He was an engineering student while at Wisconsin, and left to take up aviation that brought him world-wide fame.

Loser In Air Race Changes Her Plan

Mabel Boll the "Queen of Diamonds" May Try Flight to Rome; Columbia Returns to Gotham

(By Associated Press)
HARBOR, N. Y., June 18. (P.)—Miss Mabel Boll, who announced today that her trans-Atlantic flight had been abandoned and that she would fly back to New York tomorrow, changed her plans tonight.

After settling her accounts at the Harbor Grand airport and cable office, preparatory to leaving for New York at daylight, Miss Boll and her companions left by automobile for St. Johns, planning to return here late tomorrow.

It was reported that a message from New York suggesting a flight direct to Rome and a return flight in July had been received by Miss Boll, but the "Queen of Diamonds" declined to discuss the report.

The Columbia was grounded today for the return flight to New York and some excess fuel, which had been loaded in preparation for the ocean hop, was taken off. Daybreak tomorrow was set for the take off for New York.

Will Seek To Raise Fund For Gulf Railway

SAN ANTONIO, June 18. (P.)—Porter A. Whaley, manager of San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, formerly manager of the West Texas Chamber, has been loaned by local directors to the directors of the Gulf and West Texas railways company to assist the territory in raising $500,000 capital for the proposed northwest railroad.

The total of participating preferred stock to be sold to start the railroad is $1,400,000 of which San Antonio's quota is $200,000. San Antonio's $200,000, Cornelia Christ's $200,000, and the territory between the north and south points, $400,000.

HUGE HAILSTONES CRUSHED ANIMALS

Reports of damage done by the hail storm in Crosby county Friday night were related yesterday by G. Sherrod, 204 15th street, who had just returned from the hail-stricken area.

Mr. Sherrod stated that about 30,000 acres of cotton were completely wiped away by the enormous hail stones. He indicated that the feed crops were not damaged so much and would probably compose the only crop of that section. The hail covered the area from near Ralls to below the caprock.

He told of one farmer who lost forty head of hogs as a result of the hail, and reports gathered indicated that hundreds of chickens were killed. The hail came down with such force, he said, that it crushed in the backs of cows and other animals.

The water came up over the river below the caprock, Mr. Sherrod said. A farmer whose name was not known, attempted to drive a team across the bridge. The team, wagon and driver were washed over the bridge. The team and wagon were not seen again but the farmer managed to swim safely to the bank of the swollen stream.

Million Loss To Crops Seen From Missouri Floods

Breaks In Levees Send Water Over More Land; Federal Engineers Will Aid In Fight

(By Associated Press)
KENNETT, Mo., June 18. (P.)—Water from a break in the St. Francis river levee north of Brown's ferry was spreading rapidly today, flooding thousands of acres. Many families had left or were leaving their homes.

Pouring through three crevasses, the river had inundated approximately 7,500 acres in Dunklin county and caused a loss, chiefly of growing crops, estimated at more than $1,000,000.

Workers were fighting desperately today to hold the Mills levee, west of Campbell, and keep an additional 25,000 acres from being flooded. The water was rising there and an additional six inch rise was expected.

Frank Reid, chairman of the house flood control committee and W. H. Dick, president of the national drainage association, will be here tomorrow to look over the situation. Six government engineers are assisting in the fight.

Rain And Windstorms Spread Wide Damage

CARTHAGE, Mo., June 18. (P.)—Thousands of dollars of damage was done in southwest Missouri by rain and wind storms Saturday night and Sunday morning.

Water was invading Sarcosia, 15 miles southwest of here today, and Spring river was rising, with indications that it would be out of its banks and over the federal highways 66 and 71 by night.

The wind unroofed many buildings in the rural districts, the settlement of Duenweg, 12 miles southwest of here, being particularly hard hit. So far there have been no reports of casualties.

Nobile Signals In Vain To Rescuers

Commander of Ill-Fated Italia. Stranded On Ice, Helpless as Planes Pass By

(By Associated Press)
KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, June 18.—High overhead yesterday General Umberto Nobile saw two seaplanes sent to rescue him and his comrades from the Arctic ice-floes, but frantic efforts to signal the planes or make known their existence below failed. After an hour's reconnaissance above the craft were seen to disappear in the grim Arctic horizon flying back toward Spitzbergen.

This news came to the base-ship Citta Di Milano today by wireless from the stranded Italia commander who for days has been swarming on a slowly moving floe in sight of someone from the outside world who might aid in returning him and his mates on the Italia to civilization and home. Sunday they thought their days of watching perhaps over. But they failed to count on the trickiness of the snow with visibility, and when help had passed them by their situation was if anything more difficult than before.

The two seaplanes were those piloted by Captain Riser-Larsen and Lieut. Lantow Holm. Both set out early Sunday and took a course over Beverly Sound, North Cape, and Cape Platen, keeping at a height of from 750 to 300 feet visibility was good, but when they returned to Spitzbergen they had not seen a trace of the Italia's crew. Despite the fact that they

Houston Politically Is Dormant With Eve of Big Democratic Show A Week In The Future

(By Associated Press)
BALTIMORE, June 18.—Withdrawing from the field of Democratic presidential candidates within a week of the national convention at Houston, Governor Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, in a statement to the Associated Press tonight said that "Governor Smith is in every way fitted by experience, character, and ability to assume the leadership," and has the best chance to win.

In stepping aside for the New York executive, whom he said "justifies the people's faith in democracy," Governor Ritchie added that he would instruct the Maryland delegation to cast its strength for Governor Smith.

There was no expectation in the Marylander's mind that he would be offered the vice-presidency, but even though it might be, he will not accept it.

"I am profoundly convinced that no consideration of self or of personal advancement on any one's part should be allowed to stand for one moment in the way of the success of the democratic party which is the natural champion of self-government and popular self-rule," Governor Ritchie said.

"Whatever contributes to democratic unity will in turn contribute to democratic victory. I think it is my duty to do my part, and I do it gladly."

Attempted One of Most Difficult Air Feats

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., June 18. (P.)—Bert Acosta, daredevil stunt flier, suffered a sprained leg and a shaking up that dashed him today in a crack-up while attempting one of the most difficult tricks in the stunt flier's repertoire.

Two men and a young woman riding with him in a plane owned by Charles A. Levine escaped with bruises when the ship nosed into the ground, tossing Acosta from the cockpit. Their names were not revealed.

Acosta was flying low over the field a short distance from the hangars when he tilted one wing at the start of a "wing-over."

Well Brought In Beyond Seagraves

Producer, Which Yields 50 Barrels Though Pinched, Lies Near Hobbs, Just Over New Mexico Line

(Special To The Avalanche)
SEAGRAVES, June 18.—A producing well, which pinched in, yielded approximately fifty barrels a day, was brought in today in a heretofore untapped section of Lea county just across the Texas line in New Mexico.

Although the well is the first producer to be brought in in this territory it is thought to lie in the same strata as the famous Winkler fields.

Much leasing attended the bringing in of the well and considerable excitement was created according to G. M. Armstrong of this city, who visited the well today.

Mid-West Petroleum company drilled the well and it was on New Mexico state land. It is located near Hobbs, a small village in Lea county, about fifty miles southeast of Seagraves.

Other wells are expected to follow.

Protective Legislation In Use of Texas Flood Water Also Demanded By Outgoing President

(By Staff Correspondent)
PORT WORTH, June 18.—R. W. Haynie, outgoing president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, today asked his organization to demand from the state water board of Texas cancellation of permits on the Colorado river heretofore granted by the state to the Syndicate Power company of Dallas.

Haynie's request, continued the president's annual report to the membership continued this contingency: That the permit be kept in good standing if the Insull interest, proposing to build power dams on the Colorado, will proceed at once with the improvement along the terms agreed upon with the West Texas Chamber several months ago.

In other words, he said to the Insulls: "Start your dams immediately or we will ask for the cancellation of your permits on the ground of your inactivity."

Although the agreement was made February 14, 1928, said Haynie, "I have no official knowledge that the terms of the agreement are being carried out. Unless this agreement be complied with, I urgently request the incoming administration of this organization to make a formal demand that these grants, made and extended by the state, Board of Water Engineers, to the Syndicate Power company, in effect a monopoly of waters of the Colorado river watershed—be

ACCIDENT KEEPS OUT LOCAL BAND

FT. WORTH, June 18.—(Special)—Slight damage to some of their instruments, the result of an automobile mishap near Spur Sunday, kept the Lubbock high school band from adding its notes to those of between forty and fifty other musical organizations at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce here today but the lads will be ready to play and parade Tuesday, J. W. Crowley, director, announced tonight.

