BUSINESS LEAGUE

Association of Busines Men Organize at Brownwood to Fight Raise in Freight Rates.

A business league has been formed at Brownwood with R. N. Adams president and Marshall Smith secretary. The object of the association is for the purpose of devising means to remedy the injustice worked to west Texas by the recent action of the Southwestern Freight Tariff committee in cutting west Texas out of the common point territory and therefore making a decided increase in the freight rates. Dublin, Comanche, Stephenville, Lampasas, Brady and other points along the line of the Frisco and Santa Fe are expected to be enlisted in the enterprise. The first efforts are to be made through the general freight agents of the Frisco and Santa Fe, if this should fail then an appeal is to be made to the railroad commission and in the event both these means fail to bring results more drastic measures are to be adopted with the idea of making it interesting for the roads by paying them back in their own coin and demanding that they track the law in all instances, probably pay a just proportion of the taxes in the counties through which they pass, etc. The exclusion of west Texas from the territory designating common points is a serious blow to the business interests of the section and a direct cost to the consumers.

Transfer Time Will Soon Close.

Under the law the county judge cannot accept scholastic transfer lists after the last day of July from any district and he is authorized to close his books sooner in order to have the report prepared and ready to be forwarded to Austin on August first, which time it must be sent. Therefore there is but little time yet left for transfers to be made, granting that the county judge extends his time to the last hour the law will permit. If anyone who reads this has children whom they wish to transfer they should not delay a moment in attending to the matter, as delay may mean the loss of the school fund to their children. In the Dublin independent district Prof. Hall, superintendent of the school, has charge of the matter of transfers and he has made a very thorough canvass in order to procure the transfer to this district of all who desire it. There are doubtless others, however, who desire to be but are not yet transferred and all such should at once see Prof. Hall or J. S. Daley, secretary of the school board, and have the transfers attended to.

All subscribers to stock in the Erath county warehouse and cotton yard are hereby notified that a meeting of stockholders will be held in Stephenville, July 28th, at 10 a. m. and all are requested to be present. The meeting is an important one.—J. D. Winters president, J. P. Jones sec.

Mammoth Reception to Bryan.

Preparations are being made for a big reception at Madison Square Garden in New York City to Hon. W. J. Bryan upon his return from a tour of Europe. The reception is to be the most elaborate ever tendered an American and the event is intended to be significant in a political way.

Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Toledo, Ohio, the great apostle of municipal ownership, is to be chairman of the reception committee, Henry Watterson of Louisville Courier-Journal will speak in behalf of the south, Alexander Troup of New Haven, Conn., in behalf of the east and other noted and popular political prophets are to deliver addresses and respond to toasts. Col. Bryan has cabled from Europe regarding the personnel of the various committees to do him honor and says that he will not permit any person on any of the committees or to have anything to do with the reception who is indentified with the trusts of the country.

Drowned Near Gorman.

While out on the Sabanno about five miles southwest of Gorman with a fishing party Tuesday morning of last week L. E. Mallory fell into the creek and was drowned. The party went out Monday afternoon, says the Gorman Progress, spending the night on the creek. The next morning about nine o'clock the men, all except Mr. Mallory, came out of a bathing in the creek, and W. V. Whatley went to where Mr. Mallory was fishing, asking him why he had not been in with them. He replied that he had been in the creek further up. Mr. Whatley then went down the creek about two hundred and fifty yards where the balance of the party were and in a few moments Shelley Alsabrook came running to them saying that Mallory had fallen in the creek. Shelley was sitting within a few feet of him when he fell in. When the men arrived at the place nothing could be seen to indicate anything wrong except a few bubbles rising from the water. Mr. Whatley removed his shoes and pants and waded in and found Mallory face down at the bottom and life was extinct. He had fallen off a six foot bluff and the water was only about three or four feet deep.

The only manner by which his drowning can be accounted for is that he was a victim of fits and it is supposed that one seized him and he fell in. He had been up practically all night fishing.

Threshing in Oklahoma.

A. J. Spencer of Dublin is operating a thresher this season in Wilbarger county, for which section he left on June 15th, taking the thresher by freight from Dublin. He writes us that there is said to be forty-two steam threshers in Wilbarger county and that all of them are doing well. He says that he threshed 6,480 bushels of wheat for one man, besides fifty acres of fine oats, the yield of which he did not state. On the way up there he saw a woman mowing grass and another cutting wheat with a binder and two girls shocking behind the machine, such denoting either the scarcity or laziness of the men, though he was inclined to the former opinion. He says the wheat here is as fine as one could wish, that crops have not suffered for rain, though there is but little cotton or corn to be seen, almost the entire acreage being devoted to wheat and oats. The thresher which Mr. Spencer is running belongs to S. L. Carlton of Carlton and all the hands with the machine are from this locality.

Concrete Building for De Leon.

A new building shortly to be erected at DeLeon is to be made of hollow concrete blocks, manufactured on the grounds where the house is to be built. A handsome residence is being built for Dr. Naylor at Stephenville from this material and the walls are now up to the second story. It is said the concrete blocks are an ideal building material, being ornamental as well as enduring and the cost of making and putting them in the wall is about equal to the cost for lumber at the present high prices. The blocks are made perfectly smooth, are almost as hard as granite and will not absorb moisture and they go into a wall much faster than brick.

District Court at Cleburne.

The case in district court at Cleburne against Joe Churchwell, charged with assault to murder, was continued last week. Churchwell is a gaurd in the Santa Fe yards at Cleburne and is accused of shooting a negro boy he saw prowling around the yards.

Judge King Married.

Under the caption "Lawyer and Client Decide to Marry," the Fort Worth Record of last Friday morning announced the wedding ceremony of Judge Thos. B. King of Stephenville and Miss Maude Merrill of Mount Vernon, Ill, being the first information that the friends of Judge King in Erath county received that he contemplated a matrimonial step. The writer has known Judge King for many years and the more we have known of this affable, great-hearted, generous man, the more we have realized the grandness of his Christian spirit and character. He is entitled to the choicest blessings that earth affords, and we have no doubt that he is to be congratulated upon leading to the matrimonial altar the young lady of so celebrated family and whose sweetness of character is most certain. In the announcement last Friday the Record said: "Judge Thomas King of Stephenville, Texas, has been counsel for some time for Miss Maude Merrill of Mount Vernon, Ill., in the matter of some prospective investments in Fort Worth, and met her here this week for a conference. They were so pleased with the investment that the transaction was consummated, and then they discovered that they were more than pleased with each other, and yesterday concluded to get married and settle here. Accordingly they invoked the services of Dr. Caldwell of the Cumberland Presbyterian church and became man and wife. Judge King is a son of ex-Governor Austin A. King of Missouri, and Miss Merrill is closely related to the original builders of the Erie canal and other prominent families of New York state."

We have seen the water spouting from several whales but have been unable to see the body of any so far. We have had a baby show, bull and badger fight. The passengers have thrown aside all reserve and we have lots of fun. The weather was awfully hot when we left Galveston but it is like winter now. Heavy clothes and an overcoat feel good. We have seen several icebergs. When we got off the coast of Newfoundland it began to get cool and has remained so since.

We are now, the 18th day, seeing our first land, or I had better say rocks, for the Scilly islands are nothing but huge rocks. We passed them about sunset. It looked beautiful.

We have now reached the coast of England and France and will see much land, provided the fog is not too heavy.

Have just passed the Isle of Wight, Queen Victoria's favorite summer resort. In all my life I have never seen nor even dreamed of anything so beautiful. We passed within a quarter of a mile of it—could see the fortress, barracks and castles, but not the royal palace. Passed a summer resort where the royalty spend their summers. People came out in little sail boats to get snap shots of us. I cannot begin to describe the Isle of Wight. How I wish you all could see it.

We will reach Bremen tomorrow morning. I will send a cablegram at once. The voyage has been delightful. There is nothing to be dreaded about a voyage across the ocean. The time has gone by rapdily. Hope to receive several letters from you when I reach Munich. Don't worry the least bit about me for I will have company all the way to Munich and everything is arranged there. Will write again when I reach Munich. Much love to all.—Pettis Pipes.

