During Thursday workshop...

Trustees trim $400,000 from proposed budget

In a workshop Thursday night, Snyder ISD board of trustees saw nearly $400,000 trimmed from the 1998-99 budget.

Because of changes in the preliminary tax appraisal, projected revenue dropped from $18,178,975 to $17,847,134.

As a result, the board had to make several changes in the proposed budget, including axing plans to add $200,000 to the capital improvement fund.

Other changes included cutting $7,500 for drug dogs.

Assistant superintendent Lee McNair said the district is not taking the drug dog program out, rather it will be funded by a Criminal Justice grant.

DARE program funding will be cut in half, as the program will only go through December of this year. That cuts $8,564 for the DARE officer and $2,000 in travel expenses for the officer.

Other cuts included reducing the gas and oil budget by $10,000, slashing $26,915 from technology and $7,500 from general administration capital outlay.

In another reduction, $25,000 earmarked for a new tractor and aerator for the maintenance department was taken out.

"Lawton (Taylor) relunctantly said he thought they (the current ones) would make it another year," Supt. Gayle Lomax said.

A net decrease in personnel salaries also reduced the budget by $108,250.

McNair said the decrease was a matter of hiring people with fewer years experience to replace those that retired.

Projected expenditures for 1998-99 total $17,838,544, and with $17,847,134 in projected revenue that amounts to $8,590 over a balanced budget.

McNair said approximately $8,000 of that will go under the Safe Child program.

Following the 30-minute budget workshop, the board went immediately into its regular board meeting.

Other than reading the results, the board made no comments on the Aug. 8 school bond election.

The board did agree to "revist the bond issue" with a bond proposal workshop Aug. 24.

The workshop will directly follow a scheduled hearing to set the 1998-99 budget.

The board also scheduled a goal setting meeting Saturday, Sept. 12.

In other business, trustees voted unanimously on first reading to adopt a revision in the Texas Association of School Board investment policy.

In action following that decision, the board approved West Texas State Bank and Tex-Pool as authorized financial institutions, allowing them to engage in investment transactions.

It also approved Texas Association of School Business Officials (TASBO) and Education Service Centers as independent sources of investment officer training.

The training is a requirement under the newly-approved investment policy.

The board also voted to accept TASB policies on student discipline and on charter campuses and programs.

An agreement with Ira ISD for the education of tuition-free transfers was also approved.

Lomax said the agreement does not take money from Snyder or give money to Ira.

In other action, the board also approved bids for maintenance and transportation supplies.

Under personnel matters, trustees approved the employment of several new teachers including Humble-Smith Diagnostician Diane Benbow, high school agscience teacher Jason Whitney, high school industrial technology teacher Sam Huffman, Stanfield second grade teacher Carolyn Torres, high school TAAS math teacher Rebecca Wesson, and Stanfield second grade teacher Suzanne Doolittle.

Also approved were junior high earth science teacher John Gatlin, high school teacher Sharon Doty, Central resource/special education teacher Kristi Drennan and Central first grade teacher Pam Hart.

The board also accepted the resignation of East Elementary music teacher Donna Smith, Snyder High School journalism/English teacher Janice Northerns and high school P.E. instructor/coach Levon Webb.

Mark McCormick presided and all board members were present to include Richard Chambers, Luann Burleson, Glenn Clarady, Bill Moss, Janet Stribling and Mike Levens.

RECOGNIZED — Snyder ISD assistant supt. Wendell Sollis presented certificates during the school board meeting Thursday night to four district principals in recognition of their schools' Recognized accountability rating with the Texas Education Agency. THE SDN COLUMN

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Some people who say they know how to keep quiet often don't know what to keep quiet."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

Despite his retirement, Hereford's O.G. Nieman still gets around to writing an occasional column — when he's not going somewhere.

It was Nieman who made this observation about travel. "Did you ever notice that a journey of a thousand miles often begins with a three-hour delay?"

Nieman also has taken time to muse about the English language.

"In what other language do people recite a play and a play a recital, or ship by truck and send cargo by ship.

"Only in English do we have noses that run and feet that smell. How can a slim chance and a fat chance be the same while a wise man and a wise guy are the opposite? Overlook and oversee are opposites, while quite a lot and quite a few are alike.

"Have you noticed that we talk about certain things only when they are absent? We've never seen a horseful carriage and a strapful gown or met a sung hero or experienced requited love. You have to marvel at the unique lunacy of a language in which your house can burn up as it burns down or in which you fill in a form by filling it out. And in English an alarm clock goes off by going on.

"English was invented by people, not computers, and it reflects the creativity of the human race, which of course isn't a race at all. That is why, when the stars are out, they are visible, but when the lights are out, they are invisible. And why, when I wind up my watch, I start it, but when I wind up on this column, I end it?"

And Rotan's Kim Pease has sold the Rotan Advance and is retiring at age 56.

In his farewell column, Pease reported on a bumper snicker seen on a tan Suburban west of Roby. It read:

"Quit griping about your church. If it was perfect, you couldn't belong."

Enjoy the weekend!

Admission is $3 per person. Children 12 and under get in free, if accompanied by an adult.

Doors will close at 6 p.m. Saturday and reopen from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Vendors will offer all types of shotguns, rifles and handguns as well as equipment for cleaning, storing and displaying them.

Numerous other items will be available including ammunition, blowguns, rubber-band guns, spurs, custom-made knives, coins and jewelry.

Memberships to the Canyon Gun Club will be available at the show. Memberships are $25 per individual or $35 per couple. Members have access to the club's gun range.

Visitors are invited to bring firearms to sell or trade during the show. All firearms will be checked at the door.

Concessions will also be available during the show.