The mishap occurred when the trailer carrying the band's instruments, broke away from the car to which it was attached and turned over. Although the damage to the instruments kept the youngsters out of the convention today and made them late in arriving here, it is of no serious consequence and will not interfere with the 3,000 mile jaunt in which attendance at the convention here was the first major appearance.

The original itinerary which will carry the band over parts of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, will be followed, as planned.

Eight Dead, Two Million Loss, Is Tell Of Tornado

Rescue Crews Start Rehabilitation Work In Two Oklahoma Towns Ravaged By Storm

(By Associated Press)
KANSAS CITY, June 18.—Eight dead, hundreds homeless and property damage of nearly $2,000,000 was the toll tonight of the week-end storms which swept over southwestern Oklahoma, southern Kansas and southwestern Missouri.

In the forty-mile swath cut by a tornado which devastated Blair and Headrick in southwestern Oklahoma Saturday night, four white persons and four negroes lost their lives, seventeen were injured, and some 300 families, outside of the wrecked towns, were left without homes. Property damage was estimated at $1,500,000.

Citizens' relief committees had the situation well in hand in Blair and Headrick and were turning their attention to the stricken rural districts. Some alarm was held regarding the possibility of disease and the state health department was appealed to for anti-typhoid serum and other medical supplies. The seventeen injured in Blair and Headrick were on the road to recovery.

Eight Lives Lost In Blair Section

BLAIR, Okla., June 18. (P.)—Rehabilitation of Blair and Headrick which were decimated by a tornado that swept southwestern Oklahoma Saturday night, today engaged the activities of relief groups and the victims themselves. Eight lives were lost in the storm and damage was estimated at $1,500,000.

Outside of Blair and Headrick, where the greatest property damage was done, some 300 farm families left homeless in the 40 mile swath cut by the twister were rebuilding their flattened homes and taking inventories of their losses in crops and livestock.

FT. WORTH, June 18.—Ten thousand West Texans, here for the tenth annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, packed T. C. U. stadium tonight for the most brilliant fireworks display any West Texas town has ever put on, featuring which was a three hour pageant culminating in the crowning of Frances Long, Abilene, as "Miss West Texas." The identity of the tall slender brunette daughter of a ranch family of the West, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Long, was carefully guarded until tonight, amid the cheers of the vast crowd, her features were thrown against a cloudy sky in pyrotechnics.

The stadium setting was a Grecian garden lighted by hundreds of vari-colored ground lamps. Entrance of princesses, dancers, goddesses and attendants was from the south end, preceded by a blare of horns, the procession progressing to the north end. As Miss Long crossed the lighted fairway she was kept in the center of the huge foot-light.

Official Ballot Prepared Monday

Expenses For Approaching Primary Apportioned To The Fifty-Three Candidates In Race

Official ballot for the democratic primaries was prepared and the expenses of the election apportioned to candidates yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the Lubbock county democratic committee.

The ballot lists fifty-three candidates. It shows nineteen candidates will be unopposed for office while as many as five are running for some of the offices.

Apportionments to the various candidates in the race were made (trial) higher throughout the last than last year, with a few exceptions. The increase was necessary according to Frank E. Wheelock, county democratic chairman, because of the addition of six more precincts to this county, which will add to the cost of elections.

The money received from the candidates will be used to cover all

Lubbock Kiwanis Members Observe 'Zero Hour' Period

Clubs All Over Nation Observe Period at Same Time of Celebration for International Meet

At the Kiwanis International convention at Seattle last night, delegates F. W. Standefer and W. C. Rylander of the Lubbock club attended the "All Kiwanis Night" program, while members here observed a somewhat similar affair at the "Zero Hour" period when all clubs in the United States and Canada, met simultaneously with the Seattle convention hour, to pay tribute to the fellowship and accomplishment of the organization.

The "Zero Hour" period lasted fifteen minutes, and included a fellowship moment of silence, the singing of "America" and "God Save the King," and the reading of the message from Henry C. H. H. of Atlanta, Georgia, president of Kiwanis International.

Yesterday the local Kiwanis delegates were busy in Seattle attending the opening of the convention proper and sessions devoted to Kiwanis business. Today addresses by outstanding Kiwanis speakers and administration sessions occupied the attention of the convention. This evening the president's annual reception and ball will be held in the Trianon and will be attended by 6000 visiting Kiwanians. Reports on public affairs, the underprivileged child, vocational guidance and placement, agriculture, and business standards, all of which are activities of the organization, will be heard tomorrow and Thursday. The election of International officers and the selection of a convention city for 1929 will come on Thursday morning. Three clubs are seeking next year's convention. They are Atlantic City, Detroit and Milwaukee.

Wakes Up Tired

and wonders why seven or eight hours' sleep failed to refresh her.

THE trouble with most tired people is that their blood and tissues contain an excess of acid, a condition known as acidosis or acid intoxication. The blood carries this poison to every organ of the body, dulling the brain, sapping energy, causing nervousness and irritability. Many find it difficult to last through the day—mid-afternoon finds them listless, without energy enough to think—let alone work. Often this condition is accompanied by digestive disturbances, such as gas, bloating, sour stomach, heartburn, constipation and other symptoms.

For eighteen years people have been turning to Gordon's (formerly Gordon's) Antiseptic as a safe and sure means of overcoming this trouble. You can do the same. Go to any drug store today—get a bottle and start taking it at once. From the first dose you will notice a difference. In a few days you will find yourself feeling fit—able to do your work and relax on each evening. You will find a new interest in life. Gordon's is made in liquid form—easy to take, pleasant to take. It is a new way of taking a dose—no pills, no powders, no capsules.

Aces Touch Maxwell for 21 Hits to Win Monday Tilt, 15-8

Colts Take Measure of Coleman Bobcats In Series Opener By Score of 8 to 6

Ragged Fielding On Part Of Hubber Team Also Plays Its Part In Defeat Of Lubbock In Opening Series Game

Makes Nine In Row For Abilene, Sixth Straight Victory Over Local Aggregation

Slamming out a total of twenty-two base runs from the offense, the Abilene Aces, coupled with six errors in the Hubber fielding department in the series opener of the closing games in the first half of the West Texas league schedule, the Abilene Aces turned in their ninth consecutive win and their sixth straight victory over the homecoming team of the Lubbock Bobcats, amassing a count of 15 to 8.

An annoying wind swept across the field with any height left for a base hit, both for the Hubbers and the Aces, the fielders had plenty of hazardous catches to make throughout the nine inning battle.

Ort Stars At Bat
Garland Ort, stocky built youngster of the Aces, and one of the leading and most dangerous hitters over the circuit lead the hitting attack of the Aces with four hits in five trips, all going for extra base hits. He swatted out a pair of doubles and a couple of three base blows. Bob Turgeon turned in no slough of a game in the hitting features as he got to Maxwell for three in five journeys, a homer, a double, and a single.

DUAL BILL TODAY
Notification was made by J. McAllister Stevenson, league president, to the Hubbers and Aces to play off a double-header during the current series in order to make up for the game that was postponed at Abilene last week.

A double bill will be played here this afternoon, the first game starting at 2:30 o'clock.

Maxwell, rangy right-hander, took the hill in defense of the Aces, and while he was touched for a total of twelve hits they were fairly well scattered over the route.

Starting from the opening round the guests opened up fire as Welker hit out a double, then a passed ball by Ratliff, and a wild pitch by Maxwell sent in the first run for the Aces.

Storti Knots Count
The big bludgeoner swung by Lin Storti, the Hubber's bambino, lifted out a homer over the leftfield wall to knot the count in the opening session.

As Guerra dropped a single back to second base and was shoved on to second with Guerra's sacrifice roller, Bob Turgeon, little brother of Pete Turgeon of Texas League fame, tapped the bat into the outfield to hang up two additional runs for the circuit pacers.

In the third frame Storti was hit by pitched ball and stole the key-stone base as Sam Scalling was shifted, and when May grounded to Guerra in the shortfield the Ace infielder failed to cover the bag, and Lin romped in for the Hubbers second marker.

Hubbers Take Lead
The fourth inning culminated with the homebats in the lead for the first time in the game as Brown's charged to third on a sacrifice roller. Burch waited Hillin's fast ball out and drew a base on balls and stole second base; Maxwell poked out a slow fly beyond the keystone base and as Sullivan came in for it he failed to get in front of the third baseman, who proceeded home; Storti's two-bagger down the third base line pushed Maxwell over the plate and Sam Scalling's single passed Storti in.

