City businessman 'stable' following horse kick injury

...ler businessman Jerry McWilliams, who has served stints as both a city council member and school board trustee, was seriously injured Saturday afternoon after apparently being kicked in the face by a horse.

McWilliams, manager and owner of Burgess-McWilliams Pharmacy here, remained in stable but serious condition Monday morning in the intensive care unit of St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock. He underwent surgery there early Sunday morning, with bone fragments and a blood clot removed from the brain area, family members say.

The accident occurred around 4:30 p.m. Saturday at a family farm located some six miles southwest of town adjacent to the Big Spring Highway.

McWilliams' wife Paula and his niece Laurie were in the area with him when the accident happened. They summoned help to the scene.

McWillaims was first stabilized at the emergency room at Cogdell Memorial Hospital before being air-lifted by emergency helicopter to St. Mary's.

His brother Larry said Monday morning that the horse was being ridden by his daughter Laurie, but that she experienced trouble with it.

Jerry came to her assistance and told her to go to a corral area while he rode the horse in. She later told family members that the last time she saw her uncle, he had mounted the horse.

She then went to the corrals--a distance of perhaps 100 yards--and

In Brief

To buy AMC

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. and France's Renault have signed a letter of intent under which the No. 3 U.S. automaker would buy ailing American Motors Corp., the companies said today.

Under the plan, Chrysler would buy all outstanding shares in AMC.

"This is an agreement in principle. Much work remains to be done before the deal is complete," said Chrysler Chairman Lee Iacocca.

French government-owned Renault holds a 46.1 percent interest in AMC, which in fourth-quarter 1986 earned its first profit in two years.

Chrysler still must reach a specific agreement with Renault, obtain government approvals and obtain approval of the AMC board of directors, Iacocca said.

Award stands

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today let stand a $1.4 million award to the family of a Texas ranch foreman killed mistakenly by police while they chased a suspected kidnapper.

The court, without comment, left intact a ruling that four Borger, Texas, police officers and the city government must pay the damage award to James C. Grandstaff's family.

Inquiry called for into ferry mishap

LONDON–Water that capsized the ferry Herald of Free Enterprise off Belgium surged through its loading doors, and a crewman is blaming himself for the disaster, the British vessel's owners said.

Paul Ovington, spokesman for shipowners Townsend Thoresen, said Sunday the company has "accepted that the cause of the accident is somthing to do with the doors."

"That is how the water rushed in because there is not other hole in the ship," he said.

But he added: "Even if the doors were open, it is for the public inquiry to decide whether that was the only factor."

The ferry rolled onto its side Friday night outside the North Sea port of Zeebrugge as water flooded the hull. Officials say 53 bodies have been recovered but 82 people are still missing and believed dead.

British Transport Secretary John Moore was scheduled to make a statement to Parliament today about the disaster.

Ferry salvage begins

ZEEBRUGGE, Belgium (AP) — About 50 survivors and their relatives gathered at St. Donaas church today to pray for those killed in the capsizing of a British ferry and give thanks for their own deliverance.

Salvage crews, meanwhile, welded steel rings to the half-sunken Herald of Free Enterprise so that it can be righted and scores of bodies believed trapped inside retrieved.

Olivier Vanneste, governor of West Flanders province, told reporters today that 409 of the 543 people aboard the ferry when it tipped over Friday night survived the accident. He said 81 were missing. Fifty-three bodies had been recovered as of midday.

On Sunday, officials had said 408 people survived and that 82 were missing.

The 20-minute ecumenical church service was held 400 yards from the makeshift morgue in the town basketball court where victims of the disaster were being identified by relatives.

Twenty-six bodies had been identified by midday today.

"The service was very moving," said Richard Third, the Anglican Bishop of Dover, who led the service along with Roman Catholic Bishop Roger Vangheluwe of Bruges. "It was very simple. But there were deep emotions."

Offshore salvage crews, including divers, continued to work on the ferry. From a tugboat, reporters could see the nets that were stretched across the bow and the stern Sunday to prevent florsam from drifting away.

Dirk Kaakebeen, a spokesman for the Dutch salvaging company Smit Tak, said about 50 workers are welding "hoisting points" to the hull of the ferry, which is lying on its side on a sandbar about 1,000 yards offshore. They started the work Sunday.

Kaakebeen said it will probably be two weeks before the task begins of pulling the ferry upright with steel cables attached to the loops.

Overflow at center reported

Senior Citizens Center Director Jerry Baird discussed possible expansion of center facilities with county commissioners during their regular session Monday.

He noted that improvements are needed due to "overflow crowds" in the dining area each day. The numbers also strain the kitchen facilities' capabilities.

The center now serves 175 to 200 persons per day including some 50 individuals through the Meals on Wheels program.

Baird also said that an increase in families requesting assistance through the commodities program has created the need for space during the distribution dates and a need for additional storage space.

Among proposals offered to create additional space were expanding the kitchen area from the west side; relocating county and state offices which currently utilize a portion of the facility and renovating the area for use by the center; or relocating the center's board room on the east side of the kitchen for expansion.

Although court members took no action Monday, they authorized Baird to check the price of a walk-in freezer now available for possible purchase for the center.

Commissioners will meet with Baird again at a later date.

The court also Monday tabled a request by Nolan County Judge Terry Julian to pass a resolution opposing the move of the regional health center from Abilene to Lubbock.

The unanimous decision was reached after local court

Banker Spikes facing 10-year jail sentence

LUBBOCK (AP)--Sam W. Spikes, a once-prominent figure in West Texas banking circles, was sentenced to 10 years in prison and fined $12,000 Friday after pleading guilty to fraud.

Spikes, 46, a Snyder native and currently a salesman near Houston, at one time was chairman of the First National Bank in Snyder. That bank was closed by federal regulators in May, 1984.

Spikes also controlled banks in Seminole, Brownfield, Lubbock, Denver City and Grapevine.

Spikes pleaded guilty to fraud conspiracy, aiding misappliction of funds loaned to directors of Brownfield State Bank by Brownfield Savings and Loan; fraudulently wiring $250,000 obtained in a New Mexico land deal into one of his checking accounts; and mailing a fraudulent letter to hinder discovery of the scam.

"There's no question that you were a key player in the whole matter," U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward told Spikes upon sentencing. "Nor is there a question as to the seriousness of your crimes..."

"I never intended to hurt anybody," Spikes told Woodward.

Spikes was fined the maximum amount and given two consecutive five-year terms. He could have received up to 20 years in prison.

Gary Hart to Baptist congregation: country now facing many scandals

HOUSTON (AP)--Former Sen. Gary Hart, a potential candidate for the 1988 Democratic presidential nomination, says the Iran-Contra affair is just one of several scandals facing the country.

Hart, on a three-day tour of Texas, told about 250 black Baptist church members Sundays that finding cuts in school lunch programs, the undermining of civil rights commissions and a shortage of student loans are also "scandals."

The United States, he said needs a "Reawakening of the idea of justice," to combat its problems.

Hart received applause from the church congregation when he also blasted what he termed the nation's continued tolerance of the minority white-dominated government in South Africa.

"We have not pursued our democratic ideals and beliefs around the world," he said.

TransAfrica fires shot across Bob Dole's bow

WASHINGTON (AP) — All in all, it's been such a satisfying winter for Bob Dole that you can almost picture the Senate Republican leader with his feet up on his desk, daydreaming of springtime in the Rose Garden. He's riding high — so high that he's ridden into Randall Robinson's line of sight.

Robinson has directed a "negative ad" at Dole for his votes against South African sanctions. Dole surely knows that the last politician challenged by Robinson's TransAfrica lobby was Ronald Reagan — and Reagan lost.

Among Republicans who would like to be elected president in 1988, Dole has benefitted most from the political impact of the Iran-Contra affair.

The sale of arms to Iran has hurt George Bush. The vice president has dropped in the polls: in all-important Iowa, he's actually trailing Dole.

"There's a lot of movement and a lot of it's coming our way," Dole said in Georgia over the weekend, noting just for the record he was "not in the White House and not in the NSC (National Security Council)."

Meanwhile, the Kemp campaign seems to be stagnating — so much so that Republican activists are talking about a newspaper editorial that reportedly referred to the New York congressman as Jack "still stuck at 7 percent" Kemp.

Perhaps the best news for Dole was simply Howard Baker's decision to run Reagan's White House and give up his own 1988 presidential ambitions. Baker was not favored to win the Republican nomination — many party stalwarts consider him a tad too moderate — but he shares the Senate leadership persona with Dole and would have cut into Dole's constituency.

