FINAL MESSAGE OF PRESIDENT GIVEN TODAY

BITTERNESS LACKING

Curtis and Robinson Like Other Recent Foes Are 'Friends As Ever'

By THOMAS WRIGLEY
Universal Service Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Congress set sail at noon today for the last legislative voyage of the 70th session, cleared its decks to receive President Coolidge's final message tomorrow and trimmed its gear for three months of stormy debate.

One of the most momentous sessions in history was fairly launched. Boulder dam, which comes before the senate at once for a final showdown, the "big navy" cruiser bill, the Kellogg-Briand pact for the renunciation of war, farm relief, tariff revision, and the multitude of appropriation bills await action.

Packed galleries in both houses saw the opening. It was harmonious as a Rotarian rally as victors and vanquished of the late presidential campaign clasped hands and clapped each other upon the back. Tomorrow, however, battle lines will be drawn and the last congressional session of the Calvin Coolidge administration will witness many a fight to a finish in the rush to jam through legislation.

Procedure Perfunctory

The procedure in senate and house was largely perfunctory today. Promptly at noon Vice-President Dawes in the senate and Speaker Longworth in the house rapped for order. Prayer was followed by the calling of the roll.

In the senate majority leader Curtis and minority leader Robinson were chosen as a committee to notify the president that the session had begun. In the house majority leader Tilson, minority leader Garrett and Representative Hawley chairman of the ways and means committee, were similarly chosen.

Three members in the senate took the oath of office and were seated with customary honors, John Thomas, Republican of Idaho, Arthur H. Vandenburg, Republican of Michigan, and Otis F. Glenn of Illinois. Seven new members were sworn in the house.

RADIO VS. CHURCH

Mangum, Okla., Pastors Aroused Over Slump In Worshipers

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., Dec. 3.—A quiet Sunday evening, spent in a comfortable chair, next to a radio bringing music and lectures from every spot on the globe.

This habit, a new acquisition of the majority of the people, has aroused the ire of the clergy of Mangum.

Most of the pastors recently issued statements disapproving of the lack of attendance at church, and blamed the Sunday evening radio programs.

TEXAS CAUCUS BACKS GARNER

Believe Solon Should Be On Committee

By CHARLES S. HAYDEN
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The Texas delegation in the house is a unit in its belief that Representative John N. Garner, if and when is is elected minority leader to succeed Representative Finis J. Garrett of Tennessee, should hold his place as ranking minority member of the ways and means committee as well.

This was a decision reached by the Democratic members from Texas in a caucus of the delegation held late Monday afternoon. It was pointed out there is ample precedent for it, since that is the position held by the late Representative Claude Kitchen when he served as minority leader. Moreover, it was urged, that with a general revision of the tariff impending, probably at a special session next spring, there is no one on the Democratic side so well equipped to protect the interests of the party as is Congressman Garner.

There is more than a probability that the chance to select Congressman Garner leader will come to the Democrats of the house at a near date. It is known that President Coolidge is seriously considering the selection of Representative Garrett, the present leader, as a member of the United States court of customs appeals, a position paying $12,000. There is a Democratic vacancy on that bench at present and as Congressman Garrett is retiring from public service at the expiration of his present term, having made an unsuccessful race for the senatorial nomination in his state last summer, his friends have been urging his qualifications for the judicial position. Should he be so named Congressman Garrett has told intimate friends he probably would resign his seat in the house immediately upon confirmation.

The action of the Texas delegation today was taken to set at rest questions which some of the members have raised as to whether or not Mr. Garner should retain his place on the ways and means committee in the event he is chosen leader. The action in the delegation was unanimous and it is believed it will meet with the approval of their Democratic colleages from other states.

BOX SUCCEEDS LATE MR. OLDFIELD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. (AP)—House Democrats turned today to Texas for a new assistant leader, selecting Representative John C. Box to fill the post left vacant on virtually the eve of the new congress by the death of William A. Oldfield of Arkansas.

The session of congress was only a few minutes old when Representative Garrett of Tennessee, party leader in the house, announced selection of Box to serve until March 4. Between now and that time, Democrats in the house will hold a caucus to determine on new leaders for the next congress, the 71st.

Whether Box will be chosen to continue in his present post is regarded as problematical.

ELECTION BET SLAYING TRIAL FANS MIFFED

Slow Selection of Jurors Prevents Disclosure Of Spicy Testimony

THREE MEN CHOSEN

Bartlett Farmer Accused Of Slaying Banker At Street Corner

DALLAS, Dec. 3. (AP)—Questions concering the Ku Klux Klan and church affiliations held major interest as selection of a jury to try V. Ray Adams, Bartlett farmer, for the slaying of Orville Mathews, allegedly as the culmination of disputes over a $1,000 election bet, dragged slowly along here today. Three jurors had been chosen when court was adjourned until tomorrow.

Reluctant Stakeholder

Mathews was shot down on a busy street corner here during the early morning rush Sept. 1. He was stakeholder, a reluctant one, it is said, for $1,000 put up by Adams, betting on Congressman Tom Connally, and $1,000, said to have been wagered by Ben C Richards, former klan leader, on Senator Earl B. Mayfield in the run-off campaign for the United States senate. When Adams sought to collect the $2,000 "pot," after Connally's victory, he was told the money had been paid to another, and shown telegraphic and written authorization for such payment. Adams asserted the orders for payment were forged.

The jurors selected came from 35 veniremen examined during the day out of a list of 300. One of those summoned as a prospective juror was Victor Poisson, shot in the mouth and slightly injured in the fusillade that killed Mathews. He has filed suit against Adams for personal injuries received. Poisson notified the court he would be present in his capacity as a witness in the case.

Delay Expected

Jurors selected today were J. E. Conoly, a Catholic, express company employe; F. M. Vickery, street car motorman, and T. L. Primm, employe of a vacuum cleaner firm. The state and defense each has three peremptory challenges, and indications are that several days will be required to make up the jury. Defense counsel questioned veniremen sharply as to whether they owed obligations to anyone that would influence them in arriving at a verdict. State's attorneys inquired as to church affiliations and whether veniremen were regular attendants.

Drawn by the possibility of sensational testimony involving persons of high standing not heretofore mentioned, many spectators thronged the courtroom today, somewhat disappointed at the tedious process of selecting jurors.

Today was the third time the case has been called for trial.

The parents state that the left leg has been slightly shorter than the right leg since he was punished by the school teacher.

UPTON BANK CASE RETURNS

Travis Court Sends Dumas And Woods Back

AUSTIN, Dec. 3. (AP)—The cases of J. H. Dumas and Carl F. (Red) Woods, charged with murder and conspiracy to murder in the slaying of two men in Rankin, Upton county, last spring, in an alleged attempted bank robbery, today were sent back to Upton county.

Judge Hamilton of the district court held his court was without jurisdiction, after Woods alleged that he had never been arraigned on the indictment and was not even under arrest at the time the case was ordered transferred on a change of venue from Upton county to Travis county.

Arrested in Missouri

Woods alleged that he knew nothing of the indictment until after the case had been transferred to Travis county. He was arrested in Missouri after the change of venue had been ordered and was brought to Austin and placed in jail, where he had been since last April, he claimed. He said he had never been arraigned on the indictment before the Upton county district court.

The indictment resulted from an investigation conducted by Ranger Captain Frank Hamer, who asserted there existed a "ring" to collect rewards offered by the State Bankers' association for "dead bank robbers" he began his investigation after two men were slain in front of the Rankin bank.

Two Men Killed

A man by the name of Miller and one whose identity was never established were killed.

The case was called in the Travis county court on Nov. 12, but continued until today when Dumas failed to appear. Dumas' bond of $2,500 was ordered forfeited, but was reinstated a few days later when he appeared in court and said he did not know the case had been set for Nov. 12.

A special venire of 100 men and 40 witnesses were in court today when the case was called.

COMMISSION TO ACT FOR RULER IS APPOINTED

Illness of King George Is Cause of Action For Crown Board

IMPROVEMENT SHOWN

Condition of Heart Still Causes Anxiety For Physicians

LONDON, Dec. 3. (AP)—The Daily Mail says decision has been reached to appoint a commission to act for the king, as was done when his majesty was absent from England after his illness in March, 1925. Discussion of the commission had been in view several days, the paper adds, and the decision was based on the present serious character of the sovereign's illness.

It was stated authoritatively at Buckingham palace at 10:30 tonight that the slight improvement in the condition of the king indicated in the evening bulletin still was maintained. Sir Stanley Hewett was the only physician remaining at the palace and it was understood that no midnight bulletin would be issued.

Heart Causes Fear

Four of the five doctors who have been called into consultation on the illness of King George tonight signed a bulletin stating that the condition of his majesty's heart still was causing anxiety.

Although this was the disquieting feature of an otherwise favorable report, the ever-growing crowds that gathered outside the palace to await the evening bulletin found little in it to lessen their anxiety.

Some comfort was obtained, however, from the fact that the physicians made their report after only a normal time for examining their patient.

The evening bulletin, signed by Lord Dawson, of Penn; Sir Stanley Hewett, Sir E. Farquhar Buzzard and Sir Humphrey Rolleston said: "A slight improvement in his majesty's condition noted this morning has been maintained. His temperature is near normal, but it is necessary to emphasize that the anxiety concerning the heart still persists."

Queen Bears Up

Queen Mary, for the first time since the king became ill, failed to take her usual drive this afternoon. It was understood she had been up the greater part of the night and those around her urged that she would obtain some sleep during the day in order to keep up her strength through the ordeal.

Her majesty was said to bearing up with fortitude.

Death Ranch Owner Signs Written Confession to Beheading Youth

Gordon Northcott Signs Death Story After Guarantee of Right to Plead Guilty in Court Today

RIVERSIDE, Calif., Dec. 3 (US)—Gordon Stewart Northcott tonight made a written confession that he killed Alvin Gothea at the Wineville chicken ranch last January 30, officials in charge of the case announced.

He also admitted severing Gothea's head from the body, which was found near Puente last Feb. 1, it was stated. He said Sanford Clark helped him saw off the head.

To Plead Guilty

The confession was made with the stipulation that Northcott be permitted to plead guilty in superior court here tomorrow morning, to which Deputy District Attorney Earl Redwine of Riverside county agreed in writing.

Three hours after the accused youth today told investigators that his father, Cyrus Northcott, was guilty of killing little Walter Collins, Lewis and Nelson Winslow and the unidentified Mexican whose body was found near Puente, father and son met at the Wineville chicken ranch for the first time since the expose of the alleged activities.

Avoid Each Other

Each bore a strained expression; their greetings were those of casual acquaintances. They avoided each other when the guards, who had taken them to the place to aid in the search for further evidence, permitted.

Northcott's charges that his father was the murderer of the little boys, and of an additional killing heretofore unsuspected, led those in charge of the investigation to state that when an accused person seeks to shift the responsibility to others it invariably is followed by a confession.

Plans for submitting the elder Northcott to a severe cross-examination today were postponed to permit him to accompany officers to the chicken ranch and to aid in the search for graves in the desert.

SMUGGLING OF WHISKY GROWS, REPORT SHOWS

$100,000,000 in Liquor At Bootleg Values Comes From Canada

PROBLEM UNSOLVED

Woman Dry Chief Admits Flows of Booze Gains During Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. (US)—Whisky is flowing across the Canadian border into the United States in "immense" quantities and the problem of checking the flow is still unsolved.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general of the United States in charge of prohibition enforcement, made this frank statement in her annual report submitted to congress today.

Figures compiled by the Canadian department of trade and commerce indicating that at least $24,397,969 worth of liquor, Canadian valuation, found its way across the border during the year ended June 30 were submitted by Mrs. Willebrandt. At the bootleg prices quoted in the United States, this would amount to close to $100,000,000.

75 Per Cent Gain

Whisky shipments alone have increased 75 per cent during the last three years. In 1925, these shipments totaled 665,896 gallons valued at $10,722,988. In 1928, they reached the amazing total of 1,160,002 gallons, valued at $18,683,843. These figures include only whisky imported making no reckoning of other alcoholic beverages.

In theory the Canadian liquor runner clears his cargo regularly through customs, before proceeding to evade the United States customs in making delivery. It is known, however, that not all of the liquor smuggled across the border passes regularly through the Canadian customs. Thus the amount that flowed in was greatly in excess of that which the customs figures indicate.

While the Canadian problem "continues to be unsolved," the record of foreign ship seizures "would seem to indicate that the smuggling traffic from the high seas through the aid of hovering vessels is diminishing," Mrs. Willebrandt said.

370 Ships Seized

Seizures of domestic vessels during the year totaled 370 as against 320 during the preceding year. Of these seizures, 174, or 47 per cent, were made in Florida waters or in that vicinity.

The foreign vessels hovering with supplies of liquor off the coast "continue to be a source of trouble along the seaboards, east, west and south."

On domestic phases of the enforcement problem, Mrs. Willebrandt reported that 55,782 criminal prosecutions were instituted during the past year, making an increase of 15,020 over the year before.

Fewer Aliens Enter U. S. in Past Year

Texas Surgeons Revive Patient After Death by Use of Adrenalin

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Partial success crowned efforts of a group of San Antonio surgeons at a local hospital Sunday when they revived a patient after death and kept him alive for three hours by the use of adrenalin, in the first experiment ever attempted in San Antonio.

Fred Douglas, negro, died Sunday as the result of a bullet wound over the right eye, received Saturday night in a fight.

Under the direction of a leading surgeon, who declined to permit the use of his name, internes and attendants fought for the life of the negro for three hours.

Four injections of the drug, the most powerful heart stimulant known, were used in the attempt. At the first injection the heart failed to renew its functioning but after the third it reacted. A fourth injection was used and although the heart showed response to the drug, the man failed to regain consciousness.

AMERICANS NOT HURT IN CHILE

Embassy Reports Safety of Santiago Staff

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. (INS)—Neither the American embassy nor the staff at Santiago, Chile, suffered injuries during the earthquake in Chile Dec. 1 and 2, according to word received at the state department today from American Ambassador William S. Culbertson.

Damage was slight in Santiago, the center of the loss of life and property having been in Talca.

President Coolidge sent the following message to President Del Campo of Chile at Santiago:

"It is with the deepest regret that I learn of the earthquake which has wrought such widespread destruction and loss of life to the city of Talca and its surroundings On behalf of the people of the United States and in my own name, I wish to extend to your excellency and to the Chilean people an expression of sincere sympathy for the loss which you have sustained."

MRS. DONALDSON GAINS DAILY TAKING ORGATONE

"I've Never Found Anything to Equal It," Declares Wichita Falls Woman

"If I could speak with everybody personally who has stomach and gall bladder trouble," said Mrs. M. T. Donaldson, of 2407 Pennsylvania Ave, Wichita Falls, Texas, "I would advise them to take Orgatone, for I have tried it myself, and have never found anything to equal it. I have suffered with a pain in my right side caused from my gall bladder for the past six years until I thought I would go distracted. The pain would extend from my gall bladder down to my side, the muscles and leaders felt like they were drawn, and many a night the pain was so severe that I could hardly keep from crying. My appetite was very poor and my stomach was so out of order that what little I did eat made me miserable. I suffered terribly from indigestion and would bloat up so badly from the gas on my stomach that I could scarcely breathe, and there was always a dull aching pain in the pit of my stomach.

