One Killed As Truck Overturns, Burns

ALL'S WELL THAT ENDS WELL—Bohman Nelson, 8, sits forlornly beside his two puppies, cat and 40 comic books in Grand Central Station, New York City, when he was picked up by police. The lad told officers his mother put him on a train at Norfolk, Conn., and told him to visit his father at a New York hotel. When connections were missed, police took Bohman to the Children's Shelter, the pups and cat to the A.S.P.C.A. Later they located his mother who hastened to New York and took the boy home to Norfolk. PLAINVIEW, Oct. 25. —Robert Howard Francies, 27, of Kress, was killed late this afternoon when his loaded butane truck overturned and burst into flames on a rural road three miles east of Finney Switch. The accident scene is about nine miles northeast of Plainview.

Highway patrolmen who investigated the accident said Francies' truck plunged from the highway and overturned one and a half times, coming to rest on its left side, then burst into flames. They said they had been unable to determine whether the crash was caused by a blowout of the left front tire or some other cause. The truck was owned by Francies' uncle, Carl Lawson, of Kress, the officers said.

Seek To Aid Victim

The truck, officers said, came to a halt about 120 feet from the home of O. T. Staggs, Hale county farmer. They said Staggs told them he was sitting in his pickup truck near his house when the truck overturned, and that immediately he left his machine to go to the aid of the driver. He was joined by W. C. Evans, a neighbor, who rushed to the scene at the sound of the accident.

Staggs told patrolmen that Francies was partially out of the truck when they reached the scene, and that they dragged him from the cab and 10 or 12 feet in front of the wreckage.

Staggs reported that Francies still had life at the time and tried to help himself, but collapsed and fell to his hands and knees. Staggs said he and Evans were forced by the intense heat from the burning truck, and the danger of an explosion to abandon Francies where he fell.

The burning truck caused the Staggs family to evacuate their residence near the accident scene although the house did not catch on fire.

Highway patrolmen said the flames finally were extinguished about 11:30 p. m.

Body Badly Burned

The farmers drove 10 miles to Plainview to report the accident and to get help, the officers said. The Plainview fire department, headed by Chief A. M. Hamilton and Asst. Chief Leedy Maxie, dispatched a truck to the crash scene. The firemen played foamite on the blazing truck while the body was

Soviet Veto Blocks UN Settlement By Neutrals In Berlin Dispute

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Oct. 25.—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky tonight vetoed the plan submitted by the six "neutral" members of the United Nations Security Council for settling the Berlin dispute.

It was the Soviet Union's 28th veto and the second cast by Vishinsky personally. The vote was 9 to 2, with Russia and the Soviet Ukraine casting the lone negative votes.

Argentine Foreign Minister Juan Atilio Bramuglia, acting president of the council, told newsmen: "I will keep on trying to get a peaceful settlement."

To Continue Effort

He spoke for the five other "neutrals" — China, Syria, Belgium, Canada and Colombia — as well as his own country.

"I am sure," Bramuglia said, "neither of the parties wants to reach the worst now. And it is my duty to try to bring them to an agreement. Their differences have been very much ironed out so far and they may still be brought to a coincidence in viewpoints."

The discussion just before the vote disclosed that the major issue between Russia and the western powers is: When will the Russian blockade on Berlin be lifted and when will the Russian mark be made the currency for all four sectors in Berlin?

Vishinsky Has No Comment

Dr. Philip C. Jessup, U. S. delegate, told the council that responsibility for stopping council action rested solely upon the Soviet Union.

Immediately after the vote, Jessup went over to Bramuglia and congratulated him for his efforts to bring Russia and the western powers together.

"You know that this is not over yet," Jessup told Bramuglia. "You know that you will have to continue working for a solution."

As he left the jammed hall, Vishinsky said to a reporter:

"My position is perfectly clear. There is nothing to add to it."

Proposal Outlined

The vetoed resolution proposed that Russia and the western powers lift all restrictions on communications with Berlin as soon as the four governments had been notified that the resolution was adopted.

It also provided that at that same moment the military governors of the four powers in Berlin would begin negotiations aimed at making the Soviet currency the single money for all of Berlin. The currency arrangement would go into effect by Nov. 20. The final provision called for a meeting of the council of foreign ministers by Nov. 30 for a discussion of the whole German problem.

The western powers refused to negotiate on the currency issue until the blockade is lifted; Russia refused to raise the restrictions until the currency agreement actually is in effect.

Western Allies To Confer

There was no immediate indication what the next move would be. An authoritative British source said the big three western foreign ministers had arranged a meeting for 9:30 a. m. (2:30 a. m., CST) tomorrow to decide future steps.

This source said U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman would meet

Top Germans Face Arrest

By OMER ANDERSON
INS Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Oct. 25 — Reliable western sources said tonight that Russian secret police have ordered the arrest and trial of Berlin's top anti-Communist German officials.

These reports say that at the proper moment, the anti-Communist officials will be seized, and eventually turned over to a "peoples court" to stand trial for "warmongering."

One of the Germans believed to be marked by the Soviet police (MVD) for arrest, acting Berlin Mayor Ferdinand Friedensburg commented:

Official Not Afraid

"I am not afraid of arrest. I have good nerves and I have already experienced far more dangerous situations. I do not have any intention of leaving the city hall."

The British-licensed Berlin press, meanwhile, said that Soviet strategy will now center on stepped-up agitation for the withdrawal of all occupation forces from Germany.

The Liberal Democratic (conservative) newspaper Montag's Echo said that a Communist puppet regime already is set to take over the Soviet zone in the event of a general evacuation.

This regime, the paper stated, would be protected by a token force of Russian troops and the Soviet-trained army led by Field Marshal Fredrich Von Paulus, the Nazi Stalingrad commander.

Others Are Accused

The plan to seize non-Communist officials, it was understood, already has been revealed to the pro-Communist Socialist Unity party (SED). In addition to the arrest of Friedensburg, the MVD directive is believed to call for the seizure of these other officials:

Dr. Ernst Reuter, the Socialist mayor whom the Russians refused to seat; Dr. Otto Suhr, Socialist president of the city assembly; Rudolf Markewitz, Liberal Democrat leader; and Franz Neumann, Socialist party chairman.

All of them last week were accused of "acts hostile to peace" and making public speeches of a "Fascist" nature by the Soviet deputy commandant in Berlin, Col. Alexis Jelisarov.

A hint as to the Soviet's plans for the non-Communist leaders was contained in a dispatch by the Russian-controlled news agency which said that "competent military authorities" were now handling the problem.

This was taken to refer to a special political division of the MVD, under Col. Markarov who has been prominent in conducting purges in the Soviet zone.

The Soviets made their "daily" announcement of aerial activity near the air lanes today, promising target-sleeve firing near Elstal, which is within the Berlin control zone. U. S. officials said the practice firing from Russian planes would not affect the air lift.

Texas' Demo Leaders Open Ballot Drive

(By The Associated Press)

TEXAS Democrats, facing determined general election competition for the first time in many years, started fighting back Monday.

Tom L. Tyson, newly-named executive committee secretary, came out of the Democratic corner swinging at the Republicans and other opponents in a statewide radio speech. It was the first of six such campaign talks by party bigwigs advocating the Democratic ticket from constable to president.

Not since 1928, the year of the Smith-Hoover battle, and 1924, in the Butte-Ferguson scrap, have Texas Democrats felt the need for a pre-general election campaign.

Coke Continues Complaints

The series of 12:15 p. m. broadcasts are sponsored by the state and national Democratic committees.

Coke Stevenson, still asserting Democratic affiliations but still backing Jack Porter, the Republican nominee for the Senate, repeated an oft-stated claim in a talk Monday night that Lyndon Johnson is not the legal nominee of the Democratic party.

Texans high in national Democratic party councils have joined in the fight for the ticket in this state.

Speakers Are Announced

Senator Tom Connally speaks Thursday; Rep. Wright Patman Wednesday; and Rep. Sam Rayburn will deliver the final punch next Monday. Other speakers are: Mayor Tom Miller of Austin, Raymond Buck of Fort Worth and Byron Skelton of Temple today; C. C. McDonald of Wichita Falls Friday.

The official announcement of the series said they were designed to make Texas the "number one Democratic state in the nation."

Tyson devoted his fighting speech to urging election of Johnson, Gov. Beauford H. Jester and President Truman.

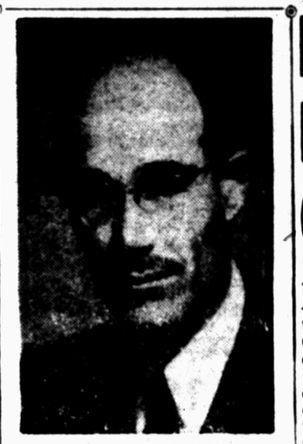

He predicted a record vote of between 1,250,000 and 1,500,000 and said a million of those ballots would be for the Democratic ticket from "top to bottom."

Demos Are Confident

Lloyd Wheelock, Porter's campaign manager, took the opposite view. He said in a statement that reports coming in from over the state indicated one of the biggest political upsets in history is in the making.

"If Jack Porter continues to gain

HST Greeted By 750,000 In Chicago Visit

(By The Associated Press)

PRESIDENT Truman got the most tremendous demonstration of his campaign last night in Chicago but the Republicans didn't think much of his speech.

Thousands of spectators turned out to greet the President in a colorful tumult as he paraded through Chicago before making a speech at Chicago's big stadium.

Police estimated the crowd along the streets at approximately 750,000. Some 24,000 packed into the stadium to hear and watch the President make his speech, while about 200,000, by the stadium manager's estimate, heard the President from loudspeakers outside the place.

Dewey Speaks Tonight

Red flares, fireworks, music, bunting, and banners adorned with "All Chicago Welcomes President Truman" set the stage for his speech in Chicago stadium.

Republicans get their chance tonight to demonstrate for Dewey at Chicago. He will speak there at 10 p.m.

Dewey pulled out of Albany shortly after midnight on his special train also on the final lap of his battle for the presidency.

Besides visiting in Illinois, he will hit five other states during the week.

American Way Threatened

Mr. Truman last night told an audience which frequently interrupted him with applause:

"The American way of life which most of us have been taking for granted is threatened today by powerful forces . . . powerful reactionary forces which are silently undermining our Democratic institution," Mr. Truman declared.

Answering his own question: What are these forces that threaten our way of life, he said:

"They are the men who want to see inflation continue unchecked. They are the men who are striving to concentrate great economic power in their own hands. They are the men who are stirring up racial and religious prejudice against some of our fellow Americans."

Truman's Speech Scored

To this Herbert Brownell, jr., campaign manager for Republican presidential candidate Gov. Thomas E. Dewey promptly replied:

"Mr. Truman's speech is a transparent attempt to drag the

Government Moves To Break Long Strike

Armed Troops Seize French Coal Fields

By JOHN E. LEE
INS Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Oct. 25.—More than 24,000 fully-armed French troops and police surged into northern France today and wrested the nation's struck coal fields from Communist-led miners.

The drastic government action was aimed at saving France from complete economic strangulation stemming from the coal walkouts. The strike today entered its fourth week, with three million tons of vitally-needed coal already lost.

Interior Minister Jules Moch said the troop seizure was for the purpose of "delivering the miners from a terror instigated by a minority of agitators."

Little Resistance Met

He reiterated the government conviction that the strikes are Cominform - inspired when he charged that the "agitators" are serving "a cause not that of France."

Surprisingly little resistance was offered by the mine workers. They had earlier spurned official decrees ordering them out of the pits, but apparently the huge, well-armed force which confronted them induced strike leaders to retire peacefully.

The main area now under army control is about 300 miles square, and adjoins the Belgian border, in the vicinity of Douai and Valenciennes.

The government is expected to take immediate steps to restore maintenance and safety measures in the idle pits. Communist strategy had been to order technicians off the job, thus making the mines unworkable. Many mines have been flooded.

As a further warning to the strikers, Moch said that France

North Atlantic Alliance Talked

PARIS, Oct. 25. (AP)—Foreign ministers of Britain, France and the Benelux countries met today to discuss how their alliance could be linked in a military treaty relationship with the United States and Canada.

Authoritative American and British sources said this was expected to be the central theme of the three-day conference. The ministers were meeting for the third time as the consultative council of the five-nation Brussels alliance.

A Washington dispatch said invitations to a conference to draft a military alliance between North America and western Europe probably will go out soon after next week's presidential election.

Sessions Restricted

(A Canadian government source in Ottawa said a seven-nation exchange of views at cabinet level will be the next stage in the progress toward a North Atlantic alliance.)

Official British sources said the ministers decided soon after today's meeting began that the sessions will be completely restricted. Each delegation's own official once. There will be no briefing sessions for newsmen but a joint communique will be issued when the talks end, the informants said.

Sources in touch with the proceedings said the secret agenda

Jury Completed For Duty Trial

A 72nd district jury was completed at 8:10 p. m. Monday for the murder trial of Hildred Milton Duty, 28, of 820 Ave. J.

Judge Dan Blair, presiding, had declared a recess from 4:30 to 7:30 p. m. so that 10 additional names could be drawn from the jury wheel. Only 11 jurors had been accepted up to the time of recess.

Eighty men had been summoned to appear as a jury panel, but some had moved outside the county. After legal excuses, only 33 members were left for examination as prospective jurors.

The 33rd man was excused by the defense at 4:28 p. m., when the defense had exercised 14 of the 15 peremptory challenges allowed it, the state four. The remainder had disqualified to serve.

The last juror was A. C. Kendrick.

Others accepted, in order, were Pat Nix, E. L. Massie, Paul Bolin, G. H. Moore, H. H. Guin, H. R. Wren, Robert L Harper, R. E. Hall, C.L. Wolfe, J.L. Roberts, and Walter Granberry.

Army Increases Draft Calls, Asks 20,000 Men In January

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25. (AP)—The Army again stepped up its draft requirements today, calling for 20,000 men in January.

In its two previous draft calls, the Army asked 10,000 men for November and 15,000 for December.

Officials said that by January, the Army expects to be ready to handle 20,000 selective service inductees a month, in addition to voluntary enlistees. Induction, training and personnel facilities will be expanded to take care of the increased traffic.

Badly Flooded Vessel With 63 Aboard Heads For Port

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 25. (INS)—The badly-flooded LCI 1093 was crawling toward port tonight with the USS Forest Royal standing by to render assistance.

Atlantic fleet headquarters in Norfolk said contact had been made with the ship that reported a leak in its after steering room, and that it is able to make three knots speed. The fleet headquarters said the 1093 did not identify the port to which it was headed.

The 63 men aboard the ship were reported in no danger.

Pred Vinmont and Bert Simons said they were just getting into the swing of marathon flying. They intend to stay up for two months.

Heavy headwinds over the East Texas airport during the night caused them to send down an emergency call for fuel. It was supplied immediately. The two Texans will remain here for at least two more days before returning to their original base at Grand Prairie.

ICC Study Of Cotton Moving Problem Set

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce commission today called field representatives to a meeting Wednesday at Memphis on the problem of moving the south's bumper cotton crop.

The purpose is to determine whether the government should step in to regulate the movement of the 15,000,000 bale crop into the compress and warehouse centers. One or two field men will be assigned to each cotton-producing state to report back to the commission.

G. M. Jackson, director of the ICC bureau of service here, will preside at the conference. Field men from the south and elsewhere will attend.

Local embargoes have been imposed by the railroads against more than 30 concentration points because of the arrival of cotton cars in greater quantities than they can be unloaded.

The latest such action was taken by the Association of American Railroads on shipments into Memphis. The association also has a general embargo against Decatur, Ala. Elsewhere, the embargoes have been imposed and lifted from day to day by individual railroads.

Revolt Flares In Paraguayan City

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 25. (INS)—A military revolt reportedly caused 100 casualties in daylong fighting at the Paraguayan capital of Asuncion today, but a government broacast tonight said the uprising is under control.

The broadcast, heard in Buenos Aires, added that the loyal forces of Paraguayan President Juan Natalicio Gonzalez had arrested 30 of the rebel leaders.

Officials In Revolt

But reports from Formosa, Argentine border city 80 miles southwest of Asuncion, said that the strong garrison at Paraguari had joined the rebels and was marching on the capital.

Paraguari is a Paraguayan interior city 40 miles east of Asuncion.

The Formosa dispatches added that several cabinet ministers have joined the rebellion, and that rebel leaders are seeking support of other Army units in the interior.

Reports from the Argentine-Paraguay frontier, adjacent to Asuncion, which said that 100 persons had been killed or wounded added that artillery and mortar blasts were heard in the capital. A single plane was said to have bombed a military school.

Syrians Open Attack In North Palestine

TEL AVIV, Oct. 25. (INS)—Syrian forces in northern Palestine attacked Jewish settlements tonight shortly after a UN spokesman reported that Arab irregulars in the area had accepted a truce.

The Syrians were said to be threatening the Biblical town of Kadesh, and other Zionist colonies in northern Galilee.

A UN official in Haifa said earlier that all fighting had ceased in Galilee, and that Gawzi El Kawukji, commander of the Arab irregulars known as "the liberation army," had withdrawn his troops.

The southern Negev front remained quiet, both Jews and Arabs appeared content to abide by the UN's truce that was ordered into effect last Friday.

Texas' Fifth Party, 'Pixiecrats,' Hold National Conclave Today

(By The International News Service)

AUSTIN, Oct. 25.—Politics can be a pixilated business and to prove it Texas' fifth party, the Pixiecrats, will hold their national convention tomorrow night in the normally staid chambers of the Texas house of representatives.

The conclave at the capitol culminates months of "hard work" on the part of the founders, who have been gathering material for the show, which will lampoon all sacred political cows.

