5 NAMED AS CONSPIRATORS

Priest Charged With Plotting To Kidnap Presidential Adviser

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A federal grand jury has charged that a Catholic priest masterminded a conspiracy from his jail cell to blow up heating systems in the nation's capital on George Washington's Birthday, then kidnap presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

The jury returned indictments against the Rev. Philip Berrigan, 47, and named five others as conspirators—two other priests, a former priest, a nun and a Pakistani student with a doctorate in political science.

Seven others were named as coconspirators including Berrigan's brother, Daniel, who also is in prison, and three other nuns.

Attorney General John N. Mitchell announced the indictments by a grand jury in Harrisburg, Pa., after all those named had been arrested.

Group Accused
The indictment charged that the group plotted to kidnap Kissinger — President Nixon's chief foreign policy adviser — and hold him hostage until their demands were met by the government.

The indictment did not spell out the alleged demands. The indictment indicated there had been a long series of visits and written communications by which Berrigan allegedly directed the plot from his jail cell.

In addition to Berrigan, the grand jury also indicted: The Rev. Joseph Wenderoth, 35, of Baltimore; Sister Elizabeth McAllister, 31, of Marymount College, Tarrytown, N.Y.; the Rev. Neil Raymond McLaughlin, 30, of Baltimore; Anthony Scoblick, 30, a former priest, of Baltimore; and Egbal Ahmad, 39, a fellow at the Adia Stevenson Institute of Public Affairs in Chicago. Ahmad is a native of Pakistan, and friends said he does not have U.S. citizenship.

The six were accused of conspiring to use dynamite, "plastic explosives" and other devices to be detonated in approximately five locations "in order to render inoperative the heating systems in government buildings of the United States," the indictment said.

Another Count
Another count charged them with conspiring to unlawfully kidnap and transport in interstate commerce a person for ransom, reward or otherwise.

The Justice Department said that in addition to the maximum life sentence for conspiracy to kidnap, the accused could face five years and $10,000 if convicted on the charges that they plotted to blow up federal property and 10 years and $10,000 or both for transportation and possession of explosives.

Initial reaction to the alleged plot was guarded. Many of the friends and relatives of those charged expressed shock, and some said they felt politics was involved.

In addition to Daniel Berrigan, named as coconspirators were Sister Beverly Bell, 43, of Washington; Sister Marjorie A. Shuman, 47, of Washington; William Davidson, 43, a professor at Haverford College in Haverford, Pa.; Thomas Davidson, 25, of Washington; Paul Mayer, 39, a former priest of Edgewater, N.J., and Sister Joques Egan, 32, of New York City.

Podgorny, Sadat Discuss Mideast Situation Today

By United Press International
Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny flew to Cairo today to discuss the Middle East situation with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and attend dedication ceremonies for the Aswan High Dam.

Egyptian government sources said Sadat and Podgorny would discuss Israeli peace proposals and coordination of a Soviet-Egyptian strategy in the Middle East in preparation for the Feb. 5 expiration of the ceasefire.

A Palestinian guerrilla spokesman in Beirut said government forces fired on guerrilla areas in Amman today but the commandos did not return the fire. He said a number of people were killed and wounded.

Earlier, the guerrillas announced 12 persons were killed and 17 wounded in clashes in Amman Tuesday. The government said guerrillas opened fire on police stations in several areas of the capital and two women were killed when guerrilla shells hit a house near a police post.

Podgorny's visit to Egypt is his first since a few days before the 1967 Middle East War. He will attend ceremonies Friday dedicating the Aswan Dam, the largest Soviet-aided project outside the Communist bloc countries.

Egyptian sources said there would be lengthy discussions of the proposals that Israel gave to U.N. peace negotiator Gumar V. Jarring in his weekend visit to Jerusalem.

New Tax: To Be $645 Million

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas Legislature's bill to its quickest start in history, begins hearings today on a record $7.52 billion spending bill requiring Texans to pay at least $645.1 million in new taxes during the next two years.

The flag waving of the opening ceremonies hardly died Tuesday before Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes announced his Senate committee assignments and scheduled hearings on the monumental spending bill.

Barnes' aides said it was the first time on record Senate committees have been appointed on the opening day of the session. House Speaker Gus F. Mutscher plans to delay appointment of his standing committees until Gov. Preston Smith presents his legislative and tax programs to a joint session of the legislature. Smith's address is tentatively scheduled for Jan. 25.

However, Mutscher appointed a temporary seven-man Appropriations Committee which he said can consider such emergency items as a vital $39.9 million allocation needed by the Welfare Department to avoid having to cut assistance payments this year.

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert told legislators the state will end this fiscal year with a $16.1 million deficit, however. So the lawmakers can't spend any more money until they come up with a special tax bill to take care of the deficit and any emergency spending bills they contemplate.

The opening ceremonies — traditionally the most hallowed day of the 140-day legislative session — were marked by minor disputes which threatened to erupt into major fights when the lawmakers get into serious debate.

A Senate caucus preceded the noon convening session was wrought with controversy over a pay classification system for senators' staff members. And in the House, a liberal-Republican-unhappy conservative coalition threatened to block passage of House rules unless speaker Mutscher agreed to open hearings on proposed standing rules.

Mutscher sent the proposed rules to a temporary committee which will hold open hearings. But he denied his move was prompted by any pressure from the predominantly liberal group.

Both Barnes and Mutscher warned their colleagues the coming session is loaded with potential problems. Mutscher pledged to offer his suggestions for solving some of the problems within the next 10 days, and Barnes warned the senators five-day work weeks in the upper chamber will become the rule rather than the exception this session. "I want to avoid the traditional legislative logjam at the end of the session," Barnes said. "I do not want to wait until the last minute of the session to pass local bills. We've got to have the decks cleared to work on the more important problems toward the end of the session."

Kremlin's Bitterest Dissidents Condemn Militant Jews In U.S.

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Kremlin's bitterest political dissidents joined hard line Communists today in protesting harassment of Soviet diplomats in America. They said it makes things tougher for Soviet Jews.

The protest came from the small Moscow dissident community which seldom, if ever, has concurred with the Soviet leadership on policies concerning the treatment of Jews on immigration from the Soviet Union. But men who are accepted as spokesman for the dissidents said this case was an exception.

"They (Jewish militants in the United States) are opening the road to anti-Semitism here, and they are making it harder for Jews to emigrate," one of the leaders said.

He said the Soviets allow a few Jews to leave periodically for Israel. With the current state of tension, he said few applicants stand a chance of approval.

The dissident community planned to issue an open letter today or Thursday stating their position, he said.

Soviet anger over actions of Jewish militants in the United States resulted in raging editorials and a campaign of intimidation of Moscow's Americans.

Over the weekend Russians slashed tires, splintered windshields and bullied U.S. businessmen in an intimidation campaign.

Tuesday, Tass, in an acidly worded editorial prepared for this morning's newspapers, accused the United States of plotting with "Zionist Ku Klux Klan men" to harass Soviet citizens in America.

The Soviet news agency said "The unbridled anti-Soviet campaign staged by the Zionists in America is being conducted with the knowledge and connivance of official American authorities."

"Indeed, who can believe that the gigantic and mighty policy machinery of the United States allegedly cannot prevent Zionist gangster attacks like the recent bomb explosion at the Trade and Information Department of the Soviet Embassy in Washington?"