P. S.—We made the trip in less than twenty-one days.

RE-UNION MEET

Erath and Comanche Ex-Confederate Association to Re-Organize at August Meeting.

All Ex-Confederates now living who were on the original roll of the Erath and Comanche Ex-Confederate Association and all Ex-Confederates within the two or adjoining counties who may not have since joined the association, are earnestly requested to attend our annual reunion at Dublin, August 1st, 2nd and 3rd, mingle with their comrades and have themselves enrolled. The veterans are rapidly passing away from among their fellow citizens and each year sees our ranks invaded more by the grim reaper. A pride in the battles that we fought and the heroic manhood which the world recognizes we showed forth makes us more than ever desire to see the rolls of our membership carry the name of every veteran, officer or private, who was enlisted under the Confederate banner and under this banner gave to his country some of his noblest efforts and his best years. The association is to be re-organized at the annual meeting in Dublin in August and the rolls revised and a list of deceased comrades kept faithfully. This will be an important annual meeting and we want every veteran to be present and take a part in this re-organization and we believe that they will enjoy the occasion greatly. —J. D. St. Clair, Lieut. Col. 1st Regiment, 5th Brigade, Texas Division. J. M. R. Stephen, Adjutant.

Returns After Many Days.

On May 13th, 1905, Jack Hall put a note in a bottle and threw the bottle in the Bayou from the Comanche wagon bridge during a big rise. The note requested the finder to write to Jack Hall at Brownwood if the bottle was ever picked up and the note discovered. Yesterday Jack received a letter from O. J. Crosson at Bay City, stating that the bottle was found by him in a drift on the Colorado river near that place on June 18th, 1906, a year and a few days more than a month after it was thrown in the river. It is probable that the last big rise resurrected the bottle from a temporary resting place and carried it to Bay City where Mr. Crosson picked it up. With the river course the note must have traveled fully five hundred miles before it was found.

The letter closes with the postscript as follows: "Are you white or a colored man, and are you a Christian? If you feel like corresponding do so."

Jack had almost forgotten the incident and was very much surprised when he received the letter calling attention to the incident.—Brownwood Bulletin.

TO AILING WOMEN

A Little Sound Advice Will Help Many a Sufferer in Dublin.

No woman can be healthy and well if the kidneys are sick. Poisons that pass off in the urine when the kidneys are well are retained in the body when the kidneys are sick. Kidneys and bladder get inflamed and swollen, crowding the delicate female organs nearby and sometimes displacing them. This is the true cause of many bearing-down pains, lameness, backache, sideache, etc. Uric poisoning also causes headaches, dizzy spells, languor, nervousness and rheumatic pain.

When suffering so try Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that cures sick kidneys. You will get better as the kidneys get better and health will return when the kidneys are well. Let a Dublin woman tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills:

Mrs. D. A. Hood of Dublin, Texas, says: "I have suffered for years with a weak back. Sometimes it would apparently get well but a cold or over exertion would lay me up again and I have been so bad that I could not dress myself. No medicine I used seemed to help me much and I grew steadily worse. Happening to see Doan's Kidney Pills advertised I went to the Overton Drug Co.'s store and got a box. I was astonished at the result for in a very short time I was free from the pain for the first time in months. I say without hesitation that I do not think there is a remedy for backache or kidney trouble in the world that is so good as Doan's Kidney Pills. They are the only thing that helped me and they did me more good than all the other remedies I ever used."

DIFFERENT NOW

Since the Slugger Coffee Was Abandoned.

Coffee probably causes more biliousness and so-called malaria than any one other thing—even bad climate. A Fort Worth man says:

"I have always been of bilious temperament, subject to malaria and up to one year ago a perfect slave to coffee and at times I would be covered with boils and full of malarial poison, was very nervous and had swimming in the head.

"I don't know how it happened but I finally became convinced that my sickness was due to the use of coffee and a little less than a year ago I stopped coffee and began drinking Postum. From that time I have not had a boil, not had malaria at all, have gained fifteen pounds good solid weight and know beyond all doubt this is due to the use of Postum in place of coffee as I have taken no medicine at all.

"Postum has certainly made healthy red blood for me in place of the blood that coffee drinking impoverished and made unhealthy." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

A fine rain visited Stephenville last Monday and did a large amount of good, as corn and other crops were beginning to need it very much.

T. E. Richards and J. B. Ator went out to Brady last Thursday on a fishing expedition. They were summoned home Sunday by a telegram announcing the serious illness of Mr. Ator's father.

Reports from all over the county say that the cool weather of the past week and the rains have greatly benefitted crops and a bountiful amount is now assured. Old Erath is one of the best producing counties in this great state of ours as this year's crops will prove.

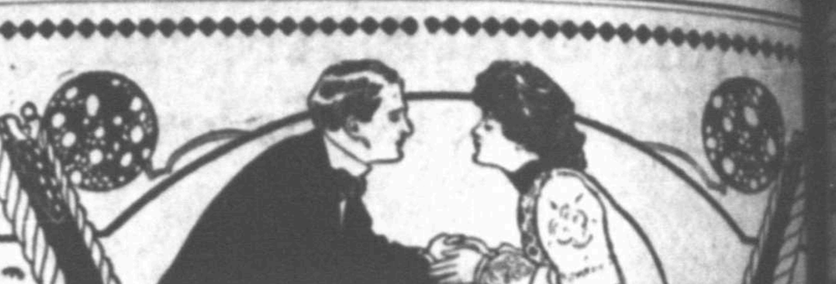

Tuesday evening at about eight o'clock Miss Dora Plane and sister, Mrs. R. C. Coulter, were out driving and directly in front of the Long hotel their buggy became uncoupled and the ladies were thrown out. Mrs. Coulter was slightly injured about the face and received quite a nervous shock. Miss Plane, who was driving, retained her hold on the lines and was dragged about forty feet. The horse after being turned loose became frightened and dashed down the street, turning over a delivery wagon and horse. Neither of the ladies were severely injured and the vehicle was not hurt.

Prof. Lane of Comanche is helping Prof. J. S. Davis of this place teach a twenty days' singing school. The school began last Monday morning and is well attended.

Jas. King returned Monday from a week's visit to Haskell and adjoining counties where he went with a view of investing in land out there. He is favorably impressed with the west.

Our singing last Sunday afternoon was well attended. Among those present from a distance was Profs. J. C. and R. L. Henderson of Van Zandt county and Prof. Mulinix of Motley county. These gentlemen rendered some splendid music which was very much appreciated.

Modest Claims Often Carry Most Conviction.

When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be far below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial therefore was a surprise instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will accomplish, but prefer to let the users make the statements. What they do claim is that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail. For sale by Overton Drug Co.

L. M. Stephen, wife and little daughter, Ada, visited J. C. Pack near Pigeon on last Thursday. He report a fair corn crop at that place and as far this way as Green's Creek but not so good between that place and this.

The local showers will insure a tolerably good corn crop over the county, as will be noticed as a rule corn continues green and has fresh silks. The damp, cloudy weather will cause it to make much better than we expected two weeks ago. Cotton is exceptionally good and no insects as yet to prevent it making a full crop. As we have often advocated we could all have had good corn crops had we planted early maturing corn, but practically every farmer plants the old late native corn and say that the early corn is not fit to feed to stock as it is too hard and does not yield like the native corn. JONES & REID

DANGERS OF DIETING

UNDERFEEDING LIABLE TO WEAKEN HEART'S ACTION.

Usually Appetite Is a Measure of Health, and the First Sign of Illness In a Man or an Animal Is Loss of the Desire For Food.

Professor Alexander Haig, an English dietary expert, has written from London to the medical fraternity of New York warning Americans against the popular belief that the average man eats too much. He says that the increasing number of deaths from heart failure is largely due to underfeeding.