The Pixiecrats have not dodged any major issues and even their "charter," granted by the Texas secretary of state, bluntly says they were organized "for no good purpose whatsoever."

According to the charter the party stands for "states' plights, for everything, and fall for anything . . . and believe that tidelands should remain in the Gulf of Mexico."

One of the "momentous" questions to be voted upon at tomorrow's convention is an amendment to the party's original stand on the tidelands issue. It has been suggested that the Pixiecrats go on record as favoring the award of the tides to the federal government and let the states retain the

Storm Lashing Atlantic Coast

BOSTON, Oct. 25. (INS)—A stubborn northeast storm with winds as high as 78 miles an hour today battered the New England coastal area today for the second day in succession.

The storm raised havoc with small craft and disrupted power service and flooded streets in many areas.

At Plymouth and Salem, rescue operations saved two couples from storm tossed boats.

Heavy Winds Lash Anew

Nantucket island, as on Sunday, bore the brunt of the slow moving storm which the Boston Weather bureau reported still was centered approximately 100 miles south of the island. Winds at Nantucket reached a gust velocity of 78 miles an hour. Nantucket's precipitation for the first 24 hours of the storm reached a near-record of 5.01 inches.

The Weather bureau said that the storm originally scheduled to and today, was moving so slow as to be almost stationary.

The storm area embraced all of southern New England with intermittent rains extending to southern Maine. It was expected to extend to northern Maine during the night.

Conspiracy Between Farm Labor Groups, Officials Is Charged

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — President William Green of the American Federation of Labor today accused farm labor employers and government officials of conspiring in the importation of Mexican farm workers.

Says Move Deliberate

Green made his demand in a letter to Attorney General Clark, Secretary of State Marshall and Administrator Oscar Ewing of the Federal Security agency.

Green's letter, which he made public, said reports from union representatives in El Paso, "indicate that employers of agricultural labor in the United States deliberately inspired a movement of Mexican citizens to come to the United States to seek employment on farms.

"In so doing, American employers apparently were aided and abetted in defying the law by certain officials of the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization service and the U. S. Employment service.

Lower Pay Hit

Green alleged that many Mexican citizens crossing the border were placed under "technical arrest" by immigration authorities and paroled to employment service officials who assigned them to work on farms in nearby states.

"This action borders on peonage," Green asserted, "and is a violation of the United States statutes against involuntary servitude."

He added that other El Paso reports indicate that some of the Mexicans applied for construction jobs at 40 to 60 cents an hour, when the established rate of pay is 80 to 90 cents an hour.

Unless we protect Mexican nationals against discrimination and insist upon their receiving prevailing rates of pay with safe and healthful working conditions and proper housing, their experiences will make them a weak link in our good neighbor policy," he said.

Reds Given Plan To Speed Japs Return

TOKYO, Oct. 25. (INS) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur once again proposed today a three-point program to the Russians to speed repatriation of Japanese war prisoners held in Soviet territory.

His proposal, contained in a letter to Lt. Gen. Kuzma Derevyank, was identical to one rejected by the Russians last year.

The Russians had suspended all repatriation, pleading that winter conditions made navigation impossible.

MacArthur again offered:

1. Icebreakers to accompany repatriation ships "to overcome icing conditions in Soviet ports presently used in the repatriation program."

2. Dispatch of Allied repatriation ships to any Soviet Asiatic port the Russians may designate "from which repatriation lifts are deemed practicable by the Allied command during the winter months."

3. Provision of winter clothing, heating facilities and adequate rations for repatriates during the sea journey.

The letter noted that the Russians have failed for 16 consecutive months to meet their agreement to return a monthly quota of 50,000 repatriates to Japan.

MacArthur has previously accused the Russians of holding these prisoners of war and civilian internees under conditions of virtual slavery to help build up the Soviet war potential.

AFL Leaders In Blast On Prices

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The American Federation of Labor over the weekend did two things that involve workers and employers.

1. It blamed employers for raising prices—and therefore living costs—higher than they need be.

2. It suggested management bring unions into "consultation" to help cut costs so higher wages can be paid without boosting prices further.

No. 2 may seem at first glance like a simple suggestion. But if management agreed, it would be a revolution in dealings between employers and employes.

Idea Opposed In Past

Management has strongly opposed any such idea in the past, with few exceptions. The AFL proposal isn't likely to change management's mind now.

Under No. 2 this is what the AFL said to American management:

"Bring your unions into consultation. Ask their cooperation in cutting costs so that wage increases can be paid without continuing the price spiral.

"Agree to share equitably with them the returns of joint efforts to improve production, and open your books to them so they can understand the problems involved and see the results of their work."

Management, truly, might benefit by getting labor's cooperation in cutting costs. It could mean more profits for the management, more pay for the workers.

Extent Of Action

But where would this king of cooperation or "consultation" stop? Would it mean labor could tell an employer how to run his business? Management, generally, has fought that idea.

Take an example: Suppose Jones agrees to consult with the union in his plant and opens his books which show what it costs to run his business and how much profit he makes.

If the union saw that Jones' profits were 100 per cent in 1948 over 1947, while the union's wages went up only 10 per cent, it would have a strong bargaining point for a wage increase.

And if it saw that Jones' profits would have been higher—and, therefore, his ability to pay higher wages—if he did certain things in his business, the union could suggest changes and improvements.

If Jones agreed to follow the union's advice, his profits might rise but only because the union was having a hand in running his business.

(The other side of that picture, of course, is that the union then would have a greater interest in helping Jones make a success of his business, since it would be getting in higher wages a chunk of the new profits).

The business meeting will be combined with week-long outdoor competitions including boat races, skeet and trapshooting, rifle matches, a bench show and a coon and fox hunt.

No field trials will be held because quail will be nesting.

The Brazos Coon Hunters association will have charge of the bench show and related events: the Brian county rifle and pistol club will handle the pistol and rifle events; Conservation of Texas Game and Fish, Inc., will handle skeet and trap events; the Fort Worth Anglers club will be in charge of fly and bait casting competition.

AMERICAN FAMILY CLOSE-UP
As they go, so goes the nation!

Only 60 days to find a house!
...yet the Richard N. Clarkes were prepared

Summer picnics, like house hunting, are more successful for this Troy, N. Y., family because they're all in on it!

How to get a house has been the question for many a family since the war. But Dick and Emma Clarke were ready to tackle this problem the same way they've handled others ever since their marriage. Right from the start, they'd noticed that the most successful families were those who did things as a family. They set out to see if they, too, couldn't get ahead faster, have more fun by working out plans and problems as a team . . .

Getting a better job was the first problem after marriage. They decided that Dick would take night courses at college, while Emma continued to add her pay as teller in a New York bank to his $35-a-week from a utility firm. Dick still studies up on latest engineering wrinkles.

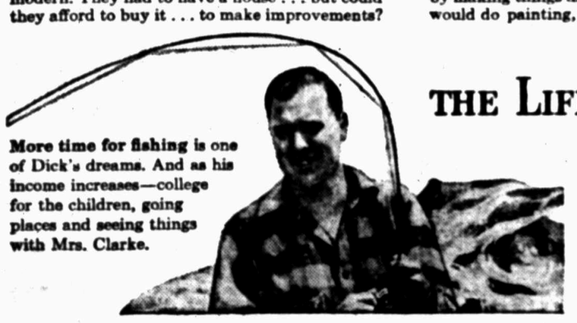

No "problem children" in the Clarke family! For little Pauline, 3, like her brothers, Richie, 5, and Robbie, 1½, Mr. and Mrs. Clarke agreed that a good mixture of happy freedom and firm discipline is the best thing!

In 1942, Dick's extra studying paid off! He was offered a job near Troy, N.Y. He and Emma decided that the change would be wise, though it meant a war-time move to a strange town. An instrument engineer, he makes between $4,000 and $5,000 a year.

But last spring a blow fell! The Clarkes were given just 60 days to find a new house! Together they hunted around Troy . . . finally found an 80-year-old farmstead, well-built, but far from modern. They had to have a house . . . but could they afford to buy it . . . to make improvements?

To pay for the needed improvements, the Clarkes saw they'd have to be sure every future penny counted. Expert at sewing, Mrs. Clarke agreed to help save money by making things like curtains herself. Dick would do painting, other jobs, himself.

But how to buy the house itself? After a heart-to-heart talk with their life insurance agent, they saw their way clear! "We found that our life insurance was ready to work for us now as well as for the future," the Clarkes explain. "Our agent showed us how our life insurance could be helpful in this emergency, without losing the protection we needed, too." The house costs $58 a month. This fits right into their budget, as does their new life insurance program. "In spite of the rough spots everyone has," say the Clarkes, "we're getting a lot from life. We make it a family affair!"

More time for fishing is one of Dick's dreams. And as his income increases—college for the children, going places and seeing things with Mrs. Clarke.

THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES AND THEIR AGENTS

BRING YOU THIS STORY BECAUSE... families like the Clarkes show us one way that happiness is earned! You, yourself, probably know a family, right in your own town, that is getting ahead in the same typically American way. Such families prove to all of us that we can solve our own problems by our own efforts. . . . Their example shows, too, why it is so important for us to hold to our rights to think for ourselves, to work at what we like, to live as we choose. For what this country amounts to depends upon what happens to its homes!

DEMOS SHOW $10,755 DEFICIT

Four Major Political Parties Expected To Set Spending Mark

By ALLAN J. FUNCH
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The four "major" political parties today listed expenditures of almost four and a half million dollars, with the Democrats reporting a deficit of $10,755.

As the presidential race headed into its final week, it was anticipated that political expenditures would easily top the $6,000,000 figure before ballots are cast Nov. 2.

This does not include money spent by local and state committees or by individual contestants.

GOP Leads Spending

Expenditures of the "four" major parties as reported to Congress under the federal corrupt practices act for the period from Jan. 1 to Oct. 22 were:

Republican—$1,796,370.
Democrat—$1,503,709.
Progressive—$1,101,261.
States' Rights Democrats—$96,842.

Federal law permits each of the national political committees to spend up to $3,000,000.

The statement filed by Democratic national committee treasurer Joe L. Blythe showed that just 10 days before the election, the party had a bank balance of only $8,458. Additionally, Blythe listed $95,000 under "accounts receivable" for advances to state committees.

Against this, however, the committee had "unpaid obligations" of $114,240, thus giving it an overall deficit of $10,755.

The Democratic report was filed today, whereas the other parties filed their statements before the week end.

Cabinet Officers Aid

The Democratic National committee listed no contribution directly to the campaign of either President Truman, or his running mate, Sen. Alben Barkley of Kentucky.

Contributors to the party's funds, however, included many prominent persons.

Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder and his family gave $8,000, while Postmaster General Donaldson contributed $2,000, and Attorney General Clark gave $500.

Director of the Mint Nellie T. Ross was listed for $800, and presidential adviser John R. Steelman, $500. Herman B. Baruch, U. S. diplomatic official, gave $1,500.

A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, was listed as contributing $4,000. It was recalled that when the President broke the threatened railroad strike of 1947, Whitney promised to use "every cent" of the union's multi-million dollar treasury to combat Mr. Truman's candidacy.

Other prominent persons who gave to the Democratic party were:

Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, $100; former Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan, $3,000; Gael Sullivan, former executive director of the Democratic National committee, $2,000, and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Field, $4,500. Also listed were Ralph Truman, of Kansas City, Mo., $1,070, and J. V. Truman, also of Kansas City, $505.

Tulsa Officers Rap Memorial To Youth Who 'Never Existed'

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 25. (U.P.)—Tulsa officials today rapped the erection of a crude concrete memorial to a youth who, police said, "never existed."

The monument was set up during a torchlight ceremony late Saturday night near the spot where Jean Joseph Baisvert, 18, was fatally wounded by police bullets.

The marker bears the epitaph of "John King, jr." The dead youth was first identified as John King, jr., 17, but fingerprints later helped identify him as Baisvert, Providence, R. I.

Police Commissioner J. Fred Lawrence, jr., termed the concrete marker "the work of a group of people who feel a natural resentment toward all police officers."

Youth Tried To Flee

The mock tombstone bore this inscription:

"John King, jr.—Murdered here Oct. 17, 1948. It took the life of a homeless lad to reveal where devils dwell."

The youth was dropped by police bullets after officers spotted him in a stolen car and chased him into a dead end street. He was attempting to flee on foot when he was fatally wounded.

Lawrence said, "The boy was given all the chance in the world to surrender. The fact that he tried desperately to elude the officers shows that he was no innocent boy out for a lark in a stolen car."

Police said Baisvert had been absent without official leave from Lowry Field, Colo., since Jan. 1. They said records showed he was arrested in McKinney, Tex., Sept. 10, for car theft and escaped from jail six days later.

His body was sent yesterday to Pawtucket, R. I., for burial services.

Escaped Convicts Make Error, Thumb Ride With Officer

LA JUNTA, Colo., Oct. 25. (INS)—A pair of escaped convicts from Oklahoma were back in jail at La Junta today after hitchhiking with more enthusiasm than discretion.

Vert S. Davison, 28, and Elmer L. Gamel, 19, escapees from Granite, Okla., waved their thumbs at a pair of headlights on the highway last night.

Driver of the car was State Patrolman David Hudson, who stopped and gave the two a ride—straight to jail.

DICKENS, Oct. 25. (Special)—Private Albert Pritchard, son of Mrs. Viola Pritchard of Dickens, is now serving with the 7th Cavalry regiment in Tokyo, Japan. He is at present awaiting permanent duty assignment in his unit.

Pvt. Pritchard entered the Army July 2, 1948, and received his basic training at a San Antonio post. Upon completion of his basic training, he was assigned to the 1st Cavalry division for overseas duty.

The 7th Cavalry regiment is a part of the 1st Cavalry division.

Supreme Court Upholds Ban On 'Memoirs Of Hecate County'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25. (INS)—The Supreme court today upheld by a tie vote the New York state ban on the "Memoirs of Hecate County" as an obscene book.

The high court voted four-to-four to uphold the ban and a $1,000 fine levied upon Doubleday and Co. publishing house. The decision was given in one paragraph:

"The judgment (of the New York courts) is affirmed by an equally divided court. Mr. Justice Frankfurter took no part in the consideration of the decision in this case.

The "memoirs," a satire on New York suburban life, was written by book critic Edmund Wilson. Fifty thousand copies of it are in the hands of book readers, but none have been on sale for nearly two years.

ON TEXAS AGAIN

ARTHUR E. Gamble sends a clipping from a Denver newspaper column that takes a crack at Texas as a location for military posts. Of course, the main difficulty is that the Colorado columnist thinks the proposed Academy of the Air should be situated in his state, preferably Denver, or in Wyoming.

Well, as a matter of fact, we thought it already was in operation at San Antonio, but then that shows how we have lost out on the Air Forces since the war ended.

"No man ever comes back from Texas as energetic as when he went there," continues the Rocky Mountain writer. And that puzzles us again, because we thougnt the people who came to Texas stayed.

"A dry and dusty climate moulds people with dry, unimaginative minds," is his parting thrust.

In differing with that thought, we'd like to point out we think our climate gives people pep and zest for living. And the Tactless Texan says bucking the high winds has given women, in the Panhandle and on the South Plains the most beautifully shaped legs you'll see anywhere.

GUIZAR CONCERT

WE CAN'T remember sitting in a more enthusiastic audience than that which greeted Tito Guizar and his company Sunday afternoon. It just goes to prove that while Lubbockites like opera, symphonies and the classics, they are not adverse to this "Ay, Yi, Yi" business, too.

After a foreword he had been warned that Lubbock was a "cold" place to entertain, the smiling, handsome, six-footer explained that the enthusiasm was contagious and they found it a pleasure to "work for you." Of course the defrosting was due to the smiling, singing troubadour, who has a warm, persuasive personality and who, to all appearances, is a happy fellow doing what he likes best to do — pleasing audiences with songs of Mexico, many of which he composed. He certainly is an unofficial ambassador of good will for his country.

The troupe left Lubbock late Sunday afternoon, after Guizar had autographed about 100 programs; going to San Antonio in a special bus for a Monday night program. They must have strong constitutions to endure the one-night stands which make up their itinerary, when you consider the late hours, irregular meals and no sleep between jumps.

CIGAR TONES

A GOOD cigar not only is a smoke this fall, but is big color news in the fashion picture. It just happens we do not care for the name or smell of cigars and the term "cigar brown" is not intriguing, but the varying shades are not so bad: Claro brown, Colorado brown and maduro brown.

Claro is a pale, foggy shade of brown with just a touch of green in it. Maduro is the deep rich almost black brown that fashion colorists have borrowed from the fine tobacco leaf that has had long and careful aging. Colorado, which is Spanish for reddish brown, is a medium brown shade with tinges of red hidden beneath it.

Today's Town Talk

Miss Gertrude Schantz, 2117 Seventeenth, within about six weeks (or as soon as her papers come through) will return to Japan, where she has previously spent two years employed in the Special Service section, Post Exchange division, in Tokyo, which is the policy making office for all post exchanges in the Far East.

Giving a woman's eye view of the land of the Rising Sun, Miss Schantz explains that when she first went there, silks were plentiful and rather cheap, but with the arrival of so many civilian workers and G.I. families, the demand for the material became so great that other silks produced were higher priced, of inferior quality and not nearly so pretty. At the present time principally imported Chinese silks are being sold in Japanese shops, and no cotton goods are sold at all.

Just give a Japanese one blossom and one leaf and she will make an unusual and attractive bouquet," the traveling Lubbockite said, as an example of an Oriental's aptitude for floral arranging. Most of the arrangements have religious significance and the art is taught Japanese children when they are very young. American women have taken an interest in bouquet design and classes in it are being taught to groups of them.