"Who can believe that the American authorities allegedly are not able to protect Soviet people in the United States ... from the threats poured out against them by the Zionist Ku Klux Klan men."

American Jewish Leaders Working To Cut Off Anti-Soviet Campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI)—American Jewish leaders have been working behind the scenes to cut off the anti-Soviet campaign being waged in this country by the militant Jewish Defense League.

They achieved one of their prime objectives Tuesday when New York police arrested Rabbi Meir Kahane, the league's leader. He was arrested for failing to appear in court Jan. 6 to answer riot charges growing out of a demonstration at the Soviet Mission to the United Nations late last year.

Several Soviet installations in New York and Washington have been attacked and the league has claimed responsibility. Sunday Kahane said the JDL would continue to harass Soviet diplomats in this country to retaliate for "persecution of Jews in the Soviet Union."

U.S. officials have expressed concern that the incidents may further strain U.S.-Soviet relations. And American Jewish leaders fear activities attributed to the league, plus Kahane's statements, could jeopardize the lives of Jews in the Soviet Union and change U.S. opinion on the cause of Israel.

Their disapproval of the league's tactics has been voiced in numerous public statements, the latest of which was a letter to President Nixon signed by 73 Jewish leaders from 27 cities.

The letter, released by the Western White House earlier this week, voiced "outrage" at acts of violence which the Jewish leaders said, "injure the cause" of Jews in the Soviet Union.

But the Jewish community's opposition to the league has been expressed even more forcefully in private. Some of the top Jewish leaders in

FCC Okays Hike Of Long-Distance Telephone Rates

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has approved the first increase in long-distance telephone rates since 1953, and announced it would hold hearings to determine if the increases should be larger.

The FCC told the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. (AT&T) Tuesday it would approve interim increases that would bring AT&T $250 million a year in additional before-tax earnings. It is now up to AT&T whether to accept the proposed new rates.

AT&T had asked for an increase it said would boost earnings by $385 million annually—a figure which the FCC disputed, saying revenue would really amount to $345 million more each year.

The FCC said its interim approval was neither a confirmation of the lower rates nor a rejection of the higher rate request. It said the matter would be settled in the hearings.

AT&T said: "The $250 million interim increase proposed by the FCC is far short of what is required under today's economic circumstances. However, the commission's recognition of the need for higher interstate earnings for the Bell system is encouraging. Nonetheless, we firmly believe that the entire increase we filed for last November, while moderate, is vitally important if the Bell system is to continue to meet fully the nation's growing communications needs."

No date was set for the hearings.

President Suggests Voluntary Restraints On Steel Imports

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon Tuesday suggested that voluntary restraints on steel imports from Japan and Europe might be lifted because of the 12.5 percent price increase announced by Bethlehem Steel Corp.

No one said so in the precise terms, but it clearly was an attempt by the administration to "jawbone" Bethlehem into rolling back the increase, which is effective March 1. Thus far Nixon studiously has avoided jawboning—the term for exerting direct presidential influence in an effort to rescind announced price increases.

Jawboning was a favorite technique of former Presidents

Lyndon Johnson and John F. Kennedy.

The President's unhappiness at Bethlehem's announcement was confirmed by Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, who at a news briefing referred to the increases as "very large" and "enormous."

Lukens Steel Co. also announced an increase effective March 1—$17 a ton on carbon steel plates.

Bethlehem Initial Target
Bethlehem, "second largest steel company accounting for one-sixth of the nation's output, was the initial target Tuesday of the presidential chastisement for taking a step which could have the effect of worsening inflation."

Cold Wave Spreading From Coast To Coast; Mt. Shasta Gets Snow

By United Press International
Winter storms and cold spread from coast to coast early today.

Eight inches of new snow fell at Mt. Shasta, Calif., in six hours this morning. Astoria, Ore., already blanketed with 10 inches of snow, received another four inches.

The North Pacific coastal storm brought some snowfall to parts of Washington.

A storm centered in Wyoming spilled locally heavy amounts in Idaho, Wyoming, Utah and Nevada. More than seven inches piled up at Salt Lake City, Utah. Four inches fell at Ely, Nev., in six hours.

Snow continued falling in the Salt Lake City Valley through this morning. Highways were bogged down and some motorists were trapped until help could reach them. High winds compounded the situation and 3 foot high drifts covered highways south of the city. Conditions worsened as a freeze moved in as the snow abated. Showers dotted the entire California coast, but turned to snow in mountain regions as far as South California.

Travelers' warnings were posted in portions of Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas, after freezing drizzle and snow slicked highways. Freezing rain was expected in Oklahoma.

A heavy snow watch was in effect all day in Eastern South Dakota and South and Central Minnesota.

Subzero temperatures pierced the far northern regions from Montana to Michigan and New England.

The South Atlantic and Gulf coastal states were shrouded in dense fog. In contrast, Florida and Southern Texas retained their hold of warm weather with readings in the 70s.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 34 below at Massena, N.Y., to 72 at Key West, Fla.

Ziegler would not say if there was an acceptable level for an increase.

Ky, Moorer Meet With Gen. Lon Nol

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—South Vietnam's Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky flew to Phnom Penh today to confer with the Cambodian High Command on a campaign by 3,000 South Vietnamese and Cambodian forces trying to recapture Highway 4 linking the capital with the sea.

Communiques from Saigon said American ground and air units killed 57 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong Monday and Tuesday in the heaviest fighting of the new year involving America.

Ky arrived after a visit to Phnom Penh by Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, who conferred with Premier Lon Nol.

Moorer told newsmen later he discussed "how to get the maximum fighting power for the dollar." The United States has granted Cambodia $255 million in aid.

Ky, dressed in a black flight suit, met Lon Nol at the Defense Ministry. The two generals exchanged friendly greetings in a brief picture-taking session and Ky showed Lon Nol the miniature Buddha he had around his neck.

Maj. Gen. Ngo Quang Truong, commander of Vietnam's southern sector, attended the meetings. Truong's troops are involved in the Highway 4 operation which South Vietnamese military sources said would be the topic of discussion.

Army's Former Top Policeman Indicted By Federal Grand Jury

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Retired Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner, the Army's former top policeman and also former chief of U.S. marshals was indicted today on charges of unlawfully obtaining firearms and of federal tax evasion.

Turner, 58, was indicted by a federal grand jury in Richmond, Va., Attorney Gen. John N. Mitchell announced.

Turner, who now lives at Springfield, Va., in Washington's suburbs, was indicted on 13 counts.

Five counts charged him with unlawfully soliciting gifts of 423 firearms from the Chicago police department and misrepresenting that they were for government use.

He was accused of evading $16,679 in federal income tax payments.

Turner was a key witness at hearings in October, 1969, by a Senate subcommittee on operations of clubs for servicemen on military bases in various parts of the world.

During his testimony, Turner told of purchasing 536 confiscated handguns and other firearms from the Chicago and Kansas City, Mo., police departments. He said at the time there was full understanding that he intended the arms for his personal use.

Officials of both police departments denied under oath that there was any such understanding. The chairman of the investigating subcommittee, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., on Oct. 22, 1969, accused Turner of perjury and asked Ribicoff also accused Turner of helping to arrange "an extensive cover-up" within the Army of questionable activities of Sgt. Maj. William O. Woodbridge in connection with alleged rackets in operation of clubs for GIs.

Historical Marker Tells Interesting Story About Hemphill County Jail

By MRS. OTHELLO MILLER CANADIAN (Spl) — The wording to appear on the Historical Marker for the Hemphill County jail has been released and the information on it is most interesting.

