Search For Missing Pilot; Another Dies

(AP WIREPHOTO)

CRASH SITE — Capt. Donald Jack Plumb, 45, Windsor, Ont., Canada was killed Wednesday when his single engine P-51 World War II fighter plane crashed into rolling, mesquite-covered ranch country near Carlsbad, Tex. enroute to San Angelo. A search began this morning for a companion pilot flying a similar plane, who is missing. Both pilots were on a flight from Big Spring to San Angelo. On the left is Plumb's flight jacket, hanging in a tree and on the right, a Justice of the Peace and Air Force Officials look over a parachute which was near the body.

Civil Air Patrol planes, along with volunteers flying private planes, began searching an area between Big Spring, Abilene and San Angelo for a privately owned P-51 World War II fighter plane, missing since Wednesday afternoon on a flight from Big Spring to San Angelo.

The plane was the second of four World War II planes that did not reach its destination Wednesday. Earlier in the day, another P-51 crashed near San Angelo, killing its pilot, Capt. Donald J. Plumb, Windsor, Ont., Canada.

LEAD CHECKED

Missing is Johnny Bolton, Maitland, Fla., who has a firm that specializes in restoring World War II vintage planes.

Federal Aviation Authorities in Albuquerque said today that the search was being coordinated by a special rescue unit of the U.S. Air Force from Richards-Gebaur AFB near Kansas City, Mo. A CAP unit from Midland was also involved in the search.

Two leads were checked out this morning, including a report of a grass fire near Brady Wednesday night. It was thought that the fire might have been ignited from a flaming plane. However, this lead proved false.

A rancher from near Winters told the CAP that he heard a plane pass over at the time of the turbulent weather Wednesday. Part of the search had moved to Winters and Robert Lee area.

VISITED RANCHER

The four planes had been at the Edwards Ranch about 14 miles south of Big Spring since Monday where the pilots had been guests of Connie Edwards, also a vintage aircraft devotee.

The group had participated in a Confederate Air Force Air Show near Harlingen, Texas. the CAF is a private group devoted to the preservation of World War II military aircraft.

One of the group of planes, piloted by Jim Lewer, Ocala, Fla., landed safely at San Angelo and another, piloted by Robbie Roberts, Maitland, Fla., landed at Brady.

CRASH KILLS

Capt. Plumb's plane crashed a few miles northwest of San Angelo. Witnesses said his plane came down at a sharp angle and hit the ground, digging out a crater about two feet deep. His flight jacket was found a short distance away, hanging from a tree. Pieces of the aircraft were found a quarter mile away from the scene of the crash.

The crash site is only 75 yards from the home of Ben C. McMillin and his family, near Carlsbad, Tex.

Most of the pilot's body was found near his still-folded parachute about 200 yards from the point of impact.

SEARCH

Rescue efforts began at 8 a.m. this morning as CAP mission coordinator Eldon Moody, Lamesa, arrived. Aircraft from Abilene, Seminole and Big Spring are expected to join in the search.

Sheriff's officers, Department of Public Safety officials and private aircraft in the area are expected to help in the search.

Webb Air Force Base had no official request to help in the search, although any of their pilots who notices a downed aircraft will radio in the information.

Planes are now required by the Federal Aviation Authority to have a beacon which is activated at a crash with the Civil Air Patrol having homing devices to seek out the beacon.

However, the pilot may not have had time to activate the beacon, or the plane could even be down in Lake Spence, in the area between Carlsbad, Tex., where one plane crashed and Brady, where another landed.

Edwards: 'It's Hard For Me To Believe'

By MARJ CARPENTER

Big Spring rancher and vintage aircraft devotee Connie Edwards left this morning in a private plane with his brother, Bill, to search for the missing P-51 pilot, lost on a flight from Edwards' ranch to San Angelo.

They picked up one of the four pilots who were flying in formation at Brady, where he landed safely Wednesday afternoon. Robbie Roberts, Maitland, Fla., joined the Edwards brothers in searching for Johnny Bolton, also of Maitland.

Another pilot, Capt. Donald J. Plumb, Windsor, Ont., Canada, was killed when his plane crashed near San Angelo, while the fourth pilot, Jim Lewer, landed his plane safely at San Angelo.

"I will not concede that he, too, is dead," Edwards stated here this morning. "There are a lot of remote areas around Bronte and Brady that it might take hours to walk out of. I hope he belly landed."

Edwards said that Capt. Plumb, who was killed, was "one of the most experienced P-51 pilots in the world. He probably had 100 hours with a P-51 just this year.

"When the three planes left the ranch at about 11:30 a.m., San Angelo had given a report of 3800 feet broken and 20 miles visibility. But that front moved in right after that and I guess Plumb hit one of those thunderheads that a 707 wouldn't even stand up to."

Edwards said that a fourth plane, piloted by Jim Lewer of Ocala, Fla., left the ranch ten minutes earlier because he was going to get Charlie Day to paint his plane in San Angelo. He landed safely in San Angelo.

Roberts did not have the navigation gear that the other two planes had, according to Edwards and so when Roberts lost visibility with the other two, he decided to land in Brady.

"They were skirting to the east of the front at the time Roberts became separated," Edwards added.

"It's hard for me to believe. They were good pilots and good friends," Edwards maintained.

Senate Investigates Conspiracy Stories

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Three separate conspiracy theories involving the 1963 assassination of President John F. Kennedy are being investigated by a U.S. Senate subcommittee, according to Sen. Richard S. Schweiker.

"I think the Warren Commission report is like a house of cards. It's going to collapse," Schweiker told a news conference Wednesday.

The Pennsylvania Republican said his subcommittee on intelligence has developed "very significant leads" about the murder during the past few weeks. He said the committee's investigation is concentrating on three possibilities:

—That Kennedy was killed through a Communist plot originating in Cuba or the Soviet Union.

—That the assassination was the result of a right-wing conspiracy in the United States.

—That anti-Castro Cubans, angry over diminishing Kennedy administration support, planned the murder.

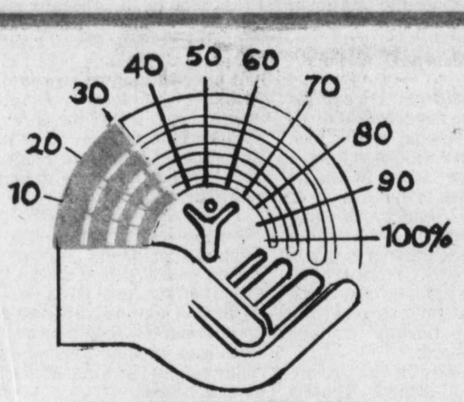

The Warren Commission concluded that Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone in killing Kennedy in Dallas. Oswald was killed two days after the assassination by nightclub owner Jack Ruby, who later died in jail.

Schweiker said he did not lean toward any particular theory. He and Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo., are cochairmen of a subcommittee looking into the effectiveness of the intelligence agencies which worked with the Warren Commission.

"The only thing I'm certain about is that we don't know the truth about the Kenndedy assassination," Schweiker said.

He noted that after the CIA "used the Mafia to put a $100,000 hit job on Castro," the Cubans reportedly threatened retaliation.

Public hearings on the matter may be scheduled by the full Senate intelligence committee, Schweiker said.

DONATIONS HIT 31.9 PER CENT

UW Collections Total $42,101

Collections for the 1975 Howard County United Way campaign have amounted to 31.9 per cent, with $42,101.55 either in the till or committed by donors.

The figure does not include Combined Federal Campaign donations, although that drive has already been oversubscribed. More than 70 per cent of the CFC funds eventually wind up in the United Way coffers.

Gifts totaling $1,641.05 were added to the fund Tuesday, including $1,361.05 from the Employes' division.

By divisions, donations reported to date include:

Out of Town, $4,385; Advance Gifts, $14,455; Special Gifts, $2,515; Employe, $5,378.23; Employe, City, $4,404.22; Metropolitan, $365; Employe, County and State, $339; Rural, $451; Women, $4,470; and Professional, $5,339.

Ron McNeil, chairman, said he expected collections to go over the 50 per cent mark by the weekend and foresaw the campaign workers achieving the $131,975 goal by the middle of November.

"We have a group of dedicated workers in the field, and the results are showing," McNeil said.

UTILITY COMMISSION NAMES DIRECTOR

AUSTIN (AP) — The newly established Texas Public Utility Commission today hired Dr. T. G. Gebhard Jr., director of utilities for Las Cruces, N. M., as its chief administrative officer.

Gebhard, 37, will assume the $32,500-a-year job of director of public utilities, about Nov. 10.

The board also filled two other top positions, naming Grand Prairie City Atty. John F. Bell Jr. to the $31,500-a-year job of general counsel and railroad commission hearing examiner Roy Henderson as director of hearings, a $28,500-a-year post.

Mrs. Marva Bennett, wife of a University of Texas law student and a current employe of the state comptroller, was hired as accountant. Mrs. Martha V. Terry, now with the Travis County Legal Aid and Defender Society, was given the job of legal counsellor.

The commission turned down a petition by Fisk Telephone Systems, Inc., of Houston and the North American Telephone Association for relief against Southwestern Bell. The petition claimed Bell was undercharging for PBX equipment in an effort to dominate the market.

Commissioners said they lacked jurisdiction over the matter until Sept. 1, 1976, the date on which the agency's power to regulate telephone rates and services takes effect.

Document Backers Say Briscoe 'Ill Advised'

By The Associated Press

Proponents of the proposed new state constitution reassessed their strength today following Gov. Dolph Briscoe's announcement that he opposes the document.

"You don't quit the battle just because somebody comes out with a strong opponent," said former state Supreme Court Justice Robert W. Calvert as he announced that he will hold a news conference today in Austin to answer the governor's analysis of the proposed constitution.

Calvert said it would be "foolish" to take Briscoe's opposition lightly, but added: "I don't think it defeats it (the proposed constitution)."

In Dallas, State Sen. Oscar Mauzy, who previously was opposed only to the education and judicial propositions of the new document, announced that he now he will campaign in favor of the proposed constitution.

"Since the governor has chosen to make it an all or nothing fight, I choose to accept the gauntlet he has thrown down," Mauzy said.

Mauzy attacked Briscoe's stand by saying: "The governor, as usual, was late and was ill advised and was unresponsive. It strikes me that if it takes him six months to read the document, it may take him another six months to understand it."

State Sen. Ron Clower also objected to Briscoe's opposition to the entire document.

Clower told the Irving League of Women Voters that many proposals from his interim committee on mass transportation had been put before the governor and he had approved them.

State Rep. Jim Mattox said that, "if the governor had put forth this opinions to the Legislature, the document would never have come out and we would have saved all this expense."

Meanwhile absentee voting on the new document began Wednesday. The special election is set for Nov. 4.

"I urge all Texans who cannot be at the polls on election day to vote absentee," Secretary of State Mark White said in a statement.

White said the result of the election "will determine how state government will be restructured for decades to come."

Viet Refugees Return Home

AGANA, Guam (AP) — About 1,600 Vietnamese refugees sailed for their homeland today with a departing blast at the U.S. evaucation program but no assurance they will be welcomed back in South Vietnam.

The refugees set off in the Thuong Tin I, a former South Vietnamese merchant ship which left port flying no nation's flag — only two signal flags to indicate the vessel is a freighter and has a harbor pilot aboard. The ship's old name had been painted over.

It had been a long and frustrating wait for the Vietnamese who wanted to return after the frantic evacuation in April. And today North Vietnam joined South Vietnam in condemning the United States for letting them leave.

Tran Ngoc Thach, chairman of the repatriation governing committee on the boat, said the evacuation was the latest in a series of U.S. crimes against Vietnam.

Thach said the more than 100,000 refugees who fled Vietnam immediately before the Communist victory were "seduced and deceived" by fears of an impending bloodbath.

"The extravagant propaganda themes concerning a bloodbath in South Vietnam are of legend, and only consist of an intention to cover up countless numbers of war crimes committed in the past 30 years."

There have been no confirmed reports of a major bloodbath in Vietnam since the Provisional Revolutioary Government took over.

Some of those who left Vietnam did so unintentionally and left family members behind, while others left willingly but decided to return.

North Vietnam said today, in a broadcast monitored in Hong Kong, that the United States must halt the repatriation immediately or "take all the consequences of its adventure."

A spokesman for the North Vietnamese foreign ministry said his government symphathizes with the individuals who want to rejoin their families.

But he added, "(the Vietnamese) will decidedly not allow the U.S. imperialists to capitalize on these aspirations in service of their dark schemes against Vietnam and her sovereignty, in disregard of public opinion."

One Dies In Prison Disturbance

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — One inmate was killed and six others were injured today in a disturbance at Trenton State Prison, a maximum security institution in the heart of the city, authorities said.

A spokesman for St. Francis Hospital said the dead inmate was Samuel Mayers, 38, who suffered multiple stab wounds. Another inmate, Ben Walton, was in critical condition with multiple stab wounds.

The 178-year-old prison, whose massive stone walls occupy a square city block, was cordoned off by Trenton police. Prison authorities locked all of the nearly 1,000 inmates in their cells, but scores of prisoners complained about the lockup by shouting out the windows.

Authorities scheduled an afternoon news conference on the disorders, but declined further comment.

The State Department of Institutions and Agencies said officials were trying to determine what had happened, but had no immediate information.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — A team of Labor Department auditors is combing federal records of the biggest Teamsters union pension fund to determine whether the billion-dollar retirement plan is controlled by gangsters. Records from the Justice Department and the Internal Revenue Service have been turned over to Labor investigators as part of a coordinated government review of the $1.4 billion Central States, Southeast and Southwest Areas Pension Fund.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential motorcades often move swiftly and under police escorts, but a Secret Service spokesman says "it's certainly not standard procedure" for a motorcade to run a red light at an intersection that police left unguarded. But President Ford's car, driven by a Secret Service agent and led by a police motorcycle and a police cruiser, did just that in Hartford, Conn., Tuesday night. Ford's car was struck broadside by a vehicle which had the green light.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger may be inviting a showdown with the House Intelligence Committee by refusing to give the panel a subpoenaed memorandum that alleges U.S. mishandling of the Cyprus crisis. Chairman Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., already had indicated doubts Kissinger would fully comply with the subpoena, saying the committee would take up Kissinger's response when Congress returns next Tuesday from a week-long Columbus Day recess.

