Harbor Board Seeking Cove Harbor Solution

The Aransas County Navigation District No. 1 continued Tuesday, June 6, in regular session to wrangle with the possibility of challenging a decision by the U.S. Department of Fisheries and Wildlife which has stopped the proposed doubling of District commercial port facilities at Cove Harbor.

Chairmen David Maguglin said Wednesday that the Board would schedule a workshop session on the matter June 21 or 22 to review its options with Board Attorney David Conery.

In January, Fisheries and Wildlife officer Art Anderson stopped development of half of an already executed six-acre Cove Harbor lease between the District and Houston Oil and Minerals Corporation, claiming that the land involved was wetlands. Anderson also declared the district's remaining 92 acres wetlands, and off limits for future developments.

The move cost the District a minimum of $30,000 over five years in lease payments, and the Board moved in February to work with HO&M toward an appeal of Anderson's ruling or a compromise solution.

HO&M found no immediate loophole, and redesigned their facility to fit in the three acres left to them. In March, in an attempt to get back the $30,000 in lease payments, the Board considered creating six acres of "compensation wetlands" to free the remaining three acres of the original HO&M lease.

At the April meeting, M.W. Cochran urged the Board to drop the idea of compensation wetlands, and fight for the use of the entire acreage. He said the compensation program would be tantamount to surrender of property rights to an agency which had no authority in the matter, and no evidence (Continued on Page 14)

Drug Program Secures Funds

The citizen's group which will organize a drug abuse prevention program for Rockport and Aransas County secured state funding, elected a slate of officers, a board of directors and an executive officer Thursday night, June 9, in a meeting of volunteer committee members.

The group June 9 chose "Get It Together," or GIT, as a slogan-name for the non-profit and tax-exempt corporation which will administer the program. Executive officer and President Donna Price told the group that state funding from August to October has been (Continued on Page 14)

Fulton Mansion Renovation Being Studied

The Fulton Mansion, purchased March 1976 by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department as a future state park, is being given the once-over by the TP&WD commission for renovation that could cost as much as $400,000.

The Commission meets July 7 to go over preliminary master plans for approval and possible submission to an architect. The architect would take another eight to nine months to finalize the plans and prepare a schedule for contractors, and TP&WD spokesmen say construction on the home could not start for at least one year, possibly more. When complete, the mansion, built by Col. George W. Fulton, would be a museum with regular tours.

Council Sets Election Date

City Council, with a little help from some friends, approved the staffing and funding of the controversial Water Safety Patrol Monday night in regular session, and welcomed back Ward One Alderman Charlie Garrett.

Garrett was reinstated by 156th District Judge Rachael Littlejohn after the April 2 election in which he ran second to Joe "Pepe" Zambrano was voided.

A new election was set by the Council for August 13. The filing deadline will be July 14, and absentee voting will be held from July 25 through August 9. Council will appoint election officials during its June 27 meeting.

The Water Safety Patrol was debated Monday night by Councilman Norvell Jackson, Sr., and spokesman Joe Hugenberg. Most of the differences had to do with money, and Bob Eschberger and Troy True of Johnson's Drug and Boutique in Rockport solved those differences with an on-the-spot donation of $800 which assured (Continued on Page 14)

Safety Patrol To Start Soon

The Water Safety Patrol, which got the final go-ahead from the Rockport City Council Monday night, will be a full time service, covering peak use hours during weekdays and all day Saturday and Sunday and holidays. The service is administered by Police Chief Jim Craigmile, but the 20-foot inboard leased from Marineland of Rockport by the Aransas County Navigation District No. 1 will be operated by Tom Force, a retired serviceman with several years of emergency medical and rescue training.

Force will operate the service on all bodies of water within the Rockport city limits, including the Rockport Ski Basin, Canoe Lake, Harbor Oaks and the Key Allegro area.

The boat will be equipped with a citizen's band radio and will monitor emergency Channel 9. Radio equipment will enable the boat to be in touch with the Aransas County Sheriff's Department so that the ACHVI emergency medical service headed by Paramedic Bill Aston can be called if needed.

The boat will be kept during off hours at the Key Allegro Marina, whose owners have donated a boat stall for three (Continued on Page 14)

County Continues Marshall Subsidy

Aransas County Commissioners continued its $200 a month subsidy to Charles Marshall's Funeral Home in Aransas Pass for operation of an emergency ambulance operation in Aransas County south of Highway 1069.

The move killed the possibility that the County might contribute a like sum to the operation of a Water Safety Patrol for the City of Rockport.

Judge Miller Sentences Three

36th District Judge John Miller handed down probated sentences in three cases June 10 and 13, and dismissed a fourth case for lack of evidence.

A pre-trial hearing was also held in the case of a local physician, Frances H. Jansa, indicted on six counts of Acquiring a Controlled Substance listed in Schedule II by Fraud. No final hearing date was set in the Jansa case.

Christopher Pena pled guilty to forgery and was sentenced to a probated sentence of four years in TDC.

Vickie Eastwood pled guilty to Acquiring a Controlled Substance by Forged Prescription and was sentenced to a probated sentence of five years and fined $500.

Claudio Lara pled guilty to Assault and was sentenced to one year in the Aransas County Jail, a fine and costs.

Two counts of theft against Randall Wayne Jones were dismissed for lack of evidence.

WATER SAFETY PATROL. The recently funded Water Safety Patrol will begin operations this weekend if all goes well. You'll know it's begun if you see this 20-foot boat provided and outfitted by Marineland of Rockport on lease to the Aransas County Navigation District No. 1. The man in the middle is Tom Force, who'll be operating the boat during peak hours on weekdays and all day long on weekends and holidays. To his left is City Police Chief Jim Craigmile, who will administer the program, and to his right is program coordinator Joe Hugenberg, who had the idea first and did most of the legwork and lobbying.

Good Luck

The Water Safety Patrol won final approval from City Council Monday night after long hours of lobbying by citizen spokesman and proponent Joe Hugenberg, and some formidable contributions of time and money from local associations and businesses.