"But Orgatone has been a wonderful blessing to me and no one could see the change that has taken place in me during the past few weeks and doubt it being a great medicine. All my gall bladder and pains in my side are gone now, and you may know I feel like a new person. My appetite is splendid, I am never bothered with indigestion or gas any more, no matter what I eat, and my color is much better. Now these are my reasons for thinking so well of Orgatone and I will gladly tell anyone who cares to call on me what I have found out by experience about it."

Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other stimulating drugs and is sold in Wichita Falls exclusively by the Allison's Drug store, 716 Indiana Ave., under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative, who is meeting the public daily. Out-of-town customers are being supplied promptly by mail upon receipt of price, one bottle $1.25 or six bottles for $6.25.—Adv.

Big Business Farming Dawns As Era of Improvement for Tillers

Farming Corporation Head Declares Agriculture Is Now Ninety per Cent Engineering; Future Is Bright

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The age of big business on the farms seems to be dawning. Farming in the future will be less a hit or miss affair—less a gamble on the capriciousness of nature.

In the grain belt, the Campbell Farming corporation, which operates 95,000 acres of wheat and flax land in Montana, is one of the early harbingers of the new trend toward the industrialization of farming. In cotton, the vast enterprises headed by Lee Wilson of Wilson, Ark., and L. K. Salsbury of Memphis, Tenn., are symbols too of the new attempt to put farms on a factory cost accounting basis.

Campbell's Philosophy

Here in a nutshell is the business philosophy of the new style farmer, as revealed by Thomas D. Campbell, president of the Campbell Farming corporation: "Modern farming is 90 per cent engineering and 10 per cent agriculture. Farming is a manufacturing business, as well as a type of contracting. It constitutes all the requirements of manufacturing and is at the same time the most interesting type of contracting. A contract with a bonus and penalty clause—a liberal bonus of the work is done within season and in proper time and an almost fatal penalty if the work is done out of season."

Incidentally, in spite of the pre-election attempt to exploit distress on the farms, the actual balloting in the farm states reflected economic realities. In spite of the unevenness of farm conditions, the condition of farmers in general in respect to purchasing power this year was better than in any year since the deflation except 1925. But according to the department of agriculture estimate, farm products in their exchange value with other commodities are still only at 90 per cent of their pre-war value.

Small Farms Survive

Big business men of the farms believe that small farms will survive. Mr. Campbell in the Magazine of Business, adds: "There are but two types of farming under present industrial and economic conditions in the United States; the small farm operated by the farmer and his family without any payroll at all and the large farm operated as a factory with high-priced, skilled employes, factory production methods, technical men and industrial management.

"We will always have the small farm with us; in fact, it is most essential that we do. The small farmer will operate truck gardens and intensified units near our industrial centers where the transportation costs will to some extent offset labor costs. Such include a great portion of our rural population.

"The large farm will operate on less productive land with greater transportation costs and less investment per acre. Practically all the work will be done by machinery with a larger output per man and a resultant higher wage. Lands which are now marginal and unproductive will be profitably farmed through industrialization, as the growth of the population demands it.

Much Idle Land

"There is no proof whatsoever of the Malthus theory that population will multiply faster than the food supply" and the world need have no concern for many centuries in regard to its food requirements. We have literally millions of acres of land in the United States now unused which can be profitably farmed on the factory production basis."

With congress in session, the perennial issue of what can be done for the farmer again arises. Dilettante opinion has already been broadcast. A dirt farmer's views ought also to be considered. Mr. Campbell's remedies are far less spectacular than those of the politicians. "Farming," he points out, "to be a success in the United States, must, along with tariff protection, have a system of accounting and a record of costs. Farming will require the services of technical men to reduce these costs and establish economical units.

"It is positively absurd to think that the same size farm is applicable to all parts of the country, or that the old homestead entry of 160 acres of land is applicable to modern times. Practically all corn farms in Iowa could be successfully operated with a unit of 640 acres.

"Very few farmers give any attention to production costs.

"The great industry of farming is not bankrupt, but it needs reorganization and new ideas."

As farming becomes more efficient, it will become less picturesque. The cartoonist's hick has already disappeared. Good roads, radios and syndicated comment have brought him into step with the slick fellows from the city.

Government should exert leadership in research and in encouraging cooperative marketing for the benefit of the small farmer. Business should be interested in steps to heighten the prosperity and buying power of farmers.

BOOK AWARDS ARE DELAYED

Commission Postpones Its Action to Dec. 17

AUSTIN, Dec. 3. (INS)—The state textbook commission, at a brief session today, decided to postpone decision on textbook contracts until Dec. 17. This was done at the request of Attorney General Claude Pollard in order that he may have time to prepare and submit to successful bidders a questionnaire relative to the price of books sold in other states.

This information is wanted before the commission approves the contracts recently awarded for more than $1,000,000 worth of books. Texas law provides that the state shall not pay a higher price for textbooks than is paid for similar books in other states.

Kansas Denied Suit Dismissal by Court

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. (UP)—A motion by the state of Kansas to dismiss Colorado's suit to settle title to the disputed waters of the Arkansas river was denied without prejudice by the United States supreme court today. The suit now will be considered by the court on its merits. The suit charged that the Finney county, Kansas, water users association and other Kansas irrigation bodies, were seeking by local litigation to prevent Colorado from using the headwaters of the river. Colorado claimed an earlier Kansas-Colorado suit decision gave Colorado full use over the upper stretches of the river.

4 INDICTMENTS IN SEMINOLE

Officials Billed by Jury for Conspiracy

WEWOKA, Okla., Dec. 3. (UP)—Indictments were returned today against four officials of Seminole county by a special grand jury on charges of conspiracy to defraud the county.

Homer Bishop, county attorney, Luther Lane, his assistant at Seminole; Jesse Day, Seminole justice of the peace; and one unnamed official were the four to face the charges.

The indictments were returned before the grand jury recessed Wednesday for the Thanksgiving holidays. They were withheld by W. P. Morrison, special prosecutor appointed by Gov. Henry S. Johnston, until today.

"The charges are not exactly the same as those under which W. C. Lewis, assistant attorney general, conducted a grand jury," Morrison said, when the charges were made public.

"Lewis investigated other acts of Bishop and other officers in connection with cash bonds put up by defendants in justice courts. My charges grew out of admissions made by minor officials concerning the alleged alteration of records by officials. The records were altered, the indictments charge, to cause it to appear cash bonds were taken, when in reality the defendants pleaded guilty and paid fines.

"This is a material difference in the collection by a county attorney of a 25 per cent fee on cash bonds forfeited and the collection of a fee on fines paid on guilty pleas," Morrison said.

Lewis was ordered from the district court room by District Judge George W. Crump, when he was reporting his findings about two months ago on a grand jury investigation he had conducted.

The judge accused Lewis of laxness. He then obtained the governor's aid in appointing a special prosecutor.

In the meantime the attorney general had J. Berry King, assistant, and W. O. Gordon, evidence man, at Seminole and Wewoka conducting a court of inquiry. Morrison and King each has said he was cooperating with the other in the investigations and not overlapping in the work.

The grand jury continued its sessions today.

County Attorney Bishop, who has been the target of Crump's charges, has made counter charges against Crump, which he asked the jury to investigate.

Dictatorial attitude on the bench and political decisions were charged by Bishop.

CONGRESS DIVES INTO SESSION

Smiles and Greetings Are Seen in Chambers

for four departed members of the house were adopted. Hours of meeting were fixed and adjournment followed.

All of this took but 17 minutes in the senate and but little longer in the house. It was all pretty much cut and dried but there was plenty of "color" to interest the multitude of spectators.

In the senate Charles Curtis of Kansas, now vice-president-elect occupied his customary seat as Republican leader. He was the center of all eyes as he took his place and was kept busy shaking hands with members on both sides of the chamber.

There was a ripple of laughter when Vice President Dawes recognized Curtis on a resolution as "the Senator of Kansas." After March 4 next Curtis will wield the stubby little gavel as Dawes successor.

Robinson and Curtis

Truly affectionate was the greeting just after adjournment between Curtis and Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas, his Democratic opponent for the office of vice president. They clasped hands warmly and they stood with arms about each other's shoulders as numbers of senators crowded about them.

"We'll always be friends" they said before the campaign battle. "We're the same old friends" they said today.

Quite a bit of interest centered also, on the senate's "three bad boys" Senators Norris of Nebraska and Blaine of Wisconsin. Progressives who opposed Hoover, and Senator Simmons of North Carolina, Democratic leader of the South who opposed Governor Smith.

No Censure Coming

There will be no senatorial censure meted out. All were warmly greeted by their colleagues. Senator Simmons, seemingly greatly improved in health was the center of a hand-shaking bee in which some of the strongest Democratic supporters of Governor Smith took part.

Thus it appeared, with the hectic campaign now history, there is a disposition to let bygones be bygones. Even the incorrigible Senator "Tom" Heflin, Alabama Democrat, who tirraded against Governor Smith was much in evidence among the members on his side of the aisle, shaking hands vigorously.

Heflin appeared in the usual expanse of white waistcoat and long black frock-coat. His sartorial splendor, however, was fairly eclipsed by Senator Cole Blease, Democrat of South Carolina, who wore a pretty bright scarlet vest and a tie to match.

Same Old Suits

Oustide this innovation, the senatorial garb was much the same as last session. Members who prefer browns, blacks or greys almost appeared in fact to be wearing the same suits.

Just before the senate convened, Secretary of State Kellogg came quietly upon the senate floor and took a seat at the rear. Later he conferred with Senator Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee on the pact for the renunciation of war and with Senator Hale, of Maine, chairman of the naval affairs committee on the cruiser bill.

Both are vital to the administration. It is expected that the cruiser bill, providing for immediate construction of 15 cruisers and one aircraft carrier at a total cost of $274,000,000, will come up for action as soon as the Boulder dam bill is disposed of.

Action on the ratification of the Kellogg-Briand treaty will follow. Senator Borah has called a meeting of the foreign affairs committee Wednesday to take up the pact.

Extra Session Seen

There was a buzz of legislative gossip in both houses over farm relief and tariff revision. Consensus of opinion appeared to be that the short session will be unable to get anywhere with the farm problem and that it is headed straight for an extra session beginning shortly after President-elect Hoover takes office on March 4 next.

A determined effort, notwithstanding, will be made to pass farm relief legislation. Senator McNary Republican of Oregon has a new farm bill ready to be introduced Wednesday which is designed to meet the farm problem without the equalization fee which twice wrecked the old McNary-Haugen bill by presidential vetoes.

Ovation for Connally

There was one hitch to today's program. Senator-elect O. A. Lazarola of New Mexico, elected for the short term failed to arrive to take oath. He is expected Friday. On Dec. 15 Senator-elect Theodore E. Burton Republican of Ohio, now a Representative will be sworn in.

Over the house side, Speaker Longworth was given a rousing reception by the members. Ovations were given Rep. Tom Connally Democrat of Texas, who was elected to the senate. Representative Burton, who will soon resign to take his senate seat, and Major Steadman, Democrat, of North Carolina, the only surviving Confederate soldier in congress.

RED CROSS FUND $4,500

2,000 Members Enrolled In Drive Here

A total of $4,500 has been received by the local chapter of the American Red Cross, according to an announcement made Monday by Mrs. T. B. Smith, executive secretary, and more money is badly needed.

The goal for Wichita county is $7,500, but up to Monday night the roll calls from Electra and Iowa Park had not been heard from.

Members for the year to date total 2,000, while the quota for the county is 3,650.

The great need of the local chapter of the Red Cross was stressed Monday by Mrs. Smith who said that there are a number of local roll calls out that should be turned in.

CHEST FUND TOTALS $45,000

$20,000 More Sought In Final Appeal

Standing at $45,000, the community chest fund must be swelled by $20,000 within a few days to round out the quota of $65,600 sought in the eighth annual campaign. All districts of the city are being reworked by a reserve force of campaigners in an effort to bring forth every dollar needed to materialize the goal.

"We wish to emphasize the fact that pledges payable at later dates are just as acceptable as cash payments in full," A. E. Kelly, campaign director stated at a luncheon of chairmen and workers Monday at the Wichita club.

"We are urging contributors who are able, to give $5 now to pledge the same amount to be paid two or three months later."

Workers are seeking to bring the campaign fund within $5,000 of the total amount sought. It is believed by chest officials that the remaining sum can be raised by popular appeal if more substantial amounts are received in actual donations. Scores of new workers have been called in to relieve others who have been devoting the past week to the campaign, and to inject impetus and fresh initiative into the drive.

New 100 per cent contributors to the campaign include the Falls Sash and Door company, Wichita Falls Lumber and Building company, Moore and Richolt Lumber company, Citizens Lumber company, Fox Worth-Galbraith company, Texas Lumber company, North Side Lumber company, Ray-Massie Lumber company, Miller Lumber company, Bowie and Gaston Sash and Door company, Gulf Production company, American Optical company and Y. W. C. A. Cafeteria.

Santa Claus Fliers Lost

the two airplanes speeding toward the arctic regions was from Rupert House on the coast of Hudson Bay. The wireless received is quoted above.

Did the storm prove unsurmountable? Or did they fly safely through? The fear around The Record News and Daily Times office is that they were forced to land, impairing their wireless system.

All means are being employed by The Record News and Daily Times to locate the missing fliers. Wireless stations have been appealed to, to keep up constant batteries of inquiries through the air in the hope of reaching the lost planes. Ships have been urged to sweep the ocean with giant searchlights. Nothing has been left undone that might uncover this mystery of the air.

Taking off Friday at 4 p. m. from the Wichita Falls Air Transport field the airplane, piloted by "Red" Garland, well known aviator, accompanied by the Dent theaters cameraman, flew to New York where they were met by Captain F. E. Kleinschmidt.

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the people as 10 times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are supplied with the wonderful elixir, so all you have to do is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk 60c for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold fading away like a dream, within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for children as well as adults. Quickest relief for catarrhal croup and children's choking up at night.—Adv.

National Camp Fire Executive To Visit in Wichita Falls Tuesday

Camp Fire girls are enthusiastic over the visit of Miss Ruby Lattimore, one of the three national field workers for the Camp Fire girls. Miss Lattimore has been stationed in Texas from October to January 1. She has had her headquarters in Dallas and has been making field trips to various sections of the country. During the past two summers she has been assisting with national training courses in various parts of the country, and organizing new territories.