Baker's biggest supporter had been Sen. Warren Rudman of New Hampshire, who now says, "You're right in assuming I'm leaning towards Bob Dole."

Bush's problems and Baker's decision have given Dole an opportunity to concentrate his efforts on improving relations with GOP conservatives, some of whom consider him too pragmatic and not ideological enough.

Late last month, Dole reminded the Conservative Political Action Conference that he was one of just 19 Republicans who supported the president in his attempt to block legislation clamping sanctions on South Africa.

AP analysis

It drew cheers from the conservatives — a group whose support he needs to win nomination.

All in all, it's hard to think of a cloud on Dole's horizon, but Randall Robinson has provided at least a puff.

Robinson runs TransAfrica, a group which lobbied successfully last year to override President Reagan's veto. The group organized the protests in front of the South African Embassy that helped spark an anti-apartheid movement that led some universityies and corporations to divest from South Africa.

Now the group has produced a newspaper ad which shows a smiling Bob Dole and describes him as "one of the faces behind apartheid" because of his votes against sanctions and his ties to John Sears, a political consultant whose firm is a registered lobbyist for Pretoria.

The ad ran in the Wichita Eagle-Beacon and Robinson said his group might try to buy space in other publications outside Dole's home state.

Dole said in response that his Senate leadership position sometimes forced him to take unpopular positions and said of TransAfrica, "They can do what they want. I think it's shortsighted. They may have another bill they need some help on."

That's vintage Dole — quick, blunt, pragmatic.

Handbook Is Source of Help For Families of Mentally Ill

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1987 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR READERS: In 1982 the Group for the Advancement of Psychiatry, of which I am an honorary lifetime consultant, invited me to join its Committee on Psychiatry and the Community, whose current project was to study the problems of caring for a mentally ill family member at home. GAP's 200 members are among the nation's most eminent psychiatrists, and I felt privileged to sit among them. Eager to contribute, I ran the following in my column:

"CONFIDENTIAL TO MY READERS: If a family member has been diagnosed as 'mentally ill' and is living at home, please write and tell me what problems this has created for you. Your firsthand experiences are needed for an important study."

My readers didn't let me down. I received hundreds of letters, relating in detail what family life is like with a chronically mentally ill person to care for at home. They described their weariness, anger, grief and shame, their sacrifices and round-the-clock responsibilities, the emotional strain and the financial drain of caring for a mentally ill child or adult.

Many said they felt frustrated and disappointed in their doctors, the government agencies, and the legal red tape encountered when asking for assistance.

The message of these letters was loud and clear. The families of the chronically mentally ill cannot carry the burden alone. Nor should they be expected to. Many of their letters were 20 and 30 pages long — written, a few pages at a time, over a period of weeks. Some were tear-stained.

I read them all, then passed them along to the psychiatrists who answered each one in an effort to help these family members cope with their problems.

These psychiatrists, who had been trained to remain emotionally detached from the problems of their patients, read the letters in stunned silence. Some wept openly.

Their study took four years to complete. After reading the final report, I was so impressed with its content and clarity, that I suggested they offer it as a handbook to psychiatrists, psychologists and psychiatric social workers, as well as family members who must care for a chronically mentally ill child or adult at home.

The members of the committee agreed, and a book was born. The title: "A Family Affair: Helping Families Cope With Mental Illness." It is now in most bookstores, priced at $9.95. If your bookstore does not have it, it can be obtained by sending (check or money order) $10 plus $1 for postage and handling to: Brunner/Mazel Publishers, 19 Union Square West, New York, N.Y. 10003. (New York residents must add the appropriate taxes.)

The foreward of this book was written by Shirley Starr, a past president of the National Alliance for the Mentally Ill. She said (in part): "This is a book about how family members deal with mentally ill relatives, and what they need in order to continue in their heroic tasks. The reports of their experiences, conveyed in the stark and honest language of alternating despair and courage, bridge the distance between the two groups of caregivers: families and professionals.

"The visible effects of those letters on the committee members provided a rare moment of communion with me, and a better understanding of my experiences and those of other families. This book is an important contribution."

And finally, dear readers, I am deeply indebted to those of you who took the time to tell your painful stories in order that others might learn from them.

Four children die in house fire

GREENVILLE, Texas (AP) — Fire officials say four of eight children left alone in a one-story frame house died in a fire that swept through the structure near downtown in this North Texas city.

A fifth child, an infant, was in critical condition today at Parkland Burn Center in Dallas.

Three children escaped the blaze and ran to a neighbor's home for help.

Greenville Fire Chief Dorsey Driggers said the cause of the fire, reported just before midnight Saturday, has not been determined.

Pleasure boat sinks, one dead

PORT MANSFIELD, Texas (AP) A 21-foot pleasure boat with seven aboard capsized in rough surf off Port Mansfield, causing the death of a woman and the disappearance of her husband when he tried to resuce her, the Coast Guard said.

Names of the couple were withheld pending notification of next of kin, but they were from McAllen, officials said.

The survivors were identified as boat operator Terry Urdal and passengers Benjamin Perez, Tom Shawhan, and Debra and Thomas Guerra, all of McAllen.

A spokesman for the Coast Guard at Corpus Christi said the inboard-outboard motorboat capsized at about 10:40 a.m. Sunday in the gulf of Mexico between the jetties at Port Mansfield, about 80 miles south of Corpus Christi.

Six of the passengers swam ashore, but a man swam back to help his wife when he realized she was missing. He disappeared in the surf during his attempt to save her, the Coast Guard spokesman said.

The woman made it to shore alive a few minutes later and was transported by Coast Guard helicopter to an ambulance in Port Mansfield, which took her to Valley Baptist Hospital in Harlingen for treatment, he said.

A nursing supervisor for the hospital said the woman was pronounced dead shortly after arriving at the hospital. The operator of the boat and the remaining passengers were treated and released, she said.

False advertising

By James Jacoby

A Swiss team event is a series of short matches (usually seven deals each). One significant deal can therefore have an overwhelming effect on the outcome.

When today's deal came up as the final hand of a match, South knew his team was behind. Although he was playing strong no-trumps (15-17), he upgraded his three 10s and bid one no-trump with only 14 points. The response was a transfer bid, and when South dutifully bid four spades, his partner, who also knew they were behind in the match, simply jumped to the slam — a reasonable approach if one is desperate. If the opponents can take two diamond tricks, they may not judge to lead the suit. Here a diamond lead would have solved declarer's problem immediately, but no such luck.

After winning the club lead, South drew trumps, along the way cashing the heart ace and ruffing two hearts in dummy. He also played out all his high clubs and a few more trumps. Eventually he had to lead a diamond. Since the defenders had not fallen asleep, it had early become apparent to them that South's view of the diamond position would be crucial. Cleverly attempting to hoodwink South, West signaled early with the diamond 10, as if he had the ace. So what should declarer play when East follows low on a low diamond from dummy?

In fact, declarer went right up with the king and made his contract. He followed a very good rule. When your experienced opponent acts as though he has a key card (here, the diamond ace), you'd better believe that he does not have it.

A new book by James Jacoby and his father, the late Oswald Jacoby, is now available at bookstores. It is "Jacoby on Card Games," published by Pharos Books.

Buffalo's clergy urged to be cautious after second slaying

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Buffalo Roman Catholic priests have been urged not to let strangers into their homes after two inner-city priests in 12 days have been found stabbed to death in their rectories, but some clerics refuse to isolate themselves.

"We're basically trusting people and people of faith and I expect that will still govern our actions," said the Rev. Ron Bagienski of Holy Apostles Church.

Police found the body of Monsignor David P. Herlihy, 74, early Sunday at the St. Matthew's Church rectory. The Rev. A. Joseph Bissonette, 55, was found dead Feb. 24 at the St. Bartholemew's Church rectory, a 10-minute walk away.

"There are similarities in these cases and, naturally, we are looking into this very closely," said Chief of Detectives Angelo P. Alessandra.

Police Commissioner Ralph V. Degenhart urged other priests not to let strangers into their homes, especially at night.

Bishop Edward D. Head of the Buffalo Diocense warned priests to "take all possible precautions to ensure their safety," said a diocesan spokesman, the Rev. David Lee.

Lee acknowledged, however, that while a priest can be careful, he "can't isolate himself from those in the parish who need him." The diocese covers eight western New York counties with 850,000 Roman Catholics, or 50 percent of the population.

