MOODY VETOES BILL TO ALLOW SUNDAY MOVIES

MEASURE FOR NEW COURT IS ALSO DOWNED

GOVERNOR AGAIN USES GUBERNATORIAL AX THIS MORNING

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Apr. 3.—Governor Moody today vetoed the Sunday moving picture show bill and the measure which proposed to create a court of civil appeals at Greenville. The picture show bill would have repealed a portion of the Sunday blue laws, which have been on the statute books for many years, to allow showing of theatres on the Sabbath after 1 p. m. Most cities are now disregarding the law, proponents of the repeal stated.

Another measure which would have permitted a co-insurance clause to be inserted in policies on cotton, grain and other products in the process of shipping or storing also met with executive disapproval and was vetoed. The governor said he thought the measure might undermine faith in fire insurance underwriters.

The motion picture measure was blue-pencilled because he believed it invaded the governor's prerogative. He declared the measure, as written would have legalized operation of theaters on Sundays, any incorporated town unless a city council by ordinance prohibited acts allowed by the bill. Citing statutes covering this phase, the governor maintained the legislature could not authorize a city council to pass an ordinance suspending a general law.

In refusing to sign the Greenville court bill, the chief executive said that he did not agree that the necessity existed for another court at the present time.

BOOKMAN GETS ANOTHER TRIAL

DOOMED MAN IS GIVEN SECOND CHANCE BY HIGHER COURT

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, April 3.—Henry Bookman, Limestone county, given death for the murder of his wife, Mary Bookman, will get a new trial. The court of criminal appeals today granted a motion for rehearing after having previously affirmed the verdict, set aside its affirmation and reversed and remanded the case. The court stated it overlooked the fact that many objections to the judge's charge had been brought forward.

The conviction carrying ten years against H. B. Roebuck, tried in Shelby county for the murder in San Augustine county of Otis Harvey on December 31, 1925, was affirmed. Harvey, 14-year-old boy, was killed by Roebuck, a man of family, during a fight engaged in by four boys in Roebuck's presence. Roebuck's son and son-in-law were participants in the melee and it was said an automobile tire pump was used as a weapon by some of those engaged. Harvey was killed with a pistol.

W. R. Miller, held in Fannin county without bail on a charge of robbery by assault with firearms upon Lillian Meade Smith, was granted bond in $10,000. Miller is charged with having taken diamond rings valued at $2,500 from the complainant while holding a pistol on her.

Adams Express Co. Buys More Stocks

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—Adams Express Company has purchased the holdings of the American Express company in the American Railway Express company, it was announced today.

Holdings of the American Express company in American Railway Express amounted to about 24 per cent, which, added to Adams' previous holdings, gives the purchaser about 48 per cent of the stock.

SISTER'S RANK IRES CURTIS

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—Vice President Curtis has asked Secretary Stimson of the state department to reverse the ruling of former Secretary Kellogg that his sister, Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, a sister, should rank below the wives of ambassadors and ministers at official dinners. Curtis said today he had "no official Secretary of State Stimson of my dissatisfaction with the action of former Secretary Kellogg and have asked for a reversal of it." He said Mr. Kellogg acted upon the question "without discussing the matter with him."

The vice president said he would not have discussed the question publicly had not the ruling of Mr. Kellogg been given to the press last week.

Mr. Curtis is a widower. Since his wife died three years ago he has resided here with his sister, Mrs. Gann, and her husband, Mr. Gann. When elected vice president, Mr. Curtis announced officially that Mrs. Gann would be his hostess.

ANTIS SCORE VOTE VICTORY IN WISCONSIN

REFERENDUM ON REPEAL OF DRY LAWS IS GIVEN OK

(By Associated Press)
MILWAUKEE, April 3.—Anti-prohibitionists scored a victory in the referendum election yesterday when an overwhelming sentiment in favor of repealing the Severe state prohibition enforcement act was registered.

Returns from 1,494 of the state's 2,750 precincts, showed 212,201 in favor of repealing the enforcement act and 106,399 opposed to repeal. On the other question of removing the home brew penalty the vote in 1,808 precincts was: Yes, 158,250; no, 96,710.

Returns compiled by the Associated Press indicated the majority in favor of repeal would be considerably less than was recorded in 1926 when the referendum memorializing congress to modify the Volstead Act to permit the manufacture and sale of 2.75 beer carried by a margin of 172,000.

Most counties ran true to form but five which favored prohibition, two of which were switched to oppose repeal of the state enforcement. These were: Adams, Monroe and Trempealeau.

"The way to national repeal is through state repeal," was the battle cry of repeal and represented by the association against the prohibition amendment. They asked the state to join Montana, New York and Nevada in repealing the state enforcement law, placing the enforcement entirely in the hands of the local government.

The forces, composed of the Anti-Saloon League, W. C. T. U. and national prohibition party as well as independent committees urged the state to uphold federal enforcement, while republicans pleaded for voters to "stand by President Hoover."

Yesterday's vote will have no effect upon the state enforcement laws until the legislature acts; and the vote is not binding upon the lawmakers. The purpose of the referendum was to obtain a "yes" and "no" vote the sentiment of voters. There appeared no doubt, however, but that the legislature would shape its action by the result of the voting.

Three-Cornered Row On Lamb County Seat

LITTLEFIELD, April 3.—The fight to remove the county seat of Lamb county from Otton has developed into a three-cornered battle with Littlefield, Otton, and Amherst participating.

Saturday, May 11, has been set by County Judge Simon D. Hay for the election day to vote on the removal of county capital from Otton to Littlefield.

Amherst has presented a petition to have the vote on at the same time, but Judge Hay refused to include Amherst in the election. Mandamus proceedings are threatened.

REMNANT OF REBEL ARMY SURROUNDED

'EXTERMINATION' VOW FROM CALLES TO PRESIDENT GIL

(By Associated Press)
Trapped within the city of Jimenez, Rebel troops under General Escobar, today were reported desperately seeking a way of retreat, while powerful Federal forces closed in on them.

Bridges leading out of Jimenez were burned by the federals several days ago, and a retreat by rail appeared almost impossible. Federal planes bombed the rebels incessantly.

Definite and clearcut victory in the two days of violent fighting for possession of Jimenez was claimed by the government which has hopes.

BATTLE STARTS AT NACO
NACO, Sonora, April 3 (AP)—Fighting between federal and rebel cavalry started three-quarters of a mile south of Naco as General Fausto Topete's troops began closing in on this government fortified town this morning.

The federal victory presages collapse of the rebel movement in Chihuahua.

General Calles, reporting the victory, said "extermination" of the rebels was only a question of hours.

Rebel Losses 600

Rebel losses have been placed at about 600. The federal losses have been placed at about 200. General Ortiz, commander of the federal cavalry, is known to have lost 25 dead in a battle with 1,300 rebel cavalrymen who sought to cut a way through his ranks.

The rebel version of the battle was lacking, as telegraph lines to the north of Jimenez were interrupted. The last rebel message yesterday reported capture of 1,000 federals and destruction of a federal plane.

Further federal victories along the coast also were reported by the government, federal forces capturing La Cruz south of Culiacan, rebel stronghold.

Disension among rebel commanders on the west coast was indicated in messages received at Nogales, General Massey, rebel leader, who unsuccessfully besieged Mazatlan, apparently having been superseded.

Naco, Sonora, was one edge today in anticipation of further rebel raids.

The insurgents have given assurance no more bombs will fall on (Turn to Page 11, Column 3, Please)

Reese Re-Elected Mayor of Slaton

SLATON, April 3 (AP)—With a total vote of 340 as compared to 127 ballots cast for his opponent, Floyd C. Rector, W. G. Reese, present incumbent, was yesterday re-elected as mayor of Slaton in the bi-annual elections.

Commissioners elected, with their votes, were: Ward No. 1, T. F. George, unopposed; Ward No. 2, John H. Bretz, unopposed; Ward No. 3, F. B. Tudor, unopposed; Ward No. 4, T. N. Pickens, 94; J. B. Lowrie, 24.

Mayor Reese had previously been elected for a two year term but a change in the city's charter brought about yesterday's election.

War Clouds Cast Shadow Over Lindy Romance

MEXICO CITY, April 3 (AP)—Mexico's internal strife has cast its shadows over the romance of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and Miss Anne Morrow. It is a different Mexico which the colonel is visiting now, and both he and his fiancée seem aware of the change.

In flying here yesterday from California, Colonel Lindbergh went many hundreds of miles out of his way to escape passing over war-torn southern Chihuahua and possibly being mistaken and shot down for a rebel aviator. Instead of taking the short cut from El Paso to Mexico City he flew the length of the Rio Grande to Brownsville.

HYDE FAVORS FOUR FLIERS M'NARY BILL ARE MISSING

PASSAGE OF MEASURE SEEN AS FASTEST FARM REMEDY

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Secretary Hyde told the senate agriculture committee today the immediate need for assisting agriculture is to pass the McNary bill at the special session.

The secretary read his views from a prepared statement. Although he had had a long conference with President Hoover last evening, he emphasized he was speaking for himself alone.

"I wish to state," he said, "that in discussing the subject, I am speaking for myself alone. I have not within less than a month, had the opportunity to consider the problem in detail and I shall not attempt to present any detailed piece of legislation. You gentlemen are very much more fitted for that task than I."

"I have long been interested in the ends to be accomplished by relief rather than by the legislative method. While I make no pretense of being an expert, I do claim the same earnestness of purpose which dominates your body in its quest for solution of this vexing problem."

Mr. Hyde proposed a broad relief program including governmental assistance in marketing, revision of tariff on agricultural products, development of inland waterways. This, he said, would require a period of years and could not all be carried out in the special session.

Asked by Chairman McNary if the bill he introduced last which did not contain the controversial McNary-Haugen equalization fee provision would meet the immediate requirements.