The marker states the jail was built in 1890 and was the first permanent public building to be built in the county, and that it was built under the administration of E.E. Polly, first Hemphill County Judge. It goes on to say that the building contracts were found to be fraudulent and citizens took legal action all the way to the Texas Supreme Court (1889).

In an effort to find more details than will appear on the marker we turned to Father F. Stanley's book, Rodeo Town, Canadian, Texas, and in the chapter on Judge E.E. Polly we found the following:

"A number of taxpayers, led by W.H. Hopkins, brought the judge to court concerning the expenditures of the county jail which the taxpayers thought

Combined Forces Hit Communists In Cambodia

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian and South Vietnamese forces opened an offensive Tuesday against Communist troops blocking the lifeline road between the capital of Phnom Penh and Cambodia's oil refinery port of Kompong Som. Heavy fighting appeared likely.

The big push in Cambodia on Highway 4 came as Saigon communiques reported 48 Communists killed Monday and early Tuesday in the heaviest Vietnam action of the new year involving American units.

In air action, a U.S. Navy jet fighter-bomber attacked a threatening anti-aircraft missile base in North Vietnam but military sources said the raid failed because the American plane fired an old-model air-to-ground rocket which apparently lacked sufficient range to hit the target.

Announcement of the Highway 4 offensive coincided with a trip to Phnom Penh by Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, the chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff — highest-ranking American commander to go to Cambodia. He familiarized himself with the military situation and discussed ways to get the maximum benefit from the millions of dollars in American military aid which has poured into Cambodia since the war began 10 months ago.

Moorer played down reports of any deteriorating military situation in Cambodia despite accounts from the field and military sources to that effect and he said he was "encouraged by the dedication and patriotism" of Cambodia's volunteer army. "Especially the young people."

Emphysema Fastest Growing Causes Of Adult Disability

One of the fastest growing causes of adult disability in this country is emphysema, a disease affecting the lungs.

Causes and effects of emphysema were known, but the disease received greater emphasis in 1964, says the Texas State Department of Health. A report that year by the U. S. Surgeon General's Advisory Committee on Smoking and Health incriminated cigarette smoking as a contributing cause of the disease. It was found that for cigarette smokers the death rate from chronic bronchitis and emphysema was six times greater than for non-smokers. Emphysema and chronic bronchitis are closely related although they may develop independently. Emphysema often develops from chronic bronchitis.

Deaths due to emphysema have increased about five times in the past 10 years. Frequently the victims live in areas where air pollution is a constant problem.

Emphysema is described as an impairment of the bellows action of the lungs.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My grandson (I'll call him Jimmy) is a 19-year-old college student. A few weeks ago I noticed that a stage play was coming to town. Because Jimmy had taken a role in that play in high school, I wrote him a note offering to treat him and a friend to two tickets. I asked him to let me know which performance he wanted to see so I could purchase the tickets and put them in the mail to him. Two weeks went by. I didn't hear one word from the boy. Then his other grandmother told me that Jimmy was "pleased" with my offer, but was "too busy" to go.

I told my son (Jimmy's father) that I was hurt and displeased that his son didn't bother to give me that message personally, whereupon the father immediately took Jimmy's part, pointing out what a fine lad he was—"No drinking, no smoking, no dope..." I added, "...and no manners." Now I am the villain. Everyone is mad at me and I am mad at the boy. Your comments, please.

THE VILLAIN
DEAR VILLAIN: Your grandson should have personally acknowledged your offer with thanks, regrets, or whatever. But since he failed to do so, you shouldn't have attempted to punish him by reporting his bad manners to his father. A 19-year-old college student is old enough to take his own lumps. Next time, sock it to him—not his father.

DEAR ABBY: Our son will be coming home from Viet Nam soon after having completed four years there. He has a good job waiting for him when he comes home, but we don't know exactly how much he will be earning a week.

We would like to have some idea as to how much room and board to charge him, keeping in mind that there is always beer and drinks in the house which he likes, and will be helping himself to unless he has changed. Can you give us a suggestion?

TEXARKANA
DEAR TEXARKANA: I don't know what the going rate for room and board is where you live. Meanwhile, what's your hurry? Would giving your returning G.I. son a "break" break you?

DEAR ABBY: I've been tempted to write to you many times, but now I can't resist. When I read the letter from "Can't Forget" who was still in love with her algebra teacher whom she hadn't seen for 13 years, I was shocked to learn there was someone else so much like myself.

I was in love with a college classmate, but she married someone else. I also married and even after four years and a beautiful baby I still dreamed about this fellow. Whenever I saw a car like his, my heart would pound even though he had left town years before and I knew it couldn't possibly be his.

Then one day I saw a picture of him in the newspaper. I nearly died. He was fat and bald and ugly. Needless to say, all my dreams vanished. All the psychologists in the world couldn't have done as much for me as that one picture. Now, every time I think of him, I count my blessings for not marrying him, and I kick myself mentally for wasting my daydreams on him.

FINALLY FORGOT HIM
DEAR FINALLY: If your "love" lasts only as long as your lover has his hair and boyish figure, it's a good thing you didn't marry your college dreamboat.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ANDREA: Don't play games. If you want him, say yes. While you are playing "hard to get" he may meet somebody else and decide it's "love at first sight."

ACCORDING TO HOYLE
DENVER (UPI) — Colorado Capitol Building Superintendent Herbert Cogswell made sure everything was on the up and up Tuesday for Gov. John A. Love's inaugural ceremonies.

When Cogswell learned a 19-gun salute was planned to honor the governor, he asked for and obtained an air pollution variance.

20th Century Cotillion Group Hears Report On Agri-Business Industry

Twentieth Century Cotillion Club met in the home of Mrs. Charles Walsh, 2233 Evergreen, for a program on the agri-business industry.

Mrs. Ralph McKinney, president, presided for the 13 members present as they discussed future programs. Plans are started for the Annual Antique Show and Sale, slated late in March.

Calvary Baptist Mission Group Attends Service

Calvary Baptist Church Women's Missionary Union conducted its regular prayer service at the church with nine members attending and has scheduled its next program at 5 p.m. today.

Those on the program were Mrs. Irvin Baker, prayer calendar; Rev. Ed. Boyte, pastor and Mrs. Buddy Hapeman, circle program chairman, for the program on "My Life... An Opportunity To Minister."

After the WMU and auxiliary meetings, congregational dinner is served at 6 p.m. each Wednesday, with prayer service at 6:45 p.m.

Miss Patti Johnson, 15, of 994 East Francis, has been named Co-Ed Correspondent for the 1970-71 school year, according to an announcement by Miss Margaret Hauser, editor of CO-ED magazine.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Don Morrison brought the program on Agri-Business for the club, and said that agri-business is the largest growing business in this area from all standpoints: money-wise, money invested, and rate of growth.

"Most money invested locally in agri-business is returned to the local economy. In the six-county area on the Eastern Panhandle of Texas, loan averages in 1969 were $39,000 per loan. In 1970, the average loan was $57,000, in this same geographic area," Mrs. Morrison said.

In agri-business, one loan association showed total loans in 1968 of $22,000,000. In 1970, the same association showed $80,000,000. As compared to 1969's income figures from agri-business in Gray County at $17,700,000. The projected income for 1976 for Gray County is $27,000,000, she said.