Receives seven year sentence...

Golf equipment thefts land Lubbock man in the rough

Golfers know about penalty strokes for picking up someone else's ball, and there's also a penalty to pay for stealing golf clubs.

Gary Clint Layman, a 31-year-old Lubbock man, pleaded guilty Wednesday in 132nd District Court to theft of golf equipment at Snyder Country Club last fall.

Layman was charged with theft of the golf clubs from various golf cart sheds at the country club. Investigators said only popular Ping and Callaway brand clubs were taken. A total of 52 sheds were broken into on Oct. 6. Locks were either cut or ripped off.

The theft was believed to be connected to other golf course thefts in the West Texas area.

Layman was also charged with the break-in at the Paymaster Gin the same night, but only $4 was missing. That charge was dismissed.

District Judge Ernie Armstrong sentenced Layman to seven years in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice. The defendant was also ordered to make restitution totaling $32,478.

Joe Angel Luna, 19, of 1901 Ave. M was serving a pair of probated sentences for the 1996 burglary of Skinny's convenience store.

Because of failure to report and pay court-ordered fines and restitution, the court revoked Luna's probation. He will now serve two years in a state jail facility.

In other court action, 44-year-old Karen Lynn Lawson of Odessa pleaded guilty to felony driving while intoxicated. Judge Armstrong assessed a 5-year probated prison sentence and a $750 fine.

Museum sets date for 'Taste' event

Scurry County Museum has set Thursday, Sept. 10 as the date of the second annual "Taste of Scurry County" event.

It will be held beginning at 6:30 p.m. at Scurry County Coliseum.

Tickets may be ordered by calling the museum at 573-6107. They are priced at $12.50 each.

There will food specialties from several local restaurants available for sampling along with live entertainment and door prizes.

There will also be a regular and silent auction.

All the proceeds of the event go to support the museum.

Meeting called Saturday for co-ops' consolidation

A special meeting has been called for 2 p.m. Saturday for members of Midwest Electric Cooperative and Stamford Electric Cooperative to vote on the proposed consolidation of the two companies.

Members who have not yet mailed in their ballots may hand-deliver them at that time.

Midwest members should report to the Roby office and Stamford members to the Stamford office.

Results of the vote will be announced after 3 p.m. Saturday.

Midwest general manager Jerry Stapp and the board of directors from each company are urging all members to vote because at least 150 members of each company must vote in order to have a valid election.

A simple majority of 50 percent plus one is required for the consolidation to go through.

If it is approved, a new company, Big Country Electric, would be formed.

All of the board members in the present cooperatives would be on the 16-member board and the new entity would have offices in Roby, Snyder and Stamford — with corporate headquarters located in Roby.

It has been estimated that over time $2.5 million annually could be saved if consolidation is approved.

Stapp has also said there will be no forced retirements or layoffs.

He added there will be more opportunities for employees, more specializations and more management positions available.

Stapp would continue as general manager and Vesta Orr, interim manager at Stamford, will serve as executive assistant.

Finger pointing starts despite lack of clues

WASHINGTON (AP) — It did not take long for the smoke to clear from the twin bombings in Africa before the finger pointing started.

No evidence had been gathered at the sites in Kenya and Tanzania and there had been no credible claims of responsibility. But that did not stop suspicions from being aroused.

Hardly anybody believed that the culprits were Kenyans or Tanzanians, people with no history of bearing anti-American grudges.

The tendency, among the terrorism cognoscenti, has been to look outside the region, especially to the Middle East. For years, Islamic groups have been using terror in an effort to remove the American military and diplomatic presence in the region as well as U.S. cultural influence.

Man confesses after 8½ years

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — A man who walked into a police station and confessed to killing another man 8½ years ago was sent home because authorities are unsure whether he can still be prosecuted.

"I tried my best to get some sort of jail term, but they wouldn't take me," Andrew P. Femiano said Thursday.

Femiano, 41, walked into a Virginia Beach police station Wednesday and told authorities he deliberately crashed his pickup truck into two construction workers in 1990, killing 54-year-old Joe D. Stiltner and badly injuring Kenneth Cox, then 62.

At the time of the accident, he told police he didn't know how it happened. Since there was no evidence to prove it was intentional, Femiano was only charged with reckless driving. He was convicted of the misdemeanor and received no jail time.

After detectives heard Femiano's revised story on Wednesday, they sought a murder charge.

But prosecutors sent the man home, saying that because of the reckless driving conviction, any attempt to try Femiano for the killing could be double jeopardy — being tried twice for the same crime. Double jeopardy is forbidden by the Constitution.

Prosecutors said they would research the double-jeopardy law, and they could file charges later.

Femiano said the killing continues to weigh on his mind.

The confession "took a load off my shoulders," he said. "But it is still there. I can't forget it. I don't know how I can ever make it right."

Smuggler leaves 7 illegal immigrants to die in desert

SALTON CITY, Calif. (AP) — They stripped off most of their clothes to keep cool. They sought shade from a grove of cedar trees in the otherwise desolate desert. They tried to survive without water.

But days of waiting in 115-degree heat for a smuggler to rescue them was more than seven immigrants could bear. A farm worker found their bodies Thursday in a remote, rugged area about 40 miles north of the Mexico border near the Salton Sea. They had been dead for more than a week.

"They were lying underneath a tree, apparently dropped off by a smuggler and left to wait for another van," said Bill Strassberger, a spokesman for the Immigration and Naturalization Service. "It appears they just waited and waited until it was too late."

The group — five men, a woman and a teen-age boy — apparently died of heat exhaustion, the latest casualties in a killing summer.

"This is the largest single group to die of heat exhaustion along the Southwest border since we've been keeping better records in the past four or five years," Strassberger said.