RUBY B. LATTIMORE

"I have known Miss Lattimore for over two years, have been with her in Denver, New York, and in Texas and have learned to love her as the capable, conscientious worker that she is. We just couldn't let her leave Texas without having her visit Wichita Falls and seeing our fine Camp Fire Girls and all the fine work they are doing," said Miss Mary McIlheran.

The district-wide banquet for all Camp Fire Girls, their families and all who are interested in Camp Fire to be held at the Wichita club on Friday evening at 7 o'clock is expected to be the biggest thing of its kind ever held in Wichita Falls Camp Fire circles. All Camp Fire Girls who have them will wear the white middies and dark skirts. A color scheme of streamers and caps will be carried out as follows: New members, white, girls who have earned the wood-gatherers' rank will wear brown caps, symbolic of the wood; fire makers will wear flame color, symbolic of the fire which they have kindled figuratively and literally; torch bearers will wear blue and yellow, representing the true blue qualities it takes to complete the highest rank and the yellow for the light of the torch which she carries "undimmed to others."

Parents will wear streamers of red, white, and blue, representing citizenship of patriotism. Council members will wear red caps, guardians caps to represent rank and a purple streamer to represent leadership which helps the girls to "reach the high places that now are but a purple haze on the horizon." Other members of families and friends will wear green streamers to represent their growing interest in Camp Fire Girls. Caps and streamers will be presented at the club Friday evening.

Miss Lattimore will meet with the guardian training course on Tuesday afternoon and with the Guardian association Tuesday evening. She will be honor guest at the banquet Friday night. Other speaking dates and conferences are being arranged by Miss Mary McIlheran, executive.

City Starts Work On Postoffice Paving

Wichita Falls residents watched a paved street plowed Monday. The old pavement was in wood blocks.

The street was the half block on the north side of the postoffice, which is to be laid in brick as soon as repair work is completed to some parts of the base and also to the gutters.

The wooden blocks have been in the street for many years and this year were in such a bag condition they almost stopped traffic.

Bricklayers probably will start their work Tuesday afternoon.

DON'T STAY FAT IN THESE DAYS

You see countless people who have gained new beauty, new health and vim, by fighting excess fat. Some have done this by abnormal exercise and diet, some in a modern, scientific way. Why not follow their example?

There is a way based on scientific research. It combats a cause of excess fat which starvation cannot fight. That method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets, now used for 20 years. Millions of boxes of them. The results you see wherever you look should induce you to accept them.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the reasons for results. So there is no secret, no reason to fear harm. You will know that all the good results come in a natural way. Go learn them now, by asking your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola.

Disparity in Age Makes Greatest Difficulty for Man and Wife

Shall This Girl Marry a Man 18 Years Her Senior?—Why Girls Prefer the Society of Boys—Problem of the Tyrannical Mother.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a young girl engaged to a man 18 years older than myself. He wishes me to marry him immediately, but I am afraid that the difference in our ages is too great. I have a friend who married a wealthy man with about the same difference in their ages. He never takes her anywhere. He never wants any friends to come to the house. He had all his money before she married him, so he always refers to everything as his, and although he is wealthy he gives her only a small allowance. Are all old men like that?

—TROUBLED

Answer: I think 18 years difference in age between a man and woman is entirely too much unless the man happens to be of a very youthful temperament, and the girl is very old and sedate in her ways. Then the two might come together on a platform of mutual tastes and habits, but the average man and woman would find that 18 years made a gulf between them that even with their best endeavors they could not bridge.

There is, in reality, nothing else that makes such a bar between a husband and wife as disparity in age, because we are all the product of the age in which we have been born and reared. That has molded our opinions, our point of view on things, and our characters so that we can no more change them than we can the shape of our noses, or the color of our eyes. Also, to each age belongs certain experiences and interests that grip us at the time, but which we cannot repeat without utter boredom.

This is why people should always marry in their own age class. They should have the same tastes, the same ideas and ideals, the same opinions, they should enjoy doing the same things, and they cannot do this if one is much older than the other.

Take the case you cite as an example of this. The husband is a middle-aged or elderly man. In his youth he had his fling. He enjoyed going to dances, to theaters, to every sort of place of amusement. He likes crowds. He liked the bright lights. Little things amused and entertained him just because he was young and full of the high spirits of youth.

He is tired of all of that now. He is too stiff and old to learn to dance the Black Bottom and the Charleston. The things that used to amuse him bore him stiff. He has to consider his stomach now, and so he would rather eat at home where he can maintain his diet than to dine at a gay restaurant. He is tired at night now and he wants to stay at home instead of running around. All perfectly natural and inevitable. Just a part of growing old.

But the young girl he has married hasn't had her fling. She hasn't had her playtime, and she craves it with every fibre of her being. She wants to dance, to go to place of amusement, to do all the things that her old husband has done and about which he is blase.

He won't take her. He won't go himself and he won't let her go without him, and she sits at home through dull, dreary evenings watching the laughing young married couples she knows going out for a good time, and there is bitterness and rebellion in her heart.

This will most likely be your fate if you marry a man 18 years older than yourself. Don't be misled by the lying old adage about it being better to be an old man's darling than a young man's slave. There are no tyrants so merciless as the old, and no slavery more complete than that of the young woman who is married to an old man.

Far better to marry a poor young man and work up with him than an old man who will make you squander your youth waiting on him and putting up with his whims. A young husband will, at least, have sympathy with you, but an old man will think you foolish and unreasonable to want the pleasures of youth, because they do not appeal to him.

SAFE EXPERTS BAFFLE POLICE

Lock Worked by Thieves In $370 Haul

The most baffling burglary in Wichita Falls in several months occurred Sunday night when thieves escaped with $370 from the Martin Printing company office at 915 Eighth street, according to reports received at police headquarters Monday.

Unlike the greater part of the safe robberies which have occurred here so frequently during the last few months the yeggs did not enter the safe via the knob knocking route but opened the vault by working the combination on the lock. It is believed that the thieves entered the building through an unlocked window and escaped through the rear door.

The robbery was discovered by J. H. Martin, owner of the store, and the janitor when they opened the building about 7 o'clock Monday morning.

Three sacks of potatoes, a six-pound can of cocoa, and several smaller quantities of food were reported to have been taken from Goodner Wholesale Grocery company, 1403 Scott avenue, while L. O. Savage, 1207 Thirteenth street, reported the loss of a bicycle.

No arrests had been made late Monday evening in connection with any of the robberies, according to statements of Chief of Police Frank Burns.

'Rio Rita' Is Given Heavy Applause

By A Record News Critic

"Rio Rita," the musical comedy of the Rio Grande, has come and gone. Monday night this excellent piece was enjoyed by 1,200 Wichitans who crowded the Majestic to capacity. The crowd, noisy and boistrous with approval all through the show, approved the comedy and the music time after time.

Ruth Fulmer as Dolly, Jimmie Lee as Ed Lovett and Charlie Williams as Chick Bean as comedy artists, and Ellen Eckler as the dancer, stole the show if the audience and its applause is any criterion.

Arthur Rogers sang the lead as a Texas ranger, and Lucia Hackley sang opposite him. Their "If You're in Love You'll Waltz" and "Rio Rita" were the song hits of the show.

Wichita Falls got more than it bargained for in "Rio Rita" for it heard good music, well sung, and good comedy, well done. The dancing was of such a quality that Ellen Eckler and the Black and White girls both stopped the show. That is no more than the leading man or woman did.

Fritz Motor Co. Stages Banquet

The entire organization of Fritz Motor company, consisting of 47 members, banqueted at the Kemp Monday evening. Fritz sales organization is divided into two teams, Wild Cats and Tigers. Several short talks on salesmanship and dealer organizations were made. D. L. Fritz expressed his appreciation to the employes. C. O. Fritz acted as toast master for the evening.

The 19 members present heard an address by Dr. Maude Lindsey on "Communicable Social Diseases."

1,500 APPLAUD SHRINE SHOW

Minstrel Commended By Large Crowd

By A Record News Critic

Basing the prediction upon the emphatic commendation of the 1,500 people who were present for the first performance of the 1928 Shrine Minstrel and Vaudeville at the Memorial auditorium Monday night, those who were not there and who have a dollar to spare Tuesday night will be at the auditorium when the curtain rises for the second and last performance.

A well filled first floor, with the audience obviously in a mood for light entertainment, induced a spirited performance from the moment that Kenneth Wharton and Paul Shire opened the first part of the program with a smooth bit of acrobatic work on the mats to the closing number of the evening, "I'll Be Ready When the Great Day Comes," sung by the Wichita Falls male quartet, closed the entertainment.

With 25 feature numbers included in the double program, besides the numerous sallies of humor elicited from the six end men, a review of each artist's performance would be impossible. The first section of the evening's bill consisted of six acts of vaudeville, headed by Honey Boy and Seasafras from station KGKO. "Oriental Extravaganza," directed by Elizabeth Howell, introduced 20 dancing girls, with Charlotte Sutton in the solo role, against a colorful background. Joel McGregor's group of Scotch melodies were given a warm response. Jerry Moffat scored heavily in the "Good Fellowship Club" skit with an effective piece of dramatic reading.

The curtain rising for part two of the program disclosed an impressive circle and chorus of more than 80 voices. The circle appeared in the conventional black and white, while the chorus members wore the Shrine uniform. An ensemble which functioned effectively on the chorus of all specials deserved first mention as a high light of the minstrel proper. Jerry Moffat, L. R. Thurman and Ernest Reeves carried away the honors for pleasing voices. Number thirteen on the minstrel bill, given to Baby Letitia Keith, four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Keith, was not an unlucky selection. Lafty Watson buck and winged his way into unusual applause.

An artist new to Wichita Falls appeared in the person of Miss Elizabeth Gaffield in a nature dance and captured her audience with a performance of great charm.

Guy Rogers directed movements of the cast as interlocutor, while Paul Seed's orchestra supplied the overture and accompaniments.

Sugarless cereal means a fight

A little sweetening does away with an awful lot of trouble

CHILDREN'S meals should not be something to be dreaded. One of the most important of all dieting problems is to get children to eat enough bone-building, health-promoting foods. Ranking among the highest of foods for children are cereals, and yet, as an eminent food authority recently stated it, "Sugarless cereal means a fight."

He went on to advise mothers to make these necessary foods welcome and even looked forward to by the children through intelligent and judicious sweetening. Sugar in itself is the most perfect fuel to furnish energy for active children, and best of all it makes other necessary foods so easily and gladly eaten.

Children should not dread their meals. The wise mother or nurse, by an intelligent use of sugar, can enable children to enjoy all kinds of healthful cereals, fruits, vegetables and milk. Properly sweetened cereals also encourage the child to eat more milk. Sugar is Nature's ideal flavor. The Sugar Institute.

12 KILLED AS PLANE CRASHES

Brazilian Reception Committee Drowned

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 3. (AP)—Twelve lives were lost when the hydro-airplane Santos-Dumont plunged into the harbor of Rio de Janiero today. The machine was carrying a reception committee made up of six Brazilians distinguished in social and political life who were to give first greetings to the homecoming of the noted Brazilian aviator, Alberto Santos-Dumont.

Besides the reception committee, the plane carried two pilots, two mechanics and an official of the Kondor syndicate, owners of the machine, and the latter's wife.

All were carried below the surface except one mechanic. He was picked up by a launch, but died shortly afterwards in a hospital.

Occupants of the hydro-airplane were Prof. Tobias Moscoso, noted hygienic authority; Prof. Antonio Amoroso Costa, an astronomer; Ferdinando Labouriau, director of the Journal Imparcial; Amaury de Medeiros, a deputy from Pernambuco; Prof. Pablo Castro Maia, a representative of the newspaper Journal do Brazil; Senor Agel Raujo, and his wife; an official of the Kondor company; pilots Pachcta and Enel and mechanics Haschaff and Butzhe.

Home-Made, but Ends Bad Cough In a Hurry

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Put this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and soothes away the inflammation. At the same time it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in obstinate bronchial coughs and "flu" coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

TWO CAMPAIGN ISSUES BOB UP

Farm Relief and Tariff Are Foremost in Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. (AP)—The Republican campaign twins—farm relief and upward tariff revision—are bobbing up for attention in congress, even before Herbert Hoover and his newly elected congress get a chance to give them the attention they were promised after next March 4. Overshadowing the unfinished and routine business the tariff revision question comes before the house ways and means committee today for immediate consideration.

Chairman Hawley has called the Republican majority on this committee, which alone has the power to initiate tariff legislation, to decide on a program for consideration of this problem.

Unanimity of Opinion

There seemed to be a unanimity of opinion among Republican leaders that the party was committed to tariff revision as a part of the farm relief program. A decision of the ways and means committee was awaited today on when the promised upward revision should be attempted.

Wrapped up in this question was that of a farm marketing bill and when it should be disposed of and there was plenty of opinion, well divided, as to when this too should be considered.

Many of Mr. Hoover's heartiest supporters in the recent campaign, including such farm bloc men as Senators Borah of Idaho, Brookhart of Iowa, and Representative Dickinson of Iowa, are demanding that the entire farm relief-tariff revision problem be left to the extra session which Mr. Hoover promised in the event that congress did not dispose of it at this short session.

Time Enough, Speaker Says

However, Speaker Longworth of the house says there will be time at this session for action on a farm marketing bill. In the senate, Chairman McNary of the agriculture committee, already has drafted a new farm measure. It has many features of the old McNary-Haugen bill which President Coolidge twice vetoed but it does not provide for the controversial equalization fee as a means of raising funds to meet the cost of marketing surplus crops.

Senator McNary will ask the senate to act on this bill at this session. He will have the support of Senator Capper of Kansas, one of the administration farm leaders. There is a tendency among other party leaders to get action on this as early as possible also.

Hoover Awaited

But there is also a general wish among Republicans to learn the attitude of Herbert Hoover on the new McNary bill and on farm relief legislation in general. With the president-elect far away on his cruise to South America attempts to locate a spokesman for him so far have failed and it is apparent that Mr. Hoover will be besieged upon his return in January for an indication of his wishes on farm relief before any action is undertaken.

There is further dispute as to when the proposed tariff revision should be undertaken. If an extra session is to be held, many want it postponed until fall. Others say it should be begun as soon as the new congress comes into power after next March 4.

THEIR LAST

66 Members of House In Last Session; 40 Lame Ducks

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. (UP)—Sixty-six members of the house, which opened its sessions today, will not return to congress at the next session.

There are 40 "lame ducks" on the roster, and 26 members who did not run for re-election.

In addition to the 66, there are 11 vacancies, caused either by death or resignation. Seven of the vacancies were filled today. Three of the other vacancies probably will remain unfilled because of the tremendous expense of having special elections to fill them.

WITCHCRAFT WAR EXPECTED

Pennsylvanians Aroused by 'Hex' Slaying

YORK, Pa., Dec. 3. (UP)—As the Salem witchcraft practice was brought to an end through violence—burning at the stake—so may western Pennsylvania witchcraft be brought to an end through violence—murder.

