Iranian Assassinated

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)-Gen. Mohammad Vali Gharani, the first chief of staff of Iran's armed forces after the revolution, was assassinated today while walking in the garden of his Tehran home, the official Pars news agency reported.

Gharani, who was chief of staff for six weeks, was cut down by a man with a machine gun who climbed his garden wall, wounded him in the stomach and left leg, and wounded a member of his household staff in the neck, Pars said.

Well Blows Wild

INTERCOASTAL CITY, La. (AP)-Mechanical failure of wellhead equipment caused a natural gas well about 5½ miles in the Gulf of Mexico to blow wild, a spokesman for McMoRan Offshore Exploration Co. says.

The blowout started a fire which destroyed a big jackup drilling rig and burned out of control for 18 hours before extinguishing itself, the spokesman said Sunday.

Arson Suspected

HOUSTON (AP)-Arson was suspected Sunday as a three-alarm fire caused an estimated $575,000 in damage to an elementary school.

Les Burton, security chief for the Houston Independent School District, said most of the damage at Dogan Elementary on Liberty Road was in the office area and it appeared that several rooms had been vandalized.

Burton said it was the third major school fire in recent weeks in northeast Houston. He said all three apparently were started by juvenile burglars.

New Einstein Statue

WASHINGTON (AP)-A bronze statue of Albert Einstein, with a map of the heavens at his feet, is the newest monument here.

The imposing figure of the celebrated discoverer of the theory of relativity was unveiled Sunday at dedication ceremonies on the grounds of the National Academy of Sciences. The ceremonies were part of the celebration of the 100th anniversary of Einstein's birth.

The $1.6 million bronze figure is 12 feet high and seated on a three-tiered, semi-circular bench of North Carolina granite.

Unprepared For Crisis

READING, Pa. (AP)-The company that operates the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant was not prepared for the recent near-disaster at the plant, and for days was unaware of the accident's scope, according to the firm's top official.

But Walter Creitz, president of Metropolitan Edison Co., denies the company misled the public and contends the utility handled the situation properly.

"Keep in mind, man was dealing with a problem he never experienced before," Creitz said in an interview with the Reading Eagle published Sunday.

"Hey, we were not prepared for what happened," he said. "Maybe we should have been more pessimistic, looking back on it."

Rubber Union Talking

WASHINGTON (AP)-The United Rubber Workers union, defiant of President Carter's anti-inflation program, is resuming contract talks with the tire industry as the administration turns up the heat on bargainers to keep its stretched wage guidelines alive.

Federal mediators planned to call bargainers from the Akron, Ohio-based URW to Washington today to help negotiate new three-year contracts covering 55,000 workers at the "Big Four" tire makers - Uniroyal, Goodyear, Goodrich and Firestone.

Settlement Blasted

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)-A tentative settlement aimed at ending one of the longest United Mine Workers strikes already is drawing fire from striking coal miners who accuse their union leaders of a sellout.

The strikers, angered by reports the settlement would allow more votes by those who crossed picket lines than by those on strike in the representation dispute, threatened to spread a wildcat movement.

The tentative settlement reached by reresentatives of Stearns Mining Co. and the UMW calls for a new representation election in less than two weeks at the strikebound Justus mine near Stearns, The Associated Press learned Sunday.

CERTIFICATE PRESENTED--Mrs. Wayne Boren and County Judge Preston Wilson display a certificate presented to Mrs. Boren Sunday in ceremonies at the Scurry County Museum. Also honored with a certificate of commendation from the Scurry County Historical Commission was Hugh (Brud) Boren Jr., who was not on hand to receive his certificate. Historical Commission Certificates Honor Two

Presentation of certicates of commendation highlighted a reception Sunday afternoon at the Scurry County Museum commemorating the silver anniversary of the Texas Historical Commission and launching local observance of History Appreciation Week.

Recipients of certificates presented on behalf of the Scurry County Historical Commission were Mrs. Wayne Boren, who headed the local commission's historical marker program for a number of years, and Hugh Boren Jr. who served the local commission as president for 12 years.

The reception Sunday was the first in a series of planned events calling attention to area history. A special program was scheduled at noon today at the county museum, and a tour of historic buildings was on tap for 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. today.

On Tuesday, there will be public school tours of historical markers in Snyder during the day, and at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, sixth grade choirs of Snyder Public Schools will present a special musical program titled "Six Flags Over Texas."

Jean Everett, current chairman of the Scurry County Historical Commission, presided at the ceremonies Sunday afternoon at the Scurry County Museum.

Nuclear Opponents To Rally In Capital

CHICAGO (AP)-Nuclear power opponents will converge on the nation's capital May 6 for a rally that organizers say is a reaction to the crisis at the Three Mile Island nuclear reactor near Harrisburg, Pa.

The rally is planned by a new group called the May 6th Coalition.

United Way To Select Drive Leaders

The Scurry County United Way board of directors has an important session set for 10 a.m. Tuesday in the council room at city hall.

In addition to considering several amendments to the organization's by-laws, the board will elect co-chairmen for the 1979 fund drive.

All directors, agency representatives and members of the board of advisors have been urged to attend the meeting, said Mike Reed, United Way president.

Officers Request New Radar Units

Scurry County Commissioners Court this morning heard a request for new radar units for traffic control work in the county.

Making the request were Department of Public Safety Patrolmen Earl Pearson and Pat Alexander, and Sheriff Keith Collier.

They told commissioners that the radar units now in use have reached the point that they should be replaced. Estimates were that the units would cost around $2,950 each.

Commissioners told the officers to check further and determine if units could be leased.

In other business during this morning's session of commissioners court, bids were opened for the purchase of two road maintainers, one for Precinct No. 1 and one for Precinct No. 3. Plains Machinery had the lowest of three bids submitted, $48,446 for each unit. Commissioners were studying the specifications.

College Board Sets Session

Scurry County Junior College District Trustees have scheduled a special session for 5:45 p.m. today in the board room of the Western Texas College administration building.

The board plans to work on the 1979-80 WTC budget and also has scheduled an executive session to discuss personnel matters.

SNYDER TEMPERATURES: High Saturday, 74 degrees; low, 45 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. Sunday, 58 degrees. Highs Sunday, 75 degrees; low, 49 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. today, 56 degrees; precipitation, none; total precipitation for 1979 to date, 2.99.

WEST TEXAS-Fair tonight becoming partly cloudy most sections with widely scattered thunderstorms southwest Tuesday. Continued warm afternoons and mild at night. Says Thornburgh...

Decision Not To Evacuate Was Toughest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. Dick Thornburgh told Congress today that of all the actions he took during the Three Mile Island nuclear crisis, deciding against a mass evacuation was "the toughest decision of all."

Testifying before the Senate nuclear regulation subcommittee, Thornburgh defended his decision to limit the evacuation of the central Pennsylvania area around the stricken power plant to pregnant women and preschool children.

"I had to weigh the potential risks of Three Mile Island against the proven hazards of moving people under panic conditions," Thornburgh testified.

He said he would not have hesitated to evacuate the "entire area" had it ever appeared necessary. But, he added, "I could not in good conscience have ordered such a step with the facts at my disposal."

Thornburgh was the leadoff witness as the subcommittee stepped up its investigation into the incident at Three Mile Island, the worst nuclear power plant accident in the nation's history.