Monsignor William Schwinger of St. Louis's Church said the slayings had given him a "feeling of oppression."

Fact and opinion about eye care

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR READERS — A recent column on optometry drew comments — both pro and con — from a number of eye-care specialists. Following are two typical letters — and my response.

First, from an ophthalmologist (M.D.):

DEAR DR. GOTT — You recently described the difference between an ophthalmologist (M.D.) and an optometrist (O.D.) and stated that eye disease should be managed by an ophthalmologist. I agree. We ophthalmologists frequently see patients with far-advanced glaucoma who have been misdiagnosed by optometrists. Your answer was to the point and provided excellent advice. However, you probably have had letters from many optometrists who disagree with this.

Next, from an optometrist:

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm an optometrist, and I'd like to clarify (and correct) information you gave recently regarding optometrists' training and skills.

First, optometrists are required to spend four years in optometry school — not two years, as you stated. In addition, most optometry school students have more than two years of college before they enter optometry school (although two years is the minimum requirement).

An optometrist's role isn't as limited as you describe. Optometrists provide primary eye care — testing eyes and prescribing corrective vision lenses and therapy (eye exercises). However, we also are thoroughly trained in diagnosing eye disease and health problems that can cause eye symptoms (such as diabetes and high blood pressure). Some states permit optometrists to treat eye diseases by means of prescription drugs. We also refer patients to ophthalmologists and other specialists when necessary — and in some cases, we work closely with the ophthalmologist in managing a patient's eye care.

In short: Optometrists receive six to eight years of training (not four, as you stated), and their role is more extensive than you describe.

DEAR DOCTORS — It's true that optometrists spend four years in optometry school; the two-year program was phased out several years ago. According to the American Optometric Association, only 7 percent of optometry-school students have just two years of college; in 1985-86, 93 percent had three or more years of college behind them before they entered optometry school.

Optometry is defined as "the practice of testing the eyes for ability to focus and see and prescribing corrective lenses and vision therapy."

Optometrists do perform a valuable service by providing primary eye care and referring patients to specialists when necessary. In some states, they are licensed to prescribe medication to treat eye diseases; most states permit them to use pharmaceuticals for diagnostic purposes. The AOA notes that optometrists and ophthalmologists do work together closely (and amicably) in some cases, and says that any "professional rivalry" exists primarily at the organizational level.

However — despite these facts — I believe that the diagnosis and treatment of eye disease should be done by an ophthalmologist.

First, an ophthalmologist receives 11 to 12 years of training, compared with the six to eight years required of an optometrist. Second, the states vary widely in defining what an optometrist may do, while the ophthalmologist's role does not vary from one state to another. Therefore, it's simply not true that the only difference between an optometrist and an ophthalmologist is that an ophthalmologist can perform surgery.

Optometrists are trained to diagnose and treat vision problems. Ophthalmologists are trained to diagnose and treat eye disease. If their roles and training didn't differ, there would be no need to have two distinct specialists: the O.D. (optometrist) and the M.D. (ophthalmologist).

Netters 2nd in tourney

SWEETWATER -- Michael Risenhoover and Michael Rodriguez were runnersup in doubles play as Snyder tennis team placed second overall in the Sweetwater Tournament, held here last weekend.

Sweetwater won the tournament with 116 points while Snyder got 83 and San Angelo Lake View managed 80. Big Spring took fourth with 71 points, Plainview fifth with 69, Colorado City sixth with 44, Sweetwater JV seventh with 26 and Coleman eighth with 16.

The finish by Risenhoover and Rodriquez netted 15 points for Snyder. Third place finishers - garnering 13 points - were Deone Farmer in girls singles and Shawna Chrane and Michelle Osborn in girls doubles.

Complete results posted by Snyder individuals will appear in a later edition of The Snyder Daily News.

Local cards hole-in-one

Ron DeBruin shot a hole-in-one over the weekend at Western Texas College golf course.

DeBruin used an 8-iron to hit the cup on No. 6 from 130 yards away. It was his first hole-in-one.

Playing with DeBruin were Danny Brumley, Kelly Ragland and Eddie Stewart.

JV splits with Cooper

Snyder junior varsity baseball team is 1-2 on the season after splitting with Abilene Cooper on Saturday.

The young Tigers will play again Tuesday, entertaining Midland Lee at 5 p.m.

Snyder opened its season with a 17-14 loss to Brownfield on Friday, then fell 15-5 to Abilene in the first game of a twinbill.

Snyder got its runs on seven hits but made eight errors in the game. Abilene had 15 hits.

Shane McCarter took the loss. Leading hitters for the Cats were Lee Hamilton, who went three-for-three with a double, and Randy Morris, who went three-for-four.

Snyder won the second game 12-6, getting 11 hits and seven walks. Roy Gutierrez picked up the victory. Top hitters were McCarter three-for-four, Morris, two-for-three, Tracy Braziel, two-for-four with two doubles, and Willie Garcia, two-for-three with a triple.

"I give great credit to our guys for coming back in the second game," said Coach Montgomery. "They really played well and eliminated some of their mistakes. We are looking better every time we take the field."

Lee second-team choice

Western Texas sophomore Alvin Lee has been named to the Second Team All-Region V basketball team.

Lee, the nation's leading junior college scorer with a 34.6 season average, had earlier been selected All-WJCAC for the second straight season. He is a 6-1 sophomore from Richmond, Va.

Midland College, which won the Region V Tournament last Saturday with a 101-84 victory over Texas State Technical Institute, placed only one player on the team - 6-1 sophomore Daron (Mookie) Blaylock. New Mexico Junior College's Richard Hollis, a 6-5 sophomore and MVP of the Western Conference, was also named to the squad, as was South Plains' Darryl Knight, a 6-3 sophomore.

Second-team choices were Lee, Johnnie Hilliard of NMJC, Greg Colbert of South Plains, Todd Duncan of Midland, Jeff Boutelle of Weatherford and Bobby Knorr of Cisco.

Third-team choices were Darrin O'Bryant of Ranger, Terry Winston of TSTI, Billy Ray Smith of Midland, Carl Love of McLennan, James Carson of Weatherford and Dennis Rhodes of Howard.

Dusters pair all-region

Earlier chosen All-Western Conference, the pair helped lead Western Texas to a WJCAC championship.

Welch, the WJCAC most vaulable player, was the only unanimous choice on the 10-member All-Region V squad. It was the second time Welch, a 5-11 talent from Jennings, La., has been named all-region.

Other sophomores named all-region were Linda Banks, 6-4 from Odessa; Patrice Purvey, 5-11 from Odessa; Leona Gerber, 5-6 from South Plains; Gwen Westbrook, 5-10 from Grayson; Jeannie Conde, 5-10 from McLennan and Jeannia Nix, 5-9 sophomore from Cisco.

Freshmen were Stefanie Massie, 5-11 from Howard; and Kelly Schilling, 5-10 from South Plains.

Times better this week...

Tiger thinclads improving

ANDREWS -- Snyder's Terry Garza improved last week's high jump effort by four inches to place second in that event at the Mustang Relays here Saturday.

Garza, who had gone 5-10 at Wolfforth, sailed 6-2. Snyder also finished fifth and sixth in the event.

Chris Garrett, who cleared 6-4 a week ago, went 6-0 this time despite suffering pain from a sore heel. Daniel Chasteen cleared 5-10 for sixth.

"Chris was hurting but he wanted to try anyway. He did a good job, considering," said Snyder track coach Kevin Wiseman.

Overall, the Tigers scored 28 points to place eighth in the nine-team field.

Big Spring won with 144 points.

"I think we showed improvement," said Wiseman. "We knocked four seconds off of our mile relay time and was running pretty well in the sprint relay until we were DQed (disqualified). Thance Springer almost made the finals in the shot put and Michael Riggins was having trouble with the foul line in the long jump and didn't qualify, but he was jumping about 20 feet which is good."

Snyder's 1600 relay team of Jeff Rose, Riggins, Dan Krenek and Craig Watkins took third place with a 3:36.9. The 400 relay squad was "fourth or fifth and running pretty well" but handed off out of the zone and was disqualified.

"We're still hunting for the right combination there, but I think we're going to do well once we get the right four together and they have worked at it some," said Wiseman.

In other events, Watkins finished fifth in the 300 intermediate hurdles with a 44.1. He had timed a 42.8 in the prelims.

Also, Charles Guynes cleared 11-0 for sixth place in the pole vault.