The notion that science is a more unerring guide than is nature is constantly gaining ground. In the good old days men drank when they were thirsty and ate of whatever they wished until their hunger was satisfied. Now science condemns such foolishness as primitive. It prescribes one glass of water one hour before meals and one glass one hour after meals—no more, no less. If you happen not to be thirsty at those times, no matter, drink that amount anyway. If perchance you are thirsty and would like two glasses you must not yield; it is only nature that prompts you, and nature is an unsafe guide. Or, you may be "abnormally" thirsty at meals; nevertheless do not drink then.

As to our amount of food, we are directed to consume so many grams of the proteids, so many grams of the carbohydrates and so many grams of fat, while we hear learned discourses upon large calories and the supreme importance of exactly maintaining our nitrogen balance—whatever that may mean.

I have purposely not mentioned the precise numbers of grams of the different food elements, for the simple reason that our eminent authorities have not yet agreed upon this important point. All give different figures.

Scientists, however, following the lead of Russell H. Chittenden, Ph. D., LL. D., Sc. D., have pretty well agreed that the average man eats twice more than he needs. If half his customary amount of food does not satisfy him it ought to, they say, and it will eventually, provided he keeps on suppressing his natural and therefore unscientific instincts.

But just here lies a danger. It is true that one can accustom himself to a much smaller quantity of food than that to which he has been habituated and that eventually he will desire that smaller quantity and no more, but when he attains to this condition his digestive power will have been reduced by one-half. As a result he will lose from ten to thirty pounds in weight; that is to say, his muscles and organs will decrease by so much in bulk and strength. Now, if the heart decreases considerably in strength there will always be danger of its collapse, particularly if it be subjected to any extra strain, as when one runs for a car or rapidly up a flight of steps. Excitement alone may be fatal to a weak heart.

Rigorous dieting to reduce weight is always dangerous. A better plan is to work off the superfluous flesh by exercise.

Lack of sleep has a depressing effect on the heart, for during sleep cerebral circulation diminishes, when the blood can devote itself to the rest of the body.

Eating before going to bed, particularly if one is up late, is a good practice, it being most favorable to thorough body repair that the blood at night be rich in nourishment.

Accustoming the digestive organs to a small amount of food results in a decline of appetite, whereas our object should be to increase appetite and thereby strengthen our digestive powers by judicious exercise in the open air or in a well ventilated room.

If the doctrine that a small appetite is preferable to a large appetite be true—and this is what "economy in nutrition" teaches—then open air exercise, which manifestly increases appetite, must be injurious to health. Or why should we exercise to increase appetite if we may eat only so much?

The notion is wholly absurd. The first sign of illness in a man or an animal is loss of appetite. And usually appetite is a measure of health.

To build up the heart and muscular system generally we must vigorously exercise the muscles.

It is not enough that one should stuff himself; it is all important that he should desire every morsel he eats, and this he will do only if he undergoes general physical and mental exercise. Food that is ingested, and even digested, will be absorbed only by those organs that need it—that have been exercised. This fact explains why many persons that are good "feeders" are yet inadequately nourished. If they are brain workers and take no physical exercise their brains absorb what nourishment they need; the rest is excreted.

Magnificent as are the results of brain work we must bear in mind that there could be no result without the co-operation of the body, and that the body in its turn depends primarily on the integrity of its heart, lungs and stomach.—G. Elliot Flint in New York World.

Men of the People.

The American tradition is the experience of the world everywhere. There is Washington and there is Hamilton, gently born and gently bred, but somehow the heart turns rather to Franklin and to Lincoln, as of more hope for the common men "God made so many of."—Mr. Howells in Harper's Weekly.

It requires a great deal of boldness and a great deal of caution to make a great fortune, and when you have got it it requires ten times as much wit to keep it.—Rothschild.

ABYSSINIAN APES.

They Have Chiefs, Guards and Sentries When on the March.

Very similar reports are made from different parts of north Africa in regard to the monkey tribes that occupy that continent from Morocco to Abyssinia. Just how far tribal relations may have tended to vary the species is a question quite as important as that of language. Some points of interest are found in an English book, "A Visit to Abyssinia." Says our author:

"I have mentioned that large numbers of monkeys frequent these hills. They move about in organized bands, and their proceedings are arranged in the most orderly and tactical manner. They are difficult to approach unless it is gradually and cautiously done, but mounted on a camel I have succeeded in getting within a few yards of them when they were crossing the path ahead of me, about fifty in single file following their leader and looking with their manes like small lions.

"Their movements are full of interest and well repay observation. They have chiefs, sentries and advanced and rear guards on the march. The mothers carry their children on their backs exactly like the larger human creatures in these countries. They talk and chatter, the females being especially loquacious, quarrelsome and combative. These are clearly under the command of the elder males, whose gesture alone is sufficient to reduce them to obedience. They live in small caverns among the hills, but will most certainly avoid a direct return to their haunts if followed.

"They are less timid of men when these are mounted on camels than when on foot, experience having doubtless taught them that the former is usually traveling to a destination and that his steady, jogging pace is rarely interrupted by his curiosity. On one occasion, seeing a whole family tribe on the road home after a foraging excursion, I successfully tempted some of the younger ones to leave their ranks by quietly rolling pieces of bread and sugar at them, but the older members were above such weakness and went on in a stately way up the hill, disappearing over the ledge and reproving the youngsters as they retired."

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Imagination is responsible for half of our troubles, and our fool actions are responsible for the other half.

Don't Cross Your Legs.

"The prevalence of appendicitis is an admitted fact," said a surgeon. "I have myself operated on 719 persons for the disease. Crossing the legs is responsible for a good deal of this trouble. That sounds strange, doesn't it? Nevertheless it is a theory advocated by more than one great surgeon. Indeed I know some men who say that if people never crossed their legs appendicitis would quite disappear. You see, crossing the leg squeezes and cramps the delicate vermiform appendix. Squeezed and cramped, the appendix becomes irritated. Inflammation sets in. Intense pain comes. Then —presto—you are on your back, the sweet and heavy fumes of chloroform are choking you, and the appendicitis specialist bends over you with a sharp knife."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

What They Meant.

A Scotch clergyman named Fraser claimed the title and estates of Lord Lovat. He tried on the trial of the case to establish his pedigree by producing an ancestral watch on which were engraved the letters S. F. The claimant alleged that these letters were the initials of his ancestor, the notorious Simon Fraser, Lord Lovat, beheaded in 1747 for supporting the young pretender. The letters, engraved under the regulator, were shown to stand for "Slow, Fast," and the case was laughed out of court.

The Diver Bird.

A Dantzic correspondent writes: While swimming on a lake with her brood of five a diver bird was shot and, although mortally wounded, collected her young ones and dived for their safety. When her dead body floated to the surface the five little birds were still clinging with their beaks to her wings, but all had been suffocated by remaining too long under the water.—London Mail.

Philosophy.

A Kansas philosopher warns the men against the girl who takes time to consider a proposal of marriage. He intimates that she is hopeful that something better will turn up. Still, the man she finally accepts can console himself with the reflection that she has discovered it wasn't possible for anything better to turn up.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

J. L. Mayfield has shown a commendable spirit in donating the use of his hall in the Wasson & Miller building to the military company for a period of three years. The boys want to provide the hall with a locker for safe keeping of their arms and other equipment and a subscription list is being circulated this week for the purpose. It will require about seventy-five dollars, but the citizens should easily donate as much as a hundred dollars to cover this and other small expenses the boys will have to meet in organizing. They should not be expected to give more than their time and it is up to the citizens of the town to financially and otherwise encourage the boys. The chronic knockers should be lined up and shot at by the whole company with salty bacon rind bullets.

Prof. E. I. Hall, superintendent of the Dublin schools, will leave next Monday for Austin to assume his duties under appointment of the state superintendent, as one of the three members of the board of normal examiners selected from the state at large. The professor informs us that the roll of scholastics and transfers for the Dublin schools this year will aggregate about seven hundred pupils and that there are probably a few transfers which may yet be made if the parties as guardians look after the matter at once.