In addition, border officials found the bodies of two other suspected illegal immigrants Thursday, and more than 100 illegal immigrants have died this year crossing the Southwest border. At least 81 of those deaths were heat-related.

The crossing in California has become more dangerous for immigrants since the federal government started its "Operation Gatekeeper" in 1994. That program tripled the number of agents patrolling the most common crossing points, forcing migrants to take more treacherous routes.

Daytime high temperatures in the desert have been over 105 degrees, with a heat index around 115 degrees when humidity is factored in.

Strassberger said illegal immigrants who die from heat while crossing the border are often locked inside a train car or in the back of a tractor-trailer truck and do not succumb to outdoor exposure.

"Usually, people start suffering at varying degrees of heat exhaustion and they get help," he said. "One or two people may die, but not a whole group."

The group of seven was near a crude, dirt route used increasingly by "coyotes" who smuggle illegal immigrants into the country for a fee. The migrants may have been part of a larger group moving north, said Chief Border Patrol Agent Tom Wacker.

"We do believe their deaths were the result of another unscrupulous smuggler who put a load in danger," Strassberger said. "They had no water containers with them and no luggage, indicating they were transported there by a vehicle and ordered to wait."

Two boys accused of killing girl allowed to return home

CHICAGO (AP) — After a noisy, six-hour hearing in which they quietly doodled in coloring books and on note pads, played with toy cars and smiled at nearby relatives, two young boys accused of murder were released and ordered to stay at home.

The boys, ages 7 and 8, were released to relatives Thursday night and will be under electronic monitoring while they await trial in the killing of an 11-year-old girl. They are due back in court Aug. 28.

An attorney for the 7-year-old said the monitoring bracelets would have to be altered to fit on the suspects' ankles.

"Despite the seriousness of the charges made here, I believe the boys cannot be locked up," said Cook County Juvenile Court Judge Gerald Winiecki. He said he had no alternative under Illinois law, because they are both too young to be sent to a state youth prison.

"They're going home and we're grateful for that," said R. Eugene Pincham, an attorney representing the 8-year-old. But Pincham hinted he would challenge the home confinement ruling.

The boys are named in juvenile delinquency petitions alleging they killed Ryan Harris, whose body was found July 28 in a weed patch in the South Side neighborhood of Englewood.

She had been struck in the head, sexually molested and suffocated. Her panties were stuck in her mouth; grass and leaves were stuffed in her nostrils.

Police say the boys have confessed to the killing. They say the 7-year-old hit Ryan in the head with a rock, knocking her off her shiny blue bicycle. The boys allegedly hid the bike in some weeded lots, but it was gone when they returned to look for it.

After the killing, the 7-year-old allegedly told police he went to his grandmother's house to play with a new puppy, while the 8-year-old went home to watch cartoons.

The two had been held at a psychiatric hospital since Sunday and underwent psychological evaluations Wednesday.

At the hearing Thursday, two psychologists testified that neither boy was a threat to others and both should be sent home. Prosecutors argued they should be confined and asked for a continuance to conduct further evaluations of the boys.

"Obviously, we're very disappointed," said Kip Owen, chief of the delinquency division at the Cook County State's Attorney's office. "We didn't feel there was adequate information available for the court to make a proper determination as to whether or not these two individuals can be a danger to other children."

The boys sat quietly throughout the hearing, their feet dangling off the floor and their heads barely visible above their desk. Sporting a Chicago Bears jersey and a gap-toothed grin, the 7-year-old nodded off briefly, his head on the desk. During breaks in the hearing, relatives descended on the boys, hugging and kissing them.

Defense attorneys argue the boys were incapable of killing Harris and say they plan to challenge the confessions, which they say were made without the children's parents or attorneys present.

At one point in the hearing, Pincham brought the 8-year-old to the middle of the room and asked the boy to stand on a scale so he could be weighed and measured. At 4 feet, 2½ inches and 56 pounds, he is the bigger of the two.

"Any idiot can see these kids didn't do this," Pincham said.

But Assistant State's Attorney Patricia Sudendorf said the psychologists' testimony was flawed and more time was needed for complete evaluations of the boys. She made note of the suspects at play.

Teacher's Lesson Plan Unravels When Fiance Comes Home Late

© 1998 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am 30 years old and an art teacher. My fiance (I'll call him Jack) and I live together in my home. Every Tuesday night, he goes out to the clubs with his friends and returns at 3 or 4 a.m. It has bothered me for a long time and I've told him so, but I haven't issued any ultimatums.

Last week after Jack left, I was feeling particularly lonely, so I phoned the club and asked him to come home, telling him I had heard noises and was frightened. He seemed annoyed but he promised to be home by midnight.

I then called a girlfriend to vent some steam and she came over. As we talked, we began to scheme, and finally decided to give Jack a good scare by making him think I had been robbed while he was away. I sat in a kitchen chair giggling while my girlfriend tied my arms behind me and gagged me. She used enough rope to restrain a bull, so it was very convincing. She left at 11:30 and I waited (I couldn't do anything else) for Jack to return.

He did not return by midnight. By 1 a.m. I began squirming, but I couldn't get loose. When he finally did return at 1:30 a.m., I was in such a fury that he had difficulty untying me. He was very upset and insisted we call the police, so I had to tell him it was a hoax. That made him furious.

Jack apologized for returning late and thinks I should apologize for the stunt. I refused, and he has barely spoken to me since. Should I apologize?

FIT TO BE TIED

DEAR FIT TO BE TIED: Yes. There are more mature ways to get your point across than crying wolf on his night to howl. If you're seriously considering a future with Jack, you must come to some agreement about his night out with the boys. Since you find yourself at loose ends on that night, rather than lying to him, consider signing up for a night class, or establishing your own Tuesday night out with friends.