The idea was a sound one from the beginning, something no one questioned despite the square peg in a round hole nature of some of the debate. It speaks well of the community that it has people who will step forward to promote needed services elective boards have either overlooked or ignored, and that money for such services can be found without much arm twisting. The emergency ambulance is the prime example of this, and its success doubtless broke ground for the completion of plans for the Water Safety Patrol, but it took hard work and some selfless donations on the part of many citizens, and we salute that.

It comes none too soon. A young girl was injured last week in a skiing related accident and even if no one was at fault, it again demonstrates the potential for injuries that exists in the Ski Basin and other city water bodies for injuries which might be avoided when that 20 foot gentle reminder begins regular tours.

Executive privilege lives. Those who saw a satisfying irony in John Mitchell's conviction and sentencing spoke too soon. The law and order man who deliberately and continuously degraded himself and his office is going to a minimum security prison so he will be safe. And comfortable, we might add, special status in hand and high hopes for an early parole, since good behavior should be easy to come by in the resort with a fence. No unnecessary tensions like homosexual rape, assault, verbal abuse, or the continual tensions of overcrowding, unsanitary conditions, mistreatment by guards, bad food, etc. Just John and some criminals who learned enough manners to steal in style. What a joke.

This generation may spend itself in self-knowledge for a change. No one could stop us, for certain, since youth has a friend in death, and war pales in comparison.

The laws of Germany were the laws of magic, but the magicians were second rate and fooled by mere power. A little more attention to the divine mother and they could have saved themselves the national compulsion of war.

And knowledge is an encounter. Arbitrary in our stupid time, the process itself. Don't talk to God, listen. And don't accept miracles, either.

And bear witness to the random factor. The rest is incest.

That's one opinion, anyway. The Ramones are a great band, full of energy and wit, and it's a shame that most people won't be in touch with them, because they are a great reassurance to those who feel like it's all in the moment, and must see it, again and again.

Friday, June 10, was a great day for paranoia. First a long day at the office or whatever, then the news over dinner that James Earl Ray, the convicted killer of Martin Luther King (he says he's innocent, "legally"), had escaped from a "maximum security" prison. Visions danced of Rosselli, assassinated while under heavy government guard before his scheduled appearance before the House Assassinations Committee. And wilder visions when Ray's lawyer claimed Ray had made the break out from frustration because no one would hear his pleas for a new trial. And wilder still when one considered he was free during the first House investigation of the assassination in several years. Ray was later recaptured (unless it was his double, conspiracy freak), but no one knew that Friday.

And then, at 8 p.m., the Bill Moyers special on the CIA's secret army in Miami, and its instrumental part in American foreign and domestic policy over the last 17 years.

Moyers and associates laid it out brilliantly, the duping of Kennedy before the Bay of Pigs, and Kennedy's own insane vindictiveness that took the form of multiple assassination plots against Castro, some arranged through the Mafia, resulting in the Cuban Missile Crisis.

Moyers went on to hint that it was a double agent, playing on Castro's disgust (He called Kennedy a "cretin" in the most hilarious moment of the special.), who engineered the assassination of the late president.

Along the way, one got a look at the CIA and how they operate, the emotionless newspeak in which maximum prejudice means assassination, and the cult of personality, like that which formed around Hunt's "Eduardo" role in the pre-Bay of Pigs recruitment drive inside Cuba, which places personal power above all.

Life, it seems, is an initial reality to the CIA and the intelligence services. And to Kennedy, too. As Burroughs pointed out, their "plot" was to create insoluble conflicts, Bateson-like double-bind situations in which no alternative was best. They exploited both sides, throwing alternatives into the works like grinding sand. The President was just another joker, a pawn in their game.

In a way, it is a result of America and its ideals, which are few. Capitalism inspired sadism, but seldom fervor. It inspired secrecy but not revelations, and so its secret police became partners with, and in time almost synonymous with, the secret underground of "criminals."

The ultimate capitalists, it seemed, had more in common with the CIA than anyone else. Similar means, identical ends. Control. By chaos.

By the time Moyers was through, Kennedy was disgraced as never before, Nixon had dropped into oblivion, and Johnson was revealed as a practicing diversionary who would rather fight a war than stand up to the conspiracy he could not discern.

And then to turn on the news and have to face Jimmy Carter, the hollow idol and his eyes. Too much. Almost too much.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Since it is now the end of the school year and all the thieving in school is over, I thought I would let the public know what was stolen from one fifth grade student at Rockport Elementary.

The first time he wore his winter coat to school someone swiped it. He took a green boy scout backpack to school and it was stolen. Two knit caps were stolen. Also, one baseball-type cap. Of all the articles stolen only two were recovered, two caps.

Now the parents must support their children in the thefts, as no one has come forward and returned the stolen articles. The majority of the thefts took place on the busses. If I knew who took them, I'd file charges. I have come to the conclusion that the parents condone everything their children do.

I know nothing will come of this, but maybe other people will become aware of this problem, too. So they can protect their children's property.

State Of The Region

By Juliet K. Wenger

Coastal Bend Council of Gov'ts

The Coastal Bend is able to handle oil spills effectively and at comparatively low cost. Records of the United States Coast Guard show this cost effectiveness. Lt. Wayne Hamilton of the office of the Captain of the Port which serves most of the Texas Coast says it cost $39,000 here to clean up a 7,000 barrel spill. The cost of cleaning up a spill of approximately that size in California is $1 million.

Concern for water quality is now nationwide with enforcement dates approaching for strict federal standards. Fortunately, the Coastal Bend took a lead and took action before the federal government stepped in. Local government, industry, the Port Authority, and Coast Guard all joined forces here. The COG obtained financing from the State of Texas and the Bay Spill Association was established in 1972. It is this association that makes possible quick action at a low cost today.