In junior varsity competition, Jason Presley was fourth in the high jump with a 5-8 and he joined Darren McCowen, Bert Merritt and Jimmy Taylor to take sixth in the 400 relay. Also, Louis Alaniz was sixth in the 3200 meters.

"We didn't get many points in the junior varsity division but they put all the 4A and 5A teams together and in some ways it was probably tougher than our (varsity) division," pointed out Wiseman. "I thought we did real well compared to the 4A junior varsity teams."

Snyder is idle this weekend and will host the Canyon Reef Relays on March 21.

"Hopefully this will help us. It gives the kids a mental break. Some of them will be working out on their own this week. It will be interesting to see how we do when we come back," noted the coach.

Lady Tigers win three 1sts; place fifth at Concho Belle

SAN ANGELO -- Snyder's Lady Tigers continued to standout in several events as they competed in their second track meet of the season - the Concho Belle Relays - here Saturday.

Katrina Reed turned in a clocking of 26.36 to win the 200 meters for the second straight week while Donna Clay captured the shot put with a throw of 34-9½.

Snyder's 800-meter relay team of Sandra Powell, Sharnette Thompson, Kim Koening and Reed also placed first, running a 1:50.84. The time was nine seconds faster than the Tigers had run last week at Wolfforth.

"Our times were a whole lot better from last week and that's what we are looking for, to improve each week," said Coach Patty Grimmett. "I was real proud of the girls."

Snyder was without several regulars, but placed fifth in the meet with 64 points.

Abilene Wylie won the meet with 137 points. San Angelo Lake View was second with 126, followed by Hereford with 82 and Big Spring with 78.

Snyder's girls will compete in Hereford this Saturday, March 14.

An indication of how the Tigers improved was shown by Melissa Williams, who soared to an SHS school record of 5-1 in the high jump. She placed fourth in the event.

Koening placed third in the 800 meters with a time of 2:34.43.

Snyder's 400 relay team of Powell, Clay, Michelle Pilgrim and Sharnette Thompson was sixth with a 54.15.

Melody Pickering ran a fourth place time of 65.46 in the 400 meters. Thompson would have taken fifth in the 200 meters, but was disqualified for running out of her lane.

Snyder's makeshift 1600 relay squad of Dana Fenton, Nichole Overman, Koening and Reed ran a 4:26.0 for fourth place. Fenton subbed for Pickering, who sat out the race with a minor ankle injury.

This Saturday's event in Hereford will start with field events at 8:45 a.m. Running prelims get the starter's gun at 8 a.m. Finals are slated for 2 p.m.

Snyder girls will join the Tiger boys to host the Canyon Reef Relays at Tiger Stadium on March 21.

Both teams will participate in the Big Spring Relays on April 4 before gearing up for the April 10 District 2-4A Championships in Andrews.

Snyder boys compete in Andrews golf event

ANDREWS -- Snyder High School boys golf team shot a 706 during the 36-hole Andrews Invitational Golf Tournament, held here last Friday and Saturday.

No other team scores were available except for Lamesa, which shot a 776.

"We competed with most of the other teams in our district real well and we improved considerably," said Coach Mackey Greene.

Friday's play was under ideal skies but the weather turned windy and cold Saturday. The Tigers shot a 344 on Friday and a 362 Saturday.

Wade Hatter paced the Tigers' effort with scores of 77 and 91 for a 168. Mike Trull shot 86-88--174 and Marc McQueen turned in 84-94--178. David Holley shot 97-89--186. Chad Sellars shot 103-95--198.

The Tigers will play again Thursday and Friday in the San Angelo Invitational.

NCAA tournament field set

MISSION, Kan. (AP) - Every year after they unveil the bracket for the 64-team NCAA Basketball Tournament, selection committee members feel like ducking their heads and running for cover.

"We expect we're going to get criticized by a lot of different people," said Gene Corrigan, Notre Dame athletic director and a senior member of the nine-man panel. "There were a lot of schools we tortured over at the end. There were seven or eight schools we had right on the line that didn't get in. I suspect we'll hear from them. Every year at this time, some controversy is just guaranteed."

Putting Big Ten co-champion Purdue in the East Regional at Syracuse as the No. 3 seed also is certain to cause outrage. It opens the possibility for the Boilermakers to play a first- or second-round opponent on the opponent's home court for the third straight year.

And then there's the Metro Conference, which rolled the dice and lost its automatic qualifier. Memphis State, on probation and ineligible for the NCAA Tournament, was allowed by conference officials to play in the Metro postseason tournament.

The Tigers won the tournament; which is supposed to determine the Metro's automatic NCAA entry. When that happened, the committee decided not to take any Metro teams at all.

Purdue's fate was sealed, Corrigan said, when the Boilermakers got blown out 104-68 by Michigan in their Big Ten finale on Saturday. Indiana, which tied Purdue for the Big Ten title, ended up the No. 1 seed in the Midwest Regional.

Also playing its way into the tournament was North Carolina State, 20-14, which upset North Carolina, the top seed in the East Regional, in the finale of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament.

Villanova, the 1985 NCAA champion, joined Louisville on the uninvited list as four conferences took 23 bids, more than one-third of the total. The ACC, Big Ten and Southeastern Conferences each have six tournament teams and the Big East has five. Virginia, Pittsburgh and Georgia were among the eastern teams shipped to the West Regional, where top-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas, with the tournmament's best record at 33-1, is seeded No. 1.

Georgetown was made the top seed in the Southeast regional while North Carolina is the No. 1 seed in the East. Coach Bob Knight's fourth-ranked Indiana Hoosiers are No. 1 in the Midwest.

The tournament shapes up this way:

First-round action will begin in the East Regional on Thursday at Charlotte, N.C., with North Carolina (29-3) meeting No. 16 seed Pennsylvania (13-13). Navy (26-5) will go against Michigan (19-11) in the other half of that doubleheader. Earlier that day, Notre Dame (22-7) and one of three independents in the field will meet Middle Tennessee State (22-6) and Marshall (25-5) takes on Texas Christian (23-6).

At Syracuse on Friday, the other first-round East action will pit Florida (21-10) against North Carolina State (20-14) and Purdue (24-4) against Northeastern (27-6). In the other Friday doubleheader at Syracuse, West Virginia (23-7) takes on Western Kentucky (28-8) and Syracuse, the East's No. 2 seed, meets Georgia Southern (26-10).

The Southeast Regional begins Friday at Atlanta with two doubleheaders. Georgetown (26-4) meets Bucknell (22-8) and Kentucky (18-10) plays Ohio State (19-12). In the second doubleheader, Clemson (25-5) meets Southwest Missouri State (27-5) and Kansas (23-10) will play Houston (18-11).

In the Southeast's other first-round games at Birmingham, Ala., on Thursday, Providence (21-8) plays Alabama-Birmingham (21-10), and Illinois (23-7) meets Austin Peay (19-11). In the second doubleheader at Birmingham, New Orleans (25-3) takes on Brigham Young (21-10), and Alabama (26-4) goes against North Carolina A&T (24-5).

Salt Lake City will be the site of first-round games Thursday in the West regional with UNLV going against 16th-seeded Idaho State (15-15). Georgia (18-11) will meet Kansas State (19-10) to complete the doubleheader. In the second doubleheader at Salt Lake on Thursday, Virginia (21-9) meets Wyoming (22-9), and UCLA (24-6) meets Central Michigan (22-7).

At Tucson, Ariz., on Friday, Oklahoma (22-9) goes against Tulsa (22-7), and Pittsburgh (24-7) meets Marist (20-9). Later Friday at Tucson, Texas El Paso (24-6) plays Arizona (18-11), and second-seeded Iowa (27-4) plays Santa Clara (18-13).

Indianapolis on Thursday will see first-round action in the Midwest with Indiana (24-3) meeting Fairfield (15-15), and Auburn (17-12) going against San Diego (24-5). In the other Thursday doubleheader at Indianapolis, Duke (22-8) will play Texas A&M (17-13), and Missouri (24-9) will play Xavier (18-12). The winners will meet in the second round on Saturday.

At Chicago on Friday, St. John's (20-8) will play Wichita State (22-10), and DePaul (26-2) plays Louisiana Tech (22-7). Chicago's other first-round action sends Georgia Tech (16-12) against LSU (21-14), and second-seeded Temple (31-3) against Southern University (19-11). The winners play Sunday in the second round.

Tigers split with Brownfield; set for Permian, then tourney

Coach Albert Lewis' Tigers split with Brownfield in double header baseball action here Saturday.