DEAR ABBY: A year ago, I asked my fiance's sister to be the maid of honor in our wedding. I felt it was important to make sure his family didn't feel left out, as we live five states apart.

Abby, my sister-in-law will be getting married later this year. She has asked my husband to be an usher, but I have been excluded from the wedding party. My in-laws and I have had some tense moments. I feel this is a slap in the face, and I can't seem to shake the feeling.

Should I say anything to my in-laws about how hurt I feel? My husband and I come from two very different backgrounds, so I'm afraid it would not be well received and would cause more bad feelings. Sign me ...

ISOLATED IN VIRGINIA

DEAR ISOLATED: A bride's attendants are not chosen to repay the honor of having been chosen to serve in another's wedding. As a general rule, a bride chooses her best friends or sisters to be in her wedding party.

Do not complain to your in-laws, and don't take this so personally. Your sister-in-law probably has enough close friends or sisters to fill the party and was unable to accommodate you. Perhaps she will choose you for some other duty, but if she doesn't, please don't let this dampen family relationships. Give her the benefit of the doubt and rise to the occasion.

Double suicide

TOKYO (AP) — Two physically handicapped lovers forbidden to marry by their families have been found drowned in a lake in an apparent case of double-suicide, police said today.

The bodies of Masaru Kawanaka and Megumi Nakama were found Thursday floating in Lake Biwa, a scenic tourist spot in western Japan, with their hands tied together, said police spokesman Tetsuzo Koga.

Their wheelchairs were discovered at the bottom of the lake. Police believe they pushed themselves off a steep part of the shoreline, Koga said.

Crash kills two, injures 20 at 'world's longest garage sale'

DUNLAP, Tenn. (AP) — As night fell at a roadside yard sale that stretches through four states, a runaway tractor-trailer rear-ended a car, setting it afire, and then plowed through a line of shoppers and vendors.

Two people were killed and 20 were injured, four critically.

Jim Allison of Pikeville, Tenn., was browsing at a table full of books Thursday night when he heard a crash, looked up and saw the huge truck heading straight for him.

"It was coming so fast, I thought, 'What? What?' Before I knew it, it was there. It just kept on going," he said. He hurt his head dodging the rig, but that was all.

"I'm not lucky, I'm protected," Allison said. "The Lord protected me."

The rig also hit a vendor who was sitting in a chair by his table.

"It hit him in the back and broke his collarbone," Tennessee Highway Patrol Lt. Mike Walker said. "They say you could see the print of the tire on the back of his shirt."

The accident occurred in this small town 40 miles north of Chattanooga, along two-lane U.S. Highway 127. The 12th annual "World's Longest Yard Sale," stretching across 450 miles, began Thursday and will end Sunday. Thousands of people were expected to brave traffic jams and sweltering heat in search of bargains.

The tractor-trailer hit a Ford sedan that caught on fire, and the rig continued on for 550 feet, knocking cars and trucks and crashing into exhibitors before coming to a rest on its side along the road, highway patrol Capt. John Savage said.

The truck driver, whose name was not immediately available, told Allison her rig had lost its brakes. Police said the brakes would be tested. The driver, temporarily trapped in the driver compartment, was later freed and taken to a hospital. Her condition was unknown.

The two people who died were in the burning car. A bystander tried in vain to help them, said Mack Harris of Dunlap, who had set up a stand to sell antiques.

"The whole thing was on fire," Harris said. "He said he could hear screaming and see their hair burning, but there was just nothing he could do."

In a driving rain early today, workers used small front-end loaders — construction vehicles much like miniature bulldozers with rubber tires — to remove wood chips the rig was hauling to make sure no one was trapped underneath. They found no one.

The roadway and grassy area near the vendors was littered with wood chips. Two pickup trucks were smashed from the weight of the loaded trailer, which had the words "S Farms" of Pikeville, Tenn., written on the side.

Three women and one man — ages 35 to 57 — were in critical condition and a 49-year-old woman was in fair condition at Erlanger Medical Center in Chattanooga, hospital spokesman Todd Womack said. Five others were treated and expected to be released today, Womack said. Injuries ranged from severe head trauma to cuts and bruises.

Ten others were treated at three different hospitals. All but one were released by this morning.

The flea market is not continuous — about 3,000 vendors selling everything from hubcaps to china are clumped at dozens of sites along scenic back roads for the 450 miles from Gadsden, Ala., through Georgia and Tennessee to Covington, Ky.

Does "Mary Celeste" mean anything to you?

West's defense on today's deal, which occurred during the France-North America match in the 1960 World Team Olympiad, made me think of it. Both teams reached six clubs. The American West led an unfortunate spade king. A few tricks later, the declarer, Roger Trezel, successfully played a spade to his nine.

The French West found the safer heart lead. The declarer, Morton Rubinow, ruffed, drew two rounds of trumps ending in the dummy, ruffed a heart, led a diamond to the jack, ruffed the heart queen, crossed to the diamond ace, and played a low spade to his nine. After winning with the queen, what should West do next?

North's double was negative, showing four spades (or five-plus spades and about 7-9 points).

A heart back defeats the contract because East can overruff the dummy, and later declarer must lose a second spade trick. Yet West returned the spade four, which ran to declarer's jack, allowing the slam to make. Why?

I've no idea! It was known from the bidding and play that South had begun with king-queen-fourth of diamonds. If South had started with seven clubs, he would have claimed. So, his 3-0-4-6 distribution was predictable. Leading a heart loses when East cannot overruff dummy's club nine and East has the spade jack. This seems unlikely to me; what do you think?