Hamilton explained that the Coast Guard got into pollution control through the Rivers and Harbors Act of 1899, actually an anti-sabotage act, intended to keep the enemy from blocking waterways and interfering with ship traffic. The Coast Guard had no enforcement tool, until the Oil Pollution Act of 1961 required tankers carrying oil to keep records which identify what vessel is at a location where pollution is caused by pumping the bilge, or a leak. Both of these were criminal statutes, so there was a penalty only if you could prove intent. Finally, the Federal Water Pollution Control Act of 1970, amended in 1972, made pollution a civil offense, made failure to report pollution a criminal offense, and set up a revolving clean-up fund. Now, we're talking about not only oil but any hazardous substance.

Last year in the Coastal Bend there were 156 spills where there was insufficient evidence to determine who caused them. There were 101 where the cause could be established, 96 requiring clean-up, and 50 considered significant.

Any sighting of pollution can be reported to a toll-free number, 1-800-424-8802, in Washington, D.C. A computer there is being programmed now, so that whatever creek or inlet is mentioned, the Coast Guard will know instantly where the closest suitable personnel and equipment are to move fast. The system is set up by longitude and latitude locations.

If the pollution is within the Coastal Bend, the Oil Spill Association gets the call. They have equipment at Cove Harbor in Aransas County and personnel and equipment in Corpus Christi. Research and inventiveness have resulted in versatile equipment easy to handle. Six hundred feet of flexible boom can be deployed in about five minutes. Decanting skimmers on a barge pick up oil. A work platform on pontoons gets under docks with a suction pump and holding tanks. If oil gets ashore, 10 tons of straw can be spread in a hour by a hay blower, mounted on a trailer for the beach and on a barge for the water.

For pollution in a remote area, an airboat can move into six inches of water traveling at 50 miles an hour and clean up small spills before damage to the environment is serious.

The Coast Guard, employees of the association and of private industry are researching and learning as they work.

Insurance Corner

By JOE HUGENBERG

Joe Hugenberg Insurance

WHY YOUNG DRIVERS PAY HIGH RATES

This will not come as news. As a group, drivers under 25 pay high insurance rates. Why? Because they cause more than their proportionate share of automobile accidents.

Here are some figures on this point. The under-25 group makes up 20 percent of the total driving population, but are involved in over 34 percent of all accidents. The young driver is twice as likely to have an accident as is the driver in the 35-45 age group which constitutes the next largest driving group in the country. Or to put it another way, 41 out of every 100 drivers under 25 are involved in an auto accident each year, compared with 19 out of every 100 drivers in the 35-44 age group.

Those higher rates, though, are like aspirin; they work on the symptoms, not the cause of the problem. The only way to reduce the rates and save lives, is to cut down on the number and severity of accidents in the under-25 group.

County

Traffic

Count Down

Aransas County continues to enjoy a perfect record for traffic fatalities so far in 1977.
County drivers had a total of just seven accidents in May,
none of them fatal.
The May total brought to 36 the number of accidents in the first five months of 1977. The
the 56 accidents during the same period in 1976, and reveals a downward trend in all kinds of accidents within the county. Property damage accidents are down by exactly half, from 34 to 17, during the first five months. Injured victims number 21 as compared to 40 in 1976. Only property damage accidents have kept pace with

Hurricane Season: What Will Be Done, What To Do

The last hurricane to strike the Corpus Christi area was Celia, which hit in 1970. Because the average landfall for hurricanes in Texas is 2.5 years, the state is considered "long overdue" by most forecasters.

If another hurricane does strike the area this year, Rockport and Aransas County will be guided by an Emergency Operations Plan (EOP) written in 1974 and signed by the city and county's chief executive officers, May Walter Falk, Jr., and Judge John Wendell. Familiarity with the plan is essential because of Aransas County's precarious position. The EOP states: Aransas County has an average elevation of 11 feet above sea level...A rise of four feet or more in the water level due to high tides or heavy rains could make all the roads in the county impassable...Aransas County could be isolated for several weeks in the event of severe flooding from hurricanes and high tides."

To provide maximum cooperation for preparations, evacuations, and recovery, the EOP places responsibility for operational coordination with the Mayor and the County Judge, who in turn are assisted by other appointed and elected officials.

The majority of the pre-planning is done in Rockport and Aransas County by city Civil Defense Coordinator/City Secretary Herman Johnson and County Judge Wendell.

The plans make the Mayor and Aldermen, County Judge and County Commissioners directors of all city-county departments and volunteers, and gives them the power to request State and Federal aid. The Mayor and Judge have the power to request the National Guard as well.

City Secretary Herman Johnson is empowered to assist the above in all phases of the operation, and to conduct preparedness training classes.

The Sheriff and Police Chief are responsible for police services within the city and county, and with providing a communications center and communications service for the area (Headquarters will be the Aransas County Sheriff's Department). The Sheriff and Chief also coordinate the efforts of Citizen's Band radio operators, dispatch ambulances and wreckers as needed, maintain and operate a warning system, assist in all severe weather watches, receive and respond to fire and rescue calls, designate restricted areas as needed, and prevent looting and enforce curfews.

The president of the Aransas County Emergency Corps, made up of the Rockport, Fulton, Lamar and Holiday

NOTICE

Local shelter locations and other emergency information will be announced several different way so that local citizens will be assured of knowing where they stand. Local law enforcement personnel armed with loudspeakers will patrol the city and county making announcements. The Sheriff's Department will coordinate the efforts of local CB owners in transmitting the information. Corpus Christi AM radio stations KEYS 1440, KIKN 1590 and others, and Corpus Christi television stations KRIS, Channel 6; KII, Channel 3; KZTV, Channel 10, will also carry the announcements for Rockport and the Corpus Christi area.

Beach Fire Departments, assists the Sheriff and Chief in emergency and rescue operations.

Director of Public Works, J.C. Gurley, along with County Commissioners, is charged with maintaining public buildings, condemning and demolishing unsafe structures, reporting damage to and maintenance of streets and sewers and bridges, coordinating the barricading of streets as necessary, and insuring that the private utilities serving the area comply with the EOP.

The City and County Health officers are charged with coordinating medical help for affected areas and inspecting damaged areas for possible restricted access.