Both Subcommittee Chairman Gary Hart, D-Colo., and Thornburgh discussed confused and conflicting information on the accident. Thornburgh sharply criticized the handling of the crisis by Metropolitan Edison Co., the plant operator.

"The company issued statements in the early days that proved to be something less than accurate and its credibility as a reliable source of information eroded rather quickly," the governor said.

In other testimony, the president of General Public Utilities Corp., the parent company of Metropolitan Edison, told the panel the accident resulted from a series of "equipment malfunctions and human factors."

Herman Diekamp said that while it was too early to tell how long it would take to put the reactor back in service, cleaning it up and replacing the broken fuel elements "is technically manageable."

Ask Us

Q--Doesn't the fifth amendment to the U.S. Constitution guarantee that the government cannot take a person's property without due compensation, and if so, isn't this provision of the Constitution violated by federal controls which keep domestic oil prices below the world market price?

A--If Thomas Jefferson were answering this question, it would be "yes," but the philosphy of Jefferson and his contemporaries has been liberally stretched and bent, if not broken, in recent years.

Clements Budget Powers Checked

AUSTIN AP—Unhappy Texas senators slapped down today Gov. Bill Clement's efforts to take over more power in spending taxpayers' money.

By a vote of 18-13, the Senate was three votes shy of approving debate on enlarging the governor's budget execution powers, one of Clements' main campaign proposals.

The vote came just after the Senate was read Clements' veto of the pawn shop regulation bill which had been approved by a large vote in the Senate.

"This is the most insidious proposal we will have before us in the form of constitutional amendments," protested Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena. He said a governor unfavorable to any particular state agency or program could destroy the legislature's efforts to finance it.

"This merely allows the governor to reduce line items in the general appropriation bill," said Sen. Ike Harris, R-Dallas. "He already has the power to veto such separate items."

Harris said his proposed constitutional amendment also would allow the governor to veto riders or special provisions in the state spending bill, which already are questioned by many legal sources.

"This just means the governor can take any figure in the appropriation bill and do what he wants to with it," protested Sen. Bill Patman, D-Ganado.

If approved by two-thirds of the legislature, the proposed constitution change by Harris would be put to voters on Nov. 4, 1980.

SALT Announcement Possible By Week's End

WASHINGTON (AP) — Refreshed by an 11-day vacation, President Carter is back at work amid hints this could be the week he finally gets to announce plans to sign a new strategic arms limitation treaty with the Soviet Union.

State Department sources said last week - while Carter was still relaxing in Georgia - that there is a chance for an announcement by the end of this week.

But the sources, who asked not to be named, said Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin would have to meet at least once more on remaining issues, apparently precluding announcement of an agreement during the early part of the week.

When the announcement does come, the sources indicated it would be limited to saying that enough of the main issues had been resolved to warrant a summit meeting between Carter and Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev to add the finishing touches and sign an arms treaty.

There are growing indications such a summit might be held in Europe because of Brezhnev's uncertain health.

The White House press office was sponsoring a background briefing for reporters today on the impending treaty, but press secretary Jody Powell said it did not signal that an agreement had been reached.

Powell said the SALT session was designed primarily for reporters who have not specialized in the four-year-old arms limitation negotiations.

However, neither Powell nor other White House officials seemed willing to preclude the possibility that Carter might have a SALT announcement by week's end.

Carter returned to Washington Sunday night after attending a dedication ceremony for his 4-month-old granddaughter and six other infants at the First Baptist Church in Calhoun, Ga.

The president was scheduled to address the annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences this afternoon.

Palestinian's Camp Shelled By Israelis

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)-Israeli gunboats shelled a Palestinian camp on the northern Lebanese coast after four Israelis, including a father and his two young daughters, were killed in a guerrilla raid on the resort town of Nahariya.

An Israeli civilian killed one of the Arabs and a second was killed in a clash with Israeli troops.

our disincentives

In a statement, the Savings and Loan Foundation asks, "Isn't it time to give a tax break to savers?" It was also said that Americans don't receive incentives to save and by taxing interest earned on savings accounts, this country discourages saving.

We like their stated position. If even read by members of congress (to which it was addressed) we fear that the major thought might become an invitation to dream up some off-beat idea for creation of "new incentives." It never seems to dawn on the political mind that getting rid of those things which discourage thrift can be more potent than inventing some scheme designed to create incentives.

Being human, our government regulators shy away from those things which might shrink the political segment of our society. It is more to their interest to keep governmental growth increasing.

There has been some lip service to an idea to allow small savers to get a better break on the rate of interest they can command, without present limitations based on the length of time the money is left on deposit. At present, the rate of inflation can eat up the substance faster than the interest can add to it.

And then, when tax time comes around, the extra income earned from interest adds just that amount to which it raises the percentage take of the income tax. This effect can easily be seen if one notes the way the tax is figured when the tax tables are not used. The income tax form will reveal that "income between this amount and a higher amount is so many dollars, then all over the smalller amount will be subject to a certain percentage. That percentage rises as the total income rises."

Now, if a taxpayer looks at the tax rate schedule in his return and notes that total amount of tax due and figures the percentage against his total taxable income, he will see that it is a considerably lower percentage figure than the one which he uses to apply against the amount of income over the smaller figure.

For instance, if the smaller figure is $4,200, with each increase of $1,000 the percentage rises one percent from 15 percent to 19 percent with the smaller figure rising to $7,200.

Taxpayers aware of the way their thrift is rewarded can easily become disenchanted with putting a high priority on savings and investment. It is just such disincentives which kill the desire for thrift and cut down the amounts available for capital growth in the nation.

Without saving and investments the economic growth of this nation is doomed. And as long as government, through its detrimental tax policies discourages thrift and builds up the inflation factor, there is little hope that savings will increase to any great extent.

Actions of the federal government are not only discouraging savings and investment in the private sector, but are taking an increasing share of all available capital to service the gigantic national debt.

Capital denied the private sector can only hinder growth in the only segment of our society which can increase productivity, jobs and maintain the ability to support the government.

Beef is in short supply because breeding stock was depleted. Government is depleting its only source of revenue in much the same manner. Drying up the source of productivity in the nation will not only starve industry and its workers but in the end will leave government with little, if anything, to tax.

The best possible incentive for thrift and attendant productivity is for a drastic cut-off of government-inspired disincentives. An era of fiscal responsibility coupled with the removal of the cancerous growth of the bureaucracy and its penchant for regulation would lead to economic health of the nation.

It is much too late for anything save major surgery to cure the disease which is devastating our economic health. There is a limit to the amount of government any economy can support.

at wits end

Can you believe it? It's only been a month since I last saw "The Wizard of Oz" on television and already I am having withdrawal symptoms.

I see the Tin Man's face in every oil can, the Yellow Brick Road in my kitchen wax build-up, and the Wicked Witch in every store where I am trying to cash a check with only one ID.

Since "The Wizard of Oz" was filmed in 1939, it has been on television 21 times. Do you know what that means? It means Dorothy's clothes have come back into style six times and are currently "in" again.

I take nothing away from the mystical land of OZ. It is a beautiful children's story that should be seen by generations for years to come.

I am only saying that after nearly a quarter of a century of viewing it, you get a little strange.