Only Few Attendants
Gone were the Mexican aviators and army officers who made his former visits here so pleasant; engaged in the life and death struggle in Chihuahua and on the west coast. Those left were not smiling—news of victory at Jimenez had not yet come and there was apparent concern at the outcome of the encounter.

Several minutes elapsed after the landing at Valbuena Field before Miss Morrow appeared with her family. Colonel Lindbergh, apparently not expecting them, had attempted to obtain a taxi and was about to accept the offer of a lift in a government car when they drove up.

"Hello," said Anne.

"How are you?" responded the colonel.

Embassy officials said they did not know how long he would remain in Mexico City. It was understood, however, the visit might last as long as a week and that during it there might be a formal announcement of his wedding date and place.

BANDS MAKE MERRY ON PLAINVIEW STREETS THIS MORNING

(Special To The Journal)
PLAINVIEW, April 3.—Ten thousand dairy enthusiasts milled joyfully over Plainview and crowded the exposition building here today as the second annual Panhandle-Plains dairy show swung into the second of its four day run. Attendance records set last year slid into the discard as practically every city in the region, including several in New Mexico, sent its delegations to the exposition today.

A half dozen bands made music on the streets and at the exposition park, furthering the air of a gala occasion as jersey judging became the order of the day. More than 200 head of fine dairy stock is on display and the visiting throngs are enthusiastic in their praise and appreciation of the project which is destined to some day be the greatest affair of its kind in the southwest.

250 FROM LUBBOCK
PLAINVIEW, April 3 (Special)—Two hundred and fifty strong, Lubbock's delegation, the largest and most conspicuous at the Panhandle South Plains Dairy show here today, took Plainview by storm this morning. Fifty carloads of Lubbockites paraded about the city this morning and the Lubbock high school band is to give a concert at the show grounds this afternoon. The Lubbock representatives will leave for home sometime this afternoon.

Among the Delegations
Among the more pretentious delegations here today are Lubbock, with its high school band and 250 boosters; Amarillo, whose band and 185 citizens came by special train; Floydada and Lockney, 600 strong with the Floydada school band; 250 from Matador, including a band; 70 from Shamrock, 85 from Portales, New Mexico; 115 from Clovis, New Mexico.

Jealous, He Shoots Sweetheart, Self

NEW ORLEANS, April 3 (AP)—Jealous because the girl he loved seemed to care more for others than for himself, David Beck, 42, of Barnsdall, Okla., today fired a shot into the body of his sweetheart, and then killed himself.

The woman, Miss Helen Martin, 28, was taken to a hospital where she was said to have slight chance to recover.

Beck went to the lodging house where Miss Martin roomed and a few minutes later two shots were heard. She was found with a bullet wound in her body and Beck a few feet away shot through the head.

Three Die As Fire Destroys Residence

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—Eugene Leonard, 39, his daughter, Lavina, 15, and his son Eugene, Jr., 4, were burned to death today when fire destroyed their home at Chila Station.

The mother, Mrs. Jennie Leonard, 35, and Clela, 12 year old daughter, were seriously injured when they jumped from an upper floor.

Leonard, in the barn when the fire broke out, rushed to the house to find the first floor ablaze.

SEAMAN GIVEN TEN YEAR TERM

Fikes Pleads Guilty To A Manslaughter Charge

HOUSTON, Texas, April 3 (AP)—John B. Fikes, 26-year-old Tampa, Fla., seaman, today pleaded guilty in federal court to voluntary manslaughter and was sentenced to ten years imprisonment.

Fikes, on the crew of the steamship Endicott, was indicted for murder in the death of George A. Leonard, chief steward, February 1, while the ship was moored at Le Harve, France. The plea of guilty to the lesser charge, resulting from an attorney's agreement, was entered after the government had presented its evidence.

Lubbock Send Lambs To Kansas City Mart

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 3.—The Plains territory of West Texas furnished a feature for the lamb market this week in a shipment of 171 head weighing 65 lbs. that sold at $17.50. These lambs came from Lubbock county, once an exclusive cattle territory, but in the more recent years a stock farming section. They were owned by R. Schroeter of that county.

PIPE LINES BEING LAD INTO SOUTHEAST NEW MEXICO ARE DESCRIBED AT HEARING HERE

Featuring this morning's testimony presented before I. C. C. Examiner H. C. Davis, on applications of the South Plains and Santa Fe and of the Texas and New Mexico railway, for permits to build extensions into southeastern New Mexico, was the information that hundreds of miles of pipe lines for carrying natural gas are being constructed in New Mexico and part of Texas.

The largest project is that of a 16-inch main from Jal, in Lea county, N. M., to El Paso, a distance of about 225 miles, which is anticipated for completion by May 1. The gas from the oil field to which both railroads are seeking entry, will supply this line, aimed principally for the city of El Paso. Other projects are those of the Pecos Valley Gas company, with mains laid to Carlsbad, Artesia and Roswell, and projects started for laying to Clovis and Lovington, N. M. Gas for these lines originates in the Artesia and Mesalero fields.

Testimony offered this morning was by intervenors for the Texas and New Mexico railway's application. Witnesses included: E. W. Scovel, Dallas, of the Midland Refining Co.; Walker Wilson, Fort Worth, for Coston and Co., and the Richardson Refining Co.; Leon Goodman, Midland, livestock buyer and seller; Cecil Scharbauer, Midland, ranchman, banker and hotel man; J. A. Lusk, Carlsbad, N. M., cattleman; H. L. Barney, El Paso, president of that city's Chamber of Commerce, vice-president of the Pecos Valley Gas Co., interested in a chain of mercantile stores in southern New Mexico and West Texas, banker, interested in option compresses and hotels; A. C. Cheshire, Hobbs, lumber yard operator and president of the New Hobbs Townsite Co.; E. R. Tanner, El Paso, traffic manager of that city's Chamber of Commerce and of the El Paso Railway Bureau.

MORAN GIVEN THREE YEARS BY JURY HERE

A jury of the 99th district court this morning found Joe Moran, Mexican, guilty of the murder of Jean Achillea here last December and sentenced him to three years in the state penitentiary.

The verdict was returned to Judge Clark M. Mullican at 9:30 o'clock this morning, following a deliberation since about 7:00 o'clock last night.

An alibi defense theory was presented by the Moran's counsel, which was composed of Max Coleman, W. D. Benson, and Nodyke and Pardue. Moran took the stand in his own defense yesterday, stating that he was in Spur at the time of the shooting. His story was substantiated by W. D. Wynn, former jail mate of Moran, who said that he picked up the Mexican and took him to Spur.

Archileta was shot down on the night of December 3 as he stepped from "Mexican Fanny's Place," a small restaurant in "Little Juarez," which was operated by his wife, Mexican Fanny testified that she saw Moran, who was angry with her husband, fire two shots at him. Mary Cox, Mexican-girl, testified that she saw Moran walking rapidly from the scene of the killing, immediately after she had heard several shots.

The state was represented by special prosecutors Marshall and Stewart in addition to District Attorney Durwood Bradley and his assistant, Burton S. Burks.

THUMBS DOWN ON WIRTZ BILL

MOODY SEEKS QUICKLY TO FINISH LEFT OVER LAWS

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, April 3.—Having vetoed the anti-bolter bill, Governor Dan Moody today planned to clean up all remaining measures left by the legislature.

"Welfare and the state and welfare of the party" were cited by the governor in dismissing the bill designed to punish democrats who left the party last fall.

Disapproval of the candidacy of Governor Alfred E. Smith but who voted for him, was receiving congratulations from places far and wide.

Last night Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas, leader of the Anti-Tammanyites, sent Governor Moody a message praising him for his action. Senator Love had given notice on the floor of the senate when the Wirtz bill came up that if it were enacted into law it would drive from the democratic party a majority of the members of the organization. He threatened organization.

Barbee Case Goes Over To Thursday

The case of the state of Texas against Jack W. Barbee, charged with violation of the prohibition laws, this morning was passed over until tomorrow morning due to the absence of several material state witnesses.

Barbee is represented by Owen W. McWhorter, Mrs. Rosamond Barbee, the defendant's wife, and Ed Stovall each face trial this week on charges of liquor law violations, according to the 99th court docket.

OFFICERS TO FACE CHARGE

GRAND JURY PLANS TO CONTINUE QUIZ IN DEKING PLAYING

(By Associated Press.)
AURORA, Ill., April 2.—Indictment of a deputy sheriff for manslaughter and possible perjury action against a county dary agent will be next week, as a result of recommendations by a coroner's jury investigating the fatal shooting of Mrs. Lillian Deking.

The jury found the playing of Mrs. Deking during a county dary raid at her home March 25 was "unlawful." It recommended that the grand jury inquire into all conditions surrounding the raid that led to the shooting.

The verdict recommended that Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith, who fired the shot that killed Mrs. Deking, be held on a charge of manslaughter.

"We believe from the evidence," the verdict continued, "that the warrant upon which the raid was based was the result of a false affidavit by Eugene Boyd Fairchild, an attorney of the state's attorney's office."

Smith, the deputy, gave his testimony from a hospital bed at Elgin. He was shot in the leg during the raid by the Dekings' son, Gerald. He said the shooting was accidental.

The testimony of 12-year-old Gerald Deking contradicted the deputy's account in some particulars. The boy said his mother had not risen from the table at which she sat telephoning when the deputy fired.

ELECTION FOR NEW TRUSTEES

THREE OF NEW SCHOOL
HEADS ARE TO BE SELECTED

Election of three trustees to the Lubbock Independent school district board will be held Saturday, April 6, at the city hall.

S. C. Wilson, E. L. Robertson and F. P. Bayless, present school trustees, have allowed their names to be placed on the tickets for another two-year term. These men were solicited by other trustees and a number of local citizens to continue to serve on the board due to the school expansion program that is being advanced.