The County Welfare Department, in coordination with the American Red Cross and the Salvation Army, will take care of emergency clothing, feeding, additional shelter and other personal services.

Personnel and finances before and after a hurricane are the charge of the County Judge and City Secretary, who may designate and administrate a volunteer pool for emergency manpower, authorize emergency purchases, hire additional staff and issue identification badges to workers in the disaster area.

The County and City Tax Assessor will make damage assessments after the storm.

The coordination of transportation resources in emergencies is the job of the Superintendent of School, E.J. Randow. This could include management of traffic, operation of the County Airport, and the coordination of aerial monitoring.

The Superintendent is also responsible for coordinating natural and additional shelter, their maintenance, operation and filling.

Legal matters will be handled by the County Attorney.

These officers move into action when a hurricane watch is announced, monitoring the radio stations and four television stations which serve the Aransas County Area from Corpus Christi and suburbs.

Action is taken when a hurricane watch is announced and landfall is imminent. In this case evacuation will be encouraged.

When landfall is certain, the officials named will be headquartered at the Sheriff's Office or at the alternative site, the Live Oak Elementary School, on the main evacuation route, Highway 881. Emergency operations will then follow the above plan.

Every citizen can assist these officials in the performance of their duties by observing this checklist:

Before a hurricane you should know:

--The elevation of your home above sea level (This information is available from the flood plain map at the Aransas County Courthouse in Rockport).

--The Maximum storm surge which might occur (This depends upon the power of the storm, so monitor radio broadcasts and TV announcements and take no chances).

--The route to safety if you have to leave. The main route away from Rockport will be Highway 881, so leave early as possible.

--What your insurance will cover. Review your policy to avoid misunderstandings. Separate policies are needed for wind and water damage.

--An inventory of your property. Make a list, take pictures, don't trust your memory. Store the results in a watertight container or a safety deposit box.

When a watch is issued: --Check or buy a transistor and enough batteries for several days.

--Have flashlights, matches, candles or lamps and fuel in watertight containers.

--Get a full tank of gasoline, and it's best not to let it get less than half full during the hurricane season. With no electricity, the pumps don't work and you can't go anywhere.

--Have several days worth of canned and non-perishable foods, as well as a supply of fresh drinking water.

--Protect window openings and have materials handy to perform emergency repairs such as tears in the roof, damage to doors, etc.

When a warning is issued: --Monitor TV and radio broadcasts.

--Leave if you live in a mobile home.

--Prepare for high winds by bracing doors and lowering antennas, anchoring movable objects, moving boats close to your house and storing valuable and personal papers.

If you remain at home:

IRS Corps Office Staying Very Busy

The Internal Revenue Service said today that 8,980 area citizens visited the local office between January 1 and April 30. Visitors numbered 11,888 for the same period in 1976, according to IRS Director's Representative Don Starkey.

He said that tax help will continue to be available through the year from 8:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m. and 1:45 p.m. - 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. The office is located in the Smith Building, at 425 Schatzel Street.

Also, answers to tax questions can be received by telephone. He pointed out that new numbers were assigned this month. The new number for taxpayers living in the Corpus Christi telephone exchange is 888-9431 for tax information. Forms may be requested by calling 888-9364.

Taxpayers living outside the Corpus Christi telephone exchange can find the number in the white pages of the telephone directory. Look for U.S. Government. Listed under Internal Revenue Service, you will find "Federal Tax Information."

One of the most effective exercises you can do on the job beats the isometrics all hollow -- clench the jaw muscles frequently and keep the mouth shut.

--Stay indoors on the leeward or downwind side away from windows and doors. Keep a continuous communications watch by radio and TV, and remain calm.

If you must leave: --Make reservations inland with friends or commercial accommodations.

--Travel only as far as necessary, taking valuable papers such as insurance policies, valuables and personal identification with you.

--Carry survival supplies like first aid kits, bottled water and canned or dried foods, spare eyeglasses and hearing aid batteries, contacts, medication, warm clothing, etc.

After the hurricane: --Take precautions against downed powerlines and other hazards, such as snakes, debris, washouts on your property or roads you may use.

--Don't drink the water until it has been tested by the proper authorities, and take extra precautions against fires, since lowered water pressure from damage to city water mains will make fire fighting impossible in some areas, difficult in all.

During the cleanup: --Notify your insurance representative, make temporary repairs as necessary, and aid others less fortunate.

Water Board Up For Funds

The Aransas County Water and Reclamation District Monday in regular session tabled for further consideration a contract for the pursuit of federal funds with a private management organization, and took up a second proposal which includes possibility of direct state funding.

The contract, written by Omnitech, Incorporated of America, represented in this area by John Forehand, called for a fee payment even if the company failed to obtain funds for the district, and the district members were unanimously against acceptance until a legal review and reference check could be made. The board moved that a letter be written for Forehand detailing their objections and requests, but assuring him of the Board's continuing interest in all funding sources.

The state money, as newly appointed Board attorney Reese Rozzell explained, would come from the Austin based Community Affairs organization. Rozzell said a CA representative told him Aransas County was 32nd in funding priority among 300 applicants, and that with $2.7 million to be distributed, was likely to receive an estimated $9600 for an engineer's survey and report on the needs of the area and proposals for solutions to area sewage problems.

The two offers of funding heightened Board members, who were given authority years ago by the Texas Legislature to bring a county-wide sewage system to the area-but no funding to carry out the mandate.

"I think what's happened is that we've started to squawk," said Board Chairman Jack McDavid of the sudden interest. "And maybe they're beginning to listen. I think we ought to squawk some more."

McDavid also noted later that the funds would not mean that the District is likely to operate by itself. "The city is going to have to get in on this at some level, somewhere along the road, just like they did with the water system."

The Board as mandated, currently buys surface water from the Corpus Christi area and sells it with a small surcharge to the City of Rockport, which distributes it. The surcharge is used to retire bonds which finance the Board.