The first time I saw the movie, I was beside myself with the horror of the tornado hitting Dorothy's simple farmhouse in Kansas. How I shrieked and screamed in suspense when I saw her little bed turn and spiral toward the unknown.

By the eighth time I had seen it, I was able to ignore Dorothy's screams that the sky is falling in around her and, in fact, left the room to check a cake of yeast in the refrigerator to see if it had expired.

By the 16th time I saw "The Wizard of Oz," I did a curious thing. I actually applauded when the tornado sucked up Toto and yelled to the Wicked Witch, "Go for it!" I don't know why I did that.

My kids have a polite way of putting it. They say I am "over the rainbow," no longer have a childlike faith in goodness, or want to see anything from 1939 that looks better than I do.

That just isn't true. I love the classics and hope they'll be with us for a long time. But somehow, I dread the day when "Gone with the Wind" is being shown for the 97th time and as I watch Melanie writhe in the pain of childbirth while Atlanta is under siege, I yell at the set, "You think you got troubles now, Bunkie, wait until that ride in the buckboard back to Tara!"

I'll know the magic is gone.

LEBANON, N.H. (NEA) —For a clear indication of which candidate has surpassed all others -- Democrats and Republicans alike -- in organizing for the 1980 presidential campaign, glance around the family den in businessman Roger Wood's home here.

Displayed atop the piano in a place of honor is a color photograph of handsome, smiling Rep. Philip M. Crane. "I'm looking forward to working with you over the next two years," says the handwritten inscription. "Warmest regards, Phil."

The memento actually is a mass-produced item, one of thousands of identical copies. But behind it lies the story of a political organization that has far outpaced all others ever since it was created last summer to support the presidential aspiration of the conservative Republican from Illinois.

Late last year, Crane's campaign staff organized a mass mailing aimed at approximately 20,000 influential Republicans, ranging from grass-roots activists and precinct chairmen to offers of county and state GOP committees throughout the nation.

Each recipient was invited to join Crane's "National Advisory Council," a somewhat nebulous insitution whose principal purpose apparently is to act as a reservoir for Crane support. Those who accepted - almost 1,400 to date -- received the inscribed photo as reminder of their commitment.

The significance of that sophisticated operation lies in the fact that it was well underway at a time when most other contenders hadn't even prepared the basic piece of campaign literature, the throwaway pamphlet or leaflet invariably distributed by aides during the candidate's handshaking tours.

While other presidential hopefuls now have assembled paid staffs ranging from a half-dozen to a dozen people, Crane has a campaign payroll of about 30 full-time organizers, most of them working out of a national headquarters in a northern Virginia suburb of Washington.

Crane's first group of field organizers also is already in place -- here in New Hampshire and in other states that will hold early primaries or precinct caucuses, including Iowa, Florida and Illinois.

Crane's 22 trips to New Hampshire far exceeds the total of any other White House aspirant. He recently became the first 1980 contender to purchase television time in the state and in the coming months will be buying time for radio commercials and opening storefront offices here.

That high-powered, fast-paced operation already has produced benefits for the congressman. When he declared his intentions last August, most of the supposedly sophisticated political experts wrote him off as a longshot -- but today he's almost always listed as one of six "serious" contenders for the Republican presidential nomination.

The only other candidate whose organization in New Hampshire approaches Crane's is George Bush. Both clearly are relying upon the formula developed by the man who was a virtual unknown when he began campaigning for the presidency in 1974, won the Democratic presidential nomination in 1976, then went all the way to the White House -- Jimmy Carter.

But politicians, like generals, are notorious for their penchant for fighting the last war -- and the 1980 Republican race clearly is not the 1976 Democratic contest.

Carter faced a field of generally lackluster competitors, a luxury not available to Crane and Bush. Two other contenders for the GOP nomination, Ronald Reagan and John B. Connally, probably are the best "stump speakers" - Republican or Democrat - in American politics today.

On the other hand, organization traditionally has been a crucial element in presidential primaries in New Hampshire, where a relatively small voting population places a high premium on personal contact with the candidates.

There are, of course, other candidates in the Republican race. But it could well develop into a fascinating contest between Crane's and Bush's organization, versus Reagan's and Connally's charisma.

Your Birthday

April 24, 1979

Things that have proven unproductive in the past will finally come to an end for you this coming year. Look forward to making strides in several new beginnings.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Although you will wish to spend time on activities that don't include others today, this might become difficult because of "duties you've neglected. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Associate with friends who are on the go and doing things, but be careful you don't try to impose your will. Go along with the wishes of the majority.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You'll strive for high goals today and do a good job toward achieving them. However, should you err in some manner, don't try to blame anyone else.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You could come up with a clever and fresh approach to something, but it might not be so easy to convince others of your ideas. Do your own thing.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be wary lest you be drawn into a situation with strings attached. You could end up having to make good another's obligation.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's to your interests to listen to the suggestions of your mate or associates today. Don't push too hard to have your way.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Both your physical and mental energies are at a high point today, and this should be very productive. Know, however, when to stop.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll be anxious to do fun things today, and yet large groups could unnerve you. Share your time with a few intimate friends with whom you feel comfortable.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If it gives you enjoyment to whip the house into shape today that's great, but don't know the family just because they don't have the same enthusiasm.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This is an excellent day to catch up on visiting or correspondence, so long as you don't spill the beans about something not meant for another's ears.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You'll be a go-getter in things that tend to benefit you materially or financially today. In your eagerness you could get taken, so be careful.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Set your own pace today. Work toward serving your personal interests. You won't be able to please others, so don't even try.

Anderson Sisters Accepted For GS Wider Opportunities

Sisters Jean Anderson and Margaret Anderson, 600 29th Street, have been accepted by the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. for a Wider Opportunity during the summer of 1979.

Jean will attend Paint the West, July 21-Aug. 3 and Margaret goes to Ho West We Go, July 22-Aug. 4. Both events are at National Center West, Ten Sleep Wyoming. Jean thinks Paint the West will prove an excellent opportunity to develop her talent in painting and drawing. She has taken art lessons for three years and has completed the Challenge of the Arts. She meets the Wider Opportunity requirement of experience in primitive camping and the patrol system developed in troop and camp. A highlight of her event will be a five-day trip to Cody and the Jackson Hole area to visit museums and galleries and to learn from noted Wyoming artists. Local artists will advise the girls whether they choose to work in charcoal, pen and ink, water colors, oil or acrylics. Jean will have opportunities to explore silverwork, pottery, weaving and sculpture and may indulge her interest in photography as an art form.

Margaret Anderson will spend two weeks meeting new friends, exploring National Center West and experiencing a myriad of program activities. Activity areas include backpacking, horseback riding, photography, archeology, geology, fishing and pioneer crafts. Margaret enjoys exploring the out-of-doors in different parts of the country. She is very interested in archeology, is an experienced hiker and enjoys outdoor activities.

The sisters have been to Camp Boothe Oaks three times and both went on a two week canoeing trip. They have troop camped many times, and family camped in state and national parks. Margaret and Jean have been active Girl Scouts since 1972, have worked in 4-H three years, and Girls in Action five years. They belong to Avenue D Baptist Church where they sing in the youth choir. Jean and Margaret are members of the Snyder Junior High band and stage band.