Coming back in the fifth the Aces took the lead in three runs, two on a sacrifice fly by Storti, and a single by Welker singled, Orr drove out a triple to the centerfield wall to score both Sullivan and Welker, Storti's single sent Orr in; as Guerra's fast-batted bases, both failed to tag the third baseman which sent the third-out of the inning.

Make Two More
Continuing their scoring attack the Aces pushed over two runs in the sixth and one in the seventh as the Hubbers failed to count. In the eighth Storti swung to Burch allowing Turgeon to proceed to second, Hillin's high sacrifice fly sent the Ace's third baseman on to third from where he scored on Sullivan's double; Welker sent out a sacrifice fly to Burch in right field and Sullivan took third base; Orr's second double of the afternoon scored Sullivan. In the seventh as Burch dropped Best's mean fly ball he took the second pillow, Guerra's bunt out him on to third base and as Burch came in for Guerra's slow roller to make the play for Best, the plate he threw wide to Ratliff.

Again in the eighth Hillin did not allow the homebats to count but the visitors saved up the game pouncing on everything Maxwell threw up, scoring five runs off of five hits. Welker started matters as he bunched the first sack on Burch's roller, Orr tripled to score Welker, Hillin singled scoring Orr, Best hit one over the left field wall to score Hillin ahead of him, and Guerra's single followed with Best Turgeon's double counted the five tally of the inning.

Still not satisfied with the measure of base hits and a mile of runners the Aces marched in their fifteenth and final counter in the ninth inning with Guerra's double, Best's sacrifice, and Guerra's single. Hillin was wild in the ninth and Scalling and May both singled, a wild pitch advanced them both a base, Ratliff's high sacrifice fly to

Amateurs From Southern States To Tee Off Today

18-Hole Qualifying Round In Event Will Start at Brook Hollow course, in Dallas

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, June 18.—The Brook Hollow course, over which the Southland's leading golfers will tee off tomorrow morning in the 18-hole qualifying round of the southern amateur, is recognized as one of the sternest golfing tests to be found in this part of the country.

It is a tricky layout, offering constant penalties for shots off the line, and predictions are that a score of 80 would be good enough to qualify in the championship flight of 32 players. Strong winds prevailing during the past week caused many practice scores to soar far above that figure. Par for the course is 70.

Watts Gunn Perfect
Of the horde of stars who have been getting acquainted with the battle ground during the past week, only Watts Gunn, the Atlanta flash, reported a perfect round. He snared an even 70 his first day out, but since then has ranged around the 73's. Practically every hole on the course calls for perfectly controlled iron shots and the wind has caused many balls to go astray.

While Gunn is regarded as the outstanding favorite in the field, four former champions are expected to give the Atlanta youth plenty of trouble. They are Harry Eble of Asheville, N. C., defense champion; Emmett Spicer Jr., Memphis, winner in 1926; Glenn Crisman of Alabama, 1925 titleholder; and C. L. Dexter, of Dallas, champion in 1915. Each of this quartet has been stroking fine golf in practice rounds.

The draw for the qualifying round was made Monday night by W. F. Smith of Nashville, president of the Southern Golf Association. The entry list included leading players of Texas and most of the other southern states.

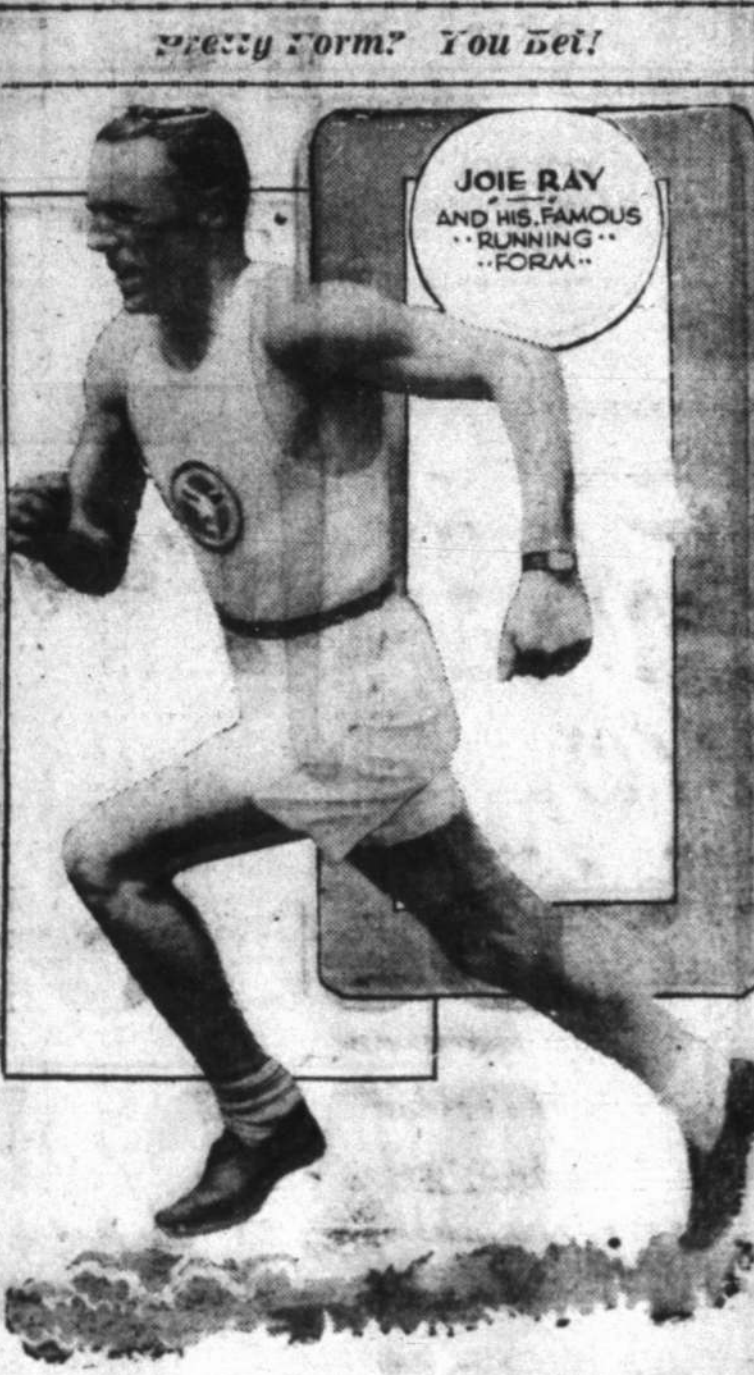

RASCHE STARTS PLAN

German Aviator To Try Atlantic Flight

NEW YORK, June 18 (AP).—Then Rasche, German girl flyer, with the backing of a mysterious woman, has begun preparations for a trans-Atlantic flight, she announced today.

While no official announcement of the identity of the woman backer was made, several indications pointed to Mrs. James A. Stillman, wife of the banker. Mrs. Stillman recently made a flight in a plane piloted by Miss Rasche.

The German aviator said today she would hop off at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning for Old Orchard, Me., where test flights preparatory to the overseas jump would be made.

who turned from a premier miler into one of the greatest marathoners. One look at the above picture explains perfectly why Joe Ray is the perfect runner in action. The form of the little Chicago taxi driver, in the country, has long been extolled by the coaches as the perfect style and it seldom has been shown as it is in this picture. His is the driving style with the muscles of the legs and shoulders acting as pistons while Nurmi's style is more that of a looper.

Well, it's almost time for a whole flock of baseball writers to be making up their minds that it's not too late yet for a great showing on the season as a whole, but the start must be made at once.

Of course two writers needn't say that. They are the writers assigned to cover the New York Yankees and the Philadelphia Nationals.

It is generally agreed, however, that something must be done about beating the Yanks. One writer suggests a split season, and would hang a thirty-game handicap on the lads as the second semester opens. That wasn't the way they were talking however, just before the season opened.

O'Duffy just rose to remark that the ladies going aboard these days have their eyes on different things than the kind they used to want.

When Jack Dempsey lost the world's heavyweight championship to Gene Tunney in Philadelphia, on September 23, 1926, it marked the second time in the history of American boxing that a champion passed without being knocked out.

Bobby Bratic Practice Round at Chicago Bad

CHICAGO, June 18 (AP).—Good, bad and indifferent scores were recorded in practice rounds today over number four course at Olympic field, where the cream of all golfers is now gathered for the national open championship Thursday.

Outstanding among the better performances was 72, one above par, by the defending title holder, Tommy Armour of Washington.

