Chamber Gives Welcome To Visitors Of Air Tour

By TEX DEWEESE
Fifty planes and 135 air tourists left Pampa for their next stop in Perryton this morning after the All-Texas Air Tour overnight stop in Pampa as guests of the Aviation Committee of the Chamber of Commerce at a dinner dance in the M.K. Brown Civic Center.

Pampa was the end of the fourth day of a week-long flying trip for the tourists who will have traveled 3,000 miles with stops in 29 Texas cities before winding up in Kerrville Saturday night.

Harold Weiser, coordinator of the All Texas Air Tour, said it started last Saturday in Temple and has been carried on so far without mishap.

The visitors were greeted late yesterday afternoon as they arrived at Perry Lefors Airfield at 5 p.m. They were met by local residents and driven to Coronado Inn, where they spent the night.

A reception was held in the Brown Auditorium foyer at 7 p.m. and the guests were ushered into the Heritage Room at 7:45 p.m. for the dinner and dance.

Mayor R.D. Wilkerson welcomed the air group and Rex McAnelly, chamber president, invited them to come back next year.

Tex Anderson of Medina, Texas, ATAT president, responded and thanked the Chamber of Commerce for the hospitality shown to the air tourists, who came back to Pampa for the second successive year.

Gifts of Gray County Bicentennial coins were presented to Anderson and Weiser by E.O. Wedgeworth, manager of the Pampa chamber.

Weiser said the oldest pilot in the group was 71 and the youngest 19 years old. States represented in the Air Tour included Ohio, Wisconsin, Illinois, Maryland, Minnesota, Mississippi, Louisiana, Indiana, Arkansas, California, and Texas.

Tour president Anderson said the All Texas Air Tours, Inc. is a non-profit organization dedicated to development of general aviation through promotion of aviation appreciation and aviation education. "The annual mass flights are planned," Anderson said, "to stimulate community interest and appreciation for local airport facilities and to help impress upon citizens the great use and potential of air transportation."

"It is cooperation like we get here in Pampa that makes the Air Tour a success," he added. Music for the dinner dance was played by That Band With Dixieland.

Police were called and ordered the building evacuated but said after a close search it apparently was a hoax.

The Liberal headquarters was ransacked in a break-in on election eve Wednesday.

A spokesman said at first "This looks like another Watergate." But police said later it appeared to be a plain case of burglary.

Opinion polls indicated Prime Minister Harold Wilson's ruling Labor party would win an overwhelming mandate to take Britain down the road to socialism.

Political commentators said, however, the polls were wrong in the nation's last two general elections and cautioned against predicting a landslide Labor win.

The first of Britain's 41 million registered voters cast ballots at dawn on a cool day brightened by sunshine in the western part of the country and dampened by showers in eastern regions. Last-minute polls gave Labor a wide lead over former Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservative party in the vote for control of the 635-seat Parliament.

A poll conducted by the Marplan Organization for The Sun of London gave Labor 43 per cent, Conservatives 35.5 per cent, and Liberals 19.5 per cent. A handful of tiny parties picked up the rest.

A Gallup poll in the London Daily Telegraph gave Labor 41.5 per cent, Conservatives 36 per cent and Liberals 19 per cent.

The campaign was dominated by economic issues such as soaring inflation, the threat of mass unemployment and Britain's troubled membership in the European Common Market.

Wilson called the election in a bid to turn his shaky parliamentary majority into a majority mandate strong enough to nationalize much of Britain's remaining private industry.

The opposition Conservatives and Liberals have been able to block key legislation since Labor failed to win a majority in last February's general election.

In a closing campaign speech, Wilson accused the Conservatives of "selling Britain short" by predicting economic catastrophe. "Britain faces a grave economic crisis," he said. "But Britain is not heading for catastrophe."

Heath, in his final speech, said the latest economic figures would "explode Mr. Wilson's pretense" and predicted a Labor win would leave Britain "poor, socialist and alone."

Labour's recipe for curing the economic troubles is a voluntary "social contract" with unions to avoid excessive pay demands without compulsory curbs.

The Conservative party, which has called for a coalition "government of national unity" to deal with the crisis, prefers voluntary curbs but refuses to rule out tougher measures if needed.

The Liberals, the resurgent third party holding the balance of power in the old parliament, predict an "inevitable" pay and price freeze within months.

Wilson has also promised a referendum within 12 months on Britain's membership in the Common Market. Many members of his party want to take Britain out of the market.

Others join Liberals and Conservatives in backing membership. The annual Chamber of Commerce banquet scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 17, was sold out today, according to Chamber of Commerce officials.

Lt. Gov. George Nigh of Oklahoma, one of the nation's outstanding humorists, will be the speaker. Musical entertainment will be provided by the Pampa High School Stage Band and Concert Choir under direction of Jeff Doughten and John Wojcikowski.

A Cowboy Hall of Fame art exhibit consisting of portraits of famous movie stars will be on display in the lobby of the M.K. Brown Auditorium and may be viewed before and after the banquet.

The Art exhibit will be held over on Oct. 18 until 3 p.m. for the benefit of those who cannot attend the banquet.

Bomb Scare Interrupts British Election Today

LONDON (UPI) — A bomb scare today forced evacuation of Liberal party headquarters in London as Britons streamed in a heavy turnout to vote for a new parliament for the second time in seven months.

Police searched the building, near the Strand, one of London's main downtown thoroughfares, but found nothing and allowed staff to return after 35 minutes.

Telephone operator Penny Sander said a man with a deep voice who did not identify himself called at 12:45 P.M. and said "There is a bomb here. It is going off in 15 minutes."

Police were called and ordered the building evacuated but said after a close search it apparently was a hoax.

Woman Injured In Car Accident
Jane Kadingo, 45, social worker with the State Department of Public Welfare, was listed in good condition this morning at Highland General Hospital where she was taken following a two-car accident Wednesday night in the 1400 block of North Hobart St.

Investigating officers said Mrs. Kadingo, 1201 Charles, was the driver of a car which was stopped waiting to make a left turn off Hobart when her southbound car was struck from the rear by a car driven by Mark Douglas Friend, 17, 100 E. 25th.

Mrs. Kadingo was taken by Metropolitan Ambulance service to the hospital, where she was admitted shortly after 8 p.m.

A hospital spokesman said today the patient was due for further tests to determine the extent of injuries.

Two children, passengers in the Kadingo vehicle, were not injured.

The driver of the other car also escaped injury. He was charged with following too closely.

Granberry Sets Local Campaign

Jim Granberry, Republican candidate for governor, will be in Pampa Saturday, Oct. 19, it was announced today by David McDaniel, his Gray County campaign manager.

McDaniel said the G.O.P. gubernatorial aspirant will arrive at Perry Lefors Airfield around 10:30 a.m.

A press conference will be scheduled for Granberry at 11 a.m. and he will have luncheon downtown at 12 noon.

The candidate expects to spend some time visiting with Pampans before leaving for a Borger engagement around 2 p.m.

Cattlemen Plan Calf Slaughter

NACOGDOCHES, TEX. (UPI) — A group of East Texas cattlemen say unless they get some positive action from the government soon they will slaughter 1,000 calves next Wednesday in conjunction with a cattle kill planned by ranchers and dairymen in West Texas.

"None of us are in favor of killing cattle, but this group is desperate. This is the only stick we've got to wave," said Worth Barham, vice president of the Nacogdoches Area Beef Association. "People are going under. They are dropping out of the cattle business at a logarithmic rate."

Barham said the group met Tuesday night in the Nacogdoches city hall and already has 300 calves pledged. Area dairymen plan to pour large quantities of milk into the pit with the calves in protest of low prices and high costs. He said the group planned to kill 1,000 head of cattle.

The group, Barham said Wednesday night, has also scheduled a meeting Friday in Stephenville with ranchers and dairymen who plan to kill calves and dump milk on the same day. Stephenville area ranchers planned a kill for last week but were talked out of it by state officials who promised to try to help them.

Barham said some word would have to come from Washington to stop the protest kill near Nacogdoches. He said cattlemen and dairymen feel the low prices are caused by price fixing by large grocery chains and by imported beef.

"None of us wants to kill calves, but if we don't get anything out of the government, we're going to," said Barham, who raises stocker cattle for sale to West Texas feedlots.

"The President, with one stroke of his pen, can stop the imports, and just the other day six California ranchers were awarded $32 million from one of the large grocery chains in a federal court judgment on charges of antitrust violations."

"The President seems to have plenty of time to talk to politicians, but he doesn't have time to talk to serious businessmen."

Barham said Ford asked for full production from farmers in his recent speech to the nation. He promised them sufficient fuel and fertilizer and a fair price for what they produce.

Arab Oil, Arab Business

Secretary Kissinger's call to the Arab nations to lower oil prices and President Ford's suggestion that high petroleum prices could lead indirectly to war add up to an extortion.

The Arab nations are under no more obligation to lower the prices of oil produced in their countries than Americans are to lower the prices of oil produced in this country.

True, petroleum with its many derivatives, especially gasoline, affects our life style and economy in a most direct manner. It is entirely possible American industry will have to resort to energy sources such as coal and nuclear power, that the higher prices of motor fuel will cause motorists to adopt alternate methods of transportation. That is our business. So long as Americans generally observe the distinction between the two activities, we shall have peace as far as the Middle East is concerned.

However, if President Ford and his Secretary of State lead Americans to believe that we have some claim on commodities we do not own, they will have successfully sown the seeds of war.

That Arab oil, in some instances, was developed by American capital and then, in some instances, was confiscated by Arab politicians serves to obscure the property line, but does not erase it.

When American oil companies invested in Arab jurisdiction, they knew what they were doing and whom they were dealing with. If they did not know, they ought to have known. But even if the American companies do have some de jure, claim on petroleum production in the Mideast, Americans generally do not. Nor have we any obligation — other than to pay the best price we can get or take our business elsewhere. We certainly have no obligation to redeem with our blood the business mistakes of private enterprise.

We note a provocative tendency in the news media to accuse the Arab leaders of blackmail simply because they ask a top dollar for a most desirable commodity. The term "blackmail" conveys an impression that the Mideast potentates are using force to exact dollars. The obvious fact is that they are merely manipulating a product that they still own. That is business. Top dollar is not always the correct method to maximize profits, but sometimes it is. If the Arabs were threatening to blow up American-owned oil tankers or to terrorize American oil importers, that would be blackmail. But all the Arab leaders are doing is to manage their own property in the manner that they suppose is best so far as the oil issue is concerned.

The attacks on Israel, the nearly world-wide terrorism conducted by some Arabs with the apparent sanction of some Arab governments are a different lawsuit, so to speak. These acts of aggression may contribute the necessary inflammatory pretext for a Middle East war. But they are a side issue to the oil trade. Our hope is the American people will keep the oil picture clearly in mind so they will not be easily provoked by propaganda and atrocities.

Expense Of Driving

Here is some arithmetic you can't stick in your pocket for use the next time you buy a car.

Assuming the life of the car is 100,000 miles, a standard-size vehicle will run you 15.9 cents a mile, a compact will run 12.9 cents, and a subcompact 11.2 cents.

For the stand-size model, the 15.9 cents breaks down to 4.2 cents for depreciation, 3.4 for maintenance, accessories, parts and tires, 3.2 for gas and oil, 2.0 for parking, 1.6 for insurance, 1.5 for state and federal taxes.

For the subcompact, depreciation etc. 2.7 cents, gas and oil 2.6, parking 2.0, insurance 1.5 cents, taxes 1.2.

For the subcompact, depreciation 2.3, maintenance etc. 2.5, gas and oil 2.0, parking 2.0, insurance 1.5, taxes 0.9.

These figures were gathered by the Federal Highway Administration and reported by Insurance Information Institute in "Insurance Facts," a booklet.

Obviously the gas and oil picture changes. If you get 12 miles per gallon and the price per gallon is 60 cents, then the price per mile for a standard is closer to five cents than 3.2. Moreover, all light cars will hold up for 100,000 — depending somewhat on the type of terrain you drive over. By questioning other drivers, you can get an advance idea whether the machine will hold together when the mileage indicator reaches phases eight and nine.

Is It The Real America?

By VIC GOLD

WASHINGTON — Ben Wattenberg, the Democratic political strategist, has written a book about the condition of the country as we approach our 200th anniversary. It's an optimistic book. So optimistic, in fact, that the author is headed for deep trouble with the critics.

First, conservative critics in general are going to fault Wattenberg's view of "The Real America," as his book is titled, because he bases his optimism on a controversial premise. Wattenberg claims, you see, that traditional liberalism has worked to improve the material, cultural, and political quality of American life.

In other words, according to Wattenberg — in the phrase used as the Democratic campaign theme of the Truman years — "we never had it so good." And by "we," Wattenberg means Americans across the board, including that segment referred to in the folk cliché of the New Left as "the young, the black and the poor."

Which, of course, leads to the second part of Wattenberg's trouble. For a traditional liberal to be criticized by the right is hardly surprising. But Wattenberg's optimism goes against the grain of what he calls "the cause people"; that is, the New Left ideologues who seized control of the Democratic party in 1972.

This is the "New Politics" crowd with whom Wattenberg and his statistician colleague and sometimes collaborator, Richard Scammon, have been doing interminable battle for years over the future direction of the Democratic party.

In his new book, Wattenberg lays into the "cause" people once again, blistering their "failure and guilt complex," which, he says, ignores American social, economic and political achievements during the past half-century.

In one of the most penetrating sections of "The Real America," the author sets up a question — and answer sequence involving a standard New Left assault on middle-class American values.

"You think it's important to have religion, to believe in moderation, in sobriety, in sexual responsibility, in abiding by the laws, in cleanliness, in family?" Wattenberg asks.

Then he responds, mocking the clichés of the New Left: "That's square. God is dead. 'Rip-off is cute. pot is good, sex is a hang-up, pornography is chic, abortion is noble, family is a middle-class put-on, cleanliness if next to ugliness. Your values, your traditions, your culture, your law, your morality — are no good."

white race is the cancer of civilization. And if Vietnam didn't prove it, look at Watergate."

