receive, the gifts that are the quickest means of sending aid to America's fighters, are United States War Bonds and Stamps! Together, America, let's make our Christmas slogan "A Bond in every stocking!"

British Labor Can Take It

The report of Daniel J. Tobin, Vice President of the American Federation of Labor and President of the Brotherhood of Teamsters, on how England is handling three labor problems—strikes, absenteeism, and working hours—is of wide interest because of the present labor situation in this country. In the opinion of the National Association of Manufacturers, Mr. Tobin has rendered a public service in telling how our British ally is handling these situations as they have arisen out of the vital production program.

"There are very few stoppages of work," Mr. Tobin said in a recent radio address which was printed in the American Federationist, the official AFL magazine. "Here and there unions will kick over the traces and, in violation of the rules governing their procedure, cease work."

"In such instances," says Mr. Tobin, "the officers of the union denounce the strike, force public opinion against the action, backed by the Minister of Labor, and usually the strike lasts but a few days. Where unlawful strikes occur in violation of the rules and against the advice of the officers, the agitators within the union, who, in some instances, can influence large numbers, are sought out, and there are methods by which such disturbers are either sent to other employments, resubscribed for the draft or military service, or if necessary placed out of reach of an opportunity to create trouble."

"Absenteeism," says Mr. Tobin, "is another matter that is seriously dealt with. During my stay in England there were instances of this before courts and in each case the individual was what we might call willfully lazy or negligent and could give no sound reason for absence. In some instances the individual was fined and imprisoned."

Believing that labor would not appreciate this statement on working hours and overtime wages, Mr. Tobin stated that "the average of working hours for all classes of workers in defense employment is about fifty-three hours per week. Overtime," he said, "is paid after forty-eight hours."

It is obvious to those responsible for the conduct of the war and for the production of war materials that peacetime "extras" that labor has been enjoying, have no place in wartime. As in England these "extras" must be eliminated entirely or controlled to such an extent that they cannot sabotage our production efforts. Whether or not labor appreciates what Mr. Tobin has said about strike control, absenteeism punishment, and the no-overtime forty-eight-hour work week, American labor must face the facts and make adjustments if it is to prove that it is as patriotic and as determined to win this war as British labor.

The Jalopy Has a Destiny Today

The worn-out automobile has been a roadside eyesore to America. Now it is a military asset. It is going to war in new steel for our fighting men. Those who do not understand this, should it be the epic of the jalopy.

This most motorized of nations had for years the problem of disposing in some decent way of its old cars. Some were abandoned by the wayside where the gasoline god flung them in wreckage against stone walls or telephone poles, or overturned them in ditches. The disgusted drivers of others, unable to make them go any more, just left them where they gave their last car-buretor cough, and walked or hitch-hiked away.

All this committed mayhem on the scenery, and out of it grew the automobile graveyards, cluttered with the millions of town cars and the college boy's jeep. There were a few dollars to be made out of the sale of parts and tires, which kept other cars going a little longer.

But by and large the chassis and bodies moved into the stream of organized salvage as slowly as cold molasses.

Then war came along, and the flow speeded up. It reached a rate of about 150,000 tons a month.

America entered the war, and the flow speeded still more. In June 453,000 tons of iron and steel scrap were moved out of some 22,000 auto graveyards scattered over the face of the nation.

That is an answer to those who say the worn-out and wrecked cars are just lying there, tons of them, when people are asked to contribute their modest amounts of scrap metals to the war effort.

The June yield of 453,000 tons, matched with a like amount of new pig iron, means new steel production at the rate of nearly 9,000,000 tons a year.

The country cannot get along without those 9,000,000 tons of new steel. Therefore it cannot get along without the auto graveyards. It is as simple as that.

The auto graveyards await: beyond them, the steel furnaces and the armament plants; and beyond them, America's fighting men. The jalopy has a destiny today.

Have you a jalopy?—Providence, R. I., Bulletin.

ROAD TO VICTORY!