PARIS (AP) — Representative industrial and developing nations agreed today to shelve their differences until after foreign ministers launch negotiations in December for new arrangements for trade, aid and financial relations among the countries of the non-Communist world. The 10 delegations concluded a three-day preparatory conference with a joint declaration of broad, generalized guidelines for a 27-nation ministerial conference opening in Paris Dec. 16.

HOMECOMING QUEEN FINALISTS — One of these five high school seniors will be crowned Homecoming Queen Friday night prior to the Big Spring Steer-Permian Panther game. The crowning is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. and either Paige Little, Laura Bickford, Janet Ivery, Chris Davis or Angela Hodnett will be queen. The student body makes the decision.

Agreement Rare These Days

There is agreement — unusual these days — between the legislative and executive branches of the federal government. President Ford and members of Congress agree that something needs to be done about the food stamp program.

After this is said, though, the consensus evaporates in the search for a solution. Presentation of the President's plan has been delayed for more study, but it calls for replacing with a standard deduction the current complicated itemized deduction system, now used to calculate net income to determine family eligibility and allotments in the $5.8 billion program which serves 18.8 million persons.

Sens. Robert Dole, Kansas Republican, and George McGovern, South Dakota Democrat, have joined to sponsor a bill proposing a $125 standard deduction. A bill sponsored by Sens. James L. Buckley, New York Conservative-Republican, and Rep. Robert H. Michel, Illinois Republican, would have no allowable deductions, and a flat gross-income ceiling of $5,050 a year, the official poverty level for a family of four. Michel said that the Buckley-Michel proposal would cut $2.5 billion from the program by eliminating 6.5 to to 10 million persons from the program.

The two congressional proposals and the one to be made by President Ford have this in common: An end to the automatic eligibility for welfare families, some of whom have higher incomes than working poor families whose incomes are just above the qualifying mark.

Out of this confusion of tongues a compromise measure should emerge. Abuses of the stamp program should be eliminated. It is particularly objectionable for the stamp program to cover those families who are in a position to take care of themselves. But in the process of compromising differences the aim that should be kept foremost in the minds of legislators is the welfare of needy families. Some abuses of the program may have to be accepted in order to protect the needy.

Relief Is On The Way

Credit card holders can take renewed hope.

New regulations issued by the Federal Reserve System, to become effective Oct. 28, provide holders of credit cards with some much needed protection against the heartless, uncaring computer and its operators, most of whom have been known to commit blunders.

For instance, if a customer discovers an error in a credit card billing or other kind of open-end credit, such as a checking account loan, he will have 60 days to notify the lender. The lender in turn must correct the error in 90 days or forfeit the amount in question.

There are other changes, all the product of the Fair Credit Billing Act passed by Congress last year. Perhaps the most important of all, however, is that credit card users will be able to hold their credit card company accountable for the quality and serviceability of goods they buy with the cards. Before, the cost of such goods was payable to the credit card company in full, and any dispute with the manufacturer or seller was strictly the customer's problem.

For too many people, credit cards have come to own them, rather than the other way around. The measures taken by the Federal Reserve to turn credit cards into the kind of consumer's tool they should be are most welcome.

That Taylor Look

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

If it was supposed to be real exciting news that Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton remarried last Friday in Africa, I am afraid that not very many people were thrilled over the event.

THE ASSOCIATED Press story said that they were married the first time in 1964 after costarring in the movie "Cleopatra" in Rome. I recall that after their marriage, he went to New York City to play in "Hamlet."

My three children and I were on a trip to New York that summer and had tickets to "Hello Dolly" one night and on the following evening had tickets to a play called, "Mary, Mary."

We had eaten Italian food at a place called Tetrazinnis and walked from Time's Square over to Broadway to go to the play, enjoying the lights and the crowd.

We got into a block that was crammed with people and we seemed to be trying to go in one direction toward the theatre that was showing "Mary, Mary" and everybody else was headed in the other direction.

We got pushed back, back, back until we were backed up right against a car. I looked up at the same time as my children did and my eight-year-old son said sneeringly, "Is that who everybody is trying to see?" We were pushed right up against a convertible holding Elizabeth Taylor, who was waiting for Richard Burton to come out of the theatre. If looks could kill, my kid would have been dead.

He can always say with a great deal of truth that Elizabeth Taylor gave him a very dirty look. About then, some woman in the crowd began to scream that somebody had snatched her purse.

A POLICEMAN on horseback charged through the crowd after the purse snatcher. Richard Burton came out. He and Elizabeth Taylor drove way. After all of this excitement in the street, the play was a let-down. In fact, my young son slept through the second and third acts.

I don't remember being thrilled to death over seeing Elizabeth Taylor but I wasn't particularly thrilled the other time I saw her either.

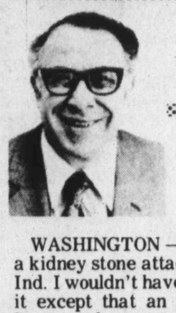

Back when "Giant" was being produced in Marfa, I took a group of girl scouts down to tour the set. The late James Dean absolutely thrilled those little girls to death. The late Chill Wills made them laugh. Rock Hudson was very courteous and friendly. And then there was Elizabeth Taylor.

They saw her across a fence and they heard her say, "Keep that bunch of scrawny kids away from me."

The second AP story this week said that two hippos watched the wedding in Africa when Liz Taylor and Richard Burton were married beside the river. It was her fifth husband.

I hope the hippos were duly impressed with the greatness of the occasion.

I see that Elizabeth Taylor is 43. I'm 49 myself and when I was a teenager I viewed her first film, "National Velvet." It was a wonderful film. At that time, she was four years younger than me. Now she's six years younger. She must have a special secret She's always been beautiful. And she has the personality of a barracuda.

War Of Stones

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Last week I had a kidney stone attack in Evansville, Ind. I wouldn't have even mentioned it except that an alert Associated Press urology correspondent picked up the story, and it made the A.P. wire. So many people have written in asking what a kidney stone attack really feels like that I decided to try to explain it in terms that the layman can understand.

A KIDNEY stone is about the size of a tiny pebble to everyone except the person who has one. To this person it is the size of the Rock of Gibraltar. In fact, many people when they get a kidney stone attack scream out, "I've got a piece of the Rock."

There are two kinds of kidney stones. One is made up of uric acid and the other of calicium. Doctors can differentiate between the two, but patients can't nor at the time of an attack do they give a damn. If you've felt one kidney stone, you've felt them all.

This is what seems to happen as far as the victim is concerned. He is going along minding his own business when suddenly, out of nowhere, a mountain forms in the kidney which, as I said, feels like the size of the Rock of Gibraltar.

THE KIDNEY reacts angrily to this interference with its function and tries to push the rock into what might be described as the Suez Canal. Obviously the Suez Canal cannot accommodate the Rock of Gibraltar, and without any warning war is declared between the kidney and the rock.

An urgent message is sent on the hot line from the kidney to the rock. "Unless you get out of our canal immediately, we will attack with everything we have in our organ."

The rock sends back a one-word reply, "NUTS!"

The patient, who is a horrified neutral spectator to this exchange, tries everything to achieve peace. He paces up and down, rolls to and fro and eventually tries to climb the wall in hopes that the kidney and rock will come to their senses.

Using Kissinger diplomatic tactics, the patient tries to persuade the rock that if it will just move a few inches down the canal, the kidney will not try to break it up.

But the rock is adamant and demands tremendous concessions in exchange for withdrawing from its position.

"How do I know," the rock asks, "that if I move from where I am now I will not be driven into the sea?"

THE VICTIM assures the rock the kidney has no intention of pushing it into the sea. All the kidney wants to do is live in peace with the lower part of the body. As long as the rock doesn't try to prevent the kidney from doing its work, the rock can live in the bladder for as long as it wants to.

If negotiations fail and the rock refuses to move, then a U. N. doctor is called in who immediately fires a volley of Demerol or some other painkiller into the bloodstream.

This does not stop the war between the rock and the kidney, but it gives some shelter to the innocent, while the kidney tries to push the enemy out of its territory. This can only be done with gallons of water which the kidney forces against the rock.

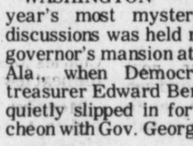

IF THE good guy (kidney) wins, the rock will retreat and even sue for peace. If the rock is able to repulse the water attack and hold its own, then the kidney will have to surrender, which means handing over negotiations to the Blue Cross.

It would be nice to report that once a kindey stone has lost a battle others would learn their lesson. But unfortunately this is not the case. Even though my kidney moved the enemy to a safe place, I distinctly heard in my Demerol stupor the rock say to the kidney, "I may go down the drain, but there's a lot more of us where I came from."

EDITORIALS/OPINIONS

Mystery Visitor

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — One of the year's most mysterious political discussions was held recently in the governor's mansion at Montgomery, Ala., when Democratic national treasurer Edward Bennett Williams quietly slipped in for a secret luncheon with Gov. George C. Wallace.

WILLIAMS DID not reveal his unannounced journey even to close political associates and in fact took extraordinary precautions to keep it secret. When we asked Williams about it, the famed criminal lawyer minimized the rendezvous and specifically denied he had made a special trip to Montgomery (as is believed in political circles there). Rather, Williams said, he was in the Alabama capital on business and accepted a long-standing Wallace invitation while there.

Just what was said in the private luncheon is also in dispute. Reports have leaked out that Williams, who is considerably more conservative than generally known, was exceedingly cordial towards Wallace's presidential candidacy. Calling that "a lot of bull," Williams told us the luncheon was "purely social — nothing more."

Whatever really was said, the Wallace camp regards Williams as much friendlier than Democratic national chairman Robert Strauss, who hand-picked Williams to be treasurer. The intimate Strauss-Williams relationship has cooled somewhat since Williams publicly compared the Strauss-directed selection of New York as the site for the national convention to "a Russian trial" where "the verdict was decided before they began."

A FOOTNOTE: Wallace will not be the guest on NBC's Meet the Press Nov. 9 (a program marking the final appearance of the program's founder, Lawrence Spivak), as Wallace political aides had planned and we reported. That probably will delay Wallace's announcement from the previously planned date of Nov. 10 to later in November, perhaps in conjunction with a Meet the Press appearance now under negotiation.

CAIRO BULLETIN

A top-secret message from Egyptian president Anwar Sadat asking speedy action on the Israeli-Egyptian Sinai pact has now become the newest administration weapon to prod Congress into approving 200 American civilian technicians for radar duty in the Sinai Desert's new no-man's land.

Sadat's missive, under presidential study in the White House the past week, succinctly states this Egyptian predicament: under attack from Syria and other radical Arab states for its unilateral agreement with Israel, Egypt must have the Israeli pullback completed at the earliest possible time. Israel has refused to start the withdrawal until Congress approves the 200 U.S. technicians, a position fully in keeping with conditions agreed to by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

State Department officials now believe the House will approve sending the technicians sometime this week. But the prospect in the Senate is murkier.

New York Finance

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Some highly regarded authorities on municipal bonds believe a financial default by New York City isn't likely to have further serious impact on the already inflated borrowing costs of other cities.

Their reason for the relatively optimistic view, if that is what it may be called, is based primarily on the assumption that so much damage to confidence already has occurred that a default could hardly make it worse.

Borrowing through the issuance of bonds has been made literally impossible for many local and state governments and their agencies. Even those with the highest ratings are forced to pay record high rates.

"What do you mean 'ripple effect,'" said a Kansas City dealer about the widespread loss of confidence and resulting higher borrowing costs. "It's been a tidal wave here." Some dealers believe it can't get worse.

"I don't think that in or out of New York municipal bonds will be discounted much more," said Siesel E. Canady Jr., of John Nuveen & Co., a 77-year-old house that specializes in tax-exempt municipal bonds.

"An actual default will be no catastrophe," he said. "There will be an initial drop in the market for certain, but a rebound will follow and in a few weeks the market will be came to where it was before."

Canady doesn't eliminate the possibility of damage to confidence that might take years to overcome. Nor does he ignore that chance that "social and other problems might follow in New York City." But he does feel the impact on the structure of the market, and trading, will be relatively slight.

A return to existing conditions however can hardly be construed as completely encouraging, because the market today is so badly depressed. Roughly $20 billion has been erased from the value of municipal securities in just one year.

The Standard & Poor's municipal bond index shows average borrowing costs now are at 7.32 per cent, after reaching an all-time high of 7.40 a week ago. A year ago the index was about 6.6 per cent.

Dow Jones showed municipal bonds yielding investors 7.63 per cent last week, more than a full percentage point over rates of just one year ago.

"The market is in a psychic panic," said Brenton Harries, president of Standard & Poor's Corp., which assigns credit ratings to about 95 per cent of the more than $200 billion worth of municipal bonds outstanding.

Potential investors in municipal securities, he said, have reacted "totally out of proportion to the risk." In other words, he indicated, the worst might already have been taken into account.

Letters To The Editor

Mr. Editor:

Last week Seminole was host to many area schools and their volleyball teams.

It was our pleasure at Josie's Cafe in Seminole to feed your team. We want to thank the coaches, teachers and bus drivers for dining with us Saturday and for being so much help.

Noble and I thoroughly enjoyed these outstanding young ladies, and your community can take pride in the manner in which they represented your city and school.

Dear Sir:

In regard to the garbage being picked up in front of the house. Alleys were made for garbage. Why change? At least, let it come to a vote by the people. Some will lock their back gates for good. Who will keep the alleys clean?

Mrs. Ira Rice
1406 E. 14th St.

Dear Mr. Hart:

I would like to take this means of protesting our city management's decision to have garbage picked up from the streets in front of homes rather than from the alleys. I happen to be one of hundreds and hundreds of homeowners in Big Spring, who, in purchasing a home, or building a home, made this one of the requirements: that the garbage collection be made from the alley.

We, in our home, already place the garbage in a plastic bag as has been discussed, but it is left for pick up in the alley. I think it is time that the city officials think in terms of the wishes of the people who pay the taxes and wages to those who are so free with changing rules and regulations, and thus disregarding the convenience of the landowners. Perhaps they should think in terms of having a better job done with what they have to work with rather than changing methods of pick up and increasing prices.

Sincerely yours,
Truett Thomas,

Diagnosis Required

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a friend who thinks he has cirrhosis of the liver. He isn't a heavy drinker. Is this always caused from drinking alcohol?

