Wichita Wins Senior Debates; Sunshine Hill Girl Takes Three R Contest

200 STUDENTS TAKE PART IN LITERARY MEET

Declamation Events Offer Keenest Competition; Many Ties

TRACK-FIELD TODAY

Electra Tigers Favored In Clash of District's Best Athletes

Wichita Falls high school won first honors in both boys' and girls' debate in finals held Friday night in the Junior college auditorium before a good-sized audience.

In boys' competition, Paul Barnett and Marvin Pierce defeated Jack Bane and Si Long of Vernon. Third place was won by Electra, whose team of Austin and January defeated the other semifinalists, St. Clair and Douglas of Seymour.

Misses Frances Marye Krauss and Ellen Newby gained the decision over Misses Stidham and Green of Electra High school to give Wichita Falls its second victory in senior debate. Misses Anglin and Mitchell of Bowie won third place honors by defeating Misses Lornsill and Hammers of Seymour high.

Three R Contest

Competition in the "three R's" contest for rural school students resulted Friday night as follows: Mary L. Talley, Sunshine Hill, Wichita county, first; Margaret Boone, England, Baylor county, second; Evelyn Leake, Ming Bend, Young county, third.

Finals in the declamation division were the last events in Friday's public speaking contests to be completed. So close was the competition that in two sections two speakers tied for first place, while in one of them three other competitors also tied for second place.

Joe Witherspoon of Wichita Falls and Dale Cropper of Burkburnett were parties to the first deadlock, in the senior boys' division. After further study of the contest, the judges certified Cropper to represent this district in state competition. Weldon Berry, St. Joseph; Dennie Huntsman, Oklaunion; and James Melton of Graham were adjudged a tie for second honors, while Rex Faulkner of Henrietta was awarded third place.

Declamations Test Judges

Cleo Sherrill of Odell, in Willbarger county, and D. Fisher of Electra deadlocked the judges again in the contest for first honors in junior boys' declamations. Repeating their speeches before a different set of judges, Sherrill was chosen to represent this district in further interscholastic league competition. Wayne Finnell of Holliday won third place.

Pauline Hendrick, of Burkburnett High school, won first place in the senior girls' declamation contest. Ann Lee Bentley of Jermyn was awarded second honors, while third place went to Alice Marrs of Wichita Falls.

Billy Chatham of Burkburnett, Theda Ratton of Nocona, and Jerry Melton of Zundelowitz school, Wichita Falls, finished first, second and third respectively in the junior girls' declamation set.

More than 200 pupils representing both city and rural schools in district four of the state interscholastic league participated Friday in a variety of literary events which began at 9 a. m. and were concluded Friday night.

While competition in public speaking and composition were getting under way in the Junior college and high school building, finals in the district tournament were being played Friday morning on the clay courts of the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club. With the completion Friday of all tennis matches and contests in the literary division, the annual meet is to

BITTER DEFEAT

Candidate Loses Office When Voters Write In Only Last Name

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 15. (US)—Frank Incao is the only man named Incao in Westchester county. He ran for Republican county committeeman in Mamaroneck.

Fifty-five voters wrote the name "Incao" on the ballot, which did not carry Incao's full name.

But Incao, who would have won, beating Rocco Migliaccio, lost today, when Supreme Court Justice Morschauser ruled that the law assumes every man has at least two names and must be identified by them. The fifty-five votes were thrown out.

WATTS RITES SET SUNDAY

Former Nocona Woman Dies of Injuries Here

Funeral services for Mrs. Winnie S. Watts, 55, 1604 Tenth, who was fatally injured Friday afternoon in an automobile accident, will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Illinois Bend, 18 miles southeast of Nocona, from the Methodist church. The Rev. J. P. Luten, pastor of the Nocona Methodist church will officiate. The body will be taken overland by the Hines mortuary.

Mrs. Watts died en route to a local hospital after being struck by an automobile while crossing Tenth street at the Grace street intersection at 12:10 o'clock Friday afternoon. She was struck by a car driven west on Tenth by C. A. Canipe, 2006 Tenth.

Mr. Canipe was questioned by city police and statements of witnesses of the accident were taken by County Attorney L. V. Abernathy. Mr. Canipe was not detained by officers, Police Chief Dick Morris said.

Mrs. Watts had been a resident of Wichita Falls since Feb. 15, when she moved here from Nocona. She was born at Waco. She was en route to a grocery store at the time of the accident, and after waiting for one car to pass started across the street into the path of the Canipe car, police said.

Mrs. Watts is survived by three daughters, Mrs. E. B. Burge, 2204 Jones, Miss Ora Watts of this city, and Mrs. E. W. Perkins of Nocona; two sons, Francis Watts of this city and John Watts of Illinois Bend; and a brother, residing in Oklahoma.

HOLLIDAY MAN HURT IN ACCIDENT HERE

Roger B. Dills, 54, of Holliday suffered a slight brain concussion and painful face lacerations at 3:15 o'clock Friday afternoon when the car he was riding in plunged into a ditch after striking the rear of a Chapman dairy truck at North Third and North Scott streets. He was taken to the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital in a Hines mortuary ambulance.

Mr. Dills was riding in the rear seat of a car driven by Paul Backus of Northwest Motors, Inc. The car struck the rear of the truck as the driver, Clyde Smith, began a left turn. Dills was the only injured person.

Negotiators Report Lindy Baby Well

NEW YORK, April 15. (UP)—Insistence by John Hughes Curtis of Norfolk, Va., that the Lindbergh baby "is alive and well" and the continued labors of Dr. John F. Condon (Jafsie) to renew his contact with the supposed kidnapers' emissaries, were regarded today as indications that the two agents may be dealing with the same gang.

Investigators pointed out that Dr. Condon had convinced Colonel Lindbergh that he was dealing with the real kidnapers when he advanced $50,000 in bills, as demanded. They also quoted statements made today in Norfolk by the Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, relating a series of conferences between Curtis and the supposed kidnaping gang, by which they were assured of the child's health.

SENATOR HARRIS BETTER

WASHINGTON, April 15. (US)—The condition of Senator William J. Harris of Georgia, was slightly more hopeful today. Physicians said he had passed the crisis and appeared somewhat improved.

BANDIT ROBS DALLAS MAN OF $38,000

Bank Messenger Waylaid In Business Section By Bold Gunman

ESCAPED IN CAR

Police Find Money Sack And Pistol Abandoned By Hijacker

DALLAS, April 15. (AP)—A bank messenger was robbed of $38,000 today by a thief who waylaid him as he was transferring the currency in an automobile from the Federal Reserve bank to the Mercantile Bank and Trust company.

The robber leaped on the running board of the messenger's car, pistol in hand, as the latter turned into the street in the rear of the federal reserve building.

"Turn to the left at the next corner or I'll blow your brains out," the robber ordered. The messenger, John N. McCommas, complied. A negro porter, Sam Foxall, was riding in the back seat of the car, the money sack between his legs.

Chased Up Alley

McCommas was forced to drive to a side street about four blocks away. There the robber kicked him and the negro out of the car and chased them up an alley, threatening to "fill you both with lead."

The robber climbed into the car and drove several blocks up the side street, where he abandoned the car. Police were unable to determine whether he continued his flight in another car or on foot.

McCommas was able to give but a meager description of the man. He said the robber's face was covered with powder and that he wore smoked glasses. He was dressed in a gray checked suit and seemed to be about 30 years old.

Money Sack Found

This afternoon police found the money sack and the pistol which the robber took from McCommas where they had been thrown behind a hedge in a residence district, several miles from the scene of the robbery. Police were of the opinion that

Probe Launched In Columbus Explosion

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 15. (AP)—Investigations late today still were seeking the cause of an explosion which yesterday wrecked Ohio's new $6,000,000 state office building, taking eight lives and injuring more than 40 workmen.

After a preliminary investigation explosive experts discarded a theory high explosives had been used to blow up the newly completed structure. The theory a vandal may have planted a bomb in the building, tentatively was held after it was learned 300 pounds of dynamite were missing from a powder company near London, Ohio.

A crew of firemen continued today to dig into the ruins for other possible victims. Late today they located the body of Robert Pfefferle, a Columbus carpenter, the last known worker unaccounted for. Whether other bodies were under the tons of debris rescuers could not determine. Two other victims died during the day.

EL DORADO, Kan., April 15. (AP)—Mrs. Emma McCraner, 65, said by officers to have admitted killing her husband, W. H. McCraner, 79, with a potato masher, paring knife and flat iron, was adjudged insane today.

Judge To Serve Term With Daughter Because He Tried To Hide Her Crime

RALEIGH, N. C., April 15. (UP)—A veteran North Carolina jurist and his 27-year-old daughter stood before the bar of justice today and entered pleas of guilty that will put them behind the bars.

Miss Lois G. Harwood admitted the embezzlement of $4,823 of state tax funds while employed as clerk in the revenue department. Her father, Judge John H. Harwood, 52, of the North Carolina superior court, admitted that he altered state records in an effort to save his daughter from disgrace.

The Wake county superior courtroom presented a dramatic scene in the brief trial of the Harwood case.

Judge W. A. Devin passed sentence upon his colleague and Miss Harwood. The daughter must serve two years in the state prison. Judge Harwood must spend 12 months in the Wake county jail.

The offense to which Miss Harwood pleaded guilty constituted a felony, and the sentence must be served in prison. Judge Harwood pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor because admission of a felony would have disbarred him from the practice of law.

Judge Harwood is a former assistant state attorney general and member of a prominent North Carolina family. He is expected to resign from the bench immediately. Pending trial he was suspended at his own request by Gov. O. Max Gardner.

Illness Of Aged And Veteran Darrow Brings Halt To Hawaii Murder Trial

Prosecutor Announces He Will Object to Bringing In of Testimony of Attack Unless Sanity Plea Used

BY DAN CAMPBELL

COURTROOM, HONOLULU, T. H., April 15. (UP)—Clarence Darrow, the legal colossus of the Kahahawai murder trial, today was too ill to continue the defense of Mrs. Grace Hubbard Fortescue and three navy men. The trial was postponed until tomorrow.

The aged attorney—he will observe his 75th birthday in three days—was stricken with an intestinal ailment last night.

A motley crowd that had stood in line through the night, expecting today to hear grim young Lieut. Thomas H. Massie name the person who fired a shot into Joe Kahahawai's lung pushed out of the courtroom in disappointment.

Defendants Show Relief

Relief was evident on the faces of Massie, Mrs. Fortescue, A. O. Jones and F. J. Lord, the defendants.

Torture written on his face and hatred in his voice, Massie yesterday told of the attack on his wife by a gang of natives, of whom, he charged, Kahahawai was one.

Darrow had abruptly ended the tale at a high emotional point—Lieutenant Massie's declaration his wife had been in a delicate condition as a result of the attack.

The wily Darrow had left that thought with the polyglot jurymen overnight, with no cross-examination possible until Massie had finished his story.

As suddenly as the smouldering volcanoes of Hawaii thunder into life, Darrow had thrown off the weariness of years that had seemed to clothe his aged body. In a daring coup, he placed Massie on the stand without preliminaries.

Attorneys Confer

Prosecutor John Kelley, who sat placidly and let Massie pour out the story of his life's tragedy, today served notice he will attempt to halt further testimony regarding the attack on Mrs. Massie.

The only condition under which he will remove his vehement objections, he said, is that the defense definitely show it intends to base its defense on insanity.

Judge Charles S. Davis asked the attorneys to meet in the privacy of his chambers tomorrow. A decision on legality of Kelley's attitude will be made then.

"Unless the defense intends to show that the Ala Moana (Massie attack) case affected the minds of these defendants, all that testimony is irrelevant," Kelley declared.

"There are alienists in court, but the defense so far has not said it intended to plead insanity."

OIL ALLOWABLE CUT IN TEXAS

West Texas Pools Affected By New Order

HOUSTON, April 15. (AP)—The Texas State Railroad commission late today announced a reduction in the daily allowable for pools in the West Texas district, after cutting the allowable for the East Texas field at 67 barrels per day per well. Both reductions are to become effective at 7 a. m. tomorrow. The East Texas allowable before the cut was 71 barrels per well daily.

The Penn pool in Ector county was cut from 6,300 barrels to 4,070, barrels daily, while the Reagan county pool was cut from 30,000 barrels to 20,000. In the Howard-Glasscock pool the allowable was cut from 26,000 barrels to 24,000 barrels daily.