The author of "The Real America" has the rhetoric of the New Left down very well indeed. Sufficiently so, as I say, that he ranks high on the list of people the New Left would like to see purged from an ideologically pure Democratic party.

Wattenberg, however, has other ideas. He views the 1972 McGovern campaign as a disastrous exercise in failure — and — guilt politics, and as co-chairman of the Coalition for a Democratic Majority, has been in the forefront of efforts to co-opt to the Democratic side the great Middle American body of voters which supported the Nixon-Agnew ticket through two elections.

Wattenberg calls this constituency the "massive majority middle class." But by any other name, it remains what Kevin Phillips in 1969 foresaw as "the emerging Republican majority." And what former Nixon aide Pat Buchanan calls the "new majority" — the winning coalition that Buchanan believes will form behind Republican candidates in future presidential elections.

"The Real America" is a book written by a rarity: a hard-nosed liberal who prefers to argue his case in terms of factual data rather than emotional catchwords.

As such, it deserves the attention not only of Ben Wattenberg's fellow Democrats, but members of the opposition party — from the Ford White House to the precincts — who might misread the clear rightward trend of recent national elections.

Democrats Saddled up — But Who Will Ride?

WASHINGTON — It's still very much a toss-up who will be in the saddle at the Democrats' dissension-menaced "mini-convention" in Kansas City.

On the basis of delegate reports to date, control could go either way — to party regulars and their COPE (AFL-CIO) allies or to the leftists who dominated the 1972 convention.

Some 45 states have elected delegations, but an undetermined number of them are still incomplete. Delegates — at large have yet to be chosen.

Also uncertain is the alignment of many delegates. A considerable number are newcomers and their ties and viewpoints are unclear. That is now being carefully checked by both sides.

But three things already are definitely clear:

(1) A coalition of McGovernite radicals, black activists and assorted leftists is vigorously organizing to wage an aggressive fight for their rule — or — ruin goals at the Kansas City meeting. They are making no bones they are prepared to go to extremist lengths to gain their ends.

(2) Their chief aim is restoration of the furiously controversial quota system — the minority gimmick primarily responsible for McGovern's nomination in '72.

(3) It's very possible that while the leftist-black coalition may not have a delegate majority, party regulars and their COPE allies might not be able to exercise control, either. One reason is national chairman Robert Strauss's persistent ambivalence in dealing with the extremists.

Although Strauss owes his election wholly to the regulars and COPE, he is so bent on preserving what he calls "unity" and "harmony" that he incurs exactly the opposite.

The Kansas City donnybrook will be a supreme test for the Texan. It remains to be seen how he measures up bossing the furiously discordant factions.

OUT IN THE OPEN

Highly significant about the drive to restore the quota system are:

The militants have discarded covert tactics and now are making no bones about what they're after; they have already staged two turbulent disruption to gain their ends.

The first was at the meeting of the Democratic Charter Commission which was broken up by a carefully prearranged televised walkout when the leftist couldn't get their way. Leader of this divisive caper was Willie Brown, black activist California State assemblyman.

The second was last week at a session of the executive committee of the Democratic National Committee when Richard Hatcher, black Mayor of Gary, Ind., truculently demanded the addition of more blacks on the state delegation by the quota formula. Loudly backing him was Arnold Alperstein, radical Coloradan.

While their move got nowhere immediately, neither was it wholly without results — thanks to Strauss's pussyfooting. He indicated Hatcher would be taken care of either by naming him a delegate to the "mini-convention" or giving him an honorary office there.

It is noteworthy that foremost among the "sugar daddies" of the drive to restore quotas are prominent liberal backers of the McCarthy and McGovern presidential candidacies in 1968-72. These millionaire "angels" include:

Stewart Mott, New York, General Motors heir; Daniel Noyes, Indianapolis, Lilly Drug heir; Corneil Dutcher, San Diego; Meyer Berger, Pittsburgh industrialist; Harold Willens, Los Angeles realtor; Miles Rubin, Los Angeles; Marge Benton, Chicago.

Also in the forefront are Massachusetts national committeeman Jerome Grossman; stridently radical, equally so Anne Wechsler of Connecticut; similarly Alan Baron, Chunky head of what he calls the "Democrat Paining Group," largely financed by Stewart Mott; Morris Dees, Montgomery, Ala., Lawyer; Stanley Schienbaum, Los Angeles economist; Neil Staebler, former Michigan State chairman.

Illustrative of their attitude on the quota issue are the following:

Anne Wechsler: "State chairmen ought to be able to have voluntary quotas if they want them."

Neil Staebler: "If mandatory quotas are forbidden, what do you have left? All you have is a rather mild exhortation."

Alan Baron: "The goal of 'affirmative action' (terminology used by leftists to camouflage quota) has to be implied quotas, because that is what 'affirmative action' means."

Last weekend, 23 prominent blacks, after a two-hour conference from which the press was excluded, issued a statement serving notice they would boycott the "mini-convention" unless quotas were restored.

It remains to be seen if they will go through with that if they don't get their way.

There will be hearings on the long-pending recomputation issue this year — but not until Congress returns for a lame-duck session after the Nov. 5 election.

That's what Rep. Samuel Stratton, D., N.Y., armed Services subcommittee chairman, told this column. He was designated by Armed Services chairman F. Edward Hebert, D., La., to hold hearings and submit recommendations on "restructuring" the entire military retirement system. Asked by this column if there was any likelihood of congressional action this year on such legislation, Stratton replied, "I would say no; not enough time left for that."

What about recomputation? Will that be considered at the hearings?

"Definitely," assured Stratton. "Supporters of recomputation will have ample opportunity to present their case. There is no question about that. Recomputation is part of the pension problem, and it will be given full consideration by the subcommittee."

"How long do you think the hearing will last?"

"My hope is we'll be able to complete them before Congress winds up in December," replied Stratton. "But it all depends on still uncertain factors — how many witnesses will want to be heard, and how much emergency legislation on the inflation and other pressing problems will have to be dealt with. Time will be limited, so it's impossible to say now how things will work out. It may be the whole question of pension restructuring will have to go over to next year in the new (94th) Congress."

"If that's the case, do you think there will be legislation dealing with the complex problem of military retirement?"

"Yes, I do," said Stratton. "Certainly that is Chairman Hebert's intention, and I go along wholeheartedly with him on that. And, of course, if military pension legislation is considered by Congress, supporters of recomputation will have a chance to get it acted on. Recomputation will be germane and there will be no reason why it shouldn't be considered by the House and Senate." (All Right Reserved)

He needs his father for a friend

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by The Chicago Tribune

DEAR ABBY: I needed some Scotch tape so I looked in my son's desk for some, and noticed the beginning of a letter my son had written to his girl friend. It read, "I am only interested in being stoned, spending money and sex."

I read no further.

My first impulse was to confront him with this, but then he would say I had no right to go snooping through his desk.

I don't think I should go on ignoring this. I would appreciate some advice. He is 18½.

BEWILDERED FATHER

DEAR FATHER: You could be about 17 years too late. It won't help you now to be reminded that you failed to build the kind of father-son relationship that inspires trust, confidence and total honesty. It's possible that what you read did not reflect your son's thoughts accurately, however.

Don't tell him what you saw, but try to get a dialogue going so you can get inside his head. Encourage honesty, and no matter what he says, be cool, and don't put him down or make him feel guilty. If you can develop candid two-way communication, you'll be able to influence and eventually help your son. He doesn't need punishment. Father, he needs a mature understanding friend.

DEAR ABBY: About a week before our daughter and her steady graduated from high school, they told us that she was pregnant and they wanted to get married.

There was a long silence, then my husband said: "We've all made mistakes in our lives, but some of us never got caught. Now you two kids will have to excuse us for five minutes while we plan our daughter's wedding."

Then Dad led me into the bedroom, handed me $25 and said: "Let's see if you're as smart about money now as you were 25 years ago."

Needless to say, time was short, so I went downtown the next morning and bought six yards of yellow cotton, two simple formal patterns, two yards of pink lace, two yards of ivory lace, and some pink and ivory ribbon — all for less than $10. (I had $15 left over for the flowers and reception. Boy, I had money to burn!)

My younger daughter (age 15) and I made the dresses. I baked the wedding cake and made punch. Only the very immediate families were invited to the wedding.

Our minister performed the ceremony in front of our fireplace, which was decorated with greenery from our garden and two white candles. The girls were beautiful in their simple dresses with their long black hair tied back with ribbons to match their dresses. The bride carried a single ivory carnation, and her sister, a pink carnation.

We made sure the fridge was well stocked, and Dad, Sister and I spent the weekend in a neighboring town with Dad's brother.

Dad says I'm still as smart about money as I was 25 years ago.

NO NAMES PLEASE

DEAR NO: You're not only smart about money, you are wise about other things, too. And so is your husband.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BLISSFUL IN EVANSVILLE, INDIANA": You are mistaken. No one said "ignorance is bliss."

The quote is, "Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise."

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Appeals Court Narrows Obscene Material Scope

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals now says that kissing, petting and the act of birth are not obscene but other, more sexually explicit acts are, when represented in an offensive manner.

The court issued its ruling Wednesday in the case of Alton A. West of Lubbock, and in doing so considerably narrowed the scope of materials that may be considered obscene.

The new decision has already drawn criticism, the first coming from Judge Wendell Odom, who concurred that West's conviction of exhibiting obscene material should be upheld, but disagreed with what he called the court's "judicial legislation."

The court had ruled that offensive representations of any sexual matters would be obscene, but reversed that stand Wednesday saying the original interpretation could apply to such acts as kissing, petting or birth.

The new ruling, instigated by the U. S. Supreme Court, said that only materials which are patently offensive representations of ultimate sexual acts or patently offensive representations or descriptions of masturbation, excretory functions and lewd exhibition of the genitals shall be obscene.

The court majority said the new decision was in line with a U. S. Supreme Court ruling on an obscenity case from California.

West, convicted in 1971, appealed to the Supreme Court which ordered the Texas court to determine if the state law complied with the California decision.

The Texas court's majority opinion Wednesday contained a new judicial construction which it said complied with the higher court order.

In a strongly worded opinion, Odom said the new interpretation overstepped the appeals court's powers to interpret the law.

"To so limit the statute to less than what it on its face includes, to less than what was clearly intended, and to less than what the supreme court says is constitutionally permissible, is not statutory interpretation and construction; it is judicial legislation," Odom said in an opinion in which he was joined by Judge Truman Roberts.

"I remain convinced that the construction given to (the obscenity law) and specifically to the term 'sexual matters' in the previously unanimous opinion of this court rendered Feb. 13, 1974, is correct."

"I cannot agree with the majority's erroneous decision to draft a new obscenity statute."

Mrs. Kennedy Receives DWI Charge In Accident

McLEAN, Va. (UPI) — Joan Kennedy, the wife of Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., was charged with drunken driving Wednesday after her convertible bumped into a car stopped at a red light in suburban Virginia.

There were no injuries, and total damage in the three-car collision was estimated at $1,400.

Edward McGrath, whose car was struck, said Mrs. Kennedy, 38, "was very concerned about the accident and very upset. I really thought she was a nice lady."

"She said over and over again she was really sorry that it happened and just thankful that no one was hurt."

McGrath, 49, a Defense Department employee, said he was not aware at the time that she would be cited for drunken driving.

A police spokesman said a breathalyzer test was administered to Mrs. Kennedy at a police substation after the incident, but he declined to make public the result.

Mrs. Kennedy, who was alone in her car at the time of the accident, appeared before a magistrate and was released on personal recognizance. No court date has been set.

A spokesman for Sen. Kennedy said he left Capitol Hill to return to the family home in McLean after receiving word of the accident.

McGrath said Mrs. Kennedy's car hit his smaller one with a "pretty solid bump," and his auto bounced forward and smacked into the back of the next vehicle driven by Carol Pinder, 25, of Vienna, Va.

Only McGrath's car suffered significant damage, with both front and back ends caved in.

McGrath said Mrs. Kennedy, who was wearing white tennis shoes and a leather coat, exchanged drivers licenses and other information with him after all three cars involved pulled over to the side of the road and awaited police.

Asked if there were any obvious indications that she had been drinking, he replied, "I wouldn't say that there was any real evidence."

Judge Rejects Appeal For Marshals

BOSTON (UPI) — U.S. Judge W. Arthur Garrity has turned down an appeal by local officials and black leaders for federal marshals and troops to help put down the violence that followed his order to integrate city schools.

Instead, he ordered the mayor to get extra officers from other cities and the state police. Riot-trained reinforcements were assigned to the city today.

In Washington, President Ford said the court-ordered busing "in my judgement, was not the best solution to quality education in Boston."

He added, however, "I think it's of maximum importance for the citizens of Boston to respect the law."

Street violence Wednesday was centered in the predominantly black Roxbury section, as it was the previous day. Until Tuesday, most of the violence was in the white South Boston section, which generally opposes busing.

At least 14 arrests and 11 injuries were reported Wednesday as black youths threw rocks at buses and cars and looted stores in the Roxbury section.

Fights were reported inside Hyde Park High School, resulting in the suspension of 19 students. Citywide school attendance shrank to 60.1 per cent. One elementary school was closed early as a safety measure.

A white man, James Horan, 33, was dragged from his car and beaten by blacks in Roxbury, apparently in retaliation for the similar beating of a black in South Boston on Monday. He was admitted to the Boston City Hospital with serious head injuries.

Police Stop Rep. Mills After Speeding Incident

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Wilbur Mills appeared intoxicated and had blood and scratches on his face when his car was stopped for speeding with its lights out near the Jefferson Memorial early Monday, according to U.S. Park Police.

"An occupant who got out of the car identified himself as Congressman Mills," a police report said. "He also appeared intoxicated and there was blood coming from his nose and several other facial wounds."

A woman passenger of the car, who appeared drunk and highly emotional, jumped into the Tidal Basin near the memorial. She was rescued by officers and later was taken to a mental hospital for observation. Deputy Park Police Franklin K. Arthur said.