He says that if he has this disease there is no cure for it. I'm sure that it can be helped. Any information you can give me on this subject will be appreciated. I am trying to talk him into going to the doctor. — Miss V.

What makes your friend believe he has this disease? It is not easy to diagnose from outward symptoms, especially in the early stages. Damage to the cells of the organ is the only really conclusive evidence, and this might require a biopsy ad several liver function tests.

There are broad symptoms that can raise powerful suspicions, though — loss of appetite, flatulence, nausea, vomiting, abdominal pain or tenderness, and weight loss that can't otherwise be accounted for. In the advanced state of the disease, there may be a low-grade fever, foul breath, jaundice, and edema.

While alcohol is known to have a role in the problem, this may be as much a dietary factor as a toxic one. Malnutrition is usually involved. Alcohol provides calories, but it is lacking in essential nutrients, so a heavy drinker can be a victim of this nutrient-starvation. Certain drugs as well as hepatitis may be factors. Early detection is important. In later stages, where actual damage involving loss of liver function occurs, treatment is less successful. However, diet and avoidance of alcohol can keep the condition under control. Let you friend read this. It may prompt him to end his guessing game.

For a better understanding of colitis and other intestinal ailments, their causes and treatment, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald. for a copy of his booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Can I serve God and myself at the same time? Or should I only think of God first and myself second? T.J.

Jesus said: (when asked what was the greatest commandment) "Thou shalt love the Lord they God with all they heart, and with all they mind, and with all they strength..and they neighbor as thyself." Mark 12:30-31.

Notice, He did NOT say that we were to totally disregard ourselves, but we were to put God first, others second, and ourselves last.

When God is put in the proper context, then and only then can we best serve ourselves. Too often God is crowded back into a corner of our lives and self becomes first, and God is given very little place in our hearts and lives. When this done we are headed for trouble. Our lives are so structured that God is to have priority. When self becomes first concern, trouble will come. But Jesus said, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you." Mat. 6:33. When this spiritual maxim is followed, your life comes into balance and perspective. So, how are you best to serve yourself and God? Put Him first. This, of course, is against our natural tendencies, for "self preservation is man's first instinct." But it is God's way, and those who have tried it have proved that it is the best way.

A Devotion For Today

"'Be faithful unto death, and I will give you the crown of life.'" (Revelation 2:10, RSV)

PRAYER: Lord God, help us to accept life and understand it in the most difficult hours, knowing all is a gift from Thy hands. Amen.

Mrs. Joe Pickle Is Death Victim

Mrs. Joe (Lucille) Pickle, 62, wife of the editor of the Big Spring Herald, died of cancer at Malone and Hogan Hospital at 9:30 p.m., Wednesday.

She had been seriously ill for the past several months and returned to the hospital several weeks ago. When her condition worsened earlier this week, all members of her immediate family were called to her bedside.

Services will be at 2 p.m., Friday at the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Kenneth Patrick, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

The casket will not be open during the service.

Mrs. Pickle started work for The Herald in 1934 and served as women's editor, and later a columnist who wrote the widely-read column, "Round Town," and proofreader.

She quit to devote her energies to her growing family but later returned to work for the paper. Declining health forced her into retirement earlier this year.

MRS. JOE PICKLE

She was a devoted church worker and served the local chapter of the American Cancer Society as its memorial chairman.

Mrs. Pickle was born Lucille Rix in Big Spring Aug. 16, 1913. She married Joe Pickle June 15, 1937 in Big Spring. For the past several years, the Pickles have made their home at 2803 Cactus Drive.

Mrs. Pickle was a charter member and past president of the Child's Study Club and the Forum, served with the old Big Spring Concert Association and more recently with the Community Concert Association, was past president of the Questers Sunday School class at the First Baptist Church, was formerly president of the Downtown Lions Club Auxiliary and worked on numerous charity drives, including the March of Dimes and the United Way.

Mrs. Pickle's grandparents originally became a part of the Big Spring community in 1884 and her father, the late Harvey L. Rix, served on the Big Spring school board at one time.

Survivors, in addition to her husband, include three sons, Tommy Pickle, Dallas, Gary Pickle, Austin, and David Pickle, Waco; a brother, Paul A. Rix, Biloxi, Miss.; two sisters, Mrs. H. R. (Maywood) Pickle, El Paso, and Mrs. Chester (Eleanor) Matheny, Big Spring; and an aunt, Mrs. Alfred Moody, Big Spring.

The family is suggesting that memorials be made either to the American Cancer Society or to the Heritage Museum.

Pallbearers will be Matt Harrington, Ross Boykin, Ray McMahen, W. S. Pearson, Harold Canning, Tommy Hart, Oliver Cofer, Wacil McNair, Don Pickle and Lewis Rix.

FINAL INSULT — Terri Roman and John Allensworth sit on the empty Victory Bell wagon which was tied to the high school flag pole along with a bloody skull of a steer here Thursday morning. The message painted on the bell's wagon said, "Permian's No. 1". The bell is kept by the Key Club. Several years ago, club members alternated on foot and pulled the bell in the rain all the way to Odessa, trying to drum up spirit.

Airport Theft

J. W. McClendon, president of Big Spring Aircraft Inc., said $300-$400 was found missing from the office at Howard County Airport this morning.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said they were "unable to establish entry."

About two weeks ago, sugar was put in the gas tank of a car parked at the airport, Standard recalled.

In separate developments, Micky Hernandez, 17, 601 N. Goliad St., has been charged with the Sept. 28 burglary of the Truman Keese Jr. Mobil Service Station in Coahoma.

Hernandez was released Wednesday on a $3,000 bond set by Peace Justice Gus Ochotorena, and Standard said three juveniles are being sought.

Some of the items stolen have been recovered. Taken were a tape deck, two speakers, food and some cash, Standard said.

Information has been gained about theft from Derington Auto Parts & Machine Shop, 300 NE 2nd St., theft of gasoline from Clyde McMahon Sr. and theft of a woman's purse from Mutt's Lounge, Standard said.

The sheriff's office also reported theft of $700 worth of painting equipment from a truck parked by the Coahoma Motel. Jimmy Gass, Odessa, was the victim.

Dr. Akin Simpson told the sheriff's office about a hole in a plate glass window of his veterinary clinic on south U.S. 87. Standard said a marble was found.

Clark Lesher, Route 1 Box 227, Wednesday reported theft of a citizen's band radio from his vehicle, which was parked outside his residence.

School Administrators Mailed Letter On Fees

AUSTIN — A seven-point letter designed to answer questions raised by the recent Attorney General's Opinion eliminating many fees traditionally charged public school students was mailed to school administrators across the state last week by Dr. M. L. Brockette, Commissioner of Education.

The opinion issued on October 1 by Attorney General John L. Hill covered three key areas: tuition for driver education, charges for school supplies and instruction and lab fees, and fees for extra curricular activities.

Hill's ruling confines itself to the specific questions asked, Brockette's letter to the school superintendents points out. It also states that all areas addressed in the Opinion that are not permitted by law are prohibited.

"The following statements are submitted in response to the many questions from local school districts," Brockette says in his letter to some 1,100 district superintendents. "We hope the following will help you in implementing the Opinion."

- The effective date is the date of the ruling, October 1, 1975. The Attorney General's Opinion did not cover fees collected prior to the date of October 1, 1975.
- The ruling does not speak of students furnishing traditional supplies such as pencils, paper, etc.
- Fees charged to buy such materials as workbooks, etc., are covered under the ruling. Fees for typing, labs, etc., are also covered by the ruling.
- Materials necessary for the student to acquire basic skills in vocational education courses must be furnished by the shcool district. However, the school district may allow a student, at his option, to furnish costlier or different vocational materials for approved projects undertaken for credit in such courses without incurring any obligation to pay for such materials, so long as the materials and the projects created from them remain the property of the student.
- A school district may charge tuition for driver training if taught in the student's fourth quarter (summer school). This is one of the areas in which tuition may be charged as indicated in Texas Education Code 16.864. (This is when Big Spring teaches driver's education).
- A school district may charge non-participating students admission to extra curricular activities where attendance is voluntary.
- A rental fee may not be charged for band uniforms. The opinion does not address the question of students furnishing their own uniforms and-or equipment.

Brawl Kills One, 4 Hurt

DALLAS (AP) — Knives and guns left one man dead and four other persons wounded early today during a brawl outside the Cotton Bowl, site of the annual State Fair of Texas.

Police identified the dead man as Raul Flores, 21.

Juan Alvarado, 23, was hospitalized in good condition; Ernestine Casarez, 20, was hospitalized in fair condition and Jasidora Alvarado was in serious condition.

Hunt was released after treatment.

Reports Keep Police Busy

In a regular epidemic of missing citizens' band radios, police were plagued again this morning with reports of missing CBs.

Bob McCormick, 407 Donley, reported a CB taken from his vehicle while parked on the Howard College campus.

Romona Polonco, 207 E. 6th, reported an eight track stereo and radio taken from his vehicle. J. C. McNeese, 1200 Sycamore, said a CB was taken from his car parked at his home.

Billy Duffy at Chapparal Trailer Park Space 29 reported that his car was driven off at 2:42 p.m. while his wife was inside the trailer and heard it leave. They ran out and watched the car head for town.

The car was located at Giant Food Store parking lot and had been stripped of a CB radio, a clock, a CB antenna and a bowling ball.

This morning, James Arthur Sultis, Chapparal Trailer Park Space 30 and the person living in Space 20 had both called the station to report missing CBs and tape decks from their vehicles. Robert Munoz at 105 NE 10th reported a missing tape case and 30 tapes from his car.

Orchestra Available

The Midland-Odessa Symphony Orchestra is available for an early February appearance in Big Spring, if enough interest is manifested.

Those who would like to attend such a program are being asked to contact Charles McKiski at 3-8822 in the next few days.

McKiski said he was willing to set the time and place for a meeting to iron out details for the performance, if the necessary interest is shown.

Heritage Museum Will Honor Pickle Memory

A traveling exhibit celebrating Texas' involvement in the American Revolution opened at the Heritage Museum of Big Spring Monday and will remain here until Nov. 11. The exhibit was designed and produced by the University of Texas at San Antonio Institute of Texas Cultures.

Texas and the Revolution celebrates the Bicentennial of the American Revolution. This exhibit explains why Texas — a minor subprovince of New Spain in 1776 — had a stake in the American Revolution long before annexation to the United States.

The exhibit starts with a look at Texas and Texans in 1776. In later years revolution reached Texas through filibustering expeditions and Mexico's revolt against Spain.

The latter part of the text examines the character of the North American Anglos and the parallel between the American Revolution and the Texas Revolution. It concludes as Texas joins the Union.

This exhibit consists of eight numbered columns. To read the text as a continuous narrative, readers should circle each one in numerical order.

Gerri Atwell, curator, urges teachers to bring students with their note books and take notes and see pictures depicting each chapter, as this exhibit will only be here one month.

Mrs. Atwell also wishes to remind teachers that reservations may be made to view a special slide show depicting early life in Big Spring.

Miniature buildings depicting early Big Spring are also on display. They were made and donated to the Museum by the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital.

The museum still has a few bronze Bicentennial silver coins left for sale at the museum. The sets are gone.

The museum will be closed Friday due to the death of Lucille Rix Pickle who, with her husband Joe, had contributed so much, not only to the museum but also our town. Lucille was not just a pioneer, but also a daughter of pioneer parents. Her mother was the former Bertha Deats, the daughter of L. T. Deats, second mayor of Big Spring. Her father, Harvey Rix, son of Oppa Rix, was an early-day merchant. The museum will be open 1 p.m., Saturday and Sunday.

DEATHS

Lois Agnell

Mrs. Lois LaVerne Agnell, 58, wife of a former Big Spring resident, William Alvin Agnell, died at 2:30 a.m., Wednesday in an Abilene hospital following an extended illness.

Services will be at 2 p.m., Thursday in Elliott-Hamil Chapel of Faith, US 277, in Abilene. Officiating will be the Rev. Dr. Chris Diebel, pastor of the First Christian Church in Abilene. Burial will be in Elmwood Memorial Park.

Mrs. Agnell was born Lois LaVerne Pulley Oct. 5, 1916, in Cisco. She graduated from Cisco High School and Texas Tech University and had taught school in Putnam, Cisco and Post. She also had served as a substitute teacher in the San Angelo school system before moving to Abilene in 1958.

She married Mr. Agnell in Cisco June 17, 1939. He is owner and operator of General Tire Company in Abilene.

Mr. Agnell is the son of the late Della K. Agnell, longtime Big Spring school teacher.

Other survivors include two sons, James Peter Agnell of Lubbock and William Alvin Agnell Jr., Austin; a grandson and a niece.

H. E. Laws

Hardey Earl Laws, 78, died 10:40 p.m. Wednesday in a local nursing home following a long illness. Services will be held 2 p.m. Friday in the Thompson Funeral Home Chapel in Jacksonville with Ron Lloyd and Pat Jones officiating. He will be buried at Jarrett Cemetery, Jacksonville.

Mr. Laws, a retired barber, was born in Hopkins County, Jan. 2, 1897. He served with the United States Navy during World War I.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Alma Walker Laws, Jacksonville; two daughters, Mrs. Billie Strickland, Tylor, and Mrs. Brenda Bednarz, Jacksonville; one brother, O. W. Laws, Big Spring; and five grandchildren.

WHO ERASED TAPE?

Watergate Break-In, Coverup Questions Remain Unanswered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite intensive investigations, the special Watergate prosecutors never were able to crack some of the scandal's most celebrated mysteries, such as who intentionally erased 18½ minutes in one of Richard M. Nixon's White House tape recordings.

Another of the unsolved mysteries surrounded the handling of a $100,000 campaign contribution funneled from industrialist Howard Hughes to Nixon's best friend, Charles C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

And in its final report Wednesday, the Watergate prosecution force shed no new light on why the original burglary at the Watergate offices of the Democratic party was undertaken. It did not even address the question.

NEED AMENDMENT

The Watergate prosecution report said Nixon escaped indictment for Watergate crimes because of murkiness in the Constitution. The report said a constitutional amendment should clarify whether an incumbent president can be indicted.