It ordered production in the vast East Texas oil field restricted to 67 barrels per well daily effective tomorrow to May 1. The allowable now is 71 barrels.

GASOLINE PRICES ADVANCE GENERALLY

TULSA, Okla., April 15. (AP)—Advances all along the line, from refiner to consumer, were noted in the gasoline industry today.

Tank car prices of U. S. motor grade gasoline ranged from 5 to 5¾ cents on quarter cent differentials for the low, middle and high grades, and tank wagon and retail prices went up a cent.

Kerosene prices reflected the strength of the market also, rising a quarter of a cent to 3¾ to 4 cents a gallon.

All but two companies operating in Tulsa were on a higher price schedule at filling stations. The increase, from 16 cents for U. S. motor standard to 17 cents, was general throughout Oklahoma, and accompanied a general rise throughout the Middle West, termed here the "Standard of Indiana territory."

Mid-continent petroleum still was selling at 16 cents in Oklahoma, but had increased elsewhere. Skelly Oil had increased everywhere but Tulsa. The advance was the second one of like size since crude oil prices went up April 1.

CANNON GIVES APPROVAL TO RESUBMISSION

Dry Leader Announces He Agrees With Byrd Proposal

DEFINES LIMITS

Militant Bishop Would Give People of States Chance To Express Views

RICHMOND, Va., April 15. (AP)—Bishop James Cannon Jr., militant dry leader for a quarter-century, today announced himself in "substantial agreement with the basel features" of former Gov. Harry F. Byrd's proposal to make possible popuplar vote on prohibition.

The methodist prelate asserted, however, his vigorous opposition to any party declaration on prohibition and his belief that the constitutional amendment suggested by Byrd should make possible a vote on all other amendments as well as the 18th. Byrd, at the Jefferson day dinner of Democrats, proposed a constitutional amendment which would permit congress, by two-thirds vote, to place the 18th amendment before the people at a popular election, each state to vote as a unit and three-fourths of the states necessary to make a change.

Anti-Saloon Convention

"Speaking only for myself, I find myself in substantial agreement with Governor Byrd in the basal features of his statement," Bishop Cannon told the Virginia Anti-Saloon league, in convention here.

"I agree with him in his declared opposition to any referendum not conducted under the law of the land. I agree with him in his declared opposition to any plan that will permit the people of a particular state to vote that state out of the United States while the other states remain under the control of the constitution, which is a flat rejection of the Smith-Raskob plan.

Draws Party Line

"Furthermore, I agree with the basal elements of his proposed constitutional amendment, namely 'that the congress whenever two-thirds of both houses deem it necessary, shall propose any amendment or reveal of the 18th amendment' provided that such amendment must be voted upon and adopted by a majority of the electors of three-fourths of the state before becoming a part of the constitution.

"I also must stand by the historic position that national political conventions should not adopt any party plank on prohibition as such plank would be interpreted as binding senators and congressmen on what has never been made a party issue by either party. Why now make a party issue of the proposed Byrd amendment? Why not get some one to introduce it in the senate and the house and let it take the usual course without regard to party lines?"

Demos Attack Failure To Float Construction Bonds

WASHINGTON, April 15. (US)—Senate Democrats, led by Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, today mercilessly flayed the administration for its failure to float a vast federal bond issue to finance public construction.

Leaving a sick bed to deliver his address, Senator Lewis attacked the administration for "playfulness of politics," accusing the Republican leaders of holding up the program because the plan is not a "Republican measure."

Hoover Optimistic For Business Revival

WASHINGTON, April 15. (UP)—President Hoover was represented today as feeling highly optimistic for the early economic recovery of the nation.

Arrest Believed Solution To Gainesville Robbery

GAINESVILLE, Texas, April 15. (UP)—A robbery of the Woodruff & Verner Drug store here last Nov. 30 is believed solved with the arrest at Paducah, Texas, of Nelson Combest, young former Gainesville resident.

Combest was being returned today to answer to a charge of burglary. It is alleged that two of 11 diamond rings stolen from the store were found in his possession. Others have been found in Dallas pawnshops.

26 Coyotes And 1,000 Rabbits Die In Munday Drive

Special to The Record News.

MUNDAY, Texas, April 15.—Munday sportsmen this week killed 26 coyotes during a rabbit drive at the Swenson and Ferris ranches southeast of the city. Veterans of many similar drives reported the number of coyotes as unusual.

The drive netted more than 1,000 rabbits, which approaches a record for drives in this area. Old timers pointed out that 1932 appears to be a "rabbit cycle" with the animals more numerous than in 10 years. Similar reports from West Texas counties bear out this indication as numerous farmers are in distress in controlling the rabbits, which are eating crops almost as fast as they sprout.

PARADE DRAWS HUGE CROWD

Wichita Pays Respects To Jinx Tucker

Thousands of Wichitans and fans of the adjacent territory thronged the streets of the business district early Friday afternoon as they joined a community-wide parade welcoming the 1932 Texas league baseball season.

The blare and crash of half a dozen bands and musical organizations added to the color of marching groups, decorated trucks and private automobiles brought a circus atmosphere to the city.

Slow Music for Jinx

Comedy features of the parade offered a popular conception of a "Texas League Umpire," heralded by a "help the blind" sign. A gray hearse recalling memories of a dignified funeral of a pre-motor age bore a casket emblazoned with the name of Jinx Tucker, Waco sports writer, who has been anything but kind in remarks about ability of Wichitans to support a ball club.

The parade was staged under direction of H. B. Dudley of the Junior chamber of commerce. Outstanding units included traffic police, fire trucks, American Legion drum and bugle corps, Iowa Park band, Lions club band, Shrine patrol, W. O. W. circle drill team, Burkburnett band, Paul Seeds' Los Caballeros band and a negro orchestra.

Many Visitors

Officials of the city, county, senior and junior chambers of commerce, baseball officials, individual new model automobiles for the Spudders, and out-of-town entries attracted interest.

At least 20 cities of the Wichita Falls area were represented in the out-of-town attendance at the game, estimated at 1,000 by Spudder officials and Chairman Joe Ward of the Junior chamber of commerce out-of-town attendance committee. Winners in the out-of-town attendance contest will be announced Sunday, Mr. Ward said, pending compilation of figures involved.

Stock Prices Make Substantial Gains

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP)—Public utility issues swept upward in today's securities markets, leading a recovery in prices through its second successive day.

The bond market took the spotlight away from stocks, making the most striking advances since January. There were numerous advances of $10 to more than $60 per bond of $1,000 par value.

Stocks closed with numerous net gains of $1 to $2 a share although there were some wider gains, particularly among the public utility preferred issues. This market encountered considerable profit taking in the final dealings, and closing prices were substantially under the day's best.

Insull Named Receiver In Bankruptcy Action

CHICAGO, April 15. (UP)—Scratch of Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley's pen sealed the largest bankruptcy action in America's history today when he appointed three receivers for the two and one-half billion dollar Middlewest Utilities company.

Over the protest of a minority stockholder and before a crowded courtroom of Middlewest securities holders, Judge Lindley named Samuel Insull, Edward N. Hurley and Charles McCullough to carry on the destinies of the company.

Army-Navy Merger Included In Bill Offered In House For Retrenchment

WASHINGTON, April 15. (AP)—The administration's omnibus retrenchment bill estimated to save from $160,000,000 to $200,000,000 in 1933 was submitted to the house economy committee which today approved a measure to consolidate the war and navy departments.

The measure contains President Hoover's proposal for a five-day work week for per diem employes, a month's leave without pay for regular workers and drastic downward slices in compensation to veterans. It also contains a provision giving the president authority to reorganize the government.

It was delivered late in the day to Chairman McDuffie by Budget Director Roop.

Meanwhile, house party leaders planned to force a showdown on the bill next Tuesday, provided the economy committee approves it.

The consolidation of the war and the navy departments was approved by the economy committee four to three. McDuffie said he would seek to put it with the omnibus bill, calling for legislative changes.

It has been estimated savings of about $80,000,000 would be effected from its veterans compensation provisions.

4,852 ATTEND OPENING GAME OF '32 SEASON

McEvoy Well Pleased With Wichita Response And Team's Play

VISITORS LOSE 13-3

Festivities of 13th Opening Day Most Colorful In History

By FRED THOMPSON
Record News Sports Editor

In their 13th annual opening game at Athletic park, the Wichita Falls Spudders yesterday afternoon banged out 13 hits and defeated the Shreveport Sports, 13 to 3.

Weather Man Frowns

A highly satisfactory crowd of exactly 4,852 paid customers was on hand to see Hank Severeid's Texas league entry make its home bow, and to watch one of the most colorful opening day spectacles ever staged here. Spudderland thus did its part, while the Spudders did theirs. A bigger crowd undoubtedly would have attended had it not been for a tricky weather man who cast a menace of rain over the skies Friday morning. Not until mid-afternoon did the sun break through the cloud of gloom.

Judged by rather strict standards, the ball game was not what it should have been—there were errors galore and the pitchers for the most part were chunking them over and ducking; but it was the first game of the season here, and the Spudders won it—and after all that's what really mattered.

President L. C. McEvoy of the Spudders was in the stands to watch his club win the starter. Mr. McEvoy made the trip from St. Louis especially to see the opener here. After the contest he said he was greatly pleased with the showing of his athletes, and was deeply appreciative of the good crowd assembled.

Ferrell Starts Today

The two teams close the series here today, after which the Spudders move on to Fort Worth. Manager Severeid said he probably would start Marvin Ferrell in the second game today.

Oklahoma Dry Agent Shot In Liquor Raid

HUGO, Okla., April 15. (AP)—Henry Jackson, federal prohibition agent, was shot during a liquor raid today at Frogville. A negro, Robert Smith, was hunted for the shooting. Jackson's condition was pronounced critical.

A posse of officers hurried to the Red river bottoms near Frogville in search of Smith.

Jackson, shot through the stomach, was taken to a Paris, Texas, hospital.

An officer who accompanied Jackson on the raid said Smith drew a pistol and fired after he had been arrested. The negro, the officer said, was being taken at the time to the site of a still he allegedly operated.

BRENHAM, Texas, April 15. (UP)—Three young convicts broke jail here today but soon were recaptured by an irate posse of citizens and officers.

They were recaptured four miles from town in a field. All three prisoners were awaiting removal to the penitentiary.

SCHOOL MEET ENDS TODAY

Winners in All Literary Events Announced

First Place Winners

Representatives of the following schools won first places in literary events Friday morning and afternoon: Sunshine Hill, Allendale, Eagle Bend, Bush Knob, Graham, Vernon, Wichita Falls, Newcastle, Bunger and Olney. Contests completed during the day in declamation were senior and junior competition for both boys and girls, rural division; extemporaneous speaking, boys and girls; and essay writing for class A, class B, rural, and ward school divisions.

Declamation finals for both boys and girls in junior and senior divisions, and debate finals in both boys' and girls' divisions were held Friday night at the Junior college. Competition in the "three R's" contest also was held Friday night, having been postponed from 2 p. m. in the face of a crowded schedule of events.

Wichita Falls and Vernon were finalists in the senior boys' debate, while in the girls' division Electra and Wichita Falls were competitors for first honors.

Track and Field

Fourteen track and field events, besides the pentathlon contest for rural school athletes, comprise the district meet which is to begin shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday morning on the athletic field located just south of the Junior college building. Traditional winners and always contenders, the Electra Tigers have established themselves already as pronounced favorites for first honors. They will bring a well balanced team which has demonstrated its strength in both track and field events earlier this spring in dual matches.

Representatives of 10 counties will be striving Saturday not only for the honor of their respective schools, but for designation as participants in the state meet to be held in Austin later this month. Winners of first and second places in the various events to be contested here will be certified for the state meet with expenses paid. Third and fourth place winners also will be eligible to compete in the state tourney, but their expenses will not be paid by the interscholastic league.

Despite the fact that Electra has shown great promise of repeating her district victory of 1931, the Tigers will face abundant competition here Saturday. Both Wichita Falls and Vernon, in particular, have entered teams capable of disputing every event with the present champions. Other schools in the district are certain to present both track and field talent which has not been seen in this immediate territory during the current season.

Assembly at 9 Today

All participants in Saturday's contests are to assemble in the Junior college auditorium at 9 a. m. sharp Saturday morning for final instructions, according to S. H. Rider, director-general of the district meet.