Small Increase Reported For Prices Index

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government index of wholesale prices gained only 0.1 per cent in September, giving President Ford the first encouraging economic news since taking office.

It was the smallest increase in a year. The index on wholesale prices released by the Bureau of Labor Statistics today was 167.2 — meaning wholesale goods that cost $100 in 1967 cost $167.20 today.

On an unadjusted basis the index was actually down 0.1 per cent but the adjusted figure better reflects economic trends.

Ford has made the economy his top priority issue and this week proposed to Congress 31 steps to take to help fight inflation. Since taking office in August, Ford has only heard of higher consumer prices, higher wholesale prices and swelling unemployment.

But the wholesale price index generally signals how prices of consumer goods will increase or decrease at a later date. The small wholesale increase last month could be reflected in lower consumer prices later.

The September increase was the smallest since October 1973 when there was a drop of 0.1 per cent but it was still 19.7 per cent higher than a year ago.

The statistics showed prices of foods edged downward 0.3 per cent after two months of higher prices. This decline, however, may be short lived if grain crop setbacks continue. Beef and veal accounted for most of the decline in consumer food prices.

An officer took Mills home, he said.

An aide to the House Ways and Means Committee chairman said earlier that Mills was not at the scene of the 2 a.m. incident, but had loaned his car to a neighbor that night.

The Arkansas Democrat, who did not appear on Capitol Hill Wednesday, could not be reached directly for comment, but his office said it had no further statement on the incident.

Arthur told a news conference that the other passengers in the car — three women and a man — also appeared to have been drinking and some were "obviously intoxicated."

Arthur said the incident began early Monday when park police, who guard federal parklands and monument areas, stopped a car traveling at "a high rate" of speed with its lights out near the Jefferson Memorial.

After the car stopped, Arthur said, Anabella Battistella, whose address was given as the same Arlington, Va., apartment building in which Mills lives, jumped out and lay on the ground.

He said no test was given to Mills that would indicate that he had been drinking, but Brent made his report based on the smell of Mills' breath.

Police Arrest 'Rip-Off' Gang

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — Eight members of "The Rip-Off" gang were arraigned Wednesday on charges of stealing $41,000 from unsuspecting bank employees who considered them playful youths.

Earlier seven juveniles and one adult were charged with the scheme. Police said the older youths drove the 10 and 12 year-old boys to six area banks where they played around tellers' cages and vaults, asking questions and acting playful. Officers said the youths managed to pocket loose money before they were finally encouraged to leave by bank employees tried of having them underfoot.

One bank discovered funds missing in an audit and an investigation led to the youngsters who involved the older boys, police said. Police said the youths called themselves "The Rip-Off" gang. Arraigned Wednesday were John K. Crank, 23, now a prisoner at the La Tuna Federal Correctional Institute, his brother, Wesley, 21, an inmate at Huntsville, Tex., Vincent Homan, 20, Clyde Smith, 20, William Harper, 19, Curtis Lee Davis, 18, Arthur Quintana, 19, and a juvenile, all of El Paso. The adults were held on $20,000 bond and the younger boy was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Earlier Dale Mince, 18, was charged with accepting and holding stolen money and jailed. Juvenile authorities took custody of six youngsters arraigned with him. James Rigby, 435 N. Ballard

Mutscher, Others Seek Reversal Of Convictions

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Former House Speaker Gus F. Mutcher, former Rep. Tommy Shannon and McGinty, of Austin, were given five-year probated sentences in 1972 for conspiring to accept bribes from Houston financier Frank W. Sharp in exchange for helping pass banking legislation favorable to him.

The 56-page motion raised no new points of law, but contended the court had been wrong in its decision Sept. 24 in rejecting 24 points defense attorneys contended were sufficient to warrant a new trial.

FOR BOSTON SCHOOLS Ford Disapproves Of Busing Ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gerald Ford said he wanted it clearly understood — he deplores violence — he wants the laws obeyed, but he still disapproves of the attempt to desegregate Boston's schools by enforced busing.

At his Rose Garden news conference Wednesday, the President challenged federal court desegregation rulings and sparked immediate controversy in answering a question that seemed a mere change of pace from economic issues.

About the time Ford was meeting with reporters, riot police were chasing mobs through Boston's Roxbury district in another day of violence and Mayor Kevin White was futilely asking a federal judge to send in U.S. marshals.

Briscoe Pressures For Reasons

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — University of Texas Chancellor Charles A. LeMaistre Wednesday informed a faculty-student committee he did not intend to divulge his reasons for firing UT Austin President Stephen H. Spurr, but later admitted under pressure from Gov. Dolph Briscoe he was preparing a statement on the ouster.

Briscoe Wednesday said he would use his constitutional powers if necessary to force school officials to explain publicly why Spurr was ousted.

And Spurr, who remains a member of the UT faculty, said he was fired because he refused to admit a friend of Regent Frank C. Erwin Jr. to the Texas Law School.

LeMaistre told the committee by letter he would not explain Spurr's firing on advice of legal counsel but later said in response to Briscoe's statement that he was preparing a "comprehensive public statement" to be released within several days after it had been cleared by his attorneys.

LeMaistre fired Spurr Sept. 24 and UT regents subsequently upheld the dismissal unanimously and without comment.

Spurr said it was obvious that he lost Erwin's support because he backed former law school dean Page Keeton's decision refusing to admit "a friend of Mr. Erwin's" to the law school.

"Mr. Erwin apparently felt (erroneously) that I had promised to find a way of getting the applicant into the law school and that I failed to keep my pledge," Spurr said.

"Immediately thereafter, I began to gather from the remarks made to others that my days as president were numbered. From that time on, Mr. Erwin avoided me; was short to me when we did meet, and began increasingly to deal directly with second and third echelon administrators on the UT-Austin campus in making decisions relating to that campus."

Spurr said Erwin devoted substantial portions of his time to the day-to-day administration of the UT system and is by far the most influential individual on the board in all matters concerning the university.

Spurr told the committee, appointed by the Faculty Senate to "uncover, discover and make public" the reasons for his firing, that the "first reason LeMaistre gave for firing him was Spurr's decision to cut down on the free-loading lists for cocktail parties prior to Longhorn football games. The parties were attended by many influential state politicians. He said LeMaistre also gave Spurr's alleged antagonism of the ex-students' association, his alleged failure to move fast enough in the field of energy research and his presentation of the UT-Austin budget to the legislature.

Spurr denied all the charges. "In my judgement, the underlying reasons for my dismissal lay first in my independence and vigor in pressing for what I believed to be right in inner councils of the system (although I tried to act as a member of the team when a decision was reached), and, second, in my uncompromising insistence that the fundamental decisions on academic matters should be made primarily by the faculty and academic administrators at the campus level. "I was stunned at the request for my immediate resignation and by the rapid recital of allegations. I was given no opportunity to respond," Spurr said.

Convicted Murderer Receives Doctor's License

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Dr. R. Bernard Finch, who served 12 years in a California prison for his wife's murder, will be issued a license to practice medicine in Missouri. The Kansas City Court of Appeals lowered all legal barriers Wednesday by rejecting the last appeal by the state.

A motion had been filed by Executive Secretary John A. Hailey of the State Board of Registration for the Healing Arts in the Kansas City court asking the Missouri Supreme Court take jurisdiction in the case. Wednesday's action by the court refused a rehearing and rejected a transfer to the Supreme Court.

The Kansas City Court of Appeals ruled two weeks ago that Finch should be granted a license. The board then filed its motion. Finch was a prosperous surgeon in 1959 when, in collusion with his 24-year-old receptionist, Carole Tregoff, he killed his wife, Barbara Jean, at their West Covina, Calif., home.

Described as a model prisoner, he was released in 1971. Finch came to Missouri and went to work as an X-ray technician in the El Dorado Springs hospital. The state board refused to allow him to take an examination for a license to practice. Later the Cole County Circuit Court ordered the board to permit him to take the test. Finch, who kept up on modern medicine during his prison term, passed the examination last December. The board again refused to issue a license.

The Kansas City court ordered it issued and upheld its decision Wednesday.

Youth Council Loses Appeal Over Reforms

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The Texas Youth Council has lost an appeal to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to delay sweeping reforms in state reformatory facilities.

The council asked the appeals court to delay the reform order of District Judge William Wayne Justice of Tyler, Tex., pending an appeal of the decision.

"It is ordered that appellants' motion for stay pending appeal is denied," the court ruled Wednesday.

Justice ordered the reforms Aug. 30, including the closing of the two largest boys' facilities at Gatesville, and said they should be replaced with community-based rehabilitation programs. He originally ordered minimal reforms at the Gatesville facilities in August, 1973, and a short time later disorder erupted at the institutions.

Critics suggested Youth Council officials encouraged the rebellion to discredit Justice's ruling and TYC director Jack Turman blamed the disruption on the court order. Turman then resigned and was replaced by Ron Jackson, who said he would implement many of Justice's reforms.

WRONG VICTIMS

UPPER WHARFDALE, England. (UPI) — Three elderly women walking on a lonely lane looked an easy target to the masked gunman and he moved in for the attack.

One woman hit him with her umbrella. Another snatched his shotgun. The third ripped off his mask just before he managed to flee into the moors. Police arrested the man a short time later.

At Wit's End

By ERMA BOMBECK
I'm not sure," I said to my husband, "but I think one of the kids has been using my typewriter."
"What makes you say a thing like that?" he asked.
"Because there's a pound of erasures on the carriage, the margins are set at infinity, and there's an anchovy stuck between the Y and T keys."
"Are you sure the kids did it?"
"I'll know for sure when I get the films developed from the hidden camera," I said.
He shook his head. "I swear I don't know what's with you and that typewriter. You're so possessive!"
"You say that after what happened to my first typewriter?"

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED KARPIN

All bridge players recognize that defense is the most difficult segment of bridge to master. This applies not only to the average players, but also to the highest echelons.

In today's deal, which was played at The World Olympiad a few years ago, Tim Seres of Australia gave an excellent exhibition of defensive prowess. The deal was played in the catch between England and Australia. Seres was sitting in the East seat.

Both sides vulnerable. West deals.

The bidding:

Pass Pass Pass 1 ♦

Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Five of ♦.

The nine of spades was played from dummy on the opening lead, and Seres put up the jack, which won the trick. What would you lead to trick two if you were in the East seat?

Well, it was perfectly obvious to Seres that declarer, if he were able, would ruff out one or two of his losing clubs (which declarer rated to have, since he was known to have started with but a singleton spade). Thus it was apparent to Seres that a trump lead was called for, to eliminate dummy's trumps.

I imagine that many players, had they been occupying the East seat, would have cashed the ace of trumps at trick two, and then led the ten of trumps at trick three. Declarer would have own this latter lead, and then would have picked up West's remaining trump.

Next would come the ace and queen of hearts, West winning with his king. No matter what West now returned, declarer would win and play a heart to dummy's jack. On the two established hearts, declarer would discard his two losing clubs. He would thus wind up making an overtrick.

But, at trick two, Seres did not lead the trump ace. Instead, he led the ten of trumps. This was a killing lead, for it accomplished two things: (1) it prevented declarer from ruffing clubs, and (2) retained control of the hand for East. South won the trick with his king, and then led a second trump. East's ace winning. Now East shifted to the club ten — and declarer found it impossible to avoid the loss of two club tricks.

When play had ended, declarer had lost two club tricks, one spade, one diamond, and one heart, to incur a one-trick set.

"I don't remember," he said.
"Well, I remember, I bought an old clunker of a typewriter to put by the telephone because we could never keep a pencil there. The first night your son picked up my 85-pound machine, stuck it behind his ear and walked off with it."
"I still don't remember," he said. "And when did it get to be YOUR typewriter?"
"The day I discovered it was the only thing left that hadn't been taken over by the children."
"You're being dramatic."
"I never complained about sharing my scissors, my transparent tape, my rubber bands and my deodorant. I am used to illegal seige and search of my closet and bureau drawers."

The other day when I picked up my toothbrush and it was wet, I didn't even whimper. When I left the breakfast table to answer the phone and returned to see my son picking my bacon out of his teeth, I didn't throw a tantrum. And when I climbed into my car yesterday and it wasn't there, I sat there on the garage floor and was amused. But this is MY typewriter!"

"You are jumping to conclusions," he said. "Just because your typewriter has been tampered with, you assume it was one of the children. How can you be so sure?"

I sat there stunned. "All I know is that I just wrote a letter to Mother on it, you know? And it was freaky, you dig? I mean like the letter grossed me out and I don't know what's happening, man, but if they don't bug off, I hate to think what I'll write tomorrow."

"Your point and game," he said dryly.

Discoloration of asphalt shingles is a problem in many areas and can be overcome temporarily by washing the roof with a solution of copper sulfate and water or household bleach and water.

Jaycee-Ettes Review Films On Baker Head Start Program

The Pampa Jaycee-Ettes recently held their regular monthly meeting at the Reddi Room of Southwestern Public Service. President Kerrick Horton called the meeting to order and introduced the guest speaker, Kay Slaughter who gave a very informative slide presentation on the activities of the Head Start Program at Baker School.

After the program, the innovation was given and the Jaycee-Ette Creed was read by the newly elected secretary Anna Mae Lancaster and the treasurer's report was given by Trecia.

During the business meeting, it was reported that approximately 124 stamp raffle tickets were sold during a recent week.

Trecia announced that eight couples and their children recently attended a weekend outing at Lake McClellan.

Margaret Milam reported that 100 percent of the club's membership contributed over 80 hours during the Jaycee Carnival by selling tickets, preparing and serving food and by working in the Jaycee-Ette Sno-Cone booth.

Hereford and Claude co-hosted a Sit-In-Hen Sept. 13 and the Pampa Club won the travel trophy. The club also won the travel trophy at the August Sit-In-Hen hosted by Friona.

Trecia reported that four Jaycee-Ettes attended Jaycee ladies night at Furr's and the Jaycee President Benny Horton gave a short Jaycee orientation.