The "Mary Celeste" was found on December 5, 1872, floating in the Atlantic Ocean with everything in place — even food on plates — except the crew, who were missing and never found. The mystery is unsolved.

Appeals court says trial should have been moved to hometown

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The appeals court that ruled a landmark smoking liability trial should have been moved didn't know the trial was over and a $1 million verdict had been reached against a tobacco company.

Chief Judge Edward Barfield, who wrote the opinion released Thursday, said he wasn't aware of a verdict in the lawsuit brought by the family of Roland Maddox against Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp.

The impact of the ruling on the verdict — if any — was not immediately clear. Barfield declined to comment on what would happen if a verdict was reached while a pretrial motion was pending in the appeals court.

"I wouldn't touch that question with a 10-foot pole," he said. "That's a whole different can of worms."

The three-judge panel of the 1st District Court of Appeal said the judge should have granted Brown & Williamson's request to move the trial from Jacksonville to Palm Beach County 275 miles to the south, where Maddox's relatives live.

Brown & Williamson touted the opinion as grounds for a mistrial or new trial. But Norwood "Woody" Wilner, the attorney for Maddox's widow and daughter, said the opinion just means further proceedings would take place in Palm Beach County.

"Our position is that it is sent to West Palm Beach with the verdict intact," Wilner said. "Time will tell."

The trial took place in Jacksonville, where Wilner has his law office. There apparently was no other connection.

The court ruled the judge should have granted the tobacco company's request to move the trial to Palm Beach County, 275 miles to the south.

Maddox had smoked about two packs of Lucky Strikes a day before quitting in 1995 after almost 50 years. He was diagnosed with lung cancer in the fall of 1996 and died a year later at age 67.

His family sued B&W, claiming the company was negligent, made a defective product and conspired with other tobacco companies to hide the health risks of smoking from the public.

Tiger Woods solid at 66

REDMOND, Wash. (AP) — Winning the Masters by 12 shots gave Tiger Woods a tantalizing glimpse of what life could be like as a dominant player. Not winning in the six major championships since has taught him just how hard that can be.

Woods showed Thursday he has learned his lesson well, refusing to get too excited even after shooting a course-record 66 to take a 2-stroke lead over eight golfers after the first round of the PGA Championship.

This, as he reminded everyone after the round, is a far more mature Tiger Woods than the one who ran away with his first major at Augusta last year. Then, he figured they would all come as easily. Now, he knows better.

"I'm not going to put any more pressure on myself because I am near the lead right now," Woods said. "With three days to go, it's an eternity. You just have to go out there and hold your own for three more days."

Woods did more than hold his own in perfect opening day conditions under the towering trees at Sahalee Country Club. With the driver stuck firmly in his bag, he turned to his putter to sink six putts of 15 feet or longer.

By his own admission, it wasn't a great ball-striking day. But when you need only 27 putts to navigate the slick greens of Sahalee, you can be a little off with the irons.

After a bogey on the first hole and an adventurous iron shot on the second, it almost seemed easy as Woods capped his round with a 35-foot downhiller for birdie on the par-3 17th.

Lessons learned at Augusta and after leading the British Open with a 65 in the first round last month, only to shoot 77 on Saturday, though, weren't far from his mind.

"I know how difficult it is to win a major," Woods said. "At Augusta I was fortunate enough to play 63 straight holes where my game was pretty much right on. And it was — trust me — a lot of fun. But it has taught me how difficult it is to win."

On a day when several players made a run at the lead, only to fall back on the back nine, Woods posted his score before many in the 150-player field had even teed off.

By the time they struggled in, there were eight golfers at 2-under-par 68, including Glen Day, who was 5-under at one point before taking a double bogey on the par-4 15th.

Watermelon Bowl...

Snyder Tigers debut tonight

After eight days of workouts, the Snyder Tigers take to the field for the annual Watermelon Bowl intrasquad scrimmage at 7 tonight at Travis Field.

Freshman and junior varsity squads will be in action first, followed by the varsity and a partial JV squad.

With the season opener against Monahans only two weeks away, the Tigers have already begun preparing for the Lobos, according to coach David Baugh.

"We will probably run our basic offense and defense in the Watermelon Bowl," Baugh said. "We've been practicing against some Monahans plays since workouts began and our offenses are pretty similar, so it makes it easier. But we'll be working on our own defense and offense on Friday."

Several players will get their first taste of playing both ways, as several Tigers will be forced into offensive and defensive duties this fall.

"We'll mix in some varsity guys with some JV guys, because some players are going to have to go both ways," Baugh stated. "Right now Jacob Hodges, Cory Mandrell and Jeff Knowles are all playing both ways."

Snyder's only other scrimmage, originally slated for next Friday in Plainview, has been moved to Hereford.

Freshman and JV squads will still play in Plainview, but the varsity action has been moved.

With the prospect of added travel, Baugh is now looking at the possibility of scrimmaging Roswell Goddard.

"We would like for our varsity to scrimmage Roswell at a neutral site," Baugh said. "Hopefully we can find a field for that Friday night, because Hereford's a long way to go."

Following the scrimmages, Snyder opens its non-district schedule at home Aug. 28 against Monahans.

Blowout tourney full with 64 teams

A full field of 64 teams will compete this weekend in the 10th annual Blowout Partnership golf tournament at Snyder Country Club.

The field will be divided into two divisions, each with three flights using certified combined handicaps. The flights will be determined after Saturday's 18-hole round.

Format is two-man lowball. Division I teams will have a shotgun start at 8 a.m. Saturday and Division I teams will play their Sunday rounds starting at 1 p.m.