On the bad roster, strange as it might seem, the leading role went to no less a star than Bobby Jones. After scoring no better than 77 and 78 on his first two rounds Saturday and Sunday, the amateur champion today took more than 40 strokes on the out nine with little evidence that he would improve until he got better control of his clubs and became more familiar with the intricacies of the links.

Small Items Of Real Interest

Sunday and Monday were two more sizzling days, the thermometer reaching the century mark on Monday. Absent the only relief to be gained is that the nights are generally cool.

Lubbock's dance palace, better known as Joyland, which burned to the ground in the early hours of Sunday will in all probability be rebuilt. J. Cline Moore, owner of the place said yesterday. Loss in the blaze was estimated at around $3000 to $4000. It was partly covered by insurance. It replaced the new hall will be of fireproof construction. Nothing had developed from rumor that incendiaries were responsible for the blaze.

Burning winds which have scorched across the South Plains during the past few days have done only scant damage to crops. It has been stated by reliable authorities, in touch with the situation. Some slight losses were reported to him.

C. L. Law, Lubbock man, has been a constant subscriber to the Lubbock Advance for seventeen years but only this week did he first set in the printing shop. True, many a newspaper is born to blush unseen—at least in its internal mechanism.

A strike of oil has been reported near Seagraves. Considerable excitement prevailed in that section and an echo to the excitement reverberated at Station where officials of the Santa Fe worked feverishly to secure details. A big oil field west of Seagraves would mean added business for the Santa Fe as well as for Lubbock.

ONLY TWO LICENSES
Cupid Continues To Take His Own Time
Cupid continued to take his slow easy time over the week-end, only two marriage licenses being issued for that period of time.

One license was issued yesterday to John W. Sutton and Ella Norine O'Neil. The other was granted Saturday.

Although the total marriage licenses for the month is thirty-eight, about the same as the total for the entire month of May, they have suffered a severe slump since the rapid upsurge at the first of the month. The total is considered a little below par for the month of brides.

While the 28 licenses were being issued eight petitions for divorce have been filed.

They Don't Mix Hot Weather and Crime

Hot weather and crime do not mix. So say local officers who declare that this month has been the quietest experienced for a long time. The last week has been the quietest of all.

Total fines assessed by the city corporation court during the week-end stand at $42. Two fines of $15 each were paid on charges of drunkenness, and five traffic violation fines totaling $12 were paid by offenders.

HOOVER CONFERS

Series of Meetings Take His Time
WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—A continuous series of conferences with Republican leaders filled all Secretary Hoover's time today and promised to carry on most of the week.

Need Of Farmers In Fields Halts Court Term Here

Cases of Non-Jury Nature To Be Considered In 72nd District Court for Rest of Week
Jury in 72nd district criminal court was dismissed yesterday by Judge Homer L. Pharr.

The fact that many of the jurors called for jury service were farmers and were needed in their fields was given as one of the reasons for the dismissal. Although a number of cases were set for this week few were ready for trial.

Cases of non-jury nature will be considered for the remainder of the week which will end this term of court.

Jury in 90th district court was dismissed until Thursday morning when civil matters will be taken up. Both courts finished up this week.

Two Men Carried To State Hospital

One of Those Taken From Lubbock Was Placed In Institution Before, But Soon Escaped
Deputy Sheriff Vernice Ford left yesterday to take two men to the state hospital for insane at Wichita Falls.

One of the men was brought here recently by California officers who stated that he had been tried for lunacy in that state but since he had lived there less than a year it was necessary to return him to his last address. He was tried and found guilty of lunacy by a jury in county court here last week.

The other man, a resident of Lubbock, was declared insane several weeks ago and sentenced to the hospital at Wichita Falls. Officers state that he stayed in the institution less than three days, escaping soon after his arrival there. He was arrested here last week by local officers and held in the county jail until yesterday.

He was held for a number of months in the jail here before his lunacy trial after he had been arrested on a charge of drunkenness.

AFFIRM SENTENCE

Penalty Given J. J. McDole Is Upheld
A two year sentence of J. C. McDole, sentenced last November to a term in the penitentiary on a charge of violation of the prohibition laws, has been affirmed by the court of criminal appeals at Austin, according to word received by local officers yesterday.

McDole was tried in district court here and found guilty of liquor violations. He appealed the case on after his sentence was pronounced.

The case was affirmed June 15, advises from Austin said yesterday. Thoman has been held in county jail here since his trial but will be taken to Huntsville in the near future, officers said.

Our present heavyweight champion, Professor Turner, probably has been beaten in so many of these research fights that he's punch-drunk.

Landscape Plan To Be Employed For Baylor Fund

Expenditure of Two Million Raised By Wacoans and State Baptists To Be In Orderly Way

(Special To The Avalanche) WACO, June 18.—Every penny of the million dollars which Waco citizens will invest in buildings and lands at Baylor will be spent according to the plan of a landscape architect, this conclusion being reached this week at a meeting of the board of trustees of Baylor. Already $416,000 has been subscribed by Waco toward the million gift. This million according to an arrangement with the Baptists of Texas is to be matched by an additional million, giving Baylor in Waco a two million dollar improvement program to be entered upon early in September.

Approximately $200,000 has been raised for a woman's dormitory in Waco. Of this amount $76,000 is already in hand in cash. This building is to be erected at the same time as the erection of Waco Hall, the building into which $350,000 of the $416,000 already raised by Waco will go. Waco Hall is not to be started nor will the woman's building nor any other until the landscape architect has visited Waco and spent sufficient time in surveying the present and future needs of Baylor University. Upon the basis of experience of other universities such as Duke in North Carolina, Rice in Houston, Iowa in Iowa City, Wisconsin at Madison, Harvard at Cambridge, and Stanford in California, the Greater Baylor plan is to be projected.

Architect Committee
The selection of this landscape architect and engineer and later the building architect was placed in the hands of a committee consisting of Dr. S. P. Brooks, president, J. M. Penland, J. M. Dawson, H. E. Trippett and Mrs. R. B. Spencer, all of Waco, and Cullen F. Thomas, of Dallas.

According to Dr. S. P. Brooks, president, visits will be made to the leading universities in the United States in order that the latest and most efficient designs of buildings may be erected with the million to be spent in the enlargement of Baylor. This instruction was voted to Dr. Brooks by the trustees of Baylor at their meeting following the session of the Baptist General Convention on June 5 which voted that Baylor should forever remain in Waco.

Additional land has been secured for buildings and options on still more land have been taken to insure the growth of the University through the years to come.

"We are building for the future not merely ten years, or twenty-five years but fifty or one hundred years," Cullen F. Thomas of Dallas said as he discussed the matter of selecting a landscape architect. This was the sentiment of A. E. Kerr, of Houston, as well as the Waco members of the board, J. E. Eiten of Sherman expressed the hope that the "Greater Baylor University" would be so planned that donations would come to Baylor as they have come to Duke, S. M. U. T. C. U. R. U. the University of Texas and other universities now growing in scholarship and usefulness and in student bodies by the hundreds of thousands.

DRILLING DELAYED

Completion Of New Coleman Wells Held Up

COLEMAN, June 18.—Two Coleman county potential producers are on the sand, but drilling trouble has delayed completion for possibly one week. The Broderick and Calvert No. 1 Buck 150 feet from the north and west lines of that property line in the R. Cochran survey No. 289 is attempting to wedge out a pitched shoe set on top of the sand around 1840 feet with oil and gas showing.

The Sterling Oil & Gas company No. 1 Weir and Kemp in the W. Wilson survey No. 294 is still attempting to clean up a fishing job to drill further into the sand around 2,115 feet which is gassing at the rate of 8,000,000 cubic feet daily and spraying oil.

Tumble-N Surcease For Sunday Heat

Thousands Frolic In Cool Waters of New Municipal Swimming Pool Here

Lubbock's new municipal swimming pool was given an enthusiastic reception on Sunday, hundreds availing themselves of the opportunity to escape the heat in its cool waters. As many more swimmers as the bathers from the banks.

The stock of bathing suits proved totally inadequate for the crowd and a rush order for more was sent off Monday. Plans are also being made to install the bucket system in the dressing rooms. This will care for hundreds while at present only eighty individual dressing rooms are available.

Cleanliness Paramount
Many comments were heard on the clean and sanitary manner in which the pool is being conducted. Help us make your pool the cleanest in Texas is the slogan of the pool and every effort is being made by the management to win this honor.

ance may prove fatal both to himself and the one he is attempting to rescue. The course includes a thorough knowledge of the Schaefer method of resuscitation for drowning, gas and smoke accidents.