Jaycee-Ette Diane Grooters will be riding in the upcoming Cancer bike-a-thon to be held Oct. 20. The club voted to sponsor Diane a dollar a mile.

Margaret reported that four birthday cards were sent to Panhandle Orphans Home for the month of September.

The Jaycee-Ettes are marching for the Multiple Sclerosis Drive this month and three are currently helping with the United Fund Drive. The club voted to donate a hot plate to the Head Start Program at Baker school and also voted to donate to the Anastasia Mama Fund.

At the close of the meeting, Anna Mae won the door prize of two bats and balls to be donated to the Panhandle Orphans Home and refreshments were served by Margaret and Anna Mae.

Those attending were Trecia Saltzman, Anna Mae Lancaster, Diane Grooters, Margaret Milam and Kerrick Horton.

Annual Doll Show Set For Amarillo

The Amarillo Doll Association Show and Sale is slated for Oct. 19-20 from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the Amarillo Civic Center.

The non-profit group was organized in 1971 and will host the 1975 Region 3 convention in June of next year.

The group seeks to encourage the use of dolls in education and philanthropic activities. And all proceeds collected this year will be donated to the Mentally Retarded Children.

Jo Morrow of Dallas will give free wig making and styling lessons at the annual October show, expected to draw returns visited by many of last year's exhibitors. The event attracted large crowds and exhibitors from 10 states.

Speaking of Jo Morrow, Mrs. Emmet Thompson, President of the Amarillo club said, "The lady is a genius. She gave this program (on wigs) in Reno at the International Convention. We have some really surprises for the people who come to see the show this year."

Among the specials planned will be door prizes of a German Bisque antique doll for adults and a Madam Alexander's Cinderella for children.

CYMBALS WANTED — SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Symphony is advertising for old instruments.

The orchestra has issued an appeal for a "pre-World War II vintage" xylophone, and crash cymbals made before 1940.

Thomas Hemphill, the orchestra's percussionist, said the older instruments are more durable and have better sound quality than new ones.

The orchestra would like to get the instruments as tax-exempt gifts, but Hemphill said it would pay for them.

Men's Fashion Is French Suit

Paris (UPI) — The "French suit" has become such an important look in Europe that President Valery Giscard d'Estaing rushed out and bought one for his official photographs shortly after his election last spring. It could be the next look in the United States.

There are many versions, mostly depending on the age of the wearer, but the basic line is a short jacket with wide shoulders, and wide trousers, designer Nino Cerutti showed big floppy pants nearly 24 inches wide in his new line — but such extreme widths are for the very young.

Many of the French and European designers exhibiting at the recent Paris Men's and Boys' Wear show showed this look and there were hints of it in a few American lines. The show is called SEHM for Salon European de l'Habillement Masculin and attracted 20,000 visitors, many from big American department stores.

Exhibitors showed hundreds of different blouses, or short jackets, with the floppy pants, and most of the designs were on the fussy side in a not too successful change from the clean-cut Eisenhower jacket or the western denim jacket made famous by Levi.

Strauss. There was a heavy American western influence throughout, however.

The basis "French suit" as shown for Spring 1975 showed many very light and soft corduroys, cotton serges, silk and cotton tweeds and patterns ran to faint pin stripes or tiny all over designs, printed or woven.

The predominant colors were white, different stone-like grays, and straw yellow. Cerutti, for example, used a lot of what he called elephant gray. Other designers used such "fashion colors" as sandalwood, rosewood and delft blue in suits, lichen, coral and barley in shirts.

Evolution of the French suit began a few years ago when Pierre Cardin showed a suit-jacket slightly shorter than his old line, with pronounced shoulders and big floppy pants. Hardy Amies of London showed basically the same thing a few years back.

But it has caught on largely through movies — it was featured in a sequence from the movie "The French Call 'La Conversation.'" Movies also have produced some spinoff and a film called "Gatsby le Magnifique" has revived an interest in Scottish flannels. Those trends were evident throughout the SEHM showings where there were about 300 manufacturers from 14 countries, with such designers as Cerruti, Courreges, Guy Laroche, Ted Lapidus, Daniel Hechter, Harry Lans and Franck Olivier leading the way.

There were a dozen or more American firms represented including Prince Egon von Furstenberg. In addition to his sports shirts and sweaters he was doing very well with an extremely light weight raincoat which was knitted and impregnated with plastic. It looked like very fine leather till I put my glasses on.

Other European trends: Inflation was the main topic of conversation throughout Europe and the trend here — as in the United States — is to buy clothes that one can get more than one season out of. Which means that the blouse and the French suit is here to stay for a while.

The width of a tornado averages 300 to 400 yards, but some have been as narrow as 9 feet and as wide as a mile or more. The average length of a tornado's path is usually about 13 miles, but can go as far as 300 miles. The wind speed within a tornado funnel has never been measured.

RARE TRIPLETS

SPENCER, Iowa (UPI) — A registered hereford cow owned by a farmer near here has given birth to triplets, a rare phenomenon in genetics.

The cow and its family are the property of Lowell Wade who farms six miles south of here. Wade breeds beef cattle.

Texas Bankers Studying Japanese—And 22 Others

DALLAS (UPI) — When Mark Mischnick first came to Texas with his tape recorders and language programs, it took quite a while before he could convince anyone in the business community that he was the solution to their problems.

In fact, it took quite awhile to convince them that they even had a problem.

Texas-based corporations and businesses were always searching out the possibilities of doing business with foreign countries, Mischnick said.

"But I think there used to be a feeling by some that if a country's people did not speak English, then we could not do business with them.

"That is changing, however," he said. "American businessmen, Texans included, are discarding some of their theories of isolationism."

Mischnick is the Texas director of the Chicago-based Language House established in 1969 for teaching foreign languages to American businessmen being transferred abroad. English to foreign nationals employed by American corporations and transnational training for those being transferred in either direction.

Each Language House "lab" contains a textbook, a workbook of exercises, a series of cassette tapes, a cassette tape recorder with a four-track voice comparative capacity and an integrated set of ear phones and microphones. All are housed in a portable case weighing about 30 pounds.

Mischnick lists among his students the executives and employees of Dresser Industries, Bell Helicopter, Texas Instruments and Dallas' two largest banks, First National and Republic.

"We have the facilities to teach 23 languages but we have the programs to teach many more than that," he said.

The emphasis today is on Arabic and Farsi (Iranian). It seems like everybody wants to get into the Mideast market.

"Bell Helicopter and the aircraft people are very interested in Arabic; the bankers are into Japanese," he said.

For the most part, the executives are interested only in conversational aspects of the training.

"They just want to speak it, to converse and perhaps avoid a translator," Mischnick said.

"But it can be taught both ways. If the executive wants to both read and speak the language, he can put more time into the program and he will be able to do so."

"But it takes time — perhaps much more time than a busy executive can allow himself. Most businessmen do not want to do this.

"You can't take a pill and get up in the morning and know the language," he said.

Mischnick said the firm's most important activities beside its language program are its transcultural training sessions. He said about a third to one half of American executives return prematurely from overseas posts and that many more work below peak performance because they cannot adjust to the cultural change.

The company holds seminars to acquaint business executives and their families with an understanding of the culture of the country they are about to be transferred to. It sometimes helps the families decide whether they want to make the move in the first place, he said.

Closer to home, Language House is also making available training in street Spanish for metropolitan police departments.

"If officers can speak in the vernacular of the streets, then perhaps they can better understand the people that they are there to protect," Mischnick said.

Local Girl Named To Who's Who

VICKIE CARTER
...honored in publication

Vickie Carter, a senior at Pampa High School, was recently notified that she is to be featured in the eighth annual edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1973-74, the largest student award publication in the nation.

Students from more than 20,000 public, private and parochial high schools are recognized for their leadership in academics, athletics, activities or community service. Less than three percent of the junior and senior class students nation-wide are awarded this recognition.

Miss Carter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Carter, 1160 Terrace. At Pampa High she has lettered on the swim team, has received science award's and was a member of the National Junior Honor Society.

Miss Carter, in addition to having her biography published in the book, will also compete for one of ten scholarship awards of $500 to $1,000 funded by the publishers and will be invited to participate in the firm's annual survey of high achievers.

She plans to attend Phillips University at Enid, Okla.

The first school in the Ohio Territory was opened in 1773 in the village of Schoenbrunn.

Team Operation Required To Curb Crime

An extensive team effort by citizens and law enforcement officers is needed to control this country's rapidly rising crime rate.

Operation Identification, the kickoff project of the Pampa Police Department's crime prevention program, is the first community-wide crime control project designed to reduce the burglary rate in Pampa.

The following is how you can participate:

Operation I.D. has basically two parts. First, mark all your easily stolen valuables so they can be identified. Second, display a warning sticker which tells burglars that your property is protected with your mark.

Marking property accomplishes several things. Items marked in Operation I.D. are harder for the burglar to see or fence, and an Operation I.D. sticker on a front and back window or door deters burglars because your property can be easily and positively identified.

Also, the identification mark makes the owner's chances of retrieving stolen property much higher in addition to simplifying the apprehension of criminals.

The Pampa Police Department has purchased engraving pens which can be checked out at no cost to you.

When home owners and businessmen obtain an etching pen, the department encourages them to talk to their friends and neighbors about marking their property while the pen is handy.

The actual marking process is simple. Use your driver's license number to mark your property in the following manner: Engrave TX for state identification, so that if the property is taken out of the state, the number can be easily traced; then write your license number. (Example: TX5551212).

If you don't have a driver's license, call the Pampa Police Department and ask for a number you can use.

Once items have been marked, use the property listing form supplied with the pen for your own reference. This is your check list of your property in case of theft.

Small and fragile items such as jewelry, silver and china can be protected if you will take a photograph of them, and keep the photos in a safe, fire-proof place. You will be issued a self-adhesive decal to put outside your home or office to warn burglars that the property inside is protected by Operation I.D. Displaying the decal will deter burglars since they know that having marked items in their possession is dangerous.

Ohio ranks second to Pennsylvania in the number of covered bridges remaining in the United States. But only 175 of Ohio's original 2,500 covered bridges still exist.

Natural Substitutes For Sweetened Dishes

NEW YORK (UPI) — The rapidly rising cost of sugar may not be bitter medicine after all.

Many medical authorities say the typical American eats far too much sugar, and in fact, needs no sugar as such in a nutritionally balanced diet.

But few of us are apt to give up sweets altogether. So here are some ideas for making desserts and other sweetened dishes with either less sugar or natural substitutes.

Cook apples in frozen unsweetened apple juice or orange juice concentrate or sweet cider to make applesauce.

Puree naturally sweet fruits such as ripe bananas or prunes and blend into stiffly beaten egg whites to make fruit whips. Little or no sugar will be needed.

Choose the ripest fruit you can find if you plan to serve it raw. Then sweeten, if necessary, with a little corn syrup. It's better than sugar for this purpose anyway because the syrup makes a less watery mixture because it doesn't draw juices from the fruit.

The consumer service department of C P C International, a major manufacturer of corn syrup, says the price is expected to rise but not in proportion to that of sugar.

It can be substituted for sugar entirely in a variety of foods and beverages. To make good cinnamon toast, blend 2 tablespoons of corn syrup with 3 tablespoons of softened butter or margarine and 1 teaspoon of cinnamon. Spread on toast and broil until the spread bubbles.

Corn syrup can be substituted for simple syrup (sugar boiled with water) for use in cold drinks and punches. It can take the place of sugar in baked beans, barbecue sauce, dessert sauces and ham glazes. The consistency of syrup makes it cling better in basting sauces and glazes. Corn syrup also can be substituted for sugar in making the topping for upside down cakes and sticky buns.

It reduces the graininess of frozen desserts such as refrigerator tray ice creams, ice milks, ices and sherbets. One fourth of the sugar called for in such recipes can be replaced by syrup.

To use it as a glaze for cookies and fruit cakes, bring syrup to a boil and boil one minute. Use a natural bristle brush to apply it because the high temperature can melt synthetic bristles. The boiling is needed to assure a dry glaze even in humid weather.

Canned fruits in syrup can be pureed to make frozen desserts with little or no sugar added. Leftoversyrup from canned or frozen fruit makes a good substitute for maple, maple blended or corn syrup on French toast, pancakes or waffles.

Making coffee gelatin? Melt marshmallows instead of sugar in the hot coffee before you add gelatin that has been presoaked in a little cold water.

Honey, molasses and corn syrup can be substituted in many recipes calling for sugar, although you will have to adjust the amount of liquid and sweetness to your taste. Used this way, allow in general a cup of corn syrup for each cup of sugar and reduce the liquid content of the recipe by about one fourth. Using honey, allow one cup for each cup and a fourth of sugar and reduce the liquid content by one fourth.

But for best results do not substitute honey, molasses or corn syrup in baking recipes calling for sugar. Instead, use recipes developed specifically for each.

Consumer Market Report

COLLEGE STATION — Meat outlook for coming weeks — "unpredictable," especially for beef.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, this week forecast a gloomy picture for beef eaters during the winter.

"As we get farther into the winter, less choice meat will be in markets, and we'll be dealing with a lower grade beef that has a slightly different flavor and is less tender," she said.

Pork values this week include picnics, shoulder roasts and steaks, end-cut loin roasts and chops, and pork liver.

At fruit counters, Bartlett pears are available, and higher-priced prunes reflect this year's smaller crop. Golden Delicious apples are a versatile fruit choice, and Texas oranges are on the market.

Peach and nectarine prices are moderate, while bananas, grapes, oranges, grapefruit, plums, pineapples, honey dew and cantaloupe feature various price levels. Buy them according to budget limits, the specialist said.

Fall vegetables are appearing at markets — namely acorn, butternut and several other hard-shell squash varieties.

Also, summer supplies of potatoes are plentiful, and sweet potatoes are in most stores.

Other vegetable buys include cabbage, carrots, cooking greens, dry yellow onions, rutabagas and cushaw.