Quite a number of Dublin people, some fifteen or twenty, braved the rain yesterday morning and went on the special train to the Gorman picnic. The train passed through Dublin about 9:30 and had it not been for the gloomy and rainy weather the crowd from Dublin would have been greatly augmented. Engineer Matthews, who had charge of the train, reported a very heavy rain at Walnut Wednesday evening, the heaviest for several months past and said rain was falling yesterday morning all the way from Dublin to Waco.

Dublin's military organization, just getting under good way, has offered to put on a sham battle for a free attraction at the reunion in August but we learn the powers that be in the park association has turned down this excellent feature because of the small incidental expense and there is to be no sham battle. We understand that fresh air and sunshine is to be two of the free attractions for this year but have not learned if there is to be anything else on the free list.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription,

Is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse because of the uncertainty as to their harmless character, but is a medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. The "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is in fact the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, sold through druggists, that does not contain alcohol and that too in large quantities. Furthermore, it is the only medicine for woman's special diseases, the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of some of these endorsements will be sent to any address, postpaid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't forget that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for woman's weaknesses and delicate ailments, is not a patent or secret medicine, being the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated and graduated physician, engaged in the practice of his chosen specialty—that of diseases of women—that its ingredients are printed in plain English on every bottle-wrapper; that it is the only medicine especially designed for the cure of woman's diseases that contains no alcohol, and the only one that has a professional endorsement worth more than all the so-called "testimonials" ever published for other medicines. Send for these endorsements as above. They are free for the asking.

If you suffer from periodical, headache, backache, dizziness, pain or dragging down sensation low down in the abdomen, weak back, have disagreeable and weakening, catarrhal, pelvic drain, or are in distress from being long on your feet, then you may be sure of benefit from taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best laxative and regulator of the bowels. They invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative; two or three a cathartic.

THE EVILS OF CONSTIPATION.

Everyone Knows When He is Constipated and Everyone Should Know the Risk He is Running When He Fails to Promptly Correct it.

Any Disease Epidemic or Otherwise to Which He or She May be Exposed is Sure to Result Seriously.

There are two ways to remove constipation; the wrong way is to drench the bowels with a powerful, griping, drastic cathartic that injures the coating of the bowel channels and produces an early return of the trouble in a more chronic form. The right way is to use a natural, easy and mild laxative that tones up and strengthens the bowels and leaves a healthful influence behind it. Prickly Ash Bitters will empty the bowels just as thoroughly as the harsher cathartics, and combines all the tonic and strengthening properties necessary to permanently cure the habit.

STEPHENVILLE.

From the Empire.

July 6th.—Miss Bessie Jarrott, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Bruce Cage, returned this week to Lubbock.

W. W. Moore returned first of the week from Function, where he had been prospecting for several weeks.

Mrs. George Palmer of near Purves was adjudged insane by a jury selected to try her for lunacy yesterday morning.

Drs. L. H. Miller and Uel Keith returned first of the week from Chicago, where they have been attending lectures.

A revival meeting at Rocky Point, near Stephenville, conducted by Rev. Neely will begin on Friday night before the third Sunday in July.

Sheriff Mose Denman was over from Brownwood yesterday with a prisoner whom he had brought over to testify before the grand jury.

The Baptists of Lingleville are building a new church on their lot near the Christian college. It is to be a very neat structure forty by sixty feet, and to cost about $1,500.

J. C. Laney informs us that a new telephone line has just been completed between Selden and Duffau. There are already nine residence 'phones on the line.

The new board of local directors of John Tarleton college, Stephenville, selected at the recent meeting of the board of trustees at Austin is composed of G. E. Toliver, J. E. Mobley, Will Pannill and R. T. Williams.

Ed Cornelius and Miss Becky Fiddler were married in this city Sunday evening and left Monday morning for San Angelo with the intention of locating some where in that section of the country.

The Empire stated a few days ago that Rev. George Clark had decided to move back to Huckabay. Mr. Clark and his family came in from Fort Worth yesterday evening and are now citizens of Erath county again.

Miss Pearl Morris left this morning for Hico. After visiting there a day or two she will be joined by Miss Ada Fergurson and together they will go to Austin to take a summer course at the University.

Mack Allison, who lives on Richardson creek, was in the city this week. Before his marriage Mr. Allison was a student of the Huckabay academy and we learn that he contemplates enrolling there again this year.

J. T. Martin and several of his neighbors decided to celebrate the Glorious Fourth quietly at home instead of coming to the picnic. Accordingly some four or five families gathered at the home of Mr. Martin near Sylvan, on Wednesday morning and spent the day.

Ben Anthony and Miss Alma Russell were married on Wednesday of last week at Vernon and returned to Stephenville on Friday. They are among the most popular young people of the city and have a host of friends who join in extending congratu'ations and wishing them a long and happy life.

Prof. Nelms, who taught in John Tarleton college last year, was in the city this week in the interest of the Southwestern university at Georgetown. Soon after going to Georgetown this summer he was offered a position in the university and that being his home and the position one with a splendid future he decided to accept it.

The little babe of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Thompson died this week at the home of Mrs. Thompson's father, Mr. Cowan, near Oak Dale. Mrs. Thompson had come with her baby a short time ago from Amarillo to visit her parents. The little child, which was not quite eight months old, took sick and died suddenly. The interment was delayed a day in order to give the father time to arrive before the funeral.

Prof. John R. Mitchell delivered an address at the summer normal last Saturday morning, which was very much appreciated. He spoke mainly of educational conditions in the Philippines. Mr. Mitchell has been visiting his mother near Selden for several weeks, but will start for the Philippines again in the next few days.

Prof. W. O. Wright of the John Tarleton college faculty is to be married next Wednesday to Miss Harper Ethel Dennis of Lipan. Prof. Wright is an extremely fortunate man. Not only has he been re-elected to his position in John Tarleton college, but without his applying he was tendered tutorship in the State University. But of course he considers his election to be chief man at the happy approaching event the greatest honor of all.

From the Tribune.

July 6th.—Prof. and Mrs. J. D. Sandefer leave for Chicago Tuesday, where the professor expects to remain one year in close, hard study. He is a popular teacher and has many friends in Erath county, who will regret his absence from the city.

Tom Roberson reports that Gus Hatchett raised five thousand bushels of oats on his farm at Selden, the threshing of which has just been finished. One day's threshing turned out two thousand four hundred and sixty bushels, and at one setting of the machine it threshed three thousand six hundred bushels. There had been no rain on the straw and it is nice and bright.

The new faculty of John Tarleton college has not yet been completed, but so far as arranged will consist of the following: W. F. Martin of Huntsville president, Prof. W. O. Wright teacher of mathematics, Prof. Robert Marquis teacher of history and economics, Miss Miller, Greek and Latin; Miss Pearl Ponder, English; Marion Duncan shop instructor. Prof. Matin is said to be a very able man, a graduate of Washington and Lee university, and a successful session of the school will follow his administration of affairs. He is a young man and full of energy.

For some time the jail authorities have been mourning the loss of a mahogany colored gentleman of African descent who ran away to keep from paying a fine for indulging in the exciting game of crap playing, and Geo. Starr was sent over to Fort Worth Sunday to get him. Geo. did the work all right but he found the man had absorbed a lot of Fort Worth "creepers," and when he landed him in jail at Stephenville the prison authorities were glad when he made a convict bond. He now goes forth to distribute his creepers to others who have them not.

Miss Swan Jordan of Stephenville was united in marriage at the Christian church in Stephenville Wednesday morning of last week to Martin J. Sutphin of Tucson, Arizona. The couple left a few moments after the ceremony for their future in Tucson, where the groom is a prominent young business man.

If you are thinking of investing in the west, call at my office. I can save you money both on land and railroad fare.—A. L. Cole. 6-tf

Congressman O. W. Gillespie will speak in Dublin next Tuesday, July 17th, at 8 p. m. in the interest of his candidacy for re-election.