"Beef is bred to sell at housewife's demands. The consumer not the producer, decided on prices."

"Because of the shift in the livestock center of the U.S., Feb.

1, 1971, will see the 105-year-old Chicago Livestock Yards closed," Mrs. Morrison said. "Established in 1865, and labelled by Carl Sandburg as 'Butcher of the World,' the Chicago Stockyards have been a way of life for generations for those who lived near and worked at the yards."

"A few weeks ago, an airline flew in a steak dinner to Florida to show that top grade beef can be shipped from the Panhandle of Texas to anywhere in the U.S. in perfect condition. The growth of our nation is to the west and Agri Business is where this action is," she said.

Refreshments were served to the members following the program. The next meeting will be at Mrs. Dean Copeland's, home 1711 Grape, on Feb. 2.

Highlights And Sidelights From The State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN — Legislators by the hundreds are assembling in Austin to tackle a mountain of inherited and new problems in a hastily-remodeled State Capitol.

Workmen barely completed their renovation of the new offices of Senators and Representatives before the occupants (for at least the next 140 days) moved in.

There is little indication of a course, where the 62nd Legislature is heading, but nearly everybody agrees it faces a major fiscal crisis. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes says the session may well be "the most difficult in Texas history."

Estimates of needed taxes range from $645 million to $850 million, and even higher in some cases. Barnes says he would be surprised if the sales tax rate and range were not both hiked.

James McGrew, head of Texas Research League and an outstanding tax authority, thinks that a state income tax may be necessary, despite lawmakers' commitments to the contrary.

A welfare fund shortage may force a $55 million to $70 million tax bill early this year as an emergency measure.

Legislative and congressional redistricting, threatening an end to many political careers, may be necessary because of the new census. And this job could keep lawmakers overtime if the tax bill doesn't. A federal court decision last week knocked out Texas' annual voter registration requirement and, as House Speaker Gus Mutscher commented, it "added urgency" to pressing election code reforms.

Liquor — by the drink legislation, environmental pollution, auto insurance, education, judicial reform, utilities legislation, and penal code revision are only a few of the issues which will be making headlines at the capitol during the next five months... or more.

HOUSE CHANGES URGED — Speaker Mutscher applauded recommendations of his blue ribbon "Committee of 100" for House of Representatives reforms as offering national leadership in legislative modernization.

This committee concluded that lawmakers are underpaid (at $4,800 a year, plus $875 a month expense account for Representatives, $1,700 for Senators) and suggested the appointment of a six-member commission to set maximum salary levels.

Fearing for the safety of legislators in an era of demonstrations, the panel also suggested — while questioning the practicality of its own recommendation — the glassing in of the House galleries and use of metal detectors there to discover concealed weapons.

One of the Committee's top reform proposals called for a strict new code of ethics governing legislative conduct. Other recommendations ranged over a wide field — from publicity services for House members to a suggested new $3.75 million underground addition to the capitol and a long-range capitol area parking plan.

PARKS HEAD QUILTS — In the middle of a boiling controversy over the proposal to buy Mustang Island park land, J. R. Singleton resigned his job as director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, effective March 5.

Singleton denied that Parks and Wildlife Commission Chairman Pearce Johnson is running him off. Harry Jersig of San Antonio and L. P. Gilyin of Amarillo, two of the three-man Commission, asked him to stay, said Singleton. Gilyin, however, is due to be replaced on the agency soon.

Employment with an "international conservation organization" lured him from the $25,000 a year state job, Singleton told newsmen.

He recommended that his deputy, Robert G. Mauermann, be named to replace him.

Johnson, who opposed the other two commissioners' plan to buy Mustang Island land for $4.2 million, had no comment.

Meanwhile, funds to buy the island — state and federal — reached the state treasury but were frozen there, pending a federal court case hearing.

COURTS SPEAK — A three-judge federal court in Houston knocked out Texas' annual registration for voting requirement but retained jurisdiction while awaiting the Legislature's response.

State Supreme Court declined a new hearing of its December decision where it held that a Denton land developer was entitled to $10,000 damages for libel because a newspaper erroneously stated he had filed bankruptcy proceedings.

Reversing lower courts, the Supreme Court concluded that a Houstonian who developed lung disease (silicosis) from breathing silica sand while on his job is entitled to workmen's compensation.

In another reversal, the High Court ruled that a construction worker from Houston and his widowed mother should draw workmen's compensation for a 1967 auto accident in which his father was killed.

AFL-CIO filed a district court suit here to set aside the State Board of Insurance order directing a 14 per cent increase in auto insurance rates.

AG OPINIONS — Six months' prohibition on remarriage after a divorce applies only to persons who secured divorces from Texas courts, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held.

In other opinions, Martin concluded that:

Maximum compensation for chief sheriff's deputy and first assistant — county attorney is $9,226; for other sheriff's deputies and assistants, $8,073.

In the absence of conferred authority from the President, state officers may not execute a federal search warrant under the Comprehensive Drug Abuse and Control Act.

Counseling service for debtors requiring disbursements from a bank account constitutes forbidden "debt pooling."

City of Pearland does not have authority to appoint auxiliary police.

APPOINTMENTS — Gov. Preston Smith named Dr. D. Clifford Burros of Wichita Falls to the State Board of Medical Examiners.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen named to his new Washington staff Ronald L. Katz of Houston, Denman Moody Jr. of Austin, George G. Lowrance of San Antonio, Timothy P. Furlong of Dallas, Charles Hodges of Dallas, Mrs. Ashton Gonella of Washington, and Mrs. Sissy Schaeffer of Dallas.

INDUSTRY STILL EXPANDING — More industries located new plants in Texas last year than in 1966-68, in spite of the uncertain national economy.

Texas Industrial Commission reported 319 new industries were established here in 1970, second only to 1969.

Expansion of existing plants dropped off in the face of tight money — 367 last year as compared with 505 in 1969 and 444 in 1968.

Unemployment is up, but still below the national average. More layoffs are expected during the first quarter of 1971 due to continued expiration of government contracts.

MOVIE CURBS EYED — Senate committee, after hearing testimony that Texas is No. 1 in the number of theaters showing sex films, proposed the establishment of local motion picture licensing and review boards.

Committee promised additional recommendations. First proposal is aimed at making it possible to revoke licenses for theaters which show films unsuitable for minors.

Prosecutors at the Austin hearing, claimed they are without adequate legal tools, as the result of court decisions, to make effective cases against distributors of "skin-flicks."

SHORT SNORTS — Governor Smith was hospitalized briefly with stomach ulcer.

House historical preservation committee recommended acquiring historical sites in Val Verde County, at Sabine Pass and Fort Valasco.

State Board of Education adopted a statewide plan to comply with East Texas federal court's integration guidelines.

Committee on uninsured motorists recommended a penalty of up to $60 against drivers who carry no insurance.

IT'S IMPOSSIBLE — SAN REMO, Italy (UPI)—A San Remo court ruled Tuesday you cannot down a helicopter by throwing a leather legging on it. It acquitted fisherman Ettore d'Intino of a charge of creating the danger of a crash when he threw a legging in anger at a customs guard helicopter which spotted him using illegal dragnets.

State tax revenue from cigarette smoking increased $413,707 from December, 1969, to December, 1970, climbed to $15.8 million.

NO NEEDLE HE — SOLEDAD, Calif. (UPI)—When authorities at Soledad State Prison went looking in a haystack, they found not a needle but Ulysses S. Albertson.