Although Americans are warned against eating anything except food which has been prepared under U.S. government supervision, Miss Schantz said that occasionally when she knew that a family was very clean she ate in the home of a Japanese friend. At one such meal she was served ten different kinds of fish ranging from broiled, fried, baked and "otherwise," to raw. "If it is covered with soy sauce and gulped down quickly, raw fish isn't so bad," laughed the attractive Lubbock resident, adding that she especially liked the lobster and fried shrimp which are served frequently.

One fish dish which was placed before her was a "large salmon-looking thing" with fins, tail and head still in tact. She described it as flakey and delicious and "stuffed with something or other," but said she just couldn't eat the head with the big yellow eyes shining up at her.

Sukiaki, (pronounced skiaki) is a rice dish which Miss Schantz developed a taste for. Its base is some thinly sliced bits of meat (she still wonders what kind) to which is added an assortment of well-cooked bean sprouts, onions, celery and cabbage. This is all generously flavored with soy sauce.

Few deserts are served in Japan, since they have no sugar or shortening, but sometimes a cracker-like cake with bean paste in it is eaten like a cookie. It isn't sweet at all.

For refreshment, lots of Saki wine, a white variety, is served in tiny cups. In contrast to American custom, Saki wine is kept very hot at all times.

(The concluding part of Miss Schantz's description will appear in Wednesday's column.)

Charles Meeks, 703 Broadway, is a member of the Indiana University Singers A Cappella choir, which opened a ten-day concert tour of northern and central Indiana cities last week in Mishawaka. Other cities in which concerts are being given are Warsaw, Peru, South Bend, Valparaiso, Gary, Culver, Fort Wayne, Plymouth, Garrett, Upland, Rochester, Muncie, North Manchester and Anderson.

Forty I. U. graduate, senior and junior voice majors make up the majority of the membership of the University Singers. Traveling by special bus during the tour, they will give 20 concerts in 16 cities, ending the trip with a program on Friday in Marion.

Mrs. Mickey Treichak and six-months-old daughter, Suzan, of Tacoma, Wash., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Durham, 2207 Twenty-first, while M/Sgt. Treichak is on duty with the Berlin air lift.

Mrs. Treichak arrived Tuesday by Braniff airways and expects to remain for three months. This is the first time the Durhams have seen their only grandchild and they are planning to take her for a visit to her great-grandparents in Clovis, N. M.

Mrs. John Rucker's Birthday Observed

Hutchins and Rucker. The club will meet Nov. 3 at 2:30 p. m. with Mrs. Whitaker, 103 North Uvalde.

Concert Is In Latin Mood

Tito Guizar and his ensemble of two dancers, two pianists and a vocalist brought a part of colorful Mexico to the Senior High school stage Sunday afternoon when they presented a concert here. Approximately 600 persons attended.

Beta Sigma Phi council, sponsors of the program, already is planning a return engagement of the colorful Mexican tenor sometime in 1949.

Lavish and authentic costumes lent their part to the south of the Border illusion. Guizar wore his much heralded Charro suit and displayed a strong, clear tenor voice admirably suited to the romantic ballads which made up the greater part of his program and to which he strummed guitar accompaniment. He has a warm, persuasive personality and before the afternoon was over he had his audience humming and singing with him, since his quick wit and inmitable accent were truly captivating.

Although Maria Teresa Fonseca, vocalist, and Carla and Fernando, dance team, preceded Guizar in appearances, it was the blue-eyed, brown-haired troubadour's show from the moment he sang his first number, "Marta." He digressed from the printed program to sing favorites such as "Granada," which he presents in his latest movie with Roy Rogers: "El Rancho Grande," "Because," which he dedicated to the young women who sponsored his program, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and a few lines of "Choo Choo Boogie," which he confessed was a little out of his line.

The dance team was colorful in native costumes, their flashing castanets accompanying their twinkling toes as they executed dance after dance that are traditions in Mexico and concluded with a satire on the Mexican-Indian dance, "Danza Huichol."

Vincent De Sola, played excellent accompaniment and Marjorie Harper, composer-pianist from New York City, was pleasing in three original compositions.

Scurry County Test Shows Gas And Oil

Possible discovery of oil and gas production has been indicated at Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 1 Jessie Brown, wildcat in northwest Scurry county, nine miles northwest of Snyder.

This prospector took a two hour and 15 minute drillstem test at 6,030-58 feet. There was a blow of gas for a part of the period. There was no gauge or estimate made on the volume.

Recovery was 1,310 feet of 41.8 gracity oil, and mud cut oil. There was no formation water. The possible new field opener is coring ahead.

The formation which developed the petroleum is a sand, and most geologists think it is in the Pennsylvanian. There has been no official report released regarding the identity of the horizon. The venture was originally started to explore into the Ellenburger, and it is continuing to that objective.

New Look Fading, Slim Silhouette Now Reappearing

The new look seems to be through and the slim silhouette appears to be on the way back, according to fall fashion trends noticed in the second annual fashion fair at New York.

Now more than ever women are trying frantically to take off the extra bulges.

In recent months many weight-reducing preparations have appeared on the market, some of them based on "the diet and vitamin plan," which means cut down on the intake of food and fortify with vitamins for hunger distress.

A survey among drug stores in Texas shows that one preparation, Barcentrate, which is the outstanding seller in the reducing field, is not based on this vitamin plan.

Any Texas druggist can supply you with 4 ounces of Barcentrate. Just add this to 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice and take according to directions. No starvation diet.

The makers of Barcentrate guarantee to refund your money if the very first bottle does not show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves.

Four ounces of Barcentrate costs little and hundreds of Texas women have highly endorsed it. Nearly a million and a half bottles have been sold in Texas in the past four years. Adv

THE WAY OF DEMOCRACY
Man's Ingenuity Has Conceived Nothing Better
Throughout their history, the American people have met challenge after challenge with voluntary group action. As social problems have arisen they have been solved by free enterprise and American initiative.
Today's challenge, the potentially ruinous cost of hospital and medical-surgical care, is being met by Texans through the typically democratic Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans. These non-profit programs, through voluntary group action, offer a method of prepaying hospital and surgical care without hardship. Members make a small monthly payment and thus are relieved of worry about the expense of hospital and doctors' services. In Blue Cross and Blue Shield, American principles are applied to solve one of the most pressing problems of the times.

Eight Killed In Crash In Mexico

COZUMEL, Mexico, Oct. 25. (U.P.)—The death toll of Saturday night's airplane crash here was fixed at eight persons today. All were Ecuadorians.

The plane, a converted twin-engined C-46, was enroute from New Orleans to Quito, Ecuador, at the time of the accident.

I had not been scheduled to stop at this island airport but apparently pilot Raul Ochoa used up his fuel fighting high winds and heavy rains over the gulf and decided to refuel here, though there are some lighting facilities on the field, night landings are not ordinarily made here and the power plant supplying the field illumination system was not operating.

Had Called Field

Ochoa circled the heavy ship over the field for about 45 minutes before he tried to land with benefit of only the plane's landing lights. He failed to hit the runway, however, and the plane crashed in a shallow lagoon near the air field. All persons aboard and the eleven head of cattle the ship was carrying to Ecuador were killed, local authorities said. The plane caught fire and burned after the crash but the fire was extinguished by the heavy rain and lagoon water before the craft was completely destroyed.

In addition to Ochoa, authorities identified the victims as Hugo Almeida, Jose Monje, Alfredo Velasco, Ezquiel Cadena, Jose Rangel, Rafael Leonido Arcos and Vincente Leon.

(A spokesman for the Ecuadorean embassy in Mexico City said "we are waiting instructions from Ecuador" on the disposition of the bodies. He said that as yet the embassy does not have a complete report on the accident. Bodies of the victims are being held at Czumel pending word from the Quito government.)

(Cozumel is a tiny fishing village located on the island of Cozumel, a few miles off the East Coast of the Yucatan peninsula, about 800 miles east of Mexico City. The airport here was constructed during the early days of World War II by the airport development program of the U. S. government, with co-operation of Mexico. It is rarely used by commercial craft, and then only in case of emergency.)

Three U. S. Sergeants Declare There Is No Friction Between American, Soviet Soldiers

CIRCLEVILLE, O., Oct. 25. (U.P.)—Three U. S. Army sergeants who have just returned from Germany charged today that any differences between the Russians and Americans over issues in Germany "is purely political and in higher levels.

"There is no friction between American and Russian soldiers," the three agreed.

The three, back in this country on a special recruiting program for their units in various parts of Germany, are T/Sgt. Julien Johnson, Danville, Va.; T/Sgt. Silas Singleton, Lynchburg, Va., and S/Sgt. Wade Lehr, York, Pa. Sgt. Johnson is assigned to the U. S. constabulary and Sgts. Lehr and Singleton are both with the First Infantry division.

Much of the war scare, Johnson said, is the fault of news correspondents overplaying isolated violations in the American-Russian zone.

"Russian and American soldiers cross the line every day," said Johnson, whose outfit does patrol duty along the northern boundary of the American-Russian zone. "It is not uncommon. But the newspapers play up the arrests. It is our orders to arrest the Russian soldier who crosses our line the same as it is in the Russian zone when one of our men steps across the boundary."

Singleton and Lehr, who were on garrison duty in Germany, said, "we do not have any trouble with the Russians and the Germans respect us."

The three will return to Germany in December after covering cities in the entire second army area—Ohio, Maryland, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Kentucy, West Virginia and Virginia.

Westerners To Seek First Win Over Golden Sandies Since '39

Old Rivals Will Battle Friday

Lubbock High's unpredictable Westerners will be shooting for their first victory since 1939 over Amarillo's Golden Sandstorm when the two elevens clash here Friday afternoon at Jones stadium in one of the feature schoolboy grid battles in the state.

The Westerners beat the Sandies on Butler field in '39, the only time a 1-AA team has defeated Amarillo on their home gridiron, and the Hub city gridders went on to win the state championship. The year before, in 1938, the Lubbock schoolboys triumphed over their traditional rivals at Tech's old stadium and then battled their way into the final playoff game before bowing to Corpus Christi.

But the Westerners have been on the short end of the score for the last eight years. The Sandies won the annual classic in 1940, winning the state championship, and bounced back in 1941 to beat one of Lubbock's greatest elevens on a field goal, 3-0. In 1942 the Sandies really started to roll, chalking up a four-touchdown triumph, and in 1943 the Amarilloans humiliated a crippled Westerner eleven on Butler field, 47-0.

It was the same story in 1944 and 1945, although the Westerners finally broke into the scoring column in the '45 encounter, then in 1946 the Westerners staged a bitter struggle before losing to the visitors from the Panhandle by two touchdowns. In 1947 the Sandies piled up a 27-0 win.

This year Lubbock fans are hoping that the score will be different. The Westerners are coached by wily C. R. (Pat) Pattison, who mentored the Wichita Falls Coyotes to an upset victory over the Sandies in the bi-district playoff in 1946. In fact, since that meeting was the only time Pattison has tangled with the Sandies, he holds a perfect record against the feared Sandstorm.

The Lubbock eleven will enter the tilt slated to lose by 25-points or more, as a result of comparative scores. The Westerners tied Odessa, 7-7, in their opening game, then the Broncos were blasted by Amarillo by a four-touchdown margin. Lubbock barely defeated Childress, 21-14, and the Bobcat team was trampled by the Sandies, 39-6.

But comparative scores, and even season's records, mean little when the Westerners and the Sandies stage their annual grudge fight. And the fact that the Sandies are ranked as one of the two top teams in the state should just give the Westerners more incentive for a win. Even most of the games the Sandies have won by big scores have been hard-fought encounters that were featured by brilliant running, hard blocking and equally vicious tackling.

The largest crowd of the season is expected to be on hand at kick-off time Friday afternoon. Lubbock High officials expect a minimum of 12,000 fans, and the total could be boosted to 15,000 by good weather conditions. A special train will be run from Amarillo for Sandie fans, with approximately 1,500 Panhandle residents slated to make the journey to Jones stadium.

POWERFUL OWLS SEEK SECOND WIN

Red Raiders Polish Attack For Homecoming Clash Against Rice

Texas Tech's Red Raiders yesterday began preparation for the invasion Saturday of the Rice Owls of Coach Jess Neely, who will be bringing his squad from Houston to Lubbock for the first time.

And Rice, kicked in four straight games, will be coming to Lubbock on Homecoming victory hungry. The only victory on the positive side of the ledger was gained Sept. 25 against Sam Houston State Teachers college. Since then they have been bumped by LSU, Southern California, SMU and Texas.

The Owls pack a lot of weight and will be on the long end of the odds to end their football drought Saturday. It was just a year ago that Texas had licked them and they took out their fury on Tech. They are planning to come here to make history repeat.

The Raiders are in good shape after their 31-0 victory over Arizona, with no injuries. They will be at nearly full strength for Rice and Guard Millburn Haydon, out of action since he hurt a knee in the Texas Aggie game, may be ready to play some defensive ball.

Yesterday the Tech squad had an easy limbering up session, with some emphasis on polishing the offensive for Rice. At the same time, Coach Polk Robison prepared the freshmen for running Rice plays against the Raiders the remainder of the week.

Today the Tech squad will settle down to serious preparation for the Saturday game. And one man they will be setting their defenses against will be Huey Keeney, the brilliant senior halfback. Keeney is a dangerous punter, whose booming punts can keep the Raiders in the hole, while his speed and clever broken field running makes him a danger every minute he's in the game.

RICE OWLS TAKE DAY OFF WITH TWO MEN INJURED

HOUSTON, Oct. 25. (AP)—The Rice Owls took a day off today following their gruelling 20-7 loss to the University of Texas here Saturday.

Two key players, Quarterback Tobin Rote and Center Joe Watson, received injuries against the Longhorns but are expected to be ready for Saturday's invasion of Lubbock where the Owls meet the Texas Tech Raiders in a non-conference game.

GASSERS COP WIN

IDALOU, Oct. 25 (Special) — The Blue Flame Gas company basketball team tonight turned in a 32-16 victory over the New Deal Independents. Jim Eddins was high scorer for the home team with 10 points. John Lanham led the visitors with six.

SERVICE QUINT WINS

Verdell Turner and Virgil Johnson each tallied 25 points to lead the Littrell Gulf Service quintet to a 75-49 victory over Sanders Motors in an exhibition cage tussle here Monday night.

Close Grid Race In District 3-B

The District 3-B conference football race remained tight as a new drum last week, with both Dimmitt and Hale Center keeping the records spotless in loop action.

The Bobcats turned back Olton's Mustangs 32-13, while the owls romped to an easy 43-0 win over Amherst. As a result, both of them kept their season's marks at four victories and no defeats to continue in a deadlock for conference leadership.

Springlake, which had been floating along in the background as the dark horse, took another step up the ladder with a 7-0 victory over the Friona Chiefs. The one-touchdown win broke a tie with Olton for third place and left Springlake in undisputed possession of that spot.

Olton In Fourth

Olton's loss dropped them to fourth, Friona remained in fifth and idle Petersburg remained in sixth position. Anton climbed into a tie with Amherst for seventh, scoring its first victory of the season, a 14-6 victory over Whitharral, which has not won a game and is in the cellar.

Several players stood out over the week end, with Lonnie Rice, the clever Dimmitt quarterback, hurting his fair name not at all. Rice was the big gun in the Bobcat victory.

Eldon Davis was the spark in the Hale Center victory and gained stature in leading the Owls to victory.

Crucial Tilt Slated

Billy Glasscock, a good player all year, teamed with Bobby Harper to lead the Anton Bulldogs to their lone conference victory of the year. Whitharral, outmanned all season, fought back and Joe Wade led the losing cause.

One crucial game tops the tilts this week, with Hale Center going to Springlake in the most attractive encounter. Other games send Anton to Dimmitt, Amherst to Petersburg and Whitharral to Friona. Olton draws a week of rest.

Levelland, Post, Seminole And Monahans Pace District Races

Littlefield Faces Powerful Sundown

Leaders in the two District 4-A brackets and sprawling 5-A retained their top spots in competition last week, although one of the 5-A pace-setters, Seminole, had a tough battle in dropping Kermit, 20-19.

Monahans, boasting five consecutive wins in 5-A competition and an unmarred record for the season, hurdled one of the obstacles in the path of the loop championship by downing Andrews' Mustangs, 21-0. Denver City topped Fort Stockton and Wink blanked McCamey in other conference settos.

District 4-A leaders were not in danger last weekend, since Littlefield and Levelland in the north were idle and Post, south half leader, drubbed Snyder in a non-title clash. Sundown moved into the top bracket with an impressive victory over Muleshoe, however, and Sudan remained in the chase with a narrow triumph over Morton.

Seagraves Upsets Slaton

Probably the only real upset of the week was turned in by Seagraves' Eagles, who handed the Slaton Tigers their first south half 4-A defeat. The Tiger loss practically clinched the south bracket grid championship for the Post Antelopes.

A full slate of conference meetings will be unreeled this week-end, but most of the leaders appear to have at least one more week of comparative safety. Only Littlefield of the north 4-A loop faces strong competition—Sundown's powerful Roughnecks. Post will tangle with Levelland at the Lobo gridiron, but only prestige — and not conference standings—will be at stake.

SPUR, FLOYDADA IN SECOND SPOT

Lockney Longhorns Have Good Chance To Clinch 3-A Crown

Lockney's Longhorns continued to roll toward a District 3-A conference football crown last week, maintaining its undefeated record and becoming the only team in the loop to sport an unmarred slate.