Finals in district tennis competition played at the country club Friday morning produced some of the finest play ever witnessed in high school matches in this section, according to those incharge. Predictions voiced by the gallery no later than opening of the meet Thursday morning were fulfilled when Rufus King of this city and Miss Mabel Givens of Petrolia carried off singles honors in boys' and girls' competition, respectively.

Tennis Finals

Miss Givens, who was eliminated in the semifinals of the 1931 state meet at Austin, served notice to the state again Friday that she will be a serious contender for first honors in the coming tournament in the capital city. Extreme steadiness, a highly dependable back-hand chop, and a relentless fighting spirit overcame the courageous opposition offered Friday by Irma Cline of the Wichita Falls high school.

Rufus King asserted himself throughout the tournament here, and especially in Friday morning's finals, as a stylist whose perfected technique obtains results. Every stroke is classic in its adherence to the best tennis technique, but it succeeded consistently in putting the ball where it wouldn't come back. Without apparently ever extending himself, King subdued the brilliant Jimmy Lutz of Vernon quite as effectively as he had erased all earlier opponents in the meet.

King won singles honors in straight sets 6-3, 6-3, 7-5. Miss Givens' victory over Miss Cline was by scores of 6-2 and 6-0.

Teaming with H. R. Hanks, who swings his racquet from the offside, King also participated in a straight-set victory over Vernon in doubles play. The Lions team of Jimmy Lutz and Sammie Parker put up a stiff battle, but lacked the steady consistency of the Coyote pair. Chops into the net and desperate back-court drives which carried beyond the base-line spelled defeat for Vernon, 3-6, 1-6, 4-6.

Petrolia's victory in girls' doubles was achieved by Raye Givens and Anna Carol Caddell over Lillian Danley and Bessie Dixon of Murray, the latter team representing Young county. Miss Cadell's effective service and net play, coupled with skillful back-court defense by Miss Givens, smothered the Murray challengers by a score of 6-2, 6-0.

Bi-District Play

Bi-district competition by which participants in the state tournament will be determined is expected to be announced soon by state interscholastic league officials, it was said. It was indicated that Wichita Falls will bid for the bi-district meet also. Local schools had the support of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce in sponsoring the tournament now being held.

Vets Pitted Against Vets As House Ex-Soldiers Answer Bonus Questions

WASHINGTON, April 15. (AP)—House leaders today assigned to members who served in the war the job of answering the demands of their fellow veterans for cash payment of the soldiers bonus.

This strategy of pitting veteran against veteran was adopted as advocates of the $2,400,000,000 outlay jubilated over the news that Representative Bankhead of Alabama, one of the Democratic chieftains, will support the bonus legislation if it reaches the house floor.

Among the first of the opposition witnesses to be called before the ways and means committee when bonus advocates close their case next week will be Representative Royal Johnson, Republican, South Dakota. Johnson enlisted as a private, won a commission and decorations before the armistice. He served for years as chairman of the house veterans committee.

Other congressional veterans with like views will be drafted to fight the bonus payment. Next, the committee will invite government financial experts to take the stand against the currency-expansion plan. Included will be Charles G. Dawes, head of the Reconstruction Finance corporation who also boasts a distinguished war record.

DEMOS NAME AL DELEGATE

Smith to Cast Half Vote At Convention

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP)—Alfred E. Smith, a receptive presidential candidate himself, was named today a delegate to the Democratic national convention. He will have half a vote out of the total of 1,154.

Smith, the 1928 standard bearer, and John W. Davis, the 1924 candidate, were among 16 delegates-at-large selected by party leaders and approved by the Democratic state committee at Albany. Each will have half a vote.

After a telephone conversation with John F. Curry, Tammany leader, they agreed to serve.

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, avowed presidential candidate, eliminated himself as a delegation possibility with a statement he believed it would be politically indelicate, in view of his race for the nomination, to be a delegate.

Murray Enters Scene

The state committee also passed a resolution demanding repeal of the 18th amendment.

Meantime, a third Democratic presidential possibility, Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray of Oklahoma, again projected himself into the political spotlight by challenging Roosevelt to explain how he would aid the "little fellow."

"I'd rather have Senator Norris of Nebraska for president than Roosevelt," Murray declared.

He reiterated his opinion the Democrats could not win with a New Yorker, and declared the Republicans "have too much sense" to nominate a New Yorker.

He said he had gone into the field as a champion of the "little fellow."

Murray's challenge was a repercussion of Smith's veiled references to Roosevelt, his one-time political ally, in a Washington address Wednesday night.

Roosevelt May Reply

Murray already has the 23 delegates from his own state instructed to vote for him.

In a recent radio speech Roosevelt championed the cause of the "little fellow," and said vast agencies of national relief have been of little aid to small home and farm owners.

Smith, at the Jefferson day dinner in Washington, quoted phrases from this speech and said he would "take off his coat and fight to the end" any candidate who attempted to stir up one class against another.

Whether Roosevelt will take public cognizance of Smith's remarks in the address he is to deliver in St. Paul next Monday is a matter of much conjecture among political observers.

Roosevelt's own campaign leaders here have taken the stand that Smith did not mention Roosevelt by name in the attack, that later Smith said he "referred to no one in particular," and for Roosevelt supporters to reply would to admit that "the shoe fits."

MURRAY BACK AT CAPITOL

Oklahoman to Revive Text Book and Tax Bills

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 15. (UP)—Hurling a new defiance at his foes, Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray announced today he would personally inject himself above all other issues in the Oklahoma elections this year.

The fiery chief executive said he would call an initiative election on a new income tax law, inflicting a 15 per cent levy on those with high incomes, and a free textbook bill at one of the elections this year.

He returned to his executive office today after an interrupted presidential speaking tour of the northwest and issued the announcement as his first thrust at leaders of a "revolt" who attacked his administration.

Reversed Burns' Order

With one sweep, he reversed Lieut. Gov. Robert Burns' order stopping work on a new sub-penitentiary in Atoka county which Atty. Gen. J. Berry King had branded as an "illegal project."

He dispatched a letter to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, demanding that the New York governor, who is his opponent for the Democratic presidential nomination, assert himself on the issues of banking and bimetalism.

"I have told in detail what I will do to help the little man. Now you tell what you will do," the challenge read.

"Alfalfa Bill" refused to say definitely whether he would abandon his presidential campaign, rebuffed by defeats in primaries in North Dakota and Nebraska. He intimated, however, he would curtail most of his spectacular stump campaign of the nation.

May Write Book

"A New York publisher wrote me suggesting that I write a book," the governor said. I think I might write one on 'what I would do if I were president.' If I did this, I wouldn't have much time to speak."

He said a move to block his proposed income tax measure was responsible for the attacks on his administration the past 10 days.

Burns retorted that the governor's charges was absurd.

"I never heard of his income tax bill plan before," the militant lieutenant governor said.

Murray's decision to call another "firebell" election in Oklahoma, a move that would require signature of 25 per cent of the voters in the last initiative election, brought forecasts of a fight to the finish between administration friends and the strong anti-Murray factions.

Last Dec. 18 voters decisively rejected Murray's tax reform program after one of the bitterest campaigns in the state's turbulent political history.

Blind Senator Answers Challenge of Opponent

WASHINGTON, April 15. (INS)—Charges that Senator Thomas D. Schall, Republican, of Minnesota, violated the corrupt practices act during his campaign for re-election to the senate in November, 1930, were described by Schall today as "falsehoods."

"The complaint which is filed is a mass of generalities, insinuations and falsehoods," the blind senator said. "It is just another attempt upon the part of my enemies to destroy my influence as a senator."

Schall's re-election was challenged yesterday by his defeated Democratic opponent Einar Hoidale, in a petition submitted to the senate by Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana.

BANK EMPLOYE LOSES $38,000

Bandit Threatens to Fill Victim With Lead

the robbery was staged by a man well-acquainted with the city. He evidently had carefully studied McCommas' routine daily trips from the reserve bank to the Mercantile bank, where he was employed.

McCommas said he didn't have a chance to prevent the robbery, which occurred at a time he least expected it.

A few minutes after the robbery officials of a taxicab company reported receiving a call for a cab in the neighborhood where the robber abandoned McCommas' car. Residents of the neighborhood said they saw a man get in the cab and drive south.

Searched City

Police searched the city for the cab and when they failed to locate it, chartered an airplane and flew over roads leading from the city, they thought it possible the robber was using the cab to get away to some nearby town.

The McCommas car was carefully inspected at police headquarters for fingerprints or other clues to the identity of the robber, but none was found. Police considered it likely the man was hiding somewhere in the city.

Biggest Robbery in Years

Radio broadcasts notified local officers of the robbery before the thief had time to escape from the city and officers in nearby towns were instructed to guard all roads leading from Dallas.

Bank officials said the stolen money was all in bills of $5, $10 and $20 denominations. Efforts were being made to check serial numbers in order to trace the bills when they appear in circulation.

It was the biggest robbery in Dallas for many years. In October, 1930, a bank messenger and a union terminal cashier were robbed of $16,500 by six men who held them up on a downtown street.

In 1917 a pay roll amounting to about $40,000 was taken. The Jackson street postoffice was robbed of $2,000,000 in 1921. Most of the money taken in the postoffice robbery was canceled currency which officials were preparing to send to Washington for destruction.

Three Minute Relief From Periodical Pains

It is so unnecessary to suffer month after month from inorganic pains, because "B. C." will bring soothing relief in three minutes. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, used by many physicians, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of common colds, headaches and neuralgia, muscular aches and pains, reducing fever and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. Get "B. C." in 10c and 25c packages, wherever drugs are sold.—Adv.

NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT CERTIFIED FOR FOOD VALUE

Philadelphia Laboratory Certifies the Improved Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit

One of the greatest tributes to quality ever paid a food product is the fact that the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia now certifies every package of the new, improved Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit for food value.

These delicious biscuits are unusually rich in proteins, minerals, vitamins and other important food elements. One reason for this, is the fact that the biscuits are "pressure-cooked"—a process that retains all the food value of the whole wheat. "Pressure-cooking" also bakes in a rich, tempting flavor that every one praises.

The new Kellogg biscuit has many welcome features. It is toasted brown on both top and bottom—not just one side. It is made in a new, convenient size. Two biscuits just fit the cereal bowl; and you get 15 to the package—which means added economy.

Served with hot or cold milk or cream, fruit or honey added—Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are delightful and wholesome for breakfast, lunch, children's suppers. Easy to digest and very nourishing.

Local grocers report that this improved shredded biscuit is meeting with hearty acceptance. It may be identified by the familiar red-and-green Kellogg's package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

ALLRED TAKES TO HANDBALL

'Trust Buster' Has Daily Workout on Court

AUSTIN, April 15. (AP)—Despite his almost constant attendance in recent weeks at the trial of the suit to oust 15 major oil companies and two petroleum associations from Texas, Attorney General James V. Allred finds time daily to indulge in a hard workout on the handball courts. His favorite opponent is Everett F. Johnson, assistant attorney general and another handball fan.

As soon as court is adjourned for the day, Allred hops in his automobile, a Christmas gift from his employes, and dashes for the handball courts. He exhibits the same ardor and fervor smacking the black ball around as he does in attacking the oil companies. His spirit in this latter capacity has won him the nick name of "the trust buster."

Allred formerly was district attorney of Wichita county. During the trial of the oil ouster suit in the Travis county courthouse several sheriffs have been tried and convicted for violating the law governing collection of fees of office. The young attorney general slips away from the oil suit to listen to trials whenever opportunity presents.

"I just like to sit in on them," he says. "You know, I was prosecutor once and it sort of gets in the blood of a person to want to sit on the trial of criminal cases."

Owners Secure Title to Land Worth $160,000,000

FRESNO, Calif., April 15. (AP)—The title of M. D. Huffman, retired sheep rancher of Modesto, his wife Laura and Mrs. Idyl Hardie, pioneer local school teacher, and associates to 160 acres of Kettleman hills oil land, valued at $160,000,000, was upheld today by a court decision.

The Huffmans bought the land at a tax sale in 1920 for only $680. In late years oil development has skyrocketed the value to about $1,000,000 an acre.

Superior Judge S. L. Strother's decision came after extensive litigation in which the tax title was assailed as invalid.

It was learned that the measure is designed to facilitate the sale of farm board stabilization surpluses to China and Germany on time loans.

The commission declined to call an election, it is alleged, and the state intervened through the district court.