The 24-year-old convict was working in the prison dairy, a minimum-security area, when he disappeared Tuesday triggering a full-scale search.

After a two-hour hunt, guards found Albertson hiding in an enormous pile of hay bales.

Your Horoscope

FOR THURSDAY, JAN. 14, 1971

Your birthday, Thursday: You begin a busy year of serious challenge, competition, added responsibilities. You now learn to cope with tensions, emergency situations, short count-downs for major decisions. Experience also teaches you to withhold unnecessary comment. Your most productive path is to nourish your inner nature through meditation and prayer. Thursday's natives are inclined to be blunt-spoken, steadfast, militant personalities.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your impulse to haste and waste needs inner discipline. A competing person wishes to see you disconnected from your driving energy. Don't be thin-skinned. Your group is fun, but doesn't get anything done.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Meet your obligations promptly, without hollabaloo. Attempts to push people into deals stir resistance, not results. Excitement in your group is fun, but doesn't get anything done.

MEAN (May 21-June 20): Somehow control your temper and your tongue, since it affects your career. Spending gets by of hand if you start it. Plan a solitary evening with a pastime.

CANCER (June 21-July 23): Let money matters ride alone without revision Thursday. A story is circulating which you shouldn't believe. Make your views known, but without emotional pressure.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23): Shake loose from inhibitions, strive for cheerful, exuberant experiences. Unplanned home or family expense is likely, also impulse buying that exceeds your budget.

VERGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): In Thursday's complexities, take first things first and muddle through. Emotional tensions generated by others' differences of views; try to soften any impact on self.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23): Seek efficiency with orthodox methods in your work. Friends are off on notions you don't understand and much comment is likely. Reconciliation is within reach in the evening.

GEMINI (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): The more you do, the more it seems you must do. Keep output within your means. A bid for a raise is unwise now. Your remarks are too blunt for some tastes; hold them down.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Pace your efforts to fit settled plans and don't rush. Impulse spending could upset your budget, obstruct a lengthy journey. Be cautious with mechanical things, vehicles.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Almost any issue can create disagreement. Temper does not help judgment; stifle the impulse, let the longer view override the sting of the moment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): A stranger personage differs with your views. Friends are not quite committed in the dispute. See the differences and cope with them. Action without consideration is not desirable.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): This busy day is full of variety, strange sights, unplanned encounters. Overconfidence, haste are 'potentially troublesome,' but subject to your control.

McCafferty Hints On Colt's Strategy

MIAMI (UPI)—They're never going to ask Don McCafferty to host one of those night-time talk shows.

That's not his bag. He's a big man physically (6-5 and 240 pounds) but he's not very big on conversation. His job is coaching the Baltimore Colts, who meet the Dallas Cowboys in the Super Bowl Sunday, and that's what he's concentrating on at the moment.

McCafferty, however, did offer an unmistakable clue about the Colts' strategy for the Cowboys when he said:

"We're going to try to make 'em do something they don't want to do."

What McCafferty meant was that the Colts are going to try to make Dallas quarterback Craig Morton throw passes. Passing isn't exactly the Cowboys' long suit, McCafferty said as much in a roundabout manner when, upon being asked what he felt was their greatest asset, replied:

"Their running game and Bobby Hayes."

The Colts will work out today in the Orange Bowl, site of their 17-8 Super Bowl defeat by the New York Jets.

Hayes, of course, catches a lot of passes but even Tom Landry says there's no question but that the Cowboys' forte has to be their running game.

"That's what got us to the Super Bowl," he said.

The Colts will work out today in the Orange Bowl, site of their 17-8 Super Bowl defeat by the New York Jets, and although that game was played two years ago the losers are still being asked whether they came into the contest a bit too overconfident.

"We were determined enough the last time we were down here," said McCafferty, then an assistant coach with the Colts under Don Shula, "but we just didn't execute on the field."

Still another question McCafferty keeps answering is whether he feels the Colts had it softer this season because they were a member of the American Football Conference for the first time.

"When we moved into the American Conference they said 'what an easy schedule you have,'" McCafferty said at Tuesday's news get-together. "People who say that don't know what the hell they're talking about. We had our hands full every week."

SIZE AND STRENGTH of a Senior team made the difference in the Harvesters' loss to the Dumas Demons. Pampa is starting an all junior team and is building experience for the upcoming district play. The Harvesters will play again tomorrow afternoon in Amarillo Civic Center prior to the West Texas-New Mexico U. tilt. Game time is 5:30 p.m.

Dumas Demons Pound Harvesters 77 to 64

With all district teams losing Tuesday night the Pampa Harvesters went down with a 77 to 64 loss to the Dumas Demons. Borgert lost to Monterey 65 to 60, Palo Duro to Monterey 66 to 48, Caprock to Lubbock High 45 to 42 and Tascosa to Coronado 54 to 50.

The Dumas Demons have an extremely tough team and are expected to move into the state finals along with Phillips. Dumas was sparked by the shooting of all starter Kim McClintock and Willis. McClintock had 21 points while Willis had 16 and control of the backboards most of the game.

Pampa had three players in double figures: Richard Bunton with 15, Mike Edgar with 17 and Donnie Cain, after a long dry spell with 12. Cain opened up in the fourth quarter of last night's action and looked better than he has all season. Bunton played a fantastic defensive game pulling in 15 rebounds for the Harvesters.

The Pampa Shockers avenged the Harvesters' loss with a 58 to 50 victory over the Dumas Jr. Varsity.

Pampa will play in the Civic Center in Amarillo tomorrow afternoon at 5:30 p.m. for the price of one ticket you will be able to see two great basketball games as the Harvesters will be playing Canyon 15-9 season record and 6 wins out of their last seven games and West Texas State will play New Mexico State.

NCAA Faces Eligibility Rulings On Final Day

HOUSTON (UPI)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association faces decisions on the use of freshmen in varsity athletics and on standards of academic eligibility today at the windup of the association's 66th annual convention.

Meanwhile, a dispute over financial aid to athletes continued to simmer with the American Football Coaches Association making a counter-proposal to the "need" plan put forth by an NCAA committee. A major change proposed in NCAA rules is the use of freshmen on varsity teams, and this was to be put to two separate votes at the windup session—one vote on permitting freshmen competition in the College Division (small college) level and then another on permitting it on the University (major) Division level.

The decision on the academic eligibility of athletes centered on the proposal by some colleges—most of them in the northeast—the so-called "1.6 rule" be abolished.

This is the rule which prevents a school from enrolling a student-athlete unless the school will forecast he will achieve at least an academic average of 1.6 points of a possible 4.0. The rule, which has been in effect since 1966, has been attacked as impossible to administer by Queens College, Colby College and 32 other northeastern colleges.

A battle over financial aid to athletes based on "need" flared in the convention. The plan, drawn up by an NCAA committee, would, in effect, reduce the amount of a scholarship if the family can assume greater costs of providing the education.

The plan was sharply criticized immediately by football coaches, who claim it was "loaded with inequities."

Coach John McKay of Southern California forecast the NCAA committee's "need" plan would eventually be passed. Coach Earle Edwards of North Carolina State, next president of the Coaches Association, offered a wry view of the football money problem.

"The thing that really costs money in football is losing," said Edwards. "And I don't know what the NCAA can do about that."