Snyder, now 1-3, will bus to Odessa to play Permian High School at 4 p.m. Tuesday. The Tigers host the three-day Snyder Tournament beginning Thursday at Moffett Field.

"Defensively, we looked 100 per cent better than we did (last) Thursday," said Coach Lewis of Saturday's outing with the Cubs. "Offensively, we looked better in spots."

Snyder won the opener 8-4 as Kenneth Pickering went the distance and dolled out just seven hits. The late game went to Brownfield, however, 9-7 in eight innings. Snyder dropped a 7-2 lead in the game and had the bases loaded in the bottom of the seventh, but couldn't tally.

Pickering struck out seven in the first game. Snyder took a 1-0 lead in the second inning but Brownfield knotted the score in the third. Both runs came on errors.

The Tigers caught fire in the later innings, however. Scott Lanier, David Martinez and Dennis Martinez all hit singles in the fourth inning to push across two runs. In the fifth, Snyder picked up four more as Van Echols and Dennis Martinez slugged doubles and Brad Gartman and David Martinez added singles.

The Martinez's, Echols and Lanier chalked two hits apiece in the contest as Snyder knocked nine for the game. Tony Garcia took the loss.

Snyder appeared to be on its way to victory again in the late contest. The Tigers jumped on starter Mark Gonzales for two first-inning runs, then banged in five more in the second stanza to lead 7-2.

The Tigers unraveled after that, however. Brownfield got two runs in the fourth inning, three more in the fifth, and won the game with two in the eighth.

Snyder had loaded the bases in the bottom of the seventh with two outs but was unable to get a run in.

Skip Coward took the loss in four innings of relief after Reynaldo Gomez had started the game. Together, they allowed 10 hits, walked eight and put two aboard on hit-by-pitch.

Snyder generated seven hits, led by Gartman's three-for-four effort. Echols, Lanier, David Martinez, Michael Long and Tracy Odom got one hit apiece.

Netters 2nd in tourney

SWEETWATER -- Michael Risenhoover and Michael Rodriguez were runnersup in doubles play as Snyder tennis team placed second overall in the Sweetwater Tournament, held here last weekend.

Sweetwater won the tournament with 116 points while Snyder got 83 and San Angelo Lake View managed 80. Big Spring took fourth with 71 points, Plainview fifth with 69, Colorado City sixth with 44, Sweetwater JV seventh with 26 and Coleman eighth with 16.

The finish by Risenhoover and Rodriquez netted 15 points for Snyder. Third place finishers - garnering 13 points - were Deone Farmer in girls singles and Shawna Chrane and Michelle Osborn in girls doubles.

Complete results posted by Snyder individuals will appear in a later edition of The Snyder Daily News.

Local cards hole-in-one

Ron DeBruin shot a hole-in-one over the weekend at Western Texas College golf course.

DeBruin used an 8-iron to hit the cup on No. 6 from 130 yards away. It was his first hole-in-one.

Playing with DeBruin were Danny Brumley, Kelly Ragland and Eddie Stewart.

JV splits with Cooper

Snyder junior varsity baseball team is 1-2 on the season after splitting with Abilene Cooper on Saturday.

The young Tigers will play again Tuesday, entertaining Midland Lee at 5 p.m.

Snyder opened its season with a 17-14 loss to Brownfield on Friday, then fell 15-5 to Abilene in the first game of a twinbill.

Snyder got its runs on seven hits but made eight errors in the game. Abilene had 15 hits.

Shane McCarter took the loss. Leading hitters for the Cats were Lee Hamilton, who went three-for-three with a double, and Randy Morris, who went three-for-four.

Snyder won the second game 12-6, getting 11 hits and seven walks. Roy Gutierrez picked up the victory. Top hitters were McCarter three-for-four, Morris, two-for-three, Tracy Braziel, two-for-four with two doubles, and Willie Garcia, two-for-three with a triple.

"I give great credit to our guys for coming back in the second game," said Coach Montgomery. "They really played well and eliminated some of their mistakes. We are looking better every time we take the field."

Lee second-team choice

Lee, the nation's leading junior college scorer with a 34.6 season average, had earlier been selected All-WJCAC for the second straight season. He is a 6-1 sophomore from Richmond, Va.

Midland College, which won the Region V Tournament last Saturday with a 101-84 victory over Texas State Technical Institute, placed only one player on the team - 6-1 sophomore Daron (Mookie) Blaylock. New Mexico Junior College's Richard Hollis, a 6-5 sophomore and MVP of the Western Conference, was also named to the squad, as was South Plains' Darryl Knight, a 6-3 sophomore.

Second-team choices were Lee, Johnnie Hilliard of NMJC, Greg Colbert of South Plains, Todd Duncan of Midland, Jeff Boutelle of Weatherford and Bobby Knorr of Cisco.

Third-team choices were Darrin O'Bryant of Ranger, Terry Winston of TSTI, Billy Ray Smith of Midland, Carl Love of McLennan, James Carson of Weatherford and Dennis Rhodes of Howard.

Dusters pair all-region

Earlier chosen All-Western Conference, the pair helped lead Western Texas to a WJCAC championship.

Welch, the WJCAC most vaulable player, was the only unanimous choice on the 10-member All-Region V squad. It was the second time Welch, a 5-11 talent from Jennings, La., has been named all-region.

Other sophomores named all-region were Linda Banks, 6-4 from Odessa; Patrice Purvey, 5-11 from Odessa; Leona Gerber, 5-6 from South Plains; Gwen Westbrook, 5-10 from Grayson; Jeannie Conde, 5-10 from McLennan and Jeannia Nix, 5-9 sophomore from Cisco.

Freshmen were Stefanie Massie, 5-11 from Howard; and Kelly Schilling, 5-10 from South Plains.

Times better this week...

Tiger thinclads improving

ANDREWS -- Snyder's Terry Garza improved last week's high jump effort by four inches to place second in that event at the Mustang Relays here Saturday.

Garza, who had gone 5-10 at Wolfforth, sailed 6-2. Snyder also finished fifth and sixth in the event.

Chris Garrett, who cleared 6-4 a week ago, went 6-0 this time despite suffering pain from a sore heel. Daniel Chasteen cleared 5-10 for sixth.

"Chris was hurting but he wanted to try anyway. He did a good job, considering," said Snyder track coach Kevin Wiseman.

Overall, the Tigers scored 28 points to place eighth in the nine-team field.

Big Spring won with 144 points.

"I think we showed improvement," said Wiseman. "We knocked four seconds off of our mile relay time and was running pretty well in the sprint relay until we were DQed (disqualified). Thance Springer almost made the finals in the shot put and Michael Riggins was having trouble with the foul line in the long jump and didn't qualify, but he was jumping about 20 feet which is good."

Snyder's 1600 relay team of Jeff Rose, Riggins, Dan Krenek and Craig Watkins took third place with a 3:36.9. The 400 relay squad was "fourth or fifth and running pretty well" but handed off out of the zone and was disqualified.

"We're still hunting for the right combination there, but I think we're going to do well once we get the right four together and they have worked at it some," said Wiseman.

In other events, Watkins finished fifth in the 300 intermediate hurdles with a 44.1. He had timed a 42.8 in the prelims.

Also, Charles Guynes cleared 11-0 for sixth place in the pole vault.

In junior varsity competition, Jason Presley was fourth in the high jump with a 5-8 and he joined Darren McCowen, Bert Merritt and Jimmy Taylor to take sixth in the 400 relay. Also, Louis Alaniz was sixth in the 3200 meters.

"We didn't get many points in the junior varsity division but they put all the 4A and 5A teams together and in some ways it was probably tougher than our (varsity) division," pointed out Wiseman. "I thought we did real well compared to the 4A junior varsity teams."

Snyder is idle this weekend and will host the Canyon Reef Relays on March 21.

"Hopefully this will help us. It gives the kids a mental break. Some of them will be working out on their own this week. It will be interesting to see how we do when we come back," noted the coach.

Lady Tigers win three 1sts; place fifth at Concho Belle

SAN ANGELO -- Snyder's Lady Tigers continued to standout in several events as they competed in their second track meet of the season - the Concho Belle Relays - here Saturday.

Katrina Reed turned in a clocking of 26.36 to win the 200 meters for the second straight week while Donna Clay captured the shot put with a throw of 34-9½.