In other business, Board Chairman McDavid swore in new member Cam Leonard, appointed to fill the unexpired term of Col. J.H. Von Pein.

Another member, Col. Thomas L. Morgan, announced by letter his resignation from the Board. Morgan told members he is moving out of town in August.

Replacements were discussed by the Board, with emphasis on obtaining a representative from the Copano area to keep geographic balance of the present Board intact. Further consideration was tabled so that members could have a chance to talk with prospects.

School Board Hires Seven

The Aransas County Independent School District Board of Trustees created a new administrative post and hired seven new teachers Monday night, June 13, in regular session.

The Board named Robert Puster Assistant Junior High School Principal, a new position under Principal Pat Smith. Puster has been employed by the District as a teacher and Special Education Counselor for the past seven years.

The seven teachers hired were: Veronica G. Polanco, Merryly Lancaster, Wesley D. Cook, Denise W. Scanlon, Sandra L. McDonald, Vernon S. McDonald and Peggy M. Rouquette.

The seven replace resigning teachers Mary K. Kline, Robert K. Johnson, Johnnie K. Stark, Susan Hartzell, R.B. Shuff, Attorney Reese Rozzell has set office hours for the district for the first time. Citizens may talk with Rozzell between 9 and 11 a.m. every Tuesday at 1723 Cherry Street, or call 729-5443. He or a district board member will be available at other times in emergencies.

Margaret Shuff and Anna St. Leger.

In other business, the Board:

--Approved participation for the third consecutive year in the Region II, Education Service Center Drug Education Co-operative.

--Awarded the School Depository contract to the First National Bank of Rockport. The contract becomes effective September 1, 1977, and runs through August 31, 1979.

--Called for bids on a van truck to be used in the school maintenance department. The District's present van will be used in the future as a chuck wagon for the satellite cafeterias.

--Received and discussed reports by members on the following phases of work being performed around the school: renovation of the old wood shop room, the annual gas test of all schools, progress on the new field house and painting of the High School.

"Behold!" — it's not a word we use much today. Yet it occurs more than 150 times in the King James version of the Bible.

"Behold" means to see. But it suggests more than mere sight. In the Bible it usually implies spiritual awareness. Jesus often used it to urge his disciples to understand and respond to spiritual truths.

Today we say "Look!" instead of "Behold!" Although the word has changed, the meaning has not. We still need to be aware of God's love. We still need to grasp those mysteries of life that can often perplex us.

This Sunday enlarge your spiritual vision in church. Come and BEHOLD.

RACERS. The Rockport Sailing Club completed the first six-weeks series of sailboat races Wednesday, June 7, in Little Bay. Pictured are the series champions. From L to R, are Andy McMillan, a member of the second place crew; Jon Shaw, a member of the third place crew; Scott McMillan, a member of the second place crew; Gay Harper, who won first place as a crew of one; and Peter Booth, a member of the third place crew. Racing will start again soon after a one week layoff. Everyone can enter, but only Club members are eligible for trophies.

Sailing Club Series To Start June 15

Seventeen sailing vessels from the Long Bow Cruising Club, Houston, were in Rockport on Monday, June 6, and remained through Wednesday. They were entertained at a fish fry hosted by the Rockport Sailing Club, Rockport Chamber of Commerce and Joe Queen of the Harbor Light Motel.

At the June meeting of the club, Thursday evening at the Little Bay Club, Dr. Richard Watson of Port Aransas, marine geologist and owner of the sloop Viking, described his experiences during a voyage last year from Corpus Christi to his boyhood home in New Jersey. The presentation was accompanied by photo slides.

Departing Corpus Christi in a December gale, the Viking made 190 miles daily under a minimum of sail. Heavy weather was Watson's lot for much of the voyage, the worst of it during a hurricane off the southeastern seaboard during the homeward bound voyage. Watson is among the many scientists who are convinced of the high intelligence of the porpoise and man's eventual if not immediate ability to communicate with them.

Board boat race chairmen Evelyn Gerdinge and Gail Leslie, announced that the summer series of races will begin June 15 and continue for six weeks. Non-club members are invited to participate. Races are held in Little Bay each Wednesday, beginning at 5 p.m. The chairman also announced that O.C. (Buck) Bailey will offer instruction to beginning sailors each Wednesday at 10 a.m. Participants will meet in Little Bay, off Sandpiper Lane. For additional information call Gerdinge, 729-0272 or Leslie, 729-0482. Leslie said RSC has been invited to be represented at the Rockport Seafair with a booth. C.M. Henkel Jr., commodore, appointed Leslie to head a committee to make arrangements for the booth.

Jerry Shaw, clubhouse committee chairman, advised that the Aransas County Navigation District is interested in development of the area on Rockport Beach known as the "salt water pool" and is receptive to suggestions from the club. Shaw said the site is a prospective location for club facilities.

Park Gerdinge, cruise chairman, announced that five boats made the Memorial Day weekend cruise to Matagorda Peninsula and enjoyed near perfect sailing. The July cruise, July 2 and 3, will be to Lydia Ann Channel with Warren Gerdinge as commodore.

Winners Named, Tourney Planned

The Jack Henson Open Golf Tournament was held Sunday, June 12, at the Live Oak Country Club. Mr. Henson provided the prizes and refreshments.

The next Twilight Couples Tournament is June 23.

Fishin' School

By Jerry Starr

The serious summer fishing is getting off to an erratic beginning. The weather has been better than last year with a few relatively calm days interspersed with several windy days. The outstanding news of the billfishing activities has been the fantastic success of the Billy Williams' family on their boat "Mirando Mist," captained by Ron Reed. In four consecutive trips they boated four blue marlin weighing 123, 332, 467 and 238 pounds. After not scoring on a trip, they caught another blue weighing 239 pounds. To give you an idea of the size of these fish, measured from the tip of the bill to the tail, the smallest was eight feet long and the largest was 11 feet, eight inches. Rare is the day this fishing boat comes back without something to talk about. On the trips when they didn't catch a blue marlin, they returned with a 23 and 36 pounds wahoo, a 15 pound blackfin tuna and four yellowfin tuna weighing 50 pounds each. Quick addition shows this to be 1673 pounds of fish. If you throw away the bones and bills this is still enough fish to feed a quarter-pound fishburger to the entire population of Rockport. I think you would have to agree with me that the "Mirando Mist" has truly earned its present reputation of the hottest sportfishing boat on the Texas coast.