"The worst time to answer such questions is when they arise," the report said. "Perhaps the best time is the present, while the memory of relevant events is fresh."

The report, submitted to Congress and the public by outgoing Special Prosecutor Henry S. Ruth Jr., contained few surprises and described its own recommendations as "modest."

CONVICTIONS

More than 50 individuals and some 20 corporations were convicted during the 28 months covered by the report. Those cases included the Watergate cover-up and plumbers, individual and corporate campaign contributors including the giant Associated Milk Producers, Inc., and the "sale" of an ambassadorship in return for campaign contributions.

A recurring theme in the report was the agonizing among the prosecutors over whether to seek Nixon's indictment for the cover-up.

In the end, Ruth's predecessor, Leon M. Jaworski, turned his evidence over to the House Judiciary Committee, which recommended impeachment. Nixon resigned before the issue came to the full House.

INSIDIOUS CLIMAX

In 154 pages and a 123-page appendix, the report detailed the methods, successes and failures of the prosecutors. It defended widespread plea bargaining as hastening the investigative process, while admitting the practice "tends under some conditions to produce unfair results."

It called Watergate "an insidious climax" to practices long unchallenged by branches of government, the public and the press.

"Democracies do not survive unless elected officials do what they are supposed to do and citizens maintain vigilance to see that they do," the report said.

STICKY PROPOSAL

Ruth's recommendation for a Constitutional amendment drew mixed reviews from congressmen who had investigated the scandal. Rep. William Hungate, D-Mo., said the proposal "sounds sticky to me."

Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., agreed with Ruth, saying "I do not feel ... that a president cannot commit a crime.... That is not the American system of justice." Former Sen. Sam Ervin of North Carolina said no amendment is needed because a president has "always been subject to indictment."

At its height, in midsummer 1973, 42 lawyers and 44 other staff members worked for the special prosecutor. Only three lawyers will work under Charles Ruff, the fourth special prosecutor, to clean up remaining business after Ruth leaves today.

The report dwells on the investigations conducted by five task forces set up by the first prosecutor, Archibald Cox, who was fired in the "Saturday Night Massacre" Oct. 20, 1973.

Under prosecution guidance, a grand jury probed the 18½-minute gap in a White House tape of a Nixon conversation with chief of staff H. R. Haldeman on June 20, 1972 — three days after the Watergate break-in.

In their report, the prosecutors admitted for the first time that experts who studied the tape "made it clear that the gap had been caused by intentional erasures." Evidence showed the erasures had been made after the tape was subpoenaed.

The prosecutors said the grand jury concluded "from the testimony of over 50 people that a very small number of persons could have been responsible for the erasures, but it was unable to obtain evidence sufficient to prosecute any individual."

The prosecution also looked into allegations that $100,000 from Hughes was delivered to Rebozo. Rebozo said he returned the cash, untouched.

SECRET FUND

"In all, 123 persons were questioned, many of them repeatedly," the prosecutors' report said. "Investigation also was pursued into the suggestion in an April 17, 1973, presidential tape that Rebozo maintained a secret fund of about $300,000." But the report said it was decided "the evidence would not support an indictment."

Prosecutors also saw "strong circumstantial evidence that at least some of the lengthy deletions were deliberate" in tape transcripts Nixon released to Congress and the public in a televised speech April 30, 1974, but could find no direct evidence proving criminal intent.

DIRTY TRICKS

Nor, said the report, was there enough evidence to prosecute dirty tricks allegedly perpetrated by Democrats against the Nixon campaign.

An 18-month probe into administration dealings with International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. showed "ITT had gained access, directly or indirectly to important administration officials who in some instances took some action" favorable to ITT, the report said.

The report said there was insufficient evidence for a criminal case, but two related cases developed. One resulted in a guilty plea by former Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst; the other in conviction of California Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke.

Investigators also could not develop evidence sufficient for criminal charges in reports that the White House "plumbers" broke into the Chilean embassy in 1972 or were responsible for numerous other burglaries whose victims "had been persons or organizations that might be deemed hostile to the Nixon administration."

Americans, Italian Nobel Medical Winners

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Two Americans and an Italian who at one time worked in the United States today were jointly awarded the 1975 Nobel Prize for Physiology or Medicine for their cancer research discoveries showing "the interaction between tumor viruses and the genetic material of the cell."

David Baltimore, 37, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Howard Martin Temin, 40, of the University of Wisconsin, and Renato Dulbecco, 61, who works at the Imperial Cancer Fund Laboratory in London, England, shared the $143,000 prize.

The prize-awarding faculty of the Sweden's Caroline medical institution gave this background on their work:

"Viruses causing tumors in man have not been demonstrated except in the case of wart virus. The type of tumors caused by this virus are of a benign nature. It appears likely, however, that viruses will be found to be involved in the appearance of at least certain tumors of more serious nature in man.

"Technology to study such a possible relationship is available today and the conceptual foundation for an examination of this problem has been provided by the discoveries made by the Nobel prize winners in physiology or medicine of 1975."

Baltimore, who is originally from New York, and Temin, who was born in Philadelphia, based their work on the findings of American Francis Peyton Rous, who won the Nobel medicine prize in 1966. Rous proved more than 60 years ago that viruses can cause cancer.

Not until the 1950s, however, was it shown that under certain conditions viruses could cause leukemias (blood cancer) and tumors in other animals, such as mice.

Dulbecco, born in Catanzaro, Italy, was educated and worked originally at the University of Torino. In 1949, he went to the United States as senior research fellow at the California Institute of Technology, became associate professor there in 1953 and full professor in 1954. Ten years later he moved to England.

Dulbecco in 1964 shared the prestigious Lsker Award from the American National Academy of Sciences. In 1973, he received the Louisa Gross Horwitz Prize.

Dulbecco studied the effect of a relatively simply built DNA (deoxyribonuclic acid) tumor virus on cells cultivated under laboratory conditions. He found that virus reproduction either led to a destruction of cells accompanied by a release of newly produced virus particles, or a transformation of cells.

No production of virus particles by the transformed cells could be observed.

The question was then raised whether the virus caused a transformation of cells and then disappeared or whether genetic material of the virus remain in the transformed cells. The discovery of certain "footprints" of the virus suggested that it remained in the transformed cells, the Caroline Institute faculty members noted.

"This was finally conclusively proven by Dulbecco and coworkers who by the use of molecular biology techniques could show that the genetic material of the virus was built into the genetic material of the transformed cells. Hereby cells acquired hereditary properties derived from the infecting virus," the awarding body said.

Hepatitis Breaks Out In Corpus

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Nueces Countv's health director, Dr. W.R. Metzger, reports infectious hepatitis has broken out in a low-income neighborhood just outside the Corpus Christi city limts.

He said Wednesday there are 15 confirmed cases of the disease from an area near the Clarkwood community and said 10 to 15 other persons probably have it.

"We have never had anything like this before," Metzger said.

Age of most patients range from 3 to 12 years.

He said the hepatitis was contracted from playing in standing water contaminated by sewage.

"There are many inadequate septic tanks in the area," Metzger said. "It is a case of a community that has gradually degraded its environment. It is as bad as some of the primitive Asian countries."

The area, inhabited mostly by Mexican-Americans, has a primitive sewer system which is not connected to the city.

Waste material is pumped to a collection point and then carried by a vacuum truck to the Clarkwood lift station.

The problem was brought to Metzger's attention by the Clarkwood school's head nurse, who found four of the cases.

There are about 150 houses in the subdivision.

W. D. Messer, head of the city's waste water services, said, "We have just discovered a federal grant that would allow completion of the collection system and construction of a lift station south of Clarkwood."

City health crews were busy providing free innoculations for residents of the area.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE
from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: There could be some unpleasant opposition by those who are unable to control their temper. Keep in mind that a conciliatory attitude can prevent rows at this time.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get a good hold on your emotions early or they could lead you astray and cause trouble. Use extreme caution in motion.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A friend is in a strange mood today and could prove most trying to you, but keep poised. Relaxation is best tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Any public duties you may have should be handled without delay. Don't neglect to make any payments. Avoid a troublemaker.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have excellent ideas on how to expand right now, but proceed with caution for best results. Be logical.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get those duties behind you that are not much fun and then you will have time for more important things. Relax tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Although an associate is in a bad mood, control your temper or an argument could result. Later cement better relations.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be more alert to fine opportunities for advancement. Take a more optimistic outlook on life. Show others you have wisdom.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Find new ways to put your creative talents to work so that they pay off better. Make life more satisfying.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you control your temper at home harmony there can be restored. Not a good time to be running off on a tangent.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't labor under any miscalculations or unpleasant results could follow. Obtain the data you need from associates.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan to save more money instead of spending it and you form a good habit. Take more time for thinking and planning.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You may want to have it out with one you think has done you an injustice, but wait for a better time when tempers cool.

Tiant Breaks Reds' Home Field Magic

CINCINNATI (AP) — The magic of the Cincinnati Reds at Riverfront Stadium is nothing compared to the magic of Luis Tiant.

The tricky Boston right-hander broke Cincinnati's home field spell with some slight of hand Wednesday night and made the Reds disappear in the fourth game of the World Series.

Squirming out of more jams than a Houdini, Tiant tamed the Reds 5-4 with a remarkably courageous performance and led the buoyant Red Sox into a 2-2 tie in the best-of-seven Series.

"The man has done the job all year long," said Boston Manager Darrell Johnson, who will start Reggie Cleveland against Cincinnati's Don Gullett in Game 5 tonight. "He was out there at the end tonight, and he did the job again."

The Reds have been almost impossible to beat at home this year. They had a 67-17 record before Wednesday night's game. At first, it looked like they were going to continue their dramatic domination at Riverfront against Tiant.

Boston's star pitcher, who had shut out Cincinnati at Fenway Park in the Series opener last Saturday, was obviously not himself with only three days' rest. The Reds gave the roaring Riverfront fans a lift with two quick runs off the chunky right-hander in the first inning.

"My breaking ball was not as good as it was in Boston," Tiant, stroking his famous Fu Manchu mustache, told the press later: "I used my fastball more tonight. Also, the mound is higher here than in Fenway Park. That bothered my control."

But the sudden Cincinnati thunder didn't take the heart out of Tiant. If anything, he pitched with more heart as the pulsating game wore on.

Down 2-0 in the first, Boston didn't stay that way for long. The Sox routed Cincinnati lefthander Fred Norman with a five-run fourth — and suddenly the Red Sox and their ancient right-hander had a 5-2 lead.

Tiant was still struggling, though. In the Reds' half of the fourth, he gave up two runs.

Johnson said, however, that he had no intention of taking his best pitcher out of the game.

"Luis did seem to have a breakdown with the mound a couple of times," Johnson said. "But it took a couple of hitters for him to straighten himself out and he was on his way again."

WINNING COMBINATION — Boston first baseman Carl Yastrzemski, right, and pitcher Luis Tiant of Boston get hold of each other Wednesday in Cincinnati after Yastrzemski caught a ninth inning pop fly to preserve Boston's victory in the fourth game of the World Series.

Dawson Stops At Garden City

GARDEN CITY — Undefeated Dawson, 5-0, stops here at 8 p.m., Friday to play a 1-B eight-man contest with Garden City.

Garden City would like nothing better than to break Dawson's winning string and start one itself. Garden City has been unable to come out on the win side in six games.

Garden City started off league play last Friday with Wellman winning, 40-19. The Bearkats scored on a 35-yard run by Mark Frysack and two TD passes of 57 and 13 yards, from Norwin Bingham to Ramiro Garza.

With Walter Kitchens calling the shots, Dawson bounced previous unbeaten Borden County in a 1-B test, 48-28.

Coyotes Still Threat

GAIL — Borden County, still a threat to the 1-B crown even after being trapped by Dawson, 48-28 last Friday, will serve as the innkeeper for Loop here at 8 p.m., Friday.

The Coyotes, 4-1, were turned back due to Walter Kitchens and Company in their league opener. He passed for three TD passes in the first half, then focused his attention to defense in the third period with a 32-yard interception return.

Gene Cooley exploded for three touchdowns for Borden County. The Coyotes came up with 16 points in the final period to make the game closer than it really was.

Loop, starting off 1-B competition, was flattened by Klondike last Friday, 50-18.

Vikings Explode

Cary Wiggins rushed for three touchdowns, threw to James Walker for two more as the Marcy Vikings exploded for a 56-0 Pee-Wee football league win over the Eagles Tuesday night at Blankenship Field. In the second game, the Dolphins sneaked by the Packers, 14-8.

In addition to the excellent performance by Wiggins, Wayne Coffee and Darren Bryant, leading ground gainer, bulled their way for one TD each.

The Viking defense was the key factor, holding the Eagles to 11 total yards, recovered five of eight fumbles and an on-side kick, all leading to scores.

Coahoma Out To Add Winters To New Season Win Record

COAHOMA — Becoming tougher game by game, Coahoma, standing in front of the 6-AA line, will set out to add Winters to its latest "new season" win list here at 8 p.m., Friday at Bulldog Stadium.

The new look Bulldogs, after not presenting too good of a pre-season picture, 1-3, have demolished both district opponents faced, Colorado City, 14-6, and last week, Anson, 15-14.

Winters was hard hit by Hamlin last Friday, 60-8. Overall, Coahoma stands even at 3-3.

Coahoma caught fire with Anson after being behind 14-0. Anson scored its TDs the first two times it had control of the ball.

All of Coahoma's points were driven over in the second period. Charles Tindol scored a TD on a four-yard run, then passed to Tim Higgins for two extra points. extra points.

Coahoma drove for six more points later in the second period on a two-yard run by Dusty Douglas. Ricky Patterson's PAT kick proved to be good and the Bulldogs had the eventual win tucked in their pockets.

Coahoma had two TD's called back, one by Higgins, a 50-yard run, and the other, a pass by Freddy Moran. Moran received a slight concussion in the second quarter and Gary Roberts, recovering from a bruised ankle from the McCamey game, played the remaining time left in Moran's spot.

Roberts also excells as an offensive halfback but was kept away from that post with Anson. Bulldog Head Coach Charles Lynch was thrilled with the way Patterson ran the ball in the final period.

Coahoma threw more passes against Anson than with most opponents, calling 25 aerial plays and throwing 18. Lynch feels if he is able to get more front-line backs back to full strength, the Bulldogs will continue to be a district contender.