'69 Rookie Of Year Paws The Sidelines

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor
NEW YORK (NEA)—Calvin Hill is a bright young man from Yale who knows this is no time to sulk or feel sorry for himself, but he cannot help "wondering why this is happening to me."

Calvin Hill

Hill probably will be sitting on the bench—nay, standing on the sidelines—for the Dallas Cowboys at kickoff time of the Super Bowl. "You start sitting," said Hill, "and you get accustomed to the bench. I don't want to get accustomed to it."

Hill may get a chance to play anyway. On the weekend before the game, Cowboy fullback Walt Garrison was hobbled by a bad back and bad leg. If Garrison doesn't play, Hill will.

Rookie of the Year last year, a fellow who was injured for the last three games and still finished but 100 yards behind rushing leader Gale Sayers, this season again a challenger for the rushing title until hurt—this same Calvin Hill now finds himself a sideline-stander, a secondstringer. It is as painful as a splinter in a soft spot. Duane Thomas took over for Hill and stuck.

This season, Hill hurt his back and later injured his shoulder and played very little in the last three league games and not at all in the two play-off games. "This is the biggest game of my life," he said, "and it hurts to know that I may not play in it. It's not a tragedy, but it is hard not to feel sorry for yourself. But I've been down in certain situations before.

"Like the very first time I ever tried athletics on an organized level. I was about six and I went out for a Little League baseball team in Baltimore. I went out for catcher because I thought nobody else wanted to play it. But one kid did. He beat me out because I couldn't catch the ball.

"I went home crying to my father. He took me out in the back yard for about a week and I learned how to catch the ball. "When I went to Yale, I wanted to play quarterback. The idea of being the first black quarterback in Yale history was dear to me."

Hill had been a star quarterback at Riverdale prep school in New York City. But Brian Dowling beat him out on the Yale freshman team and Hill was moved to linebacker. He recalls that the team later played the Columbia freshmen in New York and Riverdale was let out early to see its famous alumnus in action.

"I played nothing but defense, and it was humiliating," said Hill.

"But I've always managed to come up from personal disaster. Now, well, I don't question myself. I'm young and still am a believer in my ability. I've got a good career—a great career—ahead of me."

Though the future seems comforting, the present is still painful.

"But I can't sulk before the Super Bowl," he said. "If I don't play, then I'll sulk about it after. I know that. I know me."

Cowboy Defense Admires Unitas But Will Make His Job Tough

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—Johnny Unitas has lots of admirers in the Dallas Cowboy defense, but that just means his job will be tougher in the Super Bowl Sunday.

The figuring in the Cowboy camp is to stop Unitas and you go a long way toward stopping the Baltimore Colts. If everybody's talking about Johnny U., it's only because everybody's getting keyed to cut him off.

It could be a long afternoon for Johnny U.

Offensively, the Cowboys will again be counting heavily on the powerful running game of Duane Thomas and Walt Garrison, and hoping Craig Morton's throwing arm will be back in shape. If it isn't, Coach Tom Landry said he may have to go to back up quarterback Roger Staubach.

Cactus Bowl May Be Added By WAC

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Western Athletic Conference has in dictated support for the proposed Cactus Bowl football game which will be held in Phoenix, Ariz.

WAC Commissioner Wiles Hallock said Tuesday the conference is behind the Cactus Bowl plans, but he said a three-member committee will study the full proposal and report to the WAC Council at its meeting Feb. 22-24 in Albuquerque.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Ruling On Responsibility

There's little wonder that there is a decline in individual responsibility in these United States. While the nation's highest court has ruled that 18-year-olds are entitled to vote in national elections, another part of the court system says that a father cannot refuse to support his 20-year-old daughter because he disapproves her way of living.

Judge Millard L. Midonick in New York ordered the father to pay his college-student daughter $5,750 or go to jail for contempt of court. The sentence has been stayed pending a review of the ruling by the appellate division of the Supreme Court.

Because family court proceedings are conducted in secret, the identity of the father, a lawyer, and his daughter, identified only as a student at the University of Louisville, remained secret. The father said his daughter is a hippie who "stinks." He cut off her financial support last April because he was displeased with her grades and the fact that she had moved out of a dormitory and into an apartment with another girl.

The father had argued that if he were ordered to pay his daughter, "any minor would be able to set up housekeeping away from home and scornfully badger the father by court proceedings to underwrite any manner of living approved by mindless courts."

The Market Place 'Vote'

Although we have hesitated just a bit at using the word "vote," with its coercive political connotations, in connection with the free choice of individuals, we have, nevertheless, pointed out numerous times that the market economy (capitalism, private enterprise, and voluntary exchange) is the only "system" consistent with the concept of a true democracy. (The word "system" is put in quotation marks because, actually, the free way of life as reflected in the market place is not really a system at all, but millions upon millions of individual "systems," all acting in voluntary, peaceful, and profitable cooperation with each other.)

If democracy is, indeed, a concept by which each individual has an equitable voice in the conduct of affairs, as we have been taught, then, it is the market place "vote," rather than the political vote, which comes closest to meeting the requirements of the concept. This is so simply because the "vote" of the individual in the market place (each person freely choosing this product or service as opposed to that, and just as freely backing his choice with his own money) is counted and acted upon every time for exactly what it is worth. Based upon these non-coercive "votes," the businessman orders and restocks his shelves with the preferred items, and the factories, acting upon the orders pouring in, gear up to produce more of them. This is true democracy in action.

Whereas, with the political vote—always a coercive action in that it is an attempt to use the power of government to impose one's ideas upon others and, consequently, a guaranteed troublemaker—the votes of the losing party are thrown out after the election, counting for nothing, while the hopes, aspirations, and desires of those not voting for reasons best known to themselves are not even initially considered.

And, happily, more and more youthful activists (in the peaceful, constructive, productive sense of the term)

CUBAN SUBMARINE BASE

On December 21, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the Nixon administration doesn't know yet if Russia is building a submarine base in Cuba. This came on the heels of a Time magazine report that U.S. reconnaissance photos show that such a Soviet base is near completion at Cienfuegos, Cuba.

All this brings back the shameful memory of a previous administration confronted with an offensive missile buildup in this same communist country. That administration, asserting its "right to lie" to save itself politically, denied the proven facts of that situation. The anti-Castro underground in Cuba regularly broadcast intelligence reports of site construction and off-loading of missiles and equipment from Soviet ships, until every one in the United States knew about the buildup. But the Kennedy administration continued to deny knowledge until Senator Keating (Rep-N.Y.) and others finally forced them to face the truth. Even then, that regime's deceit only took another form. Admitting the buildup they had so vigorously avoided before, the Kennedy high command—led by Robert Kennedy, Robert McNamara, and Dean Rusk—posed a "confrontation" with the Soviets. This posturing was for the public's consumption, while under the table they dealt away all U.S. Mediterranean missile and agreed never to invade Cuba, for a Soviet agreement to take Russian missiles out of Cuba. But not one missile was ever actually seen leaving the island.

The Nixon administration has never claimed a "right to lie." So, if Time's report is true, this administration should quickly present all the facts to avoid a credibility gap.

With Some Reservation

By INJUN WOODY

The old straight line party politics is dead. Everyone knows that except the politicians.

The Demos and Repubs still pursue the thought that no matter who they put up, the "one lever pullers" will give them the vote. Especially is this true of the Demos. They are already starting to put up a presidential candidate, any candidate whoever snagged a vote off a toilet brush.