Margaret and Jean are active members of Girl Scout Cadette Troop No. 266 in Snyder. Their leaders are Thelma Deere, Carol Tucker and Teresa Scarber.

Sorority Meets

"Family" was the topic of a program given by Peggy Wilson to members of Lambda Kappa chapter of Beta Sigma Phi on Tuesday evening, April 17, at 7:30 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. Mrs. Wilson opened her program by stating that the family is the most basic unit of society.

However, vast changes have taken place in the family structure during the recent past and these changes in responsibility and roles are continuing to evolve. "What Your Child Is Trying to Tell You," by Paul Ackerman and Murray Kappelman, was recommended to the group. The book points out that parents should always be aware of the effect they are having on the children they are parenting. Members were given an inventory rating their effectiveness as role models for their children.

In the business meeting following Mrs. Wilson's program, 19 members answered roll call. Carolyn Greene, social chairman, reminded members of the annual Founder's Day banquet to be held Saturday, April 28, at the woman's club. The time has been changed to 8 p.m. Mrs. Carolyn Limmer, chapter president, announced that the local chapter will be entering the outstanding chapter award contest at the area convention. Elections for the Founder's Day awards were held by secret ballot.

Hostesses were Bette League and Donna Fowler. The hostess gift was won by Marie Boone. The next meeting will be May 1. Newly elected officers will be installed. Hostesses will be Charlotte Seay and Peggy Wilson.

Oswald: "How would you plan to play today's hand?"

Alan: "If trumps break 2-2 you can just spread the hand since you can draw trumps, discard one of dummy's diamonds on thh king of clubs and ruff your two small diamonds. I suppose trumps will break 3-1."

Oswald: "They do and hearts fail to break 3-3."

Alan: "I would play three rounds of trumps in this event. Then I would play ace-king and a small heart and ruff a heart in my hand. I go back to dummy with the ace of clubs, lead and ruff a fourth heart, cash my ace-king of diamonds and king of clubs for that diamond discard, ruff one diamond and discard the other on the fifth heart."

Oswald: "You have made the grand slam. Your play would also have won in the event of a 5-1 heart break if the diamonds had broken 3-3 since you would have been able to establish your fourth diamond."

Yes, we would. We are taking a chance, but one can't get anywhere waiting for sure things.

Vote Count In Rhodesia Underway

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP)-With foreign observers and journalists watching over their shoulders, about 80 election officials today began counting nearly 2 million votes cast last week in Rhodesia's first black-majority election.

Military commanders said they were preparing for an increase in attacks by the black nationalist guerrillas who failed to fulfill their vow to wreck the elections.

First results from the five-day election, the first in which the nation's black majority voted, were expected Tuesday, with the winning party to be known by Wednesday.

Burglary Reported

A residential burglary, a criminal mischief, and a minor traffic accident were investigated Sunday by city police.

The house burglary was reported by Vernon Rannefeld 4507 Denison, who told officers someone entered his home between 9 a.m. Saturday and 7 p.m. Sunday and removed a stereo, two speakers, and two cameras.

The criminal mischief was reported by David Fulford, 2608 Ave. J, who told police someone punctured tires on two vehicles he owns, a 1966 Chevrolet pickup and a 1968 Ford.

The only mishap of the weekend took place at 11:14 a.m. Sunday in the 2700 block of Ave. W. There, reports show, a 1974 AMC Matador driven by Johnny Herman Terry was in collision with a 1978 Lincoln driven by Norma Thompson Franks.

Firemen Called

A junk car fire was doused by city firefighters Sunday at 5 p.m.

Reports show the fire occurred on the Old Lubbock Highway.

Identification Is Corrected

One of the pupils in a picture of those participating in a play at East Elementary School, published in Sunday's issue of the Snyder Daily News, was incorrectly identified. The pupil listed as Melissa Walker should have been identified as Melissa Elam.

Senior Parents Meet Tuesday

The parents of seniors will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. Graduation activities will be discussed and committees organized.

OBITUARIES

Witherspoon

Services were held Sunday in Roscoe for Rebecca Witherspoon, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Witherspoon of Lubbock. Bell-Seale Funeral home directed the graveside ceremony.

She is survived by her parents, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Reed of Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. Don Witherspoon of Roscoe and great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Rogers of Lubbock, Mrs. T.A. Singleton of Roscoe and Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Witherspoon of Roscoe.

Nobles Rites

Funeral service was set for 2 p.m. today at the Faith Baptist Church for Mrs. Mary Ellen Nobles, 75, who died Saturday.

The Rev. Buck Hatfield was to officiate at the funeral service and burial was to be in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Facts Needed To End Illegal Alien Talks

By JOHN D. HOPKINS
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP)-Several months of fact-finding will be necessary before a presidential commission can conclude talks with Mexico about the wave of Mexican immigrants illegally entering the United States, says the chairman, former Florida Gov. Reubin Askew.

"Almost everybody agrees there is a lack of reliable information about how many people are crossing the border and how long they stay," Askew said Sunday after returning from Mexico City.

U.S. Immigration officials have said there are four million to eight million illegal immigrants living in the United States, a large percentage of them Mexicans.

Askew met last week with President Jose Lopez Portillo and other high Mexican officials, with whom he said he "opened channels of communication" in preparation for talks later this year. He called the meeting "very useful."

He said he expects the Commission on Immigration and Refugee Policy will be able to use data being gathered by Mexico's secretary of labor, once that comes out this summer. Then, he said, the two country's representatives can try to "agree what is needed and how to get it."

Askew noted, however, that his commission's scope is broader than the Mexican question.

"We are to review all the immigration policies and laws of the United States," he said.

President Jimmy Carter named the commission after his three-day visit with Lopez Portillo in February. At the conclusion of their meeting, the two presidents called for the creation of special commissions that would report before the chiefs meet in Washington later this year.

The okapi, which looks like a cross between a horse and a zebra, is actually related to the giraffe.

Morningside Baptist Sets Spring Revival

A spring revival at the Morningside Baptist Church, 119 36th Street, will begin Wednesday and continue through Sunday. Services begin at 7:30 p.m. each week night.

Bob Hendley of Eustace, Texas, who is Director of Children's Outreach Ministries, with his wooden sidekick, Amos Matthews, will be leading in this spring revival.

The Children's Outreach Ministries is a national evangelistic organization designed to focus attention upon the spiritual needs of young people. It is also becoming an international organization due to the fact that the director will be conducting a fall campaign in Bolivia this year.

Bob Hendley, known as "Uncle Bob" with his Dummy" Amos Matthews, will be featuring Ventriloquism and magic for Jesus in each service during this revival.

Freshman Wins Girls 100-Yard Dash

Brown Speeds To State Berth

ODESSA -- Freshman Pam Brown of Snyder High School surprised the class AAA girls regional field here Saturday as she raced through the 100-yard dash in 11.46 to grab a blue ribbon and a berth to the state meet May 4-5 in Austin.

With Brown's help, and a fourth-place finish in the 80-yard hurdles by Sarah Fagin, Snyder tied for 11th place with Burkburnett here, each having 14 points.

Brown, who ran an 11.41 to win the 100 in the District 3-3A meet two weeks ago, had the fourth-best time in her event coming into regionals.

Odessa Ector, as expected, dominated the meet with 96 points. Ector took firsts in the 440 and 880 relays, and in the discus and shot put.