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS: Pork prices likely will decrease for awhile this fall, but the situation will change as feed costs increase.

Choose Washington Russets

Markets are plentiful with this season's bountiful crop of Russet potatoes from Washington State. Excellent bakers, these high quality potatoes are the perfect choice for using in delicious Cheesy Potatoes on the Half Shell.

Centers of baked potatoes are combined with hot milk, egg, butter, and both Cheddar and Parmesan cheeses. The fluffy mixture is piled into the scooped-out shells, then returned to the oven until puffed and golden. If desired, the stuffed potatoes may be prepared in advance and refrigerated or even frozen before reheating at serving time.

Cheesy Potatoes On The Half Shell

3 large Washington Russet potatoes
1/2 cup hot milk
3 tablespoons butter
1 egg, slightly beaten
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon white pepper
1 cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Scrub potatoes and bake at 400 degrees 50 to 60 minutes. Halve potatoes; remove and mash pulp. Add remaining ingredients, mixing well. Spoon into potato shells. Return to a 400-degree oven 15 minutes or until heated through and golden. Makes 6 servings.

Let's Ask the Cook

by Nan Wiley

By now the name of my friend Ada Lou Roberts, the well-known bread book author should be familiar to you, but I can tell you she is a creative cook in other ways, too. Along with a note from Rose Lane Farm the other day, she enclosed a recipe she had christened "best-ever meat loaf" since that's what her menfolk commented when they tasted it. So much fat and other moisture bakes out of today's hamburger or ground beef she started experimenting to come up with a really juicy, flavorful loaf and that she did.

You will need 1 pound hamburger, 1 pound ground sausage meat, 1 teaspoon instant bouillon granules, 1 cup quick oatmeal, 1 teaspoon dried minced onions, 1/2 teaspoon celery salt, 4 tablespoons minute tapioca and 1 cup sieved canned applesauce. Mix all together. Bake, covered, in a standard loaf pan in a 325 to 350 oven for 1 to 1 1/2 hours. During the last 15 minutes or so brush with barbecue sauce if you like, finish baking uncovered.

Dear Nan: Is it wise to use brown jars for canning? (I have a few of the non-dairy creamer ones.) And why don't they put out pickles, peanut butter, jams, etc. in jars with regular or wide mouth openings so they could be reused instead of throwing them out? Evelyn Thompson, Kansas City, Mo.

It wouldn't work. Reuse of such jars is never advised except for jams, jellies and the like where you cover with paraffin. For other items you cannot get a suitable seal and many of the jars would not hold up during the processing. I'm sure you don't want to come up with a fat case of botulism so don't be pennywise and pound foolish.

Dear Nan:

Here is the corn relish recipe a reader wanted. Cook 18 ears sweet corn on the cob. Chop 1 small head cabbage, 4 green peppers, 2 sweet red peppers and 2 onions. Remove corn from cob and cook with the other vegetables, 2 cups sugar, one-third cup salt, 1 teaspoon celery seed, 1 tablespoon whole mustard seed and 1 quart vinegar with enough water to cover the mixture. Cook 20 to 30 minutes or until clear. Seal in sterilized jars. R. Luty, Webster, N.Y.

Thank you. I'm including your recipe in Volume II of "The Best of Let's Ask the Cook."

To order my new cookbook send $3.95 plus 50 cents for postage and handling and your printed name and address to Nan Wiley Book, Box 957, Des Moines, Iowa 50304. Allow 6 weeks for delivery.

Proofs Required To Apply For Social Security Number

People may be asked to prove their age, identity, and citizenship to get a social security number when applying for the first time, according to Howard L. Weatherly, branch manager, Social Security Office here.

The proof is required under an amendment to the social security law. The requirement affects native United States citizens, naturalized citizens, and aliens.

Age can usually be proved with a birth or baptismal certificate. Identity can generally be proved with a driver's license, voter's card, or similar evidence — preferably something that carries your signature.

People born in the United States can usually establish citizenship with the same papers they use to prove their age and identity.

The proof requirement is intended to help prevent people from obtaining more than one social security number or obtaining or using a social security card under a false identity.

A fine of up to $1,000, imprisonment of up to one year, or both may be imposed for fraudulent use of genuine or fake social security numbers to hide true identity or to get benefits from federally funded programs.

Your social security number is yours alone and remains the same for life. Using more than one number could mean you're not getting full credit, which could adversely affect your social security payments in the future," Weatherly said.

"You should apply for a social security number several weeks before you need it. Applications are generally screened against social security central files in Baltimore, and screening takes time," he added.

"When you get a job covered by social security, make sure your employer copies your name and number correctly from your social security card to his records," he said.

For more information, contact Pampa Social Security Office, 1541 N. Hobart, or call 806-669-3381.

CAUGHT BY THE TEETH
TORRANCE, Calif. (UPI) — A 32-year-old man who left telltale teeth marks on the tip of his victim's nose was convicted Wednesday of voluntary manslaughter.

Walter E. Marx, an electronics technician, was found guilty during a nonjury trial of strangling and stabbing a 73-year-old woman and then biting the tip of her nose last February.

Marx's teeth marks were identified by Dr. Reidar Sognnaes of UCLA's school of dentistry after the woman's body was exhumed.

Social Security Q & A

(Have you a question about social security? Address it to Howard L. Weatherly, Branch Manager, Social Security Administration, 1541 N. Hobart, Pampa, Texas, 79065. You will receive an answer in this column or by mail.)

By H.L. WEATHERLY
Q. I now get the supplemental security income (SSI) gold check each month. When my checks first started I was not working, but now I am earning $40 per month from a part-time job. Will this affect my SSI check amount?

A. Additional earned income or unearned income may lower the amount of your SSI check and must be reported. However, you may have as much as $85 a month earned income (wages, self-employment income) and still get your full check, if you have no other income (earned or unearned).

Q. I am 80 years old and I have never worked at a job where wages were covered by social security. However, I receive a special payment of $62.10 per month. Will I be able to get the SSI (gold checks)?

A. We will have to know more about your living arrangements and any other income and resources in order to determine if you are eligible. Your special payment will stop if you become eligible for supplemental security income (SSI) check.

Q. My husband died in January, 1974. He was receiving Railroad Annuity checks and social security retirement check. Can I expect a funeral allowance from both the Railroad Board and Social Security?

A. A lump sum death payment is payable only if social security has jurisdiction. Social Security pays both a lump sum death payment and survivor's benefits.

If the Railroad Retirement Board has jurisdiction and will pay survivor's benefits, no lump sum is payable by RRB.

The law allows payment of benefits by other agencies during the worker's lifetime, but upon his death only one agency can pay benefits. The benefits payable by either agency will be based on the combined records.

Veterans May Apply For Insurance

Vietnam-era veterans discharged during a four-year period before Aug. 1 have until Aug. 1, 1975 to apply for low-cost Veterans Group Life Insurance (VGLI), according to Jack Coker, Veterans Administration Regional Office Director.

An estimated 2.7 million veterans separated from April 2, 1970, through July 31, 1974, are eligible for the insurance. It is designed as interim protection during readjustment to civilian life.

Servicemen discharged since Aug. 1 will receive application forms automatically, Coker added.

Nonrenewable, five-year term coverage is available in $5,000 increments up to $20,000. Monthly premium for the maximum coverage is $3.40 for veterans aged 34 and under and 16.80 for those 35 and over.

Personnel may convert Servicemen's Group Life Insurance to VGLI without medical examination, if applications are received within 120 days of separation.

Applications after that time must include evidence of good health. This requirement is waived for veterans with VA-rated, service-connected disabilities.

Application forms are available from the VA Regional office at Waco, and from veterans county service offices and veterans service organizations.

Completed forms and premiums should be sent to the Office of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, 212 Washington Street, Newark, New Jersey 07102.

Natural Substitutes For Sweetened Dishes

NEW YORK (UPI) — The rapidly rising cost of sugar may not be bitter medicine after all.

Many medical authorities say the typical American eats far too much sugar, and in fact, needs no sugar as such in a nutritionally balanced diet.

But few of us are apt to give up sweets altogether. So here are some ideas for making desserts and other sweetened dishes with either less sugar or natural substitutes.

Cook apples in frozen unsweetened apple juice or orange juice concentrate or sweet cider to make applesauce.

Puree naturally sweet fruits such as ripe bananas or prunes and blend into stiffly beaten egg whites to make fruit whips. Little or no sugar will be needed.

Choose the ripest fruit you can find if you plan to serve it raw. Then sweeten, if necessary, with a little corn syrup. It's better than sugar for this purpose anyway because the syrup makes a less watery mixture because it doesn't draw juices from the fruit.

The consumer service department of C P C International, a major manufacturer of corn syrup, says the price is expected to rise but not in proportion to that of sugar.

It can be substituted for sugar entirely in a variety of foods and beverages. To make good cinnamon toast, blend 2 tablespoons of corn syrup with 3 tablespoons of softened butter or margarine and 1 teaspoon of cinnamon. Spread on toast and broil until the spread bubbles.

Corn syrup can be substituted for simple syrup (sugar boiled with water) for use in cold drinks and punches. It can take the place of sugar in baked beans, barbecue sauce, dessert sauces and ham glazes. The consistency of syrup makes it cling better in basting sauces and glazes. Corn syrup also can be substituted for sugar in making the topping for upside down cakes and sticky buns.

It reduces the graininess of frozen desserts such as refrigerator tray ice creams, ice milks, ices and sherbets. One fourth of the sugar called for in such recipes can be replaced by syrup.

To use it as a glaze for cookies and fruit cakes, bring syrup to a boil and boil one minute. Use a natural bristle brush to apply it because the high temperature can melt synthetic bristles. The boiling is needed to assure a dry glaze even in humid weather.

Canned fruits in syrup can be pureed to make frozen desserts with little or no sugar added. Leftover syrup from canned or frozen fruit makes a good substitute for maple, maple blended or corn syrup on French toast, pancakes or waffles.

Making coffee gelatin? Melt marshmallows instead of sugar in the hot coffee before you add gelatin that has been presoaked in a little cold water.

Honey, molasses and corn syrup can be substituted in many recipes calling for sugar, although you will have to adjust the amount of liquid and sweetness to your taste. Used this way, allow in general a cup of corn syrup for each cup of sugar and reduce the liquid content of the recipe by about one fourth. Using honey, allow one cup for each cup and a fourth of sugar and reduce the liquid content by one fourth.

But for best results do not substitute honey, molasses or corn syrup in baking recipes calling for sugar. Instead, use recipes developed specifically for each.

Choose Washington Russets

Markets are plentiful with this season's bountiful crop of Russet potatoes from Washington State. Excellent bakers, these high quality potatoes are the perfect choice for using in delicious Cheesy Potatoes on the Half Shell.

Centers of baked potatoes are combined with hot milk, egg, butter, and both Cheddar and Parmesan cheeses. The fluffy mixture is piled into the scooped-out shells, then returned to the oven until puffed and golden. If desired, the stuffed potatoes may be prepared in advance and refrigerated or even frozen before reheating at serving time.

Cheesy Potatoes On The Half Shell

3 large Washington Russet potatoes
1/2 cup hot milk
3 tablespoons butter
1 egg, slightly beaten
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon white pepper
1 cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Scrub potatoes and bake at 400 degrees 50 to 60 minutes. Halve potatoes; remove and mash pulp. Add remaining ingredients, mixing well. Spoon into potato shells. Return to a 400-degree oven 15 minutes or until heated through and golden. Makes 6 servings.

Let's Ask the Cook

by Nan Wiley

By now the name of my friend Ada Lou Roberts, the well-known bread book author should be familiar to you, but I can tell you she is a creative cook in other ways, too. Along with a note from Rose Lane Farm the other day, she enclosed a recipe she had christened "best-ever meal loaf" since that's what her menfolk commented when they tasted it. So much fat and other moisture bakes out of today's hamburger or ground beef she started experimenting to come up with a really juicy, flavorful loaf and that she did.

You will need 1 pound hamburger, 1 pound ground sausage meat, 1 teaspoon instant bouillon granules, 1 cup quick oatmeal, 1 teaspoon dried minced onions, 1/2 teaspoon celery salt, 4 tablespoons minute tapioca and 1 cup sieved canned applesauce. Mix all together. Bake, covered, in a standard loaf pan in a 325 to 350 oven for 1 to 1 1/2 hours. During the last 15 minutes or so brush with barbecue sauce if you like, finish baking uncovered.

Dear Nan:

Is it wise to use brown jars for canning? (I have a few of the non-dairy creamer ones.) And why don't they put out pickles, peanut butter, jams, etc. in jars with regular or wide mouth openings so they could be reused instead of throwing them out? Evelyn Thompson, Kansas City, Mo.

It wouldn't work. Reuse of such jars is never advised except for jams, jellies and the like where you cover with paraffin. For other items you cannot get a suitable seal and many of the jars would not hold up during the processing. I'm sure you don't want to come up with a fat case of botulism so don't be pennywise and pound foolish.

Dear Nan:

Here is the corn relish recipe a reader wanted. Cook 18 ears sweet corn on the cob. Chop 1 small head cabbage, 4 green peppers, 2 sweet red peppers and 2 onions. Remove corn from cob and cook with the other vegetables, 2 cups sugar, one-third cup salt, 1 teaspoon celery seed, 1 tablespoon whole mustard seed and 1 quart vinegar with enough water to cover the mixture. Cook 20 to 30 minutes or until clear. Seal in sterilized jars. R. Lutyn, Webster, N.Y.

Thank you. I'm including your recipe in Volume II of "The Best of Let's Ask the Cook."

To order my new cookbook send $3.95 plus 50 cents for postage and handling and your printed name and address to Nan Wiley Book, Box 357, Des Moines, Iowa 50304. Allow 6 weeks for delivery.

Consumer Market Report

COLLEGE STATION — Meat outlook for coming weeks — "unpredictable," especially for beef.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, this week forecast a gloomy picture for beef eaters during the winter.

"As we get farther into the winter, less choice meat will be in markets, and we'll be dealing with a lower grade beef that has a slightly different flavor and is less tender," she said.