Mr. Gillespie remained in Washington faithfully at his post of duty until congress adjourned and now has but three weeks in which to canvass the district, a task which makes it impossible for him to see all the people. You are most respectfully requested to be present at the meeting and to urge your friends to hear him also.

Fifty sections of school land in Terry and Yoakum counties, $1.00 to $3.50 bonus.—Clemons Stephens & Neill, Gomez, Texas.

BROWNWOOD.

From the Bulletin.

July 11th.—L. L. White, who was formerly express agent here but who resigned to accept a run on the Fort Worth & Rio Grande, was checked back in as agent at the express office here Monday of last week.

Charlie Taylor, who lives five miles west of town, was here Saturday and informed a Bulletin man that his home was entered while the family were here attending the Fourth of July celebration and quite a lot of clothing and shoes were taken. Mr. Taylor states that there was evidence of burglary in every room, but the loss is confined principally to clothing, hats and shoes. The family did not return home until night and nothing was missed until the following morning. Mr. Taylor lost a vest containing papers of value to him. The same day some one entered the home of O. H. Nichols and made way with all eatables left in the safe.

Sheriff Denman returned Saturday afternoon from Bangs, where he went to investigate the reported burglary. The store of R. L. White was burglarized Friday night, the party or parties effecting an entrance through the rear window. The store was kept locked according to the orders of the sheriff until he arrived on the scene, but a careful examination failed to give him any clew on which to work. So far as Mr. White is able to discover nothing was taken from the store except a few pair of hose. It is more than probable, however, that other articles were taken but have not been missed. On the counter near where shoes had been tried on was found a number of milk checks belonging to the dairy at Bangs. This would indicate that it was the work of some one familiar with surroundings. The officers are at work on the case and hope to apprehend the guilty party.

HE HAS A HARD TASK

Great Change Has Occurred in Sentiment of Americans, but Present Chief Magistrate has a Herculean Job.

New York, July 11.—The Times prints the following cable dispatch from its correspondent at London:

"Is it true?" I asked Mr. Bryan, "that President Roosevelt caught you in swimming and stole your clothes? Over in America they say that is what has happened."

"He didn't get all my clothes," Mr. Bryan answered, laughingly, and quickly added: "I doubt whether what he did get fit him very well."

"It is hard, uphill work for Roosevelt to make his administration respond to the country's evident demand for reforms, for the country gave him no mandate. The platform on which he was elected does not declare that our laws and our government should aim at the welfare of the whole people, but if a Democratic president is chosen in 1908 he will undoubtedly represent a party committed to this reform idea and will be in quite a different situation.

"There is no doubt about the people's wish in this respect. Views that were considered revolutionary a few years ago are now accepted as sane and necessary. A change has come over the country. An American asked me to-day: 'Mr. Bryan, how do you explain the change that has come over some of our rich men in respect to their attitude toward Democratic principles?' I replied: 'The explanation is very easy. People who live in a valley watch the dams above them, and if a flood is threatened they know that the higher the dam the greater the danger, and some of them have made up their minds that they cannot afford to dam public sentiment any longer.'

"There is another thing to be considered," Mr. Bryan remarked, after a pause, "namely, the ethical movement. A great many men are beginning to learn that there is something in the world more valuable than money, and it has gratified me to hear of numbers of cases where men have taken a larger view of their relations to their fellow and of their responsibilities. This introspection is making some of them ashamed of the questionable methods to which they have resorted in the past."

TOTAL ABSTINENCE.

This Will Be First Requisite For Position of Motorman.

Monroe, La., July 11.—In choosing motormen for what is said to be the first municipally owned street railway in the United States Mayor Forsythe said the first test for fitness for this position will be total abstinence from all intoxicating liquors. "I am not a prohibitionist," said the mayor in making this ruling, "but it is absolutely essential that men occupying these responsible positions should be sober, sane and strictly reliable, and only those who are on the water wagon and keep on it will be employed."

It is expected the railway will begin operating in a short time. A remarkable feature is the fact that its construction has not directly cost the taxpayers a cent, all expenses being defrayed by revenues from the city's waterworks, electric light plant, wharves and other municipally owned public utilities.

CAUSES DISTURBANCES.

Man Claiming to Have Been on Kentucky Creates Trouble.

Oyster Bay, July 11.—Edward Moore, who claims to have been a sailor on the battleship Kentucky, created considerable disturbance here Wednesday when he called up Sagamore Hill by telephone and announced he was ready to take charge of the president's secret service force. Moore then made a circuit of the Oyster Bay saloon district and informed several saloonkeepers that their licenses were invalid and that he would return to make arrests just as soon as he got his secret service uniform. His tour of the saloon district was interrupted by a policeman, who took him into custody on a charge of intoxication.

TAGGART REFUSES.

On Advice of Counsel He Declined to Be Examined Under Oath.

French Lick Springs, Ind., July 11.—Thomas Taggart, president of the French Lick Springs Hotel company, acting on the advice of his attorneys, has refused to be examined under oath by the auditor of state and attorney general. He took the position that while the law permitted state officers to examine the books of a hotel company it did not authorize forced examination of officers of corporations under oath.

CHOUKNIN'S CLOSE CALL.

Attempt Was Made to Assassinate Russian Vice Admiral.

Sevastopol, July 11.—An attempt was made at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to assassinate Vice Admiral Chouknin, commander of the Black Sea fleet. The admiral was wounded and taken to a hospital.

Estate Devastated.

Poltava, Russia, July 11.—The estate of Prince Kochebue, in this vicitiy, has been devastated by the peasants.

BIG RESIDENTIAL PARK

GREAT ARTIFICIAL LAKE PLANNED

Estate In Orange and Rockland Counties, N. Y., Bought by Wealthy Men, Will Be Improved In Certain Landscape Features, but Most of It Will Be Left Wild—Cost of Tract Said to Be $3,000,000.

Rich in historical association and noted for its unusual beauty of mountain and woodland scenery, a large tract of land known as the Sterling property, lying in Orange and Rockland counties, in the state of New York, and covering parts of four townships, has recently been purchased by a party of prominent New York men at a reported cost of $3,000,000 and is to be converted at a cost of several millions of dollars more into a great residential park, modeled more or less along English and continental lines, says the New York Herald. It is to be called Sterling park.

For 200 years the tract has been undivided from the original patent granted by Queen Anne save for a part sold to Peter Lorillard in 1814, out of which the beautiful Tuxedo park has since been built. During this space the ownership underwent comparatively few changes, and there are today living in or near the property descendants of the first patent holders.

By purchasing 90 per cent of the stock of the Sterling Iron and Railway company, which acquired the land in 1865, the present ownership came about. It is being continued under the old corporate title.

While the services of the landscape gardener and the architect are to be employed in devising certain improvements, such as the conversion of a great stretch of depressed pasture land, lying in a natural bowl formed by the Blackrock hills, into an artificial lake and sunken Italian gardens, for the most part the property will be left in the almost primeval state in which it now is.

On the tract, which is eleven miles long and about three miles wide, there are several lakes, including at least two which are several miles in extent. The estate touches Greenwood lake in New Jersey. It is about forty miles from New York, to which it is readily accessible, and lies in the heart of the Ramapo mountains.

Because of the sparse habitation the tract is still the home of many of the native wild animals, while the numerous streams abound in fish. Roughly speaking, it lies behind—that is, to the west of—Tuxedo park, and in late years sites on or near it have been chosen for the country places of wealthy New York men.

Clitheroe, once the home of the daughter of the late Dr. Loomis, is now owned by Theodore Price, who is building a costly new home; the large estate of Mr. Harriman touches the tract to the northeast, and Macgrane Coxe, whose wife is a lineal descendant of one of the first owners of the land, has a large place on its edge. Among the other estates are those of the late Abram S. Hewitt, William Pierson Hamilton and Francis Lynde Stetson.