Two classes in life saving will be conducted. A general class for any one with instruction for 9:30 to 11:30 in the morning on Wednesday, June 20, Monday, June 25, Wednesday, June 27, with final examination on Friday, June 29. At least six hours instruction is required.

A special class for boys who have already passed the Boy Scout life saving test will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 on Tuesday the 19th, Friday the 22nd, Tuesday the 26th with a final examination on Friday the 29th.

NEMESIS FOR OLD SOL

HOUSTON, June 18.—One hundred and twenty-five thousand square feet of fibre board backs up the roofing of the Coliseum, where the Democratic National convention will open June 26. The fibre material is expected to help ward off the rays of the sun. Typhoon fans will draw in the fresh air and chase out the humidity.

Houston Prepares To Welcome Great Convention Crowd

Cavorting Of Democratic Donkey Will Replace Antics of the Elephant In Meeting

(Special To The Avalanche) HOUSTON, June 18.—Hundreds of those persons who followed the spoor of the Republican Elephant to Kansas City today are prepared to troop down through Oklahoma to Texas to see the Democratic Donkey cavort at Houston, after which many of them will invade Louisiana with New Orleans as the magnet.

The two major party conventions, observers point out, will prove a great help to the Southwest in the general movement of the Democratic publicity committee to acquaint the rest of the nation with the possibilities in Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma. Already the eyes of the nation are shifting from Kansas City to Houston. It is revealed as newspaper men from all sections pack up at Kansas City and buy tickets for Houston.

Virtually every newspaper in the country will tell of the convention cities—and of the surrounding sections, for that is considered the background to the convention stories. Trooping down from Kansas City, many hundreds of newspaper men will come through Oklahoma into Texas, and their observations are expected from the basis for many stories that will be told in all parts of the United States.

There, New Orleans, and the picturesque Acadian Section of Louisiana, is looked upon as a magnet that will draw many of these writers to that State. Thus, the conventions while recognized as great political events, mean something else to the Southwest—a chance to let the rest of the nation know just what is being accomplished in these sections.

The hosts of Democracy will find that Houston is ready, even as Kansas City was ready for the Republicans.

OLD RANCH GEMS PUT INTO MODERN SETTING

HOUSTON, June 18.—There aren't as many large ranches in Texas as one would believe after reading of the good old days, but there are still some extensive holdings near Houston, visitors at Democratic convention time the latter part of this month will learn. On some of these hands roam Brahmans, sacred cattle of India on one ranch is a full blooded herd, the only kind of its type in the South. Particularly adaptable to the Texas coast country as they are immune to the destructive cattle tick.

MILES OF CONCRETE

HOUSTON, June 18.—One thousand and sixty-one yards of concrete laid in the Coliseum building for the Democratic National convention convening in Houston June 26, if placed for a four foot wide, four inches thick sidewalk would extend four miles.

NEW WORLD BENEFITS FROM LOWER POSTAL RATES

In compliance with the Pan-American Postal convention signed at the City of Mexico in 1926, the United States will lower the rates on several classes of mail matter destined to numerous Latin-American countries and Spain. The agreement provides that whenever a domestic rate is reduced, the other signatory lands shall be accorded the benefit of the change.

After July 1 a one-cent stamp will carry a postal card—including private mailing cards—to all the Latin-American republics except Venezuela. This rate also applies to Spain, Canada, and Newfoundland. It is expected that the change will increase the volume of such matter and yield considerably more revenue.

Thirteen countries besides the United States have ratified the Pan-American agreement on parcel post. As Congress lately lowered the charges on packages for delivery within the eighth zone, reduced rates for such matter destined to Mexico, Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras, Panama, Peru, Chile, Argentina, Paraguay, Brazil, Ecuador, the Dominican Republic and Spain will become effective July 1. The charge will be 13 cents for the first pound and 12 cents for each additional pound to the limit allowed. A 5-cent surcharge will be imposed for each package.

The Post Office Department is planning to increase the frequency and speed of service to several Latin-American countries. It is authorized to execute ten-year contracts for transporting mail to foreign lands by either sea or air.

Domestic rates now apply to first-class matter sent to Latin-America (except Venezuela) or to Canada, Newfoundland and the British and Dutch West Indies. This arrangement has helped strengthen the United States' cultural, social and economic ties with other New World lands.

Several enterprises in this country are considering the provision of commercial airways from the United States to Latin America. As a rule they plan to carry mail, express and passengers in large tri-motored planes. Parcel post should be profitable for them, as most packages are light.

Rates on the portion of second-class matter devoted to advertising also will be reduced for publications sent to Latin-American countries. Business houses in the United States should take advantage of that change, which should be greatly helpful.

THE CHALK AND THE MOUNTAIN

Kelvin, the great scientist, once told his students as he put a piece of chalk on a certain mountain, that it strained the whole globe. If there were instruments delicate enough, its effect might be measured in the most remote place.

That is how science speaks of the "influence" of a bit of chalk. That there are no instruments delicate enough to measure the influence, does not make it any the less real or far-reaching.

A bit of chalk, a child's football, even a bird's alighting, is felt right through the earth. Minute influences are set going, to which in a real sense is neither pleasure nor end.

It is never true to say in such a world that things don't count or don't matter. Everything counts, every obscure deed, every haphazard word. Things are not nearly so insignificant as sometimes they seem.

Occasionally when it proves possible to trace for a little way the influence of some deed, we are amazed at the power and far-reachingness of it.

There is a bridge at Avignon in the south of France, known as the Bridge of the Shepherd Boy. In that boy's day, there was no bridge. Crowds of pilgrims who came that way had to cross the river as best they could. Not a few were drowned. To the shepherd boy, whose name was Benezet, there came a voice bidding him go and build a bridge, for the better comfort and safety of poor pilgrims.

So he came and told the Bishop and the people the thing he had been comed, then the boy being persistent and mandated to do. At first they were amused, they thought perhaps it might be a Divine message he had heard, and one and another began to help. In the end the bridge was finished, though it took many years, for the river was wide and the work difficult. Benezet died before it was completed, and was buried in a little chapel above one of the piers.

Only a shepherd boy and yet what influences he set going—for not only was the bridge built, but the story of its building has gone out into all the world, and the influence spreads each time it is told.

Some fifty years ago a little girl was turned away from a Sunday school in America. The place was so crowded that no more scholars could be received. New church buildings were badly needed, but there were no funds. Some time later little Hattie Wyatt was taken ill, but before she died she asked her father to give the fifty-seven cents (just over two shillings) in her bank toward a new church building. They were a poor family and that was all she had.

"That money," said the minister, Dr. Russell H. Conwell, "built the church."

He bought a plot of ground and paid little Hattie's pennies over as the first installment. The challenge of that gift had an amazing influence. Money began to pour in from all quarters, and before long there were new buildings from which no one had to be turned away.

LUXURY OF EASE

With the advance of summer we find men and women suffering from a fatigue which seriously handicaps pleasure and accomplishment. The glare of the sunlight, the sting of hot breezes, the long and resistance, and we find devitalized an finding no remedy for the situation. One of the most approved and effective means of keeping up vigor and spirit in summertime is the mid-day rest.

The business man or woman may object immediately that he has no time for the luxury of ease; that he must hurry back to the office or the shop or to whatever may be the setting of his labors. But his objection is overruled because the noon relaxation can be acquired in as short a period as five minutes, though the ten-minute period is more effective.

The rest period is simple indeed. All one need to do is to betake himself to his boudoir and recline quietly for a brief period in a restful position, relaxing all mental and physical tension. This short rest will invigorate every part of the body and will stimulate the mind, providing a new and brighter perspective for the afternoon. Try the simple procedure. The American people have a great fear of laziness, and justly so since indolence is a curse and means the doom of progress. However, it seems we are fighting a phantom in warring with laziness because most certainly indolence isn't a trait of our people. On the contrary it seems they are super-energized; they are constantly busy at work of divers character fitted to promote their own interests and those of their children and their children's children. The importance of work can not be gainsaid, it keeps the business of the world in good shape; it means wealth and luxuries, if not for those who struggle today, then for their descendants. But the point is this; one should not shun laziness so vehemently or crave success so inordinately as to ruin his present enjoyment. It is splendid to provide for future generations; to toil ardently for a better America like our forefathers did, but we should grasp our satisfaction... our pleasures and relaxation as we build, else while we succeed in one way we fail in another. Many a person who had greedily striven for success, shunning recreation and other helpful distraction while promising himself incapable of enjoyment in this tardy holiday because of senility, illness or his inability to form recreational tastes after ignoring them for many years. The hurry and the bustle of life is splendid; it means our dependability, our progress. But one should stop for breath occasionally so that one may be a better producer as well as a better social asset, and that his existence will be satisfactory.