Ailments besides Roberts' ankle find Ken Kelso and Edwin Dickson with sore backs and Bill Jennings, bruised knee.

Bulldog linemen who have been working hard and deserve credit include Joe Wright, center; David Garten, right tackle; Terry Don Roberts, moved from strong guard to quick guard.

Higgins displayed sticky hands with Anson, catching eight passes, two on crucial plays. Lynch felt pleased with the way his team reacted to a 3 and 10 situation, moving forward for a first down on most occasions.

Winters, 0-2 in 6-AA, is a young team and runs the Slot-I like Cee City. Only three seniors are on the roster, one on offense and two on defense. Last season, Winters was 5-5.

Winters likes to chunk the ball, seen usually three of four downs and features dandy backs in Jimmy Chapman, Tony Johnson and Bobby Poindexter.

HOMECOMING CONTEST

Steers Meet Head-On Defense Minded Mojo

By CLARK LESHER

Big Spring will have to gamble and gamble intelligently in order to combat the pressure of Permian before homecoming admirers here at 8 p.m., Friday at Memorial Stadium.

The Steers are 2-3 overall and 0-2 in 5-4A and winless in three straight games. Last Friday, Big Spring experienced a 53-25 nightmare loss to Midland High while Permian glided past Abilene High, 23-13.

Mojo, ranked No. 6 in the state, unbeaten in five games and 2-0 in 5-4A, was scored on for the first time against Abilene High. Permian has marched to a total of 109 points.

Permian defeated Big Spring last season, 23-0.

Ken McMurtrey, Steer split-end receiver, said the team expresses a big desire to mop up Mojo. Monday's practice was observed as one of the best for that day in several weeks.

Big Spring Head Football Coach Bob Burris said Permian is a physical team. "They run more power sweeps at you, more so than either Abilene or Midland High," he added.

Burris said the Steers will have to play more demanding ball the first quarter, more so than seen in recent contests.

Big Spring will be healthier for Mojo than it was for Midland High. Offensive guard Pete Ruiz, linebacker Mark Stark and bull-dogging fullback Jesse Doss all have recovered from bothersome ankle troubles.

Frosty Reynolds, who came up with a sore knee with Midland, may or may not play in the upcoming test. Joe Milloway, backup center, will still be out from a broken jaw from Abilene High.

A few changes will be made by Burris. Tony Mann goes back to tackle on defense, Ricky Morrow at halfback, Greg Spears at flanker, and Mike Harris at tight-end in place of Bill Stark. Stark will see a lot of duty at the linebacker slot on defense.

Big Spring's Mark Moore, who has been bottled up somewhat in recent outings, though, showed off a little of his aerial wizardry with Midland. He threw three touchdowns, one each to Harris, Spears and McMurtrey, who is the Steers' top point maker with 30. Mike Abreo ran for one TD for Big Spring.

Permian is not any bigger, stronger or quicker but has that Mojo pride instilled in them. Kris Howard, Permian's signal caller, throws and runs the option well.

Halfback Johnny Houser does most of Mojo's running, with back teammates Kevin Smith and Greg Gary blocking a lot. Defensive standouts for Permian also include Gray and Steve Powders, Bucky Diggers and Mike Woodward. Powders powdered Abilene as he blocked a conversion kick and intercepted a pass.

Mojo Head Coach John Wilkins was unhappy with his offense with Abilene as it failed to hammer the ball in on crucial short-yardage situations.

Mojo also has its ailments. Smith is a doubtful starter because of stretch knee ligaments, defensive end Greg Fife, bruised knee; Houser, slight knee bruise, and offensive tackle Richard Dickson, who re-injured his ankle.

All, with Smith the exception, are expected to recover in time to play.

STEER STARTERS

MOJO STARTERS

Offense: Center Allen Jenkins, guards Kevin Steen and Monte Marshall, tackles Randy Teakell and Richard Dickson, ends Dub Harrison and Ricky Ross, wingback Greg Gray, halfback Johnny Houser, fullback Kevin Smith, quarterback Kris Howard.

Defense: cornerbacks Greg Gray and Steve Powder, linebackers Brad Brown, Kyle Locke, and Mike Crowl, guards Kevin Steen and Allen Jenkins, ends Greg Fife and Steve Crain, strong safety Bucky Diggers, free safety Mike Woodward.

MOVES AROUND — Big Spring senior, Greg Spears, center, will be spotted frequently in the game with Mojo here at 8 p.m., Friday at Memorial Stadium. He holds down the flanker position on offense as well as handling kickoff punts and booting extra points or field goals.

BUFFALO GROUND

Forsan Bumps Into Loraine

FORSAN — The long dry spell for Forsan would certainly like to end here at 7:30 p.m. Friday when the Buffaloes bump into Loraine.

A 3-B encounter will be eyed both elevens.

Both teams incurred their second district setback last Friday, Roby downing Forsan, 8-0 and Loraine losing to Sterling City, 54-14.

Roby could only find room in the third quarter to score a TD with tight end Mitch Welch recovering a teammate's fumble in the end zone. Ricky Morton added the two-point PAT.

For the year, Forsan is 0-5 and Loraine, 2-3.

Tech Jinx No Worry For Young

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Ask Arizona football coach Jim Young about the so-called Texas Tech jinx, and he'll say it doesn't bother him.

"I don't believe in jinxes," says Young. "We're just interested in this year, not what's happened in the past."

But there it is in the record books: Tech has beaten Arizona the last four times they met and leads the series 22-2.

Arizona, 4-0 and ranked 13th, could be a little tougher when the Red Raiders call Saturday night. Arizona hasn't given up a touchdown, and leads the nation in scoring defense, allowing 1.5 points per game.

"There's a certain amount of pressure involved in that," says Young. "Everybody realizes that eventually somebody is going to score."

Tech, obviously, would like to be the spoiler.

Young rates Tech as "very tough," with a quick defense. "They played a tough schedule with all three teams (this season) in the top 10 when they played them."

Tech comes here without two starter, junior center Dave Dudley and senior fullback Rufus Myers.

Myers, the team's second leading rusher with 307 net yards and leading scorer with five touchdowns, separated a shoulder against Texas A&M last week.

Dudley is out for the season after suffering a knee injury in practice Wednesday.

But their All-America middle guard, Ecomet Burley, is expected to be here.

Chapman Honored

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Noseguard Walter Chapman sulked last week when North Texas State Coach Hayden Fry made him miss practice because the junior from Grand Prairie, Tex., had the flu.

"He missed practice for the first time ever and he was mad at me all week because I wouldn't let him hit," said Fry.

Chapman took out his vengeance on the Houston Cougars in a 28-0 surprise, making 19 tackles—nine of them behind the line of scrimmage. The performance earned the 5-foot-10, 240-pound junior The Associated Press Lineman of the Week award.

"Chapman is so quick," said Houston Coach Bill Yeoman. "He destroyed our consistency on offense."

NTSU pine coach Bob Lee said "I've seen a lot better athletes but I've never seen a player work harder or be as intense as Walter. He is the most consistent noseguard I've ever seen."

Howard College Scores 2 Wins

ABILENE — The Howard College volleyball team scored two wins here Tuesday night, downing Abilene Christian, 15-8, 8-15, 12-10 and McMurry, 15-2, 15-5.

Helen Ray was HC's high pointer in the ACC game, collecting 13 with teammate Ruth Knight tops against McMurry, scoring 10.

HC has next scheduled Sul Ross at 6:30 p.m., Monday at the Hawk gym.

Renown Caprock Tourney Unfolds

Big Spring will be one of 16 teams entered in the renowned Howard College-sponsored Caprock Volleyball Tournament Friday and Saturday.

Both the high school and college gyms will be used for games Friday starting at 9 a.m. and through quarterfinals Saturday.

All play is scheduled on the college court from the 12:15 p.m., game Saturday through the finals at 8 p.m.

Entered besides Big Spring and Midland High, defending champs, are Amarillo Caprock, Seminole, Snyder, Lamesa, San Angelo, El Paso Burgess, Permian, Sweetwater, Plains, Pecos, Denver City, Midland, Brownfield and Colorado City.

Twenty-four trophies will be awarded. An all-tournament team will be named along with most valuable player, outstanding set and spiker, team sportsmanship and a tournament queen. Howard College athletic director Harold Wilder will make the presentations.

Admission, per session, is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Wanda Ferguson, women's athletic coach at Howard College, will serve as tournament director.

Sands Views Jayton

SANDS — The Mustangs of Sands will be looking for a way to trod by Jayton here at 7:30 p.m., Friday in a 3-B eleven-man hookup.

Sands, 1-1 on the district ledger, was thumped by defending champion Bronte last Friday, 31-7.

Jayton shares the district lead with Bronte and Roby, all 2-0.

The Mustangs' only score was accomplished on a 25-yard scoring pass from quarterback Ronnie Kenemer to end Steve Bodine. Ismael Casas' kick sailed through the uprights for the PAT.

Mark Fincher and Bobby Kelley had timing down almost to perfection as they led Jayton to its second district victory with a 41-0 win over Hawley.

For the season, Jayton is 4-1 and Sands, 2-2-1.

Undefeated 1-B Teams To Collide

WELLMAN — Two undefeated 1-B teams, Wellman and Klondike, collide here at 8 p.m., Friday. Both put district wars in motion last week with wins, Klondike over Loop, 50-18 and Wellman dropping Garden City, 40-19.

Klondike is now 5-1 for the season.

Against Loop, Klondike's Jimmy Bradford and Ricky Singleton each touched the end zone for three scores each. Bradford scored on 55, 26 and 60-yard runs. Singleton carried it in from 30, 14 and three yards out.

Bradford rambled for 167 yards on only eight carries and Singleton stepped off 188 in eight tries.

PAN AM

Cuba Pads Lead

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The United States may not officially recognize Cuba, but it's getting hard not to recognize the Cubans at the VII Pan American games.

They're the ones with all the gold medals.

The insurgent, imperturbable Cubans seem to be one of the few islands of solidarity in an increasingly fouled-up scene here. It could be days before perplexing problems of Wednesday, the third day of competition, are laid to rest.

As a lighter, and hopefully less hectic, schedule began today, the Cubans had padded their gold medal total to 22, with 11 silver and eight bronze. The well-financed American effort trailed with 18 golds, but led in over-all medals with 16 silver and 14 bronze, for a 48-41 edge over Cuba. Canada was next at 4-4-10.

Of the events held Wednesday in 15 categories, at least half experienced maddening, sometimes classic, foul-ups.

A mini riot — complete with unruly mobs and armed troops — broke out when Canada's Brad Farrow was declared winner over Cuba's Hector Rodriguez on a disqualification in semi-lightweight judo. The Cuban delegation was so incensed, Rodriguez' silver medal was refused.

Three days of judo competition ended Wednesday, but only after officials found a way for the participants to make it to the arena. The repechages and finals were called off once, early in the day when the athletes' bus broke down.

It was finally decided that perhaps the athletes could merely take another bus, rather than wait for the original carrier to get back from the repair shop.

Royal Believes Contest Tossup

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — There's bad news, and then there's some more bad news, Texas Coach Darrell Royal has told the Longhorn Club as the University of Texas prepared to meet the Arkansas Raxorbacks next Saturday at Fayetteville.

First, the bad news. "I think Arkansas is every bit as good an offensive team as Oklahoma. They don't have as good a defensive team as Oklahoma, but then, no one else has one either," Royal said.

Now, more bad news. "We haven't snapped back in practice like we would have from a victory," he added before showing films of last Saturday's 24-17 loss to Oklahoma.

"Arkansas will have a tremendous psychological advantage," in the regionally telecast game, Royal said, explaining that the Razorbacks are coming off a 41-3 thumping of defending Southwest Conference champion Baylor.

Even more bad news: Arkansas will be playing before the howling and hungry Arkansas fans in Fayetteville.

"I think it is a tossup ball game," Royal said.

The Texas coach praised Tim Cambpell, little brother of fullback Earl Campbell for his frenzied play against OU Saturday.

"You can tell what kind of stock he comes rom; he is going to be one fine football player," Royal said while the screen showed the 190-pound defensive end hounding OU quarterback Steve Davis.

"He makes mistakes," Royal said. "He made a costly one at the end of the game (apparently a reference to the 33-yard touchdown run by Horace Ivory for the winning score). He is going to make mistakes because he's a freshman, but, boy, he is some kind of busy."

Referring to the Oklahoma game, Royal said., "They deserved to win, but Lady Luck did have something to do it." The Sooners recovered nine of the 12 fumbles in the game. One of the fumbles came on the first play after Texas punted to the OU eight in he final minutes of the game. A hard tackle sent the ball like a shot from the runner to the only Oklahoma player in a crowd of Longhorns.

Bridge Cushions Caused Bus Crash?

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — New Mexico continued to install crash cushion devices on bridges despite warnings from federal officials that guard rails were safer and cheaper, says state Auditor Max Sanchez.

Sanchez, in a report to the Legislative Finance Committee, said Wednesday the Highway Department had bought 39 crash cushions for $333,000 over the last two fiscal years.

The auditor disclosed a June 17, 1974, letter from the Federal Highway Administration's New Mexico administator John F. McAllister, who said that agency was concerned about the extensive use of the devices.

McAllister said the FHWA didn't recommend the devices, and that policy "has been so expressed in several items of correspondence during the past 1½ years."

McAllister said he agreed with another FHWA official that most New Mexico locations where the cushions are used would have been safer with guard rails.

Sanchez said he is concerned that the state may be liable if the devices contribute to any injuries.

He recommended the Highway Department review all installations and "determine the estimated cost of replacing all unsafe installations."

The devices were held partly to blame for the deaths of 19 Texans in a February 1972 bus truck crash at a bridge near Fort Sumner.

The National Transportation Safety Board said installation of the cushions at the crash site was contrary to government recommendations.

The board said a guard rail anchored to the bridge instead of a crash cushion "could have prevented the truck from pocketing between the guard rail and bridge end post."

The report told how the truck jacknifed after hitting the bridge and slammed into an approaching bus which carried a Texas church group.

Families of the dead and injured plan to sue the state for about $25 million damages, alleging negligence in the construction and marking of the narrow bridge, said lawyer Turner Branch of Albuquerque.

Joe J. Hewett, highway traffic services engineer, told the LFC the cushions were installed around the state to remove the immediate hazard of motorists colliding with stationary objects.