Python Crushes Circus Acrobat

NEW YORK, April 15. (UP)—A 25-foot python awoke from his customary lethargy today during the thrilling act of the bounding Bombayo and the acrobatic Canestrelly troupe, and thought the circus people were trying to make a monkey out of him.

The python wrapped himself around Canestrelly, but not lovingly, and the acrobat was about to be crushed like an opera hat when a score of animal men rushed in and broke the big serpent's hold. Canestrelly suffered an injury to his army, and Alfred Codona, noted aerial performer, was slightly bitten.

12 INVOLVED IN KIDNAPING

Police Charge Group With Doctor's Abduction

PEORIA, Ill., April 15. (AP)—Twelve persons, among them two politicians and two women, were under arrest today on formal charges of kidnaping Dr. James W. Parker, wealthy physician, for ransom. A $50,000 bond was set for each.

Dr. Parker was abducted last month and released 18 days later unharmed and without paying a demanded $50,000. A day before this occurred, Attorney Joseph H. Pursifull and Contractor James W. Betson, both prominent in Peoria politics, were seized and the police said they admitted acting as ransom agents for the abductors.

A trap set for the kidnapers at the time snapped without success but the authorities pursued their search with the aid of Chicago's "secret six" and the denouncement came yesterday, they said, with the arrest of Homer Massey at Jack-ville, Ill., and Dwight Bartlett of East Peoria, Ill., at New Union.

The authorities said of those held, a bond salesman named Arlo Stoops and Cecil Meninger, Betson's nephew, accused Bartlett and Claude Evans of being the actual kidnapers, and asserted that Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stoops, a farm couple, admitted Dr. Parker was detained in their home.

Southern Pacific Lines Become Largest in U. S.

NEW YORK, April 15. (UP)—The Southern Pacific railroad yesterday became the largest railroad in the country in point of assets by assuming corporate control of the St. Louis Southwestern railway (Cotton Belt).

In absorbing the Cotton Belt the Southern Pacific guaranteed the loan of $18,000,000 made by the reconstruction finance corporation to the road, as required by the Interstate Commerce commission.

Management of the Cotton Belt is expected to announce soon a plan to bondholders whereby half the maturity will be met with cash and the remainder by issuance of refunding series A 5 per cent bonds

Cross Plains Blaze Causes $12,000 Damage

CROSS PLAINS, Texas, April 15. (AP)—Fire damaged the City Drug store building here today to the extent of approximately $12,000. Cause of the blaze had not been determined. Part of the loss was covered by insurance. Arthur Burkett, proprietor, said the store would be reconditioned.

Oklahoma To Carry Fight On Toll Bridges To U. S. Supreme Court

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 15. (AP)—Blocked, temporarily at least, in efforts to eliminate tolls at Oklahoma's last intrastate toll bridge, state officials today planned to appeal to the United States supreme court, if necessary, from a ruling yesterday of the federal circuit court of appeals at Wichita, Kan.

W. C. Lewis, assistant attorney general, said litigation now will be tried in federal courts to determine whether owners of the bridge still hold a franchise. The bridge spans the south Canadian river at Lexington and Purcell on U. S. highway No. 77, main cross-state artery.

Reversing the Oklahoma federal district court, the circuit court held the operators, Charles H. Hamill and Willoughby Walling, were entitled to an injunction restraining state officials from proceeding against them under a statute limiting the life of a corporation to 20 years.

The court said the question to be decided was whether a "perpetual franchise" had expired.

The state contended the franchise expired after 20 years, while the owners claimed the corporation had passed out of existence and had assigned the franchise to individuals, making it perpetual.

Tolls on the bridge, which have been impounded under court order, are 10 cents per passenger car.

RIOT RENEWED IN AUCKLAND

Mobs Pillage Stores and Fire Buildings

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, April 15. (US)—Flames rising from two churches, the broken windows of pillaged stores, and streets littered with discarded loot tonight testified to the mob of unemployed who today again seized control of Auckland's business district.

After three hours of unrestrained pillage, the rioters were gradually dispersed by reading of the riot act and its quick enforcement by police, territorial troops, and British marines landed from the training cruiser Philoel.

Forty-five mob leaders, including the president of the unemployed organization, were arrested. Under the riot act, they can be tried for felony. About 60 wounded persons were sent to hospitals to join the 200 casualties of yesterday's outbreak.

At Wellington, the government called for all world war veterans and other volunteers to organize as civic guards. Every city and town in New Zealand is to have a volunteer corps sworn to put down similar risings.

During the height of the disorders, the mayor attempted to harangue the mob, but was booed down.

Counterfeit Bills Probed At Beaumont

BEAUMONT, Texas, April 15. (AP)—Secret service operatives who have been here three weeks after the appearance of nearly 100 counterfeit $20 bills March 26, 27 and 28, were in Port Arthur today, following arrest of Malcolm Brown, former Port Arthur man in New Iberia, La., last night.

The first seven or eight bills were passed on local stores March 26 by a man and woman, and description of the former fitted Brown. The license number of an automobile used by the woman also was traced to Brown, it was reported during the investigation.

On March 28 numbers of bills were found scattered about the streets, lying in parked automobiles and in the yards of residences in all parts of the city. Secret service men collected nearly 100 of the bills, many of them from the hands of innocent finders who attempted to pass them on stores and banks.

LAND LOANS DRAWS ATTACK

Oklahoma Auditor Threatens Discharge of Employes

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 15. (UP)—Continuing his campaign against state employes borrowing from the state school land department, State Auditor Frank Carter today threatened to discharge Henry Pope, Lawton, school land appraiser.

Pope, an employe of the school land department since 1919, secured a $3,000 loan Sept. 20, 1924.

"I am informed that you stated if you had to pay the 10 per cent interest that you would let the land revert to the state," Carter wrote Pope. "I am informed you have not cashed any of your salary warrants amounting to $250 a month in order to make the interest of six per cent thereon.

"I think your acts unpardonable and I wish to assure you that unless this interest is paid in full by next Tuesday, the date we meet, I will personally make a move to dismiss you from state service."

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Time was when every senator enjoyed an individual veto power over federal appointments within his state.

By mere assertion that the appointee was personally obnoxious to him, a senator could prevent confirmation.

Under its unwritten rules, those hoary precedents of senatorial courtesy and custom, the senate would at once deny confirmation without asking reasons.

But times have changed. Popular election of senators has had much to do with that.

And the new senate habit of holding its executive sessions in public unless some grave reason of state, not of personal privilege, intervenes, has clinched the virtual abandonment of the custom.

So Customs Change

During debate over the appointmen by President Hoover of Charles A. Jones as federal district attorney for the western district of North Carolina, this change in senate custom was sharply brought out.

In voicing objections to that appointment Senator Josiah W. Bailey of that state employed the "personally obnoxious" phrase. He, however, repeatedly qualified it with the assertion that it was for the wholly impersonal reasons he also stated, not because of "politics" or his own dislike of Jonas, that he opposed confirmation.

Confirmation was denied. On an effor by Senator Hastings, of Delaware, to induce reconsideration of the vote, Jonas again lost, 26 to 42. Yet here is a curious circumstance:

On the roll call all Democrats voted against reconsideration and with them voted Senator Reed, Republican regular of regulars, and Senators Couzens, Cutting, Dale, Frazier and Norris of the Republican irregular group.

For reconsideration voted the solid front of regular Republicans present and Senators Borah, Johnson and Brookhart of the Republican irregular faction.

And of all senators voting only Reed of Pennsylvania disclosed himself as moved by the old, unwritten rule granting veto power to individual senators.

Reed insisted that the custom was not as "foolish" as it sounded.

Borah Against It

As opposed to his view, however, Borah said that while it had prevailed almost without exception up to the time he came to the senate a quarter century ago, it has been frequently disregarded since then.

"I do not recognize the rule," he said. "I have not recognized it for 12 years. I am convinced it is unsound and not in the public interest."

Apparently 25 other Republicans felt the same way about it.

Nor is it reasonable to suppose that men like Couzens, Cutting or Norris were controlled by that outworn privilege of a senatorship.

It could have played little part in rejection of Jonas' name.

New Denver to Reach Shamrock by May 1

CHILDRESS, Texas, April 15. (AP)—Rails on the new Denver railroad being constructed from Childress to Pampa will reach Shamrock by May 1, under present plans of the construction engineers.

Supply trains are now running from Childress to Wellington. The line was built into that city April 1, track being laid at the rate of 9,000 feet a day after the Red river and Buck creek were crossed.

Two streams between Wellington and Shamrock, the Salt Fork of Red river and Elm creek, will delay construction for a time, but most of the surveying and leveling of the road bed have been completed by advance crews.

ECONOMY MOVE

TOPEKA, Kan., April 15. (AP)—As an economy move, division accounting and train service time-keeping activities in the eastern and western lines of the Santa Fe railroad will be consolidated at Topeka and Amarillo, Texas, respectively.

2. THE VALLEY—Systematic, vigorous development of the irrigated valley in keeping with its possibilities as Wichita Falls' greatest physical asset.
3. WATER—An ample, assured supply of soft water.
4. EDUCATION—Maintenance of a junior college in Wichita Falls to give opportunity for higher education to our youth—the highest standards in elementary schools.
5. THE LAKES—Full development of the recreational opportunities offered by the three lakes.
6. HIGHWAYS—Early consummation of a highway program covering all the main routes radiating from this city and all the local roads that serve its agricultural community.
7. DRAINAGE—Solution of the drainage problem in all three phases; first, in the irrigated valley; second, with regard to Holliday creek; third, in those portions of the city now inadequately drained.
8. GOVERNMENTAL ECONOMY—The adoption of such means as may be found most feasible to reduce the cost of local government by elimination of unnecessary offices and consolidation of others.

Governor Pinchot says the ordinary letter costs the government between 15 and 25 cents. But if you say too much, one can cost a thousand times that.

It was quite a comedown for Babe Ruth to sign for $75,000. President Hoover makes that much.

A Great Idea

LEOPOLD STOKOWSKI'S remark that he will lead street bands in free concerts, if the depression doesn't end soon and enable music lovers to pay for their tickets, starts an interesting chain of thought, even if he didn't mean his remark to be taken seriously.

Perhaps, at that, he really meant it. Explaining his statement, the famous Philadelphia orchestra leader said:

"I am a leader and not a follower. I am not trying to please. I have a task to perform, and that task is to lead people into the paths of greatness in music, to inspiration and to beauty. If they cannot see their way it is my duty to lead them through the darkness into the light."

It might be a good thing if those sentences could be studied for a while by musicians, artists and writers throughout the United States.

For a long time we have been hearing about the rights and privileges of the creative artist. He is not like other men, we are told, and he can't be treated as other men are treated. When, as occasionally happens, his nation permits him to live in poverty, it is a shameful thing.

All of this is perfectly true. But there is another side to it. As Mr. Stokowski points out, the artist has duties as well as privileges. Whether his nation provides him with a comfortable living or not, it is up to him to provide the nation with beauty; and his obligation is far heavier than the one that rests on his fellows.

The gift that has been given him—to create fine music, to write noble books, to paint lovely pictures—must be used freely, if he is to be worthy of it. Whether he gets properly paid or not, he must give his fellow-citizens the best there is in him. Mr. Stokowski's idea about free street concerts is really not in the least far-fetched.

A good deal has been said about America's inability to appreciate artistic works. A large part of the blame can be given the artists themselves. If Mr. Stokowski's idea were more widely accepted by artists the nation might show that it has unexpected capacities for recognizing and enjoying beauty.

Kid Gloves for Gangsters?

JACK GUZIK was Al Capone's right-hand man in the Chicago rackets for a long time. Recently the federal government laid him by the heels because he failed to pay any income tax, and the other day he was shipped off to Leavenworth penitentiary to serve a five-year sentence.

But he didn't go with the rest of the prisoners. Instead he got permission to pay his own expenses and the expenses of the federal guards who had him in custody; so he rode in another car, in real style, and wasn't soiled by contact with the lesser thugs and confidence men who were going to prison.

This, somehow, is apt to give the ordinary citizen an acute pain. Why should this man have been permitted extra privileges, even if he was able to pay for them himself? Are these Chicago gangsters such influential people that they must be handled with kid gloves even after they have been sentenced to prison?

Trade With Russia

COL. HUGH L. COOPER, famous American engineer and president of the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce, declared in a recent interview that Soviet Russia is potentially the biggest market in the world for American exporters.