San Angelo Lake View's Rhonda Herndon aided the Maidens in a fourth place finish. Herndon won the 220 dash with a time of 26.21 and grabbed another blue ribbon in the triple jump with a leap of 35-6¼.

Others who qualified from District 3-3A included Tina Lopez of Sweetwater in the 880 dash and Sherron Johnson of Lamesa in the high jump.

Fagin ran the 80 hurdles in a time of 11.23. Eunice Young of Dunbar was another surprise finish in the meet, winning the hurdles with a time of 11.05.

Snyder scratched in the 880 relay, took sixth in the sprint relay and finished eighth in the 1600 relay.

Two Make All-District Team

Tigers Second In 3-3A Golf

BROWNFIELD--Snyder High School trimmed three strokes off of the Lamesa Tornado lead here Saturday but couldn't quite eek out another one for the District 3-3A golf crown.

Snyder's Lance McMillan and Randy Chambers were named to the All-District Team.

The Tigers fired a 331 for a season total of 1,317, but Lamesa's 334 was good enough to hold them off and win the loop total with a 1,316.

As runner-up in the conference, Snyder will join Lamesa in representing 3-AAA at the regional tournament April 25-26 in Odessa.

Bobby Knox of Brownfield, several strokes back just two district matches ago, sizzled the course with a low of 76 to boost his overall score and win loop medalist honors.

Sweetwater II actually won the fourth and final district match here, carding a 323. Brownfield I was second with a 329 and Sweetwater I took third with a 330, leaving Snyder and Lamesa in fourth and fifth spots.

But only Snyder, Lamesa and Brownfield were still in the district championship race after the third loop tournament. Lamesa led in total points by four strokes, while second place Snyder was five ahead of the Cubs.

Individually for Snyder I, Chambers scored an 80, followed by McMillan at 81, Randy Wolf and Kip Wadleigh at 85 each and Mike Wolf at 90. For Snyder II, Devin Donelson scored 80, Kris Seale had an 89, Joe Lee carded a 92 and Greg Hinton and Jim Zoda had 99 each.

Snyder singles included Barry Blackmon 81, Mike Winner 100 and Steve Neeley 101.

The regional tournament in Odessa will be held at Golden Acres Country Club.

Final 3-3A Tournament

1. Sweetwater II, 323; 2. Brownfield I, 329; 3. Sweetwater I, 330; 4. Snyder I, 331; 5. Lamesa I, 334; 6. Lamesa II, 352; 7. Snyder II, 360; 8. Brownfield H, 375.

Final District Standings

1. Lamesa I, 1316; 2. Snyder I, 1317; 3. Brownfield I, 1320; 4. Sweetwater II, 1331; 5. Sweetwater I, 1333; 6. Lamesa II, 1452; 7. Snyder II, 1489; 8. Brownfield II, 1520.

District 3-3A Champion: Lamesa I. Runner-up: Snyder I (both champion and runner-up advance to regional play April 25-26 in Odessa).

Calumet Farm's Triple Crown winner of 1948, Citation, was the first racehorse to earn $1 million.

Former Manager Speaks To FCA Banquet Crowd

By JOHN LONG

Sports and Christianity are not incompatible, declared Alvin Dark, a former major league baseball star and World Series player turned team manager.

"I'm not an evangelist, I'm not a preacher," said Dark, "I'm an athlete who finally got his life straightened out." By having his life straightened out, Dark means he became a Christian.

Dark was the keynote speaker at a Fellowship of Christian Athletes banquet Saturday night. The banquet was held at The Shack restaurant and was attended by approximately 70 persons.

Dark, 57, said he was saved at the age of 11, but that he did not come to accept Christ as his personal savior until 1971 when he was experiencing a low point in his career.

The Oklahoma native signed a major league contract with the Boston Braves following his graduation from Louisiana State University. He was subsequently traded to the New York Giants and played in two World Series for them. He was named All-Star Shortstop in the National League several times.

Following a 14-year career as a player, Dark signed his first contract as a major league manager in 1961 with the Giants who had been moved from New York to San Francisco. Later, Dark managed teams in Kansas City, Cleveland, San Diego, and Oakland. Twice, teams he managed went to the World Series.

Dark claimed his career has been marked by a series of highs and lows. Three times, he said, he was fired from his role as a manager. It was during one such low point in his career that he came to accept Christ.

"My wife and I have found," he said, "that when we were in these valleys we grew the most spiritually."

It was in 1971 that he was fired from managing the Cleveland Indians. His wife began attending a women's Bible study class, and persuaded him to attend. He did and became a Christian, he said.

He claimed his story is not dissimilar to that of other baseball stars. "They're finding out more and more they need Christ," he said of his colleagues in baseball.

Now retired, Dark said he is spending most of his time spreading "the Word," a message he did not come to accept until he was middleaged.

Asked if he ever regretted making his commitment to Christ, Dark replied: "Never. Never once. I've never seen a Christian who regretted making the decision."

"Until a person applies it (the Bible and religion) to his own life, he has no real spiritual growth," said Dark.

Dark was also a featured speaker at the First Baptist Church of Snyder Sunday morning.

Westerners Trio All-Conference

Midland Grabs WJC Title

Midland College, aided by the leading all-conference selection, drilled a 294 to capture the sixth and final Western Junior College Athletic Conference Tournament here Saturday. Along with it came the WJCAC championship.

Midland's finish here helped account for a 28 total points in the standings, while New Mexico Junior College and Odessa College - which both shot 297's - tied for second with 27 points.

Western Texas College, which placed three on the all-conference team, also came in a 297, and ended up fourth in the conference race with 26 points.

"We lost the conference championship by four shots and by one shot finishing in second place," mused Coach Bob O'Day of the closest WJCAC race in years. It also ended a three-year string of WTC domination in the conference.

"We played the front side bad, 14 over par. WTC played well on the back side but just didn't make up enough. We probably were trying too hard the first few holes and shot too many bogies and double bogies and did not play smart golf."

The Westerners, led by Billy Sitton's 73, carded a 154 over the first nine holes and a 143 on the final nine.

Tim O'Conner led Midland College and took tournament medalist honors with a 70. O'Conner also grabbed the top all-conference spot with a 70.7 average.

NMJC's Ronnie Black was runner-up with a 71. Black tied with WTC's Britt Lindsey in the overall conference standings with a 72.7.

Others making all-conference from WTC were Sitton with a 73.0 average (fifth) and Mike Waller, with a 75.0 average (ninth).

The top four WJCAC teams, WTC, Midland, Odessa, and NMJC, will advance to the regional tournament April 30-May 1 at Waco's Lake Waco Country Club. The group will vie with schools from Region 14, playing 36 holes on Monday and 18 Tuesday:

First and second place teams, and the medalist, emerging from the regional tournament will qualify for the nationals. WTC has sent a team or individual to the nationals every year in the college's golf program.

6th WJCAC Tournament

1. Midland, 294; 2. (tie) WTC, Odessa College and NMJC, 297; 5. NMMI, 321; 6. Frank Phillips 323.

WTC Team: Billy Sitton 73, Mike Waller 74, Greg Reynolds and Britt Lindsey 75, Don Cofer 77. Individual: Don Cofer 77.