By Taylor Caldwell

Human revolutions are of slow growth. Modern democracy is the heir of the ages, of men dead for many centuries. It began in the thoughts of Egyptian, Hebrew, and Grecian philosophers, and burst into open fire in the Magna Carta, when, for the first time, the Rights of Man were boldly proclaimed. It progressed through hundreds of years of darkness, oppression, and misery, sometimes shining brightly, sometimes almost disappearing in the muck of tyranny and despair. It broke into a wider blaze in the American and French Revolutions. But democracy is still in the process of becoming. It may take many hundreds of years longer before it has perfected itself, rid itself of the old grossness and injustice which it inherited from the Dark Ages.

But even in its present imperfections it is still the noblest concept which man has ever dreamed and for which multitudes have heroically died. In each century it must again engage in the ancient struggle against the primordial forces of destruction and reaction. And each time that the battle is won the march of ultimate democracy is hastened.

It is worth fighting for, this ultimate democracy, though we ourselves may never see its perfection. However by the Grace of God and our own devotion and strength, our children will see it. They shall inherit the treasure for which we have fought and died—if we have faith, if we realize that nothing is too much to sacrifice for this inheritance. Work is not too much. Courage and our lives are not too much. All the money we can pour out into War Bonds and Stamps is not too much. For, if we hold back in work, in courage, in life, in money, we shall not bequeath democracy to our children. We shall bequeath them only the bitter knowledge that when we were tested we gave "too little, too late," and that they have inherited from us only slavery and fear.

Will the party who borrowed my crutches several years ago, please return same. I need them! S. S. Mallett. 48-11-p

Longest War

THESE CHINESE SOLDIERS holding a height above a river have been fighting the war against the Axis longer than any other United Nations forces. For 11 years, since the invasion of Manchuria on Sept. 18, 1931, they have stubbornly resisted Japan. The front where they are now fighting here is in Suiyuan Province in Inner Mongolia. In spite of 11 years' fighting, their morale is still high.

Men Convicted Of Crime Now Eligible in War

Selective Service headquarters has revealed that local boards are now instructed to reclassify all registrants heretofore deferred because of conviction of crimes.

No more deferments are to be made on this ground unless the registrants "are completely disqualified morally and are not eligible for a waiver under the new Army standards," the boards were told.

The Army has authorized waivers in "especially meritorious cases" even for men who have served terms for treason, murder, rape, kidnapping, arson and other "heinous crimes" if their conduct has been fitting for at least six months after their release from confinement.

The boards were told to ask Army waivers for these men and others with less serious records if they were otherwise available for military service, and to order their induction if the Army grants the waivers.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wilson and son, Larry, and Miss Joe Marie Durham, Canadian, spent Sunday in Perryton visiting with Harvey's brothers, L. S. and W. C. Wilson, and with his mother, Mrs. H. J. been done in one year of war, and what lies ahead to be done in terms of "Work . . . Fight . . . Sacrifice." Rededicate the nation's strength, its time, its wealth and its very life to preserving a concept of life more precious than individual life itself; to work, fight, sacrifice for all that is contained in the Bill of Rights and the Constitution of the United States of America.

The OWI proposes that Sunday be dedicated to solemn memorial for those who died at Pearl Harbor and those who have died since, to thanksgiving for our survival during the first critical year of the war, and to rededication of all our resources to the spiritual values which are at stake in this war.

It is proposed that the rallying cry, "Work . . . Fight . . . Sacrifice" be sounded on Monday and that national rededication be in that key.

These words must surely bring to every man and woman a realization that this is a war that touches all of us, personally and intimately. It is a part of the observance of the anniversary of Pearl Harbor that all of us should take stock, both of the material achievements and shortcomings of our war effort during the past year and of our spiritual attitude toward the essential values of national and international life.

The hour of the Pearl Harbor attack (2:20 p. m., E. W. T.) December 7, will be specially marked, but no ceremony should delay war production.

Thanksgiving On The Farm

Soil and water conservation places a protecting arm about the land Americans defend at home and abroad, George M. Parker, Soil Conservation Service, said today.