Division II teams will have a shotgun start at 1 p.m. Saturday and those teams will tee off at 8 a.m. Sunday.

Teams are playing practice rounds today, followed by a reception with door prizes and hors d'oeuvers at 7 tonight.

There will be a dinner for golfers and their guest at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

First place in each flight will win $800 and second place $600. Third prize in each flight is $500.

The 1997 champion Charles Powell of Sweetwater will be back to defend his title, but with a new partner, Ryan Heller.

Yanks extend win streak to eight

NEW YORK (AP) — The highlight clips and scouting reports can't prepare a hitter for Orlando Hernandez. It's only from 60 feet, 6 inches away that El Duque can be experienced.

Hernandez struck out 13 and pitched two-hit ball for 8 1-3 innings as the New York Yankees extended their winning streak to eight games Thursday night with a 2-0 victory over the Texas Rangers.

A raucous crowd of 53,835 was into every pitch and made it feel like October. And the Yankees, on pace to smash the record for wins in a season, responded with yet another victory, and this one over a quality team.

Hernandez, the Yankees' fifth starter who would be a No. 1 or 2 in most rotations, showcased his entire repertoire for the Rangers. He would dangle a slider outside to right-handers and then bust a fastball in. He changed speeds, locations and kept one of baseball's best lineups off balance all night.

"I came away very impressed," Texas manager Johnny Oates said of Hernandez, who was facing the Rangers for the first time. "Until you see him in person, it's tough to tell how well he changes speeds on his stuff."

Hernandez struck out Juan Gonzalez and Mike Simms three times each, mixing his fastball with a nasty slider, and ended six innings with strikeouts. The right-hander fanned Ivan Rodriguez with the bases loaded in the fourth and set a Yankees rookie record for strikeouts in a game, bettering Stan Bahnsen's mark of 12 against Boston on Aug. 1, 1968.

Astros beat Brewers, 6-2

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astros pitcher Jose Lima is a high-strung, emotional fellow who wears his emotions on his sleeve. He often throws punches in the air after strikeouts, jumps up and down and yells enthusiastically on the field and in the dugout.

He did it again in beating the Milwaukee Brewers 6-2 Thursday night, and losing pitcher Steve Woodard didn't like it.

"Lima pitched a great game, but that's one of the weakest acts in baseball," Woodard said. "Just the whole game. I tip my hat to him because he threw a great game. It's just the way he showed you up and his approach out there."

Other Brewers weren't bothered as much.

"That's just the way he is" Fernando Vina said. "I know him personally and he's a good guy. He beat us. He got the job done and he can do whatever he wants to.

"He has come to a good team. They score a lot of runs for him. But he has stepped it up a notch as well. He's got a good changeup and he's hitting his spots."

'Pokes will return to Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — It's hard to find a city that the Cowboys enjoy traveling to every year for training camp.

After the Cowboys were accused of vandalizing dormitories at their training camp in Austin, it became just as hard to find a city that would want to have the Cowboys come to town.

Thursday night, team owner Jerry Jones announced Wichita Falls and the Dallas Cowboys are a perfect match and said the team will return for camp next year.

"We can't wait for the Dallas Cowboys to roll in here next year for a second year of training camp," Jones said at a university banquet.

Only two sub-par rounds

LYTHAM ST. ANNES, England (AP) — They were the ladies in red.

Brandie Burton and Betsy King were the only players with sub-par rounds at the Women's British Open as their biggest rivals were buffeted by the wind and rain.

Burton and King mastered the conditions to share the lead with 1-under 71s Thursday. Their nearest challenger was England's Trish Johnson, the only player at even par.

While the two Americans had red cards to mark their scores, the scoreboard at Royal Lytham course was a mass of over-par green numbers as stars like Laura Davies, Liselotte Neumann, Se Ri Pak and defending champion Karrie Webb had rounds in the high 70s.

JH football parents meeting

Facts About The BIBLE

BY JOHN LEHTI

PHARISEES AND SADDUCEES...

THE TWO MOST IMPORTANT POLITICAL PARTIES IN ANCIENT JERUSALEM, THEY WERE DIRECTLY OPPOSED TO ONE ANOTHER IN MATTERS OF SPIRITUAL FAITH—THE PHARISEES BELIEVED IN THE IMMORTALITY OF THE SOUL AND IN THE RESURRECTION OF THE BODY—IN OPPOSITION, THE SADDUCEES DENIED ANY LIFE AFTER DEATH OR RESURRECTION, ASSERTING THAT THE SOUL DIED WITH THE BODY—ALTHOUGH OPPOSING EACH OTHER IN MOST MATTERS, THE PHARISEES AND THE SADDUCEES CAME TOGETHER ON THE MATTER OF JESUS OF NAZARETH AND PLOTTED TOGETHER TO BRING ABOUT HIS DOWNFALL!

AS JOHN THE BAPTIST CALLED THEM "A GENERATION OF VIPERS" (MATT. 3:7) SO JESUS CALLED THEM AS HE WARNED THE DISCIPLES AGAINST THEM. AND AFTER THE CRUCIFIXION, THE PHARISEES AND SADDUCEES JOINED WITH THE PRIESTS AND THE CAPTAIN OF THE TEMPLE IN THE ACT OF PERSECUTING PETER AND JOHN (ACTS 4:1-22). ALSO, BOTH PHARISEES AND THE SADDUCEES WERE IN THE SANHEDRIN WHICH TRIED PAUL, BUT THIS APOSTLE, TAKING NOTE OF THE FACT THAT THEY WERE OF TWO OPINIONS, CLEVERLY SET THEM AT ARGUING WITH EACH OTHER, SO VIOLENTLY, THAT THE CHIEF CAPTAIN OF THE ROMANS HAD PAUL REMOVED BEFORE ANY HARM SHOULD COME TO HIM BEFORE HE ARRIVED AT HIS TRIAL IN ROME. (ACTS 23:6-10)