"Based on cost analysis, a study indicated that replacing or widening narrow bridges and moving fixed objects would be far more expensive and time consuming than placement of crash cushions," Hewett said.

Sanchez said most of the cushions were bought from Hi Dro Cell, Inc.

Hewett said he declined to renew a Hi Dro Cell price agreement that expired Aug. 4. He said future crash cushion purchases should be through competitive bid after specific designs for particular locations are approved by the central Highway Department and the Federal Highway Administration.

Hewett said many of the crash cushions were bought by district engineers and installed by district maintenance crews with no review at the central office.

JETLINER READIED FOR MUSEUM DISPLAY — Technicians begin disassembly of horizontal tail surfaces of 707 passenger jetliner Tuesday in Philadelphia as plane is prepared for permanent display at Philadelphia's Franklin Institute. Vertical tail had already been removed. Plane will be separated into parts and shipped from International Airport to Institute by truck and ferryboat up the Schuylkill River.

New Lawn Mower Specs Would Make Prices Jump

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new federal safety standard under consideration for power lawn mowers would add $44 to the price of bottom-of-the line models appealing to young married couples, manufacturers told a government agency today.

A Stanford Research Institute report commissioned by the industry projected that the complex standard would put 15 to 20 lawn mower manufacturers out of business, depress sales by 20 per cent and cost consumers $367.5 million the first year.

The proposed new standard was prepared by Consumers Union for the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission in an attempt to reduce the estimated 198,000 injuries attributed annually to power mowers.

Earlier this week the federal Council on Wage and Price Stability suggested that the standard not be implemented until consumer benefits at least match the increased costs.

The Stanford analysis showed an average 34 per cent price increase for walk-behind mowers, which account for 82 per cent of sales, and a 13 to 17 per cent price boost for more expensive riding mowers and lawn tractors.

About $44 would be added to the average 1975 price of $110 for manual start push mowers and $160 for manual start selfpropelled mowers, the Stanford institute said. Another $33 would be added to the average $270 price for electric start selfpropelled mowers and $23 to the average $95 price for electric power mowers.

The biggest cost burden would be borne by young families buying a mower for the first time. They would have to pay 50 to 70 per cent more for mowers now in the $60 to $90 price range, the report said.

Executives of both small and large mower manufacturing firms were scheduled to meet with the commission to discuss the cost impact on them.

The industry produced about seven million mowers last year and had sales in excess of $1.2 billion. Adverse economic conditions drove at least two large mower manufacturers out of business this year.

The Stanford report said that the standard's first-year cost of $367.5 million would reduce injury costs only $35.3 million and that the 10-year cost of $536 million would cut injury costs an estimated $253.4 million.

The Outdoor Power Equipment Institute, the manufacturers' trade association, had unsuccessfully submitted the industry's voluntary 1972 safety standard for consideration as the federal model. It said manufacturers are willing to spend $81 million for first-year improvements that would reduce the most severe mower injuries by 98 per cent at only one-fourth the cost of the Consumers Union proposal.

Belt-Buckle Playday Set

The Howard County Youth Horsemen Club will sponsor an open belt-buckle playday this Saturday, Oct. 18 at the club arena on the Garden City Highway south of Big Spring.

Registration begins at 3 p.m. and the events start at 4 p.m. Entry fee is $1 per event. The events will include barrel racing, pole bending, flag racing and ring or potato racing.

Belt buckles will be awarded to the high point boy and girl in each of six age groups, with the best all-around boy and girl to receive a prize.

Coinciding with the playday will be the club's annual queen contest. Nominees for junior and senior queen will be presented before the playday. The junior members of the Howard County Youth Horsemen will vote and the ballots turned in before the playday ends.

The club will also participate in the Homecoming parade Friday afternoon. All members are to meet in uniform at the 14th and Main Church of Christ parking lot at 3 p.m. to be ready to ride in the parade at 4 p.m.

The club's annual awards banquet will be held Saturday at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 1 at the Howard College SUB dining room. Cost will be $1 a plate for members and $2.75 for guests. All members should make their reservations with Dr. Nell Sanders by Oct. 20.

Bentsen Prepares For Texas' May Presidential Primary

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Sen. Lloyd Bentsen's campaign for Texas delegate votes in the 1976 Democratic presidential nominating convention will be led by Agriculture Commissioner John White, who helped run past efforts for Hubert Humphrey and George McGovern.

The state's first presidential preference primary in May will decide how 98 of Texas' delegate votes will be divided among candidates, including Bentsen.

Bentsen will be watching results in another column of the May primary ballot, since he also is running for a second term as U. S. Senator.

White acknowledged the dual candidacy—allowed under a state law that last was used by Lyndon Johnson in 1960—would be a campaign issue. Bentsen's senatorial challenger, Dr. Philip Gramm, has said as much.

"But," said White, "I don't think the ordinary voter is going to ask a lot of questions about it."

White, generally regarded as a liberal, said no ideological shift was involved in his support for Bentsen, with whom he has been friends for more than 20 years.

He said he voted for Bentsen in his bitter 1970 primary fight against then-Sen. Ralph Yarborough, another close friend.

"On economics, you can say Lloyd Bentsen is a conservative—a conservative compared to what? Dr. Gramm? You've got to back up and get a dinosaur to compare with him. Lloyd Bentsen has a very strong agricultural position that I happen to agree with. His positions on foreign trade and Kissinger are just good, sound positions," White said at a news conference.

The presidential primary will be used to select three-fourths of the 130 Texas delegates to the party nominating convention. The rest will be chosen at a state party convention in June.

White said he would announce soon the names of persons who will be in charge of choosing Bentsen delegate slates in each of the 31 state senatorial districts. State Rep. Herman Adams, D-Silsbee, will be in charge of assembling local delegate selection committees, he said.

Bentsen also will run in other presidential primaries, White said, including California, Florida, Ohio, Nebraska and New York regional primaries. He said most of the campaign money Bentsen has received in the past three months has come from other states, notably California, Louisiana and Illinois.

George Bristol, Bentsen's national finance chairman, said Bentsen has spent $1 million on his campaign this year, has $200,000 in his treasury and is entitled to $500,000 in federal matching funds in January. Bristol said Bentsen ranks third behind George Wallace and Henry Jackson in fund-raising for the 1976 campaign.

Board Is Adding One

Board members of the West Side Community Center welcomed Mrs. June McDaniel as a new member at their meeting, 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Members also extended their contunued support to the expansion of the West Side Day Care Center to a location on the North Side. The planning board for the new North Side Day Care Center was represented by Diane Culotta and Earlene Fryerson at the meeting.

Members learned at the meeting that an investigation has been made and funds allocated for the curbing and paving of Price St. on the west side of the Cummunity Center.

Members also presented and approved the 1976 budget. Weekly sewing classes were included as part of next year's program. The Center is greatly in need of new sewing machines, however, according to Mrs. John Hogan, center reporter.

The board's next meeting will be Nov. 11.

BREADS TO ENJOY — There is nothing like sitting down to a table of homemade bread, your own preserves and whipped butter. Add these breads to your recipe box: (from top clockwise). Surprise Bubble Loaf, Fan Tan Loaf, Potato Yeast Rolls, Oatmeal Molasses Loaf, Citrus Tea Bread and Cheesy Casserole Bread.

Test Your Talents With Creative Breads

The bread baking revival has taken the country by storm in recent years. Some people get bit by the bug when they try their hand at kneading yeast dough. Others catch the fever when they bite into their very first loaf of basic white bread.

Because the flavor and texture of homemade bread surpass all, family and friends convince the amateur baker to make it again and again. Whether you have mastered the basic techniques of white bread or not, now's the time to stretch your creative talents with these variations.

Create these bread recipes, and you'll soon be expected to serve something whenever guests drop in for a visit. Pull one from the freezer; they can all be stored for 3 months at 0 F. when properly wrapped. Freshly baked breads should be cooled thoroughly (and frosted after thawing), wrapped in aluminum foil, freezer paper or heavy duty plastic wrap and sealed tightly. Just thaw at room temperature for 2 or 3 hours, or in a moderate oven (375 F) for 20 minutes, and treat everyone with your baking talents.

Fan Tan Loaf

2 cakes compressed or 2 pkg. dry yeast
1/2 cup lukewarm water
2 cups milk, heated
1/4 cup sugar
1 tablespoon salt
1/3 cup butter or margarine
5-1/2 to 6 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup wheat germ
1-1/2 cups quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. (Use warm water for dry yeast.) Pour hot milk over sugar, salt and butter. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in 1 cup flour. Add softened yeast, wheat germ and oats. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out dough on lightly floured board or canvas; knead until smooth and elastic, 8 to 10 minutes. Shape dough into a ball; place in greased bowl; brush lightly with melted or liquid shortening. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in size, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down; cover and let rest 10 minutes. Divide dough in half. Roll out each half to form a 12x7-inch rectangle. Cut each rectangle in half lengthwise and into eighths crosswise to form sixteen 3-1/2x1-1/2-inch slices. Brush with the melted butter. Stand 16 slices with buttered sides facing the same direction, in each of 2 greased 8-1/2x4-1/2x2-1/2-inch loaf pans. Cover and let rise in warm place until nearly double in size, about 45 minutes. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350°F.) about 45 minutes. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks. Makes 2 loaves.

Surprise Bubble Loaf

5½ to 6 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 pkg. dry yeast
1-3rd cup granulated sugar
2 tsp salt
½ cup shortening, soft
1½ cups hot water (120 to 130 F.)
2 eggs
1½ cups quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
10 dried apricot halves, uncooked
10 pitted prunes, uncooked and cut in half
10 walnut halves
1-3rd cup butter or margarine, melted
¾ cup firmly packed brown sugar

Combine 2 cups flour, yeast, sugar and salt in a large bowl. Add shortening and hot water. Beat at medium speed of electric mixer for 2 minutes, scraping sides of bowl occasionally. Add eggs and 1 cup of the flour. Beat at high speed of electric mixer for 1 minute, scraping sides of bowl occasionally. Add eggs and 1 cup of the flour. Beat at high speed of electric mixer for 1 minute, scraping sides of bowl occasionally. Stir in oats and enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out dough on a lightly floured board or canvas. Knead until smooth and elastic, 8 to 10 minutes. Cover with plastic wrap and a towel. Let rest on board 20 minutes.

Punch dough down. Divide into 40 pieces of dough; shape each around 1 apricot, prune or walnut half and seal. Dip each roll into melted butter and then into brown sugar to coat well. Arrange rolls in 2 layers in a greased 10-inch tube pan. Cover; let rise in warm place until nearly double in size, about 45 minutes.

Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 F.) about 45 minutes. Remove from pan; cool on wire rack. Drizzle with confectioners sugar frosting. Makes 1 large bubble loaf.

Potato Yeast Rolls

1 cake compressed or 1 pkg. dry yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
¾ cup hot potato water
¼ cup sugar
1½ tsp salt
¼ cup melted or liquid shortening
4 to 4½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
¾ cup mashed potatoes
1 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. (Use warm water for dry yeast.) Pour hot potato water over sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in 1 cup flour. Add softened yeast and potatoes; mix well. Stir in oats and enough additional flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas; knead until smooth and elastic, 8 to 10 minutes. Shape dough into a ball, place in a greased bowl and brush lightly with melted or liquid shortening. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in size, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down. Divide into 24 equal parts. Shape each to form a roll, making an assortment of shapes. Place on greased cookie sheets. Brush with melted or liquid shortening. Cover; let rise in warm place until nearly double in size, about 35 minutes. Bake in preheated hot oven. (400 F.) 15 to 18 minutes. Serve warm. makes 2 dozen.

Oatmeal Molasses Loaf

2 cakes compressed or 2 pkg. dry yeast
½ cup lukewarm water
1 1-3rd cups milk, heated
1 cup hot water
¼ cup shortening, soft
4 tsps salt
1-3rd cup molasses
7¼ to 7¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2½ cups quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. (Use warm water for dry yeast.) Pour hot milk and hot water over shortening, salt and molasses in a large bowl. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in 2 cups flour. Add softened yeast. Stir in oats. Stir in enough additional flour to make a stiff dough.

Turn out dough on a lightly floured board or canvas; knead until smooth and elastic, 8 to 10 minutes. Shape dough into a ball, place in a greased large bowl and brush lightly with melted or liquid shortening. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in size, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down; cover and let rest 10 minutes. Generously grease two 9x5x3-inch loaf pans. Sprinkle bottom and sides of each pan with 2 tablespoons oats. Divide dough in half; shape to form 2 loaves. Place in prepared loaf pans. Brush lightly with milk; sprinkle each with 2 tablespoons oats. Cover; let rise until nearly double in size, about 45 minutes. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 F.) 40 to 45 minutes. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks. Makes 2 loaves.

Citrus Tea Bread

1-3/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 cup coarsely chopped pecans
1-1/2 teaspoons grated orange peel
1 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
1 cup milk
2 eggs, beaten
1/3 cup butter or margarine, melted
3 tablespoons orange juice

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon into a large bowl. Stir in brown sugar, pecans, orange peel and oats. Combine milk, eggs and melted butter. Add to dry ingredients. Add orange juice and stir only until dry ingredients are moistened. Spoon batter into 4 greased 10-3/4-oz. empty soup cans; fill about 2/3 full.

Bake in preheated moderate oven (350°F.) 40 to 45 minutes. Cool on wire rack about 10 minutes. Remove from cans; cool thoroughly. Wrap cooled bread in plastic wrap and store overnight for ease in slicing. Makes 4 small loaves.

NOTE: Bread may be baked in a greased 8 1/2x4-1/2x2-1/2-inch loaf pan in preheated moderate oven (350°F.) 50 to 55 minutes, if desired.