Pork values this week include picnics, shoulder roasts and steaks, end-cut loin roasts and chops, and pork liver.

At fruit counters, Bartlett pears are available, and higher-priced prunes reflect this year's smaller crop. Golden Delicious apples are a versatile fruit choice, and Texas oranges are on the market.

Peach and nectarine prices are moderate, while bananas, grapes, oranges, grapefruit, plums, pineapples, honey dew and cantaloupe feature various price levels. Buy them according to budget limits, the specialist said.

Fall vegetables are appearing at markets — namely acorn, butternut and several other hard-shell squash varieties.

Also, summer supplies of potatoes are plentiful, and sweet potatoes are in most stores.

Other vegetable buys include cabbage, carrots, cooking greens, dry yellow onions, rutabagas and cshaw.

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS: Pork prices likely will decrease for awhile this fall, but the situation will change as feed costs increase.

Proofs Required To Apply For Social Security Number

People may be asked to prove their age, identity, and citizenship to get a social security number when applying for the first time, according to Howard L. Weatherly, branch manager, Social Security Office here.

The proof is required under an amendment to the social security law. The requirement affects native United States citizens, naturalized citizens, and aliens.

Age can usually be proved with a birth or baptismal certificate. Identity can generally be proved with a driver's license, voter's card, or similar evidence — preferably something that carries your signature.

People born in the United States can usually establish citizenship with the same papers they use to prove their age and identity.

The proof requirement is intended to help prevent people from obtaining more than one social security number or obtaining or using a social security card under a false identity.

A fine of up to $1,000, imprisonment of up to one year, or both may be imposed for fraudulent use of genuine or fake social security numbers to hide true identity or to get benefits from federally funded programs.

Your social security number is yours alone and remains the same for life. Using more than one number could mean you're not getting full credit, which could adversely affect your social security payments in the future," Weatherly said.

"You should apply for a social security number several weeks before you need it. Applications are generally screened against social security central files in Baltimore, and screening takes time," he added.

"When you get a job covered by social security, make sure your employer copies your name and number correctly from your social security card to his records," he said.

For more information, contact Pampa Social Security Office, 1541 N. Hobart, or call 806-669-3381.

Disclosures Of A Blood Profile

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is disclosed by a "blood profile" prescribed as part of a physical examination? Does it indicate cirrhosis, diabetes, venereal disease, high cholesterol, etc.? — F.S.

Depends on what kind of a blood profile, because a "blood profile" is a group of appropriate tests designed to reveal (or rule out) problems in some organ or organs, or to identify special chemical abnormalities.

These profiles are made possible by automated methods of chemical analysis of blood. This permits specified groups of tests to be done readily and at lower cost.

A "liver profile" would give a clue to cirrhosis. A lipid (fat) profile would show the situation as it concerns cholesterol and triglycerides in the blood — important to know.

For diabetes, a glucose tolerance test rather than a "profile" would be in order. And specific tests for syphilis and gonorrhea would be used in a search for venereal disease, but they would be specific tests, not a "blood profile."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What would cause a hissing sound in your ears? It sounds like steam hissing. My doctor checked my ears and blood pressure and said he didn't know what would cause it.

I am also under an allergist for weekly shots. He told me the shots would not cause this sound. Can you help me? — Mrs. E.B.

I'll have to admit that these odd ear noises (quite a common annoyance) sometimes can't be traced to any particular cause. Other times they can. High blood pressure is often involved — but you've been checked for that.

Medications can cause it, and aspirin is one of the commonest offenders. Do you take much aspirin? As to the allergy shots, your allergist would know whether other patients have trouble from the shots — and he tells you they do not.

Sometimes some defect in the ears is involved, perhaps not an obvious defect, so you have the option of seeing an ear specialist.

You might get a bit of help from my booklet, "Ear Noises: Their Causes and Cures." If you'd like a copy, send 15 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of Dr. George C. Thosteson, Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would it be possible that in the future something could be added to the drinking water so that nobody would become pregnant?

Then when they wanted to become pregnant they could take pills. This would eliminate all birth control devices and abortion and all the trouble attached to them. — Mrs. J.H.

Sorry but that's a way-out idea that would hardly be practical or safe. And pretty wasteful, too, if such a chemical could be found to put in water.

For starters, how could you avoid the harmful effects which putting the stuff in the water would have on some people (including babies, old people, ill people, men, and others) who might be sensitive to the medication?

As it is, some women are unable to take "the pill," so they don't. But your way would force the medication on everybody.

For another thing, you would have no way at all of regulating the amount given to people; it would depend on how much water they drank.

Just forget the idea.

Dear Sir: Do you pronounce your name Thosteson or Tosteson? — E.D.

I pronounce the "Th" — THOSS-te-son.

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is also vital to human life. For this reason Dr. Thosteson has entitled his booklet "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly." For a copy write to him in care of Dr. George C. Thosteson, Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120 enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

A thought for the day: American novelist Willa Cather said, "No one can build his security upon the nobleness of another person."

It Sims To Me...

By PAUL SIMS
Sports Editor

The most overlooked man in a college athletic department isn't the team manager or junior varsity assistant coach — at least those people are in kind of a spotlight at gametime.

Truth is, the man nobody, at least the common sports fan, ever sees or hears about is the college SID, one of the most important people working with the athletic department.

The SID, or sports information director, is the man responsible for sending out information on the college athletic teams or personnel.

He puts out the athletic brochures and pressbooks and sends releases to newspaper sports editors. But that's not all he does, and according to a story written by Jim Dyana, SID at Bradley, the SID's job keeps him busier than most men, including coaches, professors and deans, at the college or university.

One new administrator recently admitted that he had never heard of the office, yet he had been at schools that had such an employee as early as at least 25 years ago," writes Dyana. SID at Bradley for 20 years. "Maybe it's time the SID's let the faculty and other administrators know they are around."

What is an SID?

He has been described as a hustler, huckster, socializer, media pimp, publicity man, janitor, statistician, mouthpiece, promoter, ticket seller, adman, fund raiser, clerk, public relations jerk, glad hander, record keeper, preverter of the news, waiter or any variety of human organs.

Actually, he may be none, one, some, or all of the above.

In hard times he is the first to be let go, and he should be the last (somebody has to write the last release). In good times he is given help, but told to hold it down. In new times he should be the first to be hired (somebody has to write the first release).

What are his duties?

Primarily to promote the institution in the best possible light in all outlets of the media.

This involves millions of word — some of the SIDs actually do more sports writing than most sports writers about a larger variety of sports — sent out in releases, hometown stories and brochures. Some obtain fat ears and skinny fingers using the telephone. Other made Western Union famous until it just didn't care.

But what does he actually do?

He sweats a lot.

Here's a few tidbits I received from the SIDs at West Texas State, North Texas State, Texas A&M and Panhandle State.

WTSU will hit the road for Idaho Friday to play the Idaho Vandals at 3:30 p.m. (CDT) Saturday. The Buffs are 3-1 while Idaho is 1-3 after beating Idaho State and then losing to Air Force (37-0), Washington State (17-10) and Villanova (15-7).

The Buffs' last win was Saturday over Southern Mississippi, 31-0. The Buffs were led by former Borger standout, Johnny Darden, who rushed for 101 yards and two touchdowns on 22 carries.

At Idaho, the Buffs will play on artificial turf for the first time this year.

North Texas will play Louisville in a MVC game at 2 p.m. Saturday in Denton. Among Hayden Fry's starters will be Bobby Owen from Pampa.

Owen, starting right cornerback, won a defensive award for his exceptional play against Drake in last week's 24-24 tie. About that tie, Fry said, "We didn't play well enough to beat Tulsa or Lamar but we should have won the other two games (SMU and Drake). If you can't kick an extra point and if you can't hold onto the ball, you don't deserve to win. We took the tie as a loss because we made too many crucial mistakes."

Even though the Mean Green has had a dismal start, there have been bright spots, which include Owen. The junior defensive back leads North Texas in interceptions with two. He returned one two yards and the other three for 2.5 average.

In a key Southwest Conference game Saturday, Texas A&M hosts Tech at 3 p.m. The game has been sold out and will be televised, which is good for Aggie followers in Pampa since right guard Billy Lemons will start. Lemons was graduated from Pampa High in 1973.

McLean fans will see watch their ex-quarterback and now Tech signal caller, Tommy Duniven, on the tube for the second time this season. The last time, against Texas, Duniven completed seven of seven passes for 145 yards and three touchdowns. The result: a 26-3 win over Texas.

Prediction: Tech 20, A&M 14.

Panhandle State (Goodwell, Okla.) hosts Langston, Okla., Saturday. Langston, last year's Oklahoma Collegiate Conference champ and number three in the NAIA (a year ago), is 1-2 this season.

Again, Pampans have something to crow about. Mike Robbins, another ex-Harvester and now fullback at Panhandle State, is the Aggies top scorer with two touchdowns. However, the Aggies have only scored 27 points in their five losses while opponents have tallied 110.

Southwest Conference Briefs

WACO, Tex. (UPI) — Baylor coach Grant Teaff shortened contact work Wednesday because of the hot weather and to avoid any costly injuries before the Bears' Southwest Conference opener with Arkansas.

The Razorbacks are an extremely physical team with an abundance of quickness," said Teaff after practice. "We toned down the contact today because we want to have our young men healthy for Saturday's ballgame."

Southern Methodist DALLAS (UPI) — Southern Methodist coach Dave Smith sent the Mustangs through what he called the poorest workout they have had in the past three weeks. Smith said he was very distressed by the situation, especially since SMU plays TCU this weekend.

"We're just not good enough and haven't accomplished enough to not be able to go all out everyday," Smith said.

Wildcats, Elks To Play Have-To Tilt

By PAUL SIMS

Two District 1-A football teams, both picked highly in pre-season polls, lost loop openers last week, throwing the championship race up for grabs.

This week, those two schools — Canadian and Stratford — play at Stratford in a "must" game for both teams as area schoolboy football moves into another weekend with six area games on tap.

In 7:30 p.m. games Friday, Clarendon is at McLean, Wheeler is at Wellington and Miami is at Goodwell. Okla. At 8 p.m., Canadian is at Stratford, Perryton is at Woodward, Okla., and Boys Ranch is at Groom.

Lefors hosts the Pampa JV at 7:30 p.m. Saturday. White Deer, open this week, upset Stratford, 14-7.

Friday, putting the Elks in the undesirable position of not being able to afford another loss. Stratford was the clear-cut choice to win the 1-A title prior to the season because of players like quarterback Mark Beatty and lineman Steve Coats.

Canadian was picked second and is now in the same position as the Elks. Jack Hawthorne's Wildcats will rely a lot on quarterback Lonnie Hines, linemen Jerry and Terry Bucher, linebacker Kevin Wilson and halfback Marty Carr for the rest of the season, which won't be very successful if Canadian loses two more district games. The Wildcats can afford to lose this one, but it will make things especially tough if they do.

Stratford by four.

Perryton at Woodward. Perryton belted Dahlhart, 50-0, a week ago for the Rangers' biggest win, score-wise, this season as the 1-A team played up to its full potential for the first time since it edged four-A Borger in the opening game. Halfback Chuck Bohner racked up 130 yards in the game and scored the first three TD's to lead the Ranger offense. Fullback Robert Blodgett, quarterback Richard Bates and Russ Reagan and defensive back Allan Pillars are other team standouts. Pillars scored on an interception runback last week.

Woodward is always tough and Woodward at home is always tougher. Four starters each way off last year's 8-3 club give the Boomers what is likely to be their best team in years. Two all-district players, end Bob Young and tackle Bryan Patterson are two of the finest AAA linemen in Oklahoma.

This one's a tossup. Both won district titles last year and both are again contenders. But since the Boomers are at home — Woodward by two.

Boys Ranch at Groom. According to Groom coach Don Sessom, the Ranchers will be the best team the Tigers have played since Vega. "They run, they pass, they do everything real well. And they're big and experienced," said Sessom. Boys Ranch is 3-1 after beating Bovina and Happy and gaining a forfeit win over Vega, which used an ineligible player. Boys Ranch's top players include quarterback Jimmy Wallace and halfback Daniel Rains.

The Tigers are 4-0-1 after stopping the talented Pampa junior varsity, 23-0, Saturday. Groom, number two in the state in Class B, could be the best of all A and B schools in West Texas, particularly with defensive players like Tony Treadwell, and Art Brown and a halfback like Stan Britten, who is averaging 150 yards an outing.

It isn't often a Class B team is picked to beat an AA school — Groom by 14.

Wheeler at Wellington. Wheeler, 2-3, opened its District 2-A schedule with a 20-6 win over Claude last Friday. The Mustangs were led by halfback Kent Ware, rushing for 145 yards. Ware has been the workhorse all season, averaging around 25 carries per game. Linebacker Bill McIlhenny and two-way lineman Jim Verden are two others whom the Mustangs are relying on in their surprise run for the title.

The Pampa Daily News SPORTS

Wellington lost its district opener to fourth-ranked Memphis, 34-0, last week but the Skyrockets have always been a team which turned out one or two upsets every season. Last year it was Childress which lost in one of the biggest upsets in the Panhandle all season. This year it might be the Mustangs who are upset.

But not likely — Wheeler by 12.

Clarendon at McLean. Clarendon, 3-1, won its opener, 22-18, over Shamrock and signs are pointing to a Clarendon-Memphis showdown for the 2-A championship. Halfback Kenneth King and two-year starting tackles Randy Croslin and Danny Monroe give the Bronchos a potent offense, while linemen Rickey Mooring and Wayne Hardin provide defensive beef.

The Tigers fell to 0-4 by losing to Silverton, 36-6, in last week's first district game. But things haven't been completely dismal for McLean as several individuals have been giving head coach Randy Hicks something to smile about. Among those are running back Bobby Cole (originally Bobby Crockett) and freshman halfback Curtis Simpson, who rushed for 96 yards on 14 carries last week.