Since the slaying of Nelson D. Rehymer and the subsequent confession of two youths and a man that they killed the aged farmer because he refused a lock of his hair to break a "Hex," resentment has grown against beliefs that have prevailed here for years.

John Curry, 14, and Wilbert Hess, 18, confessed and named John Blymire, 28, a witch doctor, as their accomplice. Blymire subsequently confessed.

District Attorney Amos Herman believes enlightenment is needed in York county and therefore is planning a campaign against the belief of witchcraft. He plans to drive out the "Pow-wow" and "Hex" doctors and attempt to educate the believers in these strange rituals against the superstitions.

There are thousands of believers in witchcraft through the county. Many are of German and Dutch descent.

One woman, reports say, is the head "Pow-wow" doctor. She is 60 years old but has every appearance of being 100. She is slight of stature and bent. Her eyes are piercing.

Many of these witch doctors probably will be called for questioning by the district attorney.

Popular resentment against witchcraft among certain classes was shown in the funeral services for Rehymer Sunday. Rehymer was a believer in witchcraft and an active practitioner. The Reverend G. E. Bowersox, pastor of the St. Johns church, in the funeral services prayed for "divine enlightenment so that we may not practice evil arts."

Authorities are looking for two stone jugs which Rehymer was said to have kept. The jugs were believed to have contained about $300. Authorities said young Curry had complained he did not get his "share" although he refused to admit the jugs were stolen.

The coroner said indications were Miss Potoskey was to become a mother.

Dora can't come!

Today, and every day, a lot of women count their time to suffer. As regularly as the months come 'round, comes pain that is borne in silence. "It's Nature," women say. But it isn't!

Women who have always had the hardest time, have no pain at all from the day they discover Midol. Midol is the special preparation of specialists, and is not a narcotic. It does nothing to the menstrual process. It does stop the pain—in five to seven minutes! So it is only common sense to use it. The Day Book of a New Yorker

By GRANT DIXON

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The work of widening Canal street 25 feet on the north side from the Bowery to Mulberry street now going on brings to mind another chapter that is being written in connection with this famous thoroughfare. The present improvement is to facilitate traffic conditions to the Manhattan bridge, which as every person knows who rides or drives a motor car is as now constituted a bottled up thoroughfare at this point.

Probably there is no part of the city that has as much historic importance as Canal street and its environs. The first written records of this spot go back to 1796, when John Fitch ran a steamboat on what was the Fresh Water pond, sometimes called the Collect Pond. This boat had a screw propeller and was able to move about this body of water, that was in spots 60 feet deep. The pond was the rendezvous of all the lovers of the younger generation of the Walloons, Dutch and other settlers.

Fitch was experimenting with his boat, that was 18 feet long and with a beam of six feet. Despite those early day handicaps, the boat was able to make a speed of six miles an hour under the most favorable circumstances. The boiler from which he generated his steam was in an iron pipe. All of this was going on when steam power was an internal joke and everybody seemed suspicious as to just what steam would be good for anyhow. But while the records are dim as to all the details it is certain that Fitch did manage to propel his boat under steam that he generated aboard his vessel.

In 1796 Canal street was known as Duggan Place, named after a fighting Irishman of that name. Streets had been planned and many houses had been erected further up town, away from the marshy section of Duggan Place. Although surveys had been made at Duggan's property and streets planned nothing came of the venture. In consequence of this Duggan was frequently the center of heated arguments with such neighbors as he could get to listen to him. He had property to sell at a right price, but he could not get any buyers because of the water that joined it. Tom Duggan kept up his real estate campaign until he died, but he had no good fortune in the sale of his property. It was not long after that a commission was appointed to handle the problem. Among those recorded as having served were John Jay and Governeur Morris. Their efforts were like solving the traffic problem of today. Every step forward meant two backward. Every plan was wrong apparently.

Finally in 1806 Canal street was laid out with a sluggish stream of water in the center. It was an eyesore but a step ahead. Although progress was slow, it was unanimously decided to fill in the opening with clean earth. This plan was almost immediately abandoned for another that had for its purpose the cleansing of the stream by running water from the East river and emptying it out into the North river. A system of underground pipes was to be the factor in the job, but this too was abandoned. Then the filling plan was revived, with the result that in 1809 a street 100 feet wide was laid out. But in the center was left the stream of water. This open canal in the center was bordered by trees and houses were built back from the curbing, which had a wide driveway on both sides. This condition existed for nearly 50 years later, when it was decided to cover the canal and turn the street into an artery of traffic.

The water section of the old Collect Pond took in a large area of that section. The Tombs Prison stands on a part of the old bottom and the criminal courts building is laid on spiles that were necessary because of the water and boggy conditions found when the foundations were laid. When the East Side subway was constructed through Lafayette street similar conditions were encountered. For years an electric ram carried off water at the corner of Worth and Lafayette streets which had to be diverted from over-flowing into the gut.

Two sisters not yet out of their teens, who live in Brooklyn, decided to play a joke on two boy friends Sunday and invited the fellows, their own age, for a "little walk," which, after 23 miles of wearisome, footsore scramblings over pastures, brooks and hot concrete, convinced the lads that they had been taught an unforgetable lesson.

A Modern Radio Epic

THERE aren't any pirates any more—except in China—and the red Indians of the west live peaceably in reservations, while the cowboy is as prosaic a workingman as the auto mechanic. High adventure has pretty much vanished from our civilization, and the daily life of most of us is devoid of real thrills.

But once in a while we can sit in our living room arm chairs and come face to face with all the suspense and glamor of heroism and death.

The other afternoon—it was a Sunday—the radio stopped being a simple diversion and became a gate through which the idle listener could come in contact with something as intense and desperate as a Viking sea raid.

A blinding snowstorm was sweeping the Middle West. It was cold and there was a howling gale. It was a day that made the stay-at-home glad he could be inside and warm.

Suddenly the radio broke off its musical program. A voice announced that two airmail planes were long overdue. Pilot Tilden Johnson, flying from Cleveland to Louisville, was missing, and so was Pilot Lawrence H. Garretson, flying the transcontinental route west from New York. The radio man asked for information about these planes.

There would be intervals of music and then recurring bulletins. Johnson and Garretson were still missing. Station after station on their routes reported them overdue. Weather reports became worse. The central Ohio region, over which Johnson must be flying, was being lashed by a fierce storm. Conditions were even worse over the Alleghenies, that ominous hurdle that Garretson was trying to clear.

Into thousands of homes, safe and secure and warm, the radio brought the cold breath of tragedy. Somewhere—up beyond those white snow flurries—two anxious men in rocking, swaying airplanes were fighting for their lives. Death, riding the white wings of the storm, was pursuing the air mail. Would the two pilots win?

At last came the end. First a bulletin that a blazing airplane had come down in a field near Massillon, Ohio. A moment of suspense—then the announcement that the plane had been identified. Pilot Johnson was dead. A few minutes later came another brief announcement—Garretson had crashed into a mountain side on the Pennsylvania-Ohio border. He, too, was dead.

We are sheltered and secluded and danger never touches us; but once in a while we can share in the gallantry, the heroism and the tragedy of the young men who fly the air mail. We send our hopes and our sympathies winging after them on their brave swing through the sky, and the experience uplifts us. We confront the elementals and the screen of day-by-day trivialties drops. In spirit we ride with the air mail. The bravery and nobility of the airmen becomes a common possession of the face.

A Martyr to Science

ADD the name of Dr. John Sabin A. von Sochocy of East Orange, N. J., to your list of real heroes.

Dr. Sochocy was a specialist in the use of radio-active materials. He had made extensive researches into the possibilities of their use in the field of medicine; and, in this work, he had, himself been seriously infected by the mysterious radium poisoning.

The other day, after a painful illness of over a year, Dr. Sochocy died—died as a direct result of the radium poisoning. He was a real martyr to science. His researches were of great value; and he himself undoubtedly counted his own death a cheap price for the added knowledge that his work made possible.

Lionel Licorish—Hero

THE stories that surviving passengers of the steamer Vestris have told about the conduct of officers and crew of that ship have been rather ugly. There have been charges of inefficiency, stupidity and downright cowardice. But there is one sailor whom all unite in praising—a West Indian negro with the incredible name of Lionel Licorish.

Here's what he did. Catapulted into the water, he swam to an empty, drifting lifeboat. Then he swam off and picked up a of floating oars. Then he started saving lives. Between 15 and 20 times he jumped into the water to bring some drowning person to safety. He filled his boat and saw to it that everyone in it was rescued.

Among the names of the heroes of the sea, we suggest that room be made for the name of his obscure, heroic negro—Lionel Licorish.

SMALLER DOLLAR BILLS

They are preparing to make one dollar bills, as well as bills of other denominations, smaller, beginning next July 1. Does this mean these elusive pieces of paper money will be harder to get hold on than before, our witty friend asks? However, continuing in this same line of thought, perhaps it will be harder for the other fellow to get hold of them after they're in our possession. Who knows?

EXTENDED BENEFITS OF GOOD CITIZENSHIP

The value of a public enterprise to a city is not confined to the immediate results it represents, but extends even farther in the spirit of cooperation and the faith it produces.

A sound public undertaking, in which citizens join, is worth many times more than its cost because of the value of citizens touching hands and joining efforts in its accomplishment.

Cities are as good as their citizenship. Live citizens, working together, mean a growing town—for without life there is no growth. One accomplishment leads to another—for people come to realize "it can be done."

Nothing can stop a city whose citizens have faith in its future and are willing to work together to make that faith reality.

EXONERATION OF GARNER

Not only in Texas but in Oklahoma and wherever the value of his services to his party and to his country are recognized, there will be satisfaction in the announcement that the charges of election irregularities against Congressman John A. Garner have been disproved by a congressional inquiry.

Congressman Garner for many years has been a leader among Democrats in congress and is one of the best posted men in the house of representatives on tax matters. He has led the fight for several terms for an adjustment of the income tax so as to do justice to the small taxpayer. Whereas the Republican majority, influenced by the policies and desires of Secretary Mellon, has favored revisions which would mainly relieve the very wealthy people of the country. Congressman Garner, as ranking member of the Democratic committee having this legislation in charge, has consistently and effectively held out for relief for the smaller tax payer.

The INN of the HAWK and RAVEN

By George Barr McCutcheon

COPYRIGHT, GEORGE BARR MCCUTCHEON, NEWSPAPER FEATURE SERVICE, NEW YORK

During the summer, Jonifer takes Gerane and his nephew, Peter, to Edelweiss on a pleasure jaunt. They are disguised as gypsies. While there, they see Starcourt acting as the escort of the princess, on her return to the palace. One look at Gerane's face, when she sees Starcourt, tells Jonifer that she loves him. Peter arrives at the same conclusion, and is none too pleased, for he secretly loves Gerane. However he knows he can never marry her, for not only was his father, Jonifer's half-brother, of illegitimate birth, but he himself was born out of wedlock. Jonifer, being the legitimate descendant of the Duke of Droon, who was made an outlaw, many, many years ago, after his attempt to seize the throne, exercises his prerogatives as head of the family in a way that the son of his deceased illegitimate half-brother often finds distasteful. Peter instantly becomes jealous of Starcourt, who, according to a spectator, is about to undertake the extermination of the bandits in the Forest of Droon and has been made a colonel, for he has voluntarily undertaken the task.

Urged on by his mother and his brothers, who hate Jonifer, Peter contemplates a revolt against his uncle's authority.

Jonifer, who on learning that Gerane is in love with Starcourt, makes some secret plans that involve the soldier, takes a trip to Moscow. On his way home, near the Axphain border the stage-coach is held up—not by his men however. The arrival of a troop of soldiers results in the capture of the robbers. This incident serves to inform Jonifer that Starcourt, with 500 picked men, is in the Forest of Droon to run down the Davos band, no matter how long the task keeps him there. Jonifer and his companions,

John Crispo and Jonifer Davos quietly disappear that night and make their way home, realizing that the situation is too serious to permit of their running the risk of capture.

Jonifer's return puts an end, for a time, at least, to Peter's thoughts of rebellion. The chief's next move is an attempt to capture Starcourt in a surprise attack at night. He is defeated, however.

Later, coming upon Starcourt while he is swimming in a mountain pool, Jonifer captures him. The colonel's men believe him to be drowned.

Meanwhile, he is among the robbers in the valley, free to do as he pleases, but unable to escape.

Jonifer tells Gerane that he has captured Starcourt as a birthday present for her. The bandit chief takes it for granted that the soldier will fall in love with his daughter and that they will marry. He is amazed when Gerane, in a fit of rage, says she will marry Peter—anybody but the soldier.

Jonifer, acting on a suggestion of one of his lieutenants, who informs him that Gerane has killed a hawk that Starcourt had hoped to train as a carrier-bird, and thereby get into communication with the outside world, tells his daughter that he is going to have Starcourt executed.

Gerane, although she is not fooled by Jonifer's threat, says the soldier is not to be shot—that she has decided to have his life that he may instruct her in English.

While the Graustark authorities are still making frantic efforts to recover Starcourt's body from the pool in which the sentry was supposedly drowned the minister of police, Baron Dangloss, is informed by one of his men, Peter Corpax, that the Countess Jabassy has in her possession a famous diamond that was taken from a Russian princess in the Forest of Droon by Davos' men. The detective also says that the count and countess are living on a scale that is far beyond their means and asks where the money comes from. He says that he believes the count and countess to be Davos' confederates.

Corpax, disguised as a fruit vender, stops the Countess Katrane on the street, and, taking a long chance, tells her he is a messenger from Jonifer Davos and has been sent to tell her that her connection with the robber band is known to the police. Despite her desperate efforts at self control, Corpax sees how alarmed she is and decides that his suspicions are correct.

As the result of Corpax's report, Dangloss sends officers to bring the count and countess before him. They, fearing that arrest will result in the disclosure of their relations with Jonifer, commit suicide.

INSTALLMENT 26

Starcourt, accepting his status as a menial in the service of Jonifer's daughter, had no complaint to offer when he was told that he would have to eat in the kitchen with Elijo and Rosa. If Gerane expected him to go about in lofty disguest, she was soon to find herself mistaken.

He did not behave according to her preconceived notions of what a nobleman and an officer in the army would be most likely to do under such circumstances. She was very wrathful about it. And she took delight in subjecting him to all manner of small indignities, hoping that he would turn upon her as any man of spirit should! The perversity of women! Especially the perversity of women in love. For Gerane was in love and did not know what to do about it.

But he, confound him (lamented she), was as mild and respectful and dutiful as the most exacting of mistresses could demand. He was always courteous, unruffled—even tolerant, which was the worst of all—in spite of anything she could do to rouse his ire.

Her father protested against Starcourt's eating in the kitchen.

"He is a gentleman, Gerane," he expostulated. "If he is good enough to sit at the same table with lords and ladies, he is good enough to sit at ours. What has got into you?"

"Starcourt appears to be satisfied with his treatment," said she.