The only reason they don't have six blue marlin is that a bit of misfortune struck on their last trip. They had a one-hundred pound plus blue at the boat, with hands on the tail and wire leader, and also gaffed; but the fish decided he would leave and did.

The trout fishing has been good-at times. The wind has muddled the bay occasionally and reduced overall catches but some individuals have had good success. Capt. Floyd Smith and W.H. "Buster" Becker brought in 100 trout. They were fishing on the reefs which Capt. Smith knows so well. These specs succumbed to the rig of live shrimp and an artificial "minner." Capt. Wayne Lindsey and Ray Lytle, who charter out of Key Allegro Marina, have brought in a "box" full on nearly every trip the last two weeks. Also, Norman Larson has consistently caught four-pound trout behind his house fishing late at night under the lights.

The Kingfish season is in its infancy and therefore, not at its best. Several people have been fortunate enough to catch a number of fish. Gerald Lindholm on his new 28' Bertram "Marsha Lee" got six, George Taggart on his Bertram "Salty" got eight, and Roger Simmang on the "Little Duchess" caught a couple nice kings along with several other finny creatures.

This fishing season appears to be off to a fantastic start, so what are you waiting for-go fishing!

Gay Harper Takes First In RSC Races

The Rockport Sailing Club ended its six weeks series of spring board boat races on May 8. Gay Harper captured the first place trophy.

Andy McMillan, with his brother Scott as crew, was second and Jon Shaw third with Peter Booth as crew.

In last Wednesday's final races McMillan was first with a first, fourth and third. Monty Dedman was second with a second, third and fourth place while Harper was third with a fourth, fifth and sixth.

The summer series began on Wednesday of this week. Races are held each Wednesday, beginning at 5 p.m. in Little Bay. Board boat owners who are not members of RSC are invited to participate but are not eligible for trophies. People of high school age and younger are eligible for junior membership on payment of a $5 fee.

Inquiries regarding events may be made by calling the board boat race chairmen, Evelyn Gerdinge, 729-0272, and Gail Leslie, 729-0482.

Jackson Seafood Leads In Senior League Play

Jackson Seafood won twice and lost once last week in Senior League play, and managed a half-game lead over the first half champion Dolphins. The Dolphins handed JS their only loss last week with a 13-3 rout that avenged a recent JS win that snapped the Dolphins' three-year old winning streak at 23 games.

The game was close until the Dolphins exploded for eight runs in the seventh. Bennie Flores was the winning pitcher, and contributed a three-run homer at the plate. Dennis Hull and Bubba Scott had two hits each. For JS, Miguel Contreras was two for three and Donald Nava had three hits, a single and two doubles.

Jackson Seafood managed its lead with two wins over George Miller. JS stomped GM 18-0 the first time around behind the one-hit pitching of Jim Eaton, and the hitting of Nava, Bill Jennings and Lupe Contreras. Nava had four RBIs, and Jennings six. Contreras had three singles.

Saturday night, June 11, JS had to work a lot harder to edge GM 19-18. Miguel Vargas, who came on in relief, was the winning pitcher. He was also three for three at the plate, with three doubles and a walk good for six RBIs. Bubba Williams had a double and a triple, good for five RBIs. Jim Eaton contributed a two RBI double, and Nava a two-run homer.

For GM, Andy Deason had three hits and James Walls two.

Things looked better for George Miller the first time out last week. The team won its first game of the season with a 7-4 victory over Dairy Queen.

James Walls was the winning pitcher for GM, and carried the team at the plate with three singles and a double. Deason contributed two hits and Kroy DeForrest three.

City Council

The program of at least a two month run.

The donation brought to $2300 the cash on hand for the project, and the remainder of the proposed $3430 operating budget is expected to be gathered from private sources.

With the money question resolved, Council hired a full time staffer for the 20 foot patrol boat, a retired serviceman, Tom Force. Force will be under the direction of City Police Chief Jim Craigmile, and will be fully insured during the performance of all his duties.

In other business, Council:

--Set June 27 at 7:30 p.m. as the date and time for a Public Hearing on the petition for the annexation submitted for 17.06 acres in Harbor Oaks (proposed Unit 6). The acreage will be made into single family lots.

--Requested an ordinance from City Attorney David Connery defining the boundaries of Wards One and Two, as urged by Judge Littlejohn in her final order on the April 2 election contest. The ordinance will be ready June 27 according to Connery, and will not change voting residency in any way.

--Denied two rezoning requests by Chester Johnson, trustee for Alsulu Trust Estate, until a revision of guidelines for the definition of zoning classifications used by the Planning and Zoning Commission and City Council can be completed. The revisions would detail the types of structures allowed under B-2 Business and other classifications, and should be complete soon, according to P&Z member Arthur Roloff, who was present at the Council meeting.

--Approved repairs to Glass Avenue and payment of the bill to Vermillion Construction of Fulton.

--Approved gutter repairs along Glass Avenue totalling $1141, to be done by Vermillion Construction Company.

--Approved a July 11 Public Hearing date on use of Federal Revenue Sharing funds due the city in the eighth entitlement period.

--Approved having the corporate limits of Rockport shaded in gray on current city maps for the benefit of citizens.

--Heard a letter and presentation from Canoe Lake Corporation on proposed construction of condominiums in Harbor Oaks, Unit 1. The units will be worth an estimated $12 million when complete, according to developers, and will be seven stories high. A total of 180 to 200 units are planned, and more details on construction and fire prevention steps will be presented at the June 27 council meeting.

--Approved a request by Bob Eschberger to close a portion of St. Mary's Street for the purpose of holding a tent sale. Eschberger, who owns Johnson's Drug and Boutique in Rockport, held a similar sale without incident last year on the St. Mary's Street location.