Your Birthday

Saturday, Aug. 15, 1998

Travel for pleasurable purposes could be in the offing for you in the year ahead. You might not take long-distance trips, but you could find several places you'll enjoy revisiting.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're not apt to be comfortable associating with individuals who have narrow perspectives today. Seek companions who are open-minded and free from prejudice. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You may be a shade or two superior to your competition today. If or when you win, accept your laurels with grace and humility.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you have faith in yourself today, it will inspire those with fainter hearts. You won't have to play games; just be yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It isn't necessary to accept the status quo at this time. You have the wherewithal to change conditions to your liking. Be a victor, not a victim.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You are a self-sufficient person who usually prefers to operate as independently as possible. Today, however, success could come through partnership.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It isn't likely you'll be happy today if your hands and mind are idle. Try to involve yourself in meaningful endeavors that provide you with a sense of accomplishment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) There are indications you'll be more sociable and gregarious than usual today. If you can't be near the people you love, you'll appreciate the people you're near.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Family-oriented endeavors will afford you the greatest pleasures today. It's okay to have friends around, provided your focus is on the home court.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This is one of those days when you're apt to feel restless unless you have a lot to do. Usually it isn't wise to attempt several projects simultaneously, but today is an exception.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't feel guilty about focusing on developments that could spell personal gain for you today. Sometimes it's necessary to look out for ourselves first, even if it excludes others.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) This is one of those days where you know what to do and say to make good things happen. Your gregarious personality will automatically pump pep into any proceeding.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Someone you've been friendly with through thick and thin will appreciate hearing from you today. If you can't visit, give him/her a call.

HMOs must provide hearings on denied services to Medicare patients, court says

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The federal government must not renew contracts with health maintenance organizations that deny care to Medicare patients without giving them a reason and a chance to appeal, a federal appeals court ruled.

HMOs act as government proxies when serving Medicare patients and are bound by the constitutional guarantee of due process, the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said Wednesday in upholding a lower court's ruling.

Denying service without a reason can result in an "erroneous deprivation of medical care to Medicare beneficiaries," the opinion by Judge Charles Wiggins said.

The government is responsible for ensuring that denial and appeal procedures are clear and prompt because of its close relationship with HMOs, the court said. The U.S. pays HMOs to treat Medicare patients within a framework of laws and regulations that allows the government the right to overturn HMO decisions.

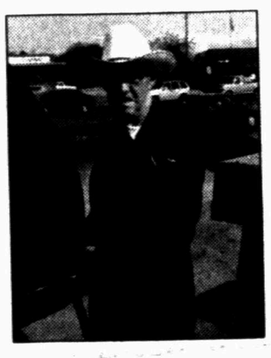

A Tucson, Ariz., group called Center for Medicare Advocacy Inc. sued the government in 1993 for failing to protect the rights of five elderly women who were turned down by an HMO without any specific reason.

Settlement reached over Degas painting

CHICAGO (AP) — The family of two Holocaust victims and an Art Institute of Chicago benefactor have agreed to jointly transfer a valuable Degas landscape to the museum, ending the family's 50-year effort to get it back.

The heirs of Friedrich and Louise Gutmann will share ownership of "Landscape with Smokestack," a pastel made by Edgar Degas in the early 1890s, with pharmaceutical magnate Daniel C. Searle. The work is now valued at about $1.1 million.

The agreement, reached Wednesday, stipulates that Searle will donate his share of the work to the Art Institute, and the Gutmann heirs will sell their share to the museum. The Chicago Tribune reported that they would receive about $500,000.

The Art Institute plans to exhibit the pastel starting in October with a plaque that says it is a "purchase from the collection of Friedrich and Louise Gutmann and a gift of Daniel C. Searle."

"It's an amicable ending to what's been a long and painful process," said Nick Goodman, one of the Gutmanns' grandchildren. "Everybody's happy: Mr. Searle is in his role as benefactor; my grandparents are reattached in a small but nice way to a painting that was once theirs. All of the Goodmans have closure, and the Art Institute is getting a great painting."

Goodman and his brother, Simon, have led their family's struggle to reclaim the Degas, a quest that began shortly after World War II ended. They will share the proceeds of the sale with their aunt, Lili Vera Collas Gutmann. The brothers' branch of the family changed the spelling of the name.

The family owned the pastel well before World War II and says it was stolen by the Nazis from a Paris warehouse where it had been put for safekeeping. Friedrich and Louise Gutmann died in a concentration camp after Holland was overrun by the Nazis in 1940.

U.N., U.S. officials discuss inspections

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials "consulted with" the U.N. special commission responsible for Iraq's disarmament but did not direct the commission not to conduct a surprise inspection in Iraq, a White House official said today.

The Washington Post reported today that as recently as Aug. 7, members of the Clinton administration tried to discourage U.N. weapons inspectors from carrying out "challenge inspections" in Iraq out of fear of provoking a showdown with Saddam Hussein.

The Post, citing American and diplomatic sources, said the United States has tried over the course of months to persuade the inspection team to back down from mounting surprise raids.

At the White House today, press secretary Mike McCurry denied the United States had attempted to stop U.N. inspections.

McCurry said Secretary of State Madeleine Albright intended to publicly address the matter today. "She will deny that we have directed UNSCOM (the U.N. Special Commission) not to conduct inspections because that's not our role," McCurry said.

Asked whether U.S. officials at least suggested to U.N. officials that certain inspections be delayed or stopped, McCurry said, "We consulted with them about the best way to conduct their mission — timing, outcomes, best way of achieving their mission. But we don't order them not to conduct missions."