"Starcourt?" he echoed. "Now, there is another point, my girl. Yesterday I heard you address him as Starcourt. Just 'Starcourt.' I should think you would be ashamed to—"

"He proposed it himself, father. In England, he says, all servants are called by their surnames. No one ever thinks of calling his butler Charles Augustus. He insists that it is proper to call him Starcourt."

Jonifer cleared his throat. "Ahem! It does not matter. But I hardly think it sounds proper for you to speak to him as 'Starcourt' when I always address him as 'Colonel,' and he has taken to calling me 'Jonifer.' And, now that we are on the subject, what must he think of an arrangement that permits him to sit here in this room nearly every night and drink a bottle of wine with me, smoke a pipe or two and chat for an hour or so, as free and easy as you please, and yet compels him to eat in the kitchen? It is not consistent, my dear."

"You forget that I never remain in the room while this is going on, father," she said.

"I find him exceedingly good company."

"Indeed? I am sorry to spoil your evenings, father, but I have decided to work a little harder at my English. Beginning tonight, we shall have lessons from 8 to 10 o'clock."

"What's this? Are you making a slave of him?"

"Don't be absurd, father. He suggested it himself."

"Oh-o," exclaimed Jonifer, with a smile. "He did, eh? Then he must look upon you as a dull pupil."

"He says it is very difficult to teach without books," she explained "Under the circumstances, he regards me as a very apt pupil."

"May I inquire just what your object is in learning English, my dear? Are you going to England to live?"

She regarded him for a moment with great disfavor. "I am doing it merely to kill time," she replied, rather tartly. "Starcourt asked me that very same question a few days ago, and was squelched. I informed him—as I now inform you, father—that I expect to live here till I die."

"Humph! You think that squelched him?"

One night, a week or so later, she disconsolately—and very meekly for her—laid down her pen, leaned her elbows on the table, and said to Starcourt:

"I am so stupid, Colonel Starcourt."

"Starcourt, if you please," he reminded her.

She shook her head, and there was a curious, shamed look in her eyes. "It is no use. I—I cannot call you just 'Starcourt.' Who am I to speak to you as if you were the lowliest servant? Why should I—"

"I am your vassal," said he, smiling inwardly.

"It is mere play-acting, sir," she said, rather pathetically. "You are Lord Starcourt and I am—nobody."

"Well," said he, "that remark certainly justified your statement that you are stupid."

"What do you mean by that, sir?" she demanded.

"You are very stupid when you claim to be nobody, Miss Davos."

"Oh, I see. I thought you—" She flushed. "But what I mean is that I am stupid about the—the lessons."

She was gazing soberly into the fire. Was it the light from the burning logs that put the crimson glow upon her face? He watched her out of the corner of his eye, and suddenly a wave of pity for her swept over him. What chance had she ever had in life? What was ahead of her? This lovely, sensitive, high-spirited daughter of Jonifer—what was there in life for her to look forward to? Marriage with one of these rapscallions? What a doom! That is what it amounted to: Doom. She was as far above these people, as far above her present condition of life, as the stars are above the earth.

His gaze went to the fine, patrician face of the mother above the fireplace, and then quickly back to the exquisite profile of the daughter, whose troubled, thoughtful eyes were fixed on the sputtering flames. What was in her mind? What somber picture was taking shape in her thoughts? What was in the warm, throbbing heart of her? A great tenderness welled up within him.

For a few seconds he actually was afraid he could not control the impulse that gallantly urged him to take her in his arms and proclaim himself her protector against all that she was dreading, now, henceforth and forever. He wanted to tell her that he would take care of her, guard her, comfort her, protect her!

There is no telling what he might have said or done under the stress of this bewildering urge, had she not lifted her eyes to his and spoke with a dignity and composure that checked him. He knew that it was on the tip of his tongue to say: "Don't be afraid, Gerane. They shan't harm you! Not while I am alive. You may count on me, dear. I will—"

"Colonel Starcourt," she began—there was no arrogance in her voice. "I want to tell you how ashamed I am of the way I have treated you. You ought to despise me. Perhaps you do."

"On the contrary, Miss Davos, I—"

She held up her hand. "Please do not interrupt," she said. "It is not an easy thing for me to do," she went on. "I mean, it is not easy to confess that I have been horrid to you simply because I did not want you to see or to feel that I like you. I did not want—"

"You do like me?" he cried, leaning forward eagerly.

"Yes, I do," said she frankly, "I liked you that morning on the highway, a year ago, and, no matter how beastly I have been to you since you came here, it is not because I dislike you. There is something cruel about me, I suppose. I wanted to hurt you. I don't know why I should want to hurt you. You are not to blame for what has happened. But, I did want to hurt you. Oh, what a contemptible fool I have been! But you have made me feel ashamed. You have endured without a single complaint what I—"

"Now, my dear Miss Davos, I must insist on—"

"So I want to do something I have been trying to do for a week and couldn't. I want to apologize, Colonel Starcourt."

He caught the abashed, confused, flicker in her eyes before she could turn them away. Plucky little beggar! It had not been easy to do. He weighed his words before speaking, overcoming the temptation to say what he knew full well would be the wrong thing—and yet how he longed to say it!

He held out his hand. "Let us be friends, then," he said.

"I promise to treat you differently," she said, regaining her poise. "And now I think we would better resume our work. I feel better, since I have unburdened myself. Besides, father will be coming home from Julius Broadaxe's before long and I'd rather he did not catch us wasting time like this."

"Wasting our time? Well, upon my word!"

She gathered up pen and paper. "Come, come, sir!" she ordered sharply, and he could not tell whether she was in jest or earnest. "You are not to think that because I have humbled myself before Colonel Starcourt that I intend to grant any special privileges to my tutor."

"In other words, I am still your vassal?"

"Shall we begin where we left off?" she inquired serenely, bending her head over the paper.

Starcourt's heart was behaving in a most unruly manner, beating as it never had before.

He stood beside her chair for a moment, looking at the curve of her neck, the graceful back and shoulders, and a slow smile formed on his lips.

"My dear little Gerane!" he said—but strictly to himself!

"Shall we get on with the lesson, Colonel Starcourt?" she said at last, turning to him.

"If you wish, Miss Davos," said he, bowing.

Homeless Baby Made Ward of Newspaper

FORT WORTH, Texas, Dec. 3. (UP)—A new born baby found in an auto in front of the Fort Worth Press building shortly after noon today will be named Howard Scripps. The babe was found by three girls from the classified advertising department who were returning from lunch when they heard its wails. It was taken to the city-county hospital, across the street where it was immediately made a ward of Press employes.

Nature Thought of Everything

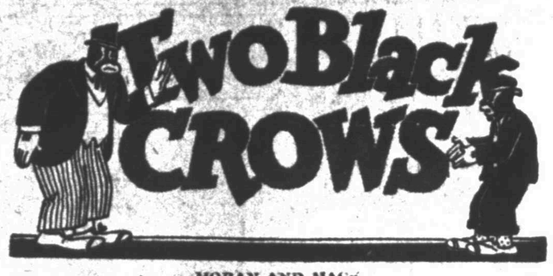

Nature thought of everything when the human body was made. When the body is about to become ill, nature planned danger signals to warn us. Thus, if our children grind their teeth when they sleep, or lack appetite, or suffer from abdominal pains, or itch about the nose and fingers, we should know that they may have contracted worms. Then, if we are wise, we buy a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and safely and surely expel the worms. Thus we avoid the danger of very serious trouble. White's Cream Vermifuge costs only 35c a bottle, and can be bought from Miller Drug Store.—Adv.

Erasing The Crowsfeet

In this age everyone desires to be young and beautiful and the first appearance of wrinkles causes much distress. While all of us desire to live a long life, no one desires to look old. Formerly, when a woman reached the age of 45 or 50, she took it for granted that she was old, but now women are learning to take better care of themselves, and it is not unusual to see grandmothers, who are active, graceful, and pleasing to look at.

It is not possible for us to live forever in the springtime of life, but it is possible for us to live so that we will enjoy life and avoid many infirmities and disabilities usually associated with old age.

We know that ill health and worry may make a young person look old, and that health and happiness will make an old person appear young. It is undoubtedly true that the unwholesome habits of life may make a person prematurely aged and that wholesome habits will enable one to enjoy life for many years beyond the average span. Even the appearance of wrinkles on the skin can largely be prevented by the cultivation of proper habits of life and care of the skin.

Wrinkles grow because of regular creases formed by the skin folding in a certain way and thereby shutting off the local blood supply. With the advancing years the blood does not seem to be as nourishing to the skin as in youth, nor does it remove the toxins formed by the tissues as rapidly as formerly.

Patients who have undergone reducing diets frequently complain that the skin hangs loose after the fat has disappeared from their double or triple chins. This is because the skin, which was stretched to cover the fatty deposits, can not shrink or reduce as rapidly as the fatty tissues and consequently hangs in folds when its padding is no longer present.

The principal causes of wrinkles seem to be first, toxic deposits under the skin which actually poison the skin structures; secondly, a lack of nourishing elements in the blood; thirdly, a defective circulation. By noting these reasons we can easily devise a treatment which will benefit practically every skin in which the wrinkles have not existed for too long a time.

At the very start it is necessary to first cleanse the blood of all accumulated impurities which may be clogging the circulation or poisoning the tissues. Nothing is as effective for accomplishing this purpose as to take a short fast of orange juice, drinking about a glassful at intervals of one hour during the day. At the same time the bowels should be cleaned with warm enema morning and evening. After the fasting regime, which should last from five to 10 days, a well-balanced diet, rich in all of the nourishing elements required by the body, should be employed. The menus outlined weekly in my health articles are good for this purpose. The enemas should be continued at least two or three weeks longer.

The local treatment of the skin is also important and is principally designed to promote circulation of blood.

In my next article I will outline a good treatment for the skin and give you some exercises for developing the contours of the neck and face.

Question: A. P. asks: "What is the cause of the inside of the ear becoming so itchy and dry and scaley, with a hardening of the wax? There is no discomfort otherwise."

Answer: You may have eczema in your ear. If this is not the case you can doubtless get your trouble by putting some olive oil in your ears each night for a week, wiping it out each morning with a clean cloth. This will soften the wax and help to restore a normal healthy condition of the ear membranes.

Question: Mrs. M. R. L. writes: "I have a light colored patch that has recently come on my eyelid, also a slight one under my eye. Is this serious? What is the cause, and could you advise me what to do?"

Answer: Your trouble may be vitiligo which is a disease due to the destruction of the coloring pigment in the skin. This comes from a systemic acidosis and further trouble can be prevented through dietetic measures which would correct the lack of the normal alkalinity of the blood. My article called "A Cleansing Diet" would be good for you, and I will be glad to forward it upon receipt of a large self-addressed stamped envelope.

Question: Alice J. asks: "Is it all right for a thin person to fast?"

Answer: I always advise thin patients to fast for a few days before starting on any diet for gaining weight. It is true their weight is reduced during the fast, but after the system is cleansed by this treatment they will then gain back all the weight they have lost and as much more as their body requires for perfect health.

FAVORITE JOKES OF FAMOUS FOLK

As Told by Them to FRANK E. NICHOLSON

By EDGAR SELWYN

One of America's foremost theatrical producers is Edgar Selwyn, who once trod the boards as a dramatic actor. Like most famous people, Selwyn's favorite story is reflective of his vocation.

EDGAR SELWYN

"I like the one about a farmer," he told me, "who was visiting Broadway for the first time. He had long dreamed of seeing a New York show, and at last his chance had come.

"He approached the box office of a large theater on the Stem.

"'How much to git in?' he inquired of the cashier.

"'Tickets are $5.50,' he was told.

"The farmer opened his mouth in amazement and shook his head in disappointment, and was about to turn away when the cashier called after him.

"'You can go upstairs for $2.25.'

"The farmer's face brightened. 'What's goin' on upstairs?' he asked.

Railway Shop Removal Fought

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. (UP)—Judge C. B. Ames of Oklahoma Corporation commission, told the United States supreme court today that the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad violated a state law, and two orders of the commission, and also was in contempt of the commission when it moved its shops from Sapulpa to Tulsa in 1927.

Ames pointed out that the shops were moved under a temporary injunction issued by a federal court while the validity of the commission's order later dissolved the temporary injunction.

After the supreme court's decision, the corporation commission ordered the railroad to move the shops back and refused the company a hearing on this point because it was "in contempt," Ames said. Justice Brandeis questioned Ames at length on the right of the commission to refuse a hearing, indicating this was an important point.

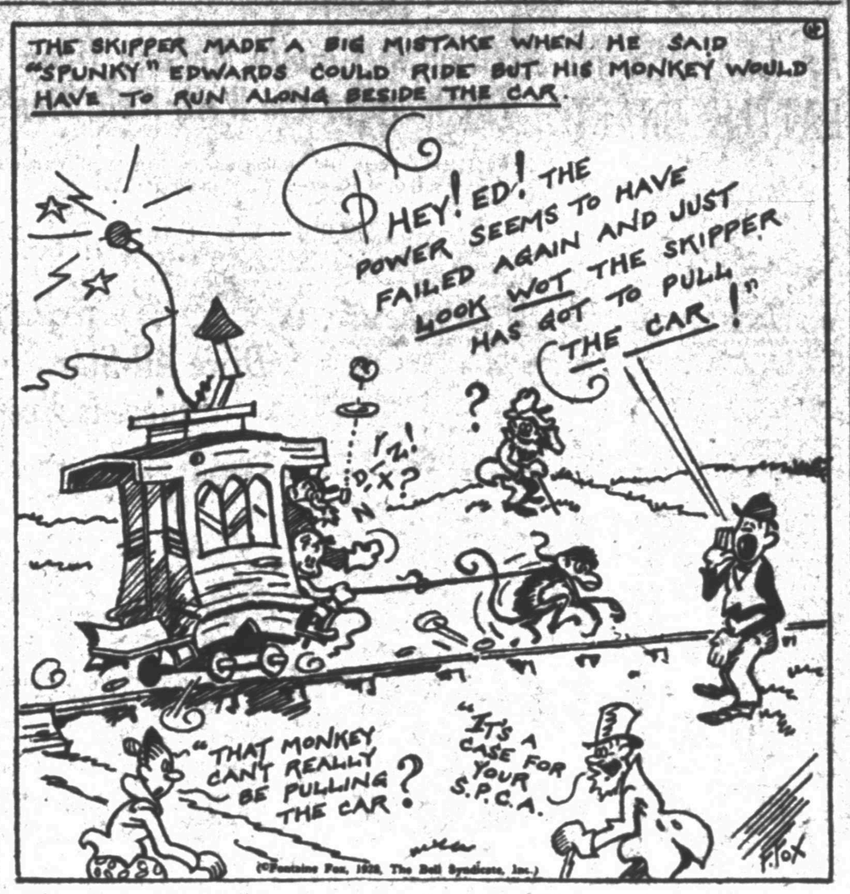

Ames said the only reason advanced by the company for not complying with the commission's order to move the shops back was the cost, which is estimated to be $300,000. The railroad estimates it will save $36,000 a month by concentrating its shops in Tulsa. C. B. Stuart spoke for the railroad.