Mr. Wilson is vice-president of the board and he and each of the others are now serving on important committees and are familiar with the work the board proposes to do.

A heavy vote is requested Saturday as a measure of confidence in the program being advanced by the board. Election judges will be W. M. Ballew, C. A. Bursar, and P. C. McCoy. Any qualified voter, with poll tax paid who lives in this school district may participate in the election.

Other members of the board whose terms will extend for another year are: J. T. Hutchinson, president; C. E. Morgan, secretary; W. B. Atkins and Neil Wright.

Enraged, Husband
Kills His Spouse

WALLA WALLA, Wash., April 2.—George Schneider, 37, was held today after confessing he killed his wife Betty, 24, with a meat knife.

Schneider said he became enraged when his wife showed her indignation of going out in response to a telephone call he believed was a summons to meet an old sweet-heart.

NACOGDOCHES, Texas, April 2.—Will Tindle was found guilty and a penalty of 4 years in the penitentiary was given on charges of killing J. J. Alonworth December 28 last year. The case went to the jury last night.

"I've a notion to move this sewing room downstairs, where I can grab that 'phone the moment it rings!"

PIGEONS USED IN EXTORTION PLOT

CARRIER BIRDS SENT TO TAKE RANSOM MONEY
SOUGHT FROM NEW YORK PHYSICIAN

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, April 3.—A blackmail plot in which pigeons were to be used has been revealed by police.

Several weeks ago Dr. Louis Alonson received an express package containing two pigeons. Tied to the neck of one was a bag in which was a note threatening him with death unless he placed $10,000 in the bag and released the birds.

At the direction of police he prepared a note in which he explained to the blackmailers he had been reluctant to release so much money to such uncertain means of transportation. He suggested an appointment be made so the money might be turned over personally.

After the pigeons had been fastened to slow their speed, they were taken to the roof of a midtown building and released. Witnesses of the birds carrying the doctor's note stationed themselves on the roofs of high buildings. They watched the pigeons circle and saw them fly across the Hudson river into New Jersey where they were lost in the haze.

Three days later Dr. Alonson received a letter, sent from the general postoffice, stating the chance of arrest was too great under the doctors plan and containing a threat of death for the doctor's entire family if the $10,000 were not forthcoming. The letter said the pigeons would be expressed to him again.

Police are guarding the physician's home.

PILOTS GUIDED ALONG INVISIBLE COURSE BY SCIENCE

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of a series of four articles on airport planning and construction.

By ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service

CLEVELAND, April 3.—This summer will see the extension of a radio system from New York to San Francisco, by which pilots will fly through the worst weather, day or night, with all assurance of safety.

The system is called a "radio range" and is now in operation between the municipal airport at Cleveland and Hadley Field at New Brunswick, N. J., near New York.

By this system pilots are guided along their proper course without deviation of more than five miles.

The principle upon which the radio range works is that of directional transmission of radio signals. It was first demonstrated successfully when Lieutenants Hegenberger and Matland were guided on their hop over 2400 miles of the Pacific ocean from San Francisco to Hawaii, in June, 1927.

Now the system is in practical operation, with a radio station in Cleveland, one at Hadley Field and another midway between the two at Bellefonte, Pa., sending out predetermined signals continually while an airplane equipped to receive them and be guided by them is in the air.

The Apparatus
The apparatus at Cleveland is typical of all three. Here a 750-watt transmitter is set up in a shack beyond the limits of the landing field. A triangular loop aerial is erected outside to hurl the signals from the transmitter in an east-west direction, aided in its directional effect by a gonimeter, or angle measuring instrument, inside.

A constant series of signals is automatically transmitted from this apparatus by the turn of a switch in the larger radio house nearby. Three signals are directed along an angular path of about three degrees.

Flying eastward toward Bellefonte, a pilot will pick up the Cleveland signals for a distance of 100 miles anywhere within this narrow angle. At the 100 mile or midway point toward Bellefonte, he will pick up the Bellefonte signals and fly along the narrowing path of that station until he arrives there.

From Bellefonte he will be guided in a widening path until he picks up the signals from Hadley Field, when he will keep on pointing in another narrowing path to New York.

The widest margin of flight in this angular path is about eight or ten miles or not more than five miles off the course either way. As he turns from the direct line, the signals become fainter and fainter and the pilot can easily turn back toward the strongest signals.

The signals from each station consist of letters in code. For instance, New York transmits the letter A to the north of the direct line of travel toward Bellefonte, and the letter N, which is the reverse of A in code, south of this line. Bellefonte transmits D to the north toward New York and to the south toward Cleveland, and U to the north toward New York and to the south toward Cleveland. And

Cleveland transmits V to the north and B to the south toward Bellefonte.

Each letter is not transmitted as a whole, either. Instead it is broken up and linked with the opposite letter in one unit. Thus, in transmitting D and U from Bellefonte, the originating dash of the D is first sent out, then the first dot of the U, then first dot of the D, then the second dot of the U, then the second dot of the D and then the final dash of the U. This both letters are intertwined so that the signal the pilot hears when he is on the exact line of his course is a series of long dashes.

As he flies to the north of this line he hears the north letter of the station he is leaving or approaching. As he flies to the south he hears the south letter. Thus he always knows exactly where he is along the "radio range."

The means by which the pilot hears these signals is a reed-like apparatus developed at the U. S. bureau of standards. Head phones bring the sound of this reed to him. His receiver is the latest type of radio frequency set using screen grid tubes in its two first radio stages, a sensitive detector and two audio amplifying stages.

Seeing the Signals
Besides hearing the signal, the pilot may see them by means of lights operated like the reed. The head phones, however, are now in use.

Yet this radio range isn't all the equipment used to assure safe flying over the Cleveland to New York route. The radio house maintained at the Cleveland airport is standard for all others the U. S. department of commerce will provide at similar strategic points. It contains a two-kilowatt transmitter for ground to plane communication and a 500 watt crystal controlled transmitter for station to station work.

Ground to plane communication goes out on a low frequency not only from this but from the other two stations. Station to station calls are made on a high frequency, each station having its own allotted wave length, but all using a common calling frequency of 3940 kilocycles by day and 3370 at night.

Ground to plane communication is made by voice, while station to station calls are made through the teletype machine, generally in code.

The entire radio equipment at Cleveland, Bellefonte and Hadley Field is owned and operated by the airways division of the U. S. department of commerce.

IF MOTOR CARS HAD WINGS

If you could fly in your automobile you'd think more about proper lubrication for your engine. In that case, your own life, as well as the life of a machine, would be involved. But why not treat your engine as well as the aviator treats his? Why not use the oil that has proved its superiority in the exacting tests of flight?

You'll get the nearest thing to the thrill of flying that your engine can give, when you reduce the friction on all moving parts with -TP- Aero Oil.

Now you can purchase -TP- Aero Oils in grades adapted to automobile engines. These oils are produced from pure, paraffine-base crude by a process for which patents are pending.

This process has marked advantages over other methods. It preserves all the lubricating bodies of the crude oil just as they occur in nature. It eliminates the necessity for blending light and heavy oils to produce various grades, and it positively removes all the paraffine wax.

In terms of performance this means perfect lubrication at all times, smoother, more efficient operation for your engine, longer life, reduced repair bills, and more mileage at less cost per mile. It is wise economy to pay 45c a quart for -TP- Oil.

"INDIVIDUAL" DRESS REQUIRES GOOD TASTE

For the woman who would be distinctive Patou creates original costumes. (Left to right) A reddish brown plaid taffeta frock with organdie bow and fluted insets of organdie in sleeves. A black moiré ensemble has its coat tucked horizontally and its lower edge pleated on the sides, and its black crepe skirt completed by a minutely hand-tucked blouse of white crepe de chine. The white hat is lined with white velvet to give the face a soft line.

Paris, April 3.—The number of printed mousselines de soie gowns that have been seen and will be seen this coming summer is fully justified by the very qualities of this fabric. Its lightness and artistic color effects are two factors that are bound to please women, especially in a summer fabric. Its popularity, however, runs the risk of the commonplace. On the Riviera, where advance summer creations are already to be seen, printed mousselines are certainly to the fore and were it not for the marvelous effect of sunlight on these variegated colorings, one might be apt to regard them as rather ordinary.

Officers Installed In P. T. A. Council

Officers, who will assume their duties next September, were installed in the city P. T. A. council yesterday afternoon at a regular meeting of the group in the junior high school.

Mrs. W. W. Royalty was installed as president and will succeed Mrs. E. W. Camp who is retiring this year. Other officers installed yesterday included the following: First vice-president, Mrs. Camp; second vice-president, Mrs. T. R. Pridemore; third vice-president, Mrs. J. R. Wells; secretary-reporter, Mrs. E. B. Wheeler; treasurer, Mrs. C. P. Elkins; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. Y. Partan; and parliamentarian, M. E. Witt.

Mrs. Ragland Hostess To Delphians

Mrs. Lee R. Ragland was hostess yesterday afternoon to members of the Delphi Delphian club in her home at 2912 21st street and Mrs. Joe Baldrige was leader of a program on "Renaissance Fiction and Chronicle."

A resume of the last lesson was given by Mrs. R. I. Tubby, club president, and other who assisted Mrs. Baldrige in presenting the study were Mesdames R. G. Shelton, Fred A. Owens, Marvin Stovall, Alex McDonald, Ragland and W. L. Meier.

Mrs. Lindsey Honors Daughter Tuesday

Mrs. F. L. Lindsey, 2009 Main street, complimented her daughter, Betty Lee, yesterday afternoon with a party in their home. This was Betty Lee's ninth birthday.