WJCAC Final Standings

1. Midland College, 28 points; 2. (tie) NMJC and Odessa College, 27 points; 4. WTC, 26 points; 5. NMMI, 10 points; 6. Frank Phillips, 8 points.

Medalist: Tom O'Conner, Midland College, 72.7 (average); 2. Greg Westherred, Odessa, 72.5; 3. (tie) Britt Lindsey, WTC, and Ronnie Black, NMJC, 72.7; 5. Billy Sitton, WTC, 73.0; 9. Mike Waller, WTC, 75.0.

Regional Tournament

Midland, NMJC, Odessa, WTC qualified for regional tournament April 30-May 1 at Waco.

Rangers Fall To Yanks; Astros Take 12th Win

NEW YORK (AP)-It was a scene the New York fans had been anticipating. Sparky Lyle with his poison pen and wicked slider facing the good guys in the pinstripes, especially Reggie Jackson and Graig Nettles.

The roar began as Lyle climbed into the bullpen car beyond the center field fence in the seventh inning. It grew as he stepped out onto the grass behind shortstop and the Bronx cheers reached a peak when his name was announced as the fourth pitcher...for the Texas Rangers.

Unfortunately, the game was not a heart-breaker. The Yankees led 4-1 on Bucky Dent's two-run single in the second inning and Graig Nettles' two-run homer in the third en route to a 5-1 victory. Ron Guidry rarely blows that kind of a lead.

Astros 3, Pirates 2

Houston pitcher Joe Niekro isn't surprised the Astros are off to their best start in the club's 18 year history.

"I think we believed in ourselves when we left spring training," said Niekro, who combined with Joaquin Andujar and Joe Sambito on a four-hitter in the Astros' 3-2 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday.

"We knew we had a pretty good club. We just had to go out there and prove it."

Tim Foli's eighth-inning error allowed Craig Reynolds to score from second base, snapping a 2-2 tie and sending Houston to its seventh victory in its last eight games.

The fielding miscue marked the third straight game the Pirates had lost as a result of a late-inning mistake.

"When you're playing well and you've got a good team, it's easier to take advantage of those mistakes," said Houston Manager Bill Virdon, whose club has won 12 of its first 16 games.

"I've seen teams go on longer streaks than this, but this is the first time something like this has happened in the 3½ years I've been here," Virdon said.

Reynolds collected his second double of the game with one out in the eighth off losing pitcher John Candelaria, 0-1. After Cesar Cedeno was intentionally walked, Bob Watson grounded to Foli, who let the ball roll up his arm into shallow left field.

Cedeno's first-inning sacrifice fly and Watson's run-scoring double in the sixth accounted for Houston's other two runs as the Pirates dropped their sixth straight game.

Snyder Rides Tornado To Round-One Crown

BROWNFIELD--It was just few days ago that Snyder Coach Albert Lewis was upset over losing to the Lamesa Tornados. Now he can thank them.

The Tors officially concluded round-one of the District 3-3A baseball race by defeating Brownfield 8-4 here Saturday, and the act crowned Snyder as champions of the first half of loop play.

"You hate to back into it like this, but it doesn't mean I'm not pleased," commented Coach Lewis this morning. "What it means is that for sure Snyder is in the district playoffs, and that's good, because it (the race) is going to get tougher this next round."

Snyder held a 4-0 record early last week and needed only one more victory to sew up the title. But injuries and fate called for the Tigers to lose both remaining games and finish 4-2. Brownfield defeated the Cats 13-4 Friday to go 3-2 for the loop, and a win over Lamesa would have made them co-champions with Snyder.

But Armando Morales (2-2) pitched past the hopeful Cubs to dispel those ideas, leaving Snyder as the first-round champ. Brownfield finished at 3-3, while Lamesa - notching back-to-back victories in its last two games - went 2-4.

Snyder begins second round play 4:30 Tuesday in Brownfield.

Vaughn Picked MVP In All-Star Contest

WACO--Western Texas College star Nodia Vaughn was named the Region V Most Valuable Player following the Texas Junior College Women's Basketball All-Star Game here Saturday.

Vaughn, a 5-7 second team All-American, hit six for eight from the field and grabbed two steals as the Region V All-Stars defeated the Region 14 team 79-71.

"She played a great game," commented Duster Coach Joe Cushing, who took a turn watching from the stands. "She and Tammy Crafton (of Amarillo) were really impressive."

In the men's game, Region 14 defeated the WTC Nolan Richardson coached Region V group 97-89. In that game, Westerners Joe Mendoza (2 points) and Dwight Williams (4 points), "played very well," according to Cushing.

Curtis Phauls of San Jacinto, who burned the hoop for 23 points, was the men's Region 14 MVP. Lewis Lloyd of New Mexico Military Institute scored 29 points and was the most valuable player for Region V. New Mexico Junior College star Rod Camp scored 21 points and was a close second.

Janice Mulford of Tyler scored 34 points and was named the women's Region 14 MVP.

Richardson Chosen Texas JC Cage Coach Once Again

NOLAN RICHARDSON
Texas JC Coach of the Year

WACO--Western Texas College Coach Nolan Richardson was voted Texas Junior College Basketball Coach of the Year by the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches (TABC) here Sunday.

Richardson, who guided his Westerners to conference and regional championships in 1978 and 79, was also awarded the honor last year.

"It's a great thrill to be chosen Texas Junior College Coach twice in a row now," Richardson commented. "I only wish I had good news about the all-star team."

In conjunction with the TABC clinic, men's and women's all-star games were held. Richardson's Region V stars were defeated 97-89 by the Region 14 team.

"But our players (Joe Mendoza and Dwight Williams of WTC) played super basketball. I was very proud of them," he added.

In the women's game, WTC Duster Nodia Vaughn was selected Most Valuable Player of Region V.

In addition to the award presented Richardson, others included Lamar University's Billy Tubbs as Senior College Coach of the Year; and Tyler's Herb Richardson as the Women's Junior College Coach of the Year.

DR. McBRIDE

McBride To Head TIPAA For 1979-81

Dr. Mike McBride, associate professor of journalism at Western Texas College, was elected president of the Texas Intercollegiate Press Advisors Association for 1979-81. He was named during the annual Texas Intercollegiate Press Association spring convention last week in El Paso.

Other officers elected are Diane Turner, Tarrant Co. Junior College South of Ft. Worth, vice-president, and Joe L. Norton, Tarrant Co. Junior College Northeast of Hurst, secretary.

As president, he is in charge of the annual fall TIPAA business meeting, tentatively to be held in Snyder for the first time. Also, he will preside for two years, including next year's spring TIPAA business meeting held in conjunction with the TIPA convention in Beaumont.

Dr. McBride has served two years as vice-president of TIPAA, state director and newsletter chairman of the National Council of College Publication Advisers, and publicity chairman of the Texas Junior College Journalism Association.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Frustrated wife

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I need help in understanding a sexual problem that exists between my husband and myself. It might even save our marriage if I could gain a little insight. At present I'm contemplating either an affair with a long-time friend or a divorce or both.

My husband is 64 and I'm in my early 60s. For the last 20 years there's been a decreasing ability to function sexually on his part and now no attempt at all is made. I've tried to be understanding but most of the time I just end up frustrated.

He won't see a physician. He is a heavy drinker and smokes two to three packs of cigarettes a day. I've tried to get him to give up these habits and told him that he would live longer and more pleasurably so we could enjoy our lives together but nothing works.