MILLS, SHARPE AND WHITESIDES NAMED ON ALL-DISTRICT 11

SEVEN SANDIES ON FIRST TEAM

Lubbock Gridder Completes Larry Dailey's Squad

By LARRY DAILEY
Record News Sports Editor

Selecting the scholastic class AA district No. 1, all-star football team for this season is at once a difficult and easy task. Yes and no, as it were. Naming the teams is of course dominated by Amarillo. The Sandies won the title in such convincing fashion, in which they took all conference games by lopsided scores, as to leave no question as to their great superiority. There are so many foremost Amarillo players that one could ALMOST just write "Amarillo" for his all-star team, and let it go at that.

Almost. But not quite. For there are a few other gridders who displayed such ability on the other teams that they must have recognition.

The manner in which Amarillo dominates the district is seen by the number of Sandies chosen for all-star teams. There are seven on the first eleven and four on the second, a complete team itself. Then there are five other Amarillo players who receive honorable mention. What a team!

Several Star Ends

There were several excellent ends in the district. Nunn of Amarillo probably was the best. Castleberry of Lubbock was a great star on his team and gets the job as Nunn's running mate on my first team. Larsen, a teammate of Nunn, and about as good an end, and Coffee, of Vernon, who developed into a star all-around wingman, are my second team selections. Captain Pete Powell of Wichita Falls was another good end.

Clayton and Speer of Amarillo apparently were the class of the tackles. Smith of Electra and Hodgkiss of Wichita Falls were outstanding linemen of their respective teams and are placed on the second all-star team.

Nicklaus of Amarillo was the foremost guard of the district, and one of the best, if not THE best forward of them all. Sharpe of Vernon was a fighting, heady player and a tower of strength to his team and gets the other first team guard assignment. Nolan of Amarillo and Barton of Lubbock were two other fine guards.

Whitesides Best Center

There isn't a doubt but that Whitesides of Electra was the best center in the conference. A smashing player on offense, including steadiness in snapping-back and a wall on the defense, he had all requisites of a star pivotal man. Lawhorn of Amarillo probably was next best to Whitesides.

Travis of Amarillo was the most sensational player in the scintillating Sandstorm backfield, and there is no disputing his right to the place as quarterback. In fact, Travis and Crawford of Vernon, the second team choice, were the only outstanding pilots of the district.

There was a profusion of stellar halfbacks. But Walker and Hudgins of Amarillo, fit running mates of Travis, get the call over White of Electra and Dowell of Lubbock, who were the star oval-luggers of their teams. Gibson of Amarillo, Cloninger and Culpepper of Electra, and Guy of Wichita Falls, who wasn't a regular backfield man until late in the season, also showed flashes of greatness to entitle them to serious consideration.

Mills the Fullback

There were some good fullbacks, but only one outstanding occupant of that position, and he was none other than the big Kenneth Mills of Wichita Falls. A terrific line plunger, an expert in running interference, a particular shining defensive player and with a spirit of fight that was an inspiration to his team, combined with a good humored sportsmanship makes this Coyote lad a great all-around star.

Doebler and Lockhart of Amarillo were other outstanding fullbacks, with little to choose.

Vernon, Electra and Lubbock each placed three men on the two teams, one on the first and two on the second elevens. Wichita Falls had one on the first and one on the second teams. Plainview had no outstanding star and except for Frazer, Quanah was devoid of any player of above the average.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—President Cal took advantage of President Hoover's good will trip and went out quail-scouting.

A quail is any kind of bird that you get in a restaurant when you order quail.

Mr. Cal was dressed in his umbrella hat, a green mackinaw, a yellow tie, high collar and white gloves.

Otherwise, it was a quiet trip.

Four bird dogs were taken along to sing bass in the quail choir. But the dogs were not much good after they had barked themselves out at Cal's green mackinaw.

The dogs soon spotted a loose quail and Cal took a pot at it. He let go with both barrels of his Remington pipe-organ.

He missed. The quails were nervous.

They thought the president had brought his cabinet along with him.

It was a scene of rugged mountain beauty as President Cal reloaded his bow and arrow and let fly again.

He missed. Partly due to his own bad aim and partly due to the fact that the quails were not accustomed to such important shooting.

Again Cal loaded up the old colonial musket and banged away at the birds.

The score was now, University of Quails, 45; Cal College, 0.

Up until this time, President Cal had done all his quail chasing with a knife and fork.

It was thought that Cal displayed great, self-control throughout the day as he always had the choice between a quail and a photographer.

To make a thick story thinner, we might as well confess right now that Cal got no quails.

But President Cal upheld the traditions of this economical administration.

All he took along was a musket while Hoover needs a whole battleship.

San Francisco Soccer Game Ends in Melee

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3. (AP)—Fifteen minutes of rioting ended a soccer football game here today between Union Sportiva Italiana and Unione Espanola, respectively Italian and Spanish athletic clubs.

The trouble started over a disputed goal which the referee allowed the Italians, making the score 2 to 2 in their favor. Onlookers said two Spanish rooters struck Referee George Hynd, who retorted in kind. Nearly 100 spectators rushed into the fight, which lasted for 15 minutes in a downpour. Umbrellas and fists were weapons.

After order had been restored without police interference, Unione Espanola refused to continue the game. Both team and rooters left the field.

TUNNEY AN AUTHOR

Gene Will Write For Encyclopedia—And About Boxing!

NEW YORK, Dec. 3. (UP)—Gene Tunney, who tossed his boxing gloves on a shelf last summer, will grasp his pen to join the group of writers of the Encyclopedia Brittanica.

Tunney's article for the 14th edition of the reference work will not be on Shakespeare, boy athletes, or golf, but will deal with the game that gave him his fortune—boxing.

Gov. Alfred E. Smith also will have an article in the edition. Smith will write on New York state.

Southern Teams Clash Saturday

Unbeaten Tech and Florida Face Hard Battles

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 3. (UP)—Football teams of the southern conference trot out Saturday for their last gesture of the season.

Tennessee has her chance to show that she has a team worthy of conference honors, although tied by Kentucky. If Florida wants the game at Knoxville, she's got to do some tall reaching.

Georgia Tech, so far undefeated, takes on her old rival, the Georgia Bulldogs in Atlanta.

Tech's coaches probably are telling the eleven not to get the "swell head" and go to Pasadena with something hard to forget just behind. Most likely it's "the Bulldogs'll getcha ef y'don't watch out." It was feared it would take all the punch out of Tech for the tournament of roses if such a thing happened.

Another headliner will be the Alabama-L. S. U. game at Birmingham. Last year the game ended in a scoreless tie. Alabama has a strong team, and the edge on L. S. U. on the scores of the L. S. U.-Georgia and Georgia-Alabama games.

North Carolina and Duke play at Chapel hill.

Huskers Give Pony Date to Pittsburgh

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 3. (AP)—The University of Pittsburgh Panthers, who battled the Cornhuskers to a scoreless tie this fall, will meet Nebraska here again Oct. 19, 1929, Herbert D. Gish, director of athletics at the University of Nebraska announced today.

The Panther-Husker date is the one that formerly was assigned to Southern Methodist university of Dallas, Texas.

Negotiations with S. M. U. were suspended this week when the contract was returned unsigned by the authorities of the Dallas institution.

Joel Hunt Exonerated Of Football Charges

DALLAS, Dec. 3. (AP)—Coaches Joel Hunt and Frank Creasy of the college of Marshall, have been exonerated of charges that they used ineligible man in conference games, Hunt informed the Dallas News by telephone tonight.

AA LEAGUES TO BATTLE DRAFT

Leading Minors May Secede From National Board

By FRANK GETTY

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (UP)—Three powerful class AA leagues—the International, Pacific Coast and American association—are threatening to withdraw from the National association if certain proposed draft legislation is passed at the annual meeting of minor league baseball clubs at Toronto this week.

The possibility of a break in the ranks of the National association, which is the governing body of all minor leagues in organized baseball, is discussed here for the first time publicly. The information comes to the United Press from an authoritative source.

Draft legislation, always a bone of contention between the class AA leagues and the 27 other smaller circuits which make up the National association, is certain to be pushed to the fore at the Toronto meeting. A resolution around which the fight may revolve is one which will be introduced by President W. G. Branham of the Piedmont class C league and the Eastern Carolina class D league.

President Branham proposes that any player who first signs a contract with a club in a draft league (the class AA leagues are not subject to the draft) shall thereafter be subject to the draft regardless of whether he subsequently goes to a club in a non-draft league.

What AA Loops Say

The class AA club owners point out that since they inevitably get most of their players from the smaller draft leagues, the resolution would in time bring about a state of affairs where practically all the class AA players would be eligible for selection by the draft.

By submitting to such legislation, the class AA leagues would be yielding from the stand against the draft which they have maintained adamantly and successfully, despite opposition from above and below. The major leagues have attempted to force acceptance of "the right to selection" by the class AA clubs, and the little leagues always vote cheerfully for the draft.

There has been much said on both sides of the draft question. Right now, when the class AA group, or three of its most powerful members, are threatening sedition from the National association, their attitude is as follows:

The proposed legislation (they say) would cut down prices such as can be expected for genuine stars at the present time, for if such players were not sold for whatever the major leagues offered, they would certainly be drafted at the draft price. The class AA leagues could not, as they do now, retain such star players until their prices were met.

Have Great Investments

The class AA league representatives point out that their total investment in ball parks, franchises and contracts exceeds by far that of all the other leagues of the National association combined. They do not want the smaller circuits enforcing legislation detrimental to such investment.

Above everything (say the class AA men) they do not want the little minor leagues, which occasionally mushroom up and collapse again within a season or so, to pass legislation affecting single ball clubs which alone have investments of more than $1,000 000 each.

The voting at Toronto next week will be by leagues, with a class D league with practically no financial investment having the same weight in the ballot box as a class AA league with more than $5,000,000 dollars tied up in baseball.

'McGraw, McGinnity, McFann, Upon The Word of the Well, Well, Man'

Runyon Recalls That Old Ballad and a Couple of Famous Rooters of Baseball Y'ars and Y'ars Ago

By DAMON RUNYON
(Copyright, 1928, by Universal Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—"McGraw, McGinnity and McGann,
Upon the word of the well-well man."
'Twas an old-time ballad that our forefathers sang.

I recently mentioned the "well-well man," famous rooter for the Giants y'ars and y'ars ago. Also "Hi-hi" Dixwell, of Boston, a lung power of other days in behalf of the lowly beans eaters. Only I spoke of him as Dix. I was warm, anyway.

My reference to these notables of yesteryear was mainly in connection with their monickers. They got 'em from the weird cries they emitted—"Well, well, well," and "Hi, hi!" they chirruped in this wise when the base ball outfits of their respective devotions needed a little support.

Charles F. Mathison, noted old-time sports writer and now a boxing judge, favors me with a story that he wrote for the New York Sun in 1892 about the "Well, Well Man." I'm glad to get it, because I have had only a vague idea of the "Well-Weller." I had often heard the old-timers talk of him. But I never heard his name.

It was Frank B. Wood.

An old cut of him that appeared with Mr. Mathison's time-dimmed clippings show that he had a moustache like a bicycle handlebar; also that he wore an Ascot tie under a flat collar, and a derby hat.

Well, Well Was Champ

Mr. Mathison's tale dealt with a visit to the Sun office by the "Well, Well Man" to challenge "Hi-Hi" Dixwell to a yelling contest.

"Take my word for it," says Mr. Mathison, "Dixwell's 'hi-hi' was as a penny whistle to a fog horn against Wood's 'well, well, well."

Parked on perches far back in Madison Square garden the other night sat the Hon. James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion of the world, and the equally Hon. Harley Marquis Walker, nee "Beanie," of Los Angeles, Calif.

Mr. Walker, in other years, used to sit with his beezer almost in the resin dust when attending expositions of the sour science. He was sports editor of the Los Angeles Examiner for years. A slight list to port may have been noted as he sat alongside Mr. Corbett, due entirely to the weight of the bank books that Mr. Walker carries in his coat pocket containing notations of his wealth.

Mr. Walker is now a movie magnut, his presonal fortune is estimated by his friends up to $100,000,000 He has more money than most folks have hay. He wore a cap the other night. This was by way of atmosphere. Mr. Walker wished to show the boys that he isn't stuck up.

Interested in Heavies

The Honorable Corbett, and the equally Honorable Walker were interested in the young heavyweights on display about the premises more than anything else.

They got there early and saw them all. They liked, more than any of the others, a youngster named Billy Bruns, who flattened his man in the opening four rounder.

Billy is from Mr. John Ichabod Dorgan's collection of fistic fauna. He is a lad from up around Dartmouth college, and the venerable spectators that I am discussing thought he showed a lot of natural color and fighting ability. I think myself Billy Bruns is a comer.

I liked the German, Max Schmeling. I thought he turned in a good performance in stopping Joe Monte, of Boston, especially when you consider that it was Schmelling's first fight after six month's layoff with a bad hand.

He covered too much. He seems to be a counter puncher, and has a loud bang in his right hand, as he demonstrated when he dropped the willing Monte. In any event, Max is the best of the European heavyweights who have come over here in some time, barring Phalling Phil Scott.

Rickard Not Upstage

The most easily accessible man in New York is George Tex Rickard, the entrepreneur of the sour science. By seven lengths, I mean for a man of consequence. Head of a big corporation, and all that sort of thing.

The average chief of a big concern in this man's town hides behind half a dozen secretaries, office boys, gate tenders and what-nots. You can't get close enough to him to hand him a ripe peach, as we say.

George Tex Rickard squats down in a palatial office in his Madison Square garden looking down into Forty-ninth street, and there he meets all comers. He has a gatetender and a secretary, to be sure. But they carry all names in to the promoter with scant parlay. And he is soft hearted. He will see anyone, especially an inventor.

George Tex Rickard in these days of his financial puissance, has developed a penchant for inventions. He is now interested in patents on a fire extinguisher, a new ink, a fluid that stops blood flow, heals cuts, cures corns, bunions, exzema, tuberculosis and dandruff.

And he is just patiently waiting there for some brew to happen along with an invention that will make hair grow on ice, or something equally useful.

George Tex Rickard has grown philosophical and tolerant of late years. He was always good natured but could be stirred to sparks. Now nothing seems to disturb him.

He has a beautiful new home in Florida, a yacht on the ocean waves, and plenty in the bank. His golf is improving. What more could a man want?

Dixie All-Star Elevens Meet

Leading Southern Players In Charity Contest

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 3. (UP)—Two all-star teams, composed of the outstanding football stars of the southern conference exclusive of Georgia Tech, will meet at Atlanta, Ga., New Year's day in a game for charity, Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, secretary of the conference, announced here today.