McLean's way overdue but should be outmanned and outgunned this week — Clarendon by 25.

Miami at Goodwell. The Warriors also lost their fourth game last week but would have won if they were playing anybody but Lefors. The Pirates had to fight for a 14-0 win after being picked to win by at least four touchdowns. Miami got outstanding performances out of defensive lineman Mark Mercer and backs Kirk Flowers and Don Ed Howard.

Goodwell was 0-4 in District 1-C, 8-man a year ago and things haven't been much brighter for the Eagles this year. However, Goodwell is in the toughest 8-man district in the country so don't sell the Oklahoma school short.

Could go either way, but since Goodwell's home — Eagles by five.

among area players in action Friday night. Canadian visits 1-A favorite Stratford in an 8 p.m. district game.

New NHL Teams Lose Openers

United Press International For the Washington Caps and the Kansas City Scouts, it was welcome to the National Hockey League.

The Caps and Scouts, the NHL's newest arrivals in what is fast becoming an annual ritual of expansion by two, got their expected debut in the world of Clarence Campbell Wednesday night, losing by fairly one-sided scores to the New York Rangers and Toronto Maple Leafs respectively.

For a brief while, it looked like the Caps might pull off the upset of upsets by downing the Rangers at Madison Square Garden. Jim Hryciuk shocked the capacity New York crowd by beating the Rangers' Ed Giacomin at 5:06 of the first period to give the Caps a 1-0 lead.

And then after the Rangers' Greg Polis tied the game 37 seconds later, Washington added another shocker by going ahead 2-1 on Ron Anderson's goal at 9:32 of the second period. However, that was that, as the Rangers scored five of the game's next six goals to post an easy 6-3 win.

As for the Scouts, they too ran into some serious trouble late in the game, with Toronto scoring four goals in the final period to run off with a 6-2 decision.

Elsewhere on the NHL's opening night, Montreal had to score twice in the final period to salvage a 5-5 tie with the New York Islanders. Detroit edged

Hunting Course

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, National Rifle Association and Pampa Optimist Club are sponsoring a hunter's safety course. Last month, 43 students completed the course and have been certified at the indoor rifle range.

Anyone over 12 years old is eligible to take the course, which will soon be required in order to hunt in Texas. Registration will be held at 7 p.m. next Tuesday at the Pampa Optimist Club. 19 new students registered in September but have not taken the class yet. Those students are urged to contact an instructor.

Instructors are Paul Edwards, Albert Phillips, Leo Rhoten, Carroll Jones, Bill Thornton and Don Butler.

Chicago 2-1, Pittsburgh downed Minnesota 4-2, St. Louis tied California 4-4 and Vancouver and Atlanta skated to a 3-3 tie.

"We did better than I expected," said Doug Mohs of the Caps, a veteran of 21 NHL seasons. "When some of these guys play together a bit more, we'll gain some cohesion."

Said Jack Egers, a former Ranger feeling the first pangs of an expansionist: "We almost pulled it off. But the Rangers never stopped coming and they deserved the win."

Polis, an off-season acquisition from St. Louis, and rookie Rick Middleton each scored twice for the Rangers, which had to make Coach Emile Francis smile on opening night — even though there are 80 some-odd games left in the regular season plus a good percentage of that many in the ever-expanded playoffs.

Maple Leafs 6, Scouts 2. Jim McKenny, Darryl Sittler, Ian Turnbull and Dave Keon all scored in the third period to break the Scouts' first night balloon. For the veteran Keon, it was the 250th career goal of his career.

Plainsmen, Harvesters To Scrap At Lubbock

A bi-district showdown preview might be taking place Friday night as the Pampa Harvesters travel to Lubbock Monday for a 7:30 p.m. game with the Plainsmen.

Both teams are rated number one in their respective districts. Pampa in 3-AAAA and Monterey in 4-AAAA. The Harvesters are now 37th in the state while Monterey is 73rd in the Harris Ratings. The Harvesters are picked to win by six.

Pampa fans are encouraged to support their team Friday night. "I think if they're football fans, they'll be there," said head coach John Welborn.

Lowery Field can be located by following these directions:

Take Loop 289 east in Lubbock and stay on the loop all the way to the south side of the city. Exit at the Slaton - Tahoka Exit and stay north for about a block until you see the stadium.

LUBBOCK — Upland bird hunters are looking forward to the annual prairie chicken season, Oct. 19 and 20, 1974.

The daily bag limit will be two (2) birds with a possession limit of four (4).

Shooting hours will start 30 minutes before sunrise and continue to 30 minutes after sunset for both days.

There are twelve counties open on the high plains for these wary game birds.

Terry, Cochran, Hockley and Yoakum counties, west of Lubbock, are near the New Mexico state line.

Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Roberts, Hemphill, Gray,

Wheeler, Donley and Collingsworth counties made up the northeast corner of the Texas Panhandle.

Successful hunters must check birds bagged during this prairie chicken season at department check stations located in the cities of Higgins, Allison, Lehman, Canadian, McLean, Plains and Wheeler by 10 p.m. on date taken.

Firearms for this hunt will be restricted to shotguns only.

For more information, call Texas Parks and Wildlife Department offices or your local game warden.

Royal's Problems Make OU Favorite

United Press International

As if Darrell Royal didn't have enough problems.

First, the Texas mentor found himself with only a shadow of the All America fullback Roosevelt Leaks (slowed by a knee injury) he had a year ago. Then as proof positive of that and other suddenly apparent weaknesses on his '74 Longhorn squad, Texas Tech up and upset Royal's perennial Southwest Conference champion two weeks ago.

Now Royal finds himself with one final non-league "tune-up" before the remainder of his SWC schedule comes into play. That "tune-up," however, turns out to be Oklahoma.

No wonder Texas practices have been closed to the public this week. Darrell Royal has a lot of thinking to do. Oklahoma is a 25-point favorite.

Elsewhere, No. 1 Ohio State gets what could be its first real test of the season with No. 11 Wisconsin, although the Buckeyes are still a 22-point choice of the oddsmakers. No. 2 Alabama is off-the-board against hapless Florida State as is No. 3 Michigan versus Michigan State.

Fourth-rated Nebraska is a three TD pick over Missouri. No. 5 Florida is seven over Vanderbilt. No. 6 Auburn is 11 over Kentucky. No. 7 Texas Tech a three-point underdog to No. 16 Texas A&M. No. 8 Notre Dame 33 over Rice. No. 9 Southern California 20 over Washington State and No. 10 North Carolina State 14 over Virginia.

"I guess maybe you'd say we're 3-0 in exhibitions," was the candid opinion of Oklahoma's top assistant coach, Larry Lacewell, in assessing the Sooners' easy three triumphs over Baylor, Utah State and Wake Forest — not exactly your local powerhouses. "But I saw Texas play last Saturday (vs. Washington) and I promise you, we're fixin' to enter the regular season."

For both Oklahoma and Texas, the regular season has traditionally begun on "State Fair Weekend" in Dallas every season when the two neighboring giants collide. And for Darrell Royal, an Oklahoma alumnus, the weekend has been mostly pleasurable during his 17 years as Longhorn coach.

Royal is 12-5 vs. the Sooners, but has won this one in the last three years. And the scores have not been too happy either: Oklahoma 48, Texas 27; Oklahoma 27, Texas 0; Oklahoma 52, Texas 13.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma, despite its probation by the NCAA, has gone 21 straight games without a defeat and at the present time, leads the country in total offense (571 yards per game), rushing (496 ypg) and scoring (54.3 points per game).

The Sooners also boast Joe Washington, a strong candidate to replace Texas' Leaks at one of the All America running back posts this year. In less than half the game last week against Wake Forest, Washington rushed for 145 yards on nine carries including a 65-yard TD.

So, please, you'll have to pardon Darrell Royal if, at the moment, he seems to have enough problems. Pardon, yes, but don't be foolish enough to count him out entirely.

SPRINKLE MOTH BALLS OR NAPHTHALENE CRYSTALS UNDER THE FLOORING AND HE'LL USUALLY LEAVE WITHOUT A BIG STINK

LA, A's To Tangle In World Series

Bums 12, Pirates 1

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The last time the Los Angeles Dodgers were in the World Series — 1966 — Steve Garvey was a freshman defensive back at Michigan State.

"I remember I used to skip lunch so I could watch the Series on TV," he said. "Those were the days when I was on the meat squad and I was bumping heads with the likes of George Webster and Clint Jones."

"This," he added with a wide grin, "is a lot more enjoyable."

Garvey, now the premier first baseman of the Dodgers, bumped some heads of his own Wednesday. The 5-10, 190-pound ex-Spartan football player drilled a pair of two-run homers in a 12-1 Dodgers' romp over the Pittsburgh Pirates to give Los Angeles its first National League pennant in eight years.

With Don Sutton pitching three-hit ball for eight innings, the Dodgers polished off the Eastern Division champions three games to one.

By beating the Pirates, the Dodgers put themselves up against the Oakland A's, who have won two straight world titles.

"They're the best in baseball right now," continued Garvey, who was four for five and scored four runs Wednesday. "But we want a chance to prove that we're the best."

Garvey's homers — off Jerry Reuss in the third inning and Ken Brett in the fifth — staked Sutton to a 5-0 lead. As it turned out, the Dodgers' $114,000 rightsholder needed only the first shot.

Sutton has won 11 straight games the way up only one run in 17 innings against the Pirates in the playoff series) and has 15 victories in 16 decisions since July 25.

He won 19 games during the regular season despite 14 starts — and nine weeks — without a triumph.

"Before the game, I didn't think that I was going to have to pitch as well against them as I did on Saturday," noted Sutton, who stopped Pittsburgh 3-0 on four singles in the playoff series opener.

"I don't even want to think about Oakland," said Jimmy Oynak, whose run-scoring double in the first inning scored Davey Lopes to get Los Angeles in front 1-0. "I'll start thinking about them on Friday."

A's 2, Orioles 1

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A first American League pennant is ecstasy. The second breeds confidence. The third in a row is cool and businesslike.

At least that's the view of Reggie Jackson, who got Oakland's only hit Wednesday when the Athletics knocked off the Baltimore Orioles 2-1 for the flag and are bidding for their third straight World Series triumph. "There's not the great thrill of ecstasy as the first time," Jackson told newsmen after the playoff series victory. "It is exciting and it is great but there's no hoopla ... We're expected to win."

"In 1972, we didn't know how good we were," he recalled. "In 1973, we really jelled and were confident. This year, we played with the poise of a championship club."

Jackson, used in the playoffs as a designated hitter, shed his blasé posture when asked if his recurrent leg problems might relegate him to bench warmer status in the series against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I'll play Saturday if my name is in the line-up, even in a wheelchair," he emphatically responded.

Winning manager Al Dark, who led the A's to American League honors in his first year at the Oakland helm, probably voiced more excitement than his players.

"I'd forgotten how it felt to win 12 years ago," referring to the National League pennant he won in 1962 with the San Francisco Giants.

WFL's No. 1 Franchise Hurting Because Of Lack Of Attendance

United Press International

The troubled World Football League got some more bad news Wednesday night when the league's best franchise left nearly two thirds of the 70,000 seat Legion Field in Birmingham empty.

The WFL, which had to drop two franchises and move two others recently because of poor support, pointed to Birmingham as its pride and joy. The Americans once drew 55,000 fans in a rainstorm.

But after back-to-back upset losses to Portland and the Hawaiians, only 25,621 fans showed up at Legion Field Wednesday night to watch Birmingham gain revenge on Portland 30-8.

The Storm jumped off to an 8-0 lead before Birmingham erupted for 15 points in the second quarter and then added another 15 in the second half while shutting off Portland's offense.

Charley Harraway and Joe Profit plunged for touchdowns and George Mira threw seven yards to Dennis Holman for one TD and 13 yards to Jim Bishop for another for the Americans, now 12-3. Portland's only score came on an eight-yard pass from Pete Beathard to Robert Holmes.

"I wish we could play all our games at home," said Birmingham Coach Jack Gotta, whose club is unbeaten in eight home games. "A lot of people missed some good football tonight but that hard core of fans that have been with us all along came out again and we appreciate it."

The victory left the Americans one game behind the Memphis Southmen, who beat the Charlotte Hornets 27-23.

"That first drive of theirs was disastrous for us," Gotta said. "But our defense really came roaring back. Profit really came into his own tonight. He has really come a long way and is playing like we knew he could."

Profit was a No. 1 draft choice of the NFL Atlanta Falcons a few years back, but was plagued by injuries before being let go.

Portland Coach Dick Coury said he felt his players "were flat."

Birmingham did an excellent job of controlling the ball in the second half.

In other WFL games, the Florida Blazers ripped the Fije 45-17 before 23,298 in Chicago and the Hawaiians edged the Bell 25-22 before only 4,900 in Philadelphia.

The Shreveport Steamers plays the Southern California Sun in Anaheim tonight.

Southmen 27, Hornets 23

Danny White threw TD passes of 13 and 19 yards to Edward Marshall in the final period to lift the Southmen over Charlotte, playing its first home game since being transplanted from New York two weeks ago. A sellout crowd of 25,133 watched the Hornets take a 1511 lead after three periods before White connected twice with Marshall. J.J. Jennings had a TD for the Southmen while quarterback Tom Sherman plunged for one Charlotte score and Don Highsmith ran for two more.

Blazers 45, Fije 17

Running back Tommy Reamon threw a 60-yard TD pass to Matt Maslowski and set up two more scores with long runs as the Blazers blasted Chicago to move two games up on Charlotte in the WFL East. Reamon went over the 1,000-yard mark and Bob Davis also hit Maslowski with a 41-yard TD pass and ran for another score. Bill Cappelman and Leo Hart each threw a scoring pass for the Fire.

Hawaiians 25, Bell 22

Al Davis' third TD of the game on an eight-yard pass from Norris Weese with 2:45 left carried the surging Hawaiians past Philadelphia. Davis also scored on runs of eight and one yard while the Bell's Claude Watts scored on a seven-yard pass from King Corcoran and a 20-yard run and John Land ran 46 yards for another TD. Philadelphia had a chance to tie in the final minute but Ron Holliday dropped the center snap on a field goal attempt.