Look at all the geeks, they are setting up offices for in hopes of being the winner for the Big Magoo in 1972—

There's that nemesis of the "fourth party," Genie McCarthy. He wants a new party, even if the Demos should nominate that fish from Maine

Eddie Muskie who has obtained the services of Lane Duck Sen. Joey Tydings who is organizing the nationwide "Lawyers for Muskie" committee. That's in case Muskie should need a batch of lawyers in a hurry.

And Teddy Kennedy is following the oldest line in politics by saying he is not interested in 1972, but keeps conducting polls in hopes something will turn up.

Even Sen. Bayh, the Hoosier from Indiana is starting to enter the paddocks by scheduling appearances and lining up potential delegates.

And do you think the potential of the Perdanales is out of it? Ha! His very own brother, Sam says none of the other Demos mentioned can win. He says Johnson will run too, maybe — "if" Nixon falters.

So everybody in the Demo party will have their favorites—the more the merrier—'till election time. Then the guy who didn't get his favorite nominated will get so mad he'll probably vote Republican, or stay home.

Enemy Offensive Believed Building Up In Cambodia

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Key sources here expect a reasonably substantial Communist Tet offensive around Jan. 25-27 and believe that it will strike at the important southeast sectors of Cambodia rather than in South Vietnam.

The goal: To regain the old Red sanctuaries from which we drove the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong last May and to restore their lost access to the supply port of Sihanoukville.

The port would be of limited value, since naval patrols set up after our spring Cambodian enterprise probably can sustain an effective blockade against Red traffic in men and materials.

The sanctuaries are something else. They are vasty superior staging points for assault on the rich, populous southern third of South Vietnam than are the more remote enclaves where Communist forces settled after our Cambodian Push. One crucial zone is only 33 miles from Saigon.

The expectation is that, with dry weather at last permitting the North Vietnamese to use a considerably widened Ho Chi Minh trail to bring men and supplies down from the north, the Reds will try hard to crack the basic Cambodian defense perimeter running northwest-southeast some distance above the capital city Phnom Penh, with Kompong Cham as an anchor point.

The Cambodian army to be thrown against any such attack is today 160,000 strong, against 35,000 not too long ago. About 30,000 are regarded as effective combat soldiers. It is also anticipated, however, that a very sizable South Vietnamese force— not defined here as to probable numbers— would cross into Cambodia to help meet a big Tet thrust. Obviously, tactical air support (some of it certainly ours) would be tossed into the mix.

The terrain where this predicted combat would take place is relatively flat and open. If not ideal for defense, it is at the same time vulnerable to air strikes. Experts here think the Cambodians and their helpers have a good chance of containing the offensive and barring the Reds from the strategic sanctuaries opposite the prized Mekong delta where most South Vietnamese live.

Should the attack occur as forecast but then fail, the Hanoi government could find itself blocked off for many months to come from major offensives in the part of South Vietnam where both sides think the war will be decided.

There really is no substitute arena in which the North Vietnamese can move to persuade their direct enemies, and hit with main force.

The general thought has been that, if barred from delta attacks, they would push through the well-worn Ashau valley entry routes for cheap-shot blows at Hue or Da Nang. But their units were severely bloodied in 1970 in attacks on such fire bases as O'Reilly. And right now heavy rains and flooding on the Gulf of Tonkin side of that narrow northerly sector have reduced the outlook for fresh assaults.

They can, of course, always lob in rockets against Saigon and some of the U.S. and South Vietnamese bases. But only television's gullible, here today-gone tomorrow reporters seem to view these episodes as major attacks.

Plainly, such blows cannot be halted altogether, any more than we at home can prevent radical maniacs from bombing university and public buildings. Fanatics and explosives are an easy, unstoppable combination.

Nor does Laos offer the Hanoi strategists much promise. Almost a year ago, some U.S. politicians were mightily exercised over what they saw as the greatly "widened war" in Laos. Today the North Vietnamese are holding the fabled Plain of Jars in north-central Laos with one less of their regular divisions than usual. One day, they just walked away from Muong Soui, a western town they had not taken until 1970, and never came back. In Laos, all is low-key and quiet in the customary battle areas. Hanoi's thoughts are miles away in Cambodia.

Slow Justice

The case of Robert G. (Bobby) Baker, former secretary to the Democratic majority in the Senate, provides a good example of what Chief Justice Warren Burger is talking about when he calls for court reforms. It has been almost four years since Baker was sentenced to prison on eight counts of larceny, fraud and tax evasion. During all this time he has been free while his appeal slowly found its way to the Supreme Court.

Mr. Baker made news twice in the same day recently. A few hours after he announced plans to build a $50 million 25-story condominium near Ocean City, Md., the Supreme Court announced its unanimous decision not to review his case. This means Baker is headed for prison. But along the way he has succeeded in denigrating both the legislative and judicial branches of the federal government.

Peptic Ulcers Hit One in Three Men

Since so many people have written to me about peptic ulcers, I am devoting several columns to this subject. This is a very common problem. It is no wonder that so many people have questions.

First, let's separate some terms. A peptic ulcer means an area where tissue is lost or destroyed in the lining of the digestive tract because of acid-pepsin digestive juice manufactured by the stomach.

The stomach forms hydrochloric acid and pepsin (a substance which starts breaking down meat and other proteins in the presence of acid). Literally, the acid-pepsin digestive juice digests a portion of the lining of the digestive tract.

A peptic ulcer can occur in the esophagus, the stomach or the small intestine.

The lining of the stomach is usually protected from the digestive juice by a thin layer of heavy mucus. The coat of mucus is not affected by the acid-pepsin. This mucus coat stops at the inlet and outlet of the stomach. The rest of the digestive tract is not protected from the digestive juice and is more prone to develop an ulcer if exposed too long to large amounts of acid-pepsin.

Only a few peptic ulcers occur in its lower end where it joins the stomach. If acid-pepsin mixture is regurgitated by the esophagus, it causes chemical irritation, responsible in some cases for a burning sensation at the lower region of the breast bone, or the formation of an ulcer.

The most common location for a peptic ulcer is in the first part of the small intestine, just outside the stomach, called the duodenum. The lower end of the stomach has a valve (pyloric valve) to keep the stomach closed while it is processing food. When the valve opens and the stomach contracts, the partially digested food mixed with acid-pepsin, is literally squirted against the lining of the duodenum. When conditions are right, the acid material causes an ulcer. We call these peptic ulcers duodenal ulcers.

Only those peptic ulcers in the stomach are properly called "stomach ulcers." There are 10 times as many people with duodenal ulcers as there are with stomach ulcers.

The frequency of peptic ulcers points up again the importance of modern living habits in causing illnesses. Before 1900 duodenal ulcers were almost unknown. The few peptic ulcers were stomach ulcers and were more common in women than men. Today, it is the men who have ulcers.

Four times as many men as women have stomach ulcers and men have 10 times as many cases of duodenal ulcer as women. At least 15 per cent of the population have ulcers that are diagnosed and many more occur temporarily that are not recognized.

Sugar Economy
Sour Cuban Story

Robert Allen

WASHINGTON—While Russia, under intense U.S. scrutiny, is continuing its highly suspicious cat-and-mousing on the construction of a submarine base at Cienfuegos, Cuba, the disaster-ridden economy of the Communist-ruled island is degenerating to new dire straits.