The conference is to be divided into two sections, north and south, for the game, Funkhouser said, the best players in each section being chosen for the all-star squads. Because of its game with the University of California at Pasadena, Georgia Tech will be unable to take part in the game.

According to the plans completed today, the players will be selected by conference coaches. No coach will be selected to take charge of the teams and prepare them for the game.

The entire proceeds resulting from the game will go to crippled children in the south, Funkhouser said.

JUST LIKE BASEBALL

NEW YORK, Dec. 3. (UP)—The New York Yankees defeated the New York Giants 19 to 13 in a national football league game here today. Gibby Welch, former all-American from Pittsburgh, scored two of the touchdowns for the visitors.

The Yankees scored one touchdown in the first quarter, and all other scoring came in the final period.

DAILY DOPE

By LARRY DAILEY

I HAVE WRITTEN about football until I am about written out. Therefore, let us turn our attention elsewhere this beautiful, rainy, (whichever it is) day. Let us consider the several important boxing bouts of last week, which in the flurry of the football finale were little considered, if at all. And there were some important boxfights last week. Three outstanding ring engagements involved heavyweights, but there was a meeting of the little fellows that changed the pugilistic aspect, that is, in their division.

◆ ◆ ◆

That encounter was the knockout victory scored by Ray Miller, the Chicago lightweight, over Jimmy McLarnin, the California boy. Miller, a Chicago youth who hitherto has been an indifferent performer in the squared circle, as it is called, thereby became the foremost contender for Sammy Mandell's lightweight title. Miller stopped McLarnin in the seventh round at Detroit, scoring a technical knockout when the referee halted the mill to save the badly-beaten but courageous McLarnin a terrific lacing and probably a knockout. While elevating Miller to the heights of the 135-pounders it also was a terrific blow to the titular hopes of McLarnin, who had compiled an amazing K. O. list himself.

◆ ◆ ◆

A HEAVYWEIGHT FIGHT saw a possible contender for Tunney's vacated throne also relegated to obscurity, at least temporarily, with the elevation of his conqueror to a more commanding place than previously occupied. This was the knockout sustained by Tuffy Griffiths, the highly touted Sioux City, Iowa, light heavyweight, by James J. Braddock, the New Jersey puncher. Griffiths, who had scored 56 straight victories, including knockouts of several first-rate sockers, including Mike McTigue, succumbed in the second round to the vicious attack of Braddock.

◆ ◆ ◆

GRIFFITHS, who thus made a dismal debut in the East, probably was overrated. But he HAD whipped some tough bombres and Braddock's speedy win was none the less impressing. This Braddock himself may be the champion. He is a young fellow who had showed some promise before stopping Griffiths. And then, there is his name, James J. Lots of precedent there. James Tunney, James P. Corbett, Jim Jeffries, and Jack Dempsey, Jess Willard, John L. Sullivan. The J's have it. If you believe in signs, James J. Braddock will be champion.

◆ ◆ ◆

Johnny Risko, who half a year ago rated as a foremost challenger, seems to be heading along the downward trail. Risko a few months ago was fought to a draw by Jack Squires, who later was polished off in a couple of rounds by Young Stribling. Last Friday night the round rubber man from Cleveland was whipped by Jim Malone, the Bostonese who apparently is making a somewhat successful comeback. Maloney outfought Risko in ten rounds at Boston. Knockouts of Jack Sharkey, Tom Heeney, Jamaica Kid and Jim Herman in 1927 seemed to have definitely ended Maloney's career as a topnotcher. But he has been fighting successfully in recent months, as evidenced by his victory over Risko. Now there is the possibility of a Maloney-Sharkey fight in Boston, and as both men are citizens of the Hub with large followings there, such a mill would be a great attraction.

◆ ◆ ◆

WHILE WAITING for some courageous heavyweight or one who needs the money badly to meet him, Stribling is engaging the paikas in the hinterlands. The Georgian knocked out Ray Neuman the other night in the sixth round at Charlotte, N. C. That isn't any feat to be excited over, though Neuman is a pretty tough fellow and not a push-over except for the topnotchers. It was the 107th k. o., unless there are a few in recent weeks I haven't noticed, scored by Willie, the young stripling named Stribling.

BASKET LOOPS FORM TONIGHT

Commercial Circuits Meet To Organize and Elect

Men and girls' Commercial Basketball leagues will be reorganized tonight. A meeting of representatives of both circuits will be held at the Texas Electric Service company, at 7:30 o'clock. Following the formation of the loops, an election of officers will be held.

Jim Jones, president of both loops, under whose efficiention direct basketball reached its greatest popularity here last winter, in calling the meeting yesterday said that men's six-club and girls' four-team leagues again probably will be formed tonight for this winter.

Tex Electric, the champions, Hub Clothiers, the runnerups and National Guards of last season's men's league have definitely indicated they will be in the loop this winter. Draughon's Business college, Wichita Falls Junior college and Continental Oil company also are expected to reenter the league and representatives from other teams probably will attend tonight's conference. Three of those teams, with P. B. M.-Whippets, made up the girls' league, which also will have full representation tonight.

Fast and closely contested games last winter in both Commercial circuits were attended by large crowds and the popularity of the game was greater here than ever before.

President Jones urges representatives of all teams, men's and girls, to attend tonight's highly important conslave.

LEGAL OFFICE MERGER ASKED

Sargent's Report Urges Consolidations

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. (INS)—Consolidation of all legal activities of the government under the direction of the department of justice, was recommended to congress today by Attorney General Sargent.

In his annual report Sargent declared that a large number of legal offices have been created in the past 60 years and that as many of them act independently of the justice department, a situation has arisen comparable to that prior to 1870 when the responsibility for legal work was divided among many law offices.

Three Judges Wanted

The report contained recommendations of Chief Justice Taft for three additional district judges for the southern district of New York, two additional judges for the eastern district of New York, one for the southern district of Florida and additional judges for the second and ninth circuit.

Justice Taft reported that congestion in New York and Brooklyn has created a hopeless situation that cannot be remedied without additional judicial machinery.

Col. William J. Donovan, assistant to the attorney general in charge of anti-trust activities, reported that 18 new cases were instituted in the year under the Sherman and Clayton laws with 22 pending June 30, 1927. Fourteen cases were terminated, five criminal and nine civil. The government was successful in all cases, according to the report.

Movie Investigation

Donovan said the department is continuing to vigorously prosecute its investigation of the motion picture industry. As this work has progressed cases have been submitted to the courts without delay. Anti-trust proceedings were instituted against a number of large producers and distributors.

"In administering the anti-trust laws the department has sought to cooperate with those desirous of conducting their business in conformity with those acts," Donovan said, referring to the policy of the attorney general to carefully examine proposed plans for mergers and corporate organizations to determine whether violations of the law are indicated.

This policy is of benefit both to the government and business because of the volume of litigation avoided.

Hamilton then walked across the hall and told Mrs. T. J. Curtis that his wife had been hurt. He left in his car.

'Baa, Baa-a-a-Such Is Latest Song Hit'

Irving Jr. Greets Proud Popular Composer

NEW YORK, Dec. 3. (US).—"Baa, baa, baa-a-a!"

Thus sings Irving Berlin Jr., in his crib at York House hospital.

To the indefinite care of doctors and nurses, young Mr. Berlin's plaintive wail sounded suspiciously like the common or garden variety of crying usually indulged in by day-old babies. But to Irving Sr., who sat proudly at the edge of his wife's bed, holding her hand as he beamed at the latest addition to the Berlin family, every note had a meaning all its own. Grinning from ear to ear, the "King of Tin Pan Alley" exulted:

"Hear that? He's singing my latest ballad, 'How About Me.' What a song-plugger he will make with those lungs! Only eight pounds and two ounces, and listen to that voice.

"I hate to see the poor child start out in life with a name he will have to live up to, or down to, but what could I do? His mother insisted upon calling him Irving Jr., and I never won an argument with her yet."

But as he said it, the popular composer looked down at his wife, the daughter of Clarence Mackay, multi-millionaire head of the Postal Telegraph system, with an expression that showed how few arguments ever have marred their happiness.

Meanwhile, little Mary Ellin Berlin, who celebrated her second birthday just a few days ago, stood by the newcomer's crib, critically examining the tiny red face showing above the blankets. Her father tried to explain:

"That's your new brother, Irving. He was born yesterday, and soon he will come home to play with you."

Marathon Jail Breaker Nabbed

ERIE, Kan., Dec. 3. (INS)—George Thouvenal, 19-year-old jail breaker, was brought back to Erie today with a record of having escaped from the local county jail three times within three months.

George first was arrested with a brother Harold and charged with stealing an automobile. Both escaped before they had rested a week. George was arrested in Wichita and brought back to Erie, but never placed in jail because when the officer temporarily loosened a grasp on his arm to unlock the cell door, the prisoner began a marathon which lasted two days before he was caught. After serving about two weeks he failed to answer roll call for breakfast in the jail. Aside from eluding the county officers three times, he has to his credit one stolen automobile and one stolen motorcycle. George was arrested in Gridley, Kan., yesterday when he appeared at the home of his mother attired in girl's clothing.

Suit Against Bankers Continued Until May

EMORY, Texas, Dec. 3. (UP)—The $100,000 suit of Mrs. Mary Hansen against the Texas Bankers association and others was set over today until the May term of court by agreement of attorneys for both sides.

The suit grew out of the shooting to death of William Carl Hansen during a bank robbery at Odessa, Texas. Mrs. Hansen, widow of the slain man, claims in her petition that her husband was killed as the result of a conspiracy to collect $5,000 reward offered by the Texas Bankers' association for every bank bandit killed.

Under McLeod's resolution, congress would first determine whether to retain the present sized house of 435 members, and then proceed to reapportion in accordance with that decision.

There are fine foods from foreign ports.
But when you chance to roam,
You're apt to get quite hungry for
The ham and eggs back home.

MID-AIR FIRE CRASH CAUSE

Austin Flier at Spur to Investigate

SPUR, Texas, Dec. 3. (AP)—Crash of the tri-motored airplane near here Saturday, which resulted in the death of five persons, including Homer D. Ballard, millionaire aviation enthusiast of San Antonio and Denver, is attributed by Charles McClelland, Austin flier, to the fact that the plane caught fire in mid-air.

Wreckage of the plane burned for more than an hour after it plunged to the ground, and the bodies of the victims were charred almost beyond recognition.

McClelland, sent here to make an investigation by Mrs. R. B. Ballard of San Antonio, mother of Ballard, declared today he was reasonably certain the plane caught fire in mid-air.

"I found that one of the three propeller blades on the center motor had been broken off at the hub," McClelland said. "When this propeller snapped, all of the weight was put on one side of the motor. This sudden strain was sufficient to jerk the motor loose, breaking the gas line. As the gas line fed into the motor near the exhaust, it is reasonable to assume the plane caught fire immediately and right at the pilot's cabin.

"In planes like this, the pilot's and passengers' cabins are so arranged that if fire breaks out in the latter, it is possible for the pilot to make a safe landing, as a fire wall divided the two cabins. But when flames sweep into the pilot's cabin, a landing is virtually impossible."

McClelland said he was going to continue his search for the missing propeller blade today. He said it is likely the blade will be found at a considerable distance from the wreckage.

OIL EXPOSITION MADE LASTING

Show to Be Held Annually, Skelly Announces

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 3—The International Petroleum exposition is to be an annual affair.

William G. Skelly, president of the exposition, announced that a canvass of the 50 directors revealed approximately all of them in favor of an annual show, and especially a big show in 1929.

The Skelly announcement followed receipt of a mail ballot from the directors who did not attend the director's meeting held Nov. 8, when 22 of the 29 directors then present voted to hold a show in 1929 and each year thereafter.

Although a move was made to make the vote unanimous it was decided to allow every director a vote on the momentous question and but a few have not answered the questionnaire, and the compilation indicates that three-fourths of the directors favor an annual show.

The vote taken Nov. 8, and also the mail ballots, sanctioned the action of the board in re-electing all of the officers, notably W. G. Skelly as president; Frank Hinderlitz and Alf G. Heggen as vice president; A. W. Leonard as treasurer, and William Holden, secretary.

The matter of a manager for 1929 is left open.

"The International Petroleum Exposition is no longer an experiment, but a real factor in the oil business," said Mr. Skelly, "and it seems peculiarly appropriate that the directors should vote almost unanimously to hold a show in 1929, just before the annual meeting of the American Petroleum institute.

"The institute can outline a policy, and the oil men and supply firms put it into practice, while the exposition shows the industry and the world in general just how the program works. It is my intention to outline just how big the exposition has grown to the institute."

Mr. Skelly said that the 1928 show was a great exposition, and saw the development of the exposition into a real international affair.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Dec. 3. (AP)—The cotton market was lower today under further liquidation together with some southern and local selling promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables and larger private crop estimates. January contracts sold off to 20.09 or 22 points net lower and 74 points below the recent high level, closing at 20.10. The general market closed barely steady at declines of 17 to 22 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 7 to 11 points with some months easing off another point or two right after the opening as if influenced by relatively easy Liverpool cables. The initial offerings were rather readily absorbed by trade buying and covering, and prices just about recovered to Saturday's closing figures during the early trading.

The advance, however, met a renewal of pressure from one source or another and the market weakened later in the day when liquidation and some local selling seemed to be promoted by private crop reports. One of these made the estimated yield 14,210,000 bales and while this compared with a forecast of 14,355,000 bales by the same authority last month, the fact that it was above the last government indication of 14,133,000 bales evidently made a bearish impression on sentiment. There were rumors of another report placing the yield at 14,175,000 bales, but the figures were not definitely confirmed.

Reports that some further shipments of cotton were reaching here from the south, presumably for delivery on contract, may have had some influence on the market also, although at the close December was 12 points over January compared with a difference of 13 points at the close of Saturday. Business was moderately active at times during the day, with the selling attributed most largely to liquidation of long accounts for over the approaching government report while the buying was supposed to represent covering by recent sellers or some fresh commission house demand on scale down orders. Some trade buying and southern selling was reported at the opening, but trading of this character was less in evidence later in the day.

Private cables reported London and Continental liquidation in Liverpool but said the demand for cotton cloth was well sustained. Exports today were 175,710 bales making 3,765,928 so far this season. Port receipts were 79,502; U. S. port stocks 2,261,533.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 3. (AP)—Despite the execution of a large volume of short covering the cotton market worked lower today under continued liquidation by longs in an effort to even commitments in advance of the final government crop estimate, due Saturday. January contracts opened at 19.60, 11 points down and after easing off 5 points additional rallied to 19.70, but eased off again to 19.49 and closed at 19.50, or 21 points net lower for the day. The general market closed steady at net losses of 18 to 21 points.

Liverpool cables were lower than due at the start here and first trades showed losses of 11 to 12 points in sympathy. Offerings increased towards the end of the first hour and January sold down to 19.55, March 19.66 and May 19.62.