A peanut hunt, games and other diversions were enjoyed and the birthday cake was served with ice cream and punch. Pink and white colors were used.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Leo Edwards. Invited guests included Jane Wilson, Kathryn Dressel, Betty Jane Smith, Kathryn Perry, Maurice Hunter, Wanda V. Hunter, Dorothy Smith, Kathryn Price, Loyette Lindsey, Jane Wilson, Bonnie Jean Edwards, Dorothy Allen, Geraldine Phillips, Zella Allen, Emma Evelyn Storken, Emma Sue Gunn, Lucille Walker and Blanche Crockett.

High School Quartet Presents Play

"The Killer," a one-act play, was presented last evening before the Tech School and Buskin club by the high school quartet composed of Mildred Price, Regan Little, Fred De Lashaw and David Vaughn. This was the third production of the play since last Thursday when it was given in chapel at the high school.

Several Visitors Are At O. E. S. Meeting

Several visitors were in attendance with members last evening when the local Eastern star chapter met in the Masonic hall. Plans were made for initiatory ceremonies at the next regular meeting.

Marlin Smiths To Be Hosts To Club

Mr. and Mrs. Marlin R. Smith, 2401 1-2 16th street, are to entertain the Nova club on Friday evening.

Paris, April 3.—The number of printed mousselines de soie gowns that have been seen and will be seen this coming summer is fully justified by the very qualities of this fabric. Its lightness and artistic color effects are two factors that are bound to please women, especially in a summer fabric. Its popularity, however, runs the risk of the commonplace. On the Riviera, where advance summer creations are already to be seen, printed mousselines are certainly to the fore and were it not for the marvelous effect of sunlight on these variegated colorings, one might be apt to regard them as rather ordinary.

On the other hand, it is curious to note how these women who endeavor to dress differently from the others eschew the ubiquitous mousseline for plainer and somewhat more severe fabrics. They are immediately singled out in any public function and the sobriety of their dress combined with perfect taste immediately bestows a cachet of distinction on their outfit.

Dressy for Personality
While I quite approve of those women who do not tire of gayly printed mousselines, I also admire those who make an attempt at individuality. The smart woman who selects the printed material knows that the really chic dress will always stand out in a crowd. My unreserved approval, however, goes to the woman who dresses in an original way, distinctive personal fashion, made it a point to sponsor inconspicuous styles at all sales functions.

Individual—and Popular!
Black, relieved with white, is usually chosen by the individualists. From a technical point of view, a remarkable feature is that gowns of these women favor rather stiff fabrics for this style of dress—lightweight taffetas or moirés suitable for summer wear.

Organdie has made a decided bid for favor this season in the guise of trimming. Its effect is always pleasing and gay when used on taffetas, especially if the latter is one of the new tartan prints. The first dresses made of these tartan silks seen in public would seem to have proved very successful and I predict with a considerable amount of certainty that they will be seen in all smart places in the course of the summer season.

WE'RE HAPPY
Sandstorms Are Fewer This Year In Lamesa Area

(Special to The Journal)
LAMEA, April 2.—March has passed without the usual number of wind and sand storms in this country. The old adage "Come in like a lamb, go out like a lion" has not held good on the South Plains this year. This good weather has been attributed to two facts: There has been moist and foggy weather during most of the late winter and spring and according to old timers in the section the sand storms and strong winds are getting fewer and further between. This latter cause is perhaps due to the large acreage of lands put under plow in this section, so state agricultural experts here.

Living and Loving

BY MISS VIRGINIA LEE

Many little girls write me of their seeming unattractiveness to boys and ask me for the secret of charm and popularity. I wish these girls could have been with me to see the play "Coquette" the other evening.

The coquette was popular, and one reason was that she flattered everyone that came within her ken. Her father, brother, girl friends, lovers even the colored cook came under her spell because she made them feel that she admired them immensely was crazy about them, as you might say.

Because she won love easily she thought she could "manage" everything and sweet way, and not only arranged things to suit herself but flattered and coaxed into her family and friends not only gave in to her, but seemed to like it. But in the end, she found that the strong tides of life were too much for her. She couldn't manage folks when their passions and prejudices were aroused, and fell a victim to her emotions.

Which makes us think that perhaps popularity is not as desirable as we think.

Memphis has accepted a position as secretary for the West Texas hospital.

Willard R. Bates, 1617 Ninth street, underwent an appendicitis operation at a local hospital Wednesday.

HERRICK TO BE PAID TRIBUTE

HIGHEST HONORS FOR A FOREIGN TO BE PAID BY FRANCE

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, April 3.—Not in the history of France has a foreigner been honored in death as France tomorrow will honor United States Ambassador Myron T. Herrick. Every French regulation has been stretched to make the last rites for the dead American an impressive memorial to Franco-American friendship.

The ceremony will be, as Ambassador Herrick would have had it, of extreme simplicity, but only space will limit the grandeur of the obsequies for the man, who once, though a foreigner, inferred a simple offer to give his life, if it was needed, for France.

Only a few of the thousands who have applied for tickets to the services at the embassy will hear the farewell words of Premier Raymond Poincaré, who will speak in the name of the French government. General Pershing, who will speak for the American people, and Quilès de Leon, Spanish ambassador, speaking for the diplomatic corps.

French ministers, high officials, military and naval officers, diplomats and American friends of the ambassador will follow the coffin as it is borne to the cathedral. The French cruiser Tourville while troops present arms and cannon thunder the ambassador's salute of nineteen guns.

TAX SLASH IS TURNED DOWN

INCOME LEVY SURPLUS WILL BE APPLIED ON WAR DEBTS

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 3.—Administration leaders at the capitol said "no" today to suggestions for slicing a tax reduction from the $100,000,000 surplus melon ripening at the treasury.

As a result, unless their present plans should be changed, the surplus will be applied to the nation's war debt of more than $16,000,000,000 which already has been paid down in the last year by $800,000,000.

Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee, one of the authorities in congress on tax matters, declared against any tax revision. Such had been suggested in various quarters as a result of the size of March income tax collections.

The senate said a $100,000,000 margin would be consumed to a considerable extent during the next year by increased appropriations authorized at the last session of congress.

Moreover he said the increased volume of income tax collections could be attributed largely to profits made by the public on the "rising stock market." Warning that what goes up is apt to come down, he declared that the government next year might find these same profit takers making reductions in their income tax returns for losses.

While he does not believe tax revision will be possible during the next year, the Utah senator, like Secretary Mellon, believes a cut in the rates applying on earned income should be given first consideration when revenue legislation is considered.

Nationalists Are Coming To Hankow

HANKOW, China, April 3 (AP)—Nationalist troops of the Nanking government, having advanced along the right bank of the Yangtze River, were within 25 miles of Hankow today.

Leaders in the Wuhan cities were concentrating every available man at Yanglo, 20 miles down the river, and severe fighting was expected there.

Although the Wuhan forces on the north bank of the river apparently will be cut off from the engagement the Wuhan officials were said to be confident.

RIVALS CARLSBAD

Gigantic Cavern Discovered Near Johnson City, Tex.

JOHNSON CITY, Tex., April 2 (AP)—Geologists have discovered what they believe is one of the most extensive caverns in Texas, and which they assert probably will surpass the Carlsbad cave of New Mexico in size, five miles from here near the Pedernales River.

Ranchmen have known of the cave for several years, but its vastness never was explored until J. B. Dickinson, Tulsa geologist, made a trip into the cavern while mapping the region.

Dickinson said that while only a hurried investigation was made with flashlights, he and companions traveled almost two miles before coming out at an entrance on the opposite side of the river.

PICKED UP AT THE HEARING

LEA COUNTY BUILDS ROAD TO WINK LINE

To aid in the growing reputation of New Mexico's fine system of good roads, Luke Roberts, newspaper editor of Lovington, tells of a $50,000 bond issue voted in Lea county for the purpose of building a road across that county, from north to south, 110 miles, to the state line at the Winkler county, Texas, oil fields.

"This road," Roberts says, "will give easier access for Lea county garden truck and produce growers to the oil field area down there."

The road is to be built across the sandy part of southern Lea county, now almost impassable by heavy traffic, and will be gravelled. It is to be started soon and will no doubt be ready by the time the oil fields of that county reaches a big proportion of development.

TWO VISITORS COME HERE BY PLANE

Two visitors to Lubbock from Lea county came via airplane, arriving here Monday and returning Tuesday. They were Sam Stewart of the Geophysical Research Corporation of New York city, and W. C. Estes, independent oil man.

Stewart's company has him in charge of five different crews that are making geophysical tests throughout Lea county, N. M., and Andrews county, Texas.

ALSTON'S RANCH IS "RATHER SMALL"

An interesting feature of Tuesday's hearing before I. C. C. Examiner H. C. Davis, was the humble manner used by Seth Alston, Lovington cattleman, when he casually mentioned the fact that his ranch consisted only of about 20 sections. Let's see, that is merely 19,200 acres.

Cause of Alston's humility, no doubt, was occasioned by the fact that W. M. Snyder's land holdings were given as a total of 32 sections and that of W. H. Merchant as 300 sections. The latter's ranch, being as it is "just" 192,000 acres, offers room for the colonization of at least four or five average farms, as obtains on the South Plains.

SPECIAL PULLMAN FROM EL PASO

El Paso is represented at the hearing with a special Pullman car full, about 20 in all, some of whom came to intervene for the Texas and New Mexico railway, others coming merely as spectators, and still others to testify as to proposed laying of gas pipe mains through Lea county.

Heading the El Paso delegation is the affable H. L. Birney, president of the El Paso chamber of commerce, hotel proprietors, and otherwise ever to be found among those interested in any southwestern development.

"I am at the hearing," Mr. Birney states, "not to intervene for or against either railroad, but to say some things about laying the gas mains into Lovington and other Lea county points, from the Artesia field."