"We at home must defend the soil for which our men and boys are fighting on the battlefronts of the world. With soil and water conservation measures, we can lay the groundwork for victory on the home front. Conservation not only saves and improves the land, but it also increases crop yields. That means more food with which to win the war and write the peace, also starving multitudes on the eroded and depleted soils of Europe must be fed after the peace treaty is signed."

This picture is a combination of two aerial photographs in order to show on the land the symbol of American freedom, the United States flag. The strip crops that form the stripes are from a Southwestern photograph; the shocked grain that resemble stars is taken from another photograph.

Today our flag is the symbol of freedom and liberty for all the people enslaved by the Axis and all the people fighting against enslavement by the Axis. The contour lines, the contour strip crops, the terraces, and land well protected by vegetative cover in our conservation-treated fields are symbols of the protection the conservation program gives the land on which we must depend for the food necessary for victory.

Farmers and Ranchers may obtain help in planning and carrying out conservation programs by applying to the Wind Erosion District office for this assistance.

McClung Wins His Wings, Commission

AAP NAVIGATION SCHOOL, HONDO, Texas, Nov. 24—Lt. Cloyd H. McClung was among the 15 Texans who won the silver wings of aerial navigators and second lieutenants' commissions in the Army Air Forces during military graduation ceremonies, Saturday, November 7, at the Army Air Forces Navigation School, Hondo, Texas. Lt. McClung, 25, the son of Rev. and Mrs. S. R. McClung, 515 S. W. 2nd St., volunteered in January. He has had training at Pine Bluff, Ark. Ellington Field, and at Hondo.

Upon graduation, each newly commissioned member was ready to take his place in the heart of the largest American Flying Fortress and chart its course direct to any point on land or sea and return safely.

With 15,000 miles of navigation flights in his record during which he has mapped the course of training planes to points all over the United States, the newly commissioned navigator officer is highly skilled in the science of aerial navigation and meteorology. He is able, with pencil, chart, and sextant, to map the course of a warplane to any enemy objective.

The navigator officer can reckon with time and wind, and alter his ship's course when necessary to assure its arrival at its pre-determined target, exactly on the appointed moment. On the navigator's ability may hang the lives of an entire bomber crew, or the success or failure of a bombing mission. Many members of the graduating class will become navigators in combat units. Others are assigned to training fields as instructors.

Lt. McClung received his orders on November 9 and was assigned to transport command, stationed in St. Joseph, Mo.

With Tank Corps

Cpl. Carl Ray Sword, inducted into the army in January, 1942, received his basic training at Ft. Riley, Kansas. He was then transferred to Camp Lockett, Calif., and was recently sent to Fort Benning, Ga. Cpl. Sword is with an armored division. He is the son of E. E. Sword of this city, and received his education in Perryton.

Texas Farmers Are All-Out In War Contributions

COLLEGE STATION—Texas farmers occupy a large section of the production line of this country, according to Tyrus R. Timm of the A. and M. College Extension Service. In verification, Timm gave this breakdown of farmers' contributions to the war effort in a talk before the Texas Academy of Science on the College campus recently:

One out of every eighth farm in the nation is in Texas; 10 per cent of the beef cattle; one-fifth of the sheep; one out of three of the acres planted to rice and cotton, and one out of each three grapefruit eaten are produced in this state. Timm is the extension economist in farm management.

Discussing the problems in holding their place in the production line, the economist said that already one third of the farm labor supply, involving family laborers and employed help, either has left or been taken from the farms. Two thirds of this decrease has been in family labor, suggesting why the government has stabilized the manpower supply engaged in dairy, livestock and poultry production.

"Nevertheless," he added, "if the war continues through 1944, U. S. Department of Agriculture economists estimate that one third of those engaged in agriculture in 1939 will be off the farm. But I don't think farmers can expect too much government assistance as long as production continues high. Notwithstanding, rural people not only are going all out for victory with their resources and physical strength, but are doing an equally impressive job with their mental strength."

"Texas rural people today are more conscious about how closely our public problems are related to agriculture and even to their individual farms. They are buying all of the War bonds they can, thus helping to reach the goal asked by the President—that of having everybody help finance the war, which is the real democratic process."