The Steers kept up their pace with a 20-0 victory over Ralls' Jackrabbits, as Coach Curtis Kelley's charges confined their scoring to the first half. Jerry McCullough spearheaded the Lockney eleven, while Billy Wood turned in an outstanding game for the losers of Red Amonette.

Spur, dropped from the lead with Lockney a week ago by Lockney, returned to grab a share of second place with a 13-8 defeat of Crosbyton. The defeat dropped the Chiefs to fourth place. C. Blair and M. Lindsey led the Bulldogs to victory, while Bill Simmons, one of the top players in the loop, paced the losing efforts.

Matador Falters

Floydada's Whirlwinds moved up to a tie for second in the loop race with a convincing 34-6 defeat of downtrodden Matador. The Matadors were unable to check Bill Jeter and Bob Bishop, who have carried the Whirlwinds to several victories. Satto Sieske and Joe Pitts maintained the leadership endeavors for the Matadors.

Abernathy, without a victory in three attempts, finally broke the spell against a favored Paducah eleven, winning by the narrow margin of Bob Smith's extra place kick, 7-6. The defeat virtually eliminated the last Dragon hope of finishing high in the race. Jim Miller also played well for the Antelopes, while Joe Sandlin and Bill Rochelle continued their fine play for the losers.

The conference race may be decided this week end, when Floydada plays Lockney. Other games will include Ralls at Abernathy and Crosbyton at Matador.

Border Loop May Lose Top Teams

TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 25. (AP)—The Border Conference appears in danger of losing its two major football powers, Texas Tech and Hardin-Simmons.

Both schools would like to be invited to join the strong Southwest Conference. This group is expected to decide in the near future whether it wants them.

Coach Dell Morgan of Texas Tech said: "All along we have understood the decision will be made this fall, or next spring at the latest. If we don't get in now we never will."

A few weeks ago Hardin-Simmons was told to submit its athletic record and material on the school to Southwest Conference officials.

"It looked as if there was a strong likelihood both Texas Tech and ourselves would receive an invitation," Coach Warren Woodson of H-SU said when here. "However, we have had no further word.

Texas Tech has won the Border Conference football championship five times and shared it once with Hardin-Simmons since joining the league in 1931. It has taken the basketball title three times.

Since 1941 Hardin-Simmons has won the grid championship once and shared it with Texas Tech and Arizona other years.

Amarillo Keeps Second Position

DALLAS, Oct. 25. (AP)—For the eighth straight week Port Arthur was picked as the top schoolboy team in a weekly poll taken by the Dallas News among Texas sports writers.

The Yellowjackets received all but one of the first place votes cast by 25 sports writers.

Amarillo was rated second, Waco third, and Baytown fourth. Sweetwater and Arlington heights of Fort Worth moved up a notch each to fifth and sixth place respectively.

Texarkana, and Henderson returned to first ten teams selected in the poll to place seventh, and eight. Odessa and Alamo heights of San Antonio tied for ninth place.

The second ten teams picked included:

Kerrville, Milby, Wichita Falls, Alice, Breckenridge, Stephenville, Brownwood, tie between Lamar and Denison, Corpus Christi.

Other teams receiving votes included San Angelo, Palestine, John Reagan, Marshall, South Park, Gladewater.

Westerner Team 'Not N-Nervous'

"I know I'm new around here, but it's a funny thing: I'm not the least bit nervous and I don't think the boys are either", C. R. "Pat" Pattison, Lubbock High school football coach, told the Quarterback club last night.

Pattison, whose teams never have lost to an Amarillo eleven, was discussing the approaching game between the Golden Sandies and the Westerners. He said that they had a good workout Monday, that they seemed ready and that, maybe this was the game in which they were going to play the way he knew they could.

Coach Dell Morgan of Texas Tech told about the game with Arizona played in Tucson Saturday night, spending considerable time on the poor officiating. Highlights of the game were diagrammed, showing where Arizona was weak and how Tech capitalized.

Coach Damon Hill of Dunbar related reasons for the 45-0 defeat of his Panthers by San Angelo Friday night. Hill said that the San Angelo team was one of the best he had ever seen and predicted that they would win the negro state championship.

O. A. "Terrible" Terry, who was in charge of the meeting, had Tech Coach Polk Robison hand out prediction papers with both high school and college games listed. Terry said that so many fans came around Monday morning and said "I told you so and so would win," that he was going to see how accurate the fans were. The winner of the predictions would receive two tickets to the Tech-Texas Mines game on Nov. 6.

Motion pictures of the Tech-Baylor game wound up the meeting, which was held in the Lubbock Hotel.

Winner Expected To Cop Crown

SMU, Texas Tilt Is Top Feature In SWC

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

AUSTIN, Oct. 25. — Southern Methodist and Texas meet here Saturday in the big game of the year in the Southwest Conference. This one, however, will resemble last seasons struggle only in one way.

In 1947 when SMU and Texas battled it out at Dallas, both were undefeated and untied and Texas was the favorite. There was national prestige and two bowl spots riding on the result.

Southern Methodist won the game 14-13, went on to take the Conference championship and to play in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas against Penn State. Texas lost only the title. It got into a bigger bowl—the Sugar Bowl—because the narrow defeat didn't detract from the Longhorns. In fact, a lot of folks still contend that Texas had the better team and should have won.

Both Are Defeated

Saturday it will be two defeated teams that get together in vast Memorial stadium where the largest crowd ever to see a Southwest Conference game will be gathered. But neither has been beaten in Conference play and general opinion holds that the one defeating the other will go on to the championship.

This despite the fact that Baylor, which had been decisively beaten at this stage last year, right now is the only undefeated team in the Conference.

There probably will be only one Bowl riding with the game here Saturday. That is the Cotton Bowl, where the Conference champion automatically is the host team despite its record. If Texas wins, it will mean Southern Methodist has two defeats—not very promising for a bowl bid, particularly since Texas has such a poor record against outside competition this season. The Longhorns were beaten badly by North Carolina and trimmed by Oklahoma.

Another Bowl Factor

There also is another Bowl factor this time. The Conference has passed a rule that any member playing in a Bowl game must pay it 5 per cent of all net receipts or $10,000, whichever is greater. Thus, it would have to be the Sugar or Orange Bowl in order for the member to make enough to warrant participation. The Orange and Sugar Bowl would hardly take a team that had lost two or three games.

68,000 fans are expected to jam into Memorial stadium for a game that has grown into a "grudge" affair.

Calfropers To Battle Abernathy Juniors

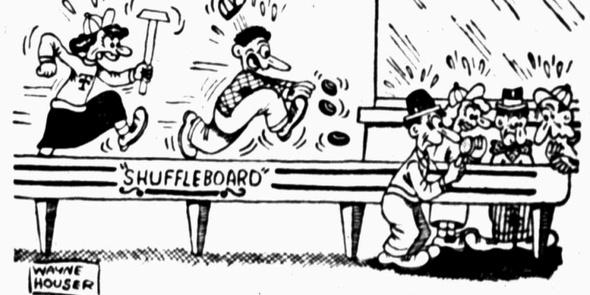

Lubbock's Carroll Thompson Junior High Calfropers will tangle with the Abernathy juniors at 5 o'clock this afternoon at Chapman field, officials have announced.

The Calfropers recently battled to a tie with the O. L. Slaton seventh and eighth graders, and the tilt should provide plenty of action for Lubbock Grid fans.

Officials also announced that the annual encounter between the Lubbock Cowhands and the Amarillo Yannigans will be unreeled at 8 o'clock Thursday night at Chapman field.

The Cowhand-Yannigan clash is always staged the night before the traditional battle of the Westerners and the Sandies, at the city where the feature game will be played.

Both the Cowhands and the Yannigans have big, powerful ball clubs, boasting impressive victories over area Class A elevens. Last year the Cowhands chalked up a victory over the Yannigans on Butler field and the Amarilloans will be out for revenge.

Birds Trained To Work For Japs

Plains Teacher In Japan Sees Cormorant Fishing On Honshu

American occupation forces in Japan have, for the last few months, been treated to the strange and colorful spectacle of cormorant fishing, a recent letter from a South Plains teacher now in Japan disclosed.

Mrs. Bertha O'Keefe, a graduate of Crosbyton High school and Texas Tech, was among Americans witnessing the fascinating Japanese exhibition this season. She is currently a teacher in Nara American school, where she instructs children of American occupation troops stationed there. Mrs. O'Keefe saw the interesting display at Fifu, in central Honshu province, the best-known city for cormorant fishing.

Trained For Task

To Americans, the procedure seems almost unbelievable. The cormorant is a large, awkward, black, gull-like bird especially trained for the task. Sixteen birds, each wearing a diving harness and reins, operate from a fishing boat. They fish mainly for "ayo," a small trout considered by Japanese as the greatest delicacy among river fish.

Each cormorant wears at the base of its neck a ring drawn tight enough to prevent marketable ayu from passing the bird's gullet, but large enough to admit smaller prey, which serve as the cormorant's food.

The fishing, always done at night, is quite ceremonious in character. Each boat has a crew of four men, with a "master" in charge. He is distinguished by the peculiar headdress of his rank and his grass skirt, both of which are traditions handed down through the centuries.

Birds Put In Water

When fishing waters are reached, the master lowers his 12 birds into the stream, gathering their individual reins in his left hand and manipulating them with his right. Fisherman Number Two then launches his birds. A third crew member handles the craft, while the fourth attends a wood fire in a large iron brazier at the bow to enable the cormorants to clearly see the fish—who, incidentally, are attracted by the light.

Once in the water, the cormorants set to work, diving with amazing swiftness after fish. The master fisherman, much in the fashion of a puppeteer, controls and directs his 12 birds with astonishing dexterity. He must also watch for a sign that any bird is gorged, a fact made known by the bird holding its head erect, with neck swollen, as it swims foolishly in circles. When this occurs, the master reins in the bird, forces his bill open with his left hand and painlessy squeezes the fish out of the neck with his right. The bird is promptly returned to the water, ready to dive again. From four to eight sizeable fish are usually captured by a bird on each excursion, giving an average of 150 fish per cormorant per hour. Trained birds often work efficiently until they reach 20 years of age.

Birds Observe Rank

Oddly, the birds—like the crew members—operate strictly according to rank. The Number One bird, or "Iti," is the senior of the corps in both years and rank. His colleagues, according to age, come after him in numerical order. "Iti" is the last to be put into the water and the first to be taken out, the first to be fed, and the last to enter the carrying baskets. When aboard, "Iti" has the post of honor and presides with a pompous air. The rest take their proper places after him. If at any time the traditional order of rank among the birds is violated—such as Number Four being put into the water ahead of Number Five — the rumpus aroused in the family is a sight to see and hear.

This year's cormorant fishing season, begun in May, is just drawing to a close, Mrs. O'Keefe reported.

Mrs. O'Keefe, the daughter of Ed Lieske of Southland, was graduated from Crosbyton High in 1932, and from Texas Tech as an education major in 1936.

Idalou Eleven Leads In 4-B

The Wildcats from Idalou took a firmer grasp on first place in the District 4-B conference gridiron race over the week end with a certain 33-0 pounding of the Meadow Broncs, one of the stronger loop teams.

The victory left Idalou with a clean slate in conference play and eliminated Meadow as one of the contenders. But New Deal, already beaten by the Wildcats, moved into second place with a 38-13 defeat of Ropesville. The change didn't elevate the Lions to a place of contention, but established them as favorites to remain in that spot.

The defeat of Ropes kept them tied with Meadow, but instead of being tied for second, the teams both dropped down to third. Whiteface went outside the conference to lose and remained in the running for a high finish with a record of one victory and one defeat.

Frenship Wins

Frenship startled the conference fans with a 14-7 victory over Cooper's Pirates to end their drought of football victories. In addition, they moved into sixth place, while the Pirates remained in the cellar without a victory.

Keithal Henry, an outstanding player all week, showed again that he is one of the classiest backs in the conference in leading New Deal to victory. He received able assistance from John Jordan in rolling to an impressive victory.

Oscar Powers was outstanding for Whiteface, as the Antelopes lost a 19-6 game to O'Donnell of District 4-A. And Duane Preston spearhead Frenship's Tigers to victory, although getting a lot of help from Pete Edwards.

That Kermit team has certainly developed into the surprise package in the District 5-A grid race. Kermit's gridders opened the season rather slowly, deadlocking with Denver City, 6-6, but they have shown remarkable improvement in recent weeks. Kermit pulled a major upset earlier this month, beating Andrew's Mustangs, 20-0, then last Saturday night the Kermit eleven scared Seminole's unbeaten Indians out of their war paint before going down to a 20-19 count. The rest of the schools on Kermit's schedule had better be careful.

Lubbock and South Plains football fans will have more good games on tap this weekend than at any other time during the season. In the schoolboy ranks the Amarillo-Lubbock setto Friday afternoon will be a spotlight event, then Friday night there will be a half-dozen outstanding contests. The Lockney-Floydada encounter should draw a capacity crowd, the Post-Levelland tilt will be one of the most interesting clashes of the year and the Littlefield-Sundown tussle is expected to be an action-packed meeting. Then Saturday afternoon Texas Tech plays host to the Rice Institute Owls. Of course we have only scratched the surface, there's also the Pampa-Brownfield game and the Borger-Plainview setto, but that list should indicate the brightest prospects.

"Is there still so much demand for telephone service?"

Every month in the Southwest we get some 50,000 orders for telephone service.
This demand makes a shortage. Telephone service will be plentiful when we overtake the demand. Meanwhile there is less equipment to give service with than we need.
In 1946 we expected to catch up with our backed-up orders by spending 240 million dollars on new equipment, spread over a few years. Soon we had to increase that amount—to 400 million dollars, and later to about 500 million, where it stands now; twice what it was.
Higher costs for materials and for labor are two reasons for the increase. But the main reason is that the job keeps getting bigger.
As fast as we can—and that means twice as fast as prewar—we're changing dollars into switchboards, telephone lines, buildings, man-hours—everything it takes for more telephone service. In the last three years we've made the Southwestern telephone network more useful to users by adding over 800,000 telephones.
About 180,000 persons are now waiting for telephones in the Southwest. Most of these are fairly recent applicants. The majority ordered telephones this year. Except for some places with special problems, there has been a large and steady turnover in the waiting list.
We want to get a telephone to everyone who wants one, and keep improving the service to make it worth more to you all the time. Your understanding helps a lot. Thanks.

Suspect Held For Corpus Christi

Katherine Smith, 26-year-old negro woman, who is wanted by Corpus Christi authorities on charges of forfeiting bond in a murder case, was arrested last night in 1700-block Ave. A by Deputies Sheriff F. H. Bolen and Carl Francis. The Corpus Christi sheriff's department will be notified of her arrest.

Trinidad Flores, 26, of 106 Ave. L, is being held for the Roswell, N. M., sheriff's department, records here revealed. Charges against Flores were not known here.

F. E. McWilliams of 1703 Twenty-fourth said a bundle of laundry had been stolen from his truck parked in 1900-block of Ave. F. Clothing and other goods in the package were valued at about $13, he said.

Forgery Suspect Held

A bike, valued at $15, was reported stolen from Billy Bloodworth of 2024 Sixth street, the theft allegedly occurring near a local theater.

Police were informed last night by a lady resident of the vicinity of fifth street and Ave. U. that a man there was indecently exposing his person within the light of a flashlight, after honking his car horn to attract the woman's attention. Investigating officers who found the man had gone before their arrival, said that similar instances had been reported several times over a period of about four months.

W. C. Humphreys, 23, of Killeen, was returned here Monday from Waco, by Deputy Sheriff Earl Horton, for trial of an indictment charging him with forgery.

The indictment, returned into Jugde Dan Blair's 72nd district court by an August term grand jury, accuses Humphrey of forgery April 12 of a $1,020 check passed to S. E. Cone Grain and Seed company. It had been signed "B. L. Brockman, jr."

Fines Are Assessed

County Attorney John Steele said County Judge Walter Davies had signed the following judgments:

J. P. Perez, 36, of Idalou, $50 fine and court costs, for drunk driving; Robert Lee Wilkerson, about 30, $100 and costs, liquor law violation; Sylvester Cooper, 32, a negro, $150 and costs, liquor law violation; H. A. Jennings, 48, $50 and costs, drunk driving.

Vehicles Are Recovered

Police received reports Monday of two vehicle thefts— a 1937 green pickup Chevrolet truck and a Cushman motor scooter—but both had been listed as recovered last night.

The truck is owned by Bud Robinson of 715 Broadway, the scooter by Daniel Tew of 3120 Thirty-eighth.

Police received a complaint that the air had been let out of the tires of five automobiles in the 2100-block of Thirteenth and Fourteenth.

Similar Report Made

A similar report had been made Sunday night from the same section. One car owner, saying that the offense had "happened before," threatened reprisal if anyone is caught repeating the offense.

A tire company truck Sunday night was kept on the go repairing damages of the pranksters.

Police promised to keep a sharp lookout.

Negro Man Fined

A negro man was fined $25 on each of two charges, of reckless driving and using the license of another, corporation court officials said. Another, whose license he allegedly used, was fined $15 for allowing an unlicensed driver to use his license.

An 18-year-old Mexican who said he had been AWOL 16 days from Wichita Falls Army Air field, was held by the sheriff's department for Army authorities.

Henry Baldridge, of 109 North Ave. V, reported there had been an attempted burglary there, but it was not believed anything was taken. A front glass was broken, and an attempt had been made to open a door.

Supply Company Entered

Guy B. Hilton's Supply company on East Broadway was entered through a west window, after a pane had been broken. A cash register was opened, but nothing was believed taken. The same person who attempted the Baldridge burglary was believed responsible for that at the supply company, officials intimated.