Others in the El Paso party include Joe C. Peyton, Richard F. Burgess, E. R. Tanner, William R. Blair, F. C. Tuckie, Stanley Borden, Herman Roush, Judge E. B. McClintock, Jim Pierson, Chester Chope, H. C. Myles, Clarence Johnson, M. W. Upperman, Fred Evers and a Mr. Ritter.

Cemetery Ass'n. Will Meet Wednesday

Further improvement of the Lubbock cemetery will be discussed at a meeting of the Lubbock Cemetery association to be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Rix Furniture and Undertaking company store. It was announced yesterday by Mrs. Peble Talley, president of the association.

A chapel has already been constructed on the grounds, approximately 100 shrubs and trees have been set out, and driveways have been graded and improved. It is planned to continue this beautification program throughout the spring.

NEW SPUR HOTEL

SPUR, April 3.—The new hotel on Harris street is nearing completion and this will make the sixth hotel for Spur, however, apartments and dwelling houses are needed, as there is a constant demand for new corners for modern rent houses.

CLUBMAN IS FOUND SLAIN

MYSTERY SURROUNDS DEATH OF MIAMI MAN TUESDAY

(By Associated Press)
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., April 3.—On the result of an autopsy, upon the body of a A. Romeyne Pierson, Jr., wealthy resident of Ridge-wood, N. J., today hung the findings of a coroner's jury investigating the mysterious death of the clubman. Pierson was found dead in his home yesterday.

The jury was unwilling to accept evidence it obtained at its first hearing as final, and ordered the autopsy. Miss Minnie Vincent, nurse for Mrs. Pierson, and Mrs. Pierson testified Pierson had been drinking and went to Mrs. Pierson's room Monday night, spending about an hour before they could persuade him to return to his own room. Both testified Pierson and his wife had argued. Later he was found dead.

Dr. W. N. Weems, Pierson's physician, declared he had been with him a short time Monday night and when Pierson appeared sober.

DALLAS 'HOT DOG' MAYOR IN LEAD

DALLAS, Texas, April 3 (AP)—A platform of more and better "hot dogs" for his constituents appeared today to have carried J. Waddy Tate into a favorite position in the Dallas mayoralty race.

Tate enlivened his campaign by serving tens of thousands of steaming buns and bolognas to those who attended his rallies. Election results tabulated until midnight last night indicated the way to a voter's heart is through his stomach.

Tate had 8,471 votes to 6,417 for his closest rival, Temple St. Morrow with less than 500 votes remaining to be counted. The two will meet in a run-off.

Only one city race will not require a run-off. John C. Harris got a comfortable majority for finance commissioner.

THE TINYMITES

BY HAL COCHRAN

The man within the tub, up high, still floated round beneath the sky. The Tynmites stood and watched him. He had pulled a clever trick. With not a single shout, nor word, he'd lassoed quite a great big bird. "I'd like to meet him," Scouty cried. "I think he's pretty slick."

Just then the bird began to fly, first up, then down, and in, oh my, he pulled the funny tub man through the air at rapid pace. But Mister Tub Man hung on tight, and shouted, "He'll soon lose his fight. I'll keep my grip upon this rope till purple in the face."

"Ah! that's the spirit," Clowny cried. "Although you get a dizzy ride, don't let that big bird scare you. Jerk the rope until he quits. With rope he shortly will be bound if you will bring him to the ground. He's mad 'cause you have lassoed him."

Then down they came, real sure, but slow. The Tub Man laughed. "Ha, ha, ho, ho; I am the master of this bird." And then he eyed the bunch of Tynmites who stood nearby. Real shortly they all heard him cry: "Come on and hold this Goofy-goo. We'll cook him up for lunch."

Before the Tynmites could come, the bird proved he was far from dumb. He rushed up to the Tub Man and exclaimed, "You don't suppose I'm going to let you eat poor me. Oh, such a thing can never be."

And suddenly he jumped and hit the Tub Man on the nose.

(Clowny rescues the Tub Man in the next story.)

DEPOSITION MADE FOR HARDY TRIAL

PORTLAND, Ore., April 3 (AP)—Walter Little and William Hornblower, California assemblymen, were on their way back to Sacramento today with a deposition by Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Almeda Semple McPherson. Contents of the document were not made public.

The legislators declared, however, Mrs. Kennedy had testified the $2,500 given by the evangelist to the jurist was not entirely a "love offering" as Judge Hardy and Mrs. McPherson testified recently. Mrs. Kennedy was said to have admitted Judge Hardy gave legal advice to Mrs. McPherson "after trouble arose with the grand jury and the district attorney."

Judge Hardy is accused of illegally aiding the evangelist in fighting the conspiracy charge growing out of her kidnapping story more than two years ago.

Condition Of Brooks Reported Improved

Condition of A. J. Brooks, who resides three miles southeast of Wolfarth, who was seriously burned early yesterday morning, was reported improved by attending physicians this morning.

Brooks was injured at the same time that A. C. Howell, 216 Avenue Q, was burned to death. With their clothes saturated with gasoline they approached a bonfire too closely. Howell's body will be sent by Rix Morticians to McKinney tonight where burial will be held.

SOCIAL WORK IS DISCUSSED

AMARILLO SPEAKERS GIVE TALKS TO STUDENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Tom V. Ellzey, Amarillo, social workers, are in Lubbock today and tomorrow carrying out a program of work with pupils, teachers and patrons of the junior and senior high schools here.

This morning, at senior high, a general assembly was held with Mr. Ellzey as speaker, at 9 o'clock. Following the assembly girls and women teachers were lectured to by Mrs. Ellzey at 10 o'clock while at 11 o'clock Mr. Ellzey talked to boys and men teachers.

Tonight, at 8 o'clock, there will be a conference of teachers and parents at the senior high building to which all parents of the city are invited, Mr. Ellzey said. Following the conference the group will be divided and further discussion of social hygiene will be held under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Ellzey. The same program held at the senior high today will be held at the junior high tomorrow but there will be no night meeting Thursday night.

Mr. Ellzey, formerly an Alabamian, has been in social hygiene work for a number of years and has carried on his programs from Mobile, Alabama, to the West Coast, he said. He believes social hygiene should be a regular part of each school's curriculum.

WHOLESALE GROCERS

Lubbock, Texas

It is a genuine pleasure to advise that since September 1, last year, at which time three solid car loads of KING EDWARDS were delivered in the State of Texas, KING EDWARDS have responded in a wonderful way and the duplicate business has aggregated in excess of 600,000 KING EDWARDS per month, each month since that time, and the object of this latter is to extend our heartiest congratulations to Lubbock Avalanche and Journal for the wonderful co-operation they have extended us in developing KING EDWARDS to this tremendous volume seller in so short a time.

It might be of interest to you to know that because of the exceptional results obtained in the 1928 advertising campaign in your paper, that we are again to utilize the advertising columns of Lubbock Avalanche and Journal in a spring campaign on KING EDWARDS cigars. This campaign, undoubtedly, will greatly increase the sale of KING EDWARDS in this trade territory.