Cheesy Casserole Bread

4-1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 pkg. dry yeast
3 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon salt
1 cup milk
1 cup water
2 tablespoons shortening, soft
1 egg
1 cup (4-oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
1 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked

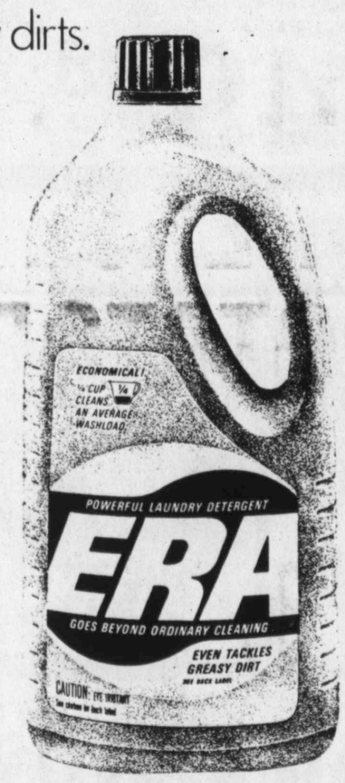

Combine 2 cups flour, yeast, sugar and salt in a large mixing bowl. Heat milk, water and shortening over low heat until warm (110° to 115°F.). (Shortening does not need to melt.) Add milk mixture to flour mixture. Beat at medium speed of electric mixer for 2 minutes, scraping sides of bowl occasionally. Add egg, cheese and 1/2 cup flour.

Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping sides of bowl occasionally. Stir in oats and enough additional flour to make a stiff batter. Beat until blended. Cover; let rise in warm place until double in size, about 45 minutes.

Stir batter down. Beat vigorously 30 seconds. Turn into a greased 2-qt. casserole. Bake in preheated moderate oven (375°F.) 50 to 55 minutes. Remove from pan and cool on wire rack. Makes 1 round loaf.

Victim's Father Urges Gun Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nelson T. Shields IV was helping a friend move furniture on April 16, 1974, when someone stepped up behind him on the street and shot him in the back of his head. Shields died instantly.

His father, Nelson T. Shields III, told a House subcommittee Thursday that strict controls on the purchase and possession of handguns are needed in the United States and that anything less than the prohibition of most uses of the weapons would be inadequate.

"If you're not willing to stop the domestic arms race with effective handgun control legislation, let's not pretend that we're going to reduce violent crime," he said.

He told a House judiciary subcommittee on crime that he left his industry management job to fight for gun control after his 23-year-old son was murdered in San Francisco, a victim in the "Zebra" killings. The murders involved apparently random attacks on 14 white persons. Four Black Muslims are now on trial in the case.

"I'm speaking to you as a person who, some people think, has reacted to these events somewhat irrationally — giving up a management job of 26 years in industry to work unpaid for such a futile, if admittedly worthwhile cause," he said. "His moral values have gotten in the way of his better judgment, some fear."

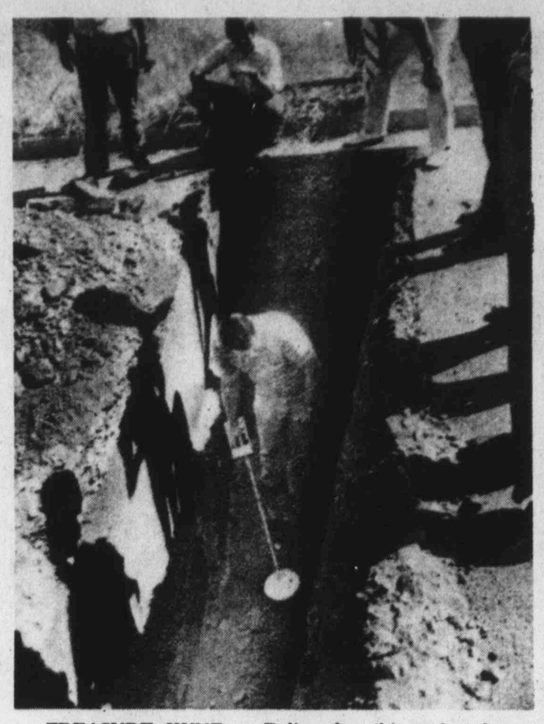

"I don't agree," said Shields, sitting in the shadow of a weapons display left by a previous witness, Rep. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y. "I think society's 'better judgment' in accommodating a minority of gun fanatics has gotten in the way of our moral values for far too long."

Shields left E.I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., where he was marketing manager in the consumer products division, taking a one-year leave of absence to become executive director of the National Council to Control Handguns. He had worked for the chemical firm since he graduated from Yale in 1949.

Shields, 51, was one of the last witnesses scheduled in a seven-month series of hearings that has probed the merits and drawbacks of gun control legislation. Approximately 200 persons have appeared before the subcommittee in hearings across the nation.

Shields said a bill that would simply close some of the loopholes in the 1968 firearms control act, without prohibiting all but the military, law enforcement officers, licensed security guards and licensed pistol clubs from purchasing and possessing hand guns, is insufficient.

He said anything less will not "make any difference to those Americans who, like my son, are going to be dying on the streets of the cities of America."

TREASURE HUNT — Police dug this 12-foot-deep trench across an east-Phoenix street Tuesday in hopes of finding $53,000 in jewels taken in 1958 from the landmark Hotel Westward Ho. No loot was found and detectives are reluctant to tear up the street any further.

Claims Reserve System Unfair

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A U.S. District Court judge has cleared the way for an appeal on constitutional grounds by an Army reserve officer who claims military policy discriminates against reserve officers.

Maj. Florencio Barrera of San Antonio may be discharged from the service Tuesday, just 90 days before he becomes eligible for retirement benefits, because "the law is the law," Judge John H. Wood ruled Friday.

Wood denied a motion for a temporary restraining order by Barrera, saying there was "a certain amount of shabbiness involved" in the discharge.

Barrera had argued in federal court that Army policy discriminates against reserve officers. He said he was notified that he had been passed over for promotion to lieutenant colonel on July 18 for the second time.

As a result the Army ordered his discharge on Oct. 16.

Judge Wood told Barrera's attorney: "I'm going to give you a clear road to appeal." He gave Barrera 10 days to file stipulations on the constitutional issues in the case and said he would decide if the issues warrant a full hearing on the case.

Regulations covering reserve officers provide that an officer passed over for the second time must be discharged within 90 days of the time he fails to pass the promotion board.

However, Barrera claimed that regular Army officers under the same circumstances are not discharged until the first day of the seventh month after notification.

By being discharged 90 days before completing his 18th year in the Army, Barrera will be denied full retirement benefits.

Meanwhile, Maj. Jack Park, an Army reserve officer at Ft. Hood, Tex., said Friday he has been granted a delay until Oct. 30 to leave the military service after being passed over for promotion for a second time.

Park, 49, said his discharge from the Army was to have been effective Oct. 17, but that he had appealed the decision that he not be promoted. Administrators extended his discharge date two weeks pending the outcome of the administrative review, Park said.

Park, 49, said he has 17½ years of active military duty.

Boll Weevil Program Is Approved

COLORADO CITY — Over 100 producers attended a Cotton Boll Weevil Control Program meeting at the City National Bank in Colorado City last Thursday, and approved the motion to form a countywide Cotton Boll Weevil Control Program for Mitchell County, according to Bob Benson, County Extension Agent.

The producers heard comments from Herman Propst, Executive Vice-President of the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers Incorporated and Emory Boring, Area Extension Entomologist, from Vernon. After many questions and much discussion the following was approved by the producers in attendance:

That by October 20 the eight gins in Mitchell County plus Inadale gin would elect two representatives to serve on the Board of Directors. The Directors would set the policies concerning dollar amount to be collected to initiate the program and how it would be assessed — either by bale basis or acre basis.

The proposed program would be initiated for the 1976 crop year and would work as follows: trained scouts will be hired to check each cotton field and report to the producers the areas in the county that needed spraying for early season boll weevil control. The producer would have the option to either spray or not spray at this time. Usually these fields that will need spraying are fields that are close to overwintering habitats for boll weevils. It is felt that if these fields are sprayed when sufficient numbers of boll weevils are present that this will reduce the spread of weevils to other fields.

The next step will be to spray each acre of cotton in the county starting in late August or early September with three to four applications of insecticide for boll weevil diapause. This type of program will take 100 per cent cooperation from each cotton producer in the county.

The possibility exists that if 100 per cent cooperation is reached by producers in Mitchell County that state money for assistance can be received for the fall applications. By having large acreages of cotton, plane and insecticide costs can be greatly reduced, states Benson.

Propst stated that he had seen many fields in the Rolling Plains this year that had one-hundred dollars or more damage per acre from boll weevils. Several fields have been shredded down and destroyed due to the boll weevil damage.

Now is the time for Mitchell County producers to band together 100 per cent and support this program, states Benson.

Rules Convicts Entitled To Criminal Appeals

AUSTIN (AP) — Three men convicted in Denton County and sentenced to prison are entitled to appeal their convictions—something they claim their lawyer promised to do but never did—the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ruled today.

Records show that Herbert Hill, Ray Martinez Jr. and Billy McDaniel paid lawyer Hal Jackson a total of $2,300 in bail bond and legal fees.

Hill was convicted after a jury trial for robbery and sentenced in October 1973 to five years in prison.

Martinez was convicted by a jury for selling marijuana and sentenced in January 1974 to five years.

McDaniel pleaded guilty before a jury to selling marijuana and was sentenced in March 1973 for seven years.

Each had hired Jackson, and they contended they were "denied a meaningful appeal by the fraud and deceit" of Jackson.

The appeals court said a hearing had revealed that the lawyer, Jackson, had repeatedly assured the men he was prosecuting their appeal and had even assured Martinez that he would eventually arrange to have his sentence probated.

Jackson never filed an appeals brief, the court said, adding that the record indicated that the men's plea that they were denied a "meaningful appeals by the fraud and deceit of their respective retained counsel are well founded."

The appeals court said the men may now appeal their cases.

CB Radio Club To Mark Sets

With a renewed surge of thefts of CB radios occurring this week, the Big Spring Five Water CB Radio Club will again be marking radios or any other portable equipment this Saturday between the hours of 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The club will be at the College Park Shopping Center offering free to mark people's equipment with their drivers license number.

The Five Watters remind the public that "if an item is worth having, it is worth marking."

Of the several hundred CB radios that have been reported stolen locally, only one had been permanently marked with the owners drivers license number. This radio was recovered and returned to the owner within five days.

The Five Watters remind you, "It pays to participate in Operation Identification."

Thieves Were Not Hungry

Thieves who broke into the H & A Grocery at 201 NE 7th in the early morning hours today were apparently not hungry.

The only food they took was a few pastries, but they lifted seven cases of beer, five cigarette lighters and six necklaces with crosses for a total loss of over $90.

Police discovered the window broken on their rounds at 5:30 a.m.

New Children's Clothing Shop

Big Springers will have a large selection of the latest sytles in children's wear to choose from at the brand new Lads and Lassies Shop on 124 E. 3rd.

The attractive, wood-panelled shop is owned by the partnership of Kenneth Boothe, 2307 Brent Dr., and Dr. Donald McGonagill, 1207 Settles.

The Boothes, who have lived in Big Spring for three years, first became interested in the store "partly because we always have trouble finding nice clothes for our three daughters," according to Mrs. Boothe.

The shop offers a full fall line of clothes for boys and girls from toddler-two sizes to size 14. Girls may choose from such well known names in lingerie, sportswear, and formal wear, as Kate Greenway, Palm Island, Shirey and Shirt Talk.

Boys may look for shirts, sweaters and trousers, including the new denim look, by such name brands as Kaynee, Arturo and Billy the Kid.

In addition to clothes, the shop will offer children's jewelry, and novelty gifts, such as felt animal bulletin boards, and books with matching stuffed toys depicting the characters.

The grand opening of the shop, scheduled for the near future will feature gifts and drawings for prizes.

Government To Back Meat Fraud Claims

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — The federal government has begun laying the foundation to back its fraud and conspiracy charges against one of the nation's largest meat packing firms and its two top officials.

American Beef Packers, Inc., (ABP) of Omaha, along with its wholly owned subsidiary Beefland International, Inc., of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and the top officers of the two firms are on trial on charges that they used the U.S. mail and interstate telephone communications to defraud Midwestern livestock raisers of more than $20 million. ABP President and founder Frank R. West and his top aide, Robert E. Lee are additionally charged with conspiracy.

The conspiracy, according to a 105-count indictment handed down against the defendants last summer, allegedly culminated last Jan. 7, when ABP and Beefland filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy.

The government's first witness was General Electric Credit Corp.'s Chicago district manager, Louis Kovanda of Northbrook, Ill. GECC is ABP's mainline financial source and largest creditor. The government alleges ABP officials diverted accounts receivable from GECC to its own uses. Kovanda's office was responsible for overseeing the ABP accounts.

Kovanda, who was returning to the stand today, said a meeting was held last Dec. 10 to rough out a draft on a new, expanded line of credit for ABP, and those attending the meeting became aware of the cash flow problems being encountered at ABP.

Three days later, Kovanda said he received a call from the Northwestern National Bank of Omaha, the caller noting that some of ABP's collection checks, which should have been going to the GECC lockbox account at the Omaha National Bank, were being deposited in ABP's account at Northwest National.

Two days later, Kovanda called Thomas Clark, then ABP treasurer, who conceded that the collections were being "misapplied."

Kovanda said Clark told him he had talked with West about it.

"Mr. Clark said that day was the first he (West) was aware of the misappropriation," Kovanda testified. On Dec. 18, another meeting was held as GECC officials tried to learn more about about the diversions.

Kovanda said Clark told him that the "practice had been occurring for a long time, perhaps a year and a half, two years."

ABP asked for 120 days to make up the deficit. GECC officials agreed to a 30-day extension. Kovanda said West then called him on Jan. 4, 1975, asking him to arrange a meeting at GECC headquarters.

At the meeting Jan. 6, Clark proposed that GECC lend ABP about $15 million in cash to take care of immediate needs, and guarantee another approximately $13 million for future needs. Kovanda said GECC refused.

ABP officials responded by filing for Chapter 11 bankruptcy the next day.

Under cross-examination, West's lawyer tried to downplay the surprise and suddenness of AP's financial problems. He also noted that some customers probably mailed their payments to ABP's headquarters, despite payment instructions telling them to mail the payments to the GECC lockbox account. Kovanda agreed, but said such payment mailings were normal, adding their occurence was not significant.

Mrs. McCoy Speaks About China Tour

Mrs. Lucille McCoy informed the members of the Texas Nurses Association, District 24 that the citizens of the People's Republic of China seem very friendly, industrious, curious and apparently happy and healthy. But she added that they are strictly controlled and disciplined with few luxuries provided and no waste allowed.