Near noon the liquidation was absorbed by covering probably induced by the large exports coupled with generally favorable cotton goods reports and on the subsequent bulge March advanced to 19.82, with active positions generally 1 point down to 2 up compared with Saturday's close.

The rally was short-lived, however, as in afternoon trading there was a renewal of long liquidation following the issuance of two private crop advices making the estimated yield 14,210,000 bales and 14,130,000 bales respectively. Wall Street selling and the advance in call money to 10 per cent added to the weakness which carried all months to new lows for the day.

The close was at or near the lowest.

Stocks Go Down Under Call Rate Hike While Congress Holds 'Spot'

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Dec. 3. (US)—Stocks dropped further as trading quieted under incluence of 10 per cent call money rate today.

The rate was advanced to htat figures from a renewal of 8 per cent as banks had to meet the December 1 interest and dividend checks going through the clearing house and also prepare for their mid-week adjustment with the reserve.

Expectation that the stock exchange would report a huge gain in loans for November after the close and worry over the unsound technical condition of the market contributed to the profit taking. Support was evidenced when needed, however, and the recession was orderly throughout.

Wright Is Strongest

Wright was the outstanding feature of strength, gaining 14⅛ points but other active stocks scored new lows for the move with Montgomery Ward off 3⅛, Green Cananea 5⅝, General Motors 2⅛, while others lost from 1 to 2 points. Atlantic Refining added to its gain while other oils lost fractionally. Dividend expectations kept Baltimore & Ohio the feature of a continued irregular rail group.

Washington wires received more attention with congress in session and enhanced nervousness somewhat. The president's message was waited with interest. Railroad consolidations with less interference therewith by the commerce commission and encouragement of aviation growth were two features mentioned in private brokerage advice. Other advices talked of the budget and stressed the fact that appropriations would be held down so that the entire Coolidge administration be one of surpluses. The confidence that the executive developments would be constructive were offset however by belief that several congressmen would agitate change in the reserve act and stress the increasing amount of credit being used in stock speculation.

In as much as it is but a short session and that such agitation has failed before, there was thought to be little chance of anything but "talk" resulting, but even "talk" of a change in the reserve act causes some nervousness.

Yellow Truck Flops

Collapse of the Yellow Truck operation was another factor of unsettlement. The biggest bankers in the street did the selling for the biggest corporation so the little trader worries. General Motors most important holdings in Yellow Truck consist of the preferred stock. The preferred will have voting power if it does not get dividend payment so the corporation does not have to worry about control.

Ability of Packard and of Wright to soar in the face of the unsettlement in other parts of the market was due to expectation of further impetus to aviation expansion to result from the president's message to congress. The Durant group was responsible for fitful rallies in Hudson but having unloaded on the pool work of a month ago, they find it hard to get a following now.

Rails More Prominent

B. & O., Chesapeake, Erie and other rails took a more prominent part in the spasmodic recoveries, largely because of hope that there will be more success achieved in merger plants during the coming year. However, nothing is likely until the personnel of the commerce commission is changed. Accumulation of Erie, however, was added to by expectation that continued improvement in gross revenues and cutting down of operating costs by the Bernet management will result in earnings of more than $7 a share for 1929.

General Electric was well supported also as the controlling interests have constructive plans in mind for the next several months particularly in regard to deriving benefit from mergers of utility and power companies. Wesson Oil was bought on belief that it would be taken over by Gold Dust.

The 10 per cent money rate of itself was sufficient to warrant profit taking, for it indicated that the call rate might go as high as 15 per cent before the end of the month. After tomorrow there should be some temporary easing in money conditions, but in another ten days preparations will start for the big mid-month fiscal operations the more important of which are the government financing and last installment of income tax payments. From then on, steady tightening in the money market is looked for as banks have to keep in good shape to take care of the year end turnover of funds.

MIDWESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 3. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Cattle trade around the 11-market circuit was featured by packers utilizing the opportunity furnished by more liberal receipts to reduce price levels on fed steers; steady prices were maintained on the few loads of highly finished steers and yearlings available; but the rank and file of beef steers ruled unevenly lower; medium weight and heavy steers at several points received a setback of 25 to 50c. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 89,900 against 73,338 last Monday and 106,353 a year ago.

Hogs were on a steady to 15c lower basis, the decline influenced by the relatively narrow shipping at most centers. Total offerings were around 146,000, an increase of 24,800 over a week ago, but 5,000 less than the same day last year.

The supply of sheep approximated 69,000 as compared with 53,707 a week ago and 73,095 a year ago; more liberal receipts resulted in steady to 25c lower values on fat lambs, but aged stock ruled firm to unevenly higher.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Dec. 3. (AP)—Lively selling of future deliveries of wheat took place at the last on account of decided enlargement of the United States wheat visible supply, with earlier gains more than offset. World shipments of 21,933,000 bushels of wheat for the week set a new top record.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled ⅛@⅛c net lower to ⅛@⅛c advance, with corn ⅛@⅛c up, oats showing ⅛@⅛c@⅛c gain, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 15c.

Increased by 2,162,000 bushels today, the domestic wheat visible supply totaled 136,777,000 bushels, as against 91,036,000 bushels a year ago. The bearish showing was emphasized, too by talk of late that the peak for the season had been passed.

Corn and oats were strengthened today by reports of prospective large export requirements, estimated as implying additional European purchases of 35,000,000 bushels of corn from the United States before April next. Oats sold at new high prices for the season.

Scattered selling weakened the provision market, despite steadiness of hog values.

Little Interest Shown In Osage Lease Sale

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 3.—Little interest is being manifest by Mid-Continent oil men in the forthcoming Osage oil lease sale at Pawhuska on Dec. 11. Steady decline of the Burbank and other pools in the big county is responsible for this apathy.

Some 30,079.65 acres will be offered for the highest bonus bids of the operators attending the sale. Tracts on the east side comprise 15,200 acres and 14,879.65 acres on the west side.

Within the advertised area there are about 9,870 wells producing from one to 400 barrels each, the total daily production for August being 50,300 barrels a day.

KANSAS PLAY GIVEN THOUGHT

Producers in Sight of City Of Wichita

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 3—Outside of what is going on in the Seminole oil district, Mid-continent oil men are paying attention to little else than the Wichita play in south-central Kansas. It even overshadows the prospective pool at Oklahoma City.

The Wichita play is centered in the so-called Wright pool, near the little town of Valley Center, in Sedgwick county. It is situated within the bend of the Little Arkansas river, and within view of the skyline. There one finds two producing wells, the only producers in Sedgwick county, and among the good wells of the Sunflower state.

A count last week showed 27 rigs and drilling wells throughout the county, that previous to Aug. 5, was known as a graveyard for wildcatters. Some 43 dry holes had been drilled in that area before Marland Producing company, Gypsy Oil company and Bu-Vi-Bar Petroleum company brought in No. 1 Wright, in the southeast of the northeast of the southeast of 12-26-1w.

It made 1,700 barrels initial and is now making close to 1,400 barrels a day, and has produced in excess of 161,000 barrels of oil to date.

Second well in the Wright pool is the Trinity's No. 1 Lyons, in the southwest of the northwest of the southwest of 7-26-1e due east. It came in Nov. 24 for 90 barrels the first 55 minutes and then settled down to 72 barrels an hour for the first 24 hours. The second 24 hours it made 1,693 barrels of 42 gravity oil. The pay was from 3352 to 3357 feet from the lime formation in the top of the Simpson series.

Just how large the Wright pool is to be, is anyone's guess. Hopes wavered somewhat when Allison & Fitzwilliams No. 1 Gill, in the northeast of the northwest of the northeast of 24-26-1w, a mile and one-half to the south, came in dry from what was reported to be the Wilcox sand from 3425 to 3435 feet.

No Man's Land to Get Another Test for Oil

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 3—No Man's Land of Oklahoma is to get another test for oil right away.

The Ramsey Petroleum corporation, which purchased block No. 12 of state school lands in Cimarron county at the state sale on Nov. 20, has arranged to have Magnolia Petroleum company of Dallas drill a test at 330 feet north and 330 feet west of the southeast corner of the northeast quarter of 22-5-5, ecm. It will be about two miles from the Ramsey's No. 1-A, in 27-5-5, which early in 1927 had a 45 barrel showing of oil at 4095 to 4101 feet, but which was lost in deeper drilling and testing.

Panhandle Production Slumps in Past Week

The daily average production of the Panhandle of Texas for the week ending Nov. 29, was 61,617 barrels from 1,478 wells, showing a loss of 2,453 barrels over the previous week's average.

The average output by counties follows:

	Wells	Barrels
Carson	161	6,011
Gray	272	23,976
Hutchinson	1,005	28,078
Moore	4	2,704
Potter	1	25
Wheeler	35	823
Totals	1,478	61,617

Skelly Oil company No. 4 Armstrong and Byrd, in the northwest of the J. W. Proctor survey, in Moore county, was shot with 15 quarts from 3,162 to 3,180 feet and made 832 barrels in 14 hours after the shot. It is now flowing 60 barrels an hour. It will be shot again.

HUNTING RULES UP AT MEETING

Izaak Walton League Holds Session Tonight

Wichita Falls chapter of the Izaak Walton league will hold its regular meeting Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the county court room, it was announced Monday by Ben G. Oneal, president.

According to Mr. Oneal, there are two important items of business to be considered at the meeting tonight. The first is the matter of changing the present date of dove season opening to a later date. It was said that a movement originating in the southern portions of the northern game district of Texas contemplates legislative action to set the opening date several weeks later than Sept. 1, because in the warmer sections of the district many doves are still nesting on that date, and the kill incident to opening of dove season kills many mother doves and materially decreases the number of doves for future seasons. Hunters in the northern part of the district, however, were said to oppose a postponement of the season's opening here because it would result in all the doves having gone further south before shooting could begin in this region.

Mr. Oneal also stated that there are certain phases of fishing in Lake Kemp with which the local nimrods should be more familiar, and some prospective changes in which they will be interested.

At the banquet held last Tuesday night at the Wichita club when 125 people were present, a large number pledged themselves in response to Mr. Oneal's plea to attend regular meetings of the Izaak Walton league in the future.

Three Women To Address Ad Club

Tuesday will be ladies' day at the regular weekly luncheon of the Ad club at the Kemp, when Mrs. Wayne Somerville, Mrs. P. B. Cox, and Miss Nora B. Stewart will be not only guests of the club, but will be the speakers of the day, according to announcement Monday from T. C. Scott, club program chairman.

Mrs. Somerville will speak on "What I Expect of An Advertisement and of the Store Advertising." Mrs. Cox will discuss "Advertisements That I Read, and Why I Read Them." Miss Stewart, sales representative of the Guaranty State Building and Loan association, has for the subject of her talk, "Advertisements That Appeal to a Professional Woman."

Mr. Scott emphasized the fact that Tuesday's meeting affords merchants and advertising men an opportunity to obtain first-hand information on the direct reaction to the advertisements which they use.

Trio Featured Tuesday In Program on KGKO

Pauline Slaughter's trio, consisting of Mrs. John F. Cammack, soprano, Joseph Rabinowitz, violin, and Mrs. Slaughter at the piano, return to station KGKO in the program announced for Tuesday evening. Maurice Wray, blues singer, and George Taylor, tenor, add two more vocal numbers to the evening's entertainment.

The program follows:

7-8—Thompson's Hawaiian entertainers.

8-8:30—Pauline Slaughter, piano, Mrs. John F. Cammack, soprano, Joseph Rabinowitz, violin.

8:30-9—Maurice Wray, blues singer.

9-9:30—George Taylor.

9:30-10—Musical program.

50-Gallon Still Seized in Raid

Fresh dirt means digging, and so Charles Gant, Dick Morris and George Garrett, deputy sheriffs dug and unearthed three barrels of mash buried under a barn near Wichita Falls Monday after they had seized a still in weeds nearby.

The still, a 50 gallon affair, was said by the officers to be of a highly unsanitary type that could make bad whisky.

Well, "Rio Rita" is gone, but there is another hot one to take its place. It is "Show Girl" at the Strand, a vitaphone movie. There is nothing in the movie world like this picture, and it is a madcap story all the way through. It is strictly wild, and you can't help laughing if you see it.

◆ ◆ ◆

Corinne Griffith in "Outcast" is back again at the Majestic from which it was sidetracked to make way Monday for "Rio Rita." "Outcast" is the story of a San Francisco girl who had her innings. In some parts of the game she made errors, and at other times the umpires seemed to be with her. Corinne fought a good battle, however, and in doing so made a picture which entertains the fans.

◆ ◆ ◆

Then here is something else again to look forward to.

Another "all talking" movie. These are few and far between, as yet, but each one seems to have been considerably better than its predecessor.

"On Trial," a Warner film, featuring Bert Lytell and Lois Wilson, will be at the Strand Dec. 7.

Police Continue Probe of Injury Of Two in Sunday Night Affray

F. B. Bolen, Wichita Falls barber, who was found with H. B. Hines, local realtor, with a badly bruised head and in a semi-conscious condition Sunday in a room at 707½ Ohio avenue, was reported to be resting well by attendants at the Wichita General hospital late Monday night. His condition is not believed to be serious.

COUNTY WAITS BRIDGE ADVICE

Somerville to Rule On Highway Designation

Wayne Somerville, county attorney, will report to the county commissioners next Monday his opinion on whether the court has a right to designate Scott avenue a county highway in order to pave the way for the county to build a bridge across the Wichita river at that place.

This announcement was made Monday at the commissioners meeting after Mr. Somerville had expressed the opinion that it was a legal move but that he wished time to look up precedents.

E. P. Walsh, county auditor, presented an opinion to the court from the attorney general's office to the effect that the commissioners could not at present appropriate money for the bridge as Scott avenue is not a county highway. Mr. Walsh said he wanted it understood that he favored the bridge, but that he believed every move should be a legal move and that all obstructions should be cleared away before action was taken.

Routine business of the commission occupied the balance of the day's session.

Christmas Carols to Be Sung Throughout City

Christmas carols will be brought to the homes of the citizens of Wichita Falls on Christmas Eve, according to plans formulated at the December meeting of the Wichita Falls Ministerial alliance to have groups sing carols over the entire city.

A motion was passed asking that persons who know people who are sick or kept indoors to inform the alliance so that they may be included in the canvass of the city. It was decided that persons who want the carols to be sung to them should leave a lighted candle in their windows as an invitation to the boys and girls.

Rev. W. H. Townsend was elected to head a committee composed of R. E. Shepherd, W. L. Underwood, E. F. Bohmfalk and William E. Young to arrange for the singing.

Rev. Patrick Henry, new pastor of the Highland Heights Christian church, was elected secretary of the alliance to succeed Rev. David Rees-Jones, who is leaving next week to take the pastorate of Borger. He was formally welcomed into the alliance at the meeting.

A committee composed of Dr. Nat F. Grafton and Rev. H. J. Ballew was elected to draw up a resolution of appreciation for the retiring secretary's work.