Snyder's 800-meter relay team of Sandra Powell, Sharnette Thompson, Kim Koening and Reed also placed first, running a 1:50.84. The time was nine seconds faster than the Tigers had run last week at Wolfforth.

"Our times were a whole lot better from last week and that's what we are looking for, to improve each week," said Coach Patty Grimmett. "I was real proud of the girls."

Snyder was without several regulars, but placed fifth in the meet with 64 points.

Abilene Wylie won the meet with 137 points. San Angelo Lake View was second with 126, followed by Hereford with 82 and Big Spring with 78.

Snyder's girls will compete in Hereford this Saturday, March 14.

An indication of how the Tigers improved was shown by Melissa Williams, who soared to an SHS school record of 5-1 in the high jump. She placed fourth in the event.

Koening placed third in the 800 meters with a time of 2:34.43.

Snyder's 400 relay team of Powell, Clay, Michelle Pilgrim and Sharnette Thompson was sixth with a 54.15.

Melody Pickering ran a fourth place time of 65.46 in the 400 meters. Thompson would have taken fifth in the 200 meters, but was disqualified for running out of her lane.

Snyder's makeshift 1600 relay squad of Dana Fenton, Nichole Overman, Koening and Reed ran a 4:26.0 for fourth place. Fenton subbed for Pickering, who sat out the race with a minor ankle injury.

This Saturday's event in Hereford will start with field events at 8:45 a.m. Running prelims get the starter's gun at 8 a.m. Finals are slated for 2 p.m.

Snyder girls will join the Tiger boys to host the Canyon Reef Relays at Tiger Stadium on March 21.

Both teams will participate in the Big Spring Relays on April 4 before gearing up for the April 10 District 2-4A Championships in Andrews.

Snyder boys compete in Andrews golf event

ANDREWS -- Snyder High School boys golf team shot a 706 during the 36-hole Andrews Invitational Golf Tournament, held here last Friday and Saturday.

No other team scores were available except for Lamesa, which shot a 776.

"We competed with most of the other teams in our district real well and we improved considerably," said Coach Mackey Greene.

Friday's play was under ideal skies but the weather turned windy and cold Saturday. The Tigers shot a 344 on Friday and a 362 Saturday.

Wade Hatter paced the Tigers' effort with scores of 77 and 91 for a 168. Mike Trull shot 86-88--174 and Marc McQueen turned in 84-94--178. David Holley shot 97-89--186. Chad Sellars shot 103-95--198.

The Tigers will play again Thursday and Friday in the San Angelo Invitational.

MISSION, Kan. (AP) - Every year after they unveil the bracket for the 64-team NCAA Basketball Tournament, selection committee members feel like ducking their heads and running for cover.

"We expect we're going to get criticized by a lot of different people," said Gene Corrigan, Notre Dame athletic director and a senior member of the nine-man panel. "There were a lot of schools we tortured over at the end. There were seven or eight schools we had right on the line that didn't get in. I suspect we'll hear from them. Every year at this time, some controversy is just guaranteed."

Putting Big Ten co-champion Purdue in the East Regional at Syracuse as the No. 3 seed also is certain to cause outrage. It opens the possibility for the Boilermakers to play a first- or second-round opponent on the opponent's home court for the third straight year.

And then there's the Metro Conference, which rolled the dice and lost its automatic qualifier. Memphis State, on probation and ineligible for the NCAA Tournament, was allowed by conference officials to play in the Metro postseason tournament.

The Tigers won the tournament, which is supposed to determine the Metro's automatic NCAA entry. When that happened, the committee decided not to take any Metro teams at all.

Purdue's fate was sealed, Corrigan said, when the Boilermakers got blown out 104-68 by Michigan in their Big Ten finale on Saturday. Indiana, which tied Purdue for the Big Ten title, ended up the No. 1 seed in the Midwest Regional.

Also playing its way into the tournament was North Carolina State, 20-14, which upset North Carolina, the top seed in the East Regional, in the finale of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament.

Villanova, the 1985 NCAA champion, joined Louisville on the uninvited list as four conferences took 23 bids, more than one-third of the total. The ACC, Big Ten and Southeastern Conferences each have six tournament teams and the Big East has five. Virginia, Pittsburgh and Georgia were among the eastern teams shipped to the West Regional, where top-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas, with the tournmament's best record at 33-1, is seeded No. 1.

Georgetown was made the top seed in the Southeast regional while North Carolina is the No. 1 seed in the East. Coach Bob Knight's fourth-ranked Indiana Hoosiers are No. 1 in the Midwest.

The tournament shapes up this way:

First-round action will begin in the East Regional on Thursday at Charlotte, N.C., with North Carolina, 29-3, meeting No. 16 seed Penn, 17-13. Navy, 26-5, will go against Michigan, 19-11, in the other half of that doubleheader. Earlier that day, Notre Dame, 22-7, and one of three independents in the field, will meet Middle Tennessee State, 22-6, and Marshall, 25-5, takes on Texas Christian, 23-6.

At Syracuse on Friday, the other first-round East action will put Florida, 21-10, against North Carolina State, 20-14, and Purdue, 24-4, against Northeastern, 27-6. In the other Friday doubleheader at Syracuse, West Virginia, 23-7, takes on Western Kentucky, 28-8, and Syracuse, the East's No. 2 seed, meets Georgia Southern, 26-10.

The Southeast Regional begins Friday at Atlanta with two doubleheaders. Georgetown, 26-4, meets Bucknell, 22-8, and Kentucky, 18-10, plays Ohio State, 19-12. In the second doubleheader, Clemson, 25-5, meets Southwest Missouri State, 27-5, and Kansas, 23-10, will play Houston, 18-11.

In the Southeast's other first-round games at Birmingham, Ala., on Thursday, Providence, 21-8, plays Alabama-Birmingham, 21-10, and Illinois, 23-7, meets Austin Peay, 19-11. In the second doubleheader at Birmingham, New Orleans, 25-3, takes on Brigham Young, 21-10, and Alabama, 26-4, goes against North Carolina A&T, 24-5.

Salt Lake City will be the site of first-round games Thursday in the West regional with UNLV going against 16th-seeded Idaho State, 15-15. Georgia, 18-11, will meet Kansas State, 19-10, to complete the doubleheader. In the second doubleheader at Salt Lake on Thursday, Virginia, 21-9, meets Wyoming, 22-9, and UCLA, 24-6, meets Central Michigan, 22-7.

At Tucson, Ariz., on Friday, Oklahoma, 22-9, goes against Tulsa, 22-7, and Pittsburgh, 24-7, meets Marist, 20-9. Later Friday at Tucson, Texas El Paso, 24-6, plays Arizona, 18-11, and second-seeded Iowa, 27-4, plays Santa Clara, 18-13.

Indianapolis on Thursday will see first-round action in the Midwest with Indiana, 24-3, meeting Fairfield, 15-15, and Auburn, 17-12, going against San Diego, 24-5. In the other Thursday doubleheader at Indianapolis, Duke, 22-8, will play Texas A&M, 17-13, and Missouri, 24-9, will play Xavier, 18-12. The winners will meet in the second round on Saturday.

At Chicago on Friday, St. John's, 20-8, will play Wichita State, 22-10, and DePaul, 26-2, plays Louisiana Tech, 22-7. Chicago's other first-round action sends Georgia Tech, 16-12, against LSU, 21-14, and second-seeded Temple, 31-3, against Southern University, 19-11. The winners play Sunday in the second round.

Tigers split with Brownfield; set for Permian, then tourney

Coach Albert Lewis' Tigers split with Brownfield in double header baseball action here Saturday.

Snyder, now 1-3, will bus to Odessa to play Permian High School at 4 p.m. Tuesday. The Tigers host the three-day Snyder Tournament beginning Thursday at Moffett Field.

"Defensively, we looked 100 per cent better than we did (last) Thursday," said Coach Lewis of Saturday's outing with the Cubs. "Offensively, we looked better in spots."

Snyder won the opener 8-4 as Kenneth Pickering went the distance and dolled out just seven hits. The late game went to Brownfield, however, 9-7 in eight innings. Snyder dropped a 7-2 lead in the game and had the bases loaded in the bottom of the seventh, but couldn't tally.

Pickering struck out seven in the first game. Snyder took a 1-0 lead in the second inning but Brownfield knotted the score in the third. Both runs came on errors.

The Tigers caught fire in the later innings, however. Scott Lanier, David Martinez and Dennis Martinez all hit singles in the fourth inning to push across two runs. In the fifth, Snyder picked up four more as Van Echols and Dennis Martinez slugged doubles and Brad Gartman and David Martinez added singles.