In the last eight years, he said, Russia has bought $2,500,000,000 worth of goods from the outside world, and has paid the bill without delay and without the loss of one cent. In the not-distant future Russia's imports can be expected to total at least $2,000,000,000 a year. Furthermore, Russia is eager to have American guidance in development of her national resources, and is very favorably impressed with American goods.

You might keep those points in mind the next time some purblind "patriot" insists that we put an embargo on imports of goods from Russia. A market that could make us completely forget the depression is waiting for us there—unless we spoil it by idiotic trade restrictions.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE SOAP THAT GROWS ON TREES—The soap tree (sapindus Saponaria), which grows in the southern United States, is usually from 30 to 40 feet in height. The pulpy fruit, which contains saponarium, makes a frothy mixture when combined with hot water and can be used as a substitute for soap in the laundering of linen and other textiles. The seeds of the fruits were formerly used as buttons. I saw the sapindus berry used as soap during my stay in Algiers last year.

A MOST MIRACULOUS ESCAPE FROM DEATH—In January, 1931, while flying over Surrey, England, at a high altitude, the motor of Flight Lieut. H. M. A. Day's plane froze, precipitating the machine 20,000 feet to the ground. Death seemed inevitable, but by some extraordinary trick of fate bordering on the miraculous, the flier escaped uninjured when he merged to survey the ruins of his ship.

The Story of an Unemployed Girl

By Ethelda Bedford, Author of "Broadway Bride"

READ THIS FIRST

Lillian Abbott, heiress, leaves her New England home for the life of a working girl in New York City. Influenced by handsome Thomas Blane she hopes to make the movies. But Blane is a girl racketeer and Lillian wakes up to this fact just in time to save herself many heartaches. However, Blane steals all of her money. Too proud to go home she determines to buck New York. Her courage doesn't weaken even when Howard Marsh, manager of her hotel, speaks about her bill. She trades him her diamond wrist watch. He is attractive and Lillian, especially aware of his charm, accepts his dinner invitation. While he doesn't tell her in so many words he gets over the idea she is to have a job. She realizes finally that she has been hired as a professional hostess at a dine-and-dance haven. The idea shocks her—that she is selling her pleasantness, that men are supposed to tip her for her company. Gloria Lowell, another hostess, helps console her. Lillian hasn't even taxi fare. She is forced to accept the situation. And somehow she gets by until two fellows have a fight over her. The manager of the place gives her taxi fare. She returns to her hotel near daylight.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER XXVII

Howard Marsh wore one of the yellow rosebuds on his coat lapel and the remainder of the bouquet clustered in an Italian pottery vase on the corner of his big glass-topped desk nearest Lillian.

Lillian, after nearly a whole day of sleep, felt much better than she had that morning. She had come to the hotel so tired she fell across her bed and slept the exhausted sleep of a played-out child.

At noon she had awakened and gone about taking off her flame-colored chiffon and the torn velvet wrap. She thought a warm bath would freshen her, but it only made her sleepier. She crawled back in bed.

So, when she knocked on Howard Marsh's office door it was nearly five.

Howard Marsh smiled expansively. He got up when she came in and made the motion of pulling up a chair for her.

As she sat down he slid the vase of yellow rosebuds over to him and took out one, toyed with its long stem and thorns and foliage until all but two inches of the stem had been twisted off between his thumb and forefinger, then fastened the blossom on his dark brown lapel.

They had passed meaningless words during those few minutes.

Lillian bit her lip and tried her best to keep the anger she felt from glistening in her eyes.

What if she flared at him? What was there to be gained—except the satisfaction of flaring?

Sherron had only given her five dollars last night! Five dollars. It had cost her one to ride to the hotel.

She would have to have a job . . . she would have to have more money. Howard Marsh could assist her. If only he would.

As she had decided over and over again in her room she decided again there in his office—she had everything to gain, nothing to lose, by being pleasant.

She flashed her smile at Howard.

There was nothing Howard Marsh liked better than a pretty girl. A young and pretty girl. He liked to look at one.

Lillian had a lovely figure. A pretty face. A natural beauty.

"Well," he said, "how'd it come out?"

"What?" she said.

"Last night—"

"Oh—I thought perhaps Mr. Sherron would hand in a report on me today."

"He has to sleep all day, you know. Haven't talked with him yet—but you had a big time, didn't you? You certainly were the belle of the ball when I ducked out—"

"But, why—why did you, Mr. Marsh?" Lillian unconsciously moved to the edge of her chair.

Wouldn't he defend himself . . . clear himself somehow of the hurt he had caused her. She hoped he could . . . would.

He was busy lighting a cigaret. And he laughed so he choked a little on the smoke.

"Oh—you child!" he said, amusement over his good looking face. "Why? Because you were having a grand time—being rushed and all that sort of thing. Why, I was just going along as your chaperon, don't you see? I ducked out and gave the others a chance. Why, you—"

Lillian turned her head quickly. She buried her even white teeth in her lip. But—

"Why—why, what's the matter, child?" he asked, surprised. He was standing by her chair, bending over her, his hand on her shoulder.

"Look up here. Look at me. You—you're not crying—"

She couldn't keep the silly tears back. They rushed out and sparkled in her thick dark lashes.

"What, what's the matter? Did something go wrong last night? Tell me—"

"Why didn't you tell me? Why didn't you tell me you were hiring me—like that?" she burst out.

"Oh, I thought you'd get a great kick out of being a hostess. I thought I got the idea over to you rather well, without actually telling you what it was all about. You seemed to get the idea. And you seemed to be having a good time—"

"But I'm not a child. I—you might have told me—"

"Well, you told me you needed some money. And I knew that was a nice place for a young girl—a pretty young girl—" he looked coaxingly and admiringly at her then—"to have a job. It's less like work than most anything else an untrained girl would find in New York."

She listened, struggling for poise. Tucked at her hair and pressed her hat closer to her head.

Howard sat on the side of his desk quite near her.

There dawned on her that there was something actually paternal in his attitude toward her. And it made her a little ashamed that she had been guilty of a romantic attachment.

Lillian moved her chair ever so slightly away from him.

"Oh, I can't tell you how much I appreciate your—your kindness," she said, forcing a friendliness into her dark eyes, beautifully bright from tears and not at all red as some girls would have been from crying.

"I'm sure you meant to be kind—but it was just so different from anything I'd ever experienced . . . dancing with men, being nice, pleasant, you know, with the hope, well, with the understanding they would pay—"

Howard smiled. She could sense he did not see it from her view. He was trying to soothe her.

"I want a career," she said. "I want to work—but not like that."

"Why don't you go back to school, you pretty child?"

"No. I've been out of school for months. I came to New York to work. I mean to."

"I don't really believe in pretty girls having a working career. Work. Offices, shops, things like that. It's a tough life. My wife gave up a promising career when she married me—and I don't believe she's regretted it."

His wife! So—he had a wife!

For a sinking moment Lillian thought who wouldn't give up a career, any sort of career, to be Howard Marsh's wife?

She'd never even thought of a career had a man like Howard Marsh been in love with her.

U. T. Profs Disfavor Prodigy Segregation

AUSTIN, April 15. (AP)—Two professors of the department of education of the University of Texas have expressed disapproval of the plan being followed at Northwestern university of segregating a few prodigies for special attention. They are Drs. C. F. Arrowood and H. T. Manuel.

Not one out of every 10 prodigies is aware that he is unusual and he should not be told he is a genius until he has proven so by accomplishement, Dr. Arrowood said.

Adequately organized work to care for the upper five or 10 per cent already enrolled in universities was advanced by Dr. Manuel as the more logical course. He warned against seeking out five or six precocious students and giving them special care and attention.

AUSTIN, April 15. (AP)—Discovery of what is believed to be the largest live oak tree in the world has been announced by Dr. B. C. Tharp, professor of botany at the University of Texas. The tree was located by Dr. Tharp in Aransas county on a point east of Copano bay.

The tree is approximately eight feet in diameter and five of its seven main branches are 30 inches in diameter. It is about 35 feet high and has a spread of nearly 100 feet.

Answers to Questions

Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing to our information bureau in Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, or undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in coin or stamps for return postage. The reply is sent direct to the inquirer. Q.—In five hundred, if the bidder has a lower score than the opponents, and both make enough points to win the game, which side wins? —T. C.

A.—The score is not counted until the hand is completed. Then the bidder scores first and wins the game if he makes his bid and it is sufficient to bring his score to 500.

Q.—Upon what basis are taxes assessed in Russia?—W. H. W.

A.—According to the Soviet union, direct taxes are imposed in the form of a single agricultural tax, a trading tax, an income tax, a surplus profit tax and probate duties. Indirect taxes consist of excise taxes and customs duties. Excise taxes are imposed on sugar, tobacco, textile products, fermented and distilled spirits, oil products, salt, tea, coffee, matches and yeast.

Q.—Can a trip be made to South America by automobile?—R. L. P.

A.—It is not feasible. Such a trip has been made but the two men who made the trip suffered great hardship. As yet the Panama American highway has only been surveyed.

Q.—When was the free and unlimited coinage of silver last made an issue in a party platform?—W. B. B.

A.—The Kansas City convention of July 4, 1900, which nominated William Jennings Bryan, adopted a platform containing what was labeled "the silver declaration." It called for the immediate free coinage of silver at 16 to 1. Thereafter, Democratic party platforms were silent on the issue but in 1904 the Republican convention declared that the gold standard must be upheld and could not safely be trusted to Democrats. Again, in 1908, the Republican platform contained a plank insisting that "every dollar must be based upon as good as gold." Since then no reference has been made in either party platform, the gold standard being assumed as a matter of course.

Q.—What kind of a blossom has the Franklinia tree?—M. C.

A.—The Franklinia tree has a white blossom, in some instances with a pinkish tinge, and resembles dogwood to a great extent; however, it has a larger and more beautiful blossom. It blooms, unlike most trees, in August and September.

Q.—What are the duties of a script clerk in the motion picture industry?—O. P.

A.—Above all, a script clerk, who is almost always a girl, must be an expert stenographer. She has charge of the script during the making of the picture and is constantly at the director's side. She takes notes on costumes, action, dialogue, the length of the running of a scene, directions that go with each scene as made for the cutter. It is quite an important job in the studio.

A.—The 10-cent postage stamp of the series of 1847 was the first that bore the portrait of George Washington.

Q.—Is snow counted in measuring a year's rainfall?—F. S. A.

A.—The weather bureau says that snowfall that occurs at the government observing stations is reduced to its equivalent in rainfall and included with the latter in determining the amount of precipitation during the year. As a rule the ratio of unmelted to melted snow is 1 to 10, that is, 10 inches of snow will ordinarily make about 1 inch of water.

Q.—When the expression Seven Seas, was first used, to what seas did it refer?—O. G. J.

A.—Col. G. E. Gerini in his researches on Ptolemy's geography of Eastern Asia traces the expression, Seven Seas, back to Indian and Chinese legend. From the Puranas, Col. Gerini has made the following list of seven seas: Sea of Salt Water—surrounds India; Sea of Sugar Cane Juice—surrounds Burma; Sea of Wine—surrounds the Malay Peninsula; Sea of Clarified Butter—surrounds the Sunda Archipelago; Sea of Milk—surrounds Siam and Cambodia; Sea of Curds and Whey—surrounds Southern China; and Sea of Fresh Water—surrounds Northern China and Mongolia.

STIMSON GIVES COMPROMISE

'Hemispheric Disarmament' Plan Suggested

PARIS, April 15. (UP)—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and Premier Andre Tardieu tonight ended their long and cordial discussion of a new disarmament scheme which may heal the wide breach between American and French plans at the world conference at Geneva.

The compromise proposal was presented to French government leaders by Stimson, who began his important European visit with discussions of disarmament, war debts, central European conditions and other problems at the Quai d'Orsay. Later he left for Geneva.

The scheme was described as "hemispheric disarmament." It would strike a working compromise between the French demand for an international "peace army" under League of Nations control, and the American proposal for mere abolition of offensive weapons as a preliminary to reduction of arms.

Two Schemes

Stimson and Norman Davis, counsellor of the American embassy, suggested to Tardieu that hemispheric disarmament be applied by two or more different disarmament schemes in different zones of the world. That is, the best possible scheme for achieving both security and disarmament would be applied in each zone.