The nightwatchman at Abernathy, O. C. Rutledge, reported that 45 or 50 sheep, rams and ewes, had been stolen or had strayed from a place near there. A red "S" is painted on their left hips, he said in a report to Capt. Bob Crowder of the Texas Rangers headquarters here.

The Pixiecrats were organized by a group of Texas newspapermen as an antidote to the vigorous campaigning of the major parties during Texas' blazing summer heat.

Anyone can join who can donate "one buck" and membership is extended to all crats, "including Demo, Dixie, hypo, aristo, techno, and bureau."

The membership includes everybody "who is confused" and many leading state politicians have rallied to the Pixiecrat banner which proudly proclaims, "United We Stand, Provided We Can."

GOP To Seek Heavy Turnout In County

Charles H. Smith of Live Oak county told members of Lubbock County Republican club, which met in called session Monday night in the county courtroom of the courthouse here, that the number of regular Republicans in Lubbock county is not indicative of the number of votes to be cast for the Dewey-Warren ticket Nov. 2.

He cited the record of his own county in 1944, when with only 12 known Republicans in the county, Dewey received 44 per cent of the votes. He predicted a large vote for the Dewey-Warren ticket, for Jack Porter for United States senator, and for Alvin H. Lane for governor from the South Plains.

M. D. Temple gave instructions on voting the split ticket. Temple, who presided at the meeting, emphasized the need for a strong two-party system in Texas.

Party workers were urged to get out the votes at the forthcoming election. Plans also were made to have Republican supervisors at the voting precincts on election day. These supervisors will, if necessary, assist the election judges in explaining to the voters how to vote a split ticket.

Russia Vetoes Plan

at the French foreign ministry.

Today's council meeting was delayed more than two and one-half hours, while Bramuglia consulted the western powers on a formula which he believed might be acceptable to Russia. The western powers, however, turned the new proposal down.

Jessup Answers Vishinsky

Vishinsky did not keep the delegates in doubt for long when the council finally got under way. Raising his voice, he told the western delegates "you are telling us" to take off the communications restrictions and "we will begin the talks."

"There is no time limit for the removal of restrictions," he declared. "The talks will begin at the same time the restrictions are lifted and that is what you call simultaneity."

He said Russia could not accept the resolution because it was based on the removal of the restrictions first.

Jessup appeared completely prepared for the Soviet announcement of the impending veto. He read from a prepared statement, departing from it only to answer Vishinsky's final blast.

Soviets Held Responsible

"In the judgment of the world," he said, "this was a just and reasonable solution, drafted by the representatives of six countries from all over the globe.

"If the Berlin question is not settled on the basis of this resolution, the responsibility for the failure will rest squarely and unavoidably on the Soviet Union."

While the Security Council wrestled with the Berlin issue, the UN saw these other developments:

1. The Security Council scheduled a meeting for 10:30 a. m. (3:30 a. m. CST) tomorrow on Palestine.

2. In an arms subcommittee of the General Assembly's political committee, Britain dropped her demand that the UN condemn Russia for refusing to agree with a western-led majority for control of armaments.

3. The political committee voted down Soviet efforts to seat Albanian and Bulgarian representatives as full observers with the right to participate in all phases of the Balkan discussions. They are not members of the United Nations.

the next week the way he has in the past ten days, he will be elected," Wheelock said.

"Lyndon B. Johnson will receive the unchallenged votes of a million Texans," Tyson said. "He will beat his opponent three to one. Whoever thinks otherwise is miscalculating.

Contest Welcome

"Johnson has been certified as the nominee of the Democratic party by responsible election officials. Not until this good hour has anyone gone into a Texas court to contest that nomination, or to offer proof of wrongdoing in the conduct of the election.

"The Democratic party itself, if I have authority to speak for it, would welcome such a contest. If demanded promptly, the votes could be recounted—not just from one, two or even three counties, but from every county that might be challenged. Until such a contest is had and such a fair, comprehensive and thorough investigation made, irresponsible rumors ought to cease."

He was answering Stevenson's claims of fraud in vote-counting from several South Texas counties.

JIM WELLS VOTE RECORDS TO BE PRESERVED INTACT

ALICE, Oct. 25. (AP) — C. H. Holmgreen, Jim Wells county clerk, said today he had received letters from Coke R. Stevenson and Stevenson's lawyers asking that the records of the second Democratic primary be kept intact.

"They don't need to worry," Holmgreen said. "Those records will be kept until all chance somebody might want to investigate is dissipated."

Stevenson has charged that fraudulent votes were cast in Jim Wells county for Lyndon Johnson, his Democratic opponent for the U. S. Senate.

Jury Completed

Judge Blair ordered it and witnesses to be in court at 9 a.m. today when the state will commence its evidence.

Judge Blair Monday morning overruled a written motion of defense counsel, Robert Porter and Grady West, for continuance, as well as an oral motion that the jury panel be quashed.

Charged In Shooting

Duty is charged with murder with malice in the July 19 shooting of James W. Hickman, 55, Santa Fe railroad yardmaster of 2701 Thirty-first. The shooting was in 1000-block Ave. J.

District Attorney Lloyd Croslin and assistant District Attorney A. W. Salyars represent the state.

The motion for continuance set out that defense witnesses were missing.

The shooting, the state contends, was over Hickman's daughter and culminated a several-months feud.

Jurors Selected

The defense qualified prospective jurors on the law of self-defense. The state did not qualify on the death penalty. Duty had waived a special venire.

A petit jury reported at 10 a. m., same time the 72nd jury panel reported to Judge Blair, to Judge G. V. Pardue of the 99th district court.

Judge Pardue ordered the panel to report again at 9 a. m. Thursday, since attorneys indicated no cases ready for trial before then.

Brownfield Child Dies After Drinking Quantity Of Kerosene

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 25. (Special)—Funeral services for Johnny Wayne Goza, 16-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Keith Goza of Brownfield route 4, were pending late tonight, but Farley Funeral home said that services and burial would probably be Wednesday in Brownfield.

The child died at 6:10 p. m. Sunday in a local hospital after drinking a large quantity of kerosene from a can earlier Sunday afternoon.

The youth apparently drank the kerosene by placing his head beneith its heavy container and tipping the can slightly. He was taken to a hospital, but treatments there proved unsuccessful.

Survivors include the parents; the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W B. Goza, of Calera, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Barnes of Compton, Calif.; and a grandmother, Mrs. Homer Rhodes of Turlock, California.

Dewey, Truman Turn On Steam

campaign down to his own level.

"The inexcusable falsehoods in his speech are obvious but the clearest hypocrisy was in his plea for civil rights.

"Mr. Truman does not believe in civil rights.

"In 1942 as a United States senator, he voted against allowing negroes from poll tax states the right to vote. By mud slinging he can not dodge the official record of his votes in the United States Senate."

Both Parties Claim Win

Both the major parties, the Democrats and the Republicans, were claiming victory in the presidential election, now but a week away.

The President himself said at Chicago:

"We are sweeping toward victory."

Brownell predicted that Gov. Dewey will score a "smashing victory" and that the Republicans likely will keep their six-seat majority in the Senate.

Senator Capehart (R-Ind) said the GOP will keep control of the Senate and Senator Taft (R-Ohio) even thought the Republicans might gain a seat or two in the election.

Spending Reports Made

Meanwhile, reports of million-dollar-plus spending for the candidates were filed in Washington.

The Democratic National committee reported that from January 1 to October 22, it received contributions totaling $1,196,827 and spent $1,503,709. The Democrats had a balance of $315,367 on hand at the start of the year.

The Republican National committee reported that from January 1 to October 18 it received $1,464,753 and spent $1,706,370. The Republican report did not show money on hand January 1 or the present balance.

HST Sounds Warning

President Truman sounded his victory claim in a speech in which he told Chicagoans that:

"To preserve freedom and Democracy in this country, we must put control of the Congress back in the hands of the American people. This means we must have a Democratic Congress."

"In 1933," Mr. Truman said, "the Democratic party drove the money changers out of the temple and brought new life to our Democracy. The Republican party is now making soap bubble promises to behave better in the future."

In speaking of threats to Democracy, Mr. Truman said that forces similar to those which backed Hitler, Mussolini and Tojo are "working through the Republican party."

Starts Final Drive

He said history shows that economic power in the hands of a few men has led to loss of freedom, that such men look for a "front" like the German and Italian dictators, "and it could happen here."

Mr. Truman's Chicago speech was the kickoff for the last, intensive round of campaigning. Tonight he will speak in Cleveland and on following nights, in order, at Boston, New York, Brooklyn and St. Louis.

Gov. Dewey's turn at a Chicago audience comes tonight. Then he will follow much the same trail as Mr. Truman, speaking in Cleveland Wednesday night, in Boston Thursday night and in New York Saturday night.

The advance word was that Dewey would speak tonight on how government policies friendly to labor, business and agriculture could "help build a healthy and vigorous America."

Dewey Studies Appointments

Albany dispatches told of reports that Dewey is already studying possible cabinet appointments, assuming he will be elected President next Tuesday.

In other political developments:

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor said at Cincinnati that "labor will succeed in a large way in defeating many of the congressmen and senators who voted for the Taft-Hartley act."

J. Strom Thurmond, residential nominee of the States' Rights Democrats, opened a three-day campaign in Arkansas. He said at Magnolia that Dewey, Truman and Wallace are all backing un-American programs dealing with civil rights.

Democratic National Chairman McGrath, in a Washington announcement, set Oct. 30 for celebration of "young Democratic day."

Alliance Discussed

spokesman left the meeting at before the ministers is highlighted by these issues:

1—Development of the Brussels union into a North Atlantic military pact with the United States and Canada.

2—Convocation, or indefinite deferment, of the western European assembly projected by France and Belgium.

3—Admitting new members into the Brussels union.

4—Consideration of the report of the permanent military committee.

5—Economic, financial, social and cultural co-operation between the five countries.

6—Co-ordination of foreign policy.

The ministers had before them reports from their ambassadors in Washington on talks they have been conducting during the last few months with the U. S. State and Defense departments, the informants said.

Those talks were designed to establish the extent to which the two North American powers will back the military of the Brussels union in case of war, it was said.

Thirty Are Arrested In Plot Against Government Of Panama

PANAMA, Oct. 25. (INS)—The Panamanian minister of justice said tonight that a plot to overthrow the government was thwarted today with the arrest of 30 persons.

Justice Minister Dr. Jose Crespo stated that the plot was the work of two "extremist parties" opposed to the government of President Domingo Diaz Arosemena.

He identified them as the Authentic Revolutionary party, which has supported the defeated candidate, Dr. Arnulfo Arias, in the last presidential election, and the "Partido Renovador."

Crespo denied that Arias' brother, Harmodio—an ex-president—was among those arrested, but he added that he had been summoned for questioning.

Korean Insurrection Reduced To 'Mopping Up' Operations

SEOUL, Korea, Tuesday, Oct. 26. (AP)—South Korean army headquarters today reported fighting on the outskirts of Yosu during the night and said there was a good chance loyal troops had regained the port city where the army rebellion began six days ago.

Even before this report reached Seoul, headquarters had announced the insurrection had been reduced "to the stage of mopping up separated bands of insurgents in the affected area" in southwest Korea.

The Korean navy reported capture of two rebel craft in Yosu harbor in a raid Sunday, but there was no word of a planned army attack.

U. S. 'Regrets' Rush Of Mexican Farm Laborers Across Border

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25. (AP)— The United States has expressed "profound regret" to Mexico over the manner in which hundreds of Mexican farm laborers crossed the border this month near El Paso.

A note published tonight by the State department promised that all will be rounded up and repatriated. It said orders have been issued to prevent illegal entry of any others.

The action followed a formal protest filed last week by Mexico that large numbers of laborers were permitted to cross the border by American immigration officials in violation of an eight months old agreement between the two countries. This set up machinery to control the seasonal flow of workers employed on farms in Texas and elsewhere in the west.

John P. Boyd, deputy immigration commissioner, acknowledged that Mexicans had "swarmed" across the border illegally, but said federal officials were unable to cope with the influx.

Germans Offer To Supply Pilots To Fly Air Lift

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25. (AP) — Four German labor leaders today offered to supply former German war pilots to fly the air lift to Berlin.

The offer was made by German free trade union leaders at conferences with Undersecretary of War Draper.

The unionists, representing organized workers in Berlin and the three western occupation zones, will begin a tour of U. S. industrial centers Thursday.

The labor representatives told a news conference, sponsored by the American Federation of Labor that they could furnish "more pilots than the Americans need" for the critical task of getting supplies to the western sectors of Berlin.

The proposal to furnish German Luftwaffe pilots to fly the American planes under American command is being studied by Draper, the union leaders said.

Zapata, Starr County Voting Material Reported Impounded

HARLINGEN, Oct. 25. (AP) — Seizure of ballot boxes, tally sheets and poll lists in Zapata and Starr counties northwest of here was reported in Harlingen tonight.

Truman Phelps, Laredo attorney, said tonight that he accompanied an investigator of the U. S. Senate committee on elections to the county seats of the two counties, where the voting paraphernalia was impounded.

The investigator, he said, was Joseph Langan, one of two from the Senate committee sent to probe reports of fraudulent voting in South Texas during the August Democratic primary.

Langan could not be reached by telephone tonight.

Phelps said that the ballots, tally sheets and poll lists were taken into custody by the investigator and would be sent to Washington.

claimed that a group of Army officers connected with the school had led the insurrection. They were said to have been commanded by Col. Carlos Montanaro, who apparently was not among the Army men repotted seized.

The rebel forces, aided by Marine units under Capt. Adolfo Roy Franco, were said to have scored initial successes. However, according to the broadcast, Asuncion police, aided by air and ground units of the Army, gained the upper hand.

Gonzalez was said to have sought refuge in a military barracks outside the capital. Paraguay's minister of economics, Mallorquin, was said to be among the insurgent leaders arrested.

(State department officials in Washington confirmed that disorders were taking place in Asuncion. They said no Americans or American property had been damaged. The State department said it had no indication as to what political motives were behind the uprising).

Coal Mines Seized

still has "a great quantity" of additional troops ready for action. Last week Premier Henri Queuille's cabinet called up 40,000 extra army reservists to meet the mounting industrial violence.

With the government holding the upper hand in northern France, labor agitation and demonstrations increased in central and southern France.

A 24-hour general strike was called in the Loire department in central France to protest the killing of a miner by security guards at Firminy, near St. Etienne. Transportation, mail services and garbage collecting came to a halt in the area.

One-hour general strikes were called by the Communist-dominated French Labor Confederation (CGT) in the southern departments of Bouche-Du-Rhone and Herault. The walkouts, like those in Loire, were to protest the killing of the miner.

An estimated 200 striking mine workers seized the Mereuil pits near Marseilles, and erected barricades.

A preview of the government's determination to crack the coal walkouts with force came early Sunday when troops ejected strikers from the Montceau-Les-Mines pits in central France. Thirty persons were arrested at Montceau-Les-Mines, 12 of whom—including two Yugoslavs and two Poles—have been held for trial.

Nearly 2,000 planetoids or tiny planets have been catalogued by astronomers.

Red Strikes In France Disrupt Western Europe Defense Plans

(EDITOR'S NOTE: J. M. Roberts, Jr., has returned to New York from a series of trips which, begun in May, have taken him to Washington and to eight foreign countries including every major western capital. He has had "off the record" interviews with more than 250 top governmental, diplomatic, business, military and journalistic leaders in that period. The following discussion of the French relationship to the defense of western Europe is based on information obtained in Europe.)

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

The calling of French troops to defend the coal mines against Communists is one of the most disturbing spectacles in the world.

As the western powers meet in Paris to consider their military situation, one of the first considerations is France's ability to maintain order at home without diminishing the contribution of her army to the general defense.

The general defense line will be east of the reviving Ruhr and Rhineland—well east of the Rhine—if the cold war leads to worse. Unless Communist fifth column forces behind allied lines can be contained by police methods, the general situation would be very dangerous.

As of today, western military strategists base their belief in their ability to hold the Stettin-Adriatic line on the conception that the full strength of western Europe can be mobilized at once pending delivery of the new strength America is building.

French officials will assure you blandly their army can be counted upon for this purpose.

It appears that the nature of the Communist strike has the government off balance. France has approximately 200,000 trusted militarized police scattered around the country and available for such work.

Police Kept Off Balance

(There are no late figures on the army. The Socialists have fought its enlargement. Perhaps 350,000 to 400,000 men is a good guess. The main fighting force, probably 150,000 to 200,000, is in Indo-China. This leaves the mobile police as France's main active force.)

The hit-and-run nature of the strikes, called first in one industry in one place, then in another, tends to keep the mobile police immobile, and to prevent them from concentrating to handle big strikes such as that in the coal mines.

Aside from the purely military aspects of the situation, French inability to maintain order at home, both political and economic, is threatening the entire concept of a revived Europe strong enough not only to defend itself, but strong enough to discourage even the start of aggression.

While the world frets over Berlin, which is primarily an outpost of prestige, however important, one of the great real threats to the Marshall plan and its corollary obectives lies in France—with her 5,000,000 "voting" Communists revolving around perhaps 600,000 active devotees of Communist revolution.

Dixiecrats Pledge 'Fight To Finish'

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 25. (AP)—A 42-word resolution pledging a fight to the finish, regardless of the election outcome, has been adopted by the States' Rights Democrats.

The resolution was adopted here yesterday by party leaders from 10 states after a five-hour session of the executive committee. It said:

"The States' Rights movement came into being to save constitutional government and individual liberty in America. We will continue this fight until the fight is won.