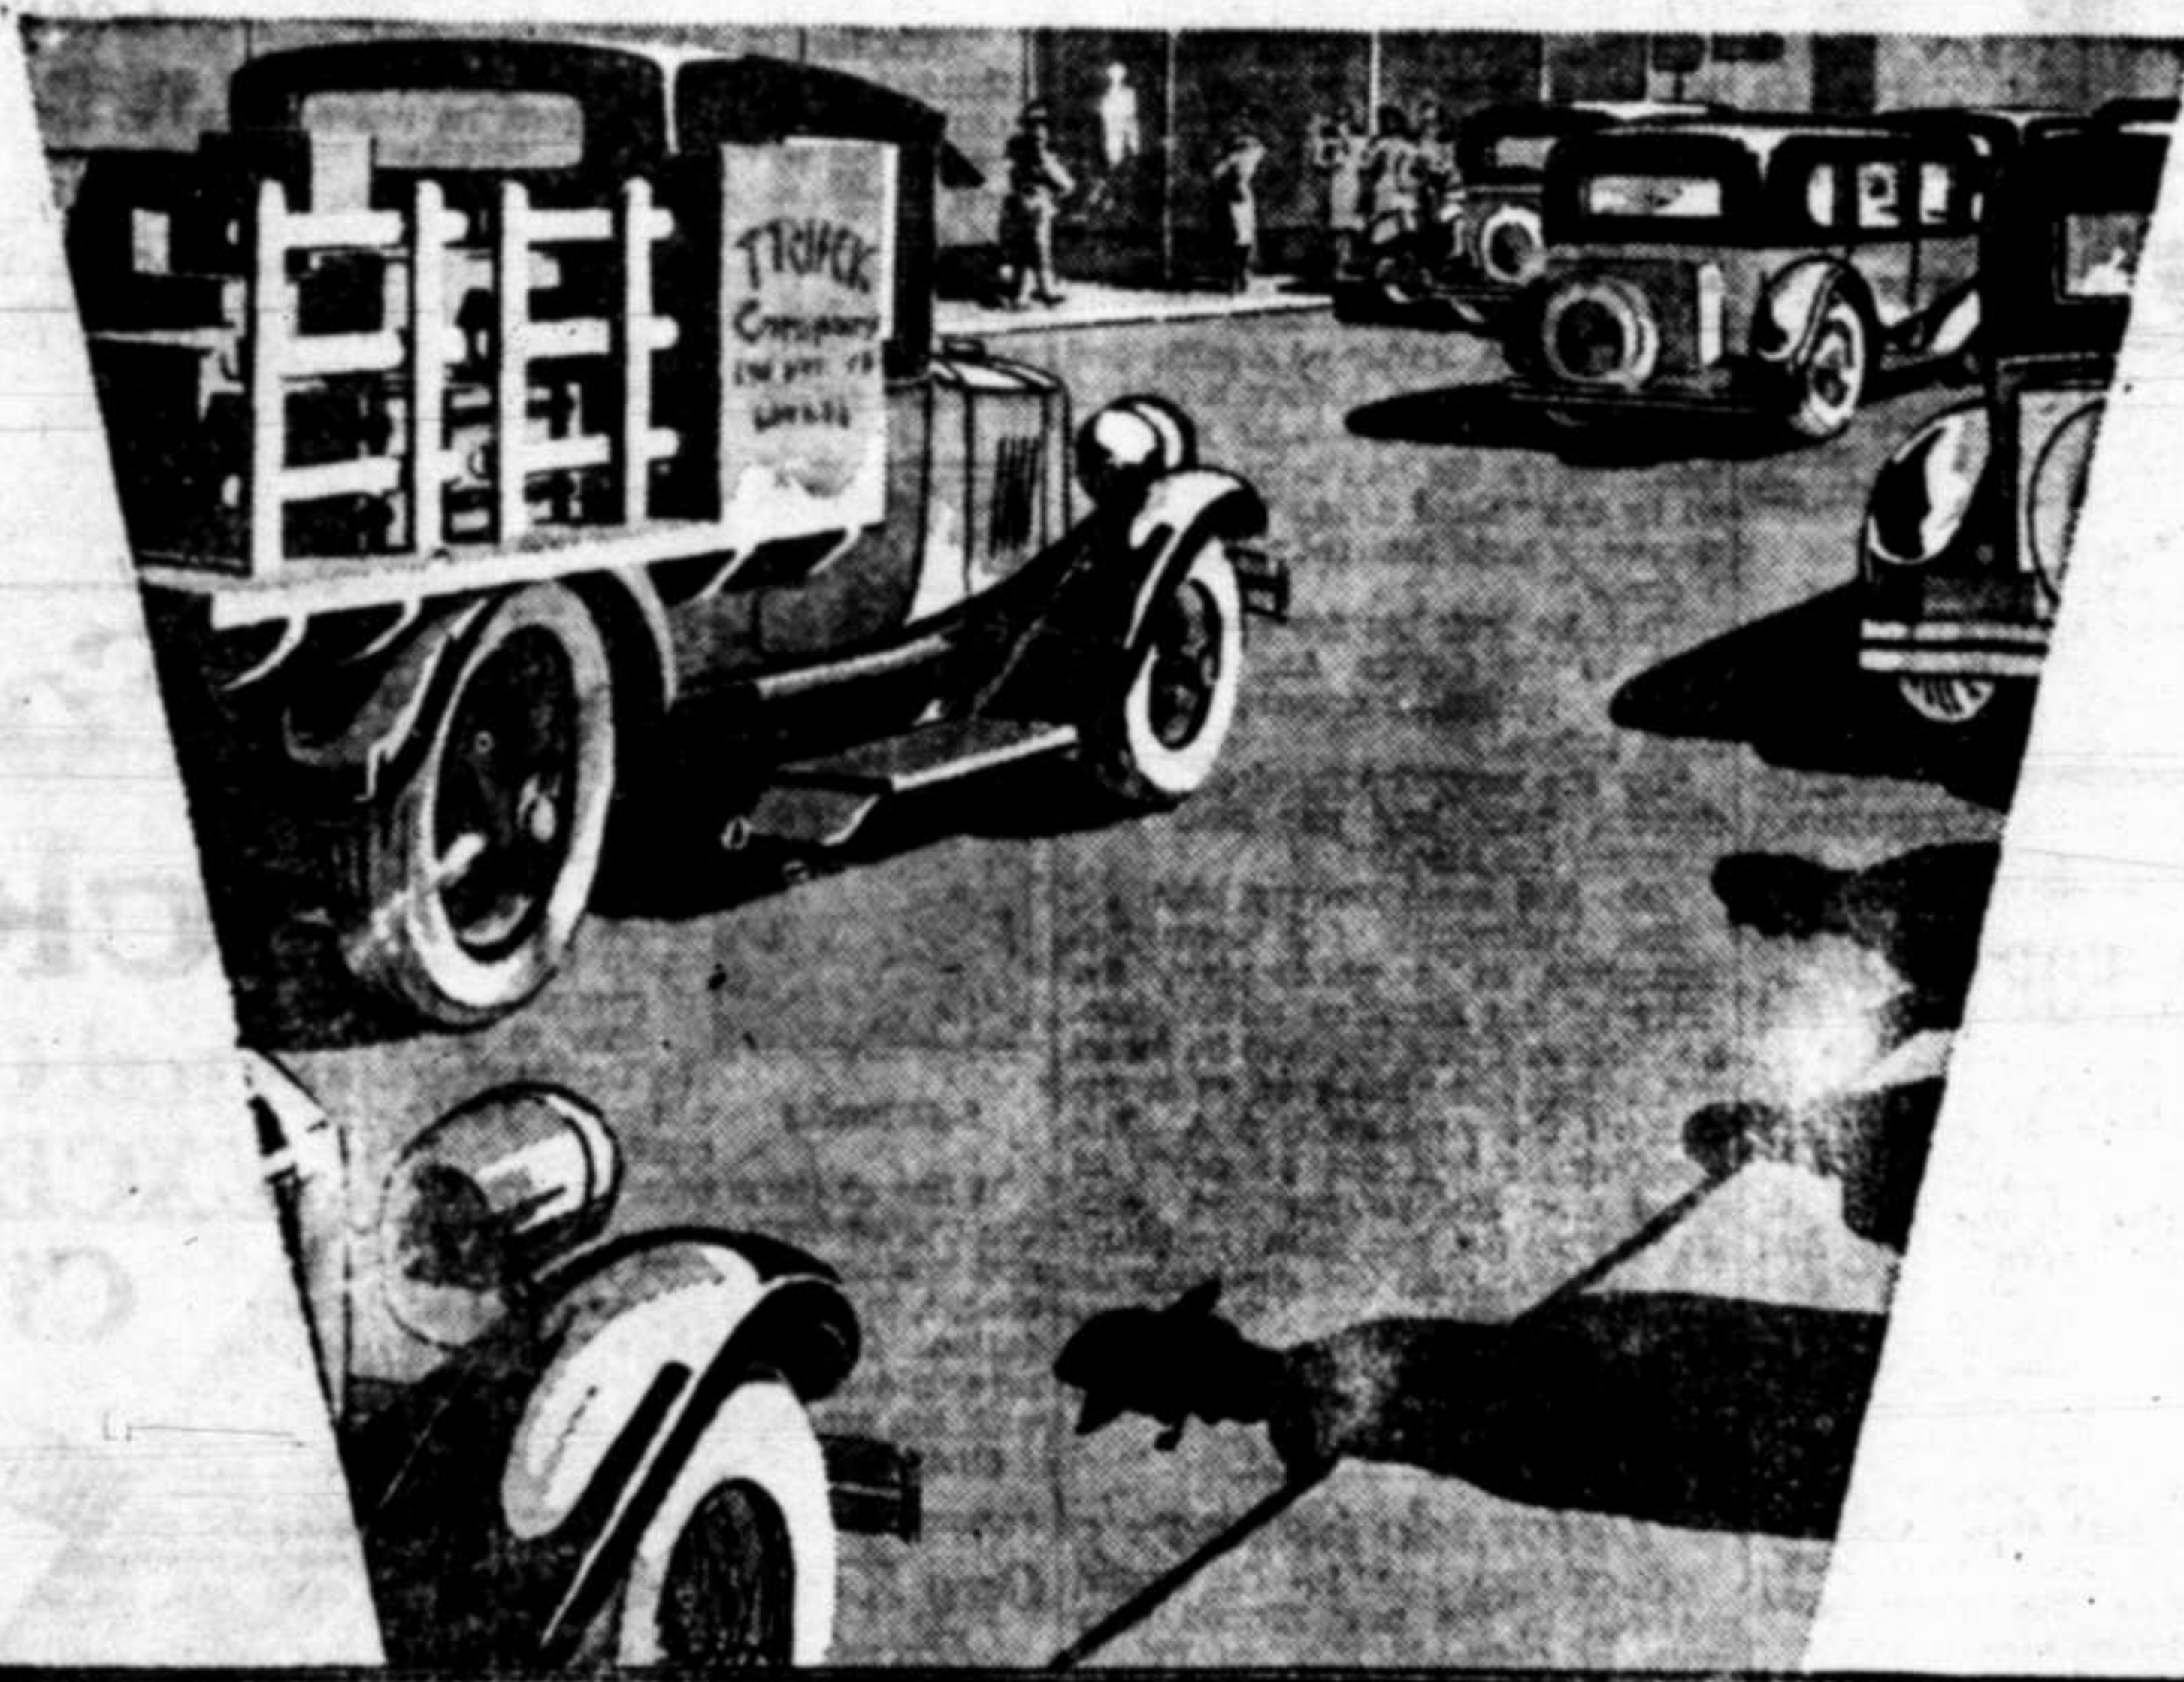

Again assuring you of our appreciation of this wonderful co-operation, we are

Very respectfully,

Thought For Today

Is there anything whereof it may be said, See, this is new? It hath been already of old time, which was before us.—Ecc. 1:10

There is nothing new except what is forgotten.—Mile. Bertin.

That Highway

A number of important things happened in the closing days of the last Congressional session that most of us have seen in the press of semi-sensational news.

Among these was the action of Congress authorizing the appropriation of $50,000 with which the United States government can co-operate with Latin-American nations in a study and survey of the proposed Pan-American highway.

This roadway, projected to link
the nations in the new world,
is a deserving project as it has been suggested in years. It would bring incalculable benefits to every nation on the continent from Canada to Chile—and the United States would probably benefit most of all. It is to be hoped that the Congress will speedily vote the money that the last Congress authorized. The sooner this job is started the better.