In this way, the French scheme for an international army could be applied to Europe if Tardieu can persuade all European nations to accept it. But a different plan of control might be found better suited to the western hemisphere and applied there. Still another plan might be applied in the Far East or perhaps a separate plan could be evolved for limitation of great naval powers.

The American representatives suggested this scheme to Tardieu as an evidence of the United States good will and in an effort to offset Tardieu's charges that the United States disarmament plan was developed in concert with other powers, presumably Britain and Switzerland, to oppose the French thesis. It also was an effort to heal the division at the Geneva conference, which was sharply divided in support of the opposing schemes.

E. Post Advises Lovers On Conduct In Public

By EMILY POST

The other day I wrote of an engagement announcement. Today I want to stress a detail, which is of very real concern to etiquette—or to good taste—since they mean the same—and that is the behavior of the engaged couple in public. Conspicuous demonstrations of affection such as kissing and snuggling and whispering in public are entirely outside the pale of proper conduct. To be sure, they would more than probably hold hands in a movie, and one expects their attention to be absorbed in each other, but the behavior they should strive for in public is to appear as nearly as possible like brother and sister who are obviously sympathetic and devoted.

This is an ideal attitude to keep in mind, because it perfectly includes loyal devotion, interest and sympathy, yet at the same time it avoids every suggestion of love-making in the presence of others. Remember that good taste never approves of any public display of intimate feeling or emotions.

I should like to make an old-fashioned, perhaps, but even so, rather important point, because it is one of the really awkward situations that a newly engaged girl is apt to meet. From the point of view of etiquette, a well-bred girl is not taken, even by her fiance, to the house of a friend of his who is a stranger to her, without an actual invitation or other courtesy having been shown personally to her. And yet one cannot lay down fixed rules. For instance, if Mrs. Older puts it this way: "John dear, please ask your fiancee if she won't come in for tea on Sunday?" it would seem rather ungracious on the girl's part not to go. And, in fact, she would probably go. But in this day of telephones, it would take Mrs. Older barely a moment to send a message of invitation, and not many more moments to write a note. So this remark, my dear Mrs. Thoughtless Older, is to you!

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

After just announcing that we would leave theories of, and remedies for this "out of joint" world to others, we cannot refrain from noting things that show some startling contrasts of words and facts.

For instance, we saw an ad the other day that made us grin. Stating that a manufacturer had made much of a bowl for the dining table which would only require 25 cents worth of flowers as an adequate center, one of the ultra smart magazines told of a smart new center in which even 10 cents worth of flowers was quite adequate. (Wonder what 10 cents worth of flowers is in New York, or was this for the hick towns in outlying states?) The fun came, after a description of the bowl, when the advertisement cheerfully announced it might be purchased for only $13.95. (We would choose one jonquil in a small bud vase.)

A friend of ours, a woman whose judgment is esteemed and who looks at life with sane and sensible eyes, told us this story the other day. Her two sons and another boy of the neighborhood, tired of being out of work and of finding none, decided to "bum it" until they found what they wanted. They'd use none of their good money, but meant to ride the freights and hit the highways. Theirs was the beautiful confidence of youth.

They spent an afternoon preparing for the trip. That evening my friend and her husband were out until almost midnight. When they went home, their living room resembled a prosperous hotel lobby. There were gladstones and smart bags of many kinds; there was a clarinet and a saxophone each in its case.

"My God," said the man of the house, looking at the smart baggage and the musical instruments, "they can't expect to be bums and gentlemen too." The couple slipped back to the room where the boys slept. The older son sat up with a disgusted face. "I told them not to take all that baggage," he said; "I told them they must travel light." Then the younger son, convulsed with laughter, had his say. "We loaded all our baggage on the freight," he said, "and then got put off. The engineer took a look at it and said, "Get that luggage off boys; there's more baggage there than I have freight to haul."

We wrote some weeks ago of our idea of heaven, which included an airedale named Judy. One of our readers came to us, asking, "What do you want an airedale in heaven for? They are so ugly." "You don't know Judy," we told her." Whereupon Judy, a quite susceptible lady, wrote us a column, which we very proudly append.

"We have a friend in Texas," she said, "who has included us in her heaven, to which we reply, 'Ah that were heaven indeed.'" However, our heaven has certain other requisites.

First, there must be no storms there. It is true that the most active member of our present heaven argues that the frenzy (anything but fine) that seizes us when lightnings flash and thunders roll, is a weakness of our flesh, and that the celestial body of us won't be affected by electricity. But we'd take no chances; we would have no storms there.

Then we would be granted the privilege of at least one cat—one eternally runable cat. And that our preparedness may be evident, we insist upon a tree (to be a heaven for the cat.)

Yes, we'll be in your heaven for you, friend, and we feel that the elect will vibrate to the keen ecstacy of our vision of bliss; no storms, a perpetually fleeing cat, and thou."

STOCK INQUIRY STRIKES SNAG

Squabble Likely Over Naming of Counsel

WASHINGTON, April 15. (US)—A new obstacle arose today in the senate's stock market inquiry.

Samuel Untermeyer, New York attorney, whom progressives and Democrats are seeking to obtain as counsel for the banking committee's sweeping investigation, has indicated he would not serve if there is a squabble over his appointment.

Individual committee members have asked Untermyer not to make his decision final.

The question of selecting counsel will come to a head after the committee completes the present short selling phase of the inquiry. Richard Whitney, president of the New York stock exchange, is to appear again Monday. He will bring records of the bears.

Record Ready Monday

Whitney, in Washington today for the tax bill hearings, declared he has not yet completed compiling the records requested, but will have them ready by Monday. He was asked to give the names of short sellers, and the record of short sales as of April 8.

Earlier in the week Untermeyer unofficially notified members of the banking committee that he would accept appointment as counsel. If the job was tendered to him. Since then a fight has arisen between a progressive - Democratic coalition and administration senators. The administration has turned thumbs down on Untermyer. He did notable work in the 1913 Wall street inquiry.

Coalition spokesmen believe, however, that they have the votes not only to authorize Untermyer's employment, but to force a wide open investigation of Wall street, as permitted under the resolution adopted some weeks ago by the senate and under which the committee is now operating with $50,000 at its disposal.

OUR CHILDREN

"My Child"

Every parent's interests center about his own child. School is good or bad in terms of his child. The teacher is good or bad according to her relationship to his child. So with the doctor and the dentist and the maid and the neighborhoods. If they are in harmony with "my child," they are good. If not, they are beyond the pale.

This attitude is justifiable to a certain extent. The experiences and the people who are not beneficial to a child are not good for him. He must find his own good. But one must be on guard lest the child be hurts him. No child ever grew up into worth while maturity without adult supervision and correction. If he could do that there would be no need of adults in this world and nature would have cleared the scene of us all long ago. We are here to give the younger generation the benefit of our experience and strength and we fail them when we do less than that.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

When a neighbor tells you that your child has done that which he should not have done, listen. Thank the neighbor and assure him that you are grateful for his help and then set about correcting the mistaken idea that possesses the child. It the teacher tells you that something unusual and very wrong has happened and that your child has had a hand in it, keep down the defensive words that rise to your lips and ask for the full record. Take your time. Wait until you have the whole story, and then patiently, in the spirit of helpfulness, correct the child, and adjust the situation.

When a child knows that he is going to be checked up on whatever he does, when he knows that he can count on your justice and mercy and affection, he is not going to stray far from the right path. When he does it will be easy for you to redirect him. But if he knows that you are going to shut your ears, close your mind, and uphold him right and wrong, he is not going to be able to make his own path straight, nor will be be able to direct his feet toward any worth while end.

"My child," is also the community's child and unless he is trained with that point of view in mind, he won't be happy.

Things went on like this until the boy went to school and again he was right no matter how wrong he was. "My boy never tells a lie. I have complete trust in him. My son is highly intelligent. If you know enough you could teach him."

Everybody who knew the lad shunned him.

That does not help a child. It the touchstone and all other elements of the situation excluded.

I have in mind a father who stubbornly closes his mind against any idea that might suggest that all is not well with his son. He has done this since the child was born. Everybody is right so long as he is right with the child and no longer.

The little boy struck his nurse with a stick. She told his father and he said, "Well, if you had treated him right he wouldn't have done that." The nurse went away. He broke the glass in the greenhouse and the gardener told his father about it. "He seems to think it is a game sir. Whatever are we to do about it?" "O, put the glass in again. A child is a child. What do you expect? An old man?"

MATCH KING'S AIDS ARRESTED

Kreuger Directors Charged With Falsifying Books

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 15. (UP)—Three directors of the Kreuger & Toll company were arrested tonight on charges of aiding the late Ivar Kreuger, Swedish match king, in falsifying books of the company.

The directors arrested were Carl Lange, Sven Holdt and Victor Holm.

Police acted on a report by special auditors and also on advices from other sources.

The arrests followed a series of sensational developments in investigation of the affairs of Kreuger, whose suicide in Paris was a blow to Swedish financial concerns. These developments included recent charges by an investigating commission that the company's reports "grossly misrepresented" its condition, and reports today that millions of dollars in forged Italian bonds had been found by the commission.

SPUDS ROUT SPORTS IN OPENER HERE BEFORE BIG CROWD

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

"Yeah, I like to work with young fellows; they're fine," he said.

We sat in the Shreveport dugout. Quiet and friendly, but most reticent was this small, bronzed figure —George Sisler, formerly one of the greatest of great first basemen—and no slouch at the old job, even now.

He would say little—practically nothing—unless a sentence or a word was literally forced out of him. His, however, is a most becoming modesty.

"Yes, I'll play this year. I played in 159 games last year . . ."

"And so I guess you ought to make the riffle in about 50 this season?" I queried.

"Fifty!" he said. "Do you think that's all I'm good for."

George is an old man, judged by baseball standards; and so is Hank Severeid, for that matter. Get anywhere above the 35-year-mark in baseball and they call you an "old-timer."

George is 39. Hank is a year younger. But George, like Hank, shows these "advanced" years but little. He looks a youngster of about 28.

George and Hank played together with the St. Louis Browns for about 11 years.

But They Made It

Jack Marcel and E. B. Madden hastened all the way from the brass rail country to the South, i. e., old Mexico, to witness the opening game here yesterday.

Marcel and Madden went on a fishing trip along the Mexican gulf coast.

"Boy listen!" said Mr. Marcel. "I can show you a place about 90 miles from Matamoras and Tampico where you can just drag in the redfish until your arms get tired. We caught all we could use and then some.

"We stayed only two days. A cold norther hit us, spoiling the fishing, but by that time we already had all we wanted."

Both Mr. Marcel and Mr. Madden live in Olney. They were accompanied on the fishing trip by two friends of Brownsville, Texas.

A number of other Olney people were on hand for the opening contest. The entire basket ball team was at Athletic park. Others from the home of the Cubs included John Wilson, Roy Graham, Walter Shaw, Tom Gimlin, Williams Cooper and Jack Williams. Olney's energetic chamber of commerce secretary.

Band Contest

Early arrivals at the park were entertained when the five bands present tried to out-do each other. First the Los Caballeros musicians of Paul Seeds would blast. The negro band would respond with a selection. This would be followed by equally boisterous tunes contributed by the Burkburnett Community band, the Grandfield, Okla., band, and the Lions' club band.

The Grandfield band is directed by Barton Dunning, an excellent musician. Mr. Dunning played the solo flute in the Wichita Falls Symphony orchestra when that organization gave a concert here last December.

S. Mohr, manager of the band, also was at the game.

The Burkburnett band, an organization of 97 enthusiastic kids, is directed by E. L. Nichols.

One of Mr. Nichols' star performers ran into hard luck just before the game yesterday. She was little Vivian Johnson, all of 10 years of age. Vivian plays a cornet.

Now a cornet, you know, has a mouthpiece, without which it is impossible to play the instrument.

Entering the park, the mouthpiece dropped from the horn.

William E. Huff, Spudder vice president, helped the girl in a futile search and Vivian didn't get to play.

The American Legion

The five bands on hand were joined just before the game by the American Legion Drum and Bugle corps.

Yesterday's game certainly didn't lack for music, pomp and ceremony.

About Milton Steengrafe

Milon Steengrafe expects a big year this season.

"I feel better than I did at the start of the last two seasons," he said. "The change was a good one, all the way round. I wanted a change, and some of the fans here wanted a change, new faces. As for my part, I am certain I'll do better at Shreveport."

Charlie Graham, well-known cattleman and mayor of Anarene, was on hand at the game, along with a number of other people from that city.