"Therefore, be it resolved that our organization continue its fight until its objective has been achieved."

National campaign director Merritt H. Gibson of Longview, Texas, said the statement insured that the party would continue its fight until the Democrats recognize what he called "local self government."

Gibson said "In those states where we now operate as the only Democratic party, the organization will remain the same—that is, with the States' Rights' party operating within the national Democratic party."

He said the States' Rights party would continue its fight in states where the movement has not been strong enough to engulf the national party.

Abilene Youth Wastes No Time Tracking Down Two Culprits

ABILENE, Oct. 25. (AP)—When 10-year-old Harry E. Dunlap, jr., discovered his glass "bubble" bank and its $12.79 in contents missing, he went into action and caught the culprits red-handed.

Hary and his mother got home from the grocery store Saturday morning and discovered their house here had been ransacked and Harry's bank gone. While Mrs. Dunlap summoned police, Harry went outside and got a description of two boys who had been seen in the neighborhood.

He jumped on his bicycle and headed toward a creek. As he neared the creek he met the two boys who fitted the description, nonchalantly started talking with them and stayed with them until police arrived.

His $12.79 was recovered.

Mrs. R. E. Thompson Visiting Sights In Pacific Northwest

Mrs. R. E. Thompson of 1606 Ave. R, who is in the Pacific Northwest on an extended vacation, is seeing many notable sights, she wrote friends in letters received today.

Arriving in Portland, Ore., Aug. 7, she visited friends there and in Vancouver, Wash., then went to Seattle to sail for Canada. She spent eight days in Vancouver, B.C., visiting such historic spots as the Parliament house.

One of the most interesting sights she saw was an old "tear glass," a vase-like glass with a small flared neck into which the women of British Columbia used to cry into, believing that tears and sugar would cure many ailments.

At present Mrs. Thompson is visiting in Long Beach, Wash.

Rites Set Wednesday For Morton Veteran

MORTON, Oct. 25. (Special)—Funeral services for Lt. Lester Howell, son of Mrs. W. L. Harris of Morton, will be held at the First Methodist church in Morton at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon with Rev. A. A. Kendall officiating.

Lt. Howell was reported missing in combat flight over Hungary July 2, 1944. He was credited with the destruction of two German ME109's, fast fighter planes used to harrass U. S. bombers.

He held the Distinguished Flying Cross, and the Air Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters.

He was graduated from Morton High school in 1941 and took his primary flight training at Uvalde, basic at Goodfellow and advanced at Moore fields.

Lt. Howell will be reburied in Morton cemetery. Survivors other than his mother include three brothers, Judge Glenn W. Thompson and Eugene Thompson of Morton, Clyde Howell of Amarillo; and a sister, Mrs. Fay McMahan, Morton.

Melchior's Photo Equipment Disappears On Houston Trip

HOUSTON, Oct. 25. (U.P.)—Lauritz Melchior, the famed metropolitan dramatic tenor, still plans an African game hunt early next year, but he may have to restock if he wants to take any pictures.

Houston police today were trying to track down some $1,340 worth of photographic equipment that "disappeared" from Melchior's luggage. The singer flew here from Lufkin last night to appear before patients at a naval hospital.

At Houston's international gateway airport, officials insisted the baggage was all delivered to Melchior's hotel. Hotel personnel were equally insistent that the missing photographic supplies were lost en route from the airport.

Detective Capt. T. J. Eubanks said his aides were questioning "a man who handled Mr. Melchior's luggage."

John Q. Public Believes Dewey Will Win Presidential Race

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 25.—It has been said that poll takers on November 3 will be "startled" at the presidential election results. But, if Governor Thomas E. Dewey loses, one of the most surprised persons is going to be John Q. Public himself.

While a good many individuals claim to be accurate political forecasters, no one has established a better record in that field than the "man in the street." The Institute has kept tabs on his record.

GALLUP

In every election since 1936 Institute field reporters have asked representative voters who they think is going to win regardless of how they themselves are going to vote. At least once before each of the last three elections the Institute has published the public's prediction in addition to a report on how voters are going to cast their ballots.

Back in 1936 when the Literary Digest post card survey of millions of voters indicated a great victory for Alfred M. Landon, the Republican candidate, John Q. Public was wholly unimpressed and said President Roosevelt would win hands down.

In 1940, even though the election results were much closer, there was never a time during the campaign that a majority of voters believed the Republican, Wendell L. Willkie, would defeat Roosevelt.

With an even closer race in 1944, seven out of ten said Roosevelt would win over Dewey.

And now in 1948 the public by a ratio of two to one predicts that Governor Dewey will go to the White House.

Interesting sidelights appear upon analysis of the national answers:

College trained voters, of whom a majority today are Republicans, by five to one say Dewey will win.

People with only a grammar school education also pick Dewey but by a four to three margin.

More than eight out of ten Dewey supporters think he will be elected, while Truman voters pick the President by a ratio of two to one.

One out of eight Wallace followers with opinions believe the Progressive candidate will win the presidency, although most Wallace voters select Dewey. One out of eight Dixiecrat voters are betting that their candidate, J. Strom Thurmond will be the next president.

River Oaks Residents Find Bones Belonged To Bear

FORT WORTH, Oct. 25. (U.P.)—River Oaks residents know now that a human-looking foot and bone deposited on the porch of a neighbor belonged to a bear, but they still don't know the source of that pool of blood on the Lake Worth spillway.

The foot and bone were deposited on the porch by a dog. The frightened householder rushed to police with the grisly object because of its resemblance to human anatomy. Doctors said the bones belonged to a bear.

Confessing all was D. L. Law, who said the bear bones were in a package he got for his dog at Fort Worth frosted food lockers. The locker company revealed F. H. Bush brought the bear's carcass in Friday to be skinned and processed into steaks and roasts.

But Bush didn't shoot the bear on the Lake Worth spillway.

Demos Claim Lead In Vote Campaign In Southwest

GOP Appears To Have Kansas In Bag; Other States Are Doubtful

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 25.—If you're looking for something sure politically—if there is such a thing—take the Republicans in Kansas.

G. O. P. leaders already are counting that state's eight electoral votes as theirs. But that's about far enough to talk with authority in these parts.

The Democrats are banking on taking Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas. There are 48 electoral votes in the three states—23 in Texas, 15 in President Truman's home state of Missouri and 10 in Oklahoma.

Also Making Bid In Missouri

The Republicans are hopeful in Texas and Oklahoma, both traditionally Democratic, and are slugging it out in Missouri with election day just a week away.

Missouri began moving over to the Republican side in 1940. The late Franklin D. Roosevelt carried it four times but his majorities ranged down from a 460,000 high in 1932 to 46,000 four years ago.

In 1946, Missouri went heavily Republican and today both its senators and nine of its 13 congressmen are Republicans.

Oklahoma is rated borderline by both Republicans and Democrats. There one Senate seat and eight congressional posts, two held by Republicans, are at stake.

In Texas, where the Democratic primaries generally decide all political contests, the southern split over States' Rights and a bitter U. S. Senatorial primary fight has generated considerable intra-Democratic heat.

Kansas Liquor Issue Hot

Kansas appears to have only one election question.

How will it vote on the proposed repeal of its 68-year-old constitutional prohibition against intoxicating liquor?

Kansas has not gone Democratic since 1936 and today with two heavy vote getters, Frank Carlson for re-election as Governor and Andrew F. Schoeppel for the Senate, it stands as a Republican stronghold.

It would take a brave man, and a bit on the foolhardy side, to predict the outcome of the wet-dry issue in Kansas. In 1934, the voters there turned down repeal by an 89,000 majority. Most observers feel the state's much wetter now. How much is the question. Both parties steered clear of the issue in their platforms.

Carlson, 55-year-old farmer-stockman, is opposed by Randolph Carpenter, former congressman and later a U. S. district attorney. Schoeppel, twice governor, is running against Democrat George McGill, former U. S. Senator, for the Senate job from which 82-year-old Arthur Capper is retiring after five terms.

All of Kansas' six Republican congressmen are up for re-election. None appears to be in danger.

In Missouri it's the Democrats who have a recognized vote-getter. He is 62-year-old Forrest Smith, seeking the governorship after four terms as state auditor.

Some think if the Democrats carry the state it will be Smith rather than Truman who sets the pace. Smith's Republican rival is 53-year-old Murray F. Thompson, speaker of the state House of Representatives—a newcomer in politics but a hard campaigner.

Truman's stock in his home state, however, has gone up. Early this month James J. Carroll, betting commissioner at St. Louis, quoted Truman as an even bet to carry the state. Now he has made him a 3 to 1 favorite.

GOP Faces Tough Fight

The Republicans may have trouble retaining five of their nine congressional seats in Missouri. The Democrats face battle for one of the four they hold. That one happens to be in Truman's home district, the Fourth where Democrat C. Jasper Bell is retiring after 14 years.

A young Republican, Richard Erickson, is waging a no-quarters battle against Leonard Irving, a union labor leader, there.

Both parties have struck hard in Oklahoma. For the first time presidential nominees of both parties have included it in their campaign tours.

But Oklahoma never has elected a Republican governor and only three times has it sent a Republican to the Senate. Harding, in 1920, and Hoover, in 1928, are the only G.O.P. presidential nominees to carry it.

Kerr Seeks Post

Former Governor Robert S. Kerr, 51, is the Democrats' man for the Senate. Rep. Ross Rizley, 56, is the Republicans'. They are fighting over a seat vacated by the retirement of Republican Senator E. H. Moore, a Tulsa oil man.

Kerr is under fire of a Senate elections subcommittee. One of its investigators has charged $65,500 was spent in behalf of his pri-

Rep. Thomas To Answer Charges

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25. (AP)—Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) plans to testify before the grand jury investigating his office payroll.

Whether he will appear before or after the November 2 election remained the big question after a brisk exchange of statements by Thomas and Attorney General Clark over the weekend.

The chairman of the House un-American activities committee touched off the exchange Saturday by calling the timing of the inquiry "despicable" politics.

Says Probe Welcomed

The Justice department had let it be known Friday night that a new federal grand jury here was looking into the situation first mentioned by Columnist Drew Pearson and then cited by 17 lawyers from Thomas' New Jersey congressional district.

The lawmaker said he welcomed the investigation but commented that it seemed strange he of all Congress members should be singled out for "this vicious smear technique" just before the election.

Clark Says "No Politics"

Clark responded yesterday with a reminder that he has prosecuted two other congressmen—Rep. Andrew J. May of Kentucky and Rep. James Curley, mayor of Boston, on wartime fraud charges.

"No politics entered into these prosecutions," Clark said, adding: "Congressman Thomas, if he chooses, can appear before the grand jury."

"Not only do I choose," the New Jersey Lawmaker fired back, "but I insist upon that right—not only for myself but for the members of my family who have been the subjects of your political harassment.

"If you really want to keep this free of politics you will agree with me that November 4 is the date on which I should appear."

Clark had nothing further to say for the moment.

Thomas has been highly critical of what he calls Clark's failure to prosecute certain persons mentioned in the House committee's report on alleged wartime Soviet espionage. Clark has said the government had all the evidence developed by Thomas' committee but did not consider it enough to file charges.

CROP Agency Would Aid World's Needy

Plans Mapped Here For New Relief Unit

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

Plans for organization of a county-wide unit of CROP—Christian Rural Overseas program—an organization through which rural and town people may contribute of their products for relief of needy people throughout the world, were formulated here Monday night in the second floor district courtroom of the Lubbock county courthouse.

A five-man steering committee empowered to set up a county-wide organization was named. Rev. Fred McPherson, pastor of Southside Baptist church here, was made chairman of the committee, and other members include Nat Heaton of Slaton, W. O. Fortenberry of Monroe, Mrs. John Redwine of Shallowater, and Mrs. Chester Gilmore of Becton.

Motion Picture Shown

This steering committee will serve as the nucleus around which the county CROP organiation will be built. Membership of the committee is as yet tentative, pending acceptance of those appointed to the committee, all of whom except Rev. McPherson were absent.

A sound movie, "Seeds of Destiny," released by the War department, was shown at the gathering. The motion picture dealt with present overseas conditions as to rehabilitation of ruined nations and their peoples, problems of nourishing these peoples, and the scope of present aid programs.

Dave Sherrill, county agent, introduced T. H. Holmes of Ralls, assistant field director of CROP in this area, who pointed out steps to the taken in the organization of CROP in the county, how it operates, its policies, and its origin and mode of operation.

Chicago Is Headquarters

The organization, formed in August, 1947, is nationwide in scope, with national headquarters offices in Chicago and southern regional offices in Atlanta. It is sponsored by the Church World Service, the Lutheran World Relief, and Catholic Rural Life, and is responsible to these church organizations.

CROP operates in this area through a southern advisory committee headed by Dr. Louie D. Newton, pastor of Druid Hills Baptist church in Atlanta. Others on the committee are church and agriculture leaders, press representatives and other public spirited citizens.

The type of contribution, Holmes said, is largely determined by each individual county, and is based on practicability of overseas shipment. Included among desirable commodities are seed cotton, peanuts, rice, soy beans, dried fruits, livestock, dairy products, syrup, and others. It is set out that certain commodities not economical or practical for overseas shipment will be accepted for conversion to commodities that can be shipped, and in lieu of other gifts in kind, cash will be accepted for purchase of commodities.

Other Programs Aided

Holmes emphasized that those who want to give cash instead convert their cash donations into acceptable commodities by purchasing such from local rural friends or neighbors.

East donor is urged to designate his or her gift to the church of his choice. The gifts are destributed by church agencies on the basis of need, after they are received at the various ports designated by contributors.

"CROP has been set up to supplement, not destroy, other worthy overseas relief programs," Holmes said.

He said that as of the present time, each county has been asked to make only one drive for CROP, and that while no deadline is imposed upon a county, it is suggested by the regional state offices of the organization that each county set its closing date on its drive as early as possible in order that the commodities arrive without undue delay in the countries where they are needed.

Russia Left Out

Commodities will be distributed in those countries which the church groups think are in need of relief, with the exception of Russia and her puppet states, Germany and Japan doubtless will be included, he added.

Shipping costs of the commodities are to be paid by CROP, Holmes said.

The headquarters offices of the organization have announced that

City Hall For Denver City May Be Delayed, Mayor Says

DENVER CITY, Oct. 25. (Special)—Mayor H. C. Cotton said this afternoon plans for a new city hall for Denver City may have to be revised before work can start on the building.

The mayor and city commissioners opened bids this afternoon for construction of the one-story brick and tile structure, to be located just south of the Methodist church here.

The low bid, submitted by BMFP Construction company of Lubbock, was higher than available funds, Cotton said. The company made a bid of $14,500.

AMENDMENT TWO OKAY URGED

Texans Given Opportunity To Okay Automatic Redistricting

Regardless of which party wins the November 2 election, Texas voters will chalk up another first in the state's political history according to John Ben Shepperd, chairman of the non-political Texas Committee for Redistricting.

"For the first time Texans are being given the opportunity to vote for automatic redistricting," Shepperd pointed out. "Constitutional Amendment Two, which provides for statewide redistricting, has been hailed as one of the most important amendments ever submitted to the voters."

Shepperd predicted overwhelming voter approval for Constitutional Amendment Two which will replace the present antiquated system of apportionment under which many sections of Texas are denied fair representation in the State Legislature.

"Texas has not been redistricted in 27 years," Shepperd stated. "Although there have been tremendous increases in population in many counties during that time, these areas have no more voice in the operation of our state government than they had in 1921 when the state was redistricted."

Under Constitutional Amendment Two a board is provided to redistrict the state according to population after every Federal census if the Legislature fails to do so.

Shepperd, former national president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, is heading the nonpartisan Texas Committee for Redistricting organized by more than 1000 prominent Texans from all parties and all areas to urge support for Amendment Two.

Gubernatorial candidates of both the Democratic and Republican parties, six former Texas governors, labor organizations, the League of Women Voters and numerous civic groups have endorsed Amendment Two, Shepperd stated.

"Amendment Two assures fair representation for all Texans in the Legislature," Shepperd declared. "Therefore, it deserves the support of every fairminded Texna at the polls on November 2."

Nationalization Of Steel, Iron Industry In Britain Indicated

LONDON, Oct. 25. (AP)—King George VI and all his lords will don their finest robes tomorrow to open a session of Parliament which will consider the labor government's plan to nationalize Britain's iron and steel industry.

That industry now operates as a private cartel. It is expected to be taken over under a law slightly more flexible than those used to bring coal, electricity, gas, aviation, communications and the Bank of England into public ownership.

Labor Group In Control

King George may outline the steel plan in his address from the throne. The government's bill is expected to be introduced later in the week. Details of the measure have not been disclosed as yet.

Conservatives are expected to fight the legislation bitterly. They have no chance to beat the bill against the overwhelming Labor majority in the House of Commons.

The Conservative - controlled House of Lords could, and many think will reject it. Other observers believe the Lords may only offer amendments.

Another measure expected to be passed at this session makes ultimate victory for Prime Minister Attlee's government certain. This is a bill reducing the so-called veto power of the Lords from two years to one. Once this is done, time as well as votes will be on the government's side.

To Discuss Military Measures

The new Parliament also will have to tackle urgent military questions including a new civilian defense plan and possible extension of the period of service under the compulsory military training law. Effective Jan. 1, the present law restricts such training to one year.

There will be no political fireworks tomorrow, however. The day will be given over to a type of pageantry such as has not been seen in London since before the war. The King, accompanied by Queen Elizabeth, will wear his crown of state for the first time in 10 years. All the lords and ladies in attendance will be garbed in their full robes. Members of the House of Commons will wear either military uniform or morning dress, if they possess those outfits.