Hunting Nazis in North Africa

Many British two-pounder anti-tank guns are now mounted on fast trucks so they can move quickly around the desert. As shown in this dramatic picture, the gun's crew fires without unlimbering. They make daring forays behind the enemy's lines to play havoc with supply columns and lightly armored vehicles, even taking toll of heavy Nazi tanks.

SERMONETTE

Blue Mound Church

O come, let us sing unto the Lord: let us make a joyful noise to the rock of our salvation. Let us come before his presence with thanksgiving, and make a joyful noise unto him with psalms. For the Lord is a great God, and a great King above all Gods. In his hand are the deep places of the earth: the strength of the hills is his also. The sea is his, and he made it; and his hands formed the dry land. O come, let us worship and bow down; let us kneel before the Lord our maker: For he is our God, and we are the people of his pasture, and are under his hand. Psalms, 95: 1-5.

With the greatest and most terrible war of history now in progress there are perhaps a great number of people who have nothing to be thankful for, or at least they seem to see nothing that is worthy of praise. Like the young man that was very much in distress, and despondent because he didn't have a new pair of shoes. Then he saw a man without any feet, and his heart was filled with praise for two feet, regardless of new shoes. It is true that war is nothing to be thankful for, however we the people of America, and especially the people of this community have material comforts of life, good health, and spiritual opportunities that millions never have had, and will die without ever experiencing these God given blessings. We know not when we might suffer because of a lack of some of these blessings of life. So let us go forth a thankful people, showing forth praise unto our God for the many many blessings He has showered upon us in this nation and especially in this community.

Christian Science

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alas Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 29.

The Golden Text is: "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong" (1 Corinthians 16: 13).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Then saith Jesus unto him, Get thee hence Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve" (Matthew 4:10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Blessed is the man that endureth (overcometh) temptation: for when he is tried, (proved faithful), he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him (James 1, 12)" (page 267).

Rangers End Season With Victory

The Perryton Rangers closed their 1942 grid season with a 27 to 6 win over the Lakeview Eagles. They had had a fair season this year chalking up five wins in eight games. The Rangers placed third place in the conference. The Rangers started the 1942 season with four returning lettermen. There will be about six lettermen at the close of the year. This is an increased number and should help Coaches Philbrick and Slack build a stronger team next year if war problems permit.

Those who graduate and have played their last game with the Rangers are looking forward to positions on a bigger team and winning the most important game known, this war.

As this years Rangers' fold up their uniforms and saddle soap their shoes for the winter they cast a backward glance at their locker and walked out. The wish uppermost in the minds of all is for a successful season next year.

Visual education will become a special part of our curriculum this year due to present conditions. A series of twenty pictures related to the war effort have been booked. EL TORO

Eyebrows raised two feet when Bobby Turner stepped out with that popular sophomore, Mary Lou Rupprecht. Wonders never cease.

Bob Bray has found a new interest in Borger. The mail proves to be a very inadequate method of courtship, doesn't it. Bob? Well anyway you don't need to be so touchy about your letters!

Mary Frances Calhoun steps out with Charley Patton one night, with Lefty Lee the next night and with Squid Gidley the next night. "Triple Threat" Frances as she is known. Nothing serious, she says, but I have my doubts.

Say, has anyone heard anything about Bill Allen and Pauline Cotner? I haven't. Disgusting! I think that they must be in a rut.

If at first you don't succeed, try, try again! This seems to be John Plummer's policy. You gotta give him credit for trying. But John, hasn't anyone ever told you that Margaret Jeanne Orrill is a hard woman to get?

Chance is a wonderful thing. If you don't believe me just ask Sue Hargrove and Jack Igou. It's funny that they always meet and sit together at the show.

Kackie Allen got stood up at the Post Office. These cute little pranksters, Ann Herndon, Margaret Jeanne Orrill, Laverne Crowe and Mary Ellen Moss, just couldn't resist the temptation to leave Kackie standing in the cold.