State Parks

Announcement by Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur
that the ninth annual meeting of the National Conference on State Parks will be held early in May at Culpeper State Park, Indiana.
Service to emphasize again the great value of state parks to the citizenship by setting up park areas.

The state park is a comparatively recent development. In every state are many areas which, while not quite of national park caliber, are nevertheless worth preserving as recreational and scenic spots. The use of all the parks. The great decrease in the number of state parks in the last decade is a highly encouraging sign. No state can establish too many. Each additional one that is set up means wholesome enjoyment for many thousands of people.

Farming

Despite all the talk of agricultural depression, farming continues to be one of the major industries of the country.

The Department of Agriculture
has issued some enlightening figures on the matter.
In 1928 the total value of United States farm products reached the amazing total of $9,993,000,000. Texas, as might be expected, leads the individual states with a production worth $783,000,000. Iowa ranks second, with $545,000,000, and California comes third with $528,000,000.

When you see those figures you begin to understand the importance of agriculture in our national economy. It is easy to see the reason that general prosperity would improve if improved conditions
should enable the farmers to add 15 or 20 per cent to their gross cash income.

Too Well

Efficiency, goal of all up-to-date
things, is at times a two-edged affair. At any time, workers in a Boston and Maine railroad shop at Concord, N. H., have found it so.
During the past couple of years
the shop at Concord gained a high reputation for its efficiency, and a magazine recently called it one of the best freight car repair shops in the country.

Now the 400 employees have been dismissed that there will be a week's shutdown after which work will be resumed on a five-day schedule for an indefinite period. There is simply a dearth of work—the men did their jobs too well.

In the report of a recent battle
in Mexico, it was stated the "refused to run." If they don't run, they'll be called up by the U. S.

THE PLAINSMAN

That Girl on Broadway says the smaller a person's mind is the less
he seems to realize it.

The trend of rail traffic the country over is to the north and northeast. The Interstate Commerce commission certainly can't overlook
that fact in its ruling on the applications of the Panhandle and Santa Fe and the Texas and New Mexico railroads.

Commander Richard E. Byrd and his courageous crew of explorers, thousands of miles removed from civilization and eking out an existence in a world of ice and snow, radio
Easter greetings to the folks back home and the message is broadcast to a waiting world
within a few moments after it is sent. The world is moving onward.

Men laughed at Robert Fulton's steamboat, at Benjamin Franklin's kite and at every other decided change in the fixed order of events.
Today is no different from the days
which have been, years ago, transfixed into history. The scoffers are still with us.

In Europe there are now under construction planes which will some day carry 80 passengers along the airways between metropolitan centers.
As soon as experiments with the 80-passenger planes are completed a manufacturing concern in Germany is planning the construction of planes capable of transporting 120 passengers at one time.
It is not out of reason to forecast
that such experimentation will be successful.

It may sound rather peculiar for us, out in West Texas, who have never seen anything larger than a 15-passenger plane and
few of those, forecasting the day
when a hundred persons will make up the entourage of an air liner. Yet all that is necessary to make such a prediction is an imagination—and faith in the ability of mankind to progress
in any chosen field. There will come a day when air liners will attract no more attention in Lubbock than a freight train does
at the present time.

Right now we are in the midst of a discussion of a municipal airport. Right now there are people who do not believe in airplane
travel—who claim that an airport
is a non-essential and that flying is a game for fools who are looking for thrills. Right within our city's gates there are men and women who actually scout any theory which says that aviation has come to stay and that some day it will be our greatest arm of transportation.

But mark ye this: Most of us
will live to see the day when we will grin at our present antics. Most of us will tell in a spirit of jest
how the citizenship of Lubbock—or a portion thereof—pondered over the practicability of an airport and air travel. The story will be as humorous as the one they now tell here
about people being afraid that the first automobile brought to Lubbock would "blow up and kill everybody."

To quote a more or less popular stage song, the world is "funny that way." We can all look back at the days when things commonplace now were objects of fear, ridicule and devotion. We can look at the men who laughed at Robert Fulton's
steamboat and Eli Whitney's cotton gin were short-sighted if they saw at all. Yet here we sit—a lot of us—after planes
have crossed the Atlantic without stopping while a conqueror
of the broader Pacific in series of hops; after a plane has stayed in the air for more than two days without refueling and after a ship has been refueled while on the wing—and was our heads judiciously and doubt-fully.

There is one rift of sunshine in the otherwise drab aspect. That is,
we're fooling no one but ourselves.
Our children will think no more of flying to New York than we think of driving to Abilene. There will be no cities without ample flying fields
and equipment while a crash will excite no more comment than an automobile mishap does today. We may not be able to see any further ahead than our own noses but that's not going to handicap the generations which are to come. A few intrepid souls will continue to blaze
the way until aviation will be forced upon all of us—men, women and children—whether we like it or not.

That Man on Avenue Q says the only detour people don't detest is

Sweet Fight In Order As Rival Sugar Interests Begin
War On Tariff; Publicity Barrages Lowered Over Land

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Writer
WASHINGTON, April 3.—When rival sugar interests get to warring
over the tariff it's a sweet fight.
They're doing that now and the ramifications are as thick as a chrysanthemum.

The beet sugar
interests, supported by the Louisiana cane
interests, are demanding a higher tariff on Cuban sugar. The duty
there now stands
at 1.75 cents a pound and something between 2
and 3 cents
would satisfy
the domestic producer.

American companies raising sugar in Cuba, whence come 90 per cent of the sugar America eats, are working with the Cuban government against a boost and have even applied for a reduction.

Both rival groups would like to soak the Philippines by restricting duty-free imports of Philippine sugar to 300,000 or 500,000 tons a year.
Congressman Timberlake of Colorado has introduced a bill to limit
them to 500,000.

The Philippines say that in case
of such a restriction they must have independence and, if they aren't restricted, naturally would be quite happy, along with the beet people,
to see a higher duty slapped on sugar from Cuba.

The battle is being fought out
both in the open and under cover.
Somehow, all the conflicting interests have come together under the roof of the National Press Club
building, which is perhaps as good
a place as any from which to fire publicity barrages.

The United States Sugar Association, a billion-dollar combination of 23 American and Cuban companies, has its main offices up town,
but has opened publicity headquarters in the Press building. The U. S.
Beet Sugar Association is a sumptuous suite on the same floor. The Domestic Sugar Producers' Association has elaborately furnished offices
on the floor below and the Philippine Press Bureau, now vitally interested
in both sugar and independence,
functions on the floor above.

The big tariff fight, of course,
concerns Cuban sugar. The U. S.
Sugar Association says the present duty rate is equivalent to 93 per cent ad valorem, far higher than that on any other common food item
and an important factor in the annual national sugar bill of $650, 000,000.

Cuba already receives a preferential rate. But being a theoretical sovereign state, she hasn't the advantage of free trade as have Hawaii, the Philippines and Porto Rico. Sugar means so much to Cuba herself, as well as to the American interests concerned, that her government has been making prices, Uncle Sam takes official action to knock the props from under him, just as he did in the war and postwar periods.

No doubt the reindeer industry
needs a market for its products, but
so do American beet producers.
We'd rather our troops be fed on good beef, preferably West Texas
beef—and hang the cost—Abilene Reporter.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Blood is an organized industry in New York.
Don't shudder! There is no intent to be gruesome. Nor is there to be any reference to gunmen or paid slayers. The "blood industry" in Manhattan is one of the most humane and altruistic of all the callings to be found in a great city.

In a word, the "blood industry" is organized to furnish blood if and when needed—and at a physician's notice. It is a first aid to physicians whose patients need transfusion. It is set to function with the precision of a fire department. Let the alarm
go out and within a few minutes
relief is on its way.

All this is not as simple as it sounds. For there are grades of blood as there are grades of men. And there have to be experts constantly at work keeping a record of the blood donors. These donors must be carefully classified. There must be no mistake. When a doctor's order is phoned or wired, the right man must be dispatched. His blood must be the type of blood required
by a patient.

And so the men are graded. There are a few in the No. 1 classification, though these are rare. Their prices
are high because the "blood agents"
have difficulty finding them and because of the particular quality of their fluid.

In a fantastic world, the status of a "blood agent" seems particularly fantastic.

One of Manhattan's best known agents is Robert Gardiner, who has a small army of 300 men at his call. The search for recruits is constant. They are generally to be found among the heavy workers of the waterfront docks or the full-blooded European types of the East Side.

And the calls for help come generally from the wealthy—or at least prosperous. For the toiler may be poor in purse, but he is likely to be rich in blood. Whereas the rich
of purse may be most impoverished
in the vital fluid.

And because this is as it is, many an ironic situation passes before the eyes of a "blood agent."

Fiction! . . . Fiction seems a silly contrivance of the imagination when paraded before the hundred and one true stories that have played a part in the "blood industry."

A favorite tale concerns one of New York's richest men who, following a serious operation, faced death from loss of blood. The surgeons sent out a call to the agent.
In the course of half an hour two men lay strapped arm to arm. One of the veins of one, life was flowing
into the veins of the other.

One was a leader of wealth and society. The other, believe it or not,
had been a Bowery bum just one week before. He had been discovered by the "blood agents," given
the necessary tests and rated as a "No.
1 donor."

Well, he took his fee and drifted
back to the depths. And the millionaire rallied, recovered and is alive today.

"By the way," he inquired of his doctor, "who was the man that gave me his blood?"

"Oh, just some Bowery bum . . ."
The millionaire fell to musing.
Somewhat of a philosopher, the irony of the situation struck him.
He requested that the man be found and brought to him—even as in the tales of Arabian Nights. The blood donor had not so much as asked who the patient had been.
He had his fee, and asked no more.