The Martinez's, Echols and Lanier chalked two hits apiece in the contest as Snyder knocked nine for the game. Tony Garcia took the loss.

Snyder appeared to be on its way to victory again in the late contest. The Tigers jumped on starter Mark Gonzales for two first-inning runs, then banged in five more in the second stanza to lead 7-2.

The Tigers unraveled after that, however. Brownfield got two runs in the fourth inning, three more in the fifth, and won the game with two in the eighth.

Snyder had loaded the bases in the bottom of the seventh with two outs but was unable to get a run in.

Skip Coward took the loss in four innings of relief after Reynaldo Gomez had started the game. Together, they allowed 10 hits, walked eight and put two aboard on hit-by-pitch.

Snyder generated seven hits, led by Gartman's three-for-four effort. Echols, Lanier, David Martinez, Michael Long and Tracy Odom got one hit apiece.

Tax-exempt group part of private-aid plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tax-exempt organization founded by fund-raiser Carl "Soitz" Chanell for education and research purposes became a conduit for shipping aid to the Contra rebels in Nicaragua, officials say.

Channell, whose operation has come under scrutiny in the Iran-Contra investigations, amended the charter of his National Endowment for the Preservation of Liberty to cover humanitarian assistance, his associates say, but that apparently was not until after he sent the rebels at least $1 million.

The precise date of the amended charter could not be learned because Channell's office has refused to release a copy of it, but lobbyist Dan Kuykendall, a political consultant to Channell, said it was early this year.

In addition, the foundation, known as NEPL, furnished $40,000 or more for expenses of the Washington office of the Nicaraguan Democratic Force, known as FDN, and an estimated $150,000 for Contra speaker's tours, a spokesman for the rebels said.

The Washington Post reported Saturday that more than $1.7 million of NEPL's tax-deductible contributions were sent to a Swiss bank account, called Lake Resources, that also was used by former White House aide Lt. Col. Oliver L. North to deposit payments from the secret U.S. arms sales to Iran.

The presidential Tower commission said the account also probably was used to funnel private aid to the Contras in Nicaragua.

The Post said the NEPL transactions were detailed in a document prepared by International Business Communications, a Washington public relations company that handled the transactions for Channell.

Both Channell and IBC are under investigation by Lawrence E. Walsh, the independent counsel in the Iran-Contra affair. The Internal Revenue Service also is investigating Channell's tax-exempt groups, and the State Department is investigating the propriety of how money was spent on the secret contract IBC had with the department to facilitate Contra visits to the United States.

Channell and IBC officials have refused to return a reporter's calls for several weeks.

Jared Cameron, a spokesman recently hired by Channell, said Saturday that Channell entrusted IBC with the responsibility of making sure the NEPL funds were spent on non-military supplies for the Contras.

NEPL's original IRS charter lists its purpose as "exclusively to study, analyze and research the historical development and evolution of American political systems and the influences such systems have had on societal institutions in the United States" and to educate the public about those topics.

Foundations are supposed to notify the IRS in advance of any changes in the nature of their operations, so the IRS can tell them if the new activity will change their tax-exempt status, said spokesman Wilson Fadely.

He said humanitarian aid is generally an acceptable activity, but the IRS still requires organizations to apply for approval.

Despite the foundation's original charter, Kuykendall said Channell's contributors knew their money was for the Contras. They undoubtedly saw themselves as helping the Contras militarily, because they "just accepted the fact that all humanitarian aid does is clear other money for weapons," he said.

The Contras deny any money they got from Channell or other U.S. private sources was used for weapons after Congress banned U.S. military aid in 1984, but a former Channell fund-raiser, Jane McLaughlin, has told reporters that some of Channell's money was spent on weapons.

Rebel official Bosco Matamoros in Washington said the "organizations controlled by Channell" provided the FDN with $1 million in 1985 and 1986 for non-military aid such as food and clothing.

Matamoros did not know for certain if NEPL was the only source or if some money came from Channell's other groups. But Cameron said it was his understanding that Channell ran the humanitarian aid project through NEPL.

Channell, in an interview last December, said he raised about $6 million in 1986, and that most of it was spent on television ads to support President Reagan's pro-Contra policies.

However, the TV production company he retained, Robert Goodman Agency of Baltimore, said groups headed by Channell, principally NEPL, spent only about $1.2 million on the campaign. Kuykendall said he understood most of NEPL's millions went to the humanitarian aid program.

The ad campaign, targeting specific members of Congress, was part of an overall public relations campaign that also included a program in which Contra leaders went on speaking tours. The campaign was conducted with the assistance of North, then a White House aide.

Convicted mountain man is captured

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — A self-styled mountain man who killed two Idaho game wardens was recaptured peacefully nearly a year after a prison escape that made him the subject of a TV movie and the object of a nationwide manhunt.

Claude Dallas Jr., one of the FBI's 10 Most Wanted fugitives, was arrested by the FBI on Sunday on a fugitive warrant in this community 50 miles east of downtown Los Angeles as he left a convenience store carrying groceries.

Dallas, arrested three days before his 37th birthday, used the alias Al Shrank and denied his identity until it was confirmed by fingerprints, said FBI spokesman Jim Neilson. He was in Riverside County Jail awaiting extradition.

"He had vowed he would not be taken alive, but at the time of his arrest he was unarmed," said Richard T. Bretzing, head of the FBI's Los Angeles office, adding that Dallas apparently had contacts in the area.

"This is a particularly dangerous man and we are pleased and relieved to have him in custody."

Dallas, who was called a folk hero by his supporters and a cold-blooded killer by law officers, cut his way through two Idaho State Penitentiary fences on Easter, March 30, and fled into the high desert of Idaho and Nevada.

He was serving 30 years for voluntary manslaughter in the 1981 slayings of two Idaho Fish and Game wardens who tried to arrest him for poaching.

He was put on the FBI's Most Wanted list 47 days after his escape and was the subject of last year's CBS-TV movie, "Manhunt: Search for Claude Dallas." A reward of more than $15,000 was posted, and 3,000 wanted posters were issued with a sketch of a bearded, bespectacled Dallas in a hat with a wide brim pulled low over his face.

An unidentified clerk at the store where Dallas was caught told the Riverside Press-Enterprise he heard a commotion in the parking lot, walked outside and saw Dallas surrounded by men with shotguns.

"I saw about 13 cars in the lot and I saw this man lying on his face on the ground," the clerk said.

Dallas had been living off the land in the desert, selling pelts, when he shot and killed game wardens Bill Pogue and Conley Elms in the Bull Camp area near the Nevada border in January 1981.

He eluded authorities for 16 months, vowing never to be taken alive before his 1982 capture in Paradise Hill, Nev.

members noted they "don't feel we know enough about it to make a decision."

Nolan County officials are expected to pass the resolution during their regular court session Monday. Taylor County commissioners have already done so.

According to a letter commissioners received from Julian, the Texas Department of Health plans to combine operations to reduce the number of regional centers from 12 to seven. The regional headquarters in Abilene currently serves 44 counties. If the center is relocated to Lubbock, it will serve individuals from the Panhandle to Brown and Comanche counties.

Once the change takes place, the Abilene office will become a suboffice with a loss of some 20 staff positions.

soon noticed the horse arrive without a rider.

The niece then headed back and found McWilliams a few feet away from where she had left him.

"The doctor tells us Jerry definitely experienced a kick-type wound to the face," his brother Larry said.

He said once the doctor's completed surgery early Sunday morning, they told family members that the next 72 hours would be the critical time period regarding ultimate recovery.

Assault report has arrest for PI

A domestic disturbance ended with the arrest of a local woman for public intoxication at 2 a.m. Sunday.

Officers were called to an east Snyder residence where the woman initially reported having been sexually assaulted.

It was determined the woman had been struck in the mouth by her common-law husband.

City officers logged seven misdemeanor arrests over the weekend including five subjects jailed for public intoxication.

One man was jailed for driving while intoxicated and possession of marijuana in a quantity less than 2 ounces and one man was arrested for driving with a suspended license.

Missing bike is later found

Police investigated and cleared a stolen bicycle complaint Sunday.

Cindy Beck of 3007 41st St. reported the theft of her daughter's 26 inch 10 speed bike at 11:49 a.m.

The bicycle, valued at $119, was thought to have been taken from outside their residence sometime between 10 p.m. Saturday and 10:30 a.m. Sunday.