ACC Forfeits Victory Due To Ineligible Man

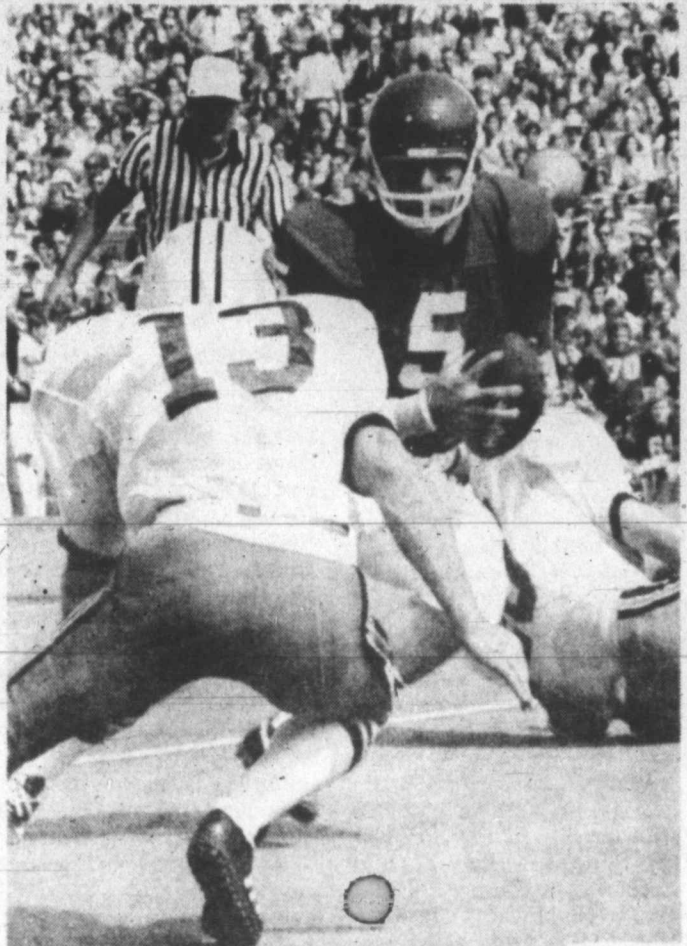

ABILENE, Tex. (UPI) — Abilene Christian College officials announced Wednesday that the school would forfeit its opening season 27-10 football victory over State College of Arkansas because ACC used an ineligible player in that game.

ACC President Dr. John C. Stevens said that two days after the game Abilene Christian learned that an unnamed transfer student trying out for the team did not have enough college credits to play.

The student participated in five plays of the State College game. He was dropped from the team when the violation was discovered. ACC then reported the incident to the Lone Star Conference and the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA).

Stevens said the school learned Wednesday from the NAIA that the game was to be forfeited. The change drops ACC from 3-1 to 2-2 on the season. ACC's Lone Star Conference record remains 1-1.

SOONER QUARTERBACK — Steve Davis (5), rambling here against Wake Forest in last Saturday's 63-0 win, is a big reason the Oklahoma Sooners are 25-point favorites to rout the Texas Longhorns Saturday. Davis was three for four passing for 51 yards and two touchdowns and carried the ball seven times for 31 yards against Wake Forest. (UPI Photo)

Razorbacks Improving For Baylor Saturday

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI) — Arkansas made up for lost time Wednesday as the Razorbacks prepared for Saturday's home game against Baylor. The game is the Southwest Conference opener for the Bears.

The Hogs "have improved with each practice" since working out Monday without the junior varsity players, according to head coach Frank Broyles.

"We executed today without many mistakes," Broyles said. "We didn't have as much contact work as we normally do on Wednesday."

Tackle Gerald Skinner sat out the practice with a back sprain, but is expected to play against the Bears. Mike Campbell will start the game at noseguard with tackle Brison Manor questionable. A replacement has not yet been named for cornerback Brad Thomas, recovering from multiple bruises. Quarterback Scott Bull probably will sit out the game with a jammed big toe.

Catching the Bears in their conference opener is Broyles' biggest worry.

"It's what they've talked about since last spring — beat Arkansas in the conference opener," said Broyles. "They've got a lot of speed throughout their team. They're probably not as big as Oklahoma State, but they've got as much speed as anybody we've played, except for maybe Southern Cal."

Organized Crime Gets Public Cooperation

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This sixth story on organized crime developed by the Texas department of Public Safety exposes the official cooperation and public tolerance that must exist for organized crime to take root in Texas.

Houston district Attorney Carol Vance views the current scene saying victimless crime is usually the first sign of the mob's financial interest in a community. The 12 - story series is based on interviews with state law enforcement officials and representatives from the ten Texas Organized Crime Task Forces.

The Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council, co - chaired by DPS Director Col. Wilson E. Speir and Attorney General John Hill, sponsored the series in conjunction with the Governor's Criminal Justice Council, the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, the Texas Department of Public Safety, the office of the Attorney General of Texas, and local law enforcement agencies.)

HOUSTON — Harris County District Attorney Carol Vance believes it's time to put to rest the idea that organized crime can function without some degree of cooperation from public officials.

"It may be comforting to think all of the good people are lined up on this side of the street and all of the bad people are lined up on the other, but it isn't the realistic view at all," Vance said in an interview.

The Houston district attorney, who serves on the Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council co - chaired by Attorney General John Hill and Texas Department of Public Safety Director Wilson E. Speir, credits Texas with generally good law enforcement against organized crime.

"But there's plenty of evidence of corruption in other states and we in Texas have had our own problems from time to time," he added.

"Most people responsible for law enforcement do a good and conscientious job, but we have to recognize that some are vulnerable to corruption and there must be constant vigilance. Organized crime is quite willing and able to buy protection whenever and wherever it can."

The district attorney said his Special Crimes Bureau has also been investigating the influence of organized crime in local business ventures and has uncovered considerable evidence.

The same bureau now has charge of investigations of election law violations. Vance pointed out that the new Texas election laws prescribe severe penalties for violations of financial reports, contributions and expenditures.

"It should come as no surprise to anyone that syndicated criminal operations are active in Texas," Vance said.

"What we casually define as victimless crime — gambling, prostitution and so forth — usually is the first sign of mob's financial interest in a community. The rackets start small, growing only as the public supplies them with dollars and tacit approval."

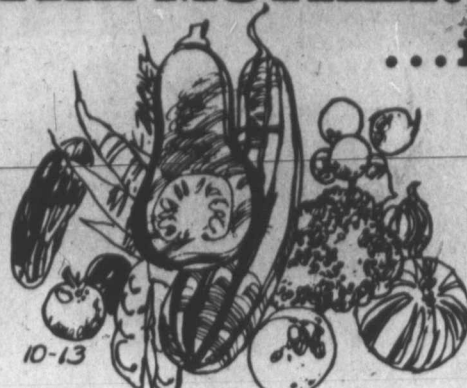

Vance urged citizens to remember that victimless crime supplies the money for other more onerous activities.

"There isn't any doubt that bookmaking is one of the sources of capital for the narcotics traffic," he said. "The so - called innocent bet placed on a football game includes an automatic rakeoff for organized criminals who are engaged in some of the most vicious rackets in our society."

Until more people realize the gravity of the problem, he added, "the state of Texas is sending out a gilt - edged, engraved invitation to the mob — and I assure you the invitation is being accepted."

SOME LAST MINUTE GARDENING TIPS

Sweet potatoes can stay in the ground until frost, and Irish potatoes can remain there until just before a really hard freeze. Once dug, the sweet potatoes will keep best in a dry place held at a temperature of 55 to 60° F. The Irish variety can be stored fairly well until early spring if stashed in a dark bin that has good air circulation and which is maintained at 40°.

Winter squash, picked before frost and kept in a dry place where the temperature does not go below freezing, will last until Christmas... especially if you remember to leave about an inch of stem on each fruit when you pick it.

Unless the season is very wet, carrots can stay right in the ground in the garden. Cover them with enough leaves to prevent the earth from freezing over them and harvest the carrots as desired throughout the winter. You can store them in dry sand kept in boxes in the root cellar too.

Cabbage will keep for a month after first freeze when the heads are buried upside down in sand. Kale remains harvestable until the middle of December, unless temperatures drop below 15° F for an appreciable length of time.

It takes very cold freezes to do in broccoli, kohlrabi and Brussels sprouts and all three usually remain edible until December.

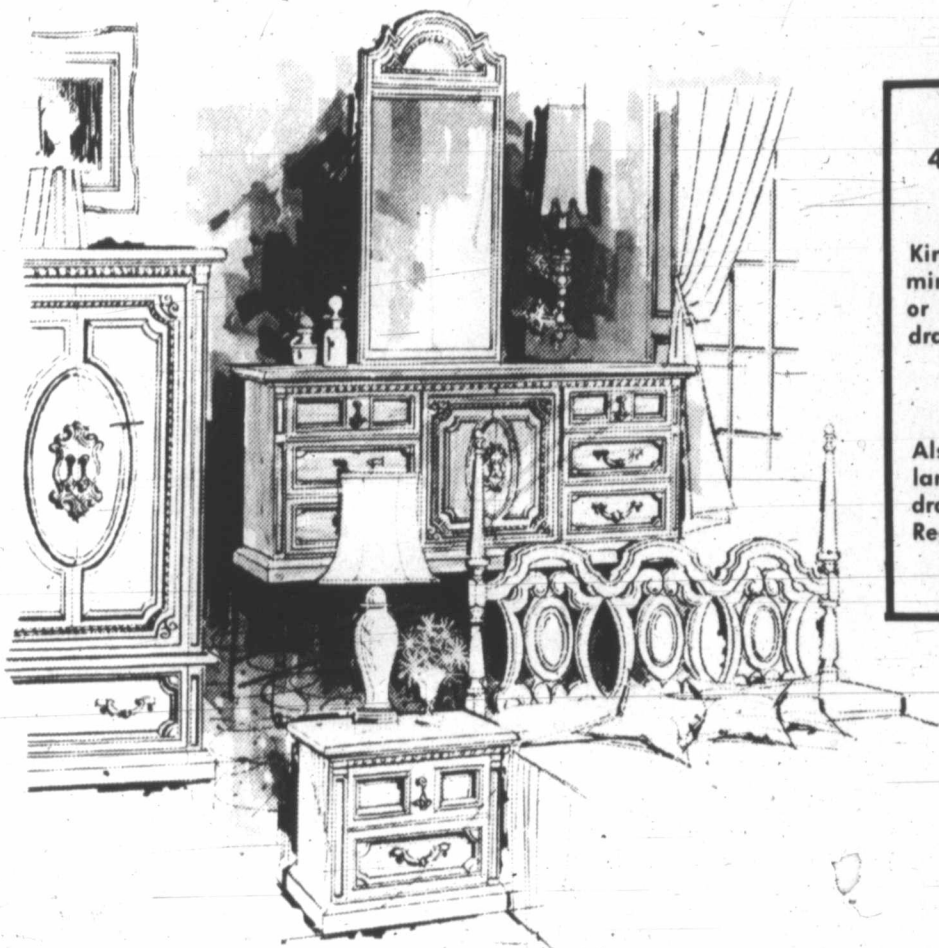

Parsnips should be left in the garden and harvested in February and March, when they taste their best (which is still not very good in my book although, by March, almost any fresh vegetable tastes good).

Turnips and rutabagas — especially when planted about July 10 — remain good to eat until early winter. When you get tired of the bladed things, feed 'em to your rabbits and/or cows.

And, finally, parsley — the herb — can be used directly from the garden well into January.

Compost — applied any season of the year — and winter cover crops are two of the basics of "organic" gardening. For an overview of each, send 10¢ and a stamped, self-addressed long envelope to THE MOTHER EARTH NEWS®, Box 957, Des Moines, Iowa 50304. Ask for Reprint No. 72, COMPOST AND COVER CROPS.

ENERGY SENSE

Life Saving with Your Speedometer

by John C. Sawhill
Federal Energy Administrator

Have you been cheating on the nationwide 55-mph speed limit?

Sure, these days there are lots of reasons to be in a rush. Who doesn't have too many things to do and not enough time to do them?

And there's plenty of gasoline at the pumps now that so many Americans are conserving energy and the Arab embargo is a thing of the past. So who's going to care if your speedometer slips up to 60, 65, or 70?

The Federal Energy Administration cares. We know that America is still consuming far more petroleum products than it can produce at home.

We know too, that passenger automobiles account for about a third of the Nation's petroleum product consumption. One third is a large chunk out of the single most important energy source the Nation uses.

In the near future, as part of Project Independence, we are going to try to switch as much of the Nation's economy as we can from petroleum energy which must be imported at high prices, to coal energy which we have in abundance under our own soil. In the more distant future, we shall move even farther away from dependence upon petroleum energy to nuclear and solar power.

But for today, and tomorrow, petroleum remains our chief energy source. So we must not only expand America's supply of petroleum — by building the Alaska Pipeline, promoting offshore drilling, and oil shale production — we must also continue to conserve what we already have.

And this brings us back to the number 55 written on speed limit signs throughout this Nation. 55 miles per hour is the law, and we should obey it for that reason alone. But if each day, every car, bus and truck in America remained under 55, the Nation could save more than 8 million gallons of petroleum products daily!

Think about your share of these savings at today's higher gasoline prices, since the average car gets about 21 percent more miles per gallon at 55 mph than at 70 mph.

But more important, if your speedometer starts to edge above 55, think about the lives we have saved with the 55 mph speed limit. Think of the 23 percent reduction in fatalities during this year's Memorial Day weekend as compared to last year's. Think of the 28 percent reduction in fatalities during this year's Fourth of July holiday weekend as compared to the last comparable period (1972).

In the first six months of 1974, traffic deaths have been nearly 25 percent below figures for last year. That's 6,000 traffic deaths less at 55 mph than at the 70 mph rush we were all in before the energy crisis.