J. H. S. Bonner, veteran of the country club links won his match, defeating Buddy Wheeler of Spur, 4 and 3. O. A. Daniels, another stellar golfer of this city, lost out to Raymond Stoker Mineral Wells, 3 and 1. A strong south wind hampered play.

Other results included:

Jack Parr of Efectra defeated A. Brundage of Breckenridge, 2 and 1.

E. E. Herring of Jacksboro defeated A. E. Lynch of Graham 3 and 2.

Hank's Boys Pound Out 13-3 Victory

lief role in the opening game of the season at Shreveport, had to be called in again yesterday when it was apparent that Tot Pressnell's knuckle ball was a breezer for the Shreveport lads. And a fine job Florrid did of it, too, holding the Sports to two hits over a stretch of five and one-third innings.

Walter Beall, an old-timer formerly with the New York Yankees, and Roland Flinn, the former Spudder, were nicked at will by the local gentry. The Spudders banged Beall for seven runs in the short space of two and one-third innings, and then continued the attack on Flinn for the remaining tallies.

MAJOR LEAGUE VETS BOW TO SPUDDERS

Figure out the significance of it for yourself, but the fact remains that no less than seven players in the lineup of the Shreveport Sports in yesterday's game were once major leaguers, and some of them in a big way.

Topping the list, of course, is George Sisler, still one of the most colorful first sackers in the game, and in his best days the peer of them all.

The others include Walter Beall, yesterday's starting Shreveport pitcher, who formerly played with the Yankees and the Cleveland Indians; Wally Schang, catcher formerly with the Yanks; Second Baseman Ward, also late of the Yanks; Mickey O'Neil, catcher who formerly was a star Cleveland receiver; and Right Fielder Nicholson, who in his day played with several big league clubs and more recently was with Kansas City of the American association.

Manager Sisler has assembled an imposing array of veterans, many of whom are earnestly on the comeback trail. The former major leaguers undoubtedly will make the Shreveport club this year one of the most colorful in the Texas league.

Quiet-mannered George Sisler, still one of baseball's idols, and Hank Severeid, the hustling Spudder manager who for years played with Sisler with the St. Louis Browns, each lent color to the scene—for both in their day were among the great ones, and both are still at it, and going fine.

Colorful Opening

The pre-game ceremonies were among the best ever seen at an opening day game at Spudderville. The American Legion drum and bugle corps officated at the flag-raising, after which Mayor Nelson, and Fire Chief McClure started warming up for the highly important business of tossing the first ball.

Jimmy Allred, attorney general, did not arrive for the game as was expected, but his place was well filled by State Treasurer Charlie Lockhart.

The state official took off his coat, dusted off the plate and then dared Mayor Nelson to throw a strike.

The umpire was looking the other way—as usual!—and it was never determined whether the mayor's heave was a good one, but Mr. Lockhart swung at it, anyway.

And for the first time in the memory of the oldest inhabitant of these parts, Fire Chief McClure caught the ball.

Severed Struts Stuff

These matters disposed of, the game got under way. It was a slugfest in the early innings, for both sides, but the breaks were with the Spudders and with them hits meant runs, and every error committed by the visitors was turned into dividends. The Sports hit well, got about as many, in fact, as the Spudders, but their 11 blows for the most part failed to come at the right time. In the first inning they clouted Pressnell for four solid nicks, including a beautiful double by Sisler that nearly crashed the right field fence, but the result of these efforts was one lonely run.

They scored again in the second and then again in the fourth—and that was all.

Beall stopped the Spuds cold in the first, but in the second yielded three runs, and from then on, the home boys were never completely subjugated, although Flinn steadied in the later frames and pitched excellently.

Manager Severeid made good his promise to show the boys some fast baseball and in the fifth called for the squeeze play, which was perfectly executed. And in the seventh, Scharein swiped third with a great slide.

Garms with four safe hits in six trips was the leading hitter of the day. As for the fielding department, Robert Fuss in right field brought cheers from the crowd with a great catch early in the game. Green on first also was a fielding star. The entire Spudder infield clicked.

Out at Plate

The Sports showed plenty of fire at the start and were prevented from scoring more than one run by fast fielding. Lamm opened the game by grounding out, Euller to Green. Eggert followed with a single to right. Sisler hit a pretty double to right center, but Eggert was nabbed out at the plate, Garms to Bejma to Severeid. They made the threat good, however, when Harper lifted a single to center, scoring Sisler. Nicholson doubled to right, Harper taking third, but Ward was called out on strikes to retire the side.

Beall made quick work of the Spuds in their half. Garms hoisted to right. Bejma walked but was forced at second by Fuss, short to second. Badgro rolled out, pitcher to first.

Mueller opened the second frame with a sharp single through third and took second when Badgro in left let the ball get through him. O'Neil's high fly to right center was nabbed by Fuss, who made a great running catch. Beall singled over second, scoring Mueller. Lamm popped to Scharein in shallow left and Eggert flied to Garms to retire the side.

The Spuds took the lead in their half. Garms walked but was out stealing, catcher to second. Severeid also walked. Scharein singled to center and continued to second when Lamm let it get through him, Severeid continuing to third. Euller fanned. Pressnell got a life on the third baseman's boot, Severeid scoring, and Scharein taking third. Garms lined one off the second baseman's glove for a single, scoring Scharein. Pressnell taking second. Bejma walked, loading the bases. Fuss lined a hot one to second for a hit, scoring Pressnell. The ball hit Ward in the face, but he retrieved it and with a great throw nabbed Garms at the plate to retire the side.

Pressnell was better in the third. Sisler singled to left but the next two, Harper and Nicholson, popped to Bejma. Ward walked, but Mueller fouled out to Severeid.

Beall Chased Out

The Spuds knocked Beall out in their half, and aided by errors scored a handful of runs. Badgro skied to right. Green walked. Severeid got a life on the shortstop's boot. Green taking second. Scharein walked, loading the sacks. Euller dribbled a mean single down the third base line, Green scoring. Severeid taking third and Scharein second. The short stop committed his second boot of the inning on Pressnell's easy double-play ball, Severeid and Scharein scoring and Euller taking third. Garms singled to right, Pressnell taking second. Flinn relieved Beall. Bejma popped to Sisler and Fuss flied to center to end the riot.

The Sports counted in the fourth. O'Neil and Flinn singled in order. Lamm forced Flinn at second, short to second, O'Neil taking third. Eggert walked. Florrid replaced Pressnell on the mound. Sisler rolled out to first, unassisted, O'Neil scoring. Harper went out by the same route.

Spuds Run Wild

The Spuds scored four more in their half. After Badgro had grounded out to Sisler, unassisted, the attack started when Green singled to left. Severeid beat out an infield hit to third, Green taking second. Scharein singled over second, Green scoring and Severeid taking second. Euller doubled against the right center field fence, scoring Severeid and Scharein, and took third when the shortstop threw the relay wildly to the plate. Florrid fouled out to third, Garms singled sharply to right, scoring Euller, Bejma skied to right for the final out.

The Sports loaded the bases in the fifth but failed to score. Nicholson singled to left. Ward flied out to left. Mueller got a life when Bejma dropped Scharein's throw of his easy double play ball to short. Nicholson took second on the error. O'Neil forced Mueller at second, short to second. Flinn walked loading the sacks, but Lamm grounded out, second to first.

Fuss led off in the last half with a rousing double to left and was sacrificed along to third by Badgro. The play was pitcher to first. Green walked. They staged the squeeze play, Severeid sacrificing out pitcher to first, and Fuss scored, Green taking second. Scharein grounded out, short to first, to retire the side.

Spuds Score Again

Eggert started the sixth with a single, but nothing came of it. Sisler lined out to Green, who made a good stop, Eggert taking second. Harper popped to Bejma. Nicholson walked but Ward popped to Euller. In their half, the locals tallied again. Euller walked and after Florrid had flied to right, took second on a passed ball. Garms flied to left. Bejma singled to right, scoring Euller, and took second when Nicholson juggled the ball in right field. Fuss walked, but Badgro grounded out, second to first.

The Sports went down in order in the seventh, Mueller grounding out third to first, Schang hoisting to right, and Flinn popping to Bejma in shallow center. With two out in the last half, Scharein got aboard on Mueller's fourth error of the day. The ball went to left center, and Scharein made second. With Euller at bat, Scharein caught both pitcher and catcher napping and stole third. Euller walked but Florrid fanned.

It was one, two, three again for the Sports in the eighth, Lamm, Eggert and Sisler being retired by the infield. Garms singled over short in the last half but was thrown out stealing, catcher to second. Bejma flied to center and Fuss fouled out to the catcher.

In the ninth, Harper walked, but the next three went out, Nicholson lifting one to center, Ward popping to Scharein, and Mueller hoisting to left.

BUFFS 20, TRIBE 5

SAN ANTONIO, April 15. (AP)—The Houston Buffs slammed four choice flingers for 25 hits and a total of 41 bases to win a canter with the final score 20 to 5 against the San Antonio Indians in their Texas league opener.

After Fabian Kowalik, slated as the starting pitcher, followed by Chief Euel Moore and Gerald Mallett, took a combined combing for 16 hits to net 15 runs in the first three innings, Manage Claude Robertson finally called Joe Vance, who stemmed the tide. When the Devine youngster ascended the mound there was a marked let-up in the clatter of base hits.

Vance held the bingling Buffs comparatively well, although he was unable to stop the clouting Joe Medwick, who took his measure for a triple and home run after he had pulverized Kowalik for a double in his first trip and followed this up with a single and a home run off Mallett to give him a total of two home runs, a triple, a double and a single to drive in eight runs with his mighty cudgel.

The game was witnessed by a crowd of about 3,500, many of whom left before it was half over. Score:

Angry Fans Demand Money Back As Schmeling Stands Up 'Small Crowd'

FORTRESS MONROE, Va., April 15. (UP)—Enraged at Max Schmeling's remark that he was tired of being an unpopular champion and would not appear before such a small crowd, 650 fight fans, including army officers, their wives and enlisted men, rushed the box office here tonight and demanded their money back.

Schmeling was scheduled for an exhibition with two sparring partners.

Schmeling appeared two days ago in Norfolk before a crowd of 350.

Feeling in the crowd ran very high after an announcer said that the world's heavyweight champion boxer would not appear and he was whisked away by his managers who would not reveal his whereabouts. He could not be reached for a statement.

Four bouts had been staged as preliminaries to the champion's scheduled appearance at the Liberty theater on the post here. The crowd was anxiously awaiting the German's appearance and when told that he would not appear, instantly flew into a rage.

Pandemonium reigned for a few minutes before order could be restored. After many boos for the champion and angry demands for the return of money, it was refunded.

MAX MAY BE OUSTED BY N. B. A.

CHICAGO, April 15. (AP)—Max Schmeling, world's heavyweight champion, may be barred from appearing in the 30 states under control of the National Boxing association as a result of an investigation started today by President John V. Clinnin.

The German boxer is on an exhibition tour.

George Panka, Pittsburgh heavyweight, complained to General Clinnin over the use of his name in connection with an exhibition bout in Toronto, Ont., April 11. Dispatches credited Schmeling with giving Panka a severe beating, whereas Panka claims he was in Pittsburgh that night.

General Clinnin said if a substitution was made, for the purpose of misleading the public, the N. B. A. would take steps to keep Schmeling out of its territory.

AMARILLO WINS

AMARILLO, April 16. (AP)—The Amarillo college track team defeated the Panhandle A. & M. Aggies of Goodwell, Okla., 85 to 37, in a dual meet here today.

Former Boxer Wins Claim to Trust Fund

NEW YORK, April 15. (US)—Paul Berlenbach former middleweight boxing champion, today won back the right to $100,000 in stocks which he had set up in an "irrevocable" trust fund, according to a unanimous decision of the appellate division today.

The Chemical Bank and Trust company, opposed the boxer's demand for the stocks on the ground that he had made the trust fund "irrevocable" and also because his present wife, Florence Byrne Berlenbach, and son, Paul Berlenbach Jr., have rights in his estate, although not specifically mentioned.

Justice Henry L. Sherman who wrote the opinion, held, however, that "a provision in the agreement that the trust shall be 'irrevocable' would destroy Berlenbach's statutory right of revocation." The court also held that the trust was obviously put up by Berlenbach for his sole benefit.