From a state of continuous critical crises, the Cuban economy is sinking into a condition of acute desperation. Every important segment of the economic and social system is deeply mired in staggering failures, interminable chaos, glaring shortages, gross bungling, incompetence and mismanagement, and spreading public weariness and indifference.

That dismal portrayal is the word of Fidel Castro himself.

In a year-end summation to top lieutenants and party leaders, the bearded dictator, with unusual candor, spelled out a tale of unrelieved grimness—and even darker prospects for the future. He told them 1970 was a calamity, and that 1971 will be no better.

"I must tell you frankly," he said, "there is virtually no likelihood of improving our economy and social structure in the next 12 months. The innumerable problems and immense demands facing us are overwhelming. We will be doing well if we merely hold our own. That will call for every ideological, personal, industrial and other resource we can muster."

Bluntly asserting "We are steadily losing ground in our struggle to create a true Marxist state," Castro declared he is preparing to launch a "crusade" to "eradicate vagrancy, parasitism and other vices" in an effort to increase productivity.

"We must root out ideological weaknesses," he thundered, "and redouble our efforts to create the new society of conscious socialist man."

STEADILY GOING BACKWARD—In the 12 years Castro has been in power, Cuba once the most prosperous Caribbean country, has degenerated into a state of endemic poverty and human deprivation.

Every aspect of Cuban life is now an endless struggle to barely exist.

Despite the fact that Russia has poured around $5 billion in grants and loans into the island and it is costing the Soviets more than $1 billion a day, Castro and his communist henchmen have chalked up an unbroken record of widespread disasters, calamities and failures.

Under their iron-fisted terrorist domination, Cuba is not only a police state but an appalling universal poor house. Following are significant illustrations.

SUGAR—Constitutes about 85 per cent of Cuba's exports. The country's dependence on this key source of foreign currency is steadily increasing because of the expanding need for machinery, tools, transport and other equipment that has to be bought abroad. Yet sugar production has never gotten anywhere near Castro's bombastically proclaimed goals.

Last year's output was around 6.5 million tons—instead of the 10 million tons he avowed. The 1970 crop was a slight improvement over the 6.2 million tons of 1969—which Castro also had marked for 10 million tons. In 1968, only 5.2 million tons were produced, and in 1967, 3.6 million tons—the worst year of the loudmouth communist's rule.

Significantly, this year for the first time in years, Castro is not saying anything about a 10 million ton crop. In fact, his "official" goal is 7 million tons—which has never been reached in the 12 years of his misrule.

Sugar is now in such short supply for Cubans that the amount they can buy under rationing has been drastically curtailed.

NICKEL: Second principal export commodity. This vital source of urgently needed foreign currency and barter has been doubly hit. Production has been cut by mismanagement, lack of equipment and parts, labor shortages, negligence and indifference, while at the same time there has been a sharp decline in world prices. Cuba's nickel industry, built by the U.S. and once the most productive in the world, was confiscated by Castro and has been going downhill ever since.

TOBACCO: Third biggest export commodity. The 1970 record is much the same as nickel. Production has declined and so have world prices. Tobacco is now so scarce in Cuba that for the first time in its history cigars and cigarettes are rationed. Cubans have to wait in long queues to get one pack of cigarettes or a couple of low-priced stogies.

RATIONING: Just about everything edible and wearable is now rationed in Cuba. Meat is limited to one pound for a family per week; a small amount of milk is available only for children and elderly one pair of shoes per person a year, housing is virtually unobtainable.

EDUCATION: In Castro's year-end talk, he admitted that around 500,000 school children between six and 16 years of age have quit, with most of them doing nothing. Also that the truancy rate has soared to 25 per cent of the country's total school enrollment.

"If youths won't go to school," he raged, "then they must be made to work. Round them up and send them to the ranch fields. Do desperately need such labor, particularly in Camaguey and Las Villas provinces, our two largest sugar producing areas. There are great labor shortages there."

Question Box

QUESTION:—Today labor unions seem to run the companies. Are the unions right in striking? Are the unions right in demanding that dues be paid? Is this not paying for "protection" to keep my job? Where did the unions receive such power?

ANSWER: Unions certainly do not run all companies. However, some employers have relinquished their responsibility to manage their own businesses, and have allowed union officials to dictate management affairs, usually seeking to "keep the peace" in this way, although they should know better.

We do not concede there is such a thing as a right to strike. Employees do have a right to quit working for an employer if they are dissatisfied with wages or other conditions. But they have no right to contend that the striking employees own those jobs; nor do they have a right to try to prevent others by force or threats, from taking the jobs.

The unions have a right to collect dues from all who are voluntarily members of the unions. They have no right to compel unwilling persons to become members or to pay dues.

Aquisition of such power has come from workers who have willfully succumbed to the union claims that the employer will take advantage of them if they are not members, and from employers who have accepted temporary "peace" by signing contracts with the unions for closed or union shops. Laws which protect unions and authorize union shops also are a source of union power. Politicians, both elected and appointed, also have acceded to unions because of the political muscle of union organizations.

An employee who believes he cannot negotiate with his employer over working conditions and salary has every right to engage the services of a union or other agent to represent him in negotiations. But if he believes he can better represent himself he should not be required to pay tribute to a union.

Union officials contend that they are entitled to a union shop because of a law which requires that all employees in a group are entitled to the same "benefits" obtained by the union for its members. The solution to that is to eliminate that law. Unions have sufficient political power that they could get such a law eliminated if they chose. But they do not choose to do so, apparently because they fear to have voluntary unionism.

New Savings When Moving

By RAY DE CRANE
Enterprise Publications

Greatly liberalized this year are the moving expense deductions available to those persons who were transferred to another city by their employer or who simply moved to another city to obtain employment.

In addition to the cost of moving household goods and personal effects, and the transportation costs of the household members in making the move—these had been allowable before—the new rules permit deductions for a variety of other expenses.

The deduction also applies this year to self-employed persons and members of a partnership.

The deductible expenses are limited to these items:

1. Actual cost of moving household goods and personal effects.

2. Expenses of the entire household in moving to the new location. This includes transportation, meals and lodging.

3. The cost of house-hunting trips to the new area after employment was obtained.

4. Cost of meals and lodging in temporary quarters in the new location for up to 30 days.

5. The cost of selling the old residence and purchasing a new one, or the expenses in settling an old lease and acquiring a new one. This could include broker's commission, closing costs, attorney fees and points charged on a mortgage to the extent not deducted as interest. There is, however, no deduction for a loss incurred on the sale of the old residence.

There are no limits on 1 and 2 above. For the other categories, the deduction is limited to $2,500, of which not more than $1,000 can be for house-hunting trips and temporary living costs.

Any reimbursement provided by the employer for these expenses must be included in gross income shown on the return.

Conditions which must be met to entitle you to the deduction are these: The change in job location would have called for an additional 50 miles commuting if the residence had not been changed. You must be employed full time in the general vicinity of the new job location for at least 39 weeks during the 12 months following the move.

Self-employed persons must continue to work in the new location (either as self-employed or the employee of another) for at least 78 weeks during the 24 months following the move.

Furthermore, at least 39 of those weeks must be included in the first 12 months.

If it would be impossible to meet these conditions before filing time for your 1970 return (it definitely would be for self-employed persons) you may claim the deduction on your 1970 return. But if you fail to fulfill the conditions you would have to include as income on the next return the deduction claimed this year. Or wait until you fulfill the conditions and then you may file an amended return for 1970.