--Approved a request by Mrs. Rose Henby to operate a beach concession on Rockport Beach.

--Denied a request from Sammy Marino to solicit orders for "Mr. Siroin" beef door-to-door.

--Approved purchase of $740 in traffic signs for Little Bay Shores and highway feeder streets within the city limits, as recommended by Chief Jim Craigmile.

--Approved purchase of a typewriter for the City office.

--Approved payment of bills for May, including the final $1900 payment on a firetruck for the Rockport Fire Department. "Just in time to buy another one," said Councilman Jerry Shaw.

--Approved the placement of a 10 KW generator at the Fire Station in Rockport to power emergency radio equipment during storms.

--Hired Ty Barton Eudy, a dispatcher at the Ingleside Police Department with four years of security experience during seven years of military service, and almost 40 hours of college police training. Eudy will take an additional 300 hours of police academy training before final certification as a municipal officer.

--Approved a Police Report for May which showed 22 vehicle expiration fines and 15 arrests for drunk in public as the heaviest items during a busy month.

shall subsidize that Marshall had assured him the service was needed and would be continued regardless of the Court's decision on the subsidy.

Eller also noted that approximately 500 voters live in County Precinct 1-A, where Marshall's ambulance services are being used. Commissioner Ray Longino added that the money, if taken from Marshall, might be better spent with the ACHV, which would take any additional territory.

In other business, the Court turned down a bid of $351 for the remains of a County Sheriff's Department vehicle wrecked in the accident that almost killed Chief Deputy E.A. Stautzenberger.

Commissioners said the tires and accessories on the car were worth more than the bid price, and that they might readvertise later.

The Court also held a closed executive session on matters dealing with the County Airport operation.

Harbor Board

to support its claim.

The Board agreed at that meeting to write HO&M urging them to go ahead with development of the remaining three acres, but the move was an open invitation for a federal court injunction which would have tied up HO&M attorneys, and the work was not begun.

In May, the Board discussed a third possibility, the purchase of acreage north of the present harbor for future development, but dropped the idea when it was determined that the land was similar in composition to the protested acreage north of the harbor.

June 6, Cochran and Raulie Irwin, Sr., a local realtor, appeared before the Board to urge defiance of the federal ruling.

Irwin told the Board he felt the idea of creating "a wildlife preserve in an area where you've got an industrial harbor on one side, a development on another, and a railroad and highway on a third, is the stupidest thing I've ever heard of."

Irwin said he had had similar problems and that he "may be in court in two weeks. I've got land I'm being taxed at $1500 on, and I can't use it."

He added that the creation of compensation wetlands by the Board could jeopardize their position on the remaining 90-acre tract, and set what he termed a "dangerous precedent" for coastal landowners and public bodies throughout the state.

Cochran told the Board "The feds can't say what land should be used for. The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department assured, and that 100 percent funding during the next state fiscal year from October through September is also certain, with the group picking up 20 percent per year thereafter until it is fully funded from local sources at the end of five years.

Officers for the group are Donna Price, president; Marcelino Ramirez, vice-president; Jerri Brueggeman, secretary-treasurer; and Mark Simmons, public relations.

The officers will in turn, appoint committee heads to aid in the establishment of programs such as youth activities, education and counseling.

Three directors, to be named later, were also nominated by the group, with representatives from the medical and legal communities and a member of a local elective board.

The directors will serve three-year terms, with one rotating each year and a successor chosen by the remaining two.

Incorporators who will execute the legal articles of incorporation are Gary Knostman, group counsel N.F. Jackson, Jr., and Donna Price.

The Patrol is funded by donations from the City of Rockport ($1000 plus attorney's fees and insurance to date), the Key Allegro Property Owners' Association ($500), the Aransas County Navigation District No. 1 ($1800 for boat lease plus equipment listed), and Bob Eschberger and Troy True ($800).

is the only agency with the power to declare wetlands areas in Texas, and they have to offer just compensation either by condemnation or direct offer."

Cochran agreed with Irwin that the Board should take the federal government to court over the ruling to protect its interests, and added that at the very least it should obtain just compensation for the land if court action fails. "If you don't get money from the TP&W, you'll have to turn to the taxpayers, and they're not about to give it to you unless you stand up now."

The furor over the Cove results from the need for additional facilities, and that need was brought home again and again during the three and one-half hour meeting.

Ken Lee of Key Allegro, represented by Rockport attorney Reese Rozzell, took a $6000, five year lease on District property at the Cove running from the east side of the levee to Highway 35, and agreed to pay $4 per front foot, or a maximum of $6400.

Casterline Enterprises was granted a 20-year extension to 2006 for another Cove Harbor lease which will be sublet to George Miller Company of Rockport. Miller plans to build a $500,000 dry dock facility on the land.

Berwick Bay Oil Company representative Jim Baget told the Board his company had offered the majority of its lease property as a temporary site for spoil disposal in the event the Board proceeds with plans to dredge the harbor. He also told the Board that business at the Harbor warranted pursuit of a primary lease on land Berwick now subleases from Jack Sanders of Rockport so that the company could install bulkheading to withstand increased traffic by larger boats. "Let's face it, gentlemen. Those boats that are coming in now are the future of the harbor, and they're getting bigger."

The Board also gave the go-ahead for a sublease at Cove Harbor by Lynn Wendell to Halliburton Industries, which plans additional commercial development.

Rockport and Fulton Harbors also came in for close consideration by the Board June 6. Harbormaster Bernie DeForrest told the Board that major repairs and new construction were needed in both harbors. DeForrest said demand for new docking facilities mandated immediate development of the former saltwater swimming pool into dock facilities, and won a quick Board okay to prepare sketches for a Corps of Engineers permit for the facility.

He also said recent reports from lessors and his own survey showed that as much as $10,000 would have to be spent on repair of existing facilities at Rockport and Fulton Harbors which have deteriorated below safety levels.