On the tract there is located one of the oldest iron mines in the country—Sterling mine, which gives it its name. In the furnace near by was forged the great chain that was stretched across the Hudson river in 1778 to impede the progress of the British fleet upstream. To celebrate that historical event the Daughters of the Revolution recently unveiled on the ruins of the furnace a tablet in its commemoration. Macgrane Coxe made the address, and on behalf of the owners Mr. Price accepted it. Among the tenants of the new landlords are the residents of the villages of Lakeville, Elizabeth and Sterling.

Included in the ownership of the property is the Sterling railway, which is about eight miles long and runs from Sterlington, on the Erie, to the Sterling mine. The more picturesque of the Ramapo hills are on the land, and within its limits lie Mombasha lake, about two miles long; Sterling lake, one and a half miles long; Little Dam lake, Cedar pond, Sterling pond and part of the shore of Greenwood lake, which is eleven miles in length.

Explained by one of the directors, it was an appreciation of the growing desire on the part of the wealthier class to have their homes amid natural surroundings and at the same time within easy reach of the center of their financial activities that brought about the present plan. While no definite plan of campaign as yet has been outlined by the syndicate controlling the property, it is known that a minimum allotment is to be made to a purchaser. Those who answer the qualifications imposed and are admitted to membership must buy a certain number of acres, with which they may do as they please provided they do not violate the restrictions surrounding each transfer.

To see that the natural, almost primeval, appearance of the property is preserved is to be made a prime objective. There are approximately 20,000 acres included in the tract, which is about thirty-three square miles, and, judging from increases in values in nearby property, when it has passed through the process of being made ready it will have a worth of about $10,000,000. The old mines on the property, which have been continuously worked since 1745, are still yielding their steady daily quota of ore, which has so good a reputation that it is salable throughout the country to mills and furnaces.

Right through the tract Washington marched and countermarched during his operations against and about New York while that city was in the hands of the British. On many of the surrounding hills earthworks had been thrown up by the Continental army, and from one Alexander Hamilton wrote important reports to the Continental congress while with the army.

From the head of Mombasha lake, near the northerly limits of the tract, a view is unfolded that may well vie with any in the eastern part of the country. Looking southward, the hills of Ramapo are on either side, while in front is to be seen the pass or clove through which the Revolutionary soldiers advanced and retreated. Sterling lake, too, affords a beautiful vista, while from the top of Old Billy White mountain close by, which is 1,400 feet high, New York city itself may be seen on clear days. Cedar pond, atop of a mountain, lies almost 1,100 feet above tide.

IN HONOR OF JOHN BROWN.

Fiftieth Anniversary of the Battle of Osawatomie to Be Celebrated.

Preparations are being made by the citizens of Osawatomie, Kan., the home of John Brown, to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the battle fought there Aug. 30, 1856, says a Topeka dispatch. Vice President Fairbanks will deliver the principal address. Governor Hoch of Kansas and Governor Folk of Missouri, representing the two states whose citizens participated in the fight at Osawatomie, will also speak.

The event has been commemorated only once before, twenty-eight years ago. At that time John J. Ingalls made the speech dedicating the monument erected to the memory of John Brown by the citizens of Osawatomie.

The monument is of plain white marble and not more than twelve feet high. It cost about $400, the money being contributed by the early settlers of Osawatomie and vicinity. There are inscriptions on the four sides, but this one tells the story:

> In commemoration of the heroism of
> CAPTAIN JOHN BROWN,
> Who commanded at the battle of Osawatomie, Aug. 30, 1856; who died and conquered on the scaffold at Charleston, Va., Dec. 2, 1859.

At the celebration next August a pioneer still living who remembers the battle of Osawatomie will read the letter written by John Brown to his sisters from the jail in Charlestown on the Sunday before he was executed. This letter is the property of the Kansas Historical society and bears date of Nov. 27, 1859, and is as follows:

"Oh, my friends, can you deem it possible that that scaffold has no terrors for your poor, old, unworthy brother? I thank God through Jesus Christ, my Lord, it is even so. I am now shedding tears, but they are not tears of grief and sorrow. I trust I am nearly done with those. I am weeping with joy and gratitude I can in no other way express. I am waiting cheerfully the days of my appointed time, fully believing that for me now to die will be to me of infinite gain and of untold benefit to the cause we love."

Labor Fair of National Scope.

President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor sent representatives to Chicago recently to arrange for a "union exposition" to celebrate the achievements of organized labor throughout the world and especially in the United States, says a Chicago dispatch. Minneapolis has been tentatively selected as the place for holding the exposition and it is probable it will take place in November, at the same time the convention of the national labor body is in progress in that city. It is the aim of Mr. Gompers to bring together the products of union workingmen in every branch of industry, to illustrate the superiority and also to demonstrate the growth of the union labor movement in the United States since its inception sixty years ago.

Where He Drew the Line.

[F. D. Coburn of Kansas, Governor Hoch's first choice for the United States senate, has refused the appointment on account of "associations." He said, "When I thought of my future environment my whole nature shuddered at the suggestion."]

I am grateful for the kindness that's implied in your intention.
I would like to say "the honor," but I really feel I can't.
I would serve my state in any other way that you can mention,
But you're asking rather more than I can grant.
I am not at all exclusive; I can do my share of mixing;
There is nothing that's unbending in the nature of my spine,
But it's not at all the sort of job on which my hopes I'm fixing,
For the senate's where I have to draw the line.

I don't think I'm narrow minded; I believe in toleration
For the common little weaknesses and and foibles of mankind.
I can wink at certain failings, and a slight association
With the ordinary wicked I don't mind.
I can make all due allowance for the criminal profession
When adopted more by accident than any set design;
To all amiable follies I have always made concession,
But the senate's where I have to draw the line.

For I have a holy horror that I never can dissemble
Of the doings there, related by the men behind the scenes;
When I read the daily papers like an aspen leaf I tremble,
And I shudder when I read the magazines.
No; I thank you very kindly, and I hope you're not offended.
But no David Graham Phillips sort of business, please, for mine.
A once broken reputation cannot very well be mended;
So the senate's where I have to draw the line.

MORGAN HORSE'S VALUE

Why Our Government Is Trying to Restore the Breed.

VERY USEFUL TO SMALL FARMERS

No Other American Steed Said to Have Shown Same Recuperative Vitality and Ability to Travel Spiritedly After Hard Spell of Work. Highly Prized as a Road Horse—Unexcelled For Family Use.

Lovers of horses the country over, but particularly the farmers and light harness drivers of New England, will follow with interest the results of the effort of the agricultural department to restore the Morgan horse to its former position of dominance, says the Providence Journal. As a result of the craze—it was little short of that—for animals of heavier type, which western horses were brought in to meet, the serviceable Morgan has been allowed to run out until it has become increasingly difficult to secure for general use good specimens of the type that was the prevailing one in New England towns scarcely more than a generation ago. Now, however, the unfortunate results of this change of taste are being realized. It has been amply demonstrated by costly experience that weight and strength are not the equivalents of the hardiness and all round adaptiveness which are the distinguishing characteristics of the smaller Morgan.

These qualities, with intelligence and docility, made it pre-eminently the breed for the small farmer, who keeps only one animal for both farm and road work. No other American horse has shown the same recuperative vitality, the ability to travel spiritedly to church on Sunday morning after an arduous week of haying. No other, in short, has so thoroughly demonstrated its fitness for the responsible position of the only horse in the family. The westerner which supplanted it was fitted to draw heavier loads on the level, but that was almost its only advantage, and strength did not mean endurance.

Comparatively small powers of adaptation to varied conditions and demands prevented its perfect assimilation as a general utility horse such as the small farmer needs. The New England hills, moreover, and the short, sharp slope from the lower meadow to the barn did not fit the imported animal's temperament. A creature built for routine, it contrasted poorly with the nimbler, more versatile Morgan, whose brisk walk, even under load, gave evidence of its zest in work.