Mrs. McCoy presented a film tour of China along with a commentary about her impressions of the People's Republic, during the Tuesday evening meeting of the Texas Nurses Association held at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Mrs. McCoy is director of nursing at Odessa College. She toured the Peoples' Republic of China with 14 teachers and two other medical personnel from the Dallas area after a two-year wait for visa clearance.

Their 18-day tour was sponsored by the Republic's Tourist Association.

Mrs. McCoy remarked that China was not as well equipped as other countries to handle tourist groups.

She stated that they were not hindered in taking pictures and were able to tour communes, homes, schools, the Ming Tomb and the Great Wall of China. They were not allowed to see the University Hospital because of the small size of their group.

Mrs. McCoy reported to the nurses' group that the tour members always felt safe and did not feel any hostility from the people.

Social Order Has Meeting

The Social Order of the Beauceant, Assembly No. 211 met Monday evening in the Masonic Hall with Mrs. Albert Davis presiding.

Members welcomed three visitors from Midland Assembly No. 143, Mrs. Don Harless, Mrs. Sam Hilburn and Mrs. Alton Bobbitt.

A report was given concerning the donations of clothing to the Big Spring State Hospital in the name of the order.

Members draped the charter for the late Mrs. Ethel Lees.

Mrs. Davis gave a report on the Supreme Assembly meeting held Sept 22-27 in Portland, Ore. which she attended along with Mrs. Charlie Clay and Mrs. Lee Porter.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Harry Middleton, Mrs. George Glenn and Mrs. Escol Compton.

The next business meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 27 in the Masonic Hall. Members will have a practice initiation session.

Couple Weds On Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Collins are on a wedding trip to San Antonio following their marriage Sunday afternoon in the College Baptist Church with the Rev. Billy Hendrix officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Long of Amarillo attended the couple as matron of honor and best man. Jerry Collins, Larry Collins, Bryant Long and Steven Long served as ushers. Sherry Collins and Tammy Long registered the guests.

The reception was given by Mrs. Floyd Earls, Mrs. Ed Seay and Karen Earls in the home of the couple. The table was covered with a lace cloth over blue with crystal and silver accessories.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Long and family and Mrs. Maye Holcomb, all of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Seay of Andrews, parents of the bride.

Scare Tactics Harmful To Child's Future Behavior

DEAR ABBY: Last week, I went to a luncheon at a neighbor's home. She kept chasing her 5-year-old son outside. Once, when he refused to leave, she picked up the telephone and dialed, whereupon the child took off, running in fear.

I laughed and asked. "Are you pretending to call his father?"

"No," she replied, "I'm calling the witch!" She explained that she calls the witch to "come and get him" when he's "bad." Then, she asked me not to tell him there was no such thing as a witch.

I was appalled and told her that when her son gets older and realizes that she's been lying to him, he won't trust her anymore. She then commented that she didn't care what he thought in the future because it worked for now!

Abby, how do you feel about using these scare tactics to discipline children?

STUNNED

DEAR STUNNED: I'm with you. The truth is always best. And that goes for Santa Claus, the tooth fairy and the stork.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "A" IN BOULDER, COLO: You can insist that he wear a wedding band, but it won't stop the circulation if he decides to play the field again.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif., 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hyperion Club Selects Theme

The 1930 Hyperion Club has selected "Our American Heritage, E Pluribus Unum" as the theme for the 1975-76 club year. The theme was revealed at the Saturday afternoon meeting of the club in the home of Mrs. Marvin Miller, 700 Capri.

Mrs. R. G. B. Cowper and Mrs. G. R. Robinson were cohostesses.

The club's aims are to participate in the bicentennial celebration by drawing on the full resources of America's rich heritage and the many facets of the country's national character. They hope to add their part to make this bicentennial year one without parallel in our history.

Mrs. Jim Baum presented a program entitled, "Two Hundred Years of American Music in Twenty Minutes."

Paul Ruiz, acting as "Sam", Big Spring's symbol of the bicentennial, presented a patriotic talk weaving many of the slogans and catch words of our nation's history into his theme.

Alpha Chi Plans Booth At Market

The Alpha Chi chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha will have a booth at the Flea Market Sale to be held Saturday and Sunday at Maybelle's Antiques, 1617 E. Third. The chapter will display bicentennial and Christmas items for sale.

Members made final plans for the sale at the Monday evening meeting held in the home of Mrs. Charles Campbell, 1506 Cherokee. Mrs. Frank Perry presided during the business meeting.

The chapter received an invitation from the Midland Epsilon Sigma Alpha chapters to attend the District VIII meeting to be held Sunday at the Midland Country Club. Ms. Rosie Ware, state president of the sorority, will attend the meeting.

Members approved plans to help with the Christmas party for the adolescent patients at the Big Spring State Hospital on Dec. 16.

Patients of the Veterans Administration Hospital were taken refreshments on Oct. 6 by the sorority members.

The next meeting will be the first of a three-part rush series and will be held at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 27 in the home of Mrs. Glen McDaniel, 2700 24th.

Square Dance To Be Held On Saturday

Everyone interested in square dancing is welcome to attend a "Tacky Dance" sponsored by the Big Spring Squares at 8 p.m. Saturday. The dance will be held at the Squares Corral on Driver Road.

Those attending are encouraged to wear informal attire.

James More will be the caller for the dance.

Model Meeting Held By Sorority

A model meeting for prospective new members was held by Alpha Kappa Omicron chapter of Beta Sigma Phi on Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Jan Sims.

Mrs. Jane O'Brien and Mrs. Penny Stancil were introduced as guests.

The guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. Gail Berringer, kindergarten teacher at Baptist Temple Day Care Center.

International news was read by Mrs. Sims concerning the Legacy program which enables members to enroll young girls into Beta Sigma Phi. Anyone wishing to enroll a daughter, niece or other young girl is welcome to submit their names to Mrs. Sims.

Mrs. Charla Huckabay, president, announced the preliminary plans for the state convention to be held in Houston June 18-20.

In keeping with the model meeting, each committee chairman told the function of her committee for the benefit of the guests.

A decorating committee was organized for the Valentine Ball planned for Feb. 14. Discussion followed concerning the number of tickets to be sold and their price.

A progressive Mexican dinner was held last Friday evening. The party was for couples of the sorority and for prospective members and their husbands. Three main courses were served in three different homes.

The next meeting of the sorority will be Oct. 28 in the home of Mrs. Cathy Myers, 2512 Carol.

IOOF, Rebekah Members Attend District Meeting

Eleven members of the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 and of the International Order of Odd Fellows Lodge No. 372 presented the Association officers at the District II meeting of the West Texas IOOF and Rebekah Association. The meeting was held Saturday in Odessa at the IOOF Hall. Odessa city councilman Glenn Brown gave the welcoming address.

Some of the Rebekahs that introduced the Association officers reported on the meeting at their lodge meeting Tuesday evening in the Big Spring IOOF Hall.

Mrs. Maudie Jones presided at the business meeting.

Twenty members welcomed Mrs. Gladys Sudberry and Mrs. Mabel Morrison as guests.

The Rebekahs approved plans to have a bicentennial box supper the evening of Nov. 13 in the IOOF Hall. Rebekahs will wear old-fashioned long dresses with Odd Fellows attired in blue jeans and work shirts. The homemade box suppers will be auctioned off to the highest bidders.

Members reported a number of sick calls and visits.

Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Margi Norwood furnished refreshments.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the IOOF Hall.

Glass Club Slates Show On Saturday

The Permian Basin Depression Glass Club will celebrate its second anniversary with a show and sale to be held Saturday at St. Luke's United Methodist Church in Odessa. The sale will last from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The public is invited to attend.

The Permian Basin Depression Glass Club is the only organization in West Texas devoted to the study of this form of glass.

THE POLYPROPYLENES have taken the world of home decor by storm. And if you don't think any polyprophylenes have taken you by storm lately, it may be because you didn't hear them called that. They're also called olefin fibers.

Still sound strange? Well, you've seen them and walked on them even if you don't have them yet in your home . . . for these are the most popular of the new indoor-outdoor and kitchen carpets.

You've seen them in stores and supermarkets, in magazines and displays. They are extremely resistant to crushing and wear. They are totally nonabsorbent, so spills and soil wipe away easily, and even rain and snow won't harm them outdoors.

The result of the appearance of polypropylenes has been the new look of carpet throughout the house, adding comfort, quiet and beauty to kitchens, halls, patios, recreation or family rooms or hobby rooms. These new carpets are here to stay!

Come in and see the selection of kitchen and indoor-outdoor carpeting in our showroom displays. You can install it yourself, or leave it to our experts. Either way, you'll be delighted at the bright new beauty that can be yours for so very little.

Court Reverses Murder Conviction

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, in a 3-2 decision, today reversed the murder conviction of Manuel Gardenas Gamboa in the June 30, 1969, slaying of his sister-in-law because the jury was not told that the evidence against him was circumstantial.

Gamboa, who had received a 13-year prison sentence, now has the right to a new trial if the Harris County district attorney chooses to prosecute again.

He was convicted in the shooting death of Minnie G. Gamboa, his sister-in-law. His wife, Maria Gamboa, was shot to death in the same incident.

One of Minnie Gamboa's children said she heard four shots and saw Gamboa place a pistol in his pocket. She said she could not see her mother from that position.

Gamboa gathered up his five children and left for Colorado in a stolen truck, case records show. He was arrested shortly afterward.

At his trial, his niece could not identify the pistol placed in evidence as the one Gamboa put in his pocket. A balistics expert said he could not determine that the bullets came from the weapon.

"The evidence against appellant was thus circumstantial. While the circumstances adduced strongly suggested his guilt, there was no direct evidence .... No one saw appellant fire the fatal shots. Nor was there direct evidence that the bullet which killed the deceased came from the weapon later taken from appellant," the court said.

And this, it declared, required the judge to include in his charge to the jury the fact that the case was based only on circumstantial evidence.

Judges W. A. Morrison and Leon Douglas dissented, with Douglas angrily asserting the court majority had reversed on "a frivolous, far-fetched ground."

"When there is no reasonable suggestion that anyone else could have committed the murder of Minnie Gamboa at a distance of four inches from her head except appellant, why does the majority reverse this conviction?" Douglas said.

"Jurors of today," he said, "are usually educated. They are able to consider the evidence such as in this case without the judge having to tell them that no one saw the appellant pull the trigger."

Douglas said the court was rendering such decisions more and more often, and "now it appears that the majority considers a circumstantial evidence charge sacrosanct unless an eyewitness testifies to every element in the case."

DAVID ZANT

MARK SHEEDY

Clifton Webb Has Lead Role In Coward Comedy

The first of two performances of "Blithe Spirit," a farce featuring Hawk Players, is only a little more than a week away.

The Noel Coward comedy, an outstanding hit on Broadway, later made into a motion picture, is scheduled Friday and Saturday nights, Oct. 24-25, in the Howard College Auditorium.

Admission prices will be $2.50 for adults and $1 for students and can be purchased at the door. No seats will be reserved.

Cindy McDonald takes the role of Edith, the part Jacqueline Clark played in the original New York cast. Debbie Martin becomes Ruth, the part assumed by Peggy Wood on Broadway.

Clifton Webb of screen fame assumed the role of Charles in the original New York production. Lee Gordon has that part in the production here.

Dr. Bradman is played by David Zant here — on Broadway Phillip Tonge slipped into the role. Robin von Rosenberg becomes Violet Bradman in the local cast. On Broadway, Phyllis Joyce had the part. Mildred Natwick, later to become one of TV's "Snoop Sisters," was Madame Arcati in the Broadway production. In the local play, Kay Hepner has that role. Jan Cass adapts to the role of Elvira in the local play. On Broadway, Leonora Corbett had the role.

Most theater buffs are familiar with the story line. The writer conceived of the notion of a man happily married to his second wife who is suddenly confronted with the ghost of his first wife. The ghost calmly announces that she intends to live with the couple indefinitely.

Zant (Dr. Bradman) is a freshman at Howard College, majoring in agriculture. While attending Sands High School in Ackerly, he was listed in the eighth annual edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students (1973-74).

David was active in his high school's Future Farmers of America group, the drama club, varsity football and basketball, the annual staff, student council and was a class officer.

Mark Sheedy serves as stage manager of the production. He is an HC sophomore, majoring in technical theater. A Big Spring native, he has many dramatic productions to his credit.

During high school, he was on the stage crew and did lighting for "Sound of Music" and "The Mouse That Roared." He was stage manager for "David and Lisa," "Tom Jones," "Flowers for Algernon," "Tell-Tale Heart" and "She Stoops to Conquer."

He has also worked on numerous productions at HC and played the lead role in "Come Blow Your Horn." He has attended numerous dramatic clinics, is a member of the National Thespian Society and Delta Psi Omega, honorary theatrical organizations. He is president and past vice president of the Hawk Players.

Trick List Used In Dallas Trial

DALLAS (AP) — A list of 1,700 alleged clients, including the names of attorneys, executives and law enforcement officers, has been introduced as evidence in the trial of Virgil John Etchieson, charged with aggravated promotion of prostitution.

Sgt. Roger Duncan, a Dallas vice control officer, testified in state district court Tuesday that the so-called "trick lists" were found during a search of Etchieson's plush two-story home near Lewisville in Denton County.

Duncan said the lists included information about the clients, such as their occupations, telephone numbers and dates they had called for prostitutes.

The occupations included several criminal defense attorneys, two Dallas County sheriff's deputies, a Highland Park police officer, and a news executive.

Etchieson was arrested two days after seven women, who allegedly were employed by him, went to a Dallas hotel to fill dates of prostitution with men later identified as police officers.

Sgt. B.F. Fowler, a Dallas vice control office, testified he arranged the meeting by telephone. After each woman was paid $200, Fowler said, he transmitted a message via a wireless body microphone to other officers in a nearby room. The officers then burst into the rooms and arrested the seven women.

Also testifying Tuesday was Brenda Russell, 21, who said she met Etchieson early this year, moved into his residence, and began working for him as a prostitute.

She said she made about $1,500 during the three to four weeks she worked for Etchieson, but gave all the money to the defendant. She said Etchieson agreed to take care of her finances, gave her a car and allowed her to live in his residence.

Other testimony indicated the women made $50 to $200 per appointment.