I can only conclude that he enjoys things the way they are which is to go to work, come home, start drinking and stagger off to bed. This means no home life for either of us and surely a shortened life span for him. What is a woman supposed to do in circumstances such as these?

DEAR READER — You're right about the effect on his life span. If he drinks as much as you say and smokes as much as you say, at 64 years of age he may not be around much longer to provide any form of companionship.

The excessive use of alcohol can significantly impair a man's sexual capacity. Alcohol doesn't make men better lovers. It usually decreases their objectivity so they don't realize how bad they are. People who drink often think they drive better under the influence when, in fact, they're traffic hazards. Or they may think they do a dozen other things better. All of this is illusion. Tests have shown that most people under the influence of alcohol turn in substandard performances in almost all areas, including the sexual area.

When a couple is caught in a problem and only one of them is interested in doing something about it, that one should probably go to a physician and possibly see a psychiatrist or family counselor. By direct discussion it may be possible to work out a solution that will help in that specific situation.

You might look in the yellow pages of your telephone directory for alcoholism and see what organizations or facilities are available in your community and talk to them about your husband's problem. In a number of instances, the victim has great difficulty helping himself and many organizations can be very helpful to the other spouse caught in such a situation.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 3-12, Impotence, to give you general information on this problem since it's the primary concern to you. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Just keep in mind that impotence is a symptom. It can be caused by hormonal factors, alcoholism, neurological factors such as complications of diabetes, circulatory disorders and, of course, psychological factors. A good evaluation by a professional is often necessary to understand what's really going on.

Vacation Plans Should Include Home Security

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Millions of Americans are starting to plan for summer vacations, but if their planning doesn't include protection against burglars they could be in for trouble when they return home.

An empty house is a target for thieves and experts in government, in the insurance industry and in the field of home protection advise consumers to take steps to minimize the dangers.

"The most effective deterrents are simple and inexpensive, but they're often neglected," according to State Farm Insurance Cos.

Some people turn to house-sitters for protection, but letting someone else live in your home is not always a good idea. It is often wiser just to try to make it appear that the house is occupied.

Most experts advise you to stop all deliveries of mail, milk, newspapers, etc. A home safety guide from Action for Independent Maturity, a division of the American Association of Retired Persons, warns, however, that "burglars have tipsters everywhere." If you don't want to let strangers know you're away and still want to prevent things from pilling up on your doorstep, ask a neighbor to collect and hold all deliveries.

If you are going to be gone for a long time, make arrangements to have the grass cut and the shrubs trimmed. Again, try to use someone you know and trust rather than a stranger.

Do not draw all the drapes and curtains. That's usually a sure sign the house is empty. Leave some open and some closed. If possible, give a neighbor a key and ask him or her to change the arrangements periodically.

Buy and install at least one electric timer to switch lights on and off automatically. Similar timers can be attached to radio and television sets. Test timers before you leave to make sure they work.

Her Step-Children Need Stepping On

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I married George — a sweet, generous man with five grown children, all married with families of their own. My complaint: George and I have spent only six weeks alone since our marriage!

Whenever one of George's children considers a divorce, loses a job, or wants to save for a vacation, he (or she) and their kids move in with their father and me. We have to clean up after them, watch their kids and treat them like guests. I am sick of kids living with us for weeks and sometimes months at a time!

We have a large home, but we're far from rich, and when they're here our grocery bills are sky high. They've yet to contribute one dime.

George and I get along fine until the kids move in, then we argue all the time.

I love George, but if these free-loaders don't leave us alone, I'm leaving him. Any advice?

HAD IT

DEAR HAD IT: It's obvious that George is a soft touch for his kids, so don't YOU be the heavy. (Let George do it.) Tell him that you are through being a pigeon for a flock of homing pigeons. Then prepare to (a) live with the ills you know or (B) fly to others you know not of.

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago you had a letter from someone who said the minute he opened his newspaper his nose started to run, his eyes watered and itched, and he went into a sneezing fit. You said he was probably allergic to the ink in the newspaper. You were right.

Years ago my son was being treated by one of the most highly regarded allergists in the country. After many tests it was discovered that he was allergic to newsprint. The doctor advised him to dry out the newspaper thoroughly in a warm (200 degree) oven before reading it. My son followed the advice, and it worked!

CHELMSFORD, MASS.

DEAR CHELMSFORD: Thanks for the tip. And if any of you readers out there try it, let this serve as a warning. DO NOT overheat the newspaper. It contains highly flammable material!

DEAR ABBY: I recently learned that my husband's grandmother was very much offended by the letter I wrote thanking her for her wedding gift. It seems that everyone in the family calls her "Nanna" but not being aware of this, I addressed her as "Mrs. Brown" in the salutation, and again in the body of the letter.

Abby, she never asked ME to call her "Nanna." In fact, I don't recall that she ever asked me to call her anything.

Quite frankly, since I have seen her only a few times, I thought the formal "Mrs. Brown" would be more appropriate — and anything more familiar would be a bit presumptuous.

Why can't people accept a thank-you letter and appreciate its sincerity and promptness without trying to find something wrong with it?

BUGGED IN MESA, ARIZ.

DEAR BUGGED: Some can. But not Nanna.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MARY L. IN LA JOLLA: Anyone who maintains that he's too old for "love stuff" either is or may as well be.

Have a question or comment for Abby? Address: Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Flood Fatalities Rise To Seven

By The Associated Press

Two persons, including a 4-year-old boy, drowned in Southeast Texas Sunday where swirling flood waters swamped wide areas of five counties hard hit by recent torrential rains.

Little Joel O. Cantu died Sunday afternoon at a Houston hospital after he was pulled from a rain-filled, unfinished swimming pool by his father, Fort Bend County authorities said.

Officers said the boy was peering over the edge of the pool when he slipped and fell.

A Porter man, Donald Edwin Brigham, 40, drowned Sunday when he fell out of a boat into the swirling waters of the flooding San Jacinto River. The body was recovered Sunday afternoon.

The deaths brought to seven the number of weather-related fatalities since torrential rains began four days ago in South and Southeast Texas.

Three persons drowned in San Antonio Saturday when the car they were riding in was swept into a flood-swollen river. Two youths were killed in Houston. One was struck by a car Thursday as he was directing traffic in a flooded street, and the other victim was swept over a spillway into a flooded bayou Friday.

Many Southeast Texas residents filled sand bags and manned pumps Sunday in a last-ditch effort to protect their homes from the rising water in Liberty, Jefferson and Chambers counties.

Although the crests had passed, high water still plagued residents in Fort Bend County, Montgomery County and parts of Harris County.

The Neches River, already bursting at the seams from 12 inches of rain since Wednesday, rose as much as eight feet past flood stage Sunday in areas between Beaumont and Kountze in Hardin County.

The National Weather Service also warned that additional major flooding is likely in areas not flooded since 1917.

Water levels held steady around Conroe in Montgomery County, but southeast of the Sam Houston National Forest, the San Jacinto River continued to rise between Cleveland and Liberty. The weather service predicted it would crest three to four feet above flood stage Monday and stand through Tuesday.

Burt Bratcher of Montgomery County Civil Defense placed flood damage estimates at $100 million for Harris County and $50 to $70 million for Conroe, 50 miles north of Houston.