What is Laverne Crowe's interest in the mail man? Or is it what the mailman brings her from Austin? And she didn't get his name through the Lonely Heart's Club either.

Birds of feathers flock together. Williams stick to Williams and if Vivian Williams isn't careful, she won't get to change her name.

Jane Rogers plans to phone home Thanksgiving. Bob Bray plans to drop over to the Rogers' home and spend the evening. Perhaps he'll get to talk to Jane at her folk's expense. Oh well, it's an idea anyway.

Building a New World

Another week of school has passed and what have we accomplished? To some students this is a very important question, to others it doesn't matter.

Many of our futures have been deeply changed in this last year and we have all become restless and unsettled. At times we think that our lives hold no future, but this attitude is one that only a shirker or an unpatriotic citizen would have.

Today, our goal has already been set for us and we must charge forth and reach it. Whether we like it or not, our whole future depends on what we do to win this terrible war; not what we will do after we graduate, but what we accomplish today.

It is also true that our school life has changed, but simply because we can't have as many sports, contests, and other activities as we had last year is no reason for us to become slackers. We must consider and choose our subjects very carefully in order that we can do our part in accomplishing our goal.

We have a great future ahead of us. A new world is in the making, and we are all employed as builders. So students, let's all make every day at school a beneficial one, so we can make this new world one which will always stand and one we can truly be proud of.

Club Girls Turn Florists

SIoux Falls, S. D.—Members of the Fidelis Club of the First Lutheran Church illustrate one way women's organizations throughout the country are aiding in the sale of War Savings Stamps. The women are shown making artificial flowers for bouquets to be placed all over Sioux Falls during a recent city-wide War Bond drive and aided greatly in the sale of the stamps. Seated, left to right, are club members Ruth Gulekson, Nordiss Johnson, Leah Gulekson and Frances Van Hous.

INDUSTRY AND BUSINESS AFTER THE WAR

Every American knows that the manufacture of automobiles has ceased for the duration of the war. The great automobile industry which in 1940 produced and sold more than 3 1/4 million cars, has been re-tooled to produce airplanes, guns, tanks and munitions of war. Where will these companies get the money necessary to resume the manufacture of automobiles when the war is ended?

The automobile industry happens to be important, and there are thousands of smaller industries which will also face the same problem. What will the millions of workers do when the demand for war machines stops?

What will happen to the domestic market for farm products when those millions of war workers no longer have jobs?

The stage seems set for an even worse depression after World War II than we suffered after World War I unless right now we start to plan about these surpluses. It is comforting to learn that Congress is now considering some plan to prevent, or at least to ease, any after-the-war depression.

War Profits for Peace-Time Recovery

The best plan seems to contemplate the dedication of a portion of war profits for the purpose of providing industry with the ready cash on hand to quickly change to peace-time activity and thus lessen the shock to manufacturing and agricultural surpluses when the war is ended.

A Recovery Bond program has been suggested whereby each industry, big and little, will be required to invest at least 20 per cent of its war profits in Recovery Bonds which do not bear interest until the war is ended and which cannot be sold by the purchaser until peace is declared.

Such a plan would build, at the rate of almost a billion dollars a year, a huge recovery reserve to convert war industries to peace production, launch new products and maintain employment. It would place this reserve immediately and automatically in the hands of those businesses and industries with the greatest after-the-war needs.

The moment peace is declared the "time lock" automatically releases this recovery reserve, the bonds become negotiable and begin to draw interest. Purchasers holding them will then treat them like any other Government bonds, to be sold or used to borrow money. There would be no waiting for a post-war Congressional appropriation, no red tape, and no delay in launching the business and industry offensive that may turn threatened depression into untroubled prosperity.

The plan is simple, practical and fair.

During late years science and research have discovered many new uses for present major farm crops and many new crops which can be used in industry. A plan of this character places immediately in the hands of industry the resources which can be used to finance further research and to plan for the conversion of surplus crops, surplus factory buildings and the employment of war workers in new and useful enterprises whenever this war shall cease and normal peacetime industry, business and agriculture shall be resumed.