According to the Post account, Albright in an Aug. 4 telephone conversation urged Richard Butler, head of the U.N. commission, to withdraw orders for inspections at two key sites. Intelligence leads had suggested they would find forbidden weapons components and documents describing Iraqi efforts to conceal them at the sites, the Post reported.

Butler canceled the special inspection and ordered his team to leave Baghdad, after receiving a second warning from high-level officials last Friday, the Post reported.

Butler told the paper that suggestions that he received orders from Albright were "a very considerable distortion of what took place."

"No member of the (Security) Council, including the United States, has purported to give me instructions. They all recognize that their job is policy, my job is operation," he said.

Albright, in a one-sentence statement to the Post Thursday night, denied that she had tried to instruct Butler how to do his job.

"U.S. policy has been to fully support UNSCOM in its inspections and I have never told Ambassador Butler how to do his job," she said.

At the State Department, spokesman James Foley said today that Albright "has never told Chairman Butler how to conduct his investigations."

Before Starr and Congress, Clinton ponders big decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — As Kenneth Starr nears a decision on whether to send an impeachment report that Congress already is preparing for, President Clinton and a small circle of legal advisers are weighing exactly how he will describe his relationship with Monica Lewinsky to a grand jury.

An adviser familiar with some aspects of the preparations said one option being discussed would have the president acknowledge some sort of personal relationship with Ms. Lewinsky, possibly even sexual. But he could argue that he told the truth in the Paula Jones lawsuit when he denied a sexual relationship based on a one-paragraph definition of sex provided by Mrs. Jones' lawyers.

The source, who spoke Thursday on condition of anonymity, said under this option Clinton could signal he had something more than the ordinary relationship with the former White House intern but refuse to give specific or graphic details, arguing it was a private matter that was not the business of prosecutors.

"It's something being discussed both inside the (preparation) room and outside," the source said, cautioning that all the preparations were fluid and no decisions had been made.

Other advisers say they are aware that option had been bandied about by advisers but cautioned the president faced ideas from a variety of sources, including standing steadfastly by his original denial when he testifies Monday to Starr's grand jury on closed-circuit TV.

They added that only Clinton, the first lady, private lawyers David Kendall and Nicole Seligman and former Commerce Secretary Mickey Kantor, now advising the president as a private lawyer, likely would know the final outcome. All five have refused to comment.

What everyone agrees is that Clinton's answers to the independent counsel's questions carry the highest stakes: the possibility of impeachment proceedings that could hamper or even cripple that last two years of his presidency.

Ms. Lewinsky, 25, already has told the grand jury that she had a sexual relationship with Clinton that included several encounters inside the White House, and discussed various cover stories to conceal the relationship, according to legal sources. But those sources said Ms. Lewinsky contends she never was asked outright by Clinton to lie under oath.

Prosecutors are investigating whether Clinton committed perjury in the Jones case.

Finger pointing starts

Summers believes Islamic terrorists were responsible for the Africa bombings, contending that "untraceable terrorism" is the weapon of choice in their struggle against the United States because conventional warfare is out of the question.

"The Arabs did it," said Robert Kupperman, terrorism expert at the Center for Strategic and International Studies. As possible suspects, he mentioned, in particular, Sudan, "Saudi renegades," Iran and the Iran-backed Islamic Jihad.

Four days after the bombings, the Washington office of the National Council of Resistance of Iran said the early evidence points to Iran, contending that Iranian ambassadors in Kenya and Tanzania had been recalled two weeks before the bombings.

Without absolving Iran, State Department officials discredited the council's thesis, noting that the Iranian ambassador in Tanzania had not left his post. They also pointed out that the State Department regards the council as a terrorist organization because of the violence it is alleged to have carried out against Iran.

Patrick Clawson, a terrorism expert at the Washington Institute for Near East policy, also said Iran could well be a suspect because of the disproportionately large embassy staff he said Iran maintains in Nairobi. He said such an embassy gives Iran the support it needs for a terrorist infrastructure if it were inclined to have one.

For the record, Iran has denounced the bombings.

"We condemn the bombings and sympathize with the victims and their families," said Iran's foreign minister, Kamal Kharrazi.

In a similar vein, Sudanese Foreign Minister Mustafa Osman Ismail said, "Such acts as these do not accomplish anything, but victimize innocents."

Iran and Sudan are both on the State Department list of countries alleged to sponsor international terrorism. The others are Libya, Syria, Iraq, North Korea and Cuba.

A blame game of sorts was carried out by Tanzanian authorities, who rounded up 14 suspects.

3 arrested on Thursday

Three people were arrested Thursday on various misdemeanor charges.

Officers arrested a 27-year-old male at 10:43 a.m. in the 2400 block of Avenue U on an outstanding warrant for Class C assault/family violence.

DPS troopers and city officers took two people into custody at 2:44 p.m. at the intersection of Highways 84 and 180.

Arrested were a 34-year-old male on an outstanding DPS warrant from Waxahachie and a 21-year-old female for possession of a controlled substance.

Officers were called to the Western Texas College pro shop at 5:23 p.m. in reference to the theft of cash from the shop. An undeterminded amount of cash was reported missing and an offense report for Class B theft was submitted.

An officer was requested in the 2300 block of Avenue Q at 6:07 this morning in reference to criminal damage to concrete items at Snyder Concrete. An offense report for criminal mischief was submitted.

The fire department responded to one call Thursday as smoke was reported coming from air conditioner vents inside the Snyder Daily News building shortly after 7 p.m.

An air conditioner motor had overheated and caused the smoke.