Girl To Fight For Health In Southwest

PLYMOUTH, N. H., Oct. 25. (UP) — A nine-year-old girl stricken with arthritis began a health-seeking pilgrimage to New Mexico today, thanks to the residents of this town of 1,900 and the woman editor of its weekly newspaper.

The girl, Stella Elliott, left for Boston with her parents and two sisters to fly to El Paso, en route to Silver City, N. M. Their travel expenses were donated by townsfolk organized by Mrs. Doris M. Wherland who also arranged a job for the father and a home for the family in Silver City.

Mrs. Wherland, editor of the Plymouth Record which employed the father William W. Elliott as a pressman, began a campaign to raise funds for the family when he learned a physician advised that Stella be taken to the southwest.

She also communicated with the editor of the Silver City Enterprise who promised Elliott a job and a home.

Three Dead, 19 Hurt In Crash

CHANUTE FIELD, Ill., Oct. 25. (U.P.)—Three crewmen were killed and 19 servicemen were injured when their C-47 transport plane crashed in a fog and rammed into a barracks here, Air Force officials announced today.

Air Force officials at Wright-Patterson field, at Dayton, O., where the flight originated said the dead were Maj. Frank E. Boyd, 30, Cleveland, O., the pilot, Lt. Col. Paul Waterman, 41, Dayton, the co-pilot, and Sgt. Maurice A. Neidrighaus, 25, Evansville, Ind., crew chief.

Others Are Injured

Doctors said five of the passengers were injured seriously, while the other 14 were listed as "non-critical." Names of the seriously injured were withheld pending further announcement from Wright field.

Officers said the plane had flown from Dayton to Long Beach, Cal., where it picked up a group of reserve officers who were due to report at the Dayton Air Base for two weeks' active duty.

The plane stopped for fuel at Albuquerque, N. M., and was scheduled to stop again at Scott Field, near East St. Louis, Ill., last night, but it was diverted here because of bad weather at Scott field.

Shortly before its arrival here, a thick fog rolled in over the landing strip. The pilot undershot the field, the plane tore off a corner of one barracks and pushed the bottom floor of a two-story barrack building out from beneath the top story. The impact smashed all but the fuselage of the plane, in which the passengers were riding.

Those identified by the Air Force as less seriously injured included Donald S. Evans, Washington, D. C., a Navy enlisted man; Pvt. D. Henson, Ft. Benning, Ga.; Pvt. C. C. Eagleson, Ft. Benning. The barracks were unoccupied.

UNIONS LIABLE FOR DAMAGES

CIO Assails NLRB Ban Against Mass Picketing, Unions' Status

By EARLE MARCKRES
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 — The CIO today bitterly assailed a new National Labor board ruling which outlaws mass picketing and redefines union responsibility.

Arthur Goldberg, CIO general counsel, said it "makes the federal government a police officer on every picket line in the nation" and is "nothing more than the use of governmental power to weaken labor organizations."

Goldberg declared that the decision makes every union "liable for damages without fault" and that it outlaws "even peaceful picketing by terming it restraint."

Rehearing Asked

The CIO Longshoremen's union has asked for a board rehearing on the subject, and has announced it will carry the case to the U. S. Supreme court if necessary.

The NLRB, in its momentous decision released Sunday night, held that mass picketing violates the Taft-Hartley law's ban on "restraint or coercion" of employes by unions.

The board further stated that unions and employers are responsible for the actions of their agents, even though the union may not have authorized the actions or may even have specifically directed against them.

Unions Claimed Threatened

The latter was interpreted as making unions financially responsible for any strike damage caused by union members, despite a provision of the Norris-LaGuardia act exempting unions from such liability.

CIO officials said the ruling "goes far beyond existing views on the proper conduct of picket lines" and that it imperils the financial status of unions by subjecting them to widespread damage suits.

Goldberg declared that "the board's approach represents a partisan interpretation of a partisan act (Taft-Hartley)."

May Determine Course

The ruling was made in a 15-month-old strike of the CIO Longshoremen's union against the Sunset Line and Twine Co., of Petaluma, Calif.

Several trial examiners had previously ruled against mass picketing, even though peaceful, but this was the first decision of the full board on the subject since the Taft-Hartley act went into effect.

Two members of the board said the ruling "may determine the course of industrial controversies and the rights of employers and employes" for many years to come.

Oil Man Is Principal Speaker At Luncheon Meet Of Jaycees

Helmut Klaus, president of Klaus Exploration company, addressed approximately 85 members of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce at the weekly Jaycee luncheon at Hilton hotel yesterday.

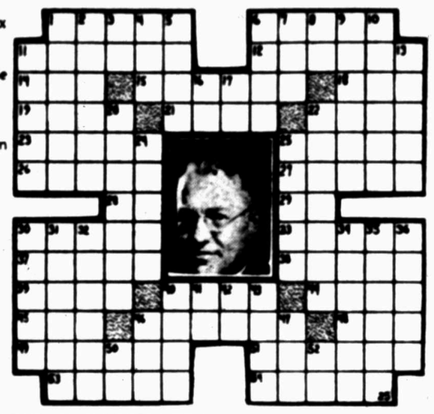

Klaus outlined the necessity of building an oil production surplus in the United States, a step which he said has been hindered by shipment of essential supplies to foreogn lands for use in oil exploration use there. He also touched briefly on methods of producing petroleum from slate found in the Rocky mountain area, and from coal.

Jack Sitton, president of the New Mexico Junior Chamber of Commerce and editor of the Carlsbad-Current-Argus, was a special guest at the luncheon. He spoke briefly, bringing a greeting from New Mexico Jaycees to local club members.

Orders Are Mailed For New Draft Call

Mailing of draft call No. 3 orders for men to report for physical examinations was completed Monday by the selective service board, said Mrs. Viola Younger.

In the three draft calls issued this far in the four-county area which has headquarters in Lubbock, 85 men have received orders to report for physical examinations at the Armed Forces Joint Examining and Induction station in the federal building.

Counties in this area are Lynn, Garza, Crosby and Lubbock. Orders first were mailed to men born in 1922. Some younger men have since received orders.

Selective service workers this week are completing records of men who reported during selective registration days. They prepared records of the older age groups first.

Nation's Wheat Stocks Are Third Largest On Record

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — The Agricultural department reported today that stocks of wheat in storage in all positions on Oct. 1 were the third largest on record for that date, totaling 1,142,133,000 bushels.

The record for that date was 1,372,000,000 in 1942.

Stocks on Oct. 1 represented the remaining supplies of the 1948 crop, plus carry-over supplies from previous crops.

The department said that from the total supply of 1,479,000,000 bushels on hand at the start of the season July 1, 1,337,000,000 bushels were used domestically and exported by October 1.

If you are having difficulties getting used to your bifocals, ask your eye physician about Tillyer Ful-Vue Bifocals. He'll tell you that they require no "breaking-in" period, because, for all practical purposes, "jump" has been eliminated.

You won't be annoyed with color fringes rainbowing the edges of black and white objects. Most important of all perhaps: the Tillyer Ful-Vue reading segment is shaped so that its widest portion is located at the natural reading level of the eyes.

Whether you have been wearing bifocals of another kind for years, or whether you are about to wear bifocals for the first time, be sure to ask your eye physician (oculist) about Tillyer Ful-Vue bifocals.

THEY PLAY, AND:

YOU Pay The Bill!

SINCE DAYS and weeks have been dedicated to nearly everything imaginable, the U. S. Senate might give an appropriate special designation to November 17. The day might be dedicated to the senatorial spirit expressed in the slogan: "To hell with the expense when the taxpayers pay."

On November 17, eight senators are scheduled to sail for Hawaii to "investigate" proposed statehood for the islands. They will be accompanied by considerable retinues of secretaries, clerks and others. Some will take their families and pad their expense accounts to help cover this additional cost. Only the most luxurious will be good enough for them on this trip.

The total cost of some thousands of dollars will be a small item in the federal budget. But it is infuriating because it is so wholly unnecessary. This will be the eighth or ninth congressional junket to investigate statehood for Hawaii. It cannot add one iota of information to that instantly available, or obtainable, in Washington. The inquiry is being used, or abused, as the thinnest and most flagrant sort of excuse to provide luxurious vacations for a group of senators and hangers-on.

While it is true that the elimination of this item would not benefit taxpayers appreciably, it evidences a profligacy with public funds which suggests that hundreds, maybe thousands, of unnecessary expenses could be cut out if Congress would look for them diligently. The aggregate of such savings might cut a substantial slice out of governmental expense.

But there is nothing to indicate a possibility of heading off the November 17 trip. The senators will have their fun, and the taxpayers will pay the bill.

"Bouncing" Checks

REPORTS from most sections of the country indicate a considerable increase within the past year in the giving of "rubber" checks by persons either with no funds, or insufficient funds, on deposit in the bank to cover them.

Lubbock and other South Plains communities have this problem.

Furthermore, all our communities are likely to continue with it until, first, more care is exercised in the acceptance of checks for merchandise; and, second, until more vigor is displayed in prosecuting chronic givers of bad checks. Too often the recipient of a worthless check is willing, if not anxious, to forget prosecution if he gets his money.

Fortunately the problem is more irritating than serious, at least in this part of the country. The losses in the Lubbock area are negligible. Most merchants apparently regard as "good business" the risks involved in a liberal policy toward the acceptance of checks. But, as long as they continue such a liberal policy, they must—and do—expect occasionally to get stuck with a bad check.

A small town is the place where a siren on an automobile creates all kinds of excitement.

Probably the biggest of all fools is the man who likes to fool himself.

An old-timer is the one who can remember when there was such a thing as cheap amusement.

(THE STORY. Dring in the Indian desert, British secret agent Hilary Shenstone feels a desperate need to get back to England and to Nuns get back to England and to Nuns Farthing, his family home. He doesn't know the house has been let and that dreamy, 17-year-old Sabrina, whom he has never met, has adopted his old room and eagerly awaits his return. Hilary does return to England and to Nuns Farthing—after death. He is in his attic room when Sabrina comes up. She is unaware of his presence but Hilary manages to get through to her a little and she seems happy. Hilary realises she is the girl he would have loved if he had lived. Next day Sabrina learns of Hilary's death from his brother, George.)

XXI

SABRINA, flung face down across Hilary's bed, drained dry of tears and spent with sobbing, heard them—too late—coming up the stairs. Hilary, who was hanging over her in an agony of helplessness—"But I'm here, my darling—I'm quite safe. I've come back to you, can't you understand?"—retreated to the far corner by the chest of drawers to watch whatever form of desecration George would choose to visit upon his brother's property.

He had been sitting by the window when George drove up, and so had witnessed the brief tableau under the tree, and Sabrina's stumbling escape to the house. Her first headlong dash for sanctuary had carried her blindly past her own bedroom door and up the second flight of stairs to him. But so far it was beyond his power to penetrate her grief with any sense of his usual invisible presence. Just as she was quieting, limp and receptive, just as he hoped to reach her once more with some form of comfort, George and Aunt Effie entered, followed by Mrs. Pilton carrying a pile of folded dust-sheets.

Sabrina sat up on the bed and looked at them bleakly, making no move to go.

"Oh, there you are, darling," Aunt Effie began, too brightly. "We were just saying downstairs, you mustn't take this too hard. Because after all as Mr. Shenstone has very sensibly pointed out, it isn't as though you had ever actually met his brother, is it?"

Aunt Effie had been trying to explain Sabrina's odd behavior to Hilary's brother. She had told him that her niece had found her way into Hilary's room . . . Mrs. Pilton had thought it all right as long as nothing was disturbed. Sabrina had formed a childish attachment for the man whose books she had been reading, and perhaps the news of his death was a little sudden . . .

GEORGE SHENSTONE had only succeeded in looking bewildered. But Aunt Effie had convinced herself that the room should now be definitely closed.

"Mr. Shenstone's mother feels that if we don't need the room, which of course we don't, she would like to keep it closed for a while," she went on to Sabrina. "So Mrs. Pilton is going to put out the dust-sheets, just as they always used to do when he was coming back, you know, and draw the curtains, just to keep the sun from the carpet, and—".

While Aunt Effie prattled on, Sabrina's stricken eyes sought the housekeeper's in a look of sheer despair. Without seeming to avoid that appealing glance, but equally without responding to it, Mrs. Pilton bent to shroud a chair with swift, competent movements. Her dark, secretive face was set in its habitual calm.

And George—her eyes went back heavily to Hilary's brother—George was at the defenseless desk. Efficiently his thick hands went through the blotter and the drawers down the left side, tearing the written sheets of personal letters across and across as he came to them.

"Tidy blighter, wasn't he?" George was saying. "Not much to do after all. Oh, yes, his clothes. Mother said he took almost nothing with him that day, and the village people might as well have whatever's here." He went to set the leaves of the wardrobe ajar.

"No, no, you shan't touch his things!" cried Sabrina, and sprang up to snatch the wardrobe door out of his hand and slammed it shut and set her back against it protectively. "Haven't you any feeling—haven't you any common decency, to give his things away to the first village lout who happens to be the same size?"

SHE began to cry again in a weak, spent way, bent over sidewise as though she had a broken wing, thought George, watching her helplessly.

"Mrs. Pilton," cried Sabrina, clinging to the wardrobe door, "promise you won't take his things away! Promise you'll leave his clothes—"

The housekeeper straightened from swathing the bed in white, and her eyes met Sabrina's across it, and then went on to Aunt Effie's dismayed face, and came at last to George, who was wishing he had brought his mother along to tell him what to do.

"I think, sir, that at least for the time being—"

"Very well, Mrs. Pilton, I leave it entirely to you," he agreed hastily.

"Thank you, sir."

"Now, Sabrina, you're overwrought and hysterical." Aunt Effie laid an urgent arm about her. "I want you to come along to your room and lie down quietly till dinner time."

Thwarted, rebellious, convinced of some deliberate conspiracy against herself, and against Hilary if it came to that, Sabrina allowed Aunt Effie to lead her away towards her own room. She glanced back from the top of the stairs, and saw George reaching to draw the curtains across the sunny window by the desk, and noticed how his coat pulled in ugly straining wrinkles across his ugly fat back.

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

IT MAY have something to do with the weather, but for some reason or other I don't seem to be able to take anything very seriously today.

BRANDEIS

Goodness knows, the headlines are scary enough.

War may break out any minute, says one of them. But then again it may not, say I to myself.

There is another hurricane in Florida. It may strike Connecticut tomorrow. But then again it may not, say I to myself.

Maybe it is approaching old age, but I can't get myself all riled up about possibilities and perhapses any more.

I guess I feel a little like Faris el Khouri, the United Nations delegate from Syria, who had said something in a fiery address that had made Vishinsky of Russia mad.

So Vishinsky got up and, with his usual vehemence, yelled his head off and called Faris el Khouri all kinds of names.

With wild gestures he pointed at Khouri accusingly only to find that the Syrian delegate was fast asleep in his chair.

Alexander Parodi of France nudged him back to wakefulness—but Vishinsky's ranting had lost all of its power. The other delegates smiled; Vishinsky sat down in futile disgust and, I suppose, El Khouri went back to sleep.

I also feel a bit sorry for both Truman and Dewey, who are trying so hard, one to stay in the White House, the other to get there.

I'd like to look in on the Trumans some time late in the evening when President Truman is just Harry Truman, sitting in his socks to give those weary feet a rest.

I can just hear him say to Bess, "Gosh, those feet of mine hurt me, and my hands are all swollen from having ten thousand people shake them all day."

And Bess might well reply: "Yes, sometimes I wish we were back in Independence and had a little haberdashery store, and Margaret could open a little studio over the store and give singing lessons to the local kids."

THEN there is Dewey, Dewey the immaculate. Dewey the formal. Dewey the orator. Dewey with every hair of his mustache in its proper place and every thought of his a lofty one.

But now it is evening. Dewey is tired. Dewey is no longer the Governor of New York and the Presidential candidate, but Dewey the human being.

I wonder whether Dewey goes to the icebox at night and looks for a snack before going to bed.

I wonder whether Mrs. Dewey, the gracious one, ever takes down her hair like your wife and mine and tells him he should buy his socks a half size larger so they wouldn't get so many holes in

AS FINAL VOTE NEARS

HST On Spot In Texas

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — President Truman's unwanted wooing of former Vice President John Nance Garner on his recent pilgrimage through Texas reveals vividly the White House fear that the Lone Star's twenty-three electoral votes may be lost through the combined assault of Governor Thomas E. Dewey and the Thurmond-Wright States Rights ticket.

Although Mr. Truman has advocated many of the extreme New Dealish policies which led to the sensational break between Mr. Garner and Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee made several desperate attempts to persuade the distinguished Texan, now eighty years old, to stump the vast spaces of the Southwest on the presidential campaign train.

TUCKER

In a letter from Washington several weeks before his arrival in this territory, Mr. Truman requested Mr. Garner to ride the train from El Paso to Oklahoma City.

Besides making back platform appearances, it was hoped that the former Speaker and Vice-President would say a few helpful words for the President. Mr. Garner, who never leaves Uvalde these days because of his age, did not even answer this communication.

DOUBLING: But Mr. Truman was not to be put off. In a subsequent telegram, he notified Mr. Garner that he was arriving for one of the latter's famous breakfasts.

The hospitable squire of Uvalde played an excellent host, serving every sort of dish from "moaning doves" to sausages and eggs. But not once did he discuss 1948 politics, or even ask Mr. Truman about the progress of his campaign.