JACK DEMPSEY IS SUSPENDED

Mauler 'Jumped' Debt, Say Mississippians

JACKSON, Miss., April 15. (AP)—The Mississippi Athletic commission today suspended Jack Dempsey, former world heavyweight champion, from its list, in connection with a November, 1930, boxing show at Columbus, Miss., for which bills were left unpaid. A $300 fine was also assessed against the former champion.

Dempsey was alleged to have participated in promoting the Columbus show.

Chairman Bob Morrow of the Mississippi commission said the suspension would likewise become effective in 41 other states affiliated with the National Boxing association.

"RIDICULOUS," SAYS JACK

RENO, Nev., April 15. (AP)—Commenting on the action of the Mississippi Athletic commission in suspending him, Jack Dempsey made the following statement here today:

"I am too busy giving attention to the higher ideals that go with the furtherance of boxing to waste any time or conversation making comment on the action of the Mississippi State Athletic commission. The whole affair is so ridiculous that I do not even want to be asked to make comment on it. . . . I have no time to waste presenting my side of the story to a body who knows better than I do that there are no claims against me."

Leonard B. Sacks, Dempsey's business manager, also declared the action of the Mississippi commission was uncalled for.

Three of the Big Ten's leading basket ball centers of the 1931 campaign—McCarnes of Northwestern, Daniels of Michigan and Bennett of Illinois—are performing as forwards this season.

Mumps

The name mumps comes from a Dutch word meaning to mumble. One with mumps avoids moving the swollen jaw and, therefore, mumbles instead of talking plainly. The next time you see any one with a real case of the mumps watch the way he talks and you will see how the name arose.

Mumps is a disease usually affecting children between the ages of 5 and 15. A contagious disorder, it frequently runs through a school or neighborhood in epidemic form. Mumps generally develops in about 18 days after exposure to an infected person. The patient having mumps may infect others until all swelling is gone and the wisest plan is for the one having mumps to be completely isolated from others, especially children.

Salivary Glands Affected

Mumps is characterized by a swelling of one or more of a salivary glands, usually the parotid, when the enlargement appears in front and below the ear or behind the jawbone. In some cases the swollen gland sticks out at the side as big as a large egg and distorts the whole side of the face. Since the parotids come in pairs, both may be swollen, in which case the mumps is present on both sides. Other salivary glands may also be affected.

The swelling is sore and tender but not exceedingly painful except when swallowing, chewing or talking. An acid food intensifies the discomfort.

Along with the swelling occur other symptoms such as a slight cold and fever. The temperature varies from 101 degrees F. to 103. In about a week both swelling and fever disappear. Once you have had the mumps you do not get them again in the same gland.

With proper care it is possible to avoid complications with mumps. Where the case is not properly treated the patient may develop such complications as deafness or catarrh of the middle ear. But, with most youngsters mumps is a simple disease and no serious consequences develop. However, there is a tendency for mumps to affect other glands in male children and such cases may cause sterility.

Begin Treatment Right Way

At the first symptom of mumps begin the treatment indicated for any kind of acute fever—plenty of water but no solid food. This fast should be continued until all swelling in the gland disappears. A glass of plain strained orange juice every two hours should be tried; but, if this causes pain upon swallowing, just use water for the first day or two. It is important that no food be taken. Drinking plenty of pure water will help, especially where there is a temperature over 100.

Warm applications over the swollen side will be beneficial, using the applications almost continuously day and night, as any form of warmth is comforting. Our grandmothers used to tie up the swollen side with red flannel.

In every case the wisest plan is to keep the patient in bed for at least one week, or until the gland returns to normal. Walking about only invites the spread of the disease to certain other glands of the body.

No medicinal remedies are necessary or advisable in mumps. The only treatment required, and which is so simple and effective, is fasting, hot applications and rest in bed.

Follow this treatment and you will discover mumps to be one of the easiest diseases to handle at home.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Eruption Not Spider Bite

Question—Mrs. Della W. asks: "Is there any cure for a spider bite of 10 years' standing? I am able to stop the eruption for the time, but one toe will heal and another will be covered with blisters. I have consulted the best of skin specialists in different cities of the United States."

Answer—I am sure your present trouble is not from the original spider bite 10 years ago, but is due to an acidosis from faulty habits of eating. Your trouble may continue to show up in your toes due to the fact that the circulation is usually poorer in the extremeties. Treating the skin of the toes is of little use; it will not stop the source of poisoning which is probably three feet away in the intestines.

Nervous Heart

Question—T. T. writes: "The doctor says I have a nervous heart. What is the cause and is there any cure?"

Answer—This usually means that the heart beats too rapidly. Where there is no valvular troubles, this is generally caused through oversecretion of thyroxin which is the active principal secreted by the thyroid gland. Excessive gas pressure can also make the heart beat rapidly at times. The term "nervous heart" is unsatisfactory and carelessly used by many physicians for want of a better diagnosis.

Asthma and TB

Question—Lester writes: "I am a boy 14 years old. Have had asthma ever since I was three months old. Do you think it will ever run into tuberculosis?"

Answer—We do see a few cases of asthma which are complicated with TB, but it is by no means a rule that asthma turns into tuberculosis. Why not cure up the asthma, develop strong lungs and avoid TB? Send for some special articles on the cure of asthma and the development of a strong chest.

Floyd Gibbons to Speak After Cleveland Flight

CLEVELAND, April 15. (INS)—Completing a fast trip from the West, Floyd Gibbons, famed war correspondent for International News Service, arrived in Cleveland this afternoon by plane.

Welcomed by a bevy of newspaper men, photographers and civic and business leaders at the airport, Gibbons was whisked downtown to prepare for his radio address from a Cleveland station tonight.

Cleaning Plant Blast Injures Three at Austin

AUSTIN, April 15. (UP) — Three men were painfully burned late Thursday when a boiler exploded in the Compton's cleaning establishment here. The men were Louis P. Compton, V. D. Johnson and Earl Williams. Johnson sustained a broken arm in addition to his burns. Physicians expect all to recover.

You'll want more than one of these just arrived prints, eyelet batistes, and washable crepes, in a big event Saturday at $6.95. P. B. M. Co.—Adv.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP)—Rallies from a slight opening decline in cotton were followed by renewed weakness today under local and New Orleans selling encouraged by the decline in wheat.

May contracts closed at 6.19 with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 9-11 points.

Offerings increased right after the call, as if influenced by the easier action of the opening stock market with July easing off to 6.44 and October to 6.09 or about 3 to 4 points net lower on the more active positions. Rallies carried July up to 6.52 and December to 6.81 or about 5-8 points net higher, but the demand from Liverpool tapered off after the close abroad.

July broke to 6.36 and December to 6.76 or about 12 points net lower and the close was within a point or two of the lowest on most positions.

Liverpool cables reported covering, continental and Bombay buying in that market and said there was an improved cloth demand from Indian and the continent. Exports today 14,547, making 7,226,218 so far this season.

Futures closed barely steady 9-11 lower. Spot steady; middling 6.90.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 15. (AP)—There was only moderate trading in the cotton market today as most of the business was due to scalping. The market closed steady showing net declines for the day of 10-11 points.

The market opened barely steady and did not respond fully to the improvement in Liverpool. Before the demand had been supplied July advanced to 6.53 and October to 6.74, up 7-8 points from the earlier lows and 3-5 points above the previous close. Around noon prices eased off 4-5 points.

The market made new lows for the day at 6.30 for May, 6.37 for July and 6.80 for October or 14-15 points down from the lows of the morning.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 3 penny points down.

Futures closed steady at net declines of 10 to 11 points:

Stocks And Bonds Continue Rally As Optimistic Tone Hits Markets

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, April 13. (US)—Stock and bond prices today continued the rally begun Thursday. In some speculative railroad and other lower-grade bonds the gains were rather substantial but all sections of the list participated in the recovery. United States government issues reached new peaks but then reacted to close with moderate net losses for the day. There was a decidedly different and more optimistic tone to both markets. This is very large part reflects the extensive easy-money program of the federal reserve system, as definitely illustrated in the purchase during the past week of $100,000,000 of government bonds.

The overnight news in addition to the reserve purchases also prepared the market sufficiently to withstand the actual petitioning of bankruptcy for one of the great public utility pyramids. This receivership, the greatest in history, climaxes almost two years of constant anxiety within the market over the Insull group.

Now that the receivership has become effective, the markets will be freed from this terrifying fear, which already as a matter of fact had found reflection in the fantastic depreciation, probably running into hundreds of millions of dollars, in the market quotations for the so-called Insull securities.

From the general market standpoint, receivership usually terminates the influence of any such "situation," unless an affair such as the Kreuger & Toll misfortune is uncovered.

Insull has gone on record publicly with the assertion that the three great operating units, Peoples Gas, Commonwealth Edison and Public Service of Northern Illinois, are virtually free of any financial entanglements with middle west utilities. The latter is the only concern for which receivership was sought. It is the unit through which Insull dominated his vast "public utility empire."

Stocks of the operating companies soared, presumably in expression of further relief over actual receivership for the holding concern. Security holders in the latter will now have to await probably the usually long-drawn-out court proceedings to ascertain their actual standing now that the pyramid has collapsed.

Booming prices for the Insull operating company securities seemed to invigorate the entire market, and soon prices of stocks and bonds, which opened sluggishly started an improvement which was maintained to the afternoon.

Announcement that American & Foreign Power's "bank loans" had been extended for a full year beyond their maturity this October caused almost a five-point rally in the company's bonds and strength in its stocks. Electric Power and Light was helped by the news that its subsidiary company, United Gas, had also secured one-year extension of its bank loans. The Elect

I. P. A. Head Predicts Early Demand for Crude

SAN ANGELO, Texas, April 15. (AP)—Oil prices are rising because of the growing realization that existing fields will not produce as much as formerly expected, and barring the discovery of new large pools a shortage of domestic crude will result within less than two years, Claude C. Wild of Fort Worth, executive vice president of the Independent Petroleum association of Texas, told the San Angelo Rotary club at noon today.

His prediction was conditioned upon passage of the excise tax on imports and the defeat in congress of attempted federalization of the petroleum industry, which, Wild said, would stifle competition and drive out the small operator.

BEER-BEAR

Officers Look for Beer And Barely Escape Bear Trap

AUSTIN, April 15. (AP)—A posse of Travis county sheriffs staged a liquor raid recently that came within an inch of costing one of the officers his leg.

The posse was searching the grounds around a Mexican's home for home brew. The Mexican had ingeniously hidden his brew under bear traps, the traps being concealed from view by hay. Deputy Sheriff Jack Newman trod on one of the concealed traps but leaped to safety before the steel jaws enclosed his leg.

Three of the traps, all cocked for action, were found. Under each was a cache of beer.

"We came looking for beer and this man seemed to be loaded for bear," Sheriff Coley White remarked.

JUNIOR C-C HEARS SPENCE

Wichitans Can 'Put Over Anything,' Says Speaker

Wichitans have the hope and faith to put over anything the citizens may desire, District Attorney Sam B. Spence told members of the Junior chamber of commerce at the regular luncheon Friday at the Wichita club. There is a distinct spirit of cheerfulness in the air as a climax to the "Support the Spudders" campaign, Mr. Spence added.

Opening day is not the only day of Texas league games in Wichita Falls, however, and Wichitans must continue support of the Spudders throughout the season, he said. Support is essential for the baseball club, he continued. Mr. Spence expressed appreciation for the opportunity for a return visit with the Junior chamber members, declaring he felt at home with them.

President Albert E. Kelly of the senior chamber made a strong appeal for last minute efforts to "pack the park," in closing the program. Frank Wolf, third vice president, presided at the meeting. Musical entertainment was offered by O'Stafford's Chocolate Soldiers.

PROHIS 'RAIDED'

County Officers Seize Liquor From Room Of Dry Agents

OKMULGEE, Okla., April 15 (AP)—When two federal undercover prohibition officers found their room had been entered during their absence and liquor they were to use as evidence was gone, they protested to the landlady that thieves were aboard.

"Thieves nothing," the landlady sniffed, not knowing the identity of her roomers, "that liquor was taken by the laws."

The evidence was found at the sheriff's office, where it had been taken by raiding county officers, who did not know the identity of the federal men.

A feature of the luncheon program was a brief talk, "The Wandering Civic Tramp," by the Rev. D. S. Pooser of Mangum, Okla. The address has been widely delivered in this section and is introduced with an officer bringing Mr. Pooser into the room dressed as a hobo. The talk is based on relationship of older men to boys.