This problem deserves the thoughtful consideration of every American. If we can have the assurance of reasonable security in the after-the-war recovery period, we can throw ourselves into an all-out effort to win the war and feel that by so doing we have secured "the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity."

Mr. Thompson Gives Parent-Teacher Talk

Mrs. C. B. Rogers, president, was in charge of the Monday night meeting of the local Parent Teacher Association in the High School Auditorium.

Mrs. E. D. Kelley was program leader. Pupils of Room 6A under the direction of Miss Mary Louise Yoo entertained. After colors were advanced, the Flag Pledge was given and "God Bless America" sung. Rev. J. E. Mullins gave a prayer in keeping with the program. Scripture was read by one of the pupils. Copies by the children of famous paintings were exhibited and two patriotic readings: "Legend of the Blue Bonnet" by Mary Louise Craig and "Song of Our Flag" by Zona Mabel Donley were enjoyed. A clarinet duet, "America" was followed by the group singing and acting out "Marines Hymn," "Johnny Dough Boy," "Found a Rose in Ireland," "Three Little Sisters" and "I'm in the School's Army."

The topic for the evening, "Education, the Bedrock of Democracy" was brought by Doyle Thompson, principal of the elementary school. He outlined the meaning of his theme then went on to say that every child had the privilege of being well born, a happy home life with financial support, good health and educational opportunities. He explained that our school system is superior to all others. The Democratic form of government is most desirable in that we live, work and control the destiny of peace and happiness.

He reported the elementary school as 100 per cent membership in Junior Red Cross in one week's time; had donated $102 to China relief; collected 90,000 pounds of scrap metal and to date had purchased $1,942.10 in stamps and bonds. The school is endeavoring to build strong bodies through teaching of health and play habits; loyal citizens by strengthening the morale for Liberty to preserve this form of government for equality.

The next meeting is to be December 14, the date being changed to the second Monday night in order not to conflict with school activities.

The Sixth Grade won the room prize. Mrs. Sam Port sang as a solo, "This is Worth Fighting For" with Miss Holcomb at the piano. She then directed the audience in singing "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Keep the Home Fires Burning," and "The Star Spangled Banner."

first obtain permission from their local draft boards, or the boards will re-classify those who leave, including both married and single men.

The squeeze on critical materials still continued, with the most notable of the recent orders applying to kitchen equipment. Metal gadgets, cooking utensils and housewares of all kinds now are going off the market, except for eight items—wire strainers, can openers, egg beaters, food mills, food choppers and grinders, and commercial type cake turners and basting spoons. Non-essential wire products also are banned with what is left to be available for protection of farm property. There'll be fewer umbrellas made next year, and they'll be generally uniform size, shape and weight.

And, in connection with Thanksgiving, salvage experts called for increased savings of fats and grease for use in munitions. They said you can help cook the Axis goose with fat from your Thanksgiving turkey.

DORMANT SCRAP MOVES FROM SOUTHWEST: Shipments of dormant industrial scrap iron and steel from Southwestern plants in November will approximate those of October, when 68,000 tons moved from this area to the nation's steel mills. Sam W. Papert, regional chief of WPB's industrial salvage section, predicted. Mr. Papert credited the success of the dormant scrap drive in large measure to generous newspaper publicity and to efforts of volunteer iron and steel salesmen taking part in the drive.

NATIONAL HOSIERY SALVAGE STARTS: Used silk and nylon hosiery started on their way to war, with the opening of WPB's collection campaign on November 16. Collection boxes have been placed at women's hosiery counters of retail stores. The stockings turned in will be processed and reclaimed into valuable war materials, destined for action on the front lines.

FARMERS MAY INSTALL USED GAS TANKS, PUMPS: Authorization to install used gasoline dispensing pumps and storage tanks on farms of 10 or more acres has been issued by WPB, on recommendation of the Office of Petroleum Coordinator for War. Pumps and storage tanks to be installed must be used exclusively for dispensing petroleum products to machinery and vehicles employed directly in farm operations on the individual farm. No restrictions can be made thereby use of the equipment is limited to dispensing the products of any supplier or group of suppliers.