We think that there should be something drastically done to make men quit spitting on the courthouse steps. It is one of the filthiest places in the city and yet it is a public place and a place where everyone must go some time or other in their sojourn here.

We think that the Lubbock folks are certainly getting a great deal of enjoyment out of the new swimming pool, especially as this is true of the children of the city. Some day Lubbock will have a very fine park, and this will be a great asset to the town.

We think that there are some folks who will not be satisfied with even the speed limit of thirty miles per hour in the residential section of the town. They want to make it forty, and some of them volunteer to show us that their car can make fifty on Broadway, after dark.

We think some of the county candidates would almost rather be defeated than to make a speech, and in all probability the voters will take pity on them and get them out of their misery by eliminating them in the first round of primaries.

FATHER'S DAY

Last Sunday was celebrated by a few people as Father's Day and while there was very little public demonstration, there was a general remembrance of the "head of the family," the family.

Father love rarely is appreciated in this day of its real worth. Often it seems as though youth had no disposition to plumb its depths. Paternal authority has been suffering decadence in many a home and, it is to be feared, much of the respect formerly accorded the head of the house has vanished. That is not a healthy situation morally, to say nothing of the rights involved. It is not at all conducive to the discipline which builds character.

So the comparatively young institution of Father's day is to be welcomed—if for no other reason—as a concession to family tradition. Father will appreciate even the faintest recognition of the debt due him—particularly if he be unaccustomed to tenderness. Life deals harshly enough with him at best. His is the hard task of keeping the wolf from the door; few children realize how much toil and what heavy care are involved. He stands as a sturdy rampart between the family and want; he fends off the attacks of that unfeeling monster vaguely known as the world. In return for all this protection and labor he does not ask even course.

OUT OUR WAY—

SO THINK WE

We think that since the radio has come into such prominent use that one could attend the political conventions, without really leaving home. If they would only furnish you a badge, for you can get about all the proceedings.

We think that when some of the women began to wear flowers on their ankles and then on their knees that that was about as far as they would go with the decorations, but we noticed a classified ad in the paper the other day that read this way: "Lost, purse by widow with initials on back."

We think that it is a poor bunch of fans that boost a team along while they are winning and turn on them when they lose. That is what we call poor sportsmanship.

We think that about all some people know about standpaters is that they are democrats because their father was and want to stand in his tracks.

We think that there should be something drastically done to make men quit spitting on the courthouse steps. It is one of the filthiest places in the city and yet it is a public place and a place where everyone must go some time or other in their sojourn here.

We think that the Lubbock folks are certainly getting a great deal of enjoyment out of the new swimming pool, especially as this is true of the children of the city. Some day Lubbock will have a very fine park, and this will be a great asset to the town.

We think that there are some folks who will not be satisfied with even the speed limit of thirty miles per hour in the residential section of the town. They want to make it forty, and some of them volunteer to show us that their car can make fifty on Broadway, after dark.

We think some of the county candidates would almost rather be defeated than to make a speech, and in all probability the voters will take pity on them and get them out of their misery by eliminating them in the first round of primaries.

PRESS COMMENT

THE TOWN BOOSTER

The ordinary weekly newspaper is usually the biggest booster in town. It gives publicity week or at frequent intervals to the work of the various clubs and organizations of the town. It constantly calls attention to the good things in the town and about the town not only as a matter of pride but also in order to help sell the town to the rest of the world. It sometimes calls attention to the bad things and the defects with the sole view to having them remedied. It does all this publicity work free of charge. It does not receive a cent for this advertising and boosting of the town. But, if through accident, or oversight, it fails to call attention to some worthy undertaking, if it fails to give publicity to some stunt that is about to be pulled, we unto the newspaper guilty of such an offense. It gets skinned up one side and down the other for such omission, and all it can do in return is to grin and endure it.—Lynn County News.

It has to be a mighty sorry newspaper indeed that does not contain a great deal of information about the town in which it is printed, and it is usually of the kind that reflects to the credit of the town. This is more than the average individual can have credit for, or other business firm. The newspaper is the mouthpiece of the town in which it is located, and for that reason it should be given the hearty cooperation of the people so that

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that Rev. William T. Capers, of the Episcopal diocese of West Texas say that the young people of today are not going to the dances. The young ones may not be, but if they follow in the steps of some of the older ones they will reach an entirely different place than they have possibly been expecting to go when they step off this old earth.

It is reported that it is Hoover-Curtis for the republicans. Now who shall it be for the demoes?

It is reported that London is jubilant over the nomination of Mr. Hoover for president of the United States. He should be a pretty good Englishman now, since he spent almost half of his life over in that country.

It is reported that Lubbock's building permits have reached $250,000 mark for June and June is just a bit over half spent.

It is reported that an Abilene woman lost her husband and came to Lubbock to find him. He may not be here, but quite naturally a woman would want to come to Lubbock. Several thousand of them have come here in the past few years.

It is reported that there still be a heard of donkeys at the disposal of the democratic delegates at Houston. One man has purchased 50 and will present them at the Houston convention. They have all been named by states, and the delegates from each state will have a right to occupy a seat on the donkey bearing the name of his state. In all probability some of the democrats will be seated for a while, and others will not even reach that position.

It is reported that there is a reason that the Hubbers failed to take any of the games at Abilene. We presume the trouble was too many acres.

It is reported that prohibition enforcement was given the taboo in the Kansas City convention by the republicans, but we imagine they will have to get down to business before the November election and acknowledge that this law must be enforced.

It is reported that the democrats are going to put a dry plank in the platform at Houston, and it is said that Al will stand on it all right for he can do anything that will get a vote for Al.

LAUGHS

In Littlepation Land, Little, five-year-old, Bobbie, has accompanied his father to inspect a prospective new home.

The Bobbie's parents wished all the modern advancements for themselves they held firmly to the old-fashioned training of little boys. Bobbie's enthusiasm over the house was very short lived.

Upon his return home, he sought his mother at once! "Mother," he pleaded, "please don't let Father buy that house. The man said that it is very handy for there is a switch in every room."—Emily B. Grover.

Etiquette! Grandmother was visiting her married daughter and was most shocked at the rude ways of the sons of the house. "She told them not to call each other liars, but to say 'Pardon me' when they wanted to contradict."

One day she started to say something which didn't quite suit Junior. "Pardon me, Grandma, but you're a liar," he said politely.—Mary Kind Lady—"Don't you think that if you were to go back home you'd find a light burning there for you?" MRS. CLARK HAS SUCCESS WITH POULTRY.

What can be done with a flock of poultry, in a short while has been well demonstrated by Mrs. Harry Clark of Ralls. Mrs. Clark bought one thousand white leghorn baby chicks in March 1927, giving $130 for them. Seven hundred of these chicks were raised up to triers when $175 worth of them were sold leaving two hundred and thirty-five pullets besides what was used at home.

These pullets were culled out during the summer and fed a growing mash to pluck them to maturity so they would begin to lay early in the fall.

The last week in September, the pullets laid twenty-four eggs, and increased during the succeeding months as follows: October 979, November 1369, December 1673, January 2643, February 3405, March 4169, April 3765, and May 3578. Forty dollars worth of growing-mash was fed to the chicks up to the time the pullets began to lay, and sixty dollars worth of laying mash to the pullets up to June the first. The sales of the poultry and eggs have been $485.44 up to June. A balance sheet shows a net income of $265.57 exclusive of the 230 mature hens that are left on the yard and what has been used for home consumption.—Ralls Banner.

NO ACTION ON COUNTY AGENT

Petitions containing two hundred names were presented to the commissioners' court Monday by a delegation of farmers asking for the appointment of a county agent in this county. Other petitions, containing about one hundred signatures, it is said, were out, but the commissioners failed to bring them in and present them at the appointed time. These petitions were signed chiefly by farmers and land owners. It is said that approximately 99 men out of each 100 to whom the petitions were presented, signed them. The sentiment among farmers throughout the county is apparently very strong in favor of the appointment of a farm agent. The petitioners were advised by Judge Cain and the commissioners that the matter would be taken under advisement. The court, it seemed desired to make some further investigations with reference to the matter. At any rate, no action was taken, and we understand that action will probably be deferred until the August term of court.—Lynn County News.

A COUNTY AGENT

The farmers of Howard county, are requesting the Commissioners' Court to employ a county agent and a home demonstration agent for Howard county and are asking the business men to join with them in making such request.