Almost all Houston area residents who scurried from their homes earlier in the week have returned, except in the areas just north and just south of Lake Houston in northeast Harris County, said Harris County deputy G.E. Moore.

Basin's Rig Count Drops

Drilling activity in Permian Basin oil fields decreased slightly last week, according to Reed Rock Bit Company's weekly survey.

The count last week totaled 222, compared to 224 the previous week. Lea County, N.M., was the leader with 30 rigs running. Ward County was the West Texas leader with 15.

Scurry County had three rigs in operation last week, a decrease of one. Figures for other area counties, with last week and the week before, in order: Borden 1 and 3; Dawson 2 and 2; Garza 3 and 2; Howard 6 and 7; Kent 1 and 1; Mitchell 2 and 2.

Red River's Water Still Spreading

By The Associated Press

Police loudspeakers pleading for volunteers to help shore up dikes along the flooding Red River roused residents in East Grand Forks, Minn., today, while the Pearl River continued spreading through residential areas in south Mississippi.

Persistent rains continued to fall in both river valleys.

The Red River swelled to 48.8 feet, 28.8 feet above flood stage, at East Grand Forks and was still rising.

While more than 5,000 volunteers were reinforcing 4,000 feet of dikes, police moved through the streets calling for more help.

At Columbia, Miss., where half the town's 7,500 residents already had fled, the Pearl River dropped about a foot, but heavy rains throughout the area - more than 2 inches since Sunday morning - brought fears it would rise again.

Angela Davis Says Times Not Changing

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)-Black activist Angela Davis says "the times they aren't a changin" at least as far as racism is concerned.

"Racism is worse in this country now than it was 10 years ago, and we have to keep on fighting," she said at a rally here.

She said blacks have been hurt by an assault on affirmative action programs, noting the U.S. Supreme Court decision in the Bakke case.

In that case, the court ordered the University of California to admit Allan Bakke to medical school.

IN CONTESTS--These Snyder Junior High Choir members earned high ratings in contests at Abilene. The girls choir rated Division I in sight reading and Division III in concert, while the boys choir rated Division I in concert and Division II in sight reading. On the first row, from left, are Rosemary Rios, Mark Lyon, Ramona Murphy and Cecelia Costillo; second row, Dawn Waller, Belia Rocha, Didi Huddleston, Carla Harper, Belinda Loveall; third row, Mike Williams and Robert Rodriquez; fourth row, Casey Peterson, Curtis Gafford, Ken Kitching, Calvin Wimmer and Don Johnson. Center Of Democratic Study May Be Moving

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)-The Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions sits on a serene hillside where in earlier days a good thought could spread its wings, float lazily toward the blue Pacific or gently meander among the eucaluptus trees.

But bad times have brought the harsh outside world so close to the edge of the scholarly center that its sponsors are thinking of boarding up the white stucco mansion and leaving town.

There are only seven full-time employees - once there were about 60 - and 30 of its 42 acres have been sold to pay the bills. The banging of hammers and the buzzing of saws - new homes going up all around - make it hard to think in peace.

The prospect of selling the other 12 choice acres for at least $1 million is tempting.

Maurice Mitchell, the center's president, said the center may sell its land and become associated with the local branch of the University of California.

"The center will either be associated with an institution like UCSB a year from today or it will be gone from Santa Barbara," Mitchell said. And he adds, "The center will not close."

Other possibilities are joining the small prestigious St. John's College of Santa Fe, N.M., or going to New York City.

"We could go to St. John's this afternoon if we wanted," Mitchell said in a recent interview. "If I had to pick a place right now and go by tomorrow, I'd go to New York. It's where the people are, the money is, the action is... We have been invited to come to New York by some interesting people and groups."

Mitchell went to New York to talk to St. John's representative and others last week. Afterwards he said, "The center has made no final decision. No formal arrangements have been made with any institution."

The center was formed 20 years ago by famed educator Robert M. Hutchins to ponder great social issues. Hutchins gathered a brain trust from various universities and spent $26 million over the next 16 years, producing books, transcripts of intellectual discussions and reports.

But the peak membership of 100,000 supporters, who paid $15 a year, has dwindled to about 25,000. Hutchins died in 1977.

Mitchell says the trimmed-down "center's economic situation is better today than it was a year ago...I think I've got the place streamlined now so it's got a very real and honest economic base and it can function.

Money madness

By Karen Blaker, Ph.D.

More than half the families in the United States now take home two paychecks. That is "one of the major economic phenomena of the 1970s," according to Money magazine.

This trend has evidently changed the way the American family makes financial decisions.

The Investment Company Institute, for example, finds that 75 percent of American working wives say they play an equal role with their husbands in making decisions on savings and investing. Another 15 percent say they — not their husbands — make these decisions. Only 8 percent say their husbands are the primary financial decision makers.

Of course, these figures don't tell the whole story. They don't reflect the struggles in many homes for financial decision-making power.

In this hot-line call, a husband asks for advice about how to handle his wife, who seems hysterical over a money matter. (Personal information in all hot-line excerpts has been changed to protect the caller's confidentiality.)

MR. H: Send me an ambulance. My wife needs to be committed to a mental hospital.

COUNSELOR: What's going on?

MR. H: She is screaming and yelling because I took the kids out to dinner again. Don't you think that's crazy? She is really overreacting, don't you think?

COUNSELOR: Can I talk to her?

MR. H: Maybe you're crazy, too. She couldn't talk to anyone now. She's too upset. Wait a minute; I'll ask her. ...Just like I said, she won't talk. And, boy, is she mad.

COUNSELOR: What did you say to her?

MR. H: I told her she'd better get on this phone if she wanted to stay married. And she said she wasn't going to air her dirty linen with any stranger. That's probably her way of admitting she is wrong.

COUNSELOR: About what?

MR. H: It all started when she left a casserole in the refrigerator for us. She's in charge of the food budget and is always trying to cut corners. I didn't feel like eating that and took the kids out to dinner.

COUNSELOR: Are the meals out included in her food budget?

MR. H: Yes.

COUNSELOR: Then you can see that she might be angry about a bigger issue than just going to a restaurant.

MR. H: I guess so. I probably make it hard for her to stay within her budget.

COUNSELOR: From her point of view, that could be pretty frustrating.

MR. H: Well, it wouldn't be a problem if she would stay home in the evenings. She has a terribly demanding job. I'm sure it puts a strain on her. No wonder she is so short-tempered. I wish we could go back to the old days.

COUNSELOR: When she was always home and had the food on the table?

MR. H: Yes, that was nice. Her job is causing lots of conflicts around here. She always used to let me make all the money decisions. I guess she feels that she is making a salary now and should have something to say about how it's spent. It makes for a lot of confusion.

COUNSELOR: Old patterns are hard to change, but that doesn't necessarily mean that the old way was the best.

MR. H: That's true. She is a more interesting person to be around.

COUNSELOR: Have you two really talked about this problem?

MR. H: No. Wait a minute ... She wants to talk to you now. She seems pretty calm.

When the wife got on the phone, she expressed feeling over-burdened with the pressures of cleaning house, washing clothes and handling the food budget on top of a full-time outside job. She felt a redistribution of the housework around the house would help the escalating resentment that had led to her blow-up that evening.