When the President could not persuade Mr. Garner to accompany him on his Texas tour, he gathered up Representative Lyndon Johnson, who defeated Coke Stevenson in the senatorial primary by eighty-seven votes out of almost 1,000,000 cast.

The shift caused some eyebrow-lifting, for Mr. Johnson in some respects supports policies Mr. Garner opposes. It is said that Mr. Truman lost perhaps 200,000 votes among Texas conservatives and States' Righters by doubling with the young member of the House.

POLL: Many Texas Democrats, including politicians friendly to the President, are making small bets that the President will not obtain a majority of the November 2 vote, and therefore, will lose these twenty-three important pieces of paper. They make this prediction in face of the fact that Franklin D. Roosevelt always swept the state, and that it went Republican only in the Al Smith year of 1928.

They question a recent public opinion poll which gives sixty-one per cent to Mr. Truman twenty-three to Dewey, eight to Thurmond, three to Wallace and five undecided.

In their opinion, a more accurate estimate would be at least thirty per cent for the Republican nominee, fifteen or more for Thurman and possibly three for Wallace. In such a lineup, Mr. Truman could easily lose the state, if there is a large number of Democratic stay-at-homes.

G.O.P. strategists have taken note of this anti-Truman threat, and have routed their topnotch speakers into Texas in the closing days of the contest. Their star speaker was Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio. Moreover, since the days when his father sat in the White House, the Tafts have always been popular in Mr. Garner's ranch country.

PENSION: The two men whom the Democrats have assailed most violently in the current campaign—Herbert Hoover and Senator Taft—happen to be the principal advocates of a pension for former Presidents, with a defeated Mr. Truman's possible need for a steady income after January 20 as the main reason for their immediate interest in the project. Here is the story:

At a recent Gridiron dinner the program had a skit referring to the White House shortage of funds, meaning political cash. But Mr. Truman took it as a reference to his own status, and confided to a friend that at that moment he was $17,000 in debt.

This word was relayed to Mr. Hoover at a luncheon in connection with the Gridiron festivities, and he promptly declared himself in favor of a generous pension.

He pointed out that he did not need the money, and it is understood that he turned over his salary to charity. But he added that in these days of high taxes only a wealthy man could afford the presidency, which he regarded as unfair and undemocratic. There is talk that Mr. Hoover may include this provision in the report on government reorganization which he will submit to the next Congress.

SAVED: Senator Taft has not introduced a pension measure, but he is understood to have discussed it with Capitol Hill colleagues. The only proposal of recent years was submitted by Representative C. Jasper Bell of Missouri, but it has gathered dust in the House Judiciary committee. It provides $50,000 a year, retroactive from the date of enactment.

Contrary to general beliefs, Mr. Taft does not favor the idea because of his father's financial difficulties. William Howard Taft declined an offer by Andrew Carnegie to establish a trust fund that would give a life annuity of $25,000 to ex-presidents and their widows on the ground that it would prove embarrassing to a Chief Executive during his tenure of office.

Former President Taft, however, did not have to pay heavy Roosevelt-Truman taxes. In only four years he saved $100,000 out of his salary. He also had $150,000 in notes and mortgages, which brought him an anual income of $8,000. Washington property worth $15,000 and $60,000 in life insurance. His salary as a Yale professor gave him an additional $5,000 a year.

Democrats resent this pension-for-Truman talk on the ground that it makes good Republican propaganda. But the fact is that Mr. Hoover and Senator Taft agreed on the scheme at a time when the President's popularity was at its peak.

LOUISIANA POLITICS EXPLAINED

States' Righters Will Benefit

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

NEW ORLEANS. — Every so often you can go right to the nub of a political situation that otherwise might be baffling by ferreting out a forceful character who combines politics with business. Knows what he wants, and knows how to operate politically to get it.

Such in Louisiana politics just now is Leander B. Perez, attorney general of Plaquemines parish who is recognized as the real boss of the Louisiana Democrat organization which includes two of the old Huey Long clan — Huey's brother, Earl, who is governor, and his son, Russell Long, who will be the new United States senator from this state in the next Congress.

Mr. Perez is the power behind the Dixiecrats movement in this state and his direction of it and his use of the regular organization to promote it explains why the betting today is that the Dixiecrats will run first in this state in November, with a scramble for second place between President Truman and Governor Dewey. It is possible that Mr. Truman may wind up third.

State Control Sought

Mr. Perez's business interests, furthermore, explain the economic influences behind the Dixiecrat campaign which, as anybody might guess who knows anything about Louisiana politics, include oil, always a major factor in the state's politics.

Here in replica, too, is a diagram of the Dixiecrat movement as a whole and what is back of it as pointed out often here before. It is based upon exploitation of so-called "states' rights" and the racial issue to serve selfish private interests, including oil, utilities, textile and finance, among others, to end once and for all any threat from New Dealism that Harry S. Truman took over from Franklin D. Roosevelt. New Dealism stands for a watchful eye from Washington on natural resources, such as oil and electric power, to protect the public and a watchful eye to see that other industrial interests protect workers and preserve competition. State Rights means leaving such matters to the less watchful and more easily controlled state governments, which is what the powerful economic interests behind the Dixiecrats movement want.

The big issue here is state rather than federal control of oil-bearing tidelands in which Louisiana is so rich. Plauquemine parish, of which Mr. Perez is the political overlord, embraces that section of the delta about the mouth of the Mississippi river and is reputed to have more miles of coast line than it contains square miles in its entirety.

Mr. Perez is interested in oil, among other holdings, his has been one of those careers in politics that is paradoxical but, after all, not too unusual. He started out in politics as a reformer, but eventually he became involved in those complex business arrangements that go along with politics, particularly in this state, and now he is powerful in both business and politics, a winning combination. His dominant political interest just now is state rather than federal control of tidal oil lands.

The Truman administration is for federal control. Mr. Truman, therefore, must be driven from the White House at all costs to protect the oil interests here and in other southern states that have coastal lands.

Campaign Is Pushed

Mr. Perez has a nice prescription to take care of that. It is to draw as many votes as possible away from the President to the Dixiecrats so that, with others that are drawn off by the Republicans, also a strong "States' Rights" party here, Harry Truman will be completely frozen out. He has enlisted a considerable part of the regular Democratic organization here in that little plot through his influence and organization is whipping the small fry leaders into line. Whether he knows it or not, or approves of it, Governor Dewey is being represented here by Republicans as a strong "staterighter" who is sympathetic to state rather than federal control of tidal oil lands. The Republican candidate has taken no position publicly on this issue.

It was Mr. Perez who was behind the action of the state Democratic committee some weeks ago in ruling President Truman off the ballot, a matter that since has been rectified by a special session of the legislature called by Governor Long. The Truman-Barkley ticket has been given the ballot symbol of a donkey, rather than the familiar rooster which was appropriated by the Dixiecrats and which is so much the stamp of the regular Democratic ticket in this state that it is believed many voters who want to cast their ballots for the President will cast them under the rooster by mistake.

It was Mr. Perez too, who was behind the boycott by regular Democratic organization leaders of the recent meeting here for Senator Alben W. Barkley, Democratic vice presidential candidate, for which only about 500 persons turned out.

There is no organized political campaign here for the national Truman-Barkley ticket. President Truman will get strong support from labor and from negroes but obviously this will be in the minority.

'em, with all the running around he does.

It doesn't really matter an awful lot who sits in the White House, as far as I am concerned.

Being a very naive sophisticate I still believe in rule by the people, and thus I believe that the fellow who gets into the White House is the fellow we deserve.

Oh, I remember now why I can't take anything very seriously today. I passed a cemetery this afternoon with hundreds of graves of people, many of whom had been quite important during the forty or fifty or seventy years of their lives.

And that cemetery was flanked by trees hundreds of years old and all still very much alive.

it is to be understood with the donor that such material not suitable for shipment overseas may be transferred into suitable material for export for relief, or used to defray legitimate expenses, which include administrative and transportation costs. Decisions as to the suitability for export shipments are left with CROP and the cooperating agencies.

Since its organization, CROP assembled and shipped overseas during the seven months ending last April a total of 38,726,273 pounds of relief supplies, including 22 different items valued at $2,350,311.83, Holmes said.

Sherrill and Miss Clara Pratt, county home demonstration agent, called the meeting jointly, and are working with the steering committee in organizing CROP locally.

mary campaign. The state law limits expenditures to $6,000. Kerr has denied the charge.

Aside from the Senate race, eight congressional posts will be filled in Oklahoma. All but two are held by Democrats, who figure they'll lose no ground in the lower house.

Republicans, encouraged by the Democratic family row over States' Rights, have made a lively bid for Texas protest votes. They have sent both Earl E. Warren, their vice presidential nominee, and Harold E. Stassen there for campaign speeches.

President Truman did not overlook the Texas situation either. He spent three days vigorously stumping the state.

The heated battle between Rep. Lyndon Johnson and former Governor Coke Stevenson over the party's senatorial nomination didn't help Democratic matters.

Stevenson lost by 87 votes in the primary runoff for the seat vacated by Senator W. Lee O'Daniel. He charged election frauds, went to federal court in an effort to keep Johnson's name off the ballot and lost in the Supreme Court.

He threw his support to Jack Porter, Republican nominee.

STOCKS IN SMALL LOSSES

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. (AP)—Steels were under selling pressure today in a generally lower stock market.

Prices throughout the list were off by fractions to around two points, and steel shares as a group showed the widest decline.

Motors were active but held fairly steady as a whole. Rails eased without much activity. Chemicals and aircraft turned mixed while oils and utilities were down.

A number of individual shares influenced by special factors such as earnings reports and dividends, ran sharply counter to the lower movement.

A mixed opening changed into a retreat before mid-day, but this was halted by a short-lived rally. For the remainder of the session, stocks dropped small fractions. The close, however was better than the lowest points of the day.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .4 of a point to 70.6, only 4 of a point under the July 15 level which was equalled Saturday.

Declining issues included U. S. Steel 86¾ off ⅝, National Steel 112⅛ off 1⅝, Youngstown Sheet and Tube 87 off 1¾, Bethlehem 39⅝ off ⅝, General Motors 64⅜, Chrysler 61¼, Santa Fe 117⅛, Northern Pacific 20¾, Standard Oil (NJ) 80 off ⅝, Gulf Oil 73⅝ off 1¼, Goodyear 49¼, Montgomery Ward 58⅞, Mathieson Chemical 40⅝, off 2⅛, International Paper 54⅝, American Woolen 42⅜ off 1⅛, and Anaconda, American Smelting, and International Nickel, all off ⅝.

Gaining were Studebaker 26½ up ⅝, Allied Chemical 192 up 2, Caterpillar Tractor 87½ up 1⅞, Douglas 60⅝ up 1⅛, Philip Morris 37 up 1⅛ and Atlantic Coastline 58½ up ⅛.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) — Cotton futures drifted lower today in slow dealings. Scattered liquidation and hedging were absorbed through scale-down mill buying. The lack of fresh developments in spot cotton and textiles and the withholding movement among producers for better prices contributed to the dullness in the futures market.

Traders generally looked for a decline of about 25 points in the mid-October cotton parity compared with September. The parity announcement is due this Friday.

Cotton weakened in a late flurry of liquidation and hedging which dropped prices sharply into new low ground for the day. The trade was the principle buyer. The renewed confusion over the foreign situation and the lack of fresh developments in the cotton situation accounted for part of the selling.

Futures closed 25 to 85 cents a bale lower than the previous close.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (AP) — Wheat inched up into new high ground since July on the board of trade today. There was nothing spectacular about the bread cereal's advance, but it made up in steadiness for what it lacked in fireworks.

The firmness of wheat aided some other cereals, although corn was weak most of the day.

There was little pressure against wheat. Traders noted the government took 1,441,911 bushels of cash wheat last week-end, continuing its persistent buying. Some wheat also was going abroad through private export channels. Holland buying a cargo over the week-end.

Wheat closed ⅞-1⅛ higher, December $2.29¾-⅞, corn was ¼ lower to ⅝ higher, December $1.37¾-⅞, oats were unchanged to ⅛ higher, December 77.

Demo Control Of Senate Would Give Dixie Solons More Power

By WARREN DUFFEE
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25. — If the Democrats win their nip-and-tuck battle to control the Senate, the conservative southern bloc will have a bigger say-so than ever in party legislation.

Six of the 15 permanent chairmanships probably would fall to deep south senators under Senate seniority rules. Two others would be ticketed for so-called border state members.

Would Hold Key Spots

Although a westerner, Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada, would take over the judiciary committee which handles civil rights bill, the Dixie senators still would be in powerful spots to bargain against them.

Should the Democrats take the Senate but lose the presidency, their vice-presidential nominee, Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, would be a key figure in their future plans.

The Democrats then would elect the Senate president pro tempore, and Barkley would be their logical man. But the job is largely honorary with few real duties, and Barkley may feel he could wield more influence as party floor leader. In that case, 78-year-old Sen. Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee, the senior Senate Democrat, likely would get the President pro tempore post.

Connally Would Move Up

McKellar, who was Senate president from 1945 to 1946, would take over the important appropriations committee from Republican Styles Bridges of New Hampshire if the Democrats win.

Sen. Scott W. Lucas of Illinois, now Democratic whip, likely would move up to floor leader if Barkley were named president pro tempore.

The vital foreign relations committee would go by seniority to Sen. Tom Connally of Texas, who was chairman before Republican Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan took over in 1946.

Southerners also would be in line to head Senate committees on finance, executive expenditures, post office and civil service, and the District of Columbia.

Sen. Millard E. Tydings of Maryland is ranking Democrat on the Armed Services committee.

Another border stater, Sen. Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, probably would regain his long-time chairmanship of the Agriculture committee in event of a Democratic victory. Thomas was under fire several months ago for grain speculation, but an investigation by Ferguson's sub-committee never reached the hearing stage.

On the important joint Atomic Energy committee, Sen. Brien McMahon, (D-Conn), would replace Republican Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa as the Senate's senior member—and probable chairman.

Details Of $10,000 Mule Bite To Be Aired In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Oct. 25. (AP)—Details of a $10,000 mule bite are scheduled to be aired in federal court here at 10 a. m. Friday.

That's the sum a Greek, B. C. Hadjiolos, wants for personal injuries allegedly sustained when a mule from Texas he had considered friendly up to then bit him.

The biting affray took place in Greece where a shipment of mules had been sent by the Ross Brothers Horse & Mule Co.

The suit by Hadjiolos was filed against Waddy R. Ross, head of the local concern. Hadjiolos is contending the mules were not represented as vicious.

Race With Stork Is Won By 13-Minute Margin In Houston

HOUSTON, Oct. 25. (AP)—A race with the stork was won by a margin of 13 minutes last night.

But it took two quick-thinking ambulance drivers to do the trick.

At 9:10 p. m. one driver picked up Mrs. Ricardo Romeriz, 32, to carry her to Herman hospital.

At 9:20 p. m. the ambulance collided with an automobile and the ambulance was damaged too much to continue the emergency run. The driver and Mrs. Romeriz were not injured.

The accident happened in front of a funeral home and Mrs. Romerez was transferred to another ambulance which arrived at the hospital at 9:45 p. m.

Mrs. Romerez and a baby girl, born at 9:58 p. m., are doing fine.

Pipeline Firm Loses High Court Appeal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25. (AP)—The Supreme court today refused to review protests of Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. against government authorization of a competing natural gas pipeline into the Detroit, Mich., area.

The certificate was issued by the Federal Power commission to the Michigan-Wisconsin Pipe Line Co. for the proposed new pipeline from the Hugoton gas field in Texas. Besides the Detroit-Ann Arbor section, the company was authorized to transport gas to Wisconsin, Missouri and Iowa.

Proceedings Opposed

Panhandle fought the proceedings before the commission, claiming the Michigan service would cut down its own right to serve the area. Panhandle has transported gas to eastern Michigan for resale since 1935.

The commission said Panhandle had not adequately shown it was able or willing to meet the expanding needs of the eastern Michigan market. When the certificate was approved, Panhandle charged some of the commissioners with prejudice.

Panhandle took its objections to the U. S. court of appeals here and that court upheld the commission. Panhandle appealed to the supreme court.

Opposing the appeal, the commission said its orders adequately protected Panhandle's interests in the Michigan market.

DIVIDEND DECLARED

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. (AP)—Directors of Humble Oil & Refining Co., Houston, today declared a dividend of $1.25 a share on the common stock, payable Dec. 10 to stock of record Nov. 10. This brings 1948 payments to $4 compared with $3 in 1947.

Cranberry Cookery

by Carol Reed

"Take a red berry on the tangy side . . ." says Sammy Kaye in his new song hit, "Cranberry Bounce." Good idea! We'll take it, especially since cranberries and canned cranberry sauce are so reasonably priced!

Keep a supply of Jellied and Whole-berry sauce in your pantry ready to serve with chicken, veal, fish, or any meat . . . Ocean Spray brand of course for quality, because it carries Good Housekeeping and Parent's Magazine Seals of Approval.

No need to tell you how delicious cranberry sauce is with chicken, turkey, or other meat, but for something a little more special, try these delicious . . .

Molded Cranberry Salads . . .

To 1 can of Ocean Spray Cranberry Sauce (either Jellied Sauce or Whole Sauce) Add 1 orange, which has been put through food chopper (pulp and rind). Soak 1 envelope unflavored gelatin in ¼ cup cold water 5 minutes. Place over hot water until gelatin dissolves. Add to cranberry-orange mixture. Pour into one large or 6 individual molds and chill until firm.

And for additional cranberry dishes to bring applause from your family, just drop a card to me at this address . . . Carol Reed, Cranberry Kitchen, Hanson, Massachusetts.