The business men should prepare a petition at once and be prepared to submit it to the court on June 15th, the date five petitions signed by farmers and their wives are to be presented.

It goes without saying that a county agent and a home demonstration agent can do the work much to our citizens and to our county.

If through their aid boys and girls club work is promoted; baby beef, poultry, home canning and other clubs are encouraged, they will more than earn their salaries. They can aid in promoting terracing, poultry raising, and dairying, marketing and in many other ways. The farming industry is one of our county's greatest assets and it stands to reason that an able and conscientious county agent or home demonstration agent can be a big help to every citizen who will seek and follow their advice.—Big Spring Herald.

Public Opinion

NOT LEADERS' CHOICE.

By the time this appears in print, Herbert Hoover, most probably, will have been named as the Republican party's standard bearer in the 1928 presidential campaign. His selection will be a victory for his organization and a distinct defeat for the party leaders who heretofore have almost uniformly been successful in bringing about the nomination of such candidates as alone have received their endorsement.

Mr. Hoover was not the choice of the leading spirits in the Republican party, leaving the president out of it. In fact, the real basis of his success is the generally accepted idea that he was and is the choice of President Coolidge as his successor in the White House. Without that distinct advantage it is extremely doubtful if the commensurate candidacy would have been seriously considered.

However, his campaign was well handled from the beginning. It was materially aided by the Coolidge draft sentiment which continued right up to the day the convention met. So long as the possibility of the president's name being presented existed the leaders held the trump card. They knew no one would poll a majority of the convention votes, and after futile effort to nominate a candidate from the list the names presented they would spring their choice and the fight would be won.

But where they misplayed their hands was in depending on the president too far. And that is where and how he beat them at their own game. After it was too late to marshal the opposition forces against Hoover states left to vote for Coolidge and thereby tie up the convention and thereby the secret and gave him sufficient votes to assure his nomination. Hence, there was nothing left for the bosses to do but fall in line and make the best of it.

If the G. O. P. wins the election it is not going to be an easy victory. The personal popularity of the candidate will be pitted against the forces of corruption and graft of the administration of which he was a part. He will face the bitter opposition of the Middle West farmers who see in his nomination a slap at the agricultural interests. These will have to be appeased, and whether that can be done or not is a question that fills many a Republican brain with misgivings.

Should the Democrats set wisely in adopting a platform of principles and in selecting its candidates there is every reason to believe the party will win a glorious victory in November. But if it should split over issues that have no place in the platform or permit consideration of religion to influence the candidate's selection it will suffer the usual defeat.—Denison Herald.

AGAIN DRIVEN FROM THE WHITE RIVER VALLEY

Floods are repeated in Arkansas with grievous regularity. For the third time this year residents in the White River Valley have fled from their homes to escape a torrent sweeping down upon them. Crops have been ruined, livestock drowned and other property destroyed.

The same region felt the brunt of the greater disaster in 1927. It had not recovered from the first blow when another, then a third and a fourth, fell upon it.

These flood-victims will receive no assistance from the $25-million-dollar program which Congress voted for the Mississippi. The White River is a tributary of the people's blood, but the people's blood is not the people's blood. The people's blood is not the people's blood.

Engineers had a force of men working on the levee below Newport when it went out—an almost ceaseless occupation in Arkansas. As frequently happened, the waters carried the levee down to the people's blood. The people's blood is not the people's blood.

Floods are likely to come at any time of year in the Lower Mississippi Valley. The people's blood is not the people's blood. The people's blood is not the people's blood.

Levees, spillways, storage, dams and reservoirs of sufficient capacity might be constructed, but the cost would be staggering and the labor would require years. Would the benefits compensate for the outlay? An alternative is to surrender large areas to the marshes from which the levees have been reclaimed for farm purposes. Such a program could accompany reforestation and game-conservation.—San Antonio Express.

Today's Poems

LIFE ON THE EARTH

When they shall ask me over there
What did you see, what did you do,
In what great splendors did you share?

Tell us about the folks you knew
I'll bet they'd smile to hear, no less
"I saw the tulips bloom in May,"
Spring after spring I loved the breeze,
Which clover blossomed to perfume,
I watched the birds build nests in trees,
And saw the roses come to bloom,
For trout I used to wade the streams,
And had an endless stock of

The heart of me was often gay
Despite the cares I had to bear,
There never came a dreary day,
But what some loneliness was there,
And rich or poor or great or low,
The friends I made were good to know.

I had a little garden, there,
A home where it was good to stay,
I'd food for all, and some to spare,
And there were games I loved to play,
And though I sighed for pleasures lost,
Life on the earth was worth its cost.

Crop Conditions Reported Good In Lamesa Vicinity

Hail and Heavy Rains Cause
Some Replanting But Conditions In General
Are Flattering

(Special To The Avalanche)
LAMESA, June 18.—Fine weather conditions continue in this section and crop conditions are very flattering indeed. In parts of the county hail and heavy rains have caused farmers to plant over cotton and feed, but it is estimated that in all that was planted over a total of only about one third of the county is touched. Farmers, wherever touched by hail or heavy rains hastened to replant and at this writing most all have finished thereby getting ahead of last year's record on planting. Counting the excellent seasons now in the county it is predicted that a young cotton and feed will come up at once and start off growing at just the rate needed. The replantings in the county will give the farmers at least three chances for different ages in cotton.

Fields Well Worked
Most farmers of the county have their lands clean and well worked at this time. The popular blading of lands has been hurried after each rain and now there are few weeds to bother and the lands are in the best of growing condition. The early cotton is now putting on its three and four leaves.

Other crops are also being planted here such as corn, alfalfa, alfalfa, broom corn and sunflowers. Although the acreages of feed has been cut substantially in the county, owing to crop growing conditions, it is now estimated that a bumper feed crop will be realized and one equal to last year, this fall. Business conditions in Lamesa and over the county are good. Trading has picked up and a general tone of better feeling every where is evident. Grass was never better and cattle are doing as well as could be expected. There is much building in Lamesa and all indications are to the effect that with good crops this fall, a near building boom will be seen here. According to carpenters and contractors there is now ample labor here to take care of the building situation.

Plan Barbeque Brownfield to Give Fete July 4

BROWNFIELD, June 18.—Committees who have been soliciting funds for paying expenses of a barbeque on July 4, report their efforts as successful and additional committees have been appointed for arranging details and advertising. The affair is being staged by the American Legion, with the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce.

Preparations are being made to feed not less than ten thousand people and in addition they will be entertained with baseball games, rodeo, horse races and kindred sports. It has been something like three years since Brownfield staged a barbeque and citizens are determined to make it a day to be remembered by all who will have the pleasure of attending it.

FREIGHT PROBLEM

Moving Of Wheat Crop To Be Difficult

WICHITA, Kans. June 18.—The most serious transportation problem since the car shortage of 1922 is faced by the railroads of the wheat belt in handling the 1928 crop, declared Clyde M. Reed, chairman of the trans-Missouri-Kansas shippers' board, who was in Wichita today preparatory to the meeting of the board here Wednesday to discuss means of getting the wheat crop off to market.

The situation this year is complicated, Mr. Reed pointed out, by the fact that not only are more combines being used in the southwest than ever before, but the wheat crop, estimated at between 325 and 350 millions bushels for this section of the country, is the greatest in history.

BUILD AT FORSAN

First Business House Is Completed

BIG SPRING, June 18.—Jim McCauley has completed the first business house in the new oil town of Forsan, 16 miles southeast of Big Spring. This is an up-to-date eating house. Several lots have been sold and other business houses will be started within the next few days. Fifteen new locations for oil wells have been made around this town during the past ten days. Forsan derives its name from the four oil sands encountered on this tract, oil being found at 1300, 1900, 2500, and 2900 feet.

HOUSTON, June 18.—Eight tons of nails were used in constructing the Coliseum, meeting place for the Democratic National convention which will convene here June 26.

SAFETY FIRST RECORD

HOUSTON, June 18.—"Safety First" campaigners are pointing to Houston now that a construction record has been set in building the Democratic National convention Coliseum. Seeking to have a suitable meeting place ready for the convention June 26, contractors built the Coliseum in 64 working days—without an accident to workmen.

When A Girl Loves

THIS HAS HAPPENED

VIRGINIA BREWSTER, is in love with a poor artist. NATHANIEL DANN, but she is tricked into promising to marry FREDERICK DEAN one year if she fails to earn $100,000 which he alleges her father had cheated him out of in a bootlegging deal.