The bike was recovered and returned to Beck Sunday afternoon after a resident of the 1100 Block of 28th St. reported finding a bike abandonded in a vacant lot.

Dumpster struck

A city trash dumpster was struck in the only minor accident reported in Snyder during the weekend.

Involved in the 8:26 a.m. mishap in the 1900 Block of Ave. M was a 1983 Ford driven by Arnulfo Hernandez of 1303 18th St.

Secrecy surrounds operation of video stores

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — Attempts to track down the owners of a chain of adult video stores revealed a cloud of secrecy — including a corporation with owners whom store employees say they have never seen, only post office boxes for an address and no listed telephones — a newspaper reported.

The Valley Morning Star in Harlingen tried to trace the ownership after the stores were raided last week by Cameron County authorities, who seized material they described as obscene.

The corporation lists its mailing address as a post office box in Irving, near Dallas, but no telephone listing exists, the newspaper reported.

According to property tax records, Adult Video in San Benito and Dolar Video in Brownsville are operated by Hot-Val Inc., which lists its mailing address as a post office box in Irving, a Dallas suburb, but the newspaper said it was unable to find a telephone listing.

The buildings in which the two raided adult stores are located, and the land on which the buildings sit, belong to Louisiana Development Inc., which lists its headquarters in Lewisville, another Dallas suburb. Again, no telephone listing could be found, the newspaper said.

John Coil of Lewisville is listed in the Secretary of State's office in Austin as president. The newspaper reported, however, that it could not locate Coil or two others listed as officers.

Dr. Craig C. Kuglen, who has offices in Harlingen and Brownsville, said he sold Coil land for the San Benito store without realizing an adult video store would be built there.

"He just kind of popped into town one day and said he wanted to buy an acre of land," Kuglen said. "So I sold him an acre of land.

"That afternoon I had the money," Kuglen added. "I've never seen anything go that fast."

Construction on the adult video store began the following day, Kuglen said.

"If he had told me what he was going to do, I wouldn't have sold it to him," said Kuglen, who said he expected a building supply store to be constructed there. "It hasn't exactly increased the value of the land. I still own next to it," the doctor said.

Store employees told the newspaper they do not know who owns the stores.

"They could walk in the door and we wouldn't know them" said Ernesto Aguilar, an employee of the Brownsville store.

R. Meza is listed as the president of Hat-Val, Inc. on state sales tax records. Addresses for the corporation vary among government records.

Aguilar, 34, who was arrested on a misdemeanor obscenity charge during raids on the San Benito and Brownsville stores by the sheriff's department, said the owners apparently pretend to be customers when they make spot checks.

"Later, they might call you back and tell you you're doing something wrong," Aguilar said. "I marvel at their ingenuity."

Paychecks are mailed to employees from somewhere in the Dallas area, Aguilar said.

New shipments of merchandise — sexually explicit videos, magazines and novelties — arrive automatically, with the owners somehow knowing when to replenish depleted stocks, he said.

New employees are hired by other employees, said Aguilar, who has worked for Dolar Video about 18 months. Receipts are deposited in local banks, he said.

Mervyn Mosbacker Jr., chief felony prosecutor for Cameron County, said merchants of sexually explicit materials often try to hide their identities. If the materials are determined to be obscene, they could be prosecuted, he said.

"They protect themselves so they won't get charged with wholesaling (obscene materials)," Mosbacker said.

Two Israelis punished in Pollard spy case

TEL AVIV, ISRAEL (AP) — Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir said an Israeli officer lost his chance to command the air force because of his alleged role in the Jonathan Jay Pollard spy scandal, Israel television reported.

The Cabinet, meanwhile, voted Sunday to refer ministerial debate over the spy case to a secret 10-member inner Cabinet committee, promoting criticism from several ministers who had demanded a judicial inquiry.

Israeli television quoted Shamir as telling a group of teachers Sunday that Col. Aviem Sella had stood an excellent chance of becoming air force commander. But Shamir was quoted as saying Sella lost the chance because he allegedly recruited and acted as a contact man for Pollard, the former U. S. Navy analyst sentenced in the United States to life in prison for selling classified military information to Israel.

A federal grand jury in the United States last week indicted Sella on espionage charges. Observers regarded the indictment as an expression of U.S. anger over Sella's promotion four days earlier to the command of the prestigious Tel Nor air force base.

Shamir reacted publicly Sunday for the first time to mounting criticism in Israel over the government's handling of the affair and demands for a judicial inquiry.

"I don't think we need a special commission of investigation because we did this. We know what happened and we did everything so that it will not happen again," he told a group of Jewish community leaders from Miami.

The prime minister said that Rafi Eitan, the leader of the spy unit, also had been punished, the television said.

He described Eitan as "the virtuoso of the intelligence community" and said he had been dismissed from the service for his "mistakes." As a result, the television quoted Shamir as saying, Eitan had lost "the joy of life."

Cabinet Secretary Eliakim Rubinstein said the 25-member Cabinet voted to move debate on the Pollard affair to a 10-member forum of senior ministers, or inner Cabinet, that meets behind closed doors. He said no date was set for its discussion of the matter, but that its next regular session is Wednesday.

According to Israel radio, the Cabinet move ended any chance for an independent probe.

Communications Minister Amnon Rubenstein, one of three ministers who had demanded a judicial commission of inquiry be established, said the affair required investigation because it caused "unprecedented damage to our relations with the United States and also to American Jewry," Rubinstein told reporters.

Abba Eban, chairman of the legislature's Foreign Affairs and Defense Committee, also criticized the Cabinet decision.

Bedridden artist still paints her pictures

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The paint was applied in slow, sweeping strokes.

First she used a light green, then a darker green. A mountain appeared, followed by a valley. The artist stopped to rest.

Her brush quivered as she stretched to reach the little cup of paint. Every movement was difficult, each stroke taxing, but she continued to smile broadly.

"I never know what my picture is gonna be 'til it's done," the artist said. "Then I'll look at it and think, 'How come it was to turn out that way?'"

Anna Andres, 76, is an unusual artist. She says she has only finished eight or nine paintings in the 15 years since she began painting.

But for Mrs. Andres, each finished product is a little miracle. Anna has no functioning hands. Yet, she makes light of her work.

"I didn't know anything about losing my arm 'til after it'd happened," Mrs. Andres said. "After the second stroke, gangrene set in and so my sister signed a release for them to operate."

Sixteen years ago, Mrs. Andres had three strokes in a two-day period. The left side of her body was left paralyzed and her right arm was amputated just above her elbow. She has one foot that can move. Her condition keeps her bedridden.

But Mrs. Andres, who has lived at Meadowbrook Nursing Home for the past 15 years, isn't one to be put down.

"I had three strokes in two days," Mrs. Andres said. "The doctor told my family I'd never live. I think I outlived the doctor.

"I don't give up too easy," she said. "I just live from day to day."

When Mrs. Andres regained consciousness after the operation, she was scared.

"I was shocked to find out what had happened. I didn't know what I'd do."

But there is something special about Mrs. Andres that had helped her to cope.

The Rev. Clyde Zellers, pastor of Minters Chapel United Methodist Church in Grapevine, has been Mrs. Andres' minister for 12 years.

"I've been very pleased at being her pastor," Zellers said. "She's done a lot for me. I've gone there some days down in the dumps and you don't dare leave there in a bad mood.

"If that'd been me and I'd been flat on my back for 15 years in the same room, I wouldn't have been worth shooting," Zellers said.

She began painting 15 years ago through an Easter Seal program.

"They said everybody has to do something, so this is what I did," Mrs. Andres said. "I'd never painted anything in my life."

Mrs. Andres has a special jacket she wears while she paints. Because she cannot grip a brush, the jacket has a slot where a paint brush can be inserted. She moves her arm around to dip the brush in paint and work on the canvas. She paints by moving her arm and shoulder.

But she still must have someone squeeze paint from the tube and help her change brushes.

After Mrs. Andres completed her first picture after a week of work, Barbara Ruth Bunt, whom Mrs. Andres had reared, couldn't believe what she had done.

"The first one I painted, she snatched it up. She was so proud that I could do that."

But Mrs. Andres' works are not always given such praise.

"You'd be surprised how much instruction I get from people," Mrs. Andres said. "One woman told me I used too much blue."

Blue is Mrs. Andres' favorite color and she continues to use the color a great deal in her art. She thinks art is fun and doesn't mind an occasional critic.

"I'm not a painter. I just dab because I like it," she said.