Nor was it merely as a farm horse that the Morgan was esteemed. As a road horse for the business and professional man, not seeking speed primarily, but always willing to move along briskly and always ready for a brush on the highway, it was highly prized, and as a family horse it was unexcelled, its docility being an important factor. Descending from the famous Justin Morgan, foaled in 1793, it was no unimportant factor in developing the farm horse in the east from the ungainly heavy footed animal with which the coast farmers of fifty years ago were apparently content. Hardly is the development of any other means of locomotion, the trolley or the automobile, more striking than the progress that has been made in improving the character of the ordinary farm horse. But in New England progress began to move in the wrong direction when the sturdy Morgan was replaced by the heavy but strength wasting westerner. And it is now the aim of the government to correct the error that was made and to restore the type that was in danger of vanishing because of a too belated recognition of its merits.

At the interstate horse and automobile show held in Rutland, Vt., recently there has been brought together one of the most complete collections of standard bred Morgans that New England has seen for many years. Special efforts were made to have this breed well represented because of the most perfect types for breeding purposes at its experiment station in Burlington, for which the sum of $50,000 was recently appropriated. This reinstatement of the Morgan will rank as one of the conspicuous services of the department of agriculture.

Millionaire Who Sleeps on a Roof.

John Farson, millionaire banker of Chicago, automobile enthusiast and horse show promoter, is the foremost advocate of fresh air in the west, says a Chicago dispatch. He applies his teachings to his daily life. A few weeks ago, on a sultry night, Mr. Farson arose from his bed, made a tour of the house, found an army cot and dragged it out on the roof garden of his home, and there he remained until dawn. The next day he had an awning erected over the garden, and it has been virtually his home since then. There is no attempt at style in this roof garden home. Everything is plain and simple and practical. A few chairs, a table, a settee, a few palms and the $3.50 army cot comprise the furnishings.

Jesse James, Attorney.

Jesse James, son of Jesse James, the outlaw, was enrolled the other day in the circuit court as an attorney at law, says the Kansas City Star. He passed the examination June 9 before the state board of examiners in Jefferson City and made the highest grade in a class of thirty-seven. His average was 91. He said recently:

"In two weeks I will quit the pawnbroking business and will devote the balance of my life to the practice of the law."

PAGEANT ON THE HUDSON.

Detailed plans for the proposed Hudson-Fulton celebration in 1909 were recently perfected at the meeting in New York of the executive committee of the commission in charge, says the New York Times.

The plan includes a naval parade, a land parade, oratory, the dedication of memorials, the establishment of a park at Inwood with a memorial there and the establishment of a state park at Verplanck's point. The plans for the naval parade include representation for the navies of the United States, Great Britain and the Netherlands, the merchant marine, excursion boats and yacht clubs. There will also be facsimile reproductions of the Half Moon and Clermont. The government of Holland is requested to furnish the reproduction of the Hudson vessel and the American steamboat interests the Clermont. Both ships, it is proposed, should proceed north to Albany, stopping at various points for local celebrations.

The land parade, it is proposed, shall include regular and state troops, Grand Army of the Republic posts and civic societies. Riverside drive from Seventy-second street to Claremont is the proposed route for this parade. The land parade would be held on the second day of the celebration. On the third day would come the dedication of the memorials, including the Hudson Memorial bridge from Inwood to Spuyten Duyvil hill. The committee also urges that the city connect the proposed viaduct over Dyckman street so that it will join the southern end of Inwood hill and Washington heights.

The city of New York is asked to take seventy-five acres of the northern part of Inwood hill for a public park, to be preserved in its present wooded condition. A municipal museum or a group of statuary, it is suggested, could be erected on a part of this land. The proposed state park at Verplanck's point would require twenty acres. This would be directly opposite the state reservation of thirty-four acres on the Stony Point battlefield.

The last of September, 1909, is suggested for the celebration because the time would be more appropriate than the exact dates, figured old style. Hudson first landed in New York Sept. 2, 1609, old style, and Fulton's Clermont trip is placed at Aug. 11, 1807. By figuring Hudson's landing new style the anniversary would fall on Sept. 23. Monday, Sept. 20, 1909, is recommended as the official date for the beginning of the celebration.

RETURN OF WILD PIGEONS.

John Burroughs' View of Flocks Reported Seen In Sullivan County.

John Burroughs, the author-naturalist, has returned to West Park from a trip to Sullivan county, N. Y., where he passed some time investigating reports that wild pigeons had been seen recently in that locality, says a Poughkeepsie dispatch to the New York Sun. Mr. Burroughs was in Poughkeepsie recently. He said:

"I have seen the men who saw the birds and have every reason to believe that they are telling the truth. Some of them knew the passenger pigeon in the old days, and it is not likely that all have been mistaken in the identity of the birds seen lately."

Thirty or forty years ago immense flocks of wild pigeons frequented the Hudson river valley. They disappeared suddenly, and it was supposed that they had been exterminated by ruthless slaughter. The sequence of events indicates, however, that they were driven away and sought new feeding and resting grounds in other parts of the globe, perhaps in the southern part of South America.

Recently flocks of considerable size have been reported in Sullivan county, and two flocks have been seen along the Hudson, one a few days ago by Elting Van Akin of Tower Hill farm, near Port Ewen.

Play With Babies For Fun.

Club women in Syracuse have thought of something novel to take up their spare moments, says the New York Press. They propose—that is, some of them—to spend a day each week amusing babies at the summer playground in Kirk park. Although such an appropriation of their time is generally looked upon as exceedingly generous, there are scoffers who suggest that some of the volunteer nurses have a confused idea of what they are about to undertake and that the babies may have a peculiarly difficult time of it. They also suggest that children who are permitted to play in the street regardless of traffic and microbes should turn a handspring for very joy at being under no one's care.

A Balloon Railway.

Engineer Balderauer of Salzburg has invented a balloon railroad, experiments with which are now being made in the neighborhood of that German city, says the New York World. A stationary balloon is fastened to a slide running along a single rail fastened to the side of a steep mountain which ordinary railroads could not climb. The balloon is to float thirty-five feet over the ground, and a steel cable connects it with the rail. For going up motive power is furnished by hydrogen gas, while water poured into a large tank at the upper end of the road serves as ballast for the descent. Suspended from the balloon is a circular car with room for ten passengers.

Dublin was a very dull place on the fourth of July. Business of all kinds was suspended and the town was nearly deserted. Many Dublin people visited Stephenville to attend the celebration and the firemen's contest between Dublin, Hico and Stephenville firemen. The Dublin fire boys made an extra good run, but turned on the water pressure a couple of seconds too soon, and were unable therefore to connect the nozzle and hence counted no time. The Stephenville team won first honors and showed by their work that they were well drilled.

A most daring attempt to burglarize the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wright at San Angelo was made Wednesday night of last week. Two men attempted the job and it seems that they must have been watching the house for some hours. But for the timely action of Miss Margaret Wright, who secured her father's revolver and came down stairs, the house would very probably have been ransacked.

A few minutes after nine o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Wright left the house on a short visit to Mr. and Mrs. George Abbott, two doors south of the Wright residence. Miss Margaret Wright was up stairs not long after her parents had left when she heard some one trying to open the kitchen doors down stairs. With much presence of mind the young lady secured her father's pistol and started down stairs. She then heard the wire screen door ripped as with a knife and could hear two men in the back part of the house. When half way down the stairs a man with his hat pulled over his eyes stepped into the hallway.

Looking up and seeing Miss Wright with the leveled pistol the burglar ducked and ran. Just then came some loud knocking on the front door. The two men escaped through the back door, whence they came. Miss Wright, though much frightened, was self composed and went to the door to find a large party of her friends at the gate in a tallyho, several of whom had come in after the young lady to take her to the impromptu dance at the club. The happy crowd of young society people were indeed a pleasant sight to Miss Wright.

THAW IS NOT INSANE

First Formal Statement Has Been Given Out.

NO PLEA OF THE KIND

Counsel For the Prosecution Is Desirous of Securing Certain Information From Mother of His Wife.