BREWSTER had lost his fortune in speculation before his sudden death so that VIRGINIA is left destitute. She pawns some of her jewelry and a broker friend, OLIVER CUTTER, promises to invest the money for her and try to earn the hundred thousand.

She avoids all her wealthy friends and seeks work under an assumed name, but without success. She finds orchids at her hotel one evening from DEAN and wonders how he learned her address. A call from the agency brings hope, but when she goes there the manager tries to dissuade her from working and advises her to marry.

VIRGINIA suspects that DEAN has bribed the agency not to help her, and this conviction is strengthened when she finds that she is being shadowed. She tries other agencies, but word leaks out that the "Brewster girl" is job-seeking and she is besieged by reporters. Among the group that are interviewing her she recognizes the man who has been following her.

CUTTER insists on taking VIRGINIA out to dinner and hints that there are several ways in which as beautiful a girl as she can obtain the coveted hundred thousand. She challenges his remark and he pretends innocence.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXII
OLIVER'S distaste for gratitude did not disturb Virginia. He always had been impatient of most accepted standards of conduct and conventions she remembered tolerantly.

It would be like him to get her out of this appalling situation in which she found herself and attempt to pass it off with a negligent wave of his hand. She smiled over the thought of how she would startle him with the truth when she dared tell it. He would know then how much she owed him. She unlocked the door and entered the small dark room with her mind filled with pictures of the future. Pleasant pictures. Automatically she switched on the light and took off her hat, still half-dreaming over the assurance of success she had received from Oliver.

It was several minutes before she noticed a box on the bed. Her first impression was that Frederick Dean had sent more flowers and she decided not to open the box. But a second glance revealed that it was not from a florist. The label was that of a famous modiste. Virginia was curious to know why anything from that shop should be sent her. Perhaps it was something she had ordered before her father's death, she reflected. Often weeks were required to bring made-to-order lingerie and garments from Italy or France to America. She'd better see what it was. It would have to be returned unless it had been included in the bills already presented to the estate. Better send it back anyhow, if the shop would credit it. Virginia thought as she untied the tape and turned back the tissue folds.

When she held the contents up for inspection she could not recall having ordered anything of the kind. It was a cape wrap of silver metal lace exquisitely made. Virginia gazed at it admiringly a moment before she threw it over her shoulders and looked in the mirror. It was richly smart with the black chiffon dress she was wearing and Virginia took it off and put it back in the box with a small sigh of reluctance.

She was rettying the tape when her telephone rang and she answered, to be told that Nathaniel Dann was downstairs. Virginia heart sang with joy. She darted about washing her hands at the stained lavatory in the corner touching her ear lobes with perfume and setting the waves of her bob more smoothly.

She was about to hurry out when it occurred to her that Nathaniel would want to take her to some better place than the hotel parlor to talk. Turning back to get a light wrap, her eyes fell upon the box on the bed. She stopped, breathless with delight at the thought that came to her. Why not wear it? It must belong to her. She had bought nothing since her mourning cloths were purchased. Surely the bill for this was among the accounts rendered. Possibly it had been paid for. And it was very lovely.

With quick, nervous fingers Virginia tore at the tape and pulled off the lid. Hastily, and a little guiltily, she threw the wrap about her and whirled out of the room.

Her feeling of guilt vanished completely in the happiness of seeing Nathaniel's face lighted up with admiration when she rushed eagerly up to him. Her eyes fairly sparkled and her soft lips parted in an adorable tempting fashion.

"What fairy has been waving a wand over you?" Nathaniel inquired with mock seriousness.

"Don't be so modest," Virginia laughed back at him. "Perhaps you had something to do with whatever it is you refer to. Weren't we silly, Niel?" she added ingeniously.

"You were," Nathaniel told her, but he smiled when he said it, and Virginia let it pass. "I intended to ask you to share a walk in the park," he went on, "but you look too gorgeous for it."

"Nonsense. No one will notice me."

"Maybe not, if everyone has suddenly developed eye trouble," Nathaniel remarked. "We'll take a taxi to 59th street. I don't want to lead a parade into the park."

"All right," Virginia assented.

"If you think you can afford it."

"Don't try to patronize me, Cinderella," Nathaniel bantered. "How do you know I'm not a prince in disguise?"

Virginia looked at him with eyes that proclaimed him a prince as he was.

The distance to the park was but a few blocks, and shortly the two lovers were walking blissfully into the far, dim reaches of shaded paths.

"You know, Virginia, you should not have done it," Nathaniel said reproachfully when at last they had found a secluded bench. "Life isn't long enough."

Virginia drew away from the arm he put out to encircle her waist.

"Do you think we can live every hour to please ourselves," she asked.

"Well, if it didn't please you to go out with someone else why did you do it?" Nathaniel pressed. "Is there anyone who has a greater right to be with you than I have, Virginia?"

"Niel, I'm afraid you're trying to be difficult. We both acted foolishly. You shouldn't have been so disagreeable when I telephoned you, and I should have told you that I meant to come down to your studio after dinner."

"Why didn't you?"

"Because I was mad when you gave me a short answer. You wouldn't say whether you would be in or not."

"I'm sorry. I've been sorry all evening. But you haven't answered my question. I can't understand why you broke our date."

Virginia opened her mouth to speak, closed it, and sat silent, casting about in her mind for a safe reply.

"I met an old friend who was extremely depressed and wanted me to have dinner with him," she said at last. "I couldn't refuse because I am under obligation to him for a great kindness."

Nathaniel sensed a reserve in her explanation that left him feeling vaguely dissatisfied. Well, I hope he considers himself sufficiently repaid," he said crossly.

"He's taken one good evening out of my life."

"I thought you wouldn't mind."

Virginia replied soothingly. "Don't you want to help me pay my debts?"

"If you put it that way, what am I to say? But I hope you won't bankrupt our fund of time paying off old obligations," Nathaniel grumbled.

"We wouldn't be near quarreling so often if you would just realize that you haven't a monopoly on love, Niel," Virginia cautioned him tremulously. "I want to be happy as much as you do, only I can't turn my back on everybody else just to live for myself."

"Thanks."

"Niel, please don't be stupid. I don't mean I think you would do it either. I know you wouldn't, but you seem to want me to without realizing what you do."

"That's not quite right," Nathaniel protested. "I said I hoped you hadn't many bad debts to pay off."

"You seemed to think I minded it less than you do."

"Now that's a remark deserving a kiss," Nathaniel exclaimed and made good.

"It's time to go," Virginia declared when he released her. "We'll be getting in trouble with an officer if you're going to act like this."

"Nobility, not even a cop, would blame me."

Virginia glanced at her watch. She wore it now most of the time, chiefly because it was one of the very few ornaments she had left.

"Good gracious, Niel. It's after midnight."

"All right, Cinderella. If you're afraid your magnificent cloak will turn into rags, we'll hurry home."

Virginia remembered what he had said the next morning as she read a brief letter from Mr. Dean reproachfully when at last they had found a secluded bench. "Life isn't long enough."

Virginia drew away from the arm he put out to encircle her waist.

"Do you think we can live every hour to please ourselves," she asked.

"Well, if it didn't please you to go out with someone else why did you do it?" Nathaniel pressed. "Is there anyone who has a greater right to be with you than I have, Virginia?"

"Niel, I'm afraid you're trying to be difficult. We both acted foolishly. You shouldn't have been so disagreeable when I telephoned you, and I should have told you that I meant to come down to your studio after dinner."

"Now that's a remark deserving a kiss," Nathaniel exclaimed and

Mr. Dean would be on the wire presently.

Virginia's hand shook the receiver against her ear and she bit her underlip to stop its trembling. Now that she had followed her impulse to reach the man who was tormenting her she found herself wondering if it could do any good to talk to him. But whether it would or not she felt compelled to take some action, to protest against his having her spied upon, if nothing else. He wasn't playing fair.

Virginia grimaced at the thought. Fair. Could she expect fairness of Frederick Dean?

"Good morning," she heard him saying suavely a moment later. "Sorry to keep you waiting my dear. Morning tub. Have you called to thank me for the wrap? Charming idea, copying the old ecclesiastical chasubles, isn't it?"

For City Streets also

HOW pleasant it is while motoring to see the broad, smooth surface of a concrete road stretching ahead. We know it means safety, comfortable travel and arrival on schedule, rain or shine.

But did you know that concrete is also the ideal material for the streets of your town or city?

Rugged and strong for heavy down-town traffic, clean, gray, distinguished concrete has been found most appropriate also for exclusive residential districts, on boulevards and quiet parkways. And the concrete street is safest—wet or dry.