Today that man is a caretaker on the millionaire's estate . . . endowed for life . . . and one of the mil-lionaire's favorite charities is a Bowery donation.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

FRUITS MAY BE KEPT ON HAND FOR AMOUNT NEEDED IN REDUCING

Fresh Fruits and Vegetables
"DEAR DOCTOR LULU: I chuckled when I finished reading your foundation diet for reducers the other day. It sounds so simple, but where, except for the few women
who live in their own homes, can
one get one-half pound of green
leaf vegetables, or one-half pound of spinach, or raw carrots? I have visions of asking for them at any of the so-called popular places for the business woman. Just how would you go about it? It is an impossible thing for at least two thirds of the fat ladies in New York to live at home. Couldn't somebody make money on this? What about the vegetable plate? I hate it. Yours for emancipation, MISS S."

Even the fat ladies of New York
can have apples, oranges, bananas,
pears or other fruits in their rooms.
Miss S. A good-sized apple weighs almost one-half pound. Then certainly you can always get fruit
and vegetable salads in the restaurants and tea rooms. And there is no reason why you cannot keep a small cabbage in your room and have some lemon juice with it. You can take this before going out to dine, if you are afraid you might overeat; this would take the edge
off your appetite.

Restaurants, as a rule, cook their vegetables so there is not much taste to them—they use too much
water and cook them too long, so I don't blame you for not liking the vegetable plate. Usually the meat orders in a restaurant are large enough for two, and frequently when I am dining with a friend, I suggest that one of us order a meat dish
and the other several vegetables,
and then we divide. In this way
we do have a larger amount of the vegetables and enough meat or fish for each.

I hope you will get something
from these suggestions, Miss S.

The foundation diet for the re-ducer's (and underweighters' and normal persons') diet is contained in our pamphlet on reducing and gaining weight. See column rules for obtaining this.

Mrs. C.—By a diuretic is meant an agent that increases the excre-tion of urine, so from this you can see that you cannot use the term
to indicate an agent to decrease
the flow.

Have you had a urinalysis and a complete check-up by a physician?
You should have this done. It may be possible that the urine is irritating from being too concentrated,
causing irritation of the bladder,
with frequent desire to void. If you really have an increase of urine
which is considerably above the normal, it may be possible that you are beginning to, or already have, diabetes. This can be shown by the urinalysis. The normal amount averages one and one-half quarts; it may be more or less, depending upon the amount of water, type of foods taken and the season. During cold weather it is normal to pass more than during warm weather, because so much less is given off by perspiration.

I rather imagine you have an irritation of the bladder, rather than diabetes, but only a physician in personal charge of your case could determine this. If it is simply an irritation of the bladder, caused by an acid and concentrated urine,
drinking liberal amounts of water
and having a diet composed mostly
of the non-acid foods, would help.
Foods that have been especially helpful in rendering the urine alkaline are apples, bananas, beans, potatoes, oranges, muskmelon and milk.

It may be possible that your bladder is somewhat contracted and you may have to train it to hold more
by not giving in to the impulse to void each time, until you know
there is considerable to pass.
Have your check-up, Mrs. C.

Editor's Note. Dr. Peters cannot diagnose, give personal advice.
Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the column.
In turn, Requests for articles must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope and two cents in coin for each article, to cover cost of printing and handling.
For the pamphlet on reducing and gaining, 10 cents in coin, with fully self-addressed, stamped envelope,
must be enclosed. Address: Dr. Peters, in care of this paper.

Who's Who in Timely Views

CHINA SAID TO HAVE BENEFITED BY FRIENDSHIP OF U. S.

BY STEPHEN PORTER
Congressman From Pennsylvania

(Stephen Geyer Porter was born near Salem, O., May 18, 1869. He attended high school at Allegheny, Pa., later studying medicine and law.
Admitted to the bar in 1893, he has practiced at Pittsburgh since then.
He was elected to Congress in 1911 and has been returned each term since then, being chairman of the committee on foreign affairs during the 66th and 68th Congresses. He is a Republican.)

The new republic of China will soon stand forth as a completely sovereign nation in fact as well as in name, largely through the efforts of the United States.

The United States has led the way in securing justice for China
and, especially in moderating the pride and territorial demands of other powers. In the near future the extra-territorial rights still possessed by citizens of several of the other powers, including the United States, will be relinquished.

It has at times been charged that the United States has not a defined and sustained foreign policy. This charge, to my mind, is without foundation. Certainly it is not true as regards dealings during recent years
with the great republic of China.

Since the time, three-quarters of a century ago, when the western nations began formal international relations with China, the United States has sought to render, and has been successful in rendering, justice to China. Our country has indeed participated in the enjoyment of special rights wrested from China by other powers.

Our republic has followed the golden rule in her attitude toward China as advocated by the late Senator Quay of Pennsylvania, one of the great statesmen of his time, in a speech delivered May 14, 1901, on our foreign policy. He said, among other things, that "in China we have but to apply the golden rule treat us as we would have China treat us." He said that nation of 400,000,000 people are on earth
for a mighty purpose and while the great European powers may pencil
lines of partition for Chinese territory, they will never divide the Chinese people. "We should respect
China for what she has been," Mr.
Quay said then, "and sympathize with her in her trials and look forward to her future and the fulfillment of her mission."

Since the time, three-quarters of

one killed, another hurt in car smash

DENISON, Texas, April 3 (AP).—
Ben Proctor, 43, Sherman, was killed instantly and Herman R. Heil probably fatally hurt near here yesterday when their automobile left the highway.

The machine snapped a telephone pole and tore up barbed wire fence.
Proctor's throat was cut by the wire. Homer Paige, also in the car, was only slightly injured.

Police Search For Editors At Texas U.

AUSTIN, April 3 (AP)—Austin police today renewed their drive to round up editors and publishers of the Blunderbuss, anonymous publication, which yesterday made its appearance, bearing the University of Missouri sex questionnaire and other risqué reading matter. Several hundred copies of the paper were confiscated by police.

and university officials, but it obtained rather general circulation at 25 cents and more per copy. Last night some changed hands for $1 each. Chief of Police Raymond Thorp said he would file criminal charges against those responsible for appearance of the paper.

There are more than 3,000,000 motor trucks in the United States. Just another reason for not trying to hog the road on a dark night.

27. REAL ESTATE

HAD YOU TAKEN NOTICE
Of the very important fact that things are looking up in Lubbock real estate? Work is proceeding rapidly on the Broadway underpass this to be immediately followed by the Avenue H underpass, right away now work will begin on the two big hotel propositions, we are getting ready to vote the airport bond in place our city among the leaders in that regard, this to be followed by the highway building proposition. Lubbock has continued to go forward, and the reason is that her people are progressive and stay in the lead on needed developments and that is why she is going to make a real city. Do not wait too long now to make that real estate investment you have intended making.
The very best medium priced piece of realty in Lubbock today is the property at 804 Avenue Q, and the buyer is sure of a splendid profit on it. It is worth every dollar of $4,230. $3,150.00 will buy it yet. The lot is unusually large, 55 by 148, facing east on pavement, pavement paid, and $1,000 will handle it. It is absolutely the very best chance in Lubbock today to pick up about $2,000 profit in a short time. See us.

STOCK PRICES MOVE HIGHER

INITIAL ADVANCES OF TWO POINTS MADE ON "STREET"

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, April 3.—Stock prices moved irregularly higher at the opening of today's market. Commercial Solvents and Advance Rumely Common each showed initial gains of 2 points. Bethlehem Steel, Radio, American Smelting, General Electric, American & Foreign Power and Borden advanced a point or so on the opening transactions. Kruger Stores, Missouri Pacific preferred and Safeway Stores fell back a point or more.

Oil shares, which led the upturn yesterday, turned reactionary today on selling inspired by Washington advice that President Hoover was opposed to national agreements for curtailment of crude production on the ground it would be contrary to the Sherman anti-trust law. Standard Oil of California dropped 2 1/2 points, and early losses of a point or so were recorded by at least a dozen others including Standard Oil of New Jersey, Pan American Petroleum Company, Atlantic Refining, Maryland and Indian Refining.

Despite reports that many auto-makers, the motors attracted a large following in the early trading. Packard quickly advanced 3 1/2 points and General Motors and Chrysler advanced more than two points.

Adams express soared 50 points to a new high record at 675, or 150 points above last Tuesday's low, on the announcement that the company had taken over the American Express company's holdings of American Railway Express company stock. Bethlehem Steel advanced 7 points. Bethlehem Steel 4 1/2 and Advance Rumely common and preferred, Westinghouse Electric, Radio, Royal Baking Powder, American Smelting and Refining, Republic Steel all sold 2 to 4 points higher.

Foreign exchanges opened steady, with cables unchanged at 4.851-4.

COL. E. M. HOUSE GIVEN OPERATION

NEW YORK, April 3.—Colonel Edward M. House, advisor to President Wilson, was resting comfortably today after undergoing an operation for removal of a tumor on his bladder. His condition was described as very good.

The operation, performed at the harbor sanitarium, was done with the aid of spinal anesthesia, and Colonel House talked to the surgeons while the tumor was being removed.

"How are things going?" he asked at intervals during the operation which lasted an hour and forty-five minutes. He was not blindfolded and was able to watch the operation to some extent. Shortly before the end of the operation the effect of the anesthesia wore off and the doctors urged him to take gas.

"No, I will stand," he told them. "I don't care to take gas."

Citizens' Bank Has

$1,754,222 Deposits

Deposits at the Citizens' National bank, at time of the National bank call on March 27 were $1,754,222.54, net $1,628,953.28 as stated in Sunday's Avalanche-Journal. Through error, the total liabilities was listed as total deposits.

Quite a few people are said to be disappointed over Mr. Coolidge's articles. After all those columns he wrote in Dakota you can't blame people for expecting some wild stories.