The Board, which noted that summertime spending has hit $10,000 per month, okayed the immediate hiring of two additional carpenters to begin repairs.

In other business, the Board: --Set August 13 as the date for the biennial Navigation District election. All five seats, now held by David Maguglin, Dick Fox, Bobby Landrum, Jimmy Anders and Hal McKnight, will be up for grabs. Four spots will be filled from county voting precincts, and the fifth will be at large. The filing deadline was set 25 days before the election at 12 noon, July 18.

--Heard a report on Cove Harbor by Jimmy Anders. Anders told the board that County Road and Bridge crew members would patch all Cove roads and top the entrance only, the week of June 27.

Driver Classes Start

Driver education courses started in the Rockport-Fulton High School this summer on Tuesday, May 31. The classroom phase will be completed by June 23 while the driving phase will continue into July with students finishing on various dates.

The Rockport-Fulton High School has obtained the Aetna Drivotrainer trailer for the month of June to be used in this driver training program.

One phase of the program employs a fleet of computerized simulator cars which students "drive" to filmed traffic situations.

The cars are those of the AETNA Drivotrainer system, furnished through Region II Education Service Center of Corpus Christi, which provides facilities for training 16 students at a time, compared to the three or four students an instructor can handle in a dual-control car.

The Rockport-Fulton installation consists of 16 stationary cars which students "drive" to meet changing road and traffic conditions seen in the wide screen color film shown at the front of the classroom. The simulated car is equipped with all the controls used in standard automobiles. The controls function exactly as they do in real cars.

Under the hood is an electronic "engine" with integrated circuits connected to a digital computer that tells the student immediately what action he should be taking if he varies from good driving procedures. The computer also scores the student's performance for the instructor.

At Rockport-Fulton High School students will get 12 hours of behind-the-wheel instruction with the Drivotrainer system while on-the-road time in dual-control cars will be reduced from six to four hours.

Fishery Council Meets

The Tampa Bay area was selected as headquarters by the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council at its third monthly meeting in Houston, Texas, December 8-10, 1976.

The Council identified some 13 fishery management units, that is fisheries for which management plans might be developed. Plans for five of these to be developed by the Gulf Council during 1977-78 include shallow water shrimp, groundfishes (croaker, spot, other drum, etc.), reef fishes (snapper-grouper, etc.), coastal migratory pelagics (mackerel, little tuna, etc.) and billfishes (marlin, sailfish, etc.). The latter plan is to be developed in coordination with the South Atlantic Fishery Management Council. The Council requested that the National Marine Fisheries Service present a detailed briefing on these management units on a monthly basis to begin at the February meeting to be held in Tampa.

Other fishery units which were identified for management plan development in future years include the following: (1) gulf menhaden, (2) coastal herrings, (3) mullet, (4) calico scallop, (5) deep water shrimp (royal red and rock shrimp), (6) spiny lobster, (7) tropical reef fish and (8) corals. In addition to developing management plans for these fishery units, the plans for the first five will be reviewed and modified annually.

The Charter for the Council's Scientific and Statistical Committee (SSC) was approved. This committee will consist of the best scientific talent in the Gulf area with expertise in the marine sciences. They will serve as a scientific advisory body to the Council on management plans and related problems. The SSC will have members with expertise in fishery biology, fish population dynamics, fishery statistics, marine resource management, fishery economics, marine law, oceanography and rural sociology. In addition, four scientific members with special knowledge of each of the following fisheries will serve on the SSC: (1) shrimp, (2) reef fish, (3) coastal pelagics, (4) groundfish and (5) billfish.

Feds Hold Wetlands Hearings

In June officials of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will hold public hearings in four Texas coastal cities to air their plans for acquisition and protection of marshlands used by wintering waterfowl.

Hearing sites and dates are:
--Port Arthur: June 7; Sportsmen Club, Pleasure Island.

--Houston: June 9; Chemistry Hall, Rice University.

--Bay City: June 14; Bay City Service Center, 2105 Ave. M.

--Corpus Christi: June 16; City Council Chambers, 302 Shoreline.

All meetings will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Natural wetlands along the Texas coast with a history of high waterfowl usage have been identified by both federal biologists and those with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. The new program of acquisition and easement will be funded through the Migratory Bird Conservation Fund and by waterfowl hunters through the purchase of Migratory Waterfowl Stamps, the so-called "Duck Stamps."

According to federal officials, more than 400 species of birds, some of which are threatened with extinction, are found on the half-million acres of tidal marshlands located along the Texas coast.

"These marshlands are critical feeding grounds for wintering and migrating waterfowl," said W.O. Nelson, Southwest Regional Director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service at Albuquerque, New Mexico.

"In fact, nearly two-thirds of the entire Central Flyway's wintering waterfowl population in the United States can be found in Texas."

Wetlands purchased by the Federal Government will be managed by the Fish and Wildlife Service as part of the National Wildlife Refuge. Nelson said every effort will be made to coordinate and cooperate with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in the management of the acquired lands to assure preservation of important wildlife habitat, as well as provide public access for hunting and fishing.

Rockport Man Beaten At Park

Manual Flores of Rockport dropped off a friend at the City Park June 2 at 9:30 p.m. and no sooner had his friend cleared the door when a young Latin-American male began to cuss Flores and call him by name. Flores says he called the young man to the car, and that the young man punched him in the eye. Flores says he got out of the car and wrestled the assailant to the ground, then let him up, claiming that he didn't want to fight. Flores said the young man took the opportunity to land two more blows, one to Flores' mouth, and the other to his nose. Flores signed a statement, and the incident is being investigated.

CB Stolen From Local Woman

Erline Castelberry of Rockport is out a CB radio today. Witnesses told her that a Negro male took the radio from her car June 4 while it was parked in the lot in front of J.C.'s Grocery Store. Witnesses said the thief returned to his own vehicle and drove off with another Negro male who had been inside the store at the time of the theft. The witnesses did not get the license plate number, but said the get-away car was an older Ford station wagon. Deputies are investigating the case.