New York, July 11.—Harry Kendall Thaw Monday night in the tombs prison gave out his first formal statement since he shot and killed Stanford White in the Madison Square Roof Garden theater. In it the young man enters a protest against being regarded as insanse, and declares his counsel assures him that no such course as to the appointment of a commission to inquire into his mental condition is contemplated. The statement was handed out by Thaw in person to the newspaper representatives. He gave it out with the permission of his counsel, with whom he pleaded all day to be allowed to deny the current reports as to his sanity, and especially the publication Tuesday afternoon of a purported interview with one of his counsel, quoting the attorney as saying the prisoner was undoubtedly insane. Young Thaw's statement follows:

"I am informed by Mr. Olcott and Mr. Gruber that interview with the latter in one of Tuesday evening's papers, quoting him (Gruber) to the effect that I am now insane, and that a lunatic commission would be appointed to demonstrate that fact has no foundation whatever; that Mr. Gruber never made such a statement, and that no such course is contemplated.

"Mr. Olcott further tells me that he did not go to Philadelphia for the purpose of seeing or inquiring about Harriet Thaw or her alleged insanity, and that his visit had nothing whatever to do with the question of my mental condition, or that of any member of my family."

The statement was signed with the initials H. K. T."

When asked if he had anything further to remark, Thaw said: "That statement embodies all that I have to say."

Despite the rapid fire of questions hurled at him by the reporters, Thaw remained smiling, but noncommittal, during four or five minutes he was with the press representatives.

District Attorney Garvan continued Tuesday vigorously to prosecute his inquiry into the case, and had before him several prospective witnesses. Among them were James L. Lederer of Philadelphia, who was manager of "The Wild Rose" company at the time Evelyn Nesbit, now Mrs. Thaw, was a member of the organization; May MacKenzie, an actress, and friends of Mrs. Thaw, and Mary Leahy, Mrs. Thaw's maid. The latter two were questioned but briefly, and told to report again next week for further examination.

Mr. Lederer told the assistant district attorney that it was his belief young Thaw is crazy. He based his opinion on the man's actions during the time Miss Nesbit was a member of the Wild Rose company. In this connection he mentioned several incidents in which Thaw was the central figure.

"It was talk among all the people who knew Thaw," said Lederer, "that Thaw was a 'dope' fiend.

"I recall one night when Thaw was about to send two of his chorus girls home in a hansom cab. He was there with a friend of his named McKay. Suddenly Thaw insisted in trying to jump over the roof of the hansom. Of course, he could not actually jump over the roof of the cab, but he tried, and succeeded in crawling up on one side of the cab and down the other. McKay remonstrated with him, but it was no use. Then McKay, apparently disgusted, turned aside and said: 'You can't do anything with a crazy man; he is drug crazy.'"

Every efort is being made, it is said, to secure the presence at the office of the district attorney of Mrs. William Holman, mother of Mrs. Harry K. Thaw, in order that she may be questioned, particularly in regard to a trip of Evelyn Nesbit and Thaw to Europe. According to one story, while Thaw and the girl were in London, an appeal was made to the American embassy, said to have been made by White, acting on the request of Mrs. Holman, to break up the relations between the Thaws and Evelyn Nesbit. Mrs. Holman was at this time, according to the story, much prejudiced against Thaw.

REITERATES STATEMENT.

Harry Thaw Insists No Lunacy Commission Will Examine Him.

New York, July 11.—Harry Thaw has reiterated the statement given out by him to the effect that he is not insane and that no lunacy commission will be appointed to inquire into the state of his mind. For this purpose he had permission to see newspaper men Wednesday immediately after he had breakfasted and they were taken into the prison to meet him. After greetings had been exchanged Thaw said he had asked to see them, as he wished to emphasize and to ask them to give the widest publicity to the statement that he handed them Tuesday evening denying he is insane or that a lunacy commission would be appointed to inquire into his state of mind. "My physical and mental condition are good and never were better," said Thaw. "I had to fight pretty hard with my lawyers to be permitted to make the statement that I did make, but I felt that I wanted my position clear. I told them that it would make much for my peace of mind. I could not rest easy until I had given out the statement."

Speaking of his mother's return to this country, Thaw said: "I, with all the other members of the family, was anxious that mother should remain in Europe. She is suffering from rheumatism and went to Europe for the purpose of taking the cure at Schineznach, Switzerland, and I—in fact, all of us—wished her to take the cure before returning home. Of course, I will be glad to see her, but I cannot help wishing she had remained in Europe for her own sake."

During his talk with the newspaper men Thaw took occasion to explain his failure to take advantage of the permission to go into the prison yard for exercise Tuesday. "The reason I was not in the yard is simple enough," he said. "I spent the day, when not engaged with my lawyers, in reading and writing letters. It is true I was fatigued, but not more than I have been frequently. As a fact, I did air in the empty corridor, which I had to myself while the prisoners were in the yard."

Thaw bade the newspaper men goodbye. He told them he had thoroughly enjoyed the chat, and added that to talk with anyone besides lawyers, doctors and prison officials was "like getting a whiff of fresh air from the outside."

EXPERTS AT WORK.

Examine Forty Epistles Alleged to Have Been Written to Coachman.

Pittsburg, July 11.—The handwriting experts, David N. Carvalhe of New York and Marshall D. Ewall of Chicago, were closeted for several hours Wednesday with Mrs. Hartje, defendant in the noted divorce case, and Madine, the coachman co-respondent, examining forty letters alleged to have been written to Madine by Mrs. Hartje. Madine said he would not make information against Detective Craig, who, it alleged, broke open his trunk and carried off letters and papers. "I have left everything," said he, "in the hands of my attorneys, and it rests with them."

Mrs. Hartje has lost the look of anxiety which was commented upon during the trial last week, and seems to be gaining confidence as the examination of the letters progresses.

Not to be outdone by the defense, the attorneys for Hartje have had the famous letters photographed and have prepared charts three feet in height. Both sides have prepared charts and enlargement of letters, and they may be taken into court when the case is resumed.

Hamilton Railroad Talk.

Speaking of railroad matters in general as they refer to Waco, the Times-Herald of that city says:

Another development that is of more than passing interest is the decision of the business men to join the Hamilton people in making a survey of a line from Waco to Hamilton. It is argued that when a survey is made and everything shows up well there will be no trouble in getting the proposition financed. It is known that the present movement by the business men is based upon this belief. Now whether or not there is some fire on the string is only surmised. In speaking about this survey a well known business man said yesterday: "I believe that as soon as this survey is made and the report made showing the grade, profiles, tonnage and giving full information, that there will be no trouble in getting the proposition financed. A road to Hamilton from Waco would be one of the best paying lines in the state and if it should branch out from Hamilton and one prong go to Thurber via Stephenville, and the other to Brownwood, it would be worth a quarter million dollars to this city. It would empty into the laps of the Waco business men the products from the finest country in the state and would occupy the largest territory in Texas unoccupied and Waco would get the benefit of this.

HUSBAND FOLLOWS WIFE.

Lived Long Together in Life, Second Soon Dies After First.

Chicago, July 11.—Companions for nearly half a century in life, Arthur S. Graham and his wife of Jefferson Park are not to be separated in death. Mrs. Graham died Monday and her husband passed away Tuesday, less than twenty-four hours later. They were buried together.

The remarkable coincidence shown in the death of this husband and wife is said to be quite consistent with the entire trend of their lives, which have been singularly united. Mrs. Graham was taken ill on the Fourth of July. It was not thought that her condition was serious, but diabetes developed and she grew worse. The day following the Fourth Mr. Graham was stricken with an attack of heart disease, to which he had been subject for many years. In a separate room he lay suffering Monday when Mrs. Graham died. Shortly before the end came she expressed some surprise that her husband had not been in to see her, but members of the family explained to her satisfaction without telling her that he too was ill.

Nor was the fact of his companion's death communicated to Mr. Graham, his children fearing that the shock might kill him. Monday night, however, he seemed to be improving and it was thought advisable to tell him Tuesday, but he suddenly grew worse and died, not knowing that his wife had gone before.

Mr. Graham was seventy years old and his wife sixty. They leave five children.