WPB CUTS KITCHENWARE AGAIN: In the last of four actions affecting metal kitchen gadgets, cooking utensils and housewares, WPB has reduced manufacture of these items to a few bare essentials for the duration of the war. The order, affecting kitchen tools, glass or ceramic flameware, cooking utensils and storage utensils,

Dear Folks:

Mom, you better sit down and practice addressing letters. From the marks, etc., on your letter of September 3rd, you certainly had the postman puzzled. I guess you know by now that my address is changed and I look forward to changing it again soon.

We hope to go down in the big game country to do some work. We will probably fly down—that's what I like the best.

Nothing of importance has happened since I wrote last. About all we do is work, eat and sleep. There's nothing to see here except diggers and Italian prisoners. A white woman is a novelty for us and we stare at one like kids do a freak in a circus when we have an opportunity to see one.

Only three more months and a few days now and I've got this hitch done. That will be something but I suppose I'll be in the army before I get off the boat. Anyway that's what the lead-off men here would have one think when one is about ready to tell them to take the job and put it where they will always have it. However up till now none of the pipe line men have quit but many others have. They're quitting fifty at a time when I left Persia but conditions are not so rough here as they were there.

Here's hoping this finds you both in fine shape.

Your son,
Les

Dear Dad:

To show my appreciation for your letter, I'll answer it right now. All news items were good news and that is what it takes to make a letter really good to a man out in this end of the world.

Regarding the printing of any item I write, you can print anything you know or hear from me. This hush business may be all right but I think many well meaning citizens carry it too far. Why, up near the front lines and in the occupied countries, I have been in, news items and what in some cases would be called vital secrets travel around as freely as a choice bit of scandal at an old women's sewing circle.

Here in this country they have prisoners of war working in the offices of the company handling all confidential matter and all statistics connected with a company in an operation of this sort so I can't see that the using of anything you know about me would hurt a blasted thing. Many men receive items covers all items not included in the previous three orders of the series. Generally, items using less than five per cent of metal by weight are not covered.

from their home town papers. I'm sure glad you got the picture. I sent three and up to day the one is all that I know arrived. As for a story with it, you can write one yourself. I was in the place where the picture was taken about twelve days on business and missed the men who spoke of a few days. A person could compare the activity there with the hustle and hurry of Perryton about 1929. Everyone spending money and in a hurry having a rip roaring good time. It's hard to realize that one is only about twenty minutes by plane from the front.

No one is excited and take all events more calmly than any of the local talent gathered on the sunny side of the Perryton Drug Store. I stay there was a treat of the first order after coming off the scorched deserts of (cut here). It would serve Adolph right if we would give him that blasted country, the desert I mean. If that place is the cradle of civilization, all I can say is that civilization had to be a tough little article to ever survive her cradle days.

One man in eight was in the hospital all the time and some who had fever were—how do the English say, "balmy" — nuts to us anyway. Enough for that at this time.

Our job is just like any other, dull at times—not very or for long—some hard work, some easy. It compares with drilling oil wells in many ways — no Sundays, — no holidays and seldom does night or day make any difference—we just work.

Any news items from the home town is good reading here and snapshots are a treat, so drop me a line more often.

Sincerely your son,

Les

The total amount that can be paid each month is now limited by law. This means that as more aged persons are placed on the rolls, the amount of the monthly check goes down. Checks were cut $1.00 each this month because of this restriction.

Representative Favor proposes to introduce a bill removing the limit on the amount that can be paid out each month, the only limit being the amount raised by taxation. As we understand, there is plenty of money coming in from various tax sources for the payment of full checks but due to the total amount restriction, officials of the Department of Public Welfare are powerless. Their only course is to reduce the amount of individual checks to stay under the lawful limit.

We suggest that Old Age Assistance clients contact their assistants at Pampa, pledging their assistance and influence with their representatives and senators for the enactment of this legislation. Scrap drive adds hunk to hunk.
